Political Struggle Soon to Settle Down to Run-Off Primary Bouts CURTIS GIVEN YEAR SENTENCE, FINED THOUSAND DOLLARS

MAXIMUM IS NOT ASSESSED SHIP BUILDER

'WILD DREAM' TALK BY DEFENSE NEW ANGLE

REPUDIATED CONFESSION

ARREST OF JUDGMENT IS DENIED BY COURT

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 11 (AP)—John Hughes Curtis, convicted of hindering capture of the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, was sentenced today to one year in jail and a fine of $1,000.

The maximum possible sentence which could have been imposed under the indictment on which Curtis was found guilty was three years imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

The sentencing followed a fervent attempt on the part of the defense to halt action against Curtis before sentence was imposed.

Defense counsel moved for arrest of judgment on the same grounds that three separate attempts were made during the trial to halt the action before it reached the jury.

After a heated argument, during which counsel pleaded in vain for a fourth, Judge Adam O. Robbins ruled that these points already had been passed on and denied the motion.

Lloyd C. Fisher, chief counsel for Curtis, argued that Curtis had never had any contact with the kidnapers.

Just a Dreamer?
"He was just a man with wild dreams about boats and things," he said.

This statement came as a complete surprise because the defense stand during the trial seemed to be that Curtis had been in touch with the real kidnapers and had done everything possible to help.

I HEARD--

That S. C. Clayman, who has returned from Detroit, says that Pampa looks as if it might be becoming compared with that part of the country. He said the strange odor that prevailed up there was not from the breweries on the Canadian side of the border but just rotten business.

That Pampa's representatives to Washington wrote friends here urging them to make the trip to Washington to swell the number already there seeking payment of adjusted compensations. They reported that at least 75,000 ex-service men were on the ground. They also said that 30,000 men paraded July 4, instead of 18,000 as reported in news stories.

THE Faithful Cheat

NO COUNTY FUNDS "IN RED" FOR FIRST SIX MONTHS BUT TAXES TO DETERMINE YEAR

HERE TONIGHT

Tom Hunter, above, Wichita Falls man who is a gubernatorial candidate and one of the most active campaigners, will speak in Pampa tonight at 8:30 o'clock on the east side of the courthouse.

About Politics.

Politics is getting warm in this state, but few candidates will be able to get more than a short mention in the press from now on—there are too many of them and they tend to repeat themselves day after day. A few candidates have press agents who are clever in emphasizing some new point each day. In the gubernatorial race, which holds most attention, only Hunter, Sterling, and Ferguson are really active. The Associated Press will "cover" their speeches with staff men from now on through the first primary. Harry Montgomery of the (AP) will be here tonight with Hunter and will cover the Denver Northern railroad celebration later in the week, and also the speeches of Sterling at Childress, Pampa, Borger, and Amarillo. The Associated Press, is Texas premier political service, with unmatched facilities.

The Ballot.

It may be of general interest for the Pampa to describe the official ballot which will be placed in the hands of qualified voters July 23 in Gray county. At the top of the ballot is this pledge: "I am a democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary." It should be understood that it is not an election, but a party primary in which the party has a right to bind its members.

For Governor.

Here is the list of candidates for governor, the first office listed at the top left hand column of the two-column sheet:

1. C. A. Frakes of Jefferson county.
2. M. H. Wolfe of Dallas county.

By R. M. BARRY, Associated Press Staff Writer.

AUSTIN, July 11 (AP)—A fortnight more of campaigning and the first primary of Texas democrats for state office nominations will have narrowed the field to two run-off candidates.

Interest now centers in the gubernatorial contest for which there are eight aspirants, but every one feels the majority of the voters will be counted for the incumbent, Governor R. S. Sterling, asking a second term, and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Texas' first woman governor, who is aided by her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson.

Tom P. Hunter, Wichita Falls, oil man of considerable financial means, was considered runner-up to the Fergusons and Sterling. He has been on the stump for many weeks.

"Hound Dog" For Him.
The others also have been campaigning. Ed Glenn of Kopperl, for instance, had been hitch-hiking his way asking for votes for governor. It was his claim that he was supported only by the fidelity of a "Hound dog" which followed him on his political wanderings. Recently when he filed his first expense account with the secretary of state.

Building Site Is Reported Ready

Postmaster D. E. Cecil notified Washington this morning that the site for Pampa's new federal building had been cleared as instructed and that advertisements for bids would be posted at any time. The postal authorities informed postmaster Cecil some time ago that as soon as the site was cleared, they would ask for bids.

The postmaster has been pushing the work of clearing the lot for the last two weeks. The White Deer Lumber company office was removed and the foundation removed. Much difficulty was encountered in breaking the foundation, which was thick and deep, having been built when builders believed in heavy foundations. It was impossible to blast.

Postmaster Cecil is in hope that postal authorities will ask for bids on the new building immediately.

Hugh Breeding was admitted to Pampa hospital for treatment yesterday.

MINATREE ESCAPES IN FREAK ACCIDENT

In a freak accident this morning, a "pick-up" delivery truck owned by W. E. Minatree was telescoped and folded into a mass of wreckage, and the driver, Mr. Minatree, suffered only slight injuries when the machine collided with a truck load of pipe in front of the Custer-Smalling Chevrolet company building.

The pipe caught the smaller truck on the radiator and pushed the front part of the car almost even with the windshield. The pipe rammed through the milk truck on the right side, else the driver likely would have suffered more serious injuries. His forehead was slightly lacerated and he was bruised.

ROOSEVELT'S WIFE IS MANUFACTURER

A furniture manufacturer is the principle aid of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic presidential nominee.

The furniture manufacturer is his wife, Mrs. Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, primary of President Roosevelt, school teacher, mother of five children, writer, worker, literary adviser, political speaker, and editorial writer. Her furniture factory in New York makes reproductions of old pieces.

Mrs. Roosevelt was her husband's childhood friend. She helped him march from law school in 1904 to late citizenship in 1910, thence to assistant secretary of the navy, to democratic vice presidential candidate in 1920, to governor of New York in 1928 and 1930, and now to candidacy for the presidency.

In Washington she first gained the nation's eye as her husband's assistant to Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels. A first duty of the wife of a public figure is to be a good hostess. That was not difficult. Washington was not strange to her, because she had known her uncle, President Roosevelt, in it. She had social prestige, too, to begin with. Not many families have a longer line of American ancestry, or one containing more famous names.

But "blue blood" not mean "thin blood." She stuck to the governor's side through seven years as he fought the effects of infantile paralysis, and it was she who permitted, then urged her husband at the end of the seven-year travail to heed Alfred E. Smith's behest and run for governor in the campaign of 1928.

She helped him win. When he spoke, she was not far away. She made friends, never tried to usurp her husband's position in the spotlight. But she was there.

TECH TO DROP DOZEN OFF ITS FACULTY ROLL

LUBBOCK, July 11 (AP)—Doctor Granbery and other professors who did not receive new contracts are not being "dismissed"; they are simply are not being re-employed. We are curtailing expenses and our decision to decrease the faculty is the result of an economic necessity. Aside from that, I have no comment.

That was the answer given today by Clifford E. Jones of Spur, chairman of the directorate at Texas Technological college, to newspaper accounts published yesterday and quoting Dr. John C. Granbery, Tech faculty member, on his being dropped from faculty rolls.

Newspapers yesterday quoted Dr. Granbery as charging his dismissal from the college faculty was "due to militant religious fanaticism" and that the action is "a dark plot to make Tech college unsafe for its intelligence and to destroy within it every vestige of liberalism."

Directors of the college did not mail new contracts to Doctor Granbery and a dozen other faculty members, giving as the reason the necessity of economizing in operation funds. They maintain that professors not sent new contracts

COMPROMISE IS LIKELY

ADJOURNMENT WITHIN WEEK EXPECTED IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Carrying out his threat, President Hoover today vetoed the $2,122,000,000 Wagner-relief measure.

The president's veto message, running more than 2,000 words in length, was placed in the hands of newspapermen at the White House within 15 minutes after the measure reached the chief executive.

In it, the president launched another bitter attack against the provisions insisted on by Speaker Garner to make loans to individuals.

"This proposal," the president asserted, "violates every sound principle of public finance and of government. Never before has so dangerous a suggestion been seriously made to our country. Never before has so much power for evil been placed at the unlimited discretion of seven individuals."

Having in mind the wish for early adjournment, the president in his message recommended "that a compromise should be reached upon terms suggested by members of both houses and both parties, and that congress should not adjourn until this is accomplished."

Dallas Woman Killed; Husband's Injury Is Fatal

DALLAS, July 11 (AP)—Mrs. Willis Oliver Henderson, 25, was shot to death and her husband, William A. Henderson, 47, was wounded fatally at their home today.

The woman's body was sprawled across a bed. Her husband had tumbled down beside her. Each had two bullet wounds in the head. A pistol lay near Henderson's hand. Neighbors told police of hearing a heated altercation in the couple's bedroom. Just before the shooting Mrs. Henderson was heard to scream and say, "please don't do it."

I SAW--

A Canada post card from Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shaw, Jr., who were in Calgary, Canada. Wrote Mr. Shaw: "Have just been telling these Canadians that our next vice-president would be Garner and it went over big. The big stampede in Canada what Cheyenne's Frontier Days is in the U. S.) comes off next week. After that leave for Lake Lewis (in Alberta). The Shaws bought a new Packard to take a two-months vacation."

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The senate today vetoed to set up a special committee to investigate 1932 campaign expenditures.

GRAPELAND, July 11 (AP)—Two unmasked bandits locked W. B. Granberry, vice-president of the Farmers and Merchants State bank here, in the bank vault shortly after noon today and escaped with about $1,000 in cash.

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—An investigation of loans by the reconstruction corporation was ordered today by the senate.

A rufous look on W. H. Davis' face as he came home from LeFors two hours late last night. Yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock he met in a sandy road a party of sightseers who were admiring the "railroad scenery." Feeling that he was a sort of a hawk, Hans, chivalric and courteous, drove his car to the side of the one-way road, to permit the party to safely pass. The tourists drove on and kept on driving even after Mr. Davis' car stuck in the sand.

Mrs. Eva Bartlett, city employee, and the city hall's flowers to which she called my attention. Permit me to "whereas" this resolution: "The canna lilies around the city hall are superior to any in the community and almost as superb as orchids. The canna's are so voluptuous they look like carnations, and the dahlias and roses are in a class of their own. In Pampa—was there ever a city hall that had such beautiful flowers."

SCOUTS OF AREA ARE TO BE TESTED TONIGHT FOR RAISE OF THEIR OFFICIAL RANKING

Four Pampa Youths to Be Eagle Scouts

A number of Boy Scouts from Pampa and this territory will appear before a board of review at 8 o'clock tonight in the First Presbyterian church when they will be examined before appearing at the court of honor Friday night for merit badges and raise in rank.

The court of honor will be conducted at 8 o'clock Friday night in the district courtroom. The Rev. James Todd, Jr., chairman of the Gray county and Adobe Walls courts of honor, will preside. He will be assisted by scoutmasters, troop committee men and adult scouts.

Four Pampa boys will attain the rank of Eagle Scouts at the court of honor. They will be Smith Wirt, Melvin Qualls, Tom Sweetman and Edward Scott, all of Troop 15, First Presbyterian church. Their certificates have just arrived from Scout headquarters in New York.

The following letter came with each certificate:

"DAD" PULLEN THRILLED BY PLANE FLIGHT

Talk about thrills—T. L. "Dad" Pullen had many of them yesterday.

"Dad", who is 80 years old and carries the years well—look his first airplane ride with Boyd Kennedy. He enjoyed the sensation of rising and flying, and found the view startling and inspiring.

Mr. Pullen, who drove oxen in his youth, is a well known figure about the city.

MATTERN AND GRIFFIN WILL TRY ANOTHER FLIGHT SOON

MOSCOW, July 11 (AP)—James Matern and Bennett Griffin, world fliers who were forced down at Borisov, Russia last Thursday, plan another try, perhaps later this summer.

The two fliers, grimy, weary and disappointed, stepped off the train yesterday on which they came from Borisov, shook hands with a few Americans who had gathered at the station to welcome them and dashed for a bath tub.

Later they told of the wreck of their attempt to beat the record of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty and the wreck of their plane in a peat bog near Borisov, half way between here and Berlin.

"We got a tough break, that's all," they said. "We're going home as

- 3. Roger Q. Evans of Bexar county.
- 4. J. Ed Glenn of Bosque county.
- 5. R. S. Sterling of Harris county.
- 6. George W. Armstrong of Tarrant county.
- 7. Mrs. Alex L. Adams of Travis county.
- 8. Tom F. Hunter of Wichita county.
- 9. Frank Putnam of Harris county.

The figures are ours to show the number of candidates. Armstrong has withdrawn with the avowed intention of running for governor as a dry-independent.

Witt Unopposed.

Lieutenant Governor Edgar E. Witt of McLennan county has no opposition, but for attorney general the incumbent James V. Allred has for opponents Clem Calhoun of Potter county and Ernest Becker of Dallas county. Calhoun is the avowed candidate of the monied investors in Texas, while Becker has not attracted much attention. Allred is claimed to have Gray county in his pocket.

George H. Sheppard, the popular Sweetwater man who is state comptroller, is without opposition, as also is Charley Lockhart of Travis county.

Seeking to follow S. M. N. Marrs as state superintendent of public instruction are L. A. Woods of McLennan county and Charles N. Shaver of Walker county. The teachers are getting interested in this race. J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, probably will win easily over L. A. Seymour of Travis county, his only opponent. J. H. Walker of Hill county is unopposed for commissioner of the general land office.

Terrell Strong.
C. V. Terrell is expected to win re-election for a six-year term as state railroad commissioner. The name Terrell is so old in Texas politics that people have the habit of approving it, but the present Terrell—who is chairman of the railroad commission—is no mean politician. A run-off is indicated, however, because of the strength of his opponents—Roy I. Tennant of Bell county, J. J. Jack Patterson of Bexar county, and Lee Satterwhite of Ector county.

For the 4-year term (vacated by Neff), we have C. A. DeWare of Washington county, Lin Culberson of Jackson county, W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas county, Ernest O. Thompson of Potter county, and Ed T. Murphy of Polk county. Thompson, the incumbent by appointment of Governor Ross Sterling, has set up an elaborate state campaign machine and with the Panhandle back of him should get in the run-off.

Hickman Popular.

For associate justice of the supreme court we find the names of Ocie Speer of Travis county, J. E. Hickman of Eastland county, and William Pierson of Hunt county. Of these, Judge Hickman, the he-man but kindly jurist of Eastland is apt to get the vote of West Texas. He was here last week, when local attorneys introduced him to many citizens. For judge of the court of criminal appeals, F. L. Hawkins of Ellis county is unopposed.

Lots of 'Em.

The congressman-at-large candidates have furnished extra work for newspapers, election officials, and readers in general. For place No. 1 we have:

- 1. Pink Parrish of Lubbock county.
- 2. W. Sheldon Reed of Travis county.
- 3. Chesley W. Jurney of McLennan county.
- 4. George B. Terrell of Cherokee county.
- 5. Ernest C. Ozro Cox of Travis county.
- 6. R. B. Hood of Parker county.

OUT OUR WAY..... By WILLIAMS

THE LADY KILLER. By WILLIAMS

- x7. Mrs. Alex L. Adams of Bexar county.
 - 8. W. Erskine Williams of Tarrant county.
 - 9. Sherman Nelson of Montgomery county.
 - 10. E. G. Senter of Tarrant county.
 - 11. Geo. J. Schleicher of DeWitt county.
 - 12. Ida M. Darden of Tarrant county.
 - 13. Lawrence Westbrook of McLennan county.
- Those persons who wish to vote exclusively for West Texas candidates probably will settle on Pink Parrish of Lubbock. It is more likely in this community, however, that Ozro Cox of American Legion note will get a big bloc of Pampa votes. He has visited the local post many times.

And Some More.

- Place No. 2 presents:
- 1. Joseph Weldon Bailey Jr. of Dallas county.
 - 2. W. E. Myres of Tarrant county.
 - 3. P. L. Downs of Bell county.
 - 4. B. D. Sartin of Wichita county.
 - 5. J. H. (Cyclone) Davis of Hopkins county.
 - 6. G. B. Fisher of San Augustine county.
 - 7. Mrs. Phebe K. Warner of Armstrong county.
 - 8. W. H. Hawkins of Erath county.
 - 9. Oscar F. Holcombe of Harris county.
 - 10. J. J. Sulak of Fayette county.
 - 11. Lamar Gill of Willacy county.
- The above list will find a divided support in Pampa. Mrs. Warner, the Panhandle (Claude) candidate, rightly expects a lot of home support. She has wide newspaper and club support for this and other reasons. But there are many who remember Joe Bailey with tender affection and who will vote for his talented son. There are others who like Mr. Sartin, the exemplary young gentleman from Wichita Falls.

Place No. 3.

- Place No. 3 contains the following names:
- 1. John L. Meany of Harris county.
 - 2. Julien C. Hyer of Tarrant county.
 - 3. W. I. Cargile of Harris county.
 - 4. W. E. (Bill) Lea of Orange county.
 - 5. Alfred William Sease of Victoria county.
 - 6. Mrs. Fred Real of Kerr county.
 - 7. Joe Burkett of Bexar county.
 - 8. J. E. Bogg-Scott of Coleman county.
 - 9. Ben F. Harigel of Hayette county.
 - 10. A. H. King of Throckmorton county.
 - 11. C. A. Mitchner of Irion county.
 - 12. Sterling P. Strong of Dallas county.
 - 13. Monte Warner of Tom Green county.
 - 14. Douglas W. McGregor of Harris county.
- Of the above, Julien C. Hyer, the Lions International president has a following here, with Burkett, King, and some of the others having friends in the vicinity who are doing a bit of talking. On the whole, the congressman-at-large aspirants have not "discovered" the Panhandle. Gubernatorial candidates, however, differ sharply in this respect. On another day, we will take up the district and county ballot entries.

he listed expenditures of only sixty cents.

Others in the race were M. H. Wolfe of Dallas, C. T. Frakes of Port Arthur, Frank Putnam of Houston and Roger O. Evans of San Antonio.

Wolfe, Frakes, Evans and Glenn were not active on the stump. Putnam, a candidate two years ago, was directing his campaign from his Houston office. He was beating down on repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, the same issue he put forward in 1930, proposing that the federal prohibition laws be repealed and the states be permitted to deal with that problem.

Run-Offs Main Race.

Beside the gubernatorial race, there was considerable interest in the contests for two railroad commission places and the three congressman-at-large seats. It was further evident that the main controversy would appear in the August run-off primary. There were so many candidates for congress-at-large that it was regarded as a more or less game of chance in the first primary. It also was regarded as virtually certain that a pair of candidates for the long term (six years) of the railroad commission and two aspirants for the unexpired term (four years) of former Governor Pat M. Neff, would be required to enter the run-off.

There was little interest in other state office races except, possibly, the attorney general's contest.

What would be the outcome of the state democratic executive committee's order that the question of whether repeal of the eighteenth amendment should be submitted to the voters was matter of speculation. It was likely that some of the counties would ignore the party managers' instructions to submit the proposal.

Court Test Likely.

In Dallas Walter J. W. Reid filed suit for a mandatory injunction to force Murrell L. Buckner, chairman of the Dallas county democratic executive committee, to allow the voters to pass on the question. It was likely that a court test to determine responsibility of party managers in the counties to fairly put the proposal would be inaugurated.

Another troublesome question likely to get court action was whether the negroes under the law and constitution were entitled to enter the democratic primaries.

From San Antonio, where about 3,000 negroes normally vote, came word that P. M. Palmer, a negro, was preparing to test the right of officials to deny him a vote. He had made application for an absentee ballot and was denied one. The United States supreme court recently held, in a cast brought to it from Texas, that negroes could not be specifically barred from democratic primaries.

Attendance at the First Baptist Sunday school was a little less, and that at the training service was slightly larger yesterday than on the previous Sunday. There were 625 in Sunday school and 147 at the training service.

Miss Aurelia Miller, formerly of Pampa but now of Amarillo, spent the week-end here. She attended the breakfast yesterday morning for the Business and Professional Women's club, of which she is a member and former secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Weed went to the LeFors revival yesterday.

G. C. Heard of Pampa attended the Church of Christ revival in LeFors yesterday.

Gambler's Throw

by Eustace L. Adams

SYNOPSIS: Jerry Calhoun's return to Pampa is planned to be a surprise. He is expected to arrive in the city on Monday night. His return is expected to be a surprise. He is expected to arrive in the city on Monday night. His return is expected to be a surprise.

A MYSTERIOUS LETTER

The hidden machine-gun became silent. The ground in front of the house seemed magically cleared of running men.

The plane dived at the tree behind which the second machine-gun had been mounted. Ashwood rose, slipped his hat and stepped into his shoulder holster and stretched, glancing about the room.

Ashwood limped across the room, looked down into the lifeless face for a long moment and turned away. "Let's pass out a round of grog, Ashie," suggested Emory. "I think we've earned it."

Stevens pushed his well-scrubbed plate aside with a sigh of complete contentment. He grinned comfortably at Nancy, who looked adorable in her borrowed cook's costume.

"I'm a restless bird of passage, a changeling child in a family to whom there is no world beyond Beacon Hill. I crave new scenes and new doings. It would never occur to me to fade out of the picture without you except that I know what you are too goofy to realize—that you are going to stay married."

"So, old man; after these many years, we've arrived at the parting of the ways which comes inevitably when a girl makes a trip out of 's du. You and Nancy. A great pair, old man! You'll settle down, worry about your golf game and become peevish when the chauffeur clashes the gears."

"Between pals, distance does not count. We'll drift together, old son, from time to time. I'll drop in on you, put my muddy feet on your mahogany desk and tell you how I got my tan and my touch of malaria. And you'll tell me how your taller fuses about your respectable bulge. You'll be sorry for me and I'll be sorry for you. And maybe, in all your conventional happiness, you'll envy me just a little. You'll smell the smell of burned oil and exhaust gas and you'll remember the kick-back of a gat against your palm and you'll wonder where I am and what I'm doing. But, as the old cliché goes, you can't have everything."

"Remember, Jerry, how we'd roll the dice when we faced a difficult decision? Gambler's throw, one roll? Well, I've rolled 'em and I'm joining up with Ashwood for a bit of a whirl somewhere. Next to you, he's the gamest little fighting cock I've ever known. Unlike you he has no future. In which, he resembles me, so we'll share together what ever old Lady Luck has in mind for us."

"You're an ornery cuss, Jerry. You fight too hard and too often. You're an easy-going guy, but you're hell on skates when you get riled. And it's pretty tough to have to shove off without you."

"Listen: we're swiping the speed boat, Ashie and I. With a couple of hours' leeway, we'll be off in the amphibian and you won't be able to catch us in the monoplane. Give us a break if you can. If you can't, we'll make a race of it."

"Slap Steve on the back for me and tell him that, so far as his conscience is concerned, he can sleep in his little house amid the pecan trees with the assurance that Ashwood won't operate again in the U. S. A. Elsewhere—who knows? Maybe we'll roll the dice again!"

"Best regards. See you again sometime. Until then, happy landings, Emory."

"P. S. Kiss Nancy for me. If I hadn't lammed away, I'd have done it myself."

"The last part of the letter sounds interesting," said a voice from the doorway. Nancy and Jerry wheeled around to face Stevens. The girl passed him the letter. He read it slowly.

"How long have they been gone?" he asked very quietly.

"I haven't any idea," confessed Jerry.

"Better give 'em a couple of hours more, then. No sense in loading the dice on 'em," Stevens said. "It's Gambler's Throw."

Burleson Will Lend Backing to Sterling Cause

AUSTIN, July 11.—Support to Gov. Ross Sterling in his campaign pledged yesterday by Governor Burleson.

Using the governor's successful efforts to keep the state on a sound financial basis. The support of every honest, thoughtful, patriotic Texan, declared the once active democratic leader.

General Burleson said he had not approved of martial law in East Texas, but added, "Candor compels me to say that it saved millions of dollars to owners of small land holdings in East Texas."

Through the agency of martial law, the governor "multiplied by eight the revenue the state was receiving from its production tax, thus keeping the state in a better shape rather than permitting it to slip further into the red, where it was undoubtedly headed," said the general.

Praise for the governor's program for the future, as expressed in his speech at Big Spring, was voiced. "With intelligent cooperation from the legislature, Governor Sterling should be able to reduce substantially government costs and oppressive taxes," General Burleson said.

"Sterling has been governor almost two years," said the former cabinet officer, "and no one charges that he has not given Texas an honest administration. I live here at the capital, and never has there been a breath of scandal, a whisper of wrong-doing. This has not always been so. Every self-respecting Texan should feel constrained to vote for those who will protect us from the shame of graft and corruption in public office."

HUNTED MAN WOUNDED
SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 11 (AP)—James Storey, sought for the slaying of Marshal J. N. Davis at North Baltimore, O., last Friday, was wounded seriously when he attempted to escape from police here today.

Mr. and Mrs. John Glover and daughter, Mary Virginia, and Mrs. King and daughter, Dorothy, are on a trip to Galveston.

Young Fugitive Is Back in Jail

Doyal Killough, 19-year old youth who escaped from the county jail after serving one day of a 113-day sentence on a charge of theft of gasoline, was arrested at Strong City, Okla., by a deputy sheriff there, and was brought back to Pampa yesterday by Sheriff Lon L. Blansett.

Killough said he enjoyed his "vacation" of two weeks. Two relatives, both of whom are charged with aiding Killough to escape, were released from the county jail last week without bond. Their trials are set for the next term of county court and they have promised to appear when the cases are called.

Killough escaped from the jail after talking to the two brothers.

"have not been dismissed. They are simply not being re-employed." Granbery, who is a great-grandson of Patrick Henry, has been head of his department since the opening of Tech seven years ago. He is a doctor of philosophy, an ordained minister and a doctor of divinity. His reference to "militant religious fanaticism" was made apparently to a widely publicized sermon preached here last winter by R. C. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, in which the minister charged that "atheism is being taught at Texas Tech."

In the investigation that followed, Campbell named four faculty members as offenders but the then president, Dr. Paul W. Horn, did not make public the names of those charged.

Courthouse and jail, interest and sinking balance, $10,525.92; receipts, $13,311.98; disbursements for year, $20,284.26.

Unemployed Men Demand Work on County Projects

A delegation of laborers and unemployed men appeared before county commissioners this morning demanding a contract for the dirt work on highway 33. Spokesmen for the group said they represented the unemployed men in Pampa. They petitioned the court to require the contractors, Cooke & Braden, to hire all employes and laborers on the jobs in the Pampa community. They urged that "drastic" steps be taken to obtain 100 per cent of the laborers in this community.

They expressed the opinion that the court should enforce the home-labor clause that has been inserted in every contract between commissioners and contractors this year.

The group of men appeared before the court about 11 o'clock, and no other business was transacted this morning. The regular session is due to continue through tomorrow and possibly longer. Members of the Welfare Board were scheduled to meet with the court this afternoon to discuss a plan proposed by the board under which the county would help the board in providing necessities of life and medical attention to unemployed, indigent, and poverty-stricken people.

Mrs. Ed Jones and daughters, Oletha, Etha, and Martha, returned last night after a week's visit in Houston and Galveston.

Methodist Board Raps Wet Plank

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C., July 11 (AP)—The Democratic party's plank for repeal of the eighteenth amendment has drawn the fire of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, and of Bishop James Cannon Jr., who was the main-spring of the anti-Smith movement which swept part of the "solid south" into the Republican fold in 1928.

Denouncing it, the board's annual report, prepared at its meeting here, asserts "any attempt by any party platform declaration to bind the members of that party on a moral issue is a distinct invasion of the moral reason and is, therefore, not only an indefensible incursion, but a gross insult to infringement of the rights of conscientious citizenship."

"Such action will be repudiated throughout the country and this entirely apart from prohibition."

Picket Is Killed in Mine Affray

BELLAIRE, O., July 11. (AP)—One picket was killed, a working miner was wounded probably fatally and three alleged reporters of a New York Communist newspaper were arrested in fresh outbreaks of trouble in the Ohio bituminous coal strike over the week-end.

Steven Bowen, 40, Buchtel, a picket at the Millfield mine of the Sunday Creek Coal company, died today from effects of a bullet wound suffered yesterday when he and other pickets are alleged to have tried to stop Clarence Grant, a working miner, from reporting for duty.

In this High-pressure Age smokers want a Milder Cigarette

WE LIVE in a fast-moving age. We work harder... play harder... travel quicker. And we smoke more cigarettes.

But there's this about it: They have got to be milder today. In this high-pressure age, smokers don't like strong cigarettes.

About four miles of warehouses are filled with mild, ripe, Domestic tobaccos, stored away to age for two years to make them mild and mellow for CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.

To make sure that CHESTERFIELD is a milder cigarette, the greater part of 90 million dollars is invested in the tobaccos used in CHESTERFIELD. These tobaccos are "Cross-Blended."

This "Welding" Together—or "Cross-Blending"—permits every kind of tobacco used in the CHESTERFIELD blend to partake of the best qualities of every other type. It's the same principle that Burbank used in crossing different fruits to make a still better fruit.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder... never harsh... and that's why, in this high-pressure age, more smokers, men and women, are changing to CHESTERFIELDS every day.

Body of Explorer Is Believed Found

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 11 (TP)—A body, believed to be that of Herms Kohler or Fred Connel, who entered the Kokosok river at Quebec peninsula in July of last year, was reported discovered by Indians on the banks of George's river, Labrador, in messages reaching here today from Hopedale, Labrador.

Kohler was from Orange, N. J., and Connel from Glen Ridge. They entered the Kokosok river at Ohimo, on Ungava bay, last July, traveling toward its source, which took them in a southerly direction into the interior of the peninsula. They were accompanied by Jim

TWO BUSINESS WOMEN COMPLIMENTED AT BREAKFAST

Hospitable Reception Is Arranged for Texas Visitors in Los Angeles

PRESIDENT AND BRIDE HONORED BY CLUB HERE

GIFTS ARE PRESENTED TO MRS. CLARK AND MISS SHEWMAKER

A lovely tribute to Miss Clara Lee Shewmaker, who is leaving for Borger, and Mrs. C. A. Clark, who before her recent marriage, was Miss Esther Thompson, took the form of a breakfast yesterday morning at the Court House cafe. The event was given by the Business and Professional Women's club, of which Miss Shewmaker recently was elected to serve as president for a second term.

Colorful flowers—roses, daisies, and snap dragons—made attractive decoration for the one long table, and corsages of sweet peas were individual favors.

Mrs. Flins Jordan was toastmistress for the program, which was opened with vocal selections, having ukulele accompaniment, by Virginia Rose and Dorothy Doucette.

Then Mrs. Glen Pool expressed the good wishes of the club to the one who "took the trail to Oklahoma," and a shower of lovely gifts was presented to Mrs. Clark.

Two original poems, dedicated to the guests of honor, were read by Mrs. Helen Turner, after which Miss Shewmaker was presented a dainty bag and handkerchief as a gift from the club.

At the close of the breakfast, the two guest singers led the club in singing "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain."

Those attending were Mesdames Jack Dunn, Charles Woolsey, Mabel Gee, Frank Lard, Curtis Clark, E. E. McNutt, Lee Vannoy, D. A. Robinson, Helen Turner, M. P. Downs, Olin E. Hinkle, Flins Jordan, Ed Fowler, Glen Pool; Misses Mabel Davis, Madeline Turley, Clara Lee Shewmaker, Lillie Dalton, Mildred Overall, Aurelia Miller of Amarillo and her mother, Virginia Rose, and Dorothy Doucette.

THREE PRETTY GIRLS GO PLACES AND DO THINGS

The girls, it seems, are going places, meeting people and doing things these days. Smiling Miss Carolyn Cummings, at the left, carried a bottle of orange juice 5,000 miles from her home in Santa Paula, Calif., around through the Panama Canal to Kearney, N. J., to christen the new liner Santa Paula. Here she's home again from her 10,000-mile trip. Second in line is Miss Elizabeth Glass, stepping from the liner which brought her back to Los Angeles from exciting experiences in Guatemala, where she accompanied her mother, Mrs. Bertha Walker Glass, the noted artist, on a "sketching expedition" in the Mayan jungles. At the right is Miss Marjorie King of Hollywood and Broadway, pictured on her arrival in San Francisco to complete the purchase of an exotic little island near Tahiti from Zane Grey, its owner. There she will establish a queenhood all her own.

HOSTESSES TO PROVIDE MANY SOCIAL EVENTS

AMUSEMENTS FOR ALL TO BE FURNISHED AT OLYMPICS

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—With the arrival of many of the teams from the 50 nations participating in the Tenth Olympiad in Los Angeles and adoption of residence in the Olympic Village constructed for them, the reception planned for the visitors from Texas is attracting attention among the state hostesses committees, organized to entertain the guests coming to see the games.

Visitors planning to attend the Olympic games, starting July 30 and concluding August 14 are assured a splendid visit under the guidance of Mrs. Bertram Eugene Green, chairman of the Texas Olympic hostesses committee, and her lieutenants. Each state is delegated to register with a corresponding committee. Prospective guests from Texas should immediately notify Mrs. Green, 901 South Plymouth boulevard, Los Angeles, or headquarters at the Biltmore or Alexandria hotels. Her committee is made up of former Texans, Mrs. Green being from Dallas. Mrs. Arthur Wright, a native Californian, heads the 52 hostesses committees.

There are teas, tours, receptions, garden parties, beach barbecues, trips through the motion picture studios, private yachting parties and courtships of country and beach clubs, all planned for the Texas visitors in personally conducted parties, while the magnitude of the athletes' program makes every day a gala day in the Olympic stadium or other Southland amusement centers. Competitions in the following events are promised in history making cards starting with a gigantic opening ceremony the afternoon of July 30, and including weightlifting, fencing, wrestling, field hockey, cycling, pentathlon, yachting, swimming, demonstration of La Crosse, gymnastics, boxing, rowing, equestrian sports, demonstration of American football, shooting and complete presentation of athletics. A fine arts display of competition exhibits will be maintained at the Los Angeles county museum.

Personal messages or wires to Mrs. Green at her home, 901 South Plymouth boulevard, Los Angeles, will insure gracious hospitality and aid in making reservations, which should be made early.

Morning Outing Held Today by Baptist Group

A breakfast of fruit, bacon, eggs, and coffee tasted all the better for having been eaten around a camp fire this morning. The outing was held by members of the Livestock B. Y. P. U. First Baptist church, who left the church this morning at 6 o'clock for a spot near Hoover.

In addition to preparation of the breakfast, a bit of exploring was done by the boys and girls.

Those attending were Miss Geneva Groom, leader and Herbert Reynolds, Fred Mason, Oscar Clemett, Robert Neal, Garland Chisum, Hershel Long, Julia Baker, Velma

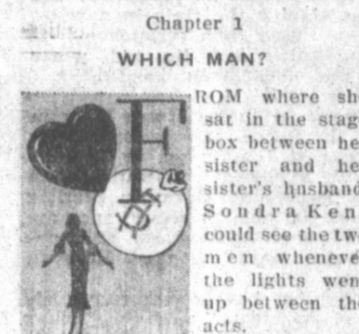

Long, Kathryn Erzell, Catherine Ward, Ruth White, Elizabeth Mc-Afee, Pauline Stapp, Nancy Fry, Cleo Lee, Loulene Conklin, Margaret Huff, Bonnie Shannon, Roy Bridges and Mildred Tolbert.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Tompkins of Dallas are visiting here for a few days.

H. S. Mann of Childress is transacting business here.

The Faithful Cheat

BY RUBY M. AYRES

Chapter I
WHICH MAN?

FROM where she sat in the stage box between her sister and her sister's husband, Sondra Kent could see the two men whenever the lights went up between the acts.

John Anderson, very distinguished looking in the third row of the orchestra; was a trifle bored even while he did best to be interested in the play, and polite to the woman beside him. Mark Merriman, in a not very good row of the dress circle, was finding it difficult to keep his eyes on the stage because they turned so often to where Sondra sat.

Sondra, nervous, undecided, unhappy, was turning over the most momentous question of her life, while Flora beside her disregarded the play and criticized the audience, and Flora's husband snored peacefully, screened by the curtains.

Whenever the lights went up in the theater Sondra looked critically at John Anderson. Whenever they went down again she thought of Mark Merriman, and wondered helplessly why it should be possible to care so very much for a man, and yet be quite determined that nothing on earth would ever induce her to marry him.

Merriman was 28, good-looking, cheery, optimistic and penniless, with a future even more hopeless than her own, seeing that he had nothing beyond his personality to guarantee him a prominent place in the long line of candidates all of whom were waiting at the gate of the future, hoping for something good to turn up.

John Anderson was rich, influential and 47, and both men loved her.

Neither of them had said so in so many words, for Anderson was a married man, long separated from a wife who would not divorce him, and Merriman had nothing but his love to offer her.

Merriman was not a sentimentalist who believed that little else mattered if only one loved well enough, for he had been brought up in middle class poverty himself, and hated it only a little less than Sondra hated it.

He had watched his parents stint themselves almost of necessities in order to give him a good education, and then after half a dozen years of struggling to turn his father's small and inefficient firm into a paying concern, he had watched that father die, a broken, disappointed man, and had found himself face to face with failure.

He had been quite frank about it to Sondra.

"What little there is left out of the ruin will be mother's, of course, and I might as well try my luck in some other country."

"Do you think it will be better in any other country than this is in America?" she had asked him.

"Aren't things pretty much the same everywhere unless you have money or influence?"

The old man had been scornful. "What's love got to do with it?" he demanded. "Marriage kills love. Love's all right, but you want to keep it in its place."

It amused Sondra to realize how literally she was for once, intending not to take his advice.

She loved Mark. Merriman, but she had no more intention of ever marrying him than she had of jumping off Brooklyn bridge.

"The result would be suicide either way," she told herself.

So, tonight she was trying to make up her mind to ask Anderson to send him to the Congo.

She knew he would do it for her. John Anderson was a dear, he was like something warm and secure in her life; if he had been free she would unhesitatingly have married him, considering that gratitude and affection were a good enough basis whereon to build a future if love could not be included in the bargain.

The play came to an uproarious end, and Flora leaned over and poked her husband.

"Wake up—for heaven's sake," she nudged impatiently.

Lonax came to himself with a tremendous yawn, rumpiling his thin, fast graying hair, and stretching his big arms inelegantly.

Magnolia Hearing to Be on July 19

The hearing of the application of the Magnolia Petroleum company for renewal of a permit to use Wheeler county residue gas for the manufacture of carbon black will come before the Texas railway commission July 19, according to a notice received here this morning.

The hearing was originally set for last month but was postponed. The company was granted a permit March 1, 1932. From the evidence submitted the commission will either renew the permit or reject the application.

Several local men will go to Austin for the hearing.

Christian Science Churches Consider Sacramento Sunday

"Sacramento" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, July 10.

"Let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup," was the golden text, taken from I Corinthians 11:28. Included in the passages read from the Bible was the following from Luke 23:33-34: "And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him. . . Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."

The service also embraced citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; among which was the following from page 571: "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil."

Editor, The NEWS:
I would like to speak to the honorable candidates, from constable to governor.

It is being rumored that the Gray County Home Labor union is "busted up." Well, that is not the case.

Any candidate is at liberty to come to our hall just west of the Gray-Pampa hotel and state his or her platform.

Yours truly,
W. H. WEMPLE.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Shaw of Dallas arrived here yesterday to visit friends.

ly at John Anderson. Whenever they went down again she thought of Mark Merriman, and wondered helplessly why it should be possible to care so very much for a man, and yet be quite determined that nothing on earth would ever induce her to marry him.

Merriman was 28, good-looking, cheery, optimistic and penniless, with a future even more hopeless than her own, seeing that he had nothing beyond his personality to guarantee him a prominent place in the long line of candidates all of whom were waiting at the gate of the future, hoping for something good to turn up.

John Anderson was rich, influential and 47, and both men loved her.

Neither of them had said so in so many words, for Anderson was a married man, long separated from a wife who would not divorce him, and Merriman had nothing but his love to offer her.

Merriman was not a sentimentalist who believed that little else mattered if only one loved well enough, for he had been brought up in middle class poverty himself, and hated it only a little less than Sondra hated it.

He had watched his parents stint themselves almost of necessities in order to give him a good education, and then after half a dozen years of struggling to turn his father's small and inefficient firm into a paying concern, he had watched that father die, a broken, disappointed man, and had found himself face to face with failure.

He had been quite frank about it to Sondra.

"What little there is left out of the ruin will be mother's, of course, and I might as well try my luck in some other country."

"Do you think it will be better in any other country than this is in America?" she had asked him.

"Aren't things pretty much the same everywhere unless you have money or influence?"

wealthy man can befriend a penniless girl. He would be furious, of course, in the way that some men are furious with women who take extravagant presents from men who are not related to them.

She sighed and glanced at her sister, scrutinizing the packed house through her lorgnette, the picture of complacent prosperity and selfishness.

Years ago their father, an impetuous optimistic fishman, had said with a chuckle:

"I don't know what's to become of you two girls if you can't wing some millionaires for a husband. You're both good looking, but that's all; if it ever came to making yourselves useful, God help you both."

Well, Flora had successfully winged her husband, for if Ben Lonax was not quite a millionaire he was rich enough to be entirely generous with his wife and abominably mean with everyone else.

Sondra knew that she herself was only allowed to live with them because of Flora's intervention, and that they would both welcome a day that saw her safely and securely married.

She thought of her father tonight with a queer pang.

She had disapproved of him, and yet there had been something about him that one could not help loving.

He had been his own worst enemy. He had once had more than his share of good fortune and had thrown it carelessly away with both generous hands, dishing with a dollar in his pocket and a pile of I. O. U.'s in his desk—an optimist to the end.

"You'll be all right—" were almost his last words to her. "With that face of yours you could marry any man you chose—only take care you choose one with money."

Sondra had reminded him that men with money were often very unlovable people.

For a moment he stared at the stage with blinking eyes, then mechanically he began to clap.

"Good, very good—" he said vaguely, regardless of the fact that he had heard no more than the opening chorus.

"Pat your straight and let's get out before the crowd," his wife said tartly and led the way out of the box.

Sondra followed her, listlessly dragging her wrap about her shoulders.

She was so tired of everything, glancing at her sister's face she wondered if Flora ever felt the same.

"Good looking," their father had called them.

Yes, that was true enough; she supposed, catching sight of their two reflections in a lobby mirror. They were very much alike, except that Flora was darker, harder looking—somehow. There was something about the almost flawless beauty of her face that looked as if she had met life squarely and got the better of it to her own tragic detriment. Her laugh was an ineffable note in it, and her voice a sharper edge than before she was married, and yet Ben Lonax adored her as Sondra knew well, and only shut his eyes to her impudence and indifference because he was mortally afraid that if he ever dared to mention it, Flora would walk out of his life.

A block in the crowd brought them to a momentary standstill and Sondra looked at her own reflection.

She was smaller than Flora—slighter, with blue eyes instead of brown, fair hair that fell naturally into long loose waves, and a mouth carved in rather discontented thinness.

The crowd parted a little and moved on, and Sondra found John Anderson beside her.

(Copyright, 1932, by Ruby M. Ayres)

Will Mark come and speak to her? Sondra considered, wondering, having her sister for—freeedom.

FIFTY-EIGHT HITS RING OUT IN RECORD MAKING TILT

ATHLETICS IN GREAT WIN AS YANKEES LOSE

JOHNNY BURNETT GETS NINE SAFETIES OUT OF 11

By GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Sports Writer. The Philadelphia Athletics were only six games out of first place in the American league today, having written into the records one of the most spectacular long-distance victories in baseball history.

Eighteen innings they traveled yesterday to beat Cleveland, 18 to 17, and it was a game the likes of which was not seen in a blue moon. It was won and lost a half-dozen times before Jimmie Fox finally scored the deciding run.

To give some idea, Johnny Burnett of the Indians collected nine hits in eleven times at bat and his teammates, Averil and Morgan, each cracked five. Fox, with six hits, including three home runs, knocked in eight runs for the A's. Simmons had five. There were 58 hits.

Burnett's feat, for all the records disclose, might have established a major league record. The average mark of seven hits, set by Wilbert Robinson before the turn of the century, was in a regulation length contest. But for the fact Ed Morgan, Cleveland first baseman, let an easy roller trickle through his legs after two were out in the ninth, Cleveland would have won then and there.

MY LIFE and the OLYMPICS by PAAVO NURMI

Banks of the Aurajoki river, which flows through Turku, Finland, along which Paavo Nurmi wandered with boyhood dreams of track conquest, are shown above. MAKING A MOTION PICTURE The Inside Story of the FOX Picture "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm"

Chapter VI Rushes, Cutting, and final. JIG-SAW puzzles are a current fad and perhaps the chief enthusiasts can be found among the film players. This is an appropriate simile for nothing so resembles the making of a motion picture as trying to fit together the various components of a jig-saw puzzle.

Unbiased audience reaction, the name of the theatre where the film is to be shown is kept secret. Latest, this news is kept even from the cast, only the featured players being allowed to attend.

Rebecca was shown in a small town near Hollywood. Director Santell, Marian Nixon, Ralph Bellamy, in company with executives of the studio and the more important members of the technical staff slipped quietly and unannounced into their seats near the back of the house.

Everyone sat tense, knowing that in the next few moments would be revealed whether their efforts of the past week were to be crowned with success or failure. And at the end of the showing, when the audience applauded, Marian Nixon just sat and cried, "I am so happy," was all she could say to director Santell.

Approximately 75,000,000 persons, throughout the country, pay to see pictures every week. It might be interesting to know how much of the money he pays at the box office is spent in filming the pictures with the making of which he is now somewhat familiar.

BEAUMONT ON WRONG END OF 'HOT BOX'

HERRING AND SULLIVAN ARE CLOUTED FOR 18 HITS

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer. The Beaumont baseball limited developed a hot-box in trying to win number twelve yesterday and San Antonio defeated the Exporters 13 to 4.

After rushing through three consecutive short games where Beaumont hurled has pitched 36 consecutive scoreless innings, the hot box occurred when San Antonio clouted Herring and Sullivan for sixteen hits.

Beaumont's defeat put pinchers on the second half chase for it left the Exporters only two games in front of Dallas which cracked Longview with a 6 to 3 victory.

Fort Worth made sure of lingering in third place for at least another day by scoring six runs in the third and a couple more in the fourth to beat Tyler, 8 to 7. The Sports got away to a three-run lead in the first inning.

Ralph Judd, Houston right hander, clocked with his twelfth win of the season when he beat Galveston, 4 to 1. He scattered eight hits effectively. Galveston crowded the bases in the ninth with one batter, but Judd settled down and retired Moleworth and Allen to terminate the threatening scoring spree.

FRESHMAN IS CHAMP MINNEAPOLIS, July 11. (AP)—Lester Stoenen, youthful University of Southern California freshman, won the singles title of the Minneapolis invitational tennis tournament yesterday, beating John Henne of Indianapolis, 1931 winner, 2-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, 9-7.

Paired with Bill Robertson, of Minneapolis, the Los Angeles youth also won the doubles finals, turning back Karl Kamrath and Sterling Williams, Austin, Tex., 1-6, 6-2, 6-3, 8-6.

New Alamo Stadium Will Be Used—Teams May Be Imported To Event.

By The Associated Press. Of the more than score of nations who challenged this year for the Davis cup, emblematic of world tennis supremacy, only three remained today—the United States, Germany and Italy.

The United States qualified for the interzone finals some weeks ago by winning the American zone title, Germany and Italy now will clash in the European zone finals, the right to play France, cup-holder, in the challenge round.

Germany sprang a tremendous upset yesterday by eliminating the highly-favored British squad, three matches to two. Italy, at the same time, conquered Japan by the same score.

After dividing the opening singles matches with Germany in Dublin Friday, the Britons gained a 2-1 lead by winning the doubles Saturday. At this time they looked like certain winners, but Germany's singles ace, Daniel Prinn, and Gottfried von Cramm, won both final matches yesterday. Von Cramm defeated Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, while Prinn defeated Fred Perry, 6-2, 6-4, 8-6, 6-7, 5.

Crazed Man Kills Four And Himself

MISHAWAK, Ind., July 7 (AP)—A trivial argument about a broken wagon led Joseph Hannack, 45-year-old farmer, to slay three relatives with a shotgun and kill himself, police learned today. Hannack, said to have served with the Austrian army in the war, shot his wife, his brother, and his nephew from behind as they sought fraternally to escape yesterday. Then he turned his single-barreled shotgun on himself.

TEXAS RAILROADS PAY SUBSTANTIAL PART OF STATE'S TAX BURDEN

● Taxes is one of the large fixed charges connected with the operation of Texas railroads. From the standpoint of the welfare of state, counties and communities, railroad taxes are of much importance. This annual obligation must be met from the earning capacity of the rail carriers.

In 1931 the railroads of Texas paid a total of $8,303,108.47 in federal, state, county, municipal and miscellaneous taxes. The distribution of this amount to the various tax funds is shown below: U. S. Government, State, County, Roads, Improvement Districts, Schools, Cities, Miscellaneous.

It can thus be seen that railroad taxes represent an important and indispensable factor in the economic life of our state. They help in a large measure to pay the expense of our state, county and municipal government, build and maintain highways, pay the cost of drainage and other improvements, and support our schools and educational institutions.

It is the desire of Texas railroads to extend this helpfulness to Texas counties and communities in carrying this heavy burden. However, their ability to meet these obligations as they become due depends upon their ability to earn sufficient revenue with which to pay this and other heavy expenses connected with their operation.

● RAILROADS HAVE ALWAYS SHOULDERS THEIR SHARE OF RESPONSIBILITIES TO THE NATION, THE STATE, AND THE CITIES AND COMMUNITIES THEY SERVE, AND WILL CONTINUE TO DO SO TO THE EXTENT OF THEIR ABILITY.

Little Change in Mail Volume Seen

Little change has been noticed in the amount of outgoing and incoming mail at the local postoffice, officials said this morning. The rate of postage went up to three cents on the first ounce Wednesday morning.

THE END

A slight difference in the number of air mail letters has been noticed, however. The price of air mail delivery went from 5 cents to 8 cents for the first ounce and from 10 cents to 13 cents for each additional ounce. The local office had a good business during June.

Growling at Luck Means Bad Score

By JOHNNY FARRELL (As Told To Artie McGovern). "Why do I get an 80 one day, and the very next a 96?" This kind question is easy to answer. Bad putting alone may cost 18 strokes in a round. Moreover, if you fret about it, you are sure to bungler your next tee shot after a 3-putt green and it's here that Old Kid Temperament comes in.

Old Swimming Hole

In the summers I went to the swimming school. The distance there was four miles, but I made nothing of it—twice a day! And, if the distance was long to the swimming school, the woods were near at hand. There I spent hours upon hours, examining plants and birds. I gathered plants for school children who would not be bothered with the work. I was a great one for finding birds' nests.

Spending Leisure Time

At home I speak still less than outside. We never talk athletics, nor do I take any sporting newspaper. I read books, study the great happenings in the world in the newspapers and with a certain interest I follow politics. My father used to take part in party-politics, but I have never done so. I am no friend of company, nor even visitors.

COTTON LOWER

NEW ORLEANS, July 11 (AP)—Cotton had a fairly steady opening today, notwithstanding that Liverpool cables came in worse than due. First trades here showed losses of 4 points. There was a recovery of two points right after the start on some short covering but the market soon eased again on early reports of good weather in the belt. October dropped to 5.81 and December to 5.95, or 5 to 7 points down from Saturday's close.

Near the end of the first hour the market was quiet and steady but at the lows.

Advices from the cotton goods trade indicated a considerable improvement in sales during the past week.

negotiations were a hoax, but later he repudiated this confession and when the trial opened the state accepted the repudiation and based its charges on the allegation that Curtis had been in touch with the kidnapers and then had prevented their capture by the hoax confession.

In arguing for arrest of judgment, Fisher said Curtis had been made the "goat" because he was "honest enough to come within the state's jurisdiction."

After the motion for arrest of judgment was denied, prosecutor Anthony Hauck recommended, in view of the jury's plea for mercy, that Curtis be sentenced to two years in state prison and a fine of $1,000.

Is Not Nervous.

As soon as arguments were completed today, Curtis was called to the bar, where he faced Judge

Adam O. Robbins without apparent nervousness.

"You have been convicted by a jury of committing a misdemeanor," said Judge Robbins. "It now becomes my unpleasant duty to impose sentence. In my ten years of experience I have never given a sentence so much consideration and thought."

"The jury recommended mercy. There is evidence that you are a respectable citizen, but these matters can not sway the court. I sentence you to serve one year and pay a fine of $1,000."

Curtis then returned to the defense counsel table while defense and prosecution attorneys moved up to the bench to discuss details of appeal.

In arguing for a new trial, Fisher said "the best lead in the Lindbergh case is in an army cantonment," but he did not elaborate on the statement.
