OFFICIALS TO COME IN TIME FOR RAIL OPENING

A hearing by the Texas railway commission in response to a petition signed by 110 Gray county producers, lease and royalty owners, protesting against the activities of the Danciger Oil & Refining company and others in offsetting oil wells, will be held in the city hall auditorium at 10 a. m. July 16, according to a telegram received here yesterday afternoon.

The hearing will be presided over by C. V. Terrell of the Texas railway commission. R. D. Parker, chairman of the oil and gas division of the commission, and Ernest O. Thompson, who was appointed to replace Pat Neff, also will attend the hearing. Len M. Smith is expected to be present, although his definite answer has not been received. A representative of the attorney general will be present.

The petition asks that the meeting be held for the purpose of investigating the drilling of new wells from wells without regard to proration orders. The oil is being produced under an injunction that was dissolved but appealed by the Danciger company.

It is claimed that the Danciger company and other are taking oil from wells without regard to proration orders. The oil is being produced under an injunction that was dissolved but appealed by the Danciger company.

Relatives Held As Gray County Prisoner Escapes

W. W. Killough and G. J. Brown were being held in the county jail yesterday on charges of aiding Doyal Killough to escape from jail Friday. Their bonds were set at $500 each by James Todd, Jr., justice of the peace. Killough had not been captured last night.

Doyal Killough was fined $100 and costs in connection with the theft of gasoline from the Magnolia Petroleum company. He was "laying out" the fine in jail. Had he served the fine in jail, he would have remained a prisoner 113 days.

Friday afternoon, he was permitted to talk to W. W. Killough, a brother, and Brown, a brother-in-law, in a small room at the entrance to the elevator. While the three men were in the room behind a closed door, the youth went to the basement in the elevator and escaped through the door leading from the basement to Frost street, officers said.

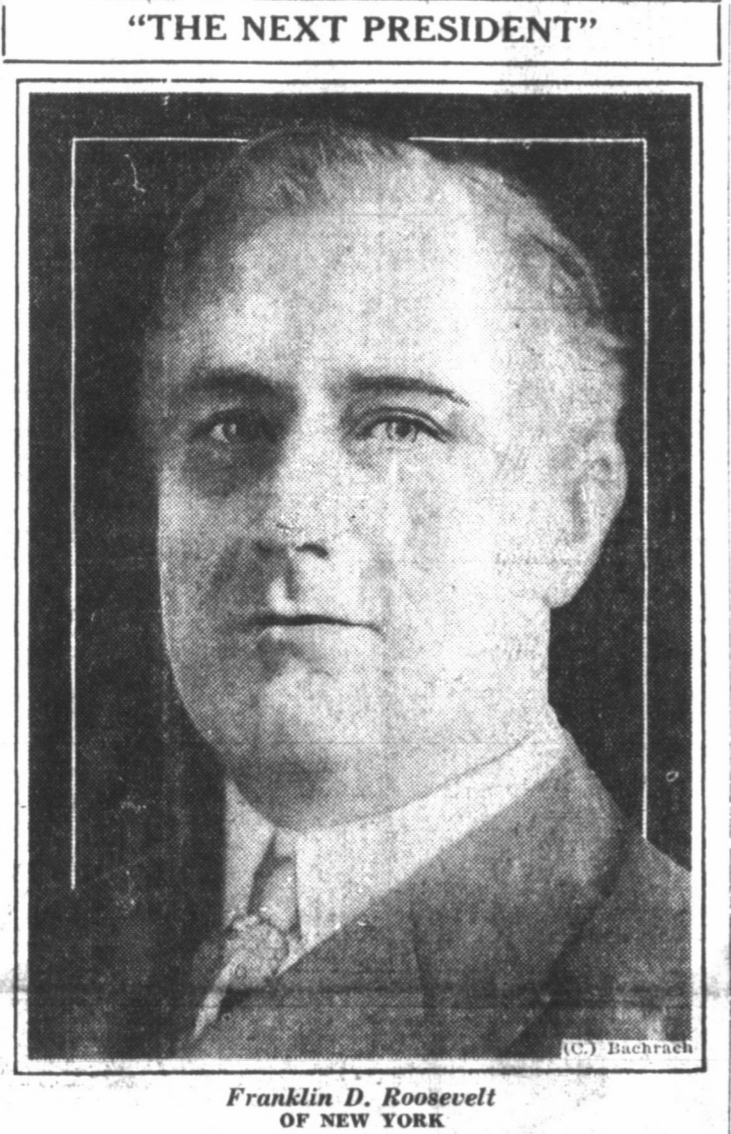

The brother and Brown said the Killough family was going to California and asked permission to see Doyal Killough before they left.

VETERANS ARE WELL PLEASED BY STAY HERE

Marchers Are Given Food and Fuel by Citizens

Pat Murphy, famous war ace and revolutionist, and 35 members of the California "bonus army," spent Monday afternoon and night in Pampa. The contingent was part of 1,000 veterans en route from California to Washington to fight for payment of adjusted compensation certificates. They left the main body at Lubbock and decided to take Highway 60.

The famous leader of the band has been in two wars and seven revolutions, five of them in Mexico. He was with Escobar in his last attempt to gain the throne. "Just because I am known as a revolutionist does not mean that I am a Red or that any of my followers are Reds," Murphy told a NEWS representative yesterday morning before leaving Pampa. "Every man in this company is a true-blooded American who fought for his country."

"Every one of them has the same idea—if he gets his money he will pay debts and put the money into circulation and not 'freeze' it like the money the government gave the banks and the railroads to tide them over. None of that money ever reached the public by putting more men to work."

The group was made up 28 executive men, five women, and three

MERCY RECOMMENDED AS VERDICT IS GIVEN

DEFENSE IS SARCASTIC

LINDBERGH IS SAID TO STILL BE MOST POPULAR MAN

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 2.—(AP)—A jury of seven men and five women convicted John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk, Va., boat builder, today of aiding the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby and preventing their capture. They recommended mercy.

Curtis was returned to the jail where he has languished for six weeks, to await sentence July 11 by Judge Adam O. Robbins. The maximum penalty under the indictment is three years imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

Curtis stared straight ahead of him as the verdict of "guilty" was pronounced.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who testified as the state's principal witness in the trial and remained in court as long as testimony continued, was not present.

The defense announced it will file an appeal at once.

"This is the greatest blot ever on Jersey justice," declared Lloyd Fisher, defense lawyer. "The jury doesn't know what Mr. Curtis was convicted of. All it did was to decide Colonel Lindbergh still is the most popular man in the country."

"It is a just verdict," said the prosecutor. "In order to convict the jury had to believe Curtis over what he had instructed them when court convened this morning. You must find that John Hughes Curtis acted knowingly—that is, he had contact with the actual kidnapers or knew their whereabouts."

Colonel Lindbergh testified at the trial that he did not believe Curtis ever was in contact with the kidnapers. The court also instructed that the fact that Curtis did not take the stand is his own defense "justified the inference" he was unable to deny the charges against him.

County Bridges Open to Traffic

Two bridges on the Pampa-McLean road were opened to traffic yesterday according to A. H. Doucette, county engineer. The last span of the new bridge across Trout creek was finished yesterday morning, opening the new route between Pampa and LeFors with the exception of the underpass under the Fort Worth and Denver railway.

Flooding on the bridge across the Red River, which was burned several months ago, was laid yesterday, but the sides have not been erected. The bridge can be used, however.

The road is in fair condition despite recent heavy rains.

Party Now In Debt $420,000 Raskob Reveals

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—James A. Farley, New York, was unanimously named chairman of the democratic national committee tonight.

Farley, who managed the pre-convention campaign of Governor Roosevelt, was placed in nomination for chairman at the meeting of the national committee by John H. McCooey, new national committee man for New York.

Governor Roosevelt previously had made it known Farley was his choice to manage his campaign in the capacity of national chairman.

John J. Raskob, retiring chairman, opened the meeting and in absence of a formal treasurer's report informed the committee obligations of $420,000 were outstanding. He said there was a note with the Guaranty Trust company for $300,000 with accrued interest since June 13 to be paid and a personal note of his own of $120,000.

"I am willing to await payment of my note until the bank note is fully liquidated," Mr. Raskob informed the committee.

He said that in 1928 there had been paid by the national committee $1,285,000 in loans and interest and that in addition there had been spent by the national committee $740,000.

Fergusonism Will Be Much Opposed In Gray County

The Rev. L. A. Roll of LeFors has been appointed to represent the Gray county Sterling-for-Governor organization, it was announced yesterday.

At the same time, it was said that M. D. Bentley would have a similar function at McLean.

A mass meeting of Sterling supporters will be held in Pampa Wednesday at the courthouse. The time will be 2:30 p. m. Organization of a Pampa club will probably be undertaken at that time. Opposition to the re-entry of Fergusonism in Texas politics is growing here.

'CACTUS JACK' GARNER HELPS PARTY CHANCE

Tugged Texan Is Unanimous Choice As Mate for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—A rugged, two-fisted Texan—Speaker John Nance Garner—was selected today by the democratic convention as the running mate to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

His overwhelming choice placed a strong national democratic ticket before the American people.

A popular candidate for the presidency himself, it was he who made it possible for the New York governor to receive the nomination on the fourth ballot by releasing the and California.

50 votes pledged to him by Texas. Coorful, dynamic, enthusiastic, the Texan undoubtedly will make friends when he takes the stump throughout the country on campaign tours. He is a good speaker and thinks fast on his feet.

Back of him, in the house, the silver haired and ruddy faced veteran has thirty years of service through three of the most interesting decades in United States history. He became speaker last December.

"Cactus Jack."

Known by friends over the country as "Cactus Jack," the 65-year-old Texan, is recognized as an astute and bold politician. His capacity for making and holding friends and ability to quickly reach the crux of a situation, made him long ago a potentiality for high party office.

Long a member of the powerful Ways and Means committee that makes tax making and tariff legislation, Garner became the leading expert in the house on those subjects. He made that known in 1924, when he re-wrote a Mellon-Mills tax bill on the floor through knowledge and aggressiveness.

It was his successful first congress that he assumed the leadership of his party in the house.

He coalesced factions of his party into a solid working organization that contributed much toward the seizure of the house last December. He succeeded in making friends of political enemy, the late Nicholas Longworth, as speaker.

All offices in the city hall will be closed Monday, July 4. City Manager C. L. Stine said this morning. The water works department in the city hall will be closed but there will be someone at the wells all day in case of accident.

AI Smith, Silent and Beaten Fighter, May Bolt His Party Rather Than Support Enemy

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—Elfred E. Smith, a silent, defeated man, turned his back upon Chicago and the arriving democratic presidential nominee.

Surrounded by members of his family and close friends, he boarded a special train for the return trip to New York while Franklin D. Roosevelt, his successful opponent and former close friend, was approaching the scene of his triumph to accept the decree of his party.

Smith, himself, gave no indication of whether he intended to support the nominee in the coming campaign. From his associates, however, there came expressions of belief that he would not. A member of his party said he had not sent a communication of any kind to Governor Roosevelt.

The one-time intimate of Roosevelt who made good his threat to "take off his coat and fight—but who lost that fight—arrived home from the fray a feeling of bitterness.

Strangely enough, William Gibbs McAdoo, his rival to eight years ago, was one of those who again helped to defeat him.

CHICAGO STADIUM, July 2 (AP)—Proclaiming his plans for an intense campaign on "the main issue" of the economic situation, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt personally accepted the democratic nomination for president late today with the declaration of the national convention that its platform suited him "one hundred per cent."

As the convention itself had done by resolution while waiting for him to arrive by airplane from Albany, he invited dissatisfied republican to march in the attack on the Hoover administration "between now and November."

"The 18th amendment is doomed," he cried with his eyes glittering, as he congratulated the cheering delegates "for having had the courage, fearlessly to pledge repeal of the prohibition amendment. He did not mention modification of the Volstead act to allow beer and wine, which the platform calls for.

Without going deeply into detail, he promised a program aimed to alleviate distress and unemployment, restore the farmers purchasing power, slash government expenditures drastically, and adjust tariffs in the interest of the people."

Fire Loss Here Still Very Low

Pampa's fire loss for the first six months of 1932 was almost the lowest in the history of the city, according to the report of Chief Clyde Gold. The department answered only 48 calls during the half-year period. The calls were divided as follows: 16 frame dwellings; 6 mercantile buildings; 12 grass and trash; 8 automobile; 1 false alarm; 5 outside the city limits.

The total valuation of the property where fires occurred was estimated at $33,800. The total insurance loss was only $1,960.

The month of June was free from fire damage. Only two calls were answered inside the city limits and both were outside-the-city fires. No damage resulted in either call.

Chief Gold made 293 inspections and corrected 113 fire hazards. He made three investigations.

Chief Gold urges parents to watch children and fire works over the holiday. Setting off fire works inside the city limits is against the law, but many will disregard the fact. There is much danger of fire and injury from fire crackers and fire works.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONER ERNEST THOMPSON is said to be digging into his new office with enthusiasm which promises to make him quickly familiar with the major and vexing problems before that important body. He is fortunate in having experienced associates who have studied the oil problems of Texas in general and East Texas in particular, and who by trial and error have arrived at least tentative solutions.

The oil problems are, of course, only a few of the big issues constantly before the commission demanding experienced judgment. But the oil industry is so important to Texas, both in furnishing wealth, payrolls, and taxable values, that the handling of the subject by the railroad commission is vital to every Texan.

And Legislation, Too

Oil legislation is likewise of tremendous importance to Texas and to the Panhandle. In this connection we call attention to the fact that this section has few representatives who live close to the oil belt. That is why so many people desired that Pampa should furnish a candidate for state representative. That is why Judge Ivy Duncan, himself an oil operator with a first-hand knowledge of the industry's problems, was urged to become that candidate. It is far from our intention to cast any reflection upon the other candidates in the race. They are our friends and we believe they have the best interests of the district at heart. There is no substitute, however, for experience in oil and gas problems. Judge Duncan should be elected because he is familiar with all the problems of the district and particularly qualified to represent the oil belt of the Panhandle in the legislating which is certain to be proposed at the next legislature.

Still Enthusiastic

It is little short of remarkable that road bond issues are still being voted in the face of present conditions and the avowed disapproval of Governor Ross Sterling. The governor has realized for several years the injustice of Texas' old system of requiring counties to assist the state. That is what it was, and it never was "state aid" to counties. Designated highways should, as Senator Clint Small says, be paid for by the state out of the gasoline levy upon the traffic itself. And a plan should be worked out to let the state assume the outstanding indebtedness of counties which have voted bonds in recent years.

Gray county residents are looking to this proposal with keen interest. Its success would be equivalent to lifting a big tax burden off the assessed valuations of this county. The legislature should provide at once for gradual inauguration of this state policy.

The road bond issue to which we referred above was in Hartley county, where the vote was 603 for and 147 against. Hartley county wished her designations clinched and the stigma of muddy roads removed. She was impatient, under the urging of Dalhart, and she literally voted a burden on her property to speed what legitimately is state business. And we repeat, the state ought to assume that tax burden and place it on the traffic which will benefit, and that includes the residents of Hartley county who, like tourists, must buy gasoline.

Hardly Practical

The Abilene NEWS comments on a plan used by California motorcycle police in trying to convince speeders of the futility of stepping on the gas. In brief, the plan is to stop a speeder, ask him where he is going, and figure out with him the needless haste.

For instance, daughter may be going downtown to the postoffice. The difference between 20 miles per hour and 40 miles would be less than two minutes—and what is 2 minutes? The saving is not enough to justify risking one's life and that of others.

True enough, even if daughter is "just dying" to read a letter from her boy friend. But speed is not caused by mere haste. It is a habit. The rush of wind across the face is a form of exhilaration which calls for more speed. Moreover, the senses soon become dulled to the sensation of speed, so that ever higher rates are necessary to produce a thrill.

One will note, after driving for hours around 50 miles per hour, that 20, 30 or even 40 miles an hour seems depressingly slow. Yet try to stop suddenly at those speeds and you will note your inability to do so.

Speeding must be controlled as a habit over which the will power alone will govern. Everyone can be made to realize that speeding around town is unnecessary. But a visit to the judge is the most effective cure, although even it is temporary. Moderns travel on their emotions, not their thoughts.

CHALLENGE OF LEISURE

Back in the palmy days of the stock market boom we used to hear a good deal about the "era of human leisure" that was just dawning, or just about to dawn. Five-hour days and four-day weeks were predicted for the immediate future, and a society in which man would spend more time at play than at work was forecast on every side.

We don't hear so much of that sort of talk nowadays—probably because so many millions of Americans have so much more leisure than they have any use for. But Dr. Robert A. Millikan, famous physicist, returned to the topic in a speech at Akron the other day and remarked that "the great job of the coming century" is to learn how to use the leisure that is going to be available.

The development of machinery and the advance of science, he said, are "making man the master of his fate and providing the opportunity for a civilization enormous-

WILL PAINT PLUGS

All fire plugs in the downtown section will be painted yellow and red by members of the fire department, City Manager C. L. Stine said yesterday. Strips 10 feet each way from the hydrant will be painted yellow with the words "NO PARKING" in red letters showing clearly.

Traffic Officer Wayne Nicholson will then be given orders to arrest anyone parking a car within 10 feet of a fire hydrant.

MAKING A MOTION PICTURE

The Inside Story of the FOX Picture
"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm"

Sonya Levien, who with S. N. Behrman prepared the screen play of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," shows the completed script of the Fox picture to Al Santsell, the director, and Marian Nixon who plays the feminine lead opposite Ralph Bellamy.

Chapter I

Story Selection—Research

It is a cloudless day in California. The scene is a little railroad stop, deep in the pine woods among the rolling hills near Santa Cruz. An old fashioned train made up of a light engine and three small coaches stands at the station.

Near the platform of the last car is gathered a strange group. Farther back, some hundreds of spectators are trying to crowd in for a closer view of the proceedings. Their interest is shared by others approaching down the country lane in cars, on horseback, and on foot.

They have come for miles to witness a scene in a motion picture being filmed. Some of them arose before dawn to get here in time. They want to see a man make a baby smile. At least that is what they are looking at. They stand, or sit, waiting, all eyes upon Director Alfred Santsell, who with the resources of a mighty studio organization, and the assistance of a large technical crew at his disposal is nevertheless at his wits' end to wheedle a smile from the little baby who seems to want nothing in the world except the privilege of crying long and loud.

Santsell stands on the rear platform, alongside the hooded camera that is to record the scene. Next to him is dainty little Marian Nixon and tall Ralph Bellamy, featured players in the picture being filmed, which is "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Others in the group are Glenn MacWilliams, chief cameraman; Joe McDonald, his veteran aide; three assistants; Joseph E. Aiken, sound engineer; and some fifty more of the technical staff.

The camera gears are turning, while hundreds of feet of raw film are exposed in the fruitless effort. Santsell, a rubber mouse in his hand, making frantic gestures with his hands and arms, emits strange cries to attract the child's attention.

Carl Spitz, dog trainer, whose favorite, "Rex," had prominence in the earlier scenes, holds the dog over Santsell's shoulder for the baby to see.

Still the camera grins on. Still Santsell remains patient, realizing that such hindrances are met with on every picture and that only by persistence can he get the smile so necessary to the scene he is filming.

Six months earlier than the described scene, executives of the Fox Film Corporation determined to make a talking version of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

S. N. Behrman, the dramatist, and Sonya Levien, screen writer who have collaborated on a number of Fox films were assigned to write the picture play. Sound-film rights to the story were already owned by the company.

"Rebecca" has long been a famous character. She first appeared in a series of short stories entitled "The Chronicles of Rebecca," authored by Kate Douglas Wiggin. The success of these led to a novel, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," in October, 1910, at the Republic Theatre, New York City, Edith Taliaferro appeared in the title role of the first dramatization of "Rebecca," the work of Kate Douglas Wiggin and Charlotte Thompson. The play enjoyed a full season's run in New York, then became the favorite of stock companies who have later played it in almost every city of the land.

The first step in writing a screen play is to find out about the characters and ly more beautiful and more beneficent to every man, woman and child on earth."

This may sound like mockery, just now, when our inability to master our fate is more painfully apparent than at any time in years, and when so many men would gladly embrace any kind of drudgery if only it provided regular wages and steady meals.

But it is the kind of thing that needs to be said, nevertheless.

The motor that keeps our industrial civilization moving ahead may have installed, but it still has tremendous capabilities. If we are bogged down just now, we should never forget that these bright visions of our technologists are perfectly in line with the facts.

Beyond the tragedy of unemployment, idle factories and breadlines there stands the dazzling fact that applied science has made it possible for the work of the world to be done with far less human effort than ever before, has made it possible for every mortal to have enough of everything if only the system of distribution is properly organized.

From the depression we can emerge into an era finer than anything we have known before. The tools are in our hands; we need only learn how to manage them.

WELLS 3,000 FEET IN DEPTH YIELD COMMERCIAL 'ICE' IN TEMPERATURE OF 109 BELOW

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor).
NEW YORK.—(AP)—A new industry—"cold mining," which produces ice from wells 3,000 feet deep—is beginning in the American Southwest.

The ice is solid carbon dioxide 109 degrees below Zero Fahrenheit. Discovery of this gas in many places and advances in drilling are reported in Mining & Metallurgy, the scientific journal of the American Institute of Mining & Metallurgical Engineers.

The strangest part of all is that there is no ice in the ground, nor is the gas itself even cold. Its temperature—"when not flowing"—is about 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

Expansion Produces Cold. But "when flowing" is an entirely different story. For then the flow is due to expansion from enormous compression deep in the ground, and this expansion produces sub-zero cold. One mine is named the "ice cream well" because of the creamy ice which forms from expanding gas at its mouth.

Oil Domes Yield "Ice" All these carbon dioxide wells are found in the "domes" or "anticlines" of oil fields. They have been located in Carbonera Dome, western Colorado, Harley Dome near Westwater, Utah, and also in the same state in the Last Chance, the Willow Springs and the Farnham structures. They are found in the Wagon Mound area in New Mexico, and in large quantities near Tampico, Mexico.

One commercial well is in operation near Price, Utah. Another is under construction in western Colorado. The Utah well yields 98 per cent pure carbon dioxide. It is purified in absorbing towers and compressed three times, finally becoming a liquid.

This liquid is sprayed through nozzles. Part of the spray expands into gas, thereby producing additional cold that solidifies the rest of the spray into snow. Hydraulic presses squeeze the snow into commercial size ice cakes. These are stored in an insulated pit underground.

chopped; 1 pint sorghum molasses, 2 quarts water.

Thoroughly mix ingredients of part 1, next mix the water and the lemon, and adding the molasses. Then mix the two parts together and add enough water to make a wet mash. The mash should be put out between 9 and 10 in the morning. The above formula will make enough mash to poison the hoppers on two or three city lots.

Texas Graduates Busy Writing on Many Subjects

AUSTIN, July 2.—(AP)—Law, labor, evolution, literature, all find their place in the published writings of former students and faculty members of the University of Texas during recent months. Ten books written by university professors and former students are reviewed in the current issue of the Alcalá, extension magazine.

"Huxley," by Dr. Clarence Ayres, university professor of economics, is a biography of the man who, the author thinks, initiated "Darwinism" for the world, and not Darwin, made evolution a fighting matter. Miss Ruth Allen, graduate of the university with both the bachelor of arts and the master of arts degree and now adjunct professor of economics at the university, has written "The Labor of Women in the Production of Cotton," a study of farm women of Texas. "Joe Bailey, the Last Democrat of Texas," was written by Sam Acheson, 1921 graduate of the university.

Books by two former students of the University School of Law deal with phases of law. Both are now members of the law faculty at the University of Idaho. William Edward Masterson, author of "Jurisdiction in Marginal Seas," was a 1915 graduate of the university and holds several advanced degrees from Harvard university. Pendleton Howard, author of "Criminal Justice in England," received the bachelor of laws degree from the University of Texas in 1917, the bachelor of arts, the master of arts and the doctor of philosophy degree from Columbia University.

"Classification of Insects: A Key to the Known Families of Insects and Other Terrestrial Arthropods," was written by Charles T. Brues and A. L. Melander, both former university students. Both received the bachelor of science degree in 1901 and the master of science degree in 1902 from the university. Their study was published by the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard College.

Vernon Loggins, 1914, bachelor of arts graduate of the university and degree from Columbia university, holder of the doctor of philosophy degree, has written "The Negro Author," a study of contributions to American literature by the negro. "The Peeps Ballads" was edited by Hyder Rollins, master of arts graduate in 1912. "Desire and Restraint in Shelley" was written by Floyd Stevalls, bachelor and master of arts graduate, who is now adjunct professor of English at the university. J. Frank Dobie, associate professor of English, is the editor of "Southwestern Lore, Volume IX," the publication of the Texas Folk-Lore Society.

County Agent Is Aiding Citizens in War on 'Hoppers'

Numerous inquiries have come to the office of County Agent Ralph Thomas as to how to get rid of grasshoppers in yards and gardens. John Hesse reported that two fryers got rid of the grasshoppers in his back yard in two days, which of course is a very practical method where the yard is enclosed. However, in open yards poison bran mash may be scattered to control the hoppers. The mash should be sown, not placed in piles.

The following mixture is practical for yards or gardens:

- Part 1. Paris green, 2 tablespoons; bran, 5 pounds;
- Part 2. 1 lemon, (pulp and rind finely

Old Dobbin Does Another Comeback

CANADIAN, July 2.—(AP)—The season is timely for fish stories, but this is also the story of a dog. H. E. Hoover, pioneer Canadian attorney, owns a seven-year-old shepherd, commonly known as a German police dog, who helps him fish. When Hoover goes to his lake, the dog joins him at the ranch headquarters.

Hoover tosses in his line, then reclines against a tree to read or sleep. The dog watches the cork and line. At any sign of a "nibble," Bo' immediately attracts the attention of his owner.

"People won't believe it," Hoover said, "but once when the fish were biting so fast we began throwing them back in the lake. Bo' got disgusted and went to the house. I called him and he wouldn't come back. He couldn't understand our attitude."

Good Bad Man Played by Mix

Straight-shootin', hard-ridin' Tom Mix will come back to Pampa today when his latest Universal romance of the West, "The Texas Bad Man," opens at the Rex with villainous "Red Kohler, beautiful Lucille Powers, Willard Robertson and Tony also in the cast.

The story which pictures the Western star as a Texas Ranger in the disguise of a bold, bad bandit is an original one by Jack Cunningham. It packs thrilling stage coach holdups, desperate chases, daring rescues and the amazing antics of Mix and his ever-faithful steed, Tony, into a whirlwind series of exciting situations, according to reports, and shows the adventurous Texan at his very best.

Franklin Farnum, famed star of the silent films, will be seen in a role of the cowboy drama, as will Joseph Girard, Edward Le Saint, Buck Moulton and Capt. C. E. Anderson of the Rangers.

Edward Laemmle, who gave the screen "The Drake Case," "Lasca of the Rio Grande" and several other dramatic hits, was the director of the photoplay.

Depression Cures Stated by Mrs. Warner in Platform; Candidate Is Well-Known to Women of Pampa

Editor's Note: Mrs. Phebe Warner, candidate for congressman-at-large, place number 2, is well known by the women of Pampa and Gray county, especially by those who are members of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs and of the county home demonstration clubs.

CLAUDE, July 3.—There is a little brown-eyed woman who for more than 25 years have been actively engaged in club and social work for the rural women in Texas, who this year hopes to broaden her service and go to Washington as congressman-at-large. She is Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, writer, lecturer and friend of the thousands of rural women of Texas, who has devoted a life of work and hardship in behalf of women and homes.

As a writer she has made herself beloved through the public print. As a lecturer, she has spoken at club gatherings throughout the state and in a one-room school building a woman she has come in contact with those who know her well enough to get out and work for her this year.

As a member of the committee on farm and village housing appointed by the president, her scope of work has spread throughout the nation. Her appointment to this place came as a result of her work as chairman of the department of rural cooperation and federation and extension of Women's club.

The little brown-eyed woman, who is tireless in her efforts to make this a better place in which to live, is candidate this year for congressman-at-large, place number 2. Mrs. Warner is a plain country woman, reared on a farm and educated in a one-room school building. Her later education was finished at a university but she soon returned to the farm. Thirty-four years ago she married Dr. William A. Warner and moved with him to a ranch into the Panhandle district of Texas and has lived there ever since.

Mrs. Warner's platform calls for a "United Texas, selling Texas to all Texans." Mrs. Warner is making no impossible promises but pledges herself to apply her most intelligent thoughts and efforts to the solving of our country's problems as they present themselves for solution.

These extracts taken from her platform should interest everyone: "Take the government out of private business."

"Not a farm relief but a farm cure."

"A better balanced program between production and industry both in Texas and the nation."

"The adjustment of employment to our mechanical age."

"Harmonizing our national and international relations."

"Direct representation of our six million farm homes in our national congress."

"Prosperity begins with the soil."

The Clarendon district of the Methodist young people will hold its district meeting July 10 at Hedley. As this is the first meeting of the new year after assembly, almost every church in the district is making special plans to send some of its young people to this meeting. The program, beginning at 9 o'clock, follows:

Cabinet meetings; Sunday school; sermon, Rev. M. M. Beavers, presiding elder of Clarendon district. The afternoon program follows: Theme, An Echo Meeting; or prelude; O Worship the King; hymn, All For Christ; scriptures, James 1:22; Galatians 6:9; hymn, Dear Lord and Father of Mankind; talk.

Children Find Many Story-Book Pals in Public Library

MUCH READING DONE DURING WARM MONTHS

ABOUT 40 PER CENT OF PATRONS ARE BOYS AND GIRLS

The Bobby twins, Elsie Dinmore, Tom Swift—these are among the most popular companions for Pampa children during the summer months. That these and other characters of juvenile fiction fill many summer hours with pleasure for local boys and girls is evident after a trip to the Pampa public library, located in the city hall.

Children are reading during vacation not because they have to, but because they enjoy it. About 40 per cent of the total group of readers is children, according to Mrs. James Todd, librarian, who said there were now about 900 readers in all.

The most popular of the library books for girls and boys, Mrs. Todd said, are Bobby Twins, Betty Gordon series, Ruth Fielding series, Elsie Dinmore, The Bomba series, Radio Boys, Tom Swift, and Boy Scout books.

Youngsters Like Library. Children as young as six years of age find pleasure in the library. "Mother won't let me read but one book a week," said one little bright-eyed girl with some regret, to the librarian.

"What's the matter?" asked a man nearby. "Do you enjoy it?" "Mother wants me to get my mind on my music," said the little girl as she made her exit with that she was her mother's treasure.

Some boys and girls read not entirely for pleasure but with a thought of industry. Some who are planning to enter high school next year already are doing their required reading for the year, said Mrs. Todd.

New Books Bought. Following is the latest list of books ordered by the library. Most of the books are suitable for boys and girls.

Boy Scouts Book of Camp Fire Stories, Boy Scouts of Black Eagle Patrol, Scouting With Daniel Boone, Don Strong of the Wolf Patrol, Scouting With Kit Caron, The Half Back, Along the Mohawk Trail, For the Honor of the School, Robinson Crusoe, Black Beauty, Zane Grey's series, World's Best Anecdotes, 1931-32 City Manager's Year Book, two copies of Covered Wagon, two copies of North of 36, Anne of Green Gables, two copies of The Virginian, two copies of Little Men, two copies of Tom Sawyer, and two copies of Huckleberry Finn.

A year's subscription to Literary Digest also has been ordered.

Wedding Bells and Wedding March Are Heard in Pampa; Everything Is Lovely, But No Man Involved

Thrilling notes of the march from Lohengrin again were heard in Pampa Friday afternoon, and an elaborate wedding was staged. In fact there was only one thing lacking—a man.

The mock wedding, was the feature of a party for the Dorcas Sunday school class held in the home of Mrs. Jack Neaves. The house was beautifully decorated with white wedding bells and blue streamers, and the fireplace was banked with flowers and fern. A miniature bride sitting by the fireplace wore a pink silk dress and a lace veil, and by her side was a hope chest. This chest was passed among the guests and each woman was given an article from the trousseau.

Each guest was also required to give the name of the man she married, the date of her marriage, and the person who performed the ceremony.

Mrs. G. C. Malone, superintendent of the women's department, expressed appreciation for work of the organizing officers, and Mrs. Tom Rose, teacher, proposed a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. J. Powell Wehrung, social chairman.

The wedding party characters in the wedding were as follows: Parson, Mrs. B. G. Stone; bride, Mrs. George Nix; groom, Mrs. E. L. Anderson; best man, Mrs. C. E. Phillips; maid of honor, Mrs. J. Powell Wehrung; flower girl, Mrs. Jack Neaves.

The wedding party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, coming from a portable phonograph, and Mrs. E. Z. Hazzard, End of a Perfect Day. The bride was charming in a frock of blue voile. She wore a long veil and carried a bouquet of sunflowers. A touch of sentiment was added by the 31-year-old dress worn by the maid of honor, who carried a fragrant bouquet of vegetables.

A knytiny contest was held and Mrs. Jack Neaves gave a clever reading portraying a bride absorbed in her first telephone conversation with her new husband.

Hostesses for the afternoon, Mesdames W. O. Workman, B. G. Stone, C. E. Phillips, and J. Powell Wehrung, served pink angel food cake and ice cream at the close of the party.

Like a thunder storm through a clear sky, comes the unfortunate news of the retirement of Mr. Hayter of the Hayter Brothers Store. But this loss is a gain to the citizens of Gray County as this stock will be placed on the market at prices really unbelievable. As a man and as a merchant Mr. Hayter's reputation cannot and will not be questioned. His hobby was strictly along the lines of selling better merchandise—he loved his work—gave it lots of thought and attention and for this reason we are able to offer a collection of Standard Brands which will be sold to you starting Tuesday July 5th.

During the many years that I have personally operated and sold merchandise of the higher class, my many years of experience coming in contact with the finest brands that money can procure I believe I am amply fit to pass on a real stock of merchandise and this one has the stamp of my approval. Naturally no man is infallible in any line, however Mr. Hayter as a merchant displayed elegant talent in his selection in Men's wearing and the only fault, if it is a fault, is the fact that too much high class merchandise was on hand.

The stock of Hayter Brothers bought by The Louie, of Amarillo, Texas, involves merchandise to the extent of $14,398.17. Really Folks it's one chance in a lifetime and while many stocks in general stores may show an investment in more money in dollars and cents, yet I see in this a complete stock, not remnants or merchandise that was bought for a sale. Each department is worthy of your fullest investigation, lay aside work and pleasure, attend this Sale beginning Tuesday morning, July 5th. The doors will be thrown open at 9 o'clock and remain open until 9 each night. Fast selling is assured—We urge you to be here early

VINES CRUSHES AUSTIN TO WIN WIMBLEDON'S CROWN

UNCLE SAM'S NETTERS GRAB GREAT TITLES

ELIZABETH RYAN GETS MIXED DOUBLES HONOR

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2 (AP)—Ellsworth Vines Jr. of California, today crushed H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England's leading player, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0 in the finals of the Wimbledon tennis championships and mounted to the throne of all the great of tennis.

His victory gave the United States the two most prized titles of Wimbledon as Mrs. Helen Wills Moody won her fifth singles title yesterday when she defeated her fellow Californian, Helen Jacobs, in the final.

The United States also shared in a third of the five titles contested, Elizabeth Ryan pairing with Enrique Maier, champion of Spain, to defeat Harry Hopman, of Australia, and Joanne Sigart, of France in the finals of mixed doubles, 7-5, 6-2.

Jacques Brugnon and Jean Borotra, veteran French Davis cup team, won the men's doubles titles, defeating the English Davis cup pair of George Patrick Hughes and Fred Perry, 6-0, 4-6, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5 in the finals and Mile. Sigart paired with Doris Metaxa, of Belgium, to win the women's doubles final from Misses Jacobs and Ryan, 6-4, 6-3.

BORGER'S JACK ELLIS ALLOWS ONE HIT TO WIN BIG TILT IN AMARILLO

Pampa Team Takes Winner Game Monday As First Tourney Opponent.

Jack Ellis, Borger ace, allowed the Texaco batters only one fluke hit yesterday afternoon in the opening game of the Amarillo tournament, and the Borger Alamos 66 won, 2 to 0. The Pampa-LeFors-66 nine will clash with Borger at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in their first game of the tournament.

Mobette-Wheeler will meet last year's champions, the Texaco-Oklahoma-Oklahoma, today afternoon. The Wheeler county team is composed of players well known here.

Pampa players were relieved that Ellis would be out of the way when they meet the Borger team tomorrow. Haddock or Richardson would probably get the pitching assignment for Borger. Lefty Freshour will likely be Manager Eddie Pulliam's choice of hurlers.

The Pampa-LeFors-66 ball club, entrants in the Amarillo baseball tournament which opened yesterday afternoon, both their first notable break when they drew a "by" Friday night when the teams were matched. As a result of the drawing, the club will not play until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when they meet the winner of the Borger Alamo 66-Texaco Stars game yesterday afternoon.

Monday being a holiday, several hundred Pampa baseball fans plan to attend the game. Manager Eddie Pulliam has collected one of the strongest aggregations that has represented Pampa and surrounding territory since the reign of the Pampa Grays in 1928 and 1929.

Strength Recognized.

The Pampa-LeFors-Phillips-Colteteo nine is recognized as one of the strongest entries in the tournament although the Topeka Jayhawkers have a more imposing array of players. The Borger Alamo 66 team is also to be feared.

Because of the fact that only seven teams entered the tournament, it will take three losses to eliminate a team. With the pitching staff Manager Pulliam has secured, it will take three losses to eliminate a Gray county team.

The team will practice at Metro park at 10 o'clock this morning. It had previously been planned to play a game here this afternoon. Manager Pulliam will have the

Walter Hagen Is Western Champion

CLEVELAND, July 2 (AP)—Walter Hagen fought the battle of his life today to ascend the Western Open throne for the fifth time.

While a heavy gale raged and a large gallery stormed the fairways, the veteran of a thousand golfing wars came from behind with a dramatic rush of par-crashing golf in the final four holes to beat out Olin Dutra, California's gay caballero, by one shot, 287 to 285.

Hagen's rounds were 72-70-75-70. Dutra's were 71-73-71-73.

Trailing Dutra by one shot, the victim of a shaky 75 on his third round, was the defending champion, Big Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del. Three others—Harry Cooper, Chicago; Waldo Crowder, Cleveland; and Paul Runyan, New York tied for fourth place with 290's.

Tired Feet Show in Final Score

BETTER CHANGE, JOE

By JOHNNY FARRELL (As Told To Artie McGovern.)

Good feet—good golf! Bad feet—bad golf! I consider my feet as important to my game as my hands or wrists.

At the beginning of my golf career I suffered considerably from tired, aching feet. This was especially true when I played 36 holes in a day. Though the rest of my body might feel good, my feet would become most uncomfortable.

The thing that helped me more than anything else was the simple expedient of resting my feet between rounds and making a complete change of footwear.

As soon as I finish the morning round I immediately put on fresh hose and slippers of old, comfortable shoes. I wear these until ready for the afternoon round, when I change to a completely pair of golf shoes. This completely rests my feet for the tramp ahead.

San Antonio Golf Delegation Strong

HOUSTON, July 2 (AP)—The San Antonio delegation all but stole the show today in the first 36 holes of play in the Texas municipal golf association's annual championship tournament.

Mose Levinson of San Antonio, with a spectacular par 79 round for the last 18 holes overcame a poor start, in which he carded an 83, and took a 153 to tie with Clarence Darling and Al Smith, both of Houston, for second low score. Darling

Veterans Speak To Empty Halls

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Six thousand war veterans marched to the capitol today to demand immediate payment of the bonus, but their appeals echoed only in empty halls within.

Congress was in recess for a fourth of July holiday, and the former service men found no ears but their own for three hours of speech-making, boing and cheering—all done peacefully.

Then they returned quietly to their encampments.

Gambler's Throw

by Eustace L. Adams

SYNOPSIS: Jerry Calhoun, captured by Limpy Ashwood, gangster chief, who has invaded Ashwood's island in an attempt to rescue Nancy Westworth, overhauls Lucci, another prisoner, trying to bribe Ashwood's gang to double-cross their leader. Nancy and four men are being held for ransom. Stevens and Emory are allies of Jerry.

Chapter 30

EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF

JERRY wondered how many of Ashwood's gang were attending this conference.

"I got a dozen men making four-five grand a month," Lucci said. "You oughta do that and better. I'll advance each of you five grand when we get back to Chi. That is, if you put this racket over tonight the way I say."

"Well," observed the pilot's voice, "Limpy, himself, always told us to back a winning horse, not an also-ran."

"Looks to me as if this yegg from Chicago's leading the field right now since Limpy's pulling out." This voice sounded like the guard who had brought news of the murder on the beach. Were there no loyal men on the entire island?

"Well, it's up to you guys whether you're with me or not.

Fifty feet from the porch, Jerry cast all caution aside and raced across the grass.

But you better decide quick. After I leave this joint anyone who ain't with me is against me and I'm quick on the draw. How about it?"

There was a moment's silence. Jerry tried to stop breathing lest some sound penetrate the leafy shelter.

"Me, I'm for One-shot here!" A cteely voice spoke up that held a note of leadership. "You fellows know as well as I do that if the mob is going to bust up, Limpy ought to have given us a bigger cut so we could take care of ourselves until the thing blows over. What's he doing right here on this island to protect us? Did he stop one of those swells up at the house from cutting Di Michael's throat last night? It's every man for himself now. I'm joining up with One-shot. The rest of you can do as you damn please."

There was a confused babel of voices, out of which rose Lucci's, pard and triumphant.

"All right, then. Give me that gat. That's the boy. Now the rest of you listen for the ruckus to start up at the house, then come up on the run. Have your engine started and ready to go."

Jerry waited for no more. Inching his way out of the thatch, he turned and crawled swiftly toward the house.

Fifty feet from the porch, Jerry cast all caution aside and raced across the grass. A homicidal malice at large; Ashwood, frustrated and, perhaps, planning revenge; Lucci and the treacherous gangsters about to flare up in bloody rebellion—the flyer knew a moment of panic lest harm might have come to the girl during the scant ten minutes he had left her alone in the dark.

"What on earth is the matter?" Her calm voice was like a dash of ice water in his face.

"Phew!" he breathed sheepishly. "I was seeing ghosts! I've been listening to an interesting conversation. I can't tell you about it now; we'll have to work fast. Let's go inside. As soon as you can, go to your room. Don't come out, under any circumstances, unless you hear my voice. There will be trouble tonight."

"Let's go," snapped the pilot. (Copyright, Dial Press)

"Stick 'em up, I'm covering you," says a voice out of the darkness on Monday.

YOUTH FATALLY HURT

AMARILLO, July 2.—(P)—Struck as he walked from behind his parked automobile early last night, George Carter, 22, of Blanco, Okla., died at a local hospital this morning. The accident occurred on highway No. 5, about eight miles north of Amarillo.

Occupants of the car in which Carter was riding said Carter had gotten out of the automobile to go across the road to look for water to fill the radiator. They said the accident was unavoidable.

FORMER KING DIES

LONDON, July 2.—(P)—Former King Manuel II of Portugal, a business man, bibliophile, sports enthusiast and, in his day, the subject of considerable personal scandal, died today at his home, Fulwell Park, Twickenham.

He anticipated a flood of questions, but the girl turned without a word and entered the living room. He followed, blinking in the sudden change from darkness to light.

"What, what?" Ashwood's voice, suave and genial, greeted them. "Don't tell us that you are tired of the moonlight already!"

Jerry had the grace to blush, hating himself for it. Nancy, however, met the cripple's eyes unabashed.

"Please don't lose your sophistication, Mr. Ashwood," she protested. "When you are ingenious, you lose much of your charm."

Emory whooped in glee.

"Touche!" he laughed gaily. "Unless you can counter that thrust, Ashie, you'll lose my respect!"

"Emory," confessed Ashwood sadly, "a rapierlike cut from a beautiful woman never fails to render me defenseless." Turning to Mr. Titherington, he said placatingly, "I'm sorry, sir, that we cannot continue our conversation upon religion. I'm sure you are anxious to retire."

Mr. Titherington twisted his black ribbon, inflated his chest importantly and then, remembering where he was, exhaled violently.

Emory, himself, always told us to back a winning horse, not an also-ran.

"Looks to me as if this yegg from Chicago's leading the field right now since Limpy's pulling out." This voice sounded like the guard who had brought news of the murder on the beach. Were there no loyal men on the entire island?

"Well, it's up to you guys whether you're with me or not.

FREQUENT RAINS IN JUNE DEVELOP FINE NASTURTIUMS AT HOME OF MRS. O. H. BOOTH

Nasturtiums, the flowers favored by painters, are blooming by the hundreds daily at the home of Mrs. O. H. Booth, 617 North Frost. She has a row about 40 feet long growing in a hedge, and the hot-house luxuriance of the blossoms, stems and foliage of the nasturtiums are probably due to the many rains that fell in June.

At any rate, Mrs. Booth had never grown such nasturtiums. Her next-door neighbor on the north, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, never saw such perfectly formed and colored nasturtiums, not even in California. Every day Mrs. Booth picks enough of the flowers to fill several bowls. The unusual feature of the flowers is that the stems are from six to 10 inches long. The blossoms reflect a dozen variations of red, orange, saffron, and colors such as one sees in the Painted Desert.

If all residents of Pampa gave as much attention to the alley back of their home as Mrs. Booth, one would get as much pleasure driving up an alley as a street. Mrs. Booth determined to make that part of her lot fronting the alley attractive and she has. She simply planted cosmos seeds in a long row, and the plants are now well high. Before long they will begin to bloom.

In one corner of Mrs. Booth's back yard is a small plot of ground, about 10 feet long and six feet wide. In this are growing a row of beets which already have produced 10 quarts, a row of splendid gladioli, dahlias, asters. Mrs. Booth pointed out that by growing much in a small plot one was able to economize on water.

Although it is July, Mrs. Booth still has sweet peas. She has learned to let the peas run upward on cord instead of wire, because wire in hot weather burns the vines.

Speaking of Mrs. Raymond Harrah, she has an attractive back yard—let us call it a garden. In the center of it is a lily pond, and nearby is a table shaded by a huge parasol of vivid colors. Chairs covered with the same sort of canvas invite one to rest.

Members of the railway commission and others will arrive in Pampa July 15 to attend the celebration in connection with the opening of the new Fort Worth and Denver railway line from Childress to Pampa. Several special trains will come to Pampa that day. The first train will probably arrive here about 1:30 o'clock.

Visitors will be given luncheon followed by a program to be sponsored in front of the city hall. Speakers from various part of the state and officials of the railway company will be on the program.

The copy of the petition follows:

"We, the undersigned operators, land and royalty owners, hereby request you to hold a public hearing at Pampa, Texas, as soon as possible and not later than July 10th, for the purpose of investigating the drilling of new wells and the production of oil by the Danciger Oil & Refining company and other companies offsetting such wells from common pools where wells are under production in order to prevent drainage from lands in such common pools. In this connection, we respectfully submit it is our understanding the Danciger Oil and Refining company and other companies offsetting wells of the Danciger Oil & Refining company are permitted to drill and produce oil without regard to the proration laws applicable to others and that the Danciger Oil & Refining company has some character of agreement that protects it from penalties, regardless of the outcome of its suit against the Railroad Commission and others, and that it is unjust and inequitable to the undersigned to permit their oil to be drained and taken from such common pools and not be permitted the same rights as are accorded the Danciger Oil & Refining company."

Democratic leaders of Gray county had already become jubilant supporters of the democratic platform, Franklin D. Roosevelt and John Garner last night.

"The democrats won't lose this time," Siler Faulkner, county chairman, said with conviction yesterday afternoon as he listened to Roosevelt's unprecedented address to the Chicago convention. "This convention is something new in political history—it's going to be to pinpoint what the Lindbergh flight was to aviation. There was nothing hypocritical about this convention. Sham and fear were gone. I don't believe there is anything the weaseling republicans can do to stave off defeat."

After John Garner, Roosevelt was the choice of most local democrats. Before the convention, they realized that Garner could not be nominated for president, and the vice-presidential nomination satisfied them.

Mr. Faulkner approves the repeal plank in the democratic platform. "To declare for repeal was the only honest thing to do," he said.

Gene Green left yesterday for Colorado Springs, Colo., where he will spend the holiday.

Mrs. Ed Baker of Roxana transacted business in Pampa yesterday.

Alex Schneider supplied cold meat for lunch Friday afternoon and a roast for dinner that night. Gasoline to carry them on their way was given by the Willcox company.

The marchers said they had not received such courtesy since they left California June 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Price and D. T. "Chief" Morris left last night for Washington. They were to meet other Texans in Enid this morning. The four men who left Pampa Monday morning were in Collinsville, Ill., Thursday night, according to a card received here yesterday.

Midwestern Livestock Review
KANSAS CITY, July 2.—(AP-U. Dept. Agr.)—Cattle trade during the week under review was featured by another substantial price advance on fed steers and yearlings which placed quotations at the highest levels since March. Strictly dry lot steers and yearlings are 25-30 higher than a week ago. Grass steers were tendered a moderate decline. The movement of grass steers out of South Texas was the largest of the season, while a few scattered shipments from Kansas and Oklahoma pastures made their appearance. Stocker and feeder steers were on a firm to 25 higher basis. Receipts at eleven markets were around 145,500, as compared with 140,600 last week and 143,657 the corresponding period a year ago.

On Friday's markets Chicago had a loss top of 1.15. Total offerings were around 301,500 an increase of 31,000 from last week but 55,000 short of a year ago.

Values on fat lambs and yearlings totaled 250,000 against 313,948 last week and 255,500 the supply approximated 220,578 the same week a year ago.

business a while before with the unanimous nomination of Speaker John N. Garner for the vice-presidency.

A turbulent parade of the states welcomed that choice. It had been actively seconded from the Smith block of states and Tammany which field out to the last for Alfred E. Smith to top the ticket, but Smith himself was missing.

Huge crowds greeted Roosevelt on his arrival, after a long trip bucking headwinds. A rally at the airport of "don't forget to make up with Al Smith" brought the laughing reply "I'll do that."

But some friends of Smith remained skeptical. Some expect him to leave that country for the duration of the campaign, possibly for a European trip.

Governor Roosevelt was escorted to the platform at 4:51 p. m. as a monster shout swept the hall.

John P. Curry preceded the nominee who was accompanied by his son Elliot.

Walking with a cane and touching the arm of his tall son James, who also accompanied him, Roosevelt stood waving his arm to the great cheering throng. Louis Howe, his political aide, stood near him. A huge bouquet of red roses and white chrysanthemums was held aloft near his right as the crowd called for more cheers.

The huge lights of the stadium were thrown onto the platform as photographers made dozens of pictures of the smiling New Yorker.

CONNIE AND NEIL IN MOVIES

CONSTANCE BENNETT with Neil Hamilton in a romantic sequence from "What Price Hollywood," which opens at the LA NORA today.

With the standards of nearly all delegations waving in the air, Senator Walsh of Montana, permanent chairman of the convention, standing near the platform rail, officially notified the governor of his nomination.

"I venture to pledge you," said Walsh "on behalf of this great convention and the constituencies represented by the delegates comprising it their loyal, cordial and enthusiastic support in the coming election in which even our political adversaries admit we cannot fall except we blunder."

Facing the throng, his hands resting on the flag-draped speaker's dias, Gov. Roosevelt proceeded to accept the nomination.

"The appearance before a national convention of its nominee for president to be formally notified of his selection," he said, "is unprecedented and unusual. But these are unprecedented and unusual times."

"Let it be from now on the task of our party to break foolish traditions. We will break traditions and leave it to the republican leadership to break here and pledge our resolve to resume the country's march to progress."

"Let us remember that while he is not with us in body that we follow the indomitable spirit of our peerless leader, Woodrow Wilson."

A declaration that he accepted the party's prohibition repeal platform "one hundred per cent" drew a great shout from the delegates.

"I shall not use the words republican party in this campaign," he added, "but I shall use the words republican leadership."

"The way to meet these trying times is to have a program of reconstruction," he continued.

"With Clean Hands"

"And the party to offer it is the party with clean hands."

"Yes, the people of this country want a genuine choice this year. Ours must be a party of liberal thought, of enlightened international outlook, and of the greatest good for the greatest number of our citizens."

"The main thing of this campaign revolves about the economic depression. The republicans claim that the depression is world-wide was not their claim for the prosperity in 1928."

The nominee declared the country had passed through a period when great surpluses, instead of being used to benefit of workers or even the stockholders, were either spent in building enormous and now idle plants, or dumped "into Wall Street to benefit big business or big banks."

Water Revenue Is Reduced by Rain

The monthly revenue from the city water department received a severe blow during June. Usually the biggest month of the year, June dropped more than 10,000,000 gallons under May. Rain, amounting to 8 inches fell within the city limits during the month.

Citizens used only 16,955,000 gallons of water last month compared with almost 30,000,000 gallons last June.

Citizens who took advantage of the garden rate during the summer months used less than the minimum during the month, which was the wettest in many years.
