Biggest Well of Recent Months Is Flowing In Gray

The Texas company has just completed Gray county's biggest producer in several months with the bringing in of the company's No. 3 J. E. Williams in section 7, block 1, A. C. H. & B. survey, one mile southeast of LeFors.

The test made 1,210 barrels the first 24 hours and is flowing 50 barrels an hour in a gas lift on the second 24 hours. Pay was encountered at 2,737 feet after a big flow of gas had been shut off because of a cave below the 8-inch casing. First pay in the big producer was encountered Sunday but the casing was not completed of completing the well. Pay is coming from granite wash formation.

The Danziger Oil and Refining company has a north offset drilling on top of the pay. The bit went into gas formation this morning and the test is making about 6,000,000 feet of gas. Pay should be reached within the next two days, according to Dan Williams, superintendent.

The Texas company producer brought the total number of completions in the county to three during the past week. The Mid-Kansas suit here as follows: Bertha Davis vs. Albert Davis, divorce; International Supply company vs. J. R. Davis; V. H. Ables vs. Minnie Bell Ables, divorce; First National bank vs. O. H. BOATS ARE SET ADRIFT

TORNADO DISTURBANCE FOLLOWS SEVERE HEAT WAVE

DALLAS, June 9 (AP)—James C. Case, Dallas, and A. J. Watson, Stephenville, were drowned last night in Lake Dallas, Denton county, when their small fishing boat capsized during a heavy gale.

Ben Clark, Arcadia park, their companion, clinging to the overturned boat and was rescued by other fishermen who heard the calls of the distressed men. Case and Watson dropped off the boat. The trio had been running trot lines when the high wind came up.

Wind which attained a velocity of 50 miles an hour swept through North Texas, causing damage at several places.

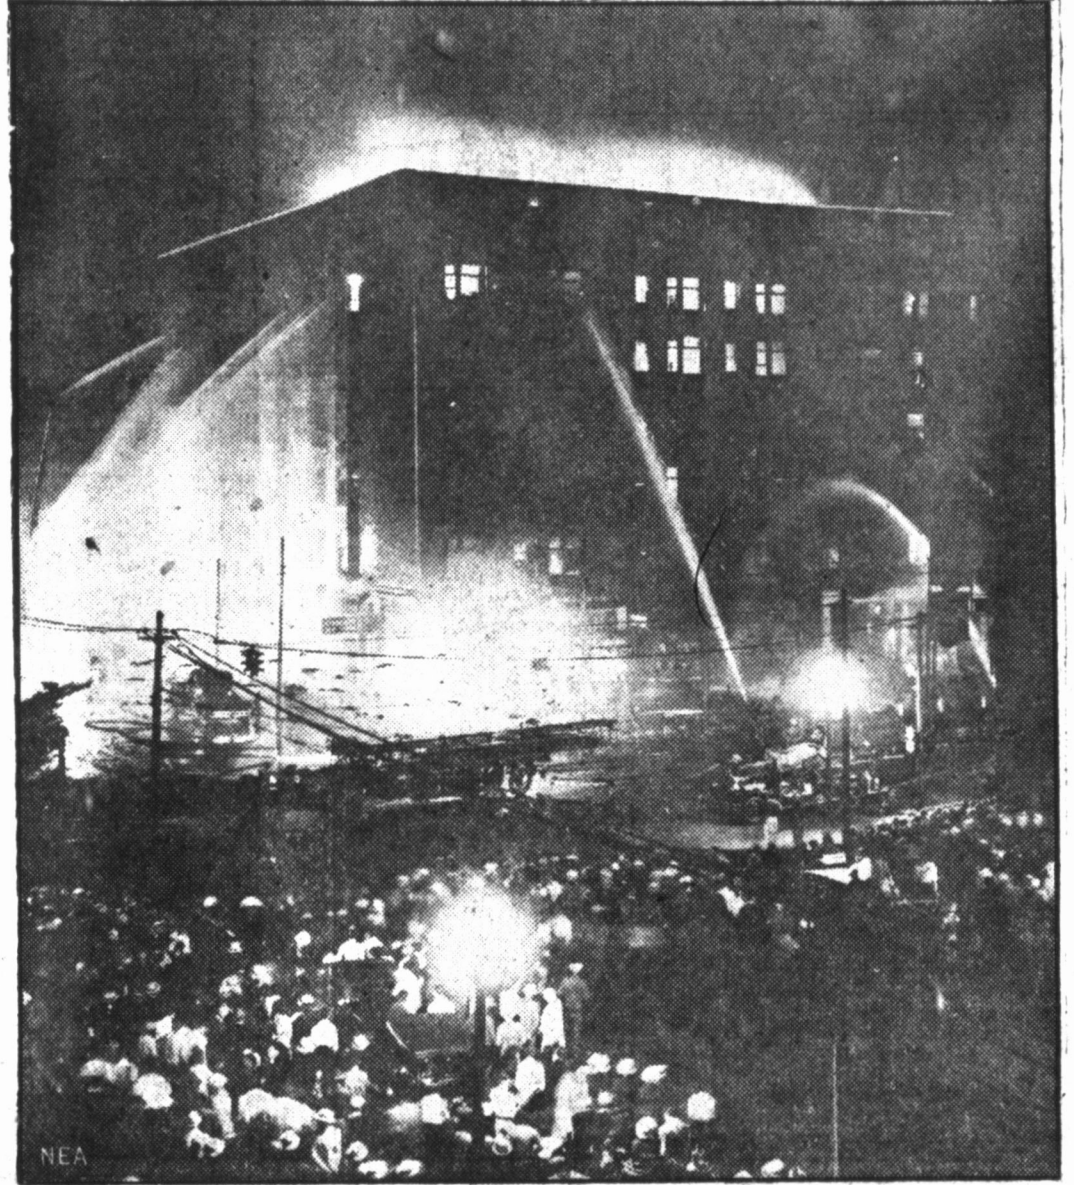

Striking suddenly after several days of high temperatures, the wind uprooted trees, unroofed small buildings, smashed windows and caught a number of boating parties unawares. Narrow escapes from death or injury were reported.

At Wichita Falls, four planes were partially wrecked at the municipal airport and damage was estimated at approximately $12,000. Two attendants, E. O. Deryberry and Jack Bryant, received slight injuries.

A search was conducted on Lake Worth, near Fort Worth, for four men after a motor boat was found drifting. Long after midnight police said the men had been found. A man was rescued from a tree in Lake Worth where he had clung several hours after his boat had been blown

'STEEL GANG' NEARING CITY

Rails To Be Brought Here
By Tomorrow Night If
No Delays Suffered.

Steel for Pampa's newest railway is scheduled to reach the city limits tomorrow afternoon, construction officials announced this morning.

The steel laying gang was less than three miles from the south city limits this morning, laying at the rate of two miles each day.

It is believed the overhead across Barnes street will be completed Saturday and rails laid to the depot by Saturday night. The ballasting crew is some miles back but working rapidly towards Pampa.

Despite rains that washed out hills, a burned bridge, and other delays, steel will be in Pampa less than a week after earlier predictions.

A bridge crew started work on the overhead across Barnes street yesterday and it will be ready for the huge spans of steel tomorrow.

The Glover & Boyington Construction company has started building the Pampa station and should have it completed within the next month. The building will be 40 feet wide by 125 feet long. Loading racks and platforms will also be built by the company.

Several garments were found in his possession at the time. More clothing which H. L. Polley, manager of Murfee's, and store employees identified, was found when Long's house was searched by officers.

The case was the last tried in county court this term. Judge Stensness adjourned court yesterday afternoon.

NEWS FLASHES AT PRESS TIME

WASHINGTON, June 9. AUSTIN, June 9. (AP)—The Board of Pardons and Paroles today gave Governor R. S. Sterling an adverse report on the application for clemency of Estanislado Lopez, sentenced to be electrocuted early tomorrow in the Texas state penitentiary.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 9. (AP)—After a bitter fight on the convention floor the republican state convention today adopted a plank for its platform calling for resubmission of the prohibition question to the people.

ONLY NATURAL GAS AFFECTED BY COURT'S INVALIDATING GAS COMMON PURCHASER LEGISLATION

AUSTIN, June 9. (AP)—A three-judge federal court has held that the Texas Railroad commission is without authority to compel pipeline owners to take natural gas from producers without field outlets in amounts equal to the quantity they move from wells owned by the pipeline companies.

The last Texas legislature enacted what was known as the common purchaser act empowering the commission to regulate pipelines and require them to purchase gas and oil ratably from all wells in a field touched by the lines.

The court decision, filed yesterday in United States district court here, affected only those provisions of the law concerning natural gas.

The holding was an application of the Texoma Natural Gas company, the Cities Service Gas company, the North American Oil and Gas company and the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline company for an interlocutory injunction restraining the commission from enforcing its regulations against them. The case was heard in Houston. It will be necessary for the court, comprised of Judge Duval West of San Antonio, J. C. Hutcheson, United States circuit judge, and Randolph Bryant, United States district judge, to assemble again to pass on plaintiff's application for a permanent injunction and for a hearing on the merits of the case.

The effect of the holding is to leave natural gas producers whose wells are not connected with their own pipelines without an outlet, unless the pipeline companies desire to purchase whatever gas they feel like taking in their lines in addition to their own output.

Maurice Cheek, assistant attorney general, said that the holding would affect only those provisions of the law concerning natural gas. The holding was an application of the Texoma Natural Gas company, the Cities Service Gas company, the North American Oil and Gas company and the Panhandle Eastern

FLEISHER HAS MADE REPORT TO POLICEMAN

APPEARS AT DETROIT IN COMPANY OF HIS LAWYERS

SUSPECTED OF KIDNAPING

"PURPLE" THUG MAY BE FACED WITH MANY CHARGES

DETROIT, June 9. (AP)—Harry Fleisher, sought for many months, in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and Detroit's Colingwood apartment massacre, surrendered at 10:20 a. m. today, arriving at police headquarters accompanied by attorneys.

Fleisher, well dressed in a light suit and wearing a straw hat, appeared extremely nervous. He held a handkerchief over his face, as though expecting to face newspaper photographers, but none was in the room when he arrived.

He was taken to the office of Prosecutor Harry S. Toy in the same building. The prosecutor went into conference with Fleisher and his attorneys.

Later Fleisher came from the prosecutor's office, seemingly less nervous, and posed for photographers. He refused to answer questions.

"Where did you get that tan, in Texas or in Canada?" he was asked. Fleisher shrugged his shoulders. "Did you have anything to do with the Lindbergh kidnaping?" he was asked.

Again he shrugged his shoulders, and said nothing.

Prosecutor Toy said he had instructed police to notify federal authorities of Fleisher's arrest. He said Fleisher had been sought on a charge of violating the federal prohibition laws.

Detectives said they believed Fleisher gave himself up because police had information of his whereabouts and his arrest was only a matter of time.

BOSTON, June 9. (AP)—Dr. John F. Condon, of New York, the "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case, made what was apparently a surprise visit to Boston police headquarters today.

"Jafsie" said he had come to Boston to see the Rogues gallery and attempt to identify a man known as "John the German."

"Pretty Boy" Has Stolen Car And Much Artillery

MUSKOGEE, Okla., June 9. (AP)—Three machine gunners who officers believe may have been Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, elusive desperado and his pals, kidnaped a negro near Warner, Okla., today, took his motor car and fled toward Fort Smith, Ark.

E. W. Wood, of Tulsa, reported that three men in a blue automobile halted him on Highway 64, transferred two machine guns, other weapons, and luggage to his own machine and forced him to ride with them to a point two miles west of the highway, where he was tossed out in brush.

They abandoned their own machine.

I SAW--

A mammy cat carrying a little kitten by the nape of the neck across Cuyler street at Kingsmill. She held her head high and the kitten above it. And did the stop traffic despite the green light! Horns honked loudly but the mammy cat walked with austere dignity, waving her tail, and not a car moved until the cat had reached the sidewalk. You ask how came the cat there? We "planted" her there after training her for several days. Our idea was to determine if people have lost respect for motherhood. They haven't.

Charlie Pipes early in the afternoon today and he said that for the first time in weeks, no petty theft, no burglarizing of homes had been reported today.

WHERE ECONOMY IS NEEDED

The federal government has balanced its budget. But before you start to cheer, you might remember that the country contains 48 state governments and several thousand city and county governments, each of which has a budget of its own; and all but a very few of them could do with a whole lot more in the way of economy than they have ever had yet.

Furthermore, it is the money spent by these governments that bears most heavily on the average citizen.

If federal taxes go up, the citizen of modest means may have to pay out $25 in taxes annually instead of $10; but his city, state and county governments will take from him—if he is a property owner—anywhere from $100 to $300 a year, and if he wants relief from the "burden of taxation" that we hear so much about he ought to remember just what part of the burden it is that is the heaviest.

In the main, city and state indebtedness has gone skyrocketing in the past decade. In 1930 the states alone owed nearly two and one-half billions. City debts in most cases have shot up even faster.

And there is a lot more lost motion in city and state governments than there is at Washington. Inefficiency and graft amount to more. A bigger percentage of the taxpayer's dollar is drained off to take care of "the boys."

There is, though, one comfort. It has been proved that honest and determined executives can cut down state and city budgets—if they want to.

Virginia, for instance, had a deficit of $1,358,000 two years ago. Today it has a surplus of more than $2,500,000. Georgia recently cut down its state departments from 102 to 17—with vast savings. Maine made one agency do the work of 45. North Carolina followed a similar path and saved its taxpayers $12,000,000.

In addition, such cities as Milwaukee and Cincinnati have shown how municipal expenses can be slashed if the men at the top really try.

Those things are worth remembering. Balancing the federal budget is not enough. The states and cities have got to start economizing too.

Referendum May Be In Primary Of Democratic Party

HOUSTON, June 9 (AP)—The method by which a state referendum on national prohibition might be placed on the July democratic primary ballot in Texas may engage the attention of the state democratic executive committee in its meeting at Austin next Monday if developments today.

The opinion had been expressed in some quarters that a petition signed by a number of voters not less than ten per cent of the total number of those who voted in the last primary would be necessary before the committee could place the referendum on the ballot.

It was learned today, however, that some lawyers in touch with the matter hold the view the committee not only would be in effect indirectly required by the statutes to do so, and that the method of petition exists merely as a means to force a recalcitrant committee to act.

Whether any organized group will appear before the committee to insist on a referendum could not be learned; but it was pointed out the committee could take such action on its own accord if its members agreed with theory that a petition was not necessary.

The September state convention's platform, incidentally, may not contain any matter which could be described as a probable subject of future legislation, in the absence of a previous party expression on the issue in question.

The state convention here on May 24 declared for a national non-partisan referendum.

INCOME TAX PAYERS, SMALL AND LARGE, CARRY BIG LOAD UNDER NEW TAX BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Income tax payers in all brackets, low, middle and high, will have to contribute several times as much money as they do now for government support if the increased levies on income voted by the senate are finally enacted into law. The senate rates were agreed upon by house and senate conferees.

Besides giving big boosts to the income tax rates, the senate bill eliminates the substantial deductions for earned income allowed under both the old law and the house measure.

This year a married man with no dependants and a net income of $3,000 paid no tax because of the married person's exemption of $3,500. Under the house bill he would have paid $2.50 next year but under the senate bill he would pay $20.

A married man with a $5,000 net income paid no dependants this year paid a $16.88 tax. Under the house bill he would have paid $37.50 in 1933 and under the senate bill he would pay an even $100.

The house measure provided for a $2,500 exemption for all married persons regardless of size of incomes but the senate bill stipulates that married persons with a net income of more than $5,000 get only $2,000 exemption. So Bill Smith married, no dependants and an income of $10,000 who contributed $101.25 in 1932 would die down to $210 under the house bill and $520 under the senate provision.

The exemption of a single person under the old law was $1,500. Both house and senate measures permit $1,000 exemption for the unmarried. The difference is due to not only the higher rate of taxation but to the elimination by the senate also of the earned income credit. The house tax rate for the first $4,900 was 2 per cent while the senate rate is 4 per cent. The house measure allowed 12 1/2 per cent deductions for earned income.

Under the senate bill persons in the very high income brackets will contribute from 30 to more than 55 per cent of their net incomes to the federal treasury. A married man with a net income of $100,000 and no dependants would pay $30,140. With a $300,000 income he would pay $144,640; with a $500,000 income, $263,640 and with a million dollar income, $571,140 or more than half of it.

A married person with a $3,000 net income and two dependent children would pay no tax. If he had one dependent child his tax would be $4. tentions. But the meat of it all was the surprising revelation that the responsible party organization of the senate had been left out in the cold entirely.

Other republican presidents have similarly failed to talk things over with old guard leaders in congress on occasion, but that was because of a closer tie between White House and senate insurgents. With Mr. Hoover there is no such tie.

Most of the republican irregulars are not consulted by the President on any occasion whatever, Borah of Idaho does see, but these conferees, particularly in recent weeks, have not given the impression of good understanding and cooperation. Far from it.

A Suspicion
Of course, what rankles in congressional breasts is the possible impression on the voting public.

Anticipating popular criticism against the tax, economy and other legislation of the session, does the President intend to draw definitely away from members of congress during the coming campaign, and let them take all the blame?

That suspicion is what makes minds uneasy on capitol hill.

GIVEN FIFTY YEARS

TEXARKANA, June 9 (AP)—John G. Harris of Bono, Ark., was convicted today of murder and sentenced to 50 years imprisonment for the killing of Ed Royal, 55, of Fort Huron, Mich. The 29-year-old defendant, who had admitted in court that he beat Royal to death with an automobile tire pump and jack, seemed pleased with the verdict. He laughed when it was read. Later he shook hands with Judge George Johnson. The state had asked for the death penalty.

Scanning New Books

BY WARE TORREY

NEW YORK—The background of the United States' interest of oriental affairs is treated in "America In The Pacific," by Foster Rhea Dulles.

The volume reviews American expansion westward from the days when Daniel Webster thought that California and Oregon might some day become strong republics allied with the United States, down to the conquest of the Philippines in "the constitution-follows-the-flag" era.

A preface tries to link all this with Japan's 1922 policy toward China, but the book itself stops with a speech by the late Senator Beveridge in January, 1900, in which he declared that "the Philippines are ours forever, and just beyond them lies China's illimitable markets."

Life Of A Politician

"The last of the old time politicians" the late Joe Bailey called himself, and he was true to that tradition to the end of his career. As senator from Texas, he was a most bitter opponent of both prohibition and women's suffrage.

Sam Acheson has written his biography, "Joe Bailey," a volume that is a particularly illuminating picture, not only of Bailey, but also of the administrations of Roosevelt and Taft.

Bailey was distinctly an individualist, a man of changing moods.

Contrasting Women

Margaret Widdemer, in "Pre-War Lady" draws an excellent contrast between women "before the war" and the less romantic but more decisive girls of the present period.

Emilia spends the years directly after the armistice in a French village, and finally returns to America to discover new speeds, stridencies and intensities, as well as changed styles in lipsticks and skirts.

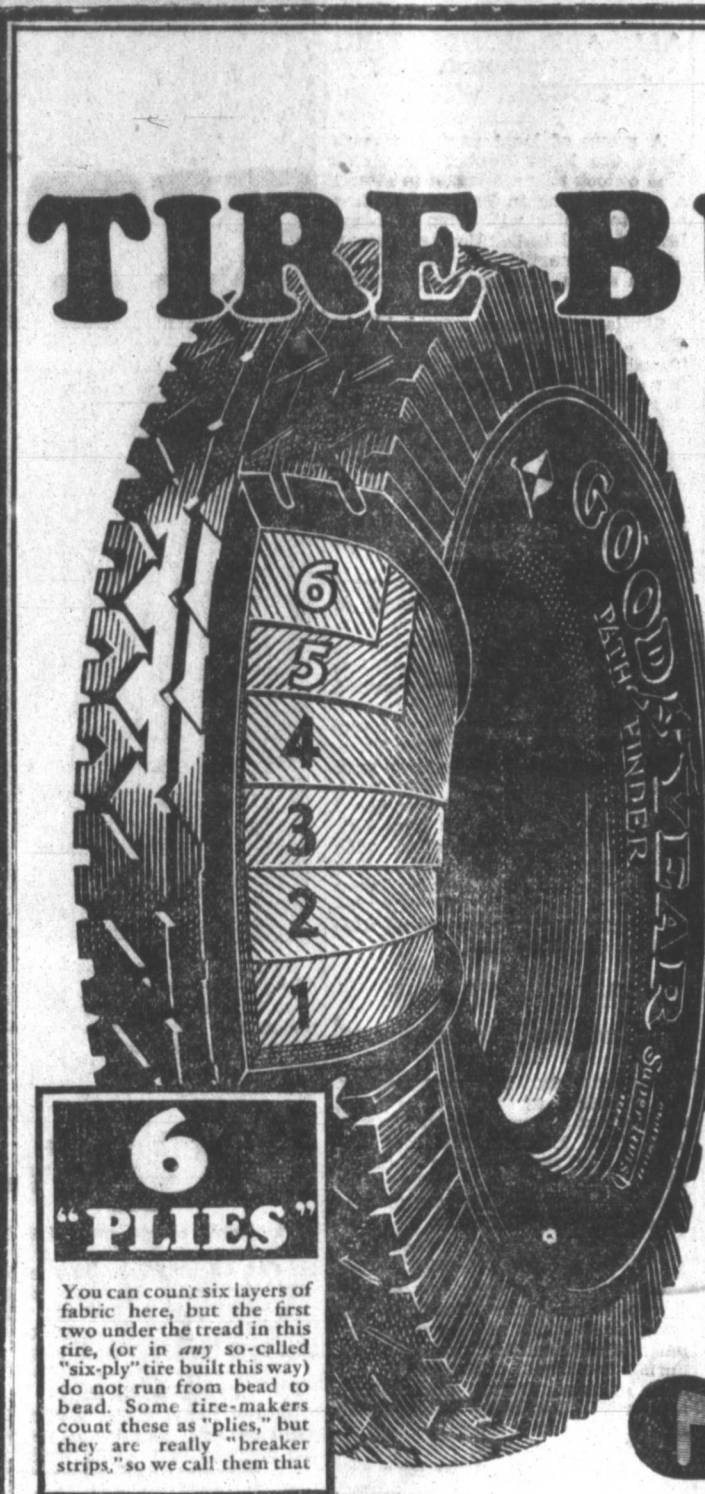

attempts to investigate charges against him, and purports to be the really factual "news story" of his achievements.

R. C. Hutchinson in "The Answering Glory" gives a clear-lined picture of Miss Thompson, a practical and determined little missionary, who is inviolable home to England and who spends her strength in an effort to get back to her island off the coast of Africa and to the natives who are waiting for her.

Among other new books are "Remakers of Mankind" by Carleton Washburne, a study of education in many countries; E. Alexander Powell's "Undiscovered Europe" and Diana Patrick's "First Year Penney."

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND!

POLITICS at random

BY BRYON PRICE
Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

Every president has had his disagreements with congress, but it would be hard to find an exact parallel for the situation which now exists between the White House and capitol hill.

The sharpness of the words recently exchanged between Mr. Hoover and Mrs. Garner can leave no doubt that they view one another with something more than the natural mutual disapproval of a republican president and a democratic speaker of the house.

On the senate side, things are even more unpleasant in some respects because they are not so much out in the healthy open. The senate majority is republican, but its old guard leaders are not easy in their minds about the present or the future.

They did not at all like the President's first public threat several weeks ago to go over their heads to the public in order to force action on pending legislation.

They disliked so much the way he was proceeding with republican convention arrangements that two of the most prominent kept a member of the cabinet cornered for two hours recently complaining that they had not even been consulted about important party decisions.

Finally, something of this feeling became a subject of guarded public debate as an aftermath to Mr. Hoover's surprise address to the senate on May 31 asking for immediate passage of the tax bill.

Harrison Breaks Ice
It was a democrat, Harrison of Mississippi, who broke the ice of senatorial reserve. Possibly he did not know when he started the debate that he would have powerful republican support. Possibly, Harrison told the senate that everyone knew perfectly well the tax bill was to be passed on May 31 anyway; that it all had been agreed upon at a White House conference the night before; and that the only delay was caused by the administration's tardiness in presenting its final estimates and by the time consumed listening to President Hoover's unheralded speech, urging action.

Senator Watson of Indiana is the republican leader. When he speaks, he is looked upon as speaking for the republican majority. The is what he said:

"I know of nobody who is disputing what the senator (Harrison) says. This recital of events, from the beginning up to this time, is entirely correct."

"I did not know the President contemplated coming to the senate. I was not consulted about it. I do not know whom he asked about it. He did not consult the senator from Utah (Senator Smoot, chairman of the committee handling the tax bill)."

"Of course, the President had the right to come. I assume that he believed it was proper."

Praise His Patriotism
There was more to the Watson speech, soft words praising the President's patriotism and good in-

BEDS DOFF LOVELY DISGUISES

Remodel Your Couch Bed With Drapery and Flourishes.

By MARGERY TAYLOR Interior Decoration Editor, McCall's Magazine, Written for Pampa Daily News

Beds are furniture again. In the past few years beds have been more and more disguised and hidden. Small apartments and modern art cut down head boards and foot boards or made endtables out of them. Beds became couches or just so much background or disappeared into a closet.

Now, a bed is not only a bed again, but it may soon be a good old-fashioned tester with a canopy, head pieces elaborately draped and festoons in the French style. Something simple is the beginning of the new bed vogue, but even muslin hangings with a ball or braided fringe can look romantic. Founces distinguish the foot of the bed. The most popular materials for bed curtains will be tulle and chintzes. For less youthful effects, damask and heavy crevells will be used.

For the bed decorated in muslin flounces and curtains, delightful color effects can be achieved with appliqued or patchwork quilts. For the bed bedecked in chintz or tulle, the same material for the spread is not only logical, but really interesting. It is not expected that there will be a wild rush by everyone to throw out old beds and put in the new-old four posters. But beds must have style, and the next best thing is to decorate those you have. Even the simplest couch bed can be transformed into something in the mode by a festoon or drapery at the head—and they need not be very complicated.

This is not, of course, a new idea. When it came to decorating beds, the Greeks had a way for it. The Greeks and the Romans didn't know much about the four-posters of later days, but they made some good guesses. They built up frameworks or high and ornate head pieces, and from these they extended canopies.

And no, to be up-to-the-minute, do as the Romans did.

Questions Will Be Answered At Service Tonight

"Does God hear a sinner's prayer? If not, how do we receive forgiveness for sin? Explain how you know the Church of Christ is the one established on the day of Pentecost."

The above questions, placed in the question box at the Church of Christ, are to be answered by Evangelist C. Ellis McLaughlin at the service this evening. The meeting is at 8:30 o'clock, and the minister's sermon subject will be the origin of churches.

"We hear much about the danger of telling lies," said Mr. McLaughlin last night, "but it is just as dangerous to believe one," and he referred to the instance of the prophet discussed in the 13th chapter of First Kings. After describing the mission and faithfulness of this prophet the minister gave attention to the old prophet to deceive the young man of God.

"Many false prophets today," he said, "are leading men to have faith in erroneous teachings and such as would cause men to disobey God and finally bring eternal destruction to the soul."

Kentucky Troops On Third Move

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., June 9 (AP)—Kentucky's third troop movement in a year occasioned by mine labor output breaks centered at Mannington and Empire in Christian county today.

Twenty national guardsmen were ordered into the trouble zone after the killing of Deputy Sheriff Wallace Myers Tuesday. Myers was wounded fatally by snipers who fired from a hillside at miners emerging from the Empire mine No. 6, where a recent strike was followed by promiscuous shootings and dynamiting. The troops were ordered out by Gov. Ruby Laffoon at the request of county judge Ira D. Smith, Sheriff Barrette E. Brown and other Christian county officials. Two officers and ten machine gunners were sent from Hopkinsville and two officers and five infantrymen from Bowling Green.

Victoria B. C. will build a 42-foot dam to increase its Spoke Lake reservoir capacity to 7,200,000,000 gallons, twice the present capacity.

JAVA 'APE-MAN' IS FOUND TO BE WOMAN

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—The fair sex scores again! The old Java "Ape-Man," Pithecanthropus Erectus, oldest known possible ancestor of the human race, has turned out to be a woman.

Study of the skull of the only specimen of this ancient pre-human creature, which died in Java about half a million years ago, says Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, expert on bones and skeletons, shows "undoubtedly it was not a male but a female. His word came in an announcement from the Smithsonian Institution today.

This new light on the sex of Pithecanthropus Erectus is of special interest because "he" or "she" is a sort of missing link between modern man and his theoretical oldest ancestor, from whom many believe both man and apes may be descended.

Pithecanthropus was neither human nor ape, but her bones reveal, says Dr. Hrdlicka, that she was well on the way toward human form.

He was decided Pithecanthropus was a female from study of the cap, or top, of the skull. This and the lower jaw, a thigh bone and three teeth were unearthed 50 years ago in Java. Ever since, scientists have been studying the bones in an effort to reconstruct the appearance and habits of their original owner.

INSECT SPRAY KEEPS CATS AND DOGS AWAY FROM YOUR FLOWERS NIGHT AND DAY

A problem that kept local flower lovers, and dog lovers in particular, and eventually became so serious that police were asked to intervene, appears to have been solved by County Agent Ralph R. Thomas. This problem is how to keep cats and dogs out of flower beds, lawns, berries, and in general places where they are not wanted. The solution as stated in an extemporaneous speech by Mr. Thomas:

Insect spray
Keeps cats and dogs away.
Simply spray the flowers, shrubs, or premises with a dilute nicotine sulphate spray and cats and dogs will avoid them, Mr. Thomas said. The spray is harmless to plants and is very offensive to animals. It is widely used against sucking insects. As cats and dogs have keener sense of smell than humans, they can smell the spray even when it is applied so thinly that people are unaware of its presence.

Commercial preparations usually contain 40 per cent of nicotine sulphate. Such preparations should be used at the rate of one and one-half teaspoonful to gallon of water. The spray evaporates and should be renewed after rains, or about once every two weeks in ordinary weather.

The dog problem still exists in Pampa, although many residents have trained their dogs to stay in their own back yards. Mr. Thomas believes the spray will be a boon to Pampa residents. Flower and dog lovers, who are at each other's throats when favorite dogs strip bark from beloved trees, lawns and flower beds are rolled on and trampled, when poison is put out for dogs—in specific, when a "dog and flower war" is in progress.

Court of Honor Will Be Friday

The first Boy Scout Court of Honor conducted here in two months will be Friday night at 8 o'clock in the district courtroom in the courthouse. Many boys will come before the court to receive advancement in rank and merit badges.

Scout officials urge adults to attend whether they have boys who are Scouts or not. The boys need the support of the adults and they take more interest in their work when they know their families and friends are interested in them. C. A. Clark, executive of the Adobe Walls council, said:

Four local boys, Melvin Qualls, Tom Sweetman, Smith Wise, Jr., and Edward Scott, all from Troop 18, First Presbyterian church, will be recommended to the National Council for the rank of Eagle Scout. Each boy has 21 or more merit badges to his credit.

Rev. James Todd Jr., chairman of the Court of Honor committee; Rev. A. A. Hyde, president of the Adobe Walls council; C. A. Clark, executive, and troop committee members will be in charge of the court. The following boys will be advanced to second class rank: Edward Vandenberg, Ralph Ridgeway and J. L. Jones of Troop 18, Hopkins, and Wilbur Irving of Troop 15. Those advancing to first class scouts will be Billie Bob Cotton, Claude G. Johnson and J. L. Jones of troop 18, Hopkins, and Jim Bob Johnson of troop 15.

Chilean Industry To Be Nationalized

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 9 (AP)—The new socialist Junta proceeded today with the first steps in its task of nationalizing Chilean industry, backed by a pledge of labor groups to support the government with armed force if necessary. The government announced it was working on a plan to nationalize the big sugar refinery at Vina Del Mar as its first step toward setting up a socialist economic system. The refinery, the announcement said, would be taken over from private control and operated by a committee. While these plans were going forward last night, labor groups submitted to the government a proposal for formation of a republican socialist guard made up of workers who would be given arms and pledged to use them in backing up the Davila regime any time it needed aid.

The Oregon board of health will issue permits or the operation of public swimming pools this year only where the water has been chlorinated or otherwise purified.

Tips on CONTRACT

A NO-TRUMP CONVENTION BY TOM O'NEIL

For situations where the dealer at contract opens with a preemptive bid of a suit has come the overcall with no trump by an opponent without any desire to play at no trump. It is in the nature of an informative or takeout double requiring partner to bid his best suit.

A mere double would be confusing to partner of the doubler. He would rightly assume that the doubler desired to set the preemptive bidder.

Originated by a ranking player in a duplicate game on the spur of the moment to fit a particular case and rightly interpreted by that player's partner, the no trump overcall has reached standardization in its meaning. It takes a hand of great strength that would result in the preemptive bid being set. But the player overcalling foresees more points in his side making game or slam than in penalizing opponents. The no trump offer is made without a stopper in the dealer's suit. In fact if the hand of the no trump bidder is void of the dealer's suit so much the better. But the no trump bidder must be prepared for any response by his partner. A hand held by Miss Florence Fitch at the Des Chapelles club, New York, illustrates the principle. The hand:

NORTH		EAST
♠ J 10	♠ 9 8 7	♠ 5 5	♠ 4 4
♥ 10 9 8 7	♥ 10 9 8 6	♥ 7 6 5	♥ 7 6
♦ 10 9	♦ 10 9 8 6	♦ A 7 4	♦ K 5 3 2
♣ A K Q 5 2	♣ K Q 2	♣ A 7 4	♣ K 5 3 2
♠ A Q J 4	♠ A K Q 6 4 2	♠ J 6	♠ 5 3
DEALER	♠ 7 6

South opened with a bid of four spades, a sound offering based on great length in one suit and a hand valueless at any other make. This sort of preemptive bid often results in game if partner's hand should have a trick or so, and prevents a successful game contract by opponents.

West bid four no trump, being prepared to meet any of three suits bid by partner. East answered with five clubs. Now west, having visions of a slam, bid five hearts. Miss Fitch was prepared to welcome a six heart bid by partner in case east's hearts were longer than clubs.

East, having more clubs than hearts and the ace of diamonds in addition, bid six clubs. The slam was a laydown, the defense making only the ace of spades.

Banditry Trials Are Transferred

Trials of Frank Roddy and Bob Betty, charged with night burglary in connection with the looting of the Booker bank, Dec. 24, 1931, were transferred to Pampa at Lipscomb yesterday, according to District Attorney Raymond Allred. The cases will be subject to call in the September term of 31st district court which will convene here Sept. 21. About $600 was taken from the Booker First State bank. Billy Cuiwell, also charged in the Booker burglary, will be tried at Lipscomb at the next term of court. T. W. Goddard, charged in connection with the daylight holdup and robbery of the First National bank at Higgins, will be tried at Wheeler. The cases were transferred on account of the short term of court at Lipscomb. The session lasted only two weeks, and it was impossible for all business before the court to be transacted. Six felony cases were tried and defendants in every instance were given terms of from 2 to 10 years. All were charged with either burglary or robbery.

Hoover Claimed To Favor Referendum

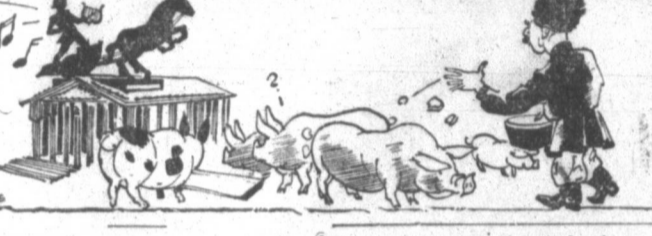

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Republican leaders at the capitol definitely counted President Hoover in favor of the principle of prohibition resubmission today as convention plans moved ahead. It was re-emphasized at the White House, however, that Mr. Hoover has not approved a specific prohibition plank for the platform. The only contest in prospect at the convention is on prohibition. Republicans on capitol hill who Sunday decided in favor of the resubmission plank on notice to be ready to leave congress, if necessary, for the platform contest. A drive in the convention for a repeal plank is feared by the party command. To all appearances the prohibitionists in congress are making time to await the convention's decision. A regular airline service between Berlin and Shanghai is contemplated by a German company. Exports of linen piece goods from the United Kingdom to the United States in 1931 totaled 33,056,000 square yards.

PIGS IN SWANKY SOVIET STY CHARMED BY APOLLO'S LYRE

MOSCOW (AP)—Drolleries made to order for the pen of a Mark Twain have been uncovered by the weekly magazine "Crocodile," a quasi-humorous publication, by a survey of animal breeding, particularly pigs, in the Soviet Union. Its investigators found that managers of the Crimean pig trust spent $225,000 to build an artistic pig sty modeled after an ancient Greek temple on one of its livestock farms. On the roof was a statue of Apollo in a chariot. "Of course" comments the journal, "we have no objection to Apollo playing the lyre on this pig-breeding Parthenon, but we do protest against the expenditure by these esthetic gentlemen of 450,000 roubles for this kind of adornment." The trust probably will be called to account for wasting funds. Even soviet officials, with their contempt for anything smacking of royalty, were shocked to learn that a part of the magnificent palace that formerly was the governor-general's house in Leningrad, was being used as a pig sty. This was discovered, the magazine reports, by an assistant to the president of the central cooperative trust who, while strolling down the Nevsky prospect, was attracted by the strong odor issuing from the place. The responsible officials were reprimanded and ordered to set up their sty elsewhere. A similar situation was found at Ufa, where the former governor's house put it, "to make the pigs comfortable." Representatives of the Baku central workers' cooperative, hoping to increase its swine herds, purchased a lot of boars in a distant region. But when they loosed them on the farms they learned to their chagrin that they had bought a species of wild boars which killed and ate all the domestic animals. The Beloretzky central cooperative, launching a campaign to breed rabbits on a large scale, imported 3,000 expensive animals and stood back to await the expected rapid reproduction. When, instead of multiplying, the herd actually decreased, due to fighting among themselves, an investigation revealed that only bucks had been purchased. The magazine drew a moral from these happenings, declaring that most of them were due to stupidity and poor management, but that in some cases the hand of the saboteur might be discovered.

Hollywood Sights Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—In the South Sea islands it is the custom for women to wear a flower over the ear. If the girl is betrothed she wears the blossom over the right ear, but if she is fancy-free and heart-whole, it is pinned invitingly over the left ear. But Reri is a coquette, I'm afraid. She belongs, she avers, in the latter classification, and yet she wears her flower over either ear at will. She wears it at all times, even when she dons a hat. "Tabu," the lovely Tahitian star of "Tabu," will not be seen on the screen for some months to come, perhaps not until next year. She has been in Hollywood four weeks, rehearsing a new vaudeville act, and has talked over pictures with one or two studios, but has signed nothing.

To Star in Film When she returns from this tour in the fall, there may be a picture waiting for her to make before she goes to Europe. It is arranged already that she will star in a film for Robert Murnau, brother of the late director, F. W. Murnau, who discovered her for "Tabu," the picture that led Florenz Ziegfeld to send to Tahiti for her to appear in his "Follies."

This Reri is a gay child. She is poetry incarnate—in looks, in gesture, in movement. Her very walk, as she goes through Hollywood, is a dance to the music of her sudden laughter. She is 19. Her real name is Anne Chevalier, her father French and her mother Polynesian. She has 17 brothers and sisters.

Like New York She is having fun in America. She prefers New York to Hollywood. Hollywood's lazy climate is like her own Tahiti, while New York's invigorates her, she says. Reri dresses becomingly in the latest styles, and loves good clothes. When she is tired of the stage, she says, she hopes to marry an American and go back to Tahiti. She is irresistibly high-spirited, laughs innocently, ingeniously, constantly. And yet she is subject to flashing moods of somberness—homesickness. She has more fun than anybody I know—because she is fun.

MANY "IFS" BETWEEN NOW AND HARVEST OF 10-BUSHEL WHEAT

Wheat fields between White Deer and Miami will average around 10 bushels to the acre if conditions remain normal, that is, if a fall doesn't destroy the crop, if a smoking wind does not burn the wheat—if a thousand and one things that might happen, don't happen. Roy McMillen of the Stark and McMillen grain company, said today. The dealer estimated that the crop this year will be about 55 per cent of last year's crop which average 20 bushels to the acre. About 10 per cent of the wheat this year has been plowed up, due to drought, blow outs, a bad start in growing. Farmers report every day that the heads are filling out in a satisfactory manner. The farmers themselves estimate that the average yield per acre will be about 10 bushels which means that the average acre-yield will be around 12 bushels. The big rains of last week-end were highly beneficial to the grain, and raised the yield a few bushels per acre. Pessimists and optimists alike estimated that the yield would not be over 6 bushels several weeks ago. Mr. McMillen shied off predictions regarding prospect for better or worse prices. At the present time, wheat is selling for around 30c. "I just can't believe that wheat won't go up," Mr. McMillen said. "It ought to be higher on account of the prospects, but talking about the price of wheat now is a futile business. Any statement from Hoover or any act of congress has a super-sensitive effect upon the grain market, and is likely to wreck a good price."

Bonus Marchers Are Given 'Lift'

PADUCAH, Ky., June 9 (AP)—A group of bonus marchers from Texas, estimated at 1,000 and claiming to be the largest single delegation en route to Washington, was given a free ride by the Illinois Central railroad today when they boarded a freight train for Louisville. The veterans came here yesterday from Memphis, Tenn.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Federal aid for the thousands of war veterans who have converged on the capital to demand immediate cash payment of the soldiers' bonus was sought today in resolutions introduced in both branches of congress. Meanwhile, the bonus expedition force established an organization they claimed would be permanent, to agitate their demands. A house vote on whether to give the legislation formal consideration has been promised for Monday.

CINCINNATI REDS DEFINITELY REMOVED BY TOBOGGAN

CHUCK HAFEY'S ILLNESS BLOW TO BALL CLUB

SI JOHNSON IS UNABLE TO TAKE PLACE ON MOUND

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati bubble, one of the prettiest of the spring crop, appears to have exploded in Manager Dan Howley's lap. Seven straight defeats have removed the Reds from the first division and dropped them into seventh place.

Chuck Hafey's illness, which has deprived the club of its cleanup hitter, and pitcher Si Johnson's inability to take the Reds' mound, contributed to the Reds' tumble.

They committed four errors in the first four innings yesterday to lose their second to Bill Terry's revived New York Giants, 9 to 2. All the Giants' runs were unearned.

The sea-saw scrap for league leadership saw the Chicago Cubs bounce up again by defeating Brooklyn, 7 to 5, in 14 innings while Boston was taking a 15 to 8 beating from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Phillies took a free-scoring affair from Pittsburgh, 11 to 10.

The two eminent southpaws, Vernon Gomez and Bob Grove, continue to burn up the American League in their battle for individual pitching supremacy. Gomez won his tenth victory in eleven games as the Yankees took a close one from Detroit, 5 to 4. Grove scored his eleventh victory of the year and his tenth in succession in beating Cleveland 3 to 0. Gomez won his winning run with a homer in the eighth.

The day's most timely blow was delivered by Charlie Berry of the Chicago White Sox. Two were out in the ninth inning and the bases filled when he tripled to center and thereby defeated Washington, 3 to 2.

Goose Goslin delivered a home-run, a triple and a single and drove in four runs as the St. Louis Browns crushed Boston, 11 to 4.

BEAUMONT IS OUTFIT WITH FINAL PUNCH

Youngsters Often Come From Behind To Win Tilts With Many Blows.

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

One reason the Beaumont Exporters are leading the Texas league pennant race is their ability to come from behind with enough hits and runs to win. The Exporters demonstrated that fact against yesterday when they hit hard and often in the late innings to overtake Longview's early lead and eventually win 11 to 6.

Schoolboy Rowe, the young ex-angler who scratched his name on a Beaumont contract and then proceeded to win six consecutive games, started for the Exporters. The boy wonder lasted three innings. Maybe the fact Rowe was presented with a sum of gold by El Dodard, Ark. fans had something to do with his erratic pitching.

At the end of the sixth inning, Longview had a 4 to 2 lead, but the Exporters stormed in the seventh for six runs and added three more in the eighth.

It was a wild, stormy night at Dallas where the Steers battled the wind, rain and the Galveston Buccaneers for a 5 to 3 victory. The game was called in the sixth because of inclement weather. A doubleheader was scheduled but it was called off and a twin bill is carded tonight.

Tyler recently released George Harper, outfielder, San Antonio signed him. Yesterday, he hit a home run and a single to drive in three runs and then he scored a run on Baker's single to beat Tyler, 4 to 3. The Indians, led by Haver, reached the ninth behind 3 to 2, but when their half of the inning was over they had two runs as a result of a do or die rally.

For Worth and Houston, postponed because of wind and rain.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Frank Shields, the tall New Yorker, and Wilmer Allison, sandy-haired Texan, were counted on to give the United States a running start today in its Davis Cup tie with Brazil at Forest Hills.

Shields was down to meet Ricardo Ferraudo, star of the invading team, in the opening singles match. Allison was paired against Nelson Cruz in the second singles duel.

Pairings for tomorrow's doubles had not been announced but it was felt certain Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, Uncle Sam's regular combination, would face any pair the invaders set up.

JAPANESE TO BE THREAT IN FUTURE TILTS

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS HAS PROMISING YOUTH

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 9 (AP)—The frantic battle in which Berkeley Bell of New York, tenth ranking tennis player of the United States, was forced to defeat Jiro Yamagishi, 19-year-old Japanese, in a fourth round match yesterday overshadowed other engagements of the third day of the national clay court championships here.

Yamagishi, a freshman at the University of Illinois, forced his better opponent to match point twice in the three set battle and finally lost out 1-4, 4-6, 7-5.

So spectacular was 'his play' that George Lot of Chicago chased through part of his match with Jim Halverstad of Atlanta watching the next court.

Bryan Grant of Atlanta found Robert Little, Georgia Tech freshman, hard to overcome, 7-5, 7-9, 6-2 to enter the quarter final. Junior Coen of Kansas City got to the quarter final by defeating F. C. Bages of New York City, 4-0, 6-0, and Cliff Sutter of New Orleans broke through by winning from Billy Reese of Atlanta, 6-4, 6-2.

Texas Golfers To Battle At "Falls"

WICHITA FALLS, June 9.—The elite of Texas' public links players, as well as entries from the smaller clubs throughout the state, will gather in Wichita Falls June 20 for the start of the second annual Texas Municipal Golf association championship tournament. The event will be played over the Weeks Park course, one of the sportiest of Texas' public links, and a full week of competitive golf and entertainment is planned for the guest golfers.

While the tournament is the recognized public links championship, participation is not confined to the public course players. All feminine players members of clubs not affiliated with the Texas Women's Golf association are eligible, as well as non-club members.

Play will start Monday, June 20, with an 18-hole qualifying round, in which the low 32 scorers will continue into match play the following day. Eighteen-hole rounds will be played daily until the 36-hole final Saturday. A sufficient number of flights will be arranged to care for all entries, with consolation in each.

A banquet, a dance and a tea are the principal entertainment features during the week.

48 Schoolboys Catch Athlete's Foot

"Last winter my son, age 12 years, with 48 other in his grade, contracted a serious foot ailment—an indoor swimming pool.

"His feet became so sore and itched so bad he could not have had anything on his feet, but would sleep with his feet out of bed. His aches and stockings hurt him so he begged to stay home off his feet.

"Having heard of many remarkable results obtained from the use of Mopone's Emerald Oil and being advised by a friend to try this wonderful oil, I did so.

"To my surprise and satisfaction it cleared up his case, called Athlete's Foot, completely with two medium-sized bottles.

"Our actual experience reported by Mrs. Harry E. Long, 72 Farragut Street, Rochester, N. Y., is by no means unique.

"Many swimming pools have been closed on account of the spread of this crippling infection, and health authorities recommend that mothers rub their children's feet every night with Emerald Oil for precaution as well as cure.

"First-class druggists like Richards Drug Co., are selling lots of Emerald Oil with the flat promise that one bottle will banish every trace of Athlete's Foot or you get your money back."

Gambler's Throw

by Eustace L. Adams

SYNOPSIS: Once more on the kidnapers' trail, Jerry Collins follows to see what he can do. He remembers angrily how when Nancy Wentworth was captured, a shot cut him out of commission. He followed her to the hideout, and that his efforts to follow the gang's hideout were collected failed due to his poor attitude. Now he has powerful new plans, and with Emory's help and a detective, Emory is on the lookout for the kidnapers. A new system in ransom, the demanding of installments of bond money, makes it impossible to prosecute the gang's hideouts. Five men have been captured, as well as Nancy, a gangster and four wealthy men, Hamilton, Mallory, Williams and Martin. For away from their friends, the gangsters will guard in some tropical place, that they cannot recognize. They are breaking under the suspense and heat.

Chapter 10
MURDER PERMITTED?
JERRY swung over lake and shore line in a series of immense concentric circles, urging his powerful new ship up and up until her controls became loose and the pointer on the altimeter refused to rise on the dial.

He was happier, at this moment, than he had been since he could remember. The pulsing drone of the marvellous new $25-horsepower motor was sweeter music to his ears than the most exquisite harmonies of a symphony.

Emory, his fiery blue eyes dancing with anticipation, was studying the magnificent panorama through navy binoculars. Never, since inheriting his father's substantial fortune, had he more ability to spend freely given him such pleasure as now.

It seemed to him that never had he made as wise a purchase as the airplane. What better use of money than to buy adventure. He remembered the toast of the old gang in his squadron. Hard-bitten, hard-eyed men rose and drank "bottoms up" to the words, "any little but here!"

Stevens wiped an ugly little sub-calibre machine gun with a bit of oily cloth. He chewed rhythmically, his faded old eyes looking at nothing in particular. He had accepted the airplane as he accepted everything else, unquestioningly.

He saw no romance or adventure in the task before him. If he had to live his life over again, he would have chosen a different job. One which didn't call for always being ready to shoot first and hit the bull's eye on the first shot.

"There she is!" Emory's exulting voice cut through the blurred snarl of the motor. "The same amphibian. Over there!"

Far below, hurtling over the corrugated blue washboard that was the lake, appeared a tiny airplane, heading straight out from the shore. Jerry throttled his engine, turned and carefully jockeyed the monoplane into its position between the sun and the speeding plane fifteen thousand feet below.

The kidnapers' ship slid down to the water, taxied to a tiny pinpoint of black in the midst of the glittering blue water, then took off again and headed back toward land. The monoplane, holding its strategic position with ease, followed the amphibian over the rolling hills which nestled close to the lake shore and across the flat prairie beyond the hills. Miles followed miles until at last those in the fleeing ship turned abruptly toward the south-south-east.

At an altitude of twenty thousand feet the three in the monoplane watched the orderly lake front suburbs slide smoothly beneath their silvery wing.

"I have a hunch," Jerry said, "that we're in for a long hop. That fellow down there is sticking to a course that's as straight as a plumb line. We may as well settle down. Emory, take the stick while I stretch my legs."

Mallory had broken. Half-back on the county polo team, a golfer, tennis and handball star of considerable note, the man had gone completely to pieces under the strain of nearly three weeks of enforced idleness on this heat-encompassed isle.

The president of the United States Textile corporation considered the matter and decided that unless they were freed before long, someone would have to kill Mallory. He was startled by his own thoughts. A month ago he would have viewed the impending murder of a fellow citizen with horror. Now he found himself judging Mallory impartially and looking upon his possible taking-off abstractly, without concern.

Williams, too, he could do without. He remembered the clothes which Williams had arrived. Too neatly cut, they had been. Blue, pin-checked and with slanting pockets. The man was always interrupting his solitude with his sly blither about Chicago and the grain market.

He wondered if Williams knew how he hated him. If this soul-destroying tension was not lessened, he, Hamilton, might be driven to doing something about it. He carefully placed a red seven upon a black eight.

Martin, now. He pouted. His whole face pouted, black eyes, Roman nose, thin pink lips; they all pouted. His silence and moroseness was almost as irritating as Williams' unquenchable garrulosity. Extremes, amid all this heat, were bad. If the man's eyes would not swirl around the room's lot. Those slightly popped eyes distracted Hamilton's attention from his solitude and caused him to make exasperating blunders. He wondered whether Martin would stop looking like that if one asked him to desist. Or would he just sit there in stony silence and stare? Hamilton stole a glance at him and felt his nerve-ends prickle. Yes, still staring.

The girl was a plucky one. Not his type, perhaps, but he was conscious of a distinct admiration for the way she was holding her own against the weather and the men. When she had first arrived, Hamilton had thought she would break down. She had eaten little. The vivid coloring faded out of her smooth cheeks. She spent much of her time in her own room. When she emerged, her eyes were suspiciously pink. But she had seemed to gather strength with the passing of time. No doubt she had been forced to, for with every new day the men had become more ardent in the attentions. It had been diverting, watching her handle them.

Strangely enough, Hamilton did not resent Lucel. Of all the men on the heat-raddled island, Lucel was alone in remaining true to type. He looked, thought, talked and acted exactly like One-Shot Lucel, gangster chief. Hamilton had been gratified when, that evening at dinner, he had discovered that the gangster, too, was in love with the girl Nancy. Hamilton had parried Nancy's look of scorn when the gangster had informed the entire assemblage that the girl would henceforth be regarded as his on pain of instant and brutal punishment. Mallory had gulped greedily at his champagne. Williams had flushed furtively. Martin had looked at Lucel with eyes like those of a rattlesnake.

Yes, little fear of going mad with all these to watch. He shuffled the pack and dealt the cards into a meticulously straight line. It occurred to him that he was already, perhaps, a little mad. Well, it didn't matter. The others were mad, too.

He wondered why their captors had allowed things to come to such a pass. Suave, impersonal house servants; ugly, impersonal guards. Excellent foods, wines and liquors. Well-chosen wardrobes at the disposal of the guests who had come ill-prepared for an extended stay. The rooms were comfortable enough in this rambling, one-story structure which had so apparently been erected for the very purpose of entertaining "guests." The staff must have been given explicit orders to allow the "guests" to do as they chose, so long as no opportunity was given them to escape. Hamilton hazarded a guess that the guards would not even interfere in a fight—or a murder. Well, he would soon know. He looked at his watch. Only eight o'clock.

Through the open windows came the buzzing hum of an airplane motor.

COTTON OPENING WEAK
NEW ORLEANS, June 9 (AP)—The cotton market had rather a weak opening today with fairly active trading. Although Liverpool cables were about as due, New York opened down and first trades here show losses of 4 to 7 points. The market continued to ease off after the start on continued liquidation and a lower opening of the stock market. July broke through the 5-cent line to 4.95, October eased to 5.15 and December to 5.20, down 9 to 10 points from yesterday's close and into new low ground for the season. A little later the market rallied on a recovery of stocks advancing 6 to 8 points from the lows and showed a steadier undertone.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—The stock market quickly ran out of buying power today, after a morning rally coincident with a squeeze of shorts in Auburn. The list settled back during the afternoon. Numerous advances of 1 to 4 points were lost, and the close found some leaders a little under yesterday's final prices. The closing tone was barely steady. Transactions aggregated 1,100,000 shares.

WHEAT BREAKS
CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—Reports of heavy liquidation at Liverpool, with sharp downturns in wheat quotations there, led to fresh early breaks today in grain values here. The court held that for the railroad commission to have authority to impose penalties on pipelines not complying with its rules "amounts to taking property without due process of law."

It was held that the plaintiffs were "private pipeline carriers" who have not devoted their property to the public use for hire or compensation.

DO YOU INHALE?

Silence may be golden... but is that why other cigarette advertising is generally silent on this question?

WHEN the truth hurts—it's only natural to avoid the subject! Inhaling has long been an "untouchable" topic in cigarette advertising. And no wonder! In every tobacco leaf—even the finest, the mildest—nature hides certain impurities which, when not removed, are unkind to delicate membranes!

And since, knowingly or unknowingly, every smoker inhales some part of the smoke from his or her cigarette, Lucky Strike developed that great scientific process which removes certain impurities. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? More than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.
