Buildings Facing Trouble With '68'

President Nixon may have asked homes and businesses to turn down the thermostats to 68 degrees, but in a survey taken this morning of various downtown businesses, few are actually registering that temperature mark.

Temperatures found in the buildings during the below-freezing chill ranged from 70 degrees F. to a high of 83. The "hottest place in town" is the tax assessor's office, where the inside temperature was measured at 83.

Israel Shoots Down Egyptian Plane In Battle

Israeli and Egyptian warplanes battled over the Gulf of Suez today in the first such cease-fire took effect on Oct. 24, and Israeli troops went on a war footing comparable to that which preceded the 1967 Six Day War.

The thermostat in a strip joint was down to 68 (relates Shelby Friedman) and the kindhearted customers yelled to the girls, "Put it on!" Suggested slogan for motorists, "Keep Off the Gas." New York says the cynic, is the only place where they tear down a 35-story building to put up a 36-story building. Here's some good advice: Never try to change a woman's opinion — even if you can figure out what it is. (For more laughs see Earl Wilson on Page 9.)

The Cabot Corp. offices in the Hughes Bldg. also registered 73. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. recorded 74 degrees.

The Pampa Police Department in the City Hall basement and the second floor of the Combs - Worley Bldg. were a mild 75.

Even in those buildings having thermostats turned down to 68, temperatures still registered above that mark.

Simon told the Senate Government Operations Committee that a final decision on gasoline rationing would be made by the end of the month, but stressed that it was still considered a last resort. Nixon has made clear repeatedly that this is my position.

The November Wholesale Price Index released by the Labor Department backed up the truckers' complaint. It showed diesel fuel, which most big trucks use, went up 45 per cent at the wholesale price last month to a point 126.9 per cent above a year ago.

Wholesale prices of gasoline and other refined petroleum products went up 34.7 per cent in November, far above the biggest previous jump of 9.5 per cent in June, while the index for all fuels and power went up 19.1 per cent. That compared to a previous high monthly increase of 5.4 last June.

The outlook for the future also appears bleak, price-wise.

Hughes' Associates Tell Of Nixon's Brother Aid

IN NORTHERN AREAS Paper Predicting Showdown Between Communists, Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's party newspaper today predicted a showdown clash between government and Communist forces will begin soon in northern South Vietnam.

North Vietnam denied it was building up its forces for an offensive and charged U.S. warships and reconnaissance planes had conducted 37 missions in North Vietnamese waters and airspace recently "in an attempt to intimidate the Vietnamese people."

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Saigon had "no comment" on the charge.

The Saigon government predicted a Communist attack against the Gia Nghia province capital near Kien Duc, 110 miles north of Saigon, and said it would be "the final act to tear up the cease-fire agreement."

The Dan Chu (Democracy) newspaper said in a front page editorial, "A general war waged by the North Vietnamese troops started, in fact, with the attack on Kien Duc district town" and its capture by the Communists Tuesday.

The newspaper editorial said North Vietnam was "concentrating up to eight divisions with about 100,000 men" in the five provinces immediately south of the former Demilitarized Zone separating North from South Vietnam.

A clash between Nationalists and Communists in (the area) is no more a far-off hypothesis," the editorial said.

The Viet Cong claimed credit for the North Vietnamese army victory at Kien Duc in a statement today. A spokesman warned that if the government refused a Viet Cong demand to pull its forces from the area, more attacks could be expected.

The Viet Cong spokesman, Senior Col. Vo Dong Giang, said: "I am authorized to announce that if the Saigon administration refuses to put an end to its land grabbing operations in the area... it will undoubtedly be unable to escape heavier punishments."

The government rushed reinforcements into Gia Nghia, capital of Quang Duc Province, today and accused the Communists of planning to assault the town climaxed a month-old offensive in the southern Central Highlands.

A tank-led regiment of 3,000 North Vietnamese troops seized the town of Kien Duc, 12 miles west of Gia Nghia, Tuesday night.

ON SKYLAB FLIGHT Gibson Wondering About Other Life

HOUSTON (UPI) — Gazing at billions of stars from his safe and cozy home in space, Skylab 3 astronaut Edward G. Gibson says he wonders sometimes if there is intelligent life beyond our solar system.

"You know, being up here and being able to look out, both down at the earth and out at the sun, you realize just how dependent we really are and have been," the mission scientist said Wednesday during a televised tour of Skylab's solar observatory.

"But also being up here we can look out at night and there's billions of stars," he said. "It kind of creates in us a curiosity about... the possibility of space programs elsewhere. Are they comparable to us? And if they're very advanced, why haven't we heard from them?"

Gibson and fellow crewmen Gerald P. Carr and William R. Pogue reported by their doctors in excellent physical and mental health, can only devote a fraction of their time to such speculation, however.

Cloudy weather forced postponement of another picture-taking survey of the earth, so the space pilots spent their working hours observing the sun and Comet Kohoutek.

Gibson said utilizing the Skylab solar observatory, the best collection of instruments men have ever operated in space, scientists have begun to understand the puzzles of the sun.

"We're learning a lot about energy, in particular nuclear energy," he said. "The source of energy for the sun has always been a mystery and we're beginning just now to really unravel it."

The astronauts made extensive observations of Kohoutek Wednesday and are to spend even more time on that task in the next few weeks.

SBA Official Served With Foreign Bank

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former official of the Small Business Administration served as director of a foreign bank controlled by fugitive financier Robert Vesco while holding his government job, sources at the Securities and Exchange Commission have confirmed.

They told UPI Wednesday that Arthur McZier, who resigned as SBA associate administrator for minority enterprise Dec. 1, is identified in court documents in New York as a director of the Bahamas Commonwealth Bank.

SEC briefs filed in a New York federal court allege that the bank was used by Vesco and his associates to siphon off money from mutual funds managed by Investors Overseas Services Ltd. (IOS), a Geneva-based financial operation.

The SEC has alleged that Vesco, 37, and his associates caused the IOS mutual funds to sell blue chip U.S. securities and to invest the proceeds for their own benefit in foreign countries of dubious value.

The United States is trying to extradite Vesco from the Bahamas to face trial in a securities fraud case in New York.

The charge of apparent conflict of interest was raised during hearings of the House Small Business Subcommittee last week. Former SBA Philadelphia regional director Russell Hamilton said McZier resigned his government job after agency administrator Thomas Kleppe was told about it.

French Workers Protest High Prices, Leave Jobs

PARIS (UPI) — Workers protesting soaring prices walked off their jobs across France today in the first general strike since the country was paralyzed five and a half years ago.

Labor leader Edmond Maire said the 24-hour walkout was "going to show dramatically that the workers don't intend to foot the bill for the high cost of living."

Factory workers, journalists, cab drivers, public transport personnel, civil servants, teachers, airline pilots, longshoremen, garbage men and electrical workers went on strike today joining thousands of railmen who walked off their jobs the day before.

The major labor unions and leftist political parties called the strike last month as government officials disclosed France's inflation rate was running at an average 11 per cent a year. In Paris, housewives have to pay up to $4 for a pound of beef and a dollar for a dozen eggs.

Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing unveiled a new government anti-inflation program Wednesday and then attacked the strike as "an outrage against the common sense and interests of the workers."

"To cut down production in a period like the one we are going through is to fuel inflation and not to reduce it," he said.

The government's anti-inflation measures included cuts in public expenditure, tightened price and profit controls and credit curbs. The government, however, ruled out a wage or price freeze.

The impact of the strike began to be felt early today. Newspapers did not come out. The state monopoly radio network switched to a near-all-music format. Garbage and trash was left on the sidewalks.

Dear Abby

Teen's celebrating—
He kicked drug habit

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Today I am celebrating, but I don't want to do it alone, so I'm writing to you. What am I celebrating? Well, I have been off drugs for six months, and I think that's worth something. Maybe it's because I don't need to steal or run away from home anymore that makes me so happy. Quitting drugs was the hardest thing I've ever done in my life, but the most rewarding.

I'd like to pay tribute to the teacher who helped me do this. I won't mention his name, but he was the one person who never looked at his watch during all the hours he spent with me. My parents helped a lot. I really thought I hated them, but I now realize it was the things I was doing that I hated. I love my parents, and I want them to know that.

I want everyone to know how much I love life now, and how much I love God.

Six months going on 60 years, because I know I will never go back.

Please print this. There is so much in it I could never have the courage to say out loud. Maybe this will help someone else.

By the way, I'm 15 years old. "ANOTHER LEAF"

DEAR LEAF: Congratulations! I'm sorry you didn't send me your name and address. I would have enjoyed sending you a modest but meaningful present.

DEAR ABBY: My family is just about ready to break up over this problem, which may not have a solution. My husband and two partners have two establishments which they call "Health Studios." But they are really massage parlors which employ pretty young girls who massage men, and you can imagine what other services they sell.

Abby, we have three school-age children who have come home in tears because of what the kids at school are saying about their father.

I have begged my husband to get out of that business and go back to selling, but he says he's making good money and will stay with it as long as he can.

When my husband was a salesman he didn't make as much money, but it was respectable, and we were happy. Am I wrong? RATHER HAVE LESS IN OHIO

DEAR RATHER: No. But don't give your husband an ultimatum unless you're prepared to leave him.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem is kind of touchy, family-wise. Every other Sunday we go to a relative's house for dinner. We enjoy these visits, but they are on an organic food kick, and that is all they serve.

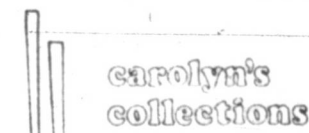

This means lots of tasteless, unseasoned food, and no meat at all. The dinners they serve may be appetizing to them, but not to us.

They are aware that we do not follow their organic diet at home. Would we be considered rude if we brought our own meals after this? MEAT EATERS

DEAR MEAT EATERS: You know your relatives better than I do. If you think they would be offended, tell them you will skip dinner, and join them afterwards.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOST FOR WORDS IN CHICAGO": My advice on this matter is to follow the advice of Proverbs: "Do not answer a foolish man in the language of his folly." [26:4].

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 6790, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

- 4 Cups Cooked and Mashed Sweet Potatoes
- 3/4 Cup Brown Sugar

- 1 Teaspoon Vanilla
- 1 Cup Pecans

After creaming potatoes add the next 3 ingredients and blend well. Place the potatoes in a greased casserole. Make a "well" in center. Sprinkle pecans over the top. Heat at 350 degrees until hot. Just before serving pour the following sauce over all and in the "well".

SWEET POTATOES AND NUTS

- 3 Large Sweet Potatoes
- 2 Tablespoons Butter
- 1 Teaspoon Salt
- 1 Cup Light Cream
- 1/2 Cup Chopped Walnuts
- 1/2 Pound Marshmallows

Cook potatoes in boiling water until tender. Drain and remove skins. Add butter and salt. Slowly add cream and heat until fluffy. Add nuts. Place in buttered casserole, cover with marshmallows and bake for 20 minutes at 400 degrees.

'Tis The Season For Family Entertaining

A lot of beautiful food will be emerging from Christmas kitchens this year, especially from the kitchen of Mrs. Merle (Joan) Terrell, 440 W. McCullough.

Joan, a former resident of Skellytown, and a graduate of White Deer High School enjoys all the facets of homelife, stating that being employed most of her adult life, it is a challenge to run an orderly home and cook balanced and nutritious meals for her husband, daughter, Brenda, 14, and son Barry, 11.

When told to choose a few of her favorite recipes, she had to draw a - a - straw. Joan has many family favorites, and basically, Mexican foods are one of her specialties, but are not necessarily served during the holidays, so she thought of budget stretching dishes-for company.

Joan and her husband are both employees of Cabot Corp. and her hobbies include ceramics, sewing, crocheting and golf.

Listed are just a few of the ideas you might add to your recipe collection.

By JOAN TERRELL

ROUND STEAK CASSEROLE

Brown steak and onions. Cut potatoes over steak and add 1 can cream of mushroom soup and 1 can cream of chicken soup over meat and potatoes. Cover with milk, salt and pepper to taste. Bake 350 degrees for 1 hour.

NOTE: Can be stretched, if using 2 steaks add 2 cans of each type soup. This is also good by substituting pork chops for the steak.

APRICOT JELLO SALAD

1 large box or 2 small boxes apricot jello (This jello can only be found at A&P Groceries or you can use plain gelatin and add apricot nectar as part of water. I prefer the apricot jello.)

- 2 cups boiling water
- 2 cups cold water
- 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple, drained
- 2 large bananas, dried
- 1 cup or more small marshmallows

After jello mixture cools, mix in other ingredients. Let set until completely jelled.

TOPPING:

- 1/2 cup pineapple juice
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons butter

Cook until thick and add 1 small package cream cheese, beating into hot mixture. Let cool. Whip 1 package Dream Whip and fold in. Spread on top of jello.

MRS. MERLE TERRELL
...Holiday Feasting

MONKEY BREAD

Scald 1 cup milk with 1 cup butter, and cool to lukewarm. Dissolve 1 package yeast in 1/4 cup warm water.

Beat: 2 eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add milk and butter, then add 1 1/2 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Add yeast and let rise 1 hour, uncovered. Add 1 1/2 cups more flour. Mix and cover with damp cloth overnight in refrigerator. Take out 2 hours before cooking. Melt 1 stick butter in bundt pan. Pour batter in pan and let rise for 30 minutes. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

PINEAPPLE PARTY CAKE

(Ice box Surprise) 1 small angel food cake, ready made

- 1 large can crushed pineapple
- 1 small can coconut

Break the cake into bite size pieces in loaf pan. Drain pineapple.

SAUCE:

- 3 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups milk

Whipped cream. Use 1/2 cup powdered sugar. Sprinkle with pineapple and coconut. Place in refrigerator until ready to serve. May use larger cake, but need to increase amounts of sauce and icing. Very good for holidays or serving for club socials.

CHERRY NUT CAKE

- 3 cups sugar
- 1 cup butter
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 4 cups flour

- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- One-third cup cherry juice
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries
- Mix butter, sugar and add eggs, cherry juice, buttermilk and soda to batter mixture. Add vanilla and salt. Sift flour and add gradually until well blended. (Because of buttermilk and soda, batter will look clabbered). Flour pecans and cherries before adding to cake. Bake in tube pan for large cake, or 2 or 3 small loaf (bread) pans for 350 degrees, 45 minutes. For smaller cakes, cook only until done.
- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 large onion
- 1 flat can green chilies (if they are hot, add to taste)
- 1 can pimentos
- 2 packages tortillas
- 1 1/2 lbs. cheddar cheese, grated
- Cook onions and chilies until slightly browned. Add soups (6 or 7 cups broth to soup). Cut tortillas in fourths in casserole dish or loaf pan. Put layer of chicken, soup mixture, and cheese. Keep adding in layers, ending with cheese on top. Bake until golden and bubbly, about 350 degrees.

NOTE: Can be prepared and frozen until holiday company arrives. If frozen, it will take around 2 hours in oven to thaw.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

FRIDAY, DEC. 7
Your birthday today: An essentially conservative course is natural now, perhaps camouflaged a bit by fancy talk. Relationships tend to some unsteadiness, require constant attention, are disturbed by rivals or your own competitive urges. Today's natives usually have a rather definite feeling for the shape of things to come, aren't comfortable with the knowledge.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Just because you are not following wild advice doesn't mean you must argue about it. Abide by the amenities of civilization. Push ahead with determination.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Wind-up-your-work-week-as-early as is possible. Personal concerns arise which take extra time, with indication of satisfaction in doing.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Live in the present moment. If you can just enjoy the day, or rather what is within reach now, without fretting over distant or theoretical issues, all will be well.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: A rare mood for taking a risk is hard to turn aside. Beware the persuasive individual trying to rush you into unaccustomed activities, speculative investments.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Optimism pervades today, may induce you to overextension of your enterprises, lead to scattering of energy. Avoid extra purchases until you see the way to pay spot cash.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: It is better to proceed in an orderly sequence, each deal fully settled before you move onto the next. Some matters thus will not be reached today or this week.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Impulses toward action are generally premature. It's just as well they're mixed. Defer action until you get more facts. Stay busy with routines.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Take on only what you feel you can get done today. Arrange to get the full reward for following your own program rather than share in projects where you lack control.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: A once-over-lightly attitude brings unwanted side effects. Pause for a deep breath, then get busy on those important details that have been skipped.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Make use of today's favorable tide to set a steady, upward pace for increased productivity. Install new equipment; use new methods; simplify what you do.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Your propensity for being the visiting expert can get you into hot water with everybody. You don't know all the ins and outs of a given situation.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Promises are all too abundant and unlikely to be feasible to keep, especially those demanded of you. You are out some expense for others, in any case.

Opening lead—K♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is another George Coffin hand. South is in three spades. He wants to play it so he will be sure to make nine tricks.

Clubs are opened and continued. He ruffs the second club with his eight of trumps. He plays his ace of trumps next. Both opponents follow so he leads his three of trumps to dummy's four. Then he leads a heart.

If East makes the normal play of a low heart, South sticks in his jack. West wins and makes his best return of a heart. This best return does him no good because South just wins the trick and leads his last heart. East can win and lead a diamond but South plays the 10 or jack. West wins that trick, but has to lead to give South the rest.

What happens if East puts up the queen of hearts? South simply lets East hold the trick. If East leads another heart, South hops up with the ace and leads back to the jack to develop the same type of end-play.

Suppose East shifts to a diamond. Once more South plays a low honor. West wins the trick and is now forced to lead a club to give South a ruff and discard or a red card right up to South's tenace.

All very simple when you see it on paper.

Family Lib

"Nucleus family" still our best bet

By Joanne and Lew Koch (Note: Today's column is written by Joanne)

This weekend I learned that the nuclear family was dead, bankrupt, kaput. I learned this from a panel of male experts whose credentials included books, Ph.D.'s, and titles — the best known of the group being Princeton professor and author Ashley Montagu.

The extended family, predicted Dr. Montagu, was likely to replace the moribund nuclear family. A greater number of people of varying ages living under the same roof, he reasoned, would offset the infighting and competitive nature of families chopped into small units, each vying with the other for recognition on the basis of material status.

I tried to go along with Dr. Montagu because, among his many books, he wrote one called "The Natural Superiority of Women" years before Steinem took up the cudgel to fight male chauvinism, and also because he exudes charm and culture from every pore.

But just imagine the five-person Koch family extended to include, for openness, both grandmothers and one grandpa, a brother-in-law's family of four, and one golden retriever. I'm sure the same Dr. Montagu who advises us to "live life as if life and love were one" does not wish me any harm. But does he have any idea what such an enlargement would mean in practical terms?

Cooking a steak to please every one of the 12 palates, deciding between the Saturday Night Movie and the Mary Tyler Moore show, these things would become major crises. Joshua's toilet training would have been delayed till his teens, if he had to wait for eleven people to finish before he could get to the potty.

If I did manage to survive in this hotbed of conflicting egos, I would have to do so without a husband. Lew, to whom privateness is next to godliness, would never have stayed around to see how the experiment turned out.

Besides those of us who couldn't cope with the family extension plan, one wonders about those already extended families forced to share one-room flats in ghettos all over the country. Wouldn't they like a shot at the nuclear set-up before the arrangement is abandoned?

Dr. Montagu claims we often use words as a substitute for thinking. Maybe we can change our thinking about the nuclear family by calling it the "nucleus" family to designate a unit of life, not death, of growth, not sterility, organically connected to the larger family of man.

As I see it, the nucleus family — altered to allow mother and father, child and adult a freer expression of their own uniqueness — is still our best hope for raising healthy children. But then, I am not an expert.

Pundt-Alexander Exchange Vows

Miss Elizabeth Ann Pundt and James Edgar Alexander, both of Pampa, exchanged nuptial vows at 2 p.m. Nov. 17 in Locust Grove Baptist Church, located north of Canadian.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pundt of Canadian, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Alexander of Pampa.

The Rev. Vernon Rowley officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Pianist, Mrs. Steve Shepherd, accompanied Mrs. Harold Haines as she sang "More" and "The Wedding Prayer." Mrs. Shepherd also provided traditional wedding music.

The church was decorated with two basket arrangements of white gladioli tied with blue ribbons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white princess-styled gown featuring a boat neckline and long full sleeves. Her two-tiered veil of illusion fell from a bow bandeau and she carried a corsage of white roses and blue ribbon streamers atop a white Bible.

Jeri Lynn Pundt, Canadian, served her sister as maid of honor. She carried two white roses.

Harold Haines served as best man and ushers were Steve Shepherd of Pampa, and Carey Thomas May, Canadian, cousin of the bride.

The bride's parents hosted a reception in their home following the ceremony. The serving table was centered with a blue cornflower and white daisy arrangement. The two-tiered wedding cake was topped with white satin wedding bells. Miss Ruthann Morehead assisted at the punch bowl and Mrs. Carey May served wedding cake. Miss Donna Sue Morehead registered wedding guests.

For the wedding trip to Amarillo, the bride traveled in a light blue pantsuit and lifted the white rose corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside at 309 N. West, Pampa.

The bride is a Canadian High School graduate and attended Draughton's Business College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Pampa High School and is presently employed by Gibson's.

The bride was honored with a bridal shower held at Canadian recently.

Another Way 'Round

Years ago when we were young, we heard the oft repeated maxim in our household: "If you can't go over or under, go round."

principle of "If you can't go over or under, go round." Rather than emphasis on controls and prohibitions, it seems that the answer to our touted "energy crisis" lies in encouraging this spirit of creativity, which may result in something differing from the oil and electricity now counted in the deprivation column.

Political action on the other hand, is based on the survival of politicians through the next election, that is, on the expediency of the moment.

New Nationwide Gang War

By VICTOR RIESEL NEW YORK — It appears to be no simple, fatal epidemic of lead poisoning which is seeping across river in these unhappy hunting grounds of the Mafia.

Also in this incarcerated band Holleran has the alleged Mafia boss of Philadelphia and environs, Angelo Bruno. He has been in over three years for contempt, Holleran tells me.

So some of the authorities believe the so-called Gambino capos, restless younger men, are nosing over in Jersey. There's quite a take to be had — not only in unions and the usual rackets, but in restaurants.

With the Catena-Bruno clique out of circulation, and Catena's former co-chief, Tommy Eboli, executed, and others in the Genovese family hierarchy under indictment, there is no Godfather.

So, to Mafia-watchers it looks quite like a late-late night show revival of a bloodgushing gang war which will rumble nationally.

While sentiment among Foreign Affairs Committee leaders favors slashing this grant money to around $1.5 billion, that could be markedly changed by developments in the highly explosive Middle East.

ALL THAT GLITTERS

Mr. Buckley And The Judge

By VIC GOLD WASHINGTON — My good friend Bill Buckley has added his voice to that of Washingtonian magazine and — surprise of surprises — the American Civil Liberty Union's Joseph Rauh in condemning Judge John J. Sirica, the man who singlehandedly broke open the Watergate cover-up.

In general, Buckley's criticism of Sirica is that the man is a poor excuse for a jurist, given to erratic conduct in handling his court. Specifically, Buckley leveled his attack at what he considered the excessive — cruel was his word — sentences that Sirica handed down against the original Watergate Seven.

Of course, there are those administration defenders who might argue that, in exposing the cover-up, Sirica actually did the country a disservice. After all, we hear it said, what's a little burglary between politicians? By this cynical view, we could all sleep blissful, in ignorance of a scandal which during these past eight months has crippled the presidency and kept government immersed in the Great Wallow.

Although a good general rule for columnists is to avoid writing in response to other columns, an exception seems in order in this case. Particularly, since I was on the verge of nominating Sirica as man-of-the-year when I came across the Buckley column.

Not that I necessarily disagree with the Washingtonian-Buckley-Rauh assessment of Sirica's overall shortcomings as a jurist. He is no Oliver Wendell Holmes. But then, if another judge had been presiding over the Watergate trial, who could guarantee that while Howard Hunt and his six confederates went off to prison for shorter terms, the case might not have ended right there? That is, right where Jeb Magruder and those who planned the cover-up wanted it to end.

Thus, by coincidence, on the same day Buckley's column appeared, one of Sirica's fellow district judges, Aubrey Robinson, Jr., paroled on three years probation a felon originally sentenced to 2-to-20 years for second degree murder. The freed man, who had previously served time for a child-abuse conviction involving the death of his child, was described by prosecutors as "not safe" to walk the streets.

Reduction Of Israeli Emergency Arms Seen

By ROBERT S. ALLEN WASHINGTON — That $2 billion emergency arms aid for Israel proposed by President Nixon is headed for sharp pruning. It's likely to be cut to around $1.5 billion.

evicted Soviet forces in July 1972. At that time, the Reds used the MIG-23 for reconnaissance flights. Now Moscow has given Egypt two squadrons of these ultra-modern fighters, altered especially for close ground support.

(1) Since the 17-day war in October, Israel has received more than $800 million in emergency armaments shipments — including planes, tanks and other armored equipment, artillery, air and ground missiles, and huge quantities of munitions of all types. These urgently needed weapons and supplies, to replace heavy battle losses, came from U.S. military stores that have to be replenished.

Both the Iraq armor and aircraft were severely mauled. The two tank divisions, which were so badly battered they had to be pulled out of action, have now been reconstituted; and the 30 to 40 MIGs shot down by the Israelis have not only been replaced but TU-22 bombers have been added to Iraq's air force.

While sentiment among Foreign Affairs Committee leaders favors slashing this grant money to around $1.5 billion, that could be markedly changed by developments in the highly explosive Middle East. Committee members invariably noted that in their comments — pointing out that "all bets are off" if fighting resumes.

These supersonic bombers also are a menace to Iran — with whom Iraq has been venomously feuding over domination of the Persian Gulf. To counter this threat, Iran, closely allied with the U.S., is negotiating a $2.5 billion purchase of ultra-modern U.S. air, communications and other hardware — including the Navy's new F-14 and Air Force's F-15, super-sonic interceptors not yet operational.

Strikingly indicative of the Soviet Union's vast and costly armaments resupply of Egypt, and Syria are the following details compiled by military and intelligence authorities: EGYPT: Several squadrons of MIG-23 supersonic fighters modified for low-altitude operations. One squadron of these planes piloted by Russians was stationed in Egypt before President Sadat Significantly, Moscow is requiring Iraq, one of the lesser oil producers, to pay cash for the armaments it's getting. Pentagon experts put a $3 billion — plus price tag on Russia's arms resupply of Egypt and Syria — who also have to put up some payment provided second-hand by fabulously oil-rich Saudi Arabia and Libya, which did not directly take part in the October fighting.

Potomac Fever

The administration's explanation of the tapes should help the fuel shortage. It keeps the country steamed up.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the news magazines has an article on "getting to like the energy crisis." Another national publication reports in block headlines that for many people "the energy crisis is a blessing."
It is good, of course, to stress the positive side of deprivation. Good to point out that fuel shortages will cut the highway death toll, reduce air pollution, promote healthy exercise and otherwise benefit the populace.
But what I want to know is this: If the energy crisis is such a boon, how come somebody didn't think of it sooner?

John Maynard Goodcrunch, director of the Institute of Salubrious Calamities, with whom I raised this question, blames the delay on lack of foresight and intelligent planning at the presidential level.
"If the energy crisis had hit us 10 years ago, we wouldn't be in the mess we are in today," he opined.
Vietnam War Cited
Asked for an example of how we could have profited from an earlier advent of fuel shortages, Goodcrunch cited the Vietnam war.

Cities Service Plants Receive Safety Awards

Safety awards for 600,000 man-hours of work without a disabling injury were presented Wednesday by Cities Service Gas Co. to its employees in the Texas Panhandle area.
Field meter inspectors of the company's gas measurement department were recognized for their part in the accumulation of 300,000 man-hours of work; employees of the Pampa, Higgins and Burnett compressor stations for 200,000 man-hours; and the workers in the Pampa pipeline division for 100,000 man-hours.

At a company-sponsored dinner at Pampa, R. W. Morrison, superintendent of all three compressor stations, accepted the safety award on behalf of his 41 men. Supt. Bob Brandon accepted for 11 pipeline division employees.

Representing the gas measurement department in the Pampa area were Edward Wiens and James Hill.

Employees assigned to the Pampa compressor station are Harold Bruington, foreman; Don Egerton, Wayne Brown, Carl Anderson, Jr., Leon Brown, Lynn Brown, David Budd, Leo Casey, William Clark, Ervin Coburn, Stephen Dewey and Gerald Elsheimer.

They also include Glenn Giblin, Larry Hemken, Frank Holman, R. L. Long, Robert Murray, John Ryan, Ocie Stewart, Loraine Wassell, Ronald Whisler, Earl Winegart and Eugene Young.

Employees assigned to the Higgins compressor station are Leonard Barton, Alva Bernaud, Clark Cann, Billy Haller, Elden Hostutler, Paul Rippstein, Lester Stout and R. B. Willyard.

Burnett compressor station employees are Clyde Durst, foreman; Jerry Blanton, Dennis Coates, Danny Kingham, J. C. Willyard, Stanley Malinowski, Charles Satterwhite, Merrel Satterwhite, Erskine Sinclair and Arthur Thomas.

Assigned to the Pampa pipeline division are Fred Freisberg, foreman; Terry Henderson, Melvin Nokes, Wayne Askins, Grover Austin, Jr., Jack Becker, Earl Groves, Mark King, Meredith Meaker, Client Stewart and Charles Tate.
Cities Service Gas Co., a subsidiary of Cities Service Co., delivers natural gas to distributors serving some 500 cities and towns in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas.

HAIL DAMAGE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Damage to crops by hail storms in the United States runs into millions of dollars every year. The loss to an individual farmer can be so great that farmers have increased the premiums they pay for insurance against hailstone damage from $53.732 million in 1948 to $139.98 million in 1972.

"The war dragged on three or four years longer than necessary because Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon couldn't find an honorable way to end it any sooner," he said.

"Had we then been in the midst of an energy crisis, they could have announced they were stopping the bombing and bringing the troops home to save gasoline."

I told Goodcrunch his point was well taken but the fact remains that we had plenty of fuel in those days.

"Certainly," said Goodcrunch. "That is exactly what I mean by a lack of intelligent planning. It didn't have to be that way."

"How could the energy crisis have developed any sooner?" I protested. "We've been wasting our fuel reserves and other natural resources as fast as humanly possible."

Goodcrunch Snaps
Goodcrunch narrowed his eyes. "That's the kind of stereotyped thinking that has gotten us into all this trouble," he snapped.

Stabbing me in the sternum with an emphatic forefinger, he said "Johnson or Kennedy or one of those presidents should have had the vision to recognize that an energy crisis was in the national interest."

"If our leaders had been on the ball, they could have provoked the Arabs into cutting off our oil imports long before now."

I agree the State Department conceivably could have come up with some means of offending the Arabs, it shouldn't have had to wait around for another Middle East war to precipitate an oil embargo.

But that's all water over the dam now. Let's just thank our lucky stars the energy crisis occurred in time to save us from further ruinous progress.

TV In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Most of the publicized problems of the nation's non-commercial television network concern money and independence. No one at the network—the Public Broadcasting Service—offers enough vocal concern, however, about the more mundane matter of showmanship.

If there is too much checkered-vest thinking at the commercial video networks—ABC, CBS and NBC—there is not enough at the noncommercial coast-to-coast outlet, PBS. And, as has been suggested before, PBS cannot be considered anywhere near a total success until it has earned more broad-based public acceptance through popular entertainment. This is not to say PBS should turn huckster. It simply means there are many areas to explore between the extremes of, say, "The Brady Bunch" and intellectual snobism.

There are numerous top-notch individual programs and series on PBS. And countless outstanding people work for the network, as well as its stations, in public service and entertainment-type broadcasting areas.

Needs Super Showman
But what PBS does not have, unfortunately—and needs desperately—is a super showman, a person who does not tut-tut at snobbish cocktail parties about popular video programs, who does not look down at mass entertainment and its performers, who sees the enormous importance of broad-based appeal to the long-range success of the public network.

Such super showmen are not easy to come by. In fact, television's commercial networks could use some themselves. But it's a lot easier to get by with a mediocre programming mentality in commercial video because the limited number of networks—three—and their saturation power as an advertising outlet puts them in virtually an omnipotent position.

PBS and its stations, however, cannot afford the luxury of such dull and unimaginative people in similar positions because there is not the saturation and economic power to compensate for mediocrity in personnel.

PBS runs a tight ship to begin with, and each piece of manpower must count more than at its commercial competitors. And I am a firm believer that one man can and does make a difference. It takes only one or two genuinely popular series to hype the status of a video network. "The Forsythe Saga" gave some indication of that on PBS—and even gave the network a star, Susan Hampshire. But even "The Forsythe Saga" had limited popular appeal.

He Must Be Brilliant
PBS needs an impresario who, knowing he is short on financial lure, finds a way to make PBS, or one or two of its series projects, irresistible to show-business figures who could make things work. And if the financial problem is too much for him to overcome, he must be such a brilliant creative force and promoter that he can develop and put across the series projects without established name talent.

There is no reason for PBS to think it is impossible to have a series like "All in the Family." No one in "All in the Family" was a star before the series began. But the trouble with PBS is that it doesn't even think in terms of a project like "All in the Family."

It's easier to import another dramatized classic from Britain so that people who remark that they usually don't watch television can say how wonderful such cultural programming is.

WRENCHING IDEA
RIDGEVILLE, Ohio (UPI) — In 1923, the year Time magazine was founded and the Charleston was the popular dance craze, the tiny Ridge Tool Co., invented a new heavy duty pipe wrench. In the half century since then it has made 70 million wrenches and next to the Stillson wrench, the Ridgid pipe wrench is the world's most popular.

SS Beneficiaries Receive Increases

Many social security beneficiaries recently received increases in their checks because of a new provision in the social security law known as delayed retirement credit.

This credit adds to a worker's check one per cent for each year or one-twelfth of one per cent for each month between age 65 and 72 that the worker delayed his retirement.

No credit is given for delaying retirement beyond age 72, as a person can make as much as he wants and still draw his social security beginning at age 72. Also, no credit is given for years before 1971 that the worker earned too much money to draw social security.

In order to qualify for the increase a worker must not have received any social security checks before age 65. This delayed retirement credit may actually encourage a person to work longer rather than take early retirement.

The delayed retirement credit will be automatically figured each year. Only the worker receives the delayed retirement bonus. Dependents or survivors drawing on the worker's record do not share in the increase.

Under Twenty

DEAR ASTRID

By ASTRID CARSON

Dear Astrid:
This is the first time in my life that I have ever written to a newspaper columnist but I was so moved by the sage advice you offered one of your readers I just had to write to you. It was offered to someone with the initials "J.D." This one line in particular was so beautiful: "Sex and love were meant to be things of beauty in our lives." The last line is also so true: "There is far more beauty in the subject than there is filth." Your answer will be cut out, blown up and framed and hung where it can be seen by all.

Glenn Newitt

Dear Glenn:
Thank you for your kind, kind words. I think I'll frame your letter!

Dear Astrid:
This guy and I have been going together for three months. He seems to be slipping away. He doesn't call or come over. When I call he says, "It's about time you called."

I stopped calling him because when I do he always says he'll call back and he doesn't until 11 or 12 o'clock and it doesn't last more than five minutes. When he does come around he stays for about five or ten minutes and says he's busy.

He's always asking me if I want to break up. A friend of mine said that she saw him with another girl before he came over here. When I asked him about it he asked if I wanted to break up.

I know he's using me but I have no evidence. Please let me know how to go about it. Hurry because I'm tired of crying.

Help

Dear Help:
It doesn't seem he's using you. He may have in the past, but it is pretty clear what he's trying to do now is to get you upset enough to break up with him. It seems to you just refuse to get his message.

He doesn't pay any great amount of attention to you, tries to duck your phone calls and see as little of you as possible.

What is really the worst, though, is that he doesn't have the decency or honesty to come out and tell you how he feels and why he feels as he does. He refuses to face the problem and you seem to refuse to accept obvious.

Don't ruin your life by sitting home and crying. This boy just doesn't seem worth it. Get out and meet some other boys and be sure you let him know that you're too busy when he calls.

That may shake him up but if it doesn't you'll at least be getting back into the swing of life instead of sitting at home waiting for calls that never come.

Dear Astrid:
I have a big problem I can't handle by myself and one I would not dare write about. Both my parents work and when I try to talk to them about anything they say they are too busy. If I don't get some help from someone I'm just going to be ruined. How can I get them to listen?

Dear Lost:
If you had written about your problem perhaps we could have been of some help to you. However, what you must do with your parents is to get the same tone of urgency into your request for help and advice.

Join them into talking with you! If this doesn't work, go to another adult you trust and who cares for you or consult your religious advisor or a doctor.

Your cry for help seems so real that you've got to get someone to listen.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT Mayor Excited At His Closing

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — The photographers seemed to be falling over each other, taking pictures of Mayor Lindsay and wife Mary at the opening of Neil Simon's comedy with music, "The Good Doctor," at the Eugene O'Neill Theater ... so I said to the mayor, "What's all the excitement?"

"The show's closing," the Mayor replied.

"Closing!" I said. "It's just opening!"

"I don't mean this show, I mean MY show," the Mayor said.

Tony Perkins and his expectant bride Berry Berenson were sitting with Dick Benjamin and his expectant wife Paula Pretiss at a Tavern-on-the-Green party for "The Good Doctor." (The dates are January and May.) Anyway, Josh Logan greeted them. "Well, if this isn't a happy little sixsome."

Alan King, a President Nixon disparager from away back, says, "If he'd been captain of the Titanic, he'd have said, 'We just went down for some ice cubes.'"

Composer-singer Cy Coleman was in a crowded lobby shoulder-to-shoulder with comedy writer Coleman Jacoby. A friend of ours who couldn't fail to be impressed with this coincidence of names shouted out in a loud voice, "Hey, Coleman," and then watched their nostrils twitch. (There is no punch line to the ludicrous story.)

Toots Shor boasts that there are more sports and stage stars from Pennsylvania than from Ohio and Michigan combined. Just after we were saying that Audrey Hepburn was the star of the stage show "Gigi" on Broadway in 1951, a matter of 22 years ago, Audrey and her husband Dr. Andrea Dotti arrived and went backstage to congratulate Christopher Plummer of the Neil Simon show. Miss Hepburn is slim, beautiful and chic as ever and was the guest of the Abe Beinstocks (he's U.S. representative of the Rothschilds).

Carol Lynley, when scolded for posing nude, replied, "What's everybody so worried about? It's only skin" ... Men seldom jump hurdles - for girls who wear girdles ... Is there a new hotel going up on B'way across from Jack Dempsey's? ... With Bettie Midler sold out at the Palace (her engagement starts Dec. 3), Josephine Baker was booked to follow her for one week ... Warners getting National General? Yves Montand will do the Ben Vereen role in the Paris "Pippin" ...

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Secret Stuff: A male star who kisses the sexpot of a B'way show just before the performance starts each night cautioned her, "This is just our secret." (He doesn't realize it's everybody's secret) ... The Greater NY Bloodbank asked Kay Ballard of "Molly" for blood but she's allergic to needles and will do blood work instead.

Honor Blackman ("Pussy Galore" of films) is noted for her bosom but she declared in London, "I'm a leg girl." She added: "I get a positive buzz when I see a pair of masculine legs exerting themselves in action. Footballers, dancers, cyclists can really turn me on. They don't have to be particularly long legs - just so long as they look capable of running five miles."

Show Biz Quiz: Who were the first stars to win Oscars? Ans. to yesterday's: Edward G. Robinson portrayed Dr. Ehrlich; Gary Cooper was Dr. Wassell.

Porno star Marilyn Chambers'll unveil something else Dec. 5 - her new face act, in Passaic, N.J. ... Lucie Arnaz is here to talk about a B'way show ... Composer - pianist Michel LeGrand was casual (tiresome and jacketless) and exciting, opening at Jimmy's, and getting the greatest applause when he played his own pop tunes.

Clare Booth Luce reportedly turned down a $1.2 million offer from a Japanese business man for her estate in Hawaii ... Rock star Alice Cooper was on the Carnegie Hall line for tickets to the Marlene Dietrich concert, and asked if he could bring his pet boa constrictor. (Answer: No way!) ... The Gabors, Eva and Jolie, got a big hand from the audience at "A Little Night Music" as they strolled to their seats.

Burt Reynolds is a top candidate for the film "First Deadly Sin" ... Freddie Finkelhoffe, who wrote some of Judy Garland's film bits, said at Luau East he's writing one for - hopefully - Liza Minnelli and Fred Astaire.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: In these days of gas shortages, the man who once wanted a tiger in his tank would now rather have a camel there.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Susie's case has many facets that may apply to human mothers, too. Veterinary doctors have a more difficult job than the M.D. For we medics deal with patients who can talk. They often make their own (and correct) diagnosis!

CASE Y-588: Susie, aged 2, is a beautiful red-brown Collie. Somebody dropped her off at our farm when our grandchildren were visiting us.

Since we already had a couple of other pet dogs, Mrs. Crane worried about our zooming dog population.

So it was debated whether or not to have her spayed, thus preventing her from having any puppies.

But several Veterinary Doctors told Mrs. Crane to let Susie have one litter of puppies before being spayed.

"Mrs. Crane," they informed her, "a female dog seems to take a much more motherly attitude thereafter toward children and other puppies."

"For when she has had one litter of her own and has nursed them, fended for them and developed the proper habits of a dutiful mother, then these seem to persist."

And that is often true of dogs, as well as of human mothers.

For when any normal female has borne young and nursed them, she cultivates her instinctive maternalism!

Thereafter, such a female (animal or human) seems to experience far more empathy for other young creatures of her own species.

Indeed, human mothers then show a greater concern for lambs, kittens, puppies and even fledglings.

That original innate (instinctive) devotion to her own young, seems to be greatly reinforced and indelibly impressed on such a mother's nervous system.

Thereafter, even if a dog is spayed or a human mother has experienced removal of the womb (hysterectomy), she still retains a richer sense of maternalism.

"Come here quickly," Mrs. Crane later called to me.

"Watch Susie," she added. This was after Susie had borne her puppies, reared them, and then was out in the yard with some of her grandchild puppies.

The mother of these puppies had run off with our other dogs to chase rabbits.

But Susie stayed at the house to look after her grandchildren, being even more attentive to their safety than their own mother was.

Remember, Susie had been spayed a year earlier.

But she still acted as a devoted baby-sitter for this new litter of puppies.

If one of them wandered down the hill into the tall weeds, Susie would saunter after it and nudge the puppy till she steered it back up to the dog kennel.

"Why, she acts as if they are her own puppies," Mrs. Crane exclaimed.

And when two of our toddler grandsons arrived for the weekend, Susie would place herself between them and the other dogs.

Or, if they also tried to toddle down the hill into tall weeds or approach the horses, Susie would nudge them back into safer regions.

We have often found that the big farm collies seem to identify with the little folks (Elves) against larger creatures.

When I would play tag and chase our older boys (aged 11 and 12), our former big Collie would always interpose himself between me and defend the boys.

But if they pursued their younger brothers (aged 6 and 7) then this same big Collie, who sided with the older boys against me, now protected the smaller boys and even ripped the shirt off our 12-year-old.

So good family dogs, such as Collies, Beagles, etc., usually show empathy for the elves against the giants.

And human mothers seem to show more maternalism after the menopause.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH Shorter Leg Giving Problems

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D. Dear Dr. Thosteson: In six years my left leg has become gradually shorter and today is an inch and a half shorter than my right. In the last four years my left knee has ached considerably, so much that I cannot walk even a short distance without considerable agony. I have visited three medical doctors, two osteopathic doctors and three chiropractors, and not one has been able to tell me the reason for this shortness, or give me any relief for my aching knee. Can you suggest something? —C.S.L. You say you "visited" doctors, which might be part of the answer — if you expected to have a doctor give you an answer in the first visit. It is hard to believe that none suggested that you should have X-rays. That is certainly what I would have insisted upon. The leg bones themselves do not shorten, so the problem most likely originates in a joint. I would pay first attention to the hip, followed by other areas if some hip condition does not become apparent. If the knee itself is not involved in your problem, basically, the pain could result from the shortness of the leg throwing you off balance and exerting abnormal strain on the knee. I would recommend that you see an orthopedist (bone specialist) and have him do whatever studies are necessary to learn what is causing your condition. I see no point trying to suggest anything for your knee until you have found out what causes your leg to grow shorter. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet on dieting. A friend of mine lost three sizes in dress, so I would like to try it.

I enclose 35 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope. —Mrs. C.H. Booklet will have reached you before you see this in print. Good luck with it. It works. Dear Dr. Thosteson: How long is it safe to be on "the pill?" I have read nothing on this in years. At first it was thought safe for only two to four years. Now, after I have been on the pill for eight years, my doctor does not seem concerned, but I am. Should there be a period of cessation somewhere along the line? —Mrs. H.G.O. You haven't read much about that question because nobody yet has any answers. Some physicians want patients to discontinue the pill periodically, but there is no evidence that these patients are better off than those who don't stop. The birth control pills were tested for several years among limited groups of women before being put into general use. Had harmful effects been observed in the test groups, then we would have had some sort of "time limit" for the later, much greater numbers of women on the pill. But as yet no harm from long-term use has been apparent. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have had otitis media for over 20 years. In the last three years every time I line on my left side I feel a tremor run through my head and fade away in my chest. Could these tremors be the result of otitis media? Also, is otitis media dangerous, and can it be corrected by surgery? —J.R. Otitis media — which is infection of the middle ear — can affect the balance mechanism, and that may explain what you feel as a tremor. If the infection (the otitis media) is not eliminated, deafness can result. But the infection frequently can be corrected by providing adequate drainage, plus use of antibiotics. By Colitis is meant a variety of intestinal ailments from very serious to merely uncomfortable. For a better understanding of its causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of Publishers Hall Syndicate, 401 N. Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60611, for his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling. Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Copyright 1973 Field Enterprises, Inc.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Thursday, Dec. 6, the 340th day of 1973 with 25 to follow. The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius. American poet Joyce Kilmer was born Dec. 6, 1886. On this day in history: In 1917, a total of 1,630 persons died when a Belgian relief ship and a French munitions vessel collided and exploded in the harbor at Halifax, Nova Scotia. In 1933, Americans crowded into liquor stores, bars and cafes to buy their first legal alcoholic beverage in 13 years. In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt messaged Japanese Emperor Hirohito a hope that gathering war clouds would be dispelled. Japan attacked Pearl Harbor the next day. Finley Overshadows Trades In Houston Meetings

By United Press International
HOUSTON (UPI) — Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley, the odds-on favorite to be superstar of baseball's winter meetings, has not disappointed a soul.

Dick Williams, for one, is not surprised. Bowie Kuhn does not seem astonished. Joe Cronin is taking it calmly as usual.

Cronin, the soon-to-be retired president of the American League, sat down with Finley and New York Yankee President Gabe Paul Wednesday to try and thrash out a compromise which would allow Williams to trade in his kelly green and polar bear white Oakland managerial duds for some old-fashioned Yankee pinstrips.

Two hours later, having failed to get his way, Finley said:

Coach Fits TCU Image

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — New Texas Christian football coach Jim Shofner can't help but fit the image the university likes to project.

He helped shape that image in 1957 as an all-Southwest Conference running back, leading the league in rushing, punt returns and kick-off returns his senior year.

Shofner was officially chosen Wednesday to replace Billy Tohill, whose tobacco chewing, country slang and 11-15 record in two seasons didn't suit the alumni nor the athletic department.

"I really hadn't given much thought to coaching college ball until this job became available," Shofner, 38, a San Francisco 49ers assistant, said. "This is the one college job I would go to."

TCU returned to a tradition in selecting the Fort Worth native. Until the hiring of Jim Pittman from Tulane as head coach in 1970, the Horned Frogs always had chosen TCU graduates. Pittman died of a heart seizure on the field in 1971, and was replaced by his assistant, Tohill.

"We have notified the Yankees they can forget the whole thing. We don't feel there is anything to resolve. From here on as far as we are concerned the matter is closed."

Finley Dares Officials
Finley thus dared league

officials to tell Williams he can go ahead and manage the Yankees without receiving Finley's permission.

And Finley, knowing full well he was the center of attention, milked it for all it was worth. With Paul standing by his side in a plush hotel suite, the white-haired A's owner provided this dramatic episode: "finley: 'If this thing should go to court, and we certainly hope it doesn't don't we, Mr. Paul...? Paul: 'That's right.' Finley: 'But if it does, Oakland is prepared.' Finley's histrionics even overshadowed the gaudiest trade made in the first three days of the meetings. The Los Angeles Dodgers dealt their 14-year veteran centerfielder Willie Davis to Montreal in return for Cy Young runner-up Mike Marshall, termed the best relief pitcher in baseball by both Expo Manager Gene Mauch and General Manager Jim Fanning.

Richert to St. Louis. The Dodgers, with an embarrassingly rich supply of pitchers, then sent reliever Pete Richert to St. Louis for someone to replace Davis in centerfield—Tommy Agee.

Detroit, which had traded reliever Fred Scherman to Houston two days ago, purchased Pittsburgh's Luke Walker to fill Scherman's spot in the bullpen.

Kuhn, who slapped $7,000 worth of fines on Finley, was in no distress over Finley's remarks Wednesday. Kuhn seemed to think Cronin would work out the dispute before Cronin retires Jan. 1.

"I don't plan to arbitrate the matter," said Kuhn. "I feel it will be resolved this month." Cronin, relaxed as ever, was the first to announce the impasse between the Yankees and Finley.

"I had hoped that they would resolve it," said Cronin. "I'm sorry they didn't."

Paul was concerned enough to indicate that he had a long list of prospective managers-in-case Williams was not available and said he had to come up with a manager "pretty damn quick."

MONDAY PJH Red Ninth-Grade Slips By Berger, 54-53

Pampa Junior High's Red ninth-grade basketball team stretched its record to 4-1 as Matt Hudson fired in 15 points to lead Pampa to a 54-53 edging over Berger White Monday afternoon in Pampa.

The Red team hosts Perryton today and Canyon Purple Monday.

The Blue ninth-grade played Berger Red Tuesday. Pampa as Pampa came away with a 47-41 win. The Pampa... led 30-17 at the half. Don Hughes scored 18 points to pace the winners, who are now 2-2 on the year.

The Blue eighth-grade lost to Berger Red, 36-36, while in Monday's game, the Red eighth lost to Berger White, 51-29.

The Blue teams travel to Dumas today and play at home Tuesday against Hereford LaPlata.

Wolfpack Belts East Carolina

By United Press International
For nearly 12 minutes Wednesday night, it looked like the Dec. 15 confrontation between No. 1-ranked UCLA and No. 2 North Carolina State, both unbeaten last season, would mean nothing.

But David Thompson changed all that. A scrappy East Carolina club, hustling under the boards and battling every inch of the way, held a six-point lead over the taller Wolfpack after 11 minutes. Then Thompson went to work.

The 6-foot-4 junior, an All-America last season, pumped in 28 points and 7-foot-4 Tom Burleson began to control the boards as North Carolina State survived the scare to earn a 79-47 victory over East Carolina. "The team just wasn't ready to play," said State Coach Norman Sloan. "Other than the defense and the fact we won, I was not well pleased. We had a lack of concentration and we have to work at it. We are going to have to make an adjustment because when you are in the top five, everybody gets up for you and is shooting at you."

Reggie Lee led East Carolina with 14 points and Nicky White added 12.

In other games involving top-ranked clubs, Indiana (No. 3) ripped Kansas, 72-59. North Carolina (4) edged California, 74-70. Maryland (5) blasted Eastern Kentucky, 106-57.

Louisville (6) downed Dayton, 75-68. Marquette (7) shaded Tennessee, 67-65, in overtime. Memphis State (15) crushed California-Davis, 105-61, and South Carolina (20) defeated Georgia Southern, 91-78.

Steve Green's 22 points carried Indiana to its easy victory over previously unbeaten Kansas and North Carolina had to go into a four-corner stall offense to hold off California. Mitch Kupchak led the Tar Heels with 17 points.

Maurice Lucas scored four points in overtime as Marquette rallied to overtake Tennessee and Memphis State, led by Westfall's 16 points, surged to its third victory without a loss by whipping Cal-Davis.

Harvesters To Tackle Altus In Battle Of AAAA Powers

Pampa will face the toughest challenge of its young basketball season as the Harvesters and the Altus, Okla., Bulldogs square off at 8 p.m. Friday night in Altus — a particularly sticky situation for Pampa since Altus has won 18 straight games at home.

Both teams have height, balance and exceptional shooting ability which adds up to what could very well be a resemblance of last season's meeting when the lead changed hands several times before Altus came away with a 54-51 win.

The Bulldogs finished with a 22-4 mark last season and advanced to the state AAAA semifinals, losing there to Oklahoma City Douglas.

Altus is 0-1 this year, bowing to another Oklahoma power, Lawton, 63-61, Tuesday. In that game, the score was tied 61-61 with seven seconds left to play and the Bulldogs' Jerry King missed the first shot of a one-and-one which would have given Altus the lead. Lawton threw the ball down the court and put up a 25-footer, which was tipped in at the buzzer.

Lawton was also the last team to beat Altus at home — that happened in December, 1971.

The Bulldogs return two starters — King, a 6-0 guard, and 6-3 forward Walter Fields. King scored 15 points per outing last season and Fields scored eight.

Six-five post Marlin Johnston, and 6-5 transfer forward Wesley

Clark give Altus exceptional rebounding strength. Clark, a 16-year-old senior, scored 16 points a game for Oklahoma City Southeast last year, and against Lawton this year, he scored eight points while hauling in 17 rebounds. Johnston scored 19 points against Lawton.

The other starters is 5-9 guard Don Childers.

Pampa will start posts Randy

Warner, 6-6, and Billy Wilbon, 6-3; guards Ray Powell, 5-10, and either Robert Young, 6-0, or Keith Samples, 5-11, and forward Ricky Beesley, 6-2. Samples turned an ankle Friday and it is not known if he will be ready to start says Pampa trainer Sandy Miller.

The C-team and Shockers will play Altus' C- and B-teams at 4:30 and 6:30 p.m., respectively.
