PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY
By O.E.H.

TWINKLES
Remember, folks, the Lions minstrel of next Thursday and Friday is for the under-privileged. Yessir, and that just about includes all of you depression-ridden folks.

We've been asked to reveal who will be the black-faced ones in the minstrel. We'll tell you: They are John Hesse, John Sturgeon, Roy Wight, Roy Bourland, Dr. H. L. Wilder, Clarence Barrett, and Geo. Limerick. When they get louder and funnier, you'll leave in haste.

We're still snooping hard to find out where Dr. Hicks and that vaudeville act is practicing. We think we'll know by tomorrow. Watch this column—and get your tickets before they're all gone.

Now that technocracy has been proved several hundred years old, we will bury it beside the dodo and as a nation keep on striving for something new.

A new device transforms curves into sound waves. And the young ladies will be hoping they can make a big bang.

THESE WAR DEBTS
Strained banking firms and strained Uncle Sam would like to collect the war debts. The man in the street thinks it should be done. The debts must be paid in gold or goods.

America does not wish goods. "Buy American" is incompatible with any influx of foreign merchandise. Gold is not plentiful enough for any nation, including America, to discharge all obligations with it. Gold is so needed in England that the government would not permit any more to be shipped out, even if private firms wish to do so. The world's money system is inadequate to meet the demands made upon it. Most of the remedies proposed would do violence to those who most need help. Debasement of the currency, for example, would rob the working man of much of his meager wage.

OUR CHIEF DEBTORS
Chief debtors to the United States are Belgium, France, Great Britain, and Italy, whose obligations constitute about 44 per cent of the total. Their debts are: Belgium $406,555,000, France $3,921,547,832, Great Britain $4,499,520,000, Italy $307,400,125, eleven other countries, including Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia, and Austria, $11,426,777,854. The interest and principal payments should be, by June 15, $143,735,294, but will be only a fraction of that amount.

JUST IMAGINE
The hugeness of American generosity, gullibility, desire to help humanity, greed for world power and interest, all lumped together, is no better illustrated than in this tabulation just received from the Bank of Manhattan. American people sacrificed to make the loans possible. The above not mention other credits to Cuba, Liberia, Nicaragua, Armenia, Serbia, and Bulgaria, totaling more than 300 millions. Not Prussia, whose present unrecognized debt is $325,000,000 alone.

BOUGHT OUR GOODS
We must not forget, however, that when the late Woodrow Wilson approved many of these loans the world was fighting for the defense of democracy. The allies had ceased producing normal crops and were running short on munitions of all kinds. Americans ate corn bread and economized so that huge shipments of food and supplies could be sent abroad. Money borrowed here

BLAME IS SHIFTED TO A MEMBER OF CABINET

BERLIN, Feb. 28. (P)—President von Hindenburg today placed the German republic under virtual martial law by signing an emergency decree giving the police extraordinary powers to enforce order.

The decree is directed particularly against the communists, who are blamed for the incendiary fire which partially destroyed the Reichstag building yesterday.

The cabinet, in preparing it, refrained from declaring a military state of emergency because of desire to keep the army out of politics.

Nevertheless, the provisions of the decree have the effect of placing the republic under a state of emergency with the sole object of meeting what the government regards as the threat of communism.

Almost simultaneously with the announcement that the president's signature had been affixed to the decree, the swastika flag of Chancellor of Hitler's national socialist party was hoisted over Karl Liebknecht's house, the communist headquarters as a symbol that communists had been subjugated.

According to the testimony of two men who were arrested, they telephoned yesterday evening to the socialist organ Vorwaerts at the request of this paper that Herr Goering himself had arranged for the Reichstag fire.

Police began arresting communist Reichstag members early this morning. It was impossible to determine how many were taken in custody this forenoon as many have gone into hiding.

NEW DIRECTOR

ONE of the younger members of the incoming administration is Representative Lewis W. Douglas of Arizona who has been appointed director of the budget by President-elect Roosevelt. He is 39 years old and has been chairman of the house economy committee.

SENATORS 'UNABLE AND UNWILLING' TO CENSURE

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. (P)—The senate today adopted a report of the committee of the whole recommending that the members of the state highway commission be not criticized for their activities in connection with a transaction which had been investigated.

The committee of the whole had voted overwhelmingly yesterday to terminate the inquiry, which had been ordered after Governor Miriam A. Ferguson sent up a special message, advising she had been informed the highway commission's handling of certain funds had resulted in a loss of $1,000,000 to the state.

The senate adopted the report of the committee of the whole by a viva voce vote. There was no discussion.

The committee told the senate that it had heard all available evidence.

"From the evidence offered and as a result of the investigation made to date, said committee is unable and unwilling to criticize members of the highway commission for their activities in connection with the subject matter of the communication from the governor," the report stated.

The committee said it was mindful of the fact that Governor Ferguson had not made charges but merely had tendered to the senate certain information she had received.

Four of the senators—Will M. Martin of Hillsboro, Archie Parr of Benavides, Gus Russek of Schulenburg, and Albert Stone of Brenham.

Brown Derby Tells Senate Straight From Shoulder What He Would Do.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (P)—Straight from the shoulder through cities, and to the senate finance committee today, Ernest Brown Derby, a war debt moratorium aimed to expand American foreign markets, and recognition of Soviet Russia.

Adverting to the prohibition resolution now before the states, he opposed congress fixing the manner for states to call conventions to act on the amendment.

"Assume that 15 or 20 states wouldn't call conventions?" asked Senator Barkley (D., Ky.). "Would you leave it up in the air?"

"I'd leave it up to the states," replied Smith.

Addressing the senators in his direct way, with a good-natured aside now and again, he declared a condition akin to war confronts the country.

"Cut out all this red tape," he advised, "and go back and build buildings like we did cantonments—overnight."

Smith contended the government could build bridges on main highways, "even through cities," and proposed a popular bond issue to finance construction work.

"A reconstruction bond issue," he said, "which I would sell the same as we sold Liberty bonds, would bring back lots of the money now in hiding."

"Make an appeal to their patriotism and you could float a good sized bond issue, which would help a lot toward getting over this trouble in the next generation."

FORD OFFICIAL TELLS POLICE TO SEEK MAN

MYSTERY OF MISSING LIEBOLD PUZZLES INVESTIGATORS

DISAPPEARANCE DENIED

OTHER FORD OFFICIALS DENY KNOWLEDGE OF ANNOUNCEMENT

DETROIT, Feb. 28. (P)—A wide-spread police search for Ernest G. Liebold, general secretary to Henry Ford, was under way today, but no theories were advanced either at his home or at the Ford Motor company offices following the report of his disappearance at 2 a. m. today.

Detroit police, informed of the disappearance by an official of the Ford Motor company, ordered all detectives and patrolmen to be on the lookout for Liebold's car. State police officials said they expected Liebold to arrive at his office momentarily, and declared they knew nothing of his disappearance.

Detroit police, however, were at the Ford offices, in conference with officials of the service department there.

Seeking a clue to the mystery, police said they were informed by Alfred L. Williams, a neighbor of Liebold, that an automobile started from the curb in front of the Liebold home in Detroit at midnight last night, and was driven away at an extremely high speed. They said they had no information or theory to advance.

Right-Hand Man.

In all the financial movements of the Ford company since 1910, Liebold has been the principal agent of the manufacturer. Ford a few days ago stated that Liebold would be his principal agent, assisting him and Edsel Ford in preparations for forming two new banks which would take over the liquid assets of two institutions in Detroit now operating under limited withdrawal.

One theory advanced by friends of Liebold was that, due to the strain of the past few days' work, he had sought uninterrupted rest, but officials indicated that such a theory had been investigated before a search was ordered.

Liebold is 46 years old and had resided in Detroit all his life. For many years he has maintained a large home in Boston boulevard, Detroit, and drove alone to the Ford offices in Dearborn. Besides Mrs. Liebold there are eight children.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (P)—The senate today passed and sent to the house for adjustment of minor differences the $308,669,000 naval appropriation bill. The measure carried the same amount as approved by the house, which is $15,000,000 under funds for the current fiscal year.

JAYSEES VOTE TO AFFILIATE WITH TEXAS DIVISION

Reacting to enthusiastic reports on the regional Junior chamber of commerce at Dallas last week, the Pampa Junior chamber today voted to affiliate with the Texas division and named W. T. Fraser, president, to the state board of directors.

The local group was already a member of the national organization. Pampa sent fifteen delegates to the Dallas meeting and won attendance records and wide fame for this community. The delegates who spoke today were Dr. C. H. Schultze, George Limerick, Bob Fuller, Jimmie Harris, Frank Hill, Jack Dorn, Grady Browder, and Jim Collins.

While today's reports mainly concerned entertainment and public address of the convention, next week's local luncheon will start a series of studies of ideas and projects about which the regional meeting concerned itself.

Mr. Collins said that as a result of the showing the local delegates made, the national president likely would include this city on next year's itinerary. A. J. Johnson was chairman of today's luncheon in the absence of President Fraser, who is in Dallas.

SCOUT FINANCE DRIVE SET FOR NEXT MONDAY

Organizations To Aid In Replenishing Treasury

Boy Scouts of Pampa, where the Adobe Walls council headquarters is located, are setting a fast pace and will receive the benefits of a finance drive to be opened Monday under the direction of A. G. (Fete) Post, president of the council, and Roger McConnell, chairman of the finance committee.

The council is without funds to continue the work, but interest at the highest peak of council history and drives will be staged in many towns at once to replenish the treasury. Mr. Post this week is asking churches and civic organizations to announce the campaign to their members and prepare to canvass the entire community.

Scout Executive C. A. Clark, before going to Panhandle for a Scout meeting today, said that 77 new Scouts had just been registered, and 29 dropped, for a total gain of 48. The registered Scouts now number 761 in the council, including 8 in a new troop in Booker. A. R. Turner is scoutmaster of the Booker troop. R. B. Onley is his assistant, and the troop committee members are J. W. Bell, chairman, R. L. Pounds, and F. W. Lehman.

The recent Scout roundup here familiarized the entire area in the huge scope of Scout activities. Because this is the headquarters of the council, Pampa is expected to contribute generously to the support of the movement.

LEGION WILL MEET

The Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion will have its regular meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the but, with ex-service men invited. Refreshments will be served.

S. O. Skinner of LeFors was a Pampa visitor yesterday.

F. O. McDaniels of White Deer was in the city last night.

FEES REPORTS TO BE FILED TODAY

Much maligned, the fee system very likely will be eliminated or a constitutional amendment to eliminate voted by the current Texas legislature.

But Gray county office holders face the necessity of completing their fee reports for 1932 by tonight. There is a heavy penalty for failure to file the reports by March 1.

Almost without exception, those who receive their pay through fees would prefer the straight-salary basis, they have indicated. This is particularly true of the sheriff, whose remuneration is not sufficient to the kind of staff he believes the county needs.

C. A. Clark went to Panhandle this morning.

Boettcher, multi-millionaire father of the missing man.

WATER RATE FOR LAWS TO START FIRST OF MARCH

Acting on requests of citizens for immediate application of the summer lawn rate, the city commission last night decided to make the rate applicable to the current month's (March) billings to those who make application before March 20.

In order to put the lawn rate into operation, it will be necessary for citizens to call at the water office and sign an application card. The minimum rates will be 3¢ for the first 7,000 gallons and 20 cents per thousand gallons for water above the minimum.

The commission passed a "transient photographers" ordinance fixing license fees at $10 daily and fines at $10 to $200 for violations. This ordinance was requested by local photographers, who said as taxpayers they should have protection from transient competition.

Ninety yards of washed gravel and sand was purchased from J. H. Hurley, bidding for J. L. Noel, at $1.40 per yard. Other bidders were Ira Hansen, $1.60 and $1.70 from two bids, and L. O. Cox, $1.75.

Current bills were studied and approved.

LANE BOY LOSES A FINGER WHILE RIDING A CALF

Albert Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lane, suffered the loss of a finger on his left hand yesterday afternoon while riding a calf in the stock pens at the Pampa Packing company. The other fingers on his hand were badly mangled.

The youth had his hand gripped tightly to a surcingle when the calf bolted under a fence, crushing the hand between the surcingle and the rail. He was resting well this morning, although the hand caused him considerable pain. Albert is 15 and a student at the high school.

Pampa Lions' 1933 minstrel show and musical revue cast last night went through the last practice before the dress rehearsal of Wednesday evening with the realization that two big audiences would see the benefit performance Thursday and Friday evenings of this week at 8:15 o'clock.

Nearly 600 of the available 800 reserved seats of the two events—400 each evening—had been sold from the ticket board at Fatheree Drug No. 4 this morning, and the demand was increasing hourly. Cabot company employes alone have bought more than 80 tickets for the performances.

CONFIDENCE BY COMPULSION
A couple of public-spirited New York state legislators, who seem to have been going to the movies pretty regularly of late, have introduced in the legislature a bill designed to buttress the confidence of the public in its elected representatives.

This bill would ban any motion picture which tended "to create a false and untrue impression of the conduct of public office by any public official, or would without warrant or cause tend to undermine public confidence in public officials."

The legislators complain that several recent movies have displayed public officials as crooks, nincompoops, grafters and fatheads, and they want matters set right. And the obvious thing to do, they feel, is to put all such movies under the interdiction.

Now this piece of silliness wouldn't be worth noticing, except that it does re-open the whole question of the public's relations with the people it puts in office; and at this particular moment that question is worth a bit of study.

Probably there isn't much question but that the public today has a lower opinion of its elected officials than it has had in generations. And that isn't because of the influence of scurrilous movies, muck-raking or the insidious machinations of Moscow, either.

It is simply because state and federal legislators have made a holy show of themselves so often that nobody can overlook it.

For a sample, there is the way the Senate dropped everything recently to waste a lot of valuable time castigating a chap who remarked in print that only a few men in Congress actually do take bribes. There is the way state and federal assemblies have proven their almost complete inability to do anything about economy.

These are the real reasons for the current low estimate of elected officials.

Now that a 912-pound hog has been starring in a movie, maybe more film tests and less fertilizer will improve the farmer's plight.

If there's anything in that old saying about "shirt-sleeves to shirt-sleeves in three generations," our children are going to have to enjoy prosperity as best they can with their coats on.

More folks probably would buy new automobiles if the dime stores would flatly announce they won't handle them.

On big reason why we hear so few contradictions of the theory that the fittest survive is that the dead never have much to say.

It's too bad that we had to wait for an inflation argument to start that the hue and cry for Congress to "keep hands off the currency."

A party of scientists is cruising down to the Caribbean on an expedition to determine whether the earth's core is hot. It appears junket-minded congressmen have overlooked a bet.

EX-ATTORNEY GENERAL DIES

Texas Was Member of Cabinet During Administration of Woodrow Wilson.

HOUSTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Funeral services for Thomas Watt Gregory, attorney general in the Wilson cabinet, have been arranged for tomorrow afternoon from the family home here, after which it is planned to take his body to Austin for burial.

The brilliant legal career of the 71-year-old democrat ended in death from pneumonia at a New York hotel yesterday. He went to New York ten days ago to confer with President-elect Roosevelt.

Beauford H. Jester, chairman of the board of regents of the University of Texas, announced that Gregory's body would lie in state in Gregory gymnasium at the university from early Wednesday until 4 p. m. that day.

The train bearing the body is due to arrive in Houston tomorrow.

Gregory was born in Crawfordville, Miss., Nov. 6, 1861, the son of Francis Robert Gregory and Mary Cornelia Watt Gregory. He took his A. B. degree at Southwestern Presbyterian university of Clarksville, Tenn., in 1883. After studying for a year at the University of Virginia, he entered the University of Texas and was graduated in the law there in 1885. He was admitted to the Texas bar at the age of 24.

After graduation he continued in active support of the University of Texas and was instrumental in the organization of the University of Texas named after him.

In 1913 he was appointed as special assistant to the attorney general of the United States to prosecute the New Haven railroad company for alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Entering the Wilson cabinet the following year, he served through the world war period until March, 1919. After leaving the cabinet, he returned to his private law practice in Houston.

It was learned from a member of the family that Gregory refused the opinion of the taxpayer, the property may become obsolete at some future date.

BONDS BURNED

LIMMITT, Feb. 28. (AP)—While much of the rest of the country worried about the depression, citizens of Castro county met at the courthouse and burned their bonded indebtedness. The $28,000 worth of bonds which were due to mature in 1930 with five per cent interest, were all that remained of the court house issue. Several months ago the county commissioners bought the bonds back at a $3,000 discount, also saving $5,000 in interest.

Chapter 17 THE GREEDY KAID

"VERY well," observed the Kaid, at the conclusion of the interview. "All is now clear as the limpid waters of the rivers of Paradise, and we understand each other, as a plow, learned, and true believer understandeth the words of the Book."

"Two hundred and fifty thousand marks in gold; four mountain guns, such as take to pieces to be carried on the backs of mules; ammunition; and a good and faithful man to instruct my gunners in the use and care of such guns."

"And you yourself to remain in my country until full and complete delivery of all things agreed upon," added the Kaid.

Sitting cross-legged upon his cushion, the stranger bowed low from the waist, his head almost touching his feet.

"It is agreed," he said, and on that happy note the interview concluded.

"What think you of him, oh Raisul, my son?" inquired the Kaid, when the stranger had been conducted from the council-chamber to the dungeon-like guest-room which had been allotted to him.

"I spoke to him in English," replied Raisul. "Spoke suddenly, as you observed, and bade him reply instantly in that tongue. He did so, and with a marked German accent. Personally, I never trust any man, oh my father, but I believe he is a German and what he proposes to do, I say keep him in this country and let him send what messages and messengers he will. Messengers chosen by you, of course."

"And you, my friend? Speak your mind fully and frankly," said the Kaid, turning to the Señor Pedro Maligni seated next to and slightly below him.

"Undoubtedly he is our German, and undoubtedly the genuine agent," was the prompt reply. "Inevitably, my friend the German consul at Tangier sent me a photograph of the fellow, and said, in the covering letter, that his information from the Friedrichstrasse was that he had started there. That would tally with his arriving now."

"And then, of course, he has the password," he continued, "and that was known to no other living person but you, the consul and myself. Oh yes, he's genuine all right, and you can have complete confidence in him."

"Let me see the picture again," said the Kaid Abdallah Karim. "Yes, that is undoubtedly the same man," he continued, after a careful study of a portrait, bearing the name and address of the German photographer, which Señor Pedro Maligni produced from the leather case which he always carried about his person.

"He asked for nothing for himself—which is a little suspicious," observed the Kaid, whose natural habit it was to judge others by himself.

"No need to do so," the Señor assured him. "He'll get something for himself, all right."

"Bribes, commission, pickings, do you mean?" "Well, well," smiled Maligni, "perhaps. But I was not thinking of that. What I meant was that he'll get his reward in his own country, from his own employers. Honor, promotion, payment—if he is successful here—if he foments trouble among the tribes, and helps you to wage successful war against the French."

"I am to be the wasp that stings the hand of Germany's enemy as he is about to strike, eh?" smiled the Kaid.

"Or as he is about to defend himself," agreed Maligni. "So," murmured the Kaid, and sat awhile in thought. "Have you any words to utter, Mohammed Ali el Amin, the Trustworthy, the Reliable? What is in your mind—or is it vacant, as usual?"

The fine soldierly Moor smiled, bowed, and saluted to his master. "I am no thinker, nor clever schemer, oh Kaid," he replied in a deep, sonorous voice. "The man seemed to me to be a good man, solid and"

quiet, and a man of his hands. I know nothing of policies and plots, nor of the use of words that have two meanings; and my opinion is of no worth; but I tell you this, oh my master—that man is a soldier, a fighting man, if he deny it, he is a liar."

"There is no denial nor pretence, oh Mahomete Ali el Amin, the Señor Pedro Maligni assured him. "The man is no mere messenger. He is an officer of the army of the Germans, and has fought in this country of Africa where he learned Arabic and the ways of the people."

"It is well," said Mohammed Ali el Amin, and fell silent.

"And shall we hear your voice, oh son of my old and faithful friend?" inquired the Kaid courteously of Jules Maligni. "For I am told that, though young, you are a man of learning, wisdom, and understanding."

"How should I speak words worthy the attention of such a one as the Kaid Abdallah Karim and in the presence of my father and these wise men?" was the modest reply. "But, even as Mohammed Ali el Amin, the Trustworthy, the Reliable, knows that this man is a soldier, as I know that he is a German. Speaking to him in French, as one who knew no German, I received a reply in French, and it was the French of a German. He is, without a doubt, a German, though I can say nothing else about him."

"But what need?" he added, "since my father can—and has his photograph, his passport, and the statement of the German consul that such a man was being sent from Berlin. Surely his description, and the photograph prove it, and obviously he could not have obtained the chosen password by guile."

"S'ry," agreed the Kaid, stroking his beard. "Very well. Relying on the plighted word of my friend and adviser, the Sid Pedro Maligni, and on the wisdom of my counselors here present, I will trust this man and accept him for what he appears to be. But he shall remain with us until we have the money and arms. And, indeed, until the fighting is over, since he is a soldier."

"Doubtless he would fight for us," he continued, turning to Maligni.

"Doubtless," agreed that gentleman. "Of a certainty, he would willingly take command of your artillery, or of your cavalry, or of such portion of your infantry forces as you choose to put in his charge. They are great soldiers, these Germans, and this man knows all three branches, and could command and manœuvre a brigade of all arms."

"You know much of him," observed the Kaid.

"I talked long with him last night," replied Maligni. "Almost till the dawn, we talked."

"And he convinced you that he could do all this?"

"Completely. He can drill and manœuvre your cavalry, and lead a cavalry charge that will sweep away your enemies. He knows the ranging and loading and firing of the guns that will come; also the care of them; and will train your gunners to handle them as to blow your enemies to Hell."

"He can drill and train your footmen, and form them in regiments so that, in addition to being the marvelous marksmen that they are, they will have the discipline and steadiness of the French themselves, you, of the French-Foreign Legion."

"Would that we could get a few of those fine warriors, those desert lions," mused the Kaid. "They would be worth their weight in minted silver. One or two of them have come to me, have served me well, risen to rank and honor, and died in battle. Two or three I have captured in battle. But none of these prisoners would fight for me against the French, and sin as slaves they are not worth their keep. We had a little merry sport with them."

"Dropping them from the walls on to the rocks, eh, my father?" laughed Raisul.

"After bringing them face to face with a dozen deaths," chuckled the Kaid. "Would that I had a regiment of them, willing to fight for me against their former masters."

"So many and very many more, you shall have, oh my father," promised Raisul. "Willing volunteers. That I swear to you by the Beard of the Prophet. A gift from me to you."

(Copyright, 1932, by A. Stokes Co.) The crafty Raisul reports further plans, tomorrow, to the Kaid.

Actions still speak plainer than words—the talk notwithstanding.

CARLSBAD

During the period the world's chief source of potash, its supply of the mineral was temporarily cut off. In the succeeding years, however, the government has been exploring and developing its own natural resources, with the result that today the United States has the largest potash deposits known to the world and could supply its own needs on short notice.

The first potash mining ever done in the United States is under way now in the great potash-bearing Permian basin, which is 400 miles long and 300 miles wide and lies principally in Eastern New Mexico and West Texas. Two companies already are producing and several others hold leases. The largest of the producing plants has a capacity of 120 tons a day, or more than 40,000 tons annually, which is two thirds of the nation's entire output prior to the sinking of a shaft in the local field.

A second shaft is nearing completion, which will double the production of the plant and more than double the output of the nation.

Prior to 1931, when local production was started in a small way, about 61,000 tons annually were being produced from saline beds in California and from the residue of molasses factories in Baltimore. Both sources having been developed by government investigation following the wartime experience. The nation was consuming them, and is now, about 400,000 tons yearly, most of which comes from France and Germany.

Eddy County Deposits.

During the war the price skyrocketed to $55 a ton, and was scarce at any time. The prevailing price now is about $10 a ton.

No figures are available on the extent of the deposits, but engineers have estimated that the supply will not be exhausted during the century. Land Commissioner J. F. Hinkle of New Mexico has estimated that deposits in Eddy county, New Mexico, alone may yield 20,000,000 tons, from an eight-foot vein which underlies about 2,000 sections, or over one million acres of land.

This vein is of sylvite, which runs from 28 to 32 per cent pure potash. Still larger deposits of the polyhalite, which contains a smaller per cent of potash, are found in the Permian formation, especially in West Texas. So far, government reports show, it has not been profitable to produce polyhalite in competition with the sylvite deposits, which are more easily accessible and more productive.

Much in Texas.

One test hole sunk by the United States bureau of mines in Lea county, N. M., penetrated 10 feet of almost pure potash. Two dozen of these test drills were made by the government in the last six years, and private companies have sunk 42 tests, 40 of them in Eddy county and two in Midland county, Texas.

The Permian basin has earth layers similar to those in Alsace and Germany, from which potash is mined. Claims are made that the deposits were discovered accidentally through the sinking of an oil test in 1923 which was unproductive of oil but revealed potash in large quantities.

In times of peace potash is used

ner Cousin Claims He Knows Earth's Secrets

BROWNWOOD, Feb. 28. (AP)—A man who claims ability to divine the secrets of the depths of the earth, and cites evidence to prove it, is Dr. E. B. Garner, a resident of Brownwood for a quarter of a century, coming here from Uvalde in 1906. He is a cousin of John N. Garner, next vice-president of the United States.

Dr. Garner says he possesses a sort of sixth sense which enables him to "feel" the presence of oil or gas beneath the earth. He says the feeling is rather hard to explain, but when he stands over ground having oil or gas underneath there is a "feeling right here," placing his fingers in the general region of his stomach.

He says he was located five or six good oil fields in this section of the state. He also has condemned many locations, he says, and has seen dry holes drilled on them.

Treasure Digging Starts In Heart Of Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28. (AP)—Search for gold on Fore Moore hill in the heart of Los Angeles today reached its final stage, actual digging with pick and shovel.

The gold hunt was inspired by a sheepskin map which Ray Martinez, one of the prospectors, said dated back 157 years to a time when a wealthy Spanish family owned the ground. The map and other historical data in his possession, Martinez declared, showed fabulous treasures had been buried there.

As a preliminary test, Martinez sought the aid of C. W. Shufelt, a geologist who owns a mineral radio surveying instrument. Shufelt made several "readings" with the instrument at the claim, which is within a few blocks of the hall of justice and almost directly over the Broadway street railway and vehicular highway and said it registered "strong contacts."

They went into partnership with Tex I. McCreery, attorney, who obtained a contract with Los Angeles county, which owns the property, whereby the county is to share half of any gold or treasure found there.

"And now we're down to the real test with picks and shovels," said McCreery. "Our contract permits us to sink shafts to a depth of 50 feet but we expect to find gold at 21 feet."

Jaysee President Urges Federal Government Get Out of Business

DALLAS, Feb. 28. (AP)—Recommendation that the government "get out of competition with private business enterprises" was made recently by Courtlandt Otis of New York, president of the United States Junior chamber of commerce.

Addressing Junior chamber of commerce leaders from Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas in convention, he said, "we are opposed to government in business because the cost of government is derived from taxes on firms and individuals. It is obvious that you cannot collect taxes if the government is doing business."

Otis also urged that government be put on a cash basis, and voiced opposition to further floating of public bond issues, especially by municipalities.

The Texas State Junior chamber of commerce put itself on record as opposed to the fee system of remuneration for public officials and took steps to back the passing in the legislature of house bill No. 14.

This bill would abolish the fee system, substituting for it salary compensation. It would combine the functions of tax collector and assessor and make it an appointive, rather than elective, office. It also would combine the district and county clerkship into one appointive office and centralize authority and responsibility in the commissioners' court.

Walter Cline, Wichita Falls capitalist and civic leader, told the delegates to the convention that the world today needs to cultivate its intellectual and spiritual side, rather than the material; and that it needs to recognize character rather than material prosperity as the desirable standard.

Young Son Has Traveled Widely

QUANAH, Feb. 28. (AP)—Probably the youngest globe-trotter related to this section of Texas is the eighteenth-month-old child of Lieut. Wolborne Griffith of the United States army.

Soon after the child was born in the Hawaiian Islands it was taken to New York. From there it went to Panama and on to Manila. It then continued its travels to Shanghai, China, where its father was in charge of the military police. Recently it returned to the United States and then to the Philippines, where the father is stationed.

Lieutenant Griffith is the son of Wolborne B. Griffith, a former Quanah merchant new in business at Temple. He attended Quanah schools before going to West Point.

Schmeling-Baer Match Might Be At World's Fair

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, who holds the articles for a bout between Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight champion, and Max Baer of Livermore, Calif., was due in Chicago today to discuss possibilities of making the match a world fair attraction.

The one time ruler of the heavies had conferences scheduled with Geo. Getz, chairman of the world fair sports committee, and with the Chicago stadium operating company. The stadium corporation is in equity receivership and the new operating group has arranged to promote boxing and wrestling in the big west side building.

Dempsey may promote the show through the operating company. It also was indicated that the Madison Square Garden corporation might have a finger in it, as James J. Johnston, its matchmaker, is expected in Chicago tomorrow to confer with Dempsey.

RIDE 'EM COWBOY

BRISBANE, Queensland—An unarmed man captured three sharks. The sharks, which were shovelled and from six to nine feet long, had entered a bathing pool. Roy Wilson swam to one of the sharks, and scrambled on its back. Then he hooked his legs around its body and "rode" it as it dashed frantically up and down the pool. Finally, the shark gave up, exhausted. Two others were caught by the same method.

ART EXHIBIT DELIGHTS BOTH CHILDREN AND ADULTS

PICTURES ARE DISPLAYED AT BAKER SCHOOL

HONORABLE MANN PUPILS AND VISITORS SEE EXHIBIT TODAY

PAMPA children are learning early to appreciate art.

Yesterday marked the beginning of an exhibit of 150 reproductions of fine paintings. The showing was at Baker school. Today, however, the pictures are on display at Florence Mann school and tomorrow they will be at Woodrow Wilson school. A showing at Sam Houston school Thursday and at high and Junior high Friday will close the exhibit.

The Parent-Teacher associations are sponsoring the ticket sales, and Arno Art club members are hostesses, explaining the pictures to pupils and to visitors.

Speak to Pupils.

Mrs. V. E. Fathere, Mrs. Frank Foster, and Mrs. A. B. Goldson gave impressive descriptions of the pictures yesterday before large groups of Baker school children. The children were questioned regarding the pictures, and they answered readily and with assurance.

Some of the pictures had marked appeal to the children. One of them was a fantastic scene, Little Old Man of the Woods (Irving Bacon). It pictured the little man painting the frog with bright hues. The children also liked Taos Indian Roasting Corn (Irving E. Course), and this picture drew the attention of many of the visitors.

There were madonna pictures, including the famous Sistine Madonna and Madonna of the Chair (Raphael), and Madonna of the Street (R. Ferruccio). The beauty of the mother's face in Ferruccio's painting first attracts the attention of observers.

Pictures of children include among many others, the following: Age of Innocence (Joshua Reynolds), Children of the Sea (Joshua Reynolds), Children of the Sea (Atamian), The Artist's Daughter (Kambsch), The Whistling Boy (Dauvergne), Mary and Little Lamb (Hencke), Little Red Riding Hood (Hencke), Happy Hours (Bernard Posthat).

Much interest is being shown in Washington Monument, Capital at Washington, the White House, and other pictures by Dauvergne.

Examples of the pictorial paintings are Blue Bonnets (McGill), Autumn Jewels (Wiegand), and Moonlight on Riviera (Cabanian).

Baker school sold tickets to the exhibit amounting to $10.30. This will be used to buy one or more of the pictures for the school.

Parents, Teachers Will Hear Program

PROGRAMS ON CHINESE ARE GIVEN MONDAY

METHODIST CIRCLE 3 HEARS PLAYLET IN J. G. NOEL HOME

PROGRAMS on China, some of them being unusually interesting because of the form in which they were presented, held the attention of First Methodist W. M. S. circles yesterday afternoon.

The meeting of Circle 3, held in the parlors of the church, was opened with a devotional by Mrs. J. E. Ward, and Mrs. Philip Wolfe sang a solo, Break Thou the Bread of Life.

Discussion included the following: Stoddard's trip through China, Mrs. George Walstad; economic conditions in China, Mrs. S. C. Evans; bandits in China, Mrs. T. L. Certain; how the church is helping in China, Mrs. Albert Wood; definition of China, Mrs. D. M. Lowrance; how Southern Methodism interests China, Mrs. Paul Jensen.

The group voted to hold future meetings in the Friendship classroom of the church.

Three visitors, Mrs. E. M. Brown, Mrs. S. S. Sheppard, and Mrs. A. B. Pulling, and the following members attended: Mesdames T. L. Certain, F. C. Cullum, Ralph Chisum, S. C. Evans, C. T. Hunkapillar, Paul Jensen, W. M. Kretz, C. R. Nelson, D. M. Lowrance, Luther Pierson, Philip Wolfe, J. E. Ward, Albert Wood, Nels Walberg, George Walstad, and H. L. Wilder.

In Hamilton Home.

Mrs. W. B. Hamilton was hostess to Circle 2. The meeting was opened with a devotional by Mrs. W. Purviance, who urged, "Let others enjoy your religion."

A study of Lady Fourth's Daughter in the form of a conference on fault-finding in China. Reports were read by the following: Chinese preacher, Mrs. J. E. Ward; silver sister, Mrs. J. R. Evans; minister of agriculture, Mrs. H. T. Wohlgemuth, missionary, Mrs. W. H. Peters.

SHINING IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28—New hats are veritable "crowns of glory" not only because of their jaunty becomingness but because they are made of shiny stuffs that gleam and shimmer.

Raquel Torres, unchancing at the Brown Derby with Preston Sturges and Colin Clive, distinguished British playwright, wore the loveliest little turban of shiny jet cellophane. It was draped with a little ornament on the left side where it raised up off her hair. She wore a gray spring coat, with fur collar.

Sheila Terry wore a navy blue sailor of shiny straw when she was lunching at the Ambassador with her mother the other day. Her street frock was of navy blue wool crepe with an Ascot scarf of white pique, very wide at the ends.

I saw Maureen O'Sullivan lunching at the Brown Derby with Russell Gleason and Maureen had chosen a red shiny straw hat. It matched the red and white printed blouse which she wore with her gray suit with puff sleeves. There is much to be said for the combination of red and gray this spring. It is lovely.

Glenda Farrell lunching at Levy's with Allen Jenkins topped off her costume with a shiny brown straw hat. The outfit consisted of a dark brown woolen coat with red fox running around the neck and all the way down to the hem.

Mrs. Gantz Is Hostess Monday At Club Party

Honoring her husband on his birthday, Mrs. Shelby Gantz entertained members of the Merry Mixers club and their husbands last evening at a George Washington bridge party.

Prizes in the games were awarded as follows: Low among men, Noel Reynolds; low among women, Mrs. J. T. Morrow; high guests, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Oswald; high club, Mrs. N. B. Ellis.

"We All Eat"—Girls Point to Gain in Weight

DENTON, Feb. 28—"I reduced, you reduce, we all reduce," is no more. "I eat, you eat, we all eat" is now the fad according to statistics from the department of physical education at Texas State College for Women (CIA). The average weight of the college girl has increased two and two-tenths pounds since the fall of 1928-29 while the average height has remained the same at 64 and one-tenth inches.

The young college woman who is now a devotee of Joan Crawford or Garbo, chooses her curves as a matter of preference and ease accordingly, placing a taboo on the 18-day diets of the "sophisticated 20's" or the gay "20's."

Today the old flapper of 17 pounds is the charming young woman who talks technocracy and weighs 119 and is quite interested in social service work.

Famous Women Are Studied By College Girls

DENTON, Feb. 28—A woman's college should be a laboratory for the study of the activities of women and of the part which they play in the development of civilization. Into this class fall the following characters: Chinese girl, Mrs. E. C. Sidwell; silver sister, Mrs. Roy Barbour; missionary, Mrs. Joe Shelton; Mrs. C. A. Long spoke on the influence of physical environment.

[Mrs. J. L. Howard was a new member and Mrs. S. A. Dehon, Mrs. S. George, and Mrs. S. Beebe were guests. Members were Mesdames R. W. Lane, Joe Gordon, H. F. Barnhart, N. P. Maddux, Jim Collins, M. M. Robinson, R. B. Fisher, M. E. De Tar, Roy Beard, C. C. Sidwell, Joe Shelton, C. A. Long, Ira Spearman, J. G. Noel, Sherman White, A. L. Patrick, Howard Neath, C. O. Seeds, C. C. Dodd, Harry Hoare, Neal Beaver, O. L. Beatty, F. M. Culbertson.]

Meal at Church.

The program on Lady Fourth's bell, was given in conference form by the following characters: Yo Chung, Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald; Wah Daughter, led by Mrs. W. R. Campbell; Mrs. Carl Sturgeon; Silver Sister, Mrs. Rufe Thompson; minister, Mrs. Edwin S. Vicars; Dr. Wang, Mrs. A. W. Babione; Mrs. Brewster, Mrs. Hoyt Allen; Wah Sang, Mrs. Clifford Jones. Mrs. Campbell also spoke on agricultural reconstruction.

Mrs. J. E. Goldston was a visitor, and in addition to those mentioned above, Mrs. Al Lawson and Mrs. F. C. Oden attended.

Mrs. L. R. Bush of McLean underwent a minor operation at Pampa hospital yesterday afternoon.

Little Hazel George Stevens of LeFors was admitted to Worley hospital yesterday.

Mrs. Ermen E. Smith of Amarillo is convalescing after a serious operation. She is the daughter of Mrs. H. F. Barnhart.

Develop it is hoped to make it a genuine laboratory for the study of women and the part which they have played in the forward march of human progress. It is believed that through a study of the lives and activities of the women of the past the clearest conception can be gained of woman's place in the

the public reaction to ADVERTISING

A group of merchants wanted to decide for themselves recently, the answer to the oft-repeated question, "What type of advertising attracts you most?" In typical business style these merchants conducted a survey and sent out questionnaires to a large number of people, asking that question. The results were extremely interesting. Here's what they found in tabulating 275 replies:

NEWSPAPERS	173
WINDOW DISPLAY	36
FRIEND'S OPINIONS	45
CIRCULAR LETTERS	10
MAIL ORDER CATALOGUE	2
HAND BILLS	4
BILLBOARDS	3
RADIO	2

In other words, these 275 individuals set down the advertising that attracts their attention most, more than half of that number set down newspaper advertising. Of course, this doesn't mean that other forms of advertising do not have merit, for they do. It does mean, however, that for mass circulation and reader interest, the newspapers are head and shoulder above any other advertising medium.

Advertising is a suitable force, and tests have proved that often it exerts its influence without the knowledge of the individual being influenced. In glancing over a newspaper, reading news stories here and there, the reader may not consciously read an advertisement, yet subconsciously will not a trade name, slogan or illustration be instrumentally in making him a buyer.

MALE FOXES MATE FOR LIFE. IF THE MALE DIES, THE FEMALE GETS A NEW MATE, BUT IF THE FEMALE DIES, THE MALE REMAINS SINGLE THE REST OF HIS LIFE.

OF COURSE a railroad track is no longer, perceptibly, in hot weather than in cold, for the expansion of each rail merely fills up the open spaces which were left for that purpose at its ends. If the rails were placed snugly together, the first hot spell would see them warping up in curious fashion.

Mellon Is Sued For Evasion Of Income Taxes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon and two of his former treasury associates have been named defendants in a $220,000,000 civil suit—the largest ever filed in the District of Columbia supreme court.

The suit charges connivance with officers of unidentified foreign steamship companies to evade payment of income taxes.

Besides Mellon, ambassador to Great Britain and former secretary of the treasury, David H. Blair, one-time commissioner of internal revenue, and Alexander W. Gregg, former acting general counsel of the revenue bureau, were named defendants.

The suit was filed by David A. Orrin, who resigned recently as a stock market investigator for the senate banking committee after charging that he had not been given a free hand.

Mellon was accused in the suit of not only failing to collect $100,000,000 in delinquent taxes from the steamship lines but with placing the government in such a position that it was forced to refund some $10,000,000.

WINNING LATIN ESSAYS OF TWO GIRLS TO BE ENTERED IN STATE CONTEST TO BE HELD IN APRIL

Helen Marie Jones and Willie Reese Taylor won first places in the Latin Essay Contest recently conducted by Miss Cox. Their papers will be entered in the State contest, the winners of which will be announced in April.

Willie Reese Taylor, winner of first place among the second year students, chose as her subject "Caesar As a Literary Figure."

Winners of second and third place among the second year students were Herbert Babone and Harriet Hunkapillar, both of whom wrote on the subject of "Caesar as a Strategist." (Katheryn Enell won second place among the first year students with an essay on "A Roman of the Time of Cicero Revisits the Earth and Writes a Letter to a Friend," and Ann Louise Swatman was third with her essay on "Roman Funerals.")

EXTRACTION OF GASOLINE FROM GAS GRANTED CARSON COMPANY

The Texas railroad commission has granted permission to Hagy, Herrington, and Marsh to utilize natural gas from their wells in Carson county for the extraction of gasoline and the use of the residue where practical for the manufacture of carbon black. The permit was given following a hearing in Amarillo last week.

In their petition, the plaintiffs claimed that they had seven gas wells with a capacity of 284,640,000 cubic feet of gas. Six of the wells were completed two years ago and owners have been unable to find markets for their production. It was also claimed that the rock pressure had fallen from 399 pounds per square inch to 349 pounds.

It was further shown that their lands were being drained because the larger companies were taking gas from nearby wells and if stripping permits were not granted the land would be practically valueless in a few years.

In granting the permit, the commission ruled that it was primarily a conservation enforcement agency charged with protecting the natural resources of the state and conserving the natural resources, but that where owners of gas producing properties were being drained and opportunity to use the gas for light or fuel was not likely, the enforcement of the law became practical confiscation.

The commission gave a ruling on the petition and set up a list of rules whereby the gas may be produced and used to manufacture gasoline without an outlet for the residue. The translation and rules follow:

"We conclude, therefore, that the section under review in obligating persons to confine gas within their wells in order to prevent its waste by escape until it can be used for light or fuel, unless a proper showing of authority has been given by the commission to the owner to utilize the gas for some other non-wasteful purpose, is valid as against plaintiff's attack, and that plaintiff may not for itself or its purchasers, complain of its reasonable enforcement. We do not hold, however, that upon proof which should establish that the effect of a statute will be to permanently deprive owners of wells of or unreasonably restrict them in the use of their gas, they would be entitled to no relief. If we could agree with the plaintiff's contention, advanced by claim rather than proof, that the State of Texas is so underlain in all its parts with vast supplies of gas that if confined until it finds a market for light or heat, the use of the gas in question here will be forever restrained, we should agree with its conclusion that a statute purporting to conserve it, for a use to which it could never be devoted is not regulation but confiscation."

1. This permit is effective immediately, but petitioners shall have a six (6) months period in which to construct its plant; or make the necessary connections to an existing plant.
2. This permit is limited to a period of five (5) years after date gas is first processed, unless revoked by appropriate order of this commission, in keeping with the terms of this order. Immediately upon completion of or connection to a plant, notice of such completion or connection shall be given to the Commission in writing.
3. If at any time after the effective date hereof or during the life of this permit, a satisfactory available market for light or fuel usage is created for gas authorized to be utilized under this permit, this commission may, upon notice and hearing, have the right and it shall be its duty after thirty (30) days notice, after said hearings, to cancel the authority hereby granted and the use of this permit by petitioners shall be conditioned upon its acceptance of this provision and other limitations herein. The commission shall permit the gas to be processed for gasoline if the residue is made available to such market.
4. If at any time during the life of this permit it shall be found by general use to be practicable, economical and in the interest of conservation of the natural resources of the State to use the gas authorized to be used under this permit for restoring the natural pressure in oil wells, or as it is commonly termed "for repressuring purposes," and if it be shown that the gas authorized to be used herein is needed for that purpose, this commission shall after thirty (30) days notice order that such gas not be blown into the air in residual form or burned for carbon black, and shall be made available for such repressuring purposes. If interested parties cannot agree upon the price to be charged for gas, if used for purposes other than the purposes authorized by this permit, the commission will, after hearing, determine the price at which such gas shall be sold.

5. Violating the provision of this permit, or connivance by petitioners in violation of any of its provisions or any of the conservation laws of Texas or conservation rules and regulations of this commission shall void this permit immediately.

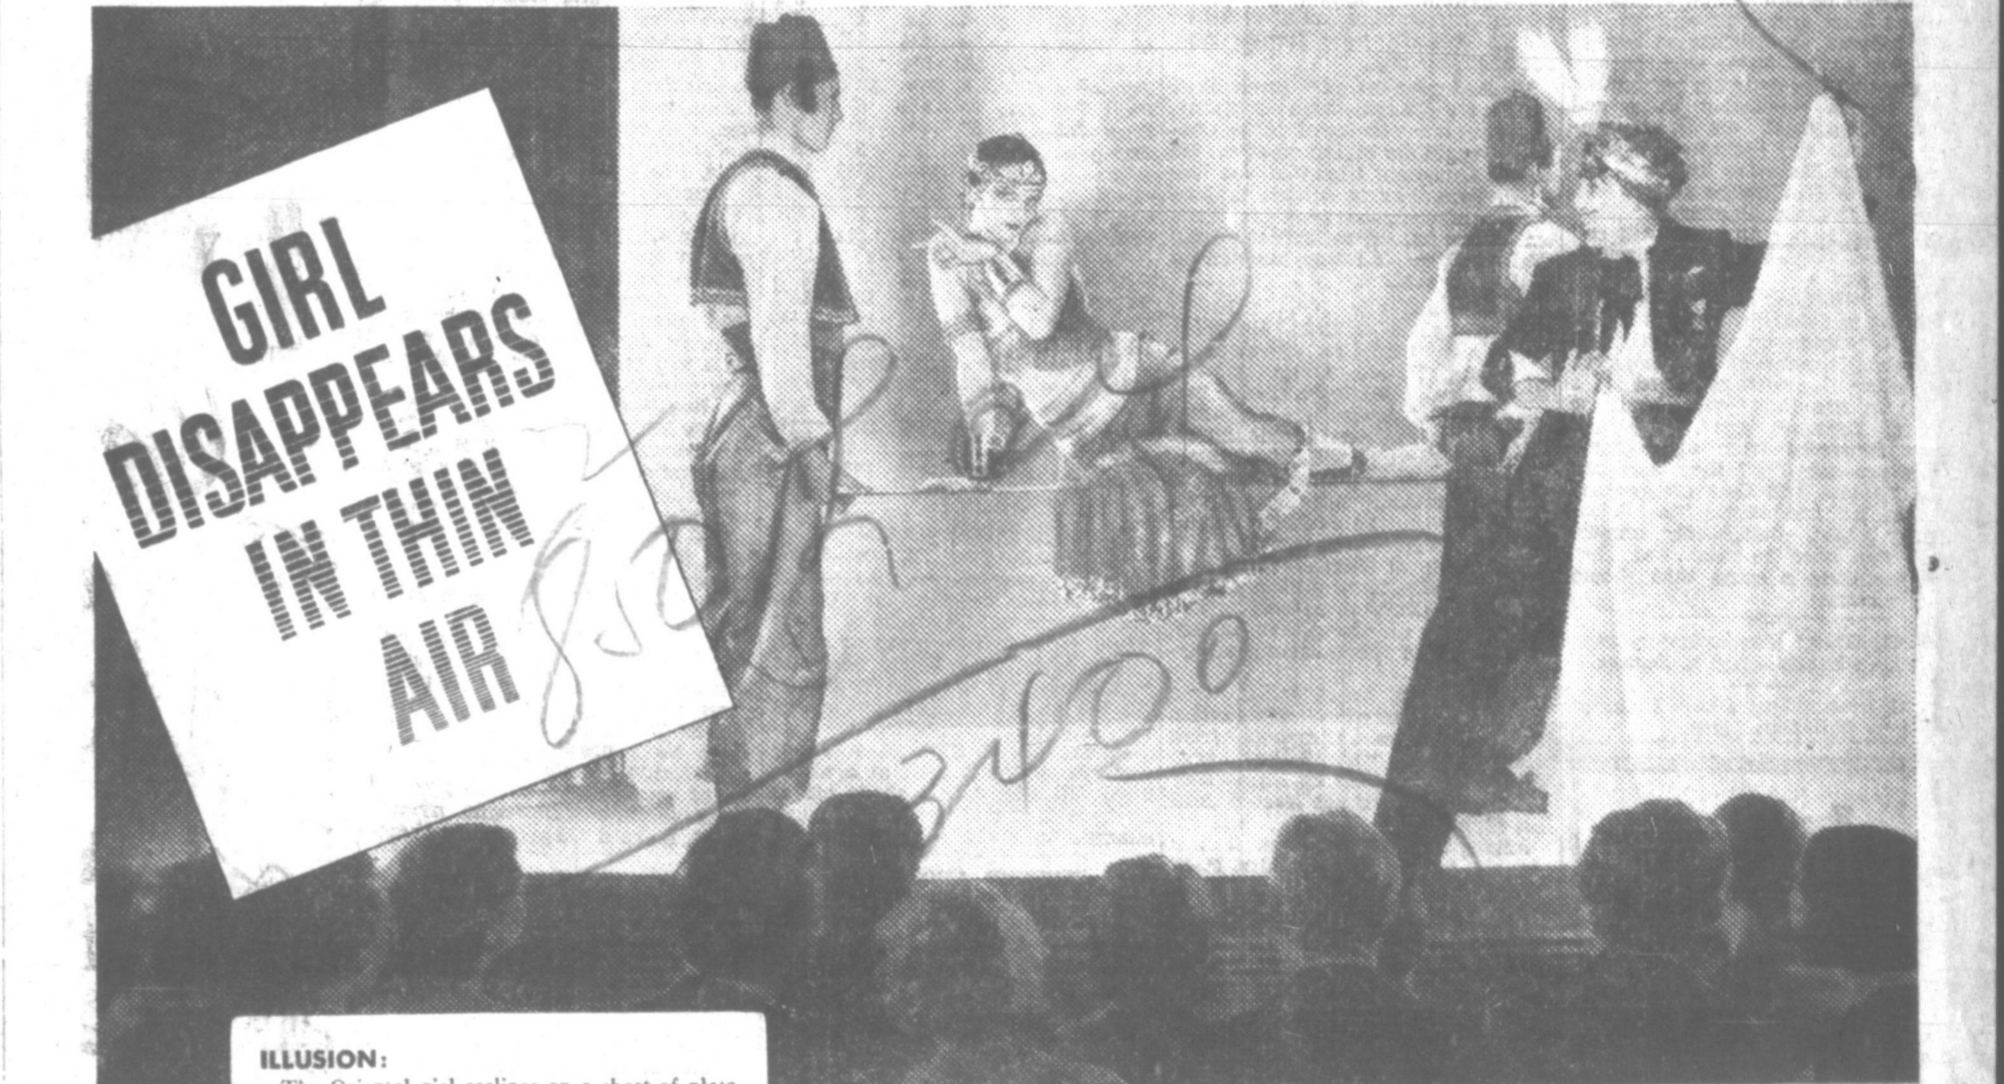

6. The authority granted by this permit extends only to include the seven wells described in the petition submitted in this case and the volume of gas to be used from each of said wells daily shall not exceed twenty-five (25) percent of the open flow thereof, provided, however, the commission may, after hearing, permit the utilization of a greater amount.

7. This permit may be renewable under such terms as the commission may prescribe after hearing; provided, sufficient lawful basis for such renewal and the facts and conditions at the time of expiration of this permit, in the judgment of this commission, warrant such renewal.

8. This permit may be assigned provided the commission is satisfied by a proper showing that the assignee thereof is entitled to the permit, is a responsible party, able and willing to accept and carry out the provisions of this order and accept the provisions and obligations of the same.

9. The validity of this permit is conditioned on the acceptance of its terms and conditions by permittees or their assigns and making use of the permit or the assignment thereof will be regarded as acceptance.

GIRL DISAPPEARS IN THIN AIR

ILLUSION:
The Oriental girl reclines on a sheet of plate glass supported by two slaves. The magician waves a white sheet in front of the pretty maiden... pronounces a few magic words... Presto! she has disappeared in thin air.

EXPLANATION:
"Disappearing" acts are among the most popular in the repertory of the magician. Dogs, horses, girls, whole rooms disappear—whisked into wings, dropped through trapdoors, hidden by mirrors. But this "disappearance" is a bit different. One of the "slaves" is a hollow dummy. When the magician holds up the sheet the little lady disappears completely—into the convenient figure of the dummy.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED ... IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

There is also a trick of cigarette advertising, whereby a few magic words are used to create the illusion of "Coolness." EXPLANATION: Coolness is determined by the speed of burning. Fresh cigarettes, retaining their full moisture, burn more slowly... smoke cooler. Parched, dry cigarettes burn fast. They taste hot. This makes the method of wrapping very important.

Improperly wrapped cigarettes begin to dry out as soon as packed. Camels are cooler because they come in the famous Humidor Pack of welded, three-ply, MOISTURE-PROOF cellophane... and because they contain better tobaccos. A cigarette that is fresh, full of natural moisture, and blended from choice, ripe tobaccos tastes cooler than one that is harsh and acrid. For coolness, choose a fresh cigarette, made from costlier tobaccos.

CAGERS LOOK LIKE WINNERS IN PRACTICE

PLAINVIEW'S FOOTBALL COACH, KIMBROUGH, TO BE REFEREE

If the boys on the Harvester basketball team play Friday night at Lamesa as they did yesterday afternoon in a fast and furious practice session, they will badly defeat the District two champions and will make the Golden Tornado look like a whirlwind that never got started.

That was the opinion of the grandstand master minds when the boys, tingling with purpose to wipe out Friday night's loss, concluded the workout. Coach Odus Mitchell was also pleased. The second string used the Lamesa defense and the number one lineup penetrated it at will with a lightning-like rapidity. The boys looked better than at any time since the district tournament. Coach Mitchell was not hiliarious as he was several times during practice sessions last week.

The team seemed to have hit a stride which if they hold will mean the annihilation of Lamesa. Not since the beginning of the season have the boys taken such a determined attitude toward a coming battle. They are living through the impending struggle and are playing it night and day. They feel that if they win the battle Friday night the third game will be theirs for the taking on any court.

Kimbrough to Referee.

Frank Kimbrough, Plainview football coach, was chosen yesterday to referee the game. It was first decided to obtain the services of Assistant Coach Crump of the Canyon Buffaloes, but Crump will be in Kansas City and could not work the game. Lamesa suggested that Fred Williams of Snyder or Mr. Kimbrough. School authorities knew nothing of Mr. Williams' ability on the hardwood and they decided on Mr. Kimbrough who has officiated several times for Pampa and has given satisfaction. He has refereed Buffalo games at Canyon this season and is in practice. It is believed that he will not let the struggle get from under his control. He is scheduled to officiate at several football games here next season. Kimbrough has dynamic personality and has a reputation as a football official. He is not connected with the basketball department of the Plainview school.

Choice of Kimbrough will go well enough with the Harvesters. What they want is a man who "will call 'em," and they believe Kimbrough will do it.

This afternoon, Coach Mitchell planned to take his team to White Deer to practice on the court there. It is about the size of Lamesa's gym. Yesterday the boys practiced on a space in the local gym about the size of Lamesa's court. The boys have recovered from all injuries. They are convinced that they can beat Lamesa and they are preparing to do just that. The defeat Friday night, undoubtedly unmerited, was hard to take, and they are acquiring a spirit that should spell victory.

He had been ill only three days. He had always been a strong, healthy man who loved to be outdoors regardless of the weather. He was a long-time friend of the late P. P. Reid, having settled in Mobeetie and ranched near Mr. Reid. Mr. Jeffus moved to Mobeetie from Walder, Tex. He was married in Walder in 1884.

Besides his wife, Mr. Jeffus is survived by six children, Mr. N. J. Tyson of Mobeetie, Preston of Lordsburg, N. M., Aubra of Las Vegas, Nev., and Doyle, Tyson and Powell, all of Mobeetie. He is also survived by fourteen grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home in Mobeetie at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Burial will follow in the Mobeetie cemetery. Mr. Jeffus was a member of the Church of Christ here and a lifelong friend of the Jeffus family. He will be one of the presiding ministers.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubra Jeffus, who are former Pampans, will arrive here tomorrow afternoon from Needles, Calif., where they were visiting at the time of Mr. Jeffus' death. They were not located until last night.

Among the close Pampa friends who are in Mobeetie are Mrs. F. P. Reid, Mrs. Otto Rice, Mrs. G. C. Crocker, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Rice.

Magic Revealed In Ads For Camels

Current interest in magic has received new impetus as a result of the new series of Camel cigarette advertisements which feature explanations of magic deceptions in order to bring out the thought that Camel cigarettes contain "No tricks just costlier tobaccos in a matchless blend."

The Camel ads are based on explanations published by the magician himself, according to the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company.

Professional magicians were consulted before the campaign was released. They took the view that "exposures" from within the profession have always created a new public following for magic. Hence a great many magicians have heartily endorsed the new cigarette campaign.

With schools reporting great interest in magic among the children, magic shops doing a flourishing business in magic apparatus, and publishers finding that sales of magic books are rising, the Camel advertisements are likely to be credited with starting a new fad in entertainment.

COMEBACK OF PRINCETON IS REMARKABLE EVENT OF 1932

Crisler Credited With The Rebirth of Tiger Spirit In All Sports.

NOTE: Princeton's comeback in intercollegiate athletics is one of the remarkable developments of the past year. From the depths of a protracted decline the Tigers have bounded forward again in all branches of sports. To discover the underlying reasons and study the methods of the man largely credited with bringing this renaissance about, the Associated Press assigned Edward J. Neil to investigate. Herewith is the first of his series of three stories.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 28. (AP)—Back from New Haven on a glum day in November two years ago, back to the comparative peace and security of the beautiful Princeton campus, came the wreckage of probably the worst football team this ancient stronghold of the east ever had sent to the pigskin wars.

Princeton had been beaten as no other Tiger eleven ever had been trounced by Yale, 54-14, and the morale of a university that worships tradition, and the memories of such heroes as the six Poes, Snake Ames, Hobey Baker, Sam White, Stan Keck, Jake Slagle and the rest, was so low that some of the biggest, most powerful youngsters in the school swore they'd never pull on moleskins again.

Not only was the morale of the youngsters low but an alumni system of football coaching that never had been changed was demoralized.

First Outsider.

One short year passed, bringing with it a new athletic director and head coach from the Middle West, Herbert Orrin (White) Crisler, first outsider ever to direct Princeton football, and a couple of husky assistants, "Tad" Wieman and Earl Martineau. The old ways were junked. The new blood from Minnesota and Chicago brought new ideas, and a freshening knowledge of the psychology of intercollegiate athletic history was under way.

Where a band of husky but aimless youths the year before managed to beat Amherst, only to lose in increasing confusion to Cornell, Cornell, and finally Yale, the same boys came back last fall to lick Amherst again, and after losing to Columbia, hold Cornell and Navy to scoreless ties, go down in sensational fashion, 14-7 before Michigan, one of the greatest elvens of the season, another Lehigh, and tie Yale, 7 to 7.

Immediately Princeton's athletic pride and confidence were restored to a point where teams, deploying now in half a dozen fields, are piling up records comparable to the Tiger triumphs of 1924, 1925, and 1926, when football teams that beat Harvard three times in a row and Yale two out of three, led the victory parade.

Southron Outrungs Venke.

Only last Saturday night, in Madison Square Garden, Bill Southron, crack miler, ran a 1,500-meter leg on Princeton's medley relay team a full second faster than Gene Venzke and Glenn Cunningham did in their duel for the national title at that distance. In all branches of athletics the Tiger is on the rampage again.

Naturally individual conquests, aside from football and basketball, were not due directly to Crisler, but experts credit him with the sudden rebirth of Princeton spirit that has made them possible. His methods of fostering morale in the off-season of preparing them mentally and physically for campaigns months ahead, make a chapter all in themselves.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Influenced by suggestions that tomorrow's private reports on United States farm reserve stocks of wheat would prove bullish, grain averaged higher early today. There were also complaints that moisture in domestic winter wheat territory south-west was wholly insufficient.

Wheat closed firm, 1/2-3/4 above yesterday's finish, corn at a shade to 1/2 advance, oats a shade off to a shade up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2 cents.

It developed through documentary and other testimony that the checks were impounded and withheld because the depository did not have immediately available funds to meet payment and the counties and highway commission did not want to force the escrow securities on an unfavorable market.

Sarazen Is Dubbed 'World's Champion'

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28. (AP)—Gene Sarazen, American and British open titleholder, has claimed the "unofficial world's golf championship" to his list of laurels by a decisive victory over Olin Dutra, Metropolitan and P. G. A. champion.

Sarazen shot three consecutive rounds of sub-par golf to gather a big lead over Dutra and concluded the match on the 62nd hole yesterday to win eleven up and ten to play. Precision and smoothness contributed to Sarazen's victory.

JAP WAR

miles distant. Japanese reports said their column was 26 miles northeast of Chihfeng at 10 a. m.

The Chinese reported they were successfully defending Tamiao, on the defense line between Lingtung and Chihfeng against heavy bombardment and contended the Japanese army of the north was being slowed up by bitter weather and road conditions.

A British embargo on arms shipments to China and Japan caused Great Britain to momentarily replace the United States in the role of "villain" in Japan. The action was regretted in China, where it was said Japan already was well-provided, and an arms embargo against the "aggressor nation" only was urged. Japanese officials admitted the British embargo would handicap China rather than Japan but, nevertheless, keenly resented it.

Mixed Train On Denver To Have New Schedule

Passenger service over the Fort Worth & Denver railroad between Pampa and Childress will be by mixed train starting tomorrow. The Texas Railroad commission granted the company's request to discontinue the motor car, commonly called the "Doodle Bug," which has been operating since the line was completed.

Time of arrival and departure of the mixed train will be changed according to U. G. Kerss, local agent. The new time of departure from Pampa will be 6:30 p. m. daily except Sunday, when there will be no service. The train will reach LeFors at 7:30 p. m., Shamrock at 10:15 p. m., and Childress at 2 a. m. The train will leave Childress at 11 a. m., reach Shamrock at 2:45 p. m., LeFors at 5:15 p. m. and arrive in Pampa at 6 p. m.

Tom Huggins, veteran conductor who has been in charge of the motor car, will not continue on the mixed train. His successor has not been named. Mr. Huggins will probably take a passenger run out of Lubbock.

Clothing Left At Canadian As Thief Escapes

"I'm going to get rich off car owners in Pampa who never lock their cars," boasted a Canadian youth as he started to cut the name off R. C. Sturgeon's coat in a Canadian shop, Chief of Police Jno. V. Andrews was informed last night when he accompanied Mr. Sturgeon to Canadian to recover the coat which had been stolen here last week. The youth had left Canadian but his arrest was expected today.

Upon hearing the youth bragging, the shop owner called the Hemphill sheriff but the boy left before the officer arrived. The coat, a pair of shoes, a hat, and a number of car tools were left behind. Chief Andrews brought them back to Pampa last night. The coat, shoes and tools were stolen from Mr. Sturgeon's car while it was parked in front of the Postal Telegraph office for about 10 minutes last Thursday night.

The chief learned that the youth has a suspended sentence hanging over him. He immediately swore out a complaint, which was handed to Constable Frank Jordan.

Chief Andrews has been asking, begging, and demanding that car owners lock their cars regardless of whether they plan to be gone a minute or several hours. The police cannot stop everyone they see stepping into an unlocked car or even removing a coat or other articles from a car left in the street. However, if they see someone meddling with a lock, they question the person.

Many cars have been stolen recently with the keys in the locks.

Bowling League Makes Decision To Enforce Rules

Clamping down on enforcement of rules in the City Bowling league now that the season is getting to the interesting stage was approved at a meeting of team managers in the Pampa Bowling alley last night. Enforcement of rules have been lax in the past.

Team rosters were presented the secretary, John Chambers, and new players can be added only upon the approval of each team manager. Each team is allowed seven players. Definite decision as to how the prize money will be divided was not made but the managers agreed that all six teams should be on the prize list.

NEW BRONZE HIGH-TEST GASOLINE

(Worthy Companion of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil)

Instant Starting So Light-So Dry... So Keen-So Spry
Lightning Pick-up Folks Declare It Is Bewitched
Long Mileage IMPROVED Anti-Knock
No Extra Cost

"What have you done to gasoline to effect a change so strange?" Thousands have asked us this, and so will you when you try it. It does seem uncanny, but it isn't the work of spooks. Thank Science . . . and Conoco engineers.

Science calls it volatile because it changes from liquid to vapor in the twinkling of an eye. The vapor is light, dry, sensitive. In the cylinder, one spark ignites it. It bursts into an all-consuming flame of driving power.

It has a higher octane rating—improved anti-knock. This makes it fire in a smooth, evenly balanced rhythm. It has substance, too; endurance for long, economical mileage. Try it and rejoice.

PLEASE BE PATIENT!
The contest is closed. Mail by the truckload must be opened, read and judged until only the winners remain. We'll hurry, but it takes time. Meanwhile, radio will bring contest news, Wednesday evenings over N. B. C., 10:30 to 11 P. M. (E. S. T.); 9:30 to 10 (C. S. T.); 8:30 to 9 (M. S. T.); 7:30 to 8 (P. S. T.).
