

DOWN'S RESIGNS; ANDREWS NAMED

All this talk about Governor Jim having done this and that and Governor Sterling having been responsible for other things is certainly misleading. This is not a monarchy. Legislators, attorney generals, and other state officials must share the responsibility and the blame and credit. Bills passed by a legislature cannot be attributed wholly to any governor.

Governor Sterling vetoed several millions in appropriations. That was his personal act. He stopped disbursement of the oil wealth of East Texas. He has done other things, but to hold him responsible for all that the legislature did is neither fair to him nor the lawmakers. Much is credited to Jim Ferguson, good and evil, that he did not do. His legislatures share the blame and credit. There is this distinction: Governor Sterling is answerable to the people and the legislature. With his removal would come any reformation sought, if it came to that.

There will be about a hundred new legislators in the next administration. We believe they could manage Mr. Sterling, and we believe that Sterling would continue to veto their extravagances and hold them in check. Sterling's working behind the scenes and setting up orderly government, could stop road building, hinder development, and cause dissension among lawmakers.

Words, magic little combinations of letters, but often how meaningless they turn out to be. Ever since the Panaman can remember he has heard office seekers talk of liberty, economy, states rights, lower taxes, and we rise up now to say that despite all the applause and all the promises, liberties have been more and more restricted, extravagance has flourished, states rights have been reduced in number, and taxes have increased year by year.

So when these same words are thrown about recklessly from the soap boxes this year, we are moved to applaud, or even to enthusiasm. High taxes are made when times are good. The magic words in such periods are progress, up and going, and live-wire. These are the words which lead to expenditures which make taxes higher. And after an orgy of spending, we have a severe crash, which we call a depression. In times like these we cry to high heaven about high taxes, but we speak too late.

We demand liberty and lower taxes today, but tomorrow the cycle of good business arrives and we forget these words. It has happened in the past; it will happen again. The same office seekers who promise economies now will later seek approval in the name of progress—and progress costs money. No, we do not blame the office seekers. They are supposed to represent the people and if they have minds of their own they are soon retired. We, the people, must take the blame.

When we must pay for our folly, we ask the government to take care of us. The government does, or tries to, by restricting our privileges, setting up competing agencies, and raising the tax rate. . . . When the voters cease to be misled by words, there will be no need of reclaiming some of our lost liberties and reducing the cost of government by reducing the number of services, bureaus, and governmental employees. This is our creed. We think it is democratic. We do not believe it has to be tied up with every politician who comes along and makes strong promises.

Our attention is called to this item in the Claude NEWS: "Somebody has said that doing business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark. You know you are doing it, but nobody else does."

Once there was a man who knew all about the constitutional amendments proposed in his state. You see, he wrote the things himself.

We've had so many lawyer-governors and legislators that we are over-saturated. We need about two more years of "business administration," and then it will be time for some other profession to be represented. We suggest a first class doctor—things surely need diagnosing.

Men are invading the school campus with this football mania. Formerly the girls played the game. Then the boys found it interesting. Lately the head business men from coast to coast have

Mrs. Putnam Makes First Cross Country Flight by Woman

MUCH SPEED MADE IN SOLO TRIP BY HER

JUST HOUR AND HALF BEHIND FRANK HAWKS

VERY TIRED AT LANDING

AVERAGES 161 MILES AN HOUR LAST 2,000 MILES

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 25. (AP)—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam landed at Newark airport at 10:28 a. m. E. S. T. today, completing the first transcontinental non-stop flight made by a woman.

Mrs. Putnam dropped her Lockheed Vega high wing monoplane in a perfect three-point landing and was greeted by Lieut. Richard Aldworth, airport manager. The crimson and gold plane came over the airport from the west and, after circling once around the field, lazily came down to land.

The unofficial time for her flight was 19 hours and two minutes. The west-east non-stop record for men is held by Frank Hawks at 17 hours, 38 minutes and 59 seconds.

Mrs. Putnam who left Los Angeles yesterday at 12:26 p. m., Pacific Standard Time, was sighted on her flight since she passed over Amarillo, Texas, at 10:10 p. m., Central Standard Time, last night. At that time, she had flown only 1,001 miles airline distance in eight hours, averaging about 125 miles an hour. The last 2,000 miles she must have made at a speed exceeding 161 miles an hour.

It was a tired-looking blond fier who climbed out of the crimson and gold high wing Lockheed Vega today at the airport, and was almost knocked over by the enthusiastic crowd that rushed out to the plane to greet her.

Photographers asked Mrs. Putnam to smile. "I don't feel much like smiling," she told them. "I'm so tired."

But a moment later a broad smile was wreathing her features and she was asking the photographers, "How's this?"

Her first request was for "water, please?" She had carried a thermos bottle of water with her on the flight, she explained, but it became

DEFEATED MINERS, DISPERSED BY DEPUTIES, FLEE TO HOMES

BENTON, Ill., Aug. 26. (AP)—Battered clusters of defeated men and women were all that remained today of the confident throng of approximately 15,000 striking miners and members of their families who attempted to invade Franklin county late yesterday to picket coal mines as a protest against lowered wages.

Fifteen minutes of gunfire and wounding of clubs by a force of approximately 600 deputy sheriffs ended the attempted invasion, which leaders of the strikers had termed the "greatest labor march ever undertaken in the United States."

Nearly a hundred miners suffered battered heads and six persons were injured seriously enough to require medical treatment, including two who suffered minor bullet wounds.

LEGION CHIEF?

Here is George W. (Molly) Malone of Nevada, who is a candidate for national commander of the American Legion. Malone is Nevada's state engineer, member of its public service commission, its Colorado river commission and is active in national Legion affairs. The election will be held at the Legion's national convention in Portland, Ore., Sept. 12-15.

INSTALLATION BY 40-8 WILL DRAW CROWD

Amarillo Voiture Is Coming Here Tonight

The Amarillo voiture of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux will hold the annual installation of officers of the Pampa voiture. It was announced today.

The local officers recently elected were: Chef de gare, Dr. R. A. Webb; chef de train, W. C. de Cordova; commissaire intendante, Mark Long; conducteur, W. S. Green, garde de la porte, Ray Anderson; lampiste, A. E. Spees; commis voyageur, J. L. City; amonien, C. M. Carlock; chemist, C. E. Cary, Frank J. Thomas, J. A. Pearson.

D. W. Thurman was appointed correspondent, or secretary by Dr. Webb. Dr. Webb, also 5th division commander of the American Legion, has made Thurman his division adjutant.

Mr. Pearson, current sous chef de chemin de fer, has been elected delegate to represent the local voiture at the national convention in Portland, Ore. Mr. Pearson, who attended a 40-8 meeting in Amarillo last night, said a large group from that organization would come to Pampa tonight. Final plans will be made here for the "week" or installation by Amarillo, Pampa, and Berger voitures on Labor Day in Amarillo. Pampa has a number of P. G.'s (prisonaires le gare) to be initiated at that time.

Davenport Freed Of Theft Charge

Larry Davenport was found not guilty on a charge of pipe theft by a jury in county court yesterday. C. L. Davenport pleaded guilty to a similar charge and was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail by Judge S. D. Stennis.

THREE OR FOUR HUNDRED MEMBERS WILL COME HERE ACCORDING TO SECRETARY

The annual convention of the Panhandle Firemen's association will be held in Pampa next year. An invitation to meet here in 1933, extended by Fire Chief Clyde Gold through the junior chamber of commerce and the Board of City Development was unanimously accepted by the firemen in convention at Vernon yesterday.

County Grader Is Borrowed By City

Grading of the city streets with a grader borrowed from the county was started in the west portion of Pampa today and will continue until all dirt streets in the city have been put in good shape. City Manager Shine said this morning.

FOREIGN MINISTER HAS CRITICISM FOR AMERICA

CHINA CALLED 'CHAOTIC'

'MACHINERY OF PEACE' CLAIMED TO BE INADEQUATE

TOKYO, Aug. 25. (AP)—Outlining her foreign policy, Japan today declared the world's peace machinery offered no remedy for "the chaotic condition of China" and announced formally her intention to recognize the new Manchurian state, Manchukuo, in the near future.

The declaration was made by Baron Yasuku Uchida, the foreign minister, before an extraordinary session of the House of Peers and its text was cabled to many foreign capitals for distribution.

"There are those in other countries," Uchida went on, "who do not fully comprehend the attitude of Japan toward China nor the measures she has taken."

"It is an indisputable fact that the chaotic condition of China and

PLAN TO ADOPT PROGRAM FOR CUTTING TAXES

Propose To Abolish Offices And Fee System

AMARILLO, Tex., Aug. 25. (AP)—Public expenditure committees of the West Texas, South Texas and East Texas chambers of commerce will meet with the Texas agricultural, industrial and commercial conference in Fort Worth September 8, to adopt a statewide program for reducing public expenses and taxes.

This information was given out by Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the West Texas chamber, in a meeting here today with directors from district one of the regional organization. Hawk told the group meeting here that an official announcement of the Fort Worth meeting would be made by C. A. Jay, Dallas, manager of the conference within a few days.

Mrs. Fisher and son, Brent, will arrive here Saturday from New York where he has been attending school at Columbia university this summer, according to a card received today by L. A. White, state resident engineer for the highway department.

Mr. and Mrs. White have been occupying the Fisher home at 806 North Somerville this summer. Mr. White said that in the last week many telephone calls have been received at the house regarding the return of the Fishers.

J. S. McLaughlin of Miami was looking after interests in Pampa yesterday.

Winner of Phillips-Texola Tilt Will Meet Magafos In Contest Tonight

After losing to the powerful Oklahoma City Magafos baseball team yesterday, the Pampa-L'Fors entry in the Berger HERALD tournament went to bat this afternoon against the Dumas outfit, playing for a right to stay in the turnkey.

The Magafos defeated the Gray county entry 22 to 7 yesterday afternoon.

Last night Phillips 66 defeated the Magafos, 15 to 6, in a turning contest.

Another game this afternoon will be that of Texola vs. Phillips, with the winner to play Magafos tonight.

Dallas Woman Attacked After Five Kidnaped

LALLAS, Aug. 25. (AP)—An ex-convict who kidnaped and criminally attacked a white woman last night after tying her escort and five other persons in a field in the suburbs of Dallas was hunted today by police.

Armed with a sawed-off shotgun, the man stepped in front of the car in which Floyd E. Gossett and the woman were riding along a street, halting them.

"This is a hijacking," the man said as he handed the woman a piece of wire and forced her to the Gossett's hands.

At this time, George Teague, a 9-year-old boy, John Edward Bolden, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Teague, and their 3-year-old child, walked up the road. They were on their way to a picture show.

The man covered them with the shotgun and tied them alongside the road.

"I know how to do this kind of work," he boasted. "I didn't spend eleven years in the penitentiary for nothing."

The ex-convict then marched the woman across a field. A short time later Gossett and the other heard her scream. Gossett managed to free himself and run to a nearby school, where he telephoned police.

Fisher To Return Here on Saturday

Supt. R. B. Fisher of the Pampa Independent school district, will arrive here Saturday from New York where he has been attending school at Columbia university this summer, according to a card received today by L. A. White, state resident engineer for the highway department.

Fort Worth Jail To Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP)—The department of justice announced today that an inspector from the prison bureau would be sent to Fort Worth to investigate the Tarrant county jail from which the bureau of prisons recently ordered prisoners removed because of objectionable conditions.

The department said the sheriff of the county had reported that changes in personnel were contemplated and that the objectionable features had been remedied. The department said its former investigation had shown that liquor was permitted federal prisoners in the jail.

'MA' AND ROSS TRAVELING ON SAME TRAIN

DALLAS AND DENTON TO HEAR RIVAL ASPIRANTS

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer
DALLAS, Aug. 25. (AP)—A railway passenger train brought a precious political lot to Dallas this morning.

Both candidates for the democratic gubernatorial nomination and the boss of republicanism in Texas were aboard.

Governor R. S. Sterling, incumbent, and Mrs. Miran A. Ferguson, ex-governor, his opponent in Saturday's run-off primary for the democratic plum, were passengers.

Sterling came from San Antonio to fill a speaking engagement here tonight. Mrs. Ferguson got on at Austin, en route to Denton to join her former governor husband, James E. Ferguson, for a campaign appearance.

Borger Citizens Ask for Rangers

Twenty-six telegrams sent by Borger citizens after a theater booth in that city had been dynamited, brought the Texas Rangers to this territory, it was learned here yesterday.

Despite Borger's oft-repeated dislike for Rangers, her citizens always ask for the Rangers when a disturbance takes place, one of the three Rangers stationed here said.

"Nobody in Pampa asked the Rangers to come here."

It was explained that Pampa was chosen as headquarters for the Rangers because of the railroad facilities here and because of the central location of this city.

CHAS. C. COOK TO MAKE RADIO TALK

A radio talk advocating the election of Col. Ernest O. Thompson as railroad commissioner will be made over station WDAQ tonight at 8 o'clock by C. C. Cook, Pampa attorney.

Local people are invited to hear this talk, which will stress important issues.

ODD FELLOWS IN SESSION ON DEGREES

Clyde Johnson of Pampa and Mr. Houk of Borger were awarded first degrees last evening when the Odd Fellows of district 14 of the Grand Lodge of Texas convened in Pampa. Eleven grand lodge degrees were conferred.

There were about one hundred persons present, including three grand officers, T. W. Davidson of Dallas, grand master; E. Q. Vestal of Dallas, grand secretary, and P. E. Walker of Amarillo, grand marshal. Several members of the Rebekah lodge were in attendance and served refreshments in the evening.

Yesterday morning's session was featured by an instructive address by Grand Master Davidson, former lieutenant governor, who described conditions of the order. Reports were given from all lodges represented.

LATE NEWS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25. (AP)—A dividend reduction not wholly unexpected was sufficient to prompt a flurry of profit-taking in today's stock market after a huge wave of buying accelerated by length of commodities had swept prices up 1 to more than 5 points. Most of the advance was lost and the close was irregular. The turnover approximated 4,300,000 shares.

MADRID, Aug. 25. (AP)—The government tonight granted clemency to General Jose Sanjurjo, commanding general of the Spanish army, who had been sentenced to death earlier in the day for leading the recent monarchist revolt against the republic.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25. (AP)—Another amazing rally brought Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick back from the brink of death today.

At dawn her family had been called to the bedside expecting an end momentarily of the long illness that is certain to be fatal. Stimulants were administered, however, and Mrs. McCormick's heart and pulse became stronger.

POLICE CHIEF CHANGE MADE ON WEDNESDAY

OFFICER SERVED FOUR YEARS HERE, MANY ELSEWHERE

Police Chief J. I. Downs tendered his resignation to city commissioners yesterday, and John T. Andrews was appointed to succeed him.

A statement issued by City Manager C. L. Stine this morning was as follows:

"J. I. Downs, chief of police for the city for the past four years, resigned his position yesterday of his own free will. J. I., as he is known to his many friends, came to this city on the 14th of June, 1927, and has served on the city police force since that date. J. I. likes Pampa and intends to make his home here in the future.

John T. Andrews was appointed chief of police, taking office today."

Mr. Downs succeeded Mr. Andrews as chief four years ago, after Mr. Andrews had served almost five years as city marshal and chief of police.

The new chief has lived in Pampa about 18 years and is well-known to oldtimers and "new comers." He was city marshal when Pampa was a mere village. Reminiscing this morning, Mr. Andrews recalled that when he first became connected with the city, he was city marshal, street commissioner, fireman, and grader operator.

ABOUT NEW YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES.

NEW YORK—Tenants for once in their lives hold the bludgeon over New York's landlords and, believe me, they are making the best of it.

After a year of stagnant business, during which many hundreds of apartments were left vacant, owners and agents view the approach of another lease day with trepidation.

There is an "asking price" on all apartments, as usual; but the agents as well as the renter recognize that this is just a figure at which the argument downward is to begin.

People who retain their old addresses are getting substantial cuts in rent. If they can't force the landlords down, they have the satisfaction of knowing there is a better apartment just around the corner which might be cheaper.

For years lodging has been the principal thing that makes living in New York more expensive than elsewhere. Clothing costs no more here. Food is just about as cheap. But quarters big enough for a hatrack and a pillow have been priced on a sky high scale.

Property owners scream about excessive taxes. Probably they are pretty bad. But right now the landlords seem to think that anything is better than paying taxes on unoccupied space from October 1 onward.

It's the lowly renters' Roman holiday—at last!

Nice Boy

Röbert Ober, the actor-playwright, just dropped in to say he used this gag himself years ago, but hasn't heard it repeated in so long it may seem fresh.

Mrs. O'Malley met Mrs. Delancey, who was bubbling over with joy because her son Tim was coming home.

"And I was thinking Tim was up for five years," said Mrs. O'Malley.

"Sure, and he was," answered Mrs. Delancey, "but he got two years off for good behavior."

"Now, there! Isn't it nice to have a son like that," Mrs. O'Malley responded.

Dorothy Parker wrote: "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses."

She wears 'em herself when she writes. But that's the only time.

After all writers can't be disturbed.

Jesse Block, who teams in big time vaudeville with his young wife, Eva Sully, told me the thing that first annoyed, then amused him in England is the way entertainers over there annex the lines and business of visiting Americans.

"Some of the English acts have shorthand writers out in front, taking down every word," said Block. "I was rather sore about it at first, but I learned it was just an old English custom. They know the Americans won't be over there very long, so they don't see anything wrong about borrowing their stuff for later use."

There hasn't been a single outstanding name developed in New York gangdom in two years. But soon we're almost certain to hear of a new czar.

Cancer Prevention Is Timely Topic

The prevention of cancer depends upon the avoidance or correction of various forms of chronic irritation or inflammation which evidently favors the development of this disease.

Cancers of the mouth, for example, are caused by a combination of bad teeth, tobacco and chronic infection. The importance of good dentistry and a clean mouth in this connection is obvious.

Most cancers of the skin develop in other abnormal conditions of the skin which have preceded them. The proper treatment of such infections will largely prevent the occurrence of skin cancers.

The majority of cancers occurring in the genital organs of women are preceded by chronic inflammation due to injuries received at childbirth or to some form of infection.

The proper remedy of such injuries and the treatment of such infections will do much to prevent this type of cancer in women.

In connection with the breast, there is one practical precaution to be taken which will give considerable protection against cancer in that organ: every definite tumor occurring in the breast should be removed. Such a tumor is always questionable. It is never possible to be certain that it will not become cancerous. If it is not already cancer, and its local removal and microscopic examination is therefore the safest procedure. Permitting such a tumor to remain without attention may result in an entirely avoidable disaster.

A periodic physical examination by a physician who is familiar with the predisposing causes of cancer will do much to prevent the occurrence of many cancers.

The preventable types of cancer, comprising possibly one-half of the total number of cases, and causing about one-third of the deaths, furnish the most hopeful field for the diminution of suffering and the reduction of mortality from this devastating disease.

"TARZAN TO BE DIVORCED." LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25 (AP)—Ben C. A private property settlement is being made. Westmiller and Miss Arust met at Miami, Fla., on St. Valentine's day, 1931, and were married two weeks later.

Cancer Cure Is Fully Possible

Notwithstanding much opinion to the contrary, cancer is to a considerable extent at present a curable disease.

The cure of cancer in general depends either upon its removal from the body or its destruction in the body. Surgery accomplishes the former; irradiation by x-rays and radium produce the latter.

The surgical treatment of cancer has established a brilliant record of achievement. It has yielded innumerable cures and has saved many lives.

When a cancer is within easy reach and is quite localized, its direct removal by surgery is a very effective method of obtaining a cure. When a cancer is deep-seated, or is widely spread throughout the body, its removal is not a simple procedure and the effectiveness of surgery is accordingly limited.

The employment of radium and x-rays in the treatment of cancer marks a new era in the practice of medicine. Here for the first time an invisible agent, operating at a distance, has been used to accomplish the actual destruction of abnormal growths in the body.

The successful result of radiation treatment for cancer depends upon the ability of the rays to destroy cancer cells without injuring the surrounding tissues of the body.

Many cancers, of both the superficial and internal varieties, are cured by the application of radium and x-rays.

The resistance of certain cancers to the destructive influence of radiation limits to some extent, however, the effectiveness of this agency.

In some cases the combined use of surgery and radium or x-rays, or the employment of all three, is necessary to obtain a cure.

In every case of cancer, the early application of correct treatment is absolutely essential for cure. Time is the ruling factor; and generally renders the decision on the outcome of the disease.

Federal Control Of Industry Asked For Emergencies

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25 (AP)—Emergency governmental control of industry was proposed today in a position-economic platform adopted by the executives of 21 railroad brotherhoods with the possibility of support from a united battlefront of organized labor.

"Cooperation with all other industrial and agricultural organizations of workers," the railroad labor executives said, "we propose before the election in November to put on record every aspirant to public office for or against a labor prosperity program."

Taking the view that present reduced wage levels cause reduced consumption, which in turn forces reduced production, the program adopted by the railway labor executives' association calls for a federal "mobilization" of industry to halt the vicious circle.

The "labor prosperity program" was summarized by the executives as follows:

"Wage cutting must stop. Competition in wage cutting and price cutting is simply competitive suicide. Adequate wages, adequate prices and adequate employment must be restored.

"Our national resources and national credit should be mobilized and employed as they would be in a time of war for the purpose of co-

HOMING PIGEONS, unless trained for night flying, roost at night wherever darkness overtakes them. The birds trained by the French for secret night work were kept in darkened rooms from the moment of hatching, and were fed by the light of red lanterns. When they learned to fly, they underwent systematic training of homing to a red light. Although results were far from satisfactory, the American army was preparing to teach night flying to some of its pigeons at the time the armistice came.

BRITISH OFFER CLAIMS ON A. E. F.'S 'TIN HATS'

Other devices involved include depth-charge throwers and mines.

By HERBERT PLUMMER.

WASHINGTON—If that veteran senator of Virginia with the Scandinavian-sounding name and pronounced southern accent, Claude Swanson, accepts the task of trying to fill the senate with democrats in this election republicans will have to deal with an extremely alert man and an adroit politician.

Swanson is slated to succeed the youthful Millard Tydings of Maryland as chairman of the senatorial elections committee. Tydings has a contest of his own this year and must give up the job.

The soft drawing speech of Swanson is a bit deluding to most people.

They learn better soon. Most of them know that the more he draws, slurring his "r's" until it seems there is no such letter in his alphabet, the more active and cagey he is.

Galleries Like Him

He's a treat for the galleries when he gets to going good. He dashes about with his coat tails flying, holding a quivering finger upward in his only gesture while his pince-nez topple from his nose almost every moment to dangle at the end of a wide black ribbon.

"Even when he gets mad he's courteous," one colleague says of him.

But once he has gained an advantage he is relentless. Nothing can move him. There comes to mind the time in the senate that he slipped through on his colleagues a small matter of $30,000,000 for the modernization of certain battleships. So skillfully did he manage it that it was all over before most of the senators knew what it was all about. The whole proceedings took up about one inch in the Record.

When the senators found they had been caught napping, they raised a howl. Some of them demanded, in an appeal to his fairness, that he undo the job.

Aids Newcomers.

Swanson merely grinned at them. And when one of them suggested that he had succeeded in getting enough money not only to modernize the ships, but everything else at Norfolk, Va., as well, he replied blandly: "I hope so. I want the best possible work done."

Swanson counsels and advises the newcomer to the senate frequently. The path of many serving their first term has been made easier because of him. When you see him get up from his seat, stroll casually to that of a senator having a difficult time and whisper a few words in his ear, you know that he has murmured a few words of wisdom—

You know, because you can see it in the senator's face.

FLYING TO AMARILLO

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 25 (AP)—Les Gehlbach, Springfield, Mass., took off at the municipal airport at 9:30 a. m. today for Amarillo, Tex., en route to Burbank, Calif., to compete in the air race to Cleveland, O. He arrived here from Cleveland yesterday at 5 p. m. Gehlbach said he probably would spend tonight at Amarillo.

Hollywood Sights

By ROBBIN COONS.

HOLLYWOOD—Lee Duncan is a sentimental fellow who isn't ashamed of it.

When his dog Rin-Tin-Tin died, Duncan received a number of curious wires and letters offering money for the privilege of preserving the canine movie star for museum purposes. Some people might have taken the highest bid, but not Duncan.

"No," he said. "Rinty was my pal. I owe him all I have. He was always close to me, and now that he's gone I want to keep him with me—let him rest."

So "Rinty" is buried in the back garden of Duncan's home, where the tall bearded man with graying hair lives with his mother. The grave is unmarked except by a white rose bush.

Hard Work For Duncan.

Duncan, who "educated" Rin-Tin-Tin, and many other dogs including "Rinty, Jr.," who will carry on the name in pictures, always directed the dog stunts, even after tales complicated things. But the microphone did not change his methods of direction.

In every Rin-Tin-Tin talkie, Duncan spoke his commands to his pet as usual, but his voice was not heard in the picture because by accurate timing it was kept from the sound track—a matter of "tuning out" by switching a dial in the control room.

If anyone has the notion that a man can take a dog and let the dog work for him, as Duncan seemed to have done, he would be disillusioned by watching the real work the dog's master does. "Rinty" did the work, but Duncan worked twice as hard, with endless patience and kindness.

Duncan isn't strong for "dressing up" and "going out in society." He prefers overalls and staying home. It's one secret of his success with dogs—he plays with them.

Colleen Coming Back.

When Colleen Moore was a star in silent pictures she would have downed thumbs on any story in which her character was not the epitome of virtue. For her talkie return she plays the rather shady lady of "Flesh" with Wallace Berry. The picture actually gets under way soon, giving Colleen a chance to do some real acting.

Colleen has been under contract recently three months without receiving a penny's salary. She had

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

Business Groups To Meet Hoover

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Representatives of national business groups met with the government financial leaders today to perfect plans for the administration's business conference here Friday.

Gathered at the office of Secretary Mills were chairman of the business and industrial committees of the twelve federal reserve districts. They worked over the program for the conference tomorrow when President Hoover will address more than 100 members of the committees.

Tentative plans for making money easier and spreading jobs were brought to the meeting.

Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, chairman of the Hoover committee, said that the Hoover committee was in charge of today's session of the executive committee.

Some democratic political leaders looked warily at the conference. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic floor chief, issued a statement last night through the democratic national committee expressing hope in results of the conference but asserting "the association of business and intellectual leaders of the country with these schemes has been unavailing because they have been used merely as a sounding board for the republican party."

Robinson said similar meetings in the past had proved unavailing because of President Hoover's "inept and uncertain leadership" and he cited some conferences as "an impressive and astonishing indication of the way in which the president has 'passed the buck' of the executive duties."

MARINER SAVED AFTER DRIFTING 116 DAYS

A harrowing tale of hardships and perils encountered while drifting on the Pacific ocean in a rudderless boat for 116 days was told by Captain P. A. Riggs (left), of Dutch Harbor, Alaska, when he was picked up near Point Buchon on the California coast. The photo above shows Riggs' battered 30-foot fishing boat, the Novl, being towed to Port San Luis. Riggs left Alaska April 28 for a short trip down the coast but was blown far to sea when his auxiliary engine failed and squalls disabled the mast and rudder. Rigging a jury mast and temporary rudder, he began a long fight to reach land. He was near the end of his food supply when rescued, and had lost 50 pounds in the ordeal. He plans to sail to Santa Barbara as soon as his boat is made seaworthy again.

Americans Die In Nicaragua Crash

MATAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 25. Lieutenant R. F. Rutledge and Sergeant M. B. Simmons, U. S. M. C., were killed yesterday in an airplane crash while they were flying above the spot where three other marine corps fliers are down in the jungle.

The lieutenant's next of kin is listed as Dr. J. E. Rutledge, his father, of Fustus, Mo. Simmons' parents live in Hamilton, Ohio. The bodies were recovered and are to be taken to Bluefields by boat, whence they will be brought here by airplane.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by the New York Academy of Medicine
Dr. Iago Goldston

CANCER AND HEREDITY

The relationship of heredity to any disease in most instances represents little more than a predisposition rendering the individual more susceptible than the average person to the development of certain diseases.

Certain animal experiments have demonstrated the presence and operation of hereditary factors in relation to cancer, as suspected for many years.

Few dependable studies, however, have been made on the effect of hereditary forces on the prevalence and development of cancer in humans.

One recent contribution does throw light upon this problem. This contribution was made by the Norwegian Medical Society's committee for investigation of cancer. The study, begun in 1906 and covering 6,000 cases of cancer, is the best of its kind available and yet, because of the difficulty involved in tracing the ancestral relations of the patients, even this study leaves much to be desired.

The conclusions of this survey do point to the operation of an hereditary disposition in the development of cancer.

Thus it is found that cancer is more frequent among the brothers and sisters of cancer patients than in the comparable general population.

The hereditary factor shows itself, so to say, both backward and forward.

The descendants of parents who had cancer show a greater susceptibility to this disease than does the general population, and in tracing the ancestry of present-day cancer patients it is found that their parents too appeared more susceptible to cancer.

These studies must not be taken to mean that if one's progenitors suffered from cancer, therefore one is inevitably predisposed to cancer.

Not yet does the absence of cancer in near relatives definitely protect the descendants from it.

on GOODYEAR TIRES

RIGHT now is certainly a great time to get rid of road worn, tread bare tires and replace them with tough new rubber.

Goodyear quality is the highest it has ever been.

Goodyear prices are lower than they have been in 30 previous summers.

Read them and be convinced.

These prices buy Goodyear Speedways—built to Goodyear standards—marked with the Goodyear name—the tires that have been making such a sensation in this low-price year.

Goodyear can give you such values because Goodyear builds more tires—millions more—than any other tire-maker.

CHURCH WOMEN PLAN TO AID NEEDY SCHOOL CHILDREN

SEWING DONE BY RELIGIOUS GROUPS HERE

SIXTY-FIVE GARMENTS GIVEN BY ALTAR SOCIETY

That no children will be compelled to remain out of school because of the lack of enough clothing to wear is the aim of Pampa church women as they ransack closets and trunks in search of clothing their own children have outgrown or no longer need, and as they make plans to sew in groups for the needy.

Women of practically all local churches are either helping or making plans to help in the pre-school work among the pupils whose clothing is insufficient for school wear.

Catholics Contribute.
The Altar Society of the Holy Souls church has contributed 65 garments to the Welfare Board. Included in the donations are dresses, wraps, shoes, and many other necessities.

Members of the society spent yesterday afternoon sewing in the home of Mrs. William Cunningham, the needlework taking place following a luncheon.

One special guest, Mrs. John C. Cunningham, and the following members attended: Mesdames F. J. Gill, Emmett Dwyer, R. J. Kiser, Ed Carrigan, H. B. Carlson, Bessie Grady, and the hostess.

Baptists To Sew.
Members of the Central Baptist W. M. S. meeting yesterday afternoon, planned to assist for needy children the first of September. The exact date, however, was not set.

Circle 3 of the First Baptist church made plans at a meeting Monday to contribute clothing to needy children between now and time for school to begin, and the other circles were expected to carry on the same work.

Methodists To Aid.
Needy pupils in Methodist church families are to be aided by the W. M. S. of that church, and the social service committee of the organization was instructed last Monday to make necessary purchases. The women also asked that persons who had clothing to spare telephone 381 in order that someone might call for the articles.

Similar plans probably will be made by the other women's church organizations before time for school to begin.

Three Gas Plans To Be Considered at September Hearing

Three plans prepared by a dozen petroleum engineers for the solution of the gas-taking situation in the Panhandle have been submitted to a committee of which E. V. Foran is chairman and J. M. McDonald is vice-chairman, and will be considered by the railroad commission at a hearing at Amarillo September 1.

The engineers, when appointed, were instructed to devise recommendations on an engineering standpoint only, and not consider legal aspects of their proposed solutions.

The first remedy is called the "utilization" plan. Takings would be based upon acreage, volume, and open flow. Under it, the Panhandle gas field would be produced as a unit. It provides for immediate relief of between 50 and 75 unconnected gas wells in the Panhandle. Mr. Foran will present the remedial proposals to the commission.

Another plan is based upon volume and open flow, and rateable takings would be fixed according to the volume of each well. The other plan is a modification of the utilization plan. The utilization plan has been declared ideal by its sponsors, and the greatest objection against it is that it will be described as impractical.

Neither of the three plans might not be adopted, but the railroad commission, comprising Chairman C. V. Terrell, Lon Smith, and Ernest Thompson, have announced that the gas-taking situation is going to be cleared and that relief is going to be given unconnected wells.

My Beauty Hint

By VIRGINIA BRUCE
The old saying "pretty is as pretty does" can well be applied in a stronger measure to beauty.
It seems to me that beauty of kind thoughts and good deeds surpasses all the miracles wrought by fickle mother nature.
For that reason my hint to girls who would be charming and pretty is to be thoughtful, tolerant and grateful, and then you will be attractive to look upon, and indeed have every claim to genuine beauty.

THE RUMBA—AMERICANIZED

The rumba has gone American—and the new version, simplified and restrained, promises to be a favorite ballroom dance this winter. Jack Holland and June Night, stage dancers and exponents of the new version, are shown here.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cuban rumba, which spurred to tremendous popularity in American ballrooms for a short time last year, will be back as a favorite this winter, predict dance teachers who are introducing a new version of the dance with an American flavor.

Two of the exponents of the Americanized rumba are Jack Holland and June Knight, Fanchon-Marcos dancers, "who point out that the new rumba has been simplified so it is suitable as a ballroom dance. The original rumba called for so many variations of steps that it could be used only on the stage. The Americanized rumba retains the flavor of the Cuban brand, but has a simplified much of the restraint of the tango and may easily be danced on crowded floors.

CRIMM EVANGELISTIC PARTY IS HEARD IN OPENING OF REVIVAL

A crowd of between 250 and 300 persons heard the opening service last night of a revival conducted by Evangelist B. B. Crimm and party. The service was held at the Central Baptist church and was on the subject "I have heard the report of the Lord, and I am afraid."

H. M. Powell is song leader for the revival, and Mrs. Crimm is pianist. This evening the evangelist will speak at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist church building on "God's Plan of Redemption."

A tabernacle is being erected on the lots on West Kincaid adjoining the First Baptist church, and services will be held there beginning Friday evening.

The revival is sponsored by no particular denomination, but Mr. Crimm has asked all Christian people to cooperate.

Scanning New Books

BY JOHN SELBY
NEW YORK—Whatever the reason (and it must be complex), murder still remains one of the half dozen sure-fire subjects for the writer. Hence Mame! Komroff's "A New York Tempest" in which is retold with liberal embellishment from the author's imagination the details of the historic Jewett-Robinson murder of April 11, 1836.

The wicked Mr. Robinson (Komroff has changed the name, executing James Gordon Bennett) strangled his equally wicked mistress. And then New York began its usual good job of riding the wrong horse to battle. Nemesis stepped in, and Robinson came to a revolting but nicely goose-fleshed end. The end is out of the author's imagination, incidentally.

The piece is a good job, especially in the background. Komroff perhaps exaggerates the high-toned speech of the time, but he balances that by displaying his verbal elegance where it does not impede the action.

He makes it a first-rate study of emotion under stress worth anybody's time. One should note that Mr. Carse knows how to write (fresh and resilient English without dropping in words from the obsolete classification in the dictionary).

Another good novel, slow-moving and solidly thought out, is Vera Caspary's study of the prejudices within the Jewish group called "Thicker than Water." Less entertaining but more informative is the new "Life of George Eliot" by Emile and Georges Romieu, liberally larded with quotations from the novelist, bitterly disdainful of her English surroundings and her German leanings but intelligent in its handling of Mary Ann Evans' own great love, that for George Lewes.

BAKER PARENTS AND TEACHERS TO BE HONORED

MESDAMES CROWDER, ATWOOD WILL BE ENTERTAINED

Mrs. J. W. Crowder, president of the Baker Parent-Teacher association, and Mrs. S. G. Atwood, publicity chairman, are to be honored by the executive board of the organization at a handkerchief show-er Friday afternoon.

The courtesy is a farewell tribute to the two women. Mrs. Crowder will leave soon for Pittsburg, Okla., and Mrs. Atwood will make her home in Berger.

The entertainment will take place in the Baker school cafeteria at 3 o'clock, and all members of the Parent-Teacher association are invited to attend.

Mrs. Crowder and Mrs. Atwood have been active members of the association for the last three years. Mrs. Crowder served as hospitality chairman and assistant manager of the school cafeteria last year and had accepted the office of president for next year. Mrs. Atwood was chosen to serve a second term as publicity chairman and it was partly through her efforts that the Baker publicity record book received special honors in the district and state contests.

Tips on CONTRACT

THE SAFER ROAD

By Tom O'Neil
A vulnerable grand slam is among the accomplishments of John P. Budeiman in the summer colony at Falmouth, Mass. He took all the tricks with clubs as trumps. His partner could have made the slam with spades as trumps.

The partner deliberately refrained from mentioning spades in the bidding, confident that his holding in that suit would afford cards for Budeiman, if needed by some players avoid grand slam bidding because of the possibility of freakish distribution defeating it. The apparent greater safety in the club slam was regarded by Budeiman and partner as well worth the 70 points sacrificed in the allure to contract for seven spades. Here was the hand:

KINGSFORD, Tenn., Aug. 25—The Kingsport Times, in a news-story, says that the Kingsport Press, Inc., has received the largest known single order of hymnals ever placed with a single concern. The order was placed by the Christian Science Publishing Society of Boston.

The order consist of 400,000 cloth-bound books and 10,000 deluxe full leather-bound books, the newspaper says. "The books will be distributed throughout the world. It is expected the distribution will begin about September 1."

The music plates for the 640-page hymnal were prepared by the F. H. Gilson Company of Boston, nationally known music composers. All of the type for the plates was set by hand.

Five of the largest perfecting presses of the Kingsport Press, Inc., are working on printing the book June 15 and will run 20 hours each day until August 25 at which time the printing is expected to be complete.

"A total of 325 tons of paper will be used in the books, 40,240 yards of bond cloth, 89,000 yards of head bond, 100,000 yards of end paper material, 50 tons of cover board, and more than 210,000 yards of muslin re-enforcement for the backs of the books."

Mr. Palmer said probably the most outstanding part of the manufacturing process will be the use of more than 500,000 sheets of 22-carat gold for the stamping on the cloth-bound edition and gilding the edges and stamping the deluxe edition. Mr. Palmer estimated the cost of the gold alone at $12,500.

O'Malleys Return After Temple Trip

STARDOM STILL HER AMBITION

Because her nose was cut and injured in an automobile accident, Judith Wood was forced to give up her movie career. But she was undaunted, and now she's modeling for artists in New York to get money for an operation that promises to restore the lines of her nose and give her a new chance.

NEW YORK—Beautiful blond Judith Wood isn't the type of girl who gives up easily.

Her movie career interrupted by an automobile accident last December, she now is modeling for artists and photographers here seeking to save money for an intricate operation which she is assured will restore the delicate lines of her cut and injured nose.

Just eight months ago, Miss Wood was riding the crest of the Hollywood wave. In two years her name had come rapidly to the fore, and Judith, talented as well as beautiful, appeared a sure bet for stardom.

Then came the bleak, wintry night when she had to get from Hollywood to Pasadena to rehearse for a stage play. The automobile in which she was riding skidded on the wet pavement and turned over. "Most of its weight seemed to fall right across my nose," Miss Wood recalls. She also suffered an injury to her spine, but it was the cut nose that proved the greater hurt—to her career.

She underwent two operations, hoping that the surgeons could rebuild up the torn cartilage and reshape her nose. But the scars were slow to heal.

"By March my nose looked just about like it always did, to the casual observer. But no; to the camera."

HAS THRILLS

Enough thrills to fill a novel have been packed into the life of Norman Armour, above, counselor of the American embassy in Paris, who has just been named minister to Haiti. Shortly after his marriage to Princess Myra Koudacheff in Russia in 1918, he saved her life in the revolutionary disorders. Ordered out of Volodga, Russia, where he was serving as a connecting link between U. S. consuls he refused to go and was escorted out by Bolshevik troops. When a band of revolutionaries boarded the train en route to Moscow, Armour burned the red and green secret codes of the state department and got through safely. No kin to the Chicago Armour, he is the son of a wealthy New England family and a Princeton graduate.

Personality Is Neff's Subject; Talk Discussed

By MRS. G. F. BRADBURY, Member of Bell Club.

While attending the twenty-third annual short course at A. & M. college July 25-29, it was my privilege to hear several outstanding speakers, including Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M. college; Dr. A. N. Birdwell, superintendent of schools of Tyler; Ed O'Neal, president of the National farmers bureau at Washington; Col. Clarence Custer of Dallas; and Hon. Pat M. Neff, former governor of Texas and now president of Baylor university, Waco.

Mr. Neff delivered an inspiring lecture on personality, stating that personality is what a man really is, comes from within and not from without; it is the golden link that binds man to man.

He continued: "We are the sum total of our thoughts. What we think and what we are generate within and radiate without. To have a great personality we must develop our spiritual as well as our mental life."

He gave, for example, Paderewski's personality which is capable of swaying great audiences, and the personality of Woodrow Wilson which swayed nations.

The speaker advised: "Think of others and not of yourself. Being pleasant is a duty and good manners reflect personality. We should, as Paderewski, tune ourselves within for the task we are to do—tune ourselves with the short course so we can take back the very best we have to our clubs and communities."

Party Given For Miss Ollie Dalby

Miss Ollie Dalby was honored at her birthday party Monday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. M. Richey.

The evening was spent in singing and playing games, and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Those who attended were Mesdames L. W. Harcastle, E. V. Davis, R. M. Mitchell, M. B. Chandler, G. L. Moore, G. D. Holmes, S. L. Anderson, Paul Heath, W. O. Cooley, and G. C. Stark.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Gray and children of Brownwood, S. W. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Caey and son, Emer Lee, spent Tuesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Hunt of Denworth. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt formerly lived in Pampa.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Long and family are on a vacation trip to Carlsbad and other points.

NEW OFFICERS ARE NAMED BY CHURCH GROUP

MRS. W. B. BARTON IS TO HEAD CENTRAL BAPTIST W. M. S.

Mrs. W. B. Barton yesterday afternoon was chosen as a successor to Mrs. G. C. Stark as president of the Central Baptist Women's Missionary society. The election was held at a regular meeting at the church building, and the session was opened with prayer by Mrs. E. V. Davis.

Other officers were selected as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. G. D. Holmes; secretary, Mrs. G. L. Moore; treasurer, Mrs. Cecil Lunsford; pianist, Mrs. Stark; chorister, Mrs. C. J. McAllister.

Committee chairmen will be appointed by the executive board, composed of the new officers.

Personal service work was discussed and it was decided to hold gatherings the first part of September to sew for needy children who will enter school this year.

A lesson from the study book, "Missions in the Bible," was taught by Mrs. S. L. Anderson.

Sheriff's Race Think This Over!

- 1.—Mr. Blanscet is a first term man and now running for his second term.
- 2.—On account of lack of money with which to pay deputies he has been required to operate the Sheriff's office for the greater portion of the time with but one deputy. We submit that his record is exceptionally good considering this fact.
- 3.—Every major crime (murder, bank robbery, robbery, and hijacking) committed in Gray county during Mr. Blanscet's administration has been solved and he has apprehended the violator in each case within twenty-four hours after the commission of the offense and each of them have been tried and convicted.
- 4.—Ninety-five per cent of the criminal cases in which Mr. Blanscet has secured the evidence has resulted in convictions.
- 5.—Mr. Blanscet has been sheriff for all of the people—he is not obligated to any group, click, or bunch, and no man can honestly say that he has been guilty of any crookedness or corruption in office.
- 6.—Mr. Blanscet and his deputy, Mr. Archer, have treated all persons having dealings with the sheriff's office courteously and respectfully, while at the same time he has commanded the respect of the criminal element by his firmness and fairness.
- 7.—Mr. Blanscet has whole-heartedly cooperated with the other sheriffs and peace officers of the Panhandle as well as Federal officers and in return has been accorded their co-operation and assistance.

The above facts are submitted by some of Mr. Blanscet's friends, all citizens of Gray county, and without his knowledge, believing that they deserve the consideration of every fair minded voter.

Nothing Venture

SYNOPSIS: At the last moment Rosamund Carew hits Jervis Weare to cheat him of a fortune and secure it for herself. The will of Ambrose Weare, Jervis' grandfather, provides that unless Jervis marries within five months and a day of the date of his death, his estate, worth $100,000, shall pass to his father, Mr. Jervis. He is distressed by Rosamund's threat to his future, and by the plight of his sister Cynthia, bitter because poverty prevents her marriage. Jervis is in a desperate situation.

Chapter 4.

NAN HAS A MAD IDEA

NAN heard Jervis strike the table.

"My position—oh yes, she knows it and I know it, and you know it. If I'm not married by the fifteenth—that's what Rosamund's reckoning on, I told you I'd let you know why I'd come in a minute. I've come to find out how I can do better. She thinks she's got me, but there's nothing in my grandfather's will about marrying her. I've got to get married by the fifteenth—but I'm not got to marry Rosamund Carew. Find me any girl who'll marry me at twenty-four hours' notice!"

"Mr. Jervis—Mr. Jervis! A moment, please. You have three days—your grandfather's will specifies three months and a day as the

"If you won't help me, I'll help myself! I'll have to pick her up on the streets!"

With those words in her ears, moving almost as if hypnotized by the idea that was forming within her sadly disturbed mind, Nan took up her hat and left the office without a word to anyone. She closed the street door behind her and crossed the street. She was not tired any more. She felt as if she were being carried by a strong current. And her heart had stopped thumping against her side, which was a great relief.

She walked a little way, and then back. As she turned again, Jervis Weare was striding down the street, and still without any sense of effort, she quickened her pace so as not to be left too far behind. She had no thought that it would be difficult to come to speak with him. She hoped that he was going home to the cool-looking house in East Seventieth street, which was one of the things that would pass from him to Rosamund Carew if he did not marry within the time set by his grandfather's will.

Nan lifted her head. Neither the house nor anything else that was his should pass to Rosamund Carew. The current that was carrying her along was a current of protective love. Ten years ago she

FARMERS GIVE MILK TO POOR

Rather than sell milk to Sioux City wholesalers at lower prices than they demanded, dairymen allied with Iowa's striking farmers opened free milk stations in the city, such as the one pictured here at the city market. Free milk is being dispensed from the truck. Producers scored a partial victory when agreement was reached granting them an increased price for their milk, but not as much as they had asked before the strike.

LARGER VOTE THAN IN FIRST PRIMARY IS BEING FORECAST

By CHARLES E. SIMONS, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Texas' biennial primary campaign neared its climax today.

While some observers were predicting a larger vote would be recorded in the second primary than was registered in the first, when the previous Texas record was broken, the two candidates for governor and their supporters planned to make their final appeals for votes.

Only today and tomorrow were left the campaigners.

Gov. R. S. Sterling, waging a hard battle for renomination against Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, planned to continue his personal hand-shaking campaign in Dallas today and speak there tonight. He was scheduled to close his campaign in Waco Friday night. Governor Sterling spoke last night at two rallies in San Antonio after a day spent in mingling among factory workers and laborers.

James E. Ferguson, chief champion of the cause of Mrs. Ferguson, spoke last night in Athens. He had engagements to speak tonight in Denton and tomorrow night at Greenville.

Sterling "preached" the gospel of "responsibility in government and honesty in office" in San Antonio, comparing his administration with that of Mrs. Ferguson's first term. He held Mrs. Ferguson's record up as an example of "what the people might expect if they turn down my offer of responsibility in government and honesty in office."

The governor appeared elated at the progress made by his campaign in Bexar county where Mrs. Ferguson obtained a plurality of almost 10,000 votes in the first primary. Sterling conferred with Bexar county political chieftains. Maury Maverick, one of the leaders of the citizens league, told the governor there was a "noticeable change" in sentiment on the part of voters in that district.

Ferguson asserted again in his speech last night that a vote for Sterling was a vote for Hoover, declaring that Sterling and his supporters had refused to say if they would support Mrs. Ferguson in the general election if she were declared the nominee and were planning to bolt the ticket in November.

"If the people want another carpetbag government, they can vote for Sterling," Ferguson stated. "If they want an honest democratic administration, they can vote for my wife."

Ferguson stated the "very stability of government and permanence of the democratic party was involved in this contest."

Sterling attacked Mrs. Ferguson's plan to split the funds of the state highway department three ways, asserting it would not grant the relief needed by taxpayers.

Ferguson assailed Sterling's plan whereby the state highway fund would assume payment of the principal and interest on county and district bonds issued to aid state road construction. Ferguson accused Sterling of preparing to submit a bill to the coming special session of the legislature that would take away from the counties their share of the motor vehicle registration receipts.

The heavy absentee voting gave rise to the prediction that Saturday's balloting would exceed the total cast July 23 when 962,000 were tabulated. Several counties reported more absentee ballots had been cast than ever before.

The large vote polled in the first primary led to charges of illegal voting in several counties. Indictments have been returned in a few instances. Some estimates of the total of the illegal votes cast were as high as 100,000. Other estimates, however, indicated there was no more than the normal amount of illegally cast ballots.

Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, yesterday mailed a circular letter setting out the requirements of the election law for selection of supervisors. The circular was mailed, it stated, "in an effort to forestall the repetition of the disgraceful wholesale violation of the ballot in the county primary."

He jerked round, and she saw his face cut with pain.

"We have always spoken of the period as three months, and possibly Miss Carew. He broke off with a cough. "No, no, do not think of such motives—not without absolute proof."

Jervis Weare had stopped pacing the room.

"The three clear days," from now, you have only to find me a wife."

Mr. Page had got his professional will back.

"Jervis, you must give me time for consideration. There are other courses open to you. In the circumstances I have no doubt that the courts will extend the time there is also breach of promise."

"And make myself the laughing-stock of the whole country? I'd rather let her get away with it—and I'll see her in Tibet before I do that!" His fist struck the table again!

"Mr. Jervis!"

"She's made a fool of me, and I'll make a fool of her. Who'll be the fool when she picks up the will on the seventeenth, and says that I'm married—On the 16th, at St. Bartholomew's; P. P. Blank Dash. And that you see is where you come in. You've got to be in the blank and the dash."

At this point Nan became aware of the slow, heavy beating of her heart. It seemed to be knocking against her side. There came a drumming in her ears, so that she could not listen—and she met, and then, she heard Mr. Page project. And then, so loud that it came through the loud beating of her heart, Jervis Weare's voice:

had saved him from drowning, and he had never known it. Now she was going to save him again. Rosamund shouldn't rob him; neither should he rob himself.

She dreamed sometimes, even after ten years, of the rocky pool with the salt, cold water coming in on a flood tide. She felt his weight on her straining childish shoulders, and the sea flinging her against jagged rock. Then she would wake and touch the white scar on her arm and go over the whole adventure in her mind. Sometimes she wondered whether she would ever come across the little man who had come to their rescue—Ferdinand Francis. Such an extraordinary fellow.

Jervis Weare walked straight on, giving her enough to do to keep up with him. Nan became more and more certain that he was going home. She came up with him just as he was crossing into Seventieth street.

The sun struck hot on the dark rusty green of a little tree. The street was empty. She spoke his name as her foot touched the curb.

"Mr. Weare—"

He turned round, and she saw his face cut with deep lines of pain, and rage, his black brows meeting over hot dark eyes.

"What is it?"

The hot dark eyes held not the slightest recognition.

She said, "Mr. Weare—I'm from Mr. Page's office." That was quite an easy thing to say. But could she, dare she go on?

Jervis hears an astounding proposal.

STALE GAS IS FEEBLE—FRESH GAS PACKS POWER

WHAT? Such a thing as "stale" gasoline? Absolutely. Think about it a minute and you'll see why.

Gasoline evaporates. The most volatile parts—important "easy starting" elements—slowly float off into thin air. A chemical change occurs, too. So that the longer gas is stored, the more important power elements it loses!—the feebler it gets.

Another thing. When gas is stored too long, sticky compounds form. Those sticky compounds foul your motor—may clog valves and carbureter. And stale gas knocks more, too—particularly on hills.

Those are the reasons why refiners have tried to stop the deterioration of gasoline. Those are the reasons why Gulf is pleased to announce a system that assures you of getting FRESH-MADE gasoline. Here's how...

Gulf makes the best gasoline that can be produced—and takes out certain complex elements which have been found to cause rapid deterioration. Hence, Gulf gas stays FRESH longer.

And Gulf has geared up its distribution system to rush this FRESH-MADE gas to you like some perishable food!

We have placed huge refineries in many sections of the country—so that every Gulf filling station is close to a source of FRESH gasoline. A huge fleet of trucks speeds FRESH gas to Gulf stations every day.

Get 100 cents worth of power from your gasoline dollar. Get FRESH gasoline with FRESH, full power. Get Gulf. Use nothing else—and have a cleaner, quieter, faster motor.

SERIOUS RIOTING IN GERMANY MAKES PARTY MERGER DUBIOUS

BEUTHEN, Germany, Aug. 25 (AP)—Rioting which followed Tuesday's death sentence against five fascist politicians continued through last night and at dawn today 20 persons had been injured in varying degrees.

Street fighting continued spasmodically after the attempt of a group of Adolf Hitler's fascists to make a demonstration when the rumor spread that the five condemned Hitler followers would be taken from the local jail to a penitentiary. During the struggle, with police windows in several Jewish houses were smashed with stones.

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—The hard threat of violence that followed the death verdict at Beuthen against five of Adolf Hitler's followers today loomed as a barrier to a central-national socialist coalition.

Nevertheless, an informal preparatory meeting for the opening of the Reichstag and the Prussian Diet next Tuesday was reported held yesterday between former Chamberlain Heinrich Brüning, the centrist leader, and Gregor Strasser, the fascist lieutenant.

They were believed to have made no progress, especially in the

LIONS DEFEAT ROTARIANS IN HOT CONTEST, 18 TO 15

HAS BEEN IN EXHIBITION OF MUCH HITTING

MAYOR BRATTON AND OTHER NOTABLES IN LINE-UP

Refereed by the one and only Dutch Mantell, whose antics caused some to refer to him as the deaf, blind, and dumb wrestler of Amarillo, the Lions-Rotary benefit game yesterday was won by the Lions, 18 to 15.

The scoring:

Lions.....055 301 004—18 21 3
Rotary.....230 501 202—15 17 4

The game started with the following line-ups: Lions—Kennedy, 1b; Hill, 3b; Bratton, p; Hicks, 2b; Sone, cf; Hesse, cf; Barrett, cf; Culbertson, rf; Fatherson, ss; Rotary—Boyd, 1b; Pind, cf; Myers, 1b; Mitchell, ss; Keys, 2b; Schwartz, 3b; McCullough, cf; Lively, c; Lindquist, p.

With Lindquist curving them over, the Rotarians took a two-run lead through scores by Boyd and Pond. The Lions came back fighting in the second, however, with scoring by Kennedy, Hicks, Hesse, and Culbertson. The wheel-men drove in three in their half of the second, with Boyd, Pond, and Lively scoring. And right quick the Lions began hitting hard, scoring Kennedy, Bratton, Hicks, Barrett, and Bourland.

In the next frame the Rotarians drove in five runs as Boyd, Pond, Myers, Keys, Schwartz, Sone, and Hesse scored. The fifth inning was scoreless, and the rest of the game was tight, with the Lions having a slight edge.

Bratton and Lindquist, after hurling good ball, retired in favor of Boyd, the Lions and Oden for the Rotarians on the mound. There were few hits off these pitchers. There were rapid changes of the line-ups, with the closing pitchers—Bourland for the Lions and Mitchell for the Rotarians—engaging in a speed-ball duel. In the last two innings, Dutch Mantell, lost his eyesight and hearing, calling every thing a "steer-ike." That ended the contest, for no one could reach the steer-ikes that were being dazed out.

Heroes there were aplenty. Captain Hicks of the Lions turned in a fine game, besides including a homer in his assortment of hits. Captain Lively of the Rotarians was the hardest working man on the diamond. As catcher he tried for everything and gave an exhibition in quick stopping and sitting down. Dutch Hesse of the Lions was not so eager, but his base running inspired Coach Mitchell to say, "I've seen to the Olympics and thought I had seen all the forms there are, but John has something brand new!"

There were few errors, for many of the civic clubbers could not move close enough to the ball. Before it was over, the Lions also used Studer, Hinkle, Wight, Rose, Teed, and others the scorekeeper could not write down as rapidly as they appeared and disappeared. Rotary players also included McCullough at left field, Sanders, and Tom Rose.

Lively led the Rotary attack with four safe hits. Hesse, Bratton, Hill, and Fatherson did multiple stick work for the Lions. Sone was a sensational fielder for the Lions. Infield work was alternately good and indifferent.

Kiwanians were interested "spies," since they will meet the other civic clubs soon. Non-playing members of the two clubs, together with the small audience, kept up a running fire of banter.

Preliminary Fire Today to Reveal Leading Aspirants

VANDALIA, Ohio, Aug. 25 (AP)—Preliminary firing was begun today for the annual Grand American Trapshooting championship. The event proper will be held tomorrow but today's preliminary, with a guaranteed purse of $4,000, was of nearly equal importance.

It was expected close to 500 of the country's leading marksmen would participate in the warm-up event, won last year by Harry Schomerus of Hilldale, Illinois.

Yesterday, Steve Crothers of Chestnut Hills, Pa., won the championship of champions event for the second consecutive year, after he outlasted Charley Bogert, of Sandusky, Ohio, Buckeye state champion. Both were tied at the end of the regulation event with 199 targets. It was the first championship decided by less than a perfect score.

F. D. Kelsey, 77, Aurora, Ill., won the veterans' title for the third other marksmen over 70 by breaking straight year when he bested 13 190 out of 200.

The professional clay target championship of North America went to W. B. Sale of Denver, Colorado, who broke 199 targets.

The first all-American team in the history of trapshooting was selected yesterday on the basis of their showing in the day's event.

The team is composed of Fred Harlow, Newark, O.; W. S. Beaver, Berwyn, Pa.; Mark Arie, Champaign, Ill.; C. A. Bogert, Sandusky, O.; E. P. Woodward, Houston, Texas; R. A. King, Wichita Falls, Texas; S. M. Crothers, Chestnut Hill, Pa.; Joe Heistand, Hillsboro, O.; and E. B. Chamberlain, Martineville, N. Y.

John W. Eshelman Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., was elected president of the Amateur Trapshooting association at the annual meeting of the state directors last night.

R. A. King, of Wichita Falls, Texas, was elected vice-president to represent the southern zone.

The directors voted to keep the 1933 Grand American Handicap Trapshooting tournament at the permanent home of the association at Vandalia.

Dallas Scores Many Runs For Double Victory

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Dallas had to score 23 runs last night to win a double-header from San Antonio, 10 to 2, and 13 to 12. Manager Happ Morse had to send seven pitchers to the mound to stop the Indians. The Steers collected 24 hits off seven San Antonio pitchers and, at the end of a wild night of baseball that terminated at 12:40 a. m., the Steers were one and one-half games in front of Beaumont for the second half pennant.

Ferrell for Gomez?

Where it all started I wouldn't know, but the story has swept along the baseball grapevine that Wesley Ferrell, the Indians' great right-hander is to be traded for Lefty Gomez, the Yankee southpaw. It has even been suggested by some supposedly pretty astute baseball managers that Ferrell has not been doing his best work for the Indians, in the hope that he will be traded to the Yanks.

Billy Evans, general manager of the Indians, was telephoned about it. His reply:

"Somebody has been smoking opium. That is the silliest story I believe I ever heard. I am not even going to take the trouble to deny it." Which sounds fairly convincing.

How They Start

Sometimes stories such as these never can be traced to their source. They are relayed vocally during little informal discussions when managers, players and newspapermen get together. Many of them never are printed. Sometimes such a yarn looks good enough to write. Most of the "hot tips," however, are absurd fabrications.

Occasionally gossip, based on guesses, crystallizes into fact. But the percentage of such tall tales which reach realization is about the same as the alcoholic content in near beer.

The Evidence

When reporters go to work on such tips, usually they carefully examine the evidence. Incidents that seemed trivial until the tip broke suddenly become portentous. Oddly the evidence in the Ferrell-Gomez story is almost a perfect circumstantial chain.

But the gossip, like the murderer, usually slips up on one or two little details, and what might have been a perfect lie, or crime, is spoiled.

Looking Into It

Here are some of the arguments introduced by those gossips who take credence in the Ferrell-Gomez rumor.

Ferrell has been quoted as saying he would like to pitch for Joe McCarthy because Joe is a splendid handler of pitchers. (By which, of course, Ferrell invokes the wrath of Boss Peckinpaugh of the Indians, inferring that Roger is not so hot in that department.)

Ferrell does not like the Cleveland fans, and has declared he would rather pitch away from home any time than in Cleveland. Cleveland fans do not like Ferrell and boo him every chance they get. (Once they even gave him a royal raspberry because he failed as a pinch-hitter.)

SEEDED PLAYERS MATCHED
BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25 (AP)—The semi-final round of the national doubles tennis tournament at Longwood today brought together the top seeded combination of Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn and the fourth seeded team of George Lott and Frank Shields.

Probably the finest match seen at Longwood in a long time was out on during the quarter-finals when Henri Cochet and Marcel Bernard eliminated Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin yesterday.

Beaumont kept faith with second half pennant hopes by beating Longview, 5 to 2. Art Herring, former Detroit hurler, who is pitching to a comeback in the Texas league, held Longview to six hits. He struck out ten and had no trouble besting White and Griffin on the Longview mound.

Tyler's winning streak of four straight was stopped by Galveston, 3 to 2. Darrow out-pitched Biggs for the win. Both allowed six hits, but Darrow got the better support.

Lefty Johns tamed Houston, 5 to 3. Fort Worth styled last night "Johns night" and Lefty made the most of it. Dallas Warren's home run in the seventh was the blow that started Fort Worth to victory.

THIRTY BOYS ARE EAGER TO CARRY BALLS

COACHES TO HAVE BIG JOB OF DRILLING BACKS

A scant and unimportant attempt to uncover a boy with a natural bent for carrying the ball was made by Coach Odus Mitchell yesterday afternoon. The experiment proved nothing except that 30 boys would like very much to tote the pigskin.

The ball-carrying demonstration was noticeably elemental and consisted of a boy sidestepping among men lined up and down the field, packing the ball. The coach knew that sometimes there appears a fellow who has a natural bent for transporting a football in the Red Grange and Carriedo manner.

Nothing like that happened yesterday, and the coach didn't feel bad about it. Genius seldom shows up on the second day of practice. Hard work develops more genius than does natural attitude or inheritance, he believes.

The coach found many men who could not carry the ball. Thirty men attempted it; the other 30 boys on the field aspired to be linemen. In the exercises, Rufus Walker pushed himself to the fore in a strenuous and competent exhibition of backfield conduct. He made the most of what there was to do, but, as the coach pointed out, there wasn't anything impressive to do. Walker, who weighs 170, played in the line last year as tackle.

Assistant Coach Argus Fox had an inning with the boys in teaching them not to be afraid of the ground. The harvester candidates charged the earth and rolled on it—the coaches want them to get as sore the first few days as they can possibly get. Then they want their charges to get over the soreness as soon as possible. When that times arrives they can think about drilling football tactics into them.

Observers at the work-outs yesterday could easily see that Walker, Sammy Turner, Patton, Kelly, Adair, Stevens, Marbaugh want to be ball carriers. Marbaugh, when he punted well, punted better than anyone else. The coaches are eagerly awaiting the arrival of Phillip Powell who is en route to Pampa today. Green is a big boy that should turn out well. Ledrick and Faulkner were hard-workers, but every one of the 60 boys have showed a willingness to work and to do what they are told.

Gerdis Schmidt, the only real regular back this year, is training as hard as the most inexperienced boy in the squad, and he isn't cocky about it. Sou' football fans think that Schmidt was the most useful man in the line last year.

This afternoon the boys will get a chance at the dummies in blocking and tackling, and will get a slide dose in elementary interference. The number of men increased yesterday from 50 to 60. As yet, nobody is either optimistic or pessimistic—there is an attitude of watchful waiting.

CHICAGO CUBS HIT BROOKLYN HURLERS HARD

DODGER FIELDING NOT CONSISTENTLY GOOD

By GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Victorious 7-4 in their first engagement with Brooklyn's storm troops, the Chicago Cubs dug in behind a four and one-half game lead today and prepared to deal another blow for the cause—a bigger and better work script on the shores of Lake Michigan. Three Brooklyn pitchers, including the Brilliant Van Mungo, were pounded for 10 hits and Dodger fielding was spotty. The Cubs led by Bill Herman with three hits, made six hits good for extra bases and sewed up the game with a four-run drive in the fourth inning.

Pittsburgh failed to take advantage of Brooklyn's reverse, losing to the Phillies, 9 to 6, and remaining in third place.

Diszy Dean, the Cards' eccentric star, yielded only five hits and drove in four runs with a home run and a single in beating the Giants 6-2. Pepper Martin was his little helper, hitting two doubles and a single and stealing a base.

Beston and Cincinnati split two, the Braves winning the first, 5 to 2, and the Reds the second, 3 to 1.

Jim Levey of the St. Louis Browns pounded a home run with one on in the eleventh inning to defeat the Athletics, 5 to 3. Home runs by McNair, Dykes, and Fox accounted for the A's runs.

Monte Weaver's pitching and Johnny Kerr's timely hitting gave Washington a 2 to 1 victory over Detroit. Weaver scored his nineteenth victory.

Pitcher Ted Lyons scored a personal triumph over the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 3. In addition to keeping nine hits well spaced, the White Sox star drove in three runs with a double and two singles and scored once.

A similar achievement was credited to Charley Ruffing of the Yankees, who racked up his fifteenth victory at the expense of the Cleveland Indians, 9 to 3. He pitched eight-hit ball and starred at bat with a brace of doubles and a single.

ROB ROY WINS OVER GEORGE IN ROUGH TILT

CROWD PLEASED WITH PUGILISTIC WORK ON MAT

Sammy George leaped onto the mat at the Pla-Mor last night holding a reputation for being one of the toughest wrestlers in the southwest. He maintained it throughout two falls, but Rob Roy wrestled in a superior manner and won both of them. Before the bout ended, Rob showed the audience in a few seconds how to be really tough.

Rob won the first fall in 16 minutes with a flying head and arm scissors, and the second in nine minutes with a series of face locks and a body crush. The face lock, as used by Rob, was a technical word for a slam to the jaw.

In the clinches, Sammy bit Rob freely, and resorted to jul-jitsu. He broke several good holds in this manner. If Sammy had not had a number of front teeth missing, he might have done even more damage. Rob did not get tough with his opponent until the last minute of the second fall. He seemed goaded into it, and that went well with the fans. Rob put on 96 per cent of the holds in the bout.

Sammy failed with his famed package hold. He slipped one on the Rob but it ended in disaster for Rob managed to turn it into an arm strangle on Sammy. He tried another package hold and it ended in pain for Sammy. Rob worked on his man's arms and toes. He once got a drop-toe on Sammy but that gentleman managed to crawl to the rope. At one time Rob was in a dangerous way when the Colorado boy had him writhing in a split.

Roy Welch of Borger, referee of the Roy-George bout, rather easily knocked Howard Belcher with his elbow in a head lock. He hit him as he turned loose. He won the fall in 9 minutes with a body crush. The match was fast and furious. Belcher, a Farley-Mantell protege, went well with the crowd.

The surprise of the card was a slapping battle between Andy Gump and Curley Lewis. The latter claimed that Dutch Mantell inspired Andy to get tough. Andy first slapped Curley three times in the face. Curley claimed he got mad when Andy spat in his face. There was no wrestling, and after 10 minutes Andy was bleeding profusely at the nose.

Don Jones and Barber Kelley wrestled to a draw in the first preliminary. They exhibited some fair amateur holds in the first five of the 10-minute bout.

Lieut. John W. Wofford, member of the U. S. Army riding team, was the only South Carolinian to participate in the Olympics at Los Angeles. His home is at Laurens.

Irving "Bump" Hadley, pitcher of the White Sox sent to St. Louis, held the Chicago team to five hits and no runs, and in the same game got a walk, two singles and a double for himself.

Footballs Stolen In First Practices

The same trouble that plagued Coach Odus Mitchell last year has beset him to do it. The coach who first day of practice somebody stole two footballs.

Not only that, but persons, including curbstone coaches and "exes," rushed out on the field to show the fledgling Harvesters how they ought to do it. The coach will be compelled to ban onlookers from Harvesters park if they continue to interfere with practice, and if any more balls disappear. Of course, it is highly probable that the two balls will show up pretty soon, but the team will be deprived of the use of the balls in that time.

The coach respectfully requests the "town boys" to stay off the practice field and to not let their fingers stick to any balls.

Farm Strikers In Defiance of Gas

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Aug. 25 (AP)—The tear gas, blackjacks and weapons of Sheriff Lainson's deputies early today failed to clear highways near here of members of the national farmers holiday association, picketing highways in an effort to force higher prices for farm produce.

Nearly a score of special officers, armed heavily, guarded the county jail and courthouse to prevent a jail delivery.

The latest front in the association's attempt to get higher produce prices by preventing truck loads of farm produce to reach markets here and in Omaha today was a seething cauldron.

Lainson, his men wounded or tired from last night's encounter with the picketers, was pressing fresh deputies into service.

Sixty-three farm strikers were arrested in a clash last night with Sheriff Lainson's posse of 100 but the picketers still held highway 34, the main object of contention, today. Only 12 of the group were seized on the battlefield. The others were apprehended in towns near here.

Lieut. Col. Henry C. Hall, chemical warfare officer on the staff of Brig. Gen. Matthew Tinley of the Iowa National Guard, suffered two five-inch snashes on his head; Deputy Warden C. H. Pangburn received a three-inch gash below one ear and Policemen Phil Mosher and Lawson were cut and bruised when, with Patrolman McTiguan, they drove through the crowd of strikers with cans of compressed tear gas fastened on the running boards of their car.

Edward Washam of Shamrock was looking after interests here on Wednesday. Justin Devine of White Deer transacted business here yesterday.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

Editor, THE NEWS:

In my race for state representative of the 12nd district I wish to contrast my position with that of my opponent in matters pertaining to the same.

My opponent is running as the "Collingsworth County Farmer." I am not running as a candidate of any class but expect to represent the farmer, the stockman, the laborer, and the business man. Class legislation is dangerous, as illustrated by the twenty-four farmer members of the last legislature voting for the law that requires farmers to buy a license to drive their own trucks.

My opponent says he "favors" economy and tax reduction, but does not say how he will achieve that end. In my address to the citizens of Gray county at Pampa, on August 3, a copy of it having been distributed among you, I pointed out the cost and expense of the several bureaus and departments of the State of Texas and told how the same could be reduced. It is my purpose not to follow but to lead.

The kind of representation that the people of this district are demanding requires a knowledge of the local departments of our government and of legislative procedure. I possess that knowledge.

I would also like to know how Mr. Puryear would vote, he being a former member of the next legislature, if the East Texas farmer representative would again present the bill requiring a gross-production tax on our natural gas. This bill was presented at the last legislature and will come up again. You will find a copy of the word telegram from me, and paid for by me, in the files at Austin, protesting this tax. If this tax becomes a law, it means the driving out of this state all gasoline and carbon black plants. It means the ends of such industries for Gray and Wheeler counties. It means the elimination of any possibility of Collingsworth and Donley counties ever having any such industries. It means the landowners will have little left as royalty.

There is no doubt in my mind as to the outcome of this race, yet I would like to go to Austin knowing that I had the support of one hundred per cent of the people of my own county. I believe it would be an incentive to me to work harder. So I am going to you, people who did not vote for me in the first primary to join with the 2,500 other Gray county citizens and make this a unanimous affair.

Respectfully, IVY E. DUNCAN. NOTICE TO BIDDERS: The city commissioners of the city of Pampa, Texas, will receive competitive bids at 2:30 o'clock p. m. on the 6th day of September, 1932, at the city hall in Pampa, Texas, for the following equipment: 1 electric refrigerator, 2 to 3 cubic feet capacity, and at said time and place said city will proceed to let a contract if any bid be accepted.

Gray Project Is Belived In Error

L. A. White, resident engineer for the state highway department, believes that an announcement today from Austin that a paving project for Gray county would be set at the September meeting of the Texas highway commission was in error.

Mr. White pointed out that contracts to hard-surface highways 33 and 152 have already been awarded. He said highway 88 was not ready for bids. Cocker & Braden have the contract to pave 33 and Grant Speer the contract to pave 152. A committee was recently appointed to buy right-of-way for 88.

The commission will meet Sept. 18-19. Gith Gilchrist state highway engineer, said approximately $4,000,000 of the contracts would be awarded as part of the plan to utilize the advance funds made available recently to the states by the federal government. No contracts were awarded in August. He said it was imperative that work be started under the government loan plan as one of the requirements was that work on projects to which the advance could be applied must be completed before next July.

ISSUE IN RAILROAD COMMISSION

The railroad commission is the most powerful body in Texas.

Ignorant or prejudiced action by this commission a year ago could have wrecked the state, giving us five-cent oil, and bankruptcy to 10,000 independent operators and royalty-holders, and the rapid absorption of very valuable oil properties into the hands of a few large oil companies.

Proration and sanity won; dollar oil flowed. Regardless of differences of opinion among the members, under the leadership of Governor Sterling, backed at one stage by state policing, the state was saved.

On this one broad question the state already has endorsed Mr. Terrell, one of the members of the commission, by a vote so large that his election is assured. Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, in full agreement with the proration policy, has been a member of the commission for several months. He is working in harmony with the other members.

To disturb the railroad commission at this time will cost months of uncertainty in the oil industry.

Thompson's opponent is W. Gregory Hatcher, former state treasurer. The experience of Thompson as a student of utility rates, his forcefulness in working directly for the people in these matters while it may have caused him some enmity on the part of the managers of utilities, has made him an outstanding figure in this state.

The people voted directly on this question in the attorney general's race, giving Attorney General Allred a most substantial endorsement, not necessarily as a state official who went into the courts on a legal question, but because he thought his opponent had the warm support of corporations against whom he had brought suit.

The vote for Allred was essentially a vote for what the people considered fair play, and against what the people considered interference by corporations with the people at the ballot box. Allred himself made this issue.

In but slightly less definite way, the utility interest of the state are desirous that Thompson be not returned to the commission.

Their action is not intelligent. The people of Texas resent such action, and will increase the favorable vote that Thompson received in the recent primary.

formed leagues. This week we saw a group of men playing against school boys, with a group of girls keeping score and giving pointers and making sharp criticism. If this isn't de-sexing the softball pastime we never saw an invasion of women's right. (P. 8.—We like the darned game, too.)

Star state, was present. Incidentally Creager said he believed Ma Ferguson would beat Sterling.

The three leaders, two at loggers' heads within the party of Jefferson, and the other hopeful the democrats would be so seriously divided over the current unpleasantness that the republican nominee for governor—Orville Bullington, of Wichita Falls—would upset precedent and sail into the executive office next November, managed to time their sleeper berth ingress and egress activities to avoid one another.

Creager frowned at an interview in the morning paper by John F. Grant of Houston, defeated for the republican gubernatorial nomination by Bullington. Grant claimed that Creager had gone back on a PROMISE TO SUPPORT HIM FOR THE FAVOR.

"Grant simply proved to be a failure as a candidate but in spite of that I told him I would stay with his candidacy," Creager said. "I did stay with him even after the convention met and the delegates from all sections expressed that he was a weak candidate.

"When someone proposed a minority report before the convention, after the committee on nominations recommended Bullington, I stood before the convention and put it on notice that I would go down the line for Grant in order to keep my promise to him. Grant requested that the minority report be withdrawn. I told the convention that if he would permit that report to go before the convention I would speak to it.

"I realized that Grant was a weak candidate. "In spite of that I did not intend to go back on my word and after the caucus on the eve of the convention that Grant complains about I told him still I would make good my promise."

JAPAN—

the so-called revolutionary policy carried on by China under the unwholesome influence of extravagant political dogma have been principally responsible for the unfortunate turn that international relations have taken of recent years in the Far East. "It is admitted by those conversant with actual conditions in China that no remedy can be effected by having recourse either to the covenant of the League of Nations or to any other organ of what may be called 'machinery of peace'."

The minister went on to say that Manchukuo had come into being as a result of separatist movements within China herself and denied that Japan was seeking to annex Manchuria or "otherwise satisfy her thirst for land."

He took note of a plan "in certain quarters" to "patch up matters for the moment" by investing China with some form of authority over Manchuria and declared that the people of Japan would never consent to the idea.

HANKOW, China, Aug. 25 (AP)—The "steel and iron" society's anti-Japanese boycott campaign took a violent turn today when four bombs were hurled into a Chinese store accused of handling Japanese goods. The store was wrecked and two clerks injured.

The incident served to increase the tension here with residents fearing further violence.

CITY MARKS ARRESTS

Two arrests, one for connecting more than one house to the sanitary sewer system through one drain, and the other for plumbing without a license, were made by city police last night. Fines were paid in justice court by two men charged with assault. One was painfully lacerated with a knife wielded by the other.

so hot that she could not drink it. After a drink of water, Mrs. Putnam talked of her flight.

"It was a beautiful trip," she said. "If I had the weather I had on my first attempt (referring to the transcontinental flight in which she was forced down at Columbus by a faulty oil line), I would have broken the record."

En route to Newark, Mrs. Putnam's food consisted of what she called "good old tomato juice." The sandwich and the thermos bottle of cocoa, which she carried at her husband's insistence, were not touched, she revealed.

"At Amarillo, they had the airport lights on for me," the flyer said, "and I am going to thank them for it." Amarillo, Texas, was the last place to report Mrs. Putnam's ship.

months," he said. "The city finally made me carry one and I went over and got a little 32 from Rufe Thompson. I kept it until I wore the handle off on the grader."

Mr. Andrews has been connected with Donk's department store as a salesman for over a year. He resigned as chief of police to make the race for county sheriff. He was a candidate in 1928 and in 1930.

Mr. Downs is well-known throughout Texas and Oklahoma as a peace officer. He was chief of police at Erick and Elk City, Okla., and is credited with "cleaning up" a lawless condition which existed in the latter city. Many are the tales told of his bravery at Elk City. Before coming to Pampa, Mr. Downs was a peace officer at Borger when the oil booms was at its height in that city. Mr. Downs has been chief during the period of Pampa's largest growth.

Edward Washam of Shamrock was looking after interests here on Wednesday. Justin Devine of White Deer transacted business here yesterday.

COTTON IS ACTIVE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25 (AP)—Cotton had a feverishly active opening today and prices quickly made new highs for the upward movement and the season. October advanced to 84.45, or 27 points above yesterday's close and 16 points above the highest level reached on yesterday's vigorous advance. This morning's high for October was 83.25 points or 41.52 a bushel above the low of the year reached on June 10.

WHEAT CLOSERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Wheat meets a strong response to advances in stocks and cotton today and opening prices were sharply higher. Scattered buying disclosed absence of pressure to sell. Canadian advance estimated the wheat crop there as probably above expectations were ignored. Wheat started 5 1/2 cents higher and later trading was at higher levels before the advance was checked by selling anxious offers. Corn opened 1/2 higher and followed wheat.

Texans Cleared In Murder Probe

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 25 (AP)—Coroner F. A. Rayner of Mills county, Iowa, said a check of the alibis offered by three Texans held in connection with the slaying of Angelo Sullivan indicated the alibi was iron-clad. Rayner said an investigation conducted by his office showed the Texans could not have been in this vicinity August 18, the night Sullivan's body was found on the roadside near Glenwood, Iowa. The investigation would be continued, however, Rayner indicated. An Omaha ballistics expert determined bullets fired from the gun of Archie M. Jenkins of Houston, Tex., corresponded with the nine which killed Sullivan, former Kansas City racketeer. Jenkins and two companions, C. J. Bestor of Houston and Ralph Arnold of Waco, were arrested here in a general roundup police hoped would result in slaying August 14 of Grover H. Petty, Omaha gambler.

Illinois To Have Golfer In Finals

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 25 (AP)—The battle for the Western Amateur Golf championship tapered on today with the defending titleholder out of the picture and stars from Illinois, Iowa, California, Wisconsin, and Texas still in the drive. Only one thing was sure, that Illinois would have a finalist, the lower bracket was jettisoned exclusively by Illinois entries, three from Chicago and Don Armstrong of Aurora, a city within one hour's ride of there. Arthur Bartlett of Ottumwa, Iowa's Bobby Jones of the minor tournament world, was probably the most discussed entry in the surviving field. The 42-year-old Iowa veteran, who has won 38 minor golf championships in his quarter of century of play, defeated Charles "Chick" Evans, Jr., of Chicago yesterday, two-up after the Chicago veteran had eliminated the defending titleholder, Don Mac of Portland, Ore. His opponent today over the 36-hole route was Charles Seeger of Los Angeles, Walker cup player. Johnny Lehman of Chicago, tournament medalist with a new record to 127 shots, was still the big favorite. Lehman faced Armstrong, a steady performer. Chick Armstrong, Frank Smosha, Wisconsin, a dark horse, and his stunning upset of Dick Martin, Chicago district titleholder, had a suburb for in young, Gus Moreland, of Dallas, Texas, Trans-Mississippi king. Both have been shooting fine golf.

Wheat Goes Up Two Cents Bushel

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Traders in wheat ignored bearish news of the crop today and, taking a tip from the securities and commodities markets, started a strong buying movement that lifted wheat two cents a bushel over yesterday's prices. Profit-taking sales found quick absorption and trading was heavy through the forenoon session of the board of trade. At noon wheat futures stood 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 cents above the previous closing, with the broadest advance in December contracts which touched 5 1/2 cents. An unofficial report placed the Canadian prairie province wheat yield at a probable 450,000 bushels, higher than previously estimated, but it was ignored any news of harvest tint and went right on buying.

Sarazen Not To Play In Tourney

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—Gene Sarazen, who arrived here today for an exhibition match, said he would not play in the National P. G. A. tournament. "I failed to qualify," he said, "and therefore I shall not play. Even if withdrawals leave an opportunity, at my rate I am on an exhibition level for six weeks, which completely ties my hands." The British and U. S. Open champion leaves here tonight for a match tomorrow at Buffalo.

FLAMING BUILDINGS SPELL RIOT

Here are photographic glimpses of the brief reign of terror which followed the collapse of the recent monarchist revolt in Seville, fourth city of Spain. Buildings owned by royalists were looted by mobs of extremists, and above you see the Seville Casino—monarchist headquarters—as it burst into flames. Below are shown some of the art treasure that were removed from the palace of the Marquis de Luca de Tenz before it, too, was burned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Full use by national banks of the recently enacted billion-dollar currency expansion provision is regarded by the Federal Reserve Board as affecting its system's influence on the general credit situation. This warning, contained in the reserve board's monthly bulletin, was coupled with the assertion that national banks in New York, Chicago and other federal reserve cities have the power to issue more than two-thirds of the currency increase allowed by the Glass-Steagall provision of the home loan law. It said these instructions had an unused power to issue $663,000,000 of the new currency, while the maximum permitted was $918,000,000. The unused issuing privilege of country banks was placed at $253,000,000. Much use of the issuing privilege at this time was deemed unlikely by the board. Since the provision took effect, national banks have increased their circulation of currency by $21,000,000. The board said such national bank notes would not now increase like currency but only replace a like amount of federal reserve currency.

Lita To Fight Back at Charlie

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25 (AP)—Lita Grey Chaplin, divorced wife of Charles Chaplin, film comedian, said today she would oppose efforts of her former husband to prevent their two sons entering films. "I don't believe any parent has the right to take away the chance of children entering any profession and particularly when it is one which they will follow in the footsteps of their father," said Mrs. Chaplin. The screen comedian was in possession of a temporary order restraining Mrs. Chaplin from allowing the boys, Charles Jr., 7, and Sydney, 6, to enter film work. A hearing on the order will be held Saturday. Mrs. Chaplin recently signed a contract for the boys and herself with the Fox Film corporation.

Strikers Ordered To Return To Homes

COULTERVILLE, Ill., Aug. 25 (AP)—Chief Walter Moody of the Illinois state highway police announced here this morning that he was ordering 4,000 strikers, the remnants of the group repulsed in Franklin county last night, to leave Coulterville and go to their homes. Chief Moody refused to disclose from whom he received his orders. Arriving here with about 35 of 40 highway policemen, Chief Moody said he would start the work of evacuating the strikers immediately. He said there will be no more caravan marches of this type on Illinois highways as they block traffic and tie up the highways. Poch Pucelli heavy hitting Rochester outfielder, once had a trial with the St. Louis Cardinals. He is expected to see service in the majors next year.

HOG CASE IN COURT

The humble hog which experts aver is depressing the depression, took the spotlight in county court this morning. The particular hog which a jury was being selected to hear about, was one that D. E. Johnson of McLean claimed the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railway company lost for him. Claude Williams of McLean represented the plaintiff, and Stone & Guleke of Amarillo, the defendant.
