HIGHER OIL TAX Commissioner Ernest Thompson's suggestion for a 10-cent tax on crude oil serves to call attention to the heavy burden already placed on the industry. In fact, Thompson's plan for a graduated tax on production, in lieu of ad valorem taxes for state purposes, sounds more like a protection plan in disguise, with protection being, as usual, attempted curtailment to market demand.

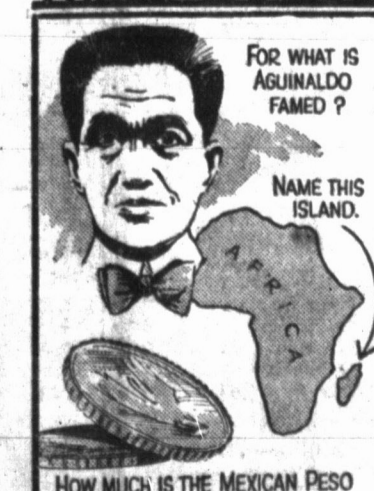

Walter Cline To Come for Talks In Rotary Event

Walter Cline, nationally known Rotarian of Wichita Falls, will be principal speaker at a ladies night program to be held by the local Rotary club Thursday night, March 16, it was announced today. Arrangements will be in charge of Frank Keim, long-time friend of Mr. Cline.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN was the subject of the program today. James Todd, Jr., and W. J. Smith discussed the two sides of the great emancipator. Mr. Todd told of his admirable qualities, explaining that much of his greatness was due to sincerity and simplicity. Mr. Smith told of the many attributes credited to Lincoln which were really not his. "But after those have been taken away, Lincoln still remains one of the few great men of the ages," he said.

ENDED BY REVOLUTION The sales tax falls heavily upon all who consume and, when added to the ad valorem taxes, amounts to double taxation of those who own property and, indeed, those who rent. One of the first things the French revolutionists did was to abolish the high sales tax.

PAMPA SCHOOLS WILL FINISH THIS TERM ON CASH BASIS AS RESULT OF REDUCING EXPENSE

Additional Economy Certain To Be Necessary

Financially, the Pampa independent school district is in a healthy condition insofar as the current term is concerned, it was shown at meeting of trustees Monday afternoon.

Seventy-five per cent of the 1932 taxes has been collected, which is far above the average in this region. In addition, several thousand dollars in delinquent tax payments raised the total. Sufficient funds are on hand to complete this term on a cash basis, another extraordinary achievement.

In re-electing Supt. R. B. Fisher, L. L. Sone, principal of the high school; R. A. Selby, principal of Junior high; J. A. Meek, Mrs. Anne Daniels, A. L. At this time it is impossible to know what amount of reduction.

PAUPER GIRL IS IN HOSPITAL IN AN EMERGENCY

Welfare Problem Is Still Puzzling As Ever

THE ever-present dilemma of which agency is to care for the indigent sick arose again today when Miss Lorene Templeton, 18, became so ill that an operation was considered necessary and she was taken to Pampa hospital at the instigation of the Welfare Board.

Members of the Board said she was a pauper and that they believed the case should be financed on that basis. The girl is an orphan and has only one known relative, a sister 16 years old, in Oklahoma. Tests of her condition were being made today to determine whether she could undergo the operation.

County Judge C. E. Cary was making an intensive study of the welfare situation, and at his request County Attorney Sherman White will ask the attorney general's opinion on several legal points. Judge Cary pointed out that the budget for charity limited the county's activities seriously, particularly since December bills were left to be paid out of this year's budget. Whether the budget can be amended as advocated by V. E. Fatheree and other taxpayers, providing additional funds to care for the indigent sick, was another uncertain point today.

The girl taken to the hospital in a Malone ambulance had been given powerful drugs by physicians seeking to ease her pain, but her condition had grown steadily worse.

Dr. V. E. von Brunow, county physician, who has been asked by the county commissioners to pass upon such cases, said this afternoon that the county would assist in this one up to $50.

Amendment Repeal Is Up

CONSIDERATION APPROVED BY BIG MAJORITY

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO FILIBUSTER IN ATTACK

BLAINE DEFENDS PLAN LEGISLATION AGAINST SALOONS WOULD BE POSSIBLE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (P)—By the overwhelming vote of 58 to 23, the senate took up prohibition repeal for consideration this afternoon and at once met a democratic onslaught for outright repudiation of the 18th amendment.

First Senator Robinson—the party leader—insisted outright repeal as advocated by the two party platforms last year was the answer; instead of the Blaine resolution that was vehicle for the debate. That resolution would allow congress to legislate against the saloon.

Blaine upheld his proposition—only to have it lambasted later again by Wagner of New York, another democrat.

"Straightforward repeal" was Wagner's cry, denouncing the Blaine proposition as one that "flouts the will of the majority as registered last November."

Another democrat, Sheppard of Texas—was waiting and ready to undertake obstructive tactics such as carried on by him last night to block a vote on repeal; and with the aid of other drys such as Brookhart (R., Iowa), even to the extent of prolonged filibuster.

Men Charged In Slaying at Tulia

TULIA, Feb. 15. (P)—(Perch-mouth) Stanton and Glen Hunsucker had been charged in justice court here with murder in connection with the slaying of John Moseley, sheriff of Swisher county.

Stanton and Hunsucker also were charged with murder after Joe Brown, Wise county deputy sheriff, was shot and killed in his office at Rhome, after he had arrested two men and a woman in an automobile as they entered Rhome. He sought to question them concerning theft of an oil drum.

Allotment Bill Goes to Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (P)—The domestic allotment farm relief plan was favorably reported to the senate today by its agriculture committee after more than a month of hearings and discussion.

As reported the bill contained major alterations from the form in which it passed the house. It was confined to wheat and cotton while provisions for acreage control and for defining "new" partly between agricultural and commercial commodities were stricken out.

COURT HOUSE IS 'CAPTURED'

Two Thousand Vow To Stay In Building Until Court Meet Demands.

SEATTLE, Feb. 15. (P)—Two thousand singing, jesting unemployed—men, women and children—took sleeping quarters for the night in the county-city building and vowed they would not leave until King county commissioners met their relief demands.

The group "camped" following a series of demonstrations in which the unemployed asked for $13.50 worth of groceries per family per week.

Three days work weekly at $4.50 per day. Or—5,000 gallons of gasoline and $40 cash per family for a "pilgrimage" to Olympia, where the state legislature is in session.

Their demands refused by commissioners and the county welfare board, the demonstrators decided to remain in the official office building. They called for reinforcements, and other unemployed swarmed in.

They sang, played pinocle, slept, made speeches—but they stayed. A squad of police was placed on guard but the demonstrators remained peaceable and organized their own police force to maintain order.

The building resumed with speeches and snores of the unemployed. Mothers with children in their arms slumbered in chairs of the commissioners, and the official gavel was used as a baton while musically inclined demonstrators led their comrades in a species of community singing.

Demonstrators sent out committees for food, which was donated by restaurants.

Commissioners and other officials argued and protested they could not meet the demands of the demonstrators. Commissioners decided to turn over 575 acres of county lands for farm use as the first step in a general relief plan, but finally they went home and left the building to the unemployed.

Shooting Wells Discussed At A. P. I. Meeting

Shooting and use of acid in oil wells will go "hand in hand" when acid treatment has been used more and has been proven useful, Paul Lewis, manager of the American Petroleum Institute, said last night before a large gathering at the regular monthly meeting of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

Mr. Lewis gave two interesting papers, the first on shooting versus acid treatment had not been in practice long enough to prove definitely its use in all lime wells. In fact, he stated, that definite results have been found only in wells where the calcium carbonate content is large.

The quartet is composed of Miss Dorothy Dodd, Miss Marjorie Enloe, Charles Frost and Howard Zimmerman. Mr. Kelley played the guitar accompaniments to some of the numbers.

Mr. Lewis said that the use of acid treatment had not been in practice long enough to prove definitely its use in all lime wells. In fact, he stated, that definite results have been found only in wells where the calcium carbonate content is large.

Shooting cracks the formations, giving instantaneous results if oil is available, while acid treatment takes time and works in only certain types of formations. "Shooting" depends on the physical reaction while acid treatment depends on the chemical reaction," Mr. Lewis said.

LEE MARSHALL VERY LIKELY TO DIE OF BURNS

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Feb. 15. (P)—Two bandits sat on the desolate prairie early today and watched complacently while their penniless victim, Lee Marshall, 50-year-old homesteader, sizzled in flames after they chained him, threw gasoline on him and set him afire.

After Marshall was burned from head to foot and his screams were silenced, the men apparently believed him dead and loosened his bonds. They left and Marshall staggered three miles through zero weather to a neighbor's.

There he was given emergency treatment and the neighbor walked another three miles to get a car with which to bring the homesteader to the Tucumcari hospital. Physicians said Marshall probably was burned fatally. The flesh had fallen from his hands, arms, back and hips.

Marshall said the two men accosted him as he stepped from the (See BANDITS, Page 6.)

Legislator Takes Lashing To Prove Whipping Theory

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 15. (P)—A lashing across the back with a cat-o-nine tails was given Delegate Frank J. Hirt in the Maryland state house as a personal illustration of his assertion the whipping post was "a relic of the days of barbarism."

Standing coatless and leaning against a pillar in an ante-room, Hirt, a representative from Baltimore, was struck by a colleague, Delegate Norman S. Short of Hurlock.

Hirt's test followed an address on the house floor in defense of his bill for the abolition of the whipping post as a penalty for wife-beating in Maryland. The proposal was reported from committee last night and after the lashing passed to the third reading.

The author of the bill said any man who beats his wife "should be punished, but I don't think the whipping post is proper in these days."

The house broke into laughter as Delegate Francis A. Mitchell, a former speaker, produced a cat-o-nine tails and remarked he had been informed Hirt "is willing to make the sacrifice of stripping to the waist and taking a whipping as it would be given at the whipping post."

A large portion of the house members crowded into the ante-room to see the demonstration as Short lightly applied the whip.

GAS STOVE NEEDED An immediate need for a gas stove was voiced this morning by Mrs. W. H. Davis, manager of the Welfare Board. "Any stove will do, just so it will burn," she said.

THE TARIFF'S COUNTRY COUSIN

When Theodore Roosevelt became president, American farmers were exporting some five hundred million bushels of grain a year. It was a profitable business.

Our population increased rapidly and there were more American mouths to feed during the years until the World War. The farmer sold more at home and he prospered moderately.

With the World War came the insatiable demand for more farm products. "Food will win the war" was the slogan. American farmers responded, stimulated by the highest prices they had ever known.

Then came peace and the post-war deflation. The great market which a fighting Europe had provided began to shrivel.

Australians and South Americans began to offer stiffer competition to American farmers. European nations began to raise their own food. By 1925 and 1926 our cereal exports were down to about 210,000,000 bushels.

Meanwhile, the eating habits of the American people were changing. The average American now consumes 45 pounds less wheat annually than he did in 1900.

Finally the Federal Farm Board was created. It wasted hundred of millions in good tax money trying to peg the prices of wheat and cotton. The experiment was not a happy one.

Still the farmer must somehow be helped to retrieve his fortunes. We know now that all classes depend upon one another. The farmer can't be allowed to suffer if other classes are to prosper.

So at last we have a nation ready to undertake an experiment so new, important and far-reaching as the domestic allotment plan.

Never except in the dire emergencies of war have we undertaken so radical an adventure or proposed to entrust so much power to one man.

The domestic allotment plan will be tried because other schemes for raising the prices of farm products failed. Every important business or political group is agreed that higher farm prices are vitally necessary.

This agreement has been reached for intelligently selfish reasons. The farmers, of course, ought to have more money for their own sakes. Equally they need more money so that they may be better customers of those who sell in the farm market.

The scheme originated years ago in the mind of an employee of the Department of Agriculture. It is simply a subsidy for the farmer. The subsidy is to be paid on that part of his crops which is consumed in the United States.

Only those farmers who decrease their acreage are to get the subsidies, and payments are first to be made only on a few basic crops.

There is little difference in principle between a domestic subsidy and a tariff. You collect tariff duties on imports and you may pay subsidies on home products.

The tariff didn't help the farmer as it did the manufacturer because the farmer is an exporter. For many years we have cultivated sixty million acres which produced crops in excess of our needs.

ANSWERS to today's THREE GUESSES

EMILIO AGUINALDO led the Filipino insurrection against the United States, 1899-1901. The name of the island is MADAGASCAR. The peso is WORTH 50 CENTS U. S. CURRENCY

Otto frowned earnestly, stretched himself mightily, and sat up on his cot. "Surely I'll be safe in there."

"Hi! Where in Hell you think you goin'?" he shouts. "Anywhere there ain't no women at all," I says—and the Sergeant comes out an' says, "That's all right, Wop. Join right now. There ain't no women here."

"Worse luck," he adds. "Don't you blaspheme, Bo. I begs, an' joins da Foreign Legion pronto."

Yes, an' extremely amusing and extraordinarily interesting man. But did he quite realize how interesting he was becoming—to Otto, at least?

Did he realize that once or twice when talking to Otto he had talked English without a trace of Italian accent?

What would he hope to get out of them? What was his game?

VALIANT DUST by Percival Christopher Wren

SYNOPSIS: A detachment of Maj. Napoleon Bonelli's Foreign Legion command is building a Post in the desert near Mesopotamia while awaiting his return with the main body. Years before Mesopotamia had been tested and found wanting by the army. He had joined the Legion, and had risen to the rank of Major.

Chapter 6 THE STRANGE BOMBELLI The Section had endured life at Post One for but a brief space, when the personality of a hitherto unnoticed comrade began to impinge upon Otto's consciousness—a man whom the four Englishmen and their friends had noticed only as one of the party whom they generally termed "Vittorelli's pots."

He had arrived, one day, with a mule-convey, and had remained at the post. Undeniably, Sergeant-Major Vittorelli was guilty of gross favoritism, and undoubtedly this man was a prime favorite—ranking with the Corsicans themselves in Vittorelli's esteem, and, with them, basking in the warmth of his approval—an approval that had numerous significant and practical manifestations. Very probably the fact that the fellow had lived in Corsica, knew Ajaccio and spoke Italian, had a great deal to do with his success with Sergeant-Major Vittorelli. And not only with Sergeant-Major Vittorelli, for that invaluable and powerful patron had introduced him to the favorable notice of Major Riccoli himself.

In this exalted quarter also, the fellow had found favor, and had so far ingratiated himself that Major Riccoli had appointed him his orderly for duty whenever Major Riccoli sojournd at Post One.

Here again, doubtless, the man's knowledge of Corsica, Ajaccio, and the Italian tongue, was of immense service to him in the attainment of his ambitions.

But why he, rather than the genuine Corsicans themselves, Corsteans bred and born?

And then, with a smile at his growing tendency to cynicism, Otto remembered that the man had money—for a legionnaire, quite a lot of money.

And if, in the Kingdom of the Blind, the one-eyed is King, in the Legion's Purgatory of Poverty, the man with a private income is Croesus.

"Dep I run straight into da Fort. "Fort's iron eddick," thinks I. "Surely I'll be safe in there."

"Hi! Where in Hell you think you goin'?" he shouts. "Anywhere there ain't no women at all," I says—and the Sergeant comes out an' says, "That's all right, Wop. Join right now. There ain't no women here."

"Worse luck," he adds. "Don't you blaspheme, Bo. I begs, an' joins da Foreign Legion pronto."

Yes, an' extremely amusing and extraordinarily interesting man. But did he quite realize how interesting he was becoming—to Otto, at least?

Did he realize that once or twice when talking to Otto he had talked English without a trace of Italian accent?

What would he hope to get out of them? What was his game?

Bombelli had arrived with a mule convoy

"Sure, Bo," replied Bombelli in Italianate English-American. "Dunn awful coward. I make the runaway, I vandoos. From a girl! From Hercules! She neata me. I skeddadilla. I sure get-to-be-olla-this pronto."

"But you didn't run straight from Otto to Sidibel Abbes, Bomb?"

"None runs to the Yards and beats da Oyeland to N'Yarka. Soon I feels U. S. A. is too small levee country so, me while Hercules movin' round. It, so I beats da Oyewater too—what you call a show-it-away on sail—and come to Yerrup... Then I come to Napoli and stix Fanculi lanchia onak to da touristia catia spaghetti and drinkin' lanchryma Christi at da hotel by Pompelli. . . . And there I sits in da sun an' grow fat on good eats, wit da good eat an da good garlic, an' praisu da good God."

"And then, with a smile at his growing tendency to cynicism, Otto remembered that the man had money—for a legionnaire, quite a lot of money.

And if, in the Kingdom of the Blind, the one-eyed is King, in the Legion's Purgatory of Poverty, the man with a private income is Croesus.

"Dep I run straight into da Fort. "Fort's iron eddick," thinks I. "Surely I'll be safe in there."

"Hi! Where in Hell you think you goin'?" he shouts. "Anywhere there ain't no women at all," I says—and the Sergeant comes out an' says, "That's all right, Wop. Join right now. There ain't no women here."

"Worse luck," he adds. "Don't you blaspheme, Bo. I begs, an' joins da Foreign Legion pronto."

Yes, an' extremely amusing and extraordinarily interesting man. But did he quite realize how interesting he was becoming—to Otto, at least?

Did he realize that once or twice when talking to Otto he had talked English without a trace of Italian accent?

What would he hope to get out of them? What was his game?

Bombelli makes an astonishing proposition to Otto, Monday.

ILLUSION:
The stage is all set for target practice. The magician lifts his bow and aims an arrow at the bull's-eye. His lovely assistant then steps in front of the target and he shoots the arrow—apparently through her—and it fixes itself in the very center of the bull's-eye! And she smiles through it all while the audience gasps.

EXPLANATION:
The arrow which the marksmen "shoots through" his assistant simply folds up into the "crossbow"! The arrow which is actually embedded in the target is shot by the girl herself from a belt concealed under her dress. She releases a little spring, the arrow unfolds, and shoots straight into the bull's-eye! It is all done in a flash! So quickly the eye cannot detect the girl's movements! To heighten the impression that the arrow has gone right through, the girl releases a ribbon from the front of her dress—the continuation, apparently, of the ribbon attached to the arrow in the target.

Like to see through tricks? Then let's look at another—the illusion in cigarette advertising called "Cigarettes and Your Throat."

The audience is told that by certain magic processes tobacco can be made as soothing as cough medicine.

EXPLANATION: The easiest cigarette on your throat is the cigarette that is made from the choicest ripe tobaccos. Cheap, raw tobaccos are, as you would naturally expect, harsh in their effects upon the throat.

If you have to consider your throat, the quality of the tobacco in your cigarette is important.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Camels are as non-irritating as a cigarette can be because Camels use choice, ripe, tobaccos.

And because of the matchless blending of these costlier tobaccos Camels have a rich bouquet and aroma... a cool, delicious flavor.

Keep the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack on your Camels to assure yourself and your companions a fresh, cool smoke.

NO TRICKS... JUST COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN A MATCHLESS BLEND

It's fun to be fooled... it's more fun to KNOW

HARVESTER TEAM BEATS BULLDOG CAGERS SECOND TIME

QUINTETS PLAY SLOGGISHLY IN 24 TO 20 TILT

BORGER'S SCORING ACE KEPT OUT OF GAME BY ILLNESS

Borger had a good ally after the Bulldogs were defeated 24 to 20 by the Harvester basketball team on the court last night. "Our two best players were on the bench," the confident fans remarked. "Each other. They talked so much in this vein that Pampanos were robbed of a great deal of exaltation."

The first time Pampa beat Borger, the Bulldogs said the local hardwood was too slick. "We depend mainly on speed to win us a ball game," they said, "and your court was too slick. We kept slipping down on it." In that first game, the Harvesters took the Borger quintet for a 34 to 10 ride.

In that game, the Bulldogs made many fouls but they made more last night, and the referee did not call all of them. The Harvesters won because of their success with free shots. They made eight points from the free throw line. Borger chalked up four points in this manner. The Bulldogs had 10 personal fouls assessed against them and the Harvesters seven. W. F. Sherman of Plemous was the referee.

Lead Held Throughout.

The Pampa boys took the lead in the first minute of the game and never relinquished it. At the half they led 13 to 7 and the margin had widened to nine points along in the third period. Then Coach Mitchell withdrew his first string with the single exception of Wayne Kelley, and inserted the substitutes. They didn't do a very good job of keeping the fees from looping swishes, and before long the difference between the two scores was one point with the Pampanos still ahead. Mitchell shoved in his first string again and the lead began to mount again.

Borger's Conley, ill of influenza, did not play in the game. Borger claims he's faster than Woodward. He, the Borger fans say, won the two inter-sectional games with Perryton almost single-handed for Borger. He failed to shoot a single field goal when he played with the Bulldogs here recently. Also, H. W. Pitts, another streak of greased lightning, did not take the floor last night until the third quarter, but he failed to set the house afire after he went into the game.

Defensive Battle.

The Pampa boys used more set-ups than usual, and they usually miss a whole lot. Fullingim failed to score a point for the first time this year. Woodward made only three points. Wayne Kelley was the scoring ace last night, shooting four field goals. Marbaugh made three from the free throw line. The Bulldogs were chiefly a defensive battle with much roughing under the baskets. Borger fans said their boys did not play near as well last night as they played against Perryton of the previous night. It was the first time the team has been beaten on its own court this year.

One thing became perfectly clear after the game, Borger is expected to be much harder to beat at the district tournament of this week-end than Pampanos figured a week ago. The Bulldog line-up last night was entirely different from the one which paraded the floor in the game here. The four sectional champions which will battle for the district title are Pampa, Amarillo, Quitaque, and Borger.

His fine ball park of inside the ring but they have just been through a whirlwind struggle of ballots in which Robert Tyre Jones, retired undefeated golf champion of the world, emerged with a hair-line decision over Herman Ruth, greatest slugger of all time, as the most dominating sports performer of the glamorous decade, 1923-33.

It may serve only to stimulate the main argument but a jury of 50 veteran sports observers, representing the nation's leading newspapers, Herman Ruth, greatest slugger of all time, as the most dominating sports performer of the glamorous decade, 1923-33.

The request of the Associated Press, these fifty critics ranked the five leading performers of the past ten years, taking in every form of sporting activity in the United States as well as abroad. The field was wide open. The votes were tallied on the basis of five points for first, four for second place and so on. And that's where the fun began.

William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey, chiefly because of his spectacular role as a gate attraction during the decade, rather than the calibre of his accomplishments, won third place easily with 125 points. His two-time conqueror, Gene Tunney, finished eighth with only 18 points.

Cage Proposes Every Citizen Carry Firearms

DALLAS, Feb. 15. (AP)—A proposal to permit all citizens to carry firearms and to abolish all county peace officers and substitute a ranger force of 702 men to patrol the entire state was made today by Roy C. Gage of Fort Worth in letters to Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and other state officials. Such a plan would both combat crime and save Texas taxpayers $1,118,000 a year, Gage claimed.

The arming of citizens would discourage crimes in which robbers have the advantage over their defenseless victims, Gage explained. Also, murders would not increase because the hot tempered man would "cool off" in dealing with a person he believed might be armed, the letter said.

By abolishing all sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, and constables and hiring 762 rangers at a salary of $250 a month, a vast saving would result to the taxpayers, in addition to providing a very efficient type of law enforcement agency, Gage asserted. Ranger assignments under his plan would be indefinite, with an average of three to the county, but their territory would be unlimited and concentrations could be made where necessary.

Gage estimated that the present system of county officer law enforcement costs about $3,429,000, including the cost of feeding prisoners. He figured the ranger plan would cost only about $2,311,000, effecting a saving of $1,118,000 yearly.

Report Hitler Is Engaged To Wagner Widow

BERLIN, Feb. 15. (AP)—Sanguinary clashes between Chancellor Hitler's nationalist socialists and their political opponents showed no signs of abatement today with at least 11 persons slain and 23 injured in week-end battles.

Slayings occurred in eight different towns and cities in various sections of the Reich. Nazis, who claimed they were fired upon from communist headquarters in Eisenberg, raided the buildings and at least three were killed and 15 hurt in hand-to-hand fighting. Communists were reported to have hidden their dead and injured.

Two were killed in Bochum and one in Sinsdorf, Dessau, Breslau, Dortmund, Stuttgart, and Bensheim. Police shot at two women who left their windows open when Nazi storm troops were passing. Since Hitler came into power two weeks ago, citizens in many places have been ordered to keep windows and doors closed while Nazi troops passed in order to protect the latter from ambush attacks.

The long-circulated rumor that the Nazi chieftain was engaged to marry the widowed daughter-in-law of the famous composer, Richard Wagner, was revived yesterday when Hitler went to Leipzig for the Wagner anniversary celebration.

But the bachelor chancellor and Frau Winifred Wagner greeted each other formally and gave no sign themselves to encourage the gossip.

A grand niece of Wagner's, however, said the family would "not be surprised to see Herr Hitler and Frau Wagner married at some later date."

Japs Have Largest Budget in History

TOKYO, Feb. 15. (AP)—The Japanese imperial diet, or parliament, approved by a standing vote today the largest budget in the history of the nation, totalling 2,239,000,000 yen (about $480,300,000).

Only three proletarians among the some 450 members dissented. The swollen proportions of the budget were primarily due to the demands of the army and navy, to which appropriations totalling 821,000,000 yen (about $172,410,000) are allotted. This is more than 100,000,000 yen larger than the estimated income from taxation.

GARNERA WILL BE BARRED BY BOXING BOARD

MATCH WITH SHARKEY NEXT JUNE IS CANCELED

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP)—The death of Ernie Schaaf has struck a heavy blow at boxing in New York state, brought about threat of repeal of the state boxing law, and caused the virtual disbarment of Primo Carnera, solely upon the grounds of his gigantic size.

Only a few hours after Schaaf died in Polyclinic hospital of a brain injury, Governor Lehman ordered a thorough investigation of his bout with Carnera in Madison Square Garden last Friday night. The legislature moved toward more stringent regulations for boxing, if not outright repeal of the law under which it is conducted in this state, and the State Athletic commission flatly declared it would not approve a match between Carnera and Sharkey nor allow the huge Italian to box anyone less than six feet two inches tall and weighing less than 220 pounds.

Back of the commission's surprising action, wrecking the Garden's plans for a title match here in June, was the venerable figure of William Muldoon.

With Gen. John J. Phelan concurring, Muldoon announced that the "super-dreadnaught" class for oversized heavyweights, first organized in 1931, would be re-established and that Carnera, if he is to fight in this state at all, must pick his rivals strictly from within that division.

Muldoon declared he had opposed the Schaaf-Carnera bout from the start but that public opinion had led him to approve it against his better judgment.

Albany Rumblings

The effect of the commission's ruling is practically to bar the big Italian from competition in this state. The "super-dreadnaught" division, as defined by the commission, would include only about a half dozen heavyweights—Carnera, George Godfrey, Jose Santa, Walter Cobb, Ray Impelleterre and Victorio Campolo. Of these Carnera has met and defeated all but Impelleterre.

Notwithstanding "rumblings" at Albany, it was considered unlikely that the Boston heavyweight's death would bring about any ban on boxing from competition in this state. The democratic national committee and chairman of the New York State Athletic commission, took the position that Schaaf's death, while deeply to be deplored, could not be construed as a reflection upon competition.

At Albany, the only direct action was taken by Governor Lehman in ordering the state athletic commission to investigate "all the circumstances" surrounding Schaaf's fatal injury. Any future action he might take, the governor indicated, would depend upon what facts were presented to him by the commission.

Senator Henry G. Schaackno, Bronx Democrat and chairman of the judiciary committee, said he would ask in a few days for repeal of the boxing law, while assemblymen Saul Strelt, Tammany Democrat, and Arthur Schwarz, Buffalo Republican, both announced they favored more stringent legislation to prevent the matching of boxers of unusual weight.

Death in Doubt

Meanwhile, the exact cause of Schaaf's death remained in doubt, pending thorough examination. There was sharp conflict in medical opinion.

Dr. Charles W. Norris, chief medical examiner of New York City, declared an autopsy revealed "absolutely no evidence" that Schaaf died of injuries received in the Carnera bout.

Dr. Bryan Stookey, noted brain specialist who operated upon the stricken boxer Monday, declared, on the other hand, that the cerebral hemorrhage and resulting pressure on the brain had been caused by Carnera's punches. Dr. Stookey's diagnosis was confirmed, tentatively at least, by Dr. Norris' assistant, Dr. Benjamin Vance, who performed the autopsy. He signed a certificate giving the causes of death.

Dozen Leading Nations of World Have Dictators; U. S. Is Leaning Toward Mild Form of Dictatorship

By ALBERT W. WILSON.
NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP)—Endowment of President-elect Roosevelt with extraordinary powers for reorganization as contemplated by some democratic leaders would be a mild innovation indeed to a dozen nations whose constitutional governments have emerged under economic pressure as dictatorships. Even in this country, with Speaker Garner urging the mantle of a Dionysius upon his chief, there are others who would go further. Norman Thomas believes the country is on the verge of real dictatorship; Alfred E. Smith thinks some form of dictatorial power to carry on public works would be worthwhile.

Modern Dictators.

The modern dictators are apostles of vigorous nationalism. Germany's Adolf Hitler rode to power on a platform of nationalist promises. Italy's Mussolini thinks first of his own people and then of the world.

Hungary now has its "Mussolini" in Premier Julius Gombos; Mustafa Kemal Pasha is banishing every trace of Greek and Arabic influence from Turkey; Poland's Marshal Pilsudski is a constitutional dictator and the essence of them all is Stalin.

Even England, priding itself on a government responsive to the will of the people, got around what appeared to be an inevitable series of elections by setting up a "national" cabinet combining the strongest features of all the parties.

In France those two political rivals, Fardieu and Herriot, have put out feelers testing the possibility of joining forces against the numerically powerful socialists, and what both conceive to be the menace of fascism.

Jugoslavia's King Alexander holds together the Croats, the Slovenes, and the Serbs, dictator of three peoples. Boris of Bulgaria holds the veto power over his parliament. SWEATERS ARE GIVEN 25 BOYS ON GRID TEAM

Mitchell Entertains By Recalling Incidents

Twenty-five members of the 1932 Harvest football team were presented with sweaters in chapel this morning. The presentation was by Coach Odus Mitchell and followed a brief address by Supt. R. B. Fisher.

The superintendent praised the boys for their untiring efforts to bring honor to their school and to themselves. He also paid tribute to the fathers and mothers of the boys who stood behind their children and assisted the coaches in seeing that their boys trained and gave their best.

Two boys failed to receive sweaters. They will be honored when they make up their work. They were Dick Sullins and Ernest McDuffie. Stripes were given on conference play.

Captain Jim Poole and Gerdis Schmidt were the only boys to receive sweaters bearing four stripes. Wayne Kelley, H. L. Ledrick, and Rufus Walker were three-letter men. Other members of the squad received one and two-letter sweaters.

Coach Mitchell was in a reminiscent mood as he presented the sweaters and many forgotten incidents were recalled. Besides Supt. Fisher and Coach Mitchell, those on the platform were Principal L. L. Sone and Assistant Coach Argus Fox.

Boys receiving sweaters and stripes were: Jim Poole, 4; Gerdis Schmidt, 4; Siler Faulkner, 1; Philip Powell, 2; Wayne Kelley, 3; Clinton Adair, 1; Clovis Green, 2; Carmen Howard, 1; Ray Eldridge, 1; Jess Patton, 2; Sam Turner, 2; Lloyd Hamilton, 1; Monroe Owens, 1; Preston Owens, 1; Carl Smith, 1; Leslie Sartin, 2; E. Johnson, 1; H. L. Ledrick, 1; Orville Heisey, 1; Bert Stevens, 1; Miles Marbaugh, 1; Robert Woodward, 1; Hoot Fullington, 2; Rufus Walker, 3; Harry Nelson, 1.

HE'S A HARD WORKER

CHICAGO — Henry Kus is the kind of man who believes every good citizen should get out and shovel the snow off the sidewalk.

A street car crew protested he was shoveling his snow on their tracks, but he kept on with his work.

A policeman appeared. Kus was still shoveling, but stopped long enough, the police said, to strike the officer with his shovel, sending him to a hospital.

The police then sent out a whole squad. Kus was still shoveling. They managed to take him to a police station.

will be necessary to come within the 1933-34 revenue. Numerous bills are before the legislature or in committee, which, if enacted into law, will materially change the school funds, both as to the state appropriation and as to the local assessing and collecting of taxes.

The financial condition of the district was discussed, as well as various proposed economies. It was found that during the 1930-1931 school year the total expenses for operating and paying interest on bonds amounted to $262,858.

During the peak of the crowded condition in the local schools, there were 150 people regularly employed, 121 of whom were teachers. Now there are 120 people regularly employed, 86 being teachers. Last year the grade supervisors and the music supervisor were eliminated in order to cut down expenses.

day's battle on the Putumayo river while Peru insisted a Colombian flotilla begin the fight by attacking a Peruvian garrison at Tarapaca.

Unofficial reports reached Colombia that Tarapaca was captured by its troops, but the Peruvian commander reported the engagement was "inconsequential." Fighting was reported continuing last night and the Colombian government announced its troops were being landed under protection of a gunboat's artillery.

Both parties said the fighting started in Brazilian territory, Tarapaca being situated right on the border, Brazil was watching developments and it was believed she would close up the Amazon river if her territory were violated.

D. 1933, the same being the 7th day of March, A. D. 1933, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 20th day of January, A. D. 1933, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 3368, wherein E. R. Ballinger is plaintiff, and Sarah Alice Ballinger is defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows: Plaintiff and defendant were married in Taft, California, Nov. 14, 1912, and continued to live together until the 15th day of September, 1928, at which time defendant fled, and was forever to leave the plaintiff as hereinafter described; the defendant herein was a woman of violent temper and was a religious fanatic, while the plaintiff herein though a good and religious man did not go to church except on Sunday, but this defendant attended all the regular meetings and constantly nagged this plaintiff because he would not attend the same and when he would refuse to go she would fly into a rage and abuse and then would spy upon him and not go to church herself, or would go on to upon him. This plaintiff would not about his business and when she would return from church and he would return at night she would ask him numerous questions and his answers to such questions were never satisfactory to her and she constantly accused him of infidelity.

About this time plaintiff lost his work where they were living and was offered a job in New Mexico, the defendant refused to go to New Mexico with him saying that she would not have religious advantages which she had where she was, whereupon, the plaintiff went to work in New Mexico and sent her money for awhile, then she no longer answered his letters, and since that time until this the plaintiff has been unable to locate her and at this time does not know where she lives.

Wherefore, premises considered, plaintiff prays that defendant be cited by publication and that upon the trial of this cause plaintiff have judgment in all things dissolving the bonds of matrimony and such other and further relief as he may be entitled to.

Herein fall not but have before said court at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

dugout where he lives on his homestead 20 miles east of Logan, near the Texas line.

"Stick 'em up," one of the men commanded as they flashed a light on Marshall and dug his ribs with a gun.

After searching him and finding no money the men demanded to know where he kept his cash. Marshall told them he had none. The men jerked and beat him with a revolver. Then they chained his feet, tied his hands, rolled him on his stomach and poured gasoline on him. They laughed as they tossed a match and his clothing caught fire. Then they sat down nearby. One of the men tossed a blanket on him and it too burned.

Marshall apparently became unconscious for a time and the bandits believed him dead. They untied him and left.

The entire countryside near Logan was aroused and Sheriff Allen had no difficulty in organizing a posse. The bandits were believed to have fled east toward the Texas line.

Marshall is unmarried.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15. (AP)—Cotton had a steady opening today although cables were lower than day. While March opened two points down, later months were unchanged, but prices eased slightly after the start. July dropping to 6.13 or one point under yesterday's close due to a little hedge selling. The market promptly recovered, however, moving up one to two points. March trading at 5.89 and July at 6.14, or even with the close of yesterday. This was due to fair trade buying and price fixing.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Feb. 15. (AP)—Upturns in grain prices early today accompanied a rise in securities. Japanese Chinese tension was also construed as bullish regarding cereals. Opening 1/2-3/4 higher, wheat afterward rose further. Corn started unchanged to 1/4 higher, and subsequently advanced all around. Wheat closed unsettled, 1/2-3/4 above yesterday's finish, corn a shade to 1/4 up, oats 1/2-3/4 advanced, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents off.

said. "To be successful, acid treatment should not be used haphazardly but should follow careful study and analysis of the formation in a laboratory. Wells should be carefully prepared for the test and the right amount of acid used."

Mr. Lewis passed around samples of various types of lime formation, showing how they had reacted to acid treatment.

Safety and care was the keynote of Mr. Lewis' paper on nitro glycerine uses. He advocated tamping after the "shot" had been placed rather than using a liquid stemming. Brick and sand were the tamping materials suggested and Mr. Lewis followed his address with demonstrations showing how the two methods worked. Tamping allows no visible result until it is removed after the shot while the old liquid method usually sent the oil over the derrick and gave the spectators a thrill.

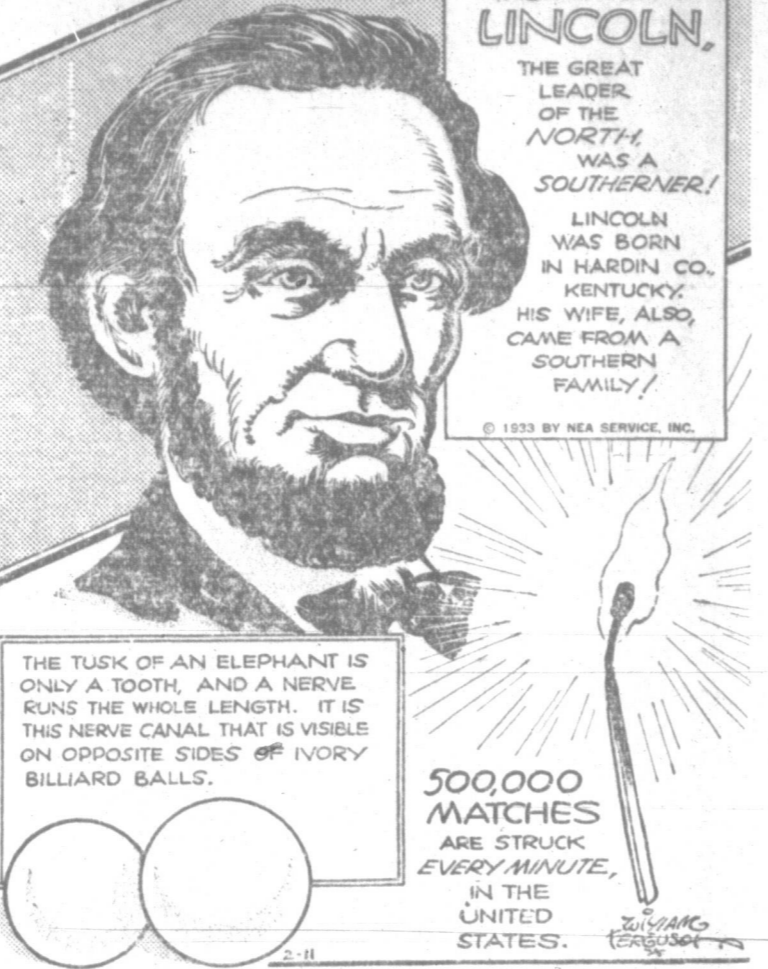

Explosives are divided into three types—liquid nitro glycerine, solid nitro glycerine and gelatine dynamite. The first two are used more than the other. Low freezing liquid nitro glycerine is the safest and most modern of the methods, it was said. It weighs 3 1/2 pounds a quart and has a velocity of 23,600 feet per second.

"Care in cleaning out the tamping is one of the big secrets in shooting," Mr. Lewis declared. "Lives and property are taken care of when cleaning out is undertaken when the result of the shot is not known. Money means nothing compared to lives and care saves both."

Mr. Lewis answered many questions. He is one of the best known glycerine experts. He has written several books which are widely known, and his articles in magazines are authoritative.

President Jack Moyer presided. About 200 persons attended the meeting in the city auditorium.

ed when the spotlight passes him by. As for the traveling man's son, he plainly shows the lack of a father's stern commandments. Dean Sone and Hall added their comment, tempering their remarks about only children because they have not gone about the business as scientifically as Dickey and they have in mind some brilliant exceptions to the general rule. Both Sone and Hall point with pride to some of their outie popular and quite scholarly only children. Dickey can point to similar examples, but "bear in mind," he will add, "they're exceptions."

What they agree on is that only children are seldom, if ever, average students. They either flunk out or make the honor roll. They either spend half their student life on probation or get elected to the student council. All three deans look on the parents as having been largely responsible for the fate of their only child.

"In many instances," Dean Hall said, "we find that it has been a distinct advantage to a child to have been the only one in the family. He has more self confidence; he has had access to more books, to better clothes, to more cultural warehouses than has the child of a large family."

Dean Sone has found that these advantages, better clothes, for example, weigh heavily with girls. Their personalities benefit in poise and confidence.

But the spoiled only child—and seven out of 10, they say, are spoiled—comes to college with a gigantic handicap. If it is a boy, he fights and does not always fairly. If it is a girl, she sulks, snags her fingers at rules she doesn't like, and changes roommates frequently.

Principal Sone of Pampa believes that some of these statements are a child cannot be normal in the to the NFWS that some parents shelter their only child, keep it in an atmosphere of adult thinking, and prevent it from having normal contact with other children. Such a child cannot be normal in the child sense. But wiser parents are careful to adjust their comradeship to their child's level of interest a part of the time, they encourage it to learn the ways of other children, and take pride in the fact that their child is able to hold his own among his fellows. But the unfortunate child who has in different parents, parents who quarrel a great deal, or parents who ignore its problems can hardly be said to have a normal background, he concluded. The wise teacher seeks to note the child's deficiencies in an environment and to encourage a normal comradeship among the youngsters.

However, to quote Dickey's statistics on the subject, 26.21 per cent of only children fall in college. Not quite that many make the honor roll. As for the traveling man's children, only 10.67 per cent fall, but less than 3 per cent ever make the honor roll.

Twice as many farmers' children—43.75 per cent—appear on the honor roll as turn out failures. Dickey attributes the fact solely to the farmer's almost constant companionship with his young. A father around the place, he thinks, will make children behave. Good grades of farmers' children come from hard work, rather than peculiar brilliance or good preparation for college, he said.

And now one last statistic to blow up the popular myth that even as the shoemaker's children go unshod, so do ministers' sons scare up the devil. Only .97 of 1 per cent of ministers' children fall in college. Even less than that number put gray hairs in the heads of the discipline committee. On the other hand, however, only 7.36 per cent make the honor roll.

Women Are Learning New Things About Cooking, Canning

All this week Montgomery Ward's Retail Store has been surprising Pampa women with a demonstration of Pressure Cooking.

Complete meals are cooked in 10 minutes over a single burner, and that turned low. Canning is accomplished in one-third the time usual with ordinary methods. In both operations a finer flavor and taste is obtained since food is more perfectly cooked under this improved method and retains the precious body-building juices, vitamins and mineral salts, lost in ordinary cooking.

Demonstration continues through Saturday at 11 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 2:30 p. m. daily, and everyone has an opportunity to sample the food. Pampa women are finding this cooking demonstration very interesting and timely as cooking is a constant three-times-a-day problem.

and green, with dark trousers. The music, much arranged especially for the performance, will be lively and tuneful.

Eight negro bell-hops will make merry among the roof garden patrons, singing, dancing, making wisecracks, and giving the audience a number of surprises. From the time the curtain rises until it drops, the show will be "on the go" at accelerated tempo. Stopping abruptly in a crescendo of harmony, the first act will close for a brief intermission.

The second act, which will include vaudeville stunts, will be short and will lead into a finale by the whole cast. The entire performance will be crowded into an hour and a half.

Reserved seat tickets are on sale at Fatheree Drug No. 4.
