TWINKLES

Indians tell us they never had dust storms like recent ones when they were in charge of this country. They say breaking up the prairie for wheat has let the land blow because there are no grass roots to hold the soil down. We figure we've "done them their Indian wrong." They knew their prairie better than we.

Another thing we can't figure out is how Jim Ferguson can be so high in taxes and keep suggesting new, appointive commissions. Commissions cost money, and so would a boxing commission, which would probably do more harm than good, as it has developed in other states.

We perceive that state gubernatorial thunder may revolve around the "big company complex" in the not distant future.

Mrs. Gushaway regrets that school is soon to close. Always ready to let teachers and Sunday school folk keep the young 'uns out of mischief, she is a total loss as a director of recreation.

Walter Sikes, looking over our golf, shakes his head very disconsolately. But that's not the end of it; he's paid to look over people's golf while our boners in the rough are net temperamental liabilities.

Nature is a great evener. We've noticed that the bigger and fatter people are the less they seem to keep from losing weight. And the biggest animals are not carnivorous; that is, they don't have to run down their food.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Supr. R. B. Fisher, at a recent speech to the Parent-Teacher convention, recalled that it was in 1871 that Sir William Berkeley, the autocratic colonial governor of Virginia, made his famous statement on free schools and printing. He was referring to his superior officers sent from England and after setting forth some of the objectionable features of the situation, he uttered this pious prayer: "But thank God there are no free schools, nor printing, and I hope there will be none these hundred years, for if they had, the Lord would have made them obedient, hersey, and acts into the world and printing has divulged these and other libels against the best of governments. God keep us from both!"

BROADENED SCOPE

"The school as an institution originated in a narrow task—a merely intellectual one," Mr. Fisher pointed out. "Pupils were fortunate if their schools rose above an informal function. Now we are concerned to aid children and youth to become whole human beings and develop every aspect of body and mind."

Buckler Enters Finals of Chess Tournament

C. P. Buckler went into the finals in the Pampa Daily NEWS chess tournament last night by taking two out of three games from R. G. Allen. His opponent has not been decided.

Dr. Whittenberg and N. W. Gaut, playing in the other bracket did not finish their games last night and will have to play later this week. Their first game ended in a tie with both men having only their kings on the board. Dr. Whittenberg won the second game after a hard battle. The hour was so late that they decided to play the other game or games at a later date.

In winning his flight, Mr. Buckler came from behind. Mr. Allen won the first game, but Mr. Buckler settled down to take the next two and go into the finals.

RELIEF WORK STRESSED IN RESOLUTIONS

WEST TEXAS C. OF C. OPENS ANNUAL MEETING

LEGISLATURE IS PRAISED

STATE BOND ISSUE FOR RELIEF IS NOT FAVORED

By HARRY MONTGOMERY, Associated Press Staff Writer.
BIG SPRING, May 11. (AP)—West Texans from the Rio Grande to the northernmost counties of the Panhandle were gathered here today for annual convention of their regional chamber of commerce.

Registration began at 9 a. m. and the first session of the convention, a luncheon and directors, was arranged for the noon hour. Officials said there was every indication that attendance would be the largest in four or five years, or since the organization decided that its conventions should be devoted to business rather than entertainment.

The convention work committee passed a resolution urging federal officials to include highway building as a project for expenditure under the proposed federal public works program; that highways be designated as a principal project for work relief; inviting West Texas political subdivisions to avail themselves of the chamber's services in obtaining self-liquidating government loans; memorializing congress to make allotments to Texas on a basis of relief funds without the necessity of a state bond issue, and thanking Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and her relief committee for providing the establishment of emergency work conservation camps in Texas.

Car 'Dwellers' Stage Endurance Test With 'Cops'

JACKSON, Mich., May 11. (AP)—Ernest Moross' automobile with Moross and his wife barricaded inside, was chained to a post in a garage here today as the pair launched an endurance contest with state police. In protest, they said, against the cost of automobile license fees in the state.

Police stopped Moross last night when they said they found him driving without 1933 license credentials. Instead of surrendering, Moross and his wife obtained food, extra clothing and a small stove, locked themselves in their car, chained down the hood so police could not reach the motor, and awaited results.

I HEARD--

HUNDREDS GO TO WORK AGAIN IN TEXAS

JAPANESE BOMBER DROPS WARNINGS OVER FORBIDDEN CITY

CONQUEST OF LARGE CITIES IS THREATENED

PEIPING AND TIENSIN WILL BE INVADIED SAYS HANDBILLS

PEIPING, May 11. (AP)—A Japanese bombing plane roared over this forbidden city today and from it rained handbill warnings of war. Chinese machine gunners opened fire, but the plane, at a safe height, completed its mission and flew away.

"Our army," said the handbills, "takes pity on your ignorant soldiers, and delivers this solemn command: 'Cease opposing the Japanese and Manchukuoans. Break away from Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek.'"

If the Chinese fail to heed the "solemn command," the warning said then:

"The tragedy of Kopeckow will occur in Peiping and in Tientsin. The import of that was clear enough to the two million residents of this city. There were many casualties at Kopeckow."

The "Marshal Chiang" referred to is virtual dictator of the Chinese national government.

"Fellow Asiatics" was the salutation of the handbills. "Since we speak the same language and belong to the same race," it continued, "we should live and prosper together. Why should we slaughter each other?"

"If Chiang Kai-Shek continues to be violent and fails to repent his error, it is feared that tragedy will befall Peiping and Tientsin."

The height at which the plane flew made futile the fire of the machine guns, manned by policemen; but though its flight was high and its only bombardment was of handbills, the bomber created much concern, not only among the Chinese but also among the more than 1,200 Americans quartered here.

FUN, FOOLERY AND EVEN DIGNITY LEFT BY GRADUATING CLASS TO JUNIORS IN ENTERTAINING WILL

Upon our last moments, we, the seniors of thirty-three of Pampa High School, City of Pampa, and State of Texas, being of sound mind and memory, feel that we should do something to lighten the burdens of all unsophisticated juniors and other successors by leaving them a portion of the gigantic things which we have acquired during our four tiresome years which would be of no use to us in the future.

China's Exhibit Likely To Weld Friendly Spirit

A permanent link of understanding between the Chinese and American nations may be welded by China's exhibit at Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—A Century of Progress, which opens May 27, in the opinion of T. V. Soong, minister of finance for the Republic of China, who visited the fair.

With a large staff of financial advisors, China's financial chief stopped off in Chicago en route to Washington to confer with President Roosevelt on economic problems confronting China and the other great nations of the world. Following their Washington conferences, members of the Soong delegation will go to London for the International Economic Conference in June.

"It gives me great satisfaction to know that China is to have an exhibit," Mr. Soong said after inspecting the site of the Chinese village at the Exposition. "It is my great hope that this exhibit will stimulate the curiosity of the American people in modern China and show some of the things she is doing."

GAINS RANGE FROM FIVE TO 20 PER CENT

Factories Employing More Workers Daily

By The Associated Press.

THOUSANDS of employees went to work today with lighter step and a brighter outlook as a number of manufacturers, encouraged by business upturns, announced wage increases ranging from 5 to 20 per cent.

The raises were in keeping with President Roosevelt's appeal to employers to keep wages up and followed the trend established by other employers earlier this week.

In Pennsylvania 10 per cent pay boosts were announced by the Supreme Shirt company of Philadelphia, and the flour and feed brokerage firm of George E. Rogers & Company, of Pittsburgh, while the Berkowitz Shirt company of Uniontown added five per cent to its weekly wage envelopes.

In Akron, Ohio, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company announced that additional working hours would result in an increase of 12 1/2 per cent.

The largest single wage boost—20 per cent—was announced by the Planters Nut & Chocolate company of Suffolk, Virginia.

From Cleveland came reports that steel mills of that district had recalled from 10,000 to 20,000 men to work and provided employment for 5,000 more. Similar announcements were made by other leaders in various industries in different sections of the country.

At Cleveland also, ten member companies of the Independent Ice Cream Manufacturers' association announced a 10 per cent wage increase for 400 men and women employees whose aggregate weekly pay is $7,500.

A 5 per cent wage increase was instituted by the Ford dealers both of Cleveland and Summit county (Akron), Ohio, for their 475 employees.

BIG SPRING, May 11. (AP)—Two men wanted for the kidnaping of John F. Covey, Santa Fe station agent at Wilson and theft of his automobile April 7, were in custody of Sheriff Slaughter of Howard county today. One of the men was arrested yesterday at Hugo, Okla., with Covey's car. The other was arrested at Abilene.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

IN SPITE of the fact that the quail is able to fly with great speed, it seems to take to the air only when it is absolutely necessary. Dogs sometimes follow the quail for long distances, trailing behind by their scent on the ground. The bird has well-developed wings, but they are short and stubby, and rapid beating is necessary.

Chicago Hotels Ample To Take Care of Visitors

CHICAGO, May 11. —Chicago hotels are fully prepared to accommodate the world's fair visitors in the city's history this summer, due to the world's fair attraction. There will be no increase in prices for rooms or meals during the Exposition from their present "new deal" low levels.

These statements were made today by Edwin L. Brashears, operator of the world-famed Blackstone hotel, in announcing its reopening after a three months' period of renovating and redecorating. The hostelry, which practically overlooks the grounds of A Century of Progress Exposition, has the distinction of being Chicago's "home" of visiting elite and noted personages from all parts of the world.

A survey of the hotel situation in Chicago shows there are 61,000 transient rooms and 24,000 apartments in the city available to visitors to the world's fair, which is now scheduled to be opened by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on May 27. Mr. Brashears said, "In the 'loop' proper, there are 16,000 rooms. There are 14,000 transient rooms and 5,000 apartments of two to five rooms in the near North Side. The North Side has 16,000 transient rooms and 13,000 apartments, the West Side 2,000 rooms, and the South Side 13,000 rooms and 6,000 apartments.

In addition to these accommodations, there are more than 300,000 rooms available "in boarding houses" throughout the city.

The survey also shows that there are ample garage and parking space facilities in or near all the hotels in the "loop," as well as in the outlying districts, for visiting motorists.

Visitors to a Century of Progress. Mr. Brashears said, may be assured that there has never been any question in the minds of hotel operators in Chicago as to how the hundreds of thousands of tourists expected in the city this summer could be taken care of, comfortably and reasonably.

WHITLOW WINS FROM KARR IN SLOGGING BOUT

VERNON AND BRADLEY STAGE EXCITING BATTLE

Allen Whitlow, Indianapolis lightweight, and Frankie Karr of Fort Worth, put up one of the best boxing exhibitions at the Pla-Mor auditorium last night that has been seen here in some time. Whitlow won the decision with his offensive work and terrific punches. Karr put up the best exhibition he has given in a Pampa ring and proved to be Whitlow's toughest opponent since that youngster has been in Pampa.

Only 10 Horses Are Expected To Run at Pimlico

BALTIMORE, May 11. (P)—Only ten of the pre-race favorites today appeared likely to face the barrier Saturday for the mile and three-sixteenth classic test for three-year-olds at Pimlico.

Four of the first five in the Kentucky derby at Churchill Downs last week were considered certain starters along with four more strong contenders. In case of a wet track, the list may be increased to twelve with the addition of John E. Hughes' Silent Shot and the Wheatley stable's Utopian. A fast track will keep the pair in their winter.

Joe Vernon, local middleweight, weathered a storm of punches to stay six rounds with James Bradley, Fort Worth sensation. Vernon was the second boxer that has stayed the limit with Bradley in his last 25 major fights.

Other three-year-olds who are certain to start in the pre-race are: Lee Rosenberg's Kerry Patch, Brookmeade Stable's Inlander, Wheatley's Saboteur and fifth at Churchill Downs, also being groomed for the $25,000 added race.

Glen Riddle Farm's War Stripes and Adolphe Pon's Projectile were still in doubt as starters. Still more doubtful were S. W. Labrot's Rush Hour, Tedlu Stable's Buryalus, and W. S. Kilmer's Dark Knight. Shakh will pilot Ladysman and Pomponus, respectively. Pete Walls will guide Khayyam, Louis Schaefer will be up on Kerry Patch, Hank Mills will guide De Valera and Duke Bezzie will ride Inlander. Johnny Gilbert will be aboard War Stripes if he runs.

HANGING IN ARIZONA RAWLINS, Wyo., May 11. (P)—Taiton Taylor, Sheridan, Wyo., catleman, was hanged at the state penitentiary here today for the murder of William Embrey, homesteader. Taylor spent last night in writing letters to his mother and father in Gravette, Ark.

Claude E. Lynch of LeFors was able to leave Pampa hospital yesterday. of the infighting. The two boys stood toe to toe and threw leather many times during the fight and the crowd yelled itself down. The Fort Worth boy used a dangerous uppercut in the clinches but Whitlow's long left worked havoc with Karr on voluntary breaks. The last round was as fast as the first with neither boy appearing tired.

Bradley sent Vernon to the mat at the bell in the second round of the semifinal but the local boy came back strong in the third to have Bradley on the run. The start was fast and furious and fans expected a knockout in the first few rounds. Both landed solid blows in the opening round and again in the second. Vernon met one of Bradley's famous rights at the bell and was hurt bad.

Vernon saved himself the rest of the fight by using a long left that threw Bradley off balance and he was unable to land his haymaker. Vernon beat him to the punch repeatedly but took a lot of punishment. He had Bradley missing in the last two rounds. The fight was a return affair, Vernon having lost the previous week.

Little Fellow Wins Clyde Bowie, Hawkins Barber shop negro, spotted Speedball Jenkins of Campbell's barber shop 15 pounds and then beat him. The bout was the riot of the card. There was action in the main event from the first gong when Whitlow stepped from his corner and threw a few lefts into Karr's face. He followed his advantage with a couple of uppercuts and Karr started pedaling. Whitlow continued the aggression in the second round but Karr started to counter and red the infighting.

Crowd Is Happy Karr connected repeatedly in the clinches and had a little advantage

DALLAS TAKES MOUND BATTLE FROM HOUSTON

ONLY TWO GAMES NOW SEPARATE BUFFS AND GALVESTON

By BILL PARKER. Associated Press Sports Writer. Manager Carey Selph's Houston Buffaloes, who three days ago were leading the pennant race by a margin of four full games, are now only two in front of the Galveston Buccaneers.

The Buffaloes opened their northern invasion Wednesday night at Dallas and lost a 1 to 0 battle that was one of the season's finest mound duels. Salveson of Dallas and Cven-gros of Houston each allowed six hits and both were at their best with men on and dangerous hitters at bat.

The Steers in the ninth when Lou Brower scored from second on Binder's error of Salveson's grounder to shortstop. Binder raced in to scoop up the ball. He missed and, in reversing to pick up the ball, fell, allowing Brower to round third and gallop home with the only run. Two men were out at the time.

Combining Chamberlain's five-hit pitching with some husky swinging, the Galveston Buccaneers swept toward first place with a 4 to 2 decision over Fort Worth. Fort Worth scored two runs when Pinch Hitter Warren hit with the bases loaded, but that was as far as the Cats got. Governor and English led Galveston's attack with three hits each.

In a pitching duel, Nicholas of Oklahoma City bested Judge Schulz of Beaumont to win, 2 to 1. Beaumont collected only four hits. The Indians got to Schulz for seven hits, scoring the winning run in the ninth.

The San Antonio Missions staged a six-run rally in the fifth inning to beat Tulsa, 7 to 4. The Oilers outthit the Missions 12 to 10. It was the first victory for the Missions since they invaded the northern cities.

CLEVELAND IS WITH YANKEES ON TOP RUN

EASTERN CLUBS SEEM TO HAVE UPSET LEADERS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON. Associated Press Sports Writer. Due to the strength of the Cleveland Indians and a few other western clubs, the New York Yankees have surrendered their place of solitary splendor at the head of the American league standing for the first time in a few days over a year.

Cleveland, which held the lead for a few minutes last Sunday until the Yanks got back in the second game of a doubleheader, clambered up to share first place yesterday by beating the Boston Red Sox 4 to 2.

while the world champions were taking a 10-2 beating from the White Sox at Chicago. The situation might have been even worse for the Yanks but for a gate rally by the St. Louis Browns which downed Washington 5-0 and kept the Senators from taking a clear lead in the close race.

The Yanks couldn't do a thing with the canny offerings of Samuel Pond Jones, 40-year-old Chicago veteran. They garnered only six blows while the Sox, led by Al Simmons, pinned Lefty Gomez' ears back with a blast of base hits.

Philadelphia's Athletics hit the comeback trail as they started against the slipping Detroit Tigers and moved into fifth place by taking both games of a doubleheader, 3-2 and 6-4. Merrit Cain and Rube Walberg hurled good ball for the Mackmen.

Bad weather reduced the National league program to one doubleheader which saw the Cincinnati Reds wallop the tail-end Phillies twice and advance to four place with a .500 average. The scores were 10-7 and 4-3. Chuck Klein made a noble effort to stave off the defeats, walloping three home runs and batting in seven runs but he couldn't match Cincinnati's six-run rally in the sixth inning of the opener nor St. Johnson's fling in the nightcap.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wilson are the parents of a seven pound 8 ounce son, born at Worley hospital this morning.

SIGNS OF BETTER TIMES

The present moment is an excellent time for us of us to keep in mind the remark with which Mr. Roosevelt stepped into the White House—that the only thing we really have to fear these days is fear itself.

On the surface, the state of nation right now is ominous enough to scare almost anyone. Both the domestic and foreign horizons are dark with clouds. Any man who wanted to argue that the end of all things was about at hand could find plenty of material for his thesis.

But it would be very easy for us to concentrate on our troubles so thoroughly that we would fail to see how much real progress has actually been made.

Banks may be re-opening at a much slower rate than we had hoped; but the dreadful era of doubt and uncertainty is at least passed, and the banking problem today is not so much a matter of stopping a slide downhill as of accelerating a climb upward.

Unemployment and factory production figures may still be distressingly low; but such basic industries as steel and automobile manufacturing are showing better than seasonal up-trends, and there are signs that the rise in commodity and security prices are not entirely due to the talk of inflation.

The turmoil in Iowa testifies abundantly that agricultural discontent is still with us; but farm prices have turned upward, and the purchasing power of the farmer has been increasing ever since the middle of the winter.

The pendulum swings slowly, of course. The effects of four years of disaster cannot be wiped out overnight. But there are good reasons for believing that the swing back in the right direction has actually commenced, and that if we are not yet out of the woods we are at least getting to the point where a little more sunlight filters down through the branches overhead.

If we can just keep from getting jittery we ought to make out all right. There is no sense, of course, in denying that some things look very disconcerting. But unless we permit ourselves to get scared out of our senses, we ought to be able to find the right road and stay on it.

Houston County Biggest District Of State's 21

AUSTIN, May 11. (AP)—Population was one of the chief factors considered by the legislature in its revision of the state into 21 congressional districts. The populations of the proposed new districts range from 214,206 for the East Texas oil district to 359,328 for Harris county, based on the 1930 census.

Framers of the bill said there was no practical way to cut the size of the Harris county district. The county was not large enough to have two congressmen, and it was not considered feasible to give part of it to another district.

Outside of Harris and Dallas counties, containing the cities of Houston and Dallas, the largest district would be the ninth, now represented by J. J. Mansfield of Columbus.

Mansfield's new district would contain 323,009 people. Galveston county, now in the seventh, would be transferred to the ninth. The committee framing the bill had hoped to remove one or two counties from the district, but residents of those counties objected and they were left as at present.

Other districts having more than 300,000 people would be the 14th, represented by Richard Kleberg, of Corpus Christi, and the second, represented by Martin Dies of Orange. The average population was around 230,000.

Although the population of the proposed third district was only 214,206 in 1930, it probably is considerably greater today as a result of development of the East Texas oil field. Other than the East Texas district, the district with the smallest population based on the 1930 figures would be the El Paso district, containing 215,220 people.

National Finals Of Contest Will Be Held May 20

The winner of the semi-finals of the national oratorical contest at Kansas City, Saturday night, will compete in the national finals at Washington, D. C., May 20. From Washington, he will leave for Europe with five other winners of the finals.

The Kansas City contest will be presided over by Roland Boynton, attorney general of Kansas. The seven judges have not been announced but it is expected they will be men of prominence since the three judges in the Kansas-Missouri finals Saturday night were the lieutenant-governors of Kansas and Missouri and the chief justice of the Missouri supreme court. The Kansas-Missouri champion is John Phillips of Kansas City. The title of his oration is "The Living Constitution." Over 35,000 were eliminated in contests in Missouri and Kansas before Phillips won the right to enter Saturday night's event.

Other contestants Saturday night will be Henry Will Fullington of Pampa, a boy from Southern Illinois, a boy from Wisconsin, a boy from Billings, Mont., a boy from Okla. City and one other contestant from a territory to be named by the national management.

Randolph Leigh of Washington, national director of the contest, will select the extemporaneous subjects for the orators. Judges will be careful to name the contestant who will have the greatest chance of victory in the national finals.

Convention hall which seats 6,000 people is expected to be packed at the finals last Saturday night, 5,000 attended.

Henry Will Fullington and his coach, Mrs. W. J. Adkins of Pampa, will leave Pampa Friday afternoon for Kansas City.

Wheat at Dalhart Doubles in Price

DALHART, May 11. (AP)—Wheat has more than doubled in price on the Dalhart market since President Roosevelt took office, a check up here revealed. March 4, inauguration day, wheat on the Dalhart market was 29 cents a bushel. Last week-end it was 60 cents per bushel. ## Bones of Unknown Animal Are Found

QUANAH, May 11. (AP)—Bones of a large animal of unknown species have been unearthed on the farm of S. G. Bright who lives a few miles north of Quanah, and placed on display in a local newspaper office. There are two "horns" deeply grooved, part of skull, and thin and hip bones suggesting an animal of enormous size. Bright made the find in a creek bed covered with a layer of gypsum.

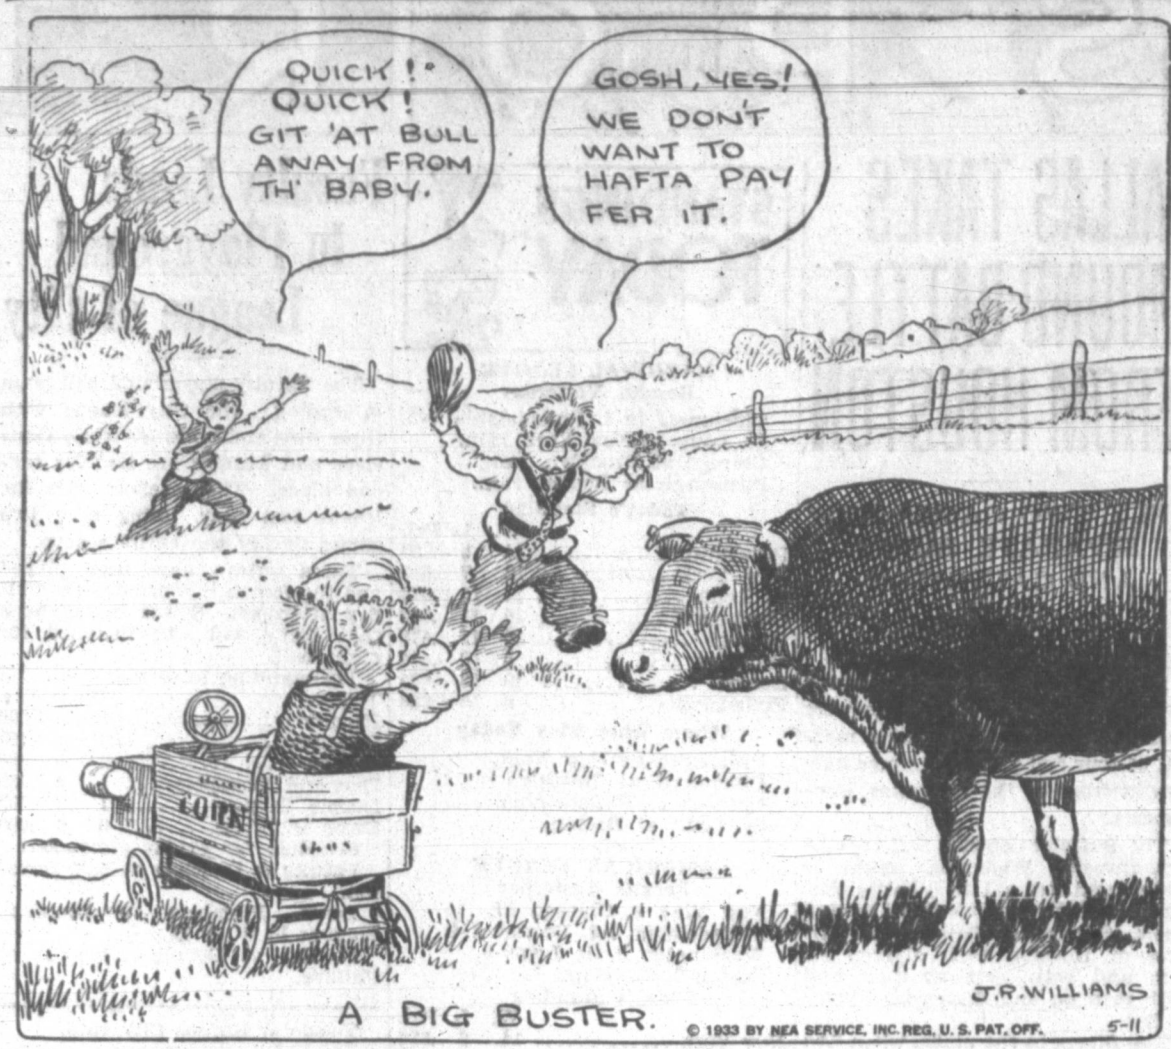

Several years ago bones of animals thought to be of ancient origin were found north of Acme. Many scholars and investigators for colleges have at different times been in this locality and at El Dorado, Oklahoma, where other gypsum beds are located, gathering data regarding the several finds of bones.

SUNDEAN'S SEARCH

LORN did not turn up until after lunch, and he came straight to me. The police, he said, were very busy, and things didn't look any too bright for me.

"There's one thing that may help you, however," he said. "And that's the gun. They are tracing it, and while it's rather slow work, still it may prove to have had no connection with you."

"May prove?" I said hotly. "I never saw that gun before. Which reminds me, I haven't any gun with me, and I need one."

"Need one?" murmured Lorn, looking morosely at me.

"Of course I need one," I said impatiently. "But I don't plan to shoot anybody with it, so you needn't look like that. Surely you've got more than one and can loan me one."

He finally admitted that he'd got two small automatics, and if I would do nothing rash with it he might be persuaded to lend me one. I was grimly amused at his using the word rash, which seemed altogether too mild in connection with the violence which occasioned it.

"Have the police traced the postion yet?" I asked.

"Not that I know of," said Lorn. "They've sent to the Paris laboratories. I did discover, however, that no car had been found."

"I had Miss Tully show me as nearly as she could the spot where she left her abductor's car, and it's quite close to the hotel, and a strange car has not been found. It's possible, of course, that if her abductor was in conspiracy with Lovschien he used Lovschien's car. But there's no way we can make sure."

"Either that or the abductor went back to his car and drove away, and the murdered man was not her abductor—and thus, then, his death was not necessarily connected in any way with Miss Tully."

"Possibly," said Lorn.

I wished momentarily I could get out of my head Mrs. Byng's unexpected story of the lights going out and Sue and said:

"The man in the courtyard may have been the priest?"

"Ah—" said Lorn. He was looking at the blank white paving at his feet, but his voice had a kind of "now-you're-getting-warm" feeling about it.

"What's your opinion of his taking the trouble to arrange a false alibi?" I asked.

"Well," said Lorn cautiously, "it's not an argument for his innocence."

"He says he wished to keep entirely clear of the whole affair; it seems he dreaded any connection with it on account of his position. A mere matter of discretion, according to him."

"Oh," said Lorn, giving me a quick look. "So you taxed him with it. Do you think it was wise to let him know your suspicions?"

"I could only place me in danger," I said. "And that, in the last three days, has been nothing unusual. Besides," I added maliciously, "I shall have my revolver."

"Not," said Lorn, suddenly firm, "if you're going to use it. Besides, it's only two days and three nights. This is the third day."

"You think that if we push this matter about the priest too far before we can actually prove he is the murderer—"

"—he's apt to take the—er—swiftest way to get what he wants."

"Yes," said Lorn quietly. "And having killed twice, the murderer isn't going to be too careful not to kill again. Of course, though, I'm not saying it was the priest—or rather, if you are right so far, the man who poses as a priest. I'm not even saying that the same person killed both men, although it is a probability."

"But the time—" I said impatiently.

"Not so much time has elapsed, Sundeau. It seems long, of course, but it's really been very short."

"If Miss Tully were only out of it—" I said thoughtfully.

"Yes," said Lorn. "I agree with you there. I made a mistake in upholding her in her decision. I know her brother, and it will be a difficult thing to prove her to him if she deviates from his definite instructions—he's that kind of fellow."

"But at the same time I've come to the conclusion that I was wrong; I was seeing only my side of it—you understand, Sundeau, that in a sense I'm her brother's representative. I think it's only fair to her to urge her to go—tell the police the whole thing, if she will."

"I don't like the looks of things, Sundeau. I'm doing what I can. But I don't like it. Not a bit. After all," he added in a morose business-like way—"after all, Mr. Tully wouldn't thank me for letting his sister be—"

"Then you are going to tell her she'd better ask the police to let her leave?"

"Yes."

"That's good," I said. "Now then, about the priest—and did you know that Lovschien refused to give Miss Tully the envelope out of his safe?"

We talked for some time. I think I managed to convince him that the priest's good faith was at least questionable; and he agreed with me that Lovschien's excuse about the combination of the safe was pure fiction and not too artistic fiction at that.

HE rose finally to leave; buttoning his brownish tweed coat and turning up the collar and pulling down his hat before facing the wind from which the court was a little protected, and thus only his nose and deep-set eyes showed, and he looked suddenly much more aggressive and dependable.

A gust of wind followed him out of sight. It was growing colder in the court. With the early approach of night, the wind had begun to grow stronger and more vicious in its sudden gusts. To this day a sudden cold whipping of the wind will snatch my memory back in an instant to those mad days at Armeuse.

Another gust of wind blew dust in my face and whipped the caps of a policeman out beyond the wall as if to warn me of his watching presence, and I rose and entered the hotel.

Lovschien was at the desk stroking the cockatoo with one hand and adding accounts with the other. The lounge was bare and empty and cold—somehow, we all managed to eschew the lounge that day.

The tiny elevator stood dark and empty, with its doors open behind the little iron gate as if to show that now no one was hiding there.

There were voices in the parlor, however, and I swerved to glance through the door. Mrs. Byng, her eyebrows traveling agitatedly, was there, knitting furiously; Grethe's predatory red head was bent over some lace she was making, and she looked unwontedly quiet. Sue was reading something aloud, in a clear and quite steady voice.

I could not fathom the look in Grethe's green eyes; I was not particularly taken with Mrs. Byng, although I felt a little sorry for her. But at that moment I heartily admired them all. It took courage to sit quietly there in the musty parlor so near the lounge where Marcel had died, with the gloom and silence and secrecy of the old hotel enclosing them.

Father Robert was sitting near the bar (in a room which always managed to look particularly bare and cold with its garish old catenars and desolate bar) reading his perpetual newspaper. And as I turned toward the stairway Marianne passed me with a whisk of her white apron, on her way kitchenward.

The coast then was clear.

Most of the afternoon I spent in the gloomy upper reaches of the old hotel. The north wing I did not immediately approach, for it had no third floor, as did the rest of the hotel; I knew the bedroom floor fairly well already, and on the ground floor there were merely storerooms which I knew had been examined.

But, then, the whole place had been searched—how thoroughly I did not know. Certainly searching the great dark rambling place for clues was very like searching for a needle in a haystack.

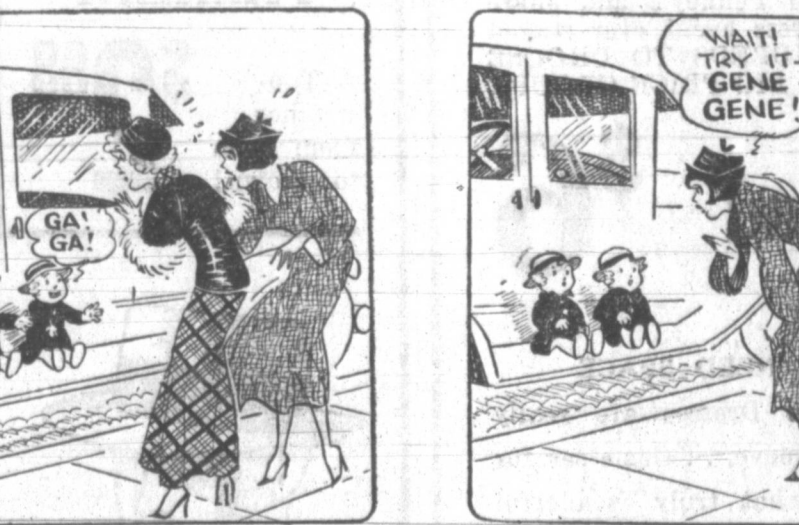

It was by no means a pleasant afternoon, for I was gradually convinced that I was surreptitiously accompanied in my search, although I do not know to this day who accompanied me except that it must have been one of two people.

World War Vets Are Urged Wear Memorial Poppy

All world war veterans of Pampa were urged to pay honor to their fallen comrades by wearing a memorial poppy on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 27, in a message issued today by Lewis O. Cox, commander of the Pampa Post of the American Legion. Commander Cox declared that the wearing of the poppy is the individual way to show remembrance for the war dead and devotion to the ideals for which they gave their lives. The message stated:

"On Saturday, May 27, America will pay its annual tribute to the men who gave their lives in defense of the country in 1917 and 1918 by wearing the memorial poppy. I am sure that every world war veteran and all other patriotic citizens of Pampa will wear this token of remembrance on that day. Wearing the poppy means that we have not forgotten our comrades who fell amid the poppies of France and that we are carrying on for America in their spirit.

The poppies will be offered on the streets here by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary, our wives, mothers, sisters and daughters. They have volunteered for this work, giving their services without thought of personal gain. Disabled veterans have made the poppies which they will distribute, and the contributions they will receive will go entirely to the relief of needy veterans and veterans' families. Be sure not only to wear a poppy on Poppy Day, but be sure to wear an American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary poppy."

Museum Visited By 7,250 People In First Month

CANYON, May 11.—On May 14, the Panhandle-Plains Historical society will have been open one month. Already 7,250 people have registered in the visitors' book and Professor L. F. Sherry is sure that by next Sunday the list will be 8,000 or more.

Members of the history faculty of the West Texas State Teachers college give several hours of their free time each week in order to keep the museum open from two to six each Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday.

Last Sunday nearly 700 people from 12 states visited the building. Among the visitors were E. B. Howard, specialist in the field of paleontology of the University museum, Philadelphia; H. E. Nelvinger, curator of the Denver museum; Mr. and Mrs. Howard-Nobek of Chicago, Mrs. William H. Bush and Emeline Bush and Frank F. O'Brien of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Luther and John W. Newbaker of New York.

Dr. E. B. Howard, who is well acquainted with museums over the nation, stated Sunday that he was much surprised at the accomplishment of this historical society in the 12 years of its existence. He said that there was a wonderful future in store for the organization and that museums elsewhere would be interested in the collections brought together here.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

The PORPOISE IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN THE CAUSE OF THE ANCIENT SEA SERPENT TALES. PORPOISES, SWIMMING IN SINGLE FILE, RESEMBLE A HUGE, WINDING SERPENT.

ONE OF THE WORLDS MOST DANGEROUS JOBS IS THAT OF FILLING RADIUM NEEDLES FOR HOSPITAL USE. AFTER THREE MONTHS EMPLOYED AT THIS TASK, A WORKER MUST TAKE THREE MONTHS VACATION.

THE PORPOISE travels in schools of from six to twelve, and a single file of six or more of these creatures could easily be mistaken for a great monster, 50 or 60 feet long, looping its way through the seas. The porpoise is not a fish, but a mammal, and many of its curious, rolling antics are done in the spirit of play.

Father Slays 2 Daughters, Then Kills Himself

EL RENO, Okla., May 11. (AP)—A father's anger ended a school girl "joy ride" in murder and suicide at a cemetery here yesterday.

Ed Etheridge, 40-year-old farmer, shot and killed his daughter, Bernice, 12, fatally wounded her sister, Elinor, 13, and then killed himself. "Father shot us because we went out with two boys he didn't want us to," officers quoted Elinor as saying before she died in a hospital last night.

The boys, Woody Renfro, high school basketball star, and Charley Clark, also a high school student, were not harmed. After Etheridge had pursued the young couples on horseback, the girls left the boys' car at the edge of town and started walking to their home nearby.

Their father rode to meet them, dismounted and shot the girls with a pistol. Then he killed himself.

Gold Hunting Is All-Season Task On McCamey Ranch

MCCAMEY, May 11. (AP)—Hunting for gold is an all season occupation in West Texas, according to Cody Bell, whose ranch near Castle Gap is such a favorite field that he has had to frame regulations and permit entrance only through a gate near his home.

Gold hunters have dug over two or three sections of land in the last few years. Bell does not permit tourists to enter his place from the point nearest the McCamey-Crane road, for he has erected a wolf proof fence for his sheep. They may enter on the other side, however.

It is said that a band of Indians used to load gold trains coming from the west in the region of the treasure hunts. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Leech, B. E. Finley and A. A. Hyde will go to Amarillo this evening to attend a banquet in honor of Dr. C. W. Kerr, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church.

Rembert has been sentenced to two years and Lewis to three years.

A turbine type centrifugal pump of 1500 gallon capacity has been installed, with a 15-30 tractor furnishing the power. Next year Churchhill plans another well of 2000 gallons per minute capacity.

This year Churchhill will grow on his tract 25 acres of Irish potatoes, eight of onions, 20 of white beans, five of alfalfa, five tomatoes, 60 of cotton, 10 of Indian corn and 25 acres of feed crops, all under irrigation.

Much Wheat On South Plains Is Held By Farmers

LUBBOCK, May 11. (AP)—Between 100,000 and 150,000 bushels of wheat from the 1932 crop is believed by grain men to be still in the hands of South Plains farmers, according to a survey of local offices.

Reports indicate large holdings of wheat by farmers between Lubbock and Crosbyton, especially at Lorenzo and Ralls. At all points between Lubbock and Lockney on the Fort Worth and Denver there is said to be considerable wheat held, either on the farms or in farmer owned elevators. The same condition is

Baby Contest Is Again Success at Mitchell's Store

Babies and their mothers crowded the Mitchell store yesterday afternoon when its annual baby contest ended and prizes were awarded the most popular and the prettiest babies.

Votes during the past four weeks decided the most popular babies, said to exist between Plainview and Dimmitt. Not so much is being held on the Santa Fe main line between Farwell and Lubbock and very little in Lubbock's immediate territory. It is expected that most of the country elevators will be emptied before the new crop starts moving late in June.

L. B. Curtis of Big Lake is visiting here for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Isley of LeFors were Pampa shoppers yesterday.

Darrel Husted, 23 months, was first and Carla Jo Mason, 10 months, second for children under two years. David Plank, two and a half years old, was first in the other group.

Mary Keough, 11 months, was awarded the prize for the prettiest baby under two years, and Hattie Morrell, 5, the prettiest from two to six years. Marjorie and Margaret Wilson were decided the prettiest twin girls, and the Hunter twins the prettiest boys. Joan Schwartz held the lucky number among the 117 babies registered.
