ROOSEVELT ASKS 'NO-GOLD' LAW

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

By O.E.H.

TWINKLES

Fish are biting at Red river, so anybody having business with Judge Ivy Duncan should see him at once before he reads this item and starts for New Mexico.

Note to Dan Gribbon. We played a practice nine holes and we expect to change. We are sure to expect to see you may have as to next Sunday's play is entirely groundless.

Note to J. W. Brumley. Forget Odus Mitchell's golfing luck. If you expect it to change. We've known him for 14 years and the most consistent thing about him is that same luck. If that's what it is. And when he has a bit of poor luck, watch out.

Lubbock hasn't changed that perpetual Pampan. Brownie Akers. We therefore deduct that Brownie has changed Lubbock a bit since he moved down there.

Pampa "gets into the bloc." Mr. and Mrs. John Oakes, who recently moved to Bristow, Okla., conclude a letter as follows: "We are surely enjoying so many beautiful trees and the roses are beautiful, but we still think of Pampa as the friendliest place in which we ever lived."

Our weather records show that anybody can predict rain most any time between now and July 10 and hit it much of the time. All you would be rivals of Friday Brandin and this writer should start prophesying.

THIS IS DEPLORABLE

Roy Bourland, chairman of the crop loan committee, is giving much time he can ill afford to spend in helping farmers obtain federal relief. Mr. Bourland himself needs relief from a situation which only his generosity and desire to help brought about. He volunteered to help farmers obtain good cotton seed for planting. Time was short and when orders were left with him he immediately sent for the seed. Orders totaling about 200 bushels have never been called for and it looks as if he were "stung" for that amount. He sought no profit but he stands to take a substantial loss. Knowing as we do how much time he gives to the public, we feel as he must that "love's labor lost." If anyone has need of seed cotton, he should see Mr. Bourland at once.

TIME TO REST

The Pampa Lions club will place three benches in the city park. We wonder if any of the members, depression-worried and all, will ever find time to sit on them after they are placed. Anyway, it's a good idea and the Lovelorn, the tired housewives, and visitors can enjoy the seats. Actually, we know of no class of persons who could with more logic take a seat in the park more moonlight night and ponder on the scheme of the universe, the relative insignificance of man's doings than the so-called tired business men. Next to this edifying experience, we would rate a leisurely round of golf with friends of another profession. "AS WE JOURNEY THROUGH LIFE, LET US LIVE BY THE WAY." (The last comma is ours.)

BUY A POPPY

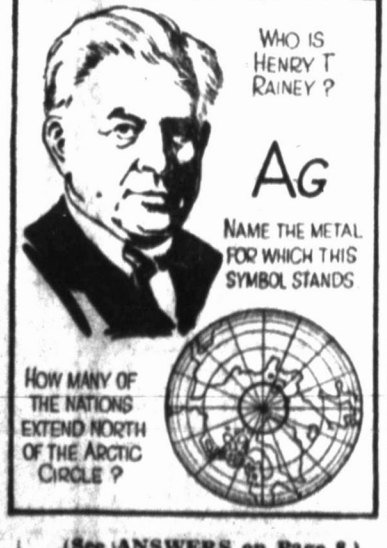

Tomorrow is Poppy day. Poppies grow in fields where shot and shell made days and nights hideous. The sacrifice of those who fell among the poppies is not often enough remembered. Wearing of a poppy sold by ladies of the Legion Auxiliary means more than sentiment; furthermore, since the small red flowers are made by disabled veterans as part of a rehabilitation program. Don't forget the sentiment, the practical significance, and the day. BUY A POPPY TOMORROW.

OBSTACLES IN THE PATH OF PEACE. Back of the difficulties which lie in the road of the disarmament conferences at Geneva lies the simple fact that the ordinary citizen of the world doesn't know what he really wants.

Between mankind and the achievement of a fair degree of disarmament there are only intangible obstacles; such things as suspicion, prejudice and misunderstanding.

On the surface, no such inability exists. Ask any man, in any land, what he wants his government to give him and he will reply that he wants prosperity, order, security, a chance to get and hold a decent job, make a decent living and bring up his children in conditions that will insure the same things for them when they are grown.

Simple, isn't it? But it isn't hard to demonstrate that we don't really want those things at all; or, if we do, we take some extremely peculiar ways of going after what we want.

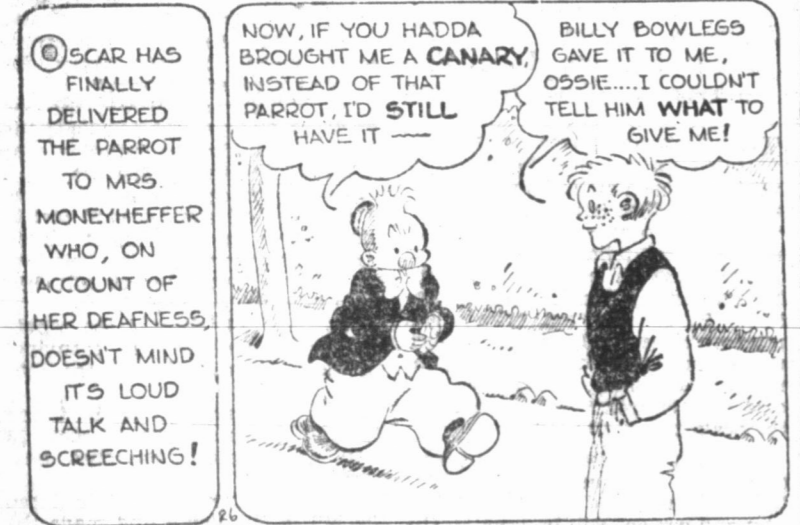

It is perfectly clear by this time, for instance, that no nation can truly "win" a prolonged war under modern conditions. The loser is doomed to certain revolution, chaos and long drawn-out misery; the victor has more than a fair chance of getting all of those things, and even if he misses them he is bound to get unemployment, recurring tides of deflation and inflation, economic distress and political disturbance.

You can hardly find a man who will not admit the truth of that statement. And if that statement is true, it follows inescapably that war is the surest of all ways for the ordinary man to lose all of those things that he most desires.

Yet we refuse to take the definite steps which will remove the danger of war. We admit that these things may be true, but we insist that we must have large armies and navies so that if war does come we can be the victors. Since all of us—Americans, British, French, Germans and Japanese—feel the same way, we go whirling merrily along toward new wars and the destruction of our fondest hopes.

If we really want the things that we say we want, we shall make a complete success of the disarmament conference. The trouble is that we aren't as desirous of those things as we think we are.

AMERICAN WHO FOUGHT IN WAR OF '98 HEADS CUBAN REBELS

OLD WARRIOR FIGHTS RULE OF DICTATOR

FACTIONS DISCUSSING PLANS FOR GENERAL UPRISING

HAVANA, May 26. (AP)—An American who fought for Cuban independence from Spain before the Spanish-American war was identified as a leader in the present rebellion against President Machado.

He is Col. Charles Muecke, more than 60 years old and blind in one eye, hard-bitten campaigner of Guerrilla warfare days.

A dispatch from Camaguey said six rebels who surrendered there to federal forces asserted they were members of fighting outfits jointly commanded by Colonel Muecke and Ismael Sanchez, a Cuban. The command is operating around Cubanacan, Camaguey province.

Other reports said Santa Clara delegates of the radical revolutionary party were attempting to persuade rebels in that province to return to their homes.

A communication to headquarters here urged co-operation in inducing Juan Blas Hernandez, who heads approximately 250 men in southwestern Santa Clara province, to call off active hostilities until a general uprising is ordered.

Various factions of the opposition to the regime of President Machado continued discussion of a proposed truce on terrorism.

Leaders of the ABC and the OCCR, secret opposition societies, explained the delay was due to the

Among the passages to be read from the Bible will be the following from Isaiah 55: "For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts."
The lesson-sermon will also include citations from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," one of which will be as follows (p. 482): "Anatomy, when conceived of spiritually, is mental self knowledge, and consists in the dissection of thoughts to discover their quality, quantity, and origin. Are thoughts divine or human? That is the important question. This branch of study is indispensable to the excision of error. The anatomy of Christian Science teaches when and how to probe the self-inflicted wounds of selfishness, malice, envy, and hate. It teaches the control of mad ambition. It unfolds the hallowed influences of selflessness, philanthropy, spiritual love."

Bill To Increase School Age Killed

AUSTIN, May 26. (AP)—A bill to increase the minimum scholastic age from six to seven years had been defeated by the legislature today. The house rejected a senate proposal to change the existing law.

Representative A. M. Alkin of Paris said the bill was aimed at rural education. He said it would eliminate many rural schools from taking advantages of state aid by reducing their enrollment to a point where they could not claim rural school money offered by the state.

YES, IT'S THE TOBACCO THAT COUNTS

Camel's costlier tobaccos are milder

Health is half of success

Few men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment: constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the vim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red and green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY TO SUPPLY SUMMER READING DEMAND

MORE PATRONS TAKE CARDS AS SUMMER BEGINS

SHELVES GET 33 NEW BOOKS, MORE ARE ORDERED

READING will be a favorite recreation for Pampans, old and young, during the summer, recent increase in library patronage indicates. New cards are being issued daily to both adults and children, Mrs. James Todd Jr., librarian, reports.

New books are being secured to care for the larger demand. A consignment of 33 books for adults is being placed on the shelves this week, and a shipment of children's books, ordered recently, is expected soon.

Vacation Readers
More child readers were expected with the start of school vacations, Mrs. Todd said, but the recent rush of adult patrons was unexpected. She believes that unemployment, with added leisure time for dozens of persons, is responsible.

More than 2,000 persons now hold library cards here, the librarian says, and the reading room is always occupied by men and women absorbed in books, magazines, or newspapers.

New Novels
Books for adults, purchased locally and ready for issuing, are as follows:

The Gods Arrive, Wharton; The Phantom With Wings of Gold, Ibanez; Planning a Trip Abroad, Hagerford; Through Europe on $2 a Day, Schoonwaker; An American in Tragedy, Dreiser; Saga of Billy the Kid, Burrus; Backwater, Stripling; Above the Dark Tumult, Walpole; Mirthful Haven, Turkington; The Winding Lane, Gibbs; Bystander, Gorki; Lucy Anderson, Martin.

KIWANIS CLUB DANCE TONIGHT WILL BENEFIT ITS CHILDREN'S FUND WITH ENTIRE PROCEEDS

Music and Dancing Floor Donated For Event

DANCERS who enjoy the entertainment sponsored by the Kiwanis club at the Schneider hotel ballroom this evening will know that their pleasure means also health and happiness for underprivileged children here.

Entire proceeds of the dance will go to the club's underprivileged children's fund, which has already made possible operations for more than 100 children whose families could not afford the medical attention necessary for their health.

Music for this evening will be donated by the Thrill Harmony orchestra, local organization, and the ballroom will be free through the courtesy of Alex Schneider. Without these expenses, receipts of the dance are expected to add materially to the fund.

Invitations were mailed early this week, and a large crowd of dancers is expected.

BEER ON SALE
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 26 (AP)—Three point two beer flowed here today.

The sale of the nationally legalized beverage appeared after District Judge Milton J. Helmick in a decision handed down late yesterday declared the 3.2 beer to be non-toxicating and freed E. E. Ham of Albuquerque who was charged with selling the beer. The beverage was placed on sale at restaurants, cafes, and soft drink stands.

Club Mayfair In Closing Meeting

Club Mayfair discontinued its meetings for the summer after a delightful bridge breakfast yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. P. O. Sanders.

Mrs. Arthur Swanson scored high and Mrs. Clyde Fatheree second high in the games that followed the breakfast.

The entire club membership was present. In addition to Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Fatheree, players were Misses Ruth Ann Mitchell, Virginia Faulkner, Margaret Buckler; Mesdames Edward H. Damon, W. J. Smith, T. R. Martin, Lynn Boyd, Julian Barrett, John Sturgeon, and Leroy Miller.

Club Women Are Congratulated on Radio Broadcast

Club women of the seventh district, as well as friends in Pampa, congratulated members of the Council of Clubs who yesterday presented a program during the federated club hour of station WDAG, Amarillo.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, active in federated clubs of the district, as well as of this city, was featured in an address on Club Leadership, at the request of district federation officials.

She was assisted by members of women's musical organizations here, Mrs. W. A. Bratton and Mrs. A. H. Doucette contributed vocal solos, and Mrs. Raymond Harrah musical readings.

A trio from the Treble Clef club, comprising Mesdames Philip Wolfe, J. W. Garman, and A. W. Mann, sang two numbers, as did the Pampa Triple Trio, Mesdames A. N. Dilley Jr., Bratton, Chaffin, Doucette, Dodson, Harrah, Charles Thut, Tom Rose, and Lynn Boyd, directed by Miss Loma Groom.

Mrs. J. F. Gurtis was accompanist for the trio, and Mrs. May Foreman Carr for the triple trio.

Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Sawyer and family left today for Maud, Okla., to attend the funeral of Mrs. Sawyer's brother, J. A. Cuff. They will return Sunday.

D. W. Lee of Skellytown transacted business here Thursday.

Mrs. Morrow Has Club for Guests

Tables were set with green and white and lighted with green tapers for the attractive salad course served before the games when Mrs. J. T. Morrow entertained the Merry Mixers club yesterday afternoon.

The same colors were used in the bridge appointments. Mrs. Ben Reno made high score, and Mrs. Noel Reynolds low in the games.

Players were Mesdames B. C. Fahy, Joe Berry, C. D. Hunter, Otto Patton, Johnny Weeks, Weldon Wilson, Newton Smith, T. G. Green, Shelby Gantz, Reno, Reynolds, and the hostess.

Mrs. Patton will be next club hostess, at her home east of Pampa.

Colonial Theme Used for Party

The hostess stressed the colonial theme in tallies, table appointments, and room decorations when the Jolly Eight bridge club met with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Collins Thursday evening.

Five games of bridge were played, with the women again leading the scoring contest. This contest will close with the next meeting, which will be with Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Drew on June 8.

A salad course was served last evening to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bourland, special guests, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yealy, Mr. and Mrs. Finis Jordan, the host and hostess.

END OF COUNTY CHILD HEALTH ROUNDUP SHOWS MORE THAN 200 PROSPECTIVE PUPILS EXAMINED

Nurse Leaves After Working in Six Rural Schools

MISS OLGA EURESH, state itinerant health nurse, left yesterday after directing roundups for pre-school children in a county program sponsored by Parent-Teacher associations, in which more than 100 children in rural school districts were given physical examinations.

Mothers, children who will start their school careers next fall, and physicians were brought together under Miss Euresh's direction in roundups for Laketon, Farrington, Keplinger, Webb, Beck, and Eldridge schools. Records for each child were given the parents, listing physical defects found and desirable habits to be formed before the child starts to school.

Reports of the number of children examined, the number of defects discovered, and the physically perfect youngsters, are being prepared by Mrs. W. B. Murphy, county chairman of Parent-Teacher associations. Its health program will be continued by the Parent-Teacher association through the summer, with the aim of seeing all possible defects corrected in pre-school children before next term starts.

DODGERS HAVE COLLAPSED IN RECENT GAMES

BROOKLYN PUSHED IN SEVENTH PLACE BY CINCINNATI

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.
The Brooklyn Dodgers, who looked for a while like one of the important teams of the National league, have undergone a thorough process of deflation since they began to tour the western half of the circuit.
After winning the first three games in the West, the Dodgers turned around and lost five out of six to Chicago and Pittsburgh and then ran in to a 4-1 defeat in their first game at Cincinnati yesterday that dropped them into seventh place.

The Dodgers' hitters haven't been hitting; the outfield has been notoriously weak on offense; they had a bad spot in the infield, which seems to have been remedied by shoving Jimmy Jordan from Jersey City in at shortstop after both Glen Wright and Jake Flowers failed to fill the bill; and their pitching went sour all at once.

The victory sent Cincinnati into fourth place again as the Chicago Cubs knocked Boston's Braves loose from their first division berth with a 3-0 victory behind Pat Malone's two-hit hurling and jumped up from seventh to fifth, a half game behind the Reds.
The first three clubs in the standing were idle as New York and Pittsburgh were rained out and St. Louis and Philadelphia had an open date.

The American league's feature game presented the familiar spectacle of Lefty Grove stepping in to save a game for the Athletics. He did it for the fifth consecutive game, pitching the last four innings as the A's beat the Detroit Tigers 4-3 in 12 frames and moved into a tie with the Chicago White Sox for third place.

Washington regained second place by pasting three St. Louis pitchers for 14 hits and a 7 to 2 victory while Al Crowder pitched six-hit ball to win his seventh victory. Cleveland's four-game losing streak ended in Boston when the Indians edged out a 3-2 victory in a mound duel between Mel Harder and Gordon Rhodes.

The opener between the White Sox and the New York Yankees was halted by wet grounds.

Rotarians And Lions To Play Off Tie Sunday

Another big battle will rage over the Country club golf course Sunday afternoon when teams representing the Rotary and Lions clubs meet to play off the tie which resulted in the three-way tournament won by the Kiwanis club last Sunday. Play will start soon after 1 o'clock.
Players will not be re-matched but will play the same opponent they met last Sunday. Members of the winning Kiwanis team have been invited to play around with other players and act as judges or what-its. The same caddies will be named, if they are able to make another 18 holes.
Captain C. T. Hunkapillar of the Rotary team has been "pulling a shenanigan" on the Lions according to Dr. H. H. Hicks, captain of the roaring gentlemen. The doctor claims that "Hunky" had his team out practicing while he attended the Lions convention.
Both teams ended the tournament last Sunday with 17 points. The Kiwanians were out in front with 20 points.

Oklahoma City Beats Cats 8-6

By The Associated Press.
Rainy weather caused postponement of three Texas league games Thursday and in the other Oklahoma City defeated Fort Worth, 8 to 6. It was Oklahoma City's second consecutive victory over the invading Panthers.

Don King, diminutive left-hander, pitched good ball for the Indians until near the end of the game, when his control became erratic and he allowed six batters to walk.
In the ninth inning he was replaced by Lang, who walked two men before settling down. In the ninth Fort Worth scored three runs on walks.

The Panthers got but six hits off King, while the Indians were pounding Chambers and White for a total of 13.
Houston had been scheduled to play at San Antonio, Beaumont at Galveston, and Dallas at Tulsa.

Moreland Goes To Semi-Finals of Golf Tournament

HOUSTON, May 26. (P)—Gus Moreland, defending champion from Dallas, swept into the semi-finals of the Texas Golf association championship today with a 2 up victory over Jimmy Phillips of Ranger.

Moreland turned one up and stuck to his slender lead through the back nine, winning the 18th with a par four to increase his victory.
Moreland shot a 39-36-75. Phillips had a 39-37-76.

Moreland meets Reynolds Smith, Dallas champion, in the semi-finals today. Smith eliminated David "Spec" Goldman of Houston yesterday, Cessie Carlton of Houston yesterday, and Dick Nauta, Houston city champion, 5 and 4.

In the semi-finals Carlton will meet Harold Cohn of Houston who

Mags May Use Rogers, A New Hurler, Sunday

The fast Wheeler baseball team will come to Pampa Sunday afternoon for a game with the Magnolia "Mags" at Magnolia park at the end of East Foster avenue. The game will be called at 3 o'clock and admission will be 25 cents.

Manager Howard Buckingham has been working his team hard this week and will field a fast combination, he declares. He has not decided whether he will start Burke or Rogers in the box. The elongated Rogers made an excellent showing in the seven innings he pitched in McLean last Sunday and it may be that he will be ready to go the distance Sunday afternoon here.

Burke is also improving with practice and will be ready if Rogers fails to start.
Weaknesses in fielding were worked on this week and a smoother defensive combination is assured fans. The team has many dangerous batters that are liable to break up ball games at any time. The starting lineup will probably be the same that has represented the "Mags" since the opening of the season.

Boy Fatally Shot By Highway Officer

BRYAN, May 26. (P)—Horace Lovell, 17, was dead today of a bullet wound inflicted by State Highway Patrolman J. N. Avery. The officer said the youth, who was armed with a pistol, was shot while resisting arrest. He was the son of John Lovell of Austin.

The shooting occurred while Patrolman Avery and other officers were searching for two men who held up a filling station in Bryan yesterday. The robbers were pursued to Wellborn, where they abandoned their car.

BILIOUSNESS

"My trouble was biliousness—the whole spring and summer I was almost down, felt so sluggish, tired and dizzy," writes Mr. E. W. Taylor, of Joplin, Mo. "I remembered that at one time Black-Draught had helped me. I went to the drug store and bought a package and began taking it at night. After then, I felt as well as anyone. I am full of pep and get out on the farm and do a real day's work, so I feel that I owe my good health to the use of Black-Draught."

Women Ready to Start Poppy Day Sales Tomorrow

Tomorrow America will pay honor to its world war dead. Millions of Americans in every part of the country will wear bright red poppies to show that they still remember and are grateful for the services of the men who gave their lives in defense of the country fifteen years ago. Here in Pampa the women of the Pampa unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will distribute memorial poppies in all parts of the city throughout the day. Preparations for Poppy day were completed today by the local Auxiliary women. A large corps of volunteer workers was ready to take the streets early tomorrow morning with the city's share of the memorial poppies. Women from other organizations have offered their help to the Auxiliary and are enrolled on the Auxiliary's poppy squads. School girls will distribute poppies by the side of grey-haired Gola Star mothers whose sons died among the poppies in France. The women of the city will be united in a patriotic effort as they were in the world war days. The poppies which the Auxiliary will distribute tomorrow have been made by disabled world war veterans working under Auxiliary supervision at the veterans hospital at Legion, Texas. The employment that the Auxiliary has been able to give these men has helped them provide food and fuel for their families during the period when they could not possibly have found other employment. How soon the poppy making can be started again depends on the public response to tomorrow's sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hoare and son, Bobby, and Omno Behrends were Borger visitors yesterday afternoon.

Hot Weather And Beer Brewing Back

For several years, beer and hot weather have been associated in this vicinity. With public opinion in an unsettled state on the beer question, the amount of home-brewing is giving appearance of being larger than ever this summer. The sheriff's office is stacked high with bottles and crockery seized by sheriff's and constable's officers. Charges of possession have been filed against Mrs. Bessie McQuery, T. O. Thompson, and L. A. Shook, all released on $500 bond.

Puts the Jinx on Body Odor!

Science Says Good-Bye to Medicine-Smelling Soaps!

Science has made a new discovery about body odor. It is caused by stale perspiration curds, and requires deep-pore cleansing. It cannot be ended by ordinary soaps, because their sluggish lathers cannot reach into the pores and cleanse them. Instead the soap combines with the waste material and forms clogging curds!

Kirk's Coco Castile soap works in an entirely different way. No matter how hard the water, this 100% pure vegetable oil soap breaks instantly into a searching, bubbly lather. This bubbly lather cleans deep into the pores, actually removes the embedded stale perspiration curds... then rinses out completely, and in a flash. Thus it ends body odor at its source!

Delightful to use, Kirk's Coco Castile is entirely free from M. S. (medicine smell). And stimulating to the skin. A big generous cake, half again larger than the average toilet soap, and now at the lowest price in history! At this new reduced price, it is America's outstanding soap bargain. Be sure to ask for Kirk's Castile by name—at your grocer's.

APT WORDS THESE

R. H. Nichols in the Vernon Record adds this pertinent comment about increases in the gasoline taxes: "Gasoline is paying its share of the cost of government, and more. Surely the ingenuity of those looking for means of balancing budgets is not so barren as to be unable to find some other satisfactory method. Oil men contend that the sale of gasoline declines in proportion to the increase in the taxes. It is not unreasonable to believe that an exorbitant levy on gasoline tends to deny the conveniences and satisfaction, not to speak of the essential services, of motoring to poor people. The automobile has too many uses, too many advantages to restrict its use to the well-to-do. Yet that is the inevitable effect of wholesale pyramiding of taxes on gasoline."

Lamesa Deputy Sheriff Freed On $9,500 Bond

LAMESA, May 26. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff John Johnson was at liberty today on bonds totalling $9,500 after an examining trial on murder and assault charges filed in connection with the slaying of Berry O. Best and the wounding of his brother, Grady Best.

Berry O. Best died at a Lamesa hospital Wednesday of a gunshot wound inflicted on the highway nine miles northeast of Lamesa earlier in the day.

At the examining trial, Dalton Barnhart testified he and deputy Johnson were riding along the highway when they encountered the Bests, who stopped and cursed them. Barnhart claimed the Bests tried to pull him out of the car and the officer told them to desist.

Barnhart explained that a calf had been stolen from his farm in Lynn county. He said he went to O'Donnell and reported the theft to Deputy Johnson. Together they started for Lamesa with the intention of having Sheriff Gus White assist them in investigating the matter.

R. Davis, Opal Davis, Tom Ellis, John R. Davis, Curtis Schaffer, Clarence Tidwell, Laura Prater.

The setting will be a country village 50 miles from Boston. The time of the play is 2 hours 15 minutes.

The play will be full of laughs. John Davis is said to be particularly good as a Jewish peddler.

Farm Relief Will Soon Take Effect

Farm loan interest reductions from as much as 6 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent will take place automatically July 11, affecting $720,000 in loans in the counties of Gray, Carson, and Roberts.

At the same time, it is optional whether payments on principal are made. This is part of the relief afforded by farm legislation recently passed.

Wynne, Pioneer Cowboy, Leaves With Boy Scouts

Cars, buses, and trucks, loaded with laughing Boy Scouts, their leaders, and baggage, left the high school gymnasium at 1 o'clock this afternoon for the annual camporal at Nature Park north of Pampa. The boys will camp tonight and tomorrow night, returning to Pampa Sunday afternoon.

Troops from the entire Adobe Walls council will be represented and tomorrow will be spent in a field day of Scout lore. It is expected that more than 400 boys and leaders will be present.

The Pampa delegation was headed by A. G. "Pete" Post, president of the Adobe Walls council. Mr. Post drove to the park yesterday to see that all was in readiness for the big event. Nearly 200 Pampa Scouts made the trip.

The "youngest" member of the Pampa delegation, in actions at least, was J. S. Wynne, who took a load of the boys with him. "Uncle Jess" said he was going to have the time of his life on the trip and that he would show the boys how the cowboys lived in the early days.

INVESTIGATION

drew further evidence of Morgan activities from George Howard, as president of the United corporation.

The last Virginian demanded, to the excitement of the crowded audience, to know the exact course of the inquiry. He raised questions about Pecora's retention as counsel, while silence fell on the huge hearing hall.

Pecora returned in kind, drawing applause with a veiled hint that his resignation could be had if the committee asked.

Testimony was given that J. P. Morgan and company obtained options on 1,000,000 shares of United corporation stock for $1 each, which it could have sold less than a month later at a profit of about $30 each.

Own Most of Utilities. Testimony that the United corporation, whose books are kept in the office of J. P. Morgan and company, holds an interest in utility operating companies that are doing 22 per cent of the gas and electric business of the nation was also given.

Deadline of Wheat Loans Is Extended

The local crop loan committee, headed by Roy Bourland, received word yesterday that the deadline for spring crop loan applications had expired under a new ruling.

However, the deadline for wheat loan applications was extended to June 15, a 15-day extension.

The committee worked last night to prepare a number of applications for sending to the Dallas office.

George Howard, president of the United—testified as to its organization in which it acquired stock in various utilities at $12,000,000 less than the market value from the Morgan banking partnership and in turn the huge bank obtained a controlling interest in the United corporation.

The witness said the companies in which his corporation holds an interest do 22 per cent of the electric and gas business of the country, on an output basis.

Submitting readily to questions by Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel, Howard painstakingly told how three days after the United corporation was formed, it obtained from Morgan much stock in Mohawk, Hudson Power, the United Gas Improvement company, and Public Service of New Jersey.

Relates Deals. In turn, the United corporation was authorized to issue a total capital stock of 13,000,000 shares consisting of 1,000,000 first preferred,

2,000,000 preference shares and 10,000,000 common.

His words being followed closely by J. P. Morgan and others of the Morgan partners, Howard told the crowded room no first preferred had been issued, but 600,000 of the $3 preference stock had been issued and also 800,000 shares of common, all being taken by Morgan.

The firm also received 714,000 option warrants entitling it to buy that number of common stock shares at $27.50 a share.

"Each share had one vote," Howard said.

"Who had control?" Pecora asked. "J. P. Morgan and company," Howard returned.

Howard said the 800,000 shares of common stock gave control without the exercise of the option warrants for common stock.

Pecora asked who the executive officers of the corporation were and the witness began looking through a number of files before replying.

"Aren't you familiar with these details?" Pecora asked in an irritated voice.

MILITARISM IS AGAIN REIGNING IN RHINELAND

Germany Is A Nation In Uniforms Once More

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER (Copyright, 1933)

BERLIN, May 23. (AP)—Reawakened Germany looks forward expectantly to two events typifying the militant patriotic spirit that has come over the fatherland since January 30. The Schlageter anniversary May 27, and Navy week beginning May 24.

Albert Leo Schlageter, condemned to death and executed by the French May 26, 1922, at Dusseldorf for acts of sabotage, has been declared the national hero. To Nazi Germany, he embodies the manliest of virtues, namely the sacrifice of his life for the fatherland.

'Future On Waters'
The Navy league's campaign week will recall Wilhelm II's dictum: "Our future lies on the waters."

Travelers revisiting Germany find no change so marked as the resurgence of militant nationalism.

At a time when many Germans still thought Chancellor Hitler's socialism was a mere catchword for vote getting, they enthusiastically rallied to him on account of his intense nationalism.

"Internationalism is your bane," he kept warning his compatriots. "Facilism has been infesting you like an obnoxious germ."

Among the cardinal points of his program from the beginning was the reawakening of national spirit, the reintroduction of universal military service, introduction of compulsory labor duty, and revision of the treaty of Versailles, especially with the view of liberating Germany from military restrictions.

Even arch conservatives like members of the former ruling house, big industrialists and vast land owners swallowed Hitler's socialist program because he placed militant nationalism in the forefront.

In Arms Again
Since Hitler's ascension to power, Germany's outward appearance has changed strikingly. She has again become a nation in uniforms.

In concentration camps where thousands of communists and socialists are held without trial, setting up exercises to the tune of snappy commands form an important part of the day's program. In the barracks of the voluntary labor service, which soon will be succeeded by compulsory labor, the spirit likewise is martial. So thoroughly has Germany become imbued with the martial spirit that Franz von Papen, vice chancellor, in his recent Munster speech was able to say: "The word pacifism has been stricken from our vocabulary. From pacifism sprang the non-fighting aspect of life. The battlefield is for man what motherhood is for woman."

Just as in France for a long time Raymond Poincare Sunday after Sunday dedicated some war monument, so in Germany one now witnesses on Sundays flag dedications of newly-formed regiments of patriotic societies or reviews by steel helmet and storm troop leaders.

One of the most recent orders to Nazi party members is that they must greet each other with the Hitler salute.

Tradition Revised
To understand this fundamental change in post-revolutionary life, it must be remembered that for centuries military tradition has been ingrained in the German people.

Even in the days of republicanism, organizations like the Reichsbanner, which were organized solely for internal protection of the republic, wore uniforms and were militarily organized.

As a permanent Nazi spokesman explained: "We simply do not understand why foreign countries are alarmed at Germany's militant nationalism."

"We all love uniforms, we like to obey commands and our blood tingles when we hear military marches."

"That does not mean we want war or are even thinking of war. We are the most peace loving nation in the world. You heard Hitler's Reichstag speech, didn't you?"

Spanish Coin Of 1712 Picked Up Near Muleshoe

MULESHOE, May 26. (AP)—R. T. Riddle, automobile mechanic of Muleshoe, has in his possession what is apparently an old Spanish gold coin bearing the date 1712. The piece was found by Mr. Riddle about six months ago while walking across the sandhills about two miles southeast of the town in search of arrow heads.

The coin is about the size of a U. S. $5.00 gold piece but thinner and much lighter in weight. One side of the coin is a fairly well preserved image of a woman's head facing the left surrounded by the circular wording "Ana Dei Gratia." The reverse side bears the date and four crowns equally spaced with their bases toward and almost reaching the center of the coin. The words on this side are not all legible but "Mag. Br Fra Etie" are distinguished.

There are many legends of the sandhills in this section but the date of the coin found by Riddle gives countenance to familiar tales that Spanish conquistadors explored this land and to the west into what is now New Mexico.

FREQUENT USE OF MANLY ART IN LEGISLATURE ADVANCED AS PLEA BY OTHERS TO LEGALIZE BOXING

AUSTIN, May 26. (AP)—Personal encounters between members of the current legislature has prompted some who take a "sporty" view of such incidents to suggest facetiously that the house appoint an official referee to supervise the engagements.

Almost every exhibition of the manly art has been followed by a suggestion that the house take up and pass the bill to legalize boxing.

"That's just another argument in favor of the boxing bill," one member shouted after Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi and Rep. Robert Calvert of Hillsboro had come to blows.

Another suggested the house procedure be amended to provide that Marquis of Queensbury rules govern in combats between legislators. Suggestion also was made that the house either appoint an additional staff of sergeants-at-arms to prevent any unusual occurrences, or fire those now employed so that when a fight starts it won't be ended before it fairly gets under way.

Tension ran high in the house after the Calvert-Pope exchange which occurred during discussion of a West Texas land bill, always a controversial subject.

Speaker Coke Stevenson soothed ruffled feathers by stating: "Gentlemen, be seated. The show's over." He rapped his gavel and the business of the house proceeded as though nothing had occurred.

Private automobiles manufactured in Great Britain during the year ended September 30, 1932, numbered 166-115, an increase of 5,655 over the previous year.

Babe Didrikson Makes Progress On Golf Course

DEROIT, May 26. (AP)—If the women's National golf championship were decided on stamina, Babe Didrikson would be ready right now for the test.

She out-lasted three hardy males over 27 holes on the Orchard Lake course yesterday and was insisting on at least nine holes more when her companions hobbled to the club house, nursing aches, pains, and sunburn.

Miss Didrikson, who makes no secret of her championship aspirations, is going in earnest about the business of cutting down her strokes, under the tutelage of Frank Syron, Orchard Lake pro, who was one of her companions in yesterday's four-some.

On the last nine holes she got a 42, six over par, the best score of her career. Syron said that his pupil's short game, her chief weakness, is improving and hazarded the prediction that titular hopes are not out of the question if the Texas girl stays with the game.

American Tennis Team Sweeping Argentine Series

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—The United States Davis cup team went out to clinch American zone honors today, needing only one more victory over Argentina's hard pressed players.

Clean-cut wins in the opening singles yesterday by Ellsworth Vines and Wilmer Allison, the American team captain, put this country's cup seekers in such a commanding position that there was little doubt as to the finish of the five-match series.

Today's play pitted Johnny Van Ryn and George Lott against Adri-

HOMES LIGHT STREETS
NEW PARIS, O. (INS)—With electric lights ordered discontinued by the village council because of lack of funds, residents here are using coal oil lamps fastened to their houses to light the streets.

Farm wages in Alabama averaged 45 cents a day, or $8 a month, with board on January 1, 1933, says F. W. Gist, federal and state agricultural statistician.

Adriano Zappa, Argentina's quick-footed captain, and Ademar Echeverria.

Even if the American doubles combinations conquer the Argentinians today, however, Vines and Allison will play out the two final singles tomorrow, switching the opening day opponents.

FRANCIS: Sue Tally must identify herself to her brother Francis by means of a token, without which she cannot claim her share of her father's great fortune. After a series of murders and shootings, the token has been stolen. But Sue "bluffs" Francis, demanding that he first show his identifying token. Meanwhile Jim Sundeau, whose regard for Sue has mounted with the danger in which she has been, is surprised by David Lora, a detective employed by Francis Tally, that the police have been searching for suspicious persons of murder. Lora departs with a suspicion that Sue had been dealing negotiations with Francis Tally for a few days.

Chapter 13

THE DIVISION

WE WERE to become immediately ranged in two different camps. And it happened just then, when the muffled sound of voices in the parlor became more definite and clear and all at once Sue swept angrily into the lounge.

Francis, angry too and showing it less pleasantly, followed her. His face also flashed, his eyes were narrow back of those studious spectacles, his hands were working nervously.

Sue said, every word falling like a brittle little icicle and yet marvelously polite at the same time: "I hope you don't mind my telling Mr. Lorn and Mr. Sundeau of our talk, Francis. You see," she turned to me, "I have asked Francis if he will permit me to have a lawyer represent me. I feel—"

"No reason for it at all," burst in Francis. "I came here from America to settle things with this girl. To give her a chance at five million dollars—and she holds back and prattles about a—"

"I beg you not to interrupt me, Francis," I was faintly amused to note that as Francis grew angrier Sue grew sweeter and cooler, but it was most infuriating sweetness and coolness.

"I'm most grateful to my brother for such an effort," she went on. "Though perhaps it might have been made sooner—before I had been subjected to—" Her sweetness faltered a little there, and she swept on quickly, preferring not to talk of the horror that had dogged her days.

"At the same time, I can't help feeling that just because of the amount of the money involved, it is only fitting and suitable to ask a lawyer to conduct negotiations for me."

Francis's eyes were very narrow; I heard a slight rattle behind me, and I saw him dart a quick glance in that direction, and I had no doubt Madame Grethe had made her appearance.

"Come now, Sue," said Francis rather pleadingly. "All you need to do is let me look at the token you have. If it is what it is supposed to be, the thing is done. Do be sensible."

"But, Francis," said Sue very sweetly, "is there any particular reason why you refuse me a lawyer?"

There was an instant or two of silence before Francis's gathering rage rose to his lips. Sue attacked so sweetly, so coolly—so gallantly from my own viewpoint, because I knew of her empty hands, I knew of the infirmity of her ground.

"Do you mean," demanded Francis, "that you don't trust me?"

"What a thing to say! What a thing to say!" cried Sue, giving a soft little ripple of laughter that stung Francis and that actually shocked me in its deceiving sweetness. All women can shock you that way.

"Then," said Francis, again glancing past me to where, with a quick following look, I saw Madame Grethe standing, motionless, her green eyes shining—"then," he said heavily, "you do trust me?"

Then Sue, very suddenly, and in a totally easy and meaningless voice, said an extremely odd thing. She said, her eyes then on Francis, and her voice quite flat and even a bit bored:

"Why should I not trust you? For now we see through a glass darkly, but then—" And there she stopped and carefully arranged her crimson scarf at her throat as if it had her entire interest. But her eyes through their dark eyelashes watched Francis.

Francis did not speak. He only looked angry and baffled, and his eyes sought Madame Grethe again.

There was a swift little swish of silk that broke the singularly tense moment. Grethe stepped forward and passed her round silken arm through Sue's.

"Don't you think you are a little overcautious, my dear?" she said spontaneously to Sue. "I forgive me for speaking, but I could scarcely help hearing you, you know. For your own good I must say this. It is better for you to do as your brother wishes. Follow the terms of your father's will and prove your identity to your brother and let him take you away. It is only a matter of form, and while I have hesitated to speak before, lest I make you feel unwelcome in this, your only home—still—still you must see what—what a thing you have brought upon us all."

She paused. I was glad to see that Sue was sternly unmoved. But I think she was still doubtful, still loath to discredit Grethe's motives in her own mind. And Grethe said suavely:

"Think what's waiting for you, dear. Five million dollars—five millions. The things you can buy. The things you can do."

It was just then that Sue's long, purposefully blind loyalty collapsed. She removed her arm quietly from Madame Grethe's grasp.

"Don't think for a moment, Madame Lovschlem," she said sweetly, "that I shall forget what you've done. And I'm sure my brother will feel most grateful to you in your attempt to smooth the way before us."

GRETHE looked placid, then faintly puzzled, then suddenly comprehending. Her white lids dropped over her secretive eyes, and she said gravely, as if taking Sue's words at their face value:

"Don't thank me, my dear. I've only done what I could do."

"I'm afraid I'm not thanking you," said Sue quite frankly. "You see, it wasn't altogether kind of you, to keep what my mother told you a secret from me. It was a reticence which is not of a nature to maintain my confidence in your friendship. You and your husband are the only people in Armebe besides myself who knew of the circumstances of my inheritance."

I think Sue had not actually intended to say so much. Knowing she must fight whether she liked or not, she struck a little too blindly, choosing in her haste a weapon whose sharpness she did not quite comprehend. But its very unexpectedness frightened Madame Grethe.

Though, to be sure, only a close observer might have caught her fright in the sudden leaping of her eyes, in the placative manner in which she addressed Sue and put an end to the situation with less adroitness than one might have expected of her.

"You are tired and unstrung," she said. "Otherwise you would not speak in such a way to me. To your only friend, to—"

"I have other friends," said Sue, cutting into Grethe's soft speech without visible compunction.

"The trouble is we are all tired and nervous and upset, and no wonder. I'll order tea, and we'll all feel better." She walked with a swish of green silk to the bell and pushed it with her square, vigorous white thumb.

Blissfully Sue's little smile flashed. I liked her being able to achieve it. She said with a quiver of mirth in her voice: "I'm not quarrelling. I'm only telling you what I think I'll go and call Mrs. Byng if we're going to have tea. She won't want to miss it."

She turned quickly toward the stairway, and Lorn started to follow her, but I sprang ahead of him.

"I'll go along," I said, and we were on the stairs before anyone could stop us. I caught a green flicker from Grethe's eyes and heard her saying sharply something about Miss Tally's new acquaintance, and then we passed around the landing.

We turned from the lounge well with its blank galleries and tiny group waiting down below—and went along to Mrs. Byng's door. Sue knocked. Mrs. Byng did not reply immediately, and I said in a low voice: "Don't knock again for a moment. I want to talk to you."

She glanced up and down the corridor. Away at the end a policeman's blue coat and tight trousers came into view. She said:

"Here in my room."

She opened the door. I've never known why I remembered in that hurried moment to enter it first in order to look about. At any rate, that's what I did while she stood there in the corridor.

The room was empty. No one was about. It was only the quivering of the door to the massive wardrobe that caught my eye.

Mount Locke is 10 miles as the crow flies due northwest of Fort Davis. Fort Davis is a picturesque little cow town county seat and a summer tourist town. The last census gave it 765 population. More than half Mexican. But the town has some nice homes and a fine school, and is the scene of the old adobe fort that was built to protect the California mail, early emigrants and settlers from the Apaches and Comanches. The fort was abandoned forty years ago but its ruins are a perpetual reminder of the early days. It lies within the limits of Fort Davis town.

On the summit of Mount Locke is a small square wooden peg driven into the hard ground, and on it is written in pencil "center of observatory." Two more pegs mark the exact north and south lines of the world, it is said. Other famous observatories with their altitudes followed, as named by Dr. Van Biesbroeck: Kodakanal, India, 7,700; Tacubaya, Mexico, 7,500; Flagstaff, Arizona, 7,250; Johannesburg, South Africa, 5,800; Mont Wilson, California, 5,700; Denver, 5,400; and Pic du Midi, in France, which has no observatory but from which observations and calculations are often made.

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—James Mattern of San Angelo, Tex., has cleared his plane at the custom house, the last official formality preceding start of his great adventure, a solo flight around the world.

On the records of the custom house today, in among clearings of tankers, freighters and passenger ships about to leave on ocean tails, is the notation that "Jimmie Mattern," master of the NR 989-R, has cleared his ship for Harbor Grace, N. F. Harbor Grace is the point at which Mattern leaves land behind him on the first stage of the eastward circling of the globe.

Mattern has completed all his tests and is ready to leave as soon as the weather around the world is unfavorable.

He hopes to get away well in advance of Wiley Post of Oklahoma City, who is also planning a solo world flight but who is not yet ready to start.

McDONALD OBSERVATORY ON WEST TEXAS PEAK WILL NOT BE IN USE FOR FOUR YEARS, SAYS BUILDER

PORT DAVIS, May 26. (AP)—Dr. Otto Struve and Dr. George Van Biesbroeck, both of the Yerkes observatory staff, who were here recently making final tests, have said the McDonald observatory would not be in use for three or four years. The leisurely progress in completing the plant is due to the fact that more than a year will be required for casting the 80-inch pyrex glass mirror or the telescope. The vast block of glass will be cooled slowly underground by the gradual withdrawal of electric heat.

Photography is Feature. This is to be a mirror, not a lens telescope. It will permit the study of star fields too distant for the human mind to conceive. Light travels 180,000 miles a second and this telescope will reveal stars of the twentieth magnitude, or one hundred million light years distant. The mirror will be convex, with the inner surface coated with silver, after it has been polished. It will be about seven inches thick in the center and will have an aperture about 20 inches across. The mirror will reflect into a smaller mirror which will send its beams back through the 20-inch aperture to a third reflecting into a dark room. There some of the greatest work in astronomy will be accomplished, it is believed. The chief work of the McDonald telescope will be astronomical photography. In this respect, it is said, it will be the greatest observatory in the world. Astronomers say there will be a half dozen phases of work, with photographing the spectrum of stars, the nebulae and of new star fields predominating.

One item of work at the observatory will be less mysterious to the layman than star-gazing. An astronomer was asked whether the silver coating on the great mirror would tarnish? The reply being "yes," he was asked, "What will you use to keep it bright—what will you scour it with?" and the reply was, "the softest of chamolis and finest of talcum powder."

Fourth Highest. Mount Locke is 10 miles as the crow flies due northwest of Fort Davis. Fort Davis is a picturesque little cow town county seat and a summer tourist town. Tech 'Officials' Represent State

LUBBOCK, May 26. (AP)—When students at Texas Technological college selected officials for their campus organization they showed no particular preference for any part of the state.

Ray Moore of Hamilton was elected student president, and Albert Greer of Comanche was made vice-president. Their homes, in Central Texas, are closer together than any of the others. Audrey Farris of Floydada was elected secretary-treasurer, M. L. Collins, Celina, student representative on the athletic council, and Bill Stubbs of Corpus Christi, yell leader.

Over 8,000 Visit Canyon Museum In First Month

CANYON, May 26. (AP)—More than 8,000 visitors were registered at the Panhandle-Plains Historical society museum during the first month it was open to the public.

The building is open four hours in the afternoons of Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and on Sunday afternoons.

Recent visitors included E. B. Howard, paleontologist with the University Museum of Philadelphia, and H. H. Knicker, curator of the Denver museum.

Many valuable relics are being sent to the museum since the completion of its $50,000 home. Among the more recent contributions were articles belonging to the late Avery Turner, veteran of railroad build-

Boy in Amarillo Edits Newspaper

AMARILLO, May 26. (AP)—A 12-year-old Amarillo boy edits and publishes his own newspaper.

He is Terry Martin, son of A. B. Martin, former member of the court of criminal appeals, Austin, and now associate justice of the seventh court of civil appeals, Amarillo. His newspaper is printed on a hand press he received for Christmas. It usually consists of two pages, with enough advertising to pay for the printing.

The Wolfish Times, named for the addition in which Terry lives, appears weekly. Its circulation is "25 or 30, or just enough to go around." Its content, is "mostly about what children do," Terry said. Some of Terry's playmates are aiding him as reporters.

SHE SAYS IT'S SPINACH
KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Spinach leaves are placed in the same category with banana skins in a suit filed in the Wyandotte county district court. Mrs. Marguerite Bennett, a stenographer, seeks $3,000 damages from a chain grocery alleging she suffered injuries when she slipped and fell on stray spinach leaves in front of one of the firm's stores.

"Fugitive From Learning" Sends Letter to Paper

The "Letters from the People" column of the Clarendon News was used by an evidently exasperated young lady of that city in a novel answer to questioners last week. Her letter follows:

I AM A FUGITIVE FROM LEARNING. My throat feels like it had the death rattle in it. My voice sounds like a cross between a Torch singer and a Whiskey Baritone. The death of the vivacity in my voice has not been brought on by my being in a Pep Squad. It has not been ruined by my "hitting the bottle" filled with hard drinking whiskey too often. I have not burned up my throat by smoking cheap tobacco. I am not a nagging wife hence I did not slaughter my vocal chords yelling at my husband for loitering three minutes in the Bowling Alley. I care little for airing other people's affairs—therefore, I did not wear out my throat by spreading malicious gossip.

It is impossible for me to talk any more. My voice is defunct. Gentle Readers, I can tell you collectively in print the answer to the question that has beat upon my ears (like we wish the rain would beat upon the crops) for the past weeks. The question is "Why I LEFT SCHOOL." I try to answer the inquiries courteously and make up a different story to suit the individual. I am a lover of keeping accurate accounts and I have answered 304 people. I did not mind telling this many and I hold no animosity towards them for killing by my answers "business."

CONSTRUCTION OF OBSERVATORY ATOP MOUNTAIN IN WEST TEXAS WILL BE STARTED THIS SUMMER

FORT DAVIS, May 26. (P)—The location of the McDonald observatory of the University of Texas has been definitely settled by the action of the university regents April 27 in accepting the 200-acre tract on Mount Locke in the Davis mountains near Fort Davis for the observatory site. In addition to the regents' action, the legislature authorized the state highway commission to build a mile and a half of road from the recently constructed Davis mountains state park highway to the summit of Mount Locke, and to black top the road from Fort Davis to the summit, a distance of about sixteen and a half miles. Parenthetically, the Davis mountains state park highway has not been completed its full length, but it goes beyond Mount Locke. The observatory will be the gift of the University of Texas through the will of William J. McDonald of Paris, who died in 1926. Its location terminated a year of search by astronomers for the locality in Texas which would afford the maximum degree of night sky visibility with the least twinkling. The twinkling little star fancy twinkie, twinkie interferes with steady images in the telescope. Air rising from sun-heated rocks or the ground causes twinkling and dust in the air interferes with visibility. Accordingly, it was desired to get a height reasonably above the dust strata and a site covered with trees or brush to keep down dust in the immediate vicinity and prevent excessive radiation. Thus, after a year of testing various possible locations, Mount Locke was chosen because it met requirements and was fairly accessible. On Famous Ranch The Mount, which has an elevation of 6,791 feet, is on the famous old Up and Down ranch. G. S. Locke, a New Hampshire man, founder and owner of the ranch was a pioneer of this community. He died a half dozen years ago at Concord, N. H. The ranch is still in his estate, and his granddaughter, Mrs. Violet Locke McVior, of Concord, N. H., executed the deed last month which gave the 200-acre tract on Mount Locke for observatory purposes. Mount Locke was recently named in honor of G. S. Locke. Previously it bore no name, there being so many peaks in the Davis mountains it was easy to forget to name this one. The University of Texas and the University of Chicago, owner of the Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wisconsin, entered a cooperative agreement whereby the Texas school is to build McDonald observatory.

valory using less than half of the $810,000 McDonald bequest for the structure and the telescope and Yerkes to maintain a staff at McDonald defraying most of the expenses. The agreement is to continue for thirty years. It is the announced expectation of Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the Texas university, and the regents, that the fund at the end of thirty years will produce an endowment income sufficient to maintain McDonald observatory.

Shining Dome Work on the observatory will be started this summer, it has been indicated by Dr. Otto Struve of Yerkes staff, who has been the contact man between Chicago and Texas universities, as well as by Dr.

Benedict. It is understood that a steel re-enforced foundation for the building and the telescope will be the first work of the builders. It is desired that this cure and settle for many months. A two-story building surmounted by a dome will be the basic structure. From ground to top of dome will be a little more than 100 feet and the dome will be about sixty-two feet in diameter inside. This dome will be coated with aluminum paint and be visible for many miles—in fact, from Mount Locke summit one can look into Mexico nearly a hundred miles away, into New Mexico and perhaps fifteen Texas counties. Mangels are a good substitute for silage for small herds of cattle.

Pecan Is Named For John Garner

SAN SABA, May 26. (P)—To San Saba county, the home of the paper shell pecan, goes the honor of producing a pecan named for the vice president of the United States, John Nance Garner, himself a pecan enthusiast. The pecan tree, a 12-year-old seedling, stands a few miles below town of San Saba. The exclusive right to propagate it for a period of 17 years belong to Ross R. Wolfe, Stephenville, who purchased this right from J. W. Terry on whose land the tree stands. When the state pecan meeting was held in Garner's home town, Uvalde, last December the thief speaker of the house offered a prize for the best seedling pecan shown there. The winner secured the right from Garner to name it for him. The seedling is of the San Saba improved, a seedling of the famous mother paper shell variety called Sgr-Saba. This is the mother ancestral tree from which E. E. Rislen, world's largest breeder of pecans, has produced his "gold medal" varieties of some 12 in number. Purchase groceries carefully. They revived upon being fed whisky from a medicine dropper. A house cat which recently gave birth to kittens adopted the skunks; and, kittens and skunks share the same bed in a shed with a mother hen and a brood of chicks. PURPLE OYSTERS SAYVILLE, N. Y. (INS)—Oysters found in this vicinity have a peculiar purple color, which scientists say is harmless. The color is believed caused from some marine growth discharging a chemical into the water.

Amarillo Man Owns Scottish Title, Castle

AMARILLO, May 26. (P)—Dr. C. W. Bayham of Amarillo, possesses a Scottish title of nobility, a castle, and considerable holdings in the mountains of northwest Scotland. While a practicing physician in Fort Smith, Ark. in 1904, Dr. Bayham went to Scotland and claimed the title and estate that neither his father nor grandfather had chosen to claim. He found the castle, long unoccupied, surrounded by 3,200 acres of grazing land stocked with game. The physician has given up the idea of ever occupying the castle. He said it would cost $75,000 to put it in good repair, and $10,000 annually to maintain it and entertain. He has not visited the place in recent years. He is being paid a small stipend by the British government while a company of Highlanders are stationed at the castle, and his grazing lands are leased.

HIDE PRICES RISE SAN ANGELO, May 26. (P)—The rise in the price of hides has been sensational in West Texas. A few weeks ago hides were bringing a half cent a pound. Now they are worth 3 to 4 cents, says C. F. Hoch, local produce dealer. A green hide will weight around 45 pounds. The hide output of San Angelo is around 5,000 a week.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Jesus And His Friends.

Scripture Lesson: Mark 13:33-14:9.

Mark 13:33. Take ye heed, watch and pray: for ye know not when the time is.

34. It is as when a man, sojourning in another country, having left his house, and given authority to his servants, to each one his work, commanded also the porter to watch.

35. Watch therefore: for ye know not when the lord of the house cometh, whether at even, or at midnight, or at cockcrow, or in the morning:

36. Lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping.

37. And what I say unto you I say unto all, Watch.

Mark 14:1. Now after two days was the feast of the passover and the unleavened bread: and the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take him with subtlety, and kill him:

2. For they said, Not during the feast, lest haply there shall be a tumult of the people.

3. And while he was in Bethany in the house of Simon the leper, as he sat at meat, there came a woman having an alabaster cruse of ointment of pure nard very costly; and she brake the cruse, and poured it over his head.

4. But there were some that had indignation among themselves, saying, To what purpose hath this waste of the ointment been made?

5. For this ointment might have been sold for above three hundred shillings, and given to the poor.

6. But Jesus said, Let her alone; why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good work on me.

7. For ye have the poor always with you, and whosoever ye will ye can do them good: but me ye have not always.

8. She hath done what she could; she hath anointed my body beforehand for the burying.

9. And verily I say unto you, Whosoever the gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, that also which this woman hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her.

Golden Text: Ye are my friends, if ye do the things which I command you.—John 15:14.

Introduction: The anointing by Mary, Saturday, April 1, A. D. 30, the last week of our Lord's earthly life. The prophecy of the overthrow of the temple, and the plotting of the rulers, Tuesday, April 4.

Place: Bethany and Jerusalem. Parallel Passages: The anointing by Mary, Matt. 26:6-13; John 12:2-11.

Introduction: Christianity has no more precious possession than the memory of Jesus during the week when he stood face to face with death. Unspeakably great as he always was, it may be reverently said that he was never so great as during those days of direct calamity. All that was grandest and all that was most tender, the most human and the most divine aspects of his character were brought out as they had never been before.—Principal James Stalker. Driven from the temple by his foes, never to enter it again, our Lord devoted himself during these last few days to his little band of loving friends.

Christ's View of Future Events: His prophecy broadened to a national scope. It foresaw the siege of Jerusalem, only four decades distant, the destruction of the temple, the end of Jewish national life. Widening still further, his vision took in the coming centuries. He saw a long procession of wars, earthquakes, famines, and other horrors. He saw "the abomination of desolation." He saw the rise of false Christs and false prophets, leading many astray. Finally, he saw the darkening of the sun and moon, the falling of the stars, the shaking of the heavenly powers. And after all this his eyes lighted as he foresaw his return to earth in the clouds, with great power and glory, and a vast company of angels assembling his chosen ones and escorting them to their everlasting abodes.

He set no date for all these events. He declared that no man knew their time, nor the angels, nor even himself, but only his Father. But he solemnly asserted the truth of his prophecy. Heaven and earth should pass away, but his word should not pass away. And since no one could know the time of the end of the earth, yet it is surely coming, with the return of the Lord in glory, he earnestly urged all his followers to be ready for it. With that urging our lesson proper opens.

"Watch and Pray"

We are to watch against the forces of evil, without and within. We are to watch for every intimation of the will of God. We are to watch for all reinforcements of our best nature. We are to watch for the signs of the coming of the Lord. And all this watching is to be perpetual, for we are not to watch alone. Two stand sentry in the Christian life, his own soul and Christ. We are not to intermit either our watching or praying, but to keep them up, as Paul says, "in all perseverance" (Eph. 6:18).

"For ye know not when the time is." Every day brings the Lord's coming one day nearer. "The coming of Christ will be so sudden that no preparation can be made for it after he appears. We must learn to live so that there will not be a moment, day or night, when we would be afraid or ashamed to have him come into our house or place of business and find us as we are. There is no day which may not be our last. Therefore, we should keep our work done up to the moment, finishing it every evening as if we were never to come back to it any more."—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

Be Always Ready

"Watch therefore: for ye know not when the lord of the house cometh." Do not say in your heart, "The Lord has delayed his return for two thousand years, and I am safe in not expecting it during my lifetime." Every year of delay brings his coming nearer, and it may be very close at hand; perhaps tomorrow. "Whether at even, or at midnight, or at cockcrow, or in the morning." The Romans divided the twelve hours of the night, from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m. into four watches, of three hours each, for which these were the popular names. "Lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping."

Jesus Anointed by Mary

"And while he was in Bethany... Our Lord and his disciples were freshly come from Perea. They went to Bethany, which is on the eastern side of the Mount of Olives, on the road from Jericho. There they were gladly received by the beloved family, Mary and Martha, with their brother Lazarus, whom Jesus had recently raised from the dead."

"In the house of Simon the leper" was a dilly leper, but of course he was no longer. It is thought that Christ had healed him. Some think that he was Martha's husband, because that serviceable woman is mentioned (John 12:2) as having charge of the household arrangements of the feast. "As he sat at meat there came a woman." Her name is not given, here or in Matthew, but John tells us that it was Mary. "Having an alabaster cruse." A flask made of alabaster, a form of gypsum (sulphate of lime), beautifully translucent. "Of ointment of pure nard very costly." It was an oily perfume, such as the ancients were fond of using, and John 12:3 says that there was a pound of it—a Roman pound of twelve ounces. It was the most precious thing, probably, that Mary possessed.

Why This "Waste?"

"To what purpose hath this waste of the ointment been made?" "Judah's notion of 'waste' was crude and materialistic in the extreme. Love is never 'waste.' Generosity is never 'waste.' Sacrifice is never 'waste.' For this ointment might have been sold for above three hundred shillings." A shilling was a denarius, containing about seven cents' worth of silver, the whole being about $51. But a denarius was a day's wage for a common laborer, equal to about $2 today and in our country, so that Mary's gift was worth $600. "And given to the poor." "This he said," remarks John sharply, "not because he cared for the poor; but because he was thief, and having the bag took away what was put therein!"

A Lasting Memorial

"Whosoever the gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world," Christ said little about the church he was founding, but that little shows that it was to be a universal church. He preached only to the Jews in Palestine, but the whole world was his ultimate parish, and all men were to be drawn to Calvary. "That also which this woman hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her."

This truth is for all time and for every soul.

Johnson Was An Utter Stranger In Texas House

AUSTIN, May 26 (AP)—Rep. R. M. Johnson of Palestine, Anderson county, believes the Texas house is a little unwieldy. To prove his contention he made an experiment. Walking up to another member of the house who had taken an active part in legislation, Johnson asked him if he knew who he was.

"And do you know that fellow didn't even know that I was a member of the legislature," Johnson said. The session was then four months old.

Newspapermen frequently have confused Johnson of Anderson with Anderson of Johnson. Johnson said he frequently received credit for voting both right and wrong on questions because he had been confused with R. B. Anderson of Godley, Johnson county.

Officers to Halt 3.2 Beer Selling—One Arrest Made

Local officers will not accept federal beer permits as setting aside the state liquor laws and, acting on complaints of citizens, will make no exceptions of 3.2 beer.

This was shown yesterday when they seized 32 bottles of the nationally legal beer and arrested Alfred Gilliland, cafe proprietor. The officers were of the sheriff's and constable's departments. Gilliland was released on $500 bond after he waived preliminary hearing on a complaint of possession of beer.

Mr. Gilliland told THE NEWS that he would not sell any more beer until the federal permit which he holds is recognized in this state.

Texans Are Not Likly To Vote On Hard Liquors

AUSTIN, May 26 (AP)—It now appears Texans will not have an opportunity before 1935 to vote on the return of hard liquors to this state.

The legislative session is almost over and Rep. Weaver Moore of Houston has been unable to obtain house approval of his resolution proposing repeal of the prohibition amendment to the state constitution.

A majority of the house is on record in favor of resubmission but the required two thirds majority has not been procured.

Even if the house should approve the proposal by the necessary 100 votes, advocates would find it difficult to muster 21 favorable senate votes in the concluding days of the session.

Lawmakers can submit constitutional questions only during regular sessions and in the event no action is taken at this session, repealists can not hope for resubmission until the 44th legislature convenes in 1935.

The vote of the people on August 26 on legalization of beer and repeal of the national prohibition amendment is expected to have an effect on the chances for submission of state repeal. If the people should declare themselves opposed to the legalization of 3.2 per cent beer, it would seem useless to ask them to approve the legalization of liquors of greater alcoholic content.

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—With a warm hand-clasp of their leaders, Northern and Southern Baptists, long split over the salary question, got together Tuesday for the first time in 88 years.

Meeting in the huge Washington auditorium, Dr. M. E. Dodd, president of the Southern Baptist convention, clasped hands with Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, head of the Northern organization, across what Dr. Dodd termed "an imaginary Mason-Dixon line."

Earlier the Baptists united to dedicate the new Baptist memorial church here with prayer, sermon and song.

But despite the intervening years, should the delegates call for the minutes of their last meeting together, they'd find them carefully preserved in a dapple-backed book with brown leather corners and yellowed leaves in the Bible shelf of the library of congress.

In Philadelphia, "city of brotherly love," was held in April, 1844, that long-ago last convention of all the Baptists, described by the publication thus:

"At the appointed hour, 7 1/2 o'clock, p. m., an immense congregation was assembled among whom were seen many of the most eminent of our ministering brethren from the east, west, and south."

An anonymous author's accounts provided historical background for the heated discussion that arose at Philadelphia when "the Rev. Mr. Adam of Maine," an abolitionist, wanted the convention to decide "whether a minister, being a slave owner, could be a home missionary."

By the most careful compromise, the 1844 meeting went on to an harmonious finale. However, May of the next year found the Southern Baptists meeting in Augusta, Georgia, to make permanent organization while the Northerners also effected their separate entity.
