Mexican Bandit Chief Reported To Have Released Two Texas Ranchers

TWINKLES. We hear Pampa Rotarians are counting their expert golfers by the dozens as they prepare to battle the Kiwanians and Lions. Oh well, if we other clubmen have to be caddies the victors will know they have been well caddied.

High schools are turning out graduates young these days. In Pampa's list of graduates are 11 students under 15 years, 12 under 16, 48 under 17 years, 43 under 18 years, 15 under 19 years, and 7 under 20 years.

The depression, with its relatively few work opportunities for youngsters is evidently encouraging the boys to finish school. Of the 116 members of the class of '33, 67 are boys and 49 are girls. That something to brag about, boys.

Well customers, are you going to join me in this special train train idea to Chicago? At $36 for the round trip with tourist tickets, we think we can see the world's fair, but it will take 100 tickets at that price. What do you say?

We're encouraged, much encouraged. We had a 20 mile zephyr yesterday without accompanying dust.

WATER SPORTS CENTER. Pampa as a city should avail herself of an opportunity to become the sports and entertainment center of this territory. One of the unworked sports in this section is that of swimming and diving. With a big pool filled with filtered, tested, and warmed water, Pampa can become the water sports center with a bit of promotion which the Junior chamber's energetic young men have offered to furnish.

REMEMBER JUNE 8, 9. Put down as dates to remember June 9 and 10, when the Junior chamber will signalize the formal opening of the swimming pool here by helping to stage a water queen contest and water carnival. Such an opening serves to make the pool popular and well known all over this section. Properly supervised swimming in clean water is high preference to the haphazard if not hazardous swimming which has been heretofore possible.

ON TEACHING SAFETY. Although constant vigilance is necessary at any pool, the safety factor is much more than prevention of accidents. There are thousands of children in Gray county who cannot swim, who know nothing of resuscitation and first aid. There is a wonderful opportunity to teach swimming and first aid in the pool. Boy Scouts at last will have opportunity to become expert life-savers. Through the influence of this training, countless accidents in the future, here and elsewhere, may be prevented. A word of warning should be in place. There are occasional fatal accidents at pools caused by rash acts, but more because persons with weak hearts attempt stunts beyond their physical capacity. Anyone knowing himself to have a weak heart, or to have gastric troubles affecting his heart, should swim only on advice of physicians. The same advice applies to other sports as well. A person whose heart goes faint suddenly is instantly inert and does not float, hence a lifeguard has little warning that anything is wrong.

FRONTIER DAYS DELAYED. It should be remembered that Pampa's second Frontier Days will be held this year as usual. The (Continued on Page 7.)

CONSUL SAYS MEN TO REACH HOME TONIGHT

PAIR IN CAPTIVITY IN MOUNTAINS SINCE MAY 9

ACCOMPANYING OFFICER UNDER PROTECTION OF IMMIGRATION CHIEF AT VILLA ACUNA

ALPINE, May 18 (AP)—The consul at Piedras Negras, Mexico, in a telegram received here today said that Candelario Baeza had delivered Art Hannold and John Rollins, Texas ranchmen, to authorities at Ocampo, Mexico, and that they were on their way to Boquillas under protection of the immigration chief at Villa Acuna.

The ranchmen were expected to reach the American side of the Rio Grande by tonight. Baeza was believed to have been the chief of bandits in whose power Hannold and Rollins had been since May 9 when they left their ranch at San Vicente to trail four horses stolen by rustlers and driven across the river. They were captured by a score of bandits the same day. The ranchers were surrounded and disarmed after they had ridden some 20 miles into the desolate ranges below the border. A Mexican judge at Boquillas informed C. L. Hannold, father of one of the captives, that they were taken to the remote village of Ocampo, about 150 miles into the interior.

No attempt has been made to obtain ransom money and it was believed the abduction was in the nature of a reprisal for the slaying of two Mexican smugglers by United States officers on the American side of the Rio Grande a few weeks ago, and for threat by C. L. Hannold to file charges of cattle stealing against Baeza.

The Hannolds are well known in the cattle country around San Vincente, a frontier town on the Rio Grande, 120 miles south of Alpine. Rollins was employed on the ranch. Art Hannold and Rollins are about 35 years old.

When news of the abduction reached Alpine, officers and American Legion executives sent telegrams to Congressman R. E. Thomason in Washington, advising him of the predicament. Thomason said the matter had been taken up with American consular officers at Piedras Negras, Saltillo, and Mexico City.

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget, told the house ways and means committee today that prompt prohibition repeal would mean an annual return of $250,000,000 for the federal treasury.

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Ending a 13-year contest over disposition of the Muscle Shoals property, President Roosevelt this afternoon signed into law the Norris-Hull bill to govern its use and envisioning as well a broad plan for development of the entire Tennessee valley.

RUNS AMUCK. GUTHRIE, Okla., May 17 (AP)—A negro farmer ran amuck with a shotgun last night, killing a white woman and wounding two persons, one of whom was his mother, and then died at the hands of the white woman's husband.

I SAW—T. Duncan Stewart, Pampa violinist being delivered a telegram from Esther Johnson, noted pianist, who is returning to her native Panhandle from a triumphant tour of Europe. She is due to pass through Pampa at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon on the Santa Fe en route to Amarillo. Several friends were expecting to greet her today.

A pool in Charlie Duenkel's yard bordered with pebbled work obtained near Alanreed, and beyond a doubt such rock provides the ultimate quality for garden pools.

TEXAN WILL MAKE FLIGHT DURING JUNE

Two Solo Round The World Trips Planned By James Mattern and Wiley Post.

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—James Mattern of San Angelo, Tex., who attempted to fly around the world last year with Bennett Griffin of Oklahoma City, plans to try it alone this year, starting the first week in June.

If he carries out this plan he will get away about three weeks before Wiley Post, who announced in Oklahoma City today that he expected to begin his solo flight around the world about July 1.

Post still holds the world girdling speed record for his previous flight with Harold Gatty.

The Plane Century of Progress in which Mattern and Griffin cracked up in Russia on their world flight last year has been remodeled for the solo flight, which allows room for an extra hundred gallons of gasoline.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 18 (AP)—Wiley Post, co-holder of the globe-girdling flight record will try for a new round-the-world mark only a robot for a companion.

The "Winnie Mae," in which Post and Harold Gatty, navigator, circled the world in 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes in June, 1931, is being rebuilt, equipped with new and larger tanks and a new motor at the Oklahoma City airport.

"I am going out to set a new record, my personal ambition," Post said in announcing his plans.

"I will have no backer, no manager and no partners," Post has spent several weeks testing out the airplane robot which he plans to use for relief flying, allowing him time to rest and to navigate.

Bakery License To Be Required

A city ordinance regulating and licensing bakeries in the city and providing for inspection of out-of-town bakeries at the latter's expense has been passed by the city commission of Pampa.

It provides for a local license fee of $60 and for regular inspection of the bakeries and delivery trucks. Within a radius of 60 miles, out-of-town bakeries must pay $25 for each day of the inspector's time and beyond 60 miles 20 cents per mile additional.

Rigid sanitation requirements are provided.

Mailing of invitations to the Kiwanis club benefit dance of May 26 has begun, it was announced today.

The dance will be held at the Schneider hotel with the popular local Thrill Harmony orchestra furnishing the music.

The proceeds will be placed in the fund for underprivileged children. The orchestra is furnishing its services free and the hotel is making no charge for the dining room where the dance will be held.

SALES PEOPLE TO HEAR TALKS OF VALUE NEXT WEEK DURING THE NEWS-B. C. D. INSTITUTE

Henry W. Stanley Is Psychologist of Business—Individual Firms May Obtain His Services

A short course in business administration for merchants and salespeople will be the free Business Institute to be brought to Pampa Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday by the Pampa Daily News and the Board of City Development.

Salesmanship—the power of arousing the emotions of the prospect and causing him to buy—will be explained by the lecturer, Henry W. Stanley of Dallas, from a psychological standpoint. Mr. Stanley's psychology is that of an expert who knows present conditions and who has helped hundreds of merchants to solve their problems.

It will be a back-to-school occasion for local business men, young and old. Mr. Stanley is an entertaining speaker who knows how to handle his audiences. His talks are of interest to veteran business men who like to hear their own ideas expounded as well as to younger salespeople who need to hear these ideas presented in a well-organized way.

Mr. Stanley will be welcomed by sales managers and all business men because he talks their language and can be of help to the entire personnel of local firms. To those who are down-hearted and uncertain as to the future, the lecturer will prove an inspiring counselor. On request, he will visit individual stores and advise the managers. He is coming to be of service and will speak several times each day for the accommodation of those who can leave their work only at certain hours.

Hours of lectures will be announced soon. They will be given at the city hall club rooms.

TEN MORE PAMPANS TO BE SENT TO FOREST CAMPS DURING WEEK

TEN MORE Pampa men will be sent to the reforestation camps this week. Two will be from LePors and two from McLean.

If those sent to Amarillo are accepted, they will go to Fort Sill, Okla., for conditioning then will be sent to some forest for work. Three Pampans already are in the forests, and the Gray county quota of 45 is expected to be filled before the end of the month.

Steamship Strikes Submerged Ice Berg and Sinks; Crew Lands Safely

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., May 18 (AP)—The steamship Sierstad, laden with ore and bound from Wabana for Rotterdam, struck an iceberg off Cape St. Francis and sank. It was reported today. The crew was saved.

The Sierstad, a vessel of 6,632 tons gross, was built in 1921 at Newcastle, according to Lloyd's registry of shipping. Her home port is listed as Oslo, Norway.

The Sierstad struck a submerged berg a glancing blow at 8 o'clock last night, an hour after she had pulled away from her pier. The engine room was punctured and quickly flooded, but the Sierstad remained afloat eleven hours. Her crew spent the night in the vessel's small boats and landed today.

Merchants Asked To Meet Friday Morning to Discuss Trades Day

A proposal for a Trades day in Pampa has been discussed by several merchants, who wish to present it to business men of the city Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the city hall.

It is urgently requested that business men attend so that a definite decision may be made for or against the proposal.

FORMAL POOL OPENING PLANS BEING DRAWN

Junior Chamber Will Offer Prizes at Beauty Revue and Water Carnival.

FORMAL opening of the municipal swimming pool was definitely set this morning for June 9 and 10, with a full program of water sports and a water queen contest for all the Panhandle in the making.

George Limerick, general chairman, was to appoint sub-chairmen for each event during the day. He said that preliminaries for the beauty contest, swimming contest, driving contest, and other events would be held June 9, with the finals to be on Saturday, June 10. The finals in the Water Queen contest, however, will be at the La Nora theater at 9 p. m. June 10, when seating capacity is large enough to accommodate all who wish to see the contestants of Pampa and other towns. Efforts will be made to have entrants in all divisions from towns in nearby counties and beyond.

The formal opening will usher in the water sports season and make Pampa the center of such activities in this territory.

Blue-green water rippling gently under breezes which for the most part are held back by a white board wall 9 feet high, beckoning young and old of Pampa with an appealing urge as warm weather arrives, will be enjoyed on and after May 28.

Will Be Park. It is easy to imagine, as one inspects the Pampa municipal pool and the grounds, what a beauty spot it is destined to become. Right now it is beauty in the rough, but the grounds will be shaped and improved until the pool will be in the middle of a park. The pool has been set in a hillside a few blocks north of the east ward (Woodrow Wilson) school. High hills are being retained with rock worked into the slope.

The attractive stuccoed bathroom and office space enclose the entire west end of the pool and two-thirds of the south side, while the fence protects the remainder from wind and dust. Showers, dressing rooms, and other accommodations are provided for men and women adjacent to the pool entrance.

All Concrete Inside. Inside the enclosure, one is impressed by the large rectangular expanse of green water, slightly blue in the deeper part. It looks clean, inviting. Delightful too is the fact that there is no dirt inside the enclosure—only clean concrete, wide walks, concrete seats along the walls. Drinking fountains are conveniently spaced. The pool proper is graduated in depth and will be marked so that danger will be properly indicated. Pipe ladders are placed at intervals along the deeper portion, while at the shallow end there are concrete steps on either side.

Low diving boards are at the west end overlooking deep water at the sides of that end, and at the center is the 15-foot diving tower. At night this tower and the entire interior of the pool will be lighted with flood-lamps.

Must Heat Water. Right now the water is cold enough to "cause shivers" but after the pool is placed in operation it will be heated by a boiler which will work in conjunction with a purifying filter system. This system will not be completed by opening time of the pool, but heating will be possible anyway.

Below the pool on a gentle slope is the municipal garden which has been plowed and today was being listed by workmen of the federal relief committee. Water from the pool will be used to irrigate this garden.

Seed Donations Are Requested

Donations of seed for planting the municipal garden for the unemployed would be welcomed by the Pampa federal relief committee.

The men are eager to do the work, but there is a shortage of seed and plants. The men would like to plant beans, onion sets, tomatoes, and other standard garden vegetables. Anyone having seed to spare may leave it at the Welfare Board office or call that office.

FINAL ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY GOVERNOR

CERTIFICATE SYSTEM OF WAGERING IS APPROVED

SENATE VOTES 19 TO 10

SENATOR C. C. SMALL CASTS BALLOT FOR MEASURE

AUSTIN, May 18 (AP)—The legislature today sent to the governor a proposal to legalize the certificate system of wagering on horse races. The proposal was attached as a "rider" to a free conference report on the departmental appropriations bill.

Action became final when the senate adopted the report. The house had approved the proposal yesterday by a vote of almost two to one.

The vote in the senate was 19 to 10 with one pair present and not voting. The roll call follows: Yes—E. J. Blackett of Victoria, W. R. Cousins, Beaumont; Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield; Ernest Fellbaum of San Antonio; W. K. Hopkins, Gonzales; Will M. Martin of Hillsboro; Will D. Paeg of Tyler; Archie Parr of Benavides; Nat Patton of Crockett; Frank H. Hawkins of Fort Worth; John S. Redditt of Lufkin; K. M. Regan, Pecos; Gus Russek, Schulenburg; Roy Sanderson of Brown; Clint C. Small of Amarillo; Albert Stone of Brenham; H. Grady Woodruff of Decatur; Walter F. Woodul of Houston, and Walter C. Woodward of Coleman.

If the bill should be approved by the governor and upheld by the courts it would mark the first time since 1909 that Texans have been permitted to bet on horse races in this state.

W. T. Waggoner of Fort Worth, proprietor of Arlington Downs, a large racing plant between Dallas and Fort Worth, long has advocated legalization of race track betting.

Repeated efforts in previous sessions of the legislature to make horse race bets legal were unavailing. The house earlier in this session voted by a close margin to kill a bill to legalize the pari-mutuel system of wagering on races.

'Anarchist' Is Killed After An Officer Is Shot

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 18 (AP)—A man described by police as an anarchist was killed by a volley of police bullets on a downtown street here today after he had emptied his pistol at four policemen, dangerously wounding one of them.

The dead man tentatively was identified as J. E. Ferguson, address unknown.

Physicians said the wounded officer, John H. Beasley, had only a slender chance to recover.

The gun fight occurred after two police scout cars responded to a report a man was intoxicated. A car carrying policemen J. E. White and J. M. Mabe arrived first and was halted by a tall, well dressed man.

Jimmy Jeffries, the Early Bird announcer at WFAA Dallas, congratulated the senior class of Pampa high school this morning. As usual he finished by saying, "Good old Pampa, my old home town." From what I could gather Mr. Jeffries has several "home towns" and so I say, "What a man."

OKLAHOMA and WEST TEXAS: Generally fair tonight and Friday.

FACE TO FACE? PARIS, May 18 (AP)—Premier Daladier and Chancellor Hitler of Germany may meet face to face at Geneva to talk over their troubles, friends of the premier indicated today. Close associates of the premier said the plan was being discussed and they were urging it as the best means of clearing the atmosphere.

BUSINESS CONTROL IN NEW FORM

To get a good understanding of the new relationship between business and government, all you have to do is contrast the attitude of President Franklin D. Roosevelt with that of his distinguished predecessor, T. R.

Each took office at a time when the public was deeply dissatisfied with the way in which social values were being ignored by the industrial and financial community. In each case the ordinary man felt that some realignment was necessary, although there was not in either case any general agreement on what should be done. And, in each case, there was a radical fringe eager to move along paths which might be theoretically admirable but were pretty likely to be disastrous in practice.

Theodore Roosevelt insisted that what had happened in business and industry was a direct concern of the government. He saw that society in self-protection must do something to restrain the profit motive, and the most effective weapon.

There was little talk then of making the government a partner in industry—although it is interesting to remember that T. R. was not afraid to threaten the anthracite coal barons with direct government intervention. It was his theory that the government could do all that was needed by exercising its supervision from the outside. Business was to be allowed to go its own way, but Uncle Sam was to be alert in the background with a big stick ready to rap any head that got too far out of line.

That theory was followed without important changes up to this year; but by the spring of 1933 it had become painfully evident that more than that was needed. Simple restraint was not enough. Government must not be content to keep industry from doing certain things; it must be ready to persuade or force industry to do things. Its control must be positive rather than negative.

This, at any rates, seems to be the second Rooseveltian philosophy, as embodied in the legislation which is now taking shape. It is in marked contrast to the creed of the first Roosevelt; but it is worth noticing that it is a perfectly logical development from it. The contrast is more apparent than real. Once government has begun to exercise supervision over private business it cannot turn back.

Congressman has proposed a constitutional amendment that no one shall have more than a million dollars. Wrong idea, congressman. What we need is a constitutional amendment that no one shall have less than a million.

FRENCH STUNNED

PARIS, May 18 (AP)—The moderation of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's speech before the Reichstag yesterday stunned French officialdom. A government spokesman said there appeared to be a complete about-face in the German policy. "It is the first time since the war that the chief of the German government has spoken in such conciliatory terms," the spokesman said.

They told the whole story of the inheritance, of the abduction, of the token, of the reasons we had for believing the murder centered about it. They were constantly interrupted and questioned. It was a difficult hour, and the conclusion was what I should have expected but somehow had not.

The police did not believe their story. They listened, they questioned, they even grew excited and, I thought, sent a telegram or two; but they did not wholly credit it.

Well, of course, it was extraordinary. Still, it had happened.

At any rate, they politely forbade the plan Francis Tally advanced to leave with his sister the coming morning. Even when his line-featured face flushed and became angry and he shouted a bit, they still refused; they were polite; they were regretful; but Monsieur must see that it could not be.

They could only assure us that the detectives from Paris would arrive tomorrow and then, we gathered, it would immediately be over, the murderer at jail, and everything settled. And as far as that goes they may have been speaking the truth; we were never to know as to that.

In the end our progress back to the hotel was in the nature of a retreat to jail.

It happened that Sue walked beside me. She said nothing on the way back through white, wind-swept, cobblestoned streets winding narrowly between shuttered stone houses with tall peaked roofs. In the courtyard once more, a chance movement brought her momentarily very near me with the others—Francis and Lorn, that is—she and I, and she took the chance of the man's not being able to understand English.

"She whispered, her eyes on Francis Tally's sloping shoulders: 'I've lost the token, I can't show it to Francis, it's gone.' 'Have you told him?' 'No. No—he must not know. What shall I do?'"

Lorn turned to fold open the door to the lobby, and Sue was obliged to pass ahead of me and ahead of Francis into the lobby. Lovschiem was waiting, rubbing his hands on which the jewels sparkled. The cockatoo chuckled.

IT WAS in all likelihood that curious and distasteful gesture of Lovschiem's that suddenly convinced me that he was again in the saddle, so to speak.

He'd been ever since Stravsky's unsolved murder vaguely uncertain, definitely perplexed, He'd had, like Grethe, an air of waiting, but in his case it had been anxious waiting. Uncertain waiting.

Where she had been poised and alert in her secretive patience, he had been, somehow, worried, inept, hesitant; it was as if his course of action were not definitely mapped; or as if he thought more of its possible failure than of its possible success.

Old Friends Are Best! By COWAN

Hello and Goodbye! By BLOSSER

The White Cockatoo by Mignon G. Eberhart

SYNDICATED: The unexpected arrival of Francis Tally in the hotel in Southern France where his sister Sue, has been the indirect cause of three murders and sundry allied horrors, completely changes the outlook. Sue has in her possession a token with which she must identify herself to her brother from whom she has been separated many years, and thus obtain the object of her father's huge fortune. The entire group in the hotel goes to consult the hotel official.

Chapter 37 BACK TO "JAIL"

A NUMBER of policemen accompanied us, and our passage through the streets caused quite a stir in the town, though I noted it only absent-mindedly and that because so many children and so many dogs seemed to spring up beside us.

I did not, of course, understand much of the interview with the commissaire and the judge; that is, I did not understand French, and neither, it developed, did Francis Tally; Lorn and Sue translated swiftly for us, but sometimes forgot momentarily to translate, which was maddening.

They told the whole story of the inheritance, of the abduction, of the token, of the reasons we had for believing the murder centered about it. They were constantly interrupted and questioned. It was a difficult hour, and the conclusion was what I should have expected but somehow had not.

The police did not believe their story. They listened, they questioned, they even grew excited and, I thought, sent a telegram or two; but they did not wholly credit it.

Well, of course, it was extraordinary. Still, it had happened.

At any rate, they politely forbade the plan Francis Tally advanced to leave with his sister the coming morning. Even when his line-featured face flushed and became angry and he shouted a bit, they still refused; they were polite; they were regretful; but Monsieur must see that it could not be.

They could only assure us that the detectives from Paris would arrive tomorrow and then, we gathered, it would immediately be over, the murderer at jail, and everything settled. And as far as that goes they may have been speaking the truth; we were never to know as to that.

In the end our progress back to the hotel was in the nature of a retreat to jail.

It happened that Sue walked beside me. She said nothing on the way back through white, wind-swept, cobblestoned streets winding narrowly between shuttered stone houses with tall peaked roofs. In the courtyard once more, a chance movement brought her momentarily very near me with the others—Francis and Lorn, that is—she and I, and she took the chance of the man's not being able to understand English.

"She whispered, her eyes on Francis Tally's sloping shoulders: 'I've lost the token, I can't show it to Francis, it's gone.' 'Have you told him?' 'No. No—he must not know. What shall I do?'"

Lorn turned to fold open the door to the lobby, and Sue was obliged to pass ahead of me and ahead of Francis into the lobby. Lovschiem was waiting, rubbing his hands on which the jewels sparkled. The cockatoo chuckled.

IT WAS in all likelihood that curious and distasteful gesture of Lovschiem's that suddenly convinced me that he was again in the saddle, so to speak.

He'd been ever since Stravsky's unsolved murder vaguely uncertain, definitely perplexed, He'd had, like Grethe, an air of waiting, but in his case it had been anxious waiting. Uncertain waiting.

Where she had been poised and alert in her secretive patience, he had been, somehow, worried, inept, hesitant; it was as if his course of action were not definitely mapped; or as if he thought more of its possible failure than of its possible success.

His eyes had been veiled, darting, nervous. His face had glistened and had had a bad color. His flabby hands had hovered irresolutely, as if they could not decide upon any certain action but must hesitate over the ledger and over the inkwell. His continual smile had been no longer bland.

But now all at once there was about him a perceptible air of decision. It was as if he knew now exactly what he was going to do. There was briskness in his bulky shoulders; briskness in his fat rubbing hands; confidence in his bland smile, and decision in his daring eyes.

Even the dirty jewels seemed to wink and gimmer with a sudden access of evil and knowing energy.

"So," he said in a congratulatory way. "So you have gone to the police. You have arranged things; you may now leave my poor hotel. That is good. That is good. Not that I want my guests to leave me, but it has been a bad time here."

"He advanced in an ingratiating way toward Sue.

"I am so glad, Miss Tally, that your brother has finally arrived. Sorry you are to leave us. But glad he has arrived. We have tried to make you happy here in our poor way. But it has been a sad time for this young miss," he added, turning sympathetically to Francis Tally, though, oddly, he avoided meeting his eyes.

"But it appears that we are not leaving," said Francis Tally.

Lovschiem's gesticulating hands arrested themselves in the air; he looked so suddenly and completely at a loss that it was almost ludicrous. In an instant the new decision was wiped out of his glistening fat face.

"But—but why?"

At once I knew that whatever this new course of Lovschiem's had been it must have included Sue's immediate departure in the company of her brother. Why?

I listened to Francis Tally's reply. He had seemed ill at ease and not too likable at first; he was more at ease now but no more likable.

"Some absurdity about waiting for the detectives from Paris. I don't know what they expect to discover. But the police won't let us leave. They'd rather subject us all to the danger of staying here in your murderous hotel."

MONSIEUR, gasped Lovschiem parenthetically. "An unlucky accident. Only an accident."

"—than let us go to a safer place. It's outrageous. What can we do about it, Lorn?"

There was a moment before Lorn replied. He seemed to be seeking some way out of it, judging from the thoughtful, remote look in his dark eyes.

I was thinking of Lovschiem's curious use of the word accident. It was a flagrant understatement. All that horror summed up in the one word accident!

Then it occurred to me that perhaps he used the word for the simple reason that that was exactly what he meant. Perhaps it had been largely accident from his point of view.

An accident which had set awry his carefully laid plans that had only righted themselves to be—or I was no judge of looks—set at odds again by this unlooked-for tenaciousness on the part of the police.

But again I asked myself why he had wanted Sue to leave at first with her brother. Was it possible that I was all wrong in my judgment of Lovschiem? Had he been wrong from the beginning?

Was it possible that he was merely an interested but sincere friend to the girl—had shown nothing of her inheritance, nothing of the things that threatened her, nothing of the whole ugly affair?

"There is nothing we can do just now but wait," said Lorn firmly. He spoke quietly but with a slight air of reservation.

"Wait!" exclaimed Francis Tally impatiently. "Waiting seems to be all that any of you have been doing. Wait! What for? More murders?"

"I assure you it has been enforced waiting," I said. "And no pleasure for us than it will be for you."

He turned slowly toward me. His spectacles winked in the light, and there were hard lines suddenly about his eyes and thin mouth.

"Well," he said, "it's a little different with you. I understand you are actually under suspicion."

"Not at all," Sue's words came crisp and clear. "Not at all, Francis. Mr. Sagedan was a victim of a mistake on the part of the police. He is entirely cleared."

"Really?" said Francis, with only faint skepticism.

Sue's cheeks went pink, and I said quickly: "Your Mr. Lorn helped me out of it."

"H'mm," observed Francis, looking at Lorn, and Lorn immediately said: "I did so at Miss Tally's request. It did not interfere with my—er—other duties."

Prove Sincerity By Acts, French Shout at Hitler

PARIS, May 18 (AP)—Edouard Herriot believes, on the basis of Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech, that Germany will claim equality on the sea after land equality.

He gave his warning last night at the conclusion of a lecture on his impressions of America, where he recently talked with President Roosevelt.

"After the Treaty of Versailles," the former premier said, "she (Germany) will attack the Washington conventions."

"The fate of the American and British fleets and the French army will be one and the same."

French reaction, meanwhile, to the chancellor's speech was represented as being that acts alone can prove the sincerity toward peace of the German people.

Official quarters laid the chief reason for the moderation of the chancellor's pronouncements to the "solemn warning" they construed as contained in the world message of President Roosevelt and what they described as the necessity of German appeal of fears in America and England.

All admire the consummate skill of the chancellor, said Le Journal, remarking that he had turned President Roosevelt's appeal to the best advantage.

"He has found a way to appear very moderate without abandoning anything of his program," the newspaper added.

Japanese Envoy Arrives To Talk With Roosevelt

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18 (AP)—Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, Japan's delegate to the London Economic Conference, expressed hope the world would join in "a war against economic depression" as he paused here today en route to a conference with President Roosevelt in Washington.

"My mission," Viscount Ishii, who arrived from the Orient yesterday said, "is to confer with your government for the purpose of finding out how we may cooperate with you in the war which the nations of the world are now waging."

"Your president wants to pool the world's minds and brains and, I dare say, the world's hearts as well to find the way out of this appalling situation. Japan is anxious to work with America and other nations for the common good of the world."

Viscount Ishii, who is Japan's privy councillor and former president of the League of Nations council, made the statements in an ad-

HITLER PLAYS WAGNER; FIGHTS WITH HIS FISTS

Chancellor Has Gift For Slogans And Painting

By MELVIN E. COLEMAN, Associated Press Staff Writer. From paper-hanger in Austria to chancellor of Germany; from corporal in the German army to leadership of a nation of 60,000,000; from discussion of political theories around a table in a Munich beer cellar, to addresses in parliament for which the whole world waits—that is Adolf Hitler.

Germany for the Germans and for only Aryan Germans at that, equality for his adopted country before all the world, erasure of the defeatist doctrine growing out of the world war, union with Austria and leadership of the whole German race from Berlin his creed.

A medium-sized, compactly built, tireless leader, gifted with oratory which sways the multitude, with a flair for showmanship that attracts youth and with a talent for slogan-making which imbues his following with almost fanatical devotion, he has fought his way to power from depths of obscurity. Singleness of purpose animates him.

Personal Courage. Even his bitterest enemies acknowledge his personal courage. He fought early opponents with fists, clubs, and chairs. He won decorations for valor in the world war in which he was an alien volunteer in the army of Imperial Germany.

Always he has admired the "Prussian spirit," the strictly disciplined control that peppered the nation with "verboten" signs before the war. The glories of the imperial regime have been his lodestone.

"Germany awake!" "Judah perish!" "Red Murder pest!" (For communism, and "criminals of 1918"—this last referring to the organizers of the German republic—have been dimmed into the ears of his listeners. Today the response from Germany's millions is "Hall Hitler!")

Plays Piano. All this is the public side of the man. Away from his public career he turns to the piano, plays for hours the themes of Richard Wagner, especially those of the Niebelungen, the saga of the mighty gods of old.

Also he paints. His earliest ambition was to be an artist. It was thwarted when he failed to win entrance to an art school in his native Austria. Instead he turned to interior decorating. His intimates say he handles colors well.

It is related that he stayed away from Berlin during a parliamentary crisis a couple of years ago because he was busy superintending the decorating of the "Brown House", the headquarters in Munich of his national socialist party.

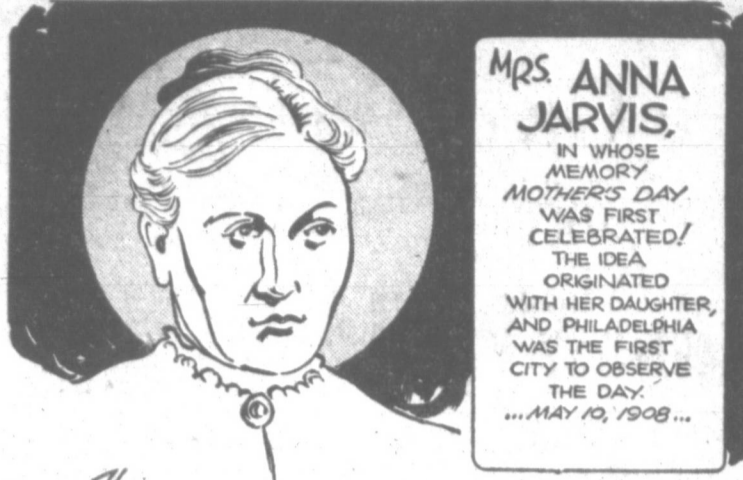

"Of course he can be terribly stern," said Frau Marie Hiltreiter, gray-haired keeper of a stationery shop in Munich where Hitler used to buy supplies. "But somebody has to be strict."

"And really he can be the gentlest and kindest of men. He loves animals and knows all about animal life. And he is thoughtful for old friends like me."

HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS FOR NAVY BUILDING IS AUTHORIZED

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The naval building program advanced as a means of increasing employment probably will be started and carried on until such a time as new treaty agreements may be reached.

This was indicated today when it was disclosed that the administration's public works-industrial control bill contains provision for a maximum of $100,000,000 for naval construction.

The navy champions in congress who contend that the United States fleet will not be brought up to existing treaty limits even with a 3-year building program, were quick to note that President Roosevelt's call for world disarmament did not mention navies or ships.

Chairman Vinson of the house naval committee said he expected the administration to go ahead with its ship construction plans and if an agreement were reached at the Geneva conference to reduce the size of fleets, even more, the construction could be halted.

The building program under discussion involves expenditure of $200,000,000 over a 3-year period. Big navy men pointed out that this program did not include the 10,000-ton 8-inch gun cruisers generally regarded as offensive weapons.

The ships to be built as soon as possible would include 16 destroyers of 1,500 tons, four of 1,850 tons, 4 submarines of 1,150 tons, 4 6-inch gun cruisers of 10,000 tons, 2 aircraft carriers of 20,000 tons and 2 gun-boats of 2,000 tons. Navy champions pointed out that Mr. Roosevelt asked specifically in his disarmament message that no nation "increase its existing armaments over and above the limitations of treaty obligations."

Vinson said that the United States before December 31, 1936, when the London treaty expires, can build without violating treaty limits a total of 137 ships, made up of three aircraft carriers, nine cruisers, 89 destroyers and 36 submarines.

Garner Declines To Be At Opening Of World's Fair

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Vice President Garner declined an invitation to attend the opening of the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, May 27, in a telegram today to Rufus C. Dawes, head of the exposition.

President Roosevelt, on deciding yesterday that he would be unable to make the trip, asked the vice president to go.

Garner explained to newspapermen, however, that his presence in Washington was imperative while the impeachment trial of Judge Harold Louderback is in progress.

In his telegram to Dawes, he said: "I regret that the situation is such that it is impossible for me to visit your city and join in the opening of the exposition."

Veterans of Foreign Wars Urge U. S. Uniform System of Pensions

Demands of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States for a uniform pension system, first voiced as early as 1917, have been fulfilled by the 73rd congress in its repudiation of World War legislation enacted since the signing of the armistice, according to local members.

From the date of its founding in 1899, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States has been a consistent champion of uniform pension legislation, believing that the government should adopt certain principles of compensation according equal treatment of priviledges to all veterans of all wars.

In 1917 the membership of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States was composed largely of veterans who had served in the Philippines, the Boxer Rebellion, Cuba and at Vera Cruz. Leaders of the V. F. W. at that time foresaw the conditions that would exist among world war veterans upon their return from the A. E. F. camps in this country following the war.

When members of the congress in 1917 proposed a new system of compensation, V. F. W. leaders protested in defense of the pension system that had already been created. Congress was urged to extend the benefits of existing legislation to world war veterans and their dependents but without avail.

The move launched by other veteran organizations in 1924 for world war adjusted compensation in the form of certificates that would mature in 20 years—was designed to offset demands for a pension system similar to the plan in effect before the world war.

Leaders of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States favored the proposed adjusted compensation plan but only on a cash basis. It stoutly opposed the insurance policy plan that was eventually adopted, which postponed payment of this debt to the veteran until 1945.

Although the powers granted to the administration of a "new deal" in veteran legislation threaten to destroy the principle of the basic structure of veteran legislation enacted since the world war, the exact effects of this new legislation will not be known until the regulations upon which these new laws are to be administered are issued. However, it is certain that the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States will continue its fight for veteran benefits that place the burden of veteran welfare upon the federal government, the V. F. W. adhering to the theory that the care of the disabled veteran and his dependents is a federal obligation.

It is staunchly opposed to any plan that would make the disabled veteran a burden of charity or the cause of increased taxation in local communities.

Displays Placed At World's Fair

CHICAGO, May 18.—Almost overnight two enormous exhibit groups at A Century of Progress Exposition are being filled with displays which have been ready, in most cases, for several weeks. They are the Electrical and the general exhibits group.

Century of Progress workers have practically completed the trim and interior decoration of the five pavilions in the general exhibits group and the three immense halls of the electrical group, and on their heels follow an army of technicians and artists engaged in installing the displays. Present indications are that everything will be in place several days before President Roosevelt inaugurates Chicago's 1933 World's fair on May 27.

In the general exhibits group installation of forty-three displays has already begun and many are well on their way to completion. In the electrical group more than half the displays are being installed, and work on the others will begin within the next few days. In the majority of cases where installation has not actually begun, the placing of displays will require only three or four days.

PRE-SCHOOL CHILD HEALTH ROUND-UPS WILL START MONDAY

SCHEDULE OF EXAMINATIONS IS ANNOUNCED

MISS BURESH, STATE HEALTH NURSE, IS IN CHARGE

HEALTH round-ups for pre-school children in Gray county will start Monday morning under direction of Miss Olga Buresh, state itinerant health nurse, with local doctors and Parent-Teacher association members assisting.

Preliminary visit to schools where health examinations will be given are being made this week by Miss Buresh. She arrived yesterday and arranged her working schedule immediately.

At Bell First.

Children who will start to school next fall at Grandview or Bell will be given the first examinations, at Bell school Monday morning. Mothers are asked to accompany their children when possible.

They will meet at 9 a. m., and doctors will arrive at 10 to conduct the examinations. Introductory meetings of mothers and children have been arranged at each place before examinations start.

Examinations for the Webb and Back schools will be held at Back at 2 o'clock Tuesday, and for Edinger and Alameda districts at Alameda Wednesday morning at 9.

Children eligible.

Every child who is ready to enter school for the first time next term is eligible for a free health examination in the round-up. Physical defects will be noted on a record card given to the parents, and the county Parent-Teacher council will sponsor a follow-up campaign in an effort to have all possible defects corrected before school starts next year.

Explaining the purpose of the round-up, Miss Buresh gave the following statement:

Walter S. Gifford, president, president's organization on unemployment relief, in speaking of children said, "Hunger and poverty in children leave scars for the future to reckon with. Withy adults the task is largely remedial. With children the watchword is prevention. Public machinery, such as public health, welfare agencies, educational systems, should be the last to be affected by measures of economy. Let us guard against any retrenchment which pinches the young."

Economy Dangerous.

"Too much economy in health work is dangerous to the welfare of growing children. Undernourishment of children, for example, may not show effect immediately, but it is bound to show its effect later when it is probably too late to remedy.

"The duty of all lies in the protection of child life, as no form of government can perpetuate itself unless it insures its future through fostering and safeguarding the lives of the children upon whom its very existence depends. We have made great strides in art, science and literature, which our advanced civilization demands, but unless we have a people of intelligence, full of health and vitality, all these are as nothing. Without health, it is impossible for our children to carry on the burdens of civilization.

"The Texas Congress of Parent-Teacher association and the state department of health are sponsoring the summer round-up of children in this county. The purpose is to give the parents an opportunity to have their children examined to see if they have any remedial defect. This is done at this time of the year in order that discovered defects, can be remedied before time for the child to enter school. Many children are sent to school that are below standard physically and it is in this group, as a rule, that you will find the repeaters; it is up to the parents themselves to see that their child has an even start with his classmates."

Miss Beulah Harmonson, floor supervisor at Worley hospital, left for Lubbock this morning to attend graduation exercises at Lubbock sanitarium. She will be gone a week.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 15, 1933

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

U. S. Net Stars Begin Canadian Matches Today

MONTREAL, May 18 (AP)—Worried more about the weather than by the strength of the opposition, the United States Davis Cup team was ready today for its second big step along the route to the challenge round at Paris in July, the North American zone final against Canada. The first two singles matches, sending Ellsworth Vines against the young Canadian, Gilbert Nunn, and Wilmer Allison against Dr. Jack Wright, leader of the Dominion forces, were scheduled for today, starting at 2 p. m. (E. S. T.). Tomorrow the doubles match will send George Lott and John Van Ryn against a still unnamed Canadian team and Saturday the singles order will be reversed for the closing matches, Vines meeting Wright and Allison playing Nunn.

OFFICIAL DEFENDS HIS RECORD IN HOME TOWN

WICHITA FALLS, May 18 (AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred denies that he and the state railroad commission have refused to consider the market demand in fixing an allowable for the East Texas oil field. Speaking here last night in reply to criticisms expressed at a public meeting a week ago, he defended his record with reference to oil matters and charged that his political destruction was being attempted thru creation of the impression that his home folks were against him. "Many of my friends have written me that they did not read the petition circulated at that meeting, but signed it when they were told it was an appeal for reduction of the East Texas allowable," Allred said. "The question of what amount of oil shall be produced in that field daily is primarily one for the railroad commission, and later for the courts."

Dance Contest To Open Tonight

The first annual West Texas Amateur Dance contest will open at the Pla-Mor auditorium here tonight with Garrett's Rhythm Boys of Amarillo furnishing the music. A second dance will be held May 25 and on June 1 the winners will be declared in another big dance. Registration will be allowed until the couples take the floor at 9 o'clock tonight. Three judges will be present at each dance. They will judge on dancing ability, poise, grace, conduct, and appearance. The winning couple will be presented with a $50 loving cup. The second prize will be a $25 loving cup and the third prize a $15 loving cup.

our best to defend it." Allred said the encounter at Austin between C. F. Rosser of Fort Worth and Representative Gordon Burns was "the beginning of the end of the most pernicious oil lobby in the history of the state, a lobby that supposedly represented the independents but which was in fact, a cloak for the majors."

JAKE ATZ IS NEW MANAGER OF CAT CLUB

REORGANIZED INDIANS BEAT GALVESTON 7 TO 2

By The Associated Press.
It was tough going for first division teams in the Texas league Wednesday night, only the circuit-leading Houston Buffaloes being able to win a game. But by trouncing the potent Tulsa Oilers, the Buffaloes increased their margin over the second place Galveston club to two full games. Oklahoma City and Dallas staged uprisings which promised no good for higher standing teams in the future. Fort Worth, with the veteran Jake Atz, taking over the management, also threatens to offer more competition. Houston went scoreless for six innings before getting a run off Augie Johns at Tulsa. Then, in the ninth, the Buffaloes scored four runs to win, 5 to 1. Hanson allowed but four hits, while Johns held the Buffaloes to six. Each hurler turned in six hitless innings. The Oklahoma City Indians, with a reorganized and strengthened outfield, turned back Galveston's Buccaneers, 7 to 2. Nitcholas struck out two Buccaneers and allowed but six hits. At Dallas, the Steers came out of a five-game losing streak to trim the San Antonio Missions, 9 to 4. Dallas pounded White, young Mission hurler, for 19 safe hits. The Missions connected with seven hits from the offerings of two Steer pitchers, Tietje and Gilatto. A three-run rally in the eighth inning gave the Beaumont Exporters a 5 to 3 victory over the Fort Worth Cats, who were playing their last game under the management of Walter Hoike. The Cats scored two runs in the second inning and another in the sixth. The Exporters picked up two runs in the sixth and then climbed on Chambers' offerings for the winning runs in the eighth.

Program numbers included a piano solo by Miss Dorothy Mae Williams, a reading by Juanita Jackson, a vocal solo, Summer Tryst, by little Billie Gains, and violin music by Bertha Trout accompanied by Mrs. Frank Williams. Guests for the afternoon were Mesdames T. J. Hill, Fred Loney, C. C. Boyd, T. D. Scott, F. Terrell, Loyd Barnett, John Henry of Borger, J. S. McLaughlin of Miami, H. L. Jordan, Paul Nowlin, J. BURGLARS FAIL

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., May 18 (AP)—Bank burglars made a futile attempt to rob the safe and the vault of the Niotaze, Kan., State bank during the night. They entered the bank and battered the combination locks of both safe and the vault but were unable to open either. Mrs. L. A. Snodgrass of Skellytown was a shopper here this morning.

TOWELS STOP FIVE FIGHTS

Cash and Weddle Box to a Draw in Best Bout of Evening at Pla-Mor.

Towels were thicker in the air than gloves at the Pla-Mor auditorium last night when five decisions were awarded on technical knockouts. The only real fight of the evening was the opening four rounder which saw Claude Cash, local boy, appear in the ring against Earl Weddle, Santa Ana, Cal., to box him to a nice draw. The two youngsters have been re-matched. It was Cash's first fight. Chet Atkins, Woodward, Okla., the boy who won a judges' decision from Pug Orubus here some time ago, lasted only three rounds with Kayo Kitchens of Fort Worth before throwing his towel in the ring and disappearing into the dressing room. Kitchens hit him hard and often and the Oklahoman couldn't take it. Matchmaker Andy Andrews refused to pay Atkins.

DODGERS TAKE 3 GAMES AND THIRD PLACE

WASHINGTON DEFEATS CLEVELAND 3-2 IN CLOSE BATTLE

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.
The Brooklyn Dodgers have found the going rather rough in the National league campaign, particularly when everybody was getting good pitching and their batters weren't able to hit their stride, but with the clouting department coming into its own again they are showing signs of becoming a serious threat to the pace setters. In three games, the Dodgers have risen from a rather weak fifth in the standing to third place. All three victories were won with "story book" ninth inning rallies of the most exciting order. Yesterday Brooklyn put over three runs in a startling last-frame rally for a 5-2 triumph that moved the club into third place and shoved the Cardinals down into a tie for fourth with Cincinnati. Cincinnati, which had been as high as third place, dropped back to the 500 mark and a tie with the Cards when Ed Brandt pitched the Boston Braves to an 8-9 victory. Pittsburgh improved its position at the top of the standing by winning its third straight game from the Phillies, 6 to 4, as Hal Smith turned in a great relief pitching job and Larry French had been blasted from the hill.

Annual Cowboy Reunion To Be Held July 3-5

STAMFORD, May 18.—Memories of siring days on the cattle ranges of the old West will be revived when pioneer ranch workers who saw service withariat and saddle prior to 1888 hold their annual round-up here during the fourth annual Texas Cowboy Reunion July 3, 4, and 5. More than 800 of these old time cow hands registered for the meeting here last year and were guests of the reunion management. Total attendance at the 1932 session was estimated at 30,000. The cowboy rodeo, featuring performers actually employed on the ranches rather than professional rodeo performers will be the central feature of the program of entertainment during the cowboy reunion. An old fiddlers' contest will be held on one day of the reunion and square dances will be held each night for the entertainment of cow boys and visitors of all ages. The most typical active cowboy over 55 years of age and the most typical cowboy under 55 will be selected during the reunion and a prize awarded to each. John Selmon of Stamford received this honor last year for the youngest cowboy and Jake Raines of Spur was selected as the most typical among the active cowboys over 55.

Ball Players of Pampa Will Take Notes on 'Elmer'

Pampa ball players will "see how the game should be played" when they attend the La Nora theater tomorrow night as the guests of George Limerick, manager, to see Joe E. Brown in "Elmer the Great." Assisted by 36 big league ball players, Mr. Limerick has given the managers of the six playground ball teams in the City League and the manager of the Magnolia "Mags" tickets for their players. The picture is a riot from first to last. The big-mouthed star really shows how to hit the ball until he gets mixed up with the ladies but he is even funnier when in that predicament. Several real ball games are shown on the screen and local players will see many of their favorites in action. The tickets will be honored after 6 o'clock tomorrow night.

World Reaches Turning Point, Italians Aver

ROME, May 18 (AP)—Widely expressed Italian views reflected today the opinion that the world has reached a turning point—with peace or chaos the answer.

Official quarters remained silent concerning the world message of President Roosevelt and the foreign policy declarations of Chancellor Hitler pending a meeting Saturday of the grand council, at which Premier Mussolini was expected to voice his sentiments. A strong warning that the world is perched atop a powder keg, with the fuse burning short, was predicted in his statement. General approval of the Roosevelt message has been expressed by Cloriano d'Italia, Fascist newspaper, accepted as reflecting the views of the Fascist regime. Hitler's speech caused favorable reaction throughout the nation. Semi-officially it was pointed out that Italy already has agreed with the Hitler views, upheld Germany's right to arms equality and that the country's contention that post-war treaties should be revamped.

O'Doul Bangs Out His 1,000th Hit

ST. LOUIS, May 18 (AP)—Lefty O'Doul, Brooklyn outfielder, who entered the major leagues first in 1919 as a pitcher with the New York Yankees, banged out his 1,000th hit yesterday. In his 14 years service under the big tent, Lefty has worked with the Yankees, Red Sox, Cubs, Giants, Philadelphia, and Dodgers, sandwiching in a couple of trips to the Coast. He led the National league in hitting twice and has an all-time minor league batting mark of .358, which officially places him as the leading batter now in the senior loop over a period of ten years or longer.

LEGISLATORS VOTED WAGERING AND REORGANIZATION BILLS IN SHORT TIME—AT END OF SESSION

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—Legislators always do surprising things during the closing days of a session.

For instance, after a few hours debate, passed a bill to completely reorganize the governmental departments.

A conference committee put a rider on the appropriation bill that would legalize the certificate system of wagering on horse races.

The bill that would renovate the governmental structure was prepared after a legislative committee, assisted by high-priced efficiency experts, made a study of the existing department that required nearly two years.

The house members apparently had been studying the committee's report because it voted by a two-thirds majority to favor the proposed changes. It is now up to the senate, but since the session is likely to end soon there were few opportunities to predict its passage in the upper branch.

The race-horse wagering rider was attached to that part of the departmental appropriation bill that provides for support of the agricultural department for the next biennium.

A bill proposing to make the paritruel system of wagering lawful had been debated in the house and killed there by a margin of only a few votes.

When the conference committee makes its report on the departmental appropriation bill, the wagering rider is certain to come in for much attention. The fight for and against wagering on horse races will be renewed.

It is possible Speaker Coke Stevenson of the house will have a chance to dispose of the rider or to base on the fact the subject already had been considered and could not be renewed at this session.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

If you yearn for something rather out-of-the-ordinary, try a macaroni salad or two for your late-spring meals. These are hearty enough to be satisfying as main dish concoctions or they may be served as dinner salads when starchy foods are lacking in the menu.

The cooking of macaroni for salads is most important because there must not be the slightest trace of stickiness or mushiness. Drop macaroni into plenty of boiling water—3 quarts and 1 tablespoon salt to 2 cups macaroni are good proportions—and boil until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain it well and rinse with cold water. Chill and have all the other materials cold, too, before combining them.

Macaroni and Egg Salad One cup cooked macaroni, 2 hard cooked eggs, 1/2 cup diced celery, 4 tablespoons sliced stuffed olives, salad dressing, shredded leaf lettuce.

You can use broken stiek macaroni, elbow, shell, bow-knot or any shape you may choose.

Chop eggs and combine with macaroni, celery and olives. Add salad dressing to make moist and serve on a bed of shredded leaf lettuce. Garnish with halves of stuffed olives. Use olives stuffed with pimientos.

Macaroni and Ham Salad This salad is especially good served on a bed of shredded new cabbage.

One cup cooked and chilled macaroni, 1 cup chopped cold-boiled ham, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish, 2 pimientos, 1 cup salad dressing (mayonaisse or cooked dressing), shredded cabbage. Mix horseradish and ham and combine lightly with macaroni and pimientos which have been cut in shreds. Moisten with dressing and serve on a bed of shredded cabbage sprinkled with French dressing.

Macaroni Fruit Salad One cup cooked macaroni, 1 cup canned diced pineapple, 2 bananas thinly sliced and marinated in lemon juice, 1 cup whipping cream, 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1/3 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Mix sugar and cornstarch thoroughly and stir into boiling pineapple juice. Cook in double boiler for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add lemon juice and let cool. When ready to use, fold in cream whipped until firm with salt. Add macaroni, pineapple, bananas to dressing and serve on lettuce hearts with a garnish of fresh strawberries. If strawberries are not at hand a cube of bright jelly will serve as an attractive garnish.

Before beginning the work of preparing, mixing and handling the ingredients used in baking, every person engaged in the preparation or handling of bakery products shall wash his hands and arms thoroughly, and for this purpose sufficient wash basins and soap and clean towels shall be provided. No employe or other person shall use tobacco in any form in any room where bakery products are manufactured, wrapped or prepared for sale. No master baker, person or any employe who is affected with any contagious or infectious disease, shall be permitted to work in any bakery or be permitted to handle any product therein, or delivered therefrom.

SECTION VII: The wagons, boxes, baskets and other receptacles in which bread, cake, pies or other bakery products are transported, shall be kept in a clean condition at all times and free from dust, flies and other contamination. All show cases, shelves or other places where bakery products are sold, shall be kept well covered, properly vented, washed and protected with dust flies, and shall be kept in a clean and wholesome condition at all times. SECTION X: The invalidity of any Section or part of any Section of this Ordinance shall not affect the validity of any other Section or of any portion of any other Section of this Ordinance, but the invalid part shall be separated by the Court holding the same invalid from the remainder of the Ordinance, and the remainder shall be effective, valid and in full force and effect.

SECTION XI: Any person who shall violate any provision of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine of any sum not less than $25.00 nor more than $200.00 for each day said violation shall continue.

SECTION XII: EMERGENCY: It appearing that the City of Pampa is now without a proper Ordinance governing the provisions herein contained, and it further appearing that such bakery products are being promiscuously sold in the city of Pampa and that the Health Department of said city now has no jurisdiction over the supervision and inspection of the conditions under which such bakery products are being produced, which condition, in the interest of public health and public welfare, creates an emergency, making it necessary that this ordinance become immediately effective on its passage and publication; therefore an emergency is hereby declared and the rules requiring three (3) separate readings of an Ordinance are hereby suspended and this Ordinance shall become in full force and effect on and after its passage and publication, as required by law.

PASSED AND APPROVED This, the 15th day of May, 1933. (SEAL)

ORDERS SEND 3,000 MEN BACK TO WORK IN STEEL CENTER

STEADY DROP IN PRODUCTION FINALLY HALTS

OFFICIALS OPTIMISTIC FOR FIRST TIME SINCE 1929

GARY, Ind., May 18. (AP)—The blast furnaces of Gary's steel mills have started to roar and 3,000 and more men have gone back to work in the "steel capital of the mid-west."

An order for 75,000 tons of steel at the Gary works and a pick-up among companies that manufacture automobile parts, railway cars, farm machinery, and other implements of steel are responsible.

Steel company executives are optimistic for the first time since depression hit one out of every three families among Gary's 100,000 population on the unemployment relief rolls.

Here are some Gary statistics: 1. Illinois Steel company working at 32 per cent of capacity compared with 10 per cent a month ago; 2. Forty-five hundred employees on the job at the company's huge plant—"The Gary Works"; 3. Consistent drop in production and employment halted for the first time since 1929;

4. Pig iron in storage for months being sold with the price up 50 cents a ton at $16; 5. Inland Steel company reported planning a tin mill to cost from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000; 6. Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad, chief rail transport agency in the area, hiring men and replacing equipment.

The Gary Works' order is part of 110,000 tons of steel to be used in building California's San Francisco-Oakland bridge—the largest order of its kind ever placed. It will serve as a "backlog" to keep the furnaces going in the Gary works for perhaps a year. The remainder of the order goes to the Pittsburgh plants of the U. S. Steel company, of which Illinois Steel is a subsidiary.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 18. (AP)—Stocks jumped about spasmodically today and after a sharp sinking spell at the beginning of the final hour, rallied sufficiently to wipe out most of their loss which had ranged from one to around four points. The close was irregularly higher. Approximately 4,300,000 shares changed hands.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

dates are August 10, 11, and 12. The change from spring to late summer has been made to avoid conflict with other celebrations, particularly the Panhandle race meet and the Anvil Park rodeo. Lon L. Blansett, manager of last year's highly successful Frontier Days, will be in charge of the Canadian rodeo this year and the Frontier Days rodeo and street parade, assisted by Dr. R. A. Webb in the latter.

"ARKOTEXLINE"
When you see Arkotexline in print, you will know that means a highway extending from Eureka Springs, Ark., west to Miami and southwest to Amarillo by way of Pampa. Although this road is between and parallel to highways 66 and 60, it is desired by many people, especially Oklahomaans, and is a short cut to Tulsa and other northern Oklahoma points.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, May 18. (AP)—Grain prices tended upward early today, influenced by unexpected strength of the Liverpool wheat market and by persistent wet weather in the corn belt. Indications pointed to unsettled conditions over the middle west, with showers and thunderstorms probable. Opening 1/4 off to 1/2 up, wheat later showed gains all around. Corn started at 1/2-3/4 advance, and subsequently rose further.

Wheat closed weak, 1 1/2-2 cents under yesterday's finish, corn 1/4-3/4 down, oats 1/2-3/4 off, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to an equal gain.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, May 18. (AP)—Cotton had a steady but rather quiet opening. Cables were about as due, but the market opened 6 to 7 points up owing to execution of overnight buying orders.

The market ruled comparatively quiet all morning and prices eased owing to lack of buying support and the easy tone of other commodities. July finally dropped to 8.64, October to 8.86 and December to 9.00, or 11 to 14 points down from the early highs and 4 to 10 points under yesterday's close.

Near mid-session the market rallied somewhat in sympathy with firmer stocks, recovering 2 to 5 points of the decline, ruling 2 to 5 points under the close of yesterday.

Bitterweed Is Well-Nigh Gone
SAN ANGELO, May 18. (AP)—Thru light grazing, West Texas ranchmen have largely eradicated bitterweed, a poisonous range pest which three years ago killed thousands of head of livestock. Tests proved that if bitterweed-infested land is grazed lightly the grass will kill out the weed.

Bob Evans of El Dorado has a 4-section ranch which three years ago was almost solid with bitterweed. He stocked it lightly and now more than three acres is infested. Some ranchmen believe the weed, for some unknown reason, appears in cycles, but all agree that light grazing is the best method of controlling it.

GARNER'S HUNTING AND FISHING PAL IN TEXAS IMPROVES—READY FOR 'THOSE OLD TIME OUTINGS'

'Am Looking Forward To Homecoming,' Says Garner

By BESS FURMAN, Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—One reason why Vice President Garner wants to hurry home as soon as the session ends is a remarkable letter he got from his Uvalde, Texas, townsman, close friend of thirty years, companion on many a hunting trip, M. B. (Pete) Walcott.

After long months of hovering between life and death, due to a malady which baffled science, Walcott jubilantly wrote that the doctors had found and conquered the "bug" that caused it.

Walcott recalled that each time Garner had been home in the past two and a half years, he had been away in some hospital.

"It doesn't seem possible, but it is a fact, I have never seen the late speaker of the house, nor the vice-president," wrote Walcott. "Since our last social gathering, you have gone up like a sky-rocket, and faster still did I go in the opposite direction until I hit bottom.

"So this puts me to wondering just what will be our status when we meet. If it suits you, I am more than willing for you to take up right where we left off."

As one rough-and-ready camper to another, "Pete" told "Jack" of his experience, compared his personal plight to the condition of the country, and of the feeling he had that he was "acting like a quitter and should come back and go with the gang."

Bank Looked Gloomy.
"You should have seen the bank when I got back," he said. "Old fellow, it looked more like an undertaking parlor filled with mourners. . . . I am thankful to say they are on their toes, and all smiles now."

Garner lost no time in replying: "You can perhaps imagine with what anticipation I am looking forward to my homecoming, and finding you ready for some of those old-time outings."

"You say that you went down while I was going up.

"Believe me, old boy, I don't doubt but what you did go down . . . in pain and physical as well as mental misery . . . but while you were going down and I was going up, I also passed through a lot of hell of my own."
"There is an old saying that 'each heart knoweth its own bitterness.'"
"Anyway—we are both well and happy, and I hope we will both live to enjoy many years of association and friendship together."

Put Farm Bill Into Practice, Roosevelt Told

WASHINGTON, May 18. (AP)—Quick application of the farm bill to wheat and cotton was sought of the administration today by delegations that called upon President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace.

Representatives of wheat cooperative marketing agencies put before Wallace a plan for application of the farm bill to wheat and urged that a processing tax be put into effect by next August 1.

Chairman Smith of the senate agriculture committee asked President Roosevelt to make the cotton provisions effective on this year's crop and call for an acreage reduction of between five and six million.

The wheat representatives, whose organizations are credited with marketing about one-third of the nation's annual wheat crop, was headed by C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers National Grange corporation.
