EX-STUDENTS WILL ATTEND HOMECOMING

CANYON, Oct. 22.—The campus of West Texas State college will belong to the ex-students tonight and Saturday.

Tonight the exes will present their first annual homecoming night club program at Cousins hall. There, at the close of a colorful evening, they will crown an ex-student queen to reign on Saturday—homecoming day.

Miss Yvonne Thomas of Pampa is the Gray county candidate for queen, who will be chosen from the 16 selected as representatives by ex-students in 16 Panhandle counties.

Presentation of the queen and her court will follow a speech at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning by former State Senator R. A. Stuart of Fort Worth, an alumnus and chairman of the teachers college board of regents.

At noon Saturday there will be a "John Snider" barbecue on Buffalo field. This is to be followed by the football game at 2:30 between the Buffaloes and the Rangers of Northwestern Oklahoma Teachers college of Alva.

There will be concerts by a half-dozen bands, a grand entry of the homecoming queen, her court, and escorts, and the coronation of football queen.

JUDGE SOUNDS BUZZER FOR DISTRICT CLERK

A ball at Burton gymnasium, sponsored by campus social clubs, given tomorrow evening, will conclude the homecoming program.

They don't have to paste any "please answer promptly" signs above the buzzer in the district clerk's office. The buzzer is sounded from a panel containing six buttons, affixed to the judge's desk in the district court room.

When the buzzer is sounded in the clerk's office, all other business is immediately tabled, and the summons answered with airplane speed.

Yesterday, Judge W. R. Ewing wanted a jury list for the James H. Bramer-Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. case. He sounded the buzzer and got the list right now—and there was no thought of having any objection sustained.

FINDING JOBS WILL BE IMPORTANT, SAYS CARPENTER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—O. S. Carpenter, chairman and executive director of the Texas unemployment compensation commission, said today that finding jobs for the unemployed would be as important in the Texas commission's program as payment of benefits in the administration of unemployment compensation.

Carpenter addressed a national meeting of the interstate conference of unemployment compensation administrators.

COORDINATOR FOR AGENCIES NAMED BY FOR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—James Roosevelt's designation as a coordinator for independent federal agencies was viewed by some observers today as a preliminary step in the President's suggested government reorganization program.

The chief executive asked Congress, among other proposed revisions, to increase his White House staff to six administrative assistants and contact men. The House voted its approval last summer, and the Senate probably will consider the recommendation at the special session.

James Roosevelt, one of three White House secretaries, emphasized that it was purely the executive work of all the boards, commissions and bureaus involved that his father wished coordinated.

"The President thought it was a good idea," young Roosevelt said, "to set up some kind of a system whereby the agency heads would have access once a week to some one in the White House to tell what they had on their minds."

The other purpose of his job, he said, will be to compose differences between various agencies and give pertinent information to each on what the others are doing.

James said he would take over, in a measure, some of the coordinating functions of the National Emergency Council brought the various New Deal emergency agencies under one program.

Such a coordinator conceivably might attempt to untangle conflicting rulings of the semi-judicial bodies or seek to prevent one agency from doing something that might disrupt or duplicate another's work. He might also try to hasten the processes of the agencies, if the President, deemed it in the public interest.

PRODUCERS OF COTTON IN ALABAMA TESTIFY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 22 (AP)—Alabama cotton producers had left varying opinions today on crop control and national farm legislation with a Senate agricultural sub-committee, charged with sounding nationwide sentiment.

R. J. Goode, state agricultural commissioner, reporting that he termed "consolidated recommendations" drafted by representative farmers in every county, asked compulsory control on an acreage basis, with a provision that lands diverted from cotton could be put to feed and food crop and livestock production.

Senators John H. Bankhead (D., Ala.) and Allen J. Ellender (D., La.) of the Senate agricultural committee, and Dixie Graves (D., Ala.) were those hearing the farm sentiment expressed at an open hearing here yesterday.

Ellender left alone last night for New Orleans where a similar meeting will be held today. He said he had asked Senators Overton (D., La.) and Bilbo (D., Miss.) to meet him there.

The Bowery, a street in New York City, was originally called Bowery from the Great Bowery, the farm belonging to Peter Stuyvesant.

ALL EYES ON BAYLOR-AGGIE GRID BATTLE

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, Oct. 22 (AP)—Once again Baylor, the perennial bad-boy of the Southwest Conference, finds itself in just the right position to tear up a playhouse—and maybe build one of its own.

The Baylors play a football game tomorrow with Texas A. and M. down along the Brazos river bottom that can leave the southwest with only one standout contender for national glory.

Three weeks ago the Bruins, on paper, were a sore spot on the Aggie schedule. Today, undefeated in four games, they were a barriera that could force a detour for a credit team that experts thoughtfully started down the Rose Bowl lane at the season's start.

The clash of undefeated Baylor and the Aggies, tied once but winner in two other starts, tops a weekend that finds Texas Christian visiting Texas at Austin and Southern Methodist over in Fort Smith, Ark., against Arkansas Razorbacks.

It will be Dick Todd's touchdown legs and Ken Mill's throwing arm against Baylor Bill Patterson's lusty forward passing and 43-yard average punting at College Station. Close to 20,000 fans, a record-breaking throng for the college hamlet other than the biennial games between the Aggies and Texas, will watch the duel.

Almost unnoticed in the background of headlines given over to Patterson's passes is a giant Baylor line that has yielded less than 25 yards per game against the running efforts of Southwestern, Oklahoma City, Arkansas and Centenary. It is that stout wall the Bruins are counting upon to halt Todd's twisting runs.

However, the aerial-minded Aggies, who have jerked two games out of the fire with aerial jabs, note with satisfaction that Baylor's pass defense has let an average of 102 yards per game get through them. Not with much satisfaction, however, did they note that Patterson and his brother tossers, had managed for an average of 157 yards per game on heating.

Two other conference games, one making the debut of Rice State and the other of Southern Methodist, can't stack up with Texas Christian's determined invasion of Gotham's polo grounds for the Fordham Ram game.

Coach Leo Meyer has brought his Christians a long way since the opening game defeat by Ohio State in a rainstorm and will spring little Davey O'Brien and all his pass and running cunning against a powerful Ram line. Two rugged lads who have been on the injured list, Paul Snow, a vicious end, and Earl Clark, blocking back, will be ready to step in against a team that played Pitt to a scoreless tie.

Injured Ernie Lain, the sophomore Rice hoped would spark its team, will be in the harness for the first time against Texas. Three games without a score, the Owls have gone through heavy offensive drilling the past week. Texas will be playing without soph Charlie Haas, who fractured a shoulder bone in practice. The odds were 2-3, take your choice, on this game.

Arkansas rated over Southern Methodist, mainly due to a fine comeback against Texas last week that netted a 21-0 victory. It was still doubtful whether Jack Robbins, the Forker triple-threat, would be able to start against a Mustang team that absorbed a 6-0 licking from Vanderbilt last week. However, Dwight Sloan, whom many experts believe tops Robbins in all-around ability, will be in there firing Arkansas aerials.

ROUGHNECK CAN OPENER COSTS DIME; SWELL GADGETS UP TO $3

The lowly can-opener is not forgotten in Pampa, even in these days when home canning receives a lot of attention.

While there is a certain pride felt by women at the sight of well-filled shelves in fruit cellars and pantries, home canning doesn't furnish much competition to the makers of can-openers.

Pampans are not limited in their choice of can-openers for there are many kinds from which to make a selection at local stores.

These range from the ordinary opener, which is equipped with a corkscrew and bottle cap puller as well, and sells for a dime, to an aluminum device retailing at $3.25.

Another kind of can-opener, and one that is popular, is the kind that can be attached on a wall, and a turn of a handle neatly cuts the top off the can. These sell at various prices, with a good sale reported on openers of this type that retail at $1.50 to $1.75.

Just how big is this business of canning?

This year, according to statistics, half a million workers, including housewives as well as factory workers, throughout the United States stuffed this year's food into cans, bottles and packages for next year's meals.

But how did this gigantic industry of food preservation begin and why was it selected for the containers and not some other substance?

The whole canning industry, records say, dates back to a remark passed by Emperor Napoleon in 1795. In that year, despondent because he could not keep his marching men supplied with food, Napoleon is reported to have said: "An army moves on its stomach"; but far more important than the pigram was the action the "Little Corporal" took to remedy the situation.

His offer of 12,000 francs for a successful method of preserving food was won by a Frenchman, Nicolas Appert, who perfected a method of sterilizing and sealing food in glass jars in large quantities.

However, the industry reached its height in America and statistics say that "in the first five months of this year, ships carrying a total cargo of 119,210,000 pounds of canned goods, fruits alone, sailed from the United States ports to foreign countries."

Appert's method of canning foods in glass jars proved expensive when canning in large quantities and after many experiments with different materials, scientists agreed on tin containers, mainly because it can resist rust and the corroding elements of acids in certain foods, and because it is cheapest.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES SOUGHT BY SOUTHWEST

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 22 (AP)—Southwestern states joined today in a fight to obtain lower freight rates.

Gov. Carl E. Bailey received from freight rate experts a recommendation that the Interstate Commerce Commission include six Southwestern states in a rate structure investigation asked by southeastern governors.

They asked that he recommend to officials of Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Arkansas that action be taken to obtain a rate investigation in this section.

SENATORS WILL HEAR VIEWS OF FARM BILL

DALLAS, Oct. 22 (AP)—Hearings of the Senate sub-committee on agriculture will open at 10 a. m. Tuesday here in the crystal ballroom of the Baker hotel. At noon the Dallas cotton exchange will be host at luncheon. Hearings will be resumed at 2 p. m. to continue to 5 p. m. J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, will sponsor a dinner at 7 p. m.

The committee will arrive here Tuesday morning from Houston.

Homer D. Wade, executive secretary of the Texas Co-Operative Council, who is assisting McDonald in arranging the session here, said all farm interests will be given an opportunity to present their views on a general farm bill.

"Senator E. D. Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the committee, especially wants to hear the views of the rank and file 'one-gallon' farmers who before never have had an official spokesman," Wade said.

Members of the committee expected here, besides Smith, include Senators Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma; J. H. Bankhead, Alabama; Harvey Moore, New Jersey, and A. J. Ellender, Louisiana.

INDIAN EXPOSITION AT TULSA CELEBRATES PAST

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 22 (AP)—Tribal days came back from the past at the American Indian exposition here today with the rumble of the white man's stage coach and the quiet dragging of the red man's travois.

This second day of the three-day exposition honors the pioneers. Tonight old fiddlers will saw out their tunes for square dancers.

Tribal spokesmen began study of a six-point agenda drawn for formation of an Indian congress, a new step in the relation of the tribes to the white man's government.

A parade, creaking with pioneer impedimenta, and a rodeo and Indian dances are on the afternoon program.

GARR BROTHERS MURDER TRIAL NEARS ITS END

SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 22 (AP)—The Garr brothers' murder trial neared its close today after a jury of 12 farmers had heard three doctors testify Roy Garr was temporarily insane the night he shot to death Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt.

Attorneys for both sides indicated the case would be given the jury before nightfall.

Denhardt was shot to death here Sept. 30. His second trial was to open the following day. Jack Garr, the other brother on trial, was not armed when the Gars and Denhardt met. The third brother indicted for the slaying, Dr. E. S. Garr, is in a sanitarium.

Persons Shouldn't Be Afraid Of Unemployment Census

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Unemployment census officials said today one of their biggest jobs is to convince people the forthcoming count is nothing to be afraid of.

There have been indications, they said, that some unemployed persons think any information they give will be used against them.

This view is especially prevalent, the officials added, among those who may have attempted to avoid taxes in the past and among aliens who might be subject to deportation.

Officials said the census information blanks will be used for no purpose other than measuring unemployment and will not be subject to scrutiny by other government agencies.

HE THROWS 'SNAKE EYES' FOR MINIMUM $2 FINE

SYLACAUGA, Ala. (AP)—Dice shooting got Claude Blackmon in trouble and then got him out—with a $2 fine.

"Get out your dice," the recorder told Blackmon in police court. "Whatever you shoot will be your fine."

Blackmon turned up two ones—the lowest points in dice.

Phil Thompson, charged along with Blackmon with engaging in a fight after a dice game, rolled a two and a six in court and had to dig into his pocket for $8 to pay his fine.

Buddhism was introduced into China from India.

PRIZES AWARDED IN SWEET POTATO SHOW

GILMER, Oct. 22 (AP)—East Texans laid out row after row of pies and pastries today in honor of the earthy solanum tuberosum, a name the scientific-minded apply to the common sweet potato.

In the second day of their celebration of the East Texas yam, 12 counties entered 100 pie and pastry exhibits made from sweet potatoes. The yam pie show was housed in a new tent replacing the one fire destroyed in the opening moments of the show yesterday.

Prize winners for their potato specimens shown yesterday were Lee Moore of Upshur county, first; Chester Machen of Upshur county, second; Ned Albright, Camp county, third; Mike Dalton, Titus county, fourth, and Ralph Martin, Upshur county, fifth.

During today's festivities Miss Ruth Hogg will be crowned, at the hands of Attorney General William McCraw, as Queen Yam III.

Borah Happy Over Impending Battle Against Monopoly

MERIDIAN, Idaho, Oct. 22 (AP)—Senator "Bill" Borah, with a glad light in his eyes, assured southwestern Idaho farmers anti-monopoly legislation, the dream closest to his heart, will be sponsored by the administration at forthcoming congressional sessions.

"And that," he said, fervently, in an address last night, "is the best news I have heard in many, many a political day."

President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, Secretary Harold L. Ickes and Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, he asserted, promised the administration will "push" efforts to outlaw monopoly, child of special privilege against which the Idaho Senate veteran has cudgelled bitterly and without end.

"A solution of the question of monopoly is indispensable to the welfare of the entire American people," he declared.

HUNDREDS FROM PAMPA AND NEARBY TOWNS TO ATTEND M'LEAN BATTLE

HEADLINE TILT OF THIS WEEK ON TIGER TURF

SPORTS

Pampa Daily News

FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 22, 1937 PAGE NINE

An estimated 5,000 football hungry fans will jam Tiger field in McLean tonight when the McLean Tigers and the Wellington Skyrocks clash in a crucial conference game at 8 o'clock. At 7:30 p. m., the school queen will crown in an impressive ceremony at the football field.

Many of the huge crowd will be from Pampa. Yesterday afternoon the McLean high school band and pep squad and a large number of McLean citizens visited Pampa where they were joined by the Pampa high school band and pep squad in a huge rally broadcast over station KFDN from the 100 block on North Cuyler street.

Because of the exceptional record of the Rockets—23 points to their opponent's 6—the Wellington aggregation will take the field slight favorites. From past performances, however, the Tigers will come out of the den with an enviable record made by power and deception in ground plays and a tricky aerial attack. Coupled with their offense, the Tiger defense has held its season's opponents to 10 first downs on the ground.

Coach Bill Allen has been working his Tigers behind locked gates smoothing up offense and making medicine to stop Wellington's Estes and Austin, said to be two of the fastest backs in the Panhandle.

McLean has four dangerous running backs to cope with the two Rockets when Bogan, Watson, Braxton and Humphries lug the pigskin. The big McLean line is also expected to play an important part in the battle.

Wellington, with a small team, relies largely on speed, tricks and a nice aerial game. Timely blocking was the major factor in the five victories this season.

Coach Bill Allen and his Tigers have lost only two conference games in two years—to Wellington and Wheeler.

PUNTS AND PASSES
By The Associated Press
NEW ORLEANS—The water bucket, a must on most football fields, is missing when Tulane's Green Wave goes through its practice sessions and has been since 1919. On a hot September afternoon in that year, Trainer Monk Simmons decided the boys were paying more attention to the water bucket than to practice. He proceeded to leave it over the fence and there hasn't been one on the training field since. The Wave carries its own water—Mississippi. If you must know—on training trips and its own New Orleans coffee.

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Michigan State's inability to push over touchdowns after chasing the enemy from one end of the field to the other has been a sore spot with the Spartans all season. State continued to get good pitching last week however and nosed out Missouri 2-0 after pushing the Tigers around with great elan in midfield. The boys were pretty blue but a telegram from Coach Charlie Bachman's wife, cheered them up. It read: "Come home. All is forgiven. Two to nothing is good enough for me."

LOGAN, Utah—Utah State, 1936 champion, has taken over the Iron Man title in the Rocky Mountain conference. Utah and Idaho played a torrid scoreless tie Saturday. Coach Dick Romney used only 12 men. The substitution was forced on him when Alben's tackle had to leave the game with a cut hand.

MAVERICK CLUB BOYS PERFORM FOR LIONS
About a dozen members of Amarillo's famed Maverick club gave a tumbling and acrobatic exhibition that lasted 30 minutes at the Lions club weekly meeting yesterday. Cal Farley introduced Ralph Dykeman, director of the club, who put the boys through pyramid-building and all varieties of tumbling.

President R. B. Fisher of the Lions said the visit of the club to Pampa was "a program" and that rumors that plans were afoot to organize a Maverick club here were groundless as far as he knew.

The boys ranged in age from 13 years "on down." Mr. Fisher said, Maverick club members represent underprivileged boys of Amarillo, and the club training includes physical development and healthful living, including all forms of exercise. Many Sandie football stars have been members of the Maverick club.

Among the visitors yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wallraabenstein. Former Pampans. Other items on the program were selections by the Lions club quartet and a vibraphone solo by Howard House.

High-heeled shoes are much more expensive to keep than low-heeled shoes. The heels have to be replaced more often.

Local Favorite

TARZAN KRAUSE.

A real favorite among Pampa wrestling fans will return on Monday night with the appearance of Tarzan Krause, pictured above. A deaf mute, Krause made a big hit with fans here at the beginning of the season. He is fast, clever and powerful. Krause will meet Frank Wolff in the preliminary at 8 o'clock. The deaf mute is probably the only grappler to appear here who can match Wolff in shoulder strength. The semi-final will pit the stately sailor, Tex Watkins, against Bob Cummings. Headlining the stellar card will be Buck Lipscomb and Vic Webber. "Nuff sed.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BREITZ

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—All hope the dope is wrong, but the Big Ten grapevine says Harry Kipke and good old Hunkus Anderson are the W. K. spot-out at Michigan.

A producer (who rates) is seriously considering starring Max Baer in a Broadway musical next season in "Maxie," by the way, has stocked up on ten-cent cigars which he'll pass around when he becomes a popper late next month.

Correction: In yesterday's football predictions make it Fordham over Texas Christian, not vice versa. Our No. 1 Southwest scout (who never does us wrong) says the Horned Frogs ain't what they used to be. Everybody wishes Oscar Vitt all the luck in the world at Opening of the district I conference season will take place tonight in Borger where the Lubbock Westerners will covet against the Bulldogs. Many Pampa fans will be in the stands when the whistle blows at 8 o'clock. The game will be played on Borger's new field near the high school with admission 50 and 75 cents.

Driven by their urge to gain their first conference victory, the Bulldogs have worked long and hard this week. Coach Carl Mouldin has driven his light youngsters and they have stood up under the strain like veterans, according to word from the Bulldog kennel.

Need for the services of Cleo Bomar, regular center, became acute during the week when his understudy, William Parks, turned in his uniform. Bomar probably will start the game but doubt exists as to whether he can stand much punishment because of his leg injury.

Bob Kendrick was another doubtful starter. He is a letterman and who sprained an ankle in a sandlot game recently. Otherwise, the Bulldogs will be ready and determined to win. In Allen, Conner, and Simmons, the Bulldogs will present three great running backs with Allen a dangerous passer and punter.

Webster is Lubbock's big shot with Paxton, 128 pounds, an able running mate.

Probable starting lineups with weights follow:

Groom to Play On Buck Field
A Class B football game that is drawing wide interest is the clash tonight between the White Deer Bucks and the Groom Tigers to be played under the lights at Buck field, White Deer. The game has been called for 8 o'clock.

White Deer tied the strong Whitentuburg eleven to send their stock up but that victory hasn't made the thoughts of the Groom Tigers any more pleasant in Buck circles. Groom has always had a strong eleven and the 1937 edition is no different, according to reports.

SEARCH CONTINUES.
RAYMONDVILLE, Oct. 22 (AP)—Three state rangers planned another trek into the brush country today to continue an investigation of a report that the bodies of John and Luther Blanton, missing almost a dozen men, led by Ranger Ernest Best, made a futile search yesterday.

CALIFORNIA WATER SYSTEM 6 PER CENT COMPLETED.
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The great metropolitan water district's Colorado river aqueduct, 392 miles in length, including its distribution system, and costing approximately $220,000,000, will be 65 per cent complete this month (October).

Stretching across California from the Arizona boundary, the aqueduct will bring water to 13 southern California cities in the water district.

Ninety-five miles of the aqueduct tunnels have been finished, and 104 miles of tunnels excavated.

Cleveland and, if you ask us, he'll need plenty of same.

Capers the stock market is cutting must have left some of the boys groggy. For instance, one house quotes Yale at 2 to 1 over Cornell.

Can't wait to see and hear the Texas Christian band. Out on the coast the papers gave the band more space than the Horned Frogs. . . . and down in Texas, rivalry between the toolers is just as keen as that between the football teams. . . . The British give us a lesson in tipping; Gen. H. C. Critchley, London flight promoter, rented himself a big limousine and met Ancil Hoffman, manager of Max Bear, at Grand Central Station. . . . They raced up-town to the Ritz-Carlton. . . . The Gen. kept the car waiting while he talked with Hoffman for an hour. . . . Then a dash to the pier to catch the Queen Mary. . . . The Gen. tossed the driver 20 pounds (100 snickers to youse guys) with a nonchalant "drop Mr. Hoffman at his hotel, my mah, and never mind the change."

GARDEN RODEO SENDS HANDS TO HOSPITALS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Over at Painted Post across the street from Jack Dempsey's Restaurant, they're holding the rodeo again, and of all the wild-eyed, sudden death sports events in which supposedly sane men compete for money, this is the father and founder.

A person might suspect that, because it has been domesticated and brought in on the subway circuit, the rodeo isn't quite the lusty serpent it used to be. It is, though. If anything, it's lustier—take it from an old sightseer who saw rodeos when they still were called "round ups."

Casualties of the jamboree now in progress at Madison Square Garden have included one death, three broken legs and enough assorted cuts, contusions and sprained ligaments to stock a hospital.

And the fellows who are out there taking it night after night, mounting the meanest broncs that can be dug up, and trying to get toe-holds on steers with Mayhem on their minds, don't have a cent of guarantee.

Saturday To Be Testing Day For Leading Teams

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Football's grab bag extends a gaping mouth to prospective sectional leaders Saturday with such enticing bait as conference championships and inter-sectional "prestige" luring the leather-helmeted operatives.

North, east, south and west the rewards are sectional prestige or strong claims on conference titles. It is the testing day for many of the unbeaten, notably Yale, Baylor, Fordham, Dartmouth, L. S. U., Northwestern and California.

The latter team faces its stiffest assignment to date, a meeting with Southern California's Trojans. The Golden Bears have met some stiff opposition heretofore but Howard Jones promises them an even more interesting afternoon. With Quarterback Ambrose Schindler on hand the Bears will know soon after the kickoff that they are playing a ball game.

Backing up this traditional battle on the coast are such fine pairings as Washington and Stanford, the coast's most recent Rose Bowl representatives, U. C. L. A. and Washington State and Oregon and Oregon State.

The Southwest boasts three tidy games with Baylor's onslaught against a powerful Texas A. and

M. team topping the list. Baylor has devastated Southwestern, Oklahoma City, Arkansas and Centenary but Texas A. and M., tied by Texas Christian last week, is one of the nation's better elevens. Also on tap on the Llano Estacado are the Texas-Rice and Arkansas-S. M. U. encounters.

Texas Christian, another stalwart of the area, moves to New York to unwell Dave O'Brien, Sammy Ebaugh's successor as the Southwest's premier pass pitcher, against Fordham.

The latter encounter is the chief inter-sectional treat in a sector dotted with games reeking with tradition. Yale and Cornell, who opened hostilities in 1889, meet at New Haven with the Big Red on the rebound from the Syracuse fiasco.

Yale's team of opportunists, led by Clint Frank, promises to make this one interesting, but no more so than the Harvard-Dartmouth clash at Boston, another ivy-entwined rivalry.

On the inter-sectional side in the east are George Washington and unbeaten Alabama at Washington, Colgate and Duke's power-filled squad at Hamilton, Pittsburgh and Wisconsin in the Panthers' lair, and Maryland and Syracuse at Baltimore. Ohio State and Northwestern, a game with a strong bearing on the Big Ten title, shares Midwestern honors with the Navy-Notre Dame battle at South Bend. Iowa and Michigan, Marquette and Michigan State, and Missouri and Nebraska also bid for national attention in the Midwest.

L. S. U. and Vanderbilt, two unbeaten paladins of the Southeastern conference, clash at Nashville in a Southern standout. Georgia Tech and Auburn, and North Carolina and Tulane, also meet on the Southern front, while Manhattan adds an inter-sectional flavor by invading Lexington for a bout with Kentucky.

China is a warm temperate, rather than a tropical land.

That's why the new DYNAFASH ENGINE, and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING, make the 1938 Buick chassis the Most Modern in the World

IT'S literal fact that you ride the whirlwind when your foot is on the treadle that bosses the new Buick DYNAFASH engine.

Every five inches this thrilling car travels, a fist-size hurricane lets go in a cylinder head, lending toradic force to the downward power-push of the piston.

You feel the swell and lift of it, the dynamic eager flow of it to the quickening wheels, but you feel it tamed to the firm cool smoothness of polished marble through silk.

Every action of this magnificent traveler is a miracle of poise and quiet and security, and every drop of gasoline you burn gives up gloriously more of its hidden power.

Slip into the driver's seat, sample for yourself the inspired engineering that sets the 1938 Buick head and shoulders above any other automobile you will meet this year.

Apart from the flashing beauty of the car, its luxurious room, its sumptuous fittings, measure the astounding performance of it, and the ride that matches its astonishing stride.

That level, floating, jarless going, that sense of almost flying, is given you by Buick's new TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING, which, adding new safety to new comfort, also lengthens rear tire life and blessedly reduces skids.

Not one but both of the stand-out engineering features of 1938 are yours in the new Buick—which tells you how to make your every new-car dollar do its full duty this next year!

The Search for Happiness

The Search for Happiness has always been man's chief occupation. But never before has the search been so keen, never have so many different guide-posts indicated various roads to Happiness. Never have so many people been consciously traveling them. Religion, psychology, success books, astrology, personality development systems, psychoanalysis, all offer a thousand guides to happiness, where once there were only a few. This phenomenon is one of the most interesting of our day. Here, in five stories, NEA Service offers an absorbing picture of the one great race in which every man, woman and child is entered.

By WILLIS THORNTON
 NEA Service Staff Correspondent

The pursuit of happiness, that perennial chase which got the official benediction of the Declaration of Independence 161 years ago, has speeded up considerably. If all the salt hung at the tail of the elusive bluebird during the past few years were piled in a heap, it would make Fort Peck Dam look like a golf tee.
 Ever since the first cave-man found that when it rains you don't get as wet inside a cave as you do outside, people have always been pathetically anxious to find ways to become happy. And from Plato to Pitkin, a thousand sages have given long-suffering humanity the benefit of their observations on how to get happy and stay that way.

Today man—and that includes woman—has radios, rear-vision mirrors, and zippers, color movies, pull-matches, and automatic toasters. But is he happy? Not so you could notice it!
 In fact he seems less happy than ever, and it is this divine discontent that launched a thousand books and sent streams of people into the waiting room of the psychoanalysts. For today many a man whose father would have turned in his trouble to a trusted physician, to a loved priest or pastor, now hoots it to the nearest psycho-analyst when he gets a little low in his mind or feels a sudden yen to shuck off his clothes at a formal reception.

This changes goes back some 40 years. It was then that the pursuit of happiness was complicated by the discovery that a lot of things go on inside everybody's head that nobody had even suspected up to that time. This Columbus of the consciousness was one Sigmund Freud, a Vienna nerve specialist who had studied with Charcot, the French neurologist.

Raked Up Memories
 Charcot had had a great deal of success with cases of hysteria by hypnotizing the patient and causing him, while in a hypnotic state to "get off his mind" things that had been bothering him and which he either could not or would not discuss while in a normal state of consciousness.

Freud carried this to the next step. He persuaded his patients to rake up buried memories by a method of "free association" without losing normal consciousness. Then he straightened them out. These and subsequent studies of what goes on inside the human mind were launched by Freud and a school which grew up around him. Today's pursuit of happiness is closely tied up with these studies of how the mind works, and increasing numbers of people who assign to mental kinks their lack of happiness, take their minds to a psychoanalyst for a good dry-cleaning and pressing.

Carl Jung wrote "The Psychology of the Unconscious" and established a Zurich school of psycho-analysis differing in principle from Freud's. It, too, drew many followers. Alfred Adler, who died this year, was known as "the father of the inferiority complex" and promoted a psychology widely different from that of Freud as well as adding a word to the English language. He also widely affected child training on the "don't repress the child" side. It was Jung who set everyone to as "introverts" and "extraverts," adding two more words to the language.

Disciples in degree to all of these men are the psycho-analysts who head the Soul Clinics to which people all over the country are flocking today. And in almost equal numbers they flock to new forms of religious and semi-religious belief which assert the ability to give to believers power hitherto latent.

But for the more material and simpler side of happiness as measured by social position, business progress, and the acquisition of things, there is no lack of other guides. And most of these are also debators to the Freuds, Jung, and Adlers. Most of them write books, of which hundreds of thousands of copies have been sold, telling their readers how to be healthy and wealthy and wise. After the books come the public lectures, which never fail to draw good audiences of the hopeful.

By and large, people are all alike. There are things about ourselves that we don't like. There are things we want to do that we haven't been able to do. There are luscious girls or dashing young men who we wish would love us, and who don't. There are fat jobs and lordly positions for which we have been regularly passed by when the papers announce "local boy makes good."

There are houses at which we would give an arm to be dinner guests, but whose owners are distressingly vague when the invitations go out. There are people punching comptometers whose minds are always on writing string quartet music.

Strongest In U. S.
 All these discrepancies between life as we wish it were and life as it is, between us as we are and us as we think we ought to be, produce unhappiness. But the effort to do something about it, to bring things as they might be, is stronger in the United States than anywhere else in the world.
 There are many reasons for this. One is, the pace is faster, the nervous strain greater, the competitive tension higher. The hardships, disappointments, and buffetings of the depression have left in their train an additional burden of mental dislocations and sent thousands to the psycho-analysts hoping to iron the kinks out of their minds.

America is still the land of ambition, and the desire to succeed, to progress, to accomplish are still close to the heart of the American character. The man who is unhappy because he is still selling socks when he thinks he ought to be manager of the men's wear department, is often stimulated to do something about it. And often the effort he makes to be happy is the same effect which lands him behind the managers desk.

Sparkplus Of Progress
 Much of this restless endless yearning to be what we might be instead of what we are is therefore all to the good. It is the sparkplug of the engine of progress.

So by scores of thousands the unhappy ones wait in the ante-rooms of psycho-analysts, by hundreds of thousands they buy the endless stream of books that tell them how to put some other number in front of the ciphers they feel represent their personalities today. It is the great American game—the pursuit of happiness!

NEXT: One after another, psychologists have held out their hope to America, and one after another, for better or for worse, America has followed them.

FORGETFUL BLIND MAN WALKS 3-STORY LEDGE.

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O. (P)—Courthouse employes here watched breathlessly a man they knew to be blind clamber out onto the third-story ledge of a building across the street, inch his way to a distant window, and let himself inside.

To amazed questioners, the climber, James Kinsley, sightless violinist, said he had forgotten the key to his room, so he had to go out a hall window and around the ledge to gain entrance. He's done it often at night, he said.

It's on display right now...the brilliant, new 1938 Plymouth. It celebrates the most outstanding record in automotive history.
 10 years ago Plymouth entered the low-price field. And when people found Plymouth had more beauty, safety, economy and reliability, they bought Plymouths—by the thousands.
 No car has ever made so many friends, so fast.
 The 10th-year Plymouth is here. It's by far the greatest car we've built. Be sure to see it!

AMAZINGLY EASY TO OWN! Plymouth is priced with the lowest! Commercial Credit Company offers low terms through Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler dealers. Tune in Major Bowes' Amateur Hour, Columbia Network, Thursdays, 9 to 10 p. m., E. S. T.

1 Step Up Close and Look at this beautiful, new 1938 Plymouth! Isn't it distinctive? The radiator is new in contour. Headlights are more efficient. The whole car looks bigger! And the beautiful body is welded into a single, rigid, all-steel unit!

2 Now Step In and See How Easy it is to adjust the front seat. It rises as it moves forward—so your eyes are always at the right height.

3 This Is New, Too! Instruments are in the middle—much easier to read. The new hand-brake is clear of the floor.

4 Try the Back Seat—it's "chair-height." You sit naturally and comfortably—relaxed!

5 Stretch Out! Enjoy the greater elbow room, head room and leg room in the new 1938 Plymouth. The whole car "floats" on Amola steel springs, with airplane-type shock-absorbers. Live rubber "pillows" between the all-steel body and frame block out road vibration.

6 Listen to Your Watch—The new Plymouth is actually sound-proofed like a radio studio!

7 Say—They've Thought of Everything! There's a lot of extra room in this big baggage compartment. It's even electric-lighted and the floor is covered to protect luggage. The spare wheel and tire are out of the way.

8 Isn't it a Beauty? The New 1938 Plymouth! It's amazingly easier to drive and handle. It's the only low-priced car with Floating Power Engine Mountings... Double-action Hydraulic Brakes... All-Steel Safety Body... Airplane-type Shock-absorbers... Scientific Sound-proofing... record savings on gas, oil and upkeep. Go see "the car that stands up best!" ## International Sunday School Lesson

CHRISTIAN RENEWAL.
Text: Titus 3:1-11.
By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.,
Editor of Advance.

No lesson could strike more vitally into the immediate and most acute problems facing large numbers of Christians in the world today than this lesson based upon the letter of Paul to Titus. Paul tells Titus to put his people in mind to be in subjection to rulers, to authorities, to be obedient, and to be "ready unto every good work."

Suppose there is a conflict between this subjection and obedience and the readiness unto every good work. In Germany today leaders of the church are in conflict with the government because they believe that Hitler is demanding what the state has no right to ask. In Italy there is no liberty of the individual against the dictates of Mussolini; but can one say that the will of Mussolini is the will of God? Men are being put to death in Russia because they are unwilling to submit to the dictates of Stalin.

Stalin, Hitler, and Mussolini are "rulers." They represent authority and they demand obedience. Does what Paul is asserting here demand that Christians must, as a matter of right, give obedience to such rulers, or is there a higher law of right affecting a man's relation to rulers and the state?

Fortunately, the New Testament itself answers these questions, and reminds us that Paul's injunctions to obey rulers is to be taken subject to considerations of conscience and reason. There were times when these early Christians said, "We ought to obey God rather than men," when they chose to defy the law or the decree of the state, accepting imprisonment or persecution rather than going against their consciences.

There ought to be no mistake about this. Everyone who teaches this lesson in a Christian church ought to avoid very clearly the attitude that has too often been taken of approving of rule and authority, regardless of its justice and its right.

Nor are these matters settled simply by reference to dictatorships in Europe. There are times when even the government of a democracy may demand what he cannot conscientiously do. The individual ought not hastily to set his judgment against the judgment of society.

Cardinal Newman took the view that "private judgment, where it is not a duty, is a sin." That was an extreme view, but there is some truth in it. The individual must not be a slavish yes-man. But when he stands upon his independence and upon his rights of conscience, he ought to be very sure that he is standing on solid ground; that he is, in fact, reasonable and conscientious, and not just a crank or cantankerous person.

The balance of this lesson offers no difficulty, or need of qualification.

To speak evil of no man should not mean that we are not to denounce the evil courses of men where they are evil, and where good is to come through the denunciation. But even toward sin and sinners we ought to show the attitude of graciousness and love. We cannot go too far in avoiding contentiousness and in cultivating gentleness.

When Christ comes into a man's life, old things pass away, and all things become new. His outlook is one of love toward his fellow man, and his purpose is to be righteous in all his words, acts, and relationships.

Equally wise is the advice to shun foolish questioning and contentions. A great Scottish church leader once said that the great need of our age is good controversy. Controversy has its place. It is a means of establishing better mutual understandings and larger conceptions of truth where men pursue it in the right spirit; but controversy defeats its purpose where it is blind and bigoted and contentious. The peaceful quest of truth represents far more truly the idea of the Christian.

The aggregate output of raw silk in China is estimated at 25 per cent of the world's supply.

Raise "Parisian" Barricade

With military stride, the Fascist forces of Sir Oswald Mosley press down a London street, top photo. In a mass demonstration, apparently unaware of pitfalls ahead. An instant later, before a barricade manned by anti-Fascists, the fight started, crowds stampeded, the parade "folded up." Fascists retreated, leaving fist-clenching left-wingers holding the tattered fort, below. Net results: scores hurt, 111 arrested. Mosley, the tall man in center of rear row of marchers, escaped injury, but despite his bodyguard was seriously hurt later at Liverpool when he was attacked during a speech.

KEYS QUADS HOPE TO BUILD AN ORPHANAGE OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22 (AP)—If enough people pay to see and hear them, the Keys quadruplets will build an orphanage. "Kids have always been our favorites," said blond Leta—Mary, Mona, and Roberta are brunets, "and we spend a lot of time with them around here." That, she explained, is the inspiration for a personal appearance tour they propose to raise money to build "Golden Keys Home, Inc." Near Center, Colo., to raise money sin and business manager, Dick Keys, announced today 500 acres had been acquired as a site. The girls, 22, were graduated last spring from Baylor University, Waco, where they majored in music. They have made many personal appearances since. "All we make above our salaries and expenses will go into the fund for the home," Leta said. "We don't particularly want a stage career and nothing else. This idea is the culmination of many that have been presented to us. It gives us the opportunity to combine philanthropy with commercialization of ourselves. "Of course our value lies in our quadruplicity more than in our talent. People want to see us in personal appearances." Passengers can make the journey between Baghdad and Damascus in comfortable touring cars and buses in 14 to 22 hours.

One-Fifth of State's Expense go to Boards, Bureaus, Departments

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of two articles analyzing costs of Texas State Government.)

By RAY NEUMANN

AUSTIN, Oct. 22 (P)—Estimates place the cost of Texas' State Government as high as $140,000,000 next year. Thirty years ago it was about $10,000,000.

Reasons for the growth: Doubling of population to more than 6,000,000; educational and highways systems development; law enforcement; business regulation and protection; against cataclysms such as the depression.

When the government economy axe occasionally falls, it hits departments, boards and bureaus. Personnel are reduced. Maintenance is slashed. Whole departments may go out of existence.

However, only one-fifth of the total government expenses arises from departments other than roads and schools. Of the $125,000,000 it took to run the state last year, $53,000,000 was spent on highways and $45,000,000 on education.

These are vital spots—for the people have demanded the best in education and the finest in highways. Both are supplemented by money from the United States Government which may be had by a "matching funds" method and state revenue is obtained largely from natural resources, in which the state is rich, and gasoline taxes, which the motorist pays.

Currently the state is $15,000,000 "in the red" and new social security measures should be financed. A senate bloc, advocating economy, is at odds with Governor James V. Alfred, who demands increased taxes.

Asylums Costly

Among the largest items in the remaining one-fifth—or $27,000,000—of government cost are the state's eleemosynary institutions, for rebuilding shattered human lives or furnishing havens for the incurable, and its judiciary system, where civil and criminal suits are tried. They are not classified as departments.

Increases in population necessitated more sanitariums. In 1915, 14 of these—housing the insane, feeble-minded, epileptic, blind, deaf, dumb and crippled—cost $2,200,000 a year to operate. This year there are 23 institutions using more than $7,000,000 annually. Another is to be constructed in West Texas.

In the judiciary system 20 years ago, 80 district judges received $3,000 a year each and there were less than half a hundred district attorneys who worked for $500 annually. Now there are 128 judges paid $5,000 a year and more than 400 district attorneys getting $4,000 apiece. The total cost of justice in the state this year will run to nearly $2,500,000.

Texas' prison system cost almost $2,000,000 last year. The remaining departments, constituting actually less than a dozen at the turn of the century to a total of 40. They have overflowed the statehouse into the city of Austin. Office space has been rented and even warehouses are utilized.

The period of 1912 to 1926 saw a swelling of departments in themselves but only four new ones appeared in the lists of legislative appropriations.

Born in that era was the Board of Control—created to handle, "without politics," the business end of several phases of government. It absorbed the purchasing agent, masonry inspector, printing and, later, other departments and commissions. Its most noteworthy job was taking over and administering relief during the depression.

Also making their debut were the highway department, now spending three times as much as the rest combined, the insurance department, a combination of several agencies, and the parks department, which had little more than low-salaried caretakers. The four departments employed about 150 men with salaries aggregating $370,000 annually.

The years 1926-1936 might be called the "dilation decade" with more than a dozen departments springing into existence. They employed about 300 people last year drawing salaries totaling a puny $2,500,000 when compared to the entire cost of government.

The new departments, with expenses approximated, $775,000; crime laboratory and Texas Rangers, $350,000; unemployment compensation, $140,000; board of barber examiners, $34,000; reclamation, $32,000; auditor, $53,000; planning board, $30,000; parks board, $24,000; board of county and district road indebtedness, $21,000; board of water engineers, $23,000; and boards

POLICE, SHORT OF FUNDS, MAKE OWN AMMUNITION.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (P)—The pioneers who made their own bullets and measured out their own powder haven't a thing on the Grand Rapids police department.

Confronted with budget limitations which hindered pistol practice for the department, Supt. Frank J. O'Malley ordered Patrolman Walter F. Weber to see what could be done about it. Weber recently reported that more than 39,000 cartridges had been made from reclaimed cases, lead and tin since Aug. 1, 1936, at a cost of $180 as compared with the $800 the ammunition would have cost new.

RACING DIES

The racing commission, which blossomed during four years of the "sport of kings" in Texas, died with the abolition of legalized wagering.

The old departments, as of this year, are: Adjutant General, $265,000; Agriculture, $208,000; Attorney General, $215,000; Banking, $110,000; Health, $220,000; Pardons Board, $36,000; Labor Statistics, $72,000; Commission of the Volunteer Army of the War with Spain, $5,000; Comptroller's $993,000; Executive, $61,000; Game, $282,000; General Land Office, $153,000; Industrial Accident Board, $37,000; Livestock Sanitary Commission, $63,000; Railroad Commission, $679,000; Secretary of State, $148,000; Tax Board, $70,000, and Treasurer, $150,000.

An example of a department's growth is that of the Secretary of State which in 1902 cost $13,000; in 1912, $18,000; in 1922, $29,000 and in 1926, $43,000.

This year the highway patrol was doubled in an effort to halt an alarming death toll.

Yet unfinanced by the state are teachers' retirement and aid to the needy adult blind and dependent children.

IT REALLY HAPPENED IN FOOTBALL!

It couldn't happen now, but when they play the flying wedge and mass power plays in football, rules were few. It was in one of those old-time contests that, when the game started, only 10 men of the "Reds" trotted onto the field. The absence of one man was not noticed, and the "Reds" received the kickoff. On the first play, the fullback threw a pass, not to one of his ends, scampering down the field, but across the gridiron toward the stands. Nonchalantly, a tall man, in brown derby and raincoat, and smoking a pipe, jumped from his sidelines seat, caught the ball, and started running down the field. As he ran, he discarded raincoat, hat and pipe, and stood revealed in football togs the eleventh player. He made the touchdown!

JILL

BY MARY RAYMOND

Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.
JILL WENTWORTH, heroine, attractive debutante.
ALAN JEFFRY, hero, rising young artist.
BARRY WENTWORTH, Jill's stepbrother.
JACK WENTWORTH, Jill's brother.
SYLVIA SUTTON, oil heiress.

Yesterday: Jill arrives from Europe, meets Alan Jeffry. Then he was to drop out of her life and she wanted to know so much more about him!

CHAPTER II.

Jill spoke quickly: "I'm Jill Wentworth. The John H. Wentworths. We're the only ones in the book. You'll call me some day, won't you? I want to see that picture you made of Miss Benedict."
 "Thanks," said the young man. "I'm Alan Jeffry."
 The taxi rolled to a stop at the curb.

"Be careful of that large case, driver."
 "Probably some of his old pictures," Jill thought. That was all he cared about.

"Goodby," she spoke faintly. All the confidence was gone. A lump was in her throat. She liked him tremendously. She had liked him tremendously in Europe.

Now, she had pocketed her pride, as mother would say in the Gay Ninety way, but what good had come of it? She had invited him to call. He had said "thanks" in that remote, cool, clipped voice of his—all the friendliness gone. And he wouldn't call her. Jill was sure of that.

The driver had dumped the young man's bags on the curb, hiding his astonishment.

"Goodby," said Alan Jeffry quickly, handing a bill to the driver. He lifted his hat, placed it firmly on his head, picked up his luggage and headed toward a subway.

Jill had a wild desire to call out: "Where are you going?"

But of course no well-bred girl would do that. She settled decorously back in the seat and nonchalantly touched up her lips. Just in case that driver suspected her deep disappointment.

Maybe he is a very good painter. Jill thought, trying to extract some comfort. Maybe his pictures will be exhibited. Certainly, she was going to read art sections in the papers from now on.

The lonely feeling persisted. Jill couldn't shake it off. Not even when the taxi was rolling up the driveway of her home.

"I'm at home!" Jill thought, trying to muster enthusiasm.

A moment later, she was standing irresolutely in front of the massive door. She waited another moment before pressing the bell.

Well, what had she expected? A brass band, as Alan Jeffry had suggested?

The door swung open. "Miss Jill!"

"How are you, Howell?" Jill spoke pleasantly to the amazed butler. Some of her sober mood dropped from her.

"Nobody knew I was coming," Jill added. "Is mother at home?"

"Yes, Miss Jill, and mighty busy—" Howell checked himself, with a swift upward glance.

Jill mounted the stairs, smiling.

Jill leaped to her feet. Her face flushed scarlet, and then turned very white. "Then I won't go! You know I detest him."

"Barry is giving a house party at the lodge," Mrs. Wentworth said, when they were alone.

"Grand," Jill said. But her tone was not enthusiastic. House parties at the lake were generally terribly tame affairs.

"It's for Sylvia Sutton," Mrs. Wentworth exclaimed. Triumph was in her voice.

"Oh!" Even in Europe Jill had heard the name of the oil heiress—the fabulous rich oil heiress—who had come to New York last year and been presented at one of the biggest and most extravagant parties in metropolitan history.

It was difficult to believe that a rich and lovely girl could be interested in Barry. It wasn't only that Barry was weak and dissipated. He was arrogant and selfish, beside.

"Sylvia's been giving him all her time since she's been here," Pride was in Mrs. Wentworth's voice. Jill could see that merely coupling Sylvia Sutton's name with that of her son was intoxicating to her stepmother.

"I saw her picture in a London paper once," Jill said slowly. "She is beautiful, isn't she?"

"Yes."

Mrs. Wentworth was staring at Jill. She noted the slim charm of her stepdaughter, the dark blue eyes curtained by sooty lashes. Jill's wavy bob was rich brown. Her nose was slender and her mouth, curving into a smile, revealed lovely white teeth. There was a hint of firmness in Jill's chin, which had a small cleft that often passed as a dimple.

People would be calling Jill a beauty now. Which would have its compensations. Beautiful girls got husbands without much effort. She was sure that Jill wouldn't go out of her way to get one. Like all other gifts of the gods, a husband would probably have to be dumped right into Jill's lap.

"It's about time you settled down in New York for a while," Mrs. Wentworth said slowly.

Jill had risen from her chair. "Oh, don't go, Jill!"

"There was something queer about her stepmother's manner," Jill decided. The bright excitement in her face and voice pre-arranged something.

"Most of your friends are marrying or are engaged. What are your plans for the winter?"

"A grand campaign of taking over the natives," Jill answered. The last thing I want to do is to take over the town, Jill thought, laughing inside. But this was the kind of patter that pleased her stepmother. So why not?

"Scotch though dad says I am, I still have some verri verra smart clothes," Jill continued. "I quite dazed a young man who was on the same boat coming over. He was plainly disappointed because a brass band didn't meet me."

"Did you see very much of him?" Mrs. Wentworth's voice rose eagerly.

"I bumped into him practically everywhere," Jill was smiling. Never, never would she tell her stepmother that the young man had come over tourist. Her interest would register absolutely nothing if she knew that.

"I'm planning for you to attend the house party with Milo," Mrs. Wentworth said suddenly.

Jill leaped to her feet. Her face flushed scarlet, and then turned very white. "Then I won't go; You know I detest him."

"You forget, Jill, that Mr. Montagne has been a wonderful friend to your father," Mrs. Wentworth's voice was soft, but somehow it sounded hard and cold, despite its softness.

Never, thought Jill miserably have I been allowed to forget the Big Three. The trio of bankers had loomed in the background of the Wentworth existence as long as she could remember.

Jill had always realized vaguely that in some way the three bankers were definitely connected with the financial well-being of her family. Ever since the beginning of the depression—which every body spoke of now in the past tense—the Montagne-Whitman-Beresford triumvirate had been "conferring" with her stepfather.

"You can be very rude and obstinate, Jill," Mrs. Wentworth's eyes gleamed coldly. "I'm afraid it's too late for you to refuse, however. I called Milo and told him there was a chance you'd arrive in time for the party. And he said he would be delighted to take you."

"Then, I suppose there is nothing I can do about it," Jill said, furiously. "You were afraid I would refuse. And so you called him first."

"Don't be rude, Jill," Mrs. Wentworth dropped her gaze before the honest blaze in Jill's eyes, and critically studied her nails.

After a moment, she heard door close behind Jill.

Her lips closed in a hard, thin line. This was the way to handle that polled, determined girl.

Barry and Sylvia! Jill married to rich Milo Montagne and out of the way. Things would work out if she played her cards carefully. (To Be Continued)

'RUBBER CHECK' WANDERS, BUT ALWAYS COMES BACK.

IONIA, Mich. (AP)—"Rubber Check," an aged but agile turtle, has been hanging around the Vern Judevine farm near Palo for more than 36 years, and the family is prepared to prove it.

Judevine caught the turtle in 1901 and carved his initials and the date on the animal's shell. Eleven years later he again encountered the turtle and repeated the registration. Recently Judevine's son, Dannon, caught a turtle ambling across the lawn and Judevine discovered it to be "Rubber Check" with his two inscriptions intact.

"We call him Rubber Check," Frank Judevine, brother of Verne, explained, "because he always comes back."
