

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS CITY COUNCIL SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION

BAKER SCHOOL RECEIVES PRIZE IN ATTENDANCE

"He wins most who plans best," Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar quoted in speaking on "Goals of the National, State, and District P. T. A." at the City Council of Parent Teachers school of instruction which was held yesterday afternoon in the high school auditorium with 107 patrons present.

Mrs. Hunkapillar, eighth district P. T. A. president who was introduced by Mrs. F. M. Culberson, pointed out that the objective of the P. T. A. work is to further the physical, mental, spiritual, and social welfare of the school child, and that these goals may be developed best by interesting the parents and teachers in one another through visitation.

"In speaking of the various activities in the school which are sponsored by the parents, the speaker suggested that all of these be correlated into one organization so that the parents will be able to attend only one meeting and pay dues to only one organization.

"Another speaker on the program was Miss Josephine Thomas, principal of the Horace Mann school, who discussed "The Place of the Superintendent, Principal, and Teacher in Parent Teacher work."

"It takes all working together to carry on P. T. A. work," Miss Thomas said after pointing out the duties of the instructors.

"The greater number of parents we have, the greater interest we have in the work," she added.

Some of the things to do which were suggested by A. L. Patrick, principal of Sam Houston school in his talk on "Things to Do and Not to Do in P. T. A. work" are to discuss goals, have a planned course to follow, have a set time to begin meetings, use the main theme suggested by the national organization, give new members of the executive board an outline of their duties, make a survey of the association, prove efficient, and keep going at all times.

"The Significance of the P. T. A." was the subject discussed by Superintendent R. B. Fisher. He stated that if it had not been for these organizations during the depression, Texas would have had as many closed schools as did several other states.

"The Parent Teachers association has been the great molding influence that has kept politics out of the school," he added.

Assembly was divided into conference groups for the discussion of specific problems. Chairmen of these groups were Mmes. J. M. Turner, presidents and vice-presidents; S. G. Surratt, secretaries; Joe Shelton, treasurer; L. J. McCarty, membership; Cliff Vincent, LeFors program; E. L. McCollum, room representatives; A. L. Burge, goals; Culberson, summer round-up; Frank Shotwell, publications and model bookshelf demonstration; L. H. Anderson, hospitality; T. R. Henry, study group; Claude Lard and Mr. Eugene Mann, publicity; and Aaron Meek, welfare.

With 22 members present, B. M. Baker school won the prize which was offered to the unit having the most representatives. Woodrow Wilson school came second with 21 representatives attending. Two visitors from Hopkins and one from the LeFors school were at the school of instruction.

Mrs. Roy Holt, council president, introduced Mrs. Culberson who directed the program and presented the speakers. Refreshments and registration were in charge of Mrs. E. A. Shackleton and the hospitality chairman from each of the local units.

ENGINEER SWITCHES TO MEDICAL CAREER AT 39

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24 (AP)—Seventeen years ago Daniel F. Dutton of Beaumont, Texas, hesitated between medicine and engineering. He became a civil engineer. He built sidewalks, streets, and highways, married and had two children. He grew older. As he grew older he decided he had made a mistake.

So last night, at 39, he turned his back on engineering and enrolled at Tulane university for the six-year medical course, including a year of pre-medicine, four years of medicine, and one year as interne. He entered the school as a junior in arts and sciences.

Heavyset, slightly bald, wearing horn-rimmed glasses Dutton sat among a group of young students yesterday and said:

"Two of my uncles were doctors and I always wanted to follow in their footsteps. For a long time I have been reading medicine. This summer I was finally in a position to rush off to grammar school to carry out my plans."

Dutton had to stop talking to rush off to grammar school to pick up his two children, Genevieve, 10, in the fifth grade, and Daniel Jr., 8, a second-grader.

"You're late," Genevieve said. "I've just been trying to get into school," Dutton said.

DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS TO BE SOLONS' TARGET

AUSTIN, Sept. 24 (AP)—The large body of Texans who have fallen behind in their property tax payments will be one of the big targets at the special legislative session opening Monday if certain members of the Senate efficiency and economy committee have their way.

Sen. Albert Stone of Brenham asserts delinquent state taxes owed by real property owners aggregate $20,000,000, and a vigorous campaign would collect most of that amount. He voiced the opinion a few weeks ago that anticipated expanded social security services could be financed out of delinquent tax collections.

Summoning a delinquent tax collection expert before the committee, Stone found him less optimistic. The witness said that if delinquent taxes totalled $20,000,000, about $10,000,000 could be pulled into the treasury but it would require at least two years and collections the first 12 months probably would be less than $5,000,000.

Governor James V. Allred believes county officials should make an earnest effort to bring in delinquent taxes but doesn't think the state's social security problem can be solved in that manner.

IRENE CASTLE CLAIMS HUSBAND STRUCK HER

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Irene Castle McLaughlin and Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, whose secret marriage in 1923 created a sensation in Chicago society circles, were at the parting of the ways today.

The former dancer of international fame charged "extreme and repeated cruelty" in a suit for divorce filed yesterday against the prominent business man and sportsman.

Mrs. McLaughlin asked for the custody of their children, Barbara, 12, and William, eight, and a financial settlement.

The suit alleged their marital difficulties began during the 1924 honeymoon in China when McLaughlin struck his wife "a terrific punch in the face which knocked her six feet."

In an interview last night McLaughlin denied he ever struck his wife and said he would "certainly contest any suit which says I did."

HUGE APPLES GROWN BY ALAN REED FARMER

Whopping big melons are not the only crop grown in this so-called "Dust Bowl" county that serve to refute the claims of Walter Davenport that the Panhandle is a desert. Last night W. G. Martin, 325 Bru-nov, exhibited two Delicious apples he said he had brought in from the T. T. Griffin farm, eight miles north of Alanreed.

One of the apples was 11 3/4 inches in circumference, the other 10 1/2. Martin said his measurements showed.

Apples from the T. T. Griffin farm won first place Monday at the Amarillo Tri-State exposition.

DALLAS NOT TO HAVE NEGRO POLICEMEN

DALLAS, Sept. 24 (AP)—The city council today decided, at least for the present, to abandon its plan to add negroes to the police force. D. B. Graham, mayor pro tem, led the movement to abandon the plan. "Dallas is not ready for negro policemen and might rebel against them," he said.

DIFFICULTIES

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The leap-year birthday question gave Louisville's social security office a puzzle. The subject was Frank C. Bray, born Feb. 29, 1872; age 16 if you count birthdays; 65 if you count just years. The office decided it by entering Bray's birth date as February 28 and granting him the lump old-age benefit payment he asked.

"Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Sept. 26.
The golden text is: "For ever, O Lord, Thy word is settled in heaven." (Psalms 119:89).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts: I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God" (Isaiah 44:6).
The lesson-sermon includes also Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas" (page 331).

LEGION HEAD PROMISES NO 'TREASURY RAIDS'

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Daniel J. Doherty, stocky Woburn, Mass., attorney and veteran of the navy, took command of the American Legion today with a promise: there would be no "raids on the national treasury" during the next year.

The new commander said the Legion's policies will be carried out by the national executive committee according to the dictates of the convention, but added that:

"First of all, the promotion of Americanism will be my objective. Secondly, will come placing the wives of veterans on the same level as wives of veterans of previous wars in receiving pensions. There will be, however, no 'raids on the national treasury' for further pensions."

Doherty was elected at the closing session of the Legion's convention after a lively contest with Ray Kelly of Detroit.

An most of the estimated half million Legion visitors departed New York settled back into a workaday existence that held in the immediate future nothing more exciting than an election, the Notre Dame-Army football game and a few other minor incentives for drills.

DRYS CLAIM VICTORY.

FOOTBALL FEVER HIGH AS TEAM PREPARES TO OPEN SEASON AT FIELD

CAPITOL HILL TRAIN ARRIVES WITH ROOTERS

Football weather greeted players and fans this morning as they looked forward to the official opening of the football season here tonight when the Capitol Hill Indians of Oklahoma City meet the Pampa Harvesters in their annual classic. Game time has been set for 8 o'clock with general admission 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. Season combination general admission and reserve seat tickets are still available for $5.

The Indians, riding a special train with a 60 piece band, pep squad and fans, arrived in Pampa last night. They announced their entry into the city with a band concert and parade through downtown streets. The band, and it plays swing music like an orchestra, was a decided hit.

The band is expected to draw many music lovers who are not football fans to the game tonight. Also, Winston Savage, director of the Harvester band, will have a musical surprise in store for the fans. It will be worth the price of admission alone.

After a light workout yesterday afternoon when plays were gone over and assignments smoothed out, Coaches Oduis Mitchell and J. C. Frejean had not fully decided on a starting lineup. They were pretty well set on all but three positions, neck and neck for the two tackle positions, but which two will get the call tonight is unknown. At center, Harding has the experience but Turner has been turning in some strong defensive work to make him a possible starter.

Although claiming to be in perfect condition, coaches were undecided whether Don Smith would be able to start at the short position. His understudy, Pete Dunaway, who played a good game in Childress after Smith had been injured, will be second choice. The rest of the backfield will be Captain J. E. Graham at quarter, Claude Heskell at right half and Bob Karr at fullback.

Starters practically certain are Reynolds and McMahan, ends, and Mathews and Nelson, guards.

The full starting lineup, taking the heaviest boys, will average about 161 pounds or seven pounds per man less than the Indians who will also have a wide edge in age and experience, the 11 starters being lettermen.

Redskins Are Ready

Coach Jim Lockman and his assistant, Perk Whitman, pronounced their team in perfect condition for the game. They didn't appear too optimistic after a 29 to 6 victory over Hobart, Okla., last Saturday. "We'll give 'em a game," was their only remark.

The Capitol Hill starting lineup of veterans will be Darrow and Taylor, ends; T. Brown and Green, tackles; Hotchkiss and Harrison, guards; Moulton, center; Mallard, quarter; Blair and Crouch, halves; Pierce, full.

Thirty-one members of the team made the trip to Pampa on the special train which was met at Mobeetie by Frank Cuberson, chairman of the B. C. D. goodwill committee, and several Pampans who rode back with the Oklahomans.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BREITS

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Joe Louis sat in the press box at the Polo grounds last night and thought young Harry Jeffra was a whiz. . . . of course, Mike Jacobs has all the winners tied up. . . . If he doesn't land a Fred Apostol, Fred Steele title go for the Garden this winter it will be Steele's for it. . . . at that, Apostol isn't so proud of his victory. . . . old man Marcel Thill was miles ahead on points when his eye was cut. . . . nobody can understand how Referee Johnny Marto called the Lou Ambers-Pedro Montanez bout a draw. . . . many think Johnny should have been a baseball umpire.

Best bout of the evening was the extra-added attraction in which Dan (One Round) Parker, sports editor of the Daily Mirror, planted a perfect right on the back of Marcus Griffin, Broadway columnist of the New York Enquirer. . . . it was a pip, while it lasted. . . . night's biggest disappointment was the terrible showing of Pedro Montanez. . . . why he didn't throw his right oftener is still a mystery. . . . Mike Jacobs served the press with basket lunches. . . . Barney Reis was worried more than once in his bout with Ceferino Garcia.

Four champions, not a knockout, nary a knockdown. . . . wonder what Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler thought when they saw two guys like Montanez and Ambers dancing around for the title they fought for some years back? . . . they met twice and drew gates of more than $300,000 and $400,000 respectively. . . . never saw working press arrangements so balled up. . . . a little fire drill is needed over at the 20th Century. Harry Jeffra is a fine, clean-cut youngster and it looks like he'll be kippin' of the bantams just as long as he can make the weight.

Oklahoma City Defeats Fort Worth in 3rd Game

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24 (AP)—One down to a Fort Worth team hardly in their class over the regular season route, Oklahoma City's Indians looked about today for a remedy that will shake the jitters and even up their Shaughnessy playoff finale.

Manager Jim Keesey, who sprouted grey hair even when his Indians squeaked out a 6-3 victory last night, decided to trust Ralph Buxton, big right-hander, with the job of evening the series tonight.

Buxton, who twice licked the Panthers and also took two beatings from them this season, will face Clyde Smoll, a left-hander, Manager Homer Peel named from a crippled hurling corps. Smoll isn't so much his choice as his necessity, having been beaten in the only four starts he made against the Tribe.

Fort Worth, without a pennant winner since the days of Clarence (Big Boy) Kraft and his playmates, wants a Dixie series again and gave an example of how much they want it by almost erasing a five-run deficit in the ninth frame of last night's wild melee.

Jeffy Jack Brillhart had allowed only two Cats to stand on third base until the ninth and was apparently ready to sack up a shutout, however. He walked Pinch Hitter Krole and Greenberg to start the minor riot. Jerry Moore hit on three of his curves but McDowell pumped a single into right and Krole came home on Stebbins' one baser.

Sidreamer Clay Touchstone came in at this point—just in time to feed Manager Peel a fat one he parked in center field for a single that scored Greenberg and McDowell. Shelby popped to tempo rarily halt the uprising but Mallo walked and packed the sacks again.

Jim McLeod, a tried emergency hitter, waited until the 3-2 count before missing Touchstone's las curve by a half foot with the lying winning and double winning talks on their way in.

Two sharp pops off Manager Keesey's stick accounted for three Indian tallies. He singled across Stoneham, who singled and then put on the double steal in the fifth pair punched across his boss with a sharp single that ended the Indian scoring.

Easterling's walk, advance on a forecourt and score on a wild heavy by Ed Selway, starting Cat hurler, accounted for the other run in the fourth.

Dick Whitworth, who replaced Selway, found the Indians easy, giving up one hit in four and one-third innings.

MOBEETIE TO INVAD LEFORS GRID TONIGHT

A swarm of Mobeetie Hornets will settle in LeFors tonight in an effort to take in the LeFors Pirates in the second football game of the season. Game time will be 8:15 o'clock under the lights at Shaw Park.

Both teams lost close decisions to highly favored teams, making them about even on paper. Memphis conquered the Hornets 13 to 0 while Shamrock downed LeFors 12 to 7.

Coach Francis Smith will have his full lineup ready to go. The same word comes from Coach Clinton Meek at Mobeetie.

CHAMP FIGHTS GO LIMIT OF 15 ROUNDS IN DREARY SHOW

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Three championship prize fights in one night, seems to be at least one championship prize fight too many. Especially if each of them goes the limit of 15 rounds without a knock-down and the feature event curls up and plays dead.

Thirty-two thousand, six hundred patrons sat through last night's extravaganza at the Polo Grounds, and when they finally stumbled out some time this morning they were wondering if the new fistic czar, Mike Jacobs, hadn't perhaps been guilty of choking them with cream.

Barney Ross, welterweight champion, saved an otherwise uninspiring spectacle with a close and gory victory over Ceferino Garcia, challenger from the Philippines. It would have been a great fight had it stood alone.

Harry Jeffra, Baltimore added a final filip when it was badly needed by winning the bantamweight championship of the world from sadfaced little Sixto Escobar of Puerto Rico, on points.

LOOKS LIKE TREASON.
Berkeley, Calif., Sept. —Stub Allison, University of California grad coach, has a hard time this year explaining to alumni why he lives on Stanford street.

Two Little Harvester Powerhouses

hits and drove in only run himself. Dolph Camilli, Phillies: Hit homer with bases loaded in 9-5 win over Reds.

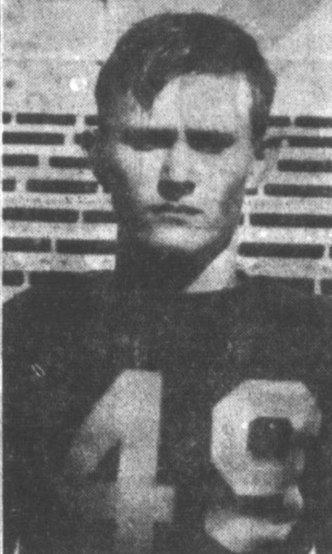

Joe Kraskauskas, Senators: Stopped Indians, 3-2, with nine hit.

Jojo Moore, Giants: Hit two doubles, three singles and scored two runs in 8-7 win over Cubs.

Harland Clift, Browns: Hit homer with two on in 9-5 win over Yankees.

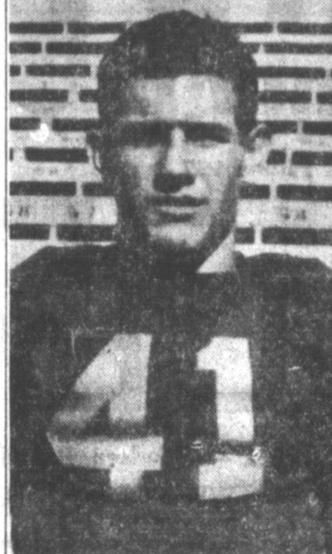

Jim Turner and Hal Warstler: Bees: Turner stopped Pirates, 2-1, with nine hits as Warstler singled in winning run.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24 (AP)—

Male stars surrendered the center court of the Los Angeles tennis club to feminine talent today as four California-raised contenders battled away in the women's singles semifinals of the Pacific southwest championships.

The feature match saw Alice Marble battling against chubby Dorothy Bundy. Miss Marble was out to avenge a defeat handed her by Dorothy in the recent national.

The other match brought together the defending champion, Gracyn Wheeler and Mrs. John (Midge) Van Ryn, whose official home is Austin, Texas, but who was raised in Santa Monica.

Mrs. Van Ryn yesterday meted out an artistic lacing to Senorita Anita Lizana, pride of Chile and recent winner of the U. S. women's singles title, 5-7, 6-3, 6-1.

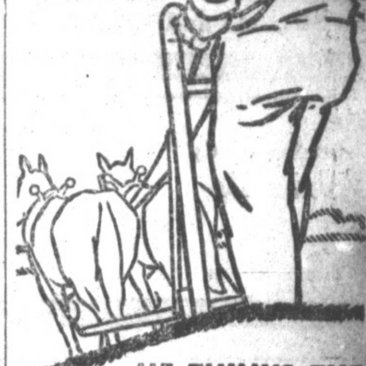

Miss Marble entered the semifinals by defeating Miss Bonnie Blank of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-3, and Miss Wheeler ousted a pre-tournament favorite, Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3. Miss Bundy won from Helen Germaine, New York, 6-1, 10-8.

Tomorrow J. Donald Budge and Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany go into another of their series.

Budge's main work today was in a doubles match with his partner, Gene Mako, against George Patrick, Hughes and Charles Hare of England, while the other men's doubles semi-final was between Joe Hunt and John Van Ryn and Francis X. Shields of Hollywood and Jacques Brugnon of France.

PREMIER SAYS U. S. OBLIGATED TO AID CHINA

NANKING, Sept. 24 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, premier of China and commander-in-chief of the army, declared today the United States was obligated by her treaties to support China's struggle against Japanese aggression.

NO. ONE

NO. TWO

the fence and around the rock garden, rock pile, and the outdoor living room. At first glance the yard seem crowded, but closer inspection revealed strong lines and ordered arrangement. A concrete walk, separating the rose garden from a long bed of chrysanthemums, was bordered with petrified wood set in the concrete on each side.

Thirty-five varieties of chrysanthemums, vitex, crepe myrtle, ground vine with long "dishes" gourd on them, madeira vines in bloom, many blossoming verbena, anemone, profusely blooming ageratum in several places along the walk, weeping willow, box elder, nasturtium, blooming double marigold, bachelor buttons in bloom, delphinium, also blooming; carnations in bloom (three varieties from Germany), dahlias in bloom, Russian olives (hedge around yard to be of Russian olives), great tall cannas, snap dragons loaded with beautiful blooms, moon vine in bloom.

Red berry rock plant from Germany, polk, parsley, princess feaster in bloom, phlox also flaunting gorgeous blooms, double hollyhock, violets, more than 20 varieties of roses, most of them blooming, white geranium, almanca, adonis, sweet william, portulaca (moss to you), also in bloom, caser, rose leaf geranium, wild aster (from an Oklahoma creek), pussy willow, coleus, climbing roses of several varieties, honeysuckle, pansies, perennial jug.

Mrs. Parkinson and undoubtedly her husband agrees with her, says that the only way to grow roses that produce beautiful blooms is to grow them on their own roots, that is on roots not grafted. She had purple-red and talisman roses blooming and the buds were well-nigh perfect.

Mrs. Parkinson explained the arrangement of their yard in this way: "We would get tired of a yard that didn't have anything in it but grass and a few flowers around the fence. We don't get tired of our yard. There's too much in it to watch. It keeps you busy seeing all of it. You can't imagine how wonderful it is to grow a yard!"

Were Out a Buick. The rock garden is made out of rocks brought from all over the Panhandle. "We wore out one Buick carrying rocks in it," she said. The rock pile is made up of petrified rocks from the petrified forest near Alameda.

Well, Joe, old boy, and Mrs. Parkinson, that yard hits the spot. With a yard like that you don't need any prize, besides you've got to follow rules to win a prize, and if Beethoven, Rembrandt, Chopin, Napoleon, Lincoln, or Roosevelt say, had followed your rules, they wouldn't have got to first base.

In case you can't place Joe, he's the boy who works for Danciger and managed the boys' baseball team before last and who was manager and first baseman of the Danciger softball team of 1937. The R. R. T. say that yard is unique!

P. S. We didn't get around to the front yard, but it has a magnificent lawn and vines on the porch and flowers and shrubs next to the house all the way around it.

The menu at the banquet consisted of peas, mashed potatoes, creamed chicken, pineapple salad, rice, iced tea, coffee, ice cream and cake.

ALLEGED SLAYER DIES. SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Ray Pryor, 40, former Donna, Tex., cafe operator who had been charged with the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Frank Ackerman, died suddenly in the County hospital last night as a result of wounds he received in the gun battle with Ackerman.

OUTLAWS WILL RIDE OUTLAWS

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 24 (AP)—Outlaw riders will meet outlaw broncs here October 3 in the Texas prison's seventh annual rodeo—the roughest and toughest wild west show this side of the Trinity river.

Each Sunday during the month the convicts will stage their wild and woolly spectacle. It is the only show of its kind in the world and only convicts are allowed to compete in the many events.

Ten thousand customers are expected to jam the prison stadium when the first bull roars his challenge to the horsemen. The stands were enlarged this year because another thousand are turned away.

Prison Manager C. J. S. Ellingson said this year's show would be the best yet staged. Untamed prison-owned stock, which roam the river bottoms of a vast area, will be used. Superb horsemanship will be required of the winner. Men with lives to be spent in prison ride hard when the money is down. And a $10 bill—a fortune to a man in prison—awaits the top rider.

CORN SCANDAL FLAYED. CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—A resolution condemning "manipulation" of September corn prices in the Chicago market and calling for immediate action to stop the "depressing effect on new corn prices," was forwarded to the commodity exchange commission today by the grain cooperative marketing association.

The resolution, signed by 21 representatives of the association which operates in 18 states, includ-interesting, illuminating lectures to the community, as no admission fee whatsoever is charged, and you do not place yourself under any obligation whatever by attending. Indeed, there are other free features about the school to capture your interest, too, as numerous free samples and souvenirs will be given each day.

Whether or not you have ever studied home economics and whether or not you have had long experience of your own in cooking, you will want to have your knowledge brought up to date through Mrs. McDonald's knowledge as gained by 100,000 other women with household problems similar to your own.

Don't fail to attend all the lectures, and be there early, as each session starts promptly at 9:30 o'clock. Each talk is actually demonstrated before your eyes as the lecturer prepares the dishes she describes and not only tells but shows you how to do the things she is talking about.

TULSAN DIES TODAY; LIVED HERE A MONTH

A. T. Gardner, until a month ago a resident of Tulsa, Okla., died at 11 o'clock this morning in a local hospital following an operation. He was employed here by the W. R. Ponder Company.

The body is at rest at Pampa Mortuary. Relatives are en route from Tulsa to make funeral arrangements.

FAMED TEXAS CATTLE BARON PASSES AT 85

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Col. Ike Thomas Pryor, one of the last of the Southwest's colorful cattle barons, died in a hospital here early today after a lingering illness. He was 85 years old.

He made San Antonio his home for many years. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from St. Mark's church, and burial will be in Mission Burial Park.

Col. Pryor became a ranch owner and cattleman at the early age of 24 years and literally grew up in Zavalla county with the cattle business. First taking the trail when 19 years old, he was an active ranchman until his death.

Once a homeless orphan, tossed and buffeted about Tennessee and Ohio in his early youth, the colonel came to be long before his death one of the foremost cattle barons for whom Texas was noted. His wealth was estimated at far more than a million dollars.

As one of the early trail drivers, taking great herds of longhorns up to the north, and later as a prominent cattleman, Col. Pryor was held in high esteem by other livestock men of the state and nation. He was twice president of the American National Livestock association and three times president of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association.

Col. Pryor maintained his office in San Antonio for several years prior to his death, but he still was active in behalf of his Zavalla county interests, the ranch alone consisting of 100,000 acres.

FASCISTS AND REDS HIT IN RESOLUTIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—The American Legion today reaffirmed its opposition to all Fascist and Communist enemies of the American constitutional system of government, recommended a bigger army and navy, and urged the necessity of protecting personal and property rights in all industrial disputes between capital and labor.

The 1,330 delegates, apparently recovered from the fatigue of Tuesday's long march in Fifth Avenue, met in the Metropolitan Opera house under the chairmanship of Harry W. Colmery, national commander.

They adopted, by unanimous vote, the report of the Americanism committee, condemning and opposing "all alien organizations which in our country promote loyalty to some other government or system," and request the congress "investigate and make public its findings on organizations in the United States which are militantly serving Germany, Italy, Russia, Spain or any other alien power or system."

The report also urged legislation to punish American citizens who advocate the overthrow of our government by force, fraud or violence, and the deportation of all aliens who advocate such tactics.

In a resolution, termed "defense of American Rights," the Legion voted to reaffirm its belief in the defense of "certain basic American rights and institutions, including particularly personal liberty, private property, religious freedom, home and family, contract rights and obligations," and the enforcement by law of such rights.

These rights, the resolution said, are the "basis of Americanism." The delegates, meeting in the final session of what has probably been their greatest convention, adopted with whoops and shouts the report of the national defense committee, recommending among other things:

Making the export of helium gas illegal, and placing its control under the war department.

An increase of 15,000 men and 500 officers in the army in order to strengthen anti-aircraft defense.

Modernization of army equipment and the creation of reserve equipment.

Increase in anti-tank and anti-aircraft equipment and the gradual accumulation of ammunition to supply 1,000,000 men in the field.

Extension of the R. O. T. C. to all colleges and schools desiring it with a six-weeks training period.

A citizens military training camp for 50,000 men annually.

Increased coastal defense.

Support of the war department's plans for industrial mobilization.

Additional funds for aviation research.

Construction of a training airship similar to the dirigible Los Angeles.

Addition of army planes 800 annually over a 5-year period with ultimately 2,358 serviceable planes on hand.

At least one well-equipped flying field in every strategic area.

Extension of every reasonable assistance to commercial aviation.

Byrd Companion Writes Book on Antarctic Trip

A Panhandle boy was with Admiral Richard E. Byrd on his second expedition into Antarctica, and he has, in collaboration with his mother, written a real adventure yarn, according to a review prepared by Olive E. Hingle, a former managing editor of the Pampa Daily News, who is now professor of journalism at West Texas State college. The review appeared in a recent issue of the Prairie, West Texas State college newspaper.

The boy, on whose experiences the story is written, is Joe Hill Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill. Dr. Hill is president of West Texas State college.

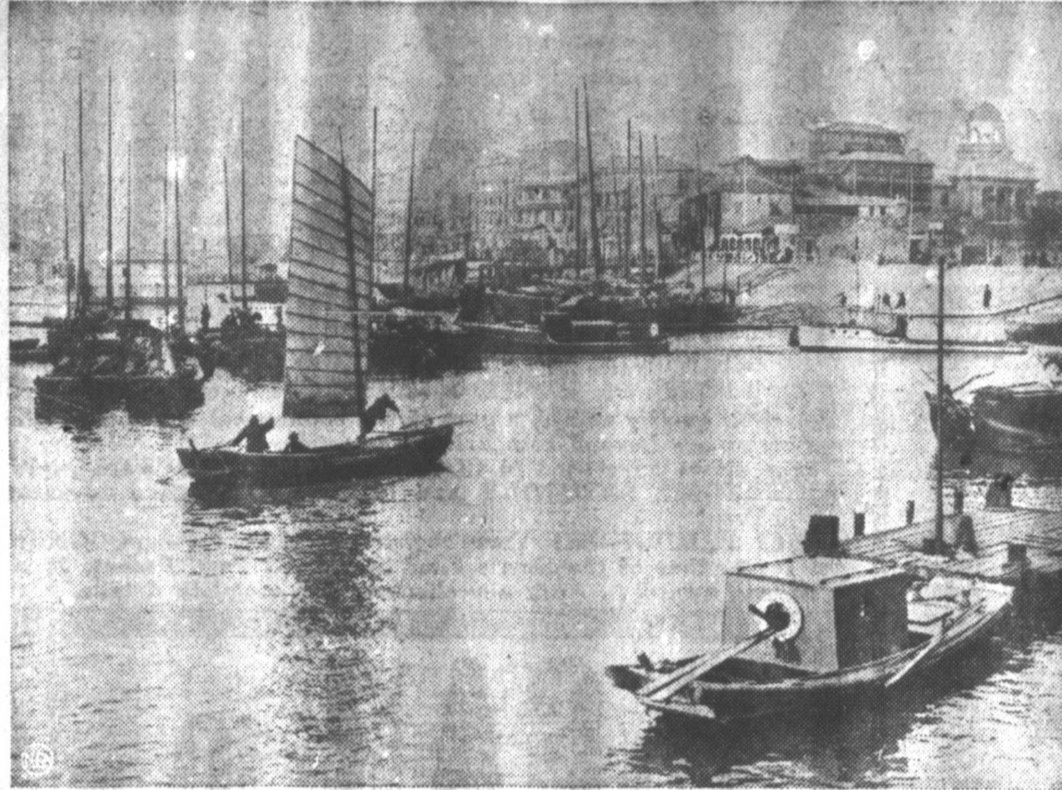

Young Hill, an Eagle Scout, was only 20 years old when the party left the country. Admiral Byrd says that Joe Hill Jr. was the youngest man in his second Antarctic expedition, and that he was one of the best men he ever had on any of his expeditions.

"With admirable patience and fidelity to duty and with all the courage the occasion demanded he did his part to make the expedition a success. He stood the test," Admiral Byrd states.

The book is to be 264 pages, profusely illustrated, has a foreword by Admiral Richard E. Byrd, U. S. N., Ret., and is to be published by Ginn and Company. Cover of the book is in blue, showing three white-vested penguins staring inquiringly at a United States flag unfurled above the glistening snow.

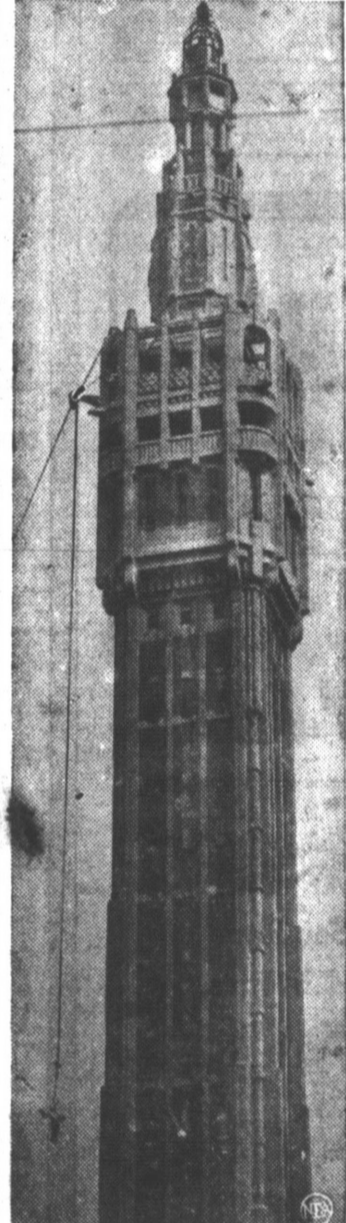

Joe Hill Jr. married soon after his return from the expedition and is now studying mechanical engineering at the University of Texas. Later he plans to study aero engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Target of 'Most Merciless' Air Attack

Nanking, above, the ancient capital where China is attempting to rally resistance to the Japanese invasion, is doomed to destruction by Japanese bombs. Nippon's naval commander has announced. The most merciless air attack of history was predicted. This picture, taken from the Yangtze-Kiang river, shows the waterfront of the city, which is regarded as virtually defenseless against air attack. More than 1,000,000 Chinese live in Nanking. When the bombardment warning was received there were about 40 Americans, 56 British and 100 Germans there.

IL DUCE AGAIN PROMISES BUT FRANCE, BRITAIN SMELL A RAT

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Sept. 24.—An authoritative source asserted today Premier Mussolini had promised Britain and France he would send no more "volunteers" to Spain, making possible Italian entrance in the Anglo-French diplomatic front and a new balance of power for Europe.

While Britain and France were keenly anxious to accept Italy's advances at face value they could not help but look for a possible snare.

A definite feeling of optimism prevailed in foreign office circles but it was tempered by a slight suspicion of the Duce's motives in presenting such a startling assurance regarding Spain.

His sudden willingness to promise that no further troops should be sent to aid the Spanish insurgents—coming on the eve of his departure for an important conference with Chancellor Hitler of Germany—caused many observers to wonder whether Italy was preparing some new and surprising move.

Some British observers—and Rome dispatches bore this out—were frankly considering Mussolini's gestures of cooperation with France and England as a method of strengthening his position to drive a harder bargain with Hitler.

The authoritative British source said that Italy had given both Britain and France a definite promise no more Italian troops would go to Spain if the three powers could agree, among other things, on Italian demands for parity with Britain and France in the Mediterranean anti-pracy accord reached at Nyon.

This agreement was expected to be reached without difficulty in technical talks in Paris next week, among experts of the three countries.

Some informed observers were inclined to accept the growing friendliness among Britain, France and Italy because of what they asserted were two strong factors:

1. Italian realization that she had passed the peak of her power in relation to Britain and France now coming on the eve of his departure for an important conference with Chancellor Hitler of Germany—caused many observers to wonder whether Italy was preparing some new and surprising move.

2. Mussolini is having trouble in Ethiopia and needs British friendship and recognition of his new empire to facilitate its government.

Colombia requires that all immigrants be able to speak Spanish.

Osborne to Sell 92 Herefords October 13

MIAMI, Sept. 23.—Enthusiastic over the increasing demand for purebred Herefords, J. P. Osborne has increased to 92 head the number of Prince Domino cattle to be offered for sale at his ranch, 12 miles west of Miami, October 13.

"I have been breeding Herefords around 25 years," said Mr. Osborne. "And I believe the demand for purebred stuff is stronger today than ever before. It looks as if the purebred Hereford business is off to a big start. Although I have increased the number of animals for sale, I am keeping 300 breeding cows."

Mr. Osborne's fountain of straight linebred Prince Dominos is one of the best known in the nation's showings. Many prize winners will be offered for sale Oct. 13.

An illustrated catalogue, describing the animals to be offered will be in the mail shortly.

Because of the illness of his head feeder, Mr. Osborne was unable to exhibit his Herefords at the Tri-State Fair this year. He says, however, that the animals to be offered for sale would be moved to the headquarters ranch Monday and that visitors were invited to inspect here. Osborne Herefords have been exhibited at 13 of the 15 Tri-State Fairs.

The auction will start at 12:30 the afternoon of Oct. 13. Lunch will be served at the ranch.

Earl Gartin of Greensburg, Ind., well-known auctioneer in the Texas circuit, will handle the sale which will be held under a large tent on the grounds. Ring men will be Frank Farley of the Hereford Journal, O. R. Peterson of Drover's Telegram and Mason King of the News-Globe staff.

Among the animals to be sold will be 25 bulls of servicable age and at least 40 heifers bred to Prince Domino, 105th, a bull considered tops in the Hereford industry. Also for sale will be Bright Duchess, 100th, grand champion female at a recent Fort Worth show.

HIGHER TAXES ON OIL LIKELY TO BE SOUGHT

AUSTIN, Sept. 24 (AP)—The gigantic Texas oil industry may be subjected to attacks on several fronts at the tax-raising session of the legislature starting next Monday. Petroleum producers long have been a favorite target of revenue raisers. Efforts to boost the production tax to as high as ten per cent of value or perhaps even higher will be renewed at the approaching session. It now is 2 1/2 per cent of value or 2 1/2 cents a barrel, whichever is greater.

Governor James V. Allred has urged substantially larger levies on oil pipe lines, claiming some of the lines show tremendous profits. The pipe lines are at a disadvantage in fighting back because all of them are large corporations whereas the producing ranks include many small independents.

Rep. Harry L. McKee of Port Arthur maintained, in a prepared statement a few days ago, that if the lines were earning too much, the proper remedy was a reduction in rates, not a boost in taxes. He pointed out that the lines are regulated by the railroad commission.

If a franchise tax increase should be proposed, as was done at the regular session last spring, it would hit all segments of the oil industry as well as other corporations.

The oil production tax now provides a large share of the state's revenue. It yielded $14,012,743 in the fiscal year ended Sept. 1 and should yield even more during the current year because of greater output.

In addition to the 2 1/2 per cent tax which goes to the school and general funds, oil producers must pay 3-16 cent per barrel for support of proration.

A summary of production tax collections during the past 20 years shows that Texas oil operators already are paying far more than they formerly did. Returns in the last fiscal year were approximately $5-450,000 higher than in the preceding 12-month period. The revenue for the 1926-27 was $5,655,664, or only about one-third of what it may be this year even though no increase is voted.

Legislators favoring a substantial boost in the production impost argue the Louisiana tax is higher and Texas operators, due to their closeness to tidewater, do not fear competition from other states.

During the regular session, the house voted to boost the production levy to 6 per cent, which would mean more than doubling the present rate. The bill died, however, in the senate state affairs committee. Oil men express confidence the senate still won't agree to a raise of more than one per cent of value, if any.

Rep. Albert L. Derden of Marlin said he believed oil could stand a 6-cent tax but was opposed to establishment of such a rate at the coming session because no chance for old age pension liberalization existed and he wanted petroleum left as a revenue source when the pension statute is made more liberal.

Rich Actress

Pretty Joyce Mathews, 18-year-old blond heiress, was prying herself for a dance routine with the chorus when this picture was taken in a Hollywood studio, but she won't be appearing in the chorus any longer. Paramount studio has signed her as a junior player. Her father is a retired New York Stock Exchange member.

Hitler's Two Right-Hand Men

CHAPTER IX
The apartment bell rang. "That's Martin," Sergeant Dolan said to Cilly. "One of my men. I've had checking up on the tenants." Cilly opened the door for him. "Come in, Martin," Dolan called. "What did you find out?"

"Not much, Serg." Martin was a tall, lanky man, commonplace in his plain clothes, with a mop of red hair and innumerable freckles. "Looks as if everybody in the house was tending to his own business when the thing happened," he said.

Dolan nodded. "Of course. Everybody's always minding his own business when a murder's been done. Let's have it. Sit down, Miss Pierce." Martin consulted some notes he had made.

"Well, there are 10 apartments in the house. Two to a floor. Johnson, the superintendent, has a place down in the basement. Miss Pierce and the other young lady here in 1-A. Couple named Terry in 1-B. Johnson tells me they left the house about 11 o'clock on Sunday night. He met them going out the door with their bags. Said they were going away on a little motor trip."

"That's right," Cilly agreed. "Mrs. Terry stopped in shortly after 10 and asked me if I'd take her gold-fish for a few days. There they are, over on the window-sill. They were going up to Fall River to visit Mrs. Terry's mother."

"Funny hour to be leaving, wasn't it?"

"Mr. Terry preferred to drive all night. There would be less traffic on the road, he said."

"Well, that takes care of the first floor," Dolan said. "Who's upstairs?"

"In 2-A there's a Mrs. Elliot. Rather an elderly woman, Johnson says. But she's not in. Johnson and I looked the place over and it doesn't appear as if she's been home for a while. Rooms are all tidied up, windows shut down tight. Johnson says she's away a great deal. She's the last tenant that moved in."

"Now in 2-B there's a family named Smith. Man and wife and 6-year-old youngster. Mrs. Smith tells me they were over in Jersey on Sunday visiting her in-laws. They left the youngster over there for a week. She says they didn't get home until somewhere about 8 in the morning. Didn't know a thing about the trouble here in the house. They took a 1:20 train from Rutherford."

"Check up on that," Dolan instructed.

"I'll do that. Now we come to the third floor. Don't think we'll find anything there. In 3-A there's a couple named Carruthers, but they're away. Johnson tells me. Sailed a week ago Saturday on the "Monarch." I'll check that. Apartment 3-B has been vacant for three months."

"We don't seem to be getting anything out of the tenants," Dolan remarked. "Who's on the fourth floor?"

"On the fourth floor," Martin went on in his steady, phlegmatic voice. "In 4-A, there are the Downs. A mother and daughter. Mother's a woman in her 60s. I should say. Daughter teaches school. The old lady from the look of her, never could pick up a body and throw it off the roof."

"No," Dolan agreed, "it wasn't the work of a woman."

"A Mrs. Wheeler lives in 4-B. Lives there alone, she tells me, and Johnson confirms it. Smart-looking woman, in her 30s. I'd say. A widow. Has a young niece that often spends week-ends with her, but she was all alone this Sunday."

Sergeant Dolan shook his head negatively as he listened without comment to Martin's report. Cilly could almost read his thoughts. One by one, he too was dismissing the tenants from consideration. In his hand he still held the crumpled note Jim had written to Amy.

"On the fourth floor, there's nobody we can pin the case on," Martin was saying, "and I'd say we could check on the fifth floor too. In 5-A there's a man and his wife named Hunter, a middle-aged couple. But he's a helpless cripple, paralyzed from the waist down. Sits around all day in a wheel chair. Johnson says he's never been out of the chair in the four years they're lived here."

"That's him out," Dolan commented. "What about 5-B?"

"Vacant."

"Um-m-m." Dolan shrugged his powerful shoulders. He took a wallet from his inner coat pocket and slipped Jim's note into it, alongside of the Southern Pacific timetable he had found in Amy's bag. Carefully he put the wallet back into the pocket and rose to his feet.

"Let's get going, Martin," he said. "We still have several other angles to check."

Cilly rose too. "Just a minute, sergeant," she pleaded, "what about those vacant apartments? Anybody—a vagrant, for example—might have hidden away in them."

Dolan turned to his assistant. "What about it, Martin?"

"We thought of that, Serg. Johnson showed me 5-B. In the first place, the door was locked, and he has the only two keys to it. In the second place, he's getting it ready for some new tenant moving in on the first, and Saturday the floors were scraped and shelled. Anybody coming down from the roof—which is covered with tar and soot and dust—would have left some tracks on that newly polished floor. There's not a sign of a foot-print."

"What about the other vacant apartment?" Cilly asked him. "The one on the third floor?"

"He found it locked," Martin said. "Johnson is the only one that has a passkey to it."

"Someone might have come down the fire escape," Cilly suggested. "The window from the fire escape was latched. He couldn't have opened it from the outside without breaking a pane of glass. Besides, from what I hear, before the young woman fell, there was a scream—loud enough to awaken the neighborhood. It awakened Mrs. Wheeler. If any man passed down the fire escape, she would have known it."

Cilly wondered where else a man might have hidden. Nobody came out of the house immediately after the accident. Cilly knew that. Amy had fallen directly in front of the front entrance. As Cilly knelt on the ground beside Amy's body, she would have seen whoever came through the front door. Only one person did. Mr. Johnson, the superintendent. He had come up from the apartment in the basement to see what had happened.

Suddenly a new light dawned on the problem, and for the first time the strands of the terrible web of circumstances and coincidence which was encircling her loosened their hold. Jim must have come down from the roof before Amy fell; if he had come down after the accident, Cilly would have seen him go out the front entrance. Or the police would have found him, still on the roof. Jim couldn't have been up there when it happened!

She almost wept for sheer relief. There was a new ring of confidence in her voice as she turned to Sergeant Dolan:

"Mr. Kerrigan couldn't have been up on the roof with Amy," she pointed out with conviction. "Because he couldn't have gotten out of the house after the accident without all of us seeing him. And he wasn't on the roof, or you would have seen him when you went up! That clears him, in spite of the note, doesn't it?"

Sergeant Dolan grinned. "I'd be a fine detective," he said, "if I were as trusting a soul as you'd like me to be, Miss Pierce. How can I be sure that he didn't come downstairs and slip into Apartment 1-A, where a young lady who believed him to be 100 per cent O. K. could easily hide him until the rumpus died down?"

Cilly gasped. The strands of the web had only relaxed momentarily, to strengthen themselves for a more tenacious grip.

FOREIGN MARKETS ARE PUZZLE TO LEADERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Administration leaders are puzzling over the problem of finding a foreign buyer for the extra wheat and cotton produced in the United States this year.

Secretary Wallace told reporters this at a general discussion yesterday of the 1938 farm benefit program.

The cabinet member emphasized that exports must be at a "fair price" and with payment assured.

"We do not want to ship our soil fertility out of this country and get nothing in return," Wallace said.

SHORT MEMORY
INDIANAPOLIS—The man who lost the bass drum has the sympathy of city officials here who next month will reopen a "forgotten" bridge, blocked off 7 years ago for repairs. City Engineer Henry B. Steeg said civic officials had "forgotten" the bridge until a year ago, when the long-delayed repairs were begun.

14 CITIES IN TEXAS BOAST 'IRON LUNGS'

By Felix R. McKnight
DALLAS, Sept. 24 (AP)—Robot savors of child and adult, "iron lungs" they call them, now strategically dot Texas as fortresses against disease and injury.

Only a year ago they were uncommon in the Southwest. Children were stricken with infantile paralysis; they lungs refused to work. Physicians climbed aboard airplanes and sped with sinking patients to the nearest "iron lung," hundreds of miles away.

Now the respirators, which supply vacuum pressure to open and close the lungs for artificial but normal breathing, are available in at least 12 Texas cities with many others campaigning for funds.

Machines Costly
Expensive, ranging from $1,750 to $2,500, the machines, nevertheless, will be available at all times to any persons, regardless of position. Private donors have been used four cities and hospitals have let it be known that the mechanical "life savers" are available without cost.

Clustered in the Houston-Galveston, Beaumont and Fort Arthur area in the coastal region are seven respirators, with two more on the way. Four are available in Houston hospitals and public subscriptions are being taken for a fifth.

Only 48 hours was the time needed at Wichita Falls to raise the $1,735 needed for the city's mercy machine. Due on Oct. 8, the respirator could have been used four or five days ago when a 15-year-old college girl was hurried to Tulsa, Okla.

Ablene citizens responded to a newspaper appeal with $2,350, far more than the $1,750 needed. Officials decided to use the overflow in the purchase of hydrotherapy and physiotherapy equipment for a local hospital to treat crippled children for the scars of infantile paralysis and other causes.

This One Donated
Oil man H. L. Davel at Palestine donated a machine which rests in the county courthouse, available at all times for local physicians, should the need arise.

Swamped with orders since the appearance of the dread paralysis disease during hot summer months, a large Boston firm shipped an emergency respirator to El Paso for use until the full-sized machine could be shipped. The border city is the only "iron lung" spot between Fort Worth and Hot Springs, N. M., but Ablene's machine will soon arrive.

Now known as emergency centers because of their iron lungs are:

1. Houston (four installed, a fifth expected soon).
  2. Galveston (one installed, Sealy hospital).
  3. Fort Arthur (one installed, by public subscription).
  4. Beaumont (one installed, campaign on for another).
  5. San Antonio (one installed, campaign on for another).
  6. Wichita Falls (one ordered, expected Oct. 8).
  7. Austin (one installed, City hospital, bought by city government).
  8. Ablene (one purchased, shipment expected soon).
  9. El Paso (one installed, larger machine expected soon).
  10. Palestine (one installed).
  11. Fort Worth (one installed).
  12. Dallas (two installed, Baylor hospital).
  13. Tyler (one ordered).
  14. Longview (one ordered).
- The Brownsville and Westlaco Lion clubs, as well as McAllen service clubs, are sponsoring drives to place respirators in the Rio Grande Valley, while Bryan citizens are resorting to both baseball games, private contributions and other means to make its inhabitants safer by the presence of an "iron breather."

WTSTC Extension Courses Will Be Available Soon

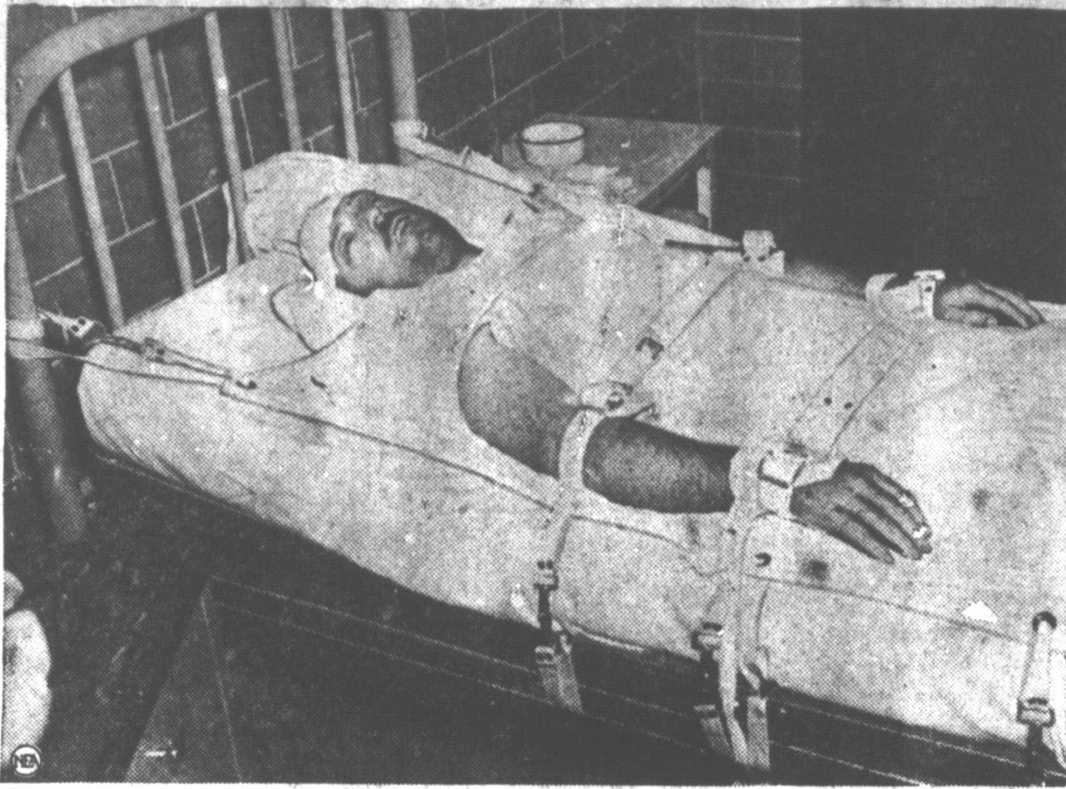

(Special to The News)
CANYON, Sept. 24—A representative of the Texas State Teachers college will be in Pampa October 2 to outline to public school teachers and others interested in extension courses which will be available this semester.

Courses will be governed largely by the wishes of the students, but will be in greater variety than was available in other years. Such subjects as government, history, economics, and sociology—of general interest to the public—will be taught if desired, either for graduate or undergraduate credit or merely for the information involved.

The meeting October 2 to organize the work will be in connection with a regular meeting of teachers. School authorities will announce the hour and place. Mrs. T. V. Reeves, director of the college public service bureau, likely will be present.

Strait Jacket Trusses Injured Murder Suspect

Often spoken of but seldom actually seen is a strait-jacket—as the one in the above picture, which holds unshaven Horace Wamble securely in the jail ward of a Memphis hospital where he is charged with shooting his pretty 40-year-old wife and her mother to death. Notice how the straps hold Wamble's arms to the bed and how they secure his whole body at the sides and head and foot. The bandages cover head injuries Wamble received when he attempted to commit suicide after the shooting, by diving from a window of his second-floor apartment.

ALARMING DROP IN E. TEXAS BOTTOMHOLE PRESSURE NOW CONSIDERED BY COMMISSION

AUSTIN, Sept. 24 (AP)—There was considerable speculation here today over what is going to be done about the declining bottomhole pressure in the great East Texas oil field.

Whatever affects the world's largest producing field is of interest to the industry everywhere.

When the field was opened about seven years ago, the pressure from water below the oil was about 1,600 pounds to the square inch. On Sept. 12 it was 1,131.33, which represented a decline of 12.89 pounds in 30 days and which engineers of the railroad commission, administrator of oil and gas conservation statutes in Texas, say is "excessive." There had been similar heavy drops in the two previous months after a long period when it was virtually stationary.

Now the question is being asked, what will the commission do about it, and, more to the point, what can it do? Members of the three-man board are not inclined to answer the queries at this time, at least for publication. Yet it is known they have the situation under consideration.

Testimony at statewide proration hearing, including one held three days ago, repeatedly has been to the effect that bottomhole pressure drops when oil is taken from the reservoir too rapidly. Some operators at the most recent hearing obviously were fearful the commission would slash the allowable for East Texas; yet in the order issued Tuesday the permittee was not changed. It was continued at 2.32 per cent of the amount which would be produced in one hour, or what is known as the hourly potential, and which was estimated would allow production October 1 of 480,154 barrels, 10,000 more than on August 1 and 30,000 more than at the start of this year.

One view is that the commission cannot reduce the allowable without running afoul of the state "marginal well" law, which forbids curtailing the production of a "pumping" well into the stratum of the East Texas depth below 20 barrels a day. The average per well allowable is only a fraction above that figure now.

But nearly all the wells in East Texas are not producing by means of pumps and therefore are not "pumping" wells; they are "flowing," as a result of the tremendous water drive. Therefore, some say, the law does not apply to East Texas.

Should the commission take this position, few doubt some litigation would result, and the element of what the courts might think of cutting the allowable of a flowing well, admittedly more valuable, below that of a "pumper," would enter.

Court Action Considered.
It has been pointed out that perhaps it was the legislative intent to consider the matter of expense in operations, when it sought to protect "pumping" wells, which obviously cost more to operate than flowing wells.

I other words, a court might be induced to uphold such action by the commission, if it took it, on grounds a flowing well, being less expensive to operate, could get along on smaller production.

It has been recalled that a somewhat similar situation prevailed several years ago and the legislature took a hand. As applicable to East Texas, the marginal well allowance was 40 barrels and drilling had progressed to a point the field allowable just about covered such marginal allowances. At that point the legislature changed the law.

Some think it possible the legislature might want to take a hand again, but Gov. James V. Allred says he has heard nothing about it. His consent would be necessary in order to have the matter come up at the special session convening next week and he might be disposed not to have such a controversy thrust upon a meeting he has called solely to consider revenue raising.

Operators Differ.
At the last proration hearing the question was raised whether bottomhole pressure would increase if the entire field was shut in for a brief period and commission engineers agreed it would. Members of the commission say they have not considered stopping production and have not been approached by anyone on the subject.

It would not be an unheard of thing to shut in East Texas, however. It has been done several times in the past and each time pressure has been built up.

The opinion also was heard at the proration hearing that if production of some wells was stopped it never would be renewed, but others assert every well would be benefited, and in fact, some which have ceased to flow would begin flowing.

If it could be established that property would not be injured by a shut-down, the matter of "deferring income" still might arise. Some operators, it is conceded, would not want to stop their return even for a short period.

There would be no conflict with contractual obligations in one sense for, according to informed sources, most contracts carry clauses specifying fulfillment will be subject to governmental regulation.

MASSA SAYS GAS FIELD WILL LAST 25 YEARS

The life of the Panhandle gas field, on the basis of present consumption, is between 25 and 30 more years, J. B. Massa, local gas engineer, told the Pampa Lions club at its noon luncheon meeting yesterday in the basement of First Methodist church.

Mr. Massa told of the discovery of gas in 1917 while a search for oil was being made and of the surge to the front of the gas industry when the magnitude of the field was established. The Panhandle gas field is approximately 20 miles wide and 125 miles long and consists of 1-500,000 acres of land.

The field, according to Mr. Massa, is about 20 per cent depleted. At the present time there are about 1,350 producing wells in the field.

The balance of the program was on classification. A member at each table was instructed to name each Lion at his table, giving his classification and telling something about him. The program was in charge of Mayor W. A. Bratton.

Guests were Jack Lacey, Graham, R. A. Morrison Jr., Pittsburg, Pa. J. B. Massa, Harry W. Miner, R. G. Hughes, Emmett Gee, Harry E. Hoare, Charles Mosley, Capt. Bierman, Lambert, and R. S. Deitz.

CASA MANANA WILL CLOSE A BIG SUCCESS

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24 (AP)—Six more nights, and the rip-roaring Frontier Fiesta, greatest entertainment of its kind ever staged in the southwest, will close its colorful two-year performances, with everybody in Fort Worth happy over its success.

A million people will have clicked the gates by Sunday night. Casa Manana and Sunset Trail are headed for the moth balls, possibly to come back in some form next year.

Everybody is happy, even that little blonde cutie, Mary Roberson of Fort Worth, the second from the end in the chorus. She hopes to tour the country with an orchestra and then go to Hollywood.

The colorful characters who have made the Fiesta live and breathe, will be gone Monday. Paul Whiteman will hit the trail with his musicians; another Paul Whiteman, the old cow hand who sits on the porch of Sunset Trail's Astor House, will go back to horse trading right here in town. Frank M. Piery, the general store-keeper with the handbar mustache, will forsake his churns, bustles, strong black chewing tobacco and barbed wire, to hunt a job.

"I've done mighty near everything," the 74-year old storekeeper said, "I don't reckon I'll starve."

And so it goes with everybody and everything at the Fiesta these days. All the buildings on the grounds site of Camp Bowie of world war days, will be kept intact. Only exhibits in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Building, will be sent back to their respective towns.

James F. Pollock, general manager, beams when he looks at the ledger. The cost so far this year has been $500,000 and the receipts total $391,745 with still almost a week to run. "When we close" Pollock revealed, "we won't owe a dime."

Billy Rose is combining a part of Casa Manana with his Cleveland spectacle. It will go on the road under the title "The Show of Shows."

The Italian troupe and the puppets, one of the hits of the show, will go to Boston for a fling at New England. Vaudeville, radio and night clubs will absorb those not joining the road show.

Thus the great show made by Amos G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, Will K. Stripling, merchant, and everybody else in this western town will pass.

It was a show that started blaze Broadway and Hollywood. Even New York, San Francisco and Paris looked to it for ideas for their own exhibitions.

California's state flag, having the figure of a bear, originated in an attempt to set up a republic in 1846.
