TWINKLES
This columnist agrees with Attorney General James V. Allred that Uncle Sam is going a bit too far in issuing beer sales permits without the advice and consent of Old Man Texas. If Texans wish to ignore their laws, that is one matter, and if Uncle Sam wishes to do the same, he'd better ponder a bit first.

Disrespect and disregard for one law begets disrespect for many laws, particularly by those persons who flaunt such basic laws as driving while intoxicated, petty thieving, arson, and other offenses committed by new offenders. Laws are made to be changed if necessary but not, in our opinion, to be winked at with no regard for the effect on other laws.

It's actually coming to a point where some people ordinarily honest will beat Uncle Sam or another creditor if they can and have no qualms of conscience. A lot of folk look at federal loans and federal relief as one and the same, but U. S. loans are intended to be repaid as faithfully as private ones.

It can be said to the vast credit of the plains section that borrowers from Uncle Sam wish—honestly—an opportunity to repay, including extensions of time because of drought, and not opportunity to repudiate the debts.

The tendency to throw fundamental principles of procedure and fair play to the winds is deplorable. Time can be taken by the forelock in some instances, but too many persons lose their tempers and the Speaker of the House in Alabama's legislature, rush to the clock and tie the hands into knots to avoid the time of day. By no such procedure can the wages of sin and the inevitable accounting for wild extravagance be avoided.

BEYOND THE HURDLE
From Everett I. Willis, son of Judge and Mrs. Newton P. Willis comes the welcome news that he was one of 645 out of 1,786 applicants who recently passed the bar examinations of the State of New York. The rest failed. Young Willis, Harvard graduate, is a member of the noted Elihu Root's famous old law firm, Root, Clark and Buckner. He is working on bankruptcy and insolvency cases, of which New York provides many in the million dollar class.

RELIEF PRINCIPLE
Pampa and Gray county, as recipients of federal relief, should be interested in principles laid down by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, who has just sent the State of Texas a check for $611,865. Under the new law, $250,000,000 of the half-billion dollar relief fund is set aside for distribution in accordance with need as determined by the administrator. The other half is to be advanced to states on the basis of one dollar for every three used by the states in relief work of the last three months.

A DIRECT GRANT
The new funds are outright gifts from the government. Previous "federal relief" was really diverted from the states' federal road aid. Fortunately, the diverted money will be considered as spent by the states, although it came from a federal source. Texas lawmakers have been talking tax relief, rather than relief of those who are hungry, although the proposed $20,000,000 bond issue was forced by threat of the R. F. C. to discontinue relief grants. Texas officials have spent next to nothing excepting the fed-

HOUSE PASSES CORRECTION IN OIL TAX BILL

STATE MAY COLLECT 8 PER CENT OF RACE MEET RECEIPTS

BETTING IS LEGALIZED

CERTIFICATE SYSTEM IS GIVEN APPROVAL BY GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, May 24 (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today signed the proposal to legalize the certificate system of wagering on horse racing. The proposal was attached as a rider to the departmental appropriation bill.

The departmental bill was signed without any changes. The bill with the attached rider would not become effective until 90 days after the legislature adjourns because it did not receive a two-thirds majority.

Race track bets had been outlawed from Texas since 1909. Advocates of the return of legalized betting had worked for several years to obtain legislative approval of their proposal.

The "horse race" rider would set up a regulatory commission, consisting of the state commissioner of agriculture, the tax commissioner, and a chairman to be named by the governor.

The state would collect eight per cent of the receipts of race meets in taxes. Part of the money would be used in the distribution of purebred livestock, part in the maintenance of the state department of agriculture and the remainder would be distributed among the counties.

AUSTIN, May 24 (AP)—The Texas house today passed two bills making corrections in proposals that already had been approved by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

One of the bills levied a tax of two cents per barrel on oil production and placed oil pipe lines under the intangible assets tax law. The corrective bill also placed gas pipe lines under the intangible assets tax statute.

The second bill provided heavy penalties for violation of the orders of the Texas Railroad commission in oil and gas conservation matters. The original bill was passed with a faulty emergency clause. It was re-passed to make it effective immediately.

Sponsors hoped to obtain final passage of the bills in the senate today.

Formal Opening Of Pythians' New Quarters Planned
Knights of Pythias met last evening at their new quarters in the basement of the Brunow building. The rooms have been re-decorated and new furniture has been added to provide an ideal meeting place.

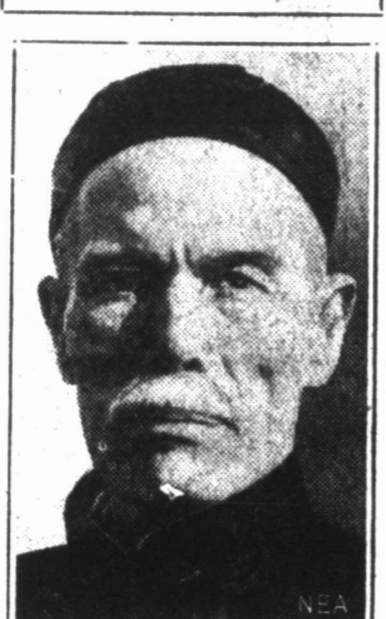

Plans were made for a formal opening night sometime next week, likely on Tuesday. The program committee has promised exceptional entertainment. John B. Hesse will be toastmaster. The quartet composed of John Sturgeon, Jack Dunn, Emmitt Smith, and R. B. Fisher will sing. Miss Ruby Scafe will give a reading. A lesson on friendship, with slide illustrations, will be given by P. A. Wampler, then W. T. Jesse will play a violin solo. Mr. Sturgeon will speak on Pythianism.

There will be music by an orchestra and refreshments before adjournment.

MOONEY FREED

HALL OF JUSTICE, SAN FRANCISCO, May 24 (AP)—Superior Judge Louis H. Ward today instructed a jury of six men and six women to acquit Thomas J. Mooney, convicted Preparedness day bomber, at his trial on an indictment which has lain dormant in city's files for 17 years.

China's Richest

SIR ROBERT HO TUNG, above, Hongkong financier knighted 18 years ago by King George of England, is en route to Washington and London as adviser for China in the world economic conference. He is China's wealthiest man, noted for philanthropy. He is expected to meet President Roosevelt.

THREE TEACHERS INCLUDING BAND DIRECTOR HIRED

Canyon Musician To Direct Music Activities

THREE new teachers have been employed by the board of education of the Pampa independent school district, including a director of band and orchestra who also will teach in the high school.

The band director will be Roy A. Wallbratenstein, a German musician who also holds a master of arts degree. He has been attending West Texas Teachers college and teaching music at Canyon and Amarillo during the last year.

Ernest W. Cabe, who will become a member of the Junior high school faculty, has his A. B. degree from the Teachers college. Miss Leila Jane Butcher has been employed to teach at Hoover. Miss Butcher is from Huntoon, Texas and has an A. B. degree and several years experience.

Will Cut Salaries.
The school board is drafting its 1933-34 budget with a near certainty of making a salary reduction of a 10 per cent average but totaling as much as 17 per cent in some executive departments. Action of the state legislature on the scholastic apportionment and 6-year-olds' attendance will affect the local budget.

Because of fixed charges totaling $481,275.50 for bond interest and principal this year and a similar amount for the coming year it is impossible to make any substantial reduction in school costs except through salary reductions. The Pampa district has always paid less than most other large towns and small cities of West Texas and trustees regret to cut salaries still more, but have no alternative.

Now Under Budget.
This year's budget has been followed and current totals are under the estimate. The budget was amended to permit purchase of one truck. Total costs in the district in the 1930-31 term were $265,000. The total was cut to $232,000 in 1931-32 and to $202,000 for 1932-33. The budget now being made is not likely to be more than $184,000 for all purposes. The teaching staff is by a smaller because of resignations of persons who will not be replaced. The enrollment is likely to be as large as ever.

The board of equalization will be Slier Faulkner, chairman, Lynn Boyd, and M. K. Brown. Fixing the valuations will require part time work for much of the summer.

The next meeting of the trustees will be June 12.

WILL ANALYZE MARKET

BUSINESS MEN URGED TO HEAR STANLEY'S CLOSING

CLOSING LECTURES
Tonight 7:30 p. m., city hall, "Retail Salesmanship": 8:30, "Statistical analysis of Pampa's Retail Market."

SUBJECTS of city-wide interest and importance will be discussed by Henry W. Stanley, economist, in two lectures tonight at the city hall in closing the Business Institute held under the auspices of THE NEWS and the Board of City Development.

By request, Mr. Stanley will continue his lectures on salesmanship at 7:30 p. m., and will center attention on retail selling. This is a lecture which will be valuable to salespeople, and managers of firms are advised that they can with profit urge their salesmen and saleswomen to hear it.

At 8:30 he will give his promised analysis of the 6-county Pampa retail market. He has obtained detailed data and will give interpretations and make important recommendations to merchants and sales folk. In referring to this subject this morning, he told his "class" that about 97 per cent of the residents of the county were native whites, including 5,410 native white families. He found 67 foreign white families, 94 negro families, and 21 other races represented. There were 5,592 families in Gray county, having 22,090 members, according to the 1930 census. Of these families, 34.6 per cent owned their homes. Farm families number 651. He characterized the Gray county market as unusually high class and said the buyers had refined wants and that their spending was limited only by their means.

Mr. Stanley also discussed advertising copy this morning, giving as his "three R's" reasonableness, readability, and restraint.

"Leave something to say tomorrow," he advised. "Avoid meaningless superlatives. Achieve a striking dignity. Make use of pictures, prices, and apt descriptions. Suit your appeal to your particular audience. And above all, remember that repetition gets the business."

He showed how to get the optical center of attention on a page by using ads which were tall enough to reach above the fold of the page.

AND A SMILE
WASHINGTON (AP)—A baby born in Campbell county, Tennessee, on the site of the future Cove Creek power dam on the day President Roosevelt signed the Muscle Shoals bill, has been named "Norris Roosevelt Hawkins." a copy of his birth certificate has been sent Senator George W. Norris, author of the Shoals bill.

Government And Club Differ On 'What Is Charity?'

What is charity? The underprivileged children's committee of the Pampa Kiwanis club is asking that question, following receipt of a letter from the Internal Revenue department at Washington which says that the Kiwanis club will have to pay the usual government tax on the last dance sponsored by the club.

The letter states that "we find that the dance was not for religious or charity purposes and therefore the tax should be paid." Thus the clubmen are wondering what the government calls charity if it is not the caring for underprivileged children.

Another dance will be sponsored in the dining room of the Schneider hotel Friday night. Dancing will be from 9:30 to 12:30 o'clock. An excellent orchestra will furnish the music.

LEGAL SEARCH WARRANTS ARE RECOMMENDED

ACQUITTAL VERDICTS IN LIQUOR CASES ARE EXPLAINED

PUBLIC OPINION BLAMED

GRAND JURY IN REPORT DISCUSSES LIQUOR PROBLEMS

SEEMING inability of the state to secure convictions on liquor indictments during the current term of 31st district court was attributed in part to the unsettled status of the public mind on prohibition by the grand jury which finished its work and made its report yesterday.

The grand jury also pointed out that a number of search warrants had proved faulty and urged that officers be more diligent in furnishing proper information on these writs. The sheriff was commended for his choice of deputies, described as "men of honor and ability."

38 Indicted.
The grand jury's report follows: "We, the grand jury, respectfully submit our final report of proceedings had and actions taken during this term, as well as our recommendations and commendations, and upon final approval thereof respectfully request that we be finally discharged."

"We have been in session 16 days during this term, and have diligently searched for and made inquiry into all infractions of the law or possible violations of our criminal statutes, and after careful deliberations and consideration of all facts submitted to us we have seen fit to return 38 indictments, of which 8 were misdemeanors and 30 felonies."

"We have tried to follow the splendid instructions given us in charge by you, especially in regard to carefully considering the evidence before voting an indictment, as we believe that though we might have used a little more time in our deliberations than was absolutely necessary in every case, yet the results obtained have justified us, in our opinion. We have tried at all

AGAIN A SENSATION-SEEKING JAM of speculators had its fill of what it sought, when Morgan identified recipients of loans from his firm to include his counsel—John W. Davis, former presidential nominee; Ambassador Norman H. Davis, now representing the president abroad; former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, and others whose names are alike well known.

The list was placed in the record at the demand of Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, who said it might aid in considering the truth of charges of Morgan power and influence over banking and industrial concerns.

Amounts of the loans were not given. Some, including the one to John W. Davis, have been paid off. George Whitney, tall, handsome Morgan partner, disclosed details of one of the loans, and advance of about $10,000,000 to Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City bank. He said it was "under-collateralized," but guarded by a reserve set up against it of more than $3,000,000.

The loan to Mitchell was said by Whitney to have been to aid the National City head in maintaining the parity of his bank stock with the stock of the Corn Exchange bank, with which a merger was contemplated.

There was some friction caused by Pecora's questions. He inquired: "Why do you think your relations with your customers are more common?"

WOODIN IS NAMED AS ONE OF THE FAVORED FEW

McAdoo Permitted to Buy Stocks Under Privileges

By NATHAN ROBERTSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—A list of special clients of J. P. Morgan & company including Secretary Woodin and Senator McAdoo of California was placed in today's record of the senate investigation of operations of the huge banking firm.

Turning from testimony by J. P. Morgan that he had paid income taxes in England in the last two years, although paying none in this country, Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, swept into the latest phase of baring long buried Morgan secrets.

Inasmuch as Morgan said he could not remember the counsel turned to George Whitney, a partner. He quickly ascertained that in formation of the Allegheny corporation through contract with the Van Sweringen's of Cleveland, Morgan agreed to buy $35,000,000 of bonds for $32,575,000 plus accrued interest to form a syndicate for public offering.

While Pecora read the long contract, both Morgan and Whitney listened closely.

Part of the agreement, made Jan. 28, 1929, gave Morgan and company the right to purchase 1,250,000 shares of the Allegheny corporation's 3,500,000 shares of common stock at $20 a share.

Whitney said the company took over this block of stock on Feb. 15. Pecora read a letter offering the stock to Woodin at $20 a share pointing out it was then selling at $35 to $37 a share.

Senate investigators again dug deep into the Morgan banking secrets today, developing objections from J. P. Morgan to having his private firm under regulation applied to commercial banks, obtaining names of bank officials to which Morgan money has been loaned and finding out where more of that money was deposited.

George Whitney, partner of the firm, testified its members had paid about $11,000,000 income tax for 1929.

"And practically nothing since then," dryly remarked Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel.

"So I heard yesterday," Whitney rejoined, referring to testimony that showed the partners made no income tax payments in the last two years.

Again a sensation-seeking jam of speculators had its fill of what it sought, when Morgan identified recipients of loans from his firm to include his counsel—John W. Davis, former presidential nominee; Ambassador Norman H. Davis, now representing the president abroad; former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, and others whose names are alike well known.

The list was placed in the record at the demand of Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, who said it might aid in considering the truth of charges of Morgan power and influence over banking and industrial concerns.

SOLDIER HELD IN MURDER OF PALESTINE BOY

SLAYING COMMITTED IN 1922; TRIAL ENDED IN HUNG JURY

WOMAN OFFERS CLUE

SPENCER WAS MEMBER OF ARTILLERY AT FORT SILL

LAWTON, Okla., May 24 (AP)—Marvin H. Spencer, 30, member of battery B of the first field artillery at Fort Sill, was arrested today as a suspect in the eleven-year-old murder of Bascom Jones at Palestine, Texas.

Officers said the soldier's real name is Fletcher Marshall Sheffield and that he was a farmer boy when Jones was killed. Spencer was arrested at Fort Sill by Sheriff Fritz McCarty of Comanche county while the soldier was on guard duty.

The sheriff and a deputy sheriff from Salina, Kan., located Spencer. Kansas authorities revealed they received a "tip" from a woman that led to the arrest. They declined to name the woman. Texas officers are en route from Wichita Falls to return the soldier to Palestine.

PALESTINE, May 24 (AP)—Two deputy sheriffs left today for Wichita Falls to claim Fletcher Sheffield, 30, arrested at Lawton, Okla., as a suspect in the 11-year-old slaying of Bascom Jones, shot to death on the banks of the Neches river near Palestine in December, 1922.

Sheffield was being taken to Wichita Falls for delivery to Anderson county officers. He was under bond at the time he disappeared and the bond was forfeited finally in 1927. He went on trial for Jones' death but a hung jury resulted. He disappeared before the case was called for a second trial.

Sheffield will be brought here to face a new indictment returned by the present Anderson county grand jury.

Horse Races To Be Held Sunday At Ranch Rodeo

Horse races will be added to the rodeo attraction at the Lon Blansett ranch a mile south of Bowers City Sunday afternoon. The big afternoon of thrills and spills will start promptly at 2 o'clock. A small admission will be charged.

Work of laying out a race track, especially for the Frontier Days celebration and rodeo, was started yesterday and it will be in condition for at least two races Sunday afternoon.

A regular rodeo performance of steer and bronc riding, bulldogging, and calf roping will be staged under the direction of Mr. Blansett. He will have his prime rodeo stock on hand. It will be the second time they have been exercised this year.

Saturday To Be Deadline for Crop Loan Applications

With about fifty loans, mostly on summer following for wheat, already approved, the Pampa committee has completed about two-thirds of its work.

Saturday will be the last day for completion of applications, and farmers are urged to see the B. C. D. staff or that of County Agent Ralph Thomas at once to avoid the Saturday rush. Hall which wiped out several fields in the Laketon community will be the cause for several applications.

A number of farmers will try summer tilling with wild rows, others will plant cotton and some will raise feed for livestock. Many must reduce their 1934 wheat acreage 30 per cent to obtain loans.

KANSAS CITY, May 24 (AP)—Another jump today in the price of wheat futures was attributed to the return of inflation to a prominent place in current news. Active deliveries at Kansas City made early gains of 2 to nearly 2 1/2 cents, carrying the September price to 68 1/2 cents.

YES, WE HAVE MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR. An American who has spent the last five or six years in Europe returned to his own country on a vacation recently.

That sort of talk, of course, used to be our common boast. In the last two or three years we haven't heard it so often.

But we're still sitting on top of the heap, comparatively speaking, and it wouldn't hurt us to keep remembering it.

That doesn't mean that we should close our minds to the fact that we have upwards of 10,000,000 men out of work, that we should forget that hunger and discouragement and want are abroad in the land as seldom before.

It simply means that in spite of all our troubles we have a great deal to thank God for, and that we can face the future with more hope and courage if we realize the fact.

By keeping that in mind we can help to advance that Great American dream—the dream which has hovered over our horizon for more than a century; the dream that in this land it would be possible to make a better life possible for the average man.

That dream is still possible of attainment. By keeping our eyes on it, hoping for it and working for it, we shall be helping, year by year, to make it come true.

WORLD'S FAIR STAFF RUSHING WORK FOR OPENING SATURDAY

CHICAGO, May 24 (AP)—With the official opening date advanced five days, from June 1 to May 27, executives of A Century of Progress, exhibitors and concessionaires are rushing operations to have the Exposition finished on time.

Extra crews of construction men, painters and landscapers are working at top speed so that when the Exposition opens with President Roosevelt officiating, every project sponsored by the Fair itself will be complete in every detail—roads, streets, buildings, exhibits, utilities, bridges and landscaping.

Nothing has stopped the builders of the Exposition from carrying out the original plan to present a complete world's fair when the gates swing open to the public.

Exhibits Completed. Figures made public indicate that every exhibit sponsored and arranged by A Century of Progress will be installed and in operation a week before the opening on May 27.

Charts showing daily work in construction and installation of the basic science exhibits in the Hall of Science indicate that ninety per cent of the chemistry exhibits are completed, and eighty per cent of them installed.

More than two-thirds of the physics displays have been finished and thirty per cent already installed. Construction of the thirty per cent unfinished is so far advanced that only a few more hours of work is required on them.

The mathematical display, including the Navy's time exhibit and the microscope exhibit, is 100 per cent finished and more than half has been placed in position in the Hall of Science. Work of installation on the rest is going forward rapidly.

More Displays Ready. Practically every exhibit for the Travel and Transport Group, the Home Planning Hall and the Home and Industrial Arts Group at Chicago's 1933 World's Fair, A Century of Progress Exposition, has been completed, officials of the exposition announced.

Installation of the remaining exhibits is proceeding rapidly.

The White Cockatoo by Mignon G. Eberhart

SYDNEY'S SEARCHLIGHT Jim Sunday works to help Sue Tally out of the trouble in which she is embroiled. The token with which she must identify herself to her brother Francis, whom she has not seen since childhood, is stolen just as Francis arrives in the French hotel where she lives. Three murders have been committed in an effort to steal the token. Sue herself has seemed to do suspicious things. David Lorn, Francis' detective, calls Sue to talk with her brother—and Sunday, learning the murderer may make a last desperate attempt on Sue's life, watches outside.

Chapter 41 THE FLEET

THERE was one faint hope. That was that whoever it was who had killed so swiftly, so mysteriously, with such ghastly silence and stealth, striking without warning there in the blackness of the old hotel and vanishing as mysteriously as he had come—whoever it was might possibly believe that, without that token, Sue would not be able to convince her brother.

But the faint hope was so very faint that it was almost untenable. Sue's only assurance of safety lay in convincing Francis of her identity. And she was going to him empty-handed, without that token on which had been placed such ill-proportioned significance.

At any rate, she had the birth and marriage records; if Francis were only inclined to be fair and reasonable, those written records would go a long way toward establishing her identity.

It was with aurt nerves that I saw Francis appear in the doorway, and heard him call to Lovschlem, and saw Lovschlem, after a moment or two, emerge from the parlor and waddle fatly toward his own rooms. He's going to his safe, I thought, and lit a cigarette and forced myself to wait quietly.

If Francis would only credit the evidence of that long-ago marriage certificate and Sue's own birth record, things might yet go well with Sue. Given time and luck, we might recover the token.

But I was not exactly easy. It was somehow not really a shock to witness Lovschlem's hasty return, his fat flurried hands, his agitation and his cries that he'd been robbed. The safe had been opened, he cried, gasping and wheezing for breath. Miss Tally's envelope was gone. Nothing else. Only the envelope.

The strange thing about it was that his agitation was not affected. It looked to me to be real.

My opinion of the Lovschlems was going up and up.

I felt sure, while I watched the resultant commotion that brought them all—Francis and Sue and Lorn and Grethe—into the lounge, I felt sure that neither Grethe nor Marcus had known of the theft of the envelope one had entrusted to them.

I was at last convinced that they had actually wanted Sue to have that envelope and to go away with her brother. Which conviction completely reversed my whole train of speculation regarding the Lovschlems.

At the same time, I was interested in discovering from the resultant conversation with its implications that they undoubtedly had known more than Sue believed they had known about her inheritance and the conditions of it. For Francis was not guarded in his remarks even before my ears, and the Lovschlems were obviously not puzzled by his allusions.

"HOWEVER," said Francis crisply at last, interrupting Lovschlem's perspiring expostulations, "The papers in the envelope were not of first importance. It's true that my sister—"

I said bluntly: "Only Mr. Sunday," said Sue. "Who has—"

"Well, well," Francis interrupted. "It's quite all right. The important thing—"

"But I did not tell anyone else," went on Sue firmly, refusing to be interrupted.

Francis glanced fleetingly at the Lovschlems. I followed his glance and was caught by a curiously still expression on Grethe's face. She met Francis' eyes directly, but there was a look in hers I could not fathom as she said very deliberately and distinctly:

"Miss Tally's mother told us something of the strange conditions under which Miss Tally would inherit money from her father. She told us in confidence, hoping that we would give what assistance we might to Miss Tally. She had no other friends." There was a nice lack of emphasis on the words "other friends," but they stood out definitely in their implication.

"I hope I do not need to assure you that we have told no one. If there is, as we have feared, a scheme to rob Miss Tally of her inheritance, it is not one we have brought about by a careless revealing of her mother's dying confidence. We have even kept the fact of our knowledge from Miss Tally. We understood, of course, that it was a delicate matter and one that invited danger."

Fine and fair and careful. At once my growing opinion of the precious two gave one tebble flicker and collapsed. It was far too fine and fair and careful. Grethe's eyes were too cautious, and they held too brooding a flame as they met Francis Tally's. I felt that her claws were unsheathing themselves, her white muscles gathering tensely.

And a look at Marcus's face confirmed my feeling, for it bore a silly look of combined dismay, fright, and ludicrous relief as his quicker-witted mate spoke.

"Oh, of course. Of course," said Francis Tally carelessly, as if it didn't hit the point matter. "The point is we don't need the papers that were in the envelope. There is a perfectly simple way for my sister to prove her identity. And I suppose she is willing to do so at once and end this uncertainty."

"I'll match your own token, Francis," said Sue pleasantly.

FRANCIS whirled sharply to look at her. Even Lorn, who had, as usual, mysteriously turned up at a crisis, seemed to sense something under her voice, and I caught his speculative, thoughtful look and wondered about it.

There had been something queer about Lorn—some impalpable difference. It had come with Francis Tally's unheralded arrival, but it was nothing to which I had a clue. What had he been doing—what, perhaps, had he discovered? There was certainly something very strange back of his guarded dark eyes as he watched Francis Tally.

"What do you mean?" Francis' voice went upward a note or two. "Only that," said Sue still pleasantly.

Francis' face slowly darkened. "But, my dear girl," he said, "it is you who must prove your identity to me. Don't you think you are reversing matters a little?"

"No," said Sue quietly. There was firmness under her voice, but it was still quiet and, curiously, there was a spark of gaiety in the glance she flung toward me. I was interested to note that Francis' face was less bland. What would he say? What would he do? He shot a glance at Madame Grethe, who watched with her feline look of secret, guarded waiting. He said:

"You forget that I am sole arbiter of the matter. And in any case, sister, I think it might be better to continue our conversation in a less public place. Shall we—"

He motioned toward the parlor, and Sue preceded him, meekly enough, but with another glance at me.

Grethe, with a sharp word to Lovschlem, vanished, looking undecidedly after Francis, as if waiting for some indication of Francis' wishes, sat down beside me. Neither of us spoke for a time: I was lost in my thoughts, and Lorn was equally engrossed in some mysterious speculations of his own.

"Well," I remarked at last, having reached a cul-de-sac in my reasoning from which there was only one exit, and that too incredible to take.

"Well enough, I suppose," he replied a bit grudgingly. He was watching the door to the parlor carefully. "Well enough."

I said bluntly: "See here, Lorn, I've got a feeling that you know more about this affair than you are willing to admit. Is that true?"

"Only Mr. Sunday," said Sue. "Who has—"

"Well, well," Francis interrupted. "It's quite all right. The important thing—"

"But I did not tell anyone else," went on Sue firmly, refusing to be interrupted.

Francis glanced fleetingly at the Lovschlems. I followed his glance and was caught by a curiously still expression on Grethe's face. She met Francis' eyes directly, but there was a look in hers I could not fathom as she said very deliberately and distinctly:

"Miss Tally's mother told us something of the strange conditions under which Miss Tally would inherit money from her father. She told us in confidence, hoping that

FARLEY LAUNCHES DRIVE TO SPEED REPEAL OF PROHIBITION

Popular Band To Provide Music For Two Dances

The Golden Dragon orchestra and floor show of Wichita Falls are scheduled for a return engagement at the Pampa on Thursday and Saturday night. This will be their second and probably last appearance in Pampa for some time due to the fact that they are on their way to Kansas City to fill a summer engagement at Electric Park.

The floor show features Dot Dixon, celebrated blues singer and tap dancer. The orchestra, a ten piece affair, is well liked here.

During the past three months the Golden Dragons have been playing in Wichita Falls at the Golden Dragon Night club and at a radio station there. They have at various times played for the Baker hotel in Dallas and the Gunter hotel in San Antonio.

CAMPAIGN WILL BE STARTED IN LAGGING STATES

LIQUOR REVENUE WILL ELIMINATE NEW TAX LEVIES

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—A full fledged drive by the administration is under way to speed prohibition repeal.

The New York vote and the prospect of eliminating the new taxes for public works financing through revenue from liquor sales, combined to spur the Roosevelt forces to action.

Postmaster General Farley, the chairman of the democratic national committee, is the spearhead of the repeal campaign from the capital.

He announced last night that he will ask every democratic worker in the last election to turn to for repeal.

Farley, who neither drinks nor smokes, carried this campaign into New York state last week. He employed there the democratic machinery which had brought overwhelming victory to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"The democratic party pledged itself for repeal," says Farley. "President Roosevelt endorsed it. The proposition has been put up to the state. We should work for it and we will. It means a new source of revenue that will eliminate the new levies about to be imposed to provide new jobs."

The announcement was regarded as improving prospects that the 36 states necessary for ratification might be in line before next March 15, when the higher income taxes now proposed would become effective.

So far, six states have signified intention of repeal—Michigan, Wisconsin, Wyoming, New Jersey, Rhode Island and New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—New York, by a 12 to one vote, has expressed itself for repeal of the prohibition amendment.

In the city of New York repeal sentiment in Tuesday's special election was approximately 41 to one, the vote being:

For repeal, 1,047,068; against repeal, 25,506.

Figures for the entire state with 5,930 out of 8,837 districts reported were:

For repeal, 1,478,607; against repeal, 120,142.

As a result of the ballot verdict, 150 delegates pledged to repeal will meet here June 27 and execute the formality of adding New York state to the five others which already have committed themselves for repeal.

A few rural counties with incomplete returns showed the vote close enough to be overturned by later figures, but for the most part even counties heretofore dry returned wet majorities.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith will be permanent chairman of the convention.

Strong Winds Bring Mushrooms to Yard Of Dalhart Woman

DALHART, May 24 (AP)—Mrs. S. E. Beecroft, wife of a Dalhart lumberman, has found mushrooms growing at her home. She knows they are mushrooms because she ate some even though friends with serious misgivings warned they might be inedible. "I have picked them by the bushel basket and I know mushrooms," Mrs. Beecroft retorted.

So far as known these are the only mushrooms ever grown in this region. They come from spawn, not from the soil, Mrs. Beecroft said, and she believes the spawn was brought here by the winds.

"I've wanted about the wind in this country but never again," she declared. "Any country's wonderful that will grow mushrooms."

Mrs. Beecroft stated they cannot be transplanted, but if soil were taken from her yard and put in another, the mushrooms would gradually spread.

CHIEF SENATE CLERK KNOWS HOW 31 SENATORS WILL CAST VOTES

AUSTIN, May 24 (AP)—"Thirty-one eyes and no naves." That's a regular sing-song with Bob Barker, chief clerk of the Texas senate.

He calls the roll so rapidly one can hardly snap his finger before he goes down the line alphabetically, "Beck to Woodward." He watches the debates closely and usually knows how each will vote before the senator answers to his name on the roll call. He is accurate and gives the result of a vote by the time he finishes "ward" in "Woodward."

If all the 31 senators are in the chamber, Barker invariably knows how to tally each. If there are only twenty-eight he knows how they feel about things.

In a number of instances the senators do not even answer "aye" or "no" when their names are called. They leave that to Barker, realizing the veteran secretary knows how to make them.

Speaker of the House Coke Stevenson of Junction is a frequent visitor at the press table in the lower branch. So is "Mrs. Coke." Mrs. Stevenson gets more attention there than the speaker. Also, the newspaper men get more attention from Mrs. Coke than they do from "Mr. Coke."

The Stevensons have started construction of a pretty home in the hills of Kimble county—and there isn't any more fascinating country any where they say. They have asked each member of the newspaper corps out to stay a "day or so" completed.

Purina Trade Mark Traced to 'Family Bolt'

Famous trademarks, like famous men, often evolve from humble beginnings. Such is the fascinating story of one of America's most distinguished business symbols—the checkerboard of Purina Mills—a familiar design that for nearly 40 years has so prominently identified every bag of livestock and poultry feed manufactured by this international concern, and so familiar to those who visit the Pampa Grain company.

Known from coast to coast, the checkerboard trademark traces its origin to a small country store in southeast Missouri. Here in this store—his father's store—worked Will Danforth, the lad who was destined later to become founder and president of Purina Mills. Ever at an early age young Danforth showed he had the instincts of a business man. He liked to keep store. Whenever a farmer drove up with the family he would see it that with dispatch and courtesy they were supplied with all their needs.

In those days, farm women made the clothes for the family. They bought their calico by the bolt instead of by the yard. Each family had a bolt of an individual pattern. Shirts for the boys and dresses for the girls all came from the same bolt, making it easy to identify the members of any one family by the pattern of the cloth that made up their clothes. It was quite like the Highland clans of Scotland and their plaids. Danforth's family used the checker design.

Miss Roma Kuykendall underwent an operation at Worley hospital yesterday.

NATIONAL WEALTH FALLS 115 BILLIONS FROM 1929 TO 1933

NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—The national wealth of the United States fell $115,000,000,000 from 1929 to 1933, according to the appraisal of the national industrial conference board, made public today.

The national wealth in 1932 was $247,000,000,000; in 1929 it was $362,000,000,000. National wealth means the dollar value of the country's physical assets—land, factories, and other tangible goods.

The national wealth reached its peak in 1920 at $488,700,000,000, or $4,587 per capita. In 1931, it fell to $280,300,000,000.

Year to year fluctuations do not accurately measure the wealth of the nation in terms of its physical units, but give instead the estimated dollar value of these units according to the prices for which they might theoretically have been sold in the different years.

PECORA AMAZES BANKERS WITH HIS KNOWLEDGE

Attorney Shoots His Questions From All Angles

By MELVIN E. COLEMAN, Associated Press Staff Writer.

The first public story of the operations of J. P. Morgan & company, beginning today in Washington, promises to focus attention anew on Ferdinand Pecora.

This 51-year-old son of an Italian immigrant is chief counsel for the senate banking committee in its inquiry into the marketing of securities. J. P. Morgan was called as a witness.

A long investigation of the Morgan banking house, directed by Pecora, has laid the foundation of the proceedings. Such investigations have been the attorney's forte for years, especially if they involved financial puzzles.

Some of the bankers, brokers, and industrialists who have faced him have been amazed at his intimate knowledge of their affairs. Since his work with the banking committee began in the last session of congress, his witnesses have included such men as Charles G. Dawes, former vice president, and Owen D. Young.

He has a galling gun system of shooting questions. They come rapidly and seemingly from all angles, until the key shot rings home and listeners suddenly realize that he had his sights trained on a definite objective all the time.

Sometimes the witnesses find themselves in the line of fire. There was, for example, Charles E. Mitchell, now on trial in New York on charges of evading income taxes. He was chairman of the National City bank when he faced Pecora. He resigned after the inquiry brought out that the bank had loaned money to some of its officers without interest in the dark Wall Street days of 1929 and 1930.

"The bigger the target, the easier it is to hit," is one of Pecora's sayings.

"He is hard, but fair," was the tribute paid him by one of the financiers who went through the questioning process.

Pecora was born in Italy, but was brought to America while he was in infancy. As a youth he wanted to study for the Episcopal priesthood. But he couldn't finance his studies so he took a job in a law office. Today his son is heading for the legal profession also.

Three thousand miles of concrete highways are shown—the Travelax route. The new map is being distributed free on request to Texas motorists by the Portland Cement association. Coming out as it does just ahead of the big summer motoring season, there is already an active demand for this new kind of road map.

Motors who may be planning trips may secure this new highway map free by writing to Portland Cement association at its office, 1306 Athletic club, Dallas.

Price of Wool Has Had Rapid Advance Lately

SAN ANGELO, May 24 (AP)—Continuing the most spectacular rise in history, the Texas wool market has firmed at 23 and 24 cents a pound with a new top of 25 cents. Buyers are threading the country to bid on private clips, warehouses are planning sealed bid sales, and representatives of government-approved eastern warehouses are soliciting consignments of the U. S.-mortgaged clip, now estimated at more than 45,000,000 pounds.

The new top of 25 cents was paid when Joe Blakeney, wool buyer for Hallowell, Jones & Donald, acquired from Fred Earwood of Sonora, 40,000 pounds of 12-months wool. The price represented a 2-cent advance over the previous high. A series of sealed bid sales is expected to be held at Kerrville, where more than a million pounds soon will be concentrated. The Wool Growers Central Storage company of San Angelo has about one and a half million pounds on hand.

Wool buyers almost unanimously agree that shrinkage of wools are lighter than last season, though recent dust storms have not helped.

Roosevelt's Wet Stand Deplored In Baptist Vote

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The Southern Baptist convention, by a voice vote of its members, is on record as feeling that "much to the discredit of his administration" President Roosevelt had allowed the White House to be used to "advertise the beer business."

The resolution was approved over an opposition plea that it was "unnecessarily disrespectful to the president of the United States."

It expressed "regret" that Mr. Roosevelt had "used the influence and power of his office for repeal of the eighteenth amendment" and for the legalization of beer.

The opposition was led by Dr. Alter O. Binns, of Roanoke, Virginia. Cries of "No!" "No!" "No!" rose as he moved to strike out the sections pertaining to the president's prohibition views.

Dr. K. A. Handy, of Baltimore, came to Binns' support saying he understood the resolution included Mrs. Roosevelt also, since "she stood for the serving of beer in the White House as was her personal right to do so." The vote was overwhelmingly against him.

The convention did vote with Binns to strike out a section saying Baptists looked "with great concern on the unusual and extraordinary grants of power to the president by congress."

VISCOUNT ISHII CALLED JAPAN'S BEST DIPLOMAT

His Doctrine: 'Leave Asia To The Asiatics'

By MELVIN E. COLEMAN, Associated Press Staff Writer.

A trusted agent of two emperors of Japan, Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, is en route to Washington for one of the last of the visits to President Roosevelt by foreign statesmen preliminary to the world economic and monetary conference.

The Viscount started out to be a lawyer, switched to the foreign service, was raised to the peerage by Emperor Taisho, father of the present ruler of the island empire, and developed into one of the world's most distinguished diplomats.

He is especially skilled in international politics. Technical aspects of the economic conferences will be handled by Eigo Fukai, vice-governor of the bank of Japan, and seven experts who are accompanying them. The Viscount's personal tax embraces efforts to improve Japan's place among the nations by explaining and winning sympathy for her policy toward China.

Roland S. Morris, former ambassador to Japan, described him as "a cultivated gentleman of rare personal charm, whose mental processes seem more European than oriental."

Back in 1917 he was in Washington to formulate co-operation with the United States in the world war. He took away with him the famous Lansing-Ishii agreement, later abrogated, which recognized Japan's special interests in China arising from "geographical propinquity."

His most recent pronouncement was made at a Tokyo banquet in honor of Joseph C. Grew, American ambassador. "Leave Asia to the Asiatics," he said, "is the gist of his thought, thus putting forward what has been described as Japan's counterpart of the Monroe Doctrine. The Viscount is a long-headed gentleman, literally as well as figuratively. His forehead was unusually high even before the graying hair lengthened it. His eyes are large, dark and unaided by glasses, despite his 67 years. He wears a cropped mustache across the full width of a generously moulded upper lip.

Unless formality decrees otherwise, he favors comfortably loose three-button sack suits with the coat unfastened. Generally, too, a cigarette is held deftly between the first and second fingers of his left hand.

PECORA AMAZES BANKERS WITH HIS KNOWLEDGE

Attorney Shoots His Questions From All Angles

By MELVIN E. COLEMAN, Associated Press Staff Writer.

The first public story of the operations of J. P. Morgan & company, beginning today in Washington, promises to focus attention anew on Ferdinand Pecora.

This 51-year-old son of an Italian immigrant is chief counsel for the senate banking committee in its inquiry into the marketing of securities. J. P. Morgan was called as a witness.

A long investigation of the Morgan banking house, directed by Pecora, has laid the foundation of the proceedings. Such investigations have been the attorney's forte for years, especially if they involved financial puzzles.

Some of the bankers, brokers, and industrialists who have faced him have been amazed at his intimate knowledge of their affairs. Since his work with the banking committee began in the last session of congress, his witnesses have included such men as Charles G. Dawes, former vice president, and Owen D. Young.

He has a galling gun system of shooting questions. They come rapidly and seemingly from all angles, until the key shot rings home and listeners suddenly realize that he had his sights trained on a definite objective all the time.

Sometimes the witnesses find themselves in the line of fire. There was, for example, Charles E. Mitchell, now on trial in New York on charges of evading income taxes. He was chairman of the National City bank when he faced Pecora. He resigned after the inquiry brought out that the bank had loaned money to some of its officers without interest in the dark Wall Street days of 1929 and 1930.

"The bigger the target, the easier it is to hit," is one of Pecora's sayings.

"He is hard, but fair," was the tribute paid him by one of the financiers who went through the questioning process.

Pecora was born in Italy, but was brought to America while he was in infancy. As a youth he wanted to study for the Episcopal priesthood. But he couldn't finance his studies so he took a job in a law office. Today his son is heading for the legal profession also.

Price of Wool Has Had Rapid Advance Lately

SAN ANGELO, May 24 (AP)—Continuing the most spectacular rise in history, the Texas wool market has firmed at 23 and 24 cents a pound with a new top of 25 cents. Buyers are threading the country to bid on private clips, warehouses are planning sealed bid sales, and representatives of government-approved eastern warehouses are soliciting consignments of the U. S.-mortgaged clip, now estimated at more than 45,000,000 pounds.

The new top of 25 cents was paid when Joe Blakeney, wool buyer for Hallowell, Jones & Donald, acquired from Fred Earwood of Sonora, 40,000 pounds of 12-months wool. The price represented a 2-cent advance over the previous high. A series of sealed bid sales is expected to be held at Kerrville, where more than a million pounds soon will be concentrated. The Wool Growers Central Storage company of San Angelo has about one and a half million pounds on hand.

Wool buyers almost unanimously agree that shrinkage of wools are lighter than last season, though recent dust storms have not helped.

Roosevelt's Wet Stand Deplored In Baptist Vote

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The Southern Baptist convention, by a voice vote of its members, is on record as feeling that "much to the discredit of his administration" President Roosevelt had allowed the White House to be used to "advertise the beer business."

The resolution was approved over an opposition plea that it was "unnecessarily disrespectful to the president of the United States."

It expressed "regret" that Mr. Roosevelt had "used the influence and power of his office for repeal of the eighteenth amendment" and for the legalization of beer.

The opposition was led by Dr. Alter O. Binns, of Roanoke, Virginia. Cries of "No!" "No!" "No!" rose as he moved to strike out the sections pertaining to the president's prohibition views.

National Wealth Falls 115 Billions From 1929 to 1933

NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—The national wealth of the United States fell $115,000,000,000 from 1929 to 1933, according to the appraisal of the national industrial conference board, made public today.

The national wealth in 1932 was $247,000,000,000; in 1929 it was $362,000,000,000. National wealth means the dollar value of the country's physical assets—land, factories, and other tangible goods.

The national wealth reached its peak in 1920 at $488,700,000,000, or $4,587 per capita. In 1931, it fell to $280,300,000,000.

Kitchen Skill Is Easy To Attain, Expert Declares

This is the second of three articles by Sister Mary discussing kitchen problems of the young bride.

By SISTER MARY, NEA Service Writer. UNDOUBTEDLY there will always be young housewives who are born cooks, for in some hidden, intuitive way they not only sense, but master the cookery problems which every new home-maker is bound to meet. However, the old adage which tells us that "good cooks are born, not made" is an exploded theory.

Accuracy in measuring and in following tested and reliable recipes is the keynote of good cooking. Three Rules of Success. Every time a meal is prepared or any bit of baking is done, there are three factors which must be measured. Time, temperature, and ingredients measured exactly, all determining the goodness of the finished product.

You will need standard cups and spoons to measure the ingredients. An ordinary coffee cup or teacup should never be used because there is a difference in their volume and that difference may be enough to ruin the recipe. A tablespoon means a standard measuring spoon level full and while the difference between them and any other table-spoon may seem slight, the best results are obtained by using accurate and standard measurements.

Two Cups Are Handy. Two measuring cups are convenient to have and mean saving of time. It's a good idea to have one of two-cup size and one of one-cup size. One cup can be used for dry ingredients and the other for liquids and when the recipe calls for one and a fraction you will have a two-cup measure.

Remember that flour is sifted once before measuring. It should be piled lightly in the cup and tapped lightly to fill the air holes, but it should not be packed down.

Measuring Spoon Hints. All dry ingredients such as sugar, salt, and soda should be sifted to free them from lumps. Brown sugar should be rolled before measuring.

To use a measuring spoon, fill it to the brim. BREAKFAST: Chilled tomato juice, cereal cream, popovers, marmalade milk, coffee. LUNCHEON: Baked macaroni and cheese with tomatoes, bran muffins, chocolate milk, tea. DINNER: Casserole of hamburger and potatoes, molded spinach salad, cottage pudding with pineapple sauce, milk, coffee. full and level it with a spatula. Cupfuls are leveled the same way. To measure one-half spoonful, divide the whole spoon after leveling.

Special Services Will Be Held at Catholic Church

Special services for this week at Holy Souls Catholic church are announced by the pastor, Rev. Joseph Wonderly. This evening at 8 o'clock the first service will be conducted, and masses will be read at 7 and 9 a. m. tomorrow.

The service this evening will consist of the Way of the Cross, the Litany of the Saints, and the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Father Wonderly's announcement said.

"The first of these devotions will conclude a series of four, held for the benefit of the congregation that they might gain the indulgence granted by Pius XI when he recently promulgated the Holy Year.

"In the instruction last Sunday, the pastor explained to his hearers that the essential idea of an indulgence was the remission of punishment to our sins because of the imperfection of our repentance, and that since the church remits the eternal punishment and guilt by administering the power of Christ committed to her, no reasonable objection can be placed to her power to supplement the repentance of her members and overcome its imperfection."

Tomorrow's services will be in observance of Ascension Thursday. The Paschal candle which has been burning at all services since Easter will be extinguished at the mass when the priest reads of Christ's ascension, signifying the physical separation or departure.

BUFFS BEATEN BY BEAUMONT IN 3-1 GAME

CATS CONTINUE THEIR WINNING STREAK—BEAT INDIANS

By The Associated Press.

The Houston Buffaloes found themselves leading the Texas league by a very precarious margin Wednesday, after Joe Hare let them down with only seven blows to give the Beaumont Exporters a 3 to 1 victory Tuesday night.

Al Fisher was unable to overcome Beaumont's jinx, although he kept their base blows well scattered except in the sixth, when they fell on him for all three tallies.

Jack Salvesson, brilliant young Dallas right-hander, and Jimmy Bivin, ace flinger of the Tulsa Oilers, tied up on the mound at the Steers' park and the result was a heart-breaking 1 to 0 shutout against Salvesson. He was nicked for only one clean hit and allowed only four men to reach base, two of those on bobbles by Ray Morehart.

The Fort Worth Cats went into the ninth trailing the Oklahoma City Indians 2 to 3, but they soon filled the bases and Arthur McHenry dropped a hit from second from a broken bat, in the ninth, to give them a 4 to 3 victory over the Sooners.

Galveston's Buccaneers lost 5 to 6 to the San Antonio Missions in the league's one day game. The Bucs came from behind in the last two frames to score three runs and tie the count, but a single, a double and a walk filled the bases in the ninth and, with two out, Darrow walked Angle to force home the winning run.

McLEAN NINE LEADS LEAGUE

Four Teams Tied For Second Place; McLean Has Won 2 Games; Lost None

The McLean baseball team is resting alone at the top of the Cotton-Oil league with two wins and no losses, according to statistics prepared by Secretary J. E. Biggs of Shamrock. Four teams are tied for second place to leave Shamrock in the cellar with no wins. Games have been close and the early standing probably means nothing. Every team is strong and upsets are anticipated.

Wheeler will come to Pampa for a game Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Both teams have defeated Shamrock and should be evenly matched.

Standing including Sunday's games:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
McLean	2	0	1.000

HOUSE PASSES BOXING BILL

Author Believes It Can Be Passed By Senate Before End of Session.

AUSTIN, May 24 (AP)—The Texas senate today received from the house a bill to legalize boxing, outlawed from this state since 1895. The house passed the proposal, 73 to 55. Rep. George Butler of Bryan, its author, expressed belief it could be placed on final passage in the senate before the end of the session.

Both houses had passed a proposal to legalize the certificate system of wagering on horse races.

Opponents of the boxing bill contended it was a moral issue. Representative Gordon Burns of Huntsville said enactment of the proposed law would result in Jack Dempsey and "Chicago racketeers" coming to Texas and taking thousands of dollars away.

Butler, whose father was a minister, urged the house not to confuse legalized boxing with morals.

Boxing was banned in Texas 38 years ago when Charles A. Culbertson, then governor, called a special session of the legislature to pass a law to prevent a bout between James J. Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons.

The Butler bill would empower the state labor commission to regulate boxing and wrestling. The state would collect a tax of five per cent of the gross receipts from the matches. Boxing bouts, except championship fights, would be limited to ten rounds.

Pampan Loses To District Tennis Champ in Finals

Harold Gregory, local tennis ace, pushed J. R. Corbett, Amarillo district champion, hard in the Amarillo high school invitation tennis tournament which closed Monday afternoon following postponement Saturday afternoon. The district champion won straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, but the games were closer than the score indicates.

Most of the games went to deuce and Corbett had great difficulty breaking into the win column in every game. His backhand shots and drives were more effective than Gregory's, but the Pampa boy had his placement shots working to perfection despite the terrific wind.

Gregory went into the finals by defeating Norton Curry of Plainview, 7-5, and 6-1. The first game was played Saturday and a second match started before play was called off because of rain. The last match was played Monday morning. Gregory showed ability in every match and with a little more experience should be able to meet the best.

Batters Not As Good as Of Yore, Says Billy Evans

NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, has a brand new explanation for the falling off of hitting in the major leagues this year.

"It's not the ball," Billy says, but the batters themselves.

"They don't carry enough threat up to the plate," he explained. "Most players now are just straight-away hitters, whereas a fellow like Ty Cobb would worry an opposing infield to death, trying to figure where and when he would bunt. Then just when they thought they had Ty figured out he would punch one through a hole or over an infielder's head."

"There isn't anybody with Cobb's all-around hitting ability in the American league now. Ben Chapman (of the Yankees) is the nearest approach to Cobb on the bases that I have seen in years, and he is developing into an all-around batter, too."

CUBS SINK AS HURLERS AND BATTERS FAIL

ABSENCE OF CUYLER IS PRINCIPAL CAUSE OF LOSSES

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

One man cannot make a ball club but it seems that the absence of one has unmade the Chicago Cubs, National league champions of 1932.

Investigation into the reasons why the Cubs have fallen from first place last year to seventh during the current season indicates the absence of Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler is the principal cause.

Since Cuyler was injured shortly before the season opened, Manager Charley Grimm has had to make one experiment after another trying to fill the gap in the outfield as well as the missing punch in the batting order. The present combination of the speedy but weak hitting Taylor Douthitt, Babe Herman, and Frank Demaree leaves much to be desired.

The weakness of the Cubs was plainly evident yesterday when they took their second straight trimming from the last-place Phillies, 9 to 5. After scoring three runs in the first inning, they bowed to Phil Rhem up to the ninth while the Phils hammered Bush into submission in three frames and piled up 19 hits off four fingers.

Chicago thus missed a chance to move into sixth place for the Cincinnati Reds took it on the chin from the New York Giants, 6 to 4, when Adolf Lueg's pitching saved a game for Roy Parmelee after the young hurler had given himself a good start with a home run.

The Boston Braves handed Tex Carleton his first defeat of the season to go into fourth place, rapping him for four straight hits and two runs in the tenth to win 3-1. Pittsburgh's league leaders turned the tables on Brooklyn, beating the Dodgers, 3-0.

After chalking up six straight victories, Oral Hildebrand of Cleveland ran into the New York Yankees' home run barrage and lasted only three innings as Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig hit their first circuit drives since April 30. It was the sixth for the Babe and the eighth for Lou and homers by Earl Combs and Ben Chapman accounted for the Yankees runs in an 8-6 win.

Chicago's White Sox shattered a three-game winning streak for the Boston Red Sox by doing some long distance hitting behind Milton Gaston's six-hit hurling and winning, 7 to 0.

The Philadelphia Athletics turned on their powerhouse in the middle innings and slammed out an 8-6 victory over the St. Louis Browns as Lefty Grove made his third relief appearance in as many games.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cree and family left yesterday for Ohio where they will spend two months visiting relatives and friends.

Cochet Is Worried About Vines Shots

AUTEUIL, France, May 24 (AP)—Henri Cochet is doing a lot more worrying about the forthcoming Davis cup challenge round than he is about defending his singles championships, now in progress here.

The great French ace, who never before has trained so strenuously, has taken up bicycling in an effort to strengthen his leg muscles. He pedals daily to practice in Roland Garros stadium. Determined to avenge the defeat Ellsworth Vines handed him in the challenge round last year, Cochet is working out an hour and a half a day with the noted professional, Martin Piaa. He has been concentrating on a defense for the low, sharp shots with which Vines beat him a year ago.

SINKING 'EM

By GENE SARAZEN World Champion Golfer (As Told To Alan Gould)

Too much sleep is worse, in my opinion, than not enough, during a major golf championship.

My own experience is that seven hours of good healthy sleep is all I need to have the body and nerves in shape for the next day's grind, whether it is 18 or 36 holes.

Of course some players will require more than that, but the point I am making is that it is better to be tired enough to drop off quickly when you "hit the hay" than it is to go to bed arbitrarily with the idea of getting an extra hour or two of rest.

Digest A Nervous Type

Take the case of my good friend and companion, Leo Diegel. He's a nervous type, anyway. He goes to bed too early, then wakes up before dawn, during a tournament, and starts smoking cigarettes to calm himself.

If he went to a show or played cards until he was naturally tired out, he would get better rest.

Leo also is apt to worry about little things. I recall one tournament where he took a particular dislike to a tree on one side of the fairway. "I wish they would cut that darn thing down; it's got my goat," he told me, but I told him to forget it and go to sleep.

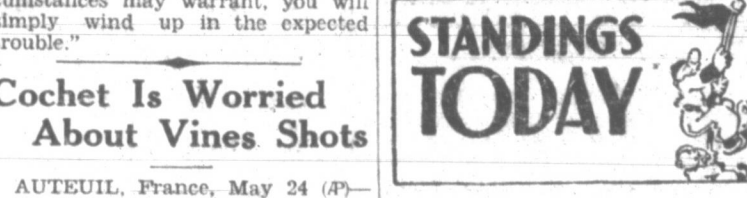

But he talked about that tree in his sleep, and what do you think happened the next day at this hole? Why Leo took a full swing and hit that tree right in the middle.

Beating A "Goat" Hole

Speaking of "goat" holes, Willie Campbell, the old Scot professional, had about as good a recipe for them as any I have ever heard.

"If you come to one of those holes that you think has a jinx or some trouble that creates a mental hazard, just keep your eye on the ball and take a healthy slug at it.

"Otherwise, if you try to spare or pull a shot, as you think the circumstances may warrant, you will simply wind up in the expected trouble."

Leo Diegel, whose putting form never has been successfully copied, wakes up before dawn during a big tournament and smoke endless cigarettes to try to calm his nerves.

SALVESON IS ONE OF BEST COACHED HURLERS IN LEAGUE

Indians Coaching Staff Is First Class and Should Start Winning Soon.

By BILL PARKER.

Catcher Bubber Jonnard, who has caught all kinds of pitching in the minors and the majors, passing long enough the other night to say that young Johnny Salvesson, Dallas right-hander, is one of the best coached pitchers in the game today.

Salvesson was transferred to Dallas by the New York Giants. He has a fine assortment of stuff, and a few minutes after Jonnard had praised him he went out and beat Houston 1 to 0 with Jonnard catching.

Unusual as it may sound, Jonnard said Salvesson had too much good control for his own good.

"But I'll say one thing—he has more knowledge of pitching than any youngster I have caught in the last six or seven years," commented Jonnard.

Zeke Bonura, the hard clouting Dallas first sacker, wears a chain with a cross attached around his neck during each ball game. Incidentally, Zeke has developed into the "barber" of the Dallas team—meaning he talks more than any other member of the team.

Tom Jenkins, Dallas outfielder and former Texas league swat king, may be a hero with Dallas fans but not with his six-year-old son. The other night Jenkins' son visited the press box and a scribe ask him to point out his daddy on the field.

"I don't know where my daddy is," answered little Tommy, "but there's Zeke over there."

The elder Jenkins later was told of the incident. He smiled and said that Zeke was the only baseball player in the world to his son.

Players on the Houston, San Antonio, and Dallas teams agree that the Oklahoma City Indians have one of the best pitching staffs in the league and that eventually the Indians will start winning games and prove plenty troublesome before the pennant is concluded.

Cary Selph of the Houston Buffaloes has replaced Del Baker, former Beaumont manager, as the "pepper box" manager of the league. Selph keeps the chatter going whether he is playing second or on the coaching line. He is hustling all the time with and for his team. In enthusiasm, he reminds fans of the departed Del Baker who simply could not keep still during a baseball game in which his Exporters were playing.

Faculty Defeats Double Dippers To Tie Leaders

The Faculty stepped into a tie with the Danciger Oilers in the City Playground ball league yesterday afternoon with a 16 to 5 win over the Double Dippers. Phillips continued to win and clinched second place by defeating the Davis Plumbers, 9 to 3. Both games were well played.

The Faculty hit the ball hard behind the pitching of Patrick and had only eight men on the field. Odus Mitchell hit two home runs, a single, and got a walk. Nash and Gregory played great ball for the teachers. Kitchens was strong for the Dippers. Both teams played near errorless ball.

Phillips and Davis had a good game with honors about even excepting for two innings when the Pampa boys blew up. The pitchers were stingy with their hits but Phillips made theirs count.

Danciger and the Diamond Shoppers failed to get together.

Negro Playground Has Opened in City

U. S. Netters To Meet Argentine Team Thursday

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The United States sturdy Davis cup quartet, already casting covetous eyes at the long absent trophy, today sought a final tune-up to their strokes and smashes preparatory to meeting the challenge of Argentina tomorrow in the final round of American zone play.

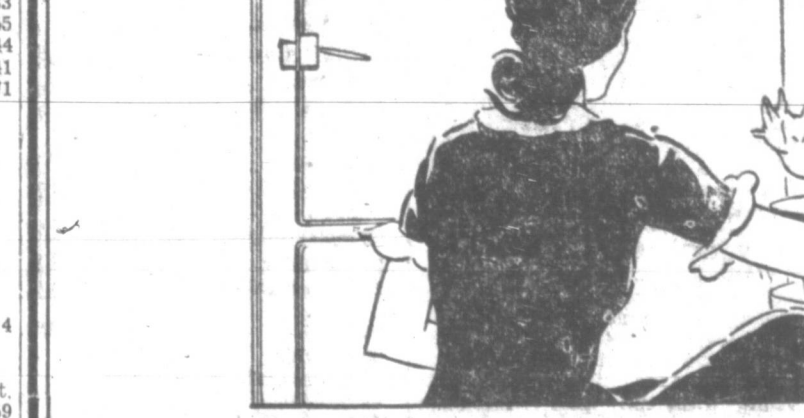

The American team of Wilmer Allison, captain, Ellsworth Vines, holder, George Lott and Jimmy Van Ryn took immediately to the courts.

They found the Argentines busily engaged in their eleventh day of practice at Chevy Chase Country club, where the final tie will be played tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Only Adriano Zappa, Argentine captain, presented a familiar figure since Adelinas Echeverria and Hector Satriuzze are newcomers to North American Davis cup play.

Allison, who will carry the singles play burden with Vines, had an extended practice match with Van Ryn.

Don C. Davis of Midland, former Pampa resident, is a visitor here for a few days.

The time to buy an electric refrigerator is RIGHT NOW. Many families make the mistake of talking about purchasing an electric refrigerator most of the summer; finally buying one in the fall. True, refrigeration is necessary in the fall and winter but it is more necessary in the summer. Not only is the electric refrigerator necessary in summer but it is also a great hot weather comfort. Cold foods, ice cubes and frozen desserts do much to counteract hot weather.

Visit your refrigeration dealer now. He invites you to examine his refrigerator. His selection is complete NOW.

JAPANESE ARE NEARER PEIPING, CHINESE PRESS SAYS

PEIPING, May 24. (AP)—Advices from American missionaries at Tungchow, 13 miles east of here, said today there was renewed fighting last night on the eastern outskirts of the town despite reports of a Chinese-Japanese truce in the north China war zone.

Ten Chinese were killed, said the missionaries, who are connected with the American board of missions. They have no agreement, reports after evacuating from Tungchow between 70 and 80 American children who attended school there.

The Tungchow mission compound was crowded with 10,000 Chinese refugees.

Peiping, however, was a more peaceful today than for many days. Relief was marked as the result of yesterday's reported truce.

Chinese reports yesterday were that Chinese military leaders had been given three days to comply with unrevealed Japanese peace terms. There was no agreement, however, in Chinese press reports concerning the reported armistice agreement. One section proclaimed that "war has ceased on all fronts," while another maintained "the war operations continue, with the Japanese nearer Peiping."

The line to which Chinese forces were expected to withdraw, believed to be one of the specifications of the truce, was described as running from Lutai, about 30 miles from Tientsin toward the coast to Tungchow, and then circling the ancient capital on the east and north at a distance of approximately 20 miles.

The market ruled fairly active all morning. Although prices eased a few points when the weekly weather and crop report was issued, proving rather more favorable than heretofore, the market soon turned upward again in sympathy with higher stocks and wheat, July advancing to 8.77, October to 9.04 and December to 9.19, or 17 to 20 points above yesterday's close.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 24. (AP)—Big new jumps in grain values took place early today. Buoyancy of the stock market before grain dealings began was a decided fresh stimulus. Notice was also taken of the calling of a conference by Secretary Wallace to place in operation methods of advancing commodity prices.

times to be particular to develop each case as best we could for conviction. We mention this on account of the fact that we wanted you to know that your conception of what our duties were when you charged us at the beginning of this term have been followed out and that we heartily subscribe to the same.

Faulty Search Warrants. We would call special attention to the different officers over the county to faulty search warrants. A defective search warrant is not only a waste of both energy and money, but causes the offender to feel that he has outwitted the officers. We would suggest that more diligence be used in drawing search warrants.

Opinion Unsettled. We have returned a number of indictments charging violations of the liquor law. And practically all of these have been tried during this term of court and have resulted in most instances in a verdict of "not guilty." This condition is very discouraging to the officers, whose duties call for the enforcement of the prohibition laws of this state as same as other laws. However, we believe that this is due to the present public opinion and the unsettled condition of state and national prohibition issues.

eral road money diverted to relief, and therefore has a poor record in welfare work. This state has not yet acknowledged any obligation except that discharged through its penal and eleemosynary institutions and its county pauper relief.

ASTOUNDING PICTURE Hopkins, the new director, revealed that there are 16,000,000 persons on the relief rolls of the country. Obviously, these are in no position to pay taxes. As to these non-taxpayers the equally astounding fact that about one in every five adult males in this country draw some sort of governmental salary or pension—including the military branches—and you will begin to realize what an enormous tax burden rests upon those who cannot escape. The list of those exempt from some or all taxes is very long. Taxes on necessities and fuels—especially gasoline—are approaching the point of confiscation, while inert wealth which should be taxed into circulation is still immune or nearly so.

LIGHTNING HITS MAN SAN ANGELO, May 24. (AP)—Bob Miller, former Concho county sheriff, was struck by lightning last night at his home at Paint Rock, and was conscious only at intermittent intervals there today. His head and side pained him severely. He was standing directly under a light in home. He was knocked to the floor.
