

NEW V-8 FORD, BIGGEST OF ALL TIME, WILL BE SHOWN IN CITY AGENCY TOMORROW

Petitioners Will Ask Salary Cuts

Ben Barrett and several others today were circulating the following petition, to be presented to the county commissioners Monday: "We, the undersigned taxpayers of Gray county, Texas, feel that the salaries as set by the commissioners are much higher than those that are paid to like officers in neighboring counties and that they are out of proportion, considering the income of the taxpayers and existing conditions. We think that the maximum salary paid to any one official should not exceed $2,000 per year."

VALIANT DUST by Percival Christopher Wren

A SYNOPSIS: To the great joy of the officers garrisoned at Mellera, Lieutenant Le Sage returns from his tour of duty with his beautiful wife, Lieutenant Riccoli is particularly surprised.

Chapter 2 MAN OF DESTINY

AGAIN Madame Le Sage buried her face in her hands as her husband pulled the trigger.

For the third time the hammer fell with a harmless click, and a look of mingled disappointment, wrath, and despair clouded the handsome countenance of Lieutenant Napoleon Riccoli.

Riccoli held the pistol to his head.

"I'll give you one minute," interrupted Le Sage, glancing at his watch. "It is at the end of that minute you have not taken your chance, I will shoot you—like a dog. Which will be an honor for you. Now..."

Looking more like a trapped jackal than any kind of dog, Riccoli extended a slightly trembling hand, took the pistol, and held it to his head.

"Speech!" interrupted Lieutenant Le Sage... and with an angry glare at that imperturbable man, Riccoli pulled the trigger.

For the fourth time a sharp click sounded through the little room, startling, by its mighty smallness, the ears of the three protagonists of this drama.

"You see?" Riccoli smiled palely. "I am protected... I am a Man of Destiny."

"So far, so good—or so bad," observed Le Sage, and taking the pistol, turned it upon himself.

"Stop," cried Riccoli. "We have had the courage to fight two rounds of your terrible duel, and that is enough. As I said before, honor is satisfied."

"Tours, or mine?" inquired Le Sage. "Honor is satisfied, I say, and if it is not, I will agree to fight yet a third duel with you. But it shall be the duel of civilized people..."

And putting the pistol to the side of his head, Le Sage pulled the trigger.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

even in good times. A. & M. has outlined an 8-point program as follows:

- 1. Selling the farm home market first. 2. Producing a small surplus of food to sell. 3. Use care before planting new cash crops. 4. Plant feed to sell through livestock.

OTHER ESSENTIALS Above all, it seems to this Pampa is the need for lifting from the resident farmers the heavy and valorem taxes on the land, which form a drain on the cash income...

BUT NOT TOO FAR Help for the mortgaged must go far, but not too far. Radical steps will dry up credit needed for rehabilitation of both country and city investing. One bill introduced at Austin would exempt the following from sale and seizure: The homestead, household and kitchen furniture, one cemetery lot, all farm implements, all tools belonging to a trade or profession, family library portraits and pictures, 5 cows and their calves, two yoke of oxen, 2 horses and one wagon, 1 carriage or buggy, 1 gun, 20 hogs, 20 sheep, all saddles, harnesses and bridles, all provisions and feeds for home consumption, all current wages for personal service, 20 goats, 40 chickens, 20 turkeys, 20 ducks, 20 geese, 20 guineas.

INCOME TAX FACTS Certain new provisions are contained in the revenue act of 1932 under the above-mentioned heading limiting in the deduction for losses sustained on the sale or exchange of stocks and bonds which are not capital assets—that is, which have not been held for a period of more than two years. In accordance with the limitation, such losses may be deducted only against gains from similar transactions for the year, although the amount of the excess of such loss allowed as a deduction for the year 1932 may be carried forward and taken as a deduction against gains from similar transaction for the succeeding year to the extent for the taxpayer's net income for the year 1932. It is also to be noted that such loss may not be offset against capital gains.

The above-mentioned limitation is in general applicable to both corporations and individuals as well as other taxpayers. By the terms of the statute, however, the limitation does not apply to dealers in securities as to stocks and bonds acquired for resale to customers or to banks or trust companies incorporated under the laws of the United States or of any State or Territory.

In defining "stocks and bonds" for the purpose of such limitation, the statute specifically excludes therefrom bonds issued by a government or political subdivision thereof. Such exclusion not only includes bonds issued by the Government of the United States or a State or political subdivision thereof but also includes bonds issued by a foreign country or foreign municipality. It therefore follows that the deduction for losses sustained on the sale or exchange of such bonds is not subject to such limitation.

And tomorrow Major Napoleon Riccoli returns, in a new role.

Bonds Valued At $325,000 Taken At Post Office

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 10.—Three men drove up behind the main post office, surprised two postal employees, snatched a pouch and were at large today with cash and bonds estimated to total $325,000 in value.

Not even the license number of their motorcar was obtained by the victims of last night's raid—W. E. Williams, clerk-guard, and Claus Ewanston, truck driver. Williams' pistol also was taken.

Police and postal inspectors, joining in an intensive search, were depending on finding clues through discovery of the bandit's motorcar. The robbery was so well timed, Postmaster Harold McCurry said, the men stopped Williams just as he emerged from the mail room with the valuable pouch.

Williams said he saw a man standing before him, wearing a handkerchief mask and carrying a pistol. Williams thought a relief truck driver was playing a "crude joke" on him because he man wore clothes similar to one of the post office workers.

What's coming off here, Williams asked, laughing. "We want that sack," the man replied. He grabbed Williams' pistol from his holster, snatched the pouch from his hand and jumped from the platform to the alley where a second bandit stood.

TO DELAY AWARDS AUSTIN, Feb. 10.—Awards of additional highway construction contracts probably will be withheld until April, W. R. Ely, chairman of the highway commission, has announced.

GALSWORTHY GONE; ERA WITH HIM

The death of John Galsworthy not only removes from the scene one of England's most distinguished novelists, it helps to mark the passing of an era—helps to mark, precisely as his own novels did.

For Galsworthy was the historian of a class and a time which seems to have been doomed to death by world changes. He wrote of the people who gave England its tone through the fifty years preceding the World War; the upper-class folk who, in the last analysis, directed the empire, set up the social and political codes by which it lived and shaped for themselves a life which seemed to be beyond change.

This was a class with very great limitations—a statement which, perhaps, could apply to Galsworthy himself. The class made the British empire great, beyond dispute. It sent sons out to administer colonies, to open backward lands for settlement, to fill the vast network of civil and military positions made necessary by the great scope of the empire's activities.

It was Mr. Galsworthy's great gift to understand that class completely and to write of it so that other people could understand it and sympathize with it too. A future historian wanting to discover just what upper class Englishmen of the empire's heyday were like, what they talked about and how they felt and what they believed in, will hardly be able to do better than to get acquainted with Mr. Galsworthy's Forsythes and Charvels.

Yet this class had a certain blindness, somehow. The world moved out from under it. Perhaps it was blasted out by the guns of Ypres and the Somme, or perhaps he docks at Hamburg and Bremen and the factories at Detroit and Pittsburgh had something to do with it; but at any rate it moved, and left no bewilderment and confusion in the class that had ruled it. For the class was unable to adjust itself.

To a world which has watched the activities of that class with admiration, exasperation and sympathy, by urns, Mr. Galsworthy's novels are a priceless possession.

There's nothing that will take the conceit out of a man quicker than driving through the wholesale section and bumping fenders with the truck drivers.

A cable reports that a Solomon Island native "has just said $18,000 for a wife on the installment plan, and will be the rest of his life paying for her." Well, well, things are pretty much the same this world over, aren't they?

New York lawyers have formed an organization to advise tenants how to get out of their leases. To do any business, their fees will have to be less than the cost of a saxophone.

Difficulties in learning to read are four times as common in boys as among girls, says a neurologist. Which may account for dad's consistent failure to read what's on mother's mind.

Wouldn't it be refreshing to read sometime that the old tradition had been broken by some touching incident and that "the show did NOT go on"?

Representative Stanfield of This District Initiates Economy Move To Dispense With Free Shoe Shines

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (AP)—As a move towards economy the house of the Texas legislature has eliminated free shoe shines formerly accorded its members.

The movement was started by Rep. H. K. Stanfield of Amarillo. Stanfield also has declined to permit his newspapers to be paid for out of the house contingent expense fund. He has several newspapers delivered to his desk. Each house member is allowed two newspapers to be paid for by the house.

No free shines or newspapers were made issues by Stanfield in his campaign for election.

Charley Lockhart, state treasurer, has recommended that the legislature do something to tighten up on the cigaret tax law.

Lockhart reported to the house appropriations committee that the state was losing $1,500,000 annually in revenue through evasion of the law. Most of the evasions involve the reuse of tax stamps.

No provision was made in the Texas cigaret tax law for attaching the state stamps in the same manner as the federal internal revenue stamps are affixed. The federal stamps are attached to the package in a way that prevents their being removed and reused.

The state stamp is merely affixed to the side of the package, where it is easily removable without being defaced, and can be attached to another package after the packet to which it originally was attached has been sold.

Lockhart reported that receipts of the cigaret tax for this fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1932, were $3,370,000 while for the period that the law has been in force the receipts were in excess of $5,000,000. Had proper precaution been taken to prevent the reuse of the stamps, the revenue would have neared the six and one-half million mark, Lockhart said.

FOUND DEAD

LUTHER D. Marr, above, retired Kansas City, Mo., banker and real estates man, is believed to be the first murder victim in the mid-west's war on foreclosures. Marr was found in a high-way ditch near Fort Scott, Kan. A few hours earlier he had visited a Kansas farm to foreclose a mortgage.

HONEY GOOD IN PASTRIES

Honey can be used in place of molasses in bread, muffins and cakes, the U. S. department of agriculture says. It contains less acid than molasses and requires less soda in the recipe. Laboratory tests show that one-fourth to one-half a teaspoonful of soda should be used for a cupful of honey.

'Ma' Will Be Too Busy To Attend Roosevelt's Governors Conference

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson probably will be too busy with the Texas legislature, now in session, to attend the conference of governors of all states called by President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt for March 6 in Washington.

James E. Ferguson, former governor and his wife's chief adviser, said today it was unlikely the governor would be able to attend the meeting.

"The invitation shows that Mr. Roosevelt is alive to the important issues confronting the American people," Mr. Ferguson said. "The problems Mr. Roosevelt desires discussed are of such grave importance and require so much discussion, we are fearful the short time allotted to them would not permit sufficient attention at this time. We are hoping Mr. Roosevelt will call another conference later."

Governor Ferguson was again invited through Roy Miller, who bore a special request from the Texas club in Washington, to attend the inauguration of President Roosevelt and vice-President Garner.

"Governor Ferguson is loathe to make any promises about going to Washington on account of the long trip it would entail and because the legislature at that time will be at its busiest period and the governor feels she should remain in the capitol. The main trouble is the time the trip to and from Washington would consume."

When someone suggested an airplane trip, Mr. Ferguson shrugged his shoulders and said:

"Not me." He declared that he or Mrs. Ferguson would not consider making an air trip.

"I never have been up in one of those things, neither has Mrs. Ferguson, and that isn't all, we are not going up in one."

But Basis Of All Defects Was Yen To Trump Trumps

CLEVELAND, Feb. 10. (AP)—The bridge playing ability of James Gus Bassett, his wife, Mrs. Ruby Royals Bassett, said in a suit for divorce on file today, was not what it might have been.

Although, she said in her petition, her husband "posed as a super-salesman" before their marriage in Seguin, Guadalupe county, Texas, on Oct. 31, 1927, he had only worked six months since then.

Instead, the petition said, he "contented himself with lounging around hotels, playing bridge with people who, the plaintiff (Mrs. Bassett) later ascertained, were better qualified to play."

He left home last May 16, the petition alleged. It gave the American Hotel, St. Louis, as his address.

Gas Hearing Set For February 18

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Texas Railroad commission today set a hearing for Amarillo on February 18 on applications of Hagy, Harrington and Marsh to extract gasoline from gas from their seven wells in Carson and Hutchinson counties, and where practical to use residue gas for the manufacture of carbon black.

At the same time the commission will consider applications of the Cabot company and the Phillips Petroleum company for renewal of their existing carbon black permit.

THE AMERICAN INDIAN did not have to be a good marksman with the bow and arrow. He was an expert at stalking, and usually got within easy range of his game before shooting. Arrows were hard to make, and he did not needlessly waste shots at long distances. In defense of the Indian's skill, however, the fact must be considered that his weapons were far inferior to those used by modern archers.
