Ethics Commission dismisses complaint lodged against Pampa minister, church

By KATE B. DICKSON
 Associate Publisher

The Texas Ethics Commission has dismissed an election code violation complaint filed against Rev. Mike Sublett and Hi-Land Christian Church by former Gray County Republican Party chairman candidate Dr. Joe Lowry.

The complaint was lodged in connection with the March 1998 GOP primary in which Lowry opposed Tom Mechler. It was Mechler who won the race.

The Commission's order of dismissal said the complaint was dismissed earlier this month because there is insufficient evidence that a violation of a law or rule administered and enforced by the Commission has occurred.

In one of its findings, the Commission said it had determined that officers of political parties are not public officers and, therefore, any expenditures made to make statements regarding delegate selection would not be campaign expenditures and would not be subject to Title

During an interview with The Pampa News, Rev. Sublett said the position a candidate takes on abortion determines, above all else, how some people vote. He said how a candidate stands on abortion "is reflective of the person's character."

15, Election Code, because they are not made "in connection with a campaign for an elective office or on a measure."

The complaint alleged that Sublett used church equipment and supplies to circulate a letter that contained personal political views of Sublett. Lowry also alleged that Hi-Land Christian Church is an incorporated entity and that expenditures for the letter constitute prohibited corporate spending.

The letter, which contained a pro-life theme, was written by Sublett on church stationery and was signed by him and five other local ministers. The letter, plus attachments, was sent to other clergy in the Pampa community.

The other five signers of the letter were ministers Darrell Evans, Lyndon Glaesman, Lynn Hancock, Lonny Robbins, and Doug Yates.

Attached to the letter was a list of Republican candidates who, Sublett wrote, "... that we personally know to be strongly, outspokenly pro-life." Also attached was a list of voting precincts.

Mechler's name was on the list as having publicly stated a pro-life position. Lowry's name did not appear on the list.

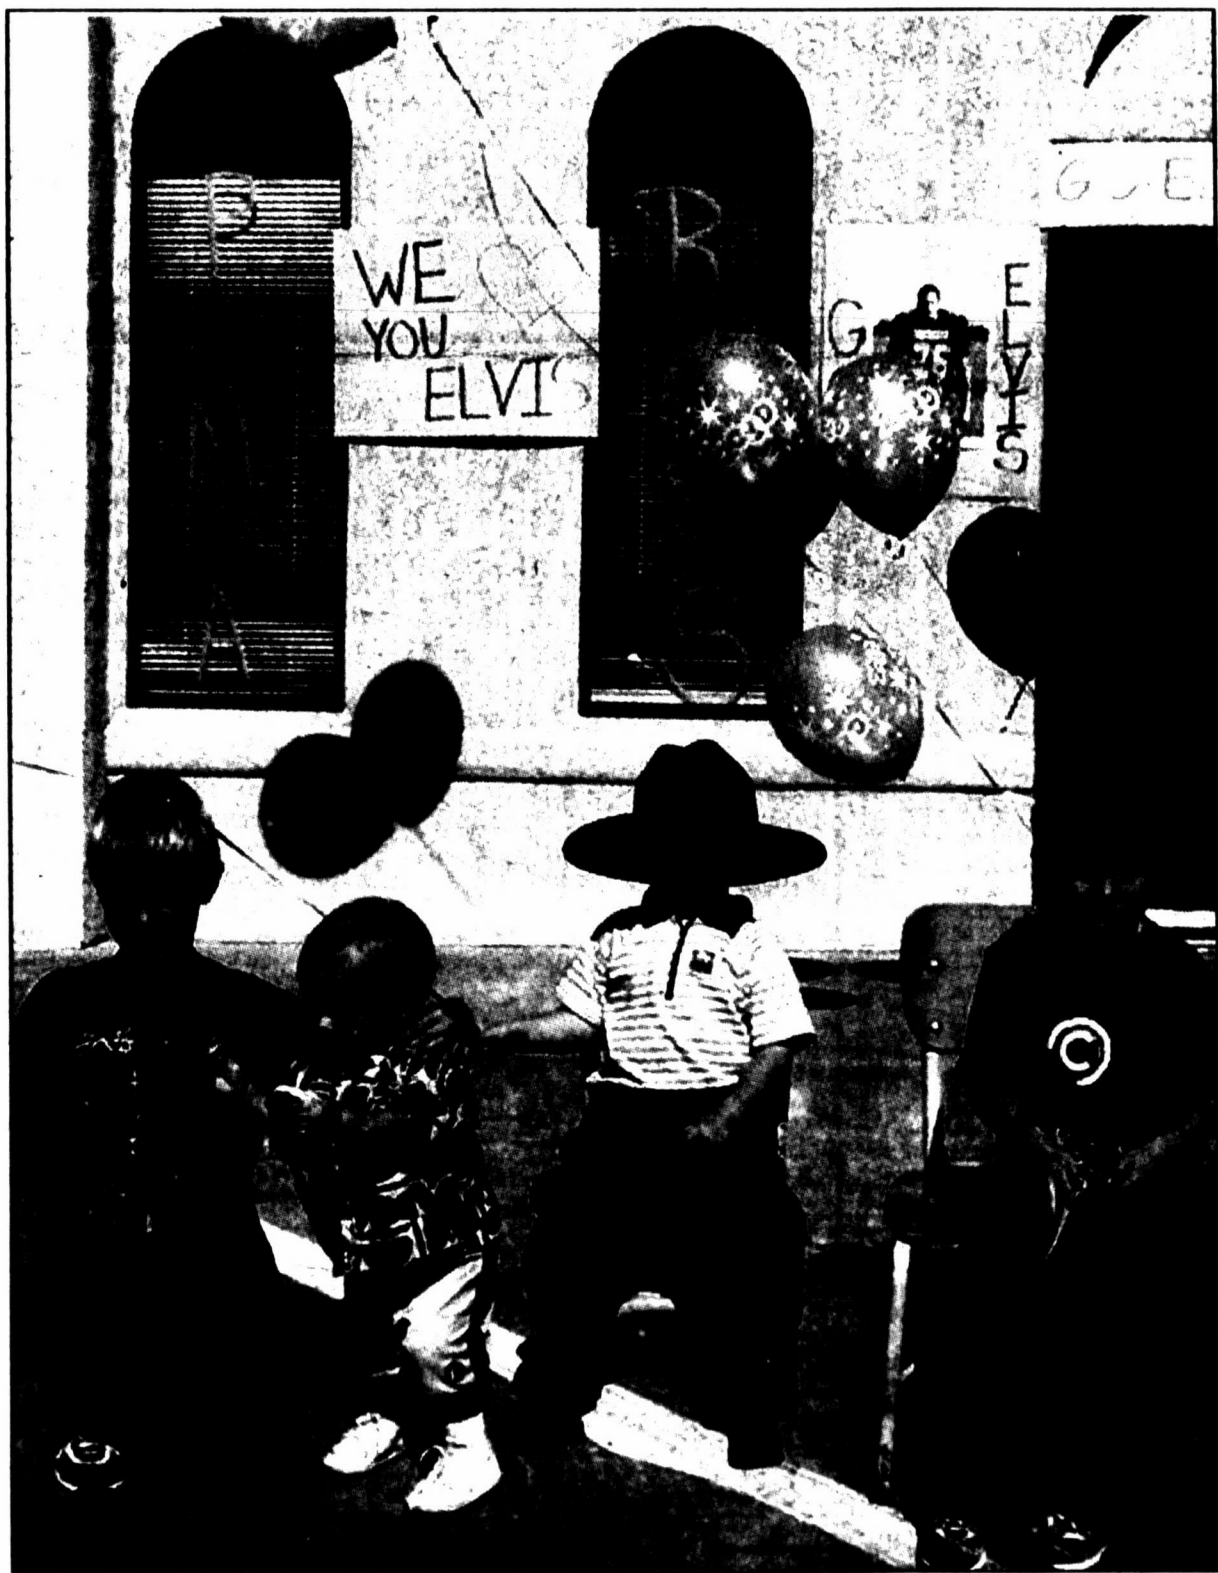

The letter went on to say, "This does not mean that we are saying that everyone else is pro-abortion. It just means that we want you to know those candidates for

Country Fair! Organizers rally for Oct. 14 event

Country Fair committee members joined for a pep rally filled with food, fun and fellowship this week at the Pampa Country Club.

Approximately 40 Pampa Area Chamber of Commerce members attended the luncheon to compare notes and cheer each other on as they prepare for the 2000 Country Fair.

Theme for this year's event is "A Country Fair Evening On the Orient Express." The Country Fair, the local chamber of commerce's primary fund-raiser, begins at 5 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 14, at M.K. Brown Auditorium, and includes live and silent auctions, games, dinner catered by Dyer's Bar-B-Que, and a dance to the music of Insufficient Funds band.

Paulette Hinkle-Kirksey, current chamber chair, opened the program for the pep rally by thanking the committee members for their hard work and giving away door prizes. She was followed by Chuck White, chamber chair-elect, who encouraged committee members to add energy, enthusiasm and fun to their work.

"If we don't have it, nobody will have it," he said. White called the members of the Greater Pampa Area Chamber of Commerce the "optimist core of Pampa."

"You're a great team of people to put on this party," he said. The dinner and silent auction begins at 5 p.m., followed by a live auction at 7:45 p.m. Auction items have been donated by local merchants and artisans. The dance starts at 9 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Seven drawings for cash prizes, five for $1,000 each, a sixth drawing for $2,000 and the last drawing for $3,000 will be held throughout the evening. Tickets for the drawing are $100 each and are available through the chamber or through chamber members.

Tickets to the Country Fair are $15 per person or $20 at the door. For more information, call the Greater Pampa Area Chamber of Commerce at 669-3241.

Sheriff's department forms Explorer troop First meeting Monday night

An organizational meeting of the Gray County Sheriff Department's new Explorer Scout program is set for 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 2, at 218 N. Russell.

Any students, ages 14-to-20, who are interested in law enforcement or some aspect of law enforcement are invited to attend the meeting. "The purpose of the Explorer programs is to give older students a hands-on experience in a career field they might be interested in," explained Doug Cooper, district executive with the Golden Spread Council of Boy Scouts of America (BSA).

"Hopefully, this will give a head start on a career for them," he said.

The new Explorer Post will be headed by Chief Deputy David Russell, Cooper said. "He'll be assisted by people in his department and others," he said, explaining that as many law enforcement agencies as possible will be involved so the Explorer Scouts will receive a broad exposure of the different levels of law enforcement.

"I want to give them as much an education in law enforcement as I can," Russell said today. "Not just classroom stuff, but personal involvement."

Russell said he is planning activities involving crime scene investigation, accident investigation, and training in the use of weapons. He also plans to involve other public service agencies such as the fire department, ambulance service and National Guard.

"I want to give them a broad view of what is around us to serve whom we can speak with confidence regarding their pro-life convictions."

This week, Sublett said the 1998 primary was one in which "Christians rallied and dominated the election ... the losers were irate."

During an interview with The Pampa News, Sublett said the position a candidate takes on abortion determines, above all else, how some people vote. He said how a candidate stands on abortion "is reflective of the person's character."

He added that any pro-choice person "would be very uncomfortable at our church."

In his letter, Sublett wrote that "Pro-life officials and those who strongly support pro-life concerns are being attacked by a highly-organized, abundantly-financed group of pro-abortion (pro-choice) activists who reside right here in Gray County. The battleground that has been selected is the upcoming Republican primary. The current Republican leadership is boldly, outspokenly pro-life and we thank God for that."

Sublett wrote that the list of pro-life candidates was determined in part by statements made by candidates at a Republican Women's luncheon.

According to a copy of Sublett's response sent to the Ethics Commission, he, as well as other ministers serving on a city-wide youth event committee, held a regular meeting after the luncheon.

At this time, Sublett wrote he brought up his personal concerns regarding the upcoming election as to the pro-life issue.

"Our conversation showed that each of us were against abortion and saw it very much as a spiritual issue," Sublett wrote in the complaint response. "We all agreed that we would never mention non-spiritual issues in our churches, but that this issue was a big concern in our churches. In deciding what to do we discussed the possibility of running an ad in the newspaper with a letter from us ... [but decided] it would be inappropriate."

"What we did decide to do was draft a letter that each of us could agree with, each sign it and send it to our fellow ministers/pastors in Pampa," Sublett responded.

"That is why it was on Hi-Land Christian Church stationary. Before leaving ... we also assembled a list of candidates that we personally knew to be strongly, outspokenly pro-life."

Sublett wrote he does not mention candidate names or positions from the pulpit, adding, "... I do strongly discuss spiritual matters and I believe that the abortion/pro-life issue is a spiritual matter. I encouraged everyone in my church to vote, to attend their precinct meeting and to remember to protect the unborn when they voted."

Asked for his reaction to the dismissal of his complaint, Lowry said he had "no comment."

However, in filing his complaint, Lowry wrote that he and several "concerned citizens" had researched the matter extensively as well as counseled with many of the affected candidates.

In his complaint, Lowry wrote that Sublett's letter was reproduced in a large volume and these copies were placed under the windshield wipers of all the cars parked at Calvary Baptist Church on the Sunday before the election. Lowry alleged that church equipment was used to reproduce the letter — something he contends is a violation of Title 15 of the Texas Election Code.

"It is no one's intention to maliciously do harm to a church or its congregation," Lowry wrote. "However, it is all too apparent that at least some of the pastors of several local churches took it upon themselves to use and abuse their churches to further their own personal political agendas and did so while hiding behind the veil of the Christian faith."

the public," Russell said. "Maybe we can spark an interest for (the Explorers) to want to become a law enforcement officer some day."

Gray County Sheriff Don Copeland is "100 percent behind this," Russell said, adding that several deputies, jail personnel and administrative staff have volunteered to help with the program.

"We'd welcome other adults to help us, too," he said.

Preteen enters college as youngest ever at college

DAVIS, Calif. (AP) — Nicole Tan wants to cure cancer, find a vaccine for AIDS and treat sick children in Vietnam. It might sound impossible to squeeze all that into one lifetime, but Tan has more time than the average college student.

The 12-year-old started her first day at a four-year college Thursday with 14 units of physiology, chemistry and Chinese.

The biology major from Byron, Calif., is the youngest full-time student to ever enroll at the University of California, Davis.

It must be genetic; before Tan, her only sibling, Andrew, was the youngest student at the college. Now 14, he is a senior.

Nicole Tan said she can't imagine what it would be like to be in sixth grade like other 12-year-olds.

"Home schooling was a big advantage because you can go at your own pace," she said.

Dressed in a small UC Davis shirt featuring a surfing Snoopy, Tan's legs aren't long enough to touch the floor when she sits back in her chair.

The new Explorers will meet twice a month. Once for an activity and the second for a general meeting, according to the BSA district executive. They will also be competing with other law enforcement posts across the Panhandle, he added.

"I'd like this to be the number one Explorer Post in the United States," Russell said. "With the people who are helping and what we have to work with, I think we can do it."

Ford to offer other tire brands for next crop of Explorers

DETROIT (AP) — With customers refusing to accept Firestone tires, Ford Motor Co. said Thursday that other brands will be made available for upcoming models of its Explorer sport utility vehicle. Ford has lined up Michelin as a supplier and is in talks with Goodyear, Ford spokeswoman Della DiPietro said. The moves put more distance between Ford's flagship product and Bridgestone/Firestone Inc., which had been the sole supplier of Explorer tires. The images of both companies have been battered by a recall of 6.5 million tires, most of them installed as standard equipment on Explorers and linked to at least 101 deaths and more than 400 injuries. Some Ford dealers are reporting that buyers are unwilling to accept new Explorers with Firestone tires. Bridgestone/Firestone said it will still supply tires when the 2002 Explorer goes on sale next year, but DiPietro said Michelins also will be available when the SUV hits dealerships. "We are not deciding. Neither is Firestone. The customer is deciding," she said. She said the automaker decided to use Michelin on the 2002 Explorer and Mercury Mountaineer before the Aug. 9 recall. Dealers and customers who place orders will be able to specify the type of tires, but it's not clear how the choice will be handled for vehicles sitting on dealer lots. DiPietro declined to say often offer customers a choice of tire sizes for a vehicle, it's rare for them to offer a choice of tire brands in the same size. DiPietro said the automaker would consider making similar options available on other vehicles over the next three years. Bridgestone/Firestone has said that problems with its Firestone ATX and Wilderness AT tires are largely confined to quality-control issues at its Decatur, Ill., plant.

Man pleads guilty in post office case

BLACKWELL, Texas (AP) — The third suspect in the robbery of a West Texas post office nearly a year ago has been convicted for his involvement in the crime, prosecutors said. William Dale Griffin, of Texarkana, on Thursday pleaded guilty to one count of conspiracy to rob a post office before a federal judge in Lubbock. He faces a maximum prison sentence of five years including a $250,000 fine, according to a statement issued by U.S. Attorney Paul Coggins. Two co-defendants in the case, Nathan Biddle and Arlander Logan, pleaded guilty earlier this year to assault with intent to rob the Blackwell post office and aiding and abetting. All three men are awaiting sentencing. Griffin, the owner of Griffin Realty and a construction company in Texarkana, reportedly helped plan, finance and carry-out the robbery and theft of postal money orders.

Grand jury indicts oil pipeline company
CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted one of the nation's biggest oil pipeline companies for alleged air pollution crimes in Texas, even though the company disclosed the problem to regulators and fixed the problems.

The indictment charges Koch Industries Inc., its subsidiary Koch Petroleum Group and four employees with 97 felonies for problems dating to 1995 with the cancer-linked pollutant benzene at a Corpus Christi plant.

The company self-disclosed the problems to Texas regulators and corrected them, but the indictment alleges Koch engaged in a conspiracy and lied to Texas officials.

"Companies that produce dangerous pollutants simply cannot focus on profit and efficiency at the expense of a community's health," Assistant Attorney General Lois Schiffer said in announcing the indictment by the grand jury.

Koch spokesman Jay Rosser disputed the allegations as "not consistent with the facts" and said the company would "stand by these employees and will strenuously defend their good names."

Wichita, Kan.-based Koch said it disclosed the problems to Texas in 1995, fixed them within months, and has been in compliance on the benzene issue for more than four years.

"The government has got this one wrong," Rosser said.

Though Koch has been one of the GOP's most generous donors, Texas Gov. George W. Bush's administration joined in the investigation and hailed the indictment.

Vice President Al Gore's campaign and Democrats have attacked Bush for several weeks for being easy on oil companies and not aggressively addressing air pollution in Texas — charges the Texas governor disputes.

Panhandle residents angered over drug bust taking protest to Austin

TULIA, Texas (AP) — A much-criticized drug sting that raised accusations of racism and prompted a tax increase has angered residents of this Northwest Texas town, with a number taking their protest to the state capital.

The bust that landed 43 people — 40 of whom were black — in jail last year has also drawn interest by the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A group of Tulia residents is leaving Friday morning for the noon CDT protest.

"The primary purpose of our trip is to empower the people of Tulia who have been directly impacted by the drug sting of 1999," Tulia resident Alan Bean told the Amarillo Globe-News in Friday's editions.

"The other is to dramatize the impact on the families that the drug sting affected," said Bean, who planned to attend the rally. "They have lost a parent, both parents, brothers and sisters."

Participants in a so-called "Journey for Justice", sponsored by the Houston-based Drug Policy Forum of Texas, began their trek last week. Supporters were also scheduled to meet the Panhandle group for the rally on the Capitol steps and in front of Gov. George W. Bush's mansion.

The July 1999 arrests raised tensions in Tulia, which is home to about 237 blacks, or about 5 percent of the city's approximately 5,000 residents. Some residents contended the police department and its undercover narcotics officer, Tom Coleman, targeted specific members of the community in the sting.

Convictions that followed an 18-month undercover operation conducted by Coleman have rested largely on the officer's own testimony.

Lawyers for the ACLU of Texas were considering legal action against Tulia law officers and prosecutors in connection with alleged civil rights violations.

Judge overturns death sentence

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge has overturned a convicted killer's death sentence following testimony of a former state prison psychologist that race should be a factor for jurors during the punishment phase.

Carl Blue, whose capital sentence was overturned Thursday by U.S. District Judge Kenneth M. Hoyt, is the fourth death row inmate to have his punishment overturned because of the testimony of Walter Quijano of Conroe.

But Brazos County District Attorney William Turner said he intends to seek the death penalty for Blue, 35, of College Station for a second time.

Quijano, a former chief psychologist for the Texas Department of Criminal Justice who is now in private practice at Conroe, had testified as an expert witness in more than 100 capital cases. Most often, Quijano had testified for the defense.

In Blue's case, the psychologist testified that the black man's race could indicate a propensity for violence. Quijano has frequently testified that a defendant's race was one of the factors he considered when determining whether the accused posed a risk of being dangerous in the future.

Quijano said he considered race because blacks and Hispanics are overrepresented in violent crime statistics.

Blue was convicted of dousing his ex-girlfriend, Carmen Richards-Sanders, with gasoline and setting her on fire in 1994. He also doused and set fire to Larence Williams, a friend of hers. Williams survived. Blue testified he did not intend to kill Richards-Sanders.

Turner told the Houston Chronicle in Friday's editions that he was amazed Blue's death sentence would be overturned because of Quijano's testimony, since the psychologist was called as a defense witness during the 1995 trial.

Recusal of entire appeals court sought

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A defense attorney has asked the entire Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to step aside after an opinion upholding a capital murder conviction referred to witness testimony that never occurred.

Larry Warner of Brownsville has accused the court of bias, saying the judges failed in 1997 to fairly review the conviction of his client, Jesus Ledesma Aguilar.

Big Brother contestant cheered at home in Texas

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — When Eddie McGee was in middle school, doctors were forced to amputate his leg from the knee down when cancer attacked tissue in his knee joint.

He's been wheelchair-bound since and his family is still paying medical bills.

When he joined the cast of CBS' "Big Brother" last spring, he intended to have a little fun. But he also wanted to win enough money to help pay off some of the debt.

McGee, 21, is guaranteed to walk away with at least $50,000 as one of the final three contestants on the show in which 10 strangers share a house for three months with no privacy and no contact with the outside world.

Seven have been kicked out so far.

If McGee makes it past Friday's final phone-in vote, the communications major could return to the University of Texas-Arlington with as much as $500,000.

"He told me a long time ago that if he won, he wanted to help his family pay off some medical expenses," said Jon Rydberg, one of McGee's best friends and a wheelchair basketball teammate with UTA's Movin' Mavs. "That stuff was definitely not cheap."

Rydberg has been notified that he will be flown to Los Angeles to greet McGee walking off the sequestered set Friday — if McGee wins.

So far, the chances look good.

During Wednesday night's vote, McGee was ranked first with an approval rating of 53 percent.

Curtis came in second, with only 24 percent of the vote. Anticipation and excitement are brewing all over the campus located between Dallas and Fort Worth.

One of McGee's classmates, Dena Fugitt, has set up a booth in the University Center to collect donations to call the 900-line to vote for McGee.

Fugitt had collected more than $200 on Thursday, enough for almost 250 votes. A publicist for Big Brother expects a total of almost 3 million votes by Friday.

"The turnout has been really, really good," Fugitt said. "When we first started it (two weeks ago) people weren't real sure what was going on. But as we get closer to the end everybody is very excited and very supportive. Even people who don't really know Eddie."

The show's official Web site, bigbrother2000.com, offers live feeds of the contestants 24 hours a day. CBS broadcasts less than four hours of footage each week, most of it taped.

The show's online traffic has been respectable, but not spectacular.

Though it was the top new site in July, with more than 4.2 million visitors, traffic dropped by half to 2.3 million in August, according to Internet measurement company Media Metrix.

Last week, Big Brother ranked 19 in the Nielsen ratings with an estimated showing in 6.65 million homes. The show is ranked 24th so far for the season.

Grand jury indicts state narcotics agent

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A grand jury indicted a high-ranking Texas Department of Public Safety officer Wednesday for evidence tampering in the case of a former East Texas deputy sheriff convicted of attempted drug possession.

Lt. Mark Milanovich, a DPS supervisor for the Tyler district, is accused of destroying a tape of a conversation made during a botched investigation of a former Smith County deputy.

The third-degree felony is punishable by two to 10 years in prison, according to the Tyler Morning Telegraph. The district clerk's office will prepare an arrest warrant for Milanovich, who likely will make plans for his surrender.

Milanovich did not immediately return phone calls made by the newspaper. Bond for the DPS narcotics agent was set at $5,000.

Wednesday's indictment concludes a 9-month investigation that concentrated on the scandal surrounding deputy David Beddingfield, who was sentenced in June to 15 months probation after pleading guilty to attempted drug possession.

Beddingfield was accused of conspiring with his sister-in-law and a jail trusty to purchase drugs, and of destroying an arrest warrant for the woman, who later became an informant for the state.

Minister's musing ...

I was recently told that because of its stand against homosexuality, that the Boy Scouts of America (BSA) would no longer receive funding from the Levi Strauss Co. (LS&CO.) and its foundation. I decided to find out if this was just a rumor or whether this was fact.

I received a reply from the company that said, "The LS&CO. has an established commitment to nondiscrimination policies and practices based on the company's core values and respect for individual freedoms."

"The Boy Scouts of America has confirmed that their membership criteria is in conflict with our grant making policies of nondiscrimination on the basis of religious freedom and sexual orientation. Accordingly, LS&CO. and the foundation, can no longer fund the Boy Scouts of America."

The more I look at the LS&CO. statement, the more dismayed I become. To them, it is discrimination to separate yourself from immoral people. I congratulate the BSA for standing up for what they believe in and I hope that these attacks upon them never prevail. This is especially true since I agree with their stand. Scripture tells us that homosexuality is a sin. More importantly, people actively practicing this "sexual orientation" are unrepentant sinners who are deceiving themselves.

So what is LS&CO. response? They try to use the "almighty dollar" to force the BSA to change. My response to this tactic comes from the three options that I see that I have. #1 I could buy the company or a majority of its stock and change their "core values" that I am opposed to. This isn't possible as the pastor of a smaller congregation. #2 I could sit still like many people and let America's morality slip a little bit more. I would be derelict as both a Christian and a pastor if I did this. #3 I could use LS&CO.'s own tactic against them.

Appropriately, I have informed LS&CO. that I have chosen option #3. I am not a big believer in boycotts, however I will no longer buy Levi jeans or any other product they make. I don't want to hurt our local merchants, so I will buy different brands from them.

LS&CO. isn't the only company making pants these days. As a matter of fact, didn't they recently close a plant in Amarillo because of decreasing sales?

If enough people wrote this company and expressed their displeasure at their "core values" and their withholding of support for the BSA. If people did this and followed it up with action, then perhaps we might be able to make a positive change in a world that so desperately needs it. What you do is up to your Christian liberty.

I, however plan to stand up for what is right according to Scripture. I do this under exhortation of Romans 16-17, "I appeal to you brothers to take note of those who create dissensions and difficulties in opposition to the doctrines which you have been taught, and avoid them!"

What would Solomon say?

On Sept. 22 when the British Court of Appeal ruled unanimously that a pair of conjoined girls must be divided in order that one of them might live, a living conundrum was complicated because their parents' faith in the sanctity of life was thrown into conflict with their Christian requirement to obey earthly rulers.

The little girls, Jodie and Mary, are the daughters of a Roman Catholic couple from Gozo, a Maltese island. Mary parasitically depends on Jodie for every breath she takes because the girls share a heart and pair of lungs resident in Jodie's body. The British court ruled in an anguished opinion that Jodie has a right to protect herself from Mary's fatal need.

As this story has played out who hasn't hurt for Jodie and Mary's parents or the justices required to decide this Solomon case or those who struggle to keep the babies alive just one more day?

It is not just a story about life; it is a story about competing interests. Mary depends on Jodie for her very life. Jodie will surely die if Mary is not detached from her. They will both die shortly if they are not separated. Jodie has the potential for a normal life if Mary is separated from her, that is if Mary is sacrificed shortly by division to purchase the option.

Their parents want both their daughters to live because they believe both lives are sacred. The Roman Catholic Church to its consistent credit wants to protect life though it seems only a miracle will prolong it.

The children's needs are in diametric opposition. If one dies one will surely live. If they both live, they will both surely die because only one has the means of life inside her.

If one makes the case that Mary is an aggressor who has no right to Jodie's means of life there is no mystery. Mary should be detached from her sister quickly and humanely. If one holds that preserving any opportunity for the soul to reside in the body is of higher value then one will wait for nature to play itself out and physicians say they will both die. What if Jodie weakens and dies first? Mary will follow within minutes. What if Mary dies first? Can she be surgically detached from her sister in time to save Jodie's life?

What would Solomon say? He told two women who claimed the same baby to divide it in half and the real mother was revealed when she refused to bring certain death on the child. Solomon knew the Ten Commandments; he knew that to instruct the women to harm the child was purely rhetorical because its real mother would not harm her baby.

But these little girls cannot be much more doomed than they already are by Nature's imperfect machinations. The British courts have been left to decide more than even Solomon was asked to decide in a situation where death is certain whether the babies' parents appeal the ruling (and win) or not. The church, with its emphasis on life, is right to hold out for a miracle while the systems of man, ordained in the Bible, play out. Even as the courts move, God can move. Only He knows these little girls' needs and can provide for them. The British courts are in legitimate authority over the adults who watch the children. Perhaps as God provided a ram to take the place of Isaac under Abraham's knife, God will provide mercy for these girls caught in this living conundrum.

Mom's Strength, Forgiveness Still Inspire Decades Later

DEAR ABBY: My dear, late father read the old Baltimore News Post newspaper from cover to cover. He would put me on his lap and read the funnies or something special to keep me current and interested in the news. I have read newspapers ever since — and always your column.

Abigail Van Buren

SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

The letter from the woman whose little sister was killed when a young neighbor backed her car out of the driveway brought back many memories.

I believe I knew the family. We were in our early 30s then, with two children of our own. We met the family at church functions. They carried that beautiful child on their shoulders as a trophy — and beautiful she was.

The parents owned a religious bookstore. When news of the tragic accident spread, everyone who knew them showed up at the church service and funeral. I remember the eulogies. That outpouring of love for this precious family was overwhelming.

After the service, there was a profound silence. Then a strong, beautiful singing voice began to fill the church. The song was, "Jesus loves me, this I know, for the Bible tells me so." I looked around and realized the voice was coming from the child's mother! People around me wanted to join in, but they couldn't choke back the tears.

I watched in amazement as this mother helped her husband to stand as their children followed. She led the entire church in the procession, never losing her strength or composure. Her voice soared above every other in that huge gathering.

She taught us that God loves us so much he grants supernatural strength when we need it most. Please tell this young woman that her family's example of strength and forgiveness touched my life and many others for more than 24 years.

LINDA BRESSLER, TAMPA, FLA.

VOLLEYBALL

PLAINVIEW — Wayland Baptist University is struggling with its young volleyball squad this season, but Pampa freshman Tandi Morton continues to be one of the team leaders.

Morton and Kari Gibson are tied for the lead in digs with 13.

The Lady Pioneers, 2-9 for the season, are entered in the Region VI Challenge to be held Friday and Saturday in Lubbock. Their first match is against Dallas Baptist at 4 p.m. Friday.

BASKETBALL

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls acquired former Valparaiso star Bryce Drew from the Houston Rockets for a first-round draft pick or two second-round draft picks. Drew, a 6-foot-3 guard, averaged 5.8 points in 72 games last season for the Rockets. In five games as a starter, he averaged 17.2 points and 6.6 assists.

FOOTBALL

DALLAS (AP) — Now the games will count for real in the Big 12.

The last Saturday in September brings the start of conference play, with a full slate of six Big 12 games.

Just five of the league's teams made it through the non-conference part of the schedule without a loss, and only four are ranked in the Top 25. None of the league opens involve two ranked teams or two undefeated teams.

Top-ranked Nebraska (3-0), the defending Big 12 champion, opens at home against Missouri (1-2). No. 5 Kansas State (4-0) plays at Colorado (0-3). No. 13 Texas (2-1) is home against Oklahoma State (2-1); and No. 14 Oklahoma (3-0) is home against Kansas (2-1).

In other games Saturday, Texas Tech (4-0) plays at Texas A&M (2-1); and Baylor (2-1) is home against Iowa State (3-0) plays in a matchup of the league's perennial last-place teams.

Nebraska has beaten Missouri 21 straight times, and won the 10 games in the 1990s by an average margin of 34 points. Maybe the Tigers, who were off last weekend, can take advantage of the first-ever night game in the 93-game series that dates back to 1892.

The Huskers lead the nation in rushing with 370 yards per game, and have won 99 straight games with rushing for 300-plus yards. But they can do more than run, having tied a school record with five TD passes in last week's 42-13 victory over Iowa.

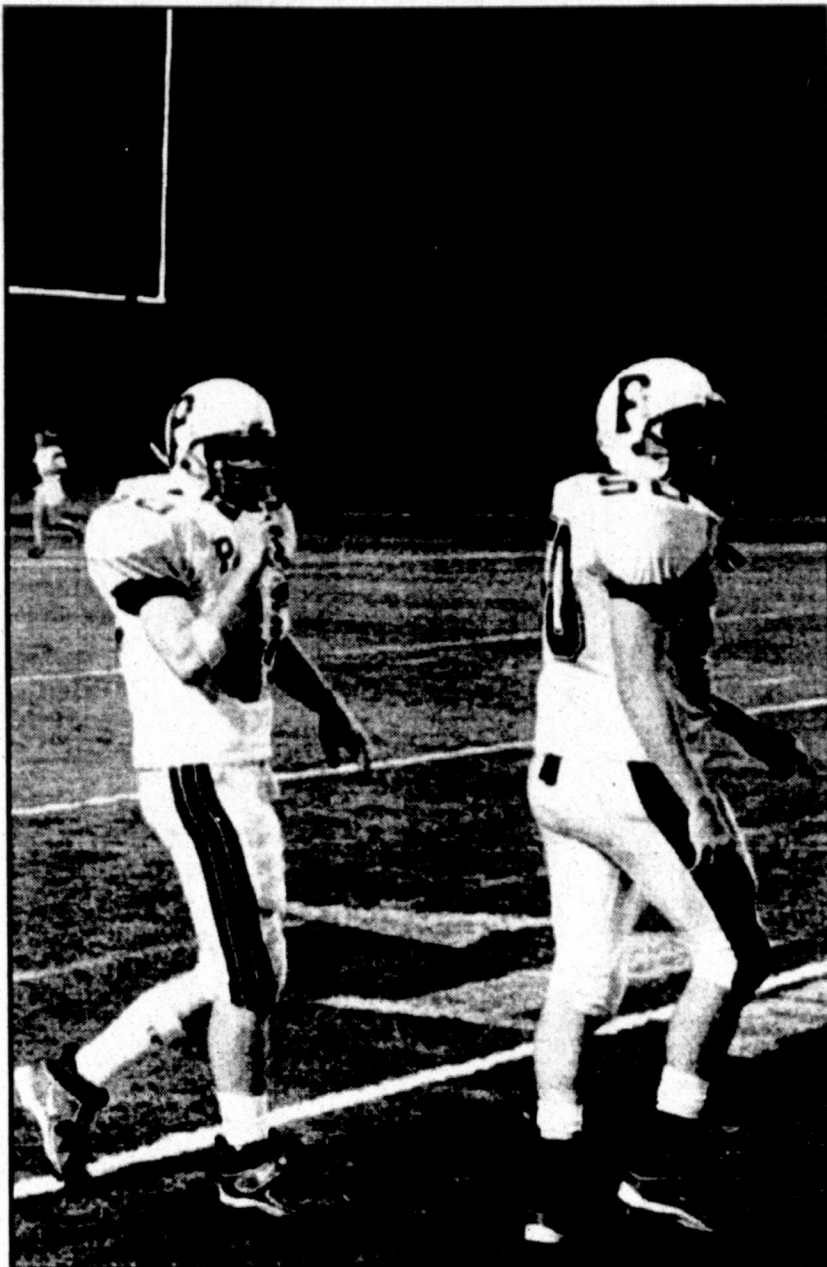

Missouri, playing its third straight ranked team, is 1-24 against Top 25 teams in coach Larry Smith's seven seasons.

Colorado, which had a pre-season No. 24 ranking, has lost its three games to ranked teams by a combined 10 points. Kansas State has three straight wins against Colorado, its longest winning streak in the 55-game series.

Oklahoma State and Texas are playing in a conference opener for the fourth time, but the first time in the Big 12. The Cowboys and Longhorns played their Southwestern Conference openers against each other in 1916, 1918 and 1922.

Kansas, which is 0-12 in Big 12 road games under fourth-year coach Terry Allen, has to go to Oklahoma. The 12 road losses by the Jayhawks under Allen are by an average margin of 24 points, with only one by less than 10 points.

Baylor, which has lost 13 straight conference games, and Iowa State have a combined 7-57 Big 12 record in the league's first four seasons.

PHS tennis team completes first-round sweep in District 3-4A play

BORGER — The Pampa varsity tennis team completed the first round of District 3-4A play undefeated at 7-0.

The Harvesters defeated Borger 16-3 Tuesday for a sweep of district opposition. Canyon placed second at 6-1, losing only to Pampa.

"I am pleased with being in first place and proud of our team's performance. However, I am much more concerned with the areas we need to improve in order to capture the district championship," said Pampa coach Carolyn Quarles. "No doubt, the other teams in our district are working to beat us and we must be ready to meet that challenge."

Players of the Week are senior captain Michael Cornelison and Helen Brooks. Cornelison won a tough singles match against Mark Milner, 6-4, 6-2. Brooks lost her first set in singles, 7-5, but came back to win, 6-2, 6-1.

The Harvesters play Palo Duro in Amarillo on Saturday with the matches beginning at 9 a.m.

Surging Pampa takes on improving Palo Duro club

PAMPA — Winless Palo Duro comes into Harvester Stadium Friday night trying to snap a 15-game losing streak. That streak isn't likely to end against the 3-0 Pampa Harvesters, who are picked by the Harris Ratings to win by a lopsided 32 points.

However, Pampa coach Dennis Cavalier isn't one to take any opponent lightly, no matter what the point spread is.

"In Palo Duro, I see a team that is continually getting better and improving with each game," said Cavalier. "They are predominately a running team. Their passing game hasn't been very effective, at least not yet anyway. Palo Duro's defense has some players who are mobile and aggressive."

Palo Duro's quarterbacking spot has been shared by Charlie Love and Judd Jackson.

Pampa's lineup will be about the same with the exception of free safety Orlando Madrid, who was lost for the season during Pampa's 21-10 win over Amarillo High two weeks ago. Madrid's spot will be filled by Josh Baker.

The rest of Pampa's defense will have Jake Bolin and Taylor Harris at tackles, Andy Schroeder at end, Jason Burklow at middle linebacker, Chris Lewis at weakside linebacker, Tanner Dyer at strongside linebacker, Ryan Nash and Tristan Perry at cornerbacks, and Lane Baker at strong safety. The other end spot is up for grabs between Ricky Blain and Oscar Ortega, but they will alternate at the position, according to Cavalier.

Quarterback J.J. Roark will again direct Pampa's wide-open offense while Thomas Long will be at fullback and Terrance Lemons at tailback. Tony Beck and Randy Tice will rotate at split end; Armando Tarango at flanker; Daniel Abernathy and Jon Lambright at tackles; Jeff Warren at center and Daniel Rivera at one of the guard spots. Chris Tice and Trent Price will alternate at the other guard while Luis Salazar and Jon East will alternate at tight end.

Is Your Bathtub Ugly?

Have BATH FITTER® install a New Tub OVER your old one!

Commonly Asked Questions?
Q. Why shouldn't I have my tub refinished?
A. Refinishing may look good for a while, but such finishes are fragile and tend to chip and crack within a year or two. You may want to ask someone who has used refinishing what they thought about the results.
Q. I like the look of tile, but hate cleaning grout. Do I have an option?
A. BATH FITTER can install a beautiful file-patterned wall that looks exactly like ceramic tile except that there is no more grout to clean and no more grout to dry out, crumble and allow water penetration. Your wall will be sealed dry and stay dry.
