BANDIT DECLINES TO FREE BANKER IN RANGE AREA

BIG SPRING, June 25 (AP)—The trail of four armed men who escaped from the Lubbock jail yesterday and released two men held as hostages near Big Spring apparently had vanished in this sector today.

Officers scoured the northeast part of Howard county during the night but failed to find any clues. The desperadoes released their captives eight miles northeast of this city and then sped east.

Sheriff Jess Slaughter received a call from the Lubbock sheriff indicating that the search was along the New Mexico state line.

Walter S. Posey, vice president of the First National bank of Lubbock, one of the hostages, said Ed Stanton, convicted slayer, prevented the release of him and Campbell Elkins, assistant justice of the peace, in the open range country in sparsely-settled Borden county.

"We ain't going to do you that way," Posey quoted Stanton as saying.

"We'll let you out close to a town somewhere."

Elkins and Posey started back to their Lubbock homes today.

Besides Stanton, the prisoners were Andrew H. Nelson, Bill Doupe, and J. E. Stephens. They attacked a jailer and sped away quickly from the jail.

The prisoners used iron bars from their cell beds to pry the doors off their cell block. They slugged Deputy Sheriff Bedford Carpenter over the head as he entered the block, took his gun and keys and sped to the ground floor. There they encountered Posey and Elkins and ordered them to accompany them.

Posey, after his release, said they had traveled south of Lubbock, skirted east of O'Donnell and Tahoka, and had hidden in the brakes of the plane.

"They told us they just wanted to have us as their guests in case there might be a little shooting because they knew the officers would not want to hurt us," Posey said.

"They took Elkins' car and told him he'd find it around somewhere after they got through with it. They promised him they'd take care of it."

Posey said the criminals did not talk freely and left no indication as to where they were going when they released them. Posey added he doubted if they knew themselves where they were going.

Posey and Elkins said Stanton commented that he would not be taken alive and Doupe and Nelson boasted they would "shoot it out" before they would be captured.

Nelson jokingly remarked: "We ought to take you into New Mexico so they could put a federal kidnaping charge against us."

Quintuplets Gain Weight Rapidly

CORBELL, Ont., June 25 (AP)—The Dionne quintuplets were four weeks old today and celebrated by putting on three ounces in weight, making their gain since Saturday 8 1/2 ounces.

Dr. A. R. Dafos reported them all in satisfactory condition. He also said Mrs. Ovide Dionne, mother of the five girls, showed marked improvement and may be allowed to leave her bed some time this week.

DR. HUNTER LEAVES

Dr. C. D. Hunter left today for New York City where he will take a post-graduate course in medicine at Columbia university. He will be gone three or four months.

I HEARD—

A number of Texas company employees, now officing in the Combs-Worley building, wondering what the lettering over the doorways meant. Dan Gribbon, superintendent, finally figured it out. He declared that because of the number of doctors in the building, the Greek letters over the entrance meant "Abandon all hope, ye who enter here." The "Greek letters" are the brands of the Combs-Worley interests, Dan Mr. Gribbon's desk was graced today by a basket of roses—the gift of M. K. Brown.

BY OTHER WRITERS

CHAS. A. GUY in Lubbock Journal—No man is capable of being governor, or United States senator, or comptroller, or railroad commissioner just because he lives in East Texas, or in Dallas, or in Houston. He has to have something besides that, even if we don't realize it. We've got to begin to understand our state here in West Texas that we have just as good men, just as capable men as there are in the whole state, before we'll get anywhere. And we've got to start supporting them at the polls.

LYMAN ROBBINS in Memphis Democrat—The Democrat wishes to join many others in congratulating the senior chamber of commerce upon the selection of William Russell Clark as its new secretary, succeeding J. Henry Read, who resigned recently to become acting postmaster here. Mr. Clark was selected over two other applicants, which made the honor greater since both of the others are well fitted for the position and are outstanding civic workers.

AL WEST in Roswell Dispatch—All code hearings, as the law requires, are open to the public. And the record, with transcript of testimony pro and con, has been available in every instance to whomsoever cared to be informed. There has thus been no excuse for failure to ascertain the attitude of business men on the subject of "regimentation" and why and by whom.

THE SHAWNS in Higgins News—Any man, woman or child who will bring a dog to town and leave it on purpose is not a prime favorite with town folk. A stray dog is a menace. Furthermore, a stray dog is the most miserable creature on earth. No home. No food except that which is picked up or stolen. A dog snooping around afraid and no one who cares for its well-being. Better kill dogs that are not wanted and have them out of their misery. A dog may follow the family to town and get lost and nobody be to blame, but dog is a stray for that and somebody will have to put it out of the way eventually. All stray dogs should be killed. And it is also a fact that some dogs that are not strays should be gotten rid of for the good of the community.

AARON EDGAR in Collingsworth Standard—Postmaster General Farley predicts that Washington will be the "air capital" of the future. Many already term it by that name, especially while congress is in session.

JESS MITCHELL in Muleshoe Journal—The stomach is typically American, too. It stands a lot of abuse before its hits back.

C. W. WARWICK in Canyon News—We had the opportunity of seeing and hearing Joe Bailey last Wednesday. He is a nice appearing young fellow, but lacks the punch which was displayed by his famous dad. He makes a very nice speech, and wants to go to the United States senate. The only thing he could talk about was to criticize Senator Tom Connally for having voted against the president as many times as Bailey had done.

Life Terms Are Given Fugitive Texas Convicts

LINCOLN, Neb., June 25 (AP)—Walter Dean and Sam Rivette, Texas ex-convicts, today were sentenced to life imprisonment in the Nebraska penitentiary for the death of Lucean Marshall, 12-year-old boy who was shot and killed while en route home from school when the Texans and police engaged in a gun fight on Lincoln's main street.

When brought into district court, neither man made any statement and their attorney, Jack Hayward, said he doubted if their case would be appealed to the supreme court. Both were convicted recently of first degree murder.

In the gun fight last April 20, their companion, Aubrey Ray, who had escaped from a Texas prison, was killed. Dean was wounded slightly.

The three men were wanted by Oklahoma authorities for a Bethany, Okla., bank robbery.

HITLER TO BE DEPOSED IN 2 WEEKS, CLAIM

DICTATOR'S RULE HAS COME TO AN END, SAYS WRITER

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—The New York Post, in the first of three copyrighted articles by Johannes Steel, says today that Adolf Hitler's rule of Germany has come to an end and that the Nazi dictatorship will be succeeded by a military dictatorship.

Steel predicts these seven steps in Germany: "1. Tool of forces stronger than himself, Hitler will be stripped of power, possibly within two weeks.

"2. Hjalmar Schacht, real ruler of Germany for the past six months, will remain dictator of economic and commercial policies.

"3. The aged von Hindenburg will retire.

"4. The former crown prince, or one of the kaiser's grandsons or Hitler himself, will be made regent or president.

"5. Franz von Papen or Hermann Wilhelm Goerring will become chancellor.

"6. If Hitler is made president, executive power will be vested in the chancellor; if a Hohenzollern becomes regent executive power will be theoretically his.

"7. Fritz Thyssen, steel and power baron, will hold his grip as czar of the Ruhr and Rhine basins."

Steel (the name of a nom de plume) was for several years economic advisor abroad for the German ministry of economics. He served as a member of the Prussian diet and later became private secretary to the president of the reichsbank, Hjalmar Schacht. On the day Hitler was appointed chancellor, Steel was arrested and sent to a concentration camp. He escaped, made his way to England and then to America. He has contributed to several American magazines.

Judge Wolfe Is Active in Drive For District Votes

Judge Phillip Wolfe, attorney of Pampa, candidate for state representative, was much encouraged by his reception at speeches in Dozier and Dodsenville of Collingsworth county and Hedley and Ashtola of Donley county.

The audiences were large. Many listeners asked for cards to distribute to their friends.

Judge Wolfe predicted that he would be in the run-off and said he might win in the first primary. There are three candidates. Gray county has not furnished a representative in her 32 years as an organized county.

WIFE HELD AS ACCOMPLICE IN ROBBERY PLOT

ABILENE, June 25 (AP)—Lester E. Sterne, 30, unemployed auto mechanic of Abilene, was held without bond in Brownwood today, facing a charge of robbery by firearms, following his confession Sunday, of his attack on two aged women Tuesday night of last week. The attack occurred at a ranch home near Cross Cut, Brown county.

Victims of the attack were Mrs. Sarah DeBusk, 84, and Mrs. Addie Hounshell, 87, who live together at the ranch. Mrs. DeBusk was chloroformed and beaten over the head with a pistol as she slept, by an intruder who obtained $41 in currency hidden under her mattress.

Mrs. Hounshell, who was awakened by Mrs. DeBusk's screams, was struck down by the assailant as he fled.

Sheriff W. E. Hallmark came here Saturday on clues obtained from the women and from Fate Hounshell, son of Mrs. Hounshell. He had learned that Sterne formerly worked at the DeBusk ranch, and there had been some feeling between him and DeBusk.

Sterne, questioned here Saturday night, denied any knowledge of the case. Confronted with circumstantial evidence, he confessed the attack early Sunday morning, making a complete statement to J. R. Black, district attorney here. He was returned to Brownwood by Sheriff Hallmark. Mrs. Sterne, who said she accompanied her husband to Cross Cut, but remained in the car while he went into the DeBusk home, was charged as an accomplice.

The grand jury was to convene at Brownwood today to investigate the case.

Officers had learned that Sterne rented a car here last Tuesday night and that he had driven it more than 200 miles. Later they were told that he had gone, late Tuesday night, to the farm of a friend in Jones county, had instructed the family there to tell he had arrived at that farm by 10 o'clock Tuesday night. Officers learned that he had tried to wash a pair of bloody pants at the Jones county place.

Sterne made a full statement after being confronted with this information. He told of the attack and of later discarding a pair of tennis shoes he had worn at the DeBusk house.

In 1932, Sterne was given a one-year suspended sentence on a charge of transporting liquor. He recently had been employed at a CCC camp near here.

TEXAS SOLON CONVICTED ON BANK CHARGE

HOUSTON, June 25 (AP)—Gus Russek of Schulenburg, veteran state senator and chairman of the Texas senate banking committee, today was fined $5,000, sentenced to four months in the New Orleans work house, and assessed a suspended 4-year prison sentence for misapplication of funds from the First National bank of Schulenburg.

Russek and two other former officers of the bank, Charles A. and Otto G. Vogt, had pleaded guilty to conspiracy to violate the national banking laws. Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly assessed each of the Vogt brothers a $500 fine and gave each a 13 months suspended sentence.

Russek was one of the founders of the Schulenburg bank and was its active head until last year. He testified that the paying off of depositors in the old Russek State bank, founded by his father, dissipated his private fortune and drove him to the course of withdrawing money from the First National.

The charges alleged that Russek and the Vogt brothers misapplied approximately $60,000 through "kiting" drafts and making false entries. Russek attempted to absolve his co-defendants of blame.

Judge Kennerly said he would give Russek a week to settle up his personal affairs before leaving for the federal work house. The senator had asked for additional time.

In order for Russek to escape the 4-year prison sentence, he must pay the fine at the rate of $1,000 a year.

WOMAN IDENTIFIES PICTURES OF MISS TUFVERSON; DECLARES SHE VISITED SHOP IN MAY AND JUNE

Is Positive Customer Was Missing New York Lawyer

BOSTON, June 25 (AP)—Positive identification of photographs of Miss Agnes Tufverson, missing attorney, whose disappearance has created an international sensation, as those of a woman who had garments cleaned in a Boston shop this month was made today by an employee of the shop.

Mrs. Ruth Hall, who previously had expressed the opinion that a customer of the cleaning establishment strongly resembled the establishment, today was shown photographs of Miss Tufverson supplied by the Bureau of missing persons of the New York police department.

She promptly identified the pictures positively as those of the woman who had visited the establishment on May 15 and again between June 1 and 10. Furthermore, she said, a dress in which Miss Tufverson was photographed appeared to be the one that was brought to the Boston plant for cleaning. Inasmuch as the establishment specializes in a three-hour cleaning service, no record was kept of addresses.

The only reference to an address made by the customer that Mrs. Hall could recall was her saying something about Dorchester, one of the districts of Boston.

Plane Crashes Near Pampa But None Is Injured

Porter Loving and his Brother, Pat Loving, both of Wellington, escaped injury this morning when their plane crashed as it was being landed northwest of the Phillips Big Gray booster plant near LeFors.

The two men were landing to visit the plant when their plane dropped into a pipeline ditch. The landing gear was torn from the body and the plane nosed into the ground but did not loop. The propeller and housing around the motor were smashed and the wings slightly torn.

The plane, a Pinto low wing monoplane powered with a four-cylinder motor, has been stationed at the Pampa airport at intervals for several weeks. The two men spend much of their time in the ship and have covered much territory in the last few months.

Repairs will be made immediately, friends here said.

Third Automobile Fire in Month Is Extinguished Here

The third automobile fire of the month was reported to the fire department late Sunday night. It was put out by the use of extinguishers and the damage was slight.

Regular inspections are being made by Chief Clyde Gold in order to avert fires. The department has not had to combat a bad blaze in nearly a year, largely because of precautionary measures. The loss last month was less than $20, and there has been no loss to date this month.

DEDHAM, Mass., June 25 (AP)—Norma Brighton Millen today told the world of her only romance—a romance that ended in travail.

ASPECTS OF PRODUCTION LOANS (From Farm and Ranch)

A letter from an old subscriber who asks permission to indulge in a little friendly criticism contains the following:

"In Farm and Ranch of March 1 you enumerate the headquarters and names of the Production Credit associations in Texas and give their authorized capital. Now, were you afraid to tell us the rate of interest; if not, will you? The small borrower pays 7 1/2 per cent after he has pledged all of his possessions and given a minute history of his family and answers, perhaps, fifty irrelevant questions."

Our correspondent also comments upon the fact that the contract is too complex for the ordinary farmer to understand.

Farm and Ranch published the names and locations of the Production Credit Associations in Texas as a matter of news and information to farmers. There was no occasion to comment upon interest rates or form of contract.

Production Credit Banks and Production Credit associations were organized with initial capital paid in by the government because the banks of the country, and more particularly, rural banks, were either unable or unwilling to finance farmers.

Interest rates formerly charged by banks varied from 8 per cent to big customers having adequate security to 10 per cent paid in advance to less affluent farmers. In many cases the 10 per cent was charged for a full year even though the debt was liquidated in six to eight months. Furthermore, the borrower, in these instances, was required to keep a balance in the bank and never at any time had the full amount in his possession. We also remark in this connection that while a few favored borrowers did not have to put up all they had, as the records at the court houses will prove.

Farm and Ranch does not wish to be placed in the attitude of criticizing the country bankers who have, until recently, financed the agricultural industry and assumed many risky obligations. It is our purpose to make clear the need for a banking and credit system made for agriculture to be controlled in due time by farmers, instead of having to patronize a system made for other industry.

As to interest rates: No one denies that 10 per cent has always been considered the regular rate in Texas rural banks. More often the interest paid by the farmer was as high and 12 and 15 per cent for the time he actually had possession of the money. The Production Credit associations recently announced a 5 per cent rate to be charged the borrower only for the time he has the money. It is true that the borrower must subscribe for stock in his association to the amount of 15 per cent of his loan, but by so doing he becomes a voting stockholder, and this 15 per cent of stock may be used year after year as a basis for borrowing the same amount of money. After he has liquidated his debt he can sell or transfer it to another if he desires. In no way can this charge for the stock be called interest. It is also true that these associations will not endorse a loan unless it is amply secured. Neither will banks.

"In the organization of the Production Credit banks and the Production Credit associations, it was the intent of the government to develop a farmer-owned system of banks and credits, the government to be paid back its original capital out of the 5 per cent interest charged borrowers. We might add that while we are not informed regarding the compensation of employees, we are sure that in the forty-eight associations in Texas and the Regional bank in Houston, that the number of employees and their compensation falls far below the number of rural banks and their employees throughout the state. Furthermore, when a farmer can borrow at 5 per cent instead of paying 10 per cent, he has little reason to comment upon cost of operation."

U. S. Ambassador To Russia Escapes Injury in Crash

SMALL PREDICTS HE'LL BE ONE OF CANDIDATES IN 2ND PRIMARY

Senator Clint Small is shelling the woods for gubernatorial votes in his own West Texas this week, his first venture into the country that four years ago gave him 140,000 votes and third place in a field of 11 candidates.

The occasion of this visit is the Panhandle-wide Small-fog-Governor rally at Amarillo tonight, when supporters will gather from 83 surrounding counties to reaffirm support and hear him speak. Amarillo's celebration is to be followed by a South Plains rally at Lubbock Tuesday.

Heading east again an appearance is scheduled Wednesday night for him at Big Spring. Thursday is to be the most trying day of the week, with seven appearances scheduled at Colorado, Lorraine, Roscoe, Snyder, Roby, Anson, and Stamford.

Friday's schedule includes dates at Albany, Throckmorton, Seymour, Munday, and Haskell.

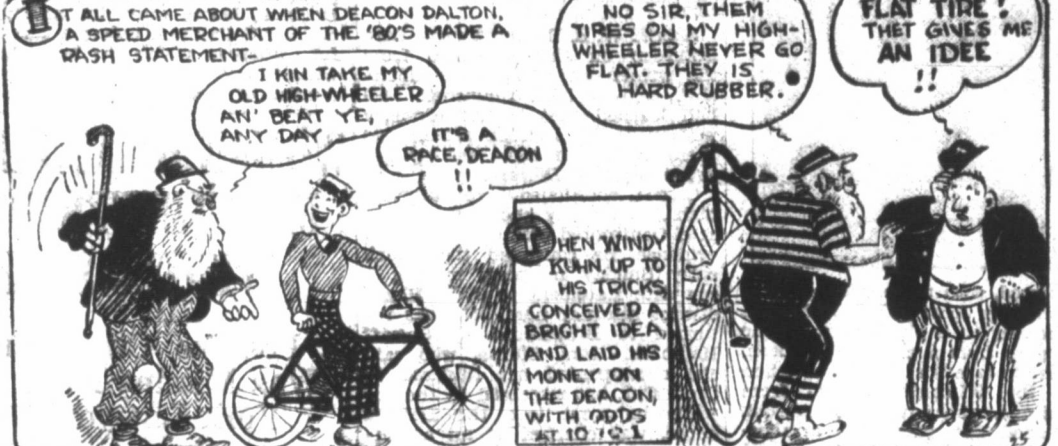

Particularly cheered by the way voters rallied to his support in the saw mill towns of Southeast Texas and endorsement of his candidacy in large population centers of Jefferson and Harris counties, Senator Judge E. P. Ritchey of Miami attended court here today.

CLEVELAND WAS VISITOR IN NEW BIRMINGHAM BACK IN 'NINETIES

RUSK, June 25 (AP)—The sensational comeback of the New Birmingham Development company, staked by the discovery of oil on its iron ore lands, has brought from cover many relics of the iron boom of the late 80's and early 90's.

The first register of the old Southern hotel, palatial center of the vanished city of New Birmingham, adds interesting sidelights to the glamorous story of the phantom city.

Beginning March 28, 1889, and closing February 9, 1890, it records guests from 28 states, including Jay Gould of railroad fame, and Grover Cleveland, recently come from the presidential chair. Robert A. Van Hook, once mayor of New York City, H. H. Wibirt, James A. Mahoney and other New York financiers who sunk their millions in the attempted development of Cherokee county's rich iron ore were frequently registered. Along with the millionaires were citizens from nearby towns come for the thrill and newspaper representatives sent for "copy."

Among peak days were Nov. 21, 1889, with 53 guests from eight states, and Dec. 14, with a Methodist conference bringing the total to 122. Sometimes business was less rushing and the clerk drew pen and ink sketches on the margin.

Interspersing the pages of names are quaint advertising pages setting forth the city's accommodations. A livery stable advertises its bus line and fine rigs; a saloon, its fine wines and liquors; real estate men, lawyers, bankers, and merchants with various wares.

Chief among the imposing social functions staged in the great dining hall of the magnificent old hotel was the seven-course banquet July 1891, with Governor James Stephen Hoge and his official family as honor guests. Orators vainly attempted to win the governor from support of the alien land act which barred the needed English millions. Representatives of the English syndicate went home and kept their money.

New Birmingham soon collapsed. The company reorganized about 1900. Through long lean years it clung tenaciously to the majority of its holdings. Timber sales helped pay taxes and oil lease rentals increased income. The boom came and today the company has some $200,000 cash and potential millions in its coffers.

For more than a quarter of a century after New Birmingham joined the ranks of Texas ghost cities, the Southern hotel stood silent guard over the ruins. In 1926 fire destroyed this last sentinel.

The hotel register has a colorful story. Left among the rubbish in the deserted office it was unearthed by the grandchild of Judge E. C. Dickson, once a New Birmingham attorney. Through the years as a result of much borrowing, it was lost but was rescued from a trash pile. At present it is preserved by Miss Jessie Boone (granddaughter of William Boone, one of the commission appointed to locate the Cherokee county seat), awaiting instructions from the original finders.

Plans To Develop Texas Field Given Ickes' Approval

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—The plan for orderly development of the Cayuga oil field in Anderson and Franklin counties, Texas, was approved today by Secretary Ickes.

The plan provides for one well for each twenty acres. It includes a provision that not more than seventy-five producing wells, including the existing ones, shall be brought in during the current calendar year.

Drilling operations are to be suspended if the allowable daily production of the pool reaches 10,000 barrels before December 10, 1934.

The plan affects an estimated potential oil-bearing area of 12,000 acres. It was recommended by 98 per cent of the field's operators.

Operators are to divide equitably the 75 wells.

FIVE MEN, INCLUDING JIMMY WEDELL, DIE IN PLANE CRASHES

FAMED SPEED FLIER KILLED IN LOUISIANA

TWO SHIPS COLLIDE IN MID-AIR AS MANY WATCH

By The Associated Press.

Five men—among them Jimmy Wedell, famous speed flier—died on Saturday in airplane crashes.

Wedell, 34, was killed when the ship in which he was instructing a student pilot crashed near Patterson, La. The student was injured seriously.

As thousands stared aloft before the dedication of the new Rutland, Vt., municipal airport, two ships collided in mid-air. A pilot and his photographer, W. J. McMullen, 32, and R. L. Oakes, 30, on Roosevelt Field, N. Y., died. The pilot of the other ship bailed out safely.

James Carl Ryan, 23, of Yates City, Ill., and Dr. Robert Thomas Plummer, 29, of Trivola, Ill., were killed when their plane went into a spin near Trivola and crashed in flames. Dr. Plummer, a student pilot, was at the controls.

PATTERSON, La., June 25 (AP)—James R. "Jimmy" Wedell, 34, daring speed flier and holder of the world land plane speed record of 305.53 miles per hour, is dead, the victim of a tragic crash while teaching a student to fly.

The New Orleans and Patterson aviator was killed late yesterday in the crashing to earth of a small English built Gypsy Moth plane in which he was teaching Frank Sneringer, of Mobile, Ala., how to be a pilot.

Within two minutes after Wedell and Sneringer took off from the Patterson airport of the Wedell-Williams Air Service corporation here, the plane went into a nose dive down into a muddy rice field a mile south of the airport from a height of 200 to 300 feet.

Wedell was killed outright. His skull was fractured, his body was crushed and his feet were caught in the floor boards of the plane.

Sneringer was reported dangerously hurt but hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Wedell was one of 16 crack American fliers entered in the $75,000 London-to-Melbourne, Australia race set for next October. For several months he had been conditioning a plane and making preparations for the flight.

Wedell broke into aviation as a youngster with a salvaged plane which he purchased for several hundred dollars in his native section, Texas City, Texas.

The flier's widow, who watched him patiently in his many aviation exploits, was reported bearing up bravely.

Plans were made for the body of Wedell to leave Patterson at 12:30 p. m. for New Orleans where it will lie in state until taken to West Columbia, Texas, for interment.

MAY USE ARMY AND GUARD TO TRACK BANDIT

Government Planning Offensive Against John Dillinger

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—Methods whereby the army and national guard may assist in the offensive against John Dillinger were under discussion today at the justice department.

Details were guarded. Whether soldiers might be called upon to make the capture of the Dillinger gang certain once they are cornered was not disclosed.

Officials, striving to put everything the law has into the hunt for the "wooden gun" bandit and his pals, also went into huddles to coordinate federal, state, and local authorities on the task.

Quick results may spring, officials hope, from rewards offered by Attorney General Cummings. The government will pay $10,000 for the capture of Dillinger and half that for information leading to his arrest. For the capture of Lester M. Gillis (Baby Face Nelson) $5,000 is posted, and $2,500 for information that will snare him.

The federal charge against Dillinger is transporting a stolen automobile across a state line. Nelson is wanted in connection with the murder of W. Carter Baum, department of justice agent, near Rhineland, Wisconsin, April 23.

6 Die as Storms Sweep Illinois And Wisconsin

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP)—Piles of tangled debris marked today the courses of a series of devastating week-end wind and electrical storms that struck southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois, leaving at least six dead. The property damage was estimated at a half million dollars.

All of the dead, with one exception, were drowned when gales churned up the waters of northern Illinois lakes.

The five drowning victims were Mrs. William R. Behanna, 30, wife of the Waukegan, Ill., corporation counsel; Wilfred E. Hall, 37, a Waukegan attorney; Allen P. Thomas, 23, and Joseph Kuhus, 22, both of Chicago, and an unidentified Chicagoan, who perished in Pistakee bay near McHenry, Ill.

The sixth fatality was that of Verland Arye, 19, crushed when a barn was blown down near Marshfield, Wis.

Mrs. Behanna and Hall lost their lives in Fox lake north of Chicago in a windstorm that upset their sailboat.

Thomas and Kuhus perished in Lake Michigan while attempting to return to Chicago from Michigan City, Ind. Their outboard motorboat was knocked over by the huge waves three times. A companion, Robert Warfield, 16, also of Chicago, was rescued by an oil tanker.

George M. Thorp of White Deer transacted business here this morning.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

Chapter 51
COLLAPSE

"So this man bounded you?" asked Harper. "Followed you back to the city and forced you to continue the affair? He made you meet him in this empty house—in this room? Then he is the one who put the notes in that sand urn on the hearth?"

"Yes. How did you know that?" she asked, surprised.

"You'd be surprised how many persons in this house knew about those secret notes. But why did this man buy a disguise so that he would look like Mr. Dufresne? We have traced that purchase, back in October."

Aline Croyden shuddered. "He turned into a beast, a maniac, once he had me in his clutches. I think at first he got the disguise to avoid detection should he be seen here, but later it pleased him to strut up and down dressed in Pierre's clothes, sneering and cursing at our money and social position. I saw that his madness would bring ruin and disgrace anyway once this house was occupied again."

She squared her shoulders. "I was desperate. It was too much to pay for my folly. I saw plainly that it was simply a question of his death or my ruin—the words trailed off into significant silence.

"Was he blackmailing you?"

"Oh, if it had only been a question of money—but he'd only laugh at me when I tried to buy him off. I began to plan. It had to be carried out here in this house. He would meet me nowhere else. He made me give him a key for the side door."

"He kept his address a secret. He would call me up from pay stations and tell me to look for the note in the urn. I built up my plan, tested every detail, went through every motion a thousand times. The first time there is snow on the ground, I swore to myself, he would die."

"Did this H.D. write those threatening letters to Mr. Dufresne?" Harper interrupted.

"I don't know. I hadn't heard about them until after—it would have been like him, his idea of a joke. I put off the next meeting until the night of my husband's concert. I knew it would be easy to slip away then."

"Weren't you nervous, afraid, when the time came?"

Mrs. Croyden shook her head. "Everything was arranged, rehearsed. I had no need to think, just act. When I got dark enough I slipped out of our house and came over here to put up the rope. Then I went downtown with my husband."

"It was nearly eight o'clock when I drove back. I left my car two blocks away. I tasted the rope by reaching the house that way. It worked perfectly."

"Oh, so you came by way of the rope? I hadn't thought of that."

Aline Croyden nodded. "He was waiting in this room. We quarreled again. I think he enjoyed those scenes. It was then that I pounded angrily on the table, standing opposite him down the length of it. He went on calling me ugly names. So I raised my gun and shot him. I was amazed at how easy it had been."

"First I wanted to be sure no one heard the shot. I looked—and there was a policeman just turning in at the gate! The next thing I knew, I was standing with the front door open, telling the policeman that I had shot a burglar. He seemed to recognize me and came in without the least sign of suspicion.

"What brought him to the house?" Harper questioned.

"He said he had seen sparks coming from the chimney, and, knowing that the family was away, came to investigate. He had not heard the shot. I had been stirring up the logs in the fireplace to make a better light in the room."

The detective felt a pardonable pride in the accuracy of his previous deductions about Officer Hamill's movements and motives on that fatal night.

"It wasn't until the policeman was actually standing here looking at the body that I realized what an error I had made—that I couldn't possibly explain any of the details, my own presence, the seated body, the disguise, the two liquor glasses, anything. All this time I had been holding the gun. I fired—twice. That is the horror of it," she burst out.

Harper nodded understandingly. "That is true of every crime. The victim rides you harder in death than he did in life. What did you do then?"

"I sat down and forced myself to be calm. It seemed hours, but I suppose it was really only for a few minutes. Then I began to consider how to make it look as though the two men had killed each other. Their position, one at each end of the table, gave me the idea.

"I didn't see how any one would be able to contradict the evidence or even suspect their separate deaths. I thought I had covered up every trace of my presence. Then comes a tiny little mark of the marks of my ring to spoil it all."

"When the police got here, the front door was banging," Harper prompted. "Did you leave it that way?"

"Yes, when I was ready to go I opened it and dropped the bolt. I thought the bodies would be discovered quickly and my alibi would hold good."

"You got away safely by going back over the rope, carrying this man's things with you? You went back to Orpheus Hall to listen to your husband's concert? Is that correct?"

"Yes. I was late and I stayed in the ladies' lounge until the first number was over, then I went to my seat. There were lots of late-comers, so no one paid any attention to me."

"At what point did Joseph Donaghy enter into the picture?"

The lines about Mrs. Croyden's mouth deepened. "Extortion and blackmail," she stated crisply. "He had become suspicious that something was going on in this house."

He watched and waited until he finally caught a glimpse of us. The disguise misled him into thinking I was meeting Mr. Dufresne.

"You had to buy his silence then?"

"Yesterday he came to me and demanded money. I gave him all I had in my purse. He was insolent and demanded that I get more and bring it to him last night. In desperation I promised—and I kept my promise!" she concluded grimly.

For a few moments there was dead silence, then a racking sob, and the woman, overcome by the flood of memory, stood swaying. With a dull thud the hidden gun slid down inside the coat, bounced as it struck, then lay flat and still on the rug.

Mrs. Croyden caught her breath with an audible gasp, but the detective made no move to spring for the weapon. Instead, he looked soberly at the woman. "Now I understand," he announced, rising slowly. "You never meant to run away."

As Mrs. Croyden made a quick, but belated, movement toward the gun he kicked it across the floor. "Don't touch that," he warned. He backed toward the wall and pressed the service button.

"What are you doing?" Aline Croyden cried, and he noted the tenseness, the tightly coiled physical mechanism of her body.

Harper came over and stood facing her. "That was an interesting recital, Mrs. Croyden, but you haven't fooled me one bit. You had no intention of fleeing, in spite of your words and your gun."

"You got away safely by going back over the rope, carrying this man's things with you? You went back to Orpheus Hall to listen to your husband's concert? Is that correct?"

"Yes. I was late and I stayed in the ladies' lounge until the first number was over, then I went to my seat. There were lots of late-comers, so no one paid any attention to me."

"At what point did Joseph Donaghy enter into the picture?"

The lines about Mrs. Croyden's mouth deepened. "Extortion and blackmail," she stated crisply. "He had become suspicious that something was going on in this house."

FERA And City Will Lay Water Line In Wilcox

ALBERTA EXECUTIVE IS CHARGED BY PRETTY STENOGRAPHER

FERA approval for the city to lay 900 feet of 2-inch water-line in the Wilcox addition has been received by Mrs. W. H. Davis, county administrator. The city commission will decide tonight whether the project will be started.

Labor will be supplied by the local relief office and material by the city. The proposed line is from the end of the present system on the south side of Frederic street to the east city limits.

With the completion of the highway along Frederic street, the commission has been receiving applications for water permits along the south side of the street where a number of residences will be erected.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 25 (AP)—The trial of a suit charging John E. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, with seduction of Vivian MacMillan, pretty 19-year-old stenographer and daughter of a railway engineer, was called today.

Allan MacMillan, father of the girl and former mayor of Edson, is party to suit. Unstated damages are sought.

A statement filed by the plaintiffs charges Premier Brownlee induced Vivian to leave home by offering her a government job.

In a counter-claim Brownlee, asking $10,000 damages, named John Caldwell, a young medical student, as co-defendant. Caldwell is the son of an Edmonton minister. Caldwell was once engaged to marry Vivian but in her statement she asserts he broke the engagement when the Brownlee charges were made.

Vivian came here from Edson and was employed as a stenographer in the department of the attorney general. Several months after she arrived she filed the charges against the premier in the supreme court.

One of the principal defense witnesses will be Carl Snell, young school teacher who formerly taught at Edson.

H. D. Simms of Skellytown was a Pampa visitor yesterday afternoon.

You wanted to confess. You wanted to be arrested for these murders?"

"What do you mean?" she stammered, wide-eyed.

"That was a fine story you told, but it was not the truth!"

She stared at him, stricken numb. There was a discreet rap at the door. Keeping one eye on that statue-like figure of despair, Harper turned the key in the lock and opened the door that way.

"Andrews get Detective Lafferty to the garage and tell him to come here as quickly as he can."

The detective closed the door again. Mrs. Croyden held her place. Only her eyes moved, following his movements. "I did it," she repeated. "I'll swear to it. You can't prove that I didn't do it!"

Harper looked at her steadily. "That's quite true, Mrs. Croyden. If you swear to it I'll have trouble proving otherwise. But I know you didn't do the actual killing. Those marks on the table were not made on the night of the murder, because that ring was not in this room then, nor the wearer of the ring. I've had a suspicion that some one was coming into this room in my absence and looking over the evidence as it accumulated. When you noticed those ring marks in your story, I knew you were not the actual murderer."

THIS LAXATIVE Cleanses Completely

no bowel abuse

Cleanse bowels of waste matter more thoroughly, more completely with delicious Feen-a-mint, the chewing gum laxative, and you'll get quicker, surer relief from dizziness, headache and other constipation ills. Feen-a-mint acts more thoroughly because you chew it. Just as chewing prepares food for your stomach, so the chewing of Feen-a-mint distributes its laxative ingredient uniformly throughout the intestine to give a "full," more natural movement. Thus, Feen-a-mint never shocks the system nor abuses the bowels. Doctors themselves prescribe the laxative ingredient used in Feen-a-mint. Completely, thoroughly, Feen-a-mint empties and cleanses the bowels of putrid waste. As headache and dizziness go, you feel more active, energetic, fresh. Feen-a-mint contains no richness to upset stomach or to get stale. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 50c at druggists.

Pioneer Land Owners' Plan To Organize Friday

LUBBOCK, June 25 (AP)—Des-

endants of men who guarded their vast ranch domains with six-guns—or other present-day business men who care for their interests—have organized to pass old battle lands into the hands of the cotton and grain farmer.

Selecting the name of the Pioneer Land Owners association, the representatives of families which have owned south plains lands for from 30 to 50 years are moving to place the man with the plow in the stead of the man with the cattle. They have called a general meeting for Friday night of next week, at which permanent organization will be made.

James D. "Jim" Hamlin, of Farwell, "big boss" of the old "KITs" for, as he says, "darn near a half century"; Clifford B. Jones, of Spur, soft-spoken representative of the vast Swenson interests; W. H. Badger, Littlefield, new "acreage range boss" of the old yellowhouse, and Judge R. C. Hopping, Lubbock, the "bell wethers" of the group and others, less romantic, perhaps, but none the less potent, are joining them. The idea, they say, is to secure a more uniform valuation and classification for taxation and loan purposes. Problems common to all, likewise will be conferred upon.

The present landowners or representatives differ in appearance from those who have gone before them only in that some of them do not wear high-heeled boots and ten-gallon hats. Otherwise, they are the same type of "wide open westerner" that the story books tell about.

While state troopers stalked thru the woods and others guarded the highways, bloodhounds were ordered brought from Littlefield to track down the fugitive.

The posse had laid siege to the Crowe shack, a windowless building sunk low in the ground and surrounded on three sides by open fields, and had fired 500 shots into it from machine guns and rifles.

Even then fearful that Crowe might still be lying down, awaiting a chance to resume his fire, police tossed several tear gas bombs into the all but demolished building.

The posse then surged into the ruins, finding a miniature arsenal and several sticks of dynamite similar to sticks found in Crowe's abandoned automobile—but the killer was gone.

The Yuskis family said Crowe drove into the Yuskis yard and, not content with shooting young Yuskis to death, beat him with the rifle butt. Then as the third man came running, Crowe fired twice again mortally wounding Karvauskas.

Mrs. Yuskis advanced on Crowe, beat him about the head with a metal watering pot and then was herself shot as she retreated behind a tree. The bullet creased her scalp.

Wolcott residents believed jealousy at the Yuskis's success caused the shooting, but also recalled that there had been disputes over boundary lines between Crowe, a moulder, and Yuskis.

Wolcott telephoned Cavalcanti Meilo. Someone listened in. The arrests followed.

POSSE HUNTING HERMIT KILLER OF 2 PERSONS

WOMAN IS WOUNDED; MAN QUITS HUT FOR WOODS

WOLCOTT, Conn., June 25 (AP)—A hermit killer, John Crowe, 65, slipped through the paths of the Wolcott woods today, leaving two dead men and a wounded woman, and eluding a posse of several hundred officers and civilians.

Crowe fired a rifle point blank at Clarence Yuskis Jr., 22, on the Yuskis grounds yesterday, killing the youth almost immediately; shot to death the hired man Julius Karvauskas, 40, and wounded Mrs. Yuskis, Clarence's mother, in the head. Leaping into his automobile, the killer drove 500 yards down the road, abandoned the car beyond a bend and fled to his home, a shack in a field adjoining the Yuskis property.

As a posse formed and advanced on the shack with machine guns and tear gas bombs, Crowe retreated up into the woods behind his house and vanished.

The posse then surged into the ruins, finding a miniature arsenal and several sticks of dynamite similar to sticks found in Crowe's abandoned automobile—but the killer was gone.

The Yuskis family said Crowe drove into the Yuskis yard and, not content with shooting young Yuskis to death, beat him with the rifle butt. Then as the third man came running, Crowe fired twice

Alleged Revolt Suppressed in Brazilian State

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 25 (AP)—

A suppressed revolutionary plot in the state of Bahia was described today in dispatches from San Salvador, capital of the state.

Police arrested Antonio Cavalcanti Meilo, an employee of an American oil company, as leader of the alleged conspiracy.

It was alleged that the plot had gone on for three months and that the zero hour for the revolution was set at 9 p. m. last night, coincidentally with the celebration of St. John's day when there are fireworks all over Brazil.

Investigating authorities said 150 prisoners in Bahia penitentiary had expected to be freed to take up arms as rebels with Cavalcanti Meilo and Roberyal Castro, an army officer, at their head.

They intended, it is alleged, to invade the banks in the city and take possession of the governmental palace, imprisoning the interventor (federal governor) Capt. Jursey Magalhães.

Castro, however, was suddenly taken ill and went to a hospital. Despite his illness, he tried to leave the institution at 5 p. m. yesterday. Attendants refused to let him go out.

Castro telephoned Cavalcanti Meilo. Someone listened in. The arrests followed.

LYNCH NEGRO WHO SLAPPED A WHITE MAN

EIGHT FARMERS HELD IN JAIL, CHARGED WITH MURDER

MANCHESTER, Tenn., June 25 (AP)—A negro who slapped a white man at a negro dance has paid with his life, and today eight white farmers were in jail charged with killing him.

Heck Wilkerson, 35, the negro, was stripped of his clothing, shot four times, and beaten with a weapon believed to have been an axe.

A few hours later, upon information furnished them by a 14-year-old boy, Coffee county officers arrested eight young farmers and charged them with murder. Among the eight, said Sheriff C. D. Huffman, was the step-father of the boy. Three other men were brothers.

Meanwhile, officers had found that the negro's home had been invaded and wrecked.

"They had a negro dance, beginning Saturday night," said the sheriff, "and these white fellows went down there. The negro hit one of them and that brought on the trouble. I don't know why he hit him."
"Then the white men left the dance and went to the negro's house. They tore up everything he had—tore it literally all to pieces. After that they went back to the dance and got Wilkerson and another negro and took them about a mile out in the country."

The sheriff had no report of what happened to the other negro—except that apparently he escaped.

Sheriff Huffman said he thought the man who was slapped by the negro was Henry Walls, though he was not sure. The men arrested were William Peel, Edward Peel, Elijah Peel, Louis Garner, John A. Gibson, Glenn Warren, Henry Sherman, and John Henley.

Gibson is the step-father of Billy Richardson, the boy who named all eight men.

TRENNERY FANS EIGHTEEN MEN TO WIN GAME

INDIANS SWAMP FOES AT ROADRUNNER PARK 13-4

Hitting the ball hard and often, the Pampa Indians yesterday afternoon swamped the Statoland Oilers of Skelly, 13 to 4, at Roadrunner park. Larry Trennery, youthful Indian pitcher, 13 to 4, at Roadrunner-Oiler batters before the dust of battle cleared away. Alie Barnett was on the receiving end of Trennery's batters.

Trennery was a little wild, hitting four batters, including Manager Lucien Bryant twice. Bryant's elbow was believed broken by the last ball, which hit him solidly.

Roy West went to the mound for Statoland but was ineffective. Bryant, the Oiler catcher, was none other than the catcher who has starred for Skellytown for several years. He is a heavy catcher and a good hitter.

The full Indian lineup hit safely at least once with most of the batters getting two or more hits. Kelley, Webb, Heskell, White, and Trennery were particularly effective with the willow.

The Statoland lineup included Johnson, Chambers, Lawley, Jackson, Dennen, and Wimer who gathered safe hits.

Londos to Meet Browning Tonight

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—A grunt and groan "natural" wrestling fans have awaited for four years sends Jim Browning, 230-pound gentleman from Verona, Mo., against Jim Londos, studious and handsome Greek, in Madison Square Garden's Lang Island bowl tonight.

The heavyweight championship Browning holds by grace of the New York State Athletic commission will be at stake and some 30,000 fans probably will travel across the East river to see the fun. Jack Curley, who has been promoting wrestling for 10, these many years, estimates a "gate" of more than $75,000. The free milk fund will share in the receipts.

Six aunts, six uncles, a grandmother and grandfather were named in a petition of 15-year-old Mary Ryan when she asked the Watsonville, Ca., court for a guardian.

GUS MORELAND SHOOTS A BAD 79 IN AN EXHIBITION MATCH

Texan and Johnny Dawson Lose to Lawson Little and Goodman One Up

DALLAS, June 25 (AP)—Gus Moreland, a Walker cup hero, obviously battered from months of big-time competition, prepared to climb atop a tottering throne tomorrow and summon all his fairway wizardry to beat of the challenge of countless stars in defense of his Trans-Mississippi title.

The husky Dallas boy had only knowledge of the mockingly treacherous Brook Hollow course to rate him the slight favorite as he concluded practice drills.

For two years he has bested Trans-Mississippi fields in addition to other major triumphs. But this time the "big boys" are after him.

Primed for a crack at Moreland's title are W. Lawson Little, California, siege gun and British Amateur champion; Johnny Goodman of Omaha, returning to form that won him the 1933 national open; Johnny Dawson, playing splendidly; Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City, second low amateur in the recent open; Reynolds Smith, Texas champion; David (Spee) Goldman, 1932 "Trans" runner-up; Leland Hamman, Texas state runner-up; Fred Haas, southern champion—and so on down the list.

They began leaning towards Johnny Dawson after the handsome young Chicagoan flashed great form in an exhibition match for charity which he and Moreland lost to Little and Goodman, 1 up.

Dawson seared the back nine with six fours and three threes to register a 33. And at that he sid past the hole on two short putts. Goodman, conservatively banging away, displayed a fine game with the 74 he fired in his fourth tour of the links in recent years. Little, a trifle wild with his booming tee shots, took quite a few holes in which to warm his putter but finally got under way to turn in a 75.

Moreland, the champion, had a bad 79. Only occasionally did he show the old-time shotmaking that made him almost "fool proof" on a golf course.

Pairings for the 36-hole qualifying round, starting tomorrow, were scheduled to be drawn tonight.

Tony Canzoneri And Klick Will Box Wednesday

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—There's a doubtful reward awaiting the winner of the ten round lightweight bout between Tony Canzoneri and Frankie Klick at Ebbets field Wednesday night. The survivor will get a chance to meet Barney Ross in a title fight and that hardly will come under the head of a pleasure.

Chicago Barney not only waded through the lightweight division to win the 135-pound title but recently annexed the welterweight championship as well by outboxing Jimmy McLarnin in 15 rounds.

Canzoneri, favored in Wednesday's fight, already has met Ross twice, first losing his lightweight title to the Chicagoan and then failing to win it back a few months later. Klick fought Barney to a ten round draw in an overweight match in the far west during the winter.

Otherwise the national boxing program for the week is marked by non-title engagements for three champions. Maxey Rosenbloom, light heavy king, meets Lee Ramage of San Diego, a heavyweight, at Los Angeles, and Cincé Dandee, of Newark, middleweight champion, faces young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., at Mills Stadium, Chicago, both tomorrow night. Freddie Miller of Cincinnati, national boxing association featherweight champion, outkicks George Hansford of Los Angeles at Hollywood Friday night.

Track And Field Stars Heading For Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, June 25 (AP)—By train, plane, and auto caravan, the nation's greatest athletes had begun today their trek towards Milwaukee and the forty-seventh annual American outdoor track and field championships Friday and Saturday.

Included among those on their way are most of the champions and stars of the National Collegiate association meet in Los Angeles last Saturday, and a squad of 20 representing the Olympic club of San Francisco, due tomorrow noon. The New York A. C. will arrive Thursday on a special train.

Only two N. G. A. winners, Al Olson, Southern California, broad-jumper, and Jack Rand, San Diego, state pole vaulter, are still unentered, but post entries are expected on them.

Interest was centering on the 1,500 meter race Saturday, involving Glenn Cunningham of Kansas and Bill Bontroun of Princeton, who have broken even in their indoor and outdoor meetings this year.

OCC workers are restoring historic Fort Macon, Confederate stronghold which guarded the harbor of Morehead City, N. C., during the civil war.

GERMAN AND BRITAIN WILL DISCUSS DEBT

Negotiations Are To Begin Wednesday Between 3 Experts and British.

BY BURDETTE T. JOHNS, Associated Press Foreign Staff, LONDON, June 25 (AP)—Negotiations between Germany and Great Britain are to begin Wednesday at the British treasury between representatives of both nations.

Germany is sending a delegation of three experts who will arrive tomorrow for the conference.

The parity will be concerned with the German moratorium on debt payments and some unofficial quarters anticipate that a settlement—if one is reached—may provide lower interest rates on German debts owed in Great Britain.

The same circles likewise anticipate that, to reach such a result, the Germans would make certain concessions and call off the moratorium.

There was, however, no official indication of how far Great Britain might be willing to go in the concessions. It is known that the government desires to avoid a trade war with Germany.

Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, is expected to head the British committee of negotiations. The German commission is headed by Dr. Fritz Berger, German ministerial director, and his aides are Karl Böhning, reichsbank director, and Robert Ulrich of the German foreign office.

Although the conference may settle the situation satisfactorily, the British government is continuing its preparations against the eventuality of a conference failure. A bill has been pushed through parliament giving England powerful weapons in a threatened trade war with Germany.

GENE SARAZEN NINE STROKES BEHIND LEADER

QUALIFYING ROUND IN BRITISH OPEN IS PLAYED

BY GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Sports Writer, SANDWICH, Eng., June 25 (AP)—Gene Sarazen, American professional golfer's association titleholder and betting odds favorite, tumbled the Royal Cinque Ports course today in 75, one over par, in the first qualifying round for the British open, putting him nine strokes back of the pace-setting Henry Cotton, English pro. Cotton shot a record-breaking 66 over Royal St. Georges where the championship proper will be played beginning Wednesday.

Cotton covered the first nine in 31 strokes—five under par—and home in 35 to shave two strokes off the course record of 68 held jointly by the amateurs, Eric Martin of England, and Douglas Grant, former Californian who has lived in England for many years. The old professional record of 69 was shared by George Duncan and Jose Jurado, British and Argentine professionals, respectively.

Playing the harder of the two qualifying courses, Sarazen found the fast greens troublesome at first, but otherwise he was playing well and said he was not worrying.

With low scores being turned in at St. Georges in wholesale lots, Denny Shute of Philadelphia, the defending champion, found himself in somewhat of a tight spot with a first round on 76. The playing through titleholder had a pair of 38s. He had considerable trouble with his tee shots.

D. H. B. Martin, an English amateur, clipped four strokes from Royal Cinque's par, shooting the layout in 70 for a new amateur standard for the course. This brilliant round lodged him in second place.

S. B. Roberts of Wales and Cecil S. Denny, a native professional, among the early starters at St. Georges, posted 71s, while Bert Gadd, Brand Hall professional, negotiated Royal Cinque in 71. Archie Compton, veteran British pro, had a 76 there as did Jack McLean, Scottish and Irish Amateur champion.

GENE SARAZEN NINE STROKES BEHIND LEADER

BY GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Sports Writer, SANDWICH, Eng., June 25 (AP)—Gene Sarazen, American professional golfer's association titleholder and betting odds favorite, tumbled the Royal Cinque Ports course today in 75, one over par, in the first qualifying round for the British open, putting him nine strokes back of the pace-setting Henry Cotton, English pro. Cotton shot a record-breaking 66 over Royal St. Georges where the championship proper will be played beginning Wednesday.

Cotton covered the first nine in 31 strokes—five under par—and home in 35 to shave two strokes off the course record of 68 held jointly by the amateurs, Eric Martin of England, and Douglas Grant, former Californian who has lived in England for many years. The old professional record of 69 was shared by George Duncan and Jose Jurado, British and Argentine professionals, respectively.

Playing the harder of the two qualifying courses, Sarazen found the fast greens troublesome at first, but otherwise he was playing well and said he was not worrying.

With low scores being turned in at St. Georges in wholesale lots, Denny Shute of Philadelphia, the defending champion, found himself in somewhat of a tight spot with a first round on 76. The playing through titleholder had a pair of 38s. He had considerable trouble with his tee shots.

D. H. B. Martin, an English amateur, clipped four strokes from Royal Cinque's par, shooting the layout in 70 for a new amateur standard for the course. This brilliant round lodged him in second place.

S. B. Roberts of Wales and Cecil S. Denny, a native professional, among the early starters at St. Georges, posted 71s, while Bert Gadd, Brand Hall professional, negotiated Royal Cinque in 71. Archie Compton, veteran British pro, had a 76 there as did Jack McLean, Scottish and Irish Amateur champion.

FENTON PLANS TO PULL OUT RUSSIAN'S WHISKERS TONIGHT

Rough Tactics in Prospect; Methods do not Matter To Either Wrestler.

"What's behind those whiskers?" queried Lightning Rod Fenton the first time he saw Russian George Ligovsky. Tonight the Canadian says he is going to satisfy his curiosity when he meets Ligovsky in the main event at the Pla-Mor auditorium, because he plans to pull the whiskers out one by one, especially if a small referee is in the ring.

The two main events are known as the roughest and toughest in the mat game. Their idea is to "get your man." Methods do not matter. They have never been known to ask for quarter and have no idea how to ease up.

Fenton lost a wild match to Sailor Oels Clingman in Amarillo last week. Ligovsky is battling for a chance at Clingman. He believes that a win over the Canadian tonight will put him right on Clingman's trail.

A top-notch welterweight will appear in the semi-final when Speedy Franks is introduced. He comes from Toledo, Ohio, and is recognized as one of the best in his class. He will meet Pat Garrison, Pampa oil man, in the 30-minute time limit or one-fall affair. Franks will be outweighed considerably but that does not seem to worry him. He says he has met good big men and doesn't

Jaycees Take A Thrust At Reds In Miami Meet

MIAMI, Fla., June 25 (AP)—With a parting thrust at communism, the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce has ended its three-day national convention here.

E. R. West, head of the Los Angeles unit, was unanimously elected president of the national organization to succeed Leslie B. Farrington of St. Paul.

From the new president came a pledge to delve into the nation's problems and bring them prominently before the general membership for advice and action.

The new president was a member of the Los Angeles committee that drafted the anti-communism resolution and brought its adoption on the convention floor by unanimous vote.

Reciting that the "avowed purpose" of the communist party is to bring about "overthrow of the United States government," the Junior chamber mapped a program to fight propaganda with legislative and educational campaigns.

"This action," the resolution read, "shall be construed as being a mandate upon all member organizations of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce to immediately promulgate a unified and vigorous campaign in behalf of Americanism, a campaign against infiltration of communism into these United States."

Ten vice presidents were elected today. They included Eric Gambrel, of Dallas.

Named to the board of directors were the following: Byron Naylor, San Antonio; E. E. Francis, Tyler, Texas; B. B. Kerr, Oklahoma City; G. G. Mumford, Tulsa.

Amarillo Team Beats Coltexo Gasoliners 7-6

AMARILLO, June 25 (AP)—By train, plane, and auto caravan, the nation's greatest athletes had begun today their trek towards Milwaukee and the forty-seventh annual American outdoor track and field championships Friday and Saturday.

Included among those on their way are most of the champions and stars of the National Collegiate association meet in Los Angeles last Saturday, and a squad of 20 representing the Olympic club of San Francisco, due tomorrow noon. The New York A. C. will arrive Thursday on a special train.

Only two N. G. A. winners, Al Olson, Southern California, broad-jumper, and Jack Rand, San Diego, state pole vaulter, are still unentered, but post entries are expected on them.

Interest was centering on the 1,500 meter race Saturday, involving Glenn Cunningham of Kansas and Bill Bontroun of Princeton, who have broken even in their indoor and outdoor meetings this year.

OCC workers are restoring historic Fort Macon, Confederate stronghold which guarded the harbor of Morehead City, N. C., during the civil war.

WIMBLEDON'S TENNIS GAMES START TODAY

WIMBLEDON, England, June 25 (AP)—The mobile center of the tennis world shifted to this famous growing ground for champions today.

The occasion was the opening of the all-England championships, most cosmopolitan of all lawn tennis tournaments. Sixty-four matches in men's singles comprised the first day's program, and the United States was well represented in all five divisions of competition.

The four members of the Davis cup team—Frank Shields, Sidney B. Wood, Lester Stofen, and George Loti—as well as the veteran non-playing team captain, R. N. Williams, were the leading American entries in the men's division. Helen Jacobs, Sarah Palfrey, Josephine Cruickshank, and Caroline Babcock, America's victorious Wightman cup team, formed the backbone of the United States challenge for women's honors. Helen Wills Moody, winner of the women's singles title here in six of the last seven years, was on hand again but this time in the role of spectator.

Both Woods and Shields drew formidable opposition for their first matches, the former being matched with Vivian McGrath, young Australian sensation, and Shields with Daniel Frenn, veteran German star. Stofen was to play Pierre Grandguillot, huge Egyptian, and Loti drew R. O. Williams of England as his first foe.

Play in women's singles opens tomorrow.

Favorites Win In Wimbledon's Tennis Tourney

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 25 (AP)—Frank Shields of New York, No. 1 ranking American, scored a decisive straight-set victory over Daniel Frenn, former German Davis cup ace, today in the opening round of competition for the all-England tennis championships. The scores were 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Sidney B. Wood, Jr., of New York, whose sensational singles play so far in England has served to raise American Davis cup hopes, rallied after a slow start to defeat the young Australian, Vivian McGrath, 10-8, 6-4, 6-4, in one of the day's features.

Don Turnbull, of the Australian Davis cup forces, defeated Henry Cully of Santa Barbara, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

The first American casualty was W. L. Brees, formerly of Harvard, in the men's singles. He was eliminated in the first round by Marcel Bernard of France, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

Henry W. (Bunny) Austin, British Davis cup star, disposed of Mohanlal S. Steem of Lahore, India, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

The defending singles champion, Jack Crawford of Australia, was unexpectedly pressed to defeat the clever Polish player, Ignacy Tioczynski, 6-2, 7-5 8-6 on the center court.

PARAGUAYANS SEEK TO SURROUND BOLIVIANS IN GORY FIGHT

FIERCE BATTLE CONTINUES IN 'JUNGLE' WAR

WAR MAY BE DECIDED ON OUTCOME OF ENGAGEMENT

BUENOS AIRES, June 25 (AP)—A bloody battle on which may depend the outcome of Paraguay and Bolivia's long war over the Chaco forest continued today. Fighting centered around Fort Ballivian, Bolivia's stronghold in the jungle territory. Paraguayan forces, dispatched from Asuncion said, sought to extend their left wing to the shore of the Pilcomayo river behind the fort, thus completely surrounding the enemy.

The flanking movement was entrusted to Colonel Franco, who gained distinction by opening a path with a woods attack and unexpectedly capturing the Bolivian Fort Canadatarja.

Franco's attempt to reach the Pilcomayo resulted in heavy fighting. Should he succeed Paraguay would be in a position to cut off the high road communication between Ballivian and Villamontes, the chief Bolivian supply base.

Claims from the capitals of the belligerents, meanwhile, were directly at odds.

A Bolivian statement said 2,000 Paraguayans had been killed or wounded in the Ballivian battle. From Asuncion came a claim that Bolivia had lost that many men.

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—Farm administration officials said today the possibility of purchasing old ewes for canning purposes in emergency drought areas, was under consideration.

The government already is making cattle purchases in similar areas. The ewe program, if it materializes, would include purchases in all eligible sections of the country, including Texas. Officials said that if it were put under way, the price schedule probably would follow rather closely the prevailing open market price, as has been done in the case of cattle.

They emphasized, however, that no definite decision as to the advisability of including sheep in the drought relief purchase program had been reached.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, June 25 (AP)—The market became quieter as the morning advanced and prices fluctuated narrowly within a range of three to four points. Weather reports were unfavorable, the effect of which was offset by longs realizing.

July traded at 11.98, October at 12.23 and December at 12.85, or five to seven points above Saturday's close. Prices rallied one to two points near midsession on shorts covering, making the price level seven to eight points above the previous close.

Chase Attacks Sheppard View On Prohibition

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—The much discussed proposal of Senator Sheppard (D., Texas) to have congress prohibit or regulate the liquor traffic was said today by Canon William Sheafe Chase of Brooklyn, N. Y., to have come through Bishop James Cannon, Southern Methodist clergyman, and Dr. F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon League. Chase said in a statement that he had called upon Sheppard to withdraw his proposed amendment, because he doubted the senator "realized what would be the evil effects" if he were ratified.

At the time he also asked Sheppard who it was that had first spoken to him upon the subject. "He replied," Chase said, "that it was Bishop Cannon and Dr. McBride who came to him and said that the board of directors of the Anti-Saloon League, at a meeting in Washington January 7 to 10 had endorsed the principle of the 'enabling amendment,' which would confer upon congress, power dealing with a national evil, which does not possess under the twenty-first amendment."

"I urged that no amendment to the constitution would be enforced, or of any avail, so long as there is an allegiance between corrupt politics and the traffic, that Texas is a dry state and yet overrun with intoxicating liquor because neither congress nor the president is enforcing the Webb-Kenyon act as they are required to do by the twenty-first amendment."

Mr. Roosevelt allocated the first of the drought relief funds in an executive order which specified $56,250,000 for direct aid to the states in the stricken area.

The remainder of the first distribution of federal relief for the drought area included $43,750,000 for purchase of seed, food and live stock; $25,000,000 for seed and feed loans; $12,500,000 for purchase of lands in the drought regions; and $12,500,000 for establishment of civilian conservation camps in the stricken region.

It is the hope of the president that he will have his desk cleared on Friday night. In that event he will board the cruiser Houston at Annapolis, Maryland, on Saturday and begin his tour of the American possessions, including Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Panama canal zone and Hawaii. Stops also will be made in Columbia, South America and in the republic of Panama.

Returning to the Pacific coast early in August, Mr. Roosevelt will travel overland by rail, and there is a possibility he will make some speeches, probably in Minneapolis, and Green Bay, Wis., where the Tercentenary of the State will be celebrated.

FOR PREPARES TO MAKE TRIP TO 'PARADISE'

WILL BOARD CRUISER HOUSTON NEXT SATURDAY

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt began today an intensive week to arrange affairs of state, prior to his departure Saturday for Hawaii and the west coast.

Before leaving tonight for the capital he took up the last of the bills passed by the recent congress and went over the list on recommendations for the two new important commissions to be selected—the stock exchange and communications agencies. He allocated $150,000,000 of drought relief funds last night.

The president took advantage of his brief stay here at the family home to talk with state political leaders. Governor Lehman and Edward J. Flynn, state secretary of state and Bronx leader, were dinner guests. While none of the participants in this meeting would talk, it was assumed Governor Lehman would run for reelection this fall on the democratic ticket with the full support of President Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—Farm administration officials said today the possibility of purchasing old ewes for canning purposes in emergency drought areas, was under consideration.

The government already is making cattle purchases in similar areas. The ewe program, if it materializes, would include purchases in all eligible sections of the country, including Texas. Officials said that if it were put under way, the price schedule probably would follow rather closely the prevailing open market price, as has been done in the case of cattle.

They emphasized, however, that no definite decision as to the advisability of including sheep in the drought relief purchase program had been reached.

TUFVERSON

The disappearance of Miss Tufverson became a matter of interest on two continents when some of her belongings were reported to have been found in Vienna, in the possession of Ivan Poderjaj, who it was reported, was to have married Miss Tufverson before he sailed to Europe.

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—New York police said they received information today indicating that Agnes Tufverson, missing New York attorney and subject of a sensation international mystery, was alive in Boston as late as June 10.

Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan, in charge of detectives, received a telephone call from Boston police, in which he was informed that picture of Miss Tufverson had been identified as that of a woman who called at a Boston cleaning shop May 15 and again between June 1 and 10.

The inspector also made public a letter from Scotland Yard, dated June 15, giving all available data on the London activities of Capt. Ivan Poderjaj, who is held in Vienna on a charge of suspicion of murder.

Poderjaj married Miss Tufverson shortly before she disappeared last December 20. The letter from London contained a record of his marriage there, 9 months earlier, to Marquerite Suzanne Ferrand.

The postmaster issued a request to Pampanos to park at an angle and not to park cars for long periods in front of the new building. He also requested persons not to loaf about the front of the building, sit on the railings, or expectorate on the steps. Parents can warn their children against sliding down the railings and marking the premises with chalk and pencil.

The first letter received in the post office was mailed by H. Gray of Detroit, and was sent to his "girl friend in Missouri." The stamp was cancelled by Earl Rupp and dispatched by Neal Beaver. The first money order issued in the new building was to Tom W. Barnes. The first customer this morning was J. O. Gillman, who was waiting on the steps for the doors to be opened.

The dedication ceremony will be some time next month, when THE NEWS will issue a special edition carrying the pictures and names of the post office family and the history of the office.
