MOVEMENT IS SPREADING TO MANY STATES

YOUNG MEN STUDYING BACKGROUND OF POLITICS

GRAY county residents under 35 years of age today were urged to attend a meeting in the city hall Wednesday evening to discuss formation of a Young Democratic club.

The meeting was set this morning by Gilmore N. Nunn, formerly active in democratic party ranks in New Mexico, who was urged to place the plan before this community. Mr. Nunn represented the western district of Young Democratic clubs at the democratic national convention in Chicago last year.

When the session opens at 8 o'clock, visiting clubmen from Amarillo and Borger and possibly other cities will be in the audience. Madison Rayburn is president of the Amarillo club and Gray Fox is acting county chairman. O. T. Lackey is chairman of the Hutchinson county club.

The Young Democratic club movement is spreading rapidly under the influence of the new deal and the encouragement of party leaders. Basically, its purpose is not to take part in political campaigns, but to encourage study of political backgrounds and the government of the nation. It is a patriotic movement as well as a political one.

Little expense is attached to membership. It is expected that Young Democratic clubs will develop leadership in public affairs and train orators capable of placing important issues before the people.

Pastor Charged With Violation Of Radio Laws

LUBBOCK, Aug. 22 (AP)—Eighteen persons were charged with violation of section 81, title 47 of the United States code pertaining to the licensing of radio stations in federal district court here today by U. S. Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey. Among those charged were the Rev. Sam N. Morris and his wife of Stamford.

The charges resulted from operation of small unlicensed radio stations, programs of which were heard across the state line in violation of the federal law. Complaints were prepared under the direction of W. I. Abbott of Dallas, inspector for the federal radio commission.

Rev. Morris, militant Baptist minister, operates a radio station in connection with his church at Stamford.

Penalty for the violation upon conviction is a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment of not more than five years in the penitentiary, or both.

Two Killed As Gasoline Truck Strikes Station

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 22 (AP)—Two men, one of whom was identified from a Texas A. & M. college ring as A. Thymann, were burned fatally early today when the truck in which they were en route from Dallas overturned at a curve a half mile west of Huntsville.

The driver failed to negotiate the curve and the truck struck a filling station before overturning and catching fire. The men were pinned under the vehicle. L. M. Donelson, attendant at the station, escaped unhurt.

A load of new tires on the truck was destroyed. A representative of the rubber company which owned the truck was reported on his way to Huntsville to identify the second man, believed to be named Johnson.

NURSE SPURNS STATE ATTORNEY AND PLANS TO EMPLOY COUNSEL TO PROSECUTE TEXAS POLO STAR

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—Cecil Smith packed off his polo ponies for the international championships at Long Island today, but stood behind to defend a charge that he attacked Eugenia Rose, 23-year-old nurse. "We want the young lady to have plenty of time to prepare her case," said Silas H. Strawn, former president of the American Bar association, who furnished bond for the young Texas polo star. "We confidently expect that Smith will be cleared quickly."

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—The date for hearing on the criminal assault charges brought against Cecil Smith, San Antonio, Tex., polo star, by a 23-year-old nurse, remained indefinite today, as the young woman announced she planned to employ private counsel.

Several times yesterday Assistant State's Attorney Eugene Wachowski and Police Magistrate Willis R. Brightmore of Evanston, who issued the warrant for Smith's arrest, attempted to confer with her.

Last night Wachowski said he received a telephone call from Dr. Gary M. Baker, the friend who Miss Rose said persuaded her to bring

ANDY AND HIS SPOTS

A leopard does not change his spots; neither does Andy Mellon bow to governmental decrees now that he is no longer "the greatest treasurer since Hamilton." It would be exceedingly interesting to hear pithy-phrasing General Hugh Johnson and cold, unfeeling superior Andrew Mellon in conversation about NRA regulations which the Mellon aluminum interests do not accept. We imagine that Mr. Johnson would be talking and Mr. Mellon the freezing. The aluminum monopoly presumes itself to be bigger than the U. S. government. It wrote its own code and said that no hearings would be necessary—"Just sign it, Mr. Johnson." Commendably, the NRA director showed it aside. It is the public which will give Mr. Mellon ought to get under his hide if anything will. Too much of big business has either run branches of the government or coerced public officials. It behooves the smaller business men to back the NRA, which is their chief hope for permanently avoiding a Wall Street dictatorship.

Regardless of the outcome of the beer amendment and local option decision August 26, beer will continue to be a problem in this country. It is a problem now because the nearby Oklahoma border leaks beer like a sieve. Those who care to do so can drive into Oklahoma in a few hours. If beer is legalized, it will be a tax and tax evasion.

FARLEY WILL URGE REPEAL THIS EVENING

WILL ADDRESS TEXANS ON PROHIBITION SUBJECT

AUSTIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—James A. Farley, postmaster general of the United States, intends to stir a little ginger in the Texas prohibition pot tonight.

The Roosevelt lieutenant will speak to Lone Star voters from the New York headquarters of the Democratic National committee, for 15 minutes beginning at 8:30 p. m., our time. He will advocate repeal of the eighteenth amendment, pursuing a policy he has adopted on the eve of an expression on the issue by southern states. The Texas election will be next Saturday. Farley's voice will be disseminated to all parts of the state by radio, a special Texas hook-up having been arranged in which all stations will participate.

Farley has telegraphed Roy Miller, director of the Texas National Democratic committee that he is "looking forward to the result of the repeal election."

"I am sure Texas will join the other 22 states which have already voted in favor of repeal," the message said. "Please make every effort to bring about a large and favorable majority for repeal delegates."

Morris Sheppard, senior United States senator from Texas, does not agree with Farley's confidence, as expressed in his telegram. Sheppard, who has been speaking throughout the state, has assured friends of prohibition that Texas will refuse to follow in the wet tracks of the 22 states which have voted and blaze the way for 12 others, sufficient to block repeal, to follow. He will speak tonight in Amarillo. He negotiated the distance from Brownsville, almost at the southern tip, to the city far in the panhandle, over a period of a few days, making stops en route to defend the nation's dry law, which he espoused and helped write.

HOOVER ASKED TO APPEAR AS JURY WITNESS

'Inside' Story of Closing Of Detroit Banks Is Wanted By Officials

DETROIT, Aug. 22 (AP)—Officials of the one-man Detroit bank jury today dispatched a letter to former President Herbert Hoover asking him to appear as a witness before the jury investigating the closing of two national banks here.

A decision "as soon as possible" was asked of the former president.

Under instructions of Judge Harry B. Keidan, sitting as a jury to investigate the closing of the First National Bank of Detroit, the country's largest closed bank, and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, prosecutor, Harry S. Toy sent the letter to the former president, in Palo Alto, California.

The letter stated that officials of the jury desired his testimony concerning the attitude of the administrative agencies and federal government toward the two closed Detroit national banks prior to March 4, 1933.

It stated that the opinion of officials is that Mr. Hoover has in his possession "certain facts which might render his testimony of witness highly significant and essential to a thorough and true presentation of the reasons underlying the closing of the Detroit banks."

Senator James Couzens (R., Mich.) yesterday suggested that the jury ask Mr. Hoover to come here for his testimony. Previously the senator had declared that the government knew of "bank practices" in the two closed banks in May, 1932, nearly a year before they closed, but that only a small write-down of losses was required then because "it was a political year, and the powers that be were not anxious to start an epidemic of bank closing."

Allen Speaks to Jaysees on NRA

How the local NRA readjustment council is proceeding with much deliberation rather than speed which might result in public hysteria and is trying to bring about standardized codes of employment before invoking the consumer campaign was explained to Junior chamber of commerce members today by R. G. Allen, general in charge of the council.

Mr. Allen also expressed to the Jaysees for supporting the bond relief amendment, which he termed vital in preventing an intolerable situation in Gray county this winter.

The Jaysees volunteered their services in helping to stage the NRA parade Thursday afternoon.

Visitors today were A. M. Teed, Bert Curry, and J. W. Pyland.

A. W. Smith was able to leave Pampa hospital this morning.

Swimming Fees At Municipal Pool Reduced

Reduced rates for swimming at the municipal pool were adopted by the city commission in session last evening.

Admission for adults has been reduced from 25 cents to 15 cents and for children under 15 years of age has been lowered to 10 cents from 15 cents.

The pool has earned enough money during the season to repay the general fund for funds borrowed to complete the project. Moreover, the lateness and coolness of the season appear to dictate a reduction in rates.

Former Pampa Pastor Receives Letter Threatening Kidnaping Of Son

FORT WORTH, Aug. 22 (AP)—Dr. Tom W. Brabham, president of Texas Woman's college, today confirmed a report that he had received a letter demanding $500 and threatening the kidnaping of his son, Thomas, 9, if he did not comply with the demand.

Sheriff Little in charge of eight officers lay in wait last night on a road south of Fort Worth, at the point where the letter demanded that the money be placed. A dummy package was placed by a fence post, according to the instructions, but no one appeared to claim it.

The letter was typewritten and after the demands and threats against the child were made it was signed with the words, "we mean business."

Rev. Brabham was pastor of the First Methodist church of Pampa for several years. He left here two years ago to become president of the Fort Worth college.

NRA CORRECTIONS ARE BEING MADE AT HEARINGS—PARADE TO SHOW PAMPA COMPLIANCE

Hearings, informative as well as regulatory, continued today at the city hall under the direction of the NRA readjustment council.

C. H. Walker, general NRA chairman, reported an excellent attendance yesterday. Pampa is definitely and enthusiastically backing the recovery program.

Chairman Walker will announce a new schedule of hearings soon for those who could not be present yesterday and for those who have not yet been assigned a period. The hearings are valuable in obtaining uniformity of practice by various firms. Some adjustments of hours and wages have been made. It was pointed out that an employee is not necessarily an executive because he is paid $35 a week. It also was stated that that forbidden "stagging" of hours is splitting a working day more than once.

On Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock south of the high school campus, a parade of automobiles with banners bearing the names of NRA members will move through the business district to illustrate Pampa's compliance. Banners made of paper may be obtained for 10 cents each from the Pampa Office Supply company Thursday morning. There is a blank space for the firm name to be inserted. Little expense will be involved.

A band concert sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce and presented by the Panhandle high school band will be held east of the courthouse at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. If the consumer stickers are received by NRA officials at that time, they will be distributed during the concert.

The public is urged to attend both the parade and the band concert Thursday.

All Voters May Cast Ballots On Big Bond Issue

AUSTIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Texas attorney general's department today ruled that any qualified voter, even though not a property owner, is eligible to participate in the election next Saturday on the proposition to issue $20,000,000 in bonds for unemployment relief.

Walter A. Koons, assistant attorney general, held there was no property test that could be applied to voters in the election. The ruling states the question was not one primarily of issuing bonds but of amending the state's fundamental law to empower the legislature to authorize bonds.

SEVEN DIE AS PASSENGER IS HIT BY TRUCK

Four Others Are Seriously Injured; Driver Says View Was Obstructed

LUMBERTON, N. C., Aug. 22 (AP)—Seven persons were killed today when a tobacco truck carrying 12 men and boys from Deep Run, Lenoir county, crashed into a Seaboard Airline passenger train near Lenoir.

The other five on the truck were injured, four seriously.

The dead: Jesse Davenport, 26; Louis Davenport, 32; Clyde Taylor, 12; Walter Smith, 20; Burchard Smith, 23; Dick Harper, 19, and Wesley Davenport, 13, all of Deep Run.

The truck was owned by J. R. Davenport of Deep Run.

Haywood Smith, one of the injured, was driving it and the men were carrying the tobacco to the auction market at Fairmont.

Smith said his view of the tracks was obstructed by a house and he did not see the approaching train. The two-car unit propelled by a gasoline engine.

The truck crashed into the baggage car and was demolished.

Ohioan Is Given Orders To Leave Japan At Once

TOKYO, Aug. 22 (AP)—Alexander Bruckman of Cleveland was arrested during a police drive against "foreign radicals and pacifists" today and ordered to leave Japan immediately.

The American, who is 22 and former student in Case School of Applied Science, was charged with communicating with Japanese radicals since his arrival from the United States two months ago. He will sail for Shanghai tomorrow.

Police said Bruckman professed to be a communist and was expelled from Case because of radical agitation.

He said he intends to participate in an international conference against war scheduled to open in Shanghai September 1. Two leading delegates to the party, Baron Marley, a Briton, and Dr. Albert Moiteaux, a Belgian, were denied entrance to Japan upon their arrival at Kobe yesterday from Shanghai to encourage Japanese pacifists to attend the conference.

Baron Marley and Dr. Moiteaux were permitted to remain in Kobe under close police surveillance until the next ship arrives from Shanghai tomorrow.

Revolt Leaders Are Welcomed By Cuban Throgs

HAVANA, Aug. 22 (AP)—Forty thousand persons gave a thundering welcome to Colonel Carlos Mendia and Colonel Roberto Mendez Penate today as they returned to Cuba from the exile to which they were sent for leading the quickly suppressed revolt against the Machado government of August, 1931.

The return of the two revolutionary heroes shared importance with the resumption of normal activity in Havana's harbor, where business had been paralyzed by a strike which started before the ousting of President Machado.

Colonel Mendia and Colonel Penate came back from New York aboard the Morro Castle.

Stevadores, longshoremen, and other workers to the number of 3,000 were ready to return to work today after their employers had granted demands for recognition of their union and for rotating the work.

Members of the ABC society, soldiers, and police continued rounding up former Machado followers, while the war department held to a policy that all in hiding should surrender to authorities lest they be victims of mob violence.

PRICE OF BLIND LEADERSHIP

The price the world sometimes has to pay for human blindness and suspicion can be one of the most appalling chapters in history.

James M. Cox, who recently served as vice chairman of the American delegation to the World Economic conference, shed a new ray of light on that chapter in an interview not long ago.

To Milton Bronner, London correspondent for this newspaper and the Newspaper Enterprise association, Mr. Cox revealed that a workable and final settlement of the German reparations question was actually within sight in 1922. If it had been attained, he said, the world probably would have been spared its present economic, industrial and financial chaos and some 30,000,000 people would have been saved from unemployment hunger and want.

It failed of attainment, Mr. Cox said, because the statesmen of France, England, Germany and America failed to seize the opportunity that offered itself to them.

In 1922, said Mr. Cox, he went to Europe to study the situation. He knew Germany could not pay the fantastic reparations then demanded of her without ruining herself and the nations to whom the payments were due. So he set out to find just what Germany really could pay.

In Paris he talked with a spokesman for Poincare, then premier, and got from him, in confidence, a figure which the spokesman said was the minimum French statesmen and financiers thought Germany could pay.

Then he went to Germany and talked with Chancellor Worth, who gave him a figure as to the maximum Germany could pay. Between this and the French figure there was only a gap of four billion marks—a gap which, as Mr. Cox said, could easily be bridged by negotiation.

Then Mr. Cox went to England and got Lloyd George's figure which, in its turn, was not far from the two estimates already given.

But none of the statesmen dared move. The hatreds and suspicions of the war had not yet cooled. In each capital Mr. Cox was assured that only if America took the initiative could an agreement be reached.

Mr. Cox returned to America and issued a statement urging President Harding to act. President Harding ignored them. The great opportunity passed.

In London this spring Mr. Cox was told by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, a leader of the German delegation: "If President Harding had acted in 1922, we would not be here today. There would have been no occasion for an economic conference, because the world would have been well on its way to complete recovery."

Judge Cary Is Supporting Bond Issue Amendment

AUSTIN, Aug. 22.—Enthusiastic support of the state bond issue amendment as the only means of meeting the winter months in feeding the more than a million destitute unemployed of Texas was exhibited here last week at the statewide mass meeting called by Governor Miriam Ferguson. Approximately 500 county judges, mayors, RFO officials and business men from all sections of the state attended the meeting.

Among those present C. E. Cary, county judge of Gray county, who was one of the speakers called upon during the rally. Every representative on the floor of the meeting pledged active work in behalf of the proposal.

James E. Ferguson, speaking for the governor, Col. Lawrence Westbrook, state administrator of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission; Edgar Witt, lieutenant governor; and William Strauss, of Houston, state chairman of the relief bond issue steering committee, were among the principal speakers.

A telegram from Col. Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, was also read, stating that Texas must vote the bond issue authority in order to participate further in federal relief funds. The last allotment made to this state was for August and totalled $2,377,000, bringing the total of federal donations to over 13 millions for the state's destitute unemployed.

Telegrams urging support of the bond issue were received from a number of Texas leaders including Congressman Joe Eagle, Congressman J. J. Mansfield, Congressman Clark Thompson, Mrs. R. P. Lindsay and Mrs. J. W. Fincher, state women leaders, Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls, C. C. Small of Amarillo and many others.

It was explained by speakers at the meeting that the solution of the relief question by adoption of the bond issue proposal is one of the most vital steps linking with President Franklin D. Roosevelt's national recovery program. It was also pointed out that the resolution submitting the amendment specifically provides that no ad val-lorem tax may be assessed against real or personal property to pay off the bonds.

According to figures made available to the meeting by Col. Westbrook, the state administrator, request has been made for allotment of federal funds to Gray county by the county administrator and county board of welfare and employment for 710 families numbering approximately 3,558 persons for the month of August. These families are being cared for entirely out of federal funds which will be halted after September 1 unless the bond issue authority is approved by the voters of the state.

Tropical Disturbance Adds New Menace To Northeast Storm In New Jersey

By The Associated Press
NINE persons were known to be dead and perhaps 20 missing in a storm that began Sunday and battered parts of the eastern seaboard with increasing fury today.

A tropical disturbance, sweeping from the vicinity of Bermuda, added another menace to northeast gales.

Southern New Jersey's coast was hit hardest. Starting Sunday as a "dry" gale, which scattered 100 small vessels, capizing at least nine, the storm brought record rains today. In a few hours 4.73 inches fell at Atlantic City.

Part of the contents of a butter and egg store in the same city floated away. Tides covered railroad tracks and highways. Coast guardsmen feared weakened seawalls all along the coast would fall before the roaring combers.

Bathing was forbidden at Ocean City, N. J., and other places. In Chesapeake Bay a tug had capsized, drowning at least one man.

Northeast storm warnings flew at Cape Hatteras, rain squalls were reported from Florida, and a light drizzle fell in parts of Georgia.

Montana had weather troubles of a different kind. A snowstorm broke trees and ruined gardens in full flower. An inch of snow fell there and in other parts of the Rockies.

LOW LIVING COSTS, FRIENDLY

BEAT-DEPRESSION SPIRIT, WILL ATTRACT STUDENTS TO CANYON

A new plan of granting credit which will enable students to attend as few as 9 weeks was outlined to prospective students of West Texas Teachers college here yesterday by Prof. Mitchell Jones of the Canyon faculty.

Prof. Jones said he found much interest in the college and in the Harvesters athletes who will be on the football team next term. The fall semester will open September 10.

Instead of the former three-quarter plan per regular term, there is now a two-semester term for the 9 months, with each semester split into 9 week units. For $16.50, a student may pay his tuition, hospital and laboratory fees, student activity fee, and other fees regularly required.

In a girls' dormitory, a cooperative plan enables students to live there for as little as $13 per month, of which $6 may be approved produce sent from home. Reservations will be taken for about 100 girls under this plan. A limited number of boys will live similarly at the college farm.

Prof. Jones emphasized that it was not necessary to study for the school teaching profession. Courses preparatory to careers in business, engineering, medicine, law, chemistry, architecture, and other trades and professions may be taken with full credit given at the universities.

Because of the low cost and democratic atmosphere of the college as compared to universities during the depression, Prof. Jones said, many new students will enroll at Canyon next fall.

Mrs. Max Mahaffey was admitted to Pampa hospital this morning for a major operation.

Heleen Marie Loomis had her tonsils removed at Worley hospital this morning.

DRUG STORES AND GROCERS NOT AFFECTED

PRICE CUTTING WOULD BE PROHIBITED IN AGREEMENT

BY JAMES COPE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The retail trade's code of fair practice, affecting more employers, workers and communities than any compact yet taken up by the national recovery administration, entered today the stage of public hearings while officials sought to complete a new agreement to cover the entire bituminous coal industry.

There was hope, after late night conferences, that the latter part would be done speedily so this basic industry could join steel, oil, cotton textiles, and lumber under codes promulgated by President Roosevelt.

Once coal was out of the way, it was Johnson's intention to go after a solution of issues surrounding the pay and hour fixing code of the automobile industry.

The retail agreement on today's hearing docket covered virtually all store sales except food and drugs. The code was presented by the national retail furniture, hardware, shoe, clothing, dry goods, and mail order associations. Some of its terms already are in temporary effect through substitution of wage sections for provisions of the president's re-employment agreement.

A code for food and grocery stores will be taken up soon at the agricultural administration, while the retail drug agreement hearing will be started Friday by the NRA.

Even before the latter starts, final preparations will be made for next week's re-employment drive. That movement, with a flurry of national and local speechmaking, will carry forward an intensive door-to-door canvass of stores and homes to enlist every last employer and consumer and to assure that those who now display the blue eagle comply with the agreement or surrender the badge of cooperation.

In today's retail code a forty-hour work week, except for 48 hours in rush periods three weeks each six months, is called for in all communities over 2,500 population, with store operation hours maintained at 52 or the existing schedule. Minimum wage scale from $14 in cities over half a million, to $13 between 2,500 and 100,000 population, with a $1 a week reduction in the south, including Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Texas, and all states east of the Mississippi and south of Kentucky, West Virginia, and Maryland, inclusive.

The agreement seeks to prohibit price cutting. It requires that no retail sales shall be made below a figure ten per cent above delivered cost, actual or current, with exceptions for seasonal clearances of perishable or damaged goods, plainly advertised as such.

Under the agreement also, no store would be permitted to advertise that it was underselling competitors or to make any reference to goods or policies of competitors. Sale of convict or prison made goods would be prohibited.

Panhandle Gas Will Be Burned In 'Twin Cities'

AMARILLO, Aug. 22 (AP)—The North American Oil and Gas company has announced letting of a contract for a 60-mile extension of its line from the Panhandle field to the middlewest, to serve St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The extension will be built from Watana, Minn. Eighteen inch pipe will be laid. The pipe line's load from the field will be increased by 3,000,000 cubic feet daily. The line ready serves cities in Iowa, Nebraska, and Minnesota.

Natural gas for industrial purposes, and mixed gas for domestic use, will be supplied to the Twin Cities by the company, which is known there as the Northern Gas and Pipe Line company. Construction will begin at once.

S. A. Burns transacted business in Panhandle this morning.

The HIDDEN DOOR

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Colin Hewitt must deliver a letter to Joe Lazarre, who lives at a crooks' hangout on the St. Lawrence that passes for a club. Colin hopes, with the letter, to secure Lazarre's aid against the Mask, New York killer. Intending to warn the club of an impending attack by Dol-laire's schooner full of hi-jackers, Colin borrows Germaine Tremblay's motor boat for the journey. Germaine, who loves Colin, secretes herself aboard; he leaves her with the boat, but before he reaches the club he is slugged and tied by two of Dol-laire's men.

Chapter 24

THE BATTLE BEGINS

Germaine! A moment of mental torment came and passed—replaced by a reassuring thought that flashed into his mind. The launch was well hidden in the shadows, back there along the river, and it was not at all likely that any search would be made for it.

The only risk on this score was the chance of contact with, and recognition by, Larocque and Bolduc, but these two men here were not Larocque and Bolduc, and from what they had said he gathered that having now been rendered innocuous, he would be left where he was, and that they were callously indifferent as to what became of him afterward. For the time being then, at least, this meant safety for Germaine, thank God!

The gag in his mouth, distorting his lips and jaws, brought him brutal discomfort, his wrists felt numb where the belt was lashed around them. He strained a little at the lashing ineffectually; but otherwise he made no movement. His eyes, fastened on the two men, they were standing within a foot or two of him. Both were armed with what looked like sawed-off shotguns—the built of one of which he had no doubt, had crashed against his skull not so very long ago. They were silent now, saying nothing—waiting.

His eyes searched past the two men. The power house, which he could still see from where he lay, was, as Bouchard had said, only a few yards away from the club—perhaps forty at the outside. Trees, rising from the slope of the river bank, showed between the two buildings; but just beyond the power house, there was an open space where there were no trees, and it seemed as though he could catch in the moonlight a glimpse of white, tumbling water.

There was no sign of any of the rest of Dol-laire's men, nothing to indicate where they might be stationed except for that single open space beyond the power house, the entire clearing was bordered by wooded land.

His glance rested on the two men again for an instant, and then, as though in a sort of premonitory fascination, his eyes fixed and held on the clubhouse in front of him. Details were of no consequence, but he found them registering themselves on his mind in an extraordinary sort of way. What difference did it make that the club was built in the style of a bungalow, that it was roomy and large, that it had a veranda on at least the two sides that he could see, and that the rest are all down below in the power house, so you do not need any more men here. Bouchard is not sure, but he thinks there may be some way to get out of the power house from down below. So Dol-laire is putting some of the boys on guard amongst the trees all the way down to the river on both sides of the power house. You understand, eh?"

"Sure!" approved Christopher tersely. "And then Dol-laire and the rest smash in the power house door, eh? What did I tell you, Baptiste? That Dol-laire, there, he is like the fox!"

"Let Paul talk," grunted Baptiste. "He is not through yet."

"No," said Paul. "Listen! When Dol-laire and the rest of us creep up to the power house, and just as we rush the door, Dol-laire will fire a shot or two. When they hear that, the two men in the club house will come running out and—"

"Damn!" Baptiste swore gruffly. "They will not run far!"

"That is the reason you are here," Paul chuckled evilly. "Very well, when you are sure they will go with the boys that are on guard amongst the trees on the right-hand side; and you, Baptiste, you will go to the left side. That is where we will need good shots if the trap has a hole in it. That's all. In two or three minutes now—as soon as I get back to Dol-laire—and then it will be a big night!"

The man was gone.

"I will take the one that comes out first," announced Baptiste gruffly.

"Good," agreed Christopher. "That is all right for me."

Colin's eyes roved in a hunted way around the clearing. Queer the shapes and movements that the trees took in the moonlight! No not trees! These weren't trees—they were crouched forms of men moving swiftly out from the edge of the trees and heading towards the power house. There seemed to be a great many of them.

Lazarre! The abysmal irony of it! A chill horror gripped at his heart. He had not come here to warn Lazarre—he had come here to see Lazarre die. Over there—as Lazarre stepped out on the veranda, "X marks the spot," Savagery tore at Colin's soul. What made him think of that? Like some reproduction of the scene where the butchery took place, and the body—

A shot rang out from the direction of the power house—another—and still another. Colin felt the blood drain from his face as his eyes fixed again on the front door of the clubhouse. He did not want to look, but he could not drag his eyes away from that door.

Subconsciously he was aware that the two men had moved out into the clearing and subconsciously he was aware that there was movement noise, turmoil in front of the power house—but his eyes, did not leave the clubhouse door.

The door was suddenly flung open. The light from the interior streamed out and made a path just across the veranda. Framed in the doorway stood a tall, fair-haired man. Colin's brain became on the instant strangely clear, strangely incisive, as though it were something that was no part of himself, but was as a machine which, although it functioned with precision, was immune from emotion.

SPELLING BEE
SUNNEYTOWN, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP)—Students of the late Prof. Henry E. Hartzell might forget the boundaries of some European nation with impunity or fail to solve an algebra problem, but they dared not misspell a word.

Here for a reunion, the old grads held a memorial service for Sunneytown academy's traditional figure and later bowed their heads at his grave. Then they observed the day as Prof. Hartzell might have wished. They held a spelling bee.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO FLY EIGHT DAYS AND NIGHTS WITHOUT A STOP

● FRANCES MARSALIS AND LOUISE THADEN set the world's endurance flight record for women when they brought their plane down at Curtiss Field, Long Island, after flying more than 196 hours without a stop through fog, rain, blinding sun, and pitch-black night.

● IN ADDITION to their astounding endurance flight, Miss Marsalis (Left) and Miss Thaden hold many other flying records. Miss Marsalis is the women's champion stunt flyer of the world. It takes healthy nerves to fly...doubly so to fly like these two young women. It is significant that both are enthusiastic Camel smokers.

STEADY SMOKERS TURN TO CAMELS

MISS THADEN says: "Flying is a terrific strain at times. I frankly don't know what I should do without cigarettes. But I've found that different cigarettes have different effects on my nerves. For some years I've smoked Camels. They taste better. They're much milder. And I've noticed that they never upset my nerves."

MISS MARSALIS says: "I started smoking Camels because most of my friends who were flyers seemed to prefer them. I've never changed because I can't afford to take chances with my nervous system."

Camel's costlier tobaccos do make a difference...in taste, in mildness, They never jangle the nerves. Your taste and your nerves will confirm this. Turn to Camels.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. You will find Camels rich in flavor and delightfully mild.

A MATCHLESS BLEND

CAMEL

● WHAT A THRILL! And how a good smoke adds to its enjoyment! Light up a cigarette. And for the sake of your nerves, make it a Camel...the milder cigarette that's made from costlier tobaccos.

STYLE REVUE AND STAGE SHOW WILL BE EARLY FALL EVENT

Mrs. Henry Is Named President When Baptist Women Elect Officers for Year

A CENTURY OF FASHION WILL BE PRESENTED

MERCHANTS WILL AID IN SPONSORING STYLE EVENT

SLATED for September 5 at the city hall under the sponsorship of the Pampa Daily News, with nine Pampa merchants cooperating, the Century of Fashion revue promises to be an outstanding entertainment and style event.

"Heads Up," a brilliant stage show featuring well-known radio artists and orchestra, will be featured along with the style pageant. A revue of itself, the stage show will be the supporting unit for the fashion promenade, in which many living models will appear in latest fashions and some very old ones.

Presenting the last word in early fall and winter fashions, J. C. Penney company, Murfee's Inc., Mitchell's, Levine's, Carter's, Kees & Thomas, Violet Shoppe, L. T. Hill company, and Brown Shoe Store will cooperate with THE NEWS.

Early Bird Leader Director, With Jimmie Jefferies, the "round razzur" of the Early Birds as master of ceremonies, "Heads Up" swings immediately into a drama of fashion. Period costumes interpreting the mode of every decade from 1833 to 1933 will be shown on living models. Costumes are authentic reproductions taken from Vogue, Harper's Bazaar, and Butterick.

Special orchestration and songs have been prepared for this revue. Such a promise promises to be extremely interesting for the audience, as the smartest fashions for the Fall and Winter of 1933 will be shown as they reflect the styles of the past century.

Ligon Smith will play. Ligon Smith and his band of ten versatile musicians are to come to Pampa direct from leading metropolitan hotel ballrooms and roof gardens where they have been playing during the summer season, to furnish music for the revue.

Fred Lowery, throat whistler; Norm Norman, sensational high kick dancer, a premier danseuse of the Radio-Orpheum circuit, and Frances Van Cleave, torch singer, are to be program entertainers. Helen Wheeler and Mynette Fritts, public pony stars in scintillating stomp rhythm, will appear on the program as the "Lane Sisters."

Arthur Barton, the noted "Mr. Flurbottom," whom Jimmy Jefferies accuses of being the "thickest hick from the sticks," will complete the cast along with "Rats Hill" tenor balladist; Jimmy McManus, soloist; Wilbur Ard, "Scat" singer, the style made popular by Cal Caloway, and Jimmy Stewart, comedian de luxe.

Admission to the great stage show and revue of fashions will be 50 cents straight. The performance will start at 8 o'clock.

Ligon Smith and his famous orchestra will go directly from the stage to the Pla-Mor auditorium, where he will play for dancing that night only.

Frozen Desserts Are Refreshing On Summer Days

Menus and Recipes Prepared by Department of Home Economics, Texas State College for Women.

Cold desserts prove an interesting and welcome addition to a meal at any time of year, but they are especially refreshing during the hot days of summer. They may be prepared in advance and left in the ice box to chill until they are needed.

Cutting down on the amount of time spent over the gas range is an item which should be considered. It seems that you usually have to have a few hot dishes in the main course of your meal, but what is more tempting than an ice cold dessert. It is so easily prepared.

When you intend to go shopping in the morning, mix one of the desserts and put it in the refrigerator and it will be ready to dish out and serve when you return hot and tired. Or don't you like Sunday meals that can be partially prepared on Saturday and put it in the ice box for Sunday.

Desserts Refreshing. Here are suggested menus for two days with easily prepared refreshing desserts.

Breakfast: Iced orange juice, bacon, toast, strawberry preserves, coffee, milk.

Lunch: Sautéed parsnips, black-eyed peas, buttered carrots, whole wheat bread, butter, frozen sliced peaches, iced tea.

Dinner: Hawaiian ham, creamed lima beans, pickled beets, stuffed eggs, hot rolls, butter, head lettuce salad, chocolate ice box cake.

Breakfast: Frozen grapes, broiled tomato slice, scrambled eggs on toast, coffee, milk.

Lunch: Duchesse potatoes, asparagus, buttered corn, graham muffins, butter, cantaloupe a la mode.

Dinner: Tomato gelatin and chicken loaf, spinach with hard-boiled eggs, cold salad, bread, butter, iced coffee or tea, ice box pineapple cake.

Cold Sweets Recipes. Frozen Sliced Peaches: Slice the peaches in any size slice you wish and sugar them if desired. Put them in your refrigerator pan and serve them when slightly frozen. A delicious and very inexpensive dessert for this month.

TRULY ALL-STAR CAST WILL BE SEEN IN "BIG DRIVE" AS LEGION SPONSORS PICTURE

No picture of record has ever boasted a cast of equal fame to compare with the endless parade of outstanding personalities found in the world war film, The Big Drive, coming to the La Nora theater under the auspices of the Pampa American Legion.

The cast, with its background of millions of soldiers of every nation that participated in this greatest of all wars, has names known to every man, woman, and child.

German's Kaiser and his son, the Crown Prince are shown directing the German troops. Foch of France, Haig of England, Pershing of the United States, commanders of the nation's forces directing allied strategy. Highlights that include the funeral of Richthofen, German flying ace; the funeral of the first American soldier killed in action and countless other important events are recorded in this great film.

Woodrow Wilson addresses the congress of the United States, declares war. The Lusitania shown leaving port for the last time. Endless other events that have their important connections in the continuity of this gigantic story, all compiled from official government film, built at the sacrifice of 45 cameramen's lives.

The Big Drive, having its premier showing in Chicago, immediately became a nation-wide sensation, and has received more favorable comment than any other picture of its type in the history of the motion picture.

Fashion Makes Much Of Black Satin

Sleek black satin—nothing's smarter with touches of white this season. We've sketched the perfect frock for it, too: a simple Easy-to-Make model with slim, tubular lines that set off the fabric to perfection.

Notice this neckline—it's New! The little white collar follows the V-outline of the frock part way, then pulls up short, the tie-ends knotted in a bow, leaving a charming bit of one's neck revealed below. The sleeves are the new modified type, with just a hint of Gibson Girl in the gathered shoulders.

This frock is marvelously flattering to all types of figures—and any beginner can make it. Size 16 requires 3 3/4 yards 39-inch material. 3 1/2 yard 39-inch contrasting to trim. Width about 1 1/2 yard.

The Fall Fashion Book is just out—ready with ideas about the new fashions, fabrics and colors to help you plan a smart but inexpensive wardrobe.

Pattern No. 5289 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 bust.

SPECIALISTS SEE 'SLEEPING SICKNESS' EPIDEMIC AS WORST

Arkansas Banks To Have Little 'Robbery Loot'

LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 22 (AP)—State banks have gone under a drastic order of State Bank Commissioner Marion Wasson prohibiting them from carrying cash on hand of more than one per cent of their total deposits.

Determined, he said, to stop bank robberies, which number this year more than 50, Wasson exercised authority granted him under a 1933 legislative act to force banks to "take the profit out of banditry."

Under his regulation banks accepting deposits which aggregate in any day more than one per cent of their total deposits must place the excess cash under time lock. While this is being done they either must lock the doors of the bank or station two armed guards at the entrances.

Wasson announced also that two large insurance companies had agreed to insure cash if the banks were placed under such regulations. Otherwise, he said, banks either must do without insurance or pay an exorbitant premium.

Special permission to carry more cash on hand than permitted under the regulations will be granted in some instances, Wasson said, but banks desiring to do so must apply in advance.

Federal Judge James C. Wilson announced the time of the hearing here today. He will leave Wednesday morning for Fort Worth.

The Shannons are held in connection with the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping at Oklahoma City. Sam Sayre of Fort Worth, counsel for the family, conferred here late Monday with Judge Wilson about setting the hearing. Sayre went to Denver from Amarillo.

SITUATION IN ST. LOUIS IS SERIOUS NOW

SCIENCE KNOWS LITTLE ABOUT FIGHTING DISEASE

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 22 (AP)—The epidemic of "sleeping sickness" in this vicinity was described here today by Dr. J. P. Leake of the United States Public Health Service as being by far the most serious outbreak the country has ever known. The deaths during the last twenty-four hours have brought the number of victims of the strange malady of encephalitis to fifteen while 149 persons were reported ill with the disease.

Dr. Leake, who was dispatched here from Washington when the outbreak first became serious, said there was no reason to fear the epidemic would resume proportions of a plague, however, and that there should be no undue alarm.

Cure Sought
"The situation in St. Louis, nevertheless, must be regarded as serious," he said, "as science knows little about the disease."

"Next in seriousness to the St. Louis and St. Louis county epidemics," Dr. Leake added, "was the one in Spokane, Wash., during years of 1919, 1920 and 1921. Over the three-year period nineteen persons died, but the total number of patients did not compare with those already ill here."

Dr. Leake was joined here yesterday by Dr. Charles Armstrong, also of the federal health service, who will aid in laboratory work in an effort to find a cause, carrier, preventive or cure for the disease.

Dr. Ralph Muckenfuss of Washington university, in an effort to produce an immunizing serum, has been conducting research with monkeys, inoculating them with various materials from patients. A shipment of twenty-four of the animals will arrive here from the East within a few days, Dr. Leake said.

In addition to the St. Louis district fatalities, deaths were reported yesterday from two other cities, Kansas City, Kas., and Warrensburg, Mo. Mrs. Effie Brooks of Ottawa, Kas., died in a Kansas City hospital, and the death of Mrs. Jas. E. Rutherford of Mars Hill, N. C., was reported at Warrensburg.

Mrs. Rutherford recently passed through St. Louis on a bus, but the physician who attended her said he did not believe her illness had any connection with the St. Louis epidemic.

The latest victims of the malady were Miss Vivian Freeman, 20, of suburban Carsonville, and Robert Raust, 3, of Weston, another suburb, and Franck Hockmann of Pine Lon.

son problem. Heavy state and federal taxes are certain, and the counties are sure to add their taxes. It has been proved in the case of gasoline, that the heavier the tax the more numerous the violations.

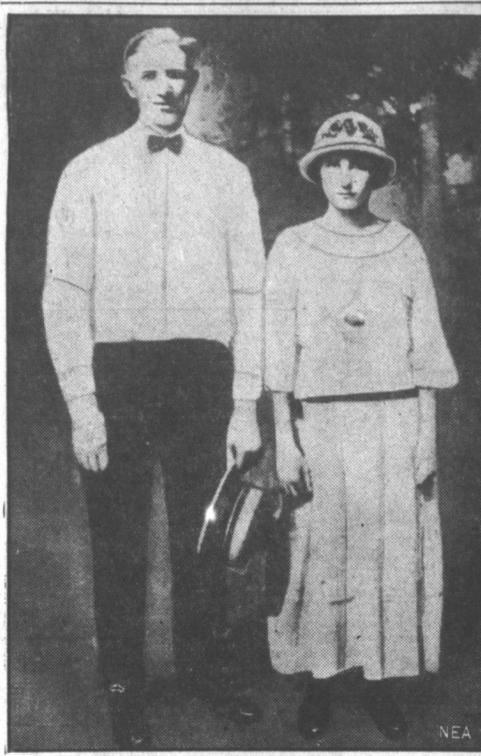

MORE THAN THAT

Furthermore, it is proposed to legalize and to tax beer up to 3.2 per cent. In other words, it is not proposed to legalize any "beer" but rather a specific, weak sort of malt beverage. Actually most of the beer sold will likely be above 3.2 per cent. Such beer is as illegal as whiskey and it is a felony to sell it. Some of the beer sold here and in this section has been as low as 2 per cent and as high as 3.18 per cent or even more. All beer above 1 per cent of alcohol by volume is now illegal and "intoxicating" by legal definition. Actually many doubt that 3.2 per cent beer is intoxicating after seeing men drink up to 8 bottles of it at conventions without showing the exhilaration and unbalancing of senses which the dictionary mentions.

WHAT OF HOME BREW?

The home-brewed beverage made of malt and called beer contains as high as 14 per cent of alcohol, possibly more, and therefore has a "kick" which 3.2 beer does not possess. Many persons, therefore, may continue to buy bottle home-made beer because it is non-taxed and contains a "kick." The state will have no authority to tax any beer containing more than 3.2 per cent of alcohol. . . . Will the citizenship, if it approves sale of 3.2 beer, require convictions in home-brew beer cases and cases involving beer having more than 3.2 per cent alcohol? . . . Will it condone evasions of the beer taxes and licenses? . . . We expect, we presume, that the "legitimate" beer trade which pays taxes—if beer is voted August 26—to demand that tax-evading competitors be enjoined. This would be logical and prosecutions would tend to encourage tax payments in which the hard-pressed schools will share. . . . But our point is that it is possible to remove the beer question as a troublesome issue. As long as we have human nature and human appetites, not to mention greed and unfair competition, we will be unable to solve such problems entirely by legislation.

Silenced With Poison

WHEN a small auto veered off the road and crashed into a fence near Malvern, Ark., witnesses found bodies of Alvin Colley and his wife of Akron, O., pictured above, and the bodies of two of their children, in the car. A third child was found alive. The sixth occupant of the car, Mark Shank, Akron lawyer, fled, but was captured. Authorities said Shank confessed that he poisoned the car, fearing that Colley would talk about a lawsuit Shank was defending.

REPEAL VOTE MIGHT HAVE AIDED BONDS

State Prohibition Repeal Cannot Be Voted On Before July of 1934.

By CHARLES E. SIMONS
AUSTIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—Anti-prohibitionists believe they overlooked an opportunity during the last session of the legislature to obtain a vote on repeal of the prohibition section of the state constitution.

A proposal providing for tying up state prohibition repeal with the $20,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue would have made the opportunity, they believe. The inducement offered to the electorate would have been to repeal state prohibition and vote the bond issue and amortizing the bonds from revenues derived from a tax on the sale of liquor.

The bond issue amendment was submitted and if voted the legislature will be called upon to make some other provision for a sinking fund sufficient to pay off the bonds within ten years.

State prohibition repeal cannot be submitted before the regular session in 1935 since proposed amendments to the state constitution can be placed before the electorate only by the legislature in regular session.

NO ONE HAS EVER FOUND THE BODY OF A WILD ELEPHANT THAT HAS DIED A NATURAL DEATH!

CHICKADEES IN THE NORTH WOODS LINE THEIR NESTS WITH RABBIT FUR!

HUNTERS have searched vainly for the mythical elephant graveyards, where great piles of ivory are supposed to await the lucky finder, but so far none has been found. Smaller animals can be entirely eaten, bones and all, by vultures and hyenas, but an elephant carcass cannot be disposed of in this manner. It is one more of Nature's secrets that man's prying eyes have yet to discover.

POSSE READY TO SLAY NEW MEXICO GANG

200 OFFICERS DECLARE WAR ON MURDEROUS DESPERADOES

CLOVIS, N. M., Aug. 22 (AP)—Aroused by ruthless depredations of gunmen and the slaying of six well-known southwestern peace officers, a posse of 200 men—every one ready to shoot—has declared war to the death on bands of desperate criminals infesting the one-time stamping-grounds of "Billy the Kid."

The posse, probably the largest ever organized in this section, was recruited around a nucleus of sheriffs, deputies and former Texas rangers when it became apparent that peace officers, acting individually, were unable to combat the desperadoes successfully.

When "things are quiet" its members on both sides of the Texas-New Mexico line. But all are ready on a moment's notice to take the trail and follow it to the end.

Fort Strong
One of their most recent forays took them into the Pecos river country where Billy the Kid made his last stand and where sheep and cattle men fought the "Lincoln County War." Gathering at Fort Sumner, the giant posse set out in fast motorcars for Ramon N. M., a tiny wayside trading post. Here they picked up the winding trails leading to the badlands and the reputed hideout of one of the more desperate bands.

They found the rendezvous—a big stone sheep corral converted into a veritable fortress—but their quarry had fled. At strategic points in the vicinity they found circular lookout posts or gun pits, built of rock, from which the whole countryside might be surveyed.

Except by siege and starvation, possemen who inspected the fort said, its capture from well-armed defenders would be virtually impossible.

'DETECTIVE' TALES LIKED BY GREAT MEN AND SMALL BECAUSE THEY SOOTHE INSTEAD OF EXCITE

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The psychological reason why great men and others like detective stories is out—the tales are soothing. They cut the pulse rate, lower blood pressure and steady motor nerves. Furthermore, women react to them like the men.

These experiments are published by Ray Mars Simpson, psychologist at the Institute for juvenile research of Chicago. His test readers were 40 university students, 24 men and 16 women. Their ages were 18 to 41. While wearing attachments to record their physical status, they read detective stories, history, psychology and geography, in 15 minute periods, for six successive days. The first, third and fifth days were devoted to detective stories.

The instruments showed that the rate of breathing was consistently faster while reading detective stories, and deeper during exciting than less-exciting sleuthing tales. But this speeded up breathing was on a declining rate, longer they read the slower it dropped.

"Reading detective stories," Dr. Simpson states, "tends to reduce the pulse rate more than reading academic material. The blood pressure falls to practically the same final level at the end of 15-minute periods devoted to either detective stories or geography. Motor steadiness is improved more by reading detective stories than by reading history."

"In short, the great majority of detective stories are soothing rather than exciting. Believe it or not, detective stories are interesting rather than exciting. They act as a sedative for tired business men."

Reach for a Lucky

—for always Luckies Please!

I feel closer to my cigarette each time I smoke

I really can't help it. After all, one does develop a personal regard for a thing that comes in such intimate contact with one's lips. And since I am a woman, I do appreciate the fact that my Lucky Strike never offends my fastidious sense of daintiness. Men smile at my feminine reasoning. To them the character of Luckies' fine tobaccos seems more important. But my woman's intuition tells me that the purity of "Toasting" is never to be forgotten. And so, the more I smoke, the closer I feel to my cigarette.
