CHRISTMAS

In the OIL FIELDS

Daily production in the Panhandle field decreased only 156 barrels last week. Gray county showed daily increase of 404 barrels when one new producer was added to the list. Other counties slumped slightly.

The field was quiet during the week.

Daily production by counties:
Prev. Last
County Wells Wk. Wk.
Carson 249 5,330 5,377
Gray 803 28,582 28,986
Hutchinson 836 10,478 10,236
Moore 23 812 695
Wheeler 44 1,152 1,156
Totals 1,955 45,608 45,450
Decrease, 156 barrels.

The field was comparatively quiet during the week, several fishing jobs holding up new production. New locations made last week had the rigs completed and several spudded in and drilling. There was no new production.

All eyes were turned to Austin where a state-wide oil hearing to enact new rules following a recent called session of the legislature which gave the railroad commission the right to control over-production not only from the point of waste but of supply and demand.

Two members of the Panhandle oil and gas division of the state railroad commission, J. M. McDonald and W. B. Hamilton, are being kept busy preparing statistics and plans on which to base new regulations for the Panhandle field.

Yesterday at Austin the state-wide "oil hearing" was patterned after the Oklahoma law, which has been upheld by the federal court. The Panhandle picture will be outlined in the city auditorium at Amarillo, December 12, when a special hearing will open at 10 o'clock.

In this hearing, marketing of oil and gas will be considered, and special attention will be given to allegedly wasteful practices in the manufacture of casinghead gasoline. Proposed new regulations are in the hands of producers and refiners for study.

Meantime, the court exemption of the Danciger Oil and Refining company continues to get the attention of the railroad commission and many producers. Until this order is lifted, producers offsetting the Danciger wells in Gray county will be provisionally exempt from proration allowances, but the excess oil must not affect the market for the regular allowable.

The exception was made to prevent drainage from lands adjacent to those of the Danciger company.

Other exemptions have been made producers of wells making much water. All orders are subject to change after the announced hearings are held. The exemptions were made following a hearing held by Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson here in October.

R. E. Thompson of Miami was visiting friends and shopping Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Vincent of Miami were Pampa visitors yesterday.

Gus Rice of Skellytown visited in Pampa Saturday.

ROOSEVELT IN SESSION WITH FARM LEADERS

HOPES CONGRESS WILL AID FARMER IN SHORT TERM

UNIONS TO MEET SOON

LEGISLATION DESIRED FOR HANDLING THE 1933 CROP

WARM SPRINGS, Nov. 26. (AP)—In an hour's conference with a group of farm leaders, Franklin D. Roosevelt told them today he hoped the short session of congress would enact legislation for handling the problem which will be raised by the 1933 crop.

The meeting, one of a series of those the president-elect will hold in involving a plan for dealing with the agricultural question, brought at its end an announcement from Louis J. Taber, master of the national grange, that a joint gathering of five farm organizations will be held in Washington shortly to seek an agreement upon the method to be employed.

Such a meeting will be in line with the proposal made by Mr. Roosevelt in his farm relief speech at Topeka at the beginning of his western campaign trip.

Taber said that while he gained the impression the president-elect did not wish to be placed in the position of appearing to dictate to congress at the short session, Mr. Roosevelt indicated he desired some legislation to be enacted for dealing with the 1933 crop.

They did not put any cut and dried program for dealing with agriculture before Mr. Roosevelt, but did urge some method by which the farmer might hold his farm and home. This also was one of the points stressed by the president-elect in both his Topeka and his Sioux City speeches.

Under the plan outlined by the farm leaders for dealing with surplus crops the farm board would be given the authority to employ the method a majority of its members deemed most feasible. Their proposal is similar to the plan outlined in a bill reported to the senate at the last session by its agriculture committee but never acted upon by that branch.

Kiwanis Jars Yield Pennies To Feed Tots

The "penny jars" placed in various stores throughout the city were checked by members of the Kiwanis club yesterday. Some of the jars contained as many as two or three hundred cents.

Every penny that is placed in these jars will go to feed the school children who otherwise would have to go without lunch.

A report made by school officials recently showed that 1095 school children were fed in a period of 30 days who could not afford to pay for their lunch.

The money is divided among the various school cafeterias and sponsored use it to purchase more food. Donations of groceries and canned goods are also being received.

DESTITUTE MEN PAID $541 FOR 5 DAYS' WORK; RESTERS WARNED

Seventy-five unemployed men received $541.50 yesterday morning from the relief money secured by the Pampa Relief committee through the federal loan. One group was given work last Monday morning and worked through Wednesday. Another group worked Thursday and Friday.

A third group of 35 men will be given work Monday. A different number will work the latter part of the week. Many of the men employed last week were "shovel resters" and their names have been filed. They will be given one more chance to work and then dropped from the list, if they continue to rest.

McWRIGHT BOY GIVEN DAMAGES IN CRASH SUIT

Jury Returns Verdict of $25,000 for Plaintiff

A $25,000 verdict in favor of the plaintiff, Lemuel McWright, against the Panhandle and Santa Fe railroad was returned by a jury in 31st district court late Friday. The jury was out almost two days.

The plaintiff was injured in a collision between the car in which he was riding and a tank car at the Cuyler street crossing in Pampa.

The jury was submitted 40 issues regarding the collision. It found that the engineer failed to keep the engine bell ringing from a distance of 80 yards west of Cuyler street up to the time of the accident; that this was negligence on the part of the railroad company and was a proximate cause of the injury of the youth.

The jury also found that the company failed to put a light on the east end of the train or tank car; that the flagman failed to display a light in such manner as to warn the plaintiff; that these features comprise negligence and were proximate causes of the accident. The jury found further that the "collision was not the result of an unavoidable accident and that the plaintiff had his automobile under control at the time.

McWright was represented by W. M. Lewright and B. L. Parker. Attorneys for the railroad company were Hoover and Cussen of Canadian, and Willis, Studer and Studer, Pampa.

AGENTS TO SPUR County Agent Ralph Thomas and Miss Ruby Adams, county home demonstration agent, will be in Spur most of this week attending the annual district convention for county and home demonstration agents. They left yesterday and will attend the sessions Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Much valuable information is gained at such meetings where ideas are exchanged and information given through questions, the Gray county representatives say.

SEVERE PAINS PUTS MAGNATE UNDER KNIFE

EXPECTS TO LEAVE HIS HOSPITAL IN 'A WEEK OR SO'

ATTACK FOLLOWS COLD HERNIA OPERATION NOT EXPECTED TO BE SERIOUS

DETROIT, Nov. 26. (AP)—Henry Ford, stricken suddenly with the first series illness of his 69 years, underwent an emergency operation this afternoon at Henry Ford hospital.

An announcement from the hospital said Mr. Ford was operated on at 5 p. m. for strangulated femoral hernia, and that at 8 p. m. his pulse and temperature were normal and that he was resting well.

The operation was performed by Dr. Roy D. McClure, head of the hospital into which the motor magnate put $10,000,000 during the world war.

Mr. Ford, who on his 69th birthday last July 30 spoke of his unusually vigorous health, complained of a cold yesterday and left his office at the Ford Motor company.

This afternoon he complained of further pains, and the operation was decided on after an examination. He was accompanied to the hospital from his Dearborn estate by Mrs. Ford, his son, Edsel Ford, Mrs. Edsel Ford and Harry Bennett, head of the Ford company's service division.

COMMISSION
MAY RECEIVE
HIGHWAY BIDS

INJUNCTION TO ALLOW TABULATION IN NEW ORDER

GRANT COUNTER MOVE

CONTRACTS CANNOT BE AWARDED UNDER ACTION

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—A temporary injunction restraining the Texas Highway commission from entering in further construction contracts at this time was modified today by order of Judge C. A. Wheeler of Travis county district court.

The order was modified to permit the commission to receive bids on approximately $4,000,000 worth of projects advertised to be awarded Monday and Tuesday. Under the modification the commission may receive the bids and tabulate them but not award contracts.

Judge Wheeler directed that save for the modification granted by him a restraining order issued on yesterday by Judge J. D. Moore, of another Travis county district court, should stand. Judge Moore had granted the original order on application of James E. Ferguson, husband of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, governor-elect, who alleged among other things that the highway commission had awarded contracts in excess of its anticipated revenues for the fiscal year by more than $5,000,000.

Due to Fight Action.
Plans to combat the remaining effective portions of the temporary injunction probably will be discussed by W. R. Ely, commission chair-

At the Ford Motor company, officials said they were keeping in constant touch with the hospital. They said they expected Mr. Ford would be out of the hospital and able to return to his offices within "a week or so."

Eldridge Club Boy Leaves On Trip to Chicago

William Hall, member of the Eldridge 4-H club, left Friday night to attend the Boys' Educational Encampment in Chicago in session Nov. 27 to December 3. The youth will be the guest of the Santa Fe railroad company at the encampment. He was one of 19 boys selected over the state to make the trip. Boys in counties touching the Santa Fe railway are eligible to compete for the trip.

Buck Explains Per Well, Acreage and Bottom-Hole Scheme.

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—Dissatisfaction of a group of operators in the East Texas oil field with a proposed combination per-well acreage and bottom hole plan of prorationing production in that prolific area was expressed today near the end of the hearing before the Texas Railroad commission.

A majority of those who objected to the proposed arrangement, as explained by E. O. Buck, petroleum engineer for the commission, said they would be favorable to a per well and bottom hole pressure plan, the field to be divided into bottom hole pressure zones.

Some excitement was occasioned during the hearing when L. S. Flannery, of Longview, asked Carl Estes of Tyler, who was interrogating Buck at the time, if he didn't know that "the commission already has written the order."

C. V. Terrell, chairman, and Ernest O. Thompson, member of the commission, insisted on having Flannery sworn and placed on the witness stand to give what information he had about the commission having already made up its mind to Flannery went to the front with reluctance after Estes had told him that what he had intimated was "false and a reflection on the commission."

THE UNTAMED TONGUE: He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life; but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction.—Proverbs 13:3.

Interesting Days: An interesting period is before the people of Pampa. It is the Christmas season when thoughts turn to generosity and, somehow, people are made just a little more friendly, more alike in temperament, more akin in spirit.

Santa Claus, who lives and moves in the minds and hearts of young and old, will be here in person under the auspices of the Junior chamber of commerce.

Pampa should be properly decorated, streets and homes alike, early in December, so that this centrally located shopping point will be a pleasant place to visit.

Our Congratulations: Gray county's claim to distinction is steadily being enhanced in athletic circles by such schools as McLean and LeFors.

The Pampa Daily NEWS extends congratulations to these schools and their backers. Athletic prowess is not limited by the size of a school, although a shortage of reserve material makes achievements like McLean's all the more remarkable.

What of Hoover?: The country has written its disapproval of President Hoover's way of handling the depression. What historians will do when they start ranking him a few decades hence is another matter.

Mark Sullivan and many political writers are trying to say that Herbert Hoover will be a leader of the past in politics. But The Herald does not think so.

If Herbert Hoover chooses, The Herald believes that he can win the republican nomination for president in 1936: Unless some of the other republicans get more prestige, Hoover should win again on the first ballot, as he has the past two times.

As time goes along, the people will realize that the depression should not be laid to Hoover alone. The people then will be more lenient in their denunciation of Hoover.

No one need think that Hoover cannot come back. He has thousands of republican friends who will stay with him during the next four years to reorganize the party.

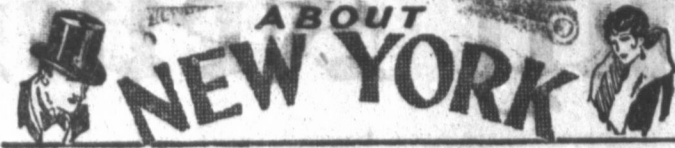

Ways to Cut Farm Taxes: America's farmers must be aided by reduced taxation to carry on while they await improvement in the prices of their products, states the research department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers.

Now that Poldi Milner, Viennese girl-pianist, has won her way past New York customs inspectors by playing Chopin for them, we expect to hear of some convivial soul striding up with bagpipes to slip through a quart of Scotch.

There may not be a loose dime in the country, but New York restaurateurs are putting a half-million dollars into a new Broadway night club to seat 1,000 persons.

Too big for a cell, a Cleveland weighing 493 pounds was acquitted of a liquor charge. Justice, it seems, will have to get a new pair of scales.

Well, the change in postmasters next spring may have one salutary effect. They may put new pens on the desks.

By WILLIAM GAINES: NEW YORK—Ever see a bongo? I'm sure you haven't, for the only one ever taken alive has just been purchased by the Bronx Zoo.

The gentlemen who study mammalia in the Bronx get all excited whenever a rare addition to the menagerie is expected. They get as fussed up as fond parents awaiting junior's vacation from college.

When I was out at the zoo the other afternoon they were in a high state of excitement over the coming of the young bongo from East Africa. They were concerned about how she would stand the sea voyage, and about just what the bongo would expect of them when she arrived.

You see, they know so little about the habits and tastes of the bongo that they were puzzled as to how to arrange her boudoir and her diet. There was no question—the arrival of the bongo would be a great event in the lives of Dr. W. Reid Blair, director of the zoological park, Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of mammals, their assistants, and the more enthusiastic members of the zoological society.

This infant bongo wandered away from its mother in the Aberdare mountains and was snared by Colonel E. Percy Smith, retired British army officer, who had but one purpose in life at the time—to capture a bongo.

The bongo is the second largest of the antelope tribe, the eland alone out-measuring him. Its color is chestnut, with white, zebra-like body stripes. Both sexes have horns which sometimes are 30 inches long.

The adult animal is so wild that it has eluded expedition after expedition, but advance reports said the baby bongo coming to America turned out to be very tame.

Revival of Crafts: We are told that the artisan who takes pride in his hand work is coming back in America to challenge the machine age.

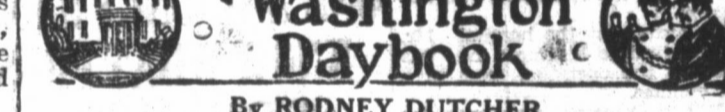

Perhaps the challenge won't make a very big dent in the general scheme of things, but persons who are connoisseurs of craftsmanship may get glow out of a project of the Y. W. C. A. and the New York Society of Craftsmen.

A studio has been opened on Tenth avenue to accommodate visiting craftsmen who are executing orders in New York, and pupils who are taking up the study of the crafts. It occupies a two-story building and contains vats for dyeing, looms for weaving, properly equipped tables and benches for metal work, leather tooling, wood carving and so on.

The craftsmen's society is an old organization, but didn't cut such figure until there came a renewal of interest recently in hand work. The membership of master craftsmen is a large one now, and the society has an exhibition gallery in the Art Center.

Cohans in Hollywood: Georg M. Cohan may get a bit uppity about the methods of the Hollywood movie makers (even while his one picture under their direction is pronounced a success), but that doesn't keep his daughter, Helen, from a decision to carry on in the talkies.

She has signed to play a feminine lead out there where as her pater said upon his return, "it's one happy family—dog eat dog." It's her first engagement since she was Will Rogers' daughter in the screen "Lightnin'."

WASHINGTON.—The world's greatest political tight rope act, performed for many months by Governor Roosevelt with marvelous skill and brilliant effect, is now going on the big time.

A large part of the audience wonders almost breathlessly whether the old master, laden now with a large pile of balls which must be carefully juggled, will be able to keep on the rope for the next four years or whether he will fall on his neck.

If he tumbles to one side he will fall among his friends the conservatives, and if he stumbles to the other side he will fall among his friends the progressives. Until now it has been very obvious that Roosevelt preferred the relative safety and comfort of the rope.

The governor's act began in a small way before the conventions when he was able to attract enough conservatives and enough progressives and enough wets and enough dries to get himself the nomination.

It brought down the house during the election campaign, when he achieved the complicated triple feat of corraling all the capitalists, industrialists and reactionaries in his own party, of retaining the enthusiastic support of the Democratic liberals and of luring nearly all the progressives out of the republican tent across the street.

Now, if he can hold all his public, he will have done something unprecedented. They will be pulling at him from each side—the conservatives and the progressives—which is always embarrassing for a tight rope walker and makes his stunt much more dazzling if he can get away with it.

The progressives of both parties expect Roosevelt to play ball with them at least to the extent of justifying their support. The more important among them in Congress are Senators Costigan of Colorado and Wheeler of Montana, plus two or three senators-elect, among the democrats, and Norris of Nebraska, LaFollette of Wisconsin, Cutting of New Mexico and Johnson of California among the republicans.

But our financiers and captains of industry will also be camping on the White House doorstep and there are many strong conservatives in the democratic ranks, including Senate Leader Joe Robinson of Arkansas. Conservative democratic leaders outside congress, all of whom came to support Roosevelt actively, include Owen D. Young, John J. Raskob, B. M. Baruch, Governor Ritchie of Maryland and John W. Davis.

Both groups are now awaiting Roosevelt's cabinet appointments—and meanwhile bringing what pressure they can. Building a cabinet will be his next venture out on the rope and it will not be surprising if he falls one way or the other.

The "give a job" movement will get new impetus around Washington, D. C., next March.

With the "Not Welcome" mat spread at its door for the Prince of Wales and a riot when Cosgrave attempted to make a speech, Ireland seems to be coming back to normal quite rapidly.

MOURNING BECOMES ELECTRA, by Eugene O'Neill. A trilogy. Horace Livings, Inc., $2.50. This play of O'Neill's has caused so much comment, and we might say such a furor, both in content, theme, and subject matter, that a word in preface to the review is warranted. The name of the play has also caused wonderment among readers—and dare we say it—among even those who have seen the play in New York. Therefore, what with consternation being a thing of ill repute, the reviewer has decided a little sketch showing the basic principle of the ancient play upon which the modern version is based.

Mourning, the desert enjoyed after the life of vengeance as lived by the ancient Electra, also becomes our modern creation, the play of Euripides, the ancient Greek playwright in 433 B. C. was one of the first to search out the human beings behind the legends upon which the Greek dramatists were based. The motives of these human beings and the human causes underlying the divine vengeance by which there were always pursued, he interpreted with a penetration that is revelatory today, even in the light of modern psychology.

King Agamemnon, returning to Argos after his victory at Troy, is killed while bathing by his wife Clytemnestra and her lover, Aegisthus. The lover becomes king in his place. Orestes, Agamemnon's son, escapes. Electra, the daughter, remains at the court and grows up loveless, poisoned by hate, brooding only of revenge. Aegisthus, to deprive her of her last royal power, marries her to a peasant, who, however, out of respect for her royal blood, does not live with her as her husband.

In the end, after 3 years of exile at the court of Pyliades, Orestes returns. He, as well as his sister, Electra, believes that Phoebus has charged him with the vengeance of his father. They plot the deed together. Orestes goes to meet Aegisthus at a temple while Clytemnestra is lured to Electra's hut by false news that Electra has had a child. A messenger comes to tell Electra that Orestes has accomplished the slaying of Aegisthus and is returning with the body.

With a majesty, with the sense of inevitable doom of the great tragedies of classic Greece, the "Mourning Becomes Electra" of Eugene O'Neill portrays for us an exotic drama, holding the readers' interest as absorbingly as the best Greek novel of the year.

This play of O'Neill's, succeeding "Strange Interlude," is three plays—interdependent, consecutive, and continuous, so that one must read or see all three to get the story. It is as striking in its modern pattern as the old legend-based Electra of Euripides as it is in the one step further that it takes the story by its working out in it of modern psychoanalytical beliefs.

It is the story of Electra, daughter of Agamemnon, who avenged her father's murder by his wife through the agency of his son, Orestes, a woman poisoned by hate, who gives her life to vengeance, and this explains the title.

The play is of nineteenth century New England at the end of the civil war. The family involved, the Mannons, is like a Greek tragic family, prominent, heroic in its way and tense with its inherited complexes.

Everyone wears a mask, not a real mask as in O'Neill's earlier play, but with a mask-like face, which is meant to indicate that they are not really what they seem. And truly, this story where an implacable daughter used a weak brother as a weapon to avenge her father's murder, every important character over the function of another, with the jealous love of a husband, an unreal love. The daughter loves her father with the jealous love of a wife, another unreal love. The husband loves his wife with the helpless love of an unwedded child. The son again loves his mother's death by her own hand, changes the old affection to his sister.

Carrying the mask idea further, we see that the daughter is a replica of her mother, though spiritually changed. The son is a replica of his father, when it is revealed that the lover is the illegitimate child of the husband's uncle, who had loved and won the girl that his brother also loved, and was turned out of the family. The story is one of "complexes" and this should probably have been the subject of the play.

The play was presented by the Theater Guild in New York City under the direction of Philip Moller, with settings and costumes by Robert Edmond Jones. Staged, it is of fourteen acts and (with an hour's dinner intermission) lasts from 5:30 p. m. until after eleven. New York dramatic critics say that this is one play that is "not walked out on."

Alice Brady is the vengeful "Electra"; Nazimova the suffering mother; Earl Larimore, the son "Orestes"; reluctant in these modern times as his Greek prototype did not dare be Lee Baker, the husband, terrible in war but flabby in love; and Thomas Chalmers, the lover who loathed his wife's hatred of the husband to make one love.

If as average Americans with average tastes for present day literature we are to believe George Jean Nathan, leading American dramatic critic in a recent issue of Variety, O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra" again discloses its author as the most imaginatively courageous, the most independently exploratory, and the most ambitious and resourceful dramatist in the Anglo-American theater.

Mr. Nathan continues by telling us that once again this play gives us evidence of his contempt for the theater that surrounds him and of his conversion of that contempt into drama that makes most other present-day drama look puny in comparison. He points out that the theme itself is shocking to most theater-goers, a theme almost never presented in drama, a mother and daughter violently hating each other, which definitely contravenes the theatrical hokum of mother love glorified.

To quote Mr. Nathan directly: "This play dismisses the little emotions of little people in favor of emotions as deep, as profound and as ageless as time. It opens the windows of the stage, so habitually shut against the world of pity and comprehension and terror, to that world again. But, so heroic is its intention, its sweep and its size, that its characters, like the characters in certain other plays of the same author, are themselves not same authors, are themselves not always up to the sweep and size of their authors' emotional equipment and emotional philosophy."

"The characters are periodically too inconsiderable to contain him. They sometimes give one the impression that the load is too heavy for them to carry. They present themselves occasionally in the light of characters valiant, faithful, and obedient, yet not equal to the demands their creator has made for them. Thus the 'Mourning Becomes Electra' is indubitably one of the finest plays that the American theater has known, its Greek emotions now and again embarrass the American characters into which the author, loosening the floodgates of his copious emotional fancy, has projected them." After reading and rereading so stupendous a play as this one I almost hesitate to express an opinion. Here we find a most exotic play and I must here admit that I was shocked at the incest theme and found it difficult to calmly compare the incestuous tendencies in O'Neill's characters with the rudimentary elements of it to be found in ordinary family life. The idea becomes nauseating.

I do not wish to appear unappreciative of this undoubtedly artistic endeavor. I can recognize in the play an intellectual effort to deal with deep human passions, rather than with mere surface emotions of life. Possibly some of the high praise this play has received is the result of an ingrowing intellectualism which many people of the east appear to be fond. Maybe this is great drama and my provincialism will not permit me to grasp its full significance, or to realize that this kind of subject matter is needed to portray a type of drama which is needed to convey once more deep human-like emotions through the medium of the stage. I am very glad that I read the play; expect to read it again, for I found it stimulated my desire to delve further into this type of drama. The play is only recommended for those who enjoy or rather like to be stimulated and challenged by unusual turns, situations, and emotions.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Upturns in grain values went hand in hand today with rapid progress of preparations for first of the month evening up of December wheat contracts.

It developed that from 120,000,000 bushels, the amount which on Sept. 10 was awaiting December settlement, had been reduced to 39,339,000 bushels last night, and promised to show a further big decrease by today's transactions, thus diminishing anxiety that the trade would be swamped by huge deliveries Dec. 1.

An added bullish influence was increased apprehension regarding the United States winter wheat crop, now menaced by persistent dearth of moisture throughout a vast area.

Wheat closed unsettled about near the day's top, 1/4 to 3/8, above yesterday's finish, corn 1/4 to 3/8, above yesterday's close, and soybeans 1/4 to 3/8, above yesterday's close.

Corn and oats were swayed mainly by wheat action. Rural offerings of corn priced meager, and eastern demanded fairly good.

Provisions lacked support. Closing quotations: Wheat—Dec. 42 1/2-44 1/4; May 46 1/4-47 1/4; July 47 1/4-48 1/4. Corn—Dec. 24 1/4; May 25 1/4-26 1/4; July 26 1/4-27 1/4.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK KANSAS CITY, Nov. 26. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Although receipts of cattle for the week at eleven markets numbered around 36,000, short of arrivals last week, values on fed steers, yearlings and fat sheeps were pushed downward to the extent of 25-50. Reports from eastern dressed beef markets showed declines of 50-81.00 for the week with demand rather low on most sections.

This live stock market was also very noticeable at live weight centers especially on early days just preceding the Thanksgiving holiday. Chicago reported a consignment of international show steers, valued at $6.00-50. Receipts for the week at eleven markets totaled 157,300 against 193,477 last week and 194,413 a year ago.

Hogs closed the week largely steady to 10 higher. St. Louis recording a practical top of $3.75 late on light weight butchers. Receipts totaled 258,400, against 432,233 last week and 514,765 a year ago.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26. (AP)—Moderate activity featured today's short session in cotton and prices fluctuated aimlessly without definite trend. In the early trading values advanced 7 to 10 points on favorable Liverpool cables, trade buying and covering by ring shorts for over the week-end. Later hedge selling and end of week liquidation and a decline in other markets caused recessions of 10 to 13 points. The close was barely steady at 4 points down.

Additional December notices for 9,600 bales were issued during the early morning. The opening was steady in sympathy with cables which were about 3 pny points better than due. Private cables stated that the market was steady with the trade fixing prices and calling Egyptian houses buying and American shorts covering. First trades here showed gains of 2 to 5 points and prices continued to improve until December traded to 5-85, March to 6-92 and May to 6-10 or 7 to 10 points above the close of yesterday.

HERE'S DUCK SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 26. (AP)—When Thomas N. Hastings sold a duck for 87 cents, he was well satisfied the price, considering the prevailing market. He had no idea, however, the duck was so valuable as it turned out to be. As Jackson Pitts, a negro, was cleaning the fowl, he discovered a five-dollar gold piece in its gizzard.

Son of Mexico's 'Iron Man' Goes To Texas School

SAN MARCOS, (AP)—"No! I don't want to be a politician!" A slender, erect Mexican youth of 14, the son of a former Mexican president, and who today remains the "iron man" of the republic to the south, was talking, with emphasis.

Gustavo Elias Calles, the son of General Plutarco Elias Calles, a student at San Marcos academy, does not choose the glamour-packed, but hazardous path his father took to the presidency of Mexico.

There was something serious, almost sad about this wiry youth, who is small for his age, as he talked about going to school in Texas, or the United States, and of the education he would get to help him get help others. He will not return to school in San Marcos next year, turning, perhaps, back to Mexico, or to some other school, where he will specialize in agriculture.

His father has not told him where. After he has attained his objective, he wants to go back to his father's large ranch near Mexico City, and put the agricultural principles to practice. Now, he admits modestly, he is helping himself to help others. He means by that his people need new methods, and he eventually will be able to aid them, but not as a statesman or soldier.

He has three brothers, five sisters, and two half brothers. One of his brothers is the governor of a Mexican state. The Calles have other extensive ranching properties in the state of Tamaulipas.

Gustavo had a caller one day recently. Nuevo Leon's governor, Francisco Carmona, came to the San Marcos school to see him. Political leaders of Mexico call to see him frequently here.

DOWN'S WIN GAME BEAUMONT, Nov. 26. (AP)—Liberty high won the class B title of district 27 here today by defeating Orange high despite the 13-13 score. The championship went to Liberty on first downs, which were 15-9. Penetrations of the 20-yard zone were even at three all. Each of the four touchdowns was made in the first half. Liberty meets Jasper here next week in the bi-district.

A PATH TO PARADISE

Chapter 33 DICKY 'HELPS THINGS' SANTA laughed nervously, keeping tight hold of Clive.

"Clive darling, you can be peculiar."

Dak stood up, attired in full evening dress, a gardenia in his button-hole.

"Very nice!" Clive surveyed him from head to heel. "And Santa, too, I notice is dressed to kill."

"But why the hostility, my dear boy?" Dak stroked his clipped mustache. "We were friends when last we parted."

"If you must be angry, scold me," Santa pleaded. "I sent for him."

"O, well! If you sent for him—"

"She certainly did," Dak held out his hand. "I broke a dinner engagement—hence the glad rags. You're a suspicious bird, Clive. Guess I took you by surprise."

To bridge the awkwardness Clive suggested refreshments.

"No. You continue the entertaining, Santa. I'll fetch them."

What to do? How to act? The situation called for strong arm methods, only this wasn't the middle ages. Were he to throw Dak out, he would cast aspersions on Santa. Extreme composure was his safest weapon.

As he set down the tray, he mustered a grin.

"Let me into your secret."

"We're a committee of two," Dak helped himself to a tumbler, "appointed to do you good."

"But what Clive wants to know is why I sent for you, don't you, darling?" Santa patted the arm of her chair for her husband to perch beside her. "I sent for Dicky because you'd misunderstood me. I wanted him to corroborate my statements."

Clive took possession of her hand that wore his wedding ring.

"It would be a mad world, Santa, if it were necessary for your first husband to guarantee your truthfulness to your second."

She squirmed.

"That's how he twists everything. You tell him, Dicky."

Dak spread out his legs and lay back, blowing spirals and clasping the tumbler to his white, starched breast.

"My mission, phrased colloquially, is to prevent you from cutting off your nose to spite your face."

Prisoner Slays Warden And Then Kills Himself

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—A prisoner in the Raymond street jail in Brooklyn shot and killed a deputy warden tonight, then turned the weapon on himself and fell dead on the feet of his wife, who was visiting the jail.

Andrew McCormick, 28, was the prisoner and William McConnell the deputy warden. Both lived here.

Father Harry Honeck son of the jail warden, William Honeck, was wounded in the left leg as he passed the scene of the shooting, but his condition was not believed to be serious.

The shooting started reports that a riot was in progress in the crowded jail and every radio car in Brooklyn was sent to the scene.

Four hundred policemen surrounded the building and flood lights were set up to illuminate the walls and buildings.

Jail authorities held McCormick's wife, believing she may have brought him the pistol with which he killed the deputy warden and himself.

Mrs. McCormick, a young and attractive blonde, visited the jail on a special permit. Deputy Warden McConnell went to McCormick's cell, took him to the visitor's room and stood by while the two talked.

After about 15 or 20 minutes he announced "your time's up."

McCormick whirled, a pistol in his hand, and fired two shots at the deputy warden. He fell, McConnell shot once at the prisoner, but missed. Then McCormick shot himself.

Hit-And-Run Driver Kills Man and Boy

KILGORE, Nov. 26. (AP)—J. W. Taylor, 35, and Itham Eastman, 16, were killed tonight when a passing automobile struck them as they were repairing a tire on their car, parked at the side of the Kilgore-Gladewater highway.

Both were dejected when they reached a Kilgore hospital. Roy Thompson, 25, suffered bruises but was not seriously hurt.

The driver of the car which struck them halted only long enough to survey the damage and discover that two men were dead, then sped on toward Kilgore without giving aid.

Taylor was a carpenter, employed by a Kilgore machine shop, and Eastman was a negro boy who was walking along the highway when Taylor asked him to help fix the tire.

Taylor is survived by his widow and three children. They came here recently from Many, La. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Legionnaires to Dine on Venison

Arrangements are being made by the local American Legion post for a rather unusual program for Tuesday night at the Legion hut, at 7:30 o'clock.

The main feature of this meeting will be a deer feed. The post is thankful to "Uncle Bob" Dunlop, who presented them with the venison for the occasion.

Larry Spicer and W. C. de Cordova are in charge, and are making preparations to see that all who attend will have a good time.

It is hoped that every ex-service man in this locality will be on hand, as all are cordially invited to come.

Selby Speaker At Third Scout Training Class

Two lessons were made into one by local and LeFors, Hopkins and Kingsmill men in the third of four Adult Leadership Training classes held in the high school gymnasium last night. The last session will be conducted next Saturday night when those who attend every meeting will be given diplomas.

R. A. Selby made the address of the evening, discussing the reading program for the calendar year. He said that boys spend a large part of their time reading and that the right books should be chosen. He quoted a number of books and authors recommended in the Scoutmasters troop program hand book. He said that boys need to read mystery, Indian legends, adventure tales, biography, animal stories and others. If they were the right books, "Books are educational and every boy should be urged to read," Mr. Selby said.

The men were divided into patrols and played games and had contests. Later the program for a year of scouting was outlined and discussed.

THEATER BILL FOR WEEK IS MOVIE EVENT

FIVE-STAR CINEMAS AT BOTH LA NORA AND REX HOUSES

Pampans who like the movies, and they include about 100 per cent of the population, will find unusual entertainment and amusement at Pampa theaters this week.

True to his policy of obtaining first-run pictures, George Limerick, manager of the La Nora and Rex theaters here, has scheduled attractions for this week that are now being heralded in New York, Hollywood and in movie columns as "five-star" productions.

Seldom has there been a week's program in Pampa that is so generally satisfying. The La Nora will start the week off with "You Said a Mouthful". This comedy may be seen on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, On Wednesday and Thursday may be seen that hero of everybody, Gary Cooper, in "The Dawn and the Day" with Tallulah Bankhead. Then on Friday and Saturday, Boris Karloff will thrill and terrorize his audiences in "The Mask of Fu Manchu."

The Last Mile

The Rex program is equally ambitious. Residents of the Panhandle have taken an unusual interest in "The Last Mile" which opens at the Rex today for a three-day run, because it is based upon the play written by Robert Blake, Amarillo youth, who was electrocuted at Huntsville on a charge of slaying a traveling salesman near Huntsville. The play was probably the most sensational ever produced in New York. Blake wrote the piece in the death cell at Huntsville and gave it to a minister who sold it to the American Mercury in which it was first published. John Wesley adopted Blake's play for the stage.

This Hepburn Woman

At the Rex on Wednesday and Thursday may be seen that play about which the movie critics have been rhapsodizing for weeks—"A Bill of Divorcement." John Barrymore and Katherine Hepburn and Billie Dove take leading roles in the picture. But about this Hepburn woman. Those in the know proclaim her as the woman who will fall heir to the Garbo following. "This is another 'Five-Star' picture. The critics can't write too much favorable comment about it. On Friday, a western of particular interest for old-timers of the Panhandle and the southwest will come to the Rex—"No Man's Land." It is a western in the sense that there is ridin' and shootin' and lovin' in it, and an epic of the southwest in that it portrays the glamour of cow-country.

VISIT JA RANCH

T. D. Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hobart and family, and Dr. and Mrs. W. Purviance spent Thanksgiving at the J. A. ranch. Mrs. T. D. Hobart was unable to make the trip because of injuries received by her little grandson, Hobart Fatheree.

Two of the eight large watering troughs still remaining in St. Louis are to be removed in a street widening project.

Panhandle Boy Author of Tragedy, 'The Last Mile', Rex Opener Today

Opening at the Rex theater today is the long-awaited filmization of the tremendous stage success, "The Last Mile."

In its picture form, "The Last Mile" directed by Sam Bischoff, is a faithful reproduction of the play, with its action confined almost entirely within the four walls of a prison death house, and its actors the inhabitants of the cells and their guards.

The travails of the doomed men within the prison death house walls, the character delineations and finally, the sensational jail break engineered by "Killer" Mears, makes one of the most relentlessly thrilling and dramatic pictures of the year.

Howard Phillips as Walters, the innocent youth convicted on circumstantial evidence; Preston Foster as "Killer" Mears; George E. Stone, the first of the prisoners to go to the death chair during the picture; Daniel Haynes as "Sonny" Jackson, the powerful singing colored man; and Al Hill, Alan Roscoe and Paul Fix as the remainder of the prisoners, all give excellent portrayals of their different characters.

Frank Sheridan as the warden, Ralph Theodore, Jack Kennedy, Albert J. Smith, William Scott, and Kenneth McDonald, as jailers and guards, and Alec B. Francis and Edward van Sloan, as priest and rabbi, also swell the cast to interesting proportions.

Seton I. Miller adapted the John Wesley play to the screen. Arthur Edson, whose fine photography was seen in "All Quiet on the Western Front," "Dracula" and "Strangers of the Evening," did the camera-work.

Theater Party Is Given Boys Here

Miss Helen Turner entertained with a theater party yesterday afternoon as a courtesy to Wayne Coffey of White Deer on his birthday. Wayne, who formerly lived in Pampa, is a speech arts student of Mrs. Turner.

The group attended a theater at 2 o'clock, later returning to Mrs. Turner's home for games and refreshments of hot chocolate and angel food cake.

Boys attending were Wayne Coffey, Fred Woodard, George Saunders, Kirk Duncan, Jack Hesse, Ewert Duncan, Hugh Stennis, Donald Cole, and Marcos Bratton.

Call for Service In Peace Time Is Issued to Women

A call for all wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of world war veterans to join with the men of their families in peace-time service to the country has been issued by Mrs. S. Alfred Blackburn, national president of the American Legion auxiliary, in an Armistice day message to the women of America. Mrs. Blackburn said:

"Fourteen years ago the United States completed a great struggle in defense of the principles of American democracy. Victory came because the nation was united in a common effort. Behind the men at the front were the women at home, doing their utmost to support the cause of America.

"Today these same men who served under arms in 1917 and 1918, are united in their great American Legion, serving with unselfish patriotism for the welfare of their communities, their states and the nation. With them, and supporting their work are their wives, mothers, sisters and daughters in the American Legion auxiliary. These two organizations constitute the strongest force for liberty, justice and democracy in America today.

"Every woman whose husband, son, father or brother served in the World War should be in the American Legion auxiliary where she can continue to work effectively for the principles for which the men of her family fought, during the war. These principles must be the active defense of patriotic men and women in peace as well as in war. In the fourteen years that have passed since the signing of the Armistice, they have lost none of their value. They are worth living for and working for today."

J. M. Cunningham of Glenville, N. C., exhibited a cabbage stalk bearing nine heads.

JOE E. BROWN SWIMS AT THE L'NORA TODAY

APPEARS IN 'YOU SAID A MOUTHFUL' AS DRY-LAND SWIMMER

Joe E. Brown is in town. At the La Nora theater today in "You Said a Mouthful."

And what a mouthful! He's a marathon swimmer who can't swim! According to advance Hollywood screen favorites, outdices in hilarity even his recent laugh hits, "The Tenderfoot" and "Fireman, Save My Child."

Mistaken for a swimming champion, Joe is forced into a marathon race through his love for a beautiful girl and his own inability to explain matters. In deadly fear of the water, and never having tried to swim before except to practice the strokes on dry land, he musters up courage to start when he is presented with what he believes to be a non-sinkable bathing suit. After a series of hilarious incidents in which he is nearly drowned, he surprises himself, and put one over on his opponents, by winning the race and saving a hero.

Joe is supported by an exceptionally strong cast, with the beautiful and peppery Titian-haired screen and musical comedy star, Ginger Rogers, again as his leading lady. Others include Farina, of "Our Gang" comedies, who is Joe's mascot and swimming mentor, Preston S. Foster, Sheila Terry, Guinn Williams, Harry Gribbon, Oscar Apfel, Edwin Maxwell, Walter Walker, William Burress and Frank Hagney.

The great marathon is swum between Catalina Island, off Los Angeles, and the mainland, where the regular marathon swimming championship races are held. There are a score of excellent swimmers, including several professional champions, who compete with Joe in the race, to be outdistanced by the dead dry land swimmer.

This comedy, which is said to contain a riot of fun, and more hilarious gags than half a dozen ordinary comedies, was written by William B. Dover and adapted to the screen by Robert Lord and Bolton Mallory. It was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

THE SALVATION ARMY

The Salvation Army, What is it? The Salvation Army is a religious organization with men and women banding together in holy love and fellowship for the purpose of inducing mankind to submit to God.

Those in the Army must make a complete sacrifice to all worldly ambitions and outside things to be of service to God and to induce men to seek Christ, thus starting a new life and living for Christ.

Who founded the Army and when did it become known to the world? William Booth who was born in Nottingham, England on April 10, 1829. He went to school like other boys and was always the leader of the fellows that he ran with in school. Thus he developed a fiery temper and an impetuous will. Before he finished school his father died and all of the cares and responsibilities were laid upon his shoulders to take care of the family. Those were days of hardships and poverty and suffering, but William Booth thru association with the business world there came three ideas into his mind: 1. Determination to get on in the world. 2. Ambition to work for such political change that would bring about an amelioration of the miseries of the poor. 3. Gaining a personal knowledge of God.

The great change came into his life when he truly converted and he at once became a preacher of the gospel. From that hour on he made it his business to live a good clean life and to cultivate a holy character and work for the Salvation of others. In London he of course found it hard to get by for there were no relief agencies for him to apply to, but with the Lord's help he made it and got a job. Finally he saw so much of the poor being down-trodden that he couldn't resist; God's voice came to him, and he decided to leave London and go to the United States. He was accepted and then it was decided whether or not that they should be appointed to a circuit or to do regular evangelistic work. It was finally decided that they should take a circuit and settle down to a private life of a few churches, but Mrs. Booth rose to her feet and declared with a loud voice that the Lord wanted them to carry the message to all the world, with the one word, "Never" they arose and left. Facing the cold world with no friends and no money they started out to preach the gospel with nothing but a sure and unwavering faith in God. In 1865 William Booth organized a mission which later became known as the Salvation Army, which stands today. The name was changed in 1878 to the Salvation Army with "Booth" as its head. Thus the founder William Booth has a place in history because of his great work that he did and the spirit of the dear old founder still prevails today, and Mrs. Booth with that left with us, "Go for Souls and for the world's work." The Army has grown and it operates now in eighty-three countries and colonies.

The religious work and the relief work must be run hand in hand because from the very beginning when William Booth became its head he found people that needed help and here are the words that he left with us, "You can't preach Christ to a hungry man" if a man is hungry he is not going to listen to you stand up and preach Salvation to him for he is thinking of something to eat, a necessity of life.

Why should the Salvation Army be supported? The Salvation Army is self-supporting in every city that it operates. The corps gets no money from any outside headquarters or from other corps. All income that is received in the local corps is used in the local corps except 10 per cent that goes to Dallas, our division headquarters. The Salvation Army should be supported because the religious program is carried right along with the relief program, and the purpose in administering relief to the ones that have had some misfortune is to get a chance to speak to them about their spiritual life, which should mean everything to everybody, as the scripture says in regard of our lives, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all of these other things shall be added unto you."

There are no high salaries paid to officers in the Army, all officers have a reasonable salary and it does not come from headquarters. It comes right from the corps fund, and all other bills are to be taken care of before an officer can draw full salary. Captain Hollingsworth, who is the commanding officer of the Pampa corps, draws only $11 per week and Lieutenant Truman Cox, who is the assistant officer, draws only $9.50. Accurate books are kept and recorded weekly, every cent that is taken in and every cent that is spent is recorded.

Our officers are not people that are picked up off the streets and the next day you see them out in a Salvation Army uniform—No! A

Salvation Army officer knows his job because he has been trained for it. First he is a soldier of the Lord, what other churches call members then after a certain length of time. If he desires to become an officer and feels that the Lord has called him for that work, then the officer in charge of the corps he represents him up and he is then sent to our Salvation Army Training college, which for the southern territory is located in Atlanta, Georgia. Usually nine or ten months is spent there and every cadet is trained for every phase of Army work, the religious and the social case work. He then is commissioned as an officer and sent out into what is called the field or in regular corps work with orders and regulations to go by, and the Salvation Army officer that you see about the streets of your city is a well trained officer who knows and understands conditions and the work that he is doing.

Are you willing to give? We need your support! Clyde Hollingsworth, Captain Truman Cox.

Editor, THE NEWS:

Sunday, November 27, is the anniversary of the great Custer battle led by General George A. Custer against the Indians which had gathered, 10,000 strong, on the Washita river near where the town of Cheyenne, Okla., now stands.

Just 64 years ago—November 27, 1868—just at daybreak Black Kettle and his followers were surrounded and exterminated. Major Elliott, a brilliant young United States Army officer, with 18 others lost his life in that great battle. This battle followed one of the greatest snowstorms in the history of the country. The storm was really a blizzard and lasted three days.

Seven years later, a new fort was established farther out on the frontier, and was named Fort Elliott in memory of Major Joe Elliott, who lost his life in the battle of the Washita.

McLEAN-SPEARMAN FOOTBALL GAME TO BE PLAYED HERE

Conquering Hosts Of Notre Dame Smother Army 21 to 0

CHAMP GAME IN CLASS B TO BE FRIDAY

HUGE CROWD EXPECTED FROM PANHANDLE TERRITORY

One more big football game will be played in Pampa this year. It was decided yesterday afternoon when coaches and school officials from McLean and Spearman agreed to play their game for the class B district title here Friday afternoon. They met with W. O. Workman, A. E. Patrick, Sherman White and Harry Hoare in the Schneider hotel and completed arrangements for the big game.

The schools were invited to play the game in Pampa when it was learned that neither team was willing to play the game on the other's field. Much interest in Pampa is expected to attend in large numbers. Delegations from both Spearman and McLean and other nearby cities will attend the game which will be the first bid for district honors for the two schools.

The McLean Tigers have been undefeated this season and are expected to follow a 9-0 record to the finals. McLean won the sectional championship by defeating the last Shamrock Fishermen. Coach Rush has one of the fastest line backs in the state. In Cricket, Christian, Crockett and Switzer he has a backfield that has carried everything before them.

McLean's line is far charging and hard to break through. In Ellison, guard, cast, tackle, and McCarry, center, McLean has three outstanding performers in the line. The Tigers have a relentless offensive and a stiff defense that has proved disastrous to many larger teams during the entire season. The team is the greatest in the history of the school and McLean fans are backing it to the finish. Hundreds of fans from McLean and the surrounding country will come to Pampa for the game.

The Spearman Lynx have as impressive a record, having been undefeated this season but tied twice, once by the Burger Bulldogs, once by a team, and again by Elkhart, Kan. The fighting Lynx held Burger to a scoreless tie before Burger was defeated 19 to 0 by the Harvesters. Spearman went into the finals with an 18 to 0 win over the big Panhandle Panthers last Thursday before a record Spearman crowd.

Coach Billie Jarvis has one of the outstanding district scorers in his backfield. He is Madden, a 160-pound fullback, who has not been stopped this season. Madden is assisted largely by Archer, a line-backer, and Jenkins, big line-man, who usually makes the holes.

The 1932 Lynx eleven is the best since Coach Jarvis took over the reins five years ago. The season also produced Spearman's first win over Purperton in several years. The Lynx took the big game 6 to 0.

Admission will be 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults. No seats will be reserved.

MAY MATCH GAME FRIDAY

Canyon Frosh Might Play Harvesters Here This Week.

Holidays mean nothing to the Harvesters basketball squad. The boys practiced Friday afternoon and yesterday morning but were without the services of their captain, Robert Woodward, who is confined to his home by illness. Miles Marbaugh was at his usual position during a heavy scrimmage yesterday, despite a bad leg.

Bill Kelley replaced Woodward on the forward line to round out a six-foot team during the workout. The team used as the first string consisted of Bill Kelley and Marbaugh, forwards; Fred Fullington, center; Wayne Kelley and Jess Patton, guards. All the boys in uniform wear jerseys and many of them looked like finds which will insure a strong reserve strength this season.

Coaches are trying to match a game for Friday night with the Canyon college freshmen to be played at the Harvesters gymnasium. The Canyon team is expected to have a strong five this season and the Pampa coaches are anxious to see what kind of a team they have at the start. Durwood Marshall, Lloyd Meeks and Ralph Fox, former Harvesters, are all out for the Calves team and may make it, according to reports from the college city.

The Harvesters squad will be divided into two teams. Twelve or 15 boys will be kept on the first squad and the rest will be sent to Coach Warren Moore's Gorillas who will start practicing tomorrow afternoon. An assistant coach will be appointed to assist with the Gorillas who are expected to number 50 before the week is over.

The regular schedule for the year will be worked out soon.

VAUGHT LEADS LINE OF LINES TO GRID TITLE

FROGS PLAY CAUTIOUS GAME TO WIN 8-0 SET-UP

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

DALLAS, Nov. 26. (AP)—For the first time since 1926, the Southwest conference boasts an undefeated and united championship team in conference competition. The Texas Christian university Horned Frogs made this possible today when they smothered the Southern Methodist university Mustangs 8 to 0 in the final 1932 conference game for both teams.

In 1926 the Mustangs went through undefeated and united in conference competition when they defeated the Horned Frogs, 14-13, on the field where they bowled to the Frogs today. It was a badly crippled Texas Christian team that started the game with Madison Pruitt, end; Ben Boswell, tackle; Richard Oliver and Blarnd Spearman, backs, out of the game, but it was a team that fought a cool, deliberate game of football to annex the championship. The Frogs made no mistakes today, and they kept the passing Mustangs far from the purple and white goal stripe.

It closed the regular campaign for the Frogs and left them with an undefeated record, and only an early season non-conference game with Louisiana State, a 3-2 tie, to mar their otherwise impressive season.

The line of lines, that of the Texas Christian school, inspired by the magnificent all-round playing of Captain Johnny Vaught and Lon Evans, completely stopped the Mustangs in the final three periods after allowing Charlie Heaton to gallop through for several substantial gains in the first period. Vaught made his supreme bid for all-American honors by playing an outstanding game, and added the final touch when he raced across the Mustang goal line and blocked Charlie Heaton's nose effort for a safety in the fourth period.

Injured Men Play.
The touchdown was scored in the second period when a pass from Hubert Dennis to Jewell Wallace sent the Frogs leaping to the Mustang 11-yard line. Two swipes at the Mustang line gained little. On the third down, S. L. Phelps shot a flat zone pass to Wallace Myers, who reached into the zone and caught it behind the Mustang's goal line, unopposed and in wide open territory. Otto Tiner missed kick from placement when Red Jackson broke through and blocked the effort.

The Mustangs' best chance to score occurred late in the game when Country Smith broke through and blocked Kitchens' punt. James Bailey picked up the ball and started for a touchdown, but was tackled on the Frogs' 27-yard line. From this point the Frog front was charged fast and hard enough to crowd the Mustang back lugs back up the field and erase whatever chance the 1931 conference champions had of getting a touchdown.

Except for a few flat zone passes for short yardage, the colorless game of the Mustangs was completely baffled by the Texas Christian line and secondary. Such linemen as Townsend, Evans, and Vaught intercepted passes.

Late in the fourth period Coach Francis Schmitt allowed the injured Blarnd Spearman and Madison Pruitt to enter the game. Pruitt was limping badly but figured in a few blocking plays in his last conference game. It also was the last conference game for Spearman.

From the college tunnel of the game that gave the Frogs their football crown, was the playing of Vaught and Evans. They were every where all the time, blocking, tackling, opening holes and playing smashing football. Vaught has played in many such games, but it was perhaps the greatest performance in Evans' entire career.

'TINY' PIPES TO LEAD FATS' ATTACK ON LEANS THURSDAY

Otto Studer, Meek, Hessey Are Among Heek's Backfield Aces.

Resters for the big football classic of the season between the rollicking Frogs and the loping Leans at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Harvesters park have been announced and will be found elsewhere on the sport page. Captain Charlie Cook of the Leans and Captain Dan McGrew of the Fats are holding secret workouts daily. Records will go to the A. A. U. W. scholarship fund.

The Fats worked behind closed gates at Magnolia park yesterday afternoon and it was a treat to watch Otto Studer, John Hecker and Dan McGrew waddling down the field with the old pigskin tucked under their arms. Otto and George Limerick took turns barking signals and their deep bass voices rolled like thunder across the plain.

The coaches, when questioned by the press, admitted they were pleased with the punting and ball carrying ability of Roy Webb and Otto Studer. Webb is an old Oklahoma Sooner. He would sooner be some where else than in Pampa, but he is in the line with bells on as they have many foes on the opposite side.

One set of backfield aces will be Beurland, Limerick, Hessey, and McGrew. J. M. Dodson will get lots of work as he is a star of old from Quannah high school. Cecil will make another star. When it comes to fight there will be Aaron Meek, Neath, Williams, and Bourland, all veterans of former years who are still in trim.

Chris Martin of Oklahoma, or somewhere, is expected to help Joe Lazarus make way for the Studer, Wild, Johnson, Hoare specialists. Few reinforcements may be pressed into service before the occasion as the Fats are expected to short on the right kind of wind.

Officials for the big game will be Odus Mitchell (W. T. S. T. C.), referee; Argus Fox (Oklahoma A. & M.), umpire; Warren Moore, (Trinity), headliner.

BATTLE-WORN PITT DEFEATS STANFORD 7-0

PANTHER MAKES LAST BID FOR GAME AT ROSE BOWL

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26. (AP)—The Panther of Pittsburgh, a tired, war-worn animal, eluded its way through the Cardinals of Stanford today, climbed to the final height of an undefeated season, and from there reared one last challenge to the far west for renewal of the battle, if it cares to, in the Rose Jan. 1.

Plainly showing the effects of the harsh schedule any eleven in the east tackled this season, the Panther was content to ship "Fog" Warner's invading forces 7 to 0, and lay its defeat by the margin of a lone touchdown and extra point beside that of the east's other mighty undefeated outfit, Andy Kerr's Red Raiders of Colgate.

To one or the other it is certain to go the annual invitation of the west to meet its best, this year Southern California, in the Battle of Roses, and both Colgate's and Pittsburgh are in a receptive mood.

But despite the advantage that might have accrued from meeting the final burst of Colgate in downing Brown 21 to 0 Thanksgiving day, Pittsburgh, with an equally impressive conquest over Stanford today, was content to score and win thereafter with as little energy as possible.

The first quarter was only half a dozen plays old, mostly punts, with the conventional plunge or two separating each kick, when the Panthers made the first "break" took it in their teeth, and shook from it a victory that left Pitt with a record of conquest: every Army, master.

'ALL' TEAM IS SELECTED

All-Southwest Eleven Has One Bear, 6 Frogs and Four Longhorns.

DALLAS, Nov. 26. (AP)—George White, sports editor of the Dallas News, tonight listed the following as his selections for an all-Southwest conference football eleven:

Position, player and school:
End—Madison Pruitt, T. C. U.
End, Frank James, Baylor.
Tackle—Ben Boswell, T. C. U.
Tackle—Foster Howell, T. C. U.
Guard—Johnny Vaught, T. C. U.
Guard—Wilson Cook, Texas.
Center—J. W. Townsend, T. C. U.
Quarter—Spearman, T. C. U.
Left Half—Stafford, Texas.
Right Half—John Hilliard, Texas.
Fullback—Ernest Roy, Texas.

FARMERS HELP OUT
MULESHOE (AP)—Neighbors of W. T. Teal, of Enochs, in the southwest part of Bailey county, gathered at his home and harvested 50 acres of feed for him. Mr. Teal, his wife and daughter were ill and unable to leave the house. The near approach of winter made harvesting of the crop necessary.

HOPES BLASTED
WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 26. (AP)—The Holy Cross football team that started the season with the brightest prospects in its history today by holding its supposedly inferior Boston college rivals to a scoreless tie without making a first down and gaining but 15 yards rushing the ball.

Notre Dame, Pennsylvania and Carnegie Tech—among others—with only scores ties with Ohio State and Nebraska marring one of the greatest records any Pittsburgh has compiled.

With but one exception, nothing "Pop" Warner's men could do had any effect upon the team Jack Sutherland has coached in the identical system of the Pacific coast master.

ARMY ROUTED IN STARTLING IRISH VICTORY

SURPRISING UPSET IS SCORED BY ANGRY RAMBLERS

By ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—Flicking up the habits of a cyclone somewhere along the way East, a gunn-jerred whirlwind carried Notre Dame to an overwhelming victory over the Army, 21 to 0, today before 80,000 spectators in most strutting aspect of the inter-collegiate football campaign.

Big, powerful and dazlingly swift, the Ramblers struck the gold-helmeted with an attack that was as brilliantly executed and as devastating as it was effective. Before it was all over and the Army's weary, battered forces gave ground for the last time near their goal-line, Notre Dame had tallied three touchdowns, narrowly missed putting over about five more and put to rout one of the East's greatest teams.

Notre Dame not only gained ample revenge for the crushing defeat handed to them by the Soldiers a year ago, but handed their rivals the worst setback an Army team has in this series since the 28-0 triumph of the late Knute Roonke's 1921 outfit.

A tornado in green, led by the vicious charges of two spectacular tackles, Joe Kurth and Ed Krause, sweeping along the terrific momentum of Koken, Melnikovich, Bannas and a half dozen other ball-carriers, simply was unbeatable once it got under way. Except for two brief flashes, in the first and last periods, Army not only failed to display its vaunted offense, the power that had ripped Yale and Harvard to

Teachers Favor A New Vote on Drastic Rules

Texas high schools will have another chance to vote on the one-year transfer rule and the eight-semester rule in athletics, it was determined Friday in Fort Worth by a vote of 467 to 253 at the State Teachers convention.

The state body voted to instruct the executive committee of the Interscholastic League that two new rules would be submitted in another referendum to be taken sometime this winter. The transfer rule has already gone into effect but the eight-semester rule does not become effective until next September.

The change in the transfer rule to be voted has not been definitely worded, but the eight-semester change acceptable to the majority of coaches and officials is to allow a student entering his fourth year of high school with less than 12 credits to have a year of athletics after his fourth year, unless he has had his four years of participation.

It has been felt for some time that both rules would work a hardship on the already taxed high school football, and that one or both should be changed or eliminated. Pampa coaches and school officials are heartily in favor of the change.

STAFFORD NAMED AS MOST VALUED PLAYER IN LOOP

HOUSTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The Houston Post's annual trophy for the Southwest conference's most valuable and outstanding football warrior goes this year to Harrison (Indian) Stafford, aggressive blocker and halfback of the University of Texas at Longhorn. Stafford was swept to his laurels by a convincing margin. Out of a possible 40 votes, Stafford, a Wharton, Texas, boy, received 46.

Representative sports writers who chose Stafford were: Fred Hall, Fort Worth Star-Telegram; George White, Dallas News; Bill Parker, Associated Press; Jim Tuskar, Waco News-Tribune; Curtis Vinson, Texas A. & M. College publicity director; A. S. Hopkins, Austin American; Lloyd Gregory, Houston Post. With exception of Tucker, each sport scribe ranked Stafford first. Tucker placed Ernie Kov of Texas at the top of the list, but placed Stafford second.

Best winners are:
1928—"Bevo" Beavers, University of Arkansas fullback.
1929—Cy Leland, T. C. U. halfback.

GRANADA DRAFTS LABOR

GRANADA, Spain (AP)—The city council has decreed that each able bodied citizen must aid municipal development with pick and shovel 15 days out of each year or pay taxes for the work. Recalcitrants will be fined and all money received will go to the unemployed.

TEACHERS ATTACK PROBLEMS

FT. WORTH, Nov. 25. (AP)—Members of the Texas State Teachers' association spent this morning in sectional meetings, clearing the way for consideration later in the day of general administration of schools and for a direct attack upon financial problems that have cropped up in every session of their convention.

BIRTHS WORRY PORTUGAL

LISBON (AP)—While Italy and France worry over a declining birth rate, Portugal takes the opposite task. Latest annual figures reveal 204,120 births against 115,228 deaths and the government is trying to encourage emigration to its colonies in Africa.

of the history department, teaches a course called "Settlement of the Great Plains Region." This is the field in which he has spent an almost unlimited amount of time during the last few years.

The other class is that of Dr. Ford Fronabarger, head of the college English department. This is a Shakespeare course, a course which is demanded almost every year.

Besides this type of extension service, the college reaches nearly 500 students each year through its correspondence courses. Many of these people cannot possibly attend college, but as a student at Linden, recently wrote to the extension director they "have longed to know the secrets that are hidden between the covers of books" and so they touch the world of educated folk.

According to those who know the policy of Dr. Hill, it is his purpose to stretch the confines of the West Texas State Teachers campus until they touch every man, woman and child who reaches out for the help which an educational institution can legitimately give.

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

POLITICS at random

BY BYRON PRICE
The events of the next few weeks, growing out of the conference between President Hoover and President-Elect Roosevelt, may easily determine whether the war debts are to become and remain for a generation an issue in American politics.

If the action to be taken now is sufficiently clear-cut and decisive to command bi-partisan support, and to notify the European nations unmistakably what they may and may not expect in Washington, the possibility of any future party division on this subject would appear very remote.

Not Party Issue Now
It is rather remarkable that things have been permitted to go as far as they have without either party trying to make capital of the war debt problem.

A Bigger Question
The question, as public opinion presents it to the government at Washington, goes beyond that. It asks whether, by further monotonous repetition of the principal due—are advisable in view of conditions abroad.

Up To Roosevelt
How much longer can the war obligations be kept out of the widening circle of partisan discussion over the deficit, taxation, and foreign commercial relations?

REPEAL—

...democratic spokesman. He told reporters he had "no doubt" there were enough votes there to submit a repeal amendment.

Speaker Garner said "both parties have demanded an opportunity to vote and I'm going to let the house vote on it on December 5."

Although favoring early action on repeal, Representative Snell of New York, the republican leader, expressed doubt as to the "propriety" of bringing it to a vote on the first day.

He also said the republicans probably would want to submit a resolution along the lines of their national platform in order to prevent return of the saloon. He said he would not have any objection to consideration within two weeks after the convening of congress.

Speaker Garner said Snell had "asked me to give consideration of repeal at the earliest possible moment."

The vice-president elect and Snell had discussed the action yesterday.

Garner ascertained that under the house rules he could recognize a member to be presented to the house, but declined to disclose whether it would be for direct repeal or follow the lines of the Glass proposal in the senate.

Snell said he would vote for the Glass amendment, which constitutionally outlaws saloons and provides federal protection for dry states.

Asked to explain why action on repeal was to be held before that of legalization of beer, Garner said "many gentlemen in congress in both parties favor a vote on repeal before presentation of a beer bill, and it seems to me to be the natural order of things to vote on repeal and then on beer."

Franco-Russian Pact Hailed as Aid to Stability

PARIS, Nov. 26. (AP)—The new Franco-Russian pact of conciliation and non-aggression, which has been approved by the French cabinet and is to be signed Tuesday, was hailed by the Paris press today as an important instrument of stability in Europe.

Each country undertakes in the treaty never to resort to arms against the other, either alone or in conjunction with a third power, and each promises to respect the territories under the sovereignty of the other.

The pact also provides that if a third power attacks either of the signatories, the other will aid the aggressor neither directly nor indirectly. And neither France nor Russia will make any international agreement hampering the commerce of the other or interfering with the granting of credits.

Diplomatic circles attached considerable political importance to the pact as it was learned that negotiations have just been begun in Paris for a Franco-Russian commercial treaty. France therefore is planning to increase her exports to Russia.

Colonel Miller Placed in Jail

NEWKIRK, Okla., Nov. 26. (AP)—Colonel Zack Miller, grizzled 101-Ranch pioneer, went to jail here today for failure to pay a $100 attorney fee and $40 a month separate maintenance to Margaret Blevins-Miller, his estranged wife who lives in the same house with him.

"But that's not the end of it," the fiery veteran of the plains passed to a spokesman for his attorney speed to Oklahoma City to ask Governor Murray to issue a pardon.

"So far as I'm concerned, it's a life sentence," Miller told the Associated Press immediately after District Judge Claud Duvall passed judgment on a jury verdict rendered early in the week. "I'll never pay it, for I am broke," he added.

Governor Murray said at Oklahoma City tonight that he had not been requested to pardon Miller as yet, and his comment until his application was placed before him.

Seek Identity Of Dying Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Seeking to identify an attractive young woman found shot and critically wounded in a park here Thanksgiving day, police today asked aid of Idaho, New Mexico and San Diego authorities.

The woman, who police said fired the bullet into her mouth from a pearl-handled pistol found beside her, continued near death at a hospital, physicians said she had a slight chance of recovery.

A tentative identification was made by J. P. Peaslee, recent arrival from Boise, Ida., who said, after viewing the wounded woman, he believed she was a Miss Pansy Hanlon, niece of Peter Hanson, believed to be a deputy county clerk at Boise.

Meanwhile photographs of the woman and jewelry bearing the insignia of the Delta Delta Delta college sorority, found in her purse, were prepared for distribution to various chapters of the sorority throughout the country in hope identification may be established in this way.

man; D. K. Martin, commissioner, and Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer. Cone Johnson, third member of the commission, was not expected to attend the meeting.

It was regarded as likely the commission would give notice of intention to seek dissolution of the temporary injunction. The court could not act on the motion to dissolve until after ten days, unless objection was waived by opposing counsel.

Had the commission not been able to receive the bids Monday and Tuesday it would have been forced to re-advertise the projects. The projects must be advertised at least ten days before bids are receivable.

As a result of the modification, the commission would be in position to award the contracts immediately to should the injunction be dissolved.

Financial Statement Made. The temporary writ enjoined the commission from making any awards and prohibited George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, from issuing any vouchers in payment of contracts awarded by the commission after issuance of the injunction.

The petition on which the injunction was issued also alleged the commission did not have authority to contract money not now in the highway fund because of lack of specific appropriation by the legislature.

A financial statement of the condition of the highway department was issued today under the signature of Gordon Lloyd, chief accountant. It showed the department figured on having a balance estimated at $3,008,058 at the end of the fiscal year, August 31, next.

The statement, which gave the condition as of November 1, showed the department had a cash balance of $9,202,340 and listed anticipated receipts into the fund from all sources for $26,998,244, making a grand total of $36,197,584 estimated to be available during the remainder of the fiscal year.

The petition filed by Ferguson estimated the total available funds for the fiscal year at $30,549,432 and alleged the total estimated charges and liabilities incurred by the highway department amounted to $35,694,473.

Gilchrist said today that it was imperative that there be no delay in getting the work under the emergency federal aid under contract and started immediately if Texas was to receive all of the money apportioned to it. The work must be completed before June 30, 1933, to be eligible to participate in the emergency fund, he said.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—In almost identical notes, the state department today told Poland and Czechoslovakia the United States could not relieve them of payments due Dec. 15 but said the president is prepared to recommend to congress that it constitute an agency to examine the whole subject of war debts.

Simultaneously a committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States recommended the American government grants its war debtors "modification" conditioned on trade concessions and reduction in armament expenditures.

Containing many of the same words and phrases that appeared in the notes sent previously to France, Belgium and Great Britain, the communications transmitted through the Polish embassy and the Czechoslovak legation, emphasized anew President Hoover's intention of seeking revival of the world war foreign debt commission, or a similar body.

This position contrasts with that of President-Elect Roosevelt who has declared for handling through the regular diplomatic channels any debt negotiations which may be undertaken. Considerable opposition to Mr. Hoover's plan has materialized already on capitol hill.

MEET THE NEW PRESIDENT

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of six articles on President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, revealing little incidents in his every-day life, his traits of character, philosophies, and interests.

By WALTER T. BROWN, (Associated Press Staff Writer Who Accompanied Roosevelt On His Campaign.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt's friendliness and conversational facility often present a problem to Guernsey T. Cross, James Mahoney and others of his secretarial staff.

Frequently, the secretaries find themselves with an outer office of visitors on their hands and Mr. Roosevelt, talking 20 minutes with an individual allotted five.

The President-Elect is an eager seeker of information and, if the casual visitor is well acquainted with some subject that has intrigued Mr. Roosevelt, he is likely to be invited to pursue that visitor likely will remain much longer than the secretaries intend.

There is no formality about a visit with Mr. Roosevelt. If his hours at the state capital are crowded, he likely will invite the caller to have dinner at the mansion, drop in after dinner or see him at breakfast.

Once or twice a week, the Executive mansion household attends the movies in an improvised theater on an upper floor of the mansion.

Mr. Roosevelt and his guests may have important matters to discuss; there may be appeals to save men from the electric chair to be decided before the next day; or there may be impending important conferences with party leaders or legislators—but all these are pushed aside for the session at the movies.

The Roosevelts and their guests occupy the front seats in the theater, and the servants and other attendants sit behind them.

The show over, Mr. Roosevelt goes back to his tasks, and all other subjects are sidetracked for the business at hand.

HE LIKES VISITORS

Franklin D. Roosevelt, president-elect of the United States, flashes his friendly smile. A visit with him is strictly informal.

Crippled Tulane Downed 14-0 By L. S. U. Tigers

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 26. (AP)—First half power and passing offense carried Louisiana State university to a 14 to 0 victory over a crippled Tulane team before more than 20,000 spectators in today's renewal of the 39-year rivalry between the institutions.

Louisiana State scored on consistent offenses in the first and second periods, with Keller going over for a needed two feet for the first down and Yates making one foot over right tackle for the second tally. Jack Torrance kicked the extra points.

Line plays by Keller, Yates and Almkamp, mixed occasionally with passes from Yates to Almkamp and Fleming, gave the Tigers their yardage.

The victory gave L. S. U. a clean conference slate. It was State's first victory over Tulane since 1926, but brought Tiger followers far less cheer than a triumph over their rivals would ordinarily produce, owing to many of Tulane's second and third string men having to bear the brunt of battle as a result of the loss of more than a score of the best Green Wave players, including the dangerous Don Zimmerman, because of influenza and colds within a week before the game.

Louisiana State played with full squad strength and in the height of condition.

Louisiana's 15,000 trappers will enter the season early in December for their three-months exile during the annual muskrat season.

Police Bullets, Aimed at Thugs, Kill Small Boy

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26. (AP)—Bound for home from the corner grocery with a bottle of milk for breakfast, Arthur Munoz, three years old, was slain today by a police shotgun slug intended for a fleeing automobile.

The child fell mortally wounded on the sidewalk beside his 7-year-old brother, Jose, and died shortly afterward.

Police reports said radio automobile Patrolmen Clifford Trainer and Clement Rogne were pursuing an automobile which had the license number of one used in a holdup.

The patrolmen did not see young Arthur fall after Rogne fired at the car ahead. They sped on.

The supposed holdup car escaped. The police then came back down the street and saw a crowd gathered.

"What happened here?" asked Rogne. "You fellows killed a little boy," a man said.

Rogne paled and it was an hour before he could talk coherently about it. "I'm heart broken over this thing," he said.

He is 38 years old and unmarried. Trainer has a wife and two children.

The slain boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Munoz. An investigation was ordered.

Death Penalty Assessed Davis In Dowd Death

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 26. (AP)—Isaac Davis was assessed the death penalty tonight by a jury which heard testimony in his trial for the murder of Arthur S. Dowd, manager of a Corpus Christi hotel.

The jury took only one ballot before it reported at 8:20 p. m. Davis and his wife, who sat beside him in the courtroom, were un-moved as the verdict was read.

Davis had testified today that he shot the hotel manager in Dowd's office the night of November 7 when Dowd arose from his chair and Davis believed the hotel man was drawing a gun. He related that he stepped back and fired eight times with an automatic pistol.

The defendant's wife had been discharged from service as a maid at the hotel only a few hours before the shooting. An argument between Dowd and Davis over this preceded the shooting.
