U. S. ASKED TO HELP JUDGE JAPAN

Jones Discusses Many Local And National Issues In Talk Here

WORKERS URGE DONATIONS BY EVERY PAMPAN

Fund workers pushed ahead today on the drive to reach the $3,600 goal, set in the Pampa Salvation Army drive campaign. Among the first contributors as the individual solicitation began yesterday were the Rev. Joseph Wonderly and his assistant, the Rev. Charles Knapp, of Holy Soul's parish. Paul Kaschke, chairman of the industrial contact group, today urged employers to give employees a chance to make donations, no matter how small. "Some employers," he stated, "prefer to make a general donation for their entire plant, asking the solicitors not to contact the men. We believe the men would rather have a direct part in the work being done by the Salvation Army."

JAP CRUISER SENT TO BOTTOM, SAY CHINESE

HONGKONG, Sept. 16 (AP)—The claim that a Japanese cruiser had been sunk by Chinese airbombs off the south China coast was made today in Chinese reports from Canton—unconfirmed from other sources—of two successful air attacks on Japanese naval units. Striking back, three Japanese airplanes roared over the Shamen (foreign) concession of Canton tonight, their red and green navigation lights blinking, and flew on to bomb Sheppal airdrome, in the city's eastern suburbs. German and other foreign residents in the nearby Tungshan area of the south China metropolis fled to dugouts. A great fire roared around the airdrome. Reports of the aerial-naval action said three Chinese bombers and two pursuit planes had attacked a Japanese cruiser, three destroyers and a torpedo boat off the port of Swatow. "Three large bombs struck the cruiser, which sank," an unconfirmed Canton dispatch asserted. A similar raid put to flight a group of Japanese destroyers along the coast between Swatow and Hongkong, the Chinese said.

COAST GUARD CUTTERS SEARCH FOR YACHT

BOSTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Two crack coast guard cutters, the Cayuga and Chelan, today sped to a spot 200 miles east of Nantucket in search of Endeavour I, English racing yacht, which parted from her convoy's towline in a gale Monday night. The yacht was en route to England.

GARY COOPER BECOMES FATHER OF DAUGHTER

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16 (AP)—Gary Cooper, lanky screen star, was Hollywood's newest father today. A daughter 7-14 pounds, was born yesterday to Mrs. Cooper, the former Veronica Balfe of Park Avenue.

I HEARD - - -

Congressman Marvin Jones illustrating a point regarding the rights of man with the remark, "I can swing my arms around and around in any direction until, say, they get too close to Reece Ewing down there, and that's when his rights begin."

Congressman Marvin Jones was honored at noon today when more than 150 residents of Pampa, Gray county and the Panhandle heard him speak at the chamber of commerce membership luncheon. He was introduced by C. H. Walker, chairman of the Gray county lake committee and director of the Panhandle Water Conservation authority. The speaker, in response to previous congratulatory remarks, said that only about 20 per cent of a successful program can be attributed to legislation, that 40 per cent was due to the administration and the other 40 per cent to cooperation of the people. Citizens of this Panhandle, which I love are to be congratulated on their enterprise," declared the speaker. "They have stuck, they have fought and they have accomplished what no one man could."

CHINESE DEFENSE IN NORTH CHINA FOLDS UP

PEIPING, Sept. 16 (AP)—Japanese reported today the center of the Chinese battlefront in North China had been shattered and Gen. Wan Fu-lin's Manchurian divisions were in full retreat. Latest Japanese advices from the front 30 miles due south of here said the 100-mile long Chinese line had been split and its left wing was being driven to the west by repeated hammer blows from the pursuing Japanese. Japanese headquarters described the advance as the greatest offensive undertaken by the Japanese army since the Russo-Japanese war. The capture of Gen. Wan's headquarters at Kuanhsien, just south of the Peiping river, was said to have exposed his right flank and threatened to fold up all Chinese forces between Peiping and Tientsin. The fall of Kuanhsien opened the way for a wide wheeling movement to the west along the highway from Peiping to Paochingfu, the Chinese general headquarters. Such a Japanese move would drive straight across the center of Hopeh province. Japanese troops were pouring across the Yungting river. Some 60,000 were said to have taken part in the routing of Chinese divisions—about 100,000 men—along the western 70 miles of the north China front.

ITALY TO MAKE NEXT MOVE IN PIRACY WAR

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Great Britain and France rushed their Mediterranean naval activities to a virtually a wartime basis today and intimated that Italy must make the next move if she wants to join an "anti-piracy" patrol in the inland sea. The two powers took the stand that any Italian suggestions, including Il Duce's demand for patrol parity, would be "considered." But neither England nor France had any intention of addressing further requests to Rome for collaboration. Thus, the Italian demands for equality in the new Mediterranean patrol scheme remained in a tense diplomatic impasse. Weighted with powerful depth charges and torpedoes, a mighty Anglo-French armada was mobilized to stop for good all Mediterranean pirate submarine attacks on neutral shipping. War planes became the "eyes" of this fleet.

NEW PRODUCER FLOWS IN ARKANSAS FIELD

TEXARKANA, Sept. 16 (AP)—The eleventh producer in the south Miller county field flowed oil today at the rate of 1,000 barrels daily. The well, in section, NE-SE 11-20-28, extended the field a quarter of a mile to the east. It was the fifth brought in by Freeman W. Burford, Dallas operator.

PLANES TAKEN FROM WICHITA AT SAN PEDRO

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Sept. 16 (AP)—A crew of twelve longshoremen started unloading the 19-bombing planes from the Wichita to a three hundred ton barge in the outer harbor here today. What disposition would be made of the planes—whether they would be stored here or loaded on another ship bound for the orient—could not be immediately determined. The Wichita dropped anchor in the roadstead just inside the breakwater and several miles from port last night. A fueling barge was tied fast last night but whether the vessel had been refueled to continue its journey from New York also was a mystery. The action was in compliance with President Roosevelt's order this week forbidding government-owned vessels to transport arms, ammunition or implements of war to China or Japan. The freighter is under lease to the American-Lima line. It was understood here that the vessel also would unload its cargo of machine guns, scrap metal and barbed wire, consigned to China. The action of the company in having the Wichita anchor in the outer harbor was taken to be a move to forestall a possible sitdown strike of the crew, members of which announced they would not proceed unless paid a war bonus of $250 each.

BOBCAT-PAMPA GAME WILL BE BROADCAST

The Pampa Harvester-Childress Bobcat football game to be played in Childress tomorrow night will be "On the Air." Radio station KPND, Pampa, has received special permission from the Federal Communications commission to broadcast all games played by the Pampa Harvester this fall and will give its patrons the opening game tomorrow night with Bill Karn and Harry E. Hoare at the microphones. The broadcast will be by remote control from Bobcat field in Childress over a special wire, beginning at 8 o'clock sharp. The commentators will give a graphic description of play as both teams try for a win on their opening game.

SOONERS CELEBRATE OPENING OF 'STRIP'

ENID, Okla., Sept. 16 (AP)—Northwestern Oklahoma Pioneers who have vivid memories of the "run" and their children who learned about it from history books celebrated today the forty-fourth anniversary of the opening of the Cherokee Strip.

'Big Day' in Canadian Birthday Celebration Will be Tomorrow

CANADIAN, Sept. 16—This historic Panhandle town today welcomed hundreds of visitors as a three-day celebration opened. The occasion is the 50th anniversary of Canadian, and the annual Eemphill county fair. Tomorrow, the big day in the eyes of pioneers and old-timers, a street parade of floats and vehicles will be an attraction. A free barbecue will be enjoyed at noon. Contests, featuring all kinds of races, will be on the program each day. Hundreds of visitors from all over the Panhandle have been invited and are expected to attend. The Santa Fe, then known as the Southern Kansas Railway of Texas, came through Canadian in the summer of 1887. The railroad station was a box car. On the town site lots were tent buildings. The largest and best remembered was the Tent Bungalow, where visitors were housed and made welcome. Other tents were pitched to house various businesses, and were a vast contrast to Canadian's present air conditioned and cooled modern structures of today. The population of Canadian in 1888 was thought to be about 300. That year, the first wagon bridge was built across the Canadian river. It was a 1200 foot perpendicular piling bridge. There were eight 160 foot spans. The height from low water mark was 7 feet to the bottom of the floor. Cost of the structure was $9,000. The first big overflow went over the top of the floor and

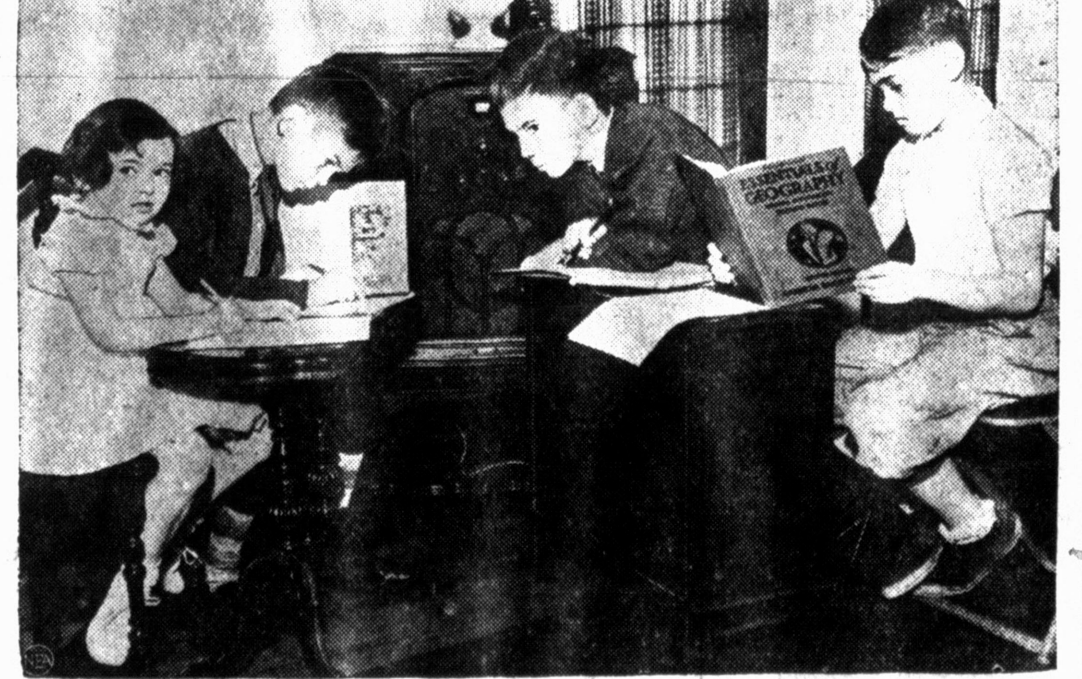

PAMPA MAN INJURED AS AUTOS COLLIDE

R. E. Morris, telephone and telephone inspector for the Humble Oil & Refining company here, suffered a broken bone in his foot, an arm injury and bruises yesterday when his car was in collision with one driven by Ralph Thomas. He is resting comfortably at Pampa-Jarrett hospital. The accident happened on the road to Kellerville off the paving. Neither Mr. Thomas or L. H. Cousins, lineman who was riding with Mr. Morris, was injured.

Mold Causes Farmers to Have New Lung Disease

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—A new kind of lung disease resembling tuberculosis which attacks only farmers was reported today to the International Congress of Radiology. An English physician, Dr. Richard Fawcitt of Ulverston, declared that the ailment which is caused by breathing mold from hay or grain into the lungs, is similar to silicosis in the lungs of miners. The latter disease is produced by breathing fine dust. Apparently, he added, many farmers in the United States and other countries of the world have the disease but it has heretofore been diagnosed as tuberculosis or asthma. It is definitely an occupational disease which appears in epidemics whenever moldy hay or grain carrying the fungi of mold is handled. Signs of the disease, which he urged all physicians in rural areas to look for, are difficult or labored breathing, progressive inability to do any work, coughing, slight fever, and evidence of tubercular signs, even though no sign of the tuberculosis germ can be found. Treatment of it is comparatively simple, he added, consisting of administration of potassium iodide and vaccines.

Going to Class by Radio in Chicago

DREAD PLAGUE FATAL TO 100 IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, Sept. 16 (AP)—A cholera epidemic reaching grave proportions spread through the foreign sector of this war-racked metropolis today, striking down more than 100 additional victims overnight. The sweep of the dread plague raised the number of cases in the international settlement and the French concession alone to 740. There are an additional 1,400 suspected cases in the two areas. In the Chinese sections of the city, where war refugees have been crowded together without even the most primitive sanitary provisions, the number of cases was believed in the thousands. Because of conditions it has been impossible even to estimate the number affected outside the settlement and the French concession. The great number of those stricken are Chinese who have been forced into Shanghai from the war zones ringing the city. The native population of the foreign sectors has been almost doubled by the tragic army of homeless civilians. Only a few foreigners have been affected. Chinese counterattacked in force today from the center of their strong Shanghai defense line and drove the Japanese from battle-scarred Lotien, 15 miles northwest of the international settlement. Despite a steady downpour of rain, the Chinese troops were said to have broken a mechanized Japanese attack. Countercharging, they drove out the Japanese who had entered the town with armored cars and tanks. Lotien has changed hands countless times in the five weeks of battle in the delta. The Chinese spokesman said the

WILLIS URGES TELLING OF WAR EXPERIENCES

About 60 men, including members of the American Legion and visitors, attended Kerley-Crossman post's "love feast" last night at the Legion hut. Speakers were Envoys Lange of the Salvation Army, Newton P. Willis, Judge W. R. Ewing, Frank Thomas, R. B. Fisher, Toastmaster was Ralph Thomas. Frank Thomas paid tribute to Commander Charlie Maisel who presided over his last session of the post last night. Judge Willis urged Legionnaires to revise the custom of relating war experiences. He said it was not the vague now to describe incidents that took place in the trenches, but that it would help the Legion if the custom were established. Judge Willis also praised the Americanism activities of the Legion. A dutch lunch was served to those present.

CHICAGO HIGH SCHOOLS OPENED TO STUDENTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—Chicago's high schools opened their doors today to 165,000 pupils who have been barred from classrooms since Sept. 7 because of an outbreak of infantile paralysis. The board also voted to permit children over 12 to resume attendance at motion picture theaters, but continued the ban affecting 315,000 elementary school pupils.

Million Voters Will Settle Violent New York Mayoralty Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Tammany Hall's fate as a political force may be determined today by the vote of 1,000,000 enrolled Republicans and Democrats in a majority primary contest of extraordinary bitterness. Primary bitterness wrought by the outcome of their election may also have far reaching import and national interest in both major parties. Primary bitterness brought violence before dawn, when a mob wrecked a lower east side drug store owned by Benjamin Brown, assembly candidate, who is involved in a bitter district fight between rival Tammany factions. This was the second outbreak in the district, four men armed with axes, knives and pistols having wrecked a bar owned by a participant last Monday. There are three major candidates: Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Fusion, pro-New Deal incumbent, is a candidate for the Republican nomination. His opponent is United States Senator Royal S. Copeland,

'Ride Mister'

"Ride mister?" But no shuddering motorist cared to offer a lift to death, portrayed by this ghastly figure of the grim reaper shown thumbing a ride on a much-traveled Arkansas highway. The figure had such a sobering effect on motorists that a tour of all the state's main highways was proposed for it.

SEN. BORAH TO 'DEBATE' FOR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt and two staunch opponents of his judiciary reorganization program will engage in a three-sided discussion this week-end which may add new fuel to the nationwide controversy over the Supreme Court. Each will give a speech inspired by the observance tomorrow of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution. Senator Borah (R-Idaho), long recognized as an authority on constitutional law, will lead off tonight at a Masonic meeting. President Roosevelt's address, which may hold the key to his future court policies, will be delivered at the base of the Washington monument tomorrow night. It will be the principal Constitution Day rally. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) will round out the discussion with a

JAYGEES TO LEAVE FOR MEETING AT WICHITA

Several members of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce are expected to leave tomorrow for Wichita Falls where the state Jaycee convention runs through Saturday. Joe Gordon, Gray county attorney, left today for the convention scene where he was to attend a pre-convention meeting of the state board of directors this afternoon and another business session tonight. Mr. Gordon made the trip to Wichita Falls with A. M. Minton of the Berger Junior Chamber of Commerce. Others from Pampa expected to make the trip include President R. G. Hughes, Vice President R. B. Allen, Lewis Curry, J. M. Collins, Jack Back, Garnet Reeves, and W. T. Fraser.

LEAGUE SENDS INVITATION TO 23 CAPITALS

GENEVA, Sept. 16 (AP)—The League of Nations council put China's appeal against Japanese aggression in the hands of a revived advisory committee today and asked the United States to take part in its deliberations. Quick dispatch of invitations to Washington and 22 other capitals made it certain that the United States must soon decide if she will cooperate with the committee, on which her representative formerly served. By its action the league also pushed into the background any question of sanctions against Japan—at least for a time. With China's conditional approval, the council shelved her appeal under the covenant article XVII—its sanctions section. The committee which will now hear the protest may ask both Japan and China to state their cases—something Japan is not likely to do. She has made it plain she will ignore any league mediation whatsoever in her undeclared war in the east. Despite the apparent shelving of actual league sanctions, committee members will be empowered to recommend to their respective governments such matters as suspension of credits to the aggressor and the stoppage of arms shipments. This committee was created in 1933 as a result of Japan's seizure of Manchuria, a conquest the league failed to stop. There was an American consultative member then. The potential participation of the United States in the revived committee's deliberations thus became a matter of the most vital importance today. Today's action was taken in private council session after the members had decided to take up quickly

BANDITS' GIRL FRIEND CAUGHT WHILE ASLEEP

FORT PAYNE, Ala., Sept. 16 (AP)—A girl who Sheriff E. W. Stewart said admitted she accompanied a band of men on a foray of banditry ranging from Alabama into Texas, through Arkansas and Oklahoma and back into Tennessee and Alabama, was held here today. The sheriff said the girl was found near Fort Payne yesterday, asleep in an automobile, and expressed belief the car had been abandoned by the bandits. Meanwhile, authorities searched for the band of four men Georgia authorities chased into Alabama near Mentone yesterday, after the attempted robbery of a bank in Chattanooga was frustrated. In Birmingham, Detective Chief G. C. Giles said the gang had been linked definitely with the abduction and robbery a week ago of O. H. Boyd, Birmingham license inspector. Subsequently, Giles said, Boyd's car, with the bandits, took way was found in Texarkana, Texas.

SEVERAL KILLED WHEN SHELLS POUND MADRID

MADRID, Sept. 16 (AP)—Insurgent shells pounded central Madrid at 5-minute intervals today, killing several persons. The bombardment came after two weeks of artillery inactivity. It began about 11 a. m., and there were some casualties before people in the downtown district could take cover. Government guns replied to the fire, which came from nearby hills. There the insurgents have laid siege to Madrid for almost a year. Government authorities said the shelling had little military importance. It followed upon last night's bombing of Valencia, the temporary capital.

I SAW - - -

Mrs. G. E. Dunwoody of 600 Rocking bringing in a funny-looking egg—or rather two eggs. Both were soft-shelled and joined together by shell. It was laid by a Rhode Island red pullet. . . . A little while later E. N. Franklin brought in a spider in a bottle. The spider looked like a Black Widow except that it had a red strip instead of dots down its back.

Fall Round Up to Be Directed Soon

Business and Professional Women's club met in its first business session of the year at the city club rooms Tuesday evening.

Response to roll call was answered with "How I Spent my Vacation," and many interesting reports were given by the members present.

The following greetings were sent to the club from its president, Mildred Overall, who is vacationing in the Ozarks:

"I am very sorry I can not be with you this evening—our first meeting of the new year—but vacation time comes but once a year and I am enjoying the Ozarks immensely.

"Your executive board has been meeting all summer—outlining the year's work and making plans for a program which will be recreational, educational and worthwhile.

"The social committee is planning many entertaining affairs for you which will be purely social and recreational this year. Our business meetings will be devoted to our club's program for the year, which is "Our Town's Business."

"I wish to urge each and every one of you to attend every meeting this year; make a special resolution not to miss a one and stay until they are over. Whatever you put into your club work, you will surely receive even more in return.

"If there is anything you wish to know about the club's affairs, please feel free to ask about it. Although the board has taken the responsibility of transacting all business, it welcomes any suggestions you may make or any questions you may ask.

"Sell your club to the public again; talk and praise it; get interested in it. We have great things ahead of us. Let us go forward to meet them and remember that it is the little things which create differences, that in the big things of life we are as one!"

Miss Frances Stark, who is moving to Dallas, presented her resignation as recording secretary, and Vera Lard gave a resume of the program for the year. The programs for the business meetings will be chiefly about "Our Town's Business" which will cover different phases of business and industries in the town. She also announced the Fall Round-Up which will be held in the club rooms on September 28th, when new members will be special guests of the club.

Those present were Christine Cecil, Frances Stark, Vera Lard, Iva Eker, Pat Austin, Gladys Robinson, Mabel Gee, Mary Lou Downs, Clara Lee Shevemaker, Ruth Walstead and Grace Pool.

Picnic Planned For Saturday by Girl Scout Troop

Troop six of the Girl Scouts met at the Scout House Tuesday and made plans for the new year.

The girls will meet at the Scout House Saturday for a weed pull on the lawn which was recently planted. After the weeds are cleaned out, the group will serve a picnic lunch. All members are urged to be present.

FLINCHED WITH STOMACH PAINS

Gas and Bloat Caused Him Misery; But Now Van-Tage Has Relieved Him.

"I never would have believed there was such a medicine!"

People over this entire section are saying that a bottle of Van-Tage, the Amazing New Medicine which is being sold in large quantities here in Pampa, recently, Mr. Chas. Green, of 415 21st Street, Denver, Colo., endorsed it:

"For the past year I had been suffering with a gassy, upset stomach," said Mr. Green. "My food would lay in my stomach in lumps, and I just had to FLINCH with awful pain. I had cramps so bad it felt like my stomach was being tied up into regular knots, and my bowels were constipated. I was about as sick and discouraged as a man can be. I read about Van-Tage and decided to try this medicine and it helped me RIGHT FROM THE START. It acted on my upset stomach and cleared out so much of that awful gas and bloat that my digestion started getting better almost at once, and now I don't have those awful pains. It gave my bowels such a fine cleansing that they are getting more regular every day. I am a man of 70 years, and I'll keep on praising Van-Tage if I live to be a hundred!"

VAN-TAGE helps clear away poisonous wastes from the system in several ways at once! It helps cleanse bowels, assists Nature to flush excess impurity from kidneys and brings forth gas and bloat from stomach. So much Van-Tage is sold that its price is very reasonable, so get it—TODAY—at Cretney Drug Store, next to LAMAR Theater.

MANY HURT AS GERMAN GRANDSTAND COLLAPSES

COLOGNE, Germany, Sept. 16 (AP)—A grandstand jammed with 5,000 spectators collapsed today during a military parade at Buskirkchen near here, resulting in a narrow escape for the American consul general, Alfred Kleinforth, and his wife.

Many persons were injured. Several diplomatic and consular officials and other foreigners were among the spectators. Whether any were hurt was not immediately known, but first reports indicated that no Americans were among the injured.

FALSE TEETH Can Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their teeth dropped or slipped just at the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your teeth. It sticks to the teeth and holds them in place. Makes false teeth stay in place and feel comfortable all day long. Sweetens the breath. Get FASTEETH at any drug store. Accept no substitute.

CHAPTER I

The soap slid over the edge of the tub and across the bathroom floor, three feet beyond the reach of the tub's lovely occupant.

"Damn!" said Cilly. (Priscilla, to you, Miss Priscilla Pierce, of the late Bensonhurst Pierces.)

She slithered down to the edge of the tub and reached again. With two strong fingers, she grasped the soap, only to have it slide another yard toward the door. "Damn!" she said again. Then to herself: "If I have to get out of this tub, I'm out for good."

It wasn't pleasant up on the roof at midnight. . . . Tonight

it was cloudy, and there was no moon. It would be terrifying all alone up there!

Monday morning. Tomorrow would be no exception.

She jumped out of the tub, rescued the slippery soap and returned it to its cubicle above the tub. Then with a huge Turkish towel she rubbed her hair, slim body until it glistened.

"If Amy Kerr had one lota of sense," she was thinking all the while, "she wouldn't have suggested another rubber of bridge at 11 o'clock. Nor would she be up on the roof now airing her blue dress! Airing her dress, my grandmother. She's never been so fussy before. What made her want to go up on the roof at 12 o'clock?"

Cilly grabbed her pajamas from the hook on the bathroom door and jumped into them unceremoniously. Amy might at least have realized that it was nerve-racking to have the door unlocked when one was taking a bath. But tonight Amy was certainly inconsiderate.

"I won't be a minute, Cilly. . . ."

I'm just going up on the roof to air this blue dress so that I can wear it tomorrow. It smells like a gasoline station now. . . . Leave the door open, that's a dear."

Well, it certainly was a long minute. More like 20. Cilly went into the bedroom they shared together and sat down at the frilled dressing table. This was the moment of the daily hairbrushing—100 strokes. It wasn't all accident that Cilly's dull auburn hair shone so quickly.

Seven, eight, nine, ten. . . . Just a minute, to air this blue dress. Tommyrot! Cilly was thoroughly annoyed at Amy Kerr tonight. And not a little annoyed at herself for being such a jealous fool. It was as if Amy was a different person by nature. She wasn't. She was a peach. In the two months they had shared the apartment, Cilly and Amy had grown as close as sisters.

Cilly had been doubtful at first about taking a strange girl in to share her home, but she had never regretted doubling up with Amy Kerr. And with expenses just about cut in half, they were already planning a trip to the West Indies that winter. That is, if nothing happened in the meantime.

Seven, eight, nine, twenty. . . . If nothing happened in the meantime. Actually, Cilly was thinking: "If Jim doesn't insist on getting married before then." He'd been on the point of it a dozen times. Cilly knew, but something always held him back.

"Oh, Cilly, darling!"—it was Jim who had christened her "Cilly" in place of the prim and pure "Priscilla" for her great-grandmother—"Oh, Cilly, if I could only run off with you right this very day, you do love me, don't you, darling? You will wait for me, no matter what happens?"

Wait for him! Hadn't she waited 27 years for someone exactly like Jim Kerrigan? If she waited another thousand years, waiting for ever, for anyone else so utterly dear, so thoughtful, so tender? Seven, eight, nine, forty. . . . He'd never said exactly just what held him back, but Cilly understood. It was his new job. He had only been in New York a little over six months; he had to make good before he could ask a girl to marry him. She could well afford to be patient.

Seven, eight, nine, sixty. . . . Or could she?

For the first time since she had known Jim, she felt a little twinge of uncertainty. These past few months it had been just Jim and she—just the two of them together. Dancing at the French Casino. Swimming at Jones Beach. Looking at Coney Island. Cooking hot dogs over a campfire at Hillside Park. Holding hands at the Paramount. Stealing a kiss downstairs in the vestibule. . . . Just two people in all New York. Cilly Pierce and Jim Kerrigan.

Until tonight when she had suggested to Amy that they invite their respective beaux in for a quiet Sunday evening. "So we can all get to know each other better," she had said to Amy. "Four people can have so much more fun together than just two."

Well, they certainly got to know each other better. Jim any Amy, at any rate. You'd have thought they'd know each other all their lives. The way Amy's eyes lighted up when she introduced them to the where've-you-been-all-my-life look that Jim gave Amy. . . .

Seven, eight, nine, eighty. . . . It was just too bad she couldn't have gone for Amy's date in the same spirit. Harry Hutchins. A loud-mouthed, conceited fool. The sort who can always tell the other fellow how to play bridge. A wise guy. Cilly marveled that a girl like Any could have stood his company for one evening. Amy was highly attractive—a girl with charm and poise and good breeding. Surely she could see through the bluff that was Harry Hutchins. But apparently she didn't. To all appearances, she was completely gone on him. Why, if two girls passed without her hearing from him, she'd call him at his hotel. It made Cilly mad.

Once she remarked about it to Amy, not that she had any right to comment. But Amy was such a good-hearted soul; she'd never realize when someone was giving her a raw deal. "Let him chase you," Cilly had said. "There's more zest to a man when you keep him guessing." But Amy had just shrugged.

"Don't worry about me, Cilly," she replied. "You don't understand this affair between Harry and me." No, Cilly didn't understand it. But she understood Harry Hutchins. Only to well. He was the answer to every maiden's prayer—at least he thought so. And poor Amy was just another girl who had fallen prey to his deadly charm. Cilly knew that Harry had other interests. In greener fields. It was no secret that Harry Hutchins was making a heavy play for Gloria Harmon, whose father had left her a string of chain stores. The Brooklyn rotogravure sections printed photographs of them together—at the races, at the smartest supper clubs in Manhattan, at the Harmon estate on Long Island. Even tonight, he had boasted of spending the previous week-end "down at Harmony Hall."

But all this went over poor Amy's head. Either she had not a bit of jealousy in her makeup, or she had a forlorn hope that in time she could win her precious Harry back. Seen, eight, nine, one hundred. . . . Cilly put the brush down. Perhaps that was it. Perhaps Amy had been so especially sweet to Jim this evening just to make Harry jealous. Cilly couldn't blame her for that.

However, that didn't explain this going up on the roof. And spending half an hour up there. . . . It wasn't pleasant up on the roof at midnight, not unless the moon rode high in a cloudless sky. Tonight it was cloudy, and there was

"AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION"

Gray county and Pampa are fortunate in that school and health officials did not have to adopt the rigid restrictions of delaying school opening until later because of infantile paralysis.

However, this does not mean that every precaution should not be taken to prevent any outbreak locally. Medical statistics show September to be the month in which the dread disease seems to take its greatest hold throughout the land.

Parents and teachers should be on the alert for the tiniest tendency toward a symptom of infantile paralysis, and a child showing any of the signs should at once be taken from the classroom until an examination has been made by a doctor.

This is in no means intended to convey the impression that an infantile paralysis epidemic is imminent in Pampa and Gray county. For that is not true. It is merely a suggestion that no chances of any kind be taken and that every precaution be utilized to prevent an outbreak.

PUBLIC LAWBREAKING

There has been a certain amount of fine talk about international law, in connection with the activities of submarines in the Mediterranean, but most of it has been just talk. For the disarming but inescapable fact of the matter is that today there is no such thing as international law. It is just something that we remember from a former epoch.

The whole course of such powers as Italy, Germany and Russia in regard to the Spanish civil war has utterly disregarded all tenets of international law. So, of course, has the submarine campaign in the Mediterranean. So, too, has the war in China, where the New York Times points out that the contending armies are coldly refusing to take prisoners.

We might as well recognize the fact that we are living in an age of international anarchy, not international law. It is a hard fact to have to swallow, but there is no sense in deluding ourselves about it.

Washington Letter

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—When Hugo Black takes his place at the council table of the Supreme Court he will remember, with a tinge of regret, the clubby good-fellowship he left behind in the senate.

The Supreme Court is not clubby. The members are more often contentious and crusty when they sit at the council table to hammer out their opinions. There is no "certainly I will yield to my illustrious friend and fellow senator from Alabama." There hasn't been a "era of good feeling" in the court for several years. The sour flavor has prevailed since before the New Deal came to split the court into sputtering fragments.

Good information coming to us has it that Black can expect the usual courteous greetings from the members of the weightiest judicial body in the country. These elderly justices know and follow the ways of gentlemen—until they go to bat around the council table.

Whether Black will take his seat immediately upon meeting of the court October 4 has not been decided. In a measure, that is up to him. He has been appointed and confirmed by the senate, but a suit is pending before the court challenging the legality of his appointment.

Albert Levitt, former judge of the Virgin Island, has filed suit in the Supreme Court raising the same questions about Black's standing that were raised in the senate—that no vacancy resulted from the retirement (without resignation) of Justice Van Devanter, that Black participated in increasing the emoluments of the office when congress extended retirement privileges to the justices.

The court will decide, perhaps as early as October 11, whether there is sufficient ground to consider Levitt's proposition.

Black will have a seat on the far left wing of the court. It is because the court sits according to seniority, and Black is junior of them all. Justice Cardozo, now next above Black in seniority, is perhaps as liberal as Black but will sit on the extreme right wing of the court. That is the next step of elegance—next to the chief justice.

When Black begins participating in the court's business, he will get the routine, unimportant cases—if the court follows precedent. Cardozo got them. Only occasionally did he rate an opportunity to write the majority opinion in a top-flight case. Such opportunities came to him with greater frequency during the last two years, after he had been several years on the court.

It is fully expected by court observers that if Black seeks to impose the dictates of the White House upon the Supreme Court, he will be taken apart at the council table by conservatives and liberals alike. They are masters of verbal rough house. He probably won't try it, at least not in any high-handed manner, even though he is no infant himself when it comes to verbal blistering.

At times the members of the Supreme Court get so heated up at the council table that they snap at each other after they take their seats on the bench, before the public. There isn't a chummy pair in the lot. Van Devanter used to get along well with most of them, but he is gone. Occasionally Stone and Cardozo talk to each other as they sit at the bench. So do Butler and Roberts. Chief Justice Hughes sometimes turns for a word or two with Justice Brandeis.

But for the most part Black, the affable, who ends almost every question with "won't you please, uh," will find his court colleagues a grim bunch.

Tex's Topics

Tomorrow is Constitution Day. It is surprising and almost inconceivable, but do you know that four out of ten persons cannot tell you what Constitution Day is all about? Try it on the next ten persons you meet, and see how you make out. That's why there is a great educational campaign sweeping the country to conduct talks on Constitution Day to acquaint the people with the background of our government.

We have a letter from our good friend, Clyde Warwick, over in Canyon, and he says some flattering things that even our flexible modesty will not allow us to repeat. Thank you for "them kind words," Clyde. Brotherhood Class of the First Baptist church will honor the Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, their new pastor, at a banquet to be held in the church basement at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Salvation Army advisory board officials, headed by Arthur Teed, are pleased over the response being made in Pampa to their drive for $3,600 with which to finance the Army here for the coming year. The drive now is in progress and will run through next Wednesday.

That was a splendid ovation Pampa gave to Rep. Marvin Jones at the Chamber of Commerce banquet in First M. E. church today. As a leader of the nation's No. 1 legislators, he is deserving of any tribute given to him in any section of the country. Japan evidently is irked because China failed to heed the machine gun typewriting on the Wall. The value of developing a hobby is illustrated by circus aerialists who often have little to fall back on when they lose their grip on the job. It's all right for the government to start the business cycle upgrade, but it ought to make some of the handlebar riders pump.

Waitresses in a New York restaurant are being taught how to take orders. This will stir the wrath of the uprisers against teaching military principles to the younger generation. An Australian has developed a calculating machine that solves problems by tracing curves on a piece of paper. One in every phone booth would speed the world's work. They say this year the livestock show at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo Sept. 20-25, will be the largest in Texas. The exposition's livestock exhibits is outranked by few national shows. In the annual feeder number, Western Livestock, a national range magazine, published at Denver, says:

"Importance of the livestock show, as expressed editorially in a recent issue of Western Livestock, will be stressed by The Tri-State Fair at its crystal celebration in Amarillo, September 20-25. Outranked in quantity only by three or four national exhibitions, the livestock show at the Tri-State Fair again this year will feature the Hereford department with the cooperation of the American Hereford association, which posts one dollar for every two dollars put up by the exposition for cash premiums.

"Approximately $5,000 in cash premiums, all guaranteed for payment in full, will be offered this year to Hereford breeders alone. Competition in the Hereford division is open to the world. But all animals to be eligible must be registered, the exhibitor being required to file the name and herd book of each entry. Manager of the Burk Burnett ranch, the 666, and considered one of the best judges in the United States, John Burns of Fort Worth, will officiate at the Tri-State Fair's Hereford show."

Just about the time Japan's example was becoming most depressing, Paraguay comes along and flatly declares a state of war. Where there's a will there's a way. The new tax forms are regarded generally as a great improvement. All a person has to do now is make the payments. Science backs grandpa's claim that his corn hurts before a rain, but no one has come forward for the lad who sprains his arm just before shocking season. Radio salesmen ought to look up that sea-loving landlubber who is always longing for the good old days of the windjammer.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO

Pampa's first trade day was a success. Participating merchants reported that trading was unusually active for that time of week, and shoppers found hundreds of bargains for every department of the house.

The wedding of Miss Mable Mundy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Hundy of this city, and Frank L. Hurst was solemnized in the First Christian church in Oklahoma City. More than 200 friends of the couple were present.

The Hi-Octane Refining company, a subsidiary of the Danziger Refineries, started construction of a Winkler Koch cracking plant one mile east of the city limits.

Chairman John Bradley of the Pampa Red Cross chapter announced the appointment of Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald as chairman of the Junior Red Cross work here.

THE CO-OPERATIVE SPIRIT

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Douglas Fairbanks was in town the other day and said he probably would do some serious motion picture producing on the coast next year.

However, at the moment he is occupied with plans for some winter skiing at St. Moritz, where he intends to do a lot of exhilarating. Skiing has replaced leaping over fences in the dewy dawn as Doug's favorite sport. He explains that the trudge up mountain sides was most invigorating and that no thrill was comparable to the experience of plunging down mountainsides at two miles a minute.

Doug said that Mrs. Fairbanks was also enthusiastic over prospects of another whirl at the winter sports, although she is not a skier herself. Her idea of fun is a bobbed rumbling down a safe, wide course.

It is an established verity that a man getting around this town must pay bare feet and $50 a year for the privilege of wearing a hat. One cannot enter a theater, a nightclub, or restaurant without exchanging one's hat for a little red ticket. This of course means a 25-cent tip, and in time these quarters do mount up.

However, the owners of the places themselves rarely pocket this largesse. They lease the hat-checking concessions for extraordinary sums, sometimes receiving as much as $3,000 a month. There are several corporations which make a regular business of buying up concessions, and establishing their own girls behind the counters.

Another little racket in New York has no such highly organized system, yet it has flourished for years. This takes in motorists, and when you park your car on any of the side streets a bum shuffles up, opens the door, and informs you that he will look after your car so that the street urchins will not steal the wheels or let the air out of the tires. This, in simpler words, means, pay up, or else. A quarter will usually suffice, but if you ignore him you will probably regret it to the extent of several dollars worth of accessories. They steal motometers, scratch paint, and even slash tires.

A socially prominent young man who is usually about three months ahead of the fashion, was sent to the other evening with his hat askew. It was thought he was introducing a new fad, but a few pointed questions revealed the fact that he was shielding at black eye. "I got this for being such a doubting Thomas," he explained. "And how was that?" "Very simple," he went on. "Just as I arrived on the eighth green someone yelled 'Fore' and I didn't believe him. Silly of me, what?"

So They Say

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Before the Community picnic was held at LeFors, a man came up to a member of the American Legion and said, "Lissen, my wife says we better get that baby you're going to give away, or I'd better not come home. She says it's our last chance and she ought to know because she's been trying hard enough to adopt a baby."

The next day an old man came into the Legionnaire's place of business, and said, "My wife thinks you ought to try and adopt that baby. We do get kinda lonesome staying at home by ourselves. All our children are married off, and have families of their own, and the wife thinks we ought to take a child to raise," and so ran many many stories told the conscientious Legionnaires (who were going to give away a baby cat!) The picnic proved to them that people nowadays are wanting children more than anything else. Many people knew that state laws wouldn't have permitted a human baby to be given away in such a manner.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GILDSTON, M.D.

Of Life After Death

This title may sound like a theologian's thesis, but we aren't concerned with personal immortality. Rather with the prolonged life of tissues derived from dead bodies.

The practice of transplanting tissue from a dead body to a living person is not common, but there are people who carry upon themselves living tissues derived from corpses.

The seeming paradox lies in the biologic double-meaning of the term death. When an animal dies, that which dies first is its capacity to coordinate, its ability to tie together its different tissues, organs and systems into a functioning whole.

Following the death of the organism, the individual tissues and organs can and do retain vitality for varying periods.

Muscles, removed from the body of a recently killed animal, retain for hours the vital capacity to alter their shapes. Even so complex an organ as the heart can be "kept alive" outside the animal body for a short time by supplying an artificial medium which approximates that found in the living organism.

But it is one thing to keep tissues alive for a time in artificial environments, and yet another to transplant tissues from one person to another, and to keep such transplants alive and functioning.

An interesting example of transplanting tissue is the grafting of the cornea, or covering tissue of the eye. This is the transparent portion of the eyeball covering.

Sometimes, due to injury or disease, the cornea will become opaque. Then it has the appearance of frosted glass, and is just as difficult to see through. Formerly persons so afflicted were doomed to partial or total blindness when both eyes were involved, or to serious visual impairment when only one eye was affected.

In recent years an operation has been perfected in which a portion of the opaque cornea is removed, and a corresponding bit of clear cornea is inserted. With time, the transplanted cornea becomes attached and incorporated in the covering

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — The Twentieth Century studio people were annoyed and worried when Paramount's "Easy Living" beat them to the theaters—and they had cause to be.

But "Thin Ice" will do plenty for itself despite the similarity of the story twist. It has, first of all, Sonja Henie, as cute and ingenious as in her first picture. It has Miss Henie's skating and some of the finest group work on ice ever seen on the screen. It also has Tyrone Power, who aside from being the real Henie heart interest proves again that he can act.

Remade For Sonja

"Easy Living" was about a girl who found herself living in style because people thought she was the friend of a wealthy Wall Streeter. "Thin Ice" is about a resort skating instructor who finds herself overwhelmed with attentions because people think she is the friend of the prince. Both heroines are innocent of the situation. Where the girl in the first picture married the Wall Streeter's son, Sonja in "Thin Ice" gets the prince.

"Thin Ice" was made before by its present parent as "My Lips Betray," starring Lilian Harvey, but it has been tailored anew to suit the Scandinavian ice queen. It is above the average entertainment, with Arthur Treacher and Raymond Walburn for comedy, and Joan Davis clicking for laughs in two songs and dances. Sidney Lanfield directed.

"Something to Sing About" is a satirical little thing having to do with a band leader who becomes a movie star. It's slightly biographical of its star, James Cagney.

Neither pretentious nor elaborate, it is Grand National's biggest picture and credit for making it seem bigger belongs to the versatile Victor Schertzinger, who wrote the story, the songs, and directed.

Swirl Photography

"Big City" probably won't suffer at the box office for my low opinion of it. It's sentimental melodrama, with Lulu Rainer and Spencer Tracy wasted, I think, in the lead roles. Directed by Frank Borzage, its love scenes have that old touch, and in some places the picture shows signs of transcending its hokey materials but seldom does. For popular sock-appeal the climax has 15 big sports names to side with hero Tracy in a big city taxi war, and it's a riotously satisfying ending.

The story has Tracy's wife, Rainer, being deported as an aftermath of the taxi-fighting. Stretching credibility is the fact that although the wife is an expectant mother, the husband tells no one until after she's on the boat. If he had, of course, the reporters would have had a "cause" and the dirty work couldn't have been done and there'd have been no picture. This would have been unfortunate, come to think of it, because Rainer here is more beautifully photographed than ever before and Tracy is good no matter what. And there's a scene wherein Guinn "Williams, to prove to cops that he's buying milk for himself, drinks a whole quart before your eyes!

Inside Story of Moley Case Told by Dutcher

By ROBNEY DUTCHER

Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Most presidents have had "brain trusts." Some of them even had brains in their own cabinets. From before the time of Andrew Jackson's "kitchen cabinet," to economical Calvin Coolidge's dependence on Dwight Morrow, the Morgan partner, and Frank Stearns, the department store owner, all have solved the problems of state with the aid of men who were not especially elected to advise them.

Never before the Roosevelt administration, however, had there been such a remarkable galaxy of advisers and "brain-trusters"—professors, lawyers, economists and a few business men—as has performed before and behind the scenes in Washington since 1933.

Reputing Earlier "Follies"

There have been three major phases of "brain-trusting"—First, the Moley era, featuring the early one and only, original "brains trust"—so named by Roosevelt.

Second, the period of Richberg, Tugwell and Frank Walker; Third, the current phase starring a group which stands close with Roosevelt on a general program which repudiates what is called the New Deal's earlier "economic follies."

This brief history begins with the unforgettable Dr. Raymond A. Moley, picked for Roosevelt by Judge Sam Roseman of New York, who is still one of Roosevelt's closest backstage advisers. And before Moley there was Louis Howe. The original "trust" was Moley, Rosenman and Howe, with Charlie Taussig, A. A. Berle and Hugh Johnson, then representing B. M. Baruch, on the edges.

Moley became the man whom Roosevelt needed to gather data and dope for speeches. He was most prominent of the group because he traveled with F. D. R. on campaign trains as an aide and chief ghost writer. He had a practical experience background as well as his recent professional research in government and political science.

Book A Day

By BRUCE CATTON

Dr. A. J. Cronin's latest novel, "Citadel" (Little, Brown & Co., $2.50) may not be entirely autobiographical, but the London physician certainly drew on his own history for much of the book.

"Citadel" is the story of a Scotch doctor who begins practice in Wales, fights the superstitions and ignorance of the miners, gets a government post and gives it up in disgust, goes to London on impulse and gradually evolves into a fashionable London practitioner.

A check on Dr. Cronin's life reveals that he was born in Scotland and spent much of his early career in South Wales, later building a successful practice in London.

It also tells that prior to his novels, Dr. Cronin never had written anything but a "History of Aneurism" and "Dust Inhalation by Haematite Miners." Dr. Cronin's novel counterpart interests himself in the dust inhalation field and one of the book's most interesting incidents deals with aneurism.

Dr. Cronin's book does much more than touch the surface of medical practice in England. He flails away at some of its narrowness and intolerance and he constructs the novel's doctor slowly and surely, carries him along through broken ideals and impaled illusions.

The character changes from a sincere medical pioneer to a greedy charlatan—up to the moment he sees a fellow "social doctor" butcher a patient from pure lack of medical skill.

Then he reverts and the reversal is the strongest part of the book, barring perhaps some of the early material and mental struggles. The book is medical, maybe too medical for some readers. But it also has plot, strong characterization and a high rate of reader interest.—C. N.

tely no other agency to handle the work that the Army handles. Envoys Frederick M. Lange, sent here to assist Chairman Arthur Teed and other advisory board members in conducting the drive, renewed his appeal to fund workers this afternoon to contact every person for whom they have a card, and to make daily reports of their progress at the BOD rooms in City Hall between 5 and 8 p. m.

"It is important that we hear from the workers at the close of each day," he said. "Otherwise we have no check on how the campaign is advancing."

Yesterday's contributions amounted to $300, leaving $1,300 still to be raised to reach the $3,000 goal.

Members of the Rotary club team led the solicitation, turning in the largest amount for the day. Frank Allison was high man among individual solicitors.

Among 100 per cent contributors were employees of Radio Station KPDN and the production department of The Texas Co.

ORDINANCE NO. 182.

An ordinance making it unlawful to park or leave standing any motor or other vehicle upon premises of another without consent of the owner or occupant of such premises; prescribing the penalty for violation of this ordinance, and declaring an emergency.

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to park or leave standing any motor or other vehicle upon property and premises belonging to another within the City of Pampa, without the consent or permission of the owner or occupant of such property or premises upon which such motor or other vehicle may be parked or left standing.

Section 2. Any person who shall violate this ordinance shall be punished upon conviction thereof by fine of not less than Five nor more than Two Hundred dollars;

Emergency: The fact that the City of Pampa now has no ordinance regulating or prohibiting the parking of vehicles upon premises of another, and the fact that in the business district of the city and especially adjoining the alley-ways of said city vacant lots and premises owned and occupied by the merchants of the city are not being used by other persons for the purpose of parking and leaving stand automobiles and other vehicles and such practice prevents such merchants and other property owners and occupants from having free access and use of their said premises at all times; and the further fact that such practice and condition creates an unsafe and hazardous condition for the people lawfully using such premises, alley-ways and streets, especially in the event of fire, creates an emergency; and the law requiring ordinances to be read upon three several days before final passage is hereby suspended, and this ordinance shall become effective and in full force immediately after its passage and publication.

Dr. Wellington Koo, the Chinese envoy, accepted the council's decision but he reserved the right to appeal again to the council direct and to invoke article XVII of the covenant which could bring sanctions against Japan—if he feels it necessary.

If article XVII were invoked, Japan, a league non-member, would be asked to sit temporarily in the council and answer China's charges that she is an aggressor.

The advisory committee will meet shortly after the election of new members to the council, which is set for next Monday.

In the meantime invitations will be dispatched to the 23 countries which made up the former committee.

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. If frequent or steady passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Qualifying as Presidential Timber

Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania is often mentioned for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940. He possesses at least one traditional qualification for the post—an active enthusiasm for fishing. A good caster, he puts his prowess to test above in the Austrian trout streams near Lichtenwerth while abroad.

FARM LEADERS PLANNING 1938 CROP CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Farm leaders took up today a tentative administration proposal to control 1938 crop production by an acreage-limitation program reaching into ever county.

Secretary Wallace presented the suggestion to more than 100 state AAA officials, agricultural committeemen and others summoned for a discussion of general farm legislation. Proposals called for a reduction in the land planted to cotton and rice, with corn, tobacco, potatoes and peanuts kept near their present level.

Cooperating farmers would receive checks from the $500,000,000 fund authorized by congress for annual payments under the soil conservation act. Each farm would have a limit or "goal."

The suggested "goals" were not specific, and other details were not disclosed. Following is a comparison between acreage planted this year and the highest suggested for next year:

Crop	1937	1938
Cotton	33,736,000	31,000,000
Corn	96,146,000	96,000,000
Tobacco	1,890,000	1,800,000
Potatoes	3,224,000	3,300,000
Peanuts	1,666,000	1,600,000
Rice	1,003,000	875,000

H. R. Tolley, AAA administrator, said the conference was not an attempt to agitate for a special session of congress this fall. He said the farm leaders merely were trying to formulate a program on which new farm legislation could be based.

The present soil conservation act lacks control features. A general farm bill is on the slate for first consideration at the new session of congress.

Boy Needs Brains More Than Birth To Reach Top Of Ladder In Japan

This is the last in a series of six articles examining closeup the average boy of 14 around the world today... his prospects for the new school term — and for the future — at the age when, in America, he would this month be entering high school.

BY RELMAN MORIN AP Foreign Service

TOKYO—Life begins at 14 for Masatora Kubo, sturdy, bright-eyed, vital, a typical Japanese schoolboy. Until a few days ago, when Masatora entered "middle school," his life essentially was the same as any American boy's.

He went, more by compulsion than desire, to a primary school. For six years (in some other cases eight) his education was provided by the government. He fretted about tests, stayed after school and sometimes suffered parental thunder over his report-card.

At 14, like the average American youngster, he was ready for middle school, which is about the equivalent of high school.

Cramps During 'Vacation' At this point, the parallel ends. The American boy goes to high school, this month, as a matter of course. Masatora doesn't. For him, middle school is not just an automatic next-step, a part of growing up. He had to fight for his place, qualifying for the right to continue his education.

Qualifying meant hurdling an entrance examination studded with spikes. He was examined in algebra, geometry and the intricate written Japanese. Worst of all, he was tested in English. English, to a Japanese, is no less a nightmare than Japanese to an American.

These recent summer months, technically, were his vacation. Actually, they were an grim a period as he will ever know. Since July, his nose has been glued to the grindstone in a session of red-hot, deadly-earnest "cramming."

He is not surprised "if he hears that some of his friends studied themselves into a nervous breakdown."

Then came the examinations. Masatora qualified. But about one-third of the boys failed. The percentage was even higher among the girls. Many who failed will wait until next year.

Uniform Sets Him Apart Some will go to work, enrolling in night schools. Their jobs, being unskilled workers, will command no more than 10 yen a month, which would correspond, not mathematically, but in ratio to the standards of living, to about $29. Since the cry in Japan today is for trained hands and heads, most of Masatora's friends certainly will try, next year, to follow him to middle school.

Those who go to work now have no unemployment insurance, nor social security. They have, however, access to clinics where they can obtain care at a nominal expense, or none at all.

Their problems are not Masatora's. He has put on a cadet-type school uniform, which he wears with pride. It is a symbol of merit.

He is more sharply conscious, at this time of his life than probably at any other, of the potentialities of the future. Few doors are closed to him. He knows it is possible for him even to become the premier of Japan. He knows that Koki Hirota, present foreign minister, former premier, is the son of a stone-mason. And he is fully aware that many giants in Japanese finance, industry and the more lowly than his.

JANUS-EYED

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP)—Police sought a burglar with "x-ray" eyes today in the theft of $34.70 from John Socco.

Socco, not wishing to carry the money home from his restaurant late at night, divided it into three piles and secreted it in three hiding places.

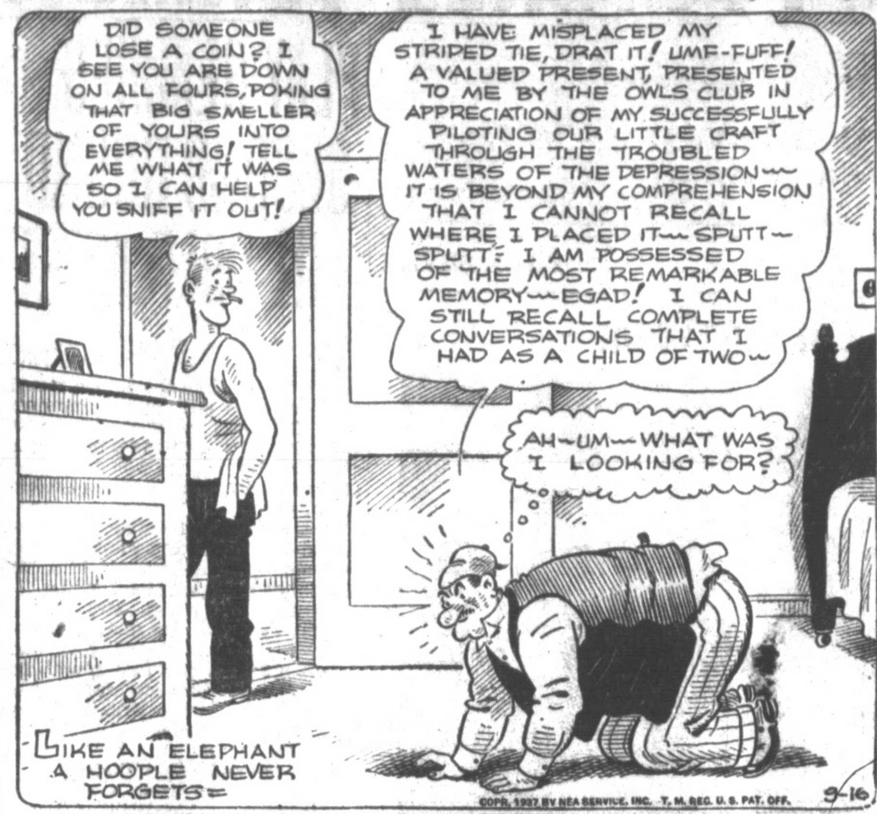

Someone who forced a rear door during the night found all three caches and took every cent.

ACTRESS MAE CLARK WEDS AIRWAYS PILOT

TIAJUANA, Mex., Sept. 15 (AP)—Mae Clarke, 28, screen actress and Stephen Bancroft, 31, Pan-American Airways pilot were married here last night. It was disclosed today by Generao Castro, attorney, in whose office the ceremony took place. Witnesses were fellow aviators of the bridegroom.

HOBO HELPLESS BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—New-style railroad trains are creating a problem of state for Jeff Davis, self-styled king of hoboes. "Few of them have double brake rods for my subjects to ride," he complained during a stopover here. "Even those with single rods are disappearing. In 10 years it's going to be tough."

ORDINANCE NO. 181

AN ORDINANCE prohibiting and regulating the solicitation of money and gifts for relief or for any other charitable purposes by any person or persons, institution or organization or so-called "tag day" solicitations; requiring the registration with the city manager of persons, institutions or organizations soliciting contributions and prohibiting such solicitation without a permit, and providing penalties for the violation of this ordinance.

BE IT ORDAINED by the City of Pampa, Texas, that:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm or association, to solicit or obtain alms or gifts in money or merchandise directly or indirectly, by the misrepresentation of names, occupation, financial condition, physical condition, social condition or residence.

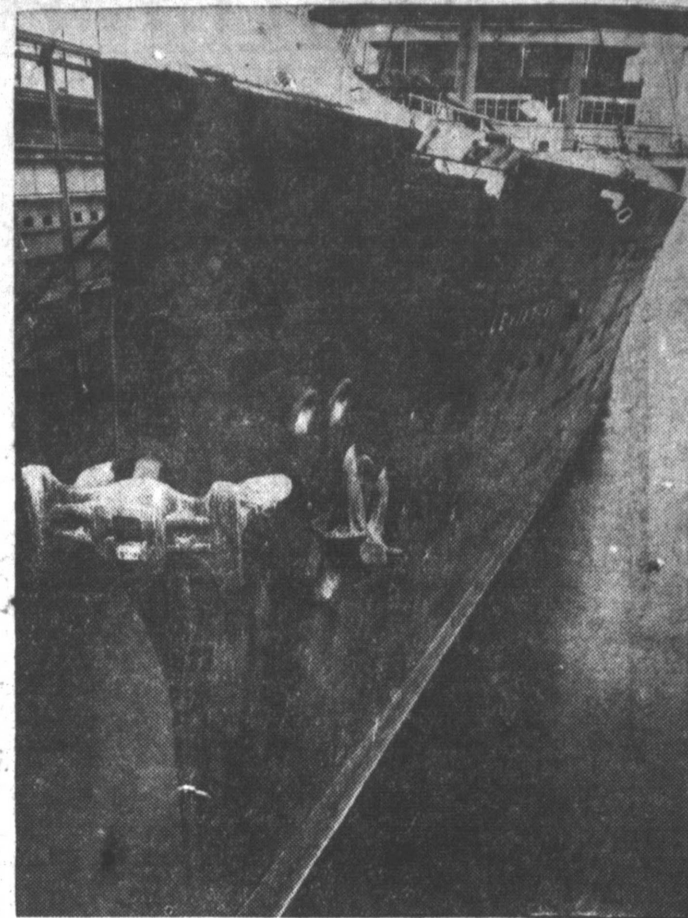

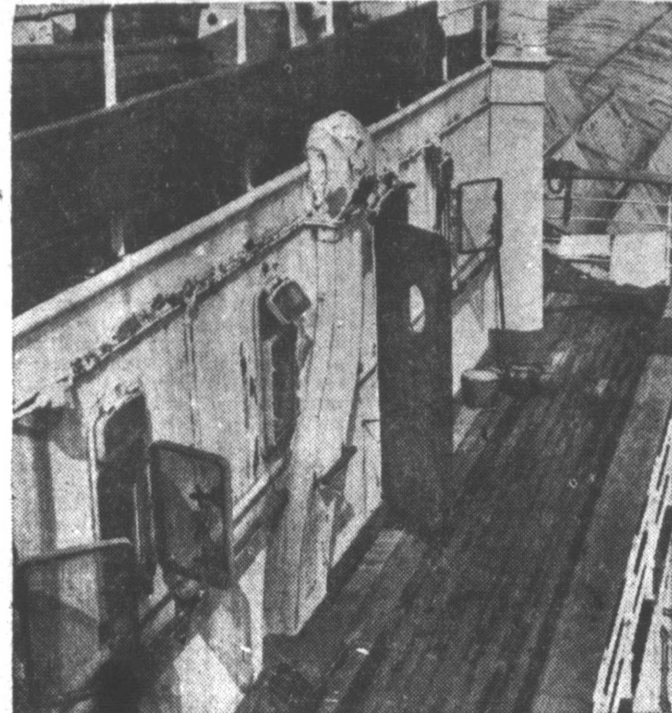

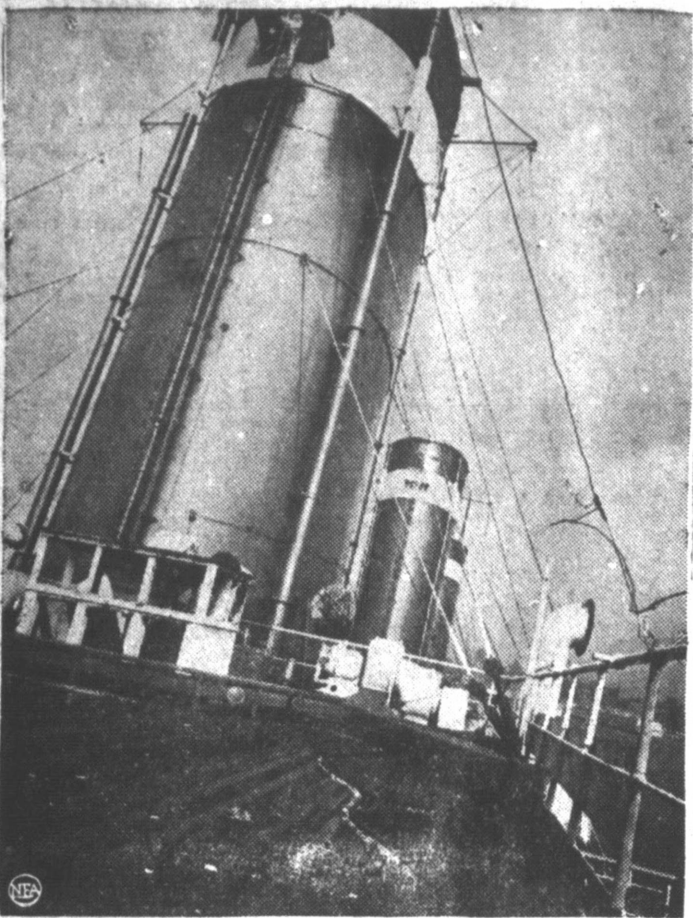

Section 2. It shall be unlawful to solicit or accept alms or gifts, in money or merchandise, directly or indirectly, for or in behalf of any person or charitable, patriotic, social or philanthropic organization, to promote or participate in any entertainment, benefit, dance, fair or bazaar in the name of charity, patriotism or philanthropy; or to solicit or accept gifts of any nature or kind whatever, except by such organization on its own premises, or from members from such churches or religious organization while acting under and in accordance with the authority of the proper church officials without first obtaining a permit to solicit funds in the City of Pampa, said permit to be issued under the terms and regulations herein stated. This section shall not be so construed as to prohibit any organization from soliciting funds from its own members at any time or place that they may desire.

Section 3. It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, organization or association to hold a benefit dance, rummage, sale, or to sell or offer for sale any property which has been given for sale or charity or philanthropy, or patriotic purposes, without first obtaining a permit as hereinafter provided.

Section 4. Each applicant for a permit to solicit funds in the City of Pampa, shall submit to the city manager a statement sworn to and containing the following information:

Name and address of the organization.
 Name and address of officers of its governing board.
 The amount to be solicited.
 The percentage of collection to be paid solicitors.
 The net proceeds anticipated for the purpose solicited.
 The officials of the organization for whose support the permit is asked.
 Section 5. The city secretary shall keep each application on file and a record of the action by the city manager, subject to inspection by any person at any reasonable time.
 Section 6. Said solicitation permits when granted by the city manager shall be valid for the period specified and no longer, and in no case shall they exceed a period of thirty days after date thereof; unless same shall be renewed in due course by the city manager.
 Section 7. All applicants receiving permits shall supply their solicitors with proper credentials and the recipient of the permit shall be responsible for the overt acts of his, or its, authorized representatives in connection with this solicitation.
 Section 8. The solicitation permit here in prescribed shall be non-transferable and may be revoked at any time by the city manager and shall never operate as a grant or a privilege or mature into a right.
 Section 9. In all cases where the city manager is of the opinion that the funds of any institution or organization operating under permit from the city have been or are being diverted from the purpose for which they are collected, or have been secured by misrepresentation, such person, persons, institutions or organization, shall be subject to investigation by said city manager, who may require such person or organization to file an immediate account of its receipts and expenditures with the city manager, and shall summon such witnesses to appear before the said city manager, or investigating all the facts shall render his decision as to whether or

Once Proud Queen of Seas Suffers Living Death at Hudson River Pier

The Leviathan, war-time queen of the seas, transport-home for more than 200,000 American fighting men, ignominiously tugs at steel hawsers which shackle her to her old and once-famous pier (No. 4) on the Hoboken waterfront. Doughboys of 20 years ago, in New York this September for the annual American Legion convention, may perhaps drift over to see the old 'Levi' for sentimental reasons. This is what they'll find: At extreme left, the only gay things about her, her smokestacks, still kept freshly painted for preservation, rise above the littered, crummy decks of her once-immaculate top-side. At left center, a view of her officers' quarters, just abaft the bridge, once sacred to admirals, brass-hats of all services, and the officers of the watch, now turned over to the "stand-in crew" and the impudent seagulls. At right center, the "Imperial Suite" used by Queen Marie of Rumania on her visit to America; and, at extreme right, the sharp prow of the old "Levi" with sea-birds nesting in her anchor chains. (Bourke-White photographs from Fortune Magazine survey of merchant marine.)

SIMPLER.
COLUMBIA, S. C.—Fordham has its Wojciechowicz, Catholic University its Bevilacqua and Penn State its Schwartzendruber.
But today a freshman football player at the University of South Carolina registered as "Leonislaus Josephus Francisco Antonio Kroto-szynski."
"Just call me Leo," smiled the 187-pound guard from Erie, Pa. "Leo Kroto. 'I'll get along better, maybe."

WHIPPING OF CONVICTS ON STEADY WANE

(Editor's note: This is the first of three stories on prisons in various states. It deals chiefly with means of punishing unruly inmates of state prisons.)

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 16 (AP)—Less than a dozen states permit corporal punishment of prisoners, and the use of shackles is on the wane.

This was shown today in an unofficial survey of prison systems of various states as Governor E. D. Rivers announced a plan to abolish Georgia's chainings.

Authoritative sources said the governor's announcement meant that Georgia would not restore the lash for punishing convicts, as was suggested by several prison officials to curb widespread chalking escapes.

Rivers said the plan, to be presented to the legislature in November, also called for employment of a trained expert to run the prison system, conversion of chainings into model camps for honor men, and a ban on use of shackles and chains.

"Use of chains ought to be stopped everywhere," said Hamp Draper, chief of the Alabama convict department.

In place of shackles, chains, and the lash, solitary confinement and withdrawal of prison privileges appeared to be the most popular means of curbing the rebellions, but other methods of punishment cropped up.

Red Bloomers Worn
At one Oklahoma prison, for instance, recalcitrant men of crime are attired in mother Hubbard's and bloomers to be jeered by their fellows.

In Louisiana bad actors wear red hats; in Texas, they stand atop a barrel—maximum four hours; in Indiana they must stand and face a blank wall. Colorado puts its trouble-makers in broad-striped uniforms, or shaves the hair from half the head.

In a few states, the maximum punishment is whipping with a strap or bat, or beating with fists. Some states restrict the diet of the unruly to bread and water.

Texas Uses Bat
Arkansas, Alabama, Colorado, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Virginia permit the lash; Texas a whipping with a bat, and Kentucky flailing with the fists, in extreme cases.

In all these states, however, prison authorities emphasized that corporal punishment is used only in rare instances, and then under strict rules usually requiring advance permission of the state's highest prison authority; attendance of a physician, and limitation of the number of lashes or licks.

New Mexico has no legal restrictions as to whipping but Warden John B. McManus says "Solitary confinement" is the most serious punishment used. Other states reporting solitary confinement in one or more prisons for serious offenders include:

Arkansas, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, North Carolina, New Mexico, Nevada, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. New Jersey and Washington segregate the unruly. Nebraska reprimands them, or withdraws privileges.

ENGINEER TO SEARCH FOR 'IRON DOOR' MINE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15 (AP)—Nathan Sturdy, mining engineer and member of the Smithsonian Institution planned to leave today for Tucson, Arizona, to search for "The Mine With the Iron Door," immortalized in legend and history.

In his office in Pittsburgh's downtown "Golden Triangle," Sturdy declared he not only hopes to find the mine, but also more than $90,000,000 in gold, stored there four centuries ago by Spanish priests, the legends claim.

In the 16th century, so the story goes, Spanish missionaries in the Southwest accumulated great hoards of gold from Indian miners.

The gold was to be shipped to Spain, but Spanish ship captains that could be trusted were rare on the California coast. The priests hid the gold until "safe" ships arrived, then it was transported from Arizona by pack mule.

Last of these priests was Francis. Before he could ship his store back to Spain, he was recalled. He stored the metal, the tradition is somewhere behind the "iron door" of the Escalante mine.

MARTHA RAYE CLAIMS MEN FOLLOWING HER

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16 (AP)—Big-mouthed Martha Raye of the films says "mysterious strangers" are following her everywhere she goes in Hollywood.

Yesterday she was given a police escort to a movie studio. Capt. D. L. Jones of the Hollywood police said the escort was an emergency assistance, and that from now on Martha will have to get her own bodyguard.

Martha told a harrowing story to the officers, but there didn't seem to be anything tangible for the police to go on.

"I don't know who these fellows are or what they want," she told Capt. Jones, "but they have followed me on every shopping trip I've made in the last three days. They are in a car and they never get close enough for me to recognize them."

Martha admitted that the "mysterious strangers" had made no attempt to molest her.

More than 8,000 tons of earth will be excavated at Glasgow, Scotland, to make way for the foundation of what is described as the biggest temporary building ever erected. The building, covering five acres of ground, will house the Empire Exhibition next year.
