DETROIT, Aug. 25. (AP)—United States Senator Arthur H. BY JACK LOYD. I HAVE been "on the road" more than a year, looking at the conditions of the unemployed, especially the millions that do not have homes and are forced to roam the country seeking work, contentment, romance, and—more recently—enough food to sustain life.

Word to Scroffers. I want the attention of you who scoff at the various types of people that are now roaming the country. This is not a time for laughing. It is serious. The people on the road are not there by choice. They must live, as well as those who remain in one place.

During the last few weeks I have seen more than 50,000 youths and young men on the road, and it is estimated that there are a million of them riding the roads. They will soon be moving southward to escape winter's cold. Their stories are varied but nearly all tragic.

Mr. Loyd talks: the language of the box-car, the dusty road, the tramp steamer. He knows the spirit of the hopeless men, women, and young people roaming the country in search of work.)

LONDON, Aug. 25. (AP)—A last-minute hitch delayed the signing today of an international wheat agreement after it had been announced that importing nations had accepted tariff and price provisions which had stood in the way of the accord. The official explanation was that delay had occurred in the preparation of the French text of the agreement, the purpose of which is to associate importing countries with a broad program to boost prices but citing production and stimulating consumption.

DENVER, Aug. 25. (AP)—Ben B. Laska, attorney for Albert Bates, said he would take Bates before Judge J. SOMETHING TO REMEMBER
County commissioners in many parts of Texas, realizing that failure of the proposed relief bond amendment would place on them a burden too heavy to bear, publicly endorsed the amendment and worked for it.

The Gray county commissioners, while probably for the amendment in their balloting, have declined to be placed on record through a resolution placed before them—a resolution which would have explained their difficult position with respect to relief work.

We believe the commissioners erred in remaining silent publicly on an issue so vital to a thousand unemployed men and their several thousand dependents in Gray county. The people have needed all the explanations of the issue, from as many sources as possible, because this is not an ordinary amendment.

Should the amendment fail, the county commissioners will face the mandate from Washington that states and counties must help bear the burden; the state has failed in its responsibility; it remains for individual counties to prevent starvation as best they can.

COMPETITION NO EXCUSE FOR LOW WAGES
"A court of equity will not lend its aid to protect a business which can survive only by oppressing its workers."

These words, part of a decision by Judge Harry Fisher of Chicago in a case arising from a dispute between a garment factory and its workers, sum up one of the most important phases of the recovery campaign about as well as any one sentence could.

But the judge, after laying down the principle quoted above, denied the plea for an injunction, ordered NRA hours and wage scales to be installed at once, and ruled that the company must comply with any code that may be adopted for the garment industry.

Now there is more in this than just the settlement of another strike. Judge Fisher's blunt statement expresses a truth that ought to have been self-evident a long time ago, but which has seldom previously won approval from the bench.

Unless you can pay your workers a decent wage and make it possible for them to live like human beings you've got no right to be in business at all—that, in substance, is what it says. It makes a pretty good rule.

And that is why these various codes are so important. They not only seek to improve the worker's lot; they aim to curb reckless competition so that it will no longer be necessary for an employer to pay starvation wages and impose sweatshop hours.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

Thieving continues unabated throughout the nation. Yet when in all history was there such a huge number of starving men with hungry children who kept their heads and bowed to tribulation without riot and raiding?

Business men, large and small, sometimes oppress their employes, squander the profits, avoid tax obligations. But the rank and file of American employes is the backbone of business, the foundation stones of our employment structure.

Young folk, poorly adjusted to a world out of balance for even those who have been in it for decades, sometimes go wrong, rob banks, break down morally. Yet we doubt if any generation ever had young people of more generally high ability.

Let us not deflate education; we cannot dig up our foundations and still go forward. Let us not abandon the church; religion is food for hungry souls. Let us not condemn the government; it is ourselves. Let us not try to bend every other American to our prejudices; we would not like to be bent to the will of others.

Let us not lose our mental balance when a small per cent of our humanity proves rotten and the laws of God is not mocked. The laws of happiness have not been repealed. The innate integrity of America so far overbalances the frailties, the littleness, the petulance of the people that no one need lose faith.

A Common Misery. There are people of all professions and crafts on the road. The white-collared class, the burglar, the bum, the stenographers, the college graduates, all meet on common ground—misery—in the box car.

So perchance, if a stranger knocks at your back door, consider that you also, or your loved ones, may join that ragged army on the road, and that, too, you may be entertaining a man who a few years ago was seemingly on the high road to success in his profession.

The matter is of prime interest to wheat growers in north-west Texas since general following of crops is a fairly general practice.

Although details of the statements were not learned, it was said to effectively dispose of the elder Shannon's claim that he and his son were forced to guard Urschel while he was held captive on the Shannon farm and that he failed to notify authorities only through fear of death.

New Effort To Return Insull Being Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—A new effort to extradite Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities magnate, from Greece was underway today with the state department closely following developments at Athens and expecting an early arrest.

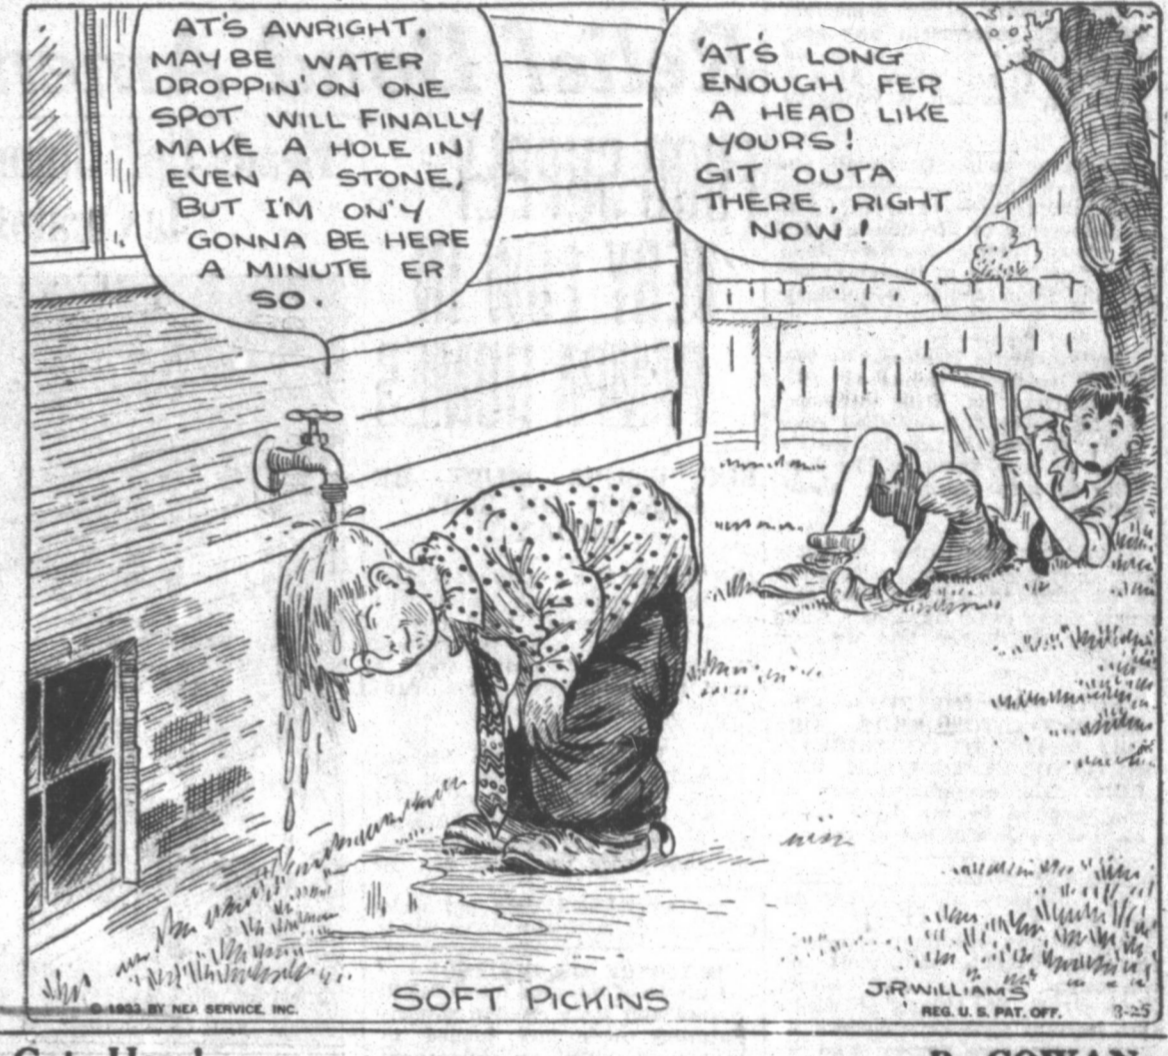

It was understood, that officials hoped to make a stronger case for extradition than that presented several months ago when a Greek judge declined to permit the American government to bring the elderly Insull back to face charges in connection with collapse of his utilities empire.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP)—A suppressed indictment charging Samuel Insull Sr. and ten others with violation of the bankruptcy law was released today by U. S. District Attorney Dwight H. Green.

District Attorney Green said the secret indictment was returned June 1. It charged transference of property in contemplation of bankruptcy, specifying transfer of about $2,500,000 in cash and stocks from the funds of Corporation Securities company. The indictment contained five counts.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Howard at Worley hospital this morning, a daughter, Mr. Howard is a Danziger employe. Brownwood Emerson was visitor in Pampa today.

SYNOPSIS: Colin Hewitt has gone to a mysterious crook's hang-out known as the "club" on the St. Lawrence, to warn a "member," Joe Lazarre, of an attack by hi-jackers under Captain Dolaire. Colin hopes for Lazarre's aid against the Mask. New York kills. He is late; Dolaire sacks the club. Lazarre is badly wounded and Colin manages to drag him at the last moment from the burning "clubhouse". He tells Germaine Tremblay, his fiancée, that he must return to New York, even though the Mask has marked him for death.

Chapter 28

ALIAS CLARKIE LUNN
It was getting late—almost time to start out on the "from twelve to before daylight" rounds again. Colin, pacing up and down the room that he had occupied since his return to New York, halted abruptly, and stared moodily at the calendar on the wall. The second of August. It was just a month to the day since he had left Cap a l'Orange.

From the calendar his eyes traveled to the mirror on the bureau. The reflection that returned his gaze was neither that of Colin Hewitt, nor Mr. Routh, nor Donald Howard—this was an individual with jet-black hair and jet-black eyebrows, and deep circles under the eyes that spoke eloquently of habitual dissipation.

The face was pasty in color. The toothbrush mustache gave the lips a cruel and sinister expression. A quite well-dressed individual, however! One Clarkie Lunn, alias—oh, well, like Reddy Turner, Clarkie Lunn had many other aliases on tap!

Colin smiled caustically—so did the reflection. Not a nice face—but a work of art! Yet the art of old Papa Goyette had availed nothing, and the weeks had gone by—fruit-he received from the rentals of costumes for private theatricals and that sort of thing, for such returns were genuinely meager; and he kept no books to exploit the profits he made through the vast quantity of stolen goods that passed through his hands.

Papa Goyette was clever. As a costumer he knew his business, and was highly spoken of in that respect. If he eked out a bare living thereby, he was cheerfully optimistic and did not complain! The transformation had taken place in the ultra-strict privacy of one of Papa Goyette's ingeniously contrived back rooms. It had been eminently successful. At its conclusion Papa Goyette had rubbed his hands with delight.

"There!" he had exclaimed. "It is my masterpiece. Look! You do not know yourself! No! But do not forget one little thing. It will not last all by itself. The hairs sprout. And from underneath the skin they come up with the old color. Very well. I will tell you of a friend of mine in New York who will take care of that and the other little repairs that will be necessary.

"But be careful of that so-called little mustache! You understand? It is incomparable. It is as good as though you had had time to grow one. I, Papa Goyette, have never made anything before that could approach it. It is—what do you call it? The singing note of the whole face.

"It is not pleasant? No, but the cement that holds it changes the expression of the lips! You see? It is art! Yes, I, Papa Goyette, applaud myself."

Colin swore softly under his breath. Damn the mustache! It had been the source of endless discomfort at first, but he was becoming used to it now.

From his chair Colin glanced again across the room at the mirror—and Clarkie Lunn flashed him back a twisted grin. His own mother, had she been alive, as the trite expression had it, would not have recognized him.

He nodded thoughtfully to himself. Papa Goyette, with the subsequent assistance of Papa Goyette's "friend" here in New York, had performed little short of a miracle. But he owed Papa Goyette far more than that. Papa Goyette had not only created Clarkie Lunn, but Pampa Goyette had oriented Clarkie Lunn in New York.

It would have been unwise, to say the least of it, for Clarkie Lunn, a newcomer, to throw in his lot openly with Butch Connal's gang. Colin and Butch had talked that over from every angle. Reddy had

By QUINTON JAMES

Just a hundred years ago the first Canadian vessel crossed the Atlantic under steam. It was the Royal William, a combination sailing ship and a steamer.

Today in commemoration of the event Canada has issued a special stamp of 5-cent denomination. The central design is a drawing of the Royal William as it plowed into the Atlantic. The color is blue.

She was not the first steam vessel to cross the Atlantic, two others having accomplished the feat, in 1818 and 1827. Nor was she built with that idea in mind, having been intended primarily to run between Quebec and Halifax.

One of her owners was Samuel Cunard, and the trip across the Atlantic was made with the intention of selling her in Europe. That first trip required 230 days and 330 tons of coal. Ultimately sold for approximately $45,000, she later served in the Portuguese navy as a transport and in the Spanish navy as a warship, being condemned in 1847.

Great Britain, the first country to print an official government stamp in 1840, has had 28 issues since that time in which there were basic changes in design.

On the other hand, the United States government, which turned out its first official stamp in 1847, has had 61 basic issues, both regular and commemorative, to date.

It is interesting to note that early British stamps were only one and two pence, while the first U. S. issue was for 5 and 10 cents, lower denominations not appearing until the 1851 issue.

What's Happening:
It'll cost collectors quite a bit to get a complete set of those recent Italian airmails issued in connection with the Balbo flight. The entire issue contains 46 different stamps—each stamp really being three stamps in one—with a total face value of $108.72. That figure doesn't take into consideration the rating cataloguers will place on the issue either.

Special consideration is to be given collectors under a new order to postal employees issued by C. E. Eisenberger, third assistant postmaster general. He asked employees to be on the alert for letters and parcels appearing to have a philatelic value, urging that they be given a clear cancellation with black ink and that care be used not to obliterate the stamp.

RIVERSIDE TIRES are

RIVERSIDE TIRES have LATEX WELDED CORDS

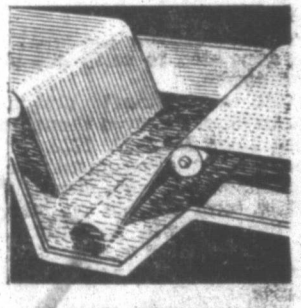

(100% PURE LIQUID RUBBER)

which prevent Cord Separation . . . the cause of blowouts

Cord Separation
This shows how cords inside tires other than RiverSides are separated by heat. Cord separation causes internal blisters, weakens the tire. A blowout is the result! RiverSides are Blowout Proof because of Latex dipping!

Do you know this? An average size tire goes round 395 times every minute at only 35 miles an hour! Think what happens when you drive at this speed—or faster! Friction develops scorching heat inside your tires! In many tires other than RiverSides this heat separates cords and forms internal blisters! When you hit a rock or a bump . . . BANG! A Blowout! RiverSides' Selected Cords—the heart of the tire—are made from extra strong, long staple, premium cotton. Every cord in every ply is dipped in LATEX—100% pure, liquid, virgin rubber. This welds the cords into a super strong unit! It gives RiverSides the strongest tire carcass made!

Latex Dipping
By an extra process, every cord in every ply in all RiverSides tires is dipped in Latex. This welds the cords into a super strong unit that defies cord separation and blowouts!

Why We Save You Money

Of course RiverSides are made in one of America's largest and best tire factories. BUT—they come direct to us—minus the manufacturer's selling and general overhead expense. That's a saving. The second saving comes from Wards low cost method of distribution. These two reasons explain why we sell high quality tires for less—why RiverSides are better in quality, mileage, and safety than any other tire at the same price.

Wards Unlimited Guarantee

For your protection every single Riverside tire is guaranteed by Wards to give service that is satisfactory to you. No time limit! No mileage limit! A tire has to be extra good—has to be extra safe to be backed by the strongest tire guarantee ever written!

WORLD WHEAT PACT FIXES PRICES AND REDUCES PRODUCTION

EXPORT LIMITS FOR COUNTRIES IS DETERMINED

DOCUMENT SCHEDULED TO BE SIGNED TODAY

LONDON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The international wheat conference reached a final agreement today and plans were made for the signing of the document this afternoon. The wheat exporting countries agreed to accept 12 pre-war gold francs per quintal as the market price to be reached and maintained for four months, after which the importing countries will adjust their tariffs to permit freer imports. The price is the equivalent of 63.6 gold U. S. cents a bushel, which by current exchange amounts to about 87 cents a bushel. This price was a compromise, as the importers had asked that it be established at a level between 90 to 95 cents a bushel at the present exchange, and the exporters had asked that tariffs be lowered by the importers after wheat had sold at 82 cents for four months. The importers suggested the addition of a new paragraph to the agreement which has been under discussion. This paragraph would contain a declaration of general policy. R. B. Bennett, prime minister of Canada, also announced that the exporting countries would insert in the agreement a provision that for the year 1933-34 the export maximum allocated among them should be 560,000,000 bushels. The provision also would stipulate that for 1934-35 the exporting countries, excepting Soviet Russia and the Danubian nations, would undertake to reduce production by 15 per cent. Mr. Bennett said the exporting countries—chief among which are the United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina—would sign the agreement. Russian representatives said their government would sign with a reservation stipulating that the U. S. S. R. while not agreeing to any acreage reduction as had been agreed upon among other exporting countries, would limit exports to certain figures, not given out. The French delegate said he would spare no effort to attempt to convince his government to accept the figure of 63.6 cents gold per bushel as the level for determining when

NEW GARDEN HEAD LISTS TEN FIGHTS THE PUBLIC DEMANDS

Then Amid Many Sighs, He Tells Why Bouts Cannot Be Arranged Now.

By EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—John Reed Kilpatrick, whose heavy hitting and aggressiveness in sports dates back 20 years to some of the finest end play Yale football ever saw, started swinging from the heels today at boxing's foremost problem—the difficulties of pairing warriors the faithful want to see. Among the countries who accepted the gold figure were Germany and Switzerland.

and Jimmy Johnston, the Garden match-maker are trying to arrange. He read the list of ten heavy-weight matches. "Max Baer vs. Primo Carnera, Jack Sharkey vs. Baer, Sharkey vs. Max Schmeling, Sharkey vs. Patsy Perroni, Sharkey vs. McCormindale, Ray Impellietiere vs. Isadore Gastanaga, Impellietiere vs. Stanley Poreda, Schmeling vs. Perroni, Baer vs. Schmeling, Perroni vs. Steve Hamas." Then he sighed. "Baer Stage Struck Baer is in California and he wants to fight for Jack Dempsey. He wants to be an actor. That's our problem with Baer. Carnera won't fight until next June. So the best possible match, a $1,000,000 gate, is out, at least until then. "Schmeling is in Germany and we don't know when he'll be back. Sharkey's willing to fight and Perroni, the Cleveland youngster, may tackle him here in October. Impelllette, bigger even than Carnera, won't fight anybody but Carnera, Johnny Risko or Hamas. Carnera's the champion and the commission says Risko and Hamas are too small." The sigh deepened. "Maxey Tied Up "Here's eight light heavyweight bouts. I've offered Maxey Rosenbloom, the champion, matches with Tony Shucro of Boston, John Henry Lewis, who floored him in San Francisco, Mickey Walker and Lou Brouillard. But he can't fight any of them until he fulfills a contract he signed with us to fight Walker. He doesn't want to fight Mickey since Walker was beaten by Brouillard. I've almost got Lewis agreed to a match with Shucro in October. "There are four middleweight, six welterweight and four lightweight matches we can't close. Brouillard has a contract with Tim Mara, so he can't fight Marcel Thil of Paris and Pedro Lopez or Teddy Yarros of Monaca, Pa., who beat Dundee for the Pennsylvania middleweight title. I think I can get a Yarros-Dundee return match. "Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight champion, won't fight Andy Callahan of Boston because he's southpaw. Billy Petrolle because of his knees won't draw, or Young Corbett because they'll do better he thinks, in California. Petrolle is signed to fight Pep Van Klavern for Mara so that's out. I can't match Petrolle and Callahan until I see how Billy does with Van Klavern. "Mara has Barney Ross, lightweight champion, fighting Tony Conzoneri next month. So matches between Conzoneri and Kid Chocolate, Ross and Chocolate, Conzoneri and Pedro Lopez, the European champion, and Ross and Locatelli, must wait on that." He sighed for the last time. By this time everyone was sighing with him.

Curator Scores 'Cash' Robbers Of Indian Graves

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Against a weird depression industry the Smithsonian Institution spoke today—harshly to tourists by those who, for a few dollars, "loot the treasures of time." Indian graves and village sites of the south and southwest furnish these "pot hunters" an ill-gotten living. Smithsonian archeologists said. In scathing sentences, Dr. Nell M. Judd, curator of archeology, spoke of "grave-robbers picking the sockets of father time of cherished bones and skulls" and "snatching dolls from the fleshless arms of long-dead children," and selling the things they find to tourists. "They leave priceless archeological sites" devastated, he said, their contents "so jumbled the story of the past becomes unreadable." Dr. Judd pronounced the industry "essentially an outgrowth of the depression." He deplored the looting and making the looters see that: "These skulls offered for sale at gas stations were of great and good men—the buried children were real children differing very little from those of today—dolls were buried with them that they might have them to play with in Heaven—the toys containing food were for the journey to paradise." Therefore, he urged medical colleges to refuse to buy such skeleton material, tourists to "conquer their yearning for archeological souvenirs."

Boy and Uncle Die In Oklahoma Electric Chair

MCALISTER, OKLA., Aug. 25 (AP)—An 18-year-old farm boy, the youngest of the 41 criminals who have died in Oklahoma's electric chair, was executed early today with his uncle for the murder of the latter's 15-year-old bride. A record throng of 227 witnesses watched the boy, George Oliver, precede his kinsman, Claude Oliver, to the chair. The two southern Oklahoma farmers, paid the extreme penalty for killing Della, Claude's bride of three months, in an effort to collect the $5,000 insurance policy they had obtained on her life. "This is death," said George, as he was strapped in the chair. Just previously he had told the crowd: "I did a crime and now I must die for it. I feel like I am going to Heaven. Young men—crime does not pay." His uncle died mumbling to himself. He had nothing to say to the witnesses. The Oliver, who confessed they had plotted the crime even before Claude was married, beat the girl to death with tire tools and pushed the automobile containing her body into a ditch near Davis, Okla., last November 3.

Grain Brokers Seek To Ignore New Wheat Pact

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Grain brokers on the board of trade paid little attention today to the wheat agreement reached at an international conference in London, professing that they did not understand it. The price of September wheat opened some two cents higher today at slightly more than the price set in the London agreement for maintenance 4 months before tariff reductions would be considered. The price of wheat has averaged higher than the 87 cents in depreciated American money, set by the conference, for many weeks, running far above a dollar for some time before the July break. While buying at advanced prices at the opening today was ascribed by some brokers to the London agreement, the demand apparently consisted of orders from those who thought the plan would be a bullish lever, for trade went stale within the first half hour. Other dealers said that the early rise was due to strength in securities, ascribed in turn to indications of further credit expansion.

Wheat Reduction Will Begin Soon

Belief that the federal domestic allotment plan for wheat will be launched here early next week was held here this morning. Dispatches from Plainville, where County Agent Ralph Thomas is attending a "wheat school," say that the wheat plan blanks will be given to the agents tomorrow. Many inquiries have been received by Mr. Thomas, who finds the wheat growers eager to cooperate with the government. TEXAN EXONERATED CONNERSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 25 (AP)—Doc Chandler, of Corpus Christi, Texas, was exonerated of blame today in the fatal shooting yesterday of Calvin Howard, 27, of Rio Prio, Texas. Authorities said they learned a gun Chandler was cleaning was discharged accidentally.

Tea To Be Sold By Presbyterian Auxiliary Women

A city-wide sale of Lipton teas Saturday will benefit the Presbyterian women's auxiliary, whose members will have charge of sales in cooperating stores.

Early in the week Mrs. Tom Clayton, finance committee chairman, announced that the auxiliary would sponsor the store sales and receive a part of the gross proceeds as a reward for its efforts.

Details have been arranged and members assigned to their duties for the day. Many will receive their experience as salesmen, and are inviting all housewives to buy their supply of tea from the auxiliary Saturday.

The product to be sold is one of the world's finest teas, bearing the name of Sir Thomas Lipton, purveyor of fine tea and great sportsman who, after a series of unsuccessful attempts to win a world yachting trophy with the famous "Shamrock", was presented a silver cup emblematic of his good sportsmanship as "the world's best loser".

Stores taking part in the sale Saturday are Furr Food stores, C. & C. system, Standard Food stores, Baum's Food store, Piggly Wig-gly, and Barnes and Hastings.

Bread Price Rise Halted For Time

Increases in bread prices seem to have been checked at least temporarily, Dr. Frederic C. Howe, consumers' counsel of the agricultural adjustment administration reported today on releasing figures for August 9.

"Consumers will have to watch out, however," Dr. Howe warned, "for a possible lowering of the quality of bread as an alternative to price increases. Already there seems to be a tendency on the part of some stores to discontinue higher priced brands and substitute lower priced ones. This substitution suggests the introduction of poorer quality—a form of profiteering as injurious to consumers as unreasonable price increases."

Reports from 22 field offices of the United States bureau of agricultural economics indicate that the average price of a pound loaf of white bread on August 9 was 7.9 cents. This average includes a few brands and stores not covered in the report for August 2 when the average price was 7.8 cents. Omitting these, the average for the same brands and stores remained at the same level as on August 2. This was 1.4 cents above the February 15 average.

"Prices of materials for the average pound loaf of white bread also remained at their August 2 level, 1.3 cents above February."

This report on retail bread prices is one of a series Dr. Howe has made since bakers began raising their prices in July. Checks have been made on the relation between retail price and material cost increases.

"In addition to following closely retail prices and material costs," Dr. Howe added, "we are constantly checking the spread between the price the consumer pays for bread and the amount the farmer gets for the wheat that goes into making the bread. Consumers will be more willing to shoulder the burden of higher prices provided they know that the farmer is getting the benefit."

"If allowance is made for the processing tax on wheat and the slight increase in other material costs, the spread has remained fairly constant since February, although the price to the consumer has advanced 22 percent. This advance has made possible an increase in average wheat prices to the farmer of 150 percent."

A GRAVE SITUATION

That Demands the Attention of Every Conscientious Texan

For the first seven months of this year — up to and including July — the Federal Government has expended in Gray County alone through the Texas Relief and Rehabilitation Commission $42,361.64, or an average of $6,051.66 per month.

Every citizen who is familiar with the handling of this money by our local committee and who has seen the outstanding civic improvements made possible by these funds — the Municipal Swimming Pool, Street, Park and Water Works Improvements and Sewer extensions, the more than 800 families who have been partially or wholly supported by these funds — realizes that the utmost has been secured from each dollar expended.

It is apparent to anyone that neither Gray County, nor the City of Pampa is able at this time to assume the burden of this necessary relief work. We are told that if the State of Texas fails to vote the Relief Bonds and thereby refuses to bear its just portion of this burden, that Federal Relief will immediately be withdrawn.

In the light of these facts, it is important that every thoughtful person give careful consideration to this issue and vote in such a manner as to open the gateway through which we may continue to receive this Federal aid which is so vital at this time.

FACTS ABOUT THE TEXAS RELIEF BOND ISSUE AMENDMENT:

More than a million of Texas' residents are at present on the relief rolls of the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission. This Commission for the last five months has been disbursing funds advanced or donated by the federal government at an average rate of $1,500,000 per month or $18,000,000 per year. This total of individuals on relief rolls represents 265,000 families whose supporting heads are not employed, the majority of them not qualified for any specific employment and many thousands of them either derelicts in the quagmire of the slough of depression or aged persons whose last support has been swept away. At the same time 400,000 other families in Texas whose heads are out of employment are not listed on the relief rolls but these are rapidly exhausting their resources and thousands upon thousands will be added to the relief rolls before the end of the year.

RELIEF LIST STEADILY GROWING

This number of persons on the relief rolls of the state commission has been increasing steadily in July and August. July, for instance saw a gain of 31 per cent over the total of destitute dependents as tabulated for June. August already has shown a slight increase over July. Hunger riots are not at all a remote possibility unless funds sufficient to care for those who would otherwise face dire want and actual starvation are assured in a continuous flow.

It is the plan of the federal statutes on the matter that states and municipalities contribute a portion. Half a billion dollars was set aside by Congress under President Franklin Roosevelt's plan for rehabilitation and relief to assist the state in carrying the tremendous burden brought by the ever mounting total of destitute families. It is the intention of this act that half of the 500 millions be expended in direct relief donations, the other half to be matched by state and municipal funds. And here is where the proposed amendment to authorize the state legislature to issue relief bonds up to the total sum of $20,000,000 comes in.

STATE CANNOT GRANT FUNDS NOW

Under existing statutes, the state cannot expend one cent out of its tax receipts for direct relief. The purpose then of the proposed relief bond issue amendment is to supply the state with authority vested in its Legislature to issue bonds to furnish funds to help carry out the Roosevelt program for national relief as it applies to this state. If the amendment were defeated at the polls it would have two-fold effect: it would tie the hands of the state in meeting what is not only a distressing situation but one that might not unlikely reach very radical proportions; and further, it would be a definite indica-

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF FACTS

1. At present 1,270,000 Texans (one out of every five) are being fed wholly by federal funds.
2. It is well known that many more thousands are rapidly exhausting their last reserves, and that the rank and file of those not destitute are less able today to aid their relatives, friends and neighbors than ever before in the history of our State.
3. The demand for federal aid in July exceeded the preceding month of June by 31%.

CONTINUED DEMAND

4. While the national program and seasonal developments are expected to halt the upward trend of relief demand, it is generally agreed by all relief authorities that the demand will continue through the fall and winter in a volume too heavy to be met by voluntary or local taxation relief.
5. While the distress was apparently more acute in the larger cities a month ago, the drought and crop failures are spreading over the entire state the need of outside aid if the people are to eat.

FEDERAL FUNDS

6. In March of this year $1,382,955 of federal funds was sent to and expended in Texas for the relief of the destitute. In May it had increased to $1,626,663.

LEGISLATURE POWERLESS

7. Under the Constitution at present the Legislature is strictly and specifically forbidden to donate or contribute state funds for any purpose. If this constitutional inhibition is not removed and if thousands of Texans begin starving the Legislature would be powerless to aid them even if it had an overflowing treasury.

8. Tomorrow the people of Texas vote on the proposed amendment giving the Legislature the power to issue bonds up to the amount of $20,000,000 during the next two years for the relief of the destitute and to match federal funds for that same purpose. If the amendment is defeated no other amendment can be submitted until 1935.

9. THE PEOPLE ARE NOT VOTING BONDS . . . They will be vesting in the Legislature power to meet such crisis as may develop.

MONEY FLOW MAY STOP

10. If the amendment is defeated, THE PRESENT FLOW OF FEDERAL FUNDS STOPS IMMEDIATELY.

11. If the stoppage of federal funds precipitated a wave of hunger amongst the destitute, it would almost certainly be accompanied by serious social disturbances in the larger centers and followed by repercussions felt in every part of the state.

12. If our people, by their vote indicate that they do not want or need federal aid, WE MAY LOSE MANY MORE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS that would otherwise be expended on projects financed under the National Industrial Recovery Act, and Texas would be thrown out of step with the entire national program of recovery.

tion that Texas did not need relief or did not want to co-operate with the federal program.

The relief bond issue amendments to the state constitution authorizes the Legislature to issue bonds in an amount not to exceed twenty million dollars for the relief of the destitute unemployed, these bonds to bear interest at a rate of not more than four and one-half per cent and to run not to exceed ten years. The bonds are to be issued in the discretion of the Legislature only in such amounts as may be required to meet such needs of the destitute unemployed as cannot otherwise be cared for.

FEDERAL FUNDS MAY STOP

Hon. Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator at Washington, has stated that the federal funds which are now being provided will not be available in the future if the citizens of Texas refuse to authorize their Legislature to make state appropriations to assist in caring for the relief of the State's destitute. In the event the amendment is not adopted and federal funds are withdrawn on this account, then the entire burden would have to be borne from local charitable contributions and local tax sources which under the most favorable conditions for the next year at least would be entirely inadequate to prevent tragic suffering and possible disturbances of a very grave character.

THE SITUATION IS A GRAVE ONE

If every voter in Texas clearly understood the critical situation existing and ever growing graver in regard to the condition of the state's unemployed, the proposed amendment to authorize the Legislature to raise funds by bond issue would amass the most overwhelming favorable majority at the polls of any issue ever submitted to the electorate.

NO DIRECT STATE RELIEF NOW

It must be remembered that the state cannot appropriate tax funds for direct relief and so the submission of the bond issue authorization amendment, safeguarded as it is by defined limits, was the only way in which the state could carry out its part in President Roosevelt's program for national recovery.

The current Legislature has already proved itself to be one whose policy has been based upon sound principles of economy and there should be no fear that these men, elected represent the best interests of the people, should suddenly go haywire and launch a spending spree. There is too close a check on all the acts of the Legislature by a careful membership and a vigilant press to permit any such chicanery if it is needed not an unwarranted reflection on the proven integrity of the state's solons to even hint such a thing.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS TREBLE 'OPEN MARKET' PURCHASES

WARNING SENT TO GOVERNOR BY OKLAHOMAN

INEVITABLE DISASTER AHEAD' ASSERTS SENATOR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The federal reserve system last week had to make $35,000,000 in new credit available to American business, but was warned by Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) that without additional action "there is inevitable disaster ahead."

For months the 12 federal reserve banks have limited their operations to purchasing from commercial banks, government securities. The theory is that federal reserve currency or credit thus will replace the government securities in bank vaults, and since the currency and credit bring in no interest while idle, they will be loaned.

Last week, the 12 federal reserve banks purchased $35,000,000 worth of securities, $31,865,000 in treasury notes, $13,464,000 in certificates and bills, and $132,000 in bonds. The week before, the purchases totaled only $11,000,000.

Before the statement was issued a most week's operation, Thomas wrote Governor Eugene F. Black of the federal reserve board that there must be "courageous" action "along lines which the federal reserve has heretofore opposed."

There was no direct statement as to what the federal reserve would do in the new week, today entering its second day. Board officials said, however, that the intensity of government security purchasing—"open market" operations—would be determined from time to time to fit business needs.

Some pointed out that the 12 central reserve banks already held $2,694,000,000 worth of government securities, $243,000,000 more than on August 24 last year. It was added that although this method of expanding currency had been tried previously without full success, general conditions now might be more conducive to benefits from sizeable open market purchases.

Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, recently disclosed that he had a plan in mind that would make more credit available. He conferred with reserve officials. There was no indication, though, that the step up in open market operations had any connection with his plan.

HOLLYWOOD STAGE SHOW WILL BE AT LA NORA AUGUST 30, 31

A stage show to be offered to Pampa people at popular prices by the La Nora theater next Wednesday and Thursday is one that has great theater fans in other cities much more to enjoy.

Johnnie Dunn, star of No. No. Nanette, and other productions is coming with his Hollywood revue. When this show appeared at the Roxy theater in Seattle recently, The Times reviewed it as follows:

"Fast, funny, and tuneful entertainment. 'The Hollywood Revue of 1933' at the new Roxy has caught on with the patrons and is scoring success in a big way. Headed by smart dog, who has been trained to do nothing and it well, add comedy to the bill. Betty Gordon, attractive and seventeen, plays on various musical instruments and dances with her two boy partners, Speck and Don. Don's stumbling tap dance is the knockout of the act. Dave and Ruth Carlton, ballroom dancers and experts in the strenuous rumba, know their stuff, too, and Ruth Paine brings laughs with her flair for "Dumb Dams" comedy in a scene with Dunn.

"Each member of the Hollywood revue so excels in his particular line that he could easily step into the higher type of $3 musical show."

Dr. Amy Whalen, 95-year-old dentist of Pomeroy, O., expressed her belief that she will live at least three years longer by giving a three-year subscription for a magazine.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Saul.
Scripture Lesson: 1 Samuel 15:13-26.

13. And Samuel came to Saul; and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of Jehovah: I have performed the commandment of Jehovah.

14. And Samuel said, What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?

15. And Saul said, They have brought them from the Amalekites: for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto Jehovah thy God; and the rest we have utterly destroyed.

16. Then Samuel said unto Saul, Stay, and I will tell thee what Jehovah hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, Say on.

17. And Samuel said, Though thou wast little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel? And Jehovah anointed thee king over Israel;

18. And Jehovah sent thee on a journey, and said, Go, and utterly destroy the sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them until they be consumed.

19. Wherefore then didst thou not obey the voice of Jehovah, but didst fly upon the spoil, and didst that which was evil in the sight of Jehovah?

20. And Saul said unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of Jehovah, and have gone the way which Jehovah sent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have utterly destroyed the Amalekites.

21. But the people took the spoil, sheep and oxen, the chief of the devoted things, to sacrifice unto Jehovah thy god in Gilgal.

22. And Samuel said, Hath Jehovah as great delight in burnt-offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of Jehovah? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams.

23. For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as idolatry and teraphim. Because thou hast rejected the word of Jehovah, he hath also rejected thee from being king.

Golden Text:—Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice.—1 Sam. 15:22.
Time: Saul made king, B. C. 1102.
Death of Saul B. C. 1063, after a reign of forty years.

Place: Ramoth, Gilgal, Gibeon.

Introduction

It was indeed fortunate for Saul that in the beginning of his career as king he had upon him the guiding hand of Samuel, the last and greatest of the Judges. The preparation of a constitution for the monarchy and the writing of it in a book for future reference was a piece of constructive statesmanship on the part of Samuel. It was calculated to be of great service to the new monarch and his court in the management of the nation's affairs. At the word of Samuel the people dispersed to their homes bearing the news of the new king into every part of the land.

Saul began his reign suspiciously with victories over the Ammonites, Philistines, Moabites, and others. But his disobedience in the war against Amalek forecast his overthrow. The youthful David was privately anointed as his successor by Samuel. Finally, in a war with the Philistines, Israel was decisively defeated and Saul died a suicide on Mount Gilboa.

Saul Pres His Leadership
The Ammonites, a fierce desert tribe to the east of Palestine, attacked Jebeshgilead, an Israelite town west of the Jordan sixty or seventy miles away from Saul's home at Gibeon. The besieging army threatened to put the right eyes of all in the town, and gave them only a week's respite in which to obtain aid. It looked like a hopeless case, but with magnificent energy Saul sent out swift couriers threatening with death all that did not join him instantly in the rescue. No fewer than 300,000 warriors hastened from Judah and 300,000 from the nearby tribes. This great host fell on the Ammonites and put them utterly to rout. Thereupon Samuel called the people together once more at Gilgal, where they made joyful sacrificial offerings to Jehovah.

Saul's First Disobedience

Saul's next campaign was against the Philistines. At the very outset of the campaign Saul was guilty of an irreligious act which brought down upon him the awful condemnation of Samuel. The rendezvous of the Israelites was at the ancient camping-field, Gilgal, near Jericho, and there Samuel bade him wait for seven days for him to offer sacrifice before the fighting. But terror seized upon the people, for the Philistines were coming up in vast numbers not far away, and Saul's forces began to desert, and to hide themselves in caves and thickets and pits. The seven days passed, and still Samuel did not come. Saul could not endure to watch his army diminishing and at length he dared to assume priestly functions, and impiously offered the sacrifices himself. Hardly had he finished, however, before Samuel appeared. Saul made his excuses readily, but Samuel could not accept them. "The Lord," he said, "sought a man after his own heart, but you have shown by this disobedience to God that you are not such a man. Now your kingdom shall not continue." So Samuel sadly left Saul to go his own headstrong way.

Saul's Second Disobedience

The Amalekites were a wandering desert tribe originally roaming thru the wilderness south of Canaan, though by Saul's time they had spread also east of the Jordan. Through all the centuries they had harassed the Israelites. For all their wicked deeds the Lord had decreed their destruction, and Samuel bade Saul to accomplish it thoroughly, sparing no living thing, whether human or cattle. This was done by Saul, but not with the required thoroughness. He spared Agag, the king of the Amalekites, to give lustre to his triumphal return, and he spared the best of the sheep, and cattle to enrich himself and Saul's Excuses for His Sin

"The people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen," Saul is not mainly enough to take the blame himself, but throws it on "the people," whose commander he was. We are all skilled in throwing off our sins upon others; but they will not stay there. "To sacrifice unto Jehovah thy God," Saul has the effrontery to allege a religious motive for disobeying God. So a man will save his conscience for oppression and robbery and trickery by giving part of the proceeds to the church. The king sought to shift the responsibility from his own shoulders to that of the people: "They have brougnt them, v. 15. "The people spared the best"; and the purpose he said was a good one—"to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God"; and for himself he claimed—"The rest we have utterly destroyed." Thus also Adam shifted his responsibility upon Eve and Aaron claimed to make the golden calf in response to popular demand, but neither they nor Saul nor any one else can evade individual responsibility.

A Lesson for All Christians

The lesson for Christian people from the story of Saul is that to obey God is better than sacrifice, or anything else. A religious ceremony which expresses a yearning for godly character is wholesome for the soul. But when we offer to God these ceremonies in lieu of righteous conduct, then our religious acts harm our souls. Jesus condemned people who scrupulously tithed their mint, anise and cummin, but neglected the weightier matters of the law: justice, mercy and faith. One may be very religious and yet unrighteous. (Cp. Amos 5:21-27.)

Saul and Samuel—A Contrast
"From this time the Spirit of the Lord departs from Saul, and an evil spirit from the Lord troubles him, making the residue of his life a tangled web of intrigue, discard and lost faith, seeking refuge in necromancy and witchcraft."

Saul's death was indescribably touching. A presentiment of disaster had crept over Saul's heart, and in his excitement he sought the aid of unholy arts for counsel. The strange episode of his visit to the witch of Endor fully led the way to the catastrophe. In the battle that followed, his heroic son Jonathan and two other sons were slain, and when Saul saw that he was defeated he killed himself. 1 Sam. 31:1-6.

"How nobly Samuel, who was permitted to write the story of life at length wrote it even to the end; How sure in his youth; how faithful and brave in the days of his strength; and, when the end drew in sight, how full of a noble self-forgetfulness toward man and an obedient trust toward God!"

Equable progression from the beginning to the end was the special characteristic of the life of Samuel. He died in his own house at Ramah. Around him were the lamentations of his people. It is written with expressness of emphasis, "All the Israelites were gathered together, and lamented him and buried him." Another mighty one had passed away; one who, like Moses and Joshua, had inaugurated a new dispensation.—Bishop Samuel Wilberforce.

Lions Pleased By Cornet Program

Cornet music as high school champions play it was enjoyed by the Lions club yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Beene of Panhandle and their two sons, Elton and Rex, and Mrs. Harrison presented the program. Elton is a national cornet champion, while Rex took third place at the age of 12. The Panhandle school band directed by Mr. Beene played a concert near the courthouse under the auspices of the Junior chamber of commerce.

The principal speaker yesterday was J. E. Cunningham, who talked on depressions. Congestion of population has always produced depressions and, in many instances, wars, he pointed out. Today, he declared, the problem is to make social adjustments in order to avoid revolution. He said the machine age could not blame its chief troubles on machines, which have increased jobs and raised living standards.

The Lions have challenged other civic clubs to a baseball tournament.

Everybody has days when every waking hour is packed with zest of living. Why not make every day like this? A frequent drawback to fitness is constipation. It may dull your energy, steal your appetite, lower your vitality. Yet it is so easy to overcome. Try eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Science shows this delicious cereal supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, "bulk" vitamin B to promote appetite, and tone the intestinal tract. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of nature. How much safer than taking patent medicines—so often harmful. Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
