Twinkles

Maybe climates are more nearly equal than we commonly think. It isn't the heat; it's the humidity downstate that makes you suffer. But the humidity also makes rain.

Did you hear about the Pampa man who tried to speak to Celia Villa in Italian instead of the Mex with which he was fairly familiar?

And did you hear that a slightly inebriated Texas man, introduced to President Roosevelt, leaned over close and said, "What is the name?"

Lots of folk can entertain at story-telling, but a good laugh in a courtroom seems to be enjoyed more than any other kind.

A politician right now is a salesman out trying to sell himself to the voters. And some of the campaigners are showing remarkable fortitude in the face of very few sales.

President Signs Important Money Bills

HUGE DROUGHT RELIEF FUND IS APPROVED

ROOSEVELT RECEIVES HONORARY DEGREE FROM YALE

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed and left behind him in Washington today the $2,000,000,000 deficiency bill, the second largest peacetime appropriation measure in the history of congress.

The White House made known that before starting on his trip into New England, Mr. Roosevelt also signed into law the communications bill setting up a new commission to regulate the telegraph, telephone and radio.

Another bill signed was that requiring the department of commerce to make public the results of its investigations into fatal airplane crashes.

These measures were among more than a score upon which he placed his signature.

The deficiency measure among other huge appropriations for relief and public works carries a $250,000,000 drought relief fund.

The bill carries a total of $2,629,500,000, including direct outlays of $1,875,000,000 and $750,000,000 from the reconstruction corporation, of which $500,000,000 may be used for relief purposes and $250,000,000 by the PWA.

Women Accuse Each Other In Death Of Man

'I NEVER SAW ORDER,' SAYS LON A. SMITH

State Claims One Decoyed Man to Road Where Other Ran Him Down.

ONEONTA, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—Two women accused each other today of plotting the death of Harry Wright, killed by an automobile. Authorities learned one of the women was the beneficiary of a $16,000 insurance policy on the man's life.

District Attorney Donald Grant revealed after an all-night grilling of the two suspects that Mrs. Martha Clift had signed a statement accusing Mrs. Eva Coo of responsibility for the man's death. He also said that Mrs. Coo orally had blamed Mrs. Clift for the plot. Mrs. Coo was said to be the beneficiary of the insurance policy.

Wright's body was found at the side of the road, near Maryland, last week. Mrs. Clift's story, the district attorney said, was that Wright went for an automobile drive with Mrs. Coo and herself last Thursday. The car was stopped on Crumhorn mountain, and Mrs. Clift and Wright alighted, Mrs. Coo remaining behind the steering wheel. As Wright stood in the road with his back to the automobile, Mrs. Coo ran him down, Mrs. Clift asserted, and then drove the car back and forth across his body three or four times, according to the district attorney.

The witness also stated, on cross-examination, that he had employed Attorney John Sturgeon as assistant prosecutor and had told him to seek evidence to connect the suspected preacher with the crimes. Judgments went to the witness box armed with statistics and notes concerning the Hudgins estate, of which he is co-administrator with his mother, Mrs. W. T. Hudgins of McLean.

HUDGINS SON ON STAND IN MURDER TRIAL

STURGEON ENGAGED TO PROSECUTE CASE, IS TESTIMONY

W. T. Hudgins shortly before his death in 1930 had been putting out government maize-poison for rats and gophers, it was testified by his son, Howard Hudgins, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The witness also said that a sample of flour he had analyzed was scooped from a granary floor months after the death for which the Rev. L. H. Shockley is on trial for murder. The chemical tests are reported to have shown arsenic content. Government rat poison is usually strychnine.

Five hundred persons were crowded into the courtroom.

That the Rev. Louis H. Shockley had employed an attorney to force settlement of the estate of the late W. T. Hudgins, purported poison victim, after the man died was testified in 31st district court by Howard Hudgins, son of the pioneer rancher, at the murder trial of the minister today. Rev. Shockley's wife is one of the heirs.

Boy Calmly Admits Killing Girl

With hardly a trace of emotion, Floyd Ranker Jr., 9-year-old Cleveland, O. boy, right, admitted to police that he lured 3-year-old Peggy Young, above, to the Cuyahoga river and pushed her in to drown, hurling rocks at her as she came to the surface. He said he was afraid that Peggy would tell her mother he had mistreated her. Floyd also confessed, police say, that he pushed a 6-year-old boy into the river to drown in May, 1933, though he denied his guilt at that time. The boy will face a thorough psychiatric examination and charges of murder may be filed against him.

TRY TO STEAL SAFE OF BANK IN OKLAHOMA

OUTLAWS ARMED WITH GUNS HOLD OFF 80 PERSONS

GUTHRIE, Okla., June 20 (AP)—Seven outlaws invaded the town of Crescent, near here, and held off scores of citizens for nearly an hour today while they made an unsuccessful effort to steal the safe of the Farmers and Merchants bank.

Failing to obtain any loot, they drove away with a half dozen kidnaped persons, releasing all but one, Nightwatchman Joe Stanfield, 46.

Stanfield was released, unharmed, three miles southwest of Cushing several hours later after a wild ride across central Oklahoma in the outlaws' automobile.

He said he had been blindfolded, gagged and bound. The outlaws, however, made no attempt to mistreat him. Cushing officers said he had given little information about the drive but informed them he had been let out on the roadside and made his way to Cushing.

Musings of the moment: We're glad to see that baseball managers are learning showmanship. In a rather dull Port Worth-Galveston game, we were delighted to see Manager Del Pratt just up and wrestle the umpire all over home plate. The game was set to begin the last inning not later than 10:05 p. m. Five minutes before the deadline, after Galveston had deliberately stalled for time, the Cats got the advantage and they did some neat shoe polishing, face-mopping, and the like. The Port Worth fans who had been yelling murder a few minutes before were soon giving suggestions on how for the home team to kill time. The show ended at 4-a. . . . And it was as hot at 10 p. m. as it seems in Pampa at high noon.

BACK from the Texas Press association at Dallas, we have a peculiar report. Everything we heard since returning has been somewhat critical. For instance, we hear that the municipal swimming pool isn't being kept clean enough. There was some complaint on this score last year, but there's even more now. . . . And the city park—we're told that vandalism continues, that the weeds are getting suggestions that the grass isn't being cared for adequately. . . . We can state that what is worth building up is worth maintaining properly. . . . We hear criticism of local officers—county and city—or rather the conditions under which they work. We hear that when you telephone for an officer you can't be sure of getting one. . . . We hear that the grand jury is being told plenty about the laxity of law enforcement with regard to open selling of whisky, especially around the public dance halls. We hear that the evidence of open selling is plentiful—as Judge W. E. Ewing told the grand jury he had heard. . . . We hear that a number of low production wells have answered the ambitions of some drillers eager to expand certain new pay areas. . . . And we hear that you-all had quite a "blow" up here while we were away.

WE have no monopoly on hearing things, and we trust that any authority interested in the things mentioned can easily go to the bottom of them. Right now this Shockley murder case has our almost undivided attention. . . . We will say that the Pre-Centennial celebration gave Pampa a tremendous amount of good will all over the state. Everybody thinks of Pampa as the Pre-Centennial city. They will continue to do so, for as the Centennial approaches every city which plans a celebration—and there will be hundreds of them—will wish to know what Pampa did this year, and how. It is our candid opinion that the Pre-Centennial in a good way will be worth more than all the other things, and a thousand times more than the tornado which produced headlines in all the big dailies.

THERE'S not much space for politics today. We'll begin the discussion by saying that 22 former presidents of the Texas Press association had a breakfast. They took a poll on the Connally-Bailey race. Twenty of them voted for Connally, two for Bailey. It was agreed that President Roosevelt's bid was Connally's trump card, but that Bailey's antics in trying to offset this circumstance had hurt him greatly.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 20 (AP)—Yale received President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a Harvard graduate, into the family of adopted sons today, conferring on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

While the sun shone from cloudless skies on the ancient elms of the historic campus, inside Woolsey Hall—scene of Yale's 233rd convocation—Mr. Roosevelt heard himself called a "brave leader of your people in a time of peril" by Pres. James Rowland Angell as the chief executive received the highest honor the university can bestow on an adopted son.

Harvard's distinguished alumnus became the fourth president to receive an honorary degree from Yale while in office, and the second ever to come to New Haven to receive the honor.

Presidents Washington and McKinley were awarded degrees in Absentia, while another Roosevelt—Theodore—came to New Haven in the fall of 1901 to accept the honor.

Writer Praises Pre-Centennial In Radio Speech

There's one thing certain—Dale Miller of the Texas Weekly, Dallas, believes Pampa, the Junior chamber of Commerce here and the Pre-Centennial, are okay.

For 15 minutes last night, he described to thousands of listeners over station WOAL, San Antonio, the recent Pre-Centennial celebration, and praised Pampans for producing it.

Mr. Miller, possessor of a vibrant, colorful voice, devoted his entire quarter hour to the Pre-Centennial, urging towns, hamlets, cities, all over the state to follow Pampa's example and produce similar celebrations so that interest in the 1936 Centennial will be heightened. Undoubtedly Pampans and the Jaycees in particular, experienced many a thrill when they heard themselves and the town praised so highly. Mr. Miller quoted at length from an article on the Pre-Centennial by Archer Pullington appearing in the current issue of the Weekly.

Clarence Kennedy, president of the Jaycees, and Geo. W. Briggs, of the B. C. D., this morning urged Pampans to write letters to Mr. Miller at Dallas, expressing appreciation for the broadcast.

Claims Thompson And C. V. Terrell Did Not Consult Him in Firing Parker.

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Former Governor James E. Ferguson, in the presence of the governor, said today, with reference to the railroad commissioner's "hot oil" problem in the East Texas field, that "if they tell a few more things on themselves" the situation "is liable to pop wide open." Asked if the governor contemplated a special session to investigate conditions in the field, the chief executive's husband replied: "When a political volcano blows up you can't tell what will happen. Let them tell a few more things on themselves and the whole top is liable to blow off. They are right up to the border now."

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Lon A. Smith, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, said today Commissioners C. V. Terrell and Ernest O. Thompson did not consult him before signing an order dismissing R. D. Parker as chief enforcement officer of the East Texas field.

"I have not seen the order and have not discussed the matter with the other commissioners," Smith said. "However, I have been for Parker all the time."

He added that he did not sign a previous order which curtailed Parker's authority to the East Texas field.

"Texas oil men asked that Parker be put in charge of the field, and we did it," Smith asserted, "and I think he should be given a chance to do the job. However, if 'hot oil' enforcement must be wrong. But I don't know any of the reasons for the order, as I have not talked to the other two commissioners."

Smith returned last night from a tour through West Texas.

While Smith stayed in his office, Terrell and Thompson were in conference.

Captain E. N. Stanley, meanwhile, is in charge of oil proration enforcement in East Texas.

John V. Andrews Out for Sheriff Of Gray County

In announcing his candidacy for sheriff of Gray county and entering his name in the democratic primary, John V. Andrews of Pampa is emphasizing that he would, if elected, work hard to serve all of the county alike.

He said that he was running strictly on his own merits and experience as a peace officer, and not on the demerits of any opponent. Although the time left before the July 28 election is growing short, he will endeavor to see as many voters as possible and he wishes to talk with anyone interested in the sheriff's race. He wishes to solicit the vote of all those whom he may not be able to see before election.

Mr. Andrews said that he believed in the enforcement of the state laws and that if elected he would attempt to enforce them to the best of his ability. He believes that the people as a whole do not wish to see the state laws ignored by officers sworn to enforce them.

Mr. Andrews is a veteran peace officer in the county, and before the recent change in the Pampa city administration was chief of police, with his duties the enforcement of city ordinances. He is well known to every part of Gray county and has many friends in each community who have welcomed his entry into the race for sheriff.

GUNSHOT VICTIM DIES

DEL RIO, June 20 (AP)—L. C. Henry, 36, a customs officer here for 10 years, shot last night by a man who said he was "doing this" for a resident of Villa Acuna, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from Del Rio, died in a hospital here today.

Nels Dodson Is Appointed City Desk Sergeant

Nels Dodson, veteran officer, has been named city desk sergeant and will be on duty today. The employment of Mr. Dodson will relieve Chief of Police Art Hurst from desk duties and allow him to answer calls in person and make investigations.

The new officer has been a resident of Pampa for more than eight years. He has been a police officer at intervals for the last 30 years. He was court bailiff here for two years.

Mr. Dodson will probably be given a judge's authority to be able to relieve W. M. Craven who is police judge, tax collector and collector and city secretary.

Worrell Orders City Weeds Cut

Weeds in the city are becoming a nuisance and should be cut and burned immediately, Dr. T. J. Worrell of the city health department announced this morning.

Patches of weeds become a breeding ground for bugs of different types and unless the weeds are cut, the city will be infested with bugs. A city ordinance requires that weeds on vacant lots and around homes be cut or the city will have the work done and the property owner will be charged for the cutting.

Pools of stagnant water and marshy places should be treated with oil to kill mosquitoes. City property is being treated to do away with breeding places.

W. V. Jarrett has arrived in Pampa to become business manager at Pampa hospital. Mr. Jarrett comes from San Angelo where he was formerly connected with a large clinic.

UNUSUAL SCHEME TO REDUCE HOT OIL AND DISTRESS GASOLINE IN EAST TEXAS FIELD AGREED UPON

Majors and Refiners Get Together on New Plan

KILGORE, June 20 (AP)—An unusual scheme designed to reduce hot oil and distress gasoline and stabilize the East Texas oil industry was ready for trial today.

Thirty-eight independent East Texas refiners, representing 85 per cent of the plants with cracking equipment, agreed at a meeting last night to try out a proposal of major oil companies and Howard Bennette, member of the planning and co-ordinating committee of the petroleum code, at Dallas awaited only formal word of their acceptance before putting it into effect.

The plan called for four innovations:

1. Major purchasers will purchase all distress gasoline, whether legal or not, and will purchase current production from the refiners.
2. Current production will be from allowable crude and within allocations set by the administration for individual refiners.
3. Refiners will file reports with planning and co-ordinating committee.

BOLIVIA HAS BACK TO WALL IN BITTER FIGHTING IN JUNGLE WAR

BUENOS AIRES, June 20 (AP)—One of the bitterest battles in the bloody history of the Chaco Boreal wilderness was fought today along three fronts.

Communications from Paraguay and Bolivia and information from private sources revealed that both armies have launched supreme drives to end the warfare.

Paraguay has attacked the sector around Bolivia's Fort Bolivian where a victory would be of immense consequence because it would endanger the last Bolivian stronghold within the limits Paraguay claims in the Chaco.

Information from the front revealed the Bolivian army has swiftly changed its strategy. It is making counter-thrusts against Paraguayan drives.

The general staff, it was reported, decided to abandon the old-fashioned method of long preparations for battle, holding it unsuited to the woody Chaco.

Paraguayan advances are also being attempted in the Canada Strongest and the Canada del Carmen sectors, northeast of Fort Bolivian.

The action was described as easily the most important since a Paraguayan offensive was repulsed in May.

Car Hits Train; 2 Injured

J. D. Owensby, one of the occupants of the car, was taken to a hospital following the accident. It required 18 stitches to close a gash in his scalp and 8 stitches for a bad cut under his lower lip. R. T. Blunt and Ted Woodard were the other occupants of the car.

The car was practically demolished by the impact.

Mullen Speaks To Rotary Club

The many qualifications of a modern preacher were given in an interesting talk before the Rotary club by the Rev. John Mullen, pastor of the First Christian Church. He told of the demands made on the pastor's time and of the many misconceptions in the minds of people.

The modern preacher must be an orator and a super-salesman in order that he may influence thousands of people and "sell" to them an interest in church work. He must be an executive and financier in order that the work of the church may be properly organized and that it may be properly financed. He must be an educator to all classes and ages of people in order that training may be given to all.

The preacher must also be a man among men and since the ideas of other men differ so widely this is probably the hardest to attain of the many qualifications.

No meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday, July 4, but the regular meeting will be held Tuesday, July 5, it was announced today.

Visitors included J. O. Gilliam, Chester H. Watson of Amarillo, Dan McGrew, Virgil Brown of Oklahoma City and Rotarians W. A. Reardon, Monroe, La., H. S. Wilbur and Bob Matthews, Canadian; and N. H. Moore, Amarillo.

Mack Graham Buys South Cuyler Lot

Mack Graham has contracted for the purchase of the Sam McDonald property at the corner of South Cuyler and East Atchinson avenue, it was revealed this morning. The purchase price was not made public.

The lot faces 50 feet on Cuyler and 140 on Atchinson avenue. The Moore & Smith body shop is now located on the site and 60 days has been allowed for its removal.

Mr. Graham, whose agent for Texas company products, contemplates the erection of a super-service station on the lot. He has not made definite plans as to the type of building to be erected. He may build a two-story structure if the need of office space becomes more acute.

The corner is one of the most desirable in the city and has changed hands several times. One of the first buildings in Pampa occupied the site.

I SAW—

Parks Brumley showing how much his feet and legs lapped over the bed when he was confined to a hospital with a recent appendectomy.

A college student, who broke and hungry, walked up to the Frank Keim's front door, and asked for breakfast, stating he'd be willing to work. "Well, I haven't got any work for you but if you were a woman I sure would have," said Mr. Keim, explaining that the maid had hired the day before hadn't showed up to put out the washing. The collegian said if he had a washing machine he could do it. Mr. Keim said she had such a machine and that the clothes were in it. The boy put out the washing in no time, scrubbed the work, then ironed the clothes, working all day.

the Weather

WEST TEXAS: Generally fair except partly cloudy and somewhat unsettled in the Panhandle tonight and Thursday; cooler in the Panhandle tonight.

WHEAT AT 68 CENTS

Wheat remained at 68 cents a bushel, top, at local grain elevators today. More grain was received this morning than all day yesterday which indicated that cutting is nearly in full swing. The average ranges from 10 to 22 bushel to the acre.

FARLEY TO REMAIN

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—James A. Farley will remain as chairman of the democratic national committee at least until late fall. This was confirmed today by the postmaster general prepared to make a swing around the country to combine business with politics.

MOTHERS MAY WELL BE PROUD OF THEIR TASKS

The old folks, particularly the mothers, can get quite a bit of satisfaction out of the report, just released at the convention of the American Medical Association in Cleveland, that the breast-fed baby has ten times the chance for life than one brought up on artificial feeding; that it has 50 per cent greater resistance to all forms of disease.

Such satisfaction would lie in the knowledge that here, at last, science recognizes a fact that had been known to mothers long before infant feeding was put on anything like a scientific basis.

The report of the physicians was the result of a survey among 20,000 children in Chicago, from 1924 to 1929. Nearly 50 per cent of these were breast-fed; a little more than 40 per cent were partially breast-fed, and the rest were on an entirely artificial diet.

It was discovered, as the children became subject to various types of illness, that the proportion of those affected rose as their tendency toward artificial feeding went up. And so did deaths among the infants.

And the report of this interesting study concludes: "Obviously, therefore, if we hope to decrease further the infant mortality of this country, it must be done by encouraging breast feeding."

What a glorious tribute to old-fashioned motherhood! The motherhood that took its duties seriously and that paid its obligations to infancy as Nature intended it should!

There was a short time, during the last decade or two, when there seemed to be a fad for artificial feeding; when young mothers sought every which way to avoid the burdens of breast feeding, at least partially; when to feed a child at the breast seemed to be a sign of Victorianism.

Fortunately, however, this mode is passing and the doctors are encouraging mothers to recognize their natural relationship to their children.

Artificial feeding, to be sure, will be necessary in many cases where mothers are not in position to furnish the necessary food for their babies.

But, at any rate, it should be resorted to only when the doctor prescribes it.

4. Major companies will supply legal crude to the refiners up to 3,800 barrels daily.

Approval of 85 per cent of the 41 refiners representing 85 per cent of the capacity of the field was ordered before the plan would become acceptable to the majors.

The plan would become effective 24 hours after Jules Constantine, member of the planning and coordinating committee and president of the Independent Refiners' Association of East Texas, notified Howard Bonetto, petroleum code representative, that East Texas refiners had accepted the proposal.

B. F. Crittenden, Overton refiner and member of the allocation agency for inland Texas, said Bonetto promised to have purchasers in offices of the independent refiners 24 hours after he was informed the agreement was reached.

Individual contracts would be made by the purchaser and refiner at a price to be agreed upon between them. The contracts provide for payment of 75 per cent of the total price of distress gasoline at the time of purchase; 12 1-2 per cent in 45 days and 12 1-2 per cent in 90 days, the vendor to be credited with balance due and paid interest thereon.

The 25 per cent not paid at the time of purchase was designed as a warranty that the refiner would abide by the agreement. No dissenting voice was raised against the plan by the independents at the meeting last night. One refiner suggested that the plan be tried for 30 days and "if it doesn't work we can cut loose."

In the OIL FIELDS

By GEORGE L. GUTHRIE Consulting Geologist Combs-Worley Bldg.

It is beginning to look like an active week for the Panhandle with 11 wells on test in Wheeler county and eastern Gray and several new locations already filed for the week.

There will be a statewide proration hearing at Austin, Texas, June 26 to consider new rules and regulations governing the new fields in Cherokee, Bee, Jackson, and San Patricio counties. At the hearing, requests of some operators that the output allowances in East Texas, Yates and Panhandle areas be increased will also be considered.

The Magnolia Petroleum company bought a one half interest in the 600 acre block of the C, and G, Oil company paying $25,000 cash.

The Humble Oil and Refining company bought 320 acres for $200,000 cash and $100,000 in oil payments.

The Texas company bought 2,700 acres for $235,000 and one fourth royalty on 1,128 acres for $125,000 cash.

The first test on tubing of the Rusk discovery well gaged 55 barrels an hour, with 12 per cent basic sediment and water.

More effective than other measures adopted in the proration of the wells in the Olney district has been a protracted drought which has been responsible for the closing down of all wildcat, or outlying tests, and the greater portion of the districts productive areas.

Ford Says Things Are Getting Better Despite 'Grabbing'

DETROIT, June 20 (AP)—Henry Ford, in an interview today, expressed the conviction that "the industrial picture looks better all the time," and that "things are getting better in spite of everybody grabbing up all they can get."

"Things are very much on the upgrade," the automobile manufacturer said, "and have been since people made up their minds to get out and work."

Ford said that although he had not given much attention to the activities of the session of congress just closed, he thought it "quite natural that people should breathe a sign of relief when congress goes home and that business should 'stretch' and start out anew."

Discussing general industrial conditions, Ford said that there is about to be "an occasional slump—a kind of a reaction." He added, at the same time, that the country can "get along very successfully on a 5-day week."

Then, he went on: "The 6-hour day and 5-day week would have been here by now if they had let things alone." He did not indicate whom he meant by "they."

"The 6-hour day is coming," he said.

BOLL WEEVILS ARE NUMEROUS IN SOUTHLAND

Bugs Threatening To Be Destructive This Year

BY FRANCIS CARPENTER.
COLUMBIA, S. C., June 20 (AP)—A little fellow that gets fat off king cotton's larder is assuming proportions of a real threat to the south's big money crop this year.

While the experts contracted for cotton production limitation, the boll weevil evidently was planning a campaign, too. Reports from various sections of the south say the infestation is the heaviest in years. So that what man would do by contract is likely to be done even more thoroughly by this insect.

Experts think a good spell of dry weather would take care of the situation. Weevils thrive on wet weather and the south in the last few days has had plenty of rain.

In South Carolina, it is reported from Dorchester that the boll weevil infestation is the worst in history.

The little fellow didn't wait in Georgia until the bolls started developing—he went right ahead and began eating the cotton tops.

The biggest cotton state of the south—Texas—reports an infestation as high as 14 per cent in the Rio Grande valley, unusually high for this time of year. However, dry weather is halting the boll weevil damage.

The Mississippi state department of agriculture reports "probably as

Ruth Roosevelt Leaves to Visit White House

FORT WORTH, June 20 (AP)—Ruth Chandler Roosevelt, the six weeks old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, left Fort Worth by plane this morning to visit her grandparents in the White House.

The departure was closely guarded and newspapermen who learned of it at the last moment were not allowed to approach the plane, which the mother and baby already had boarded. Little Ruth kicked a pair of chubby feet into view when Mrs. Roosevelt waved goodbye to her mother, Mrs. J. B. Coogins of Fort Worth, as the big American Airlines sleeper plane took off at 9 a. m. while the plane was waiting for the mail pouches to arrive.

Roosevelt left the ship with Hal Roach, producer of the original our gang comedies, and talked of their mutual experiences in California. Roach came in on the ship from Los Angeles and was headed for Chicago.

many weevils at this time as we ever have had."

Agriculture Commissioner Harry D. Wilson of Louisiana said the cotton in his state is doing fairly well, but the boll weevil is appearing in a good many places.

In Alabama, Auburn experts said the boll weevils emergence is heavy in south Alabama but hot weather in the next two months will kill enough of the new generation to eliminate the threat of heavy damage.

MISS McVAY OF OHIO WEDS R. KAY SMITH

COUPLE WILL MAKE THEIR HOME IN BORGER

The marriage of Miss Mary Helen McVay of Bellefontaine, Ohio, and R. Kay Smith of Borger was quietly solemnized at the Methodist parsonage last Friday evening, the Rev. Gaston Foote officiating.

The ring ceremony was witnessed by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith of Bellefontaine; his younger brother, Billy, another brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith; and Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Goodman of Pampa.

The bride wore a pink and blue crepe gown with white accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations, blue delphinium, and baby breath. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. McVay of Bellefontaine.

Following an afternoon spent in playing games, refreshments of ice cream, angel food cake, and lemonade were served to the following little guests: Marjorie Gaylor, R. L. Edmondson, H. M. Lister, Joe Bill Lister, Shirley Mae Soren, Patsy Ruth, Thomas, Anita Andrews, James Hart, Pete Pott, Barbara Bassham, Burton Bassham, Sonja Sue Brashers, Johnnie Sue Hart, Norma Lee Dickinson, Frances Silcott, Bobbie Boyles, and the hostess, Grace Gotcher.

U. S. BUYING SILVER
WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—The treasury assumed the task today of arranging to start silver purchases that eventually may exceed 1,300,000,000 ounces—a course made mandatory by the new law. Secretary Morgenthau guarded plans for acquisition of this huge stock.

BERLIN, June 20 (AP)—Vice Chancellor Fran zvon Papen, it was revealed today, offered his resignation to the German government to Chancellor Hitler, following his Sunday speech in which he attacked certain phases of the Nazi regime. Hitler daily declined to permit his critic to quit his trusted position.

A Deftly Cut Nightgown

By ELLEN WORTH

"ALMOST as formal as frocks," one can truthfully say of the new nightgowns, for they favor darts, cuffs, feminine trimming and luxurious fabrics. Straight, unbecoming lines have been abandoned, and bias seamings introduced to give a fitted silhouette which is most flattering.

The classic Empire line, so popular in frocks this season, suits this mood admirably and permits effective combinations of fabric and lace, as shown here. The pert bows on the shoulders are a frivolous detail.

Satin is a popular fabric choice for nightgowns, as are also the heavy sheers, so cool for summer wear. White, of course, is the bride's choice, and this model, incidentally, would grace a trousseau beautifully. In the pastels, tea rose, baby blue and peach are favorites. Any beginner can make this easy model.

OPERATION OF LLANO MICA MINE RECALLS PROSPECTORS' EFFORTS

LLANO, June 20 (AP)—Fred E. Webster of San Antonio, has begun the operation of a blottle, or black mica, mine on the Edwin Birk place in the western part of Llano county.

This revival of mining, recalls many efforts of prospectors in Llano county during the past half century. It is recognized that minerals are to be found in the Llano district but there has never been enough capital interested to place mining operations on a permanent paying basis.

About eight years ago the discovery of a vein of gold on historic Packsaddle mountain, 14 miles from Llano, renewed interest in mining but the operations like earlier attempts, were of short duration.

Packsaddle mountain is in one of the richest sections of the Llano mineral district, which covers about 2,500 square miles and includes all of Llano county and parts of Burnet, San Saba, Mason, Gillespie, and Blanco counties. From southwest Arkansas to extreme western Texas, a distance of 1,000 miles, it is the only section where basic rocks are found. This section was undoubtedly marked for lead, copper, and silver by the Spanish in the eighteenth century.

In the days of the Republic of Texas and after the state was organized, many prospecting parties attempted to work in the Llano mineral district, especially after gold was discovered in California in 1849; but the Comanche Indians made such attempts highly dangerous. The early settlers or prospectors were not concerned about any of the minerals except gold and silver and enough lead to make their bullets. The commercial minerals in which the district is rich did not interest them so they and their descendants ignored mining for cattle and sheep raising. Probably there has not been a placer mine in the district in 40 or 50 years, although it is known that the Llano river and its tributaries, furnished such occupation between Indian raids many years ago.

Many prospecting parties have tried to locate "Buck Hollow," where the older settlers found lead for their bullets and where they believed they could find pockets of gold and silver. The remains of three old furnaces have been found on and around Packsaddle mountain, which old timers remember having been worked about 60 years ago.

Their presence is explained by the fact that early prospectors lacking means of sending specimens to be assayed, built these furnaces and assayed their own material.

Some years ago gold was struck about 5 miles from Llano, at what is known as the Old Heath mine, and the place was worked for 5 or 6 years. Two carloads of gold ore from this mine were shipped to Pueblo, Colo., and netted $5,000 and $6,000 per car, respectively.

There are in Llano county large deposits of serpentine, a beautiful green marble. So far, however, little work has been done with it because it is far from the railroad. Llano has large deposits of soapstone, talc, and graphite. The old Spiller mine, 50 miles southwest of Llano, was at one time worked for manganese.

Barringer Hill, 22 miles east of Llano, is a source of much curiosity and speculation to those interested in mineralogy. On this hill are found a variety of rare minerals the names of some not being known. It was there that gadolinite was mined during the early part of this century.

The iron found in Llano county has also proved an interesting study. Outcroppings at Iron mountain protrude to a height of 50 feet and 32 feet in width, and extends for several miles both ways from the outcroppings.

From a comparative analysis of Llano iron ore and that of Lake Superior the examination showed that the Llano ore were richer in metallic iron than those of any of the Lake Superior regions.

All that is needed in Llano county is fuel, and if oil or gas should ever be found there the iron ores can be smelted in Llano.

CLINT SMALL RALLY TO BE HELD MONDAY

BIG CROWD EXPECTED TO BE PRESENT AT AMARILLO

AMARILLO, June 20 (AP)—One of the greatest welcomes ever given a Panhandle citizen will be tendered Senator Clint O. Small when he addresses his "home folks" of the Panhandle at the Amarillo municipal auditorium, Monday night, June 25.

Six bands from as many Panhandle cities will be on hand to "hall the chief" when Senator Small brings his campaign for governor back home.

Friends of the Panhandle entry in the governor's race are preparing a gigantic rally in his behalf for his only appearance in this senatorial district during the present campaign.

"Demands on Senator Small's time for public addresses, in other sections of the state, are so great that he is forced to devote as much time as possible where there are heavier populated areas," it was announced at the Small-for-Governor headquarters.

Following his appearance here on June 25, a big rally covering all of the counties in the south plains country will be held in Lubbock on the night of Tuesday, June 26.

A full day of activities has been arranged for Senator Small's home visit. During Monday morning, until shortly before noon, an informal reception for his friends will be held in the Amarillo hotel. At noon he will speak at a luncheon of county chairmen of the Panhandle.

At 6:30 o'clock a Panhandle group of Young Democrats will give a victory dinner at which time Senator Small will speak.

His main address will be given in the auditorium at 8:30 p. m. Reports reaching the Small headquarters daily, indicate that the Panhandle senator's support is making great gains in all sections, particularly in the southern and eastern sections of the state.

His friends in those sections freely predict that his present strength is such that it will undoubtedly place him in the run-off.

CHILD LEAGUE WILL CONDUCT A STORY HOUR

WILL BENEFIT PAMPA CHILDREN THIS SUMMER

The Edwin Markham Circle of Child Conservation League met Tuesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. W. S. Dixon, for a one o'clock covered dish luncheon. This was the last meeting until next September.

After the luncheon was served, Mrs. Dixon presided over the business session. It was voted that the circle conduct a story hour for the children of Pampa during July and August, beginning the morning of July 3. Two members will be in charge at each session. One will tell stories to children from four to seven years of age from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. The other member will tell stories to children from seven to ten years from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. The place for the story hour has not been definitely decided and will be announced later. If this is successful, it will be continued indefinitely.

The program, "Manners and Social Relations," was led by Mrs. G. C. Durham. An interesting paper on "Courtesy and Manners" was given by Mrs. Dixon. Mrs. O. L. Bassham discussed "The Art of Conversation." Mrs. Ross Cornelius gave a selected reading. "The Four Circles Into Which Human Relationship is Divided" was given by Mrs. J. R. Vandever and Mrs. G. C. SUNDAY GAME IS SOUGHT BY ROADRUNNERS

MILLER IS DICKERING WITH EL RENO AND MEMPHIS

The Pampa Roadrunners have no game scheduled for Sunday but Harold Miller, business manager of the team, hopes to make final arrangements for a game sometime this afternoon.

Memphis and Guyton are in line to come here for a series and it may be that one of these teams will be here this week-end.

Little is known in this section about the strength of the Guyton team, but press reports from that part of the country indicates that Guyton has a real team this year.

The Roadrunner cripples are improving and may be ready for duty Sunday. Eddie Sain and Whitey Baucus have hand injuries and Pete Stegman is suffering from a wrenched knee.

Carl Stewart demonstrated last Saturday that he will soon be able to take his place as a regular hurler. He pitched his first ball Saturday since undergoing an operation for appendicitis and lasted seven innings.

Stars Hope to Get Revenge For Defeats Suffered in Meets in 1931 and 1933

By BILL PARKER. Associated Press Sports Writer. DALLAS, June 20. (P)—When the first tee shots were down No. 1 fairway at Brook Hollow Tuesday in the qualifying round of the thirty-fourth annual Trans-Mississippi golf championship two of the nation's most scintillating stars will be seeking revenge against Texas' ace shot-maker.

Johnny Goodman, the Omaha boy who lived across the tracks but moved on the other side when he won the national open title in 1933, has a score to settle with Gus Moreland, the tall Texan who beat him in the finals of the 1931 Houston Country club invitation.

Lawson Little, British amateur champion and current toast of the San Francisco neighbors, would relish a match with Moreland in an effort to atone for Gus' victory over him last year at Colorado Springs in the finals of the Trans-Mississippi.

Moreland, Goodman and Little were United States Walker cup buddies this year at St. Andrews, and after they suffered elimination from the British amateur, Moreland and Goodman tossed their moral support to Little who won, but when this trio tees up next week it will be each man for himself.

Another who desires a chance at Moreland is Johnny Dawson, the popular Chicago stylist who never misses an opportunity to give Gus a few lines of praise wherever golf is discussed.

Dawson crossed Moreland's path in the final round of the 1932 Houston Country club invitation where Gus emerged victorious, 2 and 1. Dawson got his second chance at Moreland in last year's Trans-Mississippi.

Johnny, with a reputation for always being perfectly attired in what the better dressed golfers should wear, appeared on the first tee with his shirt collar unbuttoned, his sleeves rolled up and a determination to even accounts with Moreland—but he failed. However, Johnny got a measure of consolation this year when he beat Gus in the Houston Country club invitation finals, 5 and 3. Dawson still needs an additional victory over Moreland to be all-square.

What does Moreland think of his rivals? "I hope to play against all three. They're fine fellows, marvelous golfers and it means a golfer has accomplished something when a victory is chalked up over Goodman, Little or Dawson," was his answer to the query.

Moreland faces more than the battle line drawn by Dawson, Little nabe, Dallas, and Phillips, Beaumont, won 10. Strikeouts: Kennedy, Oklahoma City, 63.

and Goodman, for the Trans-Mississippi entry field is studded with famous sharp-shooters. Reynolds Smith is peering into next week and trusting he will get a chance to match shots against Gus who has reigned as Trans-Mississippi king the last two years. Smith, new Texas Golf Association champion, twice local city champion, has often had his golf ambitions marred by Morland's victories even though he has shot sub-par golf.

TO CHARGE STALKUP

SPUR, June 20 (P)—W. R. Arthur, sheriff, said today that complaints of hijacking and robbery with firearms were being prepared at Dickens today against Virgil Stalkup, wounded in a gun battle with Oklahoma peace officers Sunday and another man. The accusations were in connection with the robbery of M. D. Brock of Lubbock, a truck driver, five miles west of Dickens a week ago. Both men waived extradition and will be returned to Dickens county for trial as soon as Stalkup can be moved.

TRAYNOR HAS GOOD CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD

PIRATES HOLD FIFTH PLACE AFTER LOSS TO GIANTS

By HUGH S. FULLETON Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer. Another major league club has tried the old experiment of changing managers and today the Pittsburgh Pirates had a new pilot, Harold (Pie) Traynor, and offered an almost perfect opportunity for him to make good.

Traynor took over the managerial duties yesterday from George Gibson, who became progressively less popular with Pittsburgh fans as the Pirates' slump continued. The Bucs then went out and lost another game, their fifth straight and their eighth in nine starts, going down 5-3 before the league-leading New York Giants.

With a 4% game margin over Chicago, put the Bucs in fifth place. With a 4% game margin over Brooklyn, Pittsburgh can't go much lower for a while and Traynor has a good starting place from which to hoist the club back into the pennant fight.

The last game Cincinnati Reds won the other National league game when they defeated Cleveland and Washington, rivals for third place, split a doubleheader and remained in a virtual tie. All the other clubs were idle.

The American league had a rather restless day when Cleveland and Washington, rivals for third place, split a doubleheader and remained in a virtual tie. All the other clubs were idle.

The senators won the opener, 6-2, with the aid of first inning homers by Johnny Stone and Heine Manush and a dozen other hits of Oral Hildebrand. The Indians came back behind Mel Harder to win a mound duel 3 to 0. Hal Trosky started the scoring with his twelfth homer and the victim, Monte Weaver, was charged with his second defeat against eight victories.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Jimmy Slatery, 189, Buffalo, defeated Eddie Kaminski, 196½, (5), foul. Bobby Sawyer, 153½, Buffalo, knocked out Fred Schriber, 153½, Cleveland, (4).

PARIS—Maurice Grisell, France, outpointed Frederico Malibran, Cuba, (10).

CHICAGO—Davey Day, 136, Chicago, stopped Joey Kleko, 138, Chicago, (5). Patrick (Dynamite) Henry, 148, Marion, Ind., outpointed Roosevelt Haines, 145, Chicago, (4).

FORT WORTH—Howard Scott, 132, San Angelo, outpointed Battling Delgado, 132, Mexico City, (10). Duke Tramel, 156, Fort Worth, knocked out Jose Flores, 163, San Angelo, (4).

HOUSTON—Ritchie Mack, 138, Dallas, drew with George Salvadore, 143½, Boston, (10).

LOS ANGELES—Tommy Paul, Buffalo, awarded victory on foul over Freddie Miller, Cincinnati, (2).

SAN ANTONIO—Tracy Cox, 134, Indianapolis, knocked out Joe Ruz, 133, Mexico City, (5).

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Able Chavez, Albuquerque, outpointed Chato Laredo, Mexico, (10).

Helen Will Try to Develop Golf Among Women and Children, She States.

By BOB CAVAGNARO, Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, June 20 (P)—Helen Hicks' surprise exchange of her amateur status for a commercial career and Mrs. Glenna Collett Vane's rapidly approaching retirement from competition have seriously weakened America's front line of women golfers.

In the absence of these two stars the burden of carrying the banner has been placed squarely on the shoulders of Virginia Van Wie, the soft-spoken Chicagoan who holds the national championship, and blonde-haired Maureen Orcutt of New Jersey.

Two veterans, Mrs. Opal Hill and Mrs. Leona Cheney, and a pair of youngsters, Charlotte Glutting and Lucille Robinson, are likely prospects to fill the berths vacated by the two other prominent sportswomen.

In forsaking her amateur career to become America's first "business woman golfer," 23-year-old Miss Hicks, who started playing golf when she was a chunk lass of 13 years, has followed in the footsteps of the two other prominent sportswomen.

Eight years ago Suzanne Lenglen, the great French tennis player, joined Charles (Cash and Carry) Pyle's gold caravan in a barnstorming tour, only to find disillusionment after a short time. Last year Mildred (Babe) Dirlikon, the all-around Texas athlete, turned pro and little has been heard of her since.

Miss Hicks is starting out with big ideas and many resolutions, as witness the following: "I believe that with my experience and knowledge of golf, and the sincere cooperation I am getting from my employer, I am going to do a lot of things I have always wanted to do along the lines of developing golf among women and children."

She's been engaged as adviser to a Chicago sporting goods concern's women's golf department.

As the first American woman to attempt such a task, Miss Hicks has forfeited her future with a 5-year contract, which with salary and royalties will produce an annual stipend in the neighborhood of $7,500.

MISSIONS WIN FROM SOONERS—DALLAS LOSES

SAN ANTONIO HOLDS THREE AND HALF GAME LEAD

By The Associated Press. The San Antonio Missions, last year's Texas league champions, are well on their way to another title. They defeated Oklahoma City yesterday, 6 to 3, to increase their pennant lead to three and one-half games over the second place Dallas Steers who dropped a game to Beaumont.

Hillin out-hurled Matuzak to win for the Missions. He stopped Oklahoma City with 8 hits while his mates collected 10. "Pid" Purdy, Missions outfielder and 1933 champion batsman of the league, got two hits and drove across two runs.

Matuzak and Morgan connected for home runs.

Making six errors, the Dallas Steers lost their fifth straight game by losing to Beaumont, 8 to 5. Joe Vance, versatile star of the Steers, took a turn on the mound and pitched well but erratic support spoiled whatever chance he had to gain victory.

Houston's 3-game winning streak was snapped when Herman Rabb pitched the Fort Worth Cats to a 6 to 2 victory by limiting Houston to 5 hits. Rabb struck out 8.

The Tulsa Oilers made sure of retaining third place with a 13 to 8 decision over the Galveston Buccaneers. The Oilers belted a pair of former team-mates, Guy Cantrell and Jim Bivin, 18 hits. Beau Bell, Galveston outfielder, hit his twelfth home run of the season. Alex Hooks, Tulsa first sacker, hit a triple, two doubles and a single in four trips.

Why Father doesn't growl at the breakfast table anymore . . .

Once father withdrew behind his paper at breakfast and woe to the person who disturbed him. Now he passes Willie the jam before Willie has finished asking for it and . . . well, he's a changed man. The reason? Mother makes our coffee right at the table now in an electric coffee maker, and, Boy! it's good enough to give anybody a sunny disposition any time!

The research of scientists and expert coffee blenders has proved that perfect coffee should not boil and that the water should pass over the coffee only once, remaining in contact with it no longer than 3 1/2 minutes. An electric coffee maker meets these requirements precisely — puts into a cup of coffee only the goodness that should be there.

PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES THE SPECIAL SIX

RECENTLY you read about important reductions in Plymouth prices. This week Plymouth again makes news!

It's the introduction of the SPECIAL SIX. It changes the picture in the low-price field.

We urge you to take a few minutes to see it . . . for two reasons. One of them is the car itself . . . and the other is the price.

You'll find a new "luxury" model . . . with the features that made Plymouth famous. Yet a 4-door Sedan costs practically the same as comparable models of the lowest-priced cars WITHOUT ALL THESE FEATURES!

Without spending an extra penny, you can own the Special Six with Hydraulic Brakes. Your family can ride protected by a Body of SAFETY-STEEL. You can have the comfort of Individual Wheel Springing and Floating Power without paying a penalty for these improvements.

Today the prices of "All Three" low-priced cars are virtually the same. Don't buy blindfolded. Don't let "habit" rule your judgment. Go see this Plymouth Special Six today . . . at any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer. Buy no car until you do.

PRICES AND FEATURES OF THE NEW PLYMOUTH SPECIAL SIX

OILMEN LOOK TO BENNETTE

Gladewater Decisions Will Bring Quick Relief or Leave Situation Worse.

BY WILLIAM VOIGHT Jr., Associated Press Staff Writer. TULSA, Okla., June 20 (AP)—With a sluggish, falling gasoline market and crude oil prices in a precarious position as a result of the failure of Congress, the mid-continent petroleum industry looked to the deliberations of an East Texas group at Gladewater, either to bring quick relief or leave the situation worse than before.

The meeting, held last night by Howard Bennette and a group of refiners, was an important one, in that it held the key to a stabilized gasoline market, which in turn, held an essential position in relation to crude oil prices.

Bennette, speaking for the oil code authority, as a member of the planning and coordination committee, and as national refinery allocator under the code, urged the refiners of East Texas to accept an offer of major companies having a bettering effect on the petroleum industry.

In return for their promise to eliminate the 38,000 barrels daily of overproduction which has been finding its way into some of the East Texas plants, notably the so-called "oil can" refineries in the so-called woods, the major companies agreed to supply legally produced crude oil to the limit of the plant's capacity.

In addition, they agreed to purchase a percentage of the gasoline produced, which would amount to approximately 75 to 80 tank cars daily, or about three cars daily by each purchasing major firm.

The result would be, in the opinion of many oil men, legitimate profits for all branches of the industry.

Without this stabilizing movement, a cut in crude prices would be not only probable but almost inevitable within a few weeks, oil men contended.

Yesterday's reports from East Texas indicated more than 750 cars of gasoline standing on sidings and in "distress," needing buyers immediately, and new takers for it as low as 3 to 3 1/4 cents a gallon.

SHOCKLEY

his mother with his own money. At intervals, he said, he assisted his mother financially, giving her checks. In the spring of 1932, his mother moved from this house. The Shockleys were with her then. The witness and his mother are joint administrators of the estate, which is still being probated.

Hudgins said he took a sample of the flour at his father's house. He also took a bucket of molasses after candy made from it made several relatives ill. These samples he sent to the state chemist at Austin. Dr. C. B. Balmist addressed the express shipment and received a report on the chemical tests several weeks later.

The witness said the defendant, Rev. Shockley, was behind a forced public sale of the estate. The sale price, on the basis of $2 an acre, was disappointed in probate as too low. Then Hudgins borrowed $10,000 from the Houston federal land bank to buy the estate at $5 an acre. He identified probate court papers filed on behalf of the defendant, seeking sale of the defendant's estate. One instrument signed by Rev. Shockley stated that $5 an acre was a fair price for the land.

Talked to Grand Jurors

Hudgins said that three jurors probed the mysterious deaths. He testified before them.

The witness said his father was friendly to him, the other children, and the grand-children. Rev. Shockley owed W. T. Hudgins $550 at the latter's death and the sum has not been paid to the estate, the witness said.

Hudgins, answering the first defense question, denied that he borrowed $5,000 from his father. He said he borrowed $2,000 from his father but repaid it by personal check. He added that Mrs. Shockley had thought he owed the estate some money.

The witness said that his investigations led him to believe Rev. Shockley guilty of poisoning W. T. Hudgins. He argued with Attorney Calhoun about date of Rev. Shockley's visit to the ranch, in which he differed with previous witnesses.

Hudgins said he employed John Sturgeon as special prosecutor and told the attorney to try to find where the poison was bought. It was added that no evidence was found that Rev. Shockley had bought poison, insofar as he knew.

He said that Shockley's attorney, Claude Williams, had hindered him Beauty shop, Brunow building, back on Levine. 2p-85 in settling the estate. Boy Is Witness The first witness yesterday afternoon was Lloyd Erwin, 14-year-old son of Mrs. Nora Erwin of McLean and grandson of the late W. T. Hudgins. He rode out on the wagon with his grandfather and Rev. Shockley when the controverted flour was transported. He told how the flour was unloaded, how biscuits were made from it, and how the family group, excepting Rev. Shockley, became ill. He said his face and hands swelled and that he was unable to walk for several weeks. He and his mother stayed with his grandmother, Mrs. W. T. Hudgins, longtime estranged wife of the rancher, Rev. and Mrs. Shockley stayed there.

Preacher Drank Wine On cross-examination, the boy said that wine was kept by his grandfather and sold by most of the members of the family when they were present when anyone called for it. Asked if it would make anyone drunk, he replied: "Well, I've seen the preacher pretty smooth with it."

"Who told you to say that?" demanded Attorney Calhoun. "No one," the boy replied.

Mrs. Nora Erwin, mother of Ernest and Lloyd and sister of the defendant's wife, was the third state witness. Her divorced husband died four years ago. It was she who made the biscuits which allegedly made the group ill. She said those at the table were Rev. Shockley, W. T. Hudgins, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Erwin, herself, and her unmarried sons, Ernest and Lloyd. She said she did not see Rev. Shockley eat any of the biscuits and overheard her boys asking him why he did not.

Molasses Is Issue Mrs. Erwin said that Rev. Shockley gave her a bucket of molasses on two occasions. Candy made from the first bucket made some of the children ill and she threw out most of the molasses. The second bucket, presented a few months later, was kept under lock and eventually turned over to her brother, Howard Hudgins. Evidence is expected to be introduced to show that it contained poison.

Attorney Calhoun launched a bitter cross-examination with questions which, if answered in the affirmative, would have reflected on the character of Howard Hudgins, brother of the witness. By inference and indirect statements, the attorney sought to show that the witness and Hudgins had discussed what her testimony would be, that he had handled the estate to his own advantage, that he had quarreled with his father shortly before the latter died, and that he had advanced funds to Mrs. Erwin before the estate was settled. The witness denied every charge and said that she trusted her brother completely and had not inquired into probate matters.

Put Preacher "In Place" Much merriment was caused by Mrs. Erwin's descriptions of two purported instances when she had to "put the preacher in his place." She said that he "tickled" her, told her she was beautiful, and urged her to bob her hair.

Mrs. Erwin talked incessantly, insisted on completing accounts she started, and lectured Mr. Calhoun for trying to change the subject too rapidly. She said that Rev. Shockley asked her father for a section of land, saying he was worn out preaching and desired to settle down. Her father did not wish to cut up the ranch. She said her father didn't like Rev. Shockley much because the latter "wouldn't work."

Mrs. Ruby Hughes of Denver, daughter of Mrs. Nora Erwin, was the next witness. She visited her father while he was ill and also attended his funeral. After his death she stayed at the ranch for a short time to do the cooking. She made gravy with some of the remaining flour and it made her ill. Her brother, Terry, who did not die until two months later, took some of the flour in a baking powder can and gave it to Dr. Eston of McLean. Dr. Eston had not testified.

Mrs. Hughes told of making candy with some of the molasses at the home of her grandmother. It might ill those who ate it. Later she saw another bucket of molasses but did not use any of it.

Crowds Growing The court recessed at 5:30 o'clock for the day, with Mrs. Hughes scheduled to be cross-examined this morning. Crowds are increasing until all the lower floors of the district courtroom is being filled and most of the balcony likewise.

Harry Montgomery is "covering" the case for the Associated Press, and Amarillo papers are represented.

On cross examination, Mrs. Hughes testified today that she had been married three times. She lived with her first husband two months, her second two years. Questioned about a visit to the Hudgins ranch, the witness denied that she threatened to kill Mrs. Terry Hudgins and that she had quarreled with Mrs. Shockley. She denied that she took oranges to the ranch. It is the defense contention that Mrs. Terry Erwin died soon after eating an orange. To most of the questions of the defense, Mrs. Hughes answered that it was so long ago she could not remember. She said that the grave she made from flour at the ranch made her ill but that she did not call a doctor. She said Terry and Ernest Erwin were ill most of the night after their grandfather's funeral.

Mrs. Hughes said she did not suspect poison until after she made the molasses candy in 1932. Her testimony ended at 10:30 a. m. today.

CHICAGO GRAIN CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—With many stop loss orders forced into execution, wheat dropped today to the lowest level of prices reached since May 28.

Bigger yields of domestic winter wheat than had been expected, and liberal rains in the spring wheat belt, did not take away buying support for the market, and to augment pressure to sell. Harvesting of wheat was reported as progressing in the southwest, Nebraska and on the north Pacific coast.

THREE NEW INITIALS-FHA-ABOUT TO BURST ON U. S. SCENE

HOPKINS WILL POSSIBLY HEAD HOUSING DRIVE

MODERNIZATION WORK WILL START IN 30 DAYS

By J. R. BRACKETT. WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Three new initials—FHA—are about to burst upon the American scene in a big push to make good homes cheaper and more numerous.

Everybody believes the commander-in-chief of the drive will be Harry L. Hopkins, now federal relief boss. His selection as head of the federal housing administration is expected momentarily.

Here are the principal developments expected:

First, a modernization program will start within 30 days. This provides that any property owner may borrow up to $2,000 to reconduct his building. The money will come from a bank or other private source—not the government except in distress cases—but the United States will guarantee 20 per cent of the loan. A campaign to acquaint lenders and borrowers with this opportunity is part of the plan.

Second, insurance of building and loan shares becomes effective almost immediately. A percentage assessment on each building and loan association will provide the insurance fund.

Third, various divisions of the FHA will be set up. One will insure mortgages on new homes up to 80 per cent of their appraised value. The insurance fund will be subscribed by home owners. Regular portion of their payments on mortgages. The mortgages may run as long as 30 years. Another division will set up a similar insurance fund for low cost dwellings, such as large apartment houses. Still another division will supervise a fund for insuring old mortgages. In this case an old mortgage may be refinanced if it represents 70 per cent of the appraised value.

Fourth, national mortgage associations will be incorporated under federal charter. Funds for them will be largely furnished by private sources, and they will deal in mortgages. They may buy a group of mortgages and then issue to investors bonds secured by the mortgages. Thus, officials say, funds will become available to localities which have money frozen in mortgages.

POLICE FIND BABY'S BODY IN SUITCASE

ENGLAND'S MURDER IS MOST GRUESOME IN YEARS

BRIGHTON, England, June 20 (AP)—A baby's body was found today in a suitcase in the same railway station checkroom where a woman's torso was discovered Sunday night, creating England's most gruesome murder mystery in years.

This sensational development came shortly after it was disclosed at an inquest that Sir Bernard Spilsbury, Europe's most famous criminologist, and Scotland Yard detectives have made little progress in their investigation of the woman's murder.

Legs of the young woman, whose body had been dismembered with a saw, were discovered Monday night in a railway station in London.

Police announced the baby was born dead and had been deposited in the checkroom February 24. They said they did not believe it was connected with the woman's murder.

An urgent Scotland Yard nationwide broadcast disclosed that authorities were convinced the young woman had been slain within the past three weeks.

"It is of the utmost importance that the identity on the woman be established within the next 24 hours," the appeal to the public said. "Special importance should be given inquiries dealing with women missing since May 30."

Cunningham May Take a Shot at Half-Mile Mark

LOS ANGELES, June 20 (AP)—If his slightly injured ankle will permit, Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, who turned in the fastest mile ever run Saturday, would like to take a crack at the world half-mile mark in the National Collegiate meet here Saturday.

"We'll find out how well Glenn's leg holds up in the preliminaries of the half Friday," Coach Bill Hargiss said today.

"I know he would like nothing better than to take a shot at the world record in this event. He finished that mile in such fine shape at Princeton that we are both confident he can come back and run a great 880 after his mile here Saturday, if the ankle is O. K."

Cunningham, a modest youth, despite his sensational 4:06.7 mile, arrived late yesterday and had no opportunity to work out. He planned to train lightly partly because of the leg but more because his schedule this late in the season includes no heavy drill.

"If you ask me," the unassuming plainsman said, "I'll be lucky to win either race."

Money For Red Bluff Dam Will Be Asked Soon

PECOS, June 20 (AP)—Directors of the Red Bluff water power control district are preparing to make an initial requisition for funds from the public works administration. A $2,600,000 loan to the district was authorized eight months ago, the intervening months being devoted to legal and engineering work. The initial requisition will be for $244,000 to pay promotional and engineering expenses, purchase of lands, construction of power line and quarters for the workmen and for the start of construction work.

The attorney general of Texas has approved the final form for the Red Bluff bonds, which are to be sold to the PWA.

A deed of trust embracing all lands in the district, which will form part of the security given the PWA, has been completed, approved and recorded in Reeves, Ward, Pecos, and Loving counties.

'FIND THE BODY' IS FINAL DICTUM OF AUTHORITIES

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—A final dictum was presented today to authorities of two continents, investigating the case of the missing Agnes Tufterson—find the body!

It was a race against time, Vienna police asserting they could not continue to hold Captain Ivan Puderjay in connection with the case unless the body was found, or a specific charge was placed against him.

New York police said they were convinced that the woman, a brilliant attorney, was slain in her New York apartment on the eve of her contemplated honeymoon cruise with Puderjay.

While Puderjay insisted that he had not seen Miss Tufterson since shortly after their marriage in New York December 4, 1933, police advanced the theory that she was slain and the body carried off in a trunk.

VIENNA, June 20 (AP)—Vienna chemists studied dark stains resembling human blood on a trunk today—stains which may reveal the fate of the missing Agnes Tufterson.

It was the trunk found in the apartment of Captain Ivan Puderjay, despite his insistence he had not seen the successful American woman lawyer since shortly after they were married in New York.

Through a woman, one apparently of many in the dashing Puderjay's life Vienna authorities sought light also in the international mystery.

The prosecuting attorney grilled another of Tufterson's wives, Susanne Perland, who was found living in the apartment with him. Puderjay told police they were married in London, then reversed himself and said the wedding was not legal. English court records revealed they were wed March 22, 1934, three months after his wedding to Miss Tufterson.

NEGRO AND PROHIBITION ISSUES THROTTLED AT DEMOS' MEETING

AUSTIN, June 18 (AP)—Open discussion on two topics of great interest to Texas democracy was throttled at the meeting of the state democratic executive committee to prepare the ballot for the July primary.

The subjects were a referendum on submission at the next regular session of the Texas legislature of repeal of the prohibition section of the state constitution and the status of negroes who attempt to vote in the primaries.

Proposals on these subjects were burned in the resolutions committee, of which James E. Ferguson, husband of the governor was chairman. Ferguson attended the meeting as a proxy holder and he and his associates dominated the proceedings.

To preclude the possibility of any debate on the floor or the propositions the committee instructed all persons having resolutions to present them to the resolutions group before being read in open session.

The plan worked smoothly. All resolutions that were inimical to the prohibition repeal were kept in the committee.

Roy I. Tennant, a proxy holder who offered the resolution on the repeal question, saw some political maneuvering in the committee's action in sidetracking the issue. Tennant is a campaign manager for Maury Hughes, former chairman of the state executive committee who resigned to enter the gubernatorial campaign. The proposal was defeated at a previous committee meeting when submitted by Hughes.

Failure of the committee to report on negro voting was an indication that the question would be passed on to the respective county executive committees for decision. The negro voting strength represents a sizeable block.

In some counties they likely will be permitted to vote. On others a different situation may be presented.

ELECTED DIVAN

MINNEAPOLIS, June 20 (AP)—Morley F. MacKenzie of Toronto, Canada, was elected outer guard of the imperial divan of the shrine today when Dana S. Williams, Lewiston, Me., was elevated to imperial potentate by the council of the order.

STANLEY PRISED

TYLER, June 20 (AP)—F. W. Fischer, attorney for many independent refineries, said today that if the commission placed Capt. E. N. Stanley in complete charge of the East Texas oil field there would not be more than 25,000 barrels of excess oil a week. Fischer expressed the opinion that Stanley had the friendship of the independent refiner and producer and said that factor would aid him materially in the campaign against illegally produced oil.

Texas Senator's Daughter Marries Connie Mack's Son

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Miss Susan Sheppard, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Morris Sheppard of Texas, and Cornelius McGillicuddy, Jr., son of Connie Mack, the famous baseball manager, were married today at the Sheppard home here.

They planned to motor to Canada on their honeymoon.

The maid of honor was Miss Lucille Sheppard, sister of the bride, while the bridesmaid's father was his best man.

The couple met two years ago at Duke university, where both were students. Miss Sheppard was graduated there this spring, and was selected queen of the may. Young McGillicuddy will not return to the university, but will enter business later, at a city not yet selected.

Miss Annie Hopkins of Miami spent yesterday with friends in Pampa.

The LOW PRICE of the FORD V-8 GOES STILL LOWER!

Ford V-8 prices were not raised this year. Now they have been lowered. The Ford V-8 was a great value at the first of the year. It is still a 112-inch wheelbase car—and the new low price makes it a greater value than ever.

The Ford V-8 offers you the only V-8 engine in a car selling for less than $2,500. It offers you the Torque Tube Drive... welded steel spoke wheels... an all-steel body... aluminum cylinder head... and free action for all four wheels with the safety of strong axle construction. It is decidedly "The Car Without a Price Class."

Inspect the Ford V-8. Look at higher-priced cars. The more of them you look at... the more Ford V-8 features you will see. Drive the Ford V-8. And while you thrill to its V-8 performance... remember that it is the most economical car to operate that Ford has ever built.

Ford V-8 Trucks and commercial cars have also been reduced in price. More than ever before, Ford offers you "America's Great Truck Value."

PARKER FAILED TO ENFORCE ORDERS, R. R. COMMISSION SAYS

STANLEY WILL BE IN CHARGE OF PRORATION

PARKER SAYS HE GOT NO COOPERATION IN WORK

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Captain E. N. Stanley will be in charge of the oil proration enforcement staff of the Texas railroad commission today, succeeding E. D. Parker.

Parker, who has been connected with the oil and gas division of the commission for years, most of the time as chief supervisor, was discharged about the time he announced from Tyler that he had resigned as the commission's chief East Texas officer.

The commission's order relieving Parker from duty stated Parker had failed to enforce the commission's oil orders. Parker's resignation stated the "utter failure of all three members of the commission to cooperate in any form" caused him to quit.

Both, Parker's resignation and the commission's order, were effective "immediately."

It had been reported for weeks that Parker was slated for removal. His friends had filed his name as a candidate for railroad commissioner in opposition to Lon A. Smith, incumbent chairman. Parker declined to make the campaign. Smith did not join Commission C. V. Terrell and Ernest O. Thompson in the order dismissing Parker.

About two and one-half months ago the commission sent Parker to East Texas as chief of enforcement. He supposedly was given a free hand to curb the production of illegal oil. Recently the commission removed him as chief of the oil and gas division and restricted his activities to East Texas.

Stanley's offices will be in Kilgore. He will continue as the chief engineer of the oil and gas division. The commission also announced appointment of Gordon Griffin as chief petroleum engineer.

Wool Brings 21 To 28c a Pound In San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, June 20 (AP)—Purchase of several hundred thousand pounds of wool at prices of 21 to 28½ cents a pound in the last few days has quickened interest in the wool market in West Texas. The top price of 28½ cents was paid by Sumner Willis, buyer for Walter Marston of Boston, to Tom Ault of Arden, for 35,000 pounds.

Some growers believe that in view of the 28½ cent top some wool may bring as high as 30 cents. Twenty-eight cent wool is a prosperity price for this section this year.

It is estimated that not more than 2,500,000 pounds of wool has been bought in this state. Most of it was sold in lots of 3,000 to 50,000 pounds.

The concentration points of the state will have on hand when the shearing season is completed within the next week about 30,048,000 pounds of free 8 and 12 months wool, of which not more than 9,000,000 is 8 months. There has been shipped out, or committed to be shipped out, 10,185,000 pounds, mostly 12 months on consignment. Only a small amount of this is 8 months.

Of the consigned staple, about 7,000,000 pounds is government-mortgaged and the rest, about 2,500,000 pounds, is free wool.

The clip of the state is some 20,000,000 pounds less than in 1933, due to light shearing, death losses and drought.

About 1,866,000 pounds of fall wool is left in the state. Few mohair sales have been reported and about 7,500,000 pounds remains on hand in Texas.

Towns having more than a million pounds in their warehouses are San Angelo, Del Rio, Kerrville, Erady, Sonora, Menard, Mertzon and Eldorado. Kerrville also has more than one million pounds of mohair.

Date Palms Are Being Planted Along Highway
GARRIZO SPRINGS, June 20 (AP)—Three crews of men are digging holes and several other crews are employed transplanting date palms on each side of highway No. 4 completely through Dimmit county.

The palms were grown at the winter garden experiment station in Dimmit county. Transplanting and care of the palms is under supervision of the state highway department and is probably the most ambitious highway beautification program underway in Texas. This is one of two or three sections of the country where date palms can be grown successfully.

The experiment station grew about ten thousand palms for this project. They are two years old and in excellent condition. A few years more growth and this will be one of the most beautiful drives in the state. Spanish dagger and other native shrubs have been planted.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper just has explained to Pierre Dufresne that the powerful politician's alibi on the night when two men were murdered in his house is "worth nothing at all. Harper himself has escaped from the locked and guarded apartment that supposedly held Dufresne while the murders were taking place. Dufresne maintains a scornful attitude.

Chapter 47 AGAIN DEATH

"You appear to be armed at all points Harper. It's a very pretty yarn. You've almost convinced me of its truth!"

"We've had all these pieces of evidence," the detective continued calmly, "but we couldn't get them into a pattern. After we had a talk with Ellen Becker we began to understand."

Pierre Dufresne jerked as though he felt a knife at his ribs. "Ellen Becker?" he echoed faintly. "Yes, and once again I can tell you something you didn't know before. Your bribes to her were a waste of money. She had already put her silence in pawn — elsewhere!"

Dufresne leaped up, his face working, his eyes glittering in stark rage. He gripped the detective's shoulder. "My wife—?" he choked.

Harper nodded. "Ellen Becker has been taking money from both of you. When she confessed about those notes in the sand, it became obvious how you must have planned to catch that man in your house and murder him. But you have hopelessly prejudiced your case by being secret and subtle, with the result that a perfectly innocent man lost his life as well. That part is not so easy to forgive."

Dufresne faced the detective. "Harper," he exploded, "what would you say if I denied everything, completely and absolutely?"

"You may deny all you like, but you'll find it pretty hard to explain away Ellen Becker's evidence, or those letters. Then there's the presence of the master-key on your ring, and the murder gun, first hidden in your room. Besides, there is any amount of corroborative evidence."

"But didn't you tell me you had two suspects on your list? Or were you lying to trap me?"

"Not exactly that, Mr. Dufresne," Harper threw his bombshell. "Mrs. Dufresne's actions are under equal scrutiny. She is known to have been away from Mrs. Morlock's house during that mysterious fire. She has refused to give any explanation or account for her movements."

Dufresne halted in his tracks, a peculiar intensity coming into his eyes, as though looking at something far away.

"I suppose you threatened my wife with arrest?"

"I am giving her every chance to reconsider her decision," Harper replied. "but continued refusal to answer my questions will force my hand."

Pierre Dufresne threw back his head and burst into harsh, jarring laughter. "Are you mad?" he cried. "No one in this house is ever going to stand trial for murder."

"The prize quandy of all time!" Sergeant Stephen Harper, still clad in pajamas, was shaving himself. He had just started the razor down the side of his face when the telephone by his bed began to ring. In a moment a voice he did not recognize was pouring out an excited tale.

"What a minute... Stop shouting, I'm not deaf," Harper protested. "Who is it?... O'Connell?... at Dufresne's... Yes... Who?... Donaghy, the chauffeur?... Yes, yes, go on..."

Whitmore found him?... You've kept the others away? That's the stuff O'Connell! Hold everything! I'll come right out!" Harper sat down on the edge of the bed.

Joseph Donaghy, the chauffeur, a suicide in his living quarters over the Dufresne garage! And there was a letter he had written—an open letter explaining his action. So this was the end of the trail for that cocky young fellow.

He hurriedly finished shaving, dressed, and was ready at the door when the car from the homicide Bureau stopped to pick him up. In the back seat were the fingerprint man, a police surgeon, and the official photographer, his two black boxes of equipment wedged between his knees.

The now-laden streets made for slow driving but there was not much conversation exchanged on the run up to Powhatan Terrace.

The uniformed policeman on guard at the front door to the Dufresne house looked alert and excited when he saw the official group coming up the path. "Plenty of excitement in there this morning, Sergeant!" he volunteered.

The four men from Headquarters walked into the hall. They heard voices coming from the rear of the house and found an excited group back in the kitchen. A policeman had taken his stand at the back door and Andrews and the two Whitmores were holding a lively discussion with him.

The appearance of Sergeant Harper and his party choked off this talk. The detective greeted them briefly, then turned to the policeman. "Where's O'Connell?"

"He's out there, with the body," nodding toward the garage.

"All right, boys." They went out the back door, crossed the porch, went down the wooden steps and along the brick path under a covered pergola. The snow that had fallen the night before had thrust its spearheads between the latticed sides, but the middle of the walk was clear.

'Best Athlete'

Harvey Jablonsky, who made many a sensational slash through tackle for West Point, here is shown with the sabers presented annually to the best all-around athlete and the outstanding football captain. Jablonsky, a native of Clayton, Mo., received the awards at the military academy's June week festivities.

From the pergola to the stone garage was a matter of about fifteen yards and a number of tracks in the otherwise smooth snow led to the side door of the building, where there was a small porch with wooden Colonial benches on each side, under a little pent roof.

The four men crowded around the bed where Joseph Donaghy lay dead, lying back at an angle from the edge of the bed, with his head sideways on the pillow. He wore no uniform, but had taken off the coat and vest of his civilian suit. The automatic gun was loosely held in his right hand. His feet rested on the floor, his arms were in a natural position. The bullet had been fired into the right temple.

The coroner's man picked up the ejected shell from a fold of the bedclothes. He looked closely at the wound, then bent one of the fingers. He nodded to Harper. "Been dead six or seven hours."

Harper, satisfied with his scrutiny, gave the signal to the photographer and the police surgeon and they set about their routine procedure. Then the detective turned to the piece de resistance of this unexpected climax.

A chair, with Donaghy's feet still under it, was drawn up close to the bed. On the chair stood a

BIDDING EXPECTED TO BE KEEN FOR MAIN UNIT OF CENTENNIAL

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS. AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Fathers of the Texas Centennial are expecting to find spirited competition when bids are opened September 1 to determine the location of the main unit of the celebration.

Several cities have exhibited keen interest in the proposition and civic leaders are seeking ways for designation as the "Centennial City."

A Houston group is considering a bond issue to finance the Centennial if located in or near the bayou city. A group of Dallas and Fort Worth citizens is considering joint action to obtain designation of a site between these cities. San Antonio, one of the state's most historic spots, and Austin, the capital city, also are trying to work up a proposal.

There was some dissatisfaction voiced over the plan determined on in a law passed at the last special session of the legislature authorizing the Centennial commission to designate the city making the most substantial financial offer.

Some felt it should be located in the area richest in historical romance and tradition of the state. Tentative plans provide for lesser celebrations at points where some event of first importance occurred in the struggle of the pioneer Texans for liberty from Mexico. The commission has asked representatives of these spots to submit proposals by Nov. 1.

A LIQUID AIR
MILAN, Italy—Its the voice and not the story that makes good opera, says Benjamin Gigli, famous Italian tenor. He cites an anecdote concerning his friend and colleague, Chailapin.

"Chailapin was singing in Boris Goudonoff, in Russian," says the Italian. "Just about the time of his big aria he remembered something important, and let the words of the song go hang.

"Boris," he sang to his man servant in the wings, 'go to the hotel immediately, get the two bottles of good wine I forgot in my room, and bring them here, as we leave immediately after this damned opera is over!'"

AT 10-2 & 4 O'CLOCK

BILL CUMMINGS FOUGHT OFF a fast field of daring drivers for over 4½ exhausting hours of nerve-racking, record-breaking speed to take the 500-mile classic at the Indianapolis Speedway. Press wires flashed: "Cummings, after stretching himself, first requested a cigarette." It was a Camel! For Bill is a Camel smoker of 12 years' standing, and knows that smoking a Camel gives you a quick "snap-back" in energy!

TRY THIS EXPERIENCE in increasing energy! quickly when worn out!

If you have ever tried to clock 300 or 400 miles in one day's drive you can imagine the terrific output of energy a racing driver crowds into "the 500" at Indianapolis. As Bill Cummings said himself after the race: "For 200 grueling laps...I had to average 104.863 miles an hour, the new world's record for the '500'...sometimes hitting it up to over 2 miles a minute...to win. 4 hours and 46 minutes of this wrings the vitality out of a man. I felt pretty well played out at the end of the race. My mechanic and I turned to Camels for the first luxurious smoke that always chases that tired feeling away. Any time I'm 'all in' I know that Camels will give me a 'lift' in energy. I smoke them steadily, too, because I know that Camels will never jangle healthy nerves."

This "energizing effect" in Camels, long recognized by Camel smokers, has recently been studied and confirmed by a famous research laboratory in New York. It is harmless, refreshing. You'll like Camels—a matchless blend of costlier tobaccos. You can "get a lift with a Camel" as often as you wish. Camels never get on your nerves, no matter how many you smoke.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand
