ROOSEVELT URGES POWER PLANS

TWINKLES
Let us overlook something, let us remember the events which await alert readers of The NEWS. A Children's garden contest (see blank below), free trip for some Panpan to the Chicago world's fair, a big chess tournament just starting, an Easter egg hunt next Saturday afternoon for children of the unemployed. How about boiling and donating a few eggs for the hunt, folks?

To B. S. Via, Kernville, Ore.: You're the most generous man I know. The NEWS' staff surely appreciates that big box of fresh red salmon. Yessir, and Baker school buddies thank you for the biggest salmon of the lot, which we took to them. Thank you, thank you, thank you.

And you central committeemen of the Council of Clubs—that beautiful angel food cake you gave Mrs. Pampan was frankly the best cake we've ever had in our house. Mrs. J. M. Dodson there cannot be better and prettier cakes than that.

To M. L. H. Base: Give my regards to these Hopkins pupils: Gwendolyn Couls, Mary Louise Lane, Geraldine Mitchell, Lawrence Jones, Fomosa Smith, Patline Ridway, Philetia Day, Lois Crossman. I'll be at your pie supper or send you a mail order. (I've forgotten my Latin, also Spanish, French, and German.)

Mrs. Gushaway is on the war path and the family is dodging her all they can. Sprit house cleaning is here and ma's on her annual tear.

DIGNIFIED AIRS
J. C. Estlack in Clarendon Leader: We are rapidly drawing to the season of bacalaureate sermons.

Most of the pupils mixed up in a bacalaureate address cannot spell the word, but then that makes no difference. The credits were made on the athletic field and not bacalaureating around in a school room. We do little things in a big way, crash customs of old, smash symbols of learning, not because we cannot learn, this age, but that we simply refuse to expend the energy.

(A little strong in your selection of words today, aren't you, J. C.? Most of the valedictorians we learn about are pretty smart. The other members of the class may fit your description in a way, but we growups aren't doing anything brilliant to show the students that modern life is a game played predominantly from the neck up. Public education is just too darned popular, and the public demands popularity.)

"Home Town" in Vernon Record: H. T. won one argument with his manager—at least he thinks he has. Yesterday afternoon he arrived at the boarding house she operates just in time to hear her being promoted into a subscription for a magazine via the telephone. As the trade was being closed the boarding house keeper mentioned that collection could be effected at the Vernon Record. Then there was evidence that the person on the other end of the wire did not know about the Vernon Record. It was necessary to spell it out, and that gave H. T. the inference that the solicitor was a fly-by-night, in tow merely long enough to get all the money possible and then move on. There and then an argument started with the boarding house keeper dividing time between the person doing the promoting and her star boarder. In the end the agreement to take the magazine was revoked and the promoter was told

TEXAS HOUSE ENGROSSES NEW GRADUATED OIL TAX

SUBSTITUTE IS WITHDRAWN AS PASSAGE FAILS

NEW COMMISSION BILL SPONSORS HOPE TO FORCE VOTE

CAPPER SUBMITS PLAN

INTERSTATE SHIPMENTS OF OIL WOULD BE CONTROLLED

AUSTIN, April 10. (P)—The Texas house of representatives today engrossed a bill to levy a graduated tax on oil production but the bill failed of immediate final passage when its sponsors were unable to suspend the rules requiring bills to be read on three days.

The bill was engrossed without a record vote. Supporters of the bill rolled up a substantial majority on suspension of the rules, but lacked the thirds necessary to carry the motion. The vote was 80 ayes to 47 noes.

The bill would provide a tax of one cent per barrel on daily per well production of from one to ten barrels; two cents per barrel on production from 10 to 150 barrels; five cents per barrel from 150 to 250 and 20 cents per barrel on production in excess of 250 barrels daily.

An amendment proposing to substitute a combination graduated tax and natural resource commission bill was withdrawn. The combination bill carried the same scale of taxes as the separate tax bill, but provided, in addition, for the establishment of a natural resource commission to relieve the Texas railroad commission of its oil and gas conservation duties.

Sponsors of the combination bill hoped to force a vote on the new commission proposition yet today. The bill was well up on the house calendar.

The house, however, voted to adjourn from 11:43 to 11:45 a. m., and took itself off the calendar prepared for today and a vote on the natural resource commission proposal was postponed.

FAIR TO BE GEM OF 1933

Some Pampan Will See Century of Progress Free—Contestants Wanted.

Positively the greatest attraction of this year and in many ways the greatest of a century is the Century of Progress exhibition at Chicago, opening June 1.

And some lucky Pampan is going to see that world's fair absolutely without expense. All costs of the trip will be paid by the Pampa Daily NEWS and fourteen cooperating local merchants.

You, as you read this, may be overlooking an opportunity to be the lucky person. Come down to The NEWS and learn how, with almost no effort and absolutely no cost, you can enter this wonderful contest.

CHICAGO, April 10.—An intensive drive to tell the nation of Chicago's 1933 world's fair—A Century of Progress—was inaugurated April 3 by Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder.

Mr. Lueder placed in the hands of a mailing clerk the first piece of mail that started Chicagoans on a drive to advertise the world's fair by means of personal letters to friends and relatives all over the world.

Postmaster Lueder will send to President Franklin D. Roosevelt the "Book of the Fair."

"We want the world to know that Chicago is opening on June 1 the greatest exhibition ever known to the world, an exposition that depicts the marvels of a Century of Progress," said Mr. Lueder.

Egypt, ancient and modern, will be depicted at the world's fair in one of the most picturesque of exhibits.

The land of the Pharaohs, where the world's first civilization began, has requested 2,000 square feet for its exhibit in the Court of Nations, in the Travel and Transport building, according to a telegram from Washington sent by Senosetri Sidraous Pasha, Egyptian minister to the United States.

Not only will Egypt be depicted as during the time of its ancient culture and magnificent architecture, but the progress in the country of the Nile from agriculture to manufacturing will be shown. In many places the fast motor car has replaced the plodding, but tireless camel, but the romance of old Egypt remains and will be shown in all its ancient grandeur during the fair.

OVER 260 DAIRY ANIMALS ARE ENTERED IN PLAINVIEW'S SHOW; McLEAN JUDGING TEAM PRESENT

Pampan In Charge of Annual Butterfat Contest

PLAINVIEW, April 10. (P)—Dairy farmers of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico gathered here today to exhibit the select animals of their herds in a competitive showing and to open their annual four-day study of the dairy cow and her importance to the agricultural development of the plains country.

While a few late arrivals were being received at the show barns and breeders were grooming their animals for the show ring 4-H club and vocational agriculture stock judging teams from counties and schools throughout the territory took advantage of the collection and variety of show animals to exhibit their ability for cash prizes.

The butterfat production contest was started yesterday under the direction of Ralph Thomas, county agent of Gray county. There were 32 entries. Winners will be announced tomorrow.

Some officials were pleased over the large number of entries in the face of unfavorable conditions. Because economy was necessary, most breeders brought only their choicest animals—those which might participate in the $2,800 cash prizes.

"The entries of several new exhibitors is evidence that the show is accomplishing its purpose in encouraging the dairy farmers to improve their herds," said Grady Shipp, secretary of the show.

The dairy products department under the direction of Mrs. Julia Kelley of Hale county, county home demonstration agent, was larger than in former years.

More than 260 show animals were entered, representing the best herds of 22 West Texas counties. The Sierra Blanca Farms of Canyon were showing 23 entries, the largest number owned by one exhibitor.

Vocational agriculture teams were here from Ralls, Hale Center, Hereford, McLean, Groom, Plainview, Florida, Crosbyton, Tulla, Claude, Post, and Abernathy.

Children Must Have Tickets To Attend Egg Hunt

Children of the unemployed, of 14 years and under, will be guests of the Pampa Daily NEWS and La Nora theater next Saturday at an Easter egg hunt just west of the football park. All arrangements were perfected today.

To be eligible to attend, the children must obtain free tickets at the Welfare Board office. The tickets will be ready Wednesday morning and thereafter. Only children of the unemployed will be admitted, and other children are requested not to apply. More than 1,000 youngsters of 14 years and under are expected to attend.

One hundred tickets to La Nora theater will be hidden with the eggs. Boy Scouts will assist in placing the eggs and policing the grounds. All children should be at the park by 2 p. m. Saturday.

Baker School P.-T. A. teachers, and Principal J. A. Meek, and possibly other school folk will assist in the big task of cooking and dyeing the 3,000 eggs. Contributions of boiled eggs will be welcomed by The

WASHINGTON, April 10. (P)—

Prohibition of interstate shipments of petroleum produced in violation of state regulations was called for today in a bill by Senator Capper (R., Kan.), which proposed enforcement of the interior duties.

Along with the prohibition program, Capper's bill asked an investigation of the domestic oil industry by the interior department, covering methods of producing, shipping, refining, and selling petroleum and its products.

CONVICTION OF EAGLE OFFICIALS UPHELD BY U. S. CIRCUIT COURT IN LOTTERY CASE

Mann To Appeal Prison Sentence Verdict To Supreme Court of the U. S.

NEW YORK, April 10. (P)—The United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed the conviction of Conrad H. Mann, Frank E. Hering, and Bernard C. McGuire of the conspiracy charge in the Eagles lottery case. Conviction on substantive charge, shipment of lottery tickets in interstate commerce, was reversed.

Assistant United States Attorney Louis Mead Treadwell said that the three men would not be again brought to trial. Reversal of the conviction on the substantive charge will make no difference in the sentence of Hering, and will operate only to reduce the fines of Mann and McGuire from $11,000 to $10,000.

Prison sentences—a year and a day for McGuire, five months for Mann and four months for Hering—will stand unchanged.

Mann is president of the Kansas City chamber of commerce and head of the department of bazaars and fairs of the fraternal order of Eagles. Hering, a former professor and presently a trustee of Notre Dame university, is editor of the Eagles magazine. McGuire was a professional promoter. Recently he pleaded guilty

INQUIRY GOING AHEAD

INCLEMENT WEATHER FORECAST GIVEN ADMIRAL

NEW YORK, April 10. (P)—Recovery of the body of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics who was lost with the airship Akron, was reported to naval headquarters here today.

The other bodies recovered were of Lieut. Commander Harold E. MacLellan and Lieut. Col. A. F. Masury. Robert Copeland, an enlisted man, was taken from the sea alive but died shortly after.

WASHINGTON, April 10. (P)—The house agreed unanimously today that a joint congressional committee should attempt to fix responsibility for all army and navy airship accidents, including that last week involving the Akron.

Without debate, it adopted the Bankhead resolution for a special committee of five house and five senate members to consider not only accidents but the "utility" of airships for military or naval purposes.

The joint committee would be empowered, under the resolution sponsored by Representative Bankhead (D., Ala.), to subpoena witnesses and demand the production of evidence.

DEVELOPMENT OF TENNESSEE VALLEY ASKED

AIMS TO REHABILITATE MUSCLE SHOALS PLANTS

BILL IS BEING PREPARED

SENATOR NORRIS WILL PRESENT BILL WITH F. D. R'S IDEAS

WASHINGTON, April 10. (P)—President Roosevelt put his Tennessee valley program before congress today in a message asking rehabilitation of the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, Power and Nitrate plant.

He asked creation of a Tennessee valley authority to supervise the basin of one of our greatest rivers. "It is time," the president wrote, "to extend planning to a wider field, in this instance comprehending in one great project many states directly concerned with the basin of one of our greatest rivers. "If we are successful here, we can march on, step by step, in a like development of other great natural territorial units within our borders."

The text follows: "To the congress: "The continued idleness of a great national investment in the Tennessee valley leads me to ask congress for legislation necessary to enlist this project in the service of the people. "It is clear that the Muscle Shoals development is but a small part of the potential public usefulness of the entire Tennessee river. "Such use, if envisioned in its entirety, transcends mere power development. "Authority Asked "It enters the wide field of flood control, soil erosion, of reforestation, elimination from agricultural use of marginal lands, and distribution and diversification of industry. "In short, this power development of war days leads logically to national planning for a complete river watershed involving many states and the future lives and welfare of millions. "It touches and gives life to all forms of human concerns. "I therefore, suggest to the congress legislation to create a Tennessee valley authority—a corporation clothed with the power of government but possessed of the flexibility and initiative of a private enterprise. "It should be charged with the broadest duty of planning for the proper use, conservation and development of the natural resources of the Tennessee river drainage basin and its adjoining territory for the general social and economic welfare of the nation. "This authority should also be clothed with the necessary power to carry these plans into effect. Its duty should be the rehabilitation of the Muscle Shoals development and the coordination of it with the wider plan. "Norris Has Bill Ready "Many hard lessons have taught us the human waste that results from lack of planning. Here and there a few wise cities and counties have looked ahead and planned. But our nation has just grown."

SUICIDE GIVEN AS VERDICT IN GREGORY DEATH

'Was Fool To Do It' Pastor Is Quoted As Saying

MACON, Ga., April 10. (P)—Dr. Carl C. Gregory, 44-year-old pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist church, died in a hospital here last night of a bullet wound police said was self-inflicted.

The churchman, described by Bishop John M. Moore in Atlanta as one of the "most brilliant minds" in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was found in a park Saturday night wounded near the heart. Police who took him to a hospital quoted him as saying, "I was a fool to do it."

Dr. Gregory, who for eight years was pastor of the First Methodist church in Dallas and also held a pastorate in San Antonio, came to Macon from the latter city in January. Since that time he had been ill.

A church official said the pastor called him to his study Saturday and told him he was unable to carry on and that he could not memorize his sermons as he had in the past.

Dr. Gregory was born in Birmingham, Ala. His wife and a sister, Miss Lillian Gregory of Birmingham, were at the bedside when he died. He is survived by three children.

Funeral services were arranged for 3 p. m. today with Bishop John M. Moore and Bishop W. N. Ainsworth conducting. The body is to be taken to Birmingham where services will be held at the First Methodist church Tuesday.

Dr. Gregory held degrees from Birmingham-Southern college and Vanderbilt university. He had held pastorates in Birmingham and Owensboro, Ky., in addition to those in Texas and Macon. He came to Macon to succeed Dr. Walter Anthony who was assigned to Travis Park church.

WASHINGTON, April 10. (P)—President Roosevelt put his Tennessee valley program before congress today in a message asking rehabilitation of the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, Power and Nitrate plant.

He asked creation of a Tennessee valley authority to supervise the basin of one of our greatest rivers. "It is time," the president wrote, "to extend planning to a wider field, in this instance comprehending in one great project many states directly concerned with the basin of one of our greatest rivers. "If we are successful here, we can march on, step by step, in a like development of other great natural territorial units within our borders."

The text follows: "To the congress: "The continued idleness of a great national investment in the Tennessee valley leads me to ask congress for legislation necessary to enlist this project in the service of the people. "It is clear that the Muscle Shoals development is but a small part of the potential public usefulness of the entire Tennessee river. "Such use, if envisioned in its entirety, transcends mere power development. "Authority Asked "It enters the wide field of flood control, soil erosion, of reforestation, elimination from agricultural use of marginal lands, and distribution and diversification of industry. "In short, this power development of war days leads logically to national planning for a complete river watershed involving many states and the future lives and welfare of millions. "It touches and gives life to all forms of human concerns. "I therefore, suggest to the congress legislation to create a Tennessee valley authority—a corporation clothed with the power of government but possessed of the flexibility and initiative of a private enterprise. "It should be charged with the broadest duty of planning for the proper use, conservation and development of the natural resources of the Tennessee river drainage basin and its adjoining territory for the general social and economic welfare of the nation. "This authority should also be clothed with the necessary power to carry these plans into effect. Its duty should be the rehabilitation of the Muscle Shoals development and the coordination of it with the wider plan. "Norris Has Bill Ready "Many hard lessons have taught us the human waste that results from lack of planning. Here and there a few wise cities and counties have looked ahead and planned. But our nation has just grown."

SUICIDE GIVEN AS VERDICT IN GREGORY DEATH

'Was Fool To Do It' Pastor Is Quoted As Saying

MACON, Ga., April 10. (P)—Dr. Carl C. Gregory, 44-year-old pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist church, died in a hospital here last night of a bullet wound police said was self-inflicted.

The churchman, described by Bishop John M. Moore in Atlanta as one of the "most brilliant minds" in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was found in a park Saturday night wounded near the heart. Police who took him to a hospital quoted him as saying, "I was a fool to do it."

Dr. Gregory, who for eight years was pastor of the First Methodist church in Dallas and also held a pastorate in San Antonio, came to Macon from the latter city in January. Since that time he had been ill.

A church official said the pastor called him to his study Saturday and told him he was unable to carry on and that he could not memorize his sermons as he had in the past.

Dr. Gregory was born in Birmingham, Ala. His wife and a sister, Miss Lillian Gregory of Birmingham, were at the bedside when he died. He is survived by three children.

Funeral services were arranged for 3 p. m. today with Bishop John M. Moore and Bishop W. N. Ainsworth conducting. The body is to be taken to Birmingham where services will be held at the First Methodist church Tuesday.

Dr. Gregory held degrees from Birmingham-Southern college and Vanderbilt university. He had held pastorates in Birmingham and Owensboro, Ky., in addition to those in Texas and Macon. He came to Macon to succeed Dr. Walter Anthony who was assigned to Travis Park church.

TRIPPERS ASKED TO GO TO WEBB SUPPER TUESDAY

Pampa goodwill trippers, who are making many friends with neighboring communities and having a good time in doing it, are asked to go to the Webb community tomorrow evening to attend a pie supper.

A short musical program to be taken is being arranged by Clarence Kennedy of the Junior chamber of commerce.

Only straight bidding will be allowed at the auction of pies. No person will be compelled to buy a pie on which he did not bid.

The trippers will meet at the city hall at 7:15 p. m. to make the 20-mile drive. Volunteers are needed.

W. M. Sartin of Roxana was in Pampa this morning.

CLOSES WEEK'S SERVICES

The Rev. James Todd Jr. last night in Panhandle closed a week of successful evening services, which were attended by many persons at the First Christian church. Rev. Todd will preach at the same church next Sunday morning and evening.

CONVICTION OF EAGLE OFFICIALS UPHELD BY U. S. CIRCUIT COURT IN LOTTERY CASE

Mann To Appeal Prison Sentence Verdict To Supreme Court of the U. S.

NEW YORK, April 10. (P)—The United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed the conviction of Conrad H. Mann, Frank E. Hering, and Bernard C. McGuire of the conspiracy charge in the Eagles lottery case. Conviction on substantive charge, shipment of lottery tickets in interstate commerce, was reversed.

Assistant United States Attorney Louis Mead Treadwell said that the three men would not be again brought to trial. Reversal of the conviction on the substantive charge will make no difference in the sentence of Hering, and will operate only to reduce the fines of Mann and McGuire from $11,000 to $10,000.

Prison sentences—a year and a day for McGuire, five months for Mann and four months for Hering—will stand unchanged.

CITY DEBTS PROVE HEAVY BURDEN

It is probable that no American city will ever again rush into debt as blithely as was the custom during the earlier part of the past decade.

The chickens, right now, are coming home to roost, and the effort to find a place for their restless feet is giving mayors and city councilors gray hairs, wrinkles and sleepless nights in a horrifying manner.

Some cities of course, are in good shape financially. But they are in the minority. Bonds totaling something like $15,000,000,000 are now outstanding against various American cities, towns and counties, and Congress is now being asked either to let the cities enjoy a two-year moratorium or to set up a plan whereby principal and interest on this stupendous debt could be scaled down.

The situation represents one of the most pressing problems the nation has to face. It also stands as a monument to two misfortunes—to the depression itself, which lessened municipal revenues and increased municipal expenditures, and to the era of high, wide and handsome spending which preceded the depression.

That this tremendous load of debt can be carried through the recovery period is extremely doubtful. A moratorium, a general revision or an epidemic of outright defaults—one of these, or a combination of all three, seems to be in prospect.

But suppose that that happens, and that prosperity eventually returns, with our city treasuries in a solvent condition once more. What then? Shall we begin anew the free-spending habits that brought on this trouble? Shall we continue to put up with the inefficient, graft-ridden, politics-perverted type of city government that caused so much of this vast load?

If we do, we shall prove that the depression has taught us nothing. The one great truth that this crisis has made obvious is that the ordinary kind of city government in this country is too expensive to be tolerated any longer. If we are smart enough to learn by our troubles, we shall insist on having a new kind.

OTHER FIRES, by Maxim Gorki, $3. D. Appleton and Company. In his last two novels, BYSTANDER AND THE MAGNET, Maxim Gorki has been depicting various phases of the emergence of the revolutionary spirit in modern Russia. OTHER FIRES, which will be published by Appleton in April, has a similar background. Through the eyes and thoughts of Clim Samghin, the central character, we see the Russia that Gorki knows so well. Before us pass scenes of brilliant and exciting as any Tolstol ever gave; and there are characters conceived with a loving pity that reminds one of Dostoevski. OTHER FIRES, which, with BYSTANDER AND THE MAGNET, Gorki considers his magnum opus, is truly significant writing. It is the work of a man who is incapable of the trivial, and who has lived through and observed one of the mightiest convulsions in world history.

OTHER FIRES opens with a description of the last spasm of the 1905 Bolshevik insurrection in Moscow. This confronts Samghin with the baffling spectacle of simple, almost ignorant workers pitting themselves against the organized forces of the state. Eventually he goes to the provinces, where life is frequently disturbed by the dying echoes of the revolutionary storm. Against this background Samghin, in his personal life, reflects the troubled atmosphere of the times. Estranged from his wife, he enters into an affair with Duniasha and is drawn into friendship with the beautiful Marina, attracted both by her charm, intellect, and knowing acceptance of Russia as it is. At the conclusion of the novel he is seen leaving Russia behind him, unable to find a place in its spiritual life for a trained intelligence such as his.

FROM "GARDENING WITH HERBS" BY HELEN MORGENTHAU FOX. A marigold pudding, made from a recipe in John Evelyn's "Acetia," was one of the very successful dishes served by Helen Morgenthau Fox when she was experimenting in the use of herbs in cooking. She tells, in "Gardening with Herbs for Flavor and Fragrance," ($3.50), how she garnered recipes for the use of herbs not only from cook books of many lands, dating as far back as the 18th century, but even from the "Arabian Nights." Many of these were tested in her own kitchen, and she gives a goodly number in her book.

She also tells, with a charm that will make every amateur gardener want to start a herb garden this spring, how to grow the herbs and pack them away for the winter, how to flavor food and drink, brew teas of them, and combine the dried leaves into sweetly smelling potpourris.

AMAZONS RECALLED—"The Amazons, those valiant ladies who according to legend, fought with Priam at the siege of Troy, provide the theme of her new novel, "The Green Scamander," says Florence Ayscough in a recent article on Maude Meagher. "According to legend" did I say? continue a sound basis, that the Amazons were no legendary women, but actually existed. If this belief can be proved tenable, its general acceptance will be as epoch-making as was the discovery by Schliemann that the Trojan city of dreams, but one built of earthly materials." "The Green Scamander" was published by Houghton Mifflin company on March 29.

"Never numerous, the Rangers ignored odds," says Eugene Cunningham, author of the new Western novel, "Buckaroo: A Tale of the Texas Rangers" (Houghton Mifflin company). "They arrested their men, or killed their men, or saw them 'buy a trunk' and vanish over the Texas line in a high cloud of dust. They saw it through the trouble! They saw it through the smoke! Rangers there were, a plucky, who 'never smiled again' after encounters with the enemy; who died boots on in brushy country, the greasewood flats, the cedar brakes, the tangled bosque along the Rio Grande, the bare and sinister mountains. But no matter who died, or who lived, the Rangers tamed Texas. They carried Court Law on the heels of Gun Law. It was incidental, only, that in bringing law to lawless regions they established an amazing record and built an imperishable name and created a thrilling and colorful folklore."

Virginia Hensch, whose new novel, "Storm Beach," will be published late in April by Houghton Mifflin company, has recently returned to this country after ten years in Paris. She is the wife of the artist, Lee Hensch, whose exhibition has just opened at the Painters and Sculptors' Gallery in New York City.

The part played by Mary Austin in "the history of Bohemianism in America" is set forth by Albert Parry in his new book, "Garrets and Pretenders." Mrs. Austin herself has considerably more to say on this and other subjects in her autobiography, "Earth Horizon" (Houghton Mifflin company), a recent selection of the Literary Guild.

"Hollywood is a place where dreams seldom come true. Of hope there is plenty—of realization very little. Beauty seldom more than skin deep, overwhelms it. Beneath its hot, golden, glittering sun, Cunning and Treachery, disguised as good fellows, walk hand in hand. Your friendships will betray you and the enemies you make will bring you fame." Such is the picture given by "Anonymous" in the new novel, "City Without a Heart," (Houghton Mifflin company). The publishers deny that the book was written by Gertrude Atherton, Louis Bromfield, Elissa Landi, Blair Niles, Wallace Irwin, Fred Goetz or Harold Lloyd.

"If your garden is to be a place of perfect peace, you should continually make war in it."—Leonard H. Robbins in "Cure It With A Garden" (Houghton Mifflin company).

ON BOOK REVIEWING—William Soskin, Literary Editor of the New York Evening Post, recently discussed several of the less happy aspects of newspaper book reviews. There is considerable food for thought in Mr. Soskin's findings, and so impressed were we by the five leading points that he stressed that we are reprinting them herewith:

1. Newspaper book reviews are too long. The only people who read all the way through are those particularly interested in the special subject of the book under consideration.

2. They tell the plots. People not already interested in the book usually give up long before they complete a necessary full outline of a plot. People particularly interested read the entire outline and often do not have to buy the book. They know enough about it by

Invitations To Jaysees' Dance Mailed to Many

Invitations to the Junior chamber of commerce pre-Easter dance, in the Knights of Pythias Castle hall in the Wynne-Merten building Saturday night, were mailed Saturday. Persons desiring to attend the big dance but failed to receive an invitation are asked to call Bob Fuller or Jack Dunn, who will be in charge of the dance.

Music will be furnished by Pampa's own orchestra, the Thrill Harmony Boys, under the direction of E. E. Smith. The orchestra has made a hit wherever it has played this season. The hall will be beautifully decorated for the occasion.

3. They are too much alike. Dozens of reviews appear in various cities on a given day—the release date—all using the same adjectives, all constructed by the same architecture, or lack of it.

4. They do not stand on their own legs as general reading matter. Too often they are directed at booky folk. Too often they talk shop.

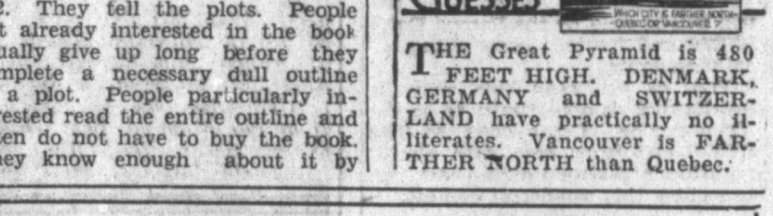

5. They are either overtechnical in the routine language of criticism—suspense, character, prose style, etc., etc.—or they are too loosely popular, condescending to the reader in an easy, glib fashion.

The White Cockatoo

SYNOPSIS: Warned by a premonition of ill, James Sundeau still stays on in a little hotel in the French town of Arment, where he is quartered in a forbidding room, across the court from the body of the hotel. He hears the unsavory Loosstem, proprietor of the hotel, demand that an unseen stranger "get something" tomorrow. And while at dinner with the three other guests the emphatic Mrs. Fezzel says the red-haired priest, and the beautiful American girl, Sundeau sees...

Chapter 3
THE SWORD CLOCK

I WAS sitting facing the windows, which, in turn, faced the court. They were curtained up to about the height of a man's shoulders.

The outside shutters had not been closed, and I was looking idly at the black, shining window, which reflected, above, the crystal-beaded chandelier, and thinking that the wind was increasing in violence, for I could hear it rattle the shutters, when I suddenly perceived that I was looking straight into the face of Lovachem. I could see only the upper half of his face, but it was unmistakable.

The rather disturbing thing was he was staring with curious intensity at the woman with the silver heels. I put down the glass I held, and the motion caught his eyes, which flickered to me and vanished in the same half second.

It had been Lovachem, in flesh, however: I was sure of that. But if a man wishes to look in the windows of his own hotel I suppose he may do so, unpleasant though his gaze may be.

I loitered a little over some pears, rather hoping the girl with the silver heels would leave first, so I might get a glimpse of her face. But she did not move, even after the porter had cleared the table and disappeared.

I rose at length, reflecting that, after all, it was better to let the vision of beauty remain without running the risk of disillusionment, and that the room was growing colder and colder.

The lounge was deserted, and the parlor was dark. I told the porter to light a fire in my room and serve me coffee and a brandy there.

The night had increased in violence while I sat at dinner, and when at length I opened the door that led into the window-lined corridor of the north wing, the cold rush of air swooped upon me like some frightened creature let loose. I was glad enough to see the porter when he followed me a few moments later.

"Do you think it will burn?" I asked, watching him lay kindling. He glanced dubiously toward the chimney, said something about the north wind, and shrugged and pulled down his mouth in that splendid French gesture which utterly disclaims responsibility for what may occur.

"There aren't many guests at the hotel?" I said.

"No, monsieur. Not at this season. We have now Miss Tally, Madame Byng, Fère Robart, and yourself. That is all." He blew vigorously at the small beginning flame. His alert dark face grew scarlet before a flame shot up, and he took a breath and sat back on his heels with his dark eyes now catching lights from the fire and his white apron draped over his knees.

"Miss Tally, she is the beautiful lady in the dining room tonight. The one with the red slippers. Madame Byng, she is the—" he hesitated doubtfully and finally said neatly—"she is the other one."

A shutter banged, and the porter skipped to his feet and across the room, pulling open the long window and letting in a blast of wind that set the flames dancing madly and smoke billowing into the room while he endeavored to fasten the shutter more securely. I judged he did not succeed, for he gave another shrug and left it, fastened the window again, and drew the thick red curtains across it.

My gaze wandered idly about the room, over the thick worn red carpet, the old chairs with their satin upholstery and what looked to be hand-carved frames, the fancy crystal beaded chandelier, the great somber wardrobe, the gilt framed mirror above the fireplace, the much clock, but elaborately surmounted by the figure of a man on horseback in bronze.

It must have been just about then that I fell into a doze, for the last thing I remember was looking at the figure in bronze, so perfect and complete, with the horse's mane and tall waving, and the rider's hat and cloak swept back, and even his gauntleted hand and the long sword it held quite perfect in detail. I remember thinking how ugly it was as a clock decoration and how large—the sword alone must have been five or six inches long, and the rest of the figure in proportion—and that was all, until I waked suddenly to the fact that the wind was driving smoke down the chimney and into the room, that the shutter was banging furiously, and that I was cramped and chilled.

I rose, yawned, realized I'd been asleep, saw by my watch that it was past twelve, and decided to go to bed. I went to the door, opened it to let the smoke out, and stepped into the corridor, glancing down into the court.

It was a night to bring out the witches. Indeed, you'd have been out and were whirling and surging madly up and down and through and around the court in a ferried witches' Sabbath.

The light under the arch was foggily, black shadows were flying grotesquely; the thick shrubs and vines in the corners had come alive and were flinging themselves violently about, the corridor windows were rattling; the lobby across the court was dark, and not a thread of light was shining through any of the shuttered windows—there were only that small tossing light under the entrance arch and those wild flying shadows.

I wished suddenly that I had chosen a less desolate and wind-swept place. Instinct is always stronger when you are about half asleep; I disliked the old hotel, disliked particularly the witch-ridden courtyard. It was quite suddenly sinister. That seems a fanciful and imaginative way and, God knows, I'm not a fanciful or imaginative man, but it was the only word that was apt. The place was sinister. It threatened.

And then all at once the wind was wailing louder. It was wailing in my ear—no, not wailing. It was sobbing. It was sobbing and saying, inconspicuously:

"Let me in. Oh, please. Let me in."

Sundeau, tomorrow, admits a terrified visitor into his gloomy room.

Dixon Painting In Museum at Canyon

CANYON, April 10.—A portrait of Billy Dixon, from a photograph taken in 1878, and painted by John Elliot Jenkins, will be one of the objects of interest at the opening of the Museum at Canyon, April 14. The picture is hung in the Mary E. Hudspeh Art Room.

Besides being an excellent likeness of the famous United States government scout, the painting shows the flowing hair, and long mustache which were the style of that day. A stick pin fashioned from a tiny, perfect Indian arrowhead is a picturesque of the costume.

Mr. Jenkins has also painted a picture of Adobe Walls as it appeared at the time of the Indian attack in 1876, and this will be displayed next Friday. Mrs. Olive K. Dixon, widow of the scout, went over the Adobe Walls site with the artist before he began his painting, which is said to be the best representation of the battlefield in existence.

A large number of pictures, featuring other Panhandle artists will be exhibited during the annual meeting Friday.

Roosevelt Is 'Hands Off' On Texas Beer Bill

DALLAS, April 10. (AP)—President Roosevelt was described tonight as having a "hands off" attitude toward a bill that is pending in the Texas legislature to make possible the sale of legal beer in the state.

W. N. Wiggins, recording secretary of the united forces for prohibition, disclosed a telegram that had been sent to Senator Morris Sheppard in Washington by Dr. W. R. White of Fort Worth, executive secretary of the united forces for prohibition. It read:

"Wets assert President Roosevelt demands passage Texas beer bill. The united forces for prohibition concedes right of each state to determine its own policy and all other matters. Please confirm his attitude on this so we can release statement for Sunday."

An answer came today to Dr. White from Senator Sheppard. It read:

"President's secretary, Mr. Early, tells me after having taken matter up with the president that President Roosevelt's attitude is one of complete non-interference in state matters."

Criminal Cases Are Set Today

The sixth week of 31st district court opened today for consideration of criminal business.

The jury panel was excused until this afternoon, when District Judge W. R. Ewing asked that all members of the bar be present for setting of cases. A trial was to get under way during the afternoon.

The Gray county commissioners also were in session for routine business. During the day they were to look over estimates on the topping of the 22 miles of the McLean Pampa highway, for which bids have been asked. Date of opening the bids will likely be set before adjournment of the court.

The plan for topping all but about 9 miles of the route calls for payment of about $50,000 in cash and acceptance by the contractor of Gray county bonds at par for the remainder. It is believed that bids will be received on this basis. The road-bed is wearing and should be topped soon to prevent further damage.

The work would involve rather lengthy hauling of caliche.

Hopkins Schools Cut Their Cost—Faculty Chosen

Hopkins schools have decreased their expenses for next year. In addition to reducing salaries, they will attempt to operate with one less teacher.

Faculties for the two schools have been chosen as follows: Supt. M. L. H. Baze, Principal W. M. Parker, Principal W. B. Weathered, Ben Gull, Mrs. C. L. Slaughter, and Misses Nan Crouch, Margaret Hamrick, Tavia Dunsforth, and Mattie Lou Harrison. The entire group is teaching in the schools this year, and the service rendered by the instructors was commended highly by the school board.

County Singers Crowd Church In LeFors Yesterday

The First Baptist church of LeFors would not hold the large crowd which gathered for the Gray county singing association's meeting yesterday afternoon.

Those directing the songs and furnishing special numbers were John Oldham, Rev. Tarbet of LeFors, Mr. Blakeney of Alanreed, and J. L. Lester.

Mr. Oldham arranged the special songs, invocation was led by Rev. Tarbet, and the closing prayer was offered by the Rev. M. S. Leach. Rev. Leach and Editor C. C. Warford made short, interesting talks. Eldridge will be host to the singers May 14.

New Gas Hearing Set For April 18

Another hearing to consider applications for permission to strip gas from wells in the Panhandle field will be held in the Herring hotel in Amarillo at 10 a. m. April 18.

Although three major hearings have been conducted and many permits issued, more applications are being received by the Texas railroad commission.

Notice of the hearing has been mailed to the following applicants: Dunaway Brothers, McIlroy Oil company, Skelly Oil company, Stanolind Oil company, J. L. Williams, Sinclair-Prairie Oil company, and the Champlin Refining company. The public is invited to attend the hearing.

Internal Revenue Stamps Available

Internal revenue stamps are available for the first time at the Pampa post office. In the past, only post offices in cities of more than 25,000 population were allowed to handle internal revenue stamps, but a recent change in the statutes, all first and second class postmasters may secure the stamps, regardless of the size of the city.

Stamps available are in denominations ranging from 50 cents to $10. Several years ago the First National bank kept a few extra stamps.

HOUSE BLOWN AWAY; CROPS ARE DAMAGED

GRANDVIEW HIT WORST—POWER LINES ARE FLATTENED

CORSICANA, April 10. (AP)—Considerable property damage was caused by a violent wind storm, accompanied by hail and rain, which struck several towns in this section. No loss of life was reported.

Moving in a northeasterly direction, the disturbance wrecked numerous buildings, put electric power lines out of commission, temporarily disrupted rural telephone service and damaged some crops last night.

At Rice, ten miles north of Corsicana, the steeple of a negro Methodist church was ripped off while some 50 members of the congregation were holding services. The negroes fled from the building, a frame structure, and none of them was injured. The wind then tore the building into wreckage.

At Rice, Embouse, Tupelo, and other towns in Navarro county barns were demolished, residences unroofed and garages torn down by the high wind.

The only person reported injured was Antonio Gonzalez, a section worker, who was caught out in the hail storm and painfully bruised about the shoulders before he reached shelter.

Reports of damage to buildings came from Penelope and Birone, in Hill county. At Midlothian, in Ellis county, a negro church where services were being conducted was blown from its foundation blocks. The school at Midlothian also was damaged.

High winds and rain swept other parts of Northeast Texas in the storm, which developed suddenly and was of brief duration.

Lindale, near the East Texas oil field, which was struck by a tornado 10 days ago, narrowly missed being in the path of the strong wind. Communication lines were blown down four miles north of Lindale and fruit trees were destroyed. Some property was damaged.

A severe wind storm struck Grandview, unroofing the Masonic building and breaking windows. Trees and a derrick on an oil test were blown down and the town was in darkness four hours. Property damage was estimated at several thousand dollars.

At Leonard, high winds blew several homes from their foundations, demolished the town's ball park and damaged the corn crop badly. Telephone communication was stopped for several hours.

At Midlothian, two residences were blown from their foundations and the midlothian high school was damaged badly. Windows were blown in and garages and small houses were unroofed or blown down. Truck gardens suffered severely.

The storm caused several thousand dollars damage at Farmersville, where hailstones as large as marbles pelted roofs and broke windows facing the west. The onion crop particularly south and southwest of that town was damaged badly.

that the subscription would be placed through local agencies, where a portion of the money would be kept at home.

Things like that provoke H. T. mightily. Too many people preach buying at home so long as their own business is involved, then think nothing about buying out of town when they want to buy something. We'll go to the local news stands for far-away newspapers, expecting them to have them for us even though there is no profit in handling them. Then when we subscribe for magazines we permit out-of-town solicitors to take our order and get the commission. It's a fine system, but it don't help Vernon any.

(No one is more closely watched than he who preaches trade-at-home. Perhaps that is as it should be. We should practice what we preach. But no sooner does someone start preaching than our telephone rings and neighbors begin to ask, "Did you know that so-and-so's wife bought three dresses out-of-town last week? M-e-e-o-o-w!")

ON NUISANCES

T. A. Landers in McLean News: Several citizens have complained to the News editor the past week of chickens and dogs running at large, unsanitary pig pens, and the like, but there is nothing much that we can do about it, other than extend sympathy. The place for complaints is to the city officials who have the power to stop any nuisance that is against the city ordinances. We are sure that no one would willingly annoy his neighbors, if the matter is brought to his attention, and all the city ordinances are plain in all matters. (Power derived from the people. When the people demand riddance of marauding dogs, chickens, bad boys, and the like, the officers are glad to act. And Pampa citizens are daily telephoning their protests against defacing of their property. This is the season of beauty. Pampa, a new city, needs all the beauty that can be grown on these dry, dusty days.)

Fred A. Story in Clarendon News: Clarendon banks, disclaiming any intention to dictate to their farmer customers, announce that they will continue their policy of basing farm loans on whether or not a "live at home" program is being followed.

"It is our seasoned judgment and experience that unless a live-at-home policy is adopted and continually pursued, farmers can never prosper," says the advertisement of the banks. Living at home, in the opinion of Clarendon bankers, means growing and canning (other otherwise preserving) sufficient vegetables, fruits, poultry, meat, etc., for a year's supply for a family, and growing a two-year supply of feed for livestock.

"It is an utter impossibility to produce any one crop (particularly cotton) and meet your obligations," the bankers' statement declares.

(The more methods are followed, the fewer become the federal farm loans requested. This fact is supported by proof easily obtained in a number of south Panhandle counties.)

RECORD CROWDS ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY

REVIVALS ARE HELD AT THREE CHURCHES HERE

CHURCH SCHOOLS ALSO ATTENDED BY BEST CROWDS OF YEAR

RECORD crowds attended several church and Sunday school gatherings yesterday, this fact being chiefly attributed to the revival meetings which are in progress.

The Methodist church attendance was 606, the highest figure reached except on last Easter Sunday. There were 948 at the First Baptist Sunday school, which set 1,000 as its goal for next Sunday. The training service in the evening was attended by 115. There were 440 at the Christian Sunday school, 131 at the Presbyterian school, 165 at the Church of Christ school; 151 at the Central Baptist school. The Calvary Baptists also had a record crowd of 153.

The largest crowd ever to attend a regular church service at the First Christian church heard the Rev. John Mullen preach yesterday morning. A revival meeting, conducted by home forces, was begun and will continue each evening at 8 o'clock through Easter Sunday. The subject this evening will be "The Church, the Body of Christ."

Fifty-three professions of faith in Christ have taken place at the First Methodist church since the revival campaign started at the church a week ago, many of them being from the Sunday school. Large crowds attended yesterday. The services will continue each day through Sunday at 10 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. The Rev. C. A. Long, pastor, who is doing the preaching, will discuss "Prayer, the Key to Victory" on Easter Sunday. On Easter morning all new members will be received in a body.

Dr. G. L. Yates of Amarillo will begin his series of sermons at the First Baptist church this evening, preaching each evening at 7:45 and each morning at 10 o'clock. A men's prayer service will be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Calvary Baptist church is encouraged by its increased attendance since the new building has been provided. It has announced choir practice for Thursday evening, 8 o'clock, and a men's prayer service on Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Laura Gray.

Word has been received from Jesse P. Wiseman, minister of the Church of Christ, that large crowds are attending the pro-Zionist revival he is conducting in Shawnee, Okla. W. V. Murry spoke both morning and evening yesterday at the local Church of Christ.

Lawrence Flaherty, underwent a major operation at Worley hospital Saturday night. He is doing nicely.

Too Extreme?--Use Personal Touch

What if the ordinary interpretation of a popular style is a bit extreme. So said Elizabeth Allan, English actress, when she had Adrian design this pajama lounging suit with a toning down of the masculine touch.

HOLLYWOOD, April 10 (AP)—If fashions seem too extreme, adapt them to your own personality, give them the touch that fits them to yourself.

That's the advice of Elizabeth Allan, newly arrived young English actress, who demonstrated what she means by revising several garments to a fashion more flattering to one of her height.

Masculine Features Out
There's a pajama suit with a dressing gown coat, for instance. To conform to her individual taste she eliminates several of the masculine features and achieves a feminine air instead.

The dressing gown of heavy white pebble crepe is lined with green and white striped crepe. The stripes being sewed in horizontally, Miss Allan's height appears lessened. Instead of the severe tailored lapels, she prefers deep revers which fold back softly. The wide belt has a deep piping at one edge of the striped material, breaking the angle-to-shoulder line.

Bow Gives Feminine Touch
The shirt underneath also is made with the stripes set horizontally, its simple cut being relieved by single bows attached to the front neck and instead of cuffs on the short sleeves. The bow idea is the single feminine note on the strictly tailored white trousers.

At a quick glance the ensemble gives a distinctly tailored effect, yet the masculine severity is entirely minimized.

In another costume, for street wear, Miss Allan achieves the note of femininity by combining harmonizing fabrics in three shades of the same color.

A suit of coffee brown woolen ties at the waist and at the neck instead of buttoning, and instead of the expected scarf or tie the throat is half hidden by an Elizabethan ruche that is quaint—and none the less quaint because of the "ditch-digger" hat topping her chestnut hair.

The topcoat, also designed by Adrian, is in straight lines, the outer material of brown and white pincheck, lined with a plaid in brown, tan and white.

Likewise here Miss Allan's two-piece street costume of coffee brown, like the lounging suit, resulted from adapting a style to one's individuality and softening it in a mood truly feminine.

Mrs. W. A. Bratton directed the rehearsal. Others attending were Mesdames H. R. Price, Sam Irwin, Harry Lyman, J. F. Curtis, Ed Bissett, Carl Sturgeon, A. N. Dilley Jr., John Andrews, L. O. Wirsching, Alex Schneider, A. W. Mann; Misses Loma Groom, Mary Grady, Lois Stallings, Jimma Seay.

Judges' Comments Are Favorable For Students of Voice

Comments of judges, as well as actual ratings, indicated the ability of the voice pupils of Mrs. Philip Wolfe who entered the Tri-State Music Festival at Lubbock the latter part of last week.

Following are the ratings and comments: Norman Carr, "Excellent—good voice"; Dorothy Dodd, "Excellent—a beautiful voice with good quality"; Mrs. Earl Thomas, "Excellent plus—an exceptionally good voice"; Norman Carr, "Superior—and with a promise."

There were many more contestants in the Tri-State Festival than in the recent Panhandle Festival. The local entrants returned Saturday night.

Education of Parents Will be Stressed at 15 Conferences of Parents, Teachers This Month

By MRS. J. M. CRAIN

Parent education through "schools for parents," addresses, and informal conferences, is being stressed at the district conferences being held mostly this month in 15 different parts of Texas.

The purpose of parent education is to help the parent feel that security which comes from a sound knowledge of children, a willingness to have discipline based on mutual confidence and cooperation, and steadiness of purpose which comes from human understanding and a sound philosophy.

Who needs parent education? Parents, both father and mother, and potential parents.

Need Is Great
Why have a course in parent education? This course is very necessary in order to meet more efficiently the problems of child training. Parenthood is recognized today as the most exacting, complex, and interesting profession for which as much preparation should be made as for that of an architect, lawyer or physician.

Who pays the price for lack of parent education? Innocent children. There is no perfect child. Every child presents a problem to his parents at some age and some children present problems at every age. Inmates of jails and asylums are the offspring of problem parents—the ignorant, indifferent and lazy. Children of the most devoted, indulgent and intelligent parents are sometimes condemned to misery and failure from lack of proper guidance.

Authoritative information from the latest findings of educators and scientists will lighten the task of parents as much as electric irons and other modern household equipment have lightened the household duties.

How It's Done
How are parents to get a course in parent education? Promote parent education through study groups; encourage special programs on child training and development in regular parent-teacher meetings; at school of instruction to be held in local units during the spring; devote one section to parent education; urge individual study through correspondence courses, books, bulletins, leaflets and parent-teacher magazines.

The national and state parent-teacher magazines bridge the gap between psychologists and scholars, who discover the fundamental facts of child nature, and parents, who are actively engaged in child rearing. These magazines touch every phase of child development.

"Different types of study groups found most successful vary with the outstanding needs of the community and the leadership available. The motivating force in usually a common interest such as the age of the children, home, school or locality," states Mrs. M. A. Taylor, Bonham, state director of parent education and Texas vice-president of Texas Congress and Parents and Teachers.

Publicity and cooperation with other organizations are two factors that have contributed most to success in reaching scores of people in Texas. Pre-school parents become interested in parent education through

PIANO PUPILS ARE AWARDED

Pupils Of Madeline Tarpley Get High Ratings

PUPILS of Miss Madeline Tarpley did exceedingly well in the Tri-State Music Festival held the latter part of the week in Lubbock. Anne Culberson received a grade of "highly superior," the highest rating offered. Virginia Lee Bechtelmeier was honored with a grade of "excellent." Three other pupils of Miss Tarpley, Patty Will, Carolyn Surratt, and Mary Lynn Schoolfield, were eligible to enter the contest but were unable to attend.

Miss Tarpley said: "It is through the work in line arts that any town takes on a cultural atmosphere, and the teachers in Pampa are very proud of what is being done along this line. Among the many things of which Pampa should be proud is the interest shown in music. Beyond the appealing power is the personal benefit which one receives. This was reflected in the splendid ratings received by music pupils of the various local teachers in the Tri-State Music Festival."

"EXCELLENT"

MISS DOROTHY DODD, above, pupil of Mrs. Philip Wolfe, was given the rating of "excellent" in the 20-year-old soprano division of the Tri-State Music Festival in Lubbock Saturday, and in the recent Panhandle Music Festival in Amarillo she rated "superior." Dorothy's mother, Mrs. C. C. Dodd, also is musically inclined, being a valuable member of the Treble Clef club.

Large Sale Of Poppies To Be Goal of Women

Greater need for the funds raised through the American Legion auxiliary's annual distribution of memorial poppies may result from indications of benefits to disabled veterans under a new economy law, according to members of the Pampa unit of the auxiliary. A large increase in local relief work among disabled veterans and their families, which is supported by the poppy funds, was seen by them as a probable result of the measure.

"The auxiliary's work for needy veterans' families in Pampa is financed to a large extent by contributions received on Poppy Day." "This work has always taxed our resources to the limit, although many of the city's disabled veterans have been receiving compensation or allowances from the government which enabled them to support their families without aid. If the benefits received by those men are discontinued or reduced sharply, we will have a heavy increase in the demands made upon our organization."

To meet this situation the local auxiliary unit is hoping for increased poppy sales this year. The poppies, which are now being made by disabled veterans in government hospitals and auxiliary workrooms, will be distributed here on May 27, the Saturday before Memorial Day. All women distributing the flowers for the auxiliary will be volunteer workers and all contributions received will go directly to the relief of needy disabled veterans and their families.

Status of Pensions To Veterans Is Explained In Statement by Cecil

Commander David E. Cecil of Pampa Post No. 1657, veterans of Foreign Wars, has issued a statement relative to the new pension act passed on March 18th and titled, "an act to maintain the credit of the United States government."

This act gave the president dictatorial powers to deal with the question of veteran benefits and followed a special message to congress read before both bodies March 11 in which the chief executive asked for such legislation.

This act repealed practically all existing veteran laws for pensions since and including the Spanish American war of 1898, and all benefits are referred to as pensions. The designation of disability compensation, disability allowance, and death compensation, etc., is obsolete.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars at Sacramento by unanimous vote said we are opposed to all cut in benefits for our disabled comrades and their dependents. It was about the only organization to maintain that stand to the end and in the face of terrific pressure and certain defeat.

The following is a synopsis of the regulations promulgated April 1 to carry out the provisions of the act referred to above:

The regulations provide for disabilities resulting from injury or disease contracted in line of duty or for aggravation of a pre-existing injury or disease contracted or suffered in line of duty when such disability was incurred in or aggravated in active military or naval service during enlistment entered into during the World War, Spanish American war, including the Boxer rebellion and the Philippine insurrection. The dates of these wars are defined as follows: For the Spanish American war, April 21, 1898, to August 13, 1898. Philippine insurrection, August 13, 1898, to July 5, 1902. This time is extended to July 15, 1903, for those engaged in hostilities in the Moro Province. The Boxer rebellion, June 20, 1900, to May 13, 1901. World war, April 6, 1917, to November 12, 1918. This date is extended to July 2, 1921, provided the person entered service prior to November 12, 1918, and for those persons serving in the military service in Russia the dates are extended to April 1, 1920.

It is required in all pensions that the person received honorable discharge and that the disability was not the result of misconduct. Persons serving in the various wars and expeditions mentioned above will be taken to have been in sound condition at enlistment if they served for ninety days or more either on an enlistment extending into the war period or beginning during the war period; except as to defects noted at the time of examination and acceptance, or where medical evidence or medical judgment is such as to warrant a finding that the injury or disease existed prior to enlistment.

If it is further provided that if a chronic disease became manifest to a degree of 10 percent or more within one year from the date of separation from such service it shall be considered to have been incurred in or aggravated by such service, provided such person served ninety days or more in an enlistment extending into the war period or beginning during the war period unless there is affirmative evidence to the contrary or an intercurrent injury or disease which is the recognized cause of such disease has been suffered between the date of discharge and the onset of chronic disease of the disability is due to the person's own misconduct.

For such service connected disabilities the pension rates will be: Disability of 10 per cent—$8 per month; 25 per cent—$20 per month; 50 per cent—$40 per month; 75 per cent—$60 per month; total disability while so rated—$80 per month.

For actual loss or loss of the use of one foot, hand, or eye, an increase of $20 per month; for the actual loss of both hands or both feet, or one hand and one foot, or the person is so helpless as to be in need of regular aid and attendance the monthly pension will be $100. For loss of both hands and one foot or both feet and one hand the monthly pension will be $150. For loss of sight of both eyes and the loss of one hand or one foot the monthly pension will be $200. For the loss of both eyes and both hands or the sight of both eyes and either both feet or both hand or one foot and one hand, the monthly pension will be $250.

Any person who served in active military or naval service for a continuous period of ninety days or more during either the Spanish American war, Boxer rebellion, Philippine insurrection, or World war, and who is shown to have been in active service before the cessation of hostilities and who has been honorably discharged, shall be entitled to receive a pension for permanent total disability not the result of misconduct. The amount of pension payable is $20 per month. It is further provided that any veteran of the Spanish American war over 62 years of age who meets the requirements above as to length of service shall be entitled to receive a pension of $6 per month for disabilities less than permanent total in degree.

It is provided that where an honorably discharged veteran of any war dies after discharge a sum not exceeding $75 and not exceeding the actual cost may be allowed for burial. Provided that no allowance shall be made if the veteran's own assets at the time of death, exclusive of debts, equals or exceeds $75.00.

It will eliminate, from the war time service connected class all those who enlisted after November 11, 1918. This class will be eligible for pensions paid under peace time schedules of disability ratings.

It makes the presumption of soundness on entering the service rebuttable. It does away with retroactive awards.

The rates of pensions for widows, children and dependents of service connected cases remain the same but under the new law where the veteran died from a presumptive service connected disability not qualifying under the new presumption.

The requirements for hospital and domiciliary care are very drastic providing that a person may be domiciled or hospitalized for service connected disability only, except where it can be shown that the veteran who served ninety days or more is suffering with permanent disability which incapacitates him from earning a living and that he has no adequate means of support, and further restricts payments while hospitalized. Peace time soldiers are excluded from any hospitalization or domiciliary care. It is provided that those who are removed from the rolls may make new application for service connected pension.

If this is denied the veteran then Mrs. Henry T. Cox had as her guest yesterday her brother, H. H. Williamson of Bryan, who is vice-director of the extension department of A. & M. college. J. R. Edmonds, district county agent, also spent last morning to attend a meeting of county agents in Canadian.

has one appeal to the administrator of veteran's affairs. The decision of the administrator will be final.

TEXAS LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON WILL OPEN TOMORROW

THREE GAMES ON SCHEDULE; ONE AT NIGHT

TWO OKLAHOMA CLUBS WILL GET INTO ACTION

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tuesday afternoon and night the 45th annual Texas league baseball campaign will come with a rush to defend its reputation as one of the best developing territories for major league prospects, and as a league that always holds an interesting championship race.

Managerial experimenting with rookie and veteran talent is in the fading stages. Many players who answered the call of spring training have departed for other ball orchards to blossom if they can.

The league has trimmed expenses to a rock bottom. All that is left is for each ambitious team to remove seven contesting obstacles in the roadway that will eventually lead one team to the league title and into the annual Dixie series through the Shagnessy pennant plan that calls for a play-off between the four first division teams.

Gala opening day ceremonies have been arranged. The high hats have been tossed into the ash cans. The opening days that sponsored street parades and the hanging of a dummy, representing the rival manager, are back again in the Texas league. Half holidays have been declared in several cities.

Dallas at Oklahoma City, Fort Worth at Tulsa, Houston at Galveston and Beaumont at San Antonio are the opening day games. All but Houston and Galveston will be daytime affairs. The Buffaloes and Buccaneers will open under the flood lights.

In an Associated Press poll of Texas league sports writers, the Fort Worth Cats were picked to win this year's pennant with Houston second, Dallas third and San Antonio fourth. The Beaumont Exporters, last year pennant winners, were picked to finish in the second division.

Lrvn Fox, 1932 Beaumont outfielder who paced the league in hitting with a .337 average, has graduated to the Detroit Tigers and will not defend his batting crown. Joe Medwick, last year Houston outfielder who finished second to Fox with a .354 average, is playing with the St. Louis Cardinals. But the third man in last year's swat race, George Washington, is playing rightfield for the Fort Worth Cats. He batted .350 last year and is expected to be a powerful contender for this season's batting crown.

George Murray, right-hander who led the league last season in games won when he turned in 24 victories for Dallas, is now a member of the Chicago White Sox hurling staff.

Henry Greenberg, giant Beaumont first sacker who clouted 39 home runs in 1932 to lead the league, is with the Detroit Tigers.

Where these leaders of 1932 have traveled on, others will come into the fold this year to try and shatter the records established by such stars as Murray, Fox, Greenberg and others.

Some of the most colorful veterans of last year will be found in their usual positions again this season. Zeke Bonura, giant Italian first baseman who led the first basemen in fielding and hitting, is again on first for the Dallas Steers. Paul "Pound Em" Easterling, who hit 36 home runs last year and batted in 134 runs, is again in leftfield for the Beaumont Exporters. Alexander Hooks, youthful first baseman who hit 18 triples last year to lead the league in this department, is back on first for Fort Worth.

J. V. Jackson of LeFors was a Pampa visitor this morning.

A. L. Meek of Kingsmill visited in the city last night.

Mrs. Josephine Sparks of LeFors spent yesterday with friends here.

Betting Favors Yanks and Cubs To Win Pennants

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—Those baseball fans who back their opinions with money have made the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs favorites to win the pennants in the American and National leagues again, with the Yankees at 2-5 the shortest priced choice in years.

Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner, who announced the odds of the 1933 campaign which opens Wednesday, said it had been more than 20 years to his knowledge since any team had been such an overwhelming favorite to win.

The odds of the Yankees reflect the general opinion of fan and expert alike, but in making the Cubs 7-5 favorites to repeat those who "lay their money on the line" differ with the experts who voted in the Associated Press poll that the Pittsburgh Pirates would win in the National circuit.

The Pirates are only 8-5, just a step behind the Cubs in Doyle's book, while Washington and Philadelphia, joint second choices in the American league, are no better than 3-7 to upset the Yankees.

The Boston Red Sox, despite their new ownership, are the longest priced team, 570-1 being offered against their chances to head the American league parade. Cincinnati is the last choice in the National at 200-1.

SCOUT NEWS

Troop 4, Harlan Martin, scribe. The troop met Friday night in the basement of the First Christian church and organized a new contest plan whereby the troop patrols will gain more points. Freeman Sullivan's troop won the hike contest last week. Games followed the business and patrol meetings.

Those present were Earl Goodwin, scoutmaster, Harlan Martin, Mickey Ledrick, John Dowell, Lawrence Freeman Sullivan, Russell Snow, Bob Miller, Kenneth Lomax, Gerald Ohism, Junior Barrett, Steve Goodwin, Junior Goodwin, Warren Bowyer, Vernon Casey, Charles Cook, C. A. Clark Jr., Odell Farris, Chris Martin, Warren Martin, John King, and Jimmie Hollis. The following visitors were present: W. A. Casey and J. D. Lawson.

A Green Bar meeting followed with Earl Goodwin in charge. Plans for the hike were completed and the point system contest discussed. Those present were Earl Goodwin, Harlan Martin, Mickey Ledrick, Steve Goodwin, Freeman Sullivan, and Junior Barrett.

Troop 14, Doyle Auld, scribe. Nearly a full attendance was at the meeting in Sam Houston school Friday night. Instruction in first aid was given by Alton Maricelle and in signaling by J. J. Spanier. Plans were made for a hike and a three-day camp some time this month. Several tests were passed.

Troop 3, Joe Isbell, scribe. Tests were passed by Jack Waldstad, Chester Hunkapillar, Taber Alford, during the meeting in the basement of the First Baptist church. Visitors were Ralph Hamilton, and Mr. Buckingham.

Arrangements are being made to organize a hand ball team. Practices will be held this week.

PICTURES GIVEN COURT

Visitors at this term of court are admiring large, framed pictures of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and of the American flag placed back of the district judge's chair, above. They were given by Dr. A. R. Webb, fifth division commander of the American Legion. A pledge to the flag appears with it.

HAPPY TEACHER HTRE

Miss Marie Townsend of Happy has been asked to substitute for Miss Matile Lou Harrison, Hopkins teacher who is ill in a Pampa hospital.

Jake Stiles left Sunday night for Fort Worth where he will attend a 2-day school for the Frigidaires dealers.

Miss Flora Inright was admitted to Pampa hospital this morning.

Judge E. F. Ritchie of Miami was here today.

Roswell Fans 'Have Enough'

ROSSELL, N. M., April 10. (AP)—At the moment Roswell completed negotiations, after several weeks of effort, for a club in the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league, word was received here this afternoon from Jerry Mallin, Amarillo, Texas, league secretary; plans for the circuit had been abandoned.

George Foreman, chairman of the local baseball association, had picked up the telephone to inform Wilbur Hawk league president, Roswell had agreed to a contract with Jack Holloway, Big Spring, Texas, for a team when the telegram arrived that Hawk decided the league could not be formed.

It was understood the Amarillo and El Paso, Texas, clubs had been forced by the delay to make deals with some of their players.

Proposals came immediately from George Martin, Amarillo, that a complete new circuit be organized without Amarillo and El Paso. Fans here only smiled. "They've had enough," Foreman said.

Identity of Man In Cox Burglary Attempt Sought

The sheriff's department, County Attorney Sherman White, and Justice W. S. Baxter today continued an intensive investigation of events surrounding the burglary attempt at the Cox Bros. grocery store Saturday morning.

Many statements under oath have been taken. Officers are still seeking the identity of a man seen to leave the scene during the gun fight in which R. Frank Ritter was fatally wounded.

No charges have been filed.

Dallas Arrives To Stage 1933 Beauty Contest

David Dallas, well known director of "Queen of the West" revues at Roswell, N. M., arrived today to make preliminary arrangements for La Nora theater's annual fashion parade and bathing beauty pageant, which will be staged April 20 and 21.

Dallas has held local revues for four years. The modeling this year will feature the latest styles in swimming suits, and will be timely in connection with the opening of the municipal swimming pool next summer. Street wear also will be modeled.

The winner will be named "Miss Pampa" and will be given a free trip to the Roswell pageant. Several models not competing will depict the styles of yesterday, and Miss America of 1934 will be seen.

Miss Jacquie Downs, winner here last year, also won the "Queen of the West" title in Roswell.

In the OIL FIELDS

A new Panhandle schedule will be issued at present although the field allowable has been increased, according to J. M. McDowell, deputy supervisor of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, who with W. B. Hamilton, assistant deputy supervisor, just returned from Austin where a statewide oil and gas hearing was held last week.

It is believed the market output will right itself without a new schedule at this unsettled time in the oil industry. It would be possible for the entire field to produce, without violation, its potential, but most of the operators in the field are producing in accordance with the last order issued by the railroad commission.

The huge East Texas field is still in the limelight and it will depend on the final outcome of legislative action whether the oil industry will be thrown into chaos or placed under some kind of control that will stand up under the law, many believe.

Production in the Panhandle field dropped 7,164 barrels to a total of 45,406 barrels last week. Two weeks ago most of the wells in the field flowed open for several days in self defense. Then most of the producers agreed to close in their wells because of lack of demand.

Gray county's production declined more than 5,000 barrels last week.

Production by counties: Prev. Last Wk. Wk.

Carson	252	5,389	4,086
Gray	828	33,397	28,338

Moore	22	962	767
Wheeler	41	284	472

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, April 10. Cotton opened steady and higher today. Cables were about 2 penny points better than due and first traded here showed gains of 2 to 4 points. The market continued to improve after the start on moderate trade buying and price fixing orders and to generally better feeling inspired by a relief that final action on farm relief will soon be effected.

L. O. Combs, W. H. Neal, M. B. Harper, James H. Baldwin, Gordon Reynolds, and Roy L. Jeffries of LeFors were here attending court today.

GRIDIRON TILT IS SCHEDULED FOR TUESDAY

1933 PROSPECTS WILL PLAY HARVESTERS OF 1932

All eyes will be turned to football tomorrow afternoon at Harvesters' park when the 1933 prospects, in charge of Coach Argus Fox, will meet the graduating Harvesters from the 1932 squad, in charge of Coach Odus Crouch, on Harvesters' field at 4 o'clock. A full four-period game will be played, handled by local officials.

The battle will be staged to give the coaches an idea of the material they will have to select a team from this fall. The prospects have been practicing for more than a month and are in good condition. It was not until last week, however, that Coach Argus Fox assembled anything that looked like a team. All his early work was on conditioning, end teaching the boys how to play the various positions. He had more than 70 boys to work with most of the time and only recently cut the squad to about 40 players.

The veterans will field all the regulars of last season with the exception of Jess Patton, who is out-patient of the 1933 team. His place will be filled by Eiler Faulkner, substitute end last season. The veterans will also have several promising substitutes and they are real confident of a lopsided victory.

Coach Fox has not released his starting line-up but said during practice Friday afternoon that he looked for his boys to give the veterans a tough battle. His boys will have the advantage of numbers and condition.

Fans are anxiously waiting to see the prospects in action.

Country Club To Elect Officers Here on Tuesday

Officers will be elected and plans for the summer activities at the Pampa Country club will be discussed at the annual stockholders' meeting in the White Deer land office at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. President Lynn Boyd will be in charge of the meeting.

C. P. Buckler has mailed notices of the meeting to the 60 stockholders and it will be necessary for 30 to be present for a quorum. President Boyd issues a special request for stockholders to attend the meeting which will be one of interesting business.

Ten-Second Rule Extended Further

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—The playing code as revised last year has received tacit approval from the newly organized national baseball rules committee of the United States and Canada.

The committee, meeting for the first time here yesterday made several minor alterations in the rules, mostly for the purpose of clarification or simplification.

The most important of the rule changes include a decision to extend application of the famous "10 second rule," adopted last year to eliminate stalling, to courts of all sizes instead of confining to courts of 60 feet or more, and an amendment to the rule on substitutions to permit a player to re-enter the game twice, instead of only once.

Crackers To Play For Dance Tonight

Many dancers will go to the Plaza tonight, when Johnny Floyd and his Florida Crackers will play for a special dance.

Floyd's band is composed of ten pieces and four entertainers. They are rated as one of the best bands in the southwest and have at different times played at the Gunter hotel, San Antonio, Baker hotel, Dallas, and the Baker hotel in Mineral Wells. For a year they were engaged as the staff orchestra for radio station KOB, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

At present, they are playing at the Nat in Amarillo where they have had a very successful season. They are leaving Amarillo shortly for an engagement at the Baker hotel in Dallas.

There will be no advance in prices for this dance.

BROCK WILL BOX OWENSBY

Wrestler Will Participate In 8-Round Semi-Final Wednesday Night

Another big night is in store for Pampa fight fans Wednesday night at the Pla-Mor auditorium, where the return bout between Pug Grubbs, Borger, and Allen Whitlow, Indianapolis, will be staged. The two boys gave one of the greatest exhibitions ever witnessed here two weeks ago but the outcome was unpopular when announced and a return bout was demanded.

The two lightweights are scheduled to go 10 rounds but both will be trying for a knockout so that there will be no doubt about the outcome. The boys use a different style of fighting which makes the outcome doubtful. Whitlow is the aggressive type who throws leather from any angle while Grubbs is more the counter fighter with a hard punch.

Pampa fans have been asking Matchmaker Andy Andrews to bring Eddie Brock to Pampa and he has succeeded in signing him to meet Doyle Owensby in the 8-round semi-final. It will be a case of two hard punchers meeting and the outcome may depend on a blow.

Grier Bowers of Borger and Louis Ramirez of Perryton will sling the leather in the 6-round special event and it should be a real battle. Both boys will weigh 128 pounds and are going to gun fighters.

Hates Saltzman, local boy, has been challenged with Joe Ivey of Borger for four rounds. Ray Young of Borger and Eddie Daniels of Stinnett are also on the card for four rounds.

Playground Ball Meeting Tonight

Preliminary plans for the organization of a city playground ball league will be discussed by team sponsors and team managers at a meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Those present will decide whether the organization will be made permanent during the meeting or whether a future meeting will be called to complete the league organization.

Several teams have been organized and have played exhibition games. They appear much stronger than last season and a good league is in prospect with 8 or 10 teams entering.

Officers will be elected from men not interested in any way with teams in the league.

G. B. SHAW DENIES HE INSULTED HELEN KELLER, BUT BLIND AND DEAF WOMAN HAS 2 WITNESSES

CHILDREN

HAVANA, April 10. (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, who stopped off here today in the course of a world cruise which will take him next to New York, denied once again that he had ever said in the presence of Helen Keller that all Americans are deaf, dumb and blind.

"The American is a funny animal," Mr. Shaw said. "Tell him he has a nose on his face and two eyes, and immediately he is insulted. The Italians and the Russians are not so dumb, so deaf, so blind, because they are tackling their problems in a new way."

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 10. (AP)—Helen Keller is sorry she "told" on George Bernard Shaw.

Discussing her meeting with the Irish wit and playwright, during which he was said to have remarked "all Americans are blind and deaf and dumb," Miss Keller, here for a meeting of the Ohio Educational conference, asserted, "I didn't mind the remark, and I'm sorry I told on him."

Shaw denied he made the statement in the presence of his friend, Miss Keller, who has been blind and deaf since babyhood. But Miss Polly Thompson, secretary to Miss Keller, declared today he made the assertion. "I was standing next to Lady Astor," Miss Thompson declared. "and Miss Keller was standing with her teacher when Mr. Shaw made the remark. Mrs. John A. Macy (the teacher) immediately spelled out Mr. Shaw's statement to Miss Keller. Most decidedly the statement was made in her presence."

Two negroes will open the card at 8:30 o'clock. Admission will be 60 cents for men and 25 cents for women and children. Ringside seats will be 25 cents to all.

Beer For Thirst Says Babe Ruth

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—George Herman Ruth, the baseball fellow, wandered out of the Yankee exhibition game with the Dodgers in Brooklyn in the fifth inning today and straight into the hands of the first bottle of 32 beer he has encountered since the brew became legal Friday. The Babe, a connoisseur of beer in the old days, appraised with a careful eye the bottle offered him by the locker room attendant.

"Hmmm," he said, "it looks like beer."

The attendant removed the cap and the Babe tilted back his head. Finally he set the bottle down and nodded wisely.

"All right," he said "for quenching your thirst. A couple of those won't go bad after a tough game in July."

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pool had as their guest during the week-end their little niece, Lois Carol Bryant of Canadian. Lois Carol is the attractive little blond girl who modeled for Mitchell's store in the B. & P. W. club's style revue Friday.
