More new eras: NRA, beer, boxing, racing, wagering, V-8, etc., etc.

Something to argue about: Rules for being a good teacher as promulgated by Cincinnati board of education president—Read detective stories, own movie cameras, own radios, read twelve good books a year, keep a closed mouth, attend community dances, use the rod in front of other pupils, but sparingly, the idea being to get a youthful viewpoint and stick to it.

Note to John Puryear of Wellington, our state representative: Gray county voters by a 6 to 1 ballot decreed that the state should help bear the burden of preventing starvation; now it's up to you lawmakers to carry out the mandate of the people.

Another era: Better entertainment for Pampans through such shows as the Hollywood revue and HEADS UP, the latter to be seen at the city hall September 5.

lest you forget: Texas, too, will have a fair this year. The dates of the state fair at Dallas are October 7-22.

TEXAS IS SCENIC

Sometimes newcomers serve a useful purpose in telling Texans how beautiful and interesting is their state. A Conoco bulletin waxed enthusiastic as follows: "Texas has everything! Plains, mountains, seashore—Texas is scenic. Mexican towns, ranches, metropolises—Texas is colorful. Hunting, fishing, sports—Texas is recreational. Vastness, richness, beauty—Texas is magnificent. The Lone Star state possesses qualities and quantities sufficient for an empire—and, in fact, it is the only state which at one time was an independent and sovereign nation. Over it as a unit six flags have waved—those of Spain, France, Mexico, Republic of Texas, the Confederacy, and the United States. The vast area that comprises Texas is often incomprehensible to those not familiar with this huge state. If every inhabitant of the United States were to move to Texas, the population would be no more dense than that of Massachusetts at the present time. The state is larger than France by some 53,237 miles—and France is bigger than Germany. A man standing on the northern boundary of the Panhandle is nearer Lake Michigan than the Gulf of Mexico!" KNOW YOUR STATE!

A GENEROUS PRESS

If General Hugh Johnson had asked grocery merchants to send him a big shipment of food-stuffs and had assured them that thanks would be their only remuneration, that would have startled the nation. He did a parallel thing in asking newspapers of the nation to give the NRA free pages of advertisement. Some folks may have thought, when the full page ad ap-

WOMEN OF CITY ARE ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PLAN

"SPLENDID SUCCESS" in the drive to enlist consumers of Pampa in the NRA movement was reported today by Mrs. F. E. Leech, co-general in charge of the campaign.

Twelve teams of women, working hard to finish the house-to-house canvass last night, lacked only those houses at which no one was at home, and additional calls will be made at these addresses.

With few exceptions, the NRA insignia has been placed in Pampa homes and stickers for windows given in exchange for signatures on the consumer pledges. Probably not less than 3,000 pledges have been signed since the NRA movement was launched several weeks ago. Virtually all business houses are likewise under NRA.

Mrs. Leech warmly complimented her assistants. She urged that all women buy as many things as possible in order to stimulate business—to buy in Pampa and to buy from those who have signed the NRA codes and are showing the emblems. If anyone wishes to sign the consumer code without waiting to be seen, he or she may do so at the postoffice.

Just how Pampa is lining up was indicated in the reports of many workers that their sections of town were 100 per cent under NRA. Reasons for not signing, by a few, included religious grounds, desire to sign nothing binding, ignorance of the meaning of the pledge, and desire to consult husbands before signing. For the most part however, NRA was found to be well understood and the residents were glad to sign the pledges and obtain the window stickers.

Enthusiasm was especially great at those homes where NRA had meant employment to some member of the family. In others, hope was held that the jobless would soon find work.

It was emphasized that NRA means nothing more nor less than mutual cooperation to give more employment, better business through increased purchasing power, and to reduce poverty.

Excitement was especially great at those homes where NRA had meant employment to some member of the family. In others, hope was held that the jobless would soon find work.

Van Wie Routs English Girl

Champion and Helen Hicks Will Play in Finals of Tournament Tomorrow.

EXMOOR COUNTRY CLUB, HIGHLAND PARK, ILL., Sept. 1. (AP)—Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, defending titleholder, and Helen Hicks of New York, swept into the finals of the women's national golf championship at Exmoor today. Miss Van Wie turned back the British invader.

Amazing the gallery with sub par golf as her opponent's game fell to pieces, the Chicagoan routed Erud Wilson, England's three-time champion, 6 and 5, while Miss Hicks, 1931 titleholder, crushed Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N. J., 6 and 4, winding up a brilliant scoring attack with a pair of birdies.

Miss Van Wie and Miss Hicks will meet for the title over 36 holes tomorrow.

"Whitey" Walker Escapes Prison

McALESTER, Okla., Sept. 1. (AP)—Roy A. Johnson, whose life sentence in state prison was commuted from death in 1926, escaped from the penitentiary Wednesday in company with Irvin (Blackie) Thompson, and W. J. (Whitey) Walker, other life term convicts, prison authorities revealed today.

Johnson was convicted in Grant county for murder, while Thompson was convicted on a like charge in Creek county. Walker was sentenced in Pontotoc county on a robbery with firearms charge.

Prison officials said the trio, who had been permitted to go outside the walls to fish in the prison lake, hired a taxicab about 4 p. m. Wednesday and were driven to Crowder, 11 miles north of McAlester.

TWO CONFESS SHOOTING BOTH MAN AND GIRL

PISTOL USED HAD BEEN HIDDEN, OFFICERS ARE TOLD

DALLAS, Sept. 1. (AP)—Bluit and Thurman Burkley, negroes indicted for the slaying of Miss Kathryn Prince, 19, confessed today that they were responsible for the killing of Miss Pauline Corman, 17, of Dallas and Abe Schreiber of Galveston, in a parked car near Dallas June 17, 1931.

William Decker, chief deputy sheriff, obtained the statements from them. Bluit was quoted as saying he shot Schreiber and Thurman said he shot the girl. They told the officer the pistol they used had been hidden.

Circumstances of the double killing resembled closely those of the kidnaping and slaying of Miss Prince and the serious wounding of her companion, Mace Carver, as they sat in an automobile near Dallas Wednesday night.

Schreiber and Miss Corman, engaged to be married, were brutally slain as they sat in an automobile on the Overton road, south of this city, at night.

Schreiber's body was found over a barbed wire fence beside the road the next morning and that of the girl was located a mile west of the same road. The only clue the officers had at the time was a pistol found at the side of the road.

Rewards of $1,000 each were posted in Dallas and Galveston for the capture of the killers.

Both told of taking cash and valuables from the couple and Thurman Burkley told of criminally assaulting the girl. At the time of the double slaying, however, physicians said she had not been assaulted.

Bluit Burkley told Decker where he could find the pistol with which the couple was killed. He said it was hidden under a culvert at the far end of a south Dallas street.

Decker began questioning the negroes about the two-year-old unsolved mystery shortly after they had been transferred to the county jail from the city jail where they were taken hurriedly yesterday after their arrest in a cotton field. He recalled the similarity of the two cases.

Less than 24 hours after Miss Prince was killed and Carver wounded, the negroes were indicted. County authorities planned to bring them to trial within a week and Henry Tiley, chief assistant district attorney, expressed the opinion that they probably will have been tried and each assessed the death penalty by next Thursday.

Sixteen Die Of Heat and Thirst In Desert Lands

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1. (AP)—Sixteen persons have perished this year in the southwestern desert country from heat and thirst.

Five victims were found yesterday south of Mexicali, Lower California. After an investigation authorities at Phoenix decided Gus C. A. Donohue died of thirst and discarded a previous theory that the 48-year-old Southgate, Calif., resident had been slain.

A woman, two children and two men died near Mexicali. Their motor car apparently stalled on the lonely San Felipe road.

HUGE CROWDS ATTEND RACES AT PANHANDLE

Special Races Will Feature Daily Program; Arrangements Made For Betting.

By Staff Correspondent PANHANDLE, Sept. 1.—One hundred and fifty fine racing horses, flying flags and music greeted hundreds of turf fans from all over the Panhandle as the Southwest Race Meet association opened its fall five-day program here this afternoon. The crowd began arriving in town early this morning.

The large grandstand was comfortably filled minutes before the first race was scheduled to start, largely because the opening event was due to be a thrilling neck-and-neck race between Cabin Camp, owned by Ed. C. Deahl of Panhandle, and Scooter, owned by H. Killion of Caney, Kans. The owners had $600 up for the winner.

In addition to the special race, six races were scheduled to be run as they will be every day of the meet. Leading stables of the southwest will be represented on the first track. President Asbery A. Callaghan believes that owners will promote several matched races, such as the Cabin Camp-Scooter duel, every day. Among the noted racing plants of the nation which have horses entered are the Waggoner stables of Arlington Downs, Al Russell stables, Chicago; and the Bane and Wilson stables, El Paso.

Sunday's feature will be the merchants handicap. The outstanding race Monday will be the Panhandle Derby. On Tuesday the closing day, will be the valuable Oil Men's special.

In connection with the meet, is being held the Panhandle fine horse show with saddle entries from towns in this section. Gilmore Nunn of Pampa will be judge of this show. The horse show begins daily at 2 o'clock and the horse races at 2:30 o'clock.

Arrangements for wagering on horse races have been completed.

Applications To Obtain Licenses For Beer Made

A shortage of blank forms—a trouble often heard in recent weeks in governmental activities—today delayed filing of applications for beer sales licenses. It is believed the forms will be received by Monday.

Petitions for licenses must be filed with the county judge. Notice of receipt of such applications must be posted by the county clerk. Not sooner than 5 days nor later than 10 days, the judge must set a hearing on the petitions. If the applicants are held ineligible to receive licenses, the judge may refuse to issue them. Appeal can then be taken by the persons denied licenses.

Licenses may be issued only to law-abiding, taxpaying citizens. Petitions of a number of would-be dispensers were being prepared today.

60-MILE WIND IS DAMAGING CUBAN CAPITAL

200 MILES OF COAST SWEEP BY CYCLONIC WINDS

HAVANA, Sept. 1. (AP)—A 60-mile wind, part of a hurricane which swept 200 miles of Cuba's northern coast, roared through Havana today, crashing in doors, toppling over signs, damaging roofs and terrorizing the populace.

Throughout Havana merchants boarded up their doors and reinforced their windows in the expectation that the city would be hit by a cyclonic disturbance, accompanied by 60- to 70-mile winds, which was moving along the northern coast, driving inhabitants inland and wrecking communication lines.

Officials at the observatory expected high water all along the Malecon, the broad thoroughfare on the waterfront, and it was probable that section of Havana would be flooded.

Persons living along the waterfront moved out to higher ground. Havana was gray in a drizzle of rain early this morning. Around 9 o'clock there was a brief period of sunshine, and then came a heavy rainstorm.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 1. (AP)—Attended by gales over a considerable area and winds of hurricane force near the center, a tropical storm today swept along the northern shore of Cuba, putting a British freighter in distress, while a second disturbance was reported near Puerto Rico.

Meantime, caught in the path of the first storm near Cayo Bahia del Cadiz, about 100 miles east of Havana, the freighter, Josephine Gray, broadcast an SOS, saying it required "immediate assistance."

"The message, intercepted by tropical radio here, said the ship's operator was unable to communicate with the bridge because of sea and wind.

Answering the Josephine Gray, the steamship, Athel Foam, promised assistance as soon as weather conditions permit her to proceed.

ENGINEER NO RADICAL, BUT HE HAS REVOLUTIONIZED LIFE

The Engineer Foundation, in New York, recently set out to discover just how unemployment affects the morale and the ideals of men who are out of work. It learned, oddly enough, that engineers as a class are not filled with radical notions when they lose their jobs.

To be sure, they have done it without in the least intending to. But they have done it, just the same, and they will continue to do so for a long time to come.

The engineering which gave us railroads and steamboats made it possible for the United States to expand over a continent without splitting up into a group of independent nations. It was engineering that doomed Jefferson's dream of a land of small farmers and small cities; engineering that gave the south a cotton empire; engineering that developed our big cities, exploited our mines and gave us our factory civilization.

It was the engineer, blithely thinking of nothing on earth except the age-old problem of how to get the most work done with the least energy, who gave us mass production, automobiles, electric power, modern communications and a network of good highways.

The engineer is not "radical," it seems. Well, why should he be? He ignores politics, economics and sociology—and remakes all three of those perplexing sciences overnight.

He may think he is the very essence of conservatism; and yet he sows the seeds of greater changes than all the long-haired theorists that ever lived.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 1. (AP)—Speculative grain dealings were sharply curtailed today in the face of the triple holiday ahead. With all American grain exchanges closed tomorrow and Monday, there was no disposition to establish new commitments, and traders remained close to shore.

Both wheat and corn opened lower and showed little disposition to rally. Further deterioration of the corn crop was shown by the average of the unofficial monthly crop estimates indicating a crop of 2,235,000,000 bushels, a reduction of 135,000,000 from the August 1 estimate.

The Paris Dinner Horn down in East Texas wasn't much of a paper, but it was unique in that it was free. It was, basically, an advertising daily circular with a bit of news thrown in. The news it did not buy enabled it to exist without cost to the readers. It must have been the only free daily in the country which claimed to be more than a circular.

isiana Kingfish, is credited with electing Overton and boosting the cause of the constitutional amendments which carried bond issues. Still bearing the marks of battle from an encounter with an unidentified foe at the Sands Point, Long Island, N. Y., bath club, the senator has retired to his Audubon place mansion and cloaked himself in silence, declining to discuss either the blow he received over the eye in that clash or an offer of $1,000 a day to appear in a Coney Island show.

On his return from Milwaukee, where he scored newspapers in a speech before veterans of foreign wars, he did break his silence long enough to brand a story that he had pushed a train conductor into two runs a "lie". Besides the investigations involving "Kingfish Politics," the senator also was faced with an announcement that an organization of Louisiana women is seeking to marshal the nation behind it to oust Long and Overton from the senate.

Oil Price Hike To $1.25 in 36 Hours Rumored

TULSA, Sept. 1. (AP)—Oil men of the midcontinent area listened today to live rumors, neither substantiated nor denied, that the Continental Oil company, aggressive on price questions, intends to increase crude values to $1.25 a barrel within 36 hours.

The Continental is reported in current gossip around oil offices to be planning an immediate increase if the planning and coordinating committee now sitting with Secretary Tokes succeeds in redrafting questioned price and refinery clauses of the oil code. Continental has been among the first companies to increase prices, but recently resisted a ten-cent advance in Oklahoma and Kansas to 72 cents top by the Standard Oil companies of Indiana and New Jersey, contending it was "not enough."

Scenes of Cuban Revolt Shown In L'Nora Newsreel

Hectic scenes at Havana, Cuba, as rioting mobs loot the capital and an unusual screen portrait of the newly selected provisional president, Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, and Ambassador Sumner Welles, who has represented the United States during the revolution; unusual scenes in Shenandoah National Park, Va., as President Roosevelt inspects the Civilian Conservation Corps camps and dines with the recruits and the thrilling views at the Onwentsia Club at Lake Forest, Ill., as the West defeats the East in a championship polo match, are to be seen in the current issue of the Pampa Daily News - Universal Newsreel. Graham McNamee, noted radio announcer and the screen's talking reporter, describes these and the other events in the reel in his inimitable manner at La Nora theater.

While breaking loot the Presidential palace, crowds find furniture and smashing decorations, other mobs, wild with joy over the resignation of President Machado, round up the police, arresting them and sending them to jail. These unusual and vivid pictures were obtained by David Oliver, Universal cameraman, who was seized and held prisoner by the police, while taking them. Other important news events reported by McNamee include remarkable views of Lieutenant Tito Falconi, setting a world record for inverted flight at Inglewood, Cal.; impressive views of thirty thousand Boy Scouts attending their world jamboree at Budapest, Hungary; an amazing demonstration of nerve by a woman racing driver, who crashes through a wooden wall at Maywood, Ill., while traveling at mile-a-minute speed and unusual pictures of a huge herd of sea-lions at Ano Nuevo Island, Cal., taking refuge from the storms.

Kiwanians Will Attend Meeting in Enid on Sunday

Members of the Kiwanis club were entertained today with vocal selections by M. L. Baze, superintendent of Hopkins school, Dr. A. W. Mann, and Bob Koller. Mr. Baze also played several "saw selections." Many of the members are planning to attend the Texas-Oklahoma district convention at Enid Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Any member wanting transportation is asked to call Bob Fuller. Visitors today besides the ones on the program included W. E. Stewart of Amarillo.

HOUSTON AND GALVESTON DUE TO BATTLE IN LEAGUE FINALS

Pitching, Not Hitting Likely To Decide Championship Of Texas Circuit.

By BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer It seemed to be the consensus that Houston and Galveston will meet in the final series for the Texas league championship and the right to meet the Southern Association winner in the annual Dixie series.

Ardent followers of baseball are sure that if Houston plays the San Antonio Missions the Buffaloes will win. Houston's Mike Cvangros, Ed Greer and George Payne are three of the league's outstanding pitchers. In a short series pitching means everything. The Missions have only Fabian Kowalik to rely on. Elden Walkup is a fine prospect but it is doubtful if he could win under such pressure as the playoff will offer. The Buffaloes are strong in most departments of the game. Galveston is favored to whip Dallas, although the series promised to be close. The Buccaneers have "Andy Gump" Darrow, Frank Tubbs, and Hank Thormahlen, pitchers who are at their best in the crucial spots. Dallas' best bet for a winning playoff pitcher is Fred Stiehl, an erratic southpaw who relies on a cross-fire. Vangilder looks as the second best. Erickson, Whitehead, Barnabe and the others may have a good game in their salary wings for the playoff and again they may not. The Buccaneers have an edge in hitting. While Bonura is the big punch of the Steers at the plate, Galveston has Fausett, who leads the league in total hits, Goldberg, one of the leaders in runs batted in, Tuffy Huff, one of the most dangerous hitters in the league, and Tony Governor, another heavy slugger, to worry pitchers.

But few are the championship series in minor leagues that have been won by heavy hitting. Usually it is the pitching. It was pitching that gave Beaumont the title last year against Dallas. It was almost unbeatable hurling that gave Houston the flag in 1931. It was stout pitching that gave Fort Worth the 1930 pennant in a playoff with Wichita Falls.

Pitchers like Thormahlen, Greer, Darrow and Cvangros can hurl at least two games in a short series and be effective in both. Of course the round-robin playoff could develop into a bombardment of pitchers but it isn't likely, not when Galveston and Houston have set the pace all year because of boasting the league's best hurlers.

INJUNCTION GRANTED AUSTIN, Sept. 1. (AP)—Judge J. D. Moore of Travis county district court today temporarily enjoined George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, and all Texas tax collectors, from collection of a tax on coin operated vending and marble machines.

Hunters of City Are Gunning For Prairie Chickens

The yelping of bird dogs and the spluttering of starting cars long before daylight this morning, heralded the opening of the brief prairie chicken season. Cars loaded with hunters and dogs sped out of Pampa in nearly every direction before daybreak.

Cafes that opened early or stayed open all night were besieged with hungry hunters whose wives positively refused to get up and cook breakfast at that unearthly hour. Many had lunches packed in advance, however.

Roberts county and the south part of Gray county appeared to be the object of most hunting parties, although some started last night and headed for the south plains; where chickens are reported plentiful, particularly in counties near the New Mexico line.

The season lasts only four days, closing at dark Monday night.

Mrs. Ralph Cain and baby daughter left Woreley hospital today for their home at Noleette.

Mrs. N. M. Maddox of Miami was a recent Pampa shopper.

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES WILL FEATURE 1933 GRID SEASON

(This is the second of a series of three stories dealing with plans and prospects for the forthcoming college football season.)

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor. NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—With the Army squad answering the first practice call today at West Point, college gridiron forces throughout the country soon will be diligently at work preparing for the brick warfare of a cooler-charge against the depression that has gripped athletic budgets now for nearly three years.

Training starts in the southern and southeastern conference next Monday, September 4. The following fortnight will find most of the eastern and mid-western squads drilling. Some of them, like Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, and New York university, will enjoy the luxuries of secluded camps for practice. The old "Big Three," Yale, Princeton, and Harvard, still adhere to their September 15 agreement for the start of fall practice, but with growing reluctance. The ten members of the Pacific Coast conference begin workouts September 16.

The 1933 season will be featured by a colorful array of intersectional games with southern teams, as usual, setting the pace. They have scheduled a total of 42 contests with teams north or west of the old Dixie boundary.

Far western teams have a reduced but nevertheless choice intersectional slate. Southern California meets Georgia and Notre Dame, St. Mary's plays Southern Methodist and Fordham, Santa Clara engages Rice Institute and Stanford tackles Northwestern.

Army, Pittsburgh, Fordham and Navy, among the eastern leaders, play heavy intersectional schedules. Cornell renews an ancient series with Michigan.

Incidentally the Army-Illinois game at Cleveland and the Southern California-Notre Dame game at South Bend will be the highest-priced attractions of the season with box seats at a top price of $6.50 for each contest.

Latest reports in the Associated Press poll of ticket price trends add the Big Ten and Southeastern conference to the list of those making substantial reductions this year.

Admission prices in the Big Ten have been scaled down about 20 percent on the average, with each member fixing its own rate. Top price is $2.50 for the big games with box seats to sell at $3 in Michigan.

Ten of the 13 members of the Southeastern conference plan some reductions, varying from 10 percent at Tulane and Louisiana State to as high as 50 percent at Georgia for early season games. Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi State, Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech and Auburn also have announced ticket price cuts. Top prices in Dixie will be $2.25 but the average will be much lower.

Late Summer Brings Best "Buys" In Fresh Fruit for Family Menu

What are the best "buys" in fresh fruits? Now at the high time of the year for many fruits, there are bargains to suit even the low-cost food budgets. It's a case of studying the local market and using as much as you can of each fruit as it comes along, says the bureau of home economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

What your particular fruit bargains are just now depend upon where you live. Naturally the home-grown fruits will be the cheapest. This is blueberry time in New England, for example—other places, too—and blueberries grow wild.

Blackberries in some places will last on through September. Peaches, through the Georgia crop is gone, are now coming on the market from the north and middle west and west. So peaches can probably still go on your list of economical fruits. As to melons, cantaloupes now are in season all over the country, they are very cheap, and will be plentiful for another month or so. And watermelons, though past the peak of their season, will continue to be cheap in some localities. Then there are plums—damsons are cheap in some places, surely—and grapes—to serve fresh at breakfast, dinner, or supper, and to make into jam for winter.

Place Is Important.

We are likely to think of these fruits, most of them so juicy, as having little "substance," or food value, however delicious and refreshing. But blueberries—little blue brothers of the bright red cranberry—are a good source of iron, which is one of the most important mineral foods. So are blackberries and raspberries, while plums are a fair source, too.

Watermelon, juicier than anything else you can readily think of, and usually called "filling," but not very substantial, contains a fair amount of vitamin A and vitamin C, and also some of vitamins B and G. Cantaloupe is a good source of vitamins A, B, and C, and so are peaches. So the summer fruits have their own useful place as "protective" foods along with the juicy vegetables, even though not ranking quite so high as the best of the vegetables.

The fruits, however, as every housewife realizes, fit into one very important place that vegetables do not fill. Without cooking, with almost no preparation, fresh fruits are good desserts. Melons, peaches, and blackberries are useful also in fruit cups and salads. Of the long list of more elaborate fruit desserts, peach pie, peach cobbler, peach shortcake, blueberry pie, blueberry roll, blackberry pie, blackberry dumpling or cobbler, are among the all-time favorites.

But fruits have still other uses—more now than they used to have. At this season you may like to begin your breakfast with a slice of cantaloupe or a peach. In very hot weather, few things are more refreshing than a slice of watermelon or a salad of melon balls at lunch or dinner.

RECIPES.

Quick Blueberry Pudding.

1 quart blueberries, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice if desired.

Pick over the berries, wash, drain, mix with the sugar, water, and salt, and boil for 5 minutes. Combine the bread crumbs and butter, add to the hot fruit, stir until well mixed, and let stand on the back of the stove for about 30 minutes, but do not let the pudding cook. Add the lemon juice and serve the pudding while still warm with cream or top milk.

Blackberry Flummery.

2 cups blackberry juice, from cooked fresh blackberries, 1/2 cup sugar (if juice is unweetened), 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Heat the blackberry juice in a double boiler, add the sugar, cornstarch, and salt which have been thoroughly mixed, stir until the mixture thickens, cover, and cook for 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from the stove, add the lemon juice, beat well, and pour into a serving dish, and chill. Serve with cream or top milk.

Fresh Peach Tapioca.

1-4 cup quick-cooking tapioca, 3 cups water, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sliced fresh peaches.

Cook the tapioca and water in a double boiler for 15 minutes, add the sugar, butter, salt, and lemon juice. In a greased baking dish, make alternate layers of the tapioca and peaches with a layer of the peaches on top. Bake in a moderate oven until the peaches are tender or until lightly browned on top. Serve either hot or cold, with or without top milk.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Baked apples, cereal, cream, minced ham on toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Iced bouillon, salted crackers, macaroni baked with cheese, brown bread, blackberry cream puffs, milk, tea.

PIANO RECITAL TO BE TONIGHT AT M. E. CHURCH

Public Is Invited To Program By New Teacher

Miss Lorene McClintock will present a piano recital at First Methodist church this evening at 8 o'clock. Through error the woman's page yesterday announced the program for Thursday evening.

The public is invited to hear the recital, given as a preliminary to the opening of Miss McClintock's studio for the fall term. The young teacher arrived in Pampa this week and will conduct classes in the Rose building.

She is a spring honor graduate of Southern Methodist university, Dallas, where she made an unusual record as a piano student and was prominent in student activities. Her home is in Slaton.

Her program tonight will include these numbers:

Sarabande, Rameau-Godowsky. Sonata in A Major, Scarlatti-Ganz.

Pastorale (Angelus), Corelli-Godowsky.

Hommage a Rameau, Debussy. "La Chasse", Paganini-Liszt. Sonetto del Petrarca No. 104, Liszt. Rhapsodie in E Flat, Major, Brahms.

VISITORS TO BE HONORED

Women of Central Baptist church will be hostesses at a basket dinner at the church Sunday at noon, honoring Mrs. W. E. Cobb and Mrs. Ray Hungay. Both are visitors here, and formerly were Pampa residents and active workers in the church. Their friends are all invited to attend, bringing basket lunches.

William Hall of Noelette transacted business here this morning Wednesday afternoon, when girls started work on their bead projects, and planned for the outing.

Mrs. Fritz Waechter and Mrs. W. W. Smith will visit in Wichita Falls this week-end.

Girl Scouts Go Hiking and Cook Outdoor Supper

Hiking to a spot near Harvester park, Girl Scouts yesterday afternoon enjoyed ball games and a weiner roast.

They were accompanied by S. N. Bibens, Mrs. J. H. Blythe, and Miss Beth June Blythe. Elsie Moore was a guest.

Members present were Maynell Baird, Geraldine Jones, Doris Gee, Sarah Pafford, Sara Ellen Wills, Betty Jane Blythe, Dorothy Jo Moore, Annie Johnson, Pauline Stapp, Virginia Lang, Betty Ann Taggart, Dorothy Burton, Irene and Pearl Bibens.

The hike yesterday followed a regular meeting at the Blythe home Wednesday afternoon, when girls started work on their bead projects, and planned for the outing.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

THE vegetable-plate dinner that is well and carefully thought out makes a well balanced and attractive meal.

The woman who has her own garden can serve a vegetable-plate for almost no expenditure of money, and even the one who must buy her vegetables will find this type of meal economical.

When vegetables form the main part of a meal, the materials added are most important. A careful selection combines calories and mineral constituents in a satisfactory manner. Milk, eggs, or cheese usually are the main source of protein and may appear in an infinite variety of ways. The milk can be used in a cream soup, in a sauce for one of the vegetables, or in a dessert; or a glass of milk may be drunk as a beverage. Eggs can be used in combination with a vegetable in an omelet, in a salad or a dessert. Cheese can be grated over a vegetable, grated over toast, grated over a salad, or if pie is the dessert, served with it.

Vegetable Plate Menu

Poached eggs with spinach on toast, potato marie in parsley butter, creamed carrots, stuffed tomato salad, fresh fruit such as berries or sliced peaches, drop cookies, milk, tea or coffee.

Cut bread in slices about one-half inch thick and toast on both sides. Butter one side, cover this side with a thick layer of well seasoned finely chopped cooked spinach, making a depression in the center. Place a poached egg in

FORD SITUATION IS BIG PROBLEM OF MR. JOHNSON

Whether He'll Sign Code Interests Nation

By The Associated Press
A VETERAN front page figure has come back into the headlines in the person of Henry Ford.

China Is Site Of Current Film

"Shanghai Madness," the new Fox Film production, with Spencer Tracy in the stellar role, comes to the La-Nora theater today.

The story revolves around the exploits of an American naval officer who, through the intrigue and subtly that are characteristic of Shanghai, becomes involved in an affair that forces him to resign his command.

The young man finally does get a job on a gun-running ship. As the craft passes a medical mission down the river, a distress signal is seen and the gun-runner begins an attack.

Spencer Tracy, in the leading role of the young naval officer, has one of the most important parts in his career.

WILSON OFFERED TEXAN SUPREME COURT POSITION

T. W. Gregory Refused Because of Defective Hearing

AUSTIN, Sept. 1 (AP)—James V. Allred, attorney general of Texas, has brought back from Washington a posthumous story that adds to the lustre already settled about the life of the late Thomas Watt Gregory of Houston, product of Texas and lifelong beneficiary of the university of Texas.

The experience was related to Gregory Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, O., who was secretary of war in the cabinet of the late president, Woodrow Wilson, at the same time Mr. Gregory was attorney general in the same group.

Mr. Gregory was too modest to repeat the experience that came to him, a happening that touches few men. Baker told Allred, and it was so interesting Allred asked permission to quote Baker. The former cabinet member acquiesced.

Baker said that during President Wilson's regime there was a vacancy on the United States supreme court.

"The president said that Mr. Gregory had demurred because of a slight impediment in his hearing. He told the nation's chief that he believed one who sat on the exalted bench of the supreme court should be in possession of all his faculties, even to perfect hearing."

"The president told me he pointed out to Mr. Gregory that the supreme court room was not spacious and that he was certain he could hear every word uttered by attorneys in their presentations, but Mr. Gregory insisted one who could not hear distinctly should not sit on the bench."

Texas never has had a member of the United States supreme court.

Powder Charge Fifty Years Old Taken From Gun

FLOYDADA, Sept. 1. (AP)—The black powder charge and wadding crammed into the barrel of a muzzle-loading shot gun almost 50 years ago recently was removed by Ben Roberts of Floydada after the old hunting piece had been handled carelessly for a year.

Scraps of newspaper had been used for wadding. One piece bore the date 1885. The gun contained no shot, but an overcharge of powder would have discharged the wadding with enough force to make it dangerous, Roberts said.

Roberts obtained the gun in New Mexico. It is one of a collection of relics.

Birmingham, Ala., playgrounds had an attendance of 76,792 a week in July.

HARVESTER GRID PROSPECTS TO SCRIMMAGE 'EXES' TOMORROW AFTERNOON

VETERANS WILL ASSIST COACH IN INSTRUCTION

WORKOUT TO BEGIN AT HARVESTER PARK AT 4 O'CLOCK

The 1933 Harvester prospects will scrimmage a group of former Harvester players at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Harvester park. The boys will return from Camp Mel B. Day's in time for the workout. They have been working out for the last week and are fast rounding into shape.

Starting Monday afternoon, not only the 40 boys who attended the camp but the boys who were not selected, will continue practice at Harvester park. Coach Odus Mitchell has not set the hour of practice.

The "Exes" have an array of talent that should give the 1933 prospects plenty of pointers on how the game is played. Their coach, C. O. Busby, will field a team of 1933 graduates and also a team of boys from "wayback".

Graduates from last year's team will include Wayne Kelley, Clovis Green, Hoot Fullingim, Gerdis Schmidt, Philip Powell, Siler Faulkner, Walton Heard, Rufus Walker, J. D. Wright, Harry Nelson, Carmen Howard, Sam Turner, Robert Woodard, Preston Owens, Dick Sulins, Tuke Salsbury, H. L. Ledrick, and Bill Kelly.

An array of players that made football history for Pampa high school in past years will also be available and will make up a team of their own. Such names as Don Salsbury, Albert Lard, Ray Chastain, Archie Lee, Walcott, Henry Ayres, Bob Mullen, Jones Seitz, Orrin Barnard, Al Duncan, Jim Ayers, Dinty Moore, Bill Barnett and others will appear on the lineup.

Coach Odus Mitchell believes the scrimmage will be good for the prospects. It will not be a game or even a real scrimmage but will be more of a school of instruction for the coming team with the veterans acting as assistant instructors.

A hard scrimmage followed running of plays at camp yesterday afternoon and the coaches were well pleased with the showing of some of their charges. The ball totting ability of Bert Stevens and Bill Demay was demonstrated while a newcomer, Dick Sulins, Chubby Stewart, looked like a good prospect. He is a brother of the famous Heber Stewart of LeFors. He is a freshman and weighs 175 pounds and likes the fullback position. Several linemen are showing they have ability but Coach Angus Fox has a job on his hands working on a green bunch.

The boys were still "eating their heads off" and not a few have gained back six to 10 pounds lost during hard work this summer. There will be more weight available than anticipated but it is green.

DALLAS MOVES BACK INTO TIE FOR 3RD PLACE

BUCS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL WITH SAN ANTONIO

By The Associated Press. The second place Galveston Buccaneers tried hard to make a clean sweep of a double header with the San Antonio Missions yesterday, sending Jorgens back in the second game to attempt the iron man stunt after he had held the Missions to five hits in the first game, winning 5 to 2.

The attempt failed, however, as the Missions pounded him hard from the beginning of the second game and Darrow and Hutchinson were called upon to finish the job. San Antonio won 8 to 1, the game being called at the end of the fifth inning to permit the teams to make train schedules.

Aided by the batting of Zeke Bonura, who got three hits, the Dallas Steers swept both ends of a double header from the Tulsa Oilers and moved back into a tie with San Antonio for third place in the standings. The scores were 5 and 4 and 5 and 3. By winning, the Steers broke a three-game losing streak and virtually clinched a first division berth.

Chambers was too much for the Oklahoma City tribesmen, holding them to three hits, and Fort Worth won the final game of the series, 3 to 1. Kennedy and Benton also pitched fine ball, holding the Cats to six hits.

The league leading Houston Buffaloes were idle, rain having caused a postponement of their game with the exporters at Beaumont.

BRAVES DEFEAT GIANTS 7-3 IN FIRST BATTLE

BOTH TEAMS CRIPPLED BY LOSS OF GOOD PLAYERS

By The Associated Press. Both crippled by serious casualties, the Boston Braves and New York Giants resumed their vital national league series at Boston today with much depending on untried reserves.

Victorious yesterday, 7 to 3, in the first battle of the six game engagement the Braves trailed the Giants by only five games with the knowledge that their well rounded pitching staff was intact while New York's big four had begun to show signs of overwork.

The rival managers were forced to call out their replacements, however, as the result of accidents which will keep two of their star players out of the game for the remainder of the season.

Randy Moore, one of Boston's slugging outfielders suffered a fractured bone in his right hand, when he was hit by one of Leroy Parmelee's pitches, while Johnny Vergez, Giants' star third baseman, was recovering from a hurried appendix operation last night.

This unexpected turn of events left much for speculation regarding the five remaining games, which will be played in three days—two today. Manager Bill Terry was expected to plug the hole in the Giants' infield with little Bernie James, a good defensive player but no match for Vergez at the plate. Joe Mowry, the $50,000 purchase from St. Paul, was Bill McKechnie's choice to replace Moore in the Braves' right garden. Labeled as a hitter in the minors, Mowry hardly can be expected to equal Moore's brilliant defensive play.

The Giants-Braves game overshadowed the rest of the major league program although the Pittsburgh Pirates completed their sweep of the Phillies to remain one and one-half games back of the Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals closed in with a double victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In contrast to their previous pitching duels, the Pirates took a 13 to 11 slugfest from the Phils for the Corsairs' fifth straight victory. Chick Klein hit his 25th homer to keep pace with Berger. The Cards had little trouble beating the Dodgers 10 to 3 and 10 to 4. In the first game they were aided by three errors by Louis Frey, southern association recruit shortstop.

In the American league, the Boston Red Sox finally succeeded in winning their first game at the Yankee stadium, walloping the champions 15 to 2 to drop them eight and one-half games back of the idle Senators. Bunching seven of their 12 hits in two innings, the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 1.

All other teams were idle.

Harold Gregory and McSkimming To Play Sunday

Harold Gregory and F. P. McSkimming will meet at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Cabot court in a match to decide the city singles tennis champion. The two players reached the finals in their respective divisions in the city tennis tournament.

The two players use a different type of play and the match should be an interesting one. Gregory, high school champion, uses a hard, smashing game while McSkimming plays a cautious, placement game.

Gregory went into the finals by taking three fast sets from Roy Webb Jr. McSkimming won his way to the top of the senior division with a win over Rev. Joseph Wonderly.

Both players are also in the city championship finals in the doubles events. McSkimming will team with Potts, 57-year-old veteran, to meet Gregory and Webb. The date of the doubles finals has not been set.

PHILLIPS TEAM HAS DEFEATED PAMPA THRICE

GRUDGE GAME SET FOR DANCIGER PARK ON SUNDAY

Dave Johnson, Danciger right-hander, will probably get the call to start against the Berger-Phillips "66" team here Sunday afternoon when the Roadrunners' Jonah team comes to Danciger park for a game, scheduled to start at 3 o'clock. Johnson worked a few innings against Berger Monday night in the final game of the Berger tournament and he had the "66" boys swinging wild and often.

The elongated right-hander received an injured elbow in the second game of the tournament last week and it was thought he would be out for the rest of the season. However, the bruise responded to treatment and Johnson looks like a real find. He came here from Hugo, Okla., a few weeks ago and signed with the Roadrunners. He is a former member of the San Antonio team in the Texas league.

Aaron Ward, a member of the New York Yankees for 10 years prior to 1927, has been named manager of the Roadrunner team for the rest of the season and will be in charge of the team on the field Sunday afternoon. He may make a change in the lineup.

The Phillips team has won three out of the four games lost by the Roadrunners this season and the local boys are "fighting" mad. Roadrunner park is in the best condition of the year after the heavy rains last week-end. The diamond has been worked over and the team went through a stiff workout yesterday afternoon.

Admission to the big game will be 40 cents. The grand stand will seat between 300 and 400 fans and there will be plenty of parking space for cars.

Roadrunners officials have not matched a game for Monday but are in touch with two or three teams.

NATIONAL CUP IS MANAGED BY FOREIGN SQUAD

FRANK SHIELDS PICKED AS REAL DEFENDER OF TITLE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—America's singles stars headed by Ellsworth Vines and Frank Shields, are called upon to repel the sturdiest foreign challenge to the national tennis championships here since France galloped off with the crown three times in a row from 1926 through 1928.

Starting on the west side Tennis Club's famous courts tomorrow, Vines, Shields and their compatriots must overcome the picked forces of England, Australia and Japan if the trophy is to remain in this country. Most dangerous of the invaders are Jack Crawford of Australia, French and British titleholder, and Fred Perry of England, whose recent defeat of Henri Cochet in the challenge round cost France the Davis cup.

Vines, in his role of defending champion, is seeded first in the domestic list but there is a general feeling that the bulk of the American defense will rest on Shields' shoulders.

The big New Yorker has flashed the greatest tennis of his career this season. Unbeaten on grass, he has won the Crescent-Hampton, Seabright, Meadow club, Newport tournaments in succession. At Newport he defeated Vines and Wilmer Allison on successive days. If he can hold his form through the next seven playing days he will be a dangerous foe for all and sundry.

Vines' play has been too spotty this season to warrant any prediction that he will win the title for the third consecutive year but the Californian can not be counted out entirely in view of his fine performance in the East-West matches yesterday.

Seeded behind Vines and Shields in the American list are Allison, Cliff Sutter, Frankie Parker, Sidney Wood, Lester Stofen, Gregory Manjin, George Lott and Bryan Grant.

Crawford and Perry head the foreign seeded list which is completed by Jiro Satch, Japan; Harold Geo. Newcombe Lee, England; Ryosuke Nunoi, Japan; Vivian McGrath, Australia; E. Ichi, Japan; Adrian Guist, Australia; Don Turnbull, Australia, and E. R. Avory, England.

All Stars Must Face Twitty's Strikeout Ace

Lefty Blair, former member of the Danciger Roadrunner ball team, will probably take the mound for the Pampa All Stars when they go to Shamrock tomorrow to meet the Twitty ball club in the first game of the Cotton-Oh league play-off series. The Pampa entry won the first half of the league race and Twitty took the closing half.

Dorman, youthful 'strikeout king' of the league, will be on the mound for Twitty. He has been defeated only three times this season and has 125 strikeouts to his credit during league play.

A second game will be played in Shamrock Sunday afternoon with the third game set to be played in Pampa Tuesday afternoon.

Indians To Play Twin Bill With Groom on Sunday

Groom's fast little ball team will come to Pampa Sunday afternoon for a doubleheader with the Pampa Indians. The first game will be called at 2 o'clock. Games will be played on the Talley addition diamond.

The Indians split a doubleheader with Groom last Sunday in Groom and the games Sunday will be the return engagement. Manager C. O. Busby will have Marbaugh, Trenary and W. Kelly ready for mound duty. He has not named his starters.

Several of the team members are attending football camp and may be a little stiff for baseball but they always put out the best they have, which has made them popular all season.

Mrs. A. H. Brady of Groom shopped here this morning.

Tournament Will Be Held on New Canadian Course

Canada's new $10,000 municipal golf course will be formally opened Sunday with an invitation tournament, open to players of the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma. Cash prizes in addition to valuable prizes will be given.

A nine-hole qualifying round will be played Sunday morning with 18 holes of tournament play scheduled for the afternoon. The 32 low medal scores in the morning will qualify for championship play during the afternoon.

The new Canadian course is one of the sportiest in this section of the state. A group of Pampa players went to Canadian Sunday and report the course a "beauty." It is likely that several Pampa players will make the trip to Canadian Sunday.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: David.
Scripture Lesson: 1 Samuel 16: 4-13; Ps. 78:70-72.

1 Sam. 16:4. And Samuel did that which Jehovah spake, and came to Bethlehem. And the elders of the city came to meet him trembling, and said, Comest thou peacefully?

5. And he said, Peaceably; I come to sacrifice unto Jehovah; sanctify yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice.

6. And it came to pass, when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely Jehovah's anointed is before him.

7. But Jehovah said unto Samuel, look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have rejected him; for Jehovah seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but Jehovah looketh on the heart.

8. Then Jesse called Abinadab, and made him pass before Samuel. And he said, Neither hath Jehovah chosen this.

9. Then Jesse made seven of his sons to pass before Samuel. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Jehovah hath not chosen these.

11. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Are here all thy children? And he said, There remaineth yet the youngest, and, behold, he is keeping the sheep. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Send and fetch him; for we will not sit down till he come hither.

12. And he sent, and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, and withal of a beautiful countenance, and goodly to look upon. And Jehovah said, Arise, anoint him; for this is he.

13. Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren; and the Spirit of Jehovah came mightily upon David from that day forward. So Samuel rose up, and went to Ramah.

Psalm 78:70. He chose David also his servant, and took him from the shepherds.

71. From following the ewes that have their young he brought him, to be the shepherd of Jacob his people, and Israel his inheritance.

72. So he was their shepherd according to the integrity of his heart, and guided them by the skilfulness of his hands.

Golden Text: Man looketh on the outward appearance, but Jehovah looketh on the heart.—1 Sam. 16:7.

Time: Birth of David, B. C. 1092. David's death, B. C. 1023.

Place: Bethlehem, Hebron, Jerusalem.

Subject: David, the Shepherd Boy, Chosen King.

Introduction
We come now to one of the greatest men of all time and one of the most romantic of all biographies. David was not only the greatest of Israel's kings, he ranked with Moses and Samuel among the greatest personalities of Hebrew history. He was one of the world's most glorious warriors and a skilful administrator. His reign would shine in the history of any nation. The close of our last lesson saw the final meeting between Saul and prophet Samuel. The latter returned from Gath to his home at Ramah, but was not allowed to remain there long before a most perplexing summons came to him from the Lord. He was bidden to anoint a new king over Israel to take the place of the perfidious Saul. Thereupon the Lord bade him go to Bethlehem, and there anoint as the new king the one of Jesse's sons whom God would point out to him.

David and Goliath
David's famous duel with Goliath was the beginning of his fame and also of much trouble. It is not proper to recount the details of his encounter. Suffice it to say that David's victory in the face of the cowardice of the Israelites, the jeers of his brethren, and the contempt of his enemy was most impressive; it was all the more so because he spurned a warrior's armor, fought in his own uniform, with his own weapons, and trusted God for the victory. It was quite natural that he should become the hero of the people and that his deed should be celebrated in song.

David, Saul's Successor
Following the death of Jonathan and his two brothers and the spectacular suicide of Saul on Mount Gilboa, came David's beautiful lamentation in which he remembered Saul just as tenderly as he did the devoted Jonathan. Almost immediately the men of Judah invited David to become their king. He set up his capital in historic Hebron, strengthened his position by some diplomatic marriages, and fortified himself in anticipation of the time when he could become king of all Israel.

The separate kingdom of Israel having fallen of its own weight of inefficiency, the leaders of the tribes came to David to become their king. David, therefore, made a league with them (a constitutional monarchy), and was anointed king over all Israel. Only thirty years of age, this vigorous ruler inaugurated a policy for Israel that stamped him as the master ruler of his people.

"Thou, God, Seest Me"
"Jehovah seeth not as man seeth." v. 7. He is all-wise. The secrets of all hearts are open to him. The history of all our hidden acts is read by him at a glance. "Thou God seest me," and, seeing, dost know me perfectly. "For man looketh on the outward appearance." Of necessity, on account of our mortal limitations, to us "a man may smile and smile, and be a villain still."

"But Jehovah looketh on the heart." "The character, therefore, ought to be the principal object of your attention. Not how you look, but what you are, ought to be the first care of your lives; for if you have a selfish disposition, a sordid soul, or a sinful life, your outward beauty will be like a jewel in a swine's snout; and your bodily vigor will only be like the strength of a safe in which nothing worth preserving is locked up."—Rev. William M. Taylor, D. D.

The Boy That Was Chosen
"Behold, he is keeping the sheep." All through the Bible we see honor paid to lowly toilers. The greatest king of Israel was a lowly shepherd boy. Joseph had tended sheep before him. Saul was a farmer. So was Elshah. So was Amos. Our Lord was a carpenter. His chief disciples were fishermen. Paul was a tentmaker. "The peaceful stillness of nature amid which, tending his father's flocks, David spent his days, and often also the mild, starry nights, favored the penetration into the secrets of the divine revelation. His heart, moved and directed from above, already poured itself out in sacred song and poem, which he sang to the accompaniment of his harp, to the praise of that God before whom from his childhood he had learned to bow the knee."

David's Spiritual Power
"And the Spirit of Jehovah came mightily upon David from that day forward." "It is interesting to note the kind of sacramental significance in this ordinance. There is clearly a connection in it with the gift of the Spirit of God, who gave power to the anointed one. A change passed upon David in consequence, a change which—amid whatever sins—was permanent. Under similar circumstances a change had passed upon Saul, only that in this case—owing to his disobedience—the divine gift at his anointing became a curse and not a blessing."—Canon W. J. Knox Little.

"This blessed anointing for service cannot be ours except there has been a previous gracious work on the heart. There must be the new life—the life of God. There must be docility, humility, fidelity to duty, cleansing from known sin, and a close walk with God. The descending flame must fall upon the whole burnt-offering of a consecrated life. Be careful to obey God's least prompting, whether to do or suffer, that you be prepared for the golden moment when your meek head shall be suddenly bathed in the descending chrism."—Rev. F. B. Meyer, D. D.

David A Type of Christ
1. He is called the "Lord's anointed," and "Anointed" is what the word "Christ" means. "Christ" is English; Christos is Greek; "Messiah" is Hebrew; they all mean the same thing.

2. He was a type of Christ in uniting in one person the offices of prophet, priest and king.

3. He was a type of Christ in the trials and sufferings of the preparation for his reign.

4. He was a type of Christ in the expressions in the Psalms of the agony of the Messianic sufferings.

5. He was a type of Christ in that he was God's representative to man, and man's representative to God.

6. He marked the place of Christ's birth, Bethlehem, by being born there himself.—Carroll.

LUCKY SIGN
BERLIN—A good omen for the new regime is seen in the fact that storks have multiplied in Germany along with the growth of the Hitler movement, says the Deutsche Jaeger Zeitung, a sporting journal. In eastern Saxony alone, the number of stork's nests have more than doubled in the last five years.

What Does Good Food Mean To Your Home?

The satisfaction of the family appetite is certainly of much importance. Their health and happiness depend on the quality of food you serve them. We want you to know that Furr Food Stores' service is based on a policy that carries through to your kitchen. The immediate sale is but an incident—the final result on your table is our main concern. At your table, with your family, you determine the real value of a worthy food service. It is there that the dependability of your grocer and butcher is thoroughly tested and accurately measured. There, each Furr Food Store Sale is completed. We will be closed all day Monday, Labor Day.

The HIDDEN DOOR

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Colin Hewitt, disguised as a crook, Clarkie Lunn, is told by Benny Malone that the man Colin knocked out in Spinel's club was Sergeant Mulvey of Homeless Squad. Colin hopes to track down the Mask, ruler of New York's underworld, because the Mask has threatened Colin's life. Benny is an agent of the Mask's; in return for Colin's help at Spinel's he promises to introduce him into the gang which he controls for the Mask. As a preliminary, Colin is sent to have lunch at a certain restaurant.

Chapter 34
A PACKAGE OF W. P.'S
Colin had obeyed. He had been under observation at the restaurant that was obvious enough, but he did not know by whom or whether by one or many. The later, or the afternoon, Benny Malone had telephoned again, and this time had given him the street and number of a tobacco store where he was to report at half past seven that evening.

If no other customer was in his store at the time, he had been instructed to ask for a package of W. P.'s—otherwise he was to make any purchase he liked that would serve as a pretext for his presence here and wait until he was alone with the proprietor.

Colin's lips compressed on the tips of his cigarette. A package of W. P.'s! The Wine Press! Cap a Crage had taught him that! This was more than the thin edge of the wedge—it looked like a wide-flung door with "Welcome" blazoned on the doorpost. Or was it the old, old story of the spider and the fly?

It was nearly half-past seven now and he glanced around him. He was approaching an old, elongated, wo-story frame building with doric windows, a relic of New York's early days, that flanked a modern six-story tenement.

It looked as though it had been built into two houses—at least there were two entrances, one at either end—but, while the one nearer him opened a narrow porch before its door, the one at the far end seemed to be that of a store, and, judging from the way the house and tenement numbers had been running, it obviously must be the tobacco store he was looking for.

His glance, apparently casual, was suddenly critical, absorbing details. He was abreast of the porch now. An old white-haired man, the only person in the neighborhood who it would seem, did not feel the heat, for he wore a rusty black, habby Prince Albert coat buttoned tightly around him, sat there on the porch in a rocking chair, a cane across his knees, intent upon a newspaper which he was reading through steel-rimmed spectacles that straggled far down on his nose.

The man did not look up as Colin passed by. Colin did not alter his pace. A curious place, this! Besides the two entrances he had already noted, there was also a third one he now saw, in about the center of the building—a basement entrance from the sidewalk.

This was wide open, and over the lead of the doorway at the bottom of the steps there was a "Shoes to Mend" sign. The obvious questions flashed into his mind. If this was the Wine Press, was the cobbler own there a factor—also the old man on the porch?

He halted now in front of the store. The window display had a heap of newspapers. White painted stenciling on the panes, the paint carefully discolorable on many a leaf, proclaimed the fact that one Michael Barney dealt in cigars, cigarettes, pipes and tobacco.

It was the store he was looking for undoubtedly—and through the window Colin could see that there was no one inside at the moment except a wisened little man with red hair who stood behind one of the counters.

Colin mounted the three steps from the sidewalk, opened the door and entered, and shut the door behind him. It was a small place, respectably did not seem to lurk in its sordid showcases or on the none so generously stocked shelves, here was a public telephone booth a one corner at the rear. Colin nodded pleasantly. The man with the red hair was looking at him squintingly from across the counter.

"I'd like a package of W. P.'s," Colin requested.
The man nodded in return.
"You're Clarkie Lunn, ain't you?"
"Yes," said Colin.
"I'm Barney," announced the trail to be blazed now so that even Clarkie Lunn could follow it?

He shook his head.
"Maybe I'm dumb," he admitted. "Who is the Mask?"
Benny Malone reared himself upright on the sofa and leaned forward toward Colin.
"Listen!" he said. "There's something doing tonight, but before that, there's a lot of things you've got to know. You've got to know the rules and regulations, and I'm here ahead of the others to give you the low-down. You got the okay today. You said you wanted it."

"Well, you're in. You're on the payroll now, and you get a bunch of kale every month besides a cut on every job that's pulled—so long as you don't hurt the feelings of the big boys. Which wouldn't be so good! I'd hate to see Clarkie Lunn come riding back from the country in a morgue wagon like I have seen some."
"I should worry about that!" declared Clarkie Lunn confidently. "Go on and spiel."

"Alright," responded Benny Malone. "Just keep your fingers crossed, that's all. What was I saying? Oh, yes. You wanted to know who the Mask is? Well, you will have to ask me another. I do not know."
"None of us knows—except the big shots that he gives the orders to. And they ain't telling. I've never seen him, but he's always jake with the coin. All I know is that he runs a lot of mobs from this hangout, and that each mob has its own big shot and—Benny Malone grinned suddenly—"here's one of them now."

Colin swung around in his chair. A man stood there in the doorway—a familiar figure. Colin, stimulating mild interest while mentally he seemed to be suddenly upside down, reached nonchalantly into his pocket for a cigarette. It was Helmie Schwarm, the booze baron.
"Hello, Helmie," said Benny Malone. "Meet Clarkie Lunn. He's traveling with Buck from now on."
Helmie Schwarm came forward into the room as Colin lunged up from his chair.
"Saw him with you last night, Benny," said Helmie Schwarm generally, then, extending his hand to Colin: "Good boy! Too bad Harry got the bracelets after all."

"What's that?" rasped Benny Malone as he jumped up suddenly from the sofa. "When did you hear of that?"
"About an hour ago."
"Hell," snarled Benny Malone. "Where did they make the pinch?"
"Pulled him off a train this afternoon just before he got to the border," Helmie Schwarm answered unexcitedly. "He was making for somewhere up in Canada. I haven't got the details yet. But don't break your face scowling, Benny, it'll cost something, but both Colin and Harry'll be taken care of all right."
"Maybe," admitted Benny Malone sourly.
Helmie Schwarm laughed.
"You've seen it done before, haven't you? You ought to know! Forget it! Has Buck come in yet? He said he'd be here."
"I haven't seen him. Maybe he's upstairs."

"Hes not up there," stated Helmie. "I just came from there."
"Well, then, he hasn't come in yet."
Helmie Schwarm pulled a sealed envelope from his pocket and handed it to Benny Malone.
"All right," he said. "There's too much doing tonight, and I can't wait. Give him that, tell him it's the dope he wanted, and that I'll have everything ready for him. Understand?"

"Sure," said Benny Malone, "leave it to me. So long, Helmie!"
"So long," returned Helmie, and with a nod to Colin, he left the room.
"That's tough about Harry!" said Benny Malone morosely as he dropped back on the sofa.
Colin sat down again.
"It sure is," he agreed, "but I guess from what this fellow Helmie said, it'll be fixed up without much trouble. And speaking of Harry, has Detective Sergeant Mulvey been nosing around for you today?"
Benny Malone permitted a grin to drive away his morose expression.
"Nothing doing!" he answered. "So it's a cinch he didn't get my number last night."
"That's good," said Colin heartily. He paused for a drag on his cigarette, then apologetically: "Look here. I guess there's a lot I've got to be wised up on. Whos this Helmie—and whas his other name? You didnt mention it."
"Schwarm," said Benny Malone. "Helmie Schwarm. He's a foam czar. Every bootlegger in town knows him. He runs the suds and hard-stuff racket for the Mask."

Colin dragged again on his cigarette. His mind was probing rapidly. Striving to bring order out of confusion. Last night at Spinel's—Dollaire and Helmie Schwarm together—Helmie Schwarm one of the Mask's big shots—what was the Mask's game? No answer—but not nice for Dollaire, whatever it was! "I see," he nodded. "And whos Buck? You said something about me traveling with him from now on?"
"Buck O'Mara," explained Benny Malone. "He's the big shot of our mob—and a damned square shooter. You'll like him."
"I hope that'll go double," said Colin earnestly. "What's our mob particular racket?"
It was growing dark, Benny Malone got up and switched on an electric light.
"Anything—everything," he replied with a short laugh. "Where'er we're needed. You'll see, and you'll get your first work-out tonight."
"Well, then," asked Colin complacently, "what's doing tonight?"
Benny Malone shook his head.
"I don't know—yet. We'll get our orders from Buck. I put never mind about that. I've got to finish giving you the low-down on this dump before he comes in. It used to be a pretty hot joint that was named the Wine Press—we call it W. P., get me? And it was all fixed up with passages and half a dozen ways to get in and out—playing the boots for suckers, you understand?"

"The booze being the slumming parties that blew down from Fifth Avenue way looking for shivers and thrills and thinking they were naughty. That cobbler's shop, that you saw when you came along, used to be a groto all got up fancy with low lights and a secret way out and a way into here—both of which same are still useful. Solly down there was one of the bunch that was giving you the once-over at lunch, and he'll pass you in that way any time it's necessary. He cobbles all right—see?—but that ain't the way he makes his money."
"It sounds swell!" Colin exclaimed eagerly. "Go on, Benny, keep on shooting. It looks like the place had been made to order. How did the Mask get onto it?"

"Hello, Clarkie!" Benny Malone called out with a grin. "We meet again. How d'ye like your lunch?"
Colin grinned back.
"You're all to the good, Benny. I was getting the once-over, eh?"
"Sure! I'll say you were. But the gate's wide open for you now. Sit down but leave the door open. Some of the boys are blowing in by and by. Sorry I can't flash a drink, he dropped an eyelid—"but this dump is on the level. Booze, cards—and skirts is ruled out."
"Mr. and Mrs. Barney are just a quiet old pair—got a bedroom where they sleep, and a kitchen where they eat, just behind here along the hall, and a couple of rooms upstairs just because they're there, that they rent sometimes to roomers. There ain't much dough in running a tobacco emporium in these parts. Poor but honest, get me? The pastor of their church comes around regular to see 'em—the cops gave that up long ago!"
Colin slumped down in a chair. "You mean they're in the know?" he inquired.
Benny Malone laughed.
"What d'ye think! Just as much as I am—or you ever will be unless you get picked out for one of the Mask's big shots. They're undercover stuff."

Chapter 35
THE MASK AGAIN
The Mask! The name had dropped offhandedly, unexpectedly, from Benny Malone's lips. Colin had talked to the man once before on a certain night about the Mask—but, on that occasion, or not what could be exactly described as confidential terms! How far was the

"Knew aout it. I suppose, when it was running full blast back in the old days," Benny Malone answered with a shrug of his shoulders. "That's a long time ago—before the war, and before the booze law started making money for us. I guess there aren't many even around here that remember the name it went by then. "When the law came in against it, the people who were running the place kept on selling booze just the same until they got pinched enough times to make them quit cold. Then somebody else tried to run it on the level as a restaurant and it was a flop. It wasn't good for anything the way it was. It was put up for sale, and I guess it went cheap—or else old Keppelstein would never have bought it! "He made two houses out of it, but he didn't spend any more on alterations than he had to, so he left this part a good deal like it was, except that he put in a store

White House Dog Bites Passer-By

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Harry William Johnson is telling his friends to beware of White House dogs. He explains that while passing the mansion yesterday, he reached through the fence to pat Major, President Roosevelt's German shepherd. Major bit. Seven stitches were taken in the lacerated fingers of Johnson's right hand. Major is credited with snapping at Senator Hattie Caraway last April. Since then, however, an operation was believed to have cured his biting tendencies. Johnson, attorney, said he contemplated no legal action against the write house.

Lott Is Fourth Time National Doubles Champ

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 1 (AP)—Short-legged George M. Lott Jr. of Chicago, today started on his fourth term as a national doubles champion, a record equalled only by Bill Tilden since the abandonment of the challenge round, the dividing mark that separates ancient and modern tennis in this country. Like Tilden, Lott's four titles were won with three partners but George's last appeared a bit more impressive than that of the Philadelphia superstar, for he teamed up with his latest partner, Janky Lester Stofen of Los Angeles, only two weeks ago at New port. This combination paired at the request of Bernon S. Prentice, U. S. Davis cup team captain, who has already started planning for next year's international competition. Although Lott is generally recognized as the world's outstanding

Rebekahs Enjoy All-Day Quilting

An all-day meeting of the Rebekah club, with a covered dish luncheon at noon, was enjoyed by members and guests Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Burch. The day was spent quilting. Present were Mesdames, Walter P. Hogue, C. F. Clausen, Jane Hall, C. D. Hall, Robert Woodward, A. C. McNally, Roy Sullivan, F. H. Paronto, John Beverly, W. J. Brown, W. M. Governor Pleads For Traffic Care As Schools Open

AUSTIN, Sept. 1 (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today issued a proclamation pleading with Texans to use caution and guard against carelessness as safety measures, now that children soon will be abroad going to and from school. "To thousands of parents, teachers, and hundreds of thousands of children September is significant chiefly because it is the month in which our great public school system resumes its responsibilities," the governor wrote in her proclamation. "It seems a fitting time for a warning of traffic dangers and for cautioning drivers and pedestrians against the carelessness which is responsible for practically all traffic accidents."

Amateur Rodeo At Canadian To Attract Crowds

CANADIAN, Sept. 1 (AP)—Contestants are entering daily in the amateur rodeo to be held at Canadian on Labor day, according to M. W. McIntyre, secretary of the event. Although it is not a regular Anvil Park attraction, J. C. Studer and sons have leased their cattle, bucking horses and the arena. The event is sponsored by the Hemphill County Fair association to finance their annual fair to be held this fall. All proceeds will be turned to the fair association of which R. T. Alexander is president. The recent rains have helped to fatten the bucking horses and the calves and undoubtedly they will give the rodeo hands plenty to think about. The large grandstand will accommodate a huge crowd and furnish ample shade so that all spectators will be seated in comfort out of the sun. The best of the cowboys in the Panhandle have entered and with Orin Thompson as arena director, the crowd is assured of thrills and spills as well as some fast calf roping and real bronc twisting.

REPEAL MIGHT BE A FACT BY DECEMBER 5-6

FIFTEEN STATES HAVE VOTED BY NOVEMBER 8

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—A clear-cut possibility that the eighteenth amendment could be voted void within the next 10 weeks emerged today from the three-one repeal majority cast by voters representing nearly three-fifths of the nation's population. The today recording of Washington as the twenty-fourth state to ballot in favor of the twenty-first or repealing amendment carried the anti-prohibition surge across two-thirds of the distance to its goal. At least 15 or more states will vote before November 8 and today a minimum of three more than necessary for repeal—should the uninterrupted procession of the first 24 be continued. New England became the focal point of national wet and dry interest before November 8 and today sharpened sentiment for early September balloting. They were the first of seven states to vote within the next three weeks. One-Sided Population Should 12 of the 15 states sure to vote before the eighth of November follow the line of the first 24, the prohibition amendment would be formally abolished on December 5 or 6. Three ratifying conventions meet on Dec. 5 and two more on the 6th. Statistics adding up and analyzing before November 8 and today that although only half the states had abolished, more than 72,000,000 of the nation's 122,697,190 population lived within their borders of the basis of the 1930 census. The popular vote in the 24 recorded states stands in round numbers at 8,900,000 in favor of repeal to 3,000,000 against. These figures, of course, do not include the recordings in Nevada and Wyoming, where delegates were elected by mass meetings and county conventions. On the basis of present voting dates, all but nine states holding 14,565,076 of the nation's population will have balloted by November 8. These nine include Kansas and Louisiana. Kansas Action Planned Governor Landon has called a special session of the Kansas legislature to meet in September, and probably a voting day will be set during the present year. Governor O. K. Allen of Louisiana has stated he also would call a special session. Should both these states vote this year, only about 30,000,000 of the population would not have been given an opportunity to ballot on repeal during this period. Here are the election days already established during the next 10 weeks: Vermont, Sept. 5; Maine Sept. 11; Colorado, Maryland and Mississippi, Sept. 12; Idaho and New Mexico, Sept. 19; Virginia, Oct. 3; Florida, Oct. 10; North and South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah and Kentucky (tentative), Nov. 7.

Deer Trapped On Ledge Of Cliff Declines Help

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—A wild deer's innate distrust of man today threatened to defeat efforts to rescue a sensitive seven-point buck from a hazardous ledge in Watkins Glen state park where he has been trapped for seven days. Although he nimbly trots back and forth along his narrow runway unconcerned while scores of visitors, attracted by his predicament, watch him from the opposite side of the gorge a few feet away, his fear of man has blocked every plan of rescue. He becomes so terrified when approached that his wild-bee ressure have to give up their efforts for fear he will leap to his death in the torrent 200 feet below. It was fear of a dog that drove him and his mate into the perilous position from which he cannot escape and it was fear that caused his mate to hurt herself down through the gorge to a rocky death. The big buck is skeptical about eating succulent ears of sweet corn, one of his favorite foods, because they have been placed there by man; he prefers to slake his thirst with the dew from foliage rather than drink the water lowered over the cliff to him; he spurs the bridge which was thrown across the chasm in the hope that he would venture across it to safety; most of all he fears any attempt to approach him.

REORGANIZING OF NRA BEGUN BY OFFICIALS

ASSISTANT QUILTS AFTER DIFFERENCE WITH JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Child labor was history today in hundreds of thousands of business establishments.

Every signer of President Roosevelt's re-employment agreement—estimated by NRA officials at around 1,000,000—was pledged not to employ children under 16 years. Other hundreds, functioning under codes and modified agreements, similarly pledged, though in some instances allowed to employ children from 14 to 16 outside school hours.

Marking the day, too, was a definite start by the NRA on a second important phase of its career—that of staff consolidation and reorganization for the problems to succeed the whirlwind blue eagle drive.

Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, told of his reorganization intentions after the resignation of Dudley Cates, the assistant administrator representing industry, because of differences of opinion with his chief.

Johnson said his personnel shifting plans and Cates' retirement were not related, but used the occasion to disclose that he carefully has picked men for key jobs in what he predicted will be "a cream organization."

This reorganized NRA will deal with the barely scratched problems of code administration, including such questions as price control, the adjustment of labor difficulties, the operation of code authority committees, higher purchasing power for wage and salary earners and the abolition of destructive competition without monopolistic suppression of small units.

With volunteer workers winding up the week's intensive campaign, Johnson reported that "certain towns have gone clear over the top, not only with 100 per cent cooperation on the part of employers who have signed the president's agreement but also by consumers."

In his telephoned address to Detroit's NRA celebration last night, he added:

"It makes me personally feel that NRA is approaching a high production point. . . . The plan right now is something more than a theory. It is actually working in most of our largest cities and in thousands of smaller communities."

In announcing the resignation of Cates, Johnson said differences of opinion over policy and interpretation of the law had arisen between the two. He continued:

"We both have done everything we could to reconcile this difference. . . . This is unavoidable and, in the circumstances, the only honorable and courageous solution of the problem."

One cause of the dissension was indicated by a memorandum submitted to Johnson by Cates on the labor question in which Cates said "the conventional types of trades union and employers' association, both essentially provocative, are inconsistent with the spirit of the act."

Cates proposed a "vertical union" in each industry consisting of organization by crafts to establish and maintain differentials of wages among employees."

NO REVENGE ALLOWED
MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va.—NRA leaders had a "bird" of a blue eagle problem on their hands. An indignant housewife complained that an NRA worker—a woman with whom she is not on speaking terms—evaded her home during the house-to-house canvass. Officials mollified her by letting her sign a consumers' pledge at headquarters.

CUMMINGS FOR STATE RIGHTS

U. S. Attorney General Promises Lawyers States May Fight Crime Unhindered.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 1 (AP)—The American Bar association swung into the final session of its convention here today, reassured by Washington that no recovery plan is contemplated which will set aside the fundamental law of the land.

The danger of a disagreement between the bar and the administration passed last night when Homer S. Cummings, United States attorney general, went before the delegates and declared that the government had no intention of trespassing on the rights of the states in its fight against the underworld.

"There is no purpose to supersede by federal activities the activities of state and local government," the attorney general said in a brief reference to an issue which had aroused some of the delegates Wednesday. His assertion drew vigorous applause.

The delegates were prepared to elect their officers for the coming year. Earle W. Evans, of Wichita, Kansas, former chairman of the executive council, had a large following as a candidate for the presidency.

Cummings defended the constitutionality of the administration's recovery program after United States Senator Patrick A. McCarran, of Nevada, has denounced the program as "an avalanche that sweeps away the structure fought for and reared by the great Jefferson and his adherents."

"In these great investitures of power the rights of the sovereign states have been minimized, if not entirely lost," Senator McCarran charged.

The attorney general, on the other hand, asserted that "the law of the land is still the law of the land," and declared that the constitution has met the test of the emergency and is marching "with the need of the times."

"The constitutional difficulties inherent in the recent legislation, I think, are grossly magnified," he said. "Our fundamental law is faced with no unusual stress or strain."

OLD TIMER DIES
DALHART, Sept. 1. (AP)—Byron Morris, who died recently at Mineral Wells, was an old-timer of Dallam county. He worked for the Buffalo Springs division of the XIT ranch, 30 miles northeast of Dalhart, in the 90's. In 1898 he was killing jobo wolves, cattle killers, for the ranch, being furnished a fast string of horses for that work. Occasionally he roped a grizzled old killer before he killed him. He was county commissioner from the Farwell Park precinct (not Perico) several terms and was intimately known by many Dalhart pioneers.

Read No Longer Loves Actress

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1 (AP)—Alfred G. Read said today he no longer loved Claire Windsor, blonde actress from whom the handsome Oakland broker's former wife seeks $100,000 in an alienations of affections suit now on trial.

"Nor do I love Marian any more," he said, adding that he would assist Miss Windsor in the suit brought by Mrs. Marian Read.

Read expressed sympathy for his former wife, who after listening yesterday to fervent love letters exchanged between Read and Miss

Windsor, suffered a near collapse and was forced to retire from the courtroom.

The actress so far has related how she met Read on a New Mexico desert railroad station platform during a train stop, how he kissed her during a "gorgeous moonlit night," as they stood on the observation car platform as the train rolled through Kansas, and how he proposed to her as the train click-clacked its way through the corn belt of Illinois.

Unemployed Man Refused a Job; Kills Employer

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 1 (AP)—Because he was refused a job, Lauleus Sinitere, 27, shot and fatally wounded James L. Matteson, 52, employment supervisor at the Texas company plant here.

During an argument in Matteson's office late yesterday, Sinitere whipped out a pistol and shot the employment supervisor. Matteson jerked the pistol from Sinitere's hand and fatally shot through the chest.

Sinitere made a statement to police while being taken to a hospital, in which he said he shot Matteson because the employment chief would not give him a job.

After he was shot, Matteson ran to the first aid room of the plant, a distance of about 150 feet, and collapsed. He died of death from a severed abdominal artery.

Matteson was survived by his widow, a son and a daughter, all of whom were out of the state on a vacation trip at the time of the shooting.

GUINCE OF PRECAUTION
KANSAS CITY—Over the telephone to the General hospital came this question:

"What does a fellow do when the baby swallows a moth ball?"

The necessary information was furnished after which the man was asked if his child had swallowed a mothball.

"No," he replied, "but we are packing some clothing and filling the pockets with mothballs and we feel sure the baby is going to grab and swallow one any minute."

A survey indicates that 1,155,000 persons entered Miami, Fla., during the year ended March 15 last.

"Co-eds" studied at the Brenau college summer school for the first time this year when several men students were admitted.
