Amarillo fans figure the Sandies are four touchdowns better than the Harvesters according to dope. But the Harvesters always fight the Sandies twice as hard as any other opposition. Therefore, say the Amarillo fans, the Sandies will beat the Pampans two touchdowns November 11. Actually, the Sandies are only two touchdowns better than the Harvesters right now. And on November 11 the locals will fight the Sandies twice as hard as any other opponent. THEREFORE THE SANDIES WON'T SCORE AT ALL!

The smell of profits makes men resentful of any restrictions upon full play of the predatory and acquisitive instincts. Any president or government that tries to control true recovery is going to be mighty unpopular. The road to recovery from now on is going to be a rough one for our president. He will deserve a full measure of understanding.

We call your attention to the literary reading "menu" published each Friday. It is a key to profitable and entertaining reading.

We're going to spy on the Sandies tonight and they'd better be careful. We hear they are not so good as they are touted. They are always a great early-season team.

A LITTLE HISTORY

A nation born of a revolution, or one just recovering from one, must often repudiate debts or interest or indefinitely postpone payments. Sometimes the economic barriers to payment are insurmountable. Americans should not too much condemn their neighbors without delving a bit into their own history. We quote Dr. Wm. E. Dodd, famous historian of the University of Chicago and present ambassador to Germany:

"One does not need to despair. There have been similar plights in the past. At the close of the American revolutionary war, when men looked for the millennium, there were voted debts, foreign and domestic, that could not possibly be paid; there was unemployment so pressing that thousands of men were abandoning their little homes in the east and going to the wilderness on both banks of the Ohio. . . . Every nation that had lent aid to the Americans in the war closed their markets to American products; and of course England put sterner conditions upon the free United States than she had on her unruly colonies. . . . Washington, at that point of bankruptcy, declared that he would pay his foreign debts when he could, but he would not pay the interest of the preceding decade. Virginia, Pennsylvania, and New York were in economic turmoil; their circulating medium was mere paper. The ablest states-

Ford Company Describes Johnson Threat As 'Act of Injustice'

ADMINISTRATOR ASSUMES 'AIRS OF A DICTATOR'

HINTS NO REFUSAL TO COMPLY HAS BEEN ADVANCED

DETROIT, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Ford Motor company, today described as "an act of injustice," a statement of Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, that he would "turn the case over to the attorney general" if Henry Ford fails to submit figures requested by the National Automobile chamber of commerce, under the terms of the NRA auto code.

Charging Johnson with assuming the "airs of a dictator," a company statement said that Johnson "should fortify himself with evidence that Henry Ford has refused compliance with government requirements."

"The public has known the Ford Motor company for 30 years and is not dependent on Mr. Johnson for information concerning it.

"It is an act of injustice for Mr. Johnson to intimate that any refusal has been made of any proper demand on the Ford Motor company, especially since Mr. Johnson knows that even his original signers have not had time to file their reports, which he charges this company with refusing.

"We suggest a code of fair publicity for Mr. Johnson's interviews." The statement was the first official comment of the Ford company in the controversy between the recovery administration and Henry Ford that began when the motor magnate declined to sign the NRA auto code, although he was represented as believing he could observe it fully without signing.

Ford still silent. The Ford company consistently has refused to comment on its position taking the stand that there was no necessity for such comment providing it observed the code. The change of policy today apparently was caused by Johnson's asserting in Washington that if Henry Ford did not furnish figures on wages, hours, and schedules, as required by the NRA auto code, he would "turn the case over to the attorney general."

Ford himself has declined to be interviewed, saying briefly on several occasions that he has "nothing to say about the NRA."

The company has been represented as feeling that its wage scale and hours of labor are in advance of the hours and wages specified by the NRA auto code. Recently employees' hours were reduced to agree with the NRA code hours, and the company previously had completed a wage revision which they said placed their workers above the code minimum of 43 cents an hour.

Will furnish figures. A company spokesman, who made public the statement today declining, moreover, to comment on the statement of Johnson, made today in Washington, that Edsel Ford, president of the company, had told him his concern "never would consent to any collective bargaining."

Although it was not officially stated, there were strong indications that the Ford company would furnish the wage, hour and schedule figures if requested by the N. A. C. C. The Ford company is not a member of the organization.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson said today that if Henry Ford fails to submit figures requested by the National Automobile chamber of commerce within the time to be set, "I'll turn the case over to the attorney general."

Who's Who

A corporation lawyer for many years, a rock-bound constitutionalist, George Sutherland of Utah, associate justice of the United States supreme court, is an extreme conservative. Invariably he is found on the side opposing the views of Brandeis, Cardozo, and Stone.

RETAIL CODE IS STUDIED BY BUSINESS MEN

Dry Goods Stores To Close 2 Hours November 11

Dry goods merchants of Pampa, and stores carrying allied lines of merchandise, will close their doors from 10 a. m. to 12 noon on Armistice day. It was decided at a meeting through a personal telephone call by President Roosevelt.

Edward Robinson, another negro convicted of the murder of Sammie Solomon, Washington taxicab driver, was shot in a hold-up on July 28, 1931, was electrocuted a few minutes later without knowing the life of his companion had been spared temporarily.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Patsy Damato, 30-year-old cafe owner, was shot and killed in typical gangland fashion today by one of three men who entered his place and walked up to a table when he was playing cards. After firing a single shot into Damato's head the killer and his companions fled.

LOWEST PRICE PROVISIONS TO BE MANDATORY

CHARGE ABOVE INVOICE COST TO BE 10 PER CENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, said today at a press conference that the retail trade authority set up under the general code which becomes effective next Monday would fix during the first part of the week the amount of "mark-up" to be charged in all retail sales.

The minimum price provisions when fixed, he said, will be mandatory on all lines of trade coming under the code. This statement was made in reply to a question as to how phraseology of the code, which states that a retailer "should" charge an allowance for labor in his prices on top of the invoice cost of goods, was to be interpreted.

Justice Sutherland, shown above in a new photo, has stood firmly against any legislation or court verdicts that would be of benefit to the cause of labor or grant any state control of business.

JOHN'S LUCK TURNS
PENDLETON, Ore. (AP)—While John Penland was deer hunting, he sat down on a log to examine a rifle with which he was unfamiliar. He had had no luck in bagging his buck. He pointed the gun at a clump of bushes and observed wistfully:

"Now, if there was a deer there, I'd just do this and pull the trigger. Just then a 190-pound buck strolled into the clearing. Penland brought the deer back with him.

ROOSEVELT STAYS EXECUTION OF NEGRO IN PERSONAL PHONE CALL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Two minutes before he was scheduled to die in the electric chair for murder, William Washington, negro, was granted a two-day reprieve today through a personal telephone call by President Roosevelt.

Amateur Sleuths With Coon Dogs and Newsmen Force Group Back to Clothes.
FORT WORTH, Oct. 27 (AP)—Amateur sleuthing by curious persons who are using coon dogs and the further fact that "our bodies are not accustomed to the approaching cold spell" have influenced Tarrant county's nudists in their decision to disband until next spring.

Government Arrests Two Men For Hoarding Gold

Clerk Charged With Failure to Report He Had $10,000 in Gold.

BOSTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Gerald T. Driscoll, 32, a municipal department clerk earning $1,000 a year, and Edward Spiegel, a state street lawyer, were arrested today as gold hoarders. They were the first New Englanders arrested under the gold hoarding law.

Driscoll was charged in failure to report that he had $10,000 in gold and federal officials said the detailed charges against Spiegel would be made public later. Driscoll was taken into custody as he was about to enter the office of the overseer of the poor where he is employed and the warrant was served on Spiegel while he appeared as counsel in a municipal court case.

Texas Gasoline Held for Taxes in Mississippi

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Oct. 27 (AP)—Nearly 100,000 gallons of gasoline from Texas are being held by Sheriff George M. Can, Lamar county, at Wardwell, Miss., on instructions from Joe S. Price, state auditor.

An attachment suit was filed in Lamar county Chancery court against the Modern Refining company, of Gladewater, Texas, alleging $37,200 was due the state on the shipment, including Mississippi gasoline tax of six cents plus damages of twenty five per cent for non-payment of the levy.

Miss Eva King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde King of White Deer, was dismissed this morning from Pampa hospital.

PAMPA TO BE DISTRICT MEET CENTER SOON

IMPORTANT CHANGES TO TAKE EFFECT IN STATE

EXTENSIVE changes in the organization of the interscholastic league, including the making of Pampa the center of a North Panhandle district meet, have been announced at Austin.

The Pampa district meet will include county winners in basketball and league events from Gray, Donley, Carson, Wheeler, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, and Hansford. Most of these counties are active participants in the league and have been sending their best talent to Canyon. Canyon is now the regional center and will draw the winners of four districts of the panhandle, of which Pampa is the center of one.

Other regional centers are in Brewster, Taylor, Denton, Hays, Kieberg, Walker, and Cherokee counties.

The purpose of the new plan is to place the important meets nearer the competing schools and to conserve school time and expense. County meets will be continued as usual.

Supt. C. A. Cryer of McLean is director of the county meet, which this term will be held at McLean. Pampa schools will not be required to enter this meet because their enrollment is less than $25,000. Under the present law, all bids must be received and tabulated by the state highway commission. The bill was passed to speed up awarding of emergency projects under the unemployment relief act.

Statistics on the Pampa independent school district for the first six weeks of this term, released today, show the high figure of 94.3 for daily average attendance.

The total enrollment for the period—which has now passed 3,000—was 2,943, with an average daily attendance of 2755. The high school has 822 enrolled, with 773 average daily attendance; junior high, 543 and 519; Woodrow Wilson, 312 and 304; Baker, 381 and 344; Sam Houston, 391 and 358; Horace Mann, 348 and 327; Merten, 102 and 97; Hoover, 14 and 12, negro school, 30 and 21. The Baker school had the best percentage of attendance, with 97, excepting the high school, which had 97.4.

Number of pupils tardy during the six weeks were: High school 215; Junior high 275; Woodrow Wilson 59, B. M. Baker 93, Sam Houston 102, Horace Mann 38, Merten 49, Hoover none, negro school 105; total 939.

McKee Gaining In Poll by Digest

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—The latest report by the Literary Digest, in its poll in the New York City mayoral campaign showed Fiorello H. LaGuardia, fusion candidate, still maintaining his lead, with Joseph V. McKee, recovery party candidate, making sharp gains in the last week.

Of the 452,738 votes counted, LaGuardia received 217,599 or 48.06 per cent; McKee, 169,715 votes or 37.49 per cent; Mayor John P. O'Brien, Tammany candidate, 51,562 or 11.39 per cent.

Commission To Order Oil Flow Slashed Tonight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—E. O. Thompson, member of the Texas railroad commission, said here today the commission would issue an order tonight in Austin cutting the state's allowable oil production to 75,000 barrels daily, a decrease of 90,000 barrels under the present figure.

The commissioner said the reduction would be made in compliance with the recent national allocation ordered by Secretary Ickes, oil administrator.

State to Fight Lone Star Gas Company Appeal

AUSTIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today signed a bill appropriating $20,000 for defense against an appeal by the Lone Star Gas company from an order of the Texas railroad commission reducing city gas rates of the utility from 40 to 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

The bill would authorize employment of an additional assistant attorney general to represent the state.

Attendance Now Excellent Here

Statistics on the Pampa independent school district for the first six weeks of this term, released today, show the high figure of 94.3 for daily average attendance.

The total enrollment for the period—which has now passed 3,000—was 2,943, with an average daily attendance of 2755. The high school has 822 enrolled, with 773 average daily attendance; junior high, 543 and 519; Woodrow Wilson, 312 and 304; Baker, 381 and 344; Sam Houston, 391 and 358; Horace Mann, 348 and 327; Merten, 102 and 97; Hoover, 14 and 12, negro school, 30 and 21. The Baker school had the best percentage of attendance, with 97, excepting the high school, which had 97.4.

Hillsboro Man Is Named Collector

AUSTIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—Frank Scofield, who today was appointed collector of internal revenue for the first Texas district, is chairman of the Texas rating commission. His home is in Hillsboro.

For many years Scofield has been a prominent breeder of fine live stock and has shown his horses and cattle all over the country.

Scofield was appointed chairman of the rating commission by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. He has served in that capacity since September 1, when the bill legalizing the certificate system of rating on horse races became effective.

YELLOW METAL MOVES UP 22 CENTS AN OUNCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—A price of $31.76 an ounce for reconstruction corporation purchases of newly mined gold was announced today at the treasury, 22 cents higher than that of yesterday and 66 cents above the London quotation.

The price for the metal had been freshly advanced on the London market, to the equivalent of $31.10 an ounce on the basis of the $4.74 valuation of the pound at the opening there.

Pampa Fighting Cocks Will Be Sent to Hawaii

J. N. Dean, local man and one of the best known breeders of game cocks in this section, has received an order for three Mahoney Gull Cocks to be shipped to Honolulu, Hawaii. Mr. Dean started constructing the coops this morning.

Fisher Talks At Kiwanis Meeting

Supt. R. B. Fisher gave an unusually interesting and educational talk on "The Sub Treasury of New York" before members of the Kiwanis club today. He told of a trip through the federal building where seventy-five per cent of the gold in the world is stored.

McKee Gaining In Poll by Digest

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—The latest report by the Literary Digest, in its poll in the New York City mayoral campaign showed Fiorello H. LaGuardia, fusion candidate, still maintaining his lead, with Joseph V. McKee, recovery party candidate, making sharp gains in the last week.

THE OLD LIBERALISM LOSES FAITH

Nothing is much more instructive, in a world where progress is the watchword, than to listen to the reminiscences of a disillusioned reformer.

A Washington correspondent the other day sat down to chat with Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma. Senator Gore used to be an ardent liberal, a Wilsonian progressive, a teammate, in the old days, of such fighters as Bryan and the older LaFollette.

"Years ago, when I was coming along in life, I thought we were going to solve all the problems of the world," he said.

"First, we wanted the initiative and referendum. It was obvious that with the powers of the initiative the people would do whatever needed to be done to make ours a perfect society.

"Of course we also had to have the direct election of United States senators," he goes on. "We got that, and lo, it hath made cowards of us all. To cement and consolidate our gains, we had to have woman suffrage. We knew the good women would vote only for honorable and able public servants, wise and human public policies.

"And to cap all our reforms we needed prohibition. We were going to substitute the moral code for the penal code."

And he concludes: "We knew that when we accomplished these things we could sit off on the sidelines and watch all our problems solve themselves."

Any adult whose memory goes back to pre-war days can see that all of this was, pretty largely, the old progressive credo. It hung, for the most part, on an unquestioning faith in pure democracy.

The progressive sounds a different note today. No longer does he rely on an extension of the principles of Jefferson and Jackson. Democracy has to function in an infinitely complex society.

Writing to his parents he described the storm as "terrible, convincing, beautiful, interesting, terrible because of the experiences we had to go through, convincing because it was absolute proof that there is a God, beautiful in the awe and majesty of the scene, and interesting because it was an unusual experience."

During the storm, water filled the ship shoulder deep, damaging the food supplies. As he sailed, young Hill was personal assistant to Byrd. His messages to his parents are sent by radiogram and telegraph.

Jess Patton will lead the Harvesters in their first conference game against the Plainview Bulldogs at Harvesters park tomorrow afternoon. Jess is recognized as one of the best captains ever to be at the helm of a Harvester team.

Will Broadcast Amarillo-Pampa Football Game

The Pampa-Amarillo football game to be played at Harvester park. Pampa, starting at 2:30 o'clock Nov. 11, will be broadcast; it was learned this morning. The broadcast will be over radio station WDAG Amarillo.

Gene Howe will do the bulk of the broadcasting. It was at his insistence that the local athletic committee consented to allow the broadcast. An impartial announcer will be secured to broadcast while "Track" is resting.

The Amarillo radio station in its request for permission to broadcast game said it would ask for no money from the athletic committee or from Pampa microphone. The microphone will be placed in the press box and the broadcast will start some time preceding the game.

Hitler Patches Up Differences With Hugenberg

BERLIN, Oct. 27. (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler and Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, former Reich minister of agriculture and economics, have patched up their differences, with the latter reappearing on the political scene as tenth on Hitler's list of Reichstag nominees.

The chancellor and Dr. Hugenberg have repeatedly visited each other and Hitler even has been reported to have written Hugenberg that he soon hopes to see him back "in important work for the state."

The others on the chancellor's list, in order, are: Rudolf Hess, Nazi leader; Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior; Herman Goerring, minister without portfolio; Dr. Joseph Goebbels, minister of public enlightenment and propaganda; Ernst Roehm, storm troop leader; Walter Darre, food minister; Franz Seidler, steel helmet leader and the minister of labor, and Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen.

Contributors On Witness Stand In Hartzell Trial

SIoux CITY, Iowa, Oct. 27 (AP)—A. M. Bragstad, secretary of the Canton, S. D., chamber of commerce, and a Drake estate fund contributor, was summoned to the witness stand today for cross-examination in the trial of Oscar M. Hartzell.

Hartzell is being tried on thirteen counts of using the mails to defraud in connection with his activities in establishing a claim to the estate of the English sea captain.

Bragstad testified he made 18 contributions and attended three meetings of donors to the fund called by Amos Hartscock of Laurens, Iowa, one of Hartzell's agents.

The narratives of meetings of "heirs" to the fabulous estate and of donors of a few dollars to several thousands by them also has been unfolded by a doctor, a washerwoman, a plumber, and a blacksmith.

N. E. Landis, Mallard, Iowa, blacksmith, testified he received $12,000 for the fund in addition to $700 he himself donated.

Catholic, Jewish, Episcopalian, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Methodist and disciples of Christ clergymen formed a study group in Texarkana in the spring of 1933.

Pierce Butler

Pierce Butler of Minnesota, shown here in a new photograph, naturally is a conservative—an extreme reactionary, declare those who opposed his elevation to the U. S. supreme bench. Butler is a foe of the masses, say his critics; a balance wheel in the court, a bulwark against dangerous radicalism, assert his supporters.

For a score of years he was regarded as the foremost railroad attorney in the country. A ruthless fighter for the corporations that retained him, his record is featured by the aggressiveness with which he fought liberal or radical movements.

By his foes he is branded as an enemy of free speech and his stand on denial of citizenship to pacifists and his vigorous support of syndicalism laws aroused the wrath of the country's leading liberals.

Justice Butler was named to the supreme court in '22, during the Harding administration.

Young Pupils To Give Hallowe'en Recital Tonight

A Hallowe'en recital will be given this evening by a number of young pupils of the Pampa Conservatory. In the second of a program series announced for the winter, it will begin at 7:30, in the women's club rooms at city hall.

Mrs. Nina McSkimming, Miss Madeline Tarpley, and Samuel Pendleton will present piano pupils, and Roy Tinsley violin pupils. Hallowe'en decorations have been arranged in the room, and programs will emphasize the theme.

The Program Program numbers follow: Pinch and Punch, Kerr, Tessie Mae Killian.

Decisions Of High Court Are Against NRA, Says Teacher

ATLANTA, Oct. 27 (AP)—The overwhelming weight of decisions of the United States supreme court for the past three decades is against the validity of the national recovery act, Dr. Ashley Sellers, Emory university law professor, said in a speech prepared for delivery today at the Southern Political Science association convention.

Prof. Sellers said, however, there is a chance the high court will sustain the act, "prompted by a situation of fact and not of the law, unless the court invokes such quaint authority as 'necessity knows no law,' or, more legally, 'the safety of the people is supreme.'"

Fascism Is Hope Of World, Says Italy's Dictator

ROME, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fascism is "the hope of the world," Premier Mussolini says in a message to the black-shirts which is to be read in every town in Italy tomorrow on the eleventh anniversary of the fascist march on Rome.

The message reads: "The eleventh year of the regime closes with an imposing balance of works and events."

"You have seen them day by day. One of them is the decennial aerial cruise which has been the exaltation of the revolution in the skies and over twice across the ocean and demonstrated of what stuff is this new fascist generation."

"The world of doctrines, against which even from March, 1919, fascism rose, is retreating and capitulating everywhere: in Italy it is now far away and squelched even in memory."

SCHOOL HEALTH TALKS ARE HEARD BY 105 AT P-T. A. MEETING

HIGH SCHOOL PARENTS AND GUESTS MEET

MUSIC AND BUSINESS SESSION ARE ON PROGRAM

THREE speakers presented phases of school health in the program of High School Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon. About 105 members and visitors were present at the cafeteria.

Dr. R. A. Webb discussed tuberculosis as it affects children of school age. He gave pertinent facts and statistics concerning this disease, and urged that all children be given tuberculin tests. The Lions club here will bear the expense of these tests where parents cannot, he said.

Coach and Nurse Speak.

Why Physical Education for Boys and Girls? was Harry Kelley's subject. Physical education is necessary as a groundwork for mental, moral, and spiritual development, he stressed, and advocated competitive games as one of the best means of teaching physical education.

Miss Ivan Mayfield, school nurse, spoke of good health habits. She listed good habits regarding cleanliness, food, and fresh air, and told how they are applied in grade schools. Cooperation of patrons in a better health program in home and school is needed, she said.

Musical contributions to the program were a song, Sweet Genevieve, by the girls' glee club under direction of Miss Josephine Carrier, and a violin solo by Roy Tinsley.

In the short business session, Mrs. J. M. Dodson presiding, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar was appointed parliamentary. A silver offering was made for the state congress' birthday.

Litany Service Is Announced at the Episcopal Church

A special litany service will be conducted at St. Matthew's Episcopal church Sunday morning by the Rev. Newton C. Smith, rector.

HOLIDAY MOTIF USED AT PARTY IN SKELLYTOWN

Residents Return After Lengthy Trips

SKELLYTOWN, Oct. 27.—Mrs. J. C. Jarvis entertained La Nueva bridge club Wednesday afternoon at her home. A Hallowe'en note was carried out in tallies and favors.

Mrs. Charles Wayne won high for club members, and Mrs. Roy Lillie among guests. Pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee were served.

Present were Mesdames Frank McCaugan, John J. Kuehn, S. C. Dickey, T. B. Parker, Roy Lillie, Hugh Ellsworth, Bill Price, Charles Wayne, and the hostess.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. John Dalton left Wednesday morning for Oklahoma for a few days.

George Darling left the first of the week for Electra, to meet his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Kries are the parents of a daughter, born last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill and son of Pampa spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Harvey.

Mrs. Clyde Aker and son, Max, returned Sunday evening from Oklahoma. Max is improving nicely after an operation.

Mrs. Bill Pierce returned Sunday night from New Mexico, after three weeks absence due to the illness of her father. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Black, returned home with her.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Dickey and son motored to Pampa Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jarvis spent Friday visiting in Pampa.

Mrs. Roy Lillie, accompanied by Mrs. J. Summers, motored to Amarillo Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Joe Carroll and children returned last week-end after a visit with relatives in Mississippi. Her brother of near Dallas brought them home.

Mrs. Potter Is New O. E. S. Head

AMARILLO, Oct. 27. (P)—The installation of Mrs. Rose E. Potter of Texarkana as worthy grand matron of the Texas order of the Eastern Star brought to a close the convention of that organization here last night.

Fort Worth was selected as the meeting place for the 1934 grand chapter. A. P. Holbrook of Fort Worth will be the 1934 worthy grand patron.

A number of Pampa chapter members attended the Eastern Star convention. Mrs. Katie Vincent, worthy matron, was the delegate from Pampa.

She and Mrs. W. C. de Cordova, Mrs. Roy Sewell, and Mrs. J. A. Pearson were present for the entire meeting. Mrs. de Cordova acted as grand page during the grand chapter session, and Mrs. Sewell, as grand representative of the state of Nevada, appeared on a program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
901 North Frost St.

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 29.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished." (II Peter 2:9.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus said, Are ye also yet without understanding? . . . For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: These are the things which defile a man" (Matthew 15: 16, 19, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Science adjusts the balance as Jesus adjusted it. Science removes the penalty only by first removing the sin which incurs the penalty. This is my sense of divine pardon, which I understand to mean God's method of destroying sin" (page 40). LARGEST ATTENDANCE OF THE WEEK MARKS FIRST BAPTIST REVIVAL SERVICE LAST NIGHT

SERMON AND SONGS BRING MESSAGE EACH DAY

"DOES God Still Speak to Men?" was the subject last evening of Dr. Pierce of Dallas, who is preaching at the First Baptist church. W. J. Work lead a great song service and brought a special solo before the sermon. The best attendance was present for any evening of the week.

Dr. Pierce pointed out there was a day in the world in which God did speak to men and His voice was authoritatively accepted. Yet, many today feel the same God no longer speaks. He pointed out the fact of His communication today through men's consciences, through their intellect, through His word and thru Christ. It was a great message eagerly heard.

A special meeting of the officers and teachers was held immediately following the service.

This evening Dr. Pierce speaks on "The Right and Peril of Choice." Mr. Work will bring a special number in song.

"This meeting is to help people. Those who come will find a help. It is an earnest effort to bring men face to face with Christ as a Savior from sin," said the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor. Everyone is cordially invited to attend and take part in the services.

There will be no service Saturday morning, but there will Saturday evening at 7:30. The meeting will continue through all next week.

Officers are optimistic about the campaign to close up the year, which ends November 9th. The Builders club was in the lead Sunday. But some reports from the activities of the other classes indicate that this class will have to be on the farflung line to be in the lead by Sunday. The battle is on, and every "regiment" is carrying on.

There will be but two more Sundays of this conference year. The pastor is anxious that every member have a part, however small, in the work of bringing the year to a successful close. If every member does his or her "bit" we will come out gloriously.

MASKED DANCE IS HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL EVENT

Junior Chamber of Commerce Is To Give Dance

A Hallowe'en masquerade dance at the Pal-Mor will be a feature holiday event here Monday evening. It will be given by the Junior chamber of commerce from 9 to 1 o'clock.

Invitations were mailed to 250 persons yesterday. Everyone is being asked to come in costume, with prizes offered for the most attractive and cleverest costumes.

Hallowe'en decorations that will make a fitting background for a costumed crowd will be arranged in the Pla-Mor under direction of Bob Fuller, Bob Knox, and Jack Dunn, committee from the Junior chamber of commerce in charge of arrangements.

Music will be by Joe Norman and his revamped orchestra, long a favorite with Pampa dancers.

Interest through the week. The many that have come have greatly profited by the messages both in song and sermon. The church will continue through all next week with services twice daily. The members of other churches and the public in general are cordially extended a welcome to these services. Bible school meets by departments at 9:45. Training service at 6:15.

STUNTS ADD TO FUN AT PARTY GIVEN BY CLUB

Merry Mixers Have Husbands As Guests

Hallowe'en stunts varied the bridge games when members of Merry Mixers club entertained their husbands last evening. Mrs. O. L. Basham and Mrs. Earl Patton were hostesses at the Basham home.

It was gaily decorated in black and orange, and the Hallowe'en theme was repeated at the bridge tables, in tallies, and in the refreshment course.

Merriment in the games resulted from black cat cards in each deck that would take any trick. Mrs. J. T. Morrow scored high for women and G. L. Greene for men, while Mrs. Noel Reynolds and Mrs. Paton made low scores.

After refreshments were served, an amateur "broadcast" was given. Mrs. T. G. Green as Helen Kane and Earl Statton as Will Rogers received the prizes. In other stunts, Mrs. John Weeks and G. L. Greene were prize winners. The evening ended with dancing.

Costume Program Given For Hoover P-T. A. Members

Hoover Parent-Teacher association was entertained with a costume program at its meeting in the school building Wednesday evening. Sarah Leigh Fleming and Viola Murphy pleased the audience in well-acted roles.

Miss Lema Jane Butcher, principal of the school, directed lively games while the hospitality committee prepared hot coffee and doughnuts for a large number of school patrons and guests.

Special music completed the entertainment. Superintendent and Mrs. R. B. Fisher and son, Brent, were guests from Pampa.

HARVESTERS PLAY FIRST CONFERENCE GAME TOMORROW WITH PLAINVIEW

COMEBACK IN DISTRICT IS BULLDOG AIM

VISITORS EXPECTED TO PUT UP SURPRISING BATTLE

Bulldogs by name and Bulldogs in size, the Plainview high school football team will come to Pampa tomorrow for an important conference game with the Pampa Harvesters. A win will place the Bulldogs back in the district race, while a loss will eliminate them from the picture.

The team lately has shown none of the fight it registered in Amarillo, hence one of the toughest games of the season is predicted. The team has weight, speed, coaching, and a determination to get back in the district race. The starting lineup will average 170 1/2 pounds, which includes a huge line and fairly light but fast backfield.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock with admission 50 cents. Officials for the game had not been named this morning. Plainview not having mailed Coach Odus Mitchell a list of officials agreeable to the coach. The Bulldogs will not arrive in Pampa until tomorrow morning.

The game was originally scheduled to be played in Plainview, but representatives of the two schools met last week and made the change. The Plainview team, although the best in the history of the school, is not receiving the support it merits. Plainview is not a "football town."

The Bulldogs have lost only one game and it to Amarillo. The Bulldogs have run up 176 points in four games—Plainview 59, Oltorf 0; Plainview 46, Floydada 0; Plainview 26, Borger 0; Plainview 45, Wayland college 0. Their sensational 45 to 0 victory over Wayland college last Friday was the biggest upset of the season. Wayland college was defeated by the Canyon college freshmen only 19 to 0 and the frosh had a hard job all the way.

Harvester coaches primed their charges on power attacks during the week and a lively tussle is in store for fans. Plainview in past games has stuck to power plays with the huge line, 170 pounds average, tearing holes in the opposing forward wall to allow the fleet halves to get through. Coach Ralph Dorsey has not tried to conceal the fact that he has an aerial attack which he may spring on the Harvesters.

COACHES BIEMAN, WILLIAMAN AND ANDERSON ON THE 'FIRE'

Legislative Investigation Is To Be Made at Ohio, Was Latest Report.

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO, Oct. 27. (AP)—Unless the alumni and students ease up in their annual campaign of "blowing coaches," Big Ten football may be drastically de-emphasized.

The presidents and faculty representatives of the Big Ten universities are disgusted with the "get a new coach" movement, the Associated Press was reliably informed today, and will take concerted action to dampen the enthusiasm for the sport unless there is a let-up.

"It's all right to have enthusiasm for football," one of the Big Ten leaders said, "but to let it run away with you is something else again. Every fall, some coach is on the fire of the alumni and students just because his team happens to get beat. Some alumnus or student gets all burnt up because his team loses and the next thing we know the president of the university is roused out of bed to deny a rumor that the coach is going to get fired."

"Well, we're all getting tired of it. If it doesn't stop or ease up a bit all we can do is to deflate the game's importance. After all, you know, football is just a sport, not a college education. The president of every university wants a winning football team just as much as the most excited freshman. They are interested in the game and through counsel, know when it's time to change coaches."

Today, with Big Ten football enjoying its great year since 1927 from a financial standpoint, two coaches, Bernie Bierman of Minnesota and Sam Williaman of Ohio State, were on the "fire." Rumblings also were reported at Wisconsin while at Notre Dame, outside the conference but a close ally, Harty "Hunk" Anderson was rumored to be on his way out.

Although L. W. St. John, athletic director at Ohio State, expressed confidence in Coach Williaman and his staff, it was hinted that a legislative investigation would be made of the Buckeye athletic department. State Representative Gran B. Ward, writing in the Ohio State Journal, called the Ohio State athletic department a "closed corporation with the control beautifully centralized and protected" and recalled that a legislative investigation "to smash up a 'similar' situation two years ago at the University of Wisconsin."

BARKER PICKS GRID WINNERS ON SATURDAY

PREDICTS ARMY WILL BEAT YALE WITH BUCKLER

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—It may be just another case of "fools rushing in" but the weekly guessing contest is an amusing pastime for football followers and, after all, it's his own neck the prognosticator risks.

With this in mind, and granting in advance that the chance for accurate comparison is lacking in many instances, here's the way the week-end's major engagements look:

Southern California-California—Oregon State demonstrated last week that the Trojans could be held to a scoreless draw but Southern California still looks like the class of the Pacific Coast conference. California hasn't beaten its Southern neighbor since 1929 and it seems as if the Golden Bears will have to wait for revenge.

Army-Yale—With Jack Buckler to match against Yale's Bob Lasser, the Cadets rate a slight edge on the basis of what looks like a superior line.

Minnesota-Iowa—A match of Gopher power and Iowa speed personified mostly by young Joe Laws. This battle for Minnesota is explained by the Gophers' fine showing against Pitt.

Georgia-New York University—Undeclared Georgia is the logical favorite. The once violent violet held Colgate to one touchdown last week but the Red Raider attack, gaining over 200 yards from scrimmage, was checked by eight penalties.

Michigan-Chicago—Apparently the spot for Michigan's second Big Ten victory.

Fordham-Alabama—Two undefeated exponents of the Notre Dame system collide in this one with a break or two probably the decisive factor. This vote for Fordham is predicated on the Rams' advantage in playing at home.

Nebraska-Oklahoma—Within the Big Six at least, Nebraska's Cornhuskers seldom play a "prophet" false.

Tennessee-Florida—Beaten twice in a row, Tennessee seems likely to recover in time to spoil Florida's undefeated record.

Ohio State-Northwestern—One of the toughest of them all but Northwestern's new-found attack may pull the Wildcats through.

Penn-Navy—The Tars have shown nothing so far to warrant their selection over Penn.

Notre Dame-Pitt—Notre Dame's poor showing against Carnegie inspires vote for the Panther.

Louisiana State-Vanderbilt—Unless the Commodores show considerable improvement over last week, L. S. U. should open the Southeastern conference campaign with a victory.

Princeton-Washington & Lee—The Generals are tougher, than they've been in years but Princeton should win handily.

Harvard-Dartmouth—Dartmouth is the indicated favorite but a heavy casualty list may impair the Indians' effectiveness.

Wisconsin-Purdue—Wisconsin's something of a Purdue jinx but there's no alternative but to pick the Boiler-makers on their record.

Kansas-Kansas State—By the toss of a coin, Kansas State.

Columbia-Penn State—The Nittany Lions uncovered an attack last week but they don't rate with Columbia.

Michigan State-Syracuse—Syracuse looks strong enough to avenge a 1932 beating.

Arkansas-Southern Methodist—Playing in their own ballfield, Arkansas overturned Texas Christian. Southern Methodist goes to Fayetteville expending trouble and probably will win it.

Tulane-Auburn—The Green Wave may roll over the Plainsmen of Auburn.

Texas-Rice—Texas starts its Southwest conference campaign, hopeful of victory.

North Carolina-Georgia Tech—A ballot for the engineers.

Washington-Stanford—Somebody may beat Stanford soon but until then a vote for the team "Pop" Warner left behind him.

Denver-Colorado college—Denver, unless there's something rotten in the reports from the state of Colorado.

And When It Came To Pass—

Howard Harpster, young coach of Carnegie Tech, had drilled his team effectively to stop that Notre Dame aerial attack. Above you see two of the Tech gridders knocking down an Irish pass to Luhtak in the game which resulted in a 7-0 upset victory for Carnegie.

BAYLOR WILL TROUNCE AGGIES SATURDAY, IS PARKER GUESS

Also Predicts Texas Will Lose to Rice; Porkers To Defeat Mustangs.

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Registering a ten strike last week by naming Texas Christian to defeat the Texas Aggies and having only one miss on probable winners in the last eleven selections, barring tie games, lends confidence in prophesying probable winners of Saturday's Southwest conference games.

Arkansas to beat Southern Methodist.

Texas Christian to beat Centenary.

Rice to beat Texas.

Baylor to beat Texas A. and M.

The "dogs" have been favored to win in these selections. The majority of Southwest conference critics will favor Southern Methodist, Centenary, Texas and Texas A. and M.

The Arkansas and Southern Methodist battle at Fayetteville promises to be close. It will be homecoming day for the Razorbacks. That's a point in their favor. They have two conference wins and will play stout football to retain their lead and add a third victory. The Razorbacks have running and passing that will compare with Southern Methodist's versatile attack. They have a more experienced team and Arkansas should win by a touchdown.

The Baylor Bears have plenty of material to worry the Texas A. and M. Aggies. It is the Bears biggest game of the year. Naturally they will be primed for the kill with an aggregation of well conditioned players. They played an easy game last week against Simmons while the Aggies shot the works trying to beat Texas Christian, refreshed by a splendid 13 to 7 victory Saturday over Texas A. and M. which was gained in spite of several injuries on the team, should take Centenary college. Texas Christian has a powerful running attack, a series of dangerous passes, and should be in much better condition for Centenary than last week against the Aggies. Centenary has just finished playing two bruising scoreless games.

The Rice Owls are due to beat at least one Southwest conference team and they have made a habit of defeating Texas by winning two of the last three games. The Owls scored a touchdown against Southern Methodist and except for a dropped pass in an open field would have scored another. They scored two touchdowns against Centenary after a long tiresome trip. They have a strong line, fine passing and commendable running game to show Texas. The Longhorns haven't scored in their last three games. They are going against an inspired team in Rice. If the Owls fight as they did against Southern Methodist they should win by a touchdown.

The Baylor Bears have plenty of material to worry the Texas A. and M. Aggies. It is the Bears biggest game of the year. Naturally they will be primed for the kill with an aggregation of well conditioned players. They played an easy game last week against Simmons while the Aggies shot the works trying to beat Texas Christian, refreshed by a

'COW PASTURE POOL' TAKING ROOT ON PRAIRIES OF KANSAS

LEGAL FIGHTS APPLAUDED BY LARGE CROWD

Legalized boxing was introduced into Pampa last night at the Pampa auditorium with a card packed with thrills but no "spills." Sensational come-backs featured nearly every fight on the card presented by E. W. Kelly, new promoter.

Little Jay Ward, Borger sensation, won the main event from Charlie Ady of Collinsville, Ill., in a battle that saw Ady ready to go to the floor in nearly all of the last five rounds, but his ability to come back and deal punishment had the crowd excited. Ward won seven rounds and the other three were drawn.

The fight was really decided in the third round when Ward hit Ady along the side of the head after the referee had ordered them to break. The blow dazed Ady and he was unable to come to the front again. The blow was unintentional, Ward having started it before the referee ordered the fighters to break. Ady went down momentarily at the bell but recovered by the next round to weather a storm of rights and lefts to the head.

Ward had the Illinois boy groggy at the bell of the sixth and seventh rounds, but Ady came back to get a draw in the eighth. Ward again started working on Ady's head in the ninth and won easily. The last round saw Ady forsake all caution and try for a knockout, but he didn't have the strength. However, he stung Ward badly and rocked him with a right cross to the jaw. Ward weighed 115 and Ady entered the ring at 123 pounds.

Bobby Armstrong, Jamaica negro who is making his home in Pampa, won the eight-round semi-final from Taylor Roberts of Wichita, Kan. Armstrong rocked the Kansas negro time and again with terrific lefts but the slim boy came back every time with a two-listed attack that kept Armstrong from gaining a commanding lead. Armstrong closed the Wichita boy's eyes before the bout ended.

While Armstrong depended largely on a beautiful uppercut and a straight jab, Roberts used a chop stroke that was dangerous because of his reach. He rushed the local boy hitting often two out of three on his charge. The decision was not very popular with the fans, who gave the judges plenty of "razing." They wanted a draw but Armstrong won by a shade on his superior punching and ability to make Roberts miss.

The bout that "stole the show" was a six-round battle between Babe Ruth of Amarillo and Dick Hedgepeth of Perryton, which was won by Ruth. The two 160-pounders stood toe to toe for six rounds and hammered each other with wild swings and jabs. The two boxed a draw the only previous time they met.

The fighters stepped from their corners and met in the middle of the ring with each connecting to the jaw. They staggered and came back to connect again. From then on it was a battle that sounded like

U. S. WORRIES AS LINDBERGH'S FLY TO PARIS

LANDS 25 MILES FROM CITY UNDER PLANS OF MINISTER

PARIS, Oct. 27. (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, flying secretly through a storm, came back to Paris, where the world made him a hero six years ago, and today had his first normal glimpse of the city.

In contrast with his 1927 trip when he flew alone, he came out of the night shrouded in foggy sky last night, accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh to alight at the Les Mureaux naval airport on the Seine, 5 miles west of here.

The takeoff had been made at Inverness, Scotland.

The couple then was brought unnoticed to the Hotel Crillon in this city, recognized only by airport officials who had been ordered to maintain secrecy.

The colonel's first daylight view of Paris when it was not cheering him was a fleeting glimpse as he returned to Les Mureaux on the automobile of Pierre Cot, air minister, to look over his plane.

He slipped almost unobserved and bargained out a side door of the hotel, strode quickly to the automobile, crossed the city, remained twenty minutes at the airport and then returned to Paris.

The Lindberghs slept until near nine o'clock and had breakfast in their room. Then they received a visit from American embassy officials and planned what Lindbergh was said to have described as a "few days' visit."

Mrs. Lindbergh remained in her room while the colonel went to view his plane, but left the hotel a few minutes after noon wearing a light brown checked suit and a black felt hat.

Mrs. Lindbergh was accompanied by Mrs. Nelson Dean Jay, wife of a member of the Morgan banking firm here. The two often met during Mr. Jay's visits to America when Mrs. Lindbergh's father, Dwight W. Morrow, was alive.

Lindbergh told friends that "I came to do exactly as the American did not know how long he would stay nor where he would go from here. He made it plain that he did not wish any official functions nor any public attention."

Complying with Lindbergh's wishes, M. Cot has made no plans and intends to do exactly as the American flier wishes. He planned to see the visitor later today.

Grove Sold To Red Sox, Says Capital Paper

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—The Washington Post said today that Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove, star of the Philadelphia Athletics pitching staff, has been sold to the Boston Red Sox.

While details of the trade were lacking, it was said to be an outright purchase by the Boston club with reports that Max Bishop, veteran infielder, and another pitcher will be included by Manager Connie Mack in shipment to Boston. The cash return to the Athletics was estimated at $200,000.

FLOODS RUN CROPS

EUGALPA, Honduras, Oct. 27. (AP)—Crops were damaged heavily and towns imperiled by floods which swept northern and northwestern Honduras today. Rains which fell over a wide area earlier in the week forced the Blauco, Chamelecón, Copán, and Gula rivers out of their banks in many places.

FARLEY VISIT SERVED TO TEST STATE POLITICIANS' POPULARITY

BY E. W. BARRY.
AUSTIN, Oct. 27. (AP)—The swing of Postmaster General Jim Farley through Texas developed into a popularity contest for politicians of this state. It was an interesting endurance heat.

Those who traveled from place to place with the dignitaries became interested in timing the demonstrations given for United States Senator Tom Connally and Congressman Joseph Weldon Bailey. Bailey was regarded as the superior opponent of Connally for the junior senatorship in the next election.

At Dallas there was merely a split second between the handclapping and cheers for the contenders. Both got a good send-off but it was impossible to decide which got the better reception there.

One man in the audience did yell "we want Jim for senator," when Bailey was introduced.

It was the same all the way down the line—San Antonio, Uvalde, and Houston. Bailey would smile broadly and Connally would appear immensely pleased. Bailey would applaud Connally and Connally would clap his hands for Bailey.

No one seems to know exactly what "Little Joe Bailey" will do about his political future. Some say he will run for governor while others contend he is certain to ask for the senatorship.

While it all was going on former Governor James E. Ferguson sat with poker face concealing his innermost feelings. He never did get a chance at the Fort Worth and Dallas audiences. Always it was Governor Miriam A. Ferguson who was called on. Somehow one got the idea that Jim Ferguson yearned for an opportunity to stand and say something, just to see how many "boys from the forks of the creek" really were gathered around.

Attorney General James V. Alfred got an opportunity to test his popularity at Houston, where he appeared as a guest at the Parley banquet and was introduced. Jimmie got a good hand. He is undecided, they say, whether to run for governor or against Connally for the senate.

a machine gun.

Eddie Zillis of Collinsville, Ill., won the opening fight with Skeet Ford of Amarillo. Zillis used a deadly right that kept Ford away most of the fight. He worked an uppercut that failed to land solidly but which was damaging. Ford came back in the last round with a nice left jab but Zillis was given all the rounds.

More than 300 fans witnessed the card which was declared a success. The next fight will see Australian Jack Kilbourne, contender for the middleweight crown, meeting Duke Trammel of Fort Worth. A good supporting card is being arranged.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL PLANS DEALT STUNNING BLOW BY LEGISLATURE

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS. AUSTIN, Oct. 27. (AP)—What is regarded as a blow to Texas' 100th birthday party was dealt when the special session of the legislature refused to pass a bill making an appropriation to defray preliminary expenses.

Those most active in the centennial movement said while the bill was up for consideration that it would be necessary to start preliminary plans immediately if the anniversary was to be commemorated in keeping with the extraordinary history and achievements of the Lone Star state. They were sorely disappointed when the bill died on the calendar.

No action can be taken on the proposition until the next session of the legislature which will convene in January, 1935. Prospect of a special session meanwhile, is anybody's guess.

The electorate at the general election last year authorized the legislature to lend financial support to the centennial. It was left to the discretion of the lawmakers just what form the aid should take and how much given. The legislators decided that now was not the time to make a major appropriation for the state's big birthday party and expressed a preference to wait and see how things shaped up financially later.

Centennial backers made representations that the state would ultimately profit if it financed the observance. They argued that thousands of visitors would come to Texas to spend a good deal of money for gasoline manufactured in this state and in the form of incidental touring expenses.

The centennial and the publicity it would receive, would direct the eyes of the world toward Texas, make better known its vast reaches and resources and cause those in search of greater fields to swell the rapidly growing population by taking up permanent residence there urged.

The legislators, however, awed by the huge state deficit, with their ears keyed to the taxpayers' reactions and with elections staring them in the face next summer favored a delay.

WITH THE HARVESTERS

By HARRY E. HOARE
If weight means anything, the Plainview Bulldogs who invade Pampa tomorrow afternoon to contest the Harvesters in their first conference game of the season should be about the best in this section. The Bulldogs range from 150 pounds to 220 pounds and the team average is 170 1/2 pounds to the man. And the team is coming to Pampa with a purpose. The Bulldogs hope to beat the Harvesters and then sit back and hope that either Pampa or Lubbock wins from the Sandies to throw the league race into the air. It seems that Plainview believes they can defeat Lubbock and that if their hopes are fulfilled, there will be a three-way tie in the district race again and Plainview will be one of the three teams in the running.

Billie McClure, business manager of the Bulldogs, in a letter to W. O. Workman, says that the Bulldogs were defeated before they took the field in Amarillo. "The outcome of the game was determined before the teams took the field. The Bulldogs had stage fright and could think of nothing but Amarillo's great record," Billie said in his letter. He believes that if given another chance against Amarillo, the Bulldogs would be the surprise team of the district.

Coach Weldon Chapman of the Lubbock Westerners apparently has more respect for the Harvesters this year than he has for the Amarillo Sandies and all the latter's sensational football. While here scouting the game Saturday afternoon when Cisco played the Harvesters, Coach Chapman was heard to remark, "Amarillo has not the team he had last year, excepting in one department, passing and that can be stopped. The Harvesters have a team that appears to be working together. It is not ragged like it was last season."

The Cisco Lobos, who played the Harvesters here last Saturday, are in hot water again. One of their players has been declared ineligible and another is being contested. The team was barred from state competition last season for persistency in violating athletic requirements. Norvall, regular tackle, failed to attend all the 1932-33 session and has been declared ineligible. The eligibility of Captain Lakin, other tackle, also being questioned. Brownwood also has an ineligible player, Wacey English, halfback, and as a result the recent conference game when Brownwood won from Cisco by a 6 to 0 score has been thrown out.

STOCK EXCHANGE MEMBERS FEAR U. S. REGULATION IS AHEAD

WHITNEY TALK IS TAKEN AS AN INDICATION

ROOSEVELT WILL ASK NEXT CONGRESS FOR LEGISLATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Whitney is beginning to have the fitters over the prospect of federal legislation to regulate stock exchanges.

The conference of Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, with President Roosevelt at the White House yesterday, although the subject of their discussion was not disclosed, caused not a few twinges of uneasiness in brokerage quarters, for Mr. Roosevelt is known to be preparing to ask congress for legislation to bring the exchanges under government control.

Talk of "driving the business to Canada" is again heard in board rooms, but it is acknowledged the power of the government to control foreign exchange transactions, which has actually been in force since the March banking holiday, might well tend to thwart a flight of the American security trading business across the border.

With the conviction definitely growing that the long-cherished regulation is on the way, some commission houses are preparing to be ready to alter their organizations if it appears that volume of trading is to be substantially reduced.

Some houses are understood to have refused to renew their leases, save with protecting clauses which will permit them to give up part of their office space on short notice.

Warning Against Inflation Given By R. B. Bennett

OTTAWA, Oct. 27. (AP)—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett believes "no country that has once experienced inflation of its currency would ever want to go through it again."

"The essence of all money," he said in a speech here last night, "is that quality that causes a person to accept it without question."

"If a government issues enormous quantities of these pieces of paper the value of its promise to pay goes down in proportion to the number put into circulation."

"When you come to consider this paper from the standpoint of other nations, you come to the real difficulties."

He defined inflation as meaning that "without any real restriction a nation continues to issue promises to pay without having gold reserves to back the promise."

Livestock Moves To Market Fast

AUSTIN, Oct. 27.—Livestock shipments of 3,776 cars from Texas to Fort Worth and interstate points during September represented an increase of nearly 33 per cent over the 2,844 cars shipped in September, 1932, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Of the four classes of livestock only cattle showed a decline in carload forwardings for September. Compared with the same month last year shipments respectively were: Cattle, 1,429 and 1,617; calves, 643 and 601; hogs, 1,111 and 295; sheep, 593 and 331.

"For the year to date shipments to Fort Worth and interstate points totaled 40,279 cars, an increase of 10 per cent over the 36,636 cars forwarded during the corresponding period in 1932," the report said.

"During this period shipments of cattle and sheep were about the same as last year; calf shipments increased considerably, and hog forwardings more than doubled."

"As to the destination of the September shipments the most noteworthy changes from a year ago are the five-fold increase of hogs to Fort Worth, the marked increase of cattle, calves and sheep to Los Angeles, and of sheep to Colorado points, California points other than Los Angeles, Kansas, Kansas City, other Missouri points and New Mexico."

"Similar marked changes occurred in the important livestock districts of the State, compared with last September. In the northern half of the Panhandle cattle and calf shipments were only one-fourth and one-half those of last year respectively, while hog shipments were four times as great. Sheep were unimportant both years."

"The Trans Pecos country forwarded less than a third as many cattle and calves and double the number of sheep while the Edwards Plateau shipped slightly fewer cattle and almost double the calves and more than twice as many sheep."

DOCTOR SAYS CANCER CURE IS 'ABSURD'

Beach Sunlight One of the Greatest Causes of Cancer, Says Specialist.

MADRID, Oct. 27. (AP)—Dr. James Ewing, director of Memorial hospital, New York City, told delegates to the International Cancer congress today that the idea of discovering a cure for cancer is "absurd."

The only hope of reducing cancer fatalities, he added, lies in prevention. In discussing prevention, Dr. Ewing charged nudism and other public movements toward exposure of the body with increasing cancer.

"Sunlight," he said, "is one of the greatest causes of cancer. Even trips to the beach often result in skin cancer."

Cancer exists in hundreds of forms, continued Dr. Ewing, one of two United States delegates to the congress, and it is unwise and unreasonable to expect one cure. He said that in his opinion only lip, skin, mouth, and breast cancer is curable.

These, he went on, constitute 35 per cent of the cases, but the remaining 65 per cent are not curable. He criticized physicians who hold forth a cure in the early stages of cancer, saying that early diagnosis seldom is possible and even when possible is useless if the cancer belongs in the incurable category.

Stomach cancer is the most deadly of all, he said, and only one in 1,000 cases survive. This cancer is impossible to diagnose in its early stages, he declared.

Europeans are less immune than Americans, Dr. Ewing said he believed, because they use more wine and beer and less water.

"This is not due to the alcohol, because alcohol is not a definite cause of cancer," he explained, "but rather to lack of sufficient dilution."

He advised moderation in smoking and drinking, avoidance of hot, irritating foods, exercise and hygiene and dissemination of all valuable information concerning the disease.

Barrymore "Feels" His Movie Roles Now at La Nora

Lionel Barrymore is one Hollywood star who actually feels his roles, according to John Robertson, veteran screen director, who guided the star in "One Man's Journey."

"By that," Robertson explained, "I mean he steps into the character he is playing, and grasps it from root to branch. He has an exceptionally keen, well balanced, and analytical mind, and an unerring artistic instinct. He understands the character he is playing; realizes how he would feel and act."

"Because of his amazing powers of concentration, he can step in and out of a characterization at will. He is not the sort, who to live a role, must immerse himself in every waking and sleeping hour. When he steps before the cameras, however, he invests his character with tremendous realism."

Barrymore, Robertson added, simply could not be an uninteresting actor.

"He has always created interesting characters, from his earliest days as an actor," the director declared. "I have followed his work for many years and never have seen him give a performance that was not intensely human and interesting. That explains his tremendous hold upon the public. People know that when they see Lionel Barrymore on stage or screen they will see a vital, colorful and interesting characterization."

Robertson and Barrymore have known each other since 1896, but never had worked together prior to "One Man's Journey."

In the new film, the star is said to play one of the greatest screen characters ever created. It is that of a country doctor, who sacrifices personal ambitions to serve others, and who wins spectacular recognition of his lifetime of service at a time he had put himself down as a failure.

A strong cast including May Robson, Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea, Frances Dee, David Landau, James Bush, Buster Phelps, Oscar Apfel, Sam Mims and June Famer support the start. Lester Cohen wrote the screen play based upon Katharine Haviland-Taylor's short story, "Failure," which was included in the O'Brien collection as one of the sixteen best of 1932.

Gossip Columns Frowned Upon at Meeting of A. P.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Oct. 27. (AP)—Political gossip columns purporting to tell the story behind the news, and the dramatizing of news stories were topics under consideration by the managing editors of Associated Press newspapers, at their annual meeting here today.

Roy A. Roberts of the Kansas City Star and Times, a veteran Washington correspondent, declared that never before was it so difficult to determine which is news and which is ballyhoo, and said he believed the Associated Press should hold fast to its creed of accuracy and leave gossip columns to special writers.

Roy J. Dunlap of the St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press also warned against the gossip type of news coverage. Byron Price, chief of the Washington Bureau, told of some of the complexities of covering the national capital. Jackson E. Elliott, assistant general manager of the Associated Press, compared the writing of Washington political news with that of 30 years ago.

In discussing the value of the organization's record for unbiased handling of news, Mr. Elliott told the managing editors that there never had been a libel suit verdict against the Associated Press during its more than 40 years of existence.

Marvin Creager of the Milwaukee Journal made the observation that radio presentation of news events had developed the public appetite for a dramatic presentation of stories which the newspapers might well consider in the development of writing.

Americans Involved In Strikes And Uprisings

HAVANA, Oct. 27. (AP)—Two Americans were involved today in strikes and uprisings against the government marked by widespread outbreaks of violence.

One, C. M. Jervis, was held prisoner by workers who took over the Alto Cedro sugar mill of which he was manager, in Oriente province. The other, Florencio Gerena, appealed for protection from gangs at a Mercedes sugar mill.

Fears of an island-wide general strike moved the government to renewed vigilance in the midst of continued disorders such as those in which the Americans were endangered.

Plans for the general strike, it was reported here, were being laid by communists.

But the current strike difficulties in Havana kept authorities busy as they sought to forestall moves toward further uprisings.

A huge bomb tossed from a speeding automobile did extensive damage to two buildings in midtown Havana at about 1:30 o'clock this morning. No one was injured.

A hosiery store in one of the damaged structures was owned by Angel Cambo, who also is owner of a radio station used by the government.

New worries were added to those under which President Grau's shoulders already are stooped when 30 women representing the mothers of 64 students slain during the regime of the deposed president, Gerardo Machado, called at the palace during the night and demanded that the president immediately start the trials of the Machadoistas.

Grau explained he had so many other problems pressing that he was unable to set a definite date.

Mrs. Ruth Roberts left Pampa hospital this morning after a minor operation.

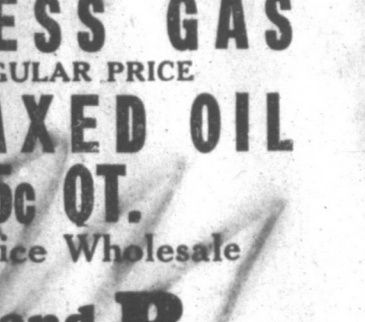

A daughter was born yesterday evening at Pampa hospital to Mrs. and Mrs. A. C. Jones.

LITVINOFF IS TRAVELING TO UNITED STATES

UTMOST SECRECY VEILS RUSSIAN'S TRIP FROM MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Oct. 27 (AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, to whom all Russia looks for the attainment of American recognition, was on his way to the United States today in an atmosphere of utmost secrecy.

A peep beneath a scarcely-raised blind from a window of his train was the only parting view of his associates the foreign commissar was seen to permit himself.

And the crowds which gladly would have cheered him off on the all-important journey to Washington were barred from the railroad station.

Hours after he had slipped away behind closely drawn shades on the Berlin train, it was impossible even to learn whether his English-born wife had accompanied him.

To the time of his unheralded departure, he refused to break the silence in which he has locked his ideas about the forthcoming negotiations.

Similarly tight-lipped were his associates in high government circles. They would discuss neither his plans for the talks with President Roosevelt nor his itinerary.

Accompanying him were C. Oumanski, chief of the foreign office press section, and Ivan A. Divilkovski, secretary of the foreign office collegium.

The small party, accompanied by a handful of minor foreign attaches, entered the station shortly before midnight and boarded the train 15 minutes before its scheduled departure.

Hitler To Cover The World With Nazi Propaganda

BY LOUIS J. LOCHNER

BERLIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—The drums of Nazi propaganda have begun to beat throughout the world, the praises of the German government. The emphasis is on peace; upon Germany's earnest will for amity.

Whispers heard in other lands that Germany is secretly arming, that quasi-military target practice is sponsored among storm troopers and that chemists are working out new, destructive gases of war, are particularly vexatious in the Hitler government.

So touchy is Germany on the question of her "secret arming" that one of the largest chemical factories today took a group of foreign correspondents through its plant to demonstrate that no poisonous gases were being manufactured.

As a corollary to her slogan about peaceful intentions, the German foreign propaganda emphasizes its campaign against Bolshevism.

The more this idea is accepted by the outside world, the easier it is to explain Germany's brown marching columns and military discipline.

Every Nazi propagandist disseminates the idea into the ears of foreigners.

It follows, then, that Nazi foreign propaganda is also much concerned with discrediting German emigres abroad, for these deny both Hitlerism's peaceful intentions and the alleged imminence of communism before Hitler seized power.

Though denying officially that Nazism tries to interfere with the political systems of other countries, the utterances of Hitler and sub-leaders indicate that Nazism considers itself entrusted with a world mission.

One aspect of this is the display play of anti-Semitism, which it tries to popularize in other countries also.

Another aspect is the derogation of democracy and the extolling of Fascism or "the leadership principle."

Through thousands of channels the Nazi propaganda spreads into other countries. The Nazis invoke photography, the radio and the "talkies" to acquaint other nations with the new Germany's purposes.

Under the auspices of the German academy at Munich, committees are formed in every country for the furtherance of relations to Germany.

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette University's brilliant sprint champion, is considering two invitations to this summer.

More than 50 secondary schools in the St. Louis area were invited to a musical contest by Washington university to stimulate interest in the art.

The British Isles now have 89 talkie theaters, 29 in the London area and others spread over Scotland, Wales, and Ireland.

THE BLUE EAGLE IN HIS BEST ACT

STRIKES AND REVOLUTION IN CURRENT LA NORA NEWSREEL

Hectic scenes at Ambridge, Pa., where two hundred deputy sheriffs battle striking workers near the grounds of the Spang-Chalfont Seamless Tube company, firing into their ranks and dispersing them with a tear gas attack are to be seen in the current issue of the Pampa Daily NEWS-Universal Newsreel. Graham McNamee, noted radio announcer and the screen's talking reporter, describes these and the other important events in the reel at La Nora theater.

While strike-breakers brave threats to enter the plants nearby under a heavy guard, police seek to keep the crowd of strikers moving. There are spasmodic outbreaks and then a sudden attack repulsed by police who throw a barrage of tear gas into the workers' midst, leaving them helpless. Others, escaping the fumes, run pell-mell.

Other important news events described by McNamee include unusual views in Havana, Cuba, where deposed army officers, captured in a recent battle, await trial in their prison fortress; exciting scenes as the Giants win the world's series in the final game with the Senators at Washington, D. C., appalling views at Los Angeles, where sixty three workmen die in a forest fire; a sound interview in Chicago, with E. A. Hayes, new national commander of the American Legion; dramatic scenes in Oklahoma City, as Harvey Bailey and Albert Bates are sentenced to life imprisonment for the kidnaping of Charles Urschel, millionaire oil operator; appalling scenes in Shantung, China, where thousands perished when the flood waters of the Yellow River inundated a wide area; unusual views at Hood River, Ore., where foresters break camp after completing vast woodland projects in record time and thrilling scenes at Roosevelt Field, L. I., as the nation's foremost pilots perform in a spectacular charity air pageant.

About 750 feature-length movies were produced in Japan in 1932.

Two dozen talkie films were made in Bengal in 1932, a 100 per cent increase over 1931.

Ford V-8's Take First 3 Places In Mexican Race

"Three Ford cars—two V-8s and a 1931 'four'—won the first three places in the famous Laredo-Monterrey road race sponsored by the Mexican Automobile association, an affiliate of the American Automobile association, according to official reports of the race.

The two V-8s established the fastest time on record for the course. The third Ford won the same position in the class B event of the original road races which formally

College Exes To Hear Band From Pampa Saturday

CANYON, Oct. 27.—Homecoming will be celebrated at the West Texas State Teachers college Saturday, October 28, with one of the greatest celebrations in the history of the college.

T. H. McDonald of Pampa, president of the Ex-Students association, and his board of directors have planned a day of interesting programs, allowing plenty of time for old friendships to be renewed and new ones begun, with a fitting culmination in the football game between the Buffaloes of the West Texas State Teachers college and the Oklahoma City university Goldbugs, touted Oklahoma football machine.

Hundreds of ex-students are expected to return to their alma mater on this day and to take an active part in the celebration. "We'll see you at homecoming," has become a slogan over the Panhandle this week among the ex-students and friends of the West Texas State Teachers college.

Activities for the day will begin with an assembly at 11 o'clock when a snappy program, including band music, short talks, and a pantomime will be given. T. H. McDonald will preside and exes will be welcomed by Dr. J. A. Hill.

The program is as follows: Welcome address, Dr. J. A. Hill. Response, Miss Neville Wrenn. Music, Pampa School Band—Roy Wallrabenstein, director.

Ex-Student Objectives, T. H. McDonald. Pantomime, Miss Madge Run. Violin Solo, Herschel Coffey, Mrs. Mae Slack, accompanist. Alma Mater.

opened the new Pan-American highway between Laredo and Monterrey three years ago. The race was won by Eddy Byers, a veteran figure in Texas and Oklahoma road race circles, in a Ford V-8 with an average speed for the 138.6-mile race of 78.25 miles per hour. Byers staged a thrilling finish to win over Jimmie Davis, also driving a Ford V-8, who placed second, one minute and 14 seconds behind the winner. Jim Hall of Houston was third in a Ford Model A. Davis' average speed was 77.5 miles per hour, Hall's 73.1 miles per hour.

Gasoline consumption in Illinois declined only 1.1 per cent in 1932 from 1931.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

CAMELS ARE NOT FULL GROWN UNTIL THEIR SIXTEENTH YEAR.

SEAGULLS ARE RECOGNIZED AS TRUE WEATHER PROPHETS BY THE U.S. WEATHER BUREAU. WHEN THE BIRDS FLY INLAND, A STORM IS VERY SURE TO ENSUE SHORTLY.

IRELAND HAS A POPULATION OF 8,295,061 IN 1925. ALMOST TWICE THE PRESENT POPULATION!

ALTHOUGH a camel is not mature until the sixteenth year, it is put to work at about five years of age. For the first five years, the young camel is designated by a different name. The age of a camel, like that of a horse, can be told quite accurately by the teeth.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

For October 29
General topic: World's Temperance Lesson.
Scripture lesson: Rom. 13:12-14, 14:9, 15:21.
12. The night is far spent, and the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light.
13. Let us walk becomingly, as in the day; not in reveling and drunkenness and not in chambering and wantonness, hot in strife and jealousy.
14. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof.
15. For none of us liveth to himself, and none dieth to himself.
16. For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; or whether we die, we die unto the Lord; whether we live therefore or die we are the Lord's.
17. For to this and Christ died, and lived again, that he might be Lord of both the dead and living.
18. For if because of meat thy brother is grieved, thou walkest no longer in love. Destroy not with thy meat him for whom Christ died.
19. Let not then your good be evil spoken of:
20. For the kingdom of God is not in eating and drinking, but in righteousness and peace and joy to the Holy Spirit.
21. For he that here serveth Christ is well-pleasing to God, and approved of men.
22. So then let us follow after things which make for peace, and things whereby we may edify one another.
23. Overthrow not for meat's sake the work of God. All things indeed are clean howbeit it is evil for that man who eateth with offense.
24. It is good not to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor to do anywelfare of others. It is sin for him to engage in acts, practices, detrimental to his fellow men. If a man will not accept this point of view, whether he be a church member or an outright unbeliever, it is of little avail to argue with him about temperance.

[The Book of Romans]
Paul's letter to the Christians of Rome is one of the noblest books of the Bible. It was written from Corinth at the close of his second missionary journey and when he was intending to visit Rome—a visit which he made only later and as a prisoner. The Epistle is Paul's chief doctrinal composition, setting forth in a masterly manner the way of life, that it lies through faith in God; and so it is one of the most important of the Bible books. The letter closes with many strong practical teachings for daily life, and our lesson is taken from this section.
The Temperance Sunday
The World's Temperance Lesson is especially important at this time in our own country the forces of evil are making as we write, the most strenuous effort they have yet made to overthrow the Eighteenth amendment to the constitution.
They are seeking by every form of falsehood and specious pleading to bring about a return of the saloon. The present generation has been brought up with no knowledge of the evils of the saloon, and is especially open to these misleading statements. There is every reason for reviving the reasons for prohibition and setting forth its enormous advantages and blessings. This our lesson aims to do.
The Day is at Hand
The night is far spent, and the day is at hand. Paul means by night, ignorance of God; and all who are kept in it wander, and sleep as in the night; for unbelievers suffer from blindness and stupidity; and this last is indicated by sleep, which is the image, as the apostle says, of death. Let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light. Christians who have seen the light of life and are living in fellowship with him, ought to do the things that he would approve, spurning the deeds of darkness. Total abstinence from intoxication if necessary if one would live a life of vigor and usefulness. Every drink of strong liquor means so much less of strength and vigor.

so much less of capacity to do the work which our Master wants us to do in this world.
The Day of Reckoning
The section ends with a solemn warning. A day of reckoning is coming for all. "We shall all stand before the judgment-seat of God." "Each one of us shall give account of himself to God." In that day of reckoning we shall have to answer such questions as "What have you done with your muscles, your nerves, your brain, the wonderful fabric of your body? Your talents? Your possessions? Your friends? Your home? Your opportunities in life? Our spiritual impulses? What answer can the drunkard make to those stern questions? Is it any wonder that the Bible emphatically says (I Cor. 6:10) that drunkards shall not inherit the kingdom of God?
It is good not to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor to do anything whereby thy brother stumbleth." This sums up the whole story. And Paul gives a beautiful reason in the verse of the next chapter which is appended to our lesson: "Let each one of us please his neighbor for that which is good, unto edifying. For Christ also pleased not himself."

Five Americans Are Acquitted In Palma Case
PALMA, Mallorca, Oct. 27. (AP)—A single legal step stood today between five Americans and final operation on charges of assaulting civil guard.
Their acquittal by the military court now must be confirmed by a military auditor. This, however, generally is merely a formality.
The prosecutor, presenting his case in a five-hour secret session, urged prison terms of six years and a day for each defendant.
Those on trial were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass.; Ruford Fullerton, of Columbus, O.; Roderick E. Mead of New York, and Edmund W. Blodgett of Stamford, Conn.
The Floyd Rifles, company C of the 121st Infantry of the Georgia national guard, at Mason, is 92 years old as an organization.

Outrageous Fortune

—By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: Jim Randall remains hiding in Hale Place, his boyhood home, while Caroline Leigh tries to help him untangle the dangerous situation in which he finds himself. He has lost all memory of the past six weeks, and numerous clues point toward his having stolen the Van Berg emeralds, and having shot their owner. Caroline is started by a telephone call from Susie Van Berg asking that she go at once to see Mrs. Van Berg. And to make the situation more poignant, it just has dawned on Jim and Caroline that they love each other!

Chapter 34

AT PACKHAM HALL

As Caroline followed a tall young footman up the imposing staircase of Packham Hall, she looked about her, with interest. She had not been in the house since she was a little girl.

Mrs. Van Berg's maid, Caroline came back to the present with a jerk and took a good look at the "luring" Susie. She saw a middle-aged person of very discreet appearance with a manner nicely attuned to what might be any moment become a house of mourning.

As they turned into a long corridor, one of Elmer Van Berg's nurses passed them, going in the direction of the stairs, a pretty, rather hard-featured girl with bright blue eyes. They turned again, Louise opened a door and announced "Miss Leigh—"

Caroline passed into the small sitting-room and heard the door softly closed behind her.

The room was very warm; that was Caroline's first impression. There was a fire on the hearth and a scent of pastilles in the air. Though it was not yet six o'clock the cold, wet daylight had been shut out. Two lamps with pale blue shades filled the room with a light that was rather like moonlight. The room was most unmistakably that of a pretty, spoli woman. Susie Van Berg herself lay on a couch in front of the fire, banked up with cushions. There was a silver cushion under her head, a pale pink pouffe behind her shoulders, and a three-cornered violet cushion just slipping to the floor as she made a startled movement.

Caroline was startled too. She didn't know what she had expected. But not this. The setting was so elaborate, so artificial like Susie Van Berg herself looked like someone in a play. She wore one of those garments one sees in catalogues—frilled, beflowered, embroidered georgette pyjamas in pale blue shading to green, with a satin coat to match.

But the eyes which she fixed on Caroline as she made that movement to rise were the eyes of a frightened child. A dry, hot hand clung to hers, and the voice that she had heard on the telephone said:

"Caroline Leigh?" Caroline nodded. "Won't you sit down? Where will you sit? Come here beside me on the sofa and—we needn't talk loud." She slipped her feet off the coach as she spoke, pulling herself into a sitting position. Caroline took off her tweed coat and sat down.

"It was very good of you to come," said Susie Van Berg, she spoke as if she had not quite enough breath for what she wanted to say. Caroline saw her with compassion. It was obvious that she had wept bitterly during the last few days; her eyes had a drowned and faded look. Her hands kept plucking at one another, and from time to time a nervous tremor shook her. Yet her nails were carefully reddened, her pale hair immaculately set, and her lips made up in an artificial curve. She had a lost, tormented look.

Caroline's soft heart was a good deal moved. She put her hand on the twisting, plucking fingers and said:

"What can I do for you, Mrs. Van Berg?"

Susie Van Berg drew her hands away. "It's no matter—nothing matters. Why did you come?" "You wanted to see me." "Yes—it was good of you. But it's no use—nothing's any use."

There was a pause while Caroline tried to think of something to say. What could she say to unhappiness like this? She didn't know.

Susie Van Berg flung round with outstretched hands. "What shall I do if Elmer dies?" "Perhaps he won't." "But if he dies—if he does!" She jumped up with a sudden surprising energy, ran to the door and opened it. For a moment she stood looking out into the corridor. Then she came back, her blue wrap trailing, her hand on her side, and a faint tinge of natural color in her face.

"There's no one there," she said and sank back into the sofa corner again. After a moment she said, "Louise listens—I think she talks—I suppose they all talk, I am afraid to speak, you know. There are the doctors and the nurses, and the servants, and the police. I'm afraid all the time of saying something—something—"

"Why?" said Caroline. She looked straight into Susie Van Berg's frightened eyes; her voice was steady and deep.

Susie went on speaking in a desperate, fluttered voice. "It's awful not to have anyone to speak to. That's why I asked you to come." "Did Jim talk to you about me?" Susie nodded. "He talked about you a lot—he thought the world of you—he wanted us to meet. Men are funny like that—if two persons are fond of them, they can't see why they won't be fond of each other. Elmer's like that too."

A little animation had come to her as she talked, but with the last word a nervous shudder took her again. "What is it?" said Caroline gently. "I felt I'd go mad if I didn't have someone to speak to. I thought you would be safe because, whatever I told you, you wouldn't want to hurt Jim."

"Jim—"

Susie looked at her out of panic-stricken eyes and whispered, "I've killed Elmer." Caroline straightened herself. She said, "Nonsense!" and made her feel sure that what Susie had just said could not possibly be true.

Susie shook her head. "You don't know. He was jeal-

When Baruch Meets Borah, Then

When Baruch meets Borah, momentous matters may be in the wind. Maybe they talked only Idaho's famous potatoes, but it's a safe wager that the foreign situation was mullied over, when Bernard M. Baruch, right, financier and adviser of presidents, just back from Europe, stepped off the train at Boise to be greeted by Senator W. E. Borah, left. Baruch, en route to the Pacific coast, spent an afternoon with the Idaho senator.

PECOS VALLEY TO BLOOM AGAIN WHEN RED BLUFF DAM IS BUILT

FORT STOCKTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Twenty-one years, the time the fight for the Red Bluff dam has been carried on was a long time to wait but the 422 irrigated farms covering 40,000 acres and occupied by 1,500 persons in the Pecos valley of Texas are again the potentially profitable lands they were when plenty of water coursed down the Pecos river.

The farms have 345 miles of irrigation ditches and about $2,024,000 invested in equipment in Texas along the 110 miles of the river. News that the P. W. A. at Washington had approved the dam project came in a time of drought. It was a drought some three decades ago that sent hundreds of farmers from the middle west to the Pecos valley looking for irrigated lands.

Many bought land. As long as the waters of the Pecos came down the farmers did well. Carpenters hammered day and night creating new villages. Buena Vista, Imperial and Grand Falls were built. The Barstow valley became a time the Eden of the West. Alfalfa, cotton, and other yields were rich.

Then a dam was built above the New Mexico line which diverted the waters of the Pecos and the happy valley lost its wealth. Dead cottonwood trees and windowless houses today mark the tragedy of the land where water failed.

It was this condition that started R. H. Gray, county judge of Pecos county, on his fight for the Red Bluff dam. He was joined by C. B. Hudspeth, former congressman, who put through the bill signed in 1926 authorizing the building of the dam.

When the fight for the dam was at its height nearly every irrigated farm owner in Reeves, Loving, and Pecos counties was a member of the old Pecos county water users association.

It will require about two years to build the dam, contract for which already had been awarded pending the approval of the government. A town is to be built at the site near the New Mexico line and the population of the section is expected to treble in a few years. It will be the first town of its kind since the oil boom brought new-abandonment here in 1929. Already the town-site has been laid out.

Compliance Man For State Named

DALLAS, Oct. 27.—Appointment of Sherwood H. Avery, Dallas, as district compliance director for North Texas and the state of Oklahoma, to receive complaints of code violations, was announced here in a telegram from General Hugh Johnson, national administrator.

The compliance director is not responsible for criminal investigation or law enforcement. These responsibilities are the function of the federal trade commission and the attorney general, Mr. Avery said. His duties are to obtain compliance as an auditor, and the instructions are very clear that we are not enforcement officers in any sense of the word. This office must be kept free from the role of enforcer or coarner."

The instructions refer only to compliance and permanent codes, and do not in any way affect the present compliance board set-up and routine of handling compliance under the president's reemployment agreement, Mr. Avery stressed.

READING "MENU" FOR WEEK ONE OF EXCEPTIONAL CHARM

A rich reading menu for this week for people of many tastes has been written by Mrs. James Todd Jr., librarian. Travel, adventure, psychology, biography, and fiction are included.

The menu follows:

FICTION
HIS OWN PEOPLE, by Leon W. Rogers. This book paints a vivid picture of the life of a circuit rider's family, and presents the problems of a boy growing to manhood under the strict discipline of a fundamentalist home.

BEYOND THE BLUE SIERRA, by Honore Willise Morrow. A very interesting historical novel based upon the story of the opening of the overland trail from Mexico to Upper California and the founding by the Spaniards of the first settlement at San Francisco in 1775 and '76. It is a biographical novel with a historical background.

FAY'S CIRCUS, by Katherine S. Pritchard. None of us can resist the lure of the circus. The author pulls back the tent flaps of Fay's Circus, and with sawdust filling our eyes, we follow the wanderings of the lightest and brightest little show on earth. Fay's Circus is a novel which will appeal to every lover of animals and to every one who is filled with romantic spirit.

JALNA, by Mazo de la Roche. An Atlantic monthly prize novel, giving a picture of life on an isolated Canadian estate, where three generations of the Whiteoaks family live their turbulent lives.

WHITEOAKS OF JALNA, by Mazo de la Roche. A sequel to Jalna, continuing the lives of this quarrelsome clan, who lived with a kind of Victorian majesty in the Ontario country with Finch Whiteoaks, a son of the family as the center of interest.

FINCH'S FORTUNE, by Mazo de la Roche. The third volume of the Jalna saga, in which Finch Whiteoaks, the musical genius of the third generation, emerges from adolescence and comes into a fortune left him by his grandmother. He finds himself confronted with the problem of what to do with his inherited fortune.

MASTERS OF JALNA, by Mazo de la Roche. This fourth volume in the chronicles of the Whiteoaks, that noisy, quarrelsome, and lovable family out of the eighteenth century, tells the story of Renny Whiteoaks, a patriarch at forty-six.

ELLEN TERRY AND BERNARD SHAW, by Christopher St. John. The correspondence of Ellen Terry and Bernard Shaw covered more than a quarter century of their lives and reveals a devoted attachment. They seldom saw each other but their lives were intimate, and affectionate. Their correspondence throws an interesting light on the inner history of the London stage at the end of the last century.

MINUTE BIOGRAPHIES, by Nisenson & Parker. Henry Ward Beecher once said, "Biography is the home aspect of history." These

Pensioned

The senate banking committee opened its investigation of New York's Chase National bank by disclosing that Albert H. Wiggin, former head, was retired last year on a pension of $100,000 a year for life. It was also revealed that Wiggin, shown here at the hearing, received more than $800,000 in salary and bonuses since 1912—during most of which period the bank was suffering losses.

are intimate glimpses into the lives of 150 famous men and women. If you are a busy man and woman and do not have much time to read, you will enjoy these concise biographies.

TRAVEL
PLANNING A TRIP ABROAD, by Edward Hungerford. Without wasting words it instructs you in the art of saving time and avoiding fuss and worry. It is explicit as to when, how, and where to go abroad. As a guide it does far more than help you plan your trip abroad, it gives you every opportunity of carrying it through to complete success.

TROUGH EUROPE ON TWO DOLLARS A DAY, by Frank Schoonmaker. Readers will find you have two books in one, the first a charmingly written account of things worth seeing, and the second an accurate discussion of ways and means. The three final chapters of the book tell you how and where to save and include budgets for each country under consideration.

ADVENTURE AND TRAVEL

A VAGABOND JOURNEY AROUND THE WORLD, by Harry A. Franck. A narrative of personal experience. Throughout the book we see the author tramping through the different countries early and late. He gives us a vivid description of his wanderings in France, Switzerland, on the borders of the Mediterranean, and his journey up the Nile. Then we find him in the heart of India, in the Jungles of Siam, wandering in Japan and finally homeward bound. A book for one who has the adventurous spirit within him.

THE ROYAL ROAD TO ROMANCE, by Richard Halliburton. The author traveled from one extraordinary experience to another, viewing Switzerland from the pinnacle of the Matterhorn, going to jail for photographing Gibraltar cannon, getting himself locked inside the Taj Mahal, fighting cobras while crossing the Malay Peninsula, and climbing the Fujijima alone in the winter season. A book full of excitement and thrills.

THE GLORIOUS ADVENTURE, by Richard Halliburton. This book is certainly the most amusing, consistently readable and original book of travel since Halliburton wrote "The Royal Road to Romance." It is a glorious book crammed with adventure.

PSYCHOLOGY
LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY, by Walter Pitkin. People have been led to believe that as one grows older a uniform decline sets in. Pitkin proves to us in his book that life really begins at forty; that is the revolutionary outcome of our New Era, that work becomes easier, that play grows richer, and that leisure lengthens. Everyone who is entering that period of life is brought to realize that every day brings forth some new thing that adds to the joy of life after forty.

SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY

Constipation Relieved
"I suffered from constipation that made me feel worn and tired," writes Mrs. George W. Tackett, of Ashland, Ky. "It seemed that my head was never easy. I took different things, but would be feeling bad as ever. I saw Black-Draught advertised, and by taking a sample I was so much relieved that I sent for a package. Now it has helped me so much that I do not suffer as I did. I would not be without Black-Draught for anything."
Costs only 1 cent or less a dose.
* * * Children like the new, pleasant tasting SYRUP of Black-Draught.

Here are new ideas, new helps for the discouraged. Here is your solution to your problems. THE SOUTHWEST IN LITERATURE, by Mabel & Rebecca Smith.

The plan of the book is unique. Instead of making a collection of the works of writers who live in this section, they have selected from writers everywhere those poems and prose works which depict the life of the southwest. The aim of the book is to furnish the southwest with an anthology of good literature about the southwest.

Chicken stealing, once considered a prank, has become a serious menace to North Carolina poultrymen, says Roy S. Dearstyne, state college specialist.
