TEXAS WANTS A CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION. Although modification of state-trust laws and disposition of relief bonds were the immediate reasons for convening the Texas legislature in special session, Texans with an eye to the future realize that the most momentous issue at stake is the Texas Centennial celebration.

There should be no question in the minds of legislators that the people of Texas desire a celebration of such magnitude as befits the traditions and accomplishments of this state. An expenditure of as much as $5,000,000 for this observance was authorized last November by an overwhelming vote, in spite of a natural reluctance in times of depression to appropriate money for any purpose.

INDIAN FIGHTERS ESCAPE BY CAPTURING LONE PROWLER AND AVOIDING MAIN ENCAMPMENT

BY LEMUEL T. WILSON, Famous Scout. AFTER crossing the Washita the question was, what to do next. "We will travel down the river until dark. If we are attacked, we will scatter into the swamp and some may get through. I have the best horse; I will stay back and cover your retreat."

a. m. the 14th, by the Indians. This was where Schmalze made his famous ride. (Editor's note: Capt. Lyman's command was cut off from water, they had several wounded and were generally in sore straits. At this juncture Schmalze volunteered to break through the hostile line and ride to Camp Supply—78 miles distant—for relief.

He left shortly after dark on the 10th, was soon discovered and in the ensuing chase his horse stumbled in a prairie dog hole nearly throwing Schmalze, who lost his hat and carbine and would have been caught had he not run into a buffalo herd. Bending low he ran alongside a huge buffalo bull eluding his pursuers who then abandoned the chase.

VIRGINIA WILL BALLOT TODAY ON WET ISSUE

ONLY 20 STATES WILL BE OPEN TO LIQUOR IF AND WHEN—

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Just 20 states will be legally open to liquor traffic if and if national prohibition is nullified, a survey made by the Associated Press showed today.

State after state has pushed touchdown over the dry goal. But then—those all-significant "points-after-touchdown." The "points after" are the various state statutes and constitutional provisions outlawing spirituous drink.

Barrett & Co. Authorized Sub-Brokers NEW YORK STOCK AND CURVE EXCHANGE. Stocks carried on conservative margin.

One state—Utah—votes on both state and national prohibition Nov. 7, and another, Virginia, votes today on the 21st amendment, Ohio will also make the dual decision at its November election.

A saloon by any other name would smell more sweetly, in the opinion of the majority of lawmakers, the survey revealed. In the future, it will be "ten nights in a tavern."

Scattered throughout the states which will be wet when and if 36 states have voted for the 21st amendment to the constitution —by virtue of having repealed their state liquor prohibitions or because they never had any—are Indiana, Louisiana, Pennsylvania, Washington, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, Wisconsin, Arizona, Montana,

Nevada, Oregon, Colorado, Illinois, New York, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Delaware, California and New Mexico.

States in which special sessions of the legislatures have been called for this fall, the sole purpose to remove legal obstacles blocking the return of liquor, or sessions in which anti-prohibitionary laws may possibly be acted upon, are Michigan, Wyoming and Maine.

JURORS DECLINE TO INDICT CONVICTS IN PRISON SLAYINGS

Operators' Sales Held Yesterday

Judge W. R. Ewing yesterday declined to grant an injunction to prevent sale of properties of the Operators Royalty and Producing company under a judgment given the First National Bank and Trust company of Tulsa nearly a year ago.

Sales in Moore and Carson county, where the company had little property, were held yesterday. The bank bought in the property for $50 in each instance. Most of the property is in Gray county, where the sale, if held, will attract much interest.

Second lien holders, including local supply firms, did not oppose the sales.

Chief of Staff Fulgencio Batista's army student supporters of the Grau regime, and the radical branch of the A B C were elated over what they called yesterday's victory and rejoiced that the United States had not interfered.

Many Cubans, however, mourned their dead and blamed the United States bitterly for not acting to prevent the bloodshed.

Fighting that began at dawn Monday and continued almost uninteruptedly through the day with a virtual barrage and counter firing from the hotel paused late in the afternoon for an armistice, but was

PARISH IS DUE EXPENSE FUND OFFICIALS SAY

SEVEN KILLED DURING PENAL FARM BREAK IN SEPTEMBER

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La., Oct. 3 (P)—Eight surviving convicts of the 12 who figured in the bloody Louisiana Angola penal farm break on September 10, were free today of charges of murder because a West Feliciana parish grand jury returned "no true" bills on the indictments against them.

The grand jury also no-billed the indictment against Eunice McDine, who was held in jail in New Orleans on charges of being an accessory because she smuggled a pistol into the prison farm to James Russell, her common-law husband.

Two prison officers, a trusty guard and four of the convicts involved in the spectacular dash for freedom were killed.

The no-bills were returned within a few hours by the grand jury yesterday. Parish officials as well as Bill Himes, general manager of the penitentiary, refused to comment on the action.

The question of financing the trial of the convicts was raised soon after the murder charges were filed. West Feliciana parish officials contend that the state still owes the parish $4,000 for expenses incurred in trying convicts involved in the break of 1928.

Sheriff Fred C. Wilcox of West Feliciana notified General Manager Himes that three of the recaptured convicts, now held at Baton Rouge, are no longer in his custody. He also notified New Orleans authorities to release Eunice McDine.

Sheriff Wilcox said that the three prisoners at Baton Rouge, J. C. Bird, James Dear, and Bill Bryant, "belonged to the state penitentiary" and he would "not be longer responsible for the keep of the prisoners in the parish jail there."

"These prisoners were delivered to me in the East Baton Rouge parish jail and I gave them back to the penitentiary at the same place they were given to me," he said.

Earl Joyner, another of the convicts, was recently recaptured in Hot Springs, Ark., and is now facing trial in bank robbery charges in Crockett, Texas, officers for whom "no true" bills were entered, and who are still at large, are Cleo Carlson, Dallas Hunter, Charles Frazier, and Walter Henderson.

All the convicts still have long terms to serve at the penitentiary.

returned for 20 minutes, after which the officers surrendered peacefully and were taken to prisons or hospitals.

A check of hospitals, first aid stations, and the morgue showed that 44, including 29 soldiers, nine officers, and six civilians, among them an American, were killed in the encounter. Eighty-nine were known to be wounded, among them 23 soldiers, 16 officers, and 27 passersby.

100 Killed Perhaps.

A complete count was not obtainable because many killed or wounded were taken to smaller clinics or hospitals which declined to give out information.

The Havana police chief estimated that "not more than 100 were killed and 200 wounded" in the hotel battle, but he could not say how many were victims of street fighting.

The officers, about 500 at one time, took refuge in the large, American-owned hotel with the accession of Grau and had since maintained a defiant attitude towards his administration, refusing to accede to his demands to come out.

A newspaper man who entered the hotel during the battle in which he found the place a shambles, with every window shattered, floors covered with mud, blood, and water, and the walls gaping with a dozen shell holes.

STRIBLING

Physicians said death was due to complications arising from internal injuries suffered when Stribling's left foot was severed and his pelvis crushed in a collision between his motorcycle and an automobile.

Holds On Gamely.

For a while last night the physicians held hope for Stribling's recovery, but in the early morning hours they saw his tremendous vitality begin to ebb. Then they knew it was a matter of hours before he would go.

Members of the family gathered

Called "Yellow"

Death ended at up and down career which saw Stribling fight all the middleweight and heavyweight champions of the past 10 years, but he never had the power to become a champion.

Sponsored by "Pa" who managed his son's entire career, Stribling started with the gloves when the family—"Ma," "Pa," W. L., and Herbert were the "four Grahams."

"Ma" likewise was a prominent figure in the success of W. L. In his early years she was his trainer and bestowed a kiss upon her son before the sound of the opening bell in all his major fights.

A veteran at 29 of more than 300 ring battles and five times challenger for titles he never won, Young Stribling has left for the record books a question mark as to his true rating as a fighter.

At his best he was brilliant; at his worst they hurled at him the taunting cry of "yellow" and in between he went his way smilingly, undaunted, taking on all comers in a campaign that carried him to the far ends of the earth.

Whipped Rosenbloom.

Those who knew Stribling as an amateur sportsman—airplane pilot, speedboat racer, golfer, and basketball star—never questioned his courage. Particularly, any who flew with him breathed freely once more only when they felt ground under their feet again. He has walked away from at least one crackup in his plane and, until Sunday, had been on his feet at the finish of every venture he ever tackled.

Two weeks ago, 12,000 tickled the turnstiles at Houston, Texas, to see Stribling outpoint and gain a 10-round decision over Maxie Rosenbloom recognized by the New York Boxing commission as the world's light heavyweight champion.

The title was not at stake but in that other world today Stribling rests in peace because he ended a 13-year ring career, a parade of 300 battles, with victory.

Reunion at Chicago

40 YEARS LATER—In 1893, Edward S. Matthias, now supreme court judge of Ohio; E. L. Bloom of Shelby, O.; B. F. Finley of Seneca, Mo., and B. F. Hart of Minerva, O., visited the Chicago Columbian Exposition and had their photos made. Reunited a few days ago at the Century of Progress Exposition, they were photographed in the same order again. Mr. Bloom now lives in Spokane, Wash., Mr. Finley at Pampa, and Mr. Hart at Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Bloom and Finley had not seen each other in the intervening forty years.

KELLY SEEKS ESCAPE FROM DEATH CHAIR

LAWYER FOR 'MACHINE GUN' SPEAKS FOR DESPERADO

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 3 (P)—George "Machine Gun" Kelly shrank today from a kidnaper's guilty plea—and searched for escape from the spectre of Oklahoma's electric chair.

"I'll fight them all the way," he told the lawyer he has asked to resist the state's charges of robbery with firearms—a capital offense.

"It's a lot of bull—all that talk about a guilty plea," he said of the government's indictment in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping conspiracy, upon which six men and a woman already stand convicted.

Kelly, who, jailers say, has taken pains to wear an air of bravado since he was brought here, shackled and smirking, with his modishly dressed wife by a half dozen armed guards in a Memphis airliner Sunday, was arraigned with Albert Bates on the robbery charges in the well-fortified county prison yesterday.

Such an arraignment, Attorney James H. Mathers declared after conferring with the two, was "null and void." Outlining plans to seek a change of venue on the state charges, based on the $84 robbery of Urschel and Walter Garrett, his friend, the night the oil man was kidnaped, Mathers said:

"We're going to deny the robberies and we are not going to get the death penalty. Even if a jury should assess it, the criminal court of appeals has held time and again there should be no death penalty in simple robbery cases where no one was killed or even hurt.

Schlitz
BREWED to a SPLIT SECOND

WHY? Because SCHLITZ will not permit its beer to ferment in your stomach for even a fraction of a second. It is incomplete fermentation of beer at the brewery that causes indigestion, flatulency and discomfort otherwise.

We accomplish complete fermentation of the brewery by a secret control of the enzymatic action in the brewing process. Enzymatic action in brewing is very similar to the digestive processes in the human stomach.

As a matter of fact, there can be no digestion in the stomach without the aid of enzymes. Without skillfully controlled enzymatic action there can be no good beer.

SCHLITZ has a tradition of 84 years to uphold. It has enjoyed the plaudits of a nation for purity, for quality, for flavor, for wholesomeness, for healthfulness.

But the brewers of SCHLITZ (the direct descendants of the founder) consider the secret control of the enzymes to be the most sensational development in the history of the industry—second only in importance to their introduction and use of SCHLITZ Brown Bottle 22 years ago.

SCHLITZ Beer is a health giving, predigested food. Drink it freely. It is good, and good for you.

KITCHEN SHOWER IS GIVEN FOR EILEEN PENGRA, BRIDE-ELECT

MARRIAGE TO C. R. MULLEN TO BE SUNDAY

MISSSES SNEAD, FINLEY, AND SMALLING ENTERTAIN

MISS EILEEN PENGRA, who is to be married Sunday to Charles Robert Mullen, was surprised with a kitchen shower Monday evening at her home, 134 S. Nelson.

Misses Mary and Martha Snead, Frances Finley, and Sue Smalling were the hostesses.

Pink and white, colors chosen by the bride-to-be, were used in the refreshment course of cake and ice cream molded in the shape of wedding bells, and again in the corsages of lilliputs and artemesia king given as favor gifts.

Useful gifts for her new home were presented Miss Pengra by Misses Anna Louise Clayton, Dorothy Mullen, Kathryn Vincent, Maude Leech, Mesdames B. E. Finley, H. N. Mullen, Tom Clayton, Charles Hughes, Charles Todd, C. H. Walker, A. A. Hyde, E. O. Snead, J. W. Briggs, N. McSkimming, T. F. Smalling, R. F. Dirksen, and F. M. Foster.

Mesdames P. M. LeBeuf, Katie Vincent, Charles T. Mullen, and Miss Elizabeth Carson sent lovely gifts with regrets at being unable to be present.

Miss Pengra has made her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs, and is an employee of the Pampa Office Supply company. Both she and Mr. Mullen are graduates of Pampa high school.

MEETINGS FOR YEAR ARRANGED FOR BAPTISTS

Reports Heard At A Joint Meeting of Circles

MEETING schedules for the year were adopted by First Baptist Missionary society, at a joint business session of all four circles yesterday afternoon.

Business meetings will be conducted on first Mondays, at 2:30. Circles will hold separate meetings on second and fourth Mondays, but will unite again on third Mondays for Royal Service programs at the church.

On fifth Mondays, a luncheon and quarterly business session are scheduled.

Mrs. W. B. Henry, president, was in charge of the meeting yesterday. Interesting reports of progress were heard from each circle and from chairmen of all standing committees.

Circle one had the largest number of members in attendance. Those present were Mesdames T. P. Morton, T. B. Solomon, M. P. Downs, E. G. Hemphill, J. A. Webb, R. W. Tucker, Fritz Wechter, Joe Randall, C. E. Lancaster, T. B. Lane, F. E. Leech, W. E. Cheatham, Joe R. Foster, J. A. Arwood, R. B. Gatlin, R. L. Edmondson, De C. Campbell, P. O. Anderson, M. J. ## OVEN MAGIC IS TAUGHT IN THE HAPPY KITCHEN

BAKING SECRETS WILL PLAY BIG PART IN SCHOOL

"There's more magic in the oven than in any other kitchen article," declares Miss Beulah Mackey Yates, the famed home economist whose free cooking school is scheduled here for October 5, 6, and 7, in the city hall, under the auspices of the NEWS.

"Time and temperature count for everything in baking," says Miss Yates. "And lucky is the housewife who has one of the modern ranges with the automatically regulated oven. With it, it is possible to cook whole meals just by putting them in the oven, setting the regulator and forgetting about them."

"Otherwise, one has to be right there every minute—or any interruption may mean 'creamed' biscuits."

"Just plain mechanical measurements of time and temperature are the secrets of baking," Miss Yates says. "The modern baker, putting out thousands of loaves daily, bakes bread on moving trays which travel through an oven at a regulated speed. Constant temperature is maintained. There's no element of chance to spoil a batch of bread."

"With the automatic oven, the housewife can attain perfect results with her biscuits, pies, and cakes simply by doing the same thing the baker does," declares Miss Yates. "Keeping the oven temperature even and watching her clock to see that the dish stays in the oven for just exactly the right length of time."

Baking will play an important part in Miss Yates' cooking school just as it does in every kitchen.

The noted expert will feature "oven breakfasts" and "made-in-the-morning dinners" one day of the free event for women, and will talk about "cooking by absent treatment," using her oven regulator.

President of Christian Council Is Guest

DECISION to start a series of vanishing teas as a treasury benefit was made at a meeting of group five, Christian Missionary council, at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Arnold yesterday evening.

Mrs. J. L. Lester will be the first hostess next Monday evening. Each of her guests will entertain half as many as the original hostess, and the parties will continue, with each guest making a small contribution, until the last group of hostesses entertains only one guest each.

Mission Program
A missionary program followed the business session, opening with a song, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and a prayer by Mrs. L. C. Ledrick. Mrs. John Beverly conducted the devotional.

Mrs. B. J. Gordon was program leader. Miss Florence Jones presented "A Lesson on Faith," and talks on missionary activities were given by Mesdames L. K. Stout, James Todd Jr., and Gordon.

Mrs. J. B. Townsend, president of the council, was a guest and spoke on work being done by the various missionary groups.

Hallowe'en colors in the refreshment course reflected those in room decorations.

Guests of the group were Mesdames Townsend, Ledrick, Casey, Weldon Wilson, Ramon Wilson, and Tom Blair. Members present were Mesdames C. W. Stowell, I. F. Paulley, T. J. Bullock, Carl Taylor, Lester, Gordon, Beverly, Todd, Stout, Arnold, and Miss Jones.

BUSINESS AND MUSIC ARE ON M. E. PROGRAM

FOUR CIRCLES MEET TOGETHER AT THE CHURCH

SPECIAL music and a business session made up the program of the Methodist Missionary society yesterday, when the four circles met together at the church.

Election of officers for the coming year was planned during the short business session.

A quartet, "Out of the Dusk" was sung by Mrs. C. C. Dodd and daughter, Miss Dorothy, Mrs. H. C. Price and daughter, Miss Doris, accompanied by Mrs. Phillip Wolfe at the piano.

Master Ted Roberts played as violin solos "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," and "O Susanna," with piano accompaniment by his mother, Mrs. Sherman Roberts.

Miss Dorothy Harris was accompanied by Mrs. Wolfe for her vocal solo, "In the Luxembourg Gardens."

President Gives Devotional
Mrs. Joe Shelton, president of the society, gave an interesting devotional discussion. Circle one presented a shower of pretty handkerchiefs to one of its members who is to leave Pampa.

Mesdames Mariah Harris, A. B. Fullingim, H. C. Price; Misses Dodd, Price, Harris, and Mary Parker were welcomed visitors.

Members present: From circle one, Mesdames Joe Shelton, Charles E. Ward, G. C. Walstead, Luther Fierston, S. C. Evans, C. T. Hunkapillar, Paul Jensen, C. R. Nelson, Ralph Chisum, S. A. Hurst, Phillip Wolfe, Nels Walberg, C. S. Boston, and H. L. Wilder.

Circle two, Mesdames J. E. Ward, C. E. Waller, G. T. Nicholson, M. M. Robinson, I. M. Walton, W. F. Furlance, J. R. Evans, A. A. Kelly, E. F. Coughy, Roy Tinsley, R. D. Morris, Lee Harnath, and H. E. Johnson.

Circle three, Mesdames J. M. Collins, H. F. Beaty, Nell Beaver, H. F. Barnhart, John Howard, M. E. DeTar, C. O. Seeds, G. A. Long, Joe Gordon, Harry Hoare, Myrtle Robinson, A. L. Patrick, Howard Neath, R. E. Fisher, H. O. Roberts, R. W. Lane, W. S. White, C. C. Dodd, J. G. Noel, and Kidwell.

Circle four, Mesdames Sherman Roberts, H. B. Carson, W. M. Castleberry, W. V. McArthur, C. E. McHenry, John Hodge, J. Myrie

Church To Greet New Members in Party Tomorrow

Welcoming new members who entered the church during the recent revival and in other services of the past few weeks, the congregation of First Methodist church will entertain at the church Wednesday evening at 7:30.

A 40-minute program of music has been arranged to start the church night entertainment, then an hour of social informality is planned.

All members of the church are invited to be present and a special invitation is extended to those who have joined the congregation recently.

Hallowe'en Note Appears in Party

Hallowe'en decorations made a holiday setting for the party given Elaine Murphy on her eleventh birthday Friday by her mother, Mrs. W. B. Murphy.

Black candy cats and candy pumpkins marked places at the table for the birthday refreshments, served after a series of games in which Wayne Baker won the prize.

Guests were Dorothy Gibson, Helen Chandler, Wayne Baker, Max Neaves, Nona Belle McCanne, Mary Fleisher, Betty Jean Tieman, Peggy and Loraine Murphy, and the young honoree.

SLEEPING SICKNESS FATAL

PECOS, Oct. 3. (AP)—L. W. Ailes, 27, manager of a motor company here, died last night from what physicians pronounced as epidemic encephalitis. He had been ill but four days. Ailes was the first case of the malady discovered here.

Mrs. Q. H. Gambrell was to be dismissed today from Worley hospital.

Fitzgerald, Frank Bryan, Clifford Jones, Bob Campbell, Al Lawson, Morris, Lee Harnath, and H. E. Johnson.

Members of circle three, acting as hostesses, served delicious sandwiches, cakes, and coffee at the close of the afternoon.

First Birthday Is Honored at Party

Mrs. R. B. Etter entertained recently honoring her daughter, Martha Anne, on her first birthday. Games were enjoyed by the small guests, who presented Martha Anne with many pretty gifts.

Refreshments were served to Carroll Conley, Joan Appleby, Bobby Ray and Jackie Reynolds, Julia and Virginia Callison, Evonne Hendricks, Mildred Martin, and the honoree.

Clubs at Miami Study Home and Foreign Country

MIAMI, Oct. 3.—Interesting Old Mexico was studied by the Home Progress club Thursday afternoon when it met at the home of Mrs. C. C. Carr.

Mrs. E. H. Clark and Mrs. R. E. Webster led the discussion and gave topics of great interest about the land of Mexico. The hostess served dainty refreshments to Mesdames Clark, M. M. Craig, R. B. Dial, R. B. Hayes, C. T. Locke, C. B. Meador, A. L. Muncy, W. L. Russell, J. B. Saul, E. Sides, W. F. Talley, Webster and Carr.

Junior Culture Club.
Miss Ellen Cunningham was hostess to the Junior Culture club on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Dan Graham. "Home" was the subject for the program which was given by Misses Bess Sikes, Lucile Saxon, and Estia Smith.

The hostess served lovely refreshments to one guest, Mrs. J. S. McClaughlin, and the members, Misses Marye Carmichael, Mable Christy, Bessie Sikes, Lucile Saxon, Estia Smith, Lorene Wherry, Zell Stewart, Avis Smith, Mrs. Vernon Williams, and the hostess.

Departing Resident Honored at Shower

Mrs. J. E. Roberts was honored by a party of friends with a handkerchief shower in her home Friday evening. She is leaving Pampa to make her home in Fort Worth.

Those attending were Miss Johnson, Leah Lane, Thelma Seeds, Julia Baker, Odessa Winkler, Evelyn Beckness, Louene Conklin, Clyde Beard, Bob Neal, Bob Johnson, Fred Mason, Herbert Reynolds, and Mrs. Robert Neal.

C. F. Henson of Fort Worth was in the city yesterday.

Oil Man Dies

HOUSTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—Last rites were being arranged here today for Henry T. Statti, 57, one of the discoverers of the Spindletop oil field of the Texas coastal plain and a leading figure in oil development in Texas. He died in his office here late yesterday after a sudden heart attack.

Philharmonic Choir

The Philharmonic choir will meet at 8 p. m. today, at First Baptist church. This will be the first general rehearsal of the choir, and a social period will follow. Members who have copies of "The Holy City" are asked to bring them to practice.

Couple Wed at McLean; Red Cross There Prespares For An Election

McLEAN, Oct. 3.—Miss Rosa Watkins and Alfred Bingham were married Wednesday morning, September 27, at Amarillo and left immediately for Colorado Springs and other vacation points on their honeymoon.

The bride is operator in the local telephone exchange and has lived in McLean for several years. The groom is owner and operator of the Bingham home in McLean. They will make their home here.

Mrs. Alva Alexander, Wilson Boyd, J. W. Butler, Karl Estes, C. O. Greene, C. S. Doolin, Horace Brooks and Mrs. Vigna Strandberg.

Mrs. Rish Phillips and Mrs. Walter Cash

Mrs. Rish Phillips and Mrs. Walter Cash were joint hostesses at a tea benefiting the Parent-Teacher association one afternoon last week. "42" was the source of entertainment.

Miss Shirley Johnston and Miss Letta Mae Phillips served tea to the following: Misses Pete Fulbright, Scott Johnston, Clois Chambers, W. B. Andrews, Sammie Cubine, Paul Mertel, E. O. Dennis.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Kibler and children, Betty Jo and J. B., of Oklahoma City were week-end guests of Mr. Kibler's mother, Mrs. J. W. Kibler, and of the lady's mother, Mrs. J. T. Glass.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Oldham

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Oldham of Shamrock were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Locheridge.

Red Cross Committee

At a meeting of the Red Cross at the city secretary's office Monday afternoon, a nominating committee was appointed for the nomination of officers for the McLean chapter for the coming year.

Chairman C. O. Greene presided. He announced that he was to make out the report on distribution of flour and that Mrs. A. Strandberg would make out the report on cotton goods distributed. Incidentally the chairman announced that this chapter had distributed 1200 sacks of flour to the needy in the last year.

Jars are to be placed in various stores in town whereby McLean people will have the opportunity to contribute to the Rio Grande disaster fund.

A new method of election of officers will be used this year. A nominating committee, composed of Boyd Meador, Mrs. O. E. Lochridge, and Mrs. Vigna Strandberg, was appointed to nominate two people for each office. The ballot will be published for two weeks in the local paper and then a voting box will be placed at a designated place where every one will have a chance to vote. It is hoped that this method will interest more people and give more voice in who their officers shall be.

Revival Conducted By Alabama Pastor

A revival is being conducted this week in the Salvation Army hall on South Cuyler, under auspices of the Holiness mission. The Rev. A. P. Price of Alabama is the speaker. Services start at 7:30 each evening. Mrs. T. E. Johnston, pastor of the mission, announces. The public is invited to attend.

Subjects to be discussed include The Blue Eagle, The Mark of the Beast, Prophecies of Daniel and Revelations.

W. Williamson of Fort Worth is here on business.

Roy Sherrard of Alanreed was here Monday.

J. J. Friddle was admitted to Wesley hospital yesterday. He suffered a crushed shoulder and other injuries when he was run over by a car at LeFors.

Says Cardui Seemed To Do Her Most Good

"A few years ago, my health wasn't so good," writes Mrs. L. E. Erwin, of Tamar, Mo. "I was nervous and tired, and all the rest of a tonic. My mother advised me to take Cardui. After I had taken one bottle, I found I was getting results. I took about five bottles, and certainly was much better than I had been in some time, as my headaches had stopped. Cardui had done me more good than any medicine I had taken."

Buy Cardui at the drug store.

Here's Your Hallowe'en Costume

With Hallowe'en only a few weeks away and the demand for festive costumes growing with every party of the season, you will want to have yours ready soon. Here are two suggestions.

Of course you'll want to look mysterious—and just a bit spooky—though you may shudder at the traditional witches and ghosts. So wear a domino costume of black, dark brown or dark red cambric, adjust that high pointed hood at an intriguing angle, put on your mask, and there you are! Your very best friends will be baffled—which is half the fun of a masquerade party.

The domino is a slim, straight coat, with hip-length cap and hood attached at the neckline. It is one of the easiest costumes to make, and thoroughly in keeping with the spirit of All Hallow's Eve. You can run it up in a few minutes, so don't be worried, even if the invitation is late. Size 36 requires 7 1-8 yards 36-inch material.

See the fall fashion book for costumes for all daytime and evening occasions, and for news of colors and fabrics.
Pattern No. 5194 is designed for sizes 36, 40, and 44.
For the Gentlemen.

Here's Your Hallowe'en Costume

"Gentlemen prefer Pierrot" because his costume has all the comfort of a favorite pair of pajamas—no tights, no armor, no Colonial knee breeches! Yet Pierrot's dashing costume makes a colorful addition to any Hallowe'en party, and a perfect foil for a dainty Pierrette.

This suit was made of dark red sateen and trimmed with white pompons, but black or any dark shade of satin, aneaten cambric is equally effective. Striking contrasts which complement Pierrette's outfit, such as a dark purple hat and trousers, and a gold coat, are sure to win the prize for the most attractive costume.

Turn-back cuffs and a ruff are easy-to-make details of the coat, while the trousers are of simple regulation cut. The pointed hat is included. Size 40 requires 6 1-4 yards of 36-inch material, 5-8 yard 36-inch extra for ruffing.
Pattern No. 5193 is designed for sizes 32, 36, 40, and 44.

The Little Harvester

Vol. 3 PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL, October 3, 1933 No. 3

EDITORS OF LITTLE HARVESTER ELECTED BY JOURNALISM CLUB; SAMUEL STENNIS HEADS STAFF

Samuel Stennis was elected editor-in-chief of this year's Little Harvester at the first meeting of the Journalism club last Thursday morning. Other members of the staff are as follows: Josephine Lane, managing editor; Loraine Noel, general news editor; Reed Clarke, sports editor; and Sue Dodson, club editor. Members of the staff will also make up the executive board of the Journalism club, which decided to hold its regular meetings each Thursday morning at 8:15 o'clock in room 205. Miss Pannine May is sponsor of the club. About twenty members attended last week's meeting. Any other students interested in joining the club are urged to come to the meeting Thursday. Regular staff meetings are held each Monday afternoon. Miss May expressed unusual satisfaction with the newly elected staff and declared that with the aid of so many interested reporters, the Little Harvester should be much improved this year.

Class Officers To Be Elected Next Thursday

Classes will be organized and officers elected for the year next Thursday morning. Sponsors for the various classes will also be announced at these meetings, according to Principal Sone. The hour and place of meeting will be announced later in the week. In the meantime, students are urged to give some thought to possibilities for class officers and to do some campaigning ahead of time.

Music Features First Assembly

Last Wednesday's assembly program proved to be unusually lively and interesting. It consisted chiefly of music, with a short devotional by Rev. C. A. Long. The orchestra made its first appearance, playing "Across the Pacific." A violin trio, composed of Eleanor Frey, Willie Reece Taylor, and Dorothy Meers, accompanied a Roy Wallraabenstein played two of Victor Herbert's selections, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Gypsy Love Song." The entire assembly sang "America the Beautiful." Rev. C. A. Long then made a short talk on "From Loughborough to Springfield." Vocal duets by Bennett Smith and Robert Smellage followed. They sang "Home on the Range," "Smoke Rings," "When It's Darkness on the Delta," and "Love Songs of the Nile." A sing-song led by Roy Wallraabenstein closed the assembly and was a source of real enjoyment to everyone.

School Assembly Program Announced

The regular high school assembly will be held on morning at 10 o'clock. The program will be as follows: "Love's Old Sweet Song" by whole school. Devotional by Rev. McKenzie. Songs by Howard Zimmerman. Sing-Song by whole school. The public is invited.

NEW P-T-A COMMITTEES NAMED BY MRS. DODSON; CASH PRIZE WILL GIVEN FOR BEST SHORT STORY

Students, your Parent-Teachers Association is backing you and is interested in your activities. Mrs. J. M. Dodson, the new president, has appointed several new committees in which you as students should be interested. The recreation committee, of which Mrs. C. A. Clarke is chairman, will sponsor some kind of entertainment in the gymnasium for the high school students after each football game. Their plan is to find out just what type of entertainment you students would like and endeavor to give it to you. The next party will be the evening of October 21. Mrs. Dodson feels that we often neglect to give those winning honor in our interscholastic league events and in general those excelling in scholastic attainments their due praise. A committee headed by Mrs. Frances Alexander has been appointed to give awards to those pupils who deserve them. One project for this year is a short story contest to be held in our high school. Two dollars and a half in money will be given to the person submitting the best short story.

Here is your part in the Parent-Teachers Association. Get your parents to come for the goal of the association is five hundred members. You will be repaid for all the begging and coaxing needed to induce your parents to come, for you will be given a perfect grade in each of your subjects for that day. This is not for just one time, but every time this year. Let's show our Parent Teachers Association we're behind them.

SPORTS OF P.H.S.

At last Coaches Mitchell and Fox have found a combination that works together. Last Friday the Harvesters proved their mettle by holding the Oklahoma City Redskins to a 6 to 7 score in a thrilling game. The team showed decided improvement, and fans were lavish with their praise. Friday's game was the last that the Harvesters will play at home for some time. Next Friday morning early the boys, accompanied by the two coaches, will leave for Big Spring, where they will play Saturday afternoon. The following week they will play at Shawnee, Oct. 21. They have a hard schedule ahead of them, but if they keep on improving, they should be in tip-top condition for the conference game.

From what we have seen so far, it looks as if we are going to have some real tumblers this year. The team put on some stunts between halves at the game last Friday. The boys showed excellent form for this time of the year. The team, which is composed of about a dozen members, was led by Vernell Stevens. Although the Harvesters will not play at home this week, Pampa football fans will have an opportunity to see a game Friday afternoon at the Harvester Park when the Gorillas play Wheeler.

The Gorillas opened their season with a 12 to 6 victory over the Miami Warriors Saturday. Most of the forty boys out for practice are new at football and are working under a new coach, Harry Kelley, but they are learning fast, and Friday's game should prove interesting. The game is called at 1 o'clock. No admission charges will be made.

Any day the wind is not blowing, early or late, you can see a bunch playing tennis on the courts behind the high school building. All of last year's team except Louise Waldstad are back, and Coach Gordon reports that some other splendid prospects are developing. Two of last year's team, Harold Gregory and Roy Webb, recently won the all-city championship matches.

Maytag Orders In Waiting List With Factory Swamped

To personally thank his "boys" for the enormous increase in business, F. L. Maytag, Newton, Iowa, washing machine manufacturer, will pay a special visit to Texas after October 10 to complement the Texas Maytag organization upon its unprecedented volume of sales. Mr. Maytag, who is chairman of the board of the Maytag company, at the age of 76 spends practically all of his time visiting Maytag sales organizations. He will attend meetings of managers, dealers, and salesmen in West Texas and possibly Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, and Houston. Mr. Maytag in a personal letter of thanks to the Maytag organization pointed out that the company has orders for August deliveries of 52,124 units and that the factory at Newton, Iowa, is running both a day and a night shift and still hundreds of cardboards behind with orders. The Texas organization, which is headed by the Maytag Southwestern company, 215 Griffin street, Dallas, distributors in Texas, and an increase of 252.9 per cent in July, 1933, over July, 1932. The sales in Texas in August, 1933, tripled those of August, 1932.

DID YOU KNOW-

Virginia Jeffries lost her heart to Robert Smellage last Wednesday when he sang "When It's Darkness on the Delta?" The Harvester football squad went to Amarillo Saturday to see Plainview and Amarillo clash in the first conference tilt of the season in district one? Though the Bulldogs were doped to have a fast stepping, powerful team this year, the Sandies upset the dope bucket and drove the Bulldogs to a 60-0 defeat. Mr. Wallraabenstein is still holding try-outs for drum major? The dramatics students are studying make-up now? Most of the girls seem to be old hands at it. General science students, 150 strong, are stressing the study of fire and fire prevention this week? Each class in school is to have a quartet this year? Mr. Kelley will have charge of the junior one.

THE STAFF
Editor-in-Chief, Samuel Stennis. Managing Editor, Josephine Lane. General News Editor, Loraine Noel. Sports Editor, Reed Clarke. Club Editor, Sue Dodson. Faculty Adviser, Fannie May. Reporters: Mary Douglas, Anna Mae Fleisher, Iris Gillis, Joe Griffith, Harlan Martin, Philip Noland, Ella Faye O'Keefe, and Mildred Tolbert.

WITH THE HARVESTERS

Well, I ask you, did Coach Argus Foy and I bring that Harvester line out of it? They looked like world beaters Friday after a mediocre showing the previous week. Last night Coach Odus Mitchell came to me and says, "Boy, you sure did help that line a lot, how about coming out to Harvester park and getting behind the backfield? It is worrying me now." So what could I do? When the Harvesters come back home against Cisco on Oct. 21, you fans are going to see something.

In the meantime, the Harvesters go to Big Spring Saturday. The next Friday they go to Shawnee, Okla., to meet the team that the Capitol Hill Indians of Oklahoma City nosed out for the state championship last year. The boys seem to have more confidence in themselves and in practice yesterday afternoon they looked great. Maybe one of the reasons was that they saw the Sandies drug Plainview 60 to 0 Saturday afternoon and they realize that Amarillo is the team to stop.

Pampa football fans are sorry to hear about Paul Hill. The former Harvester, now at T. C. U., broke a bone in his ankle Saturday and will not play any more football this season. He will be missed, that 240 pounds of brawn.

The Texas Military college proved itself an able junior college team Friday night when the cadets beat Abilene Christian college 13 to 6 at Terrell. Hoot Pufflingim, former Harvester, is a regular on the team, and started the game. The Christians have defeated so far strong junior college teams. The cadets will play Dixie university next weekend.

Mrs. P. C. Heston entered Worley hospital Sunday for treatment.

GORILLAS TO PLAY WHEELER HERE FRIDAY

COACH KELLEY HAS 3 TEAMS READY FOR ACTION

The Pampa Gorillas, who will be future Harvesters, will play their second game of the season at home Friday afternoon when Wheeler comes to Pampa for a game. The game will be called at 4 o'clock and no admission will be charged. The Harvesters will be en route to Big Spring to play Saturday afternoon, and fans are urged to go out to Harvester park and see the scrapping Gorillas in action. Coach Harry Kelley has worked wonders with his squad. He has three complete teams and a few extra boys and is working with the entire squad so that every boy will learn the fundamentals of football.

Although we like to win games, the essential thing is to teach the boys football from the ground up so that they will be able to step into Harvester shoes in future years," Coach Kelley believes. "If these boys can be developed to a point where they don't need much ground work next year, Harvester coaches will be able to start finishing work much earlier and the boys will be ready for a tough season at the start."

Coach Kelley has a big line with a fairly light backfield. On last Saturday, when the Gorillas downed Miami 12 to 6, some of the boys showed real promise. Although there were raw spots in the team, it was natural because they have been working together less than three weeks and it was only last week that Coach Kelley selected a first string. The team should show much improvement before Friday afternoon.

Neaves Boy Is Added To Cast Of Melodrama

Everybody loves a good, appealing juvenile actor—think of the movie fans' favorites. Last night, Little Theater members, after a long search, found the juvenile they have been looking for. He is Richard Neaves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Neaves, and he will take the role of "Tommy" in "Gold in the Hills, Or, The Dead Sister's Secret," which will be presented by a large cast October 23. It was not necessary for the director to tell young Richard how to say his lines. Reading them in the right way "just came natural." His performance is expected to be one of the most enjoyable features of the show. Richard was "discovered" by Mrs. Roberta Guthrie, heroine, who takes the part of "Nellie." As rehearsals continue, the opinion grows that the melodrama is one of the best cast plays ever presented. Although most of the actors have not made the most of their roles by half, it is believed that they have the potential ability to give as good an interpretation of the play as was ever given. Rehearsals will continue Wednesday and Friday nights. Mrs. Glenn Culverhouse and children and Miss Freda Culverhouse are visiting relatives and friends at Huntington, Ind. Vance Huff, Amarillo attorney, was here on business Monday.

TENNIS CLUB IS ORGANIZED; COURTS NEAR CITY PLANNED

Courts Would Be Built At Cities Service Booster Station East of Town.

The Pampa community will have some of the best tennis courts in the country if plans made at a meeting of tennis enthusiasts last night are carried out. Dr. E. A. Webb was elected president of the newly organized Pampa Booster Tennis club and his enthusiasm of the project spread to every member present. M. W. Hanna was named vice-president and Dave Baur secretary-treasurer. Committees named last night were: Arrangements, E. E. Bachtelheimer, F. P. McKimming, and V. G. Potts; publicity, Harry E. Roare, W. A. Bratton, and Earl O'Keefe; surveying, C. L. Stine, C. E. Slocum, and Welton Fryar. The officers and committee chairmen will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Dr. Webb's office to make arrangements for starting work on the courts, which will be located at the Cities Service Booster station a half mile east of the city limits. It was unanimously decided to locate the courts at the booster station where an excellent contract was offered. Base for the courts will be laid and rolled this fall and allowed to settle during the winter. Topping will then be placed and the back-stops and fence around the courts around the courts built. There will be four courts, each 45 feet wide by 120 feet long. The courts will be so located that a lighting system can be installed. Memberships will go to those interested enough in tennis to work for the construction of the courts and who desire to play and work with the club. There will be no membership fee, but a small assessment may be made for upkeep if enough money cannot be raised otherwise. Dr. Alex G. Ralston of Denver is a Pampa visitor for a few days. G. D. ## Cartoonist Will Draw For Soap Ads in Papers

The services of Gaar Williams, creator of "Wotta Life," "A Strain on the Family Tie," "Something Ought to Be Done About This," "Our Secret Ambition," and other famous cartoons have been secured by Proctor and Gamble to illustrate advertisement on Kirk's Coco Castile soap in their battle against body odor and medicine-smelling soap. So don't be surprised, when you pick up this newspaper in a few days, to see Jimmy tramping up the stairs, registering disgust at his mother because "Aw, heck, it used to be only my neck an' ears she worried about—now it's my pores!" Or "Tommy who has just come in from play looking for all the world like a ragmuffin because he has been compelled to lick four other kids for telling him "he smelled just like a sissy." L. A. Miller of Albuquerque is visiting relatives in Pampa for a few days.

"an Experience I'LL NEVER FORGET"

Louise: "You know, Ruth, I use the car so much more than Joe does, so I've been buying the gas and oil. I thought Joe was spoofing me when he told me of the 'Hidden Quart' of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—that is, until last Wednesday night. He said it stayed up in your motor and never drained away or something like that." Ruth: "What has that to do with your experience, Louise?" Louise: "Oh, a lot—it saved me at least from an embarrassing situation—one which might have been even dangerous, for it was a lonely road—miles from any place."

 DRIVING HOME ALONE AT NIGHT— ON A CURVE WHERE PREVIOUSLY A TRUCK DROPPED A LARGE STONE, WHICH I STRUCK.	 STOPPING (FOUND THE DRAIN CAP ON THE CRANK CASE KNOCKED OFF AND ALL THE OIL SPILLED OUT
 I WAS FRIGHTENED—I THEN REMEMBERED THE 'HIDDEN QUART' PROTECTION I BOUGHT FOR MY MOTOR.	 AFTER MORE THAN 20 MILES WITHOUT OIL MY MOTOR WAS NOT DAMAGED.
 GREATLY RELIEVED, I TOLD JOE ABOUT IT AND HE SAID—ONLY GERM PROCESSED OIL CAN DO THAT!

"Oh, of course, I could have stopped at another gas station, but the motor was behaving so splendidly and was not getting hot and I was so anxious to get home, I drove direct to my familiar Conoco station." Ruth: "Well, that is an experience and I'm very much impressed. I am going to have our car greased and change to winter grade oil tomorrow and I am going to try out your 'Hidden Quart' oil—especially since you say it is more economical in the long run. I'll probably never have your experience, but it's a comfort to know I'll have that protection."

CONOCO

at the sign of the Red Triangle

Full motor protection, especially in cold motor starting, can be found only in Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil because of the penetrative oiliness, called "The Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. Costs a total of only one-fifth of a cent a mile. We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage to motors. Instant Starting and Lightning Pickup can best be obtained with Conoco Bronze Gasoline, and without sacrifice of Long Mileage, Greater Power and Anti-Knock advantages. For cold weather starting it cannot be excelled—all the possible fuel needs of modern cars have been fulfilled at no increase in price. It can be easily identified by its bronze color but you must be sure it is Conoco Bronze Gasoline for only in this way can its advantages of unusual performance and greater economy be obtained. # Outrageous Fortune

—By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

Synopsis: The dazed man picked up after the wreck of the Alice Arden was removed from the hospital by Neta Riddell, who says he is her husband, Jimmy. They have gone to Neta's brother's house in Ledlington. The man talked in his sleep of emeralds and robbery. A few moments after his removal, Caroline Leigh arrives at the hospital, hoping the man may be her cousin Jim Randal. As she is leaving, disappointed, the nurse mentions a scrap of a letter, bearing the signature "Caroline," found in the man's pocket. Caroline determines to continue her search. Meanwhile the man has awakened, and been told by Neta he has shot Mr. Van Berg and stolen the famous Van Berg emeralds. He remembers nothing, Caroline, because of a false address given by Neta at the hospital, is sure something is wrong.

Chapter 12 A NEW LEAD

Caroline was quite certain that Mrs. Riddell was not only a Snatcher, but a lying Snatcher, and that for some irrelevant reason of her own she had disappeared with Jim Randal. If it wasn't Jim, how did he happen to have a bit of my letter in his pocket? she asked herself.

She could see the twirl with which she had written Caroline—quite an extra one because she was so thrilled about Jim. Why should anyone but Jim Randal have the torn-off end of a letter with Caroline on it?

She ought to have asked the day nurse whether it was Caroline with a twirl, because that would have settled it—not that it needed settling, because she felt quite, quite sure.

On the strength of which she drank another cup of tea, and was glad that her name was Caroline, and not a name that just anyone might have. She had, of course, never heard of old Caroline Bussell who was housekeeper at Packham Hall.

And then she remembered the folded paper which the day nurse had given her to take to Mrs. Riddell. "The ward maid picked it up. We think it must have dropped out of her bag."

That was what the day nurse had said. And Caroline had just let it go right through her head and out the other side. She opened her bag in a hurry, found the paper, and spread it out.

It was a bill—one of the flimsy black-lined sort that a girl scribbles on in a carbon-paper book and then gets the floor-walker to sign.

Caroline tingled all over with excitement as she looked at it. It was in her vocabulary, absolutely stuffed with meat. To start with, there was the name of the shop—Smithies, Ironmongers. And then there was the address—29 Market Street, Ledlington. Lastly there was the bill itself, for one purdonium.

"For the love of Mike—what's a purdonium?" said Caroline solemnly, and then all at once remembered the purdoniums when they got into an auction. They evidently started life in ironmongers' shops under the same classic alias.

Anyhow Mrs. Riddell had bought a purdonium at a shop in Ledlington, and if you bought a coalscuttle in Ledlington, the chances were that you lived somewhere near by and that you made them send it home. Of course you might take it away in a car—but coalscuttles do have the most revolting corners, and what would be the sense of scratching your car when Smithies might just as well deliver the thing?

She paid for her tea, went down six Moss-grown steps to the car, and pored over a map. Ledlington was a good fifty miles. She looked at her watch... getting no for six. It was a clear impossibility to reach Mr. Smithies before his shutter went up. The village of Hazlebury West is like a good many other English villages. There is a pond, and a green, a big house with stone pillars crowned by pineapples and a long neglected drive, a church, a parsonage, two or three houses of the better sort, a butcher, a baker, a general shop while it is also the post-office, and a straggle of cottages. Miss Arbuthnot, who was Caroline Leigh's first cousin once removed, lived in the last cottage on the left. Caroline lived there with her. Sometimes she wondered whether she was just going to go on living in Hazlebury West with Patsy Ann for ever and ever.

Miss Arbuthnot had been christened Ann, but preferred to be called Patsy. She sketched a little, and gardened a little, and painted a little on china. She also wrote minor verse and belonged to a society under the rules of which all the members read one another's compositions. Caroline called it The Vicious Circle.

It was half past seven when Caroline ran her car into the shed which did duty as a garage and went up the flagged path with the red standard rose-trees on either side of it. The cottage was really two cottages thrown together. The front door opened directly into a sitting-room, out of the corner of which a steep curly stair went up to the bedrooms.

Caroline stood on the door-step said "Golly!"

All the furniture had been pushed back, and there was laid out upon the floor a short length of brightly flowered chintz, a longer piece of sage-green serge, and a remnant of navy-blue crepe de chine with a pattern of green and yellow daisies. Some strangely shaped pieces of newspaper were disposed like islands and peninsulas upon the serge, while, kneeling with her back to the door and holding a pair of cutting-out scissors in a hesitating, hovering manner, was Miss Patsy Arbuthnot.

"Patsy Ann—what are you doing?" said Caroline.

Miss Arbuthnot sat back upon her heels and slewed around. She had very pretty dark hair, and it was obvious that she had been running her fingers through it. She was about ten years older than Caroline, and she had just missed being as pretty as her own romantic picture of herself.

She had melting dark eyes and enormously long lashes; she had arched eyebrows, a straight nose, and a fine if rather colorless skin; she also had a tiny mouth, rabbitly teeth, and a lip. She wore a rather tired crimson smock stuck dangleously full of pins, and a yard-measure trailing around her neck like a scarf.

"Oh, I'm so glad you've come!" she said.

"Did you think I'd been abducted?"

"This won't come out."

Caroline came nearer and surveyed the mess.

"What are you trying to do?"

"It's those three remnants that I got. There isn't enough of any of them. But I thought if I could cut out the chintz flowers and applique them on the serge—"

Caroline gurgled.

"I'd look exactly like boiled greens served up with asters."

"Do you think it would? And even then there wouldn't be enough, with these long skirts. And I don't see how I can work in the crepe de chine whatever I do."

"You can't," said Caroline with great firmness. "And, darling, if we don't have some food soon, I shall probably swoon. I've got a feeling that I shall see those asters going round and round in about half a minute. What are we having?"

"Scrambled eggs."

"Go and scramble them. I'll put the mugs away. You can make a knitting-bag out of the chintz, and a tablecloth for Mrs. Vickers out of the serge—if you keep it here, I'll leave home. I dare say I'll have an idea about the crepe de chine some other time. Now go and cook. I simply must wash."

When Caroline came down again she had taken off her hat. She laid the table, and presently Miss Arbuthnot came in with a flushed face and a smoking dish of eggs. As she put it down, she shot a hesitating questioning glance at Caroline—

"I don't know?"

"You don't know?"

"He's gone to Ledlington. I'm going there tomorrow. He's lost his memory. I don't awfully want to talk about it, Patsy Ann."

Patsy looked a little offended. She loved Caroline dearly, but she thought her odd. It was odd of Caroline to be so reserved about Jim Randal. Patsy could have talked about him all day. It was so hard to have to live one's emotional life without anyone to confide in. If Uncle James had died six months earlier, it might have made all the difference. Jim wouldn't have quarreled with his uncle and gone abroad. As it was, every time she went through the village there were the stone pillars at the entrance to Hale Palace a little more covered with green mould, and a the drive a little more neglected. And Caroline wouldn't talk about any of it.

Attempt To Disbar Former Lions Head

FORT WORTH, Oct. 3 (P)—Disbarment proceedings have been filed here by the grievance committee of the Fort Worth Bar association against Julien C. Hyer and Morris L. Swartzberg, local attorneys.

Hyer is former president of Lions International and a state senator, and was a candidate for congressman-at-large in 1932.

Hyer has charged that the disbarment suit is an effort to injure him politically since he is planning to make the race for congress from this district. Swartzberg is out of the city.

Mrs. I. H. Gambrell, who received injuries in an automobile accident, is a patient in Worley hospital.

Jess Mayes entered Worley hospital Sunday for emergency treatment for injuries.

OUT OF WORK by Samuel Crowther: MacMillan Co. $2.50.

Dramatic true stories of men and women thrown out of work, and why, of businesses that failed—and why, are told here as they came to light in an intensive investigation in three typical industrial cities—Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Duluth. These true stories are more impressive than any amount of statistics and they prove some surprising things about the causes and possible cures for our present situation.

They show that many of the supposed causes of unemployment, such as technological changes, new products, and the like, do not lead to increased unemployment but actually to increased employment; that machinery constantly increases the level of skill required and also raises wages; that in apparently jobless cities some 30,000 different kinds of jobs were available, each calling for a different type of ability. In the course of the investigation, varied tests were given to many persons employed and unemployed, in order to discover what special qualities determined whether an individual held a job or lost it. Business men became interested and sought assistance in bettering their methods, then in filling the available jobs to their best advantage, as well as that of the worker. Now more than 90 per cent of the known unemployed and most employers are making use of the free employment agencies which were established in connection with the investigation.

Mr. Crowther's conclusions should be of great value in suggesting practical steps to reduce unemployment throughout the country, and workable plans for unemployment insurance.

Samuel Crowther was born in Philadelphia; he is well-known as a newspaper correspondent, and is the author of a number of biographies and books on labor and business. He now divides his time between his homes at Sunapee, New Hampshire, and Bayside, Long Island.

BALLADS OF SQUARE-TOED AMERICANS by Robert P. Tristram Coffin: MacMillan Co. $1.60.

SQUARE-TOED PRINCESS My ancestors were fine, long men, Their beards were like square sails, They ran the lengths of longitudes, Harpooning spouting whales.

Men to put a twinkle in The proud eyes of their Maker, Standing up against the winds On the square toes of a Quaker.

From Baffin's Bay and Davis Strait To the Serpent of the South They had the shal gaff in the fist And Scripture in the mouth.

IN BALLADS OF SQUARE-TOED AMERICANS Mr. Coffin makes a real contribution to authentic American poetry. These poems are as truly American in feeling and tempo as any that Rachel Lindsay brought out of the Middle West.

Mr. Coffin's ballads express with a sure swing and a fine understanding the vigorous spirit of the American pioneer; they sound the real ballad note.

There is Yankee humor here as well as tragedy and courage in the tales of Square-Toed Princess; The Men Who Pushed the Forest Down; The Mormans; The Tall Axe-Man; The Chesapeake Planter, and so forth.
