PRICE FIVE CENTS

INSANITY TO HALT TWO DEATHS

Resignation of Argentine Chairman Rumored Today

DELEGATE HAS DISAGREEMENT IN CONFERENCE

Dr. Pueyrredon Fails to Appear at Havana Meeting

FIGHTS TARIFF BARRIERS HARD

Has Been Cause of the Deadlock Over Vital Issue

HAVANA, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Failure of Honorio Pueyrredon and the other Argentine delegates to the sixth Pan-American conference to appear at the morning session of the committee on Pan-American union affairs, caused rapidly spreading rumors that Dr. Pueyrredon had already sent in his resignation as chairman of the Argentine delegation.

It was also rumored that Dr. Pueyrredon had resigned from his ambassadorship at Washington.

The resignation of the president of the Argentine delegation would, according to rumor, have followed categorical orders last night from the government at Buenos Aires to sign the Pan-American Union convention.

HAVANA, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The irremediable attitude of Dr. Honorio Pueyrredon, Argentine delegate, which has been indicated to be at odds with that of his government, today continued to create a stir in the Pan-American conference.

Dr. Pueyrredon remained firm in his refusal to sign any convention to regulate the activities of the Pan-American union which did not contain direct reference to the necessity of lowering excessive tariff barriers.

Dispatches from Buenos Aires said the Argentine government was understood to favor a less intransigent stand.

Delegates regarded the issue as vital to the success of the Pan-American conference. Two schemes were introduced to seek the agreement of the Argentine government even if its delegate refused to sign a convention.

Over the objection of the United States the committee on public international law approved by a vote of 11 to 4 the classification of armed merchantmen as warships.

Another May Be Accused in Trial of Former Texan

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The possibility that a person other than Dr. Charles C. McMillan had a motive for the slaying of the wealthy Mrs. Amelia Appleby has been injected by the defense attorneys into the trial of the physician, accused of the murder of the woman.

This was indicated as a probable defense of the doctor yesterday when one of his attorneys asked the prospective jurors "if it appeared that another man who had a strong motive for the killing of Mrs. Appleby would you consider the evidence just as seriously as the state's testimony against Dr. McMillan?"

The attorneys later refused to explain this line of questioning.

TWO CARS DAMAGED.

Two cars were somewhat damaged last night in a head-on collision in the west part of town. The drivers of the cars were not injured.

Apparently the drivers did not see one another due to the slippery roads and the mud covering the lights of the cars.

ASQUITH DIES EARLY TODAY

Britain in Mourning for Great Old Scot, a Former Leader

SUTTON Courtnay, England, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Earl of Oxford and Asquith, who as Herbert H. Asquith prime minister, was an outstanding figure of the world war, died here at 6:50 a. m., today.

Pulmonary complications brought death to the 75-year old statesman at his country home, the Wharf, in this little Old World village on the banks of the Upper Thames. He had lived there since his retirement from public life after his resignation from leadership of the liberal party in October 1926.

The Earl died in a mullion-windowed room overlooking his beloved Thames. At his bedside were the members of his family, Lady Oxford (Margot Asquith), his two daughters, Princess Bibesco, and Lady Bonham-Carter, and his son, Anthony Asquith.

End Inevitable Throughout the night a few close friends and a number of villagers who knew Lord Oxford well, awaited the end which physicians had said was inevitable because of his advanced age and weak heart.

As the former premier fought his losing battle with death another outstanding statesman of the war, the Earl of Balfour, was confined to his home near Prestonkirk, Scotland on the orders of his doctors. Earl Balfour, who is nearing his eightieth birthday, had an acute attack of Laryngitis which left him so weak that his physicians have prescribed complete rest for many weeks.

There was deep mourning in this little village of Sutton Courtenay by the country folk, not so much for the British statesman and famous figure in the world war as for the kindly white-haired old man who until a few weeks ago took long daily strolls through the fields and lanes of Berkshire and along the banks of the Thames.

Then an affection of his leg kept him from moving about much. Advancing age had made inroads on his once robust health and he became an invalid, but was still fresh and vigorous in mind and keenly interested in affairs.

Party in Discussion His political career ended in party dissension with the man who in 1926 had succeeded him as premier, David Lloyd George.

For the last two years of his premiership, Earl Oxford faced the crises of the great war stolidly, but it was felt that he lacked the magnetism necessary to guide Great Britain through the conflict and he stepped down, being succeeded by Lloyd George.

Then in another great crisis in Eng-

Most Coveted Contract Must be Awarded at Later Meeting Called by Moody---Some Texts Rejected

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Governor Moody is expected to call another meeting soon of the state textbook commission, which adjourned Tuesday without making a geography textbook adoption, the most coveted of the 12 books bids on by about 40 book companies.

The commission rejected all bids on agriculture and physical geography because the number and price of text offered were considered unsatisfactory. With the regular geographies, it was a case of failure to agree between five texts offered.

Another meeting of the commission cannot be held until sixty days after the governor calls it. Whether he will call for new geography bids, or let stand those that provoked the deadlock, was not decided Wednesday.

Courses in which books were adopted were algebra, chemistry, physics, primer, first reader, sixth reader, writing, civics and Latin.

In the high school courses in this list, alternates were adopted for the larger high schools, but the basic text adopted, representing the contract most sought must be used by all unclassified high schools.

The basic civics text adopted is by C. P. Patterson, University of Texas and J. B. Hubbard, Belton lawyer, and former school superintendent there. Three other Texas authors were recognized in basic adoptions. Prof. D. A. Penick, Texas university, and L. C. Proctor, superintendent of Temple schools, wrote the Latin text accepted, and Miss Minnie Graves, supervisor of penmanship in the Waco schools, is author of the Graves muscular system of writing contracted for.

PEACE OFFICER CANNOT TAKE COMMITMENT FEE, IT IS RULED

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A peace officer is not permitted under the law to charge a $1 "commitment" fee, unless the person placed in jail is put there by a court order. H. Grady Chandler, assistant attorney-general, ruled Wednesday.

In his opinion to Wayne Somerville, county attorney, Wichita Falls, Mr. Chandler ruled also that a capias or warrant of a court is not within itself a commitment for which a fee is allowed, and that a "release" for which a peace officer is allowed a $1 fee is for releasing or discharging a defendant from the force and effect of a judgment.

This fee, the opinion said, is allowed in all cases where a defendant is convicted and discharges his fine and costs, whether under a plea of guilty or not guilty.

Five Big Dams to Be Built Following Water Agreement

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Fort Worth agreement on the Syndicate Power Company-West Texas issue over water rights, is expected to clear the way for beginning of work on one or more of the huge over dams for which Jay Alexander and the Syndicate Power company hold permits in Travis and Burnet counties.

Development of these power projects was delayed after the Brownwood protest was made against the use of the necessary water. Options costing over $200,000, which expired January 1 of this year, have been renewed, covering land which may be inundated when the dams are built.

The five proposed dams are estimated to cost $25,000,000 and it has been understood throughout the proceedings the Insull utility interests were behind Alexander in the proposed development.

Fire Department Saves Ford Coupe

With the exception of burned wiring and a heated engine the fire department after a fast run last night at 5:50 saved a Ford coupe owned by W. L. Steadman, who was driving in from the South Pampa field. A short circuit in the wiring under the hood caused the fire.

It has become noticeable in the last two runs that Pampa motorists are forgetting warnings and are following the fire truck again and are not getting off the road to give the truck the right of way. Two accidents were narrowly averted last night while the truck was on its run to the fire.

BUS REGULATION SUCCESS

AUSTIN, Feb. 14.—(AP)—State regulation of motor bus traffic in Texas was pointed out as an example of efficiency and "workableness" of such regulations at a national motor bus hearing in Washington. Ministers' Salaries Slowly Increasing

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Methodist minister's salary was $100 more last year than in 1926, and it averaged, with the increase, $1,396.

These statistics were ready for presentation today by Dr. Joseph B. Hingeley, Chicago, to the board of pensions and relief of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session here.

Dr. Hingeley, who is corresponding secretary, also made known that a new pension plan for clergymen, based on that used by the Episcopal and Presbyterian denominations, will be put into effect.

The Western Supply company, with head office at Tulsa, has leased the Sam Donald property in the Doody addition in South Pampa and will erect a supply and warehouse immediately.

The Keystone Pipe company is moving stock into its warehouse on the Watson property on South Cuyler Street.

The Marion Foundry and Machine company is also purchasing property in South Pampa and will erect a warehouse immediately.

Other companies will locate here soon, according to real estate men who are procuring sites for them.

HALL OF JUSTICE, Los Angeles, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A move by attorneys for William Edward Hickman to delay the joint trial of Hickman and Volby Hunt for the murder of C. Ivy Thomas was blocked by presiding Judge Carlos S. Hardy today and the case assigned to Superior Judge Elliott Craig for trial.

JOHNSTON HAS REPORT FROM MENTAL BOARD

Five Declared Sane and One Is Under Observation

ALL ARE HELD FOR EXECUTION

Lubbock City Manager Freed by Appeals Court

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Two of the eight men under death sentence in Oklahoma were found insane in a report of committee of state alienists, made public today by Governor Henry S. Johnston. Five other convicts were held to be sane and one still is under observation.

Dave Brown, youthful bank bandit whose escape from the electric chair already was assured by a stipulation of attorneys, and George Call, who has killed two men within the walls of the state penitentiary, are the men held insane.

Joseph Hubka, convicted of killing his brother in law, Joe Novotny, after a family quarrel over a valuable oil estate, is still under observation.

Brown was sentenced to death by Judge Charles Swindall under a statute providing the death penalty for robbery with fire arms, although no shot was fired in the robbery of the bank at Jet, Okla., to which he pleaded guilty. State and defense attorneys agreed that Brown's sentence should be modified when his appeal was heard recently by the Criminal Court of Appeals.

Call, sent to the state penitentiary on a robbery conviction, killed his cell mate. Later he killed a wall guard in an attempt to escape. Those held sane were Walter Wigger, who recently exhausted his last legal remedy in an attempt to escape the death penalty for the slaying of his sweetheart, Mrs. Ruth Harris; Willie O'Neal, negro, convicted of killing M. M. Hipsher, Oklahoma City street car motorman; Theodore Bruster, negro, convicted of murdering Willie Heenan, white, in Muskogee county; Tom Guest, convicted of a murder in Pottawatomie county.

SENTENCE REVERSED.

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Believing the state failed to show that M. S. Ruby, as former Lubbock city manager, had charge of public funds, the Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday reversed and remanded Ruby's two-year conviction on a charge of misapplication of such money.

Ruby was claimed to have about $147 appropriated to himself.

Six Counties Will Try Cooperative Egg Marketing March 1

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Six plains counties have formed the Plains Producers association, with J. T. Hatch of Plainview as manager, to market eggs produced by members. Sixteen thousand hens have been signed by their owners for the association, which will work toward an immediate goal of 40,000 with an ultimate aim of 200,000 producing hens.

The six counties are Swisher, Motley, Briscoe, Floyd, Lamb and Hale. Actual cooperative marketing will begin on March 1.

Mexican Believed to Have Caused Wreck

ROSOWELL, N. M., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Authorities today are conducting a search for a Mexican whom they believe responsible for the wreck late yesterday of Santa Fe Train No. 92, which ran into an open switch near Acme, 18 miles north of here, killing J. T. Knight, fireman, and causing the probable fatal injury of Engineer C. G. Withers.

Both trainmen are from Clovis, N. M.

Eight Millions in Damages Awarded

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 15.—(AP)—A verdict of $8,000,000 was on record in federal court today against the estate of the late James B. Duke, Tobacco magnate.

Damages were awarded George D. Haskell, manufacturer of Springfield, Mass., who charged Duke with entering into an arrangement with him for the exploration of great aluminum properties and then selling out to the Aluminum company of America. Haskell had asked $45,000,000 damages.

INSANITY PLEAS—Psychiatry as a would-be science is going to get many a hard blow as the result of the Hickman case. It will be argued—it is being argued—that insanity pleas merely delay justice and give unscrupulous attorneys another loophole through which to draw their clients.

Recognition of insanity as a defense, even in the instance of the most revolting crimes, is a long step toward new methods in criminology. California has gone so far as to set up separate procedure when "not guilty by reason of insanity" is pleaded. Yet the verdict is clean cut in setting out the opinion of the jury as to whether the defendant is sane or insane. Yet insanity, as a disease of the mind, is subject to many degrees, and the California test, the knowledge of right or wrong, is certainly unscientific. The law presumes that a person may be insane and therefore not subject to the ordinary recourses of law, yet its definitions are almost unworkable, and leave to the jury a duty which is not made more clear by the disagreement of so-called "experts" called before it. Moreover, insanity, it is well known, is a periodical thing in many instances, and its diagnosis requires close observation.

This is a subject which should interest every citizen. By reason of the possibility that Texas may adopt laws allowing greater consideration of insanity, the problem strikes home to every individual. If there were such a Texas law, district courts in this county would need "expert" witnesses and the state would have to re-organize its treatment of the insane by adding special care for the criminally insane-minded.

What does psychiatry claim and what are its methods? In the first place, it would insist that punishment fit the condition of the individual, and not the crime. An insane thief might be more in need for confinement and treatment than persons who, in cases of persecution, by accident, or while under some temporary mental strain were guilty of, for instance, assault with intent to murder.

Mental science would make fitness for social relations the condition of freedom—a fact which criminals fear because of its certainty of confinement in repeat offenses. It is obvious that a state, to recognize mental disease of insanity has an expense which not many states are willing to assume. Psychiatry claims that its system will help to control crime by detecting criminal tendencies when individuals first clash with the law. They claim Hickman, if arrested and examined at the beginning of his career of crime, would have been halted and impressed with the danger of confinement for repetitions. Whether insanity exists or not, this routine with all criminals is commendable. Offenders showing more distinct psychopathic conditions would be diagnosed by medical and mental experts. The extent to which science can remedy mild cases of mental disease is not well known, but is a growing accomplishment.

Al Smith has proposed one of the most radical steps, which provides that sentencing powers be taken from the judges and vested in a special commission headed by psychiatrists, which would make a study of the offenders, and fit the punishment on the basis of scientific study and experience. Such procedure would revise the entire criminal code, set up new professions, and inject a scientific spirit into jurisprudence.

Capital punishment, steadily growing unpopular, has recurring favor when revolting crimes are committed. Yet psychiatry not only would abolish capital punishment, but would inaugurate a type of indeterminate sentence which could be abused unless carefully developed—just as the present system is abused. In connection with psychiatry, however, the subject of heredity and eugenics arises, and drastic steps along this line are likely to arise.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Probably everyone who ever wrote a story about the tariff wondered whether anyone else ever would read it. The doubt has discouraged many stories which haven't been missed.

Recent developments such as the Senate's passage of the Mc-Master resolution, however, indicate that some day the tariff may be put on a business basis. Meanwhile there may be more tariff stories to read. The question is tied up with such important matters as prosperity, commodity prices, wages and international relations, so why not?

The key to the tariff situation is that those interests which don't benefit from tariff don't want any and that those which benefit from a tariff want all they can get. These two classes no doubt will clash endlessly, with occasional compromises.

Perhaps one way to make a tariff story more or less interesting is to tie it up with some particular commodity. Present efforts for legislation by the beet sugar industry come to mind and will be cited because the industry is not asking for the earth, and its arguments concern the national consumption of sugar, which nearly all of us have eaten at one time or another. The world eats 25,000,000 tons of sugar a year. About nine million tons of it is beet sugar. The United States consumes 6,000,000 tons a year. Half of that is Cuban cane sugar, a sixth is domestic beet sugar and most of the rest comes from Hawaii, the Philippines, and Porto Rico, with 50,000 or 60,000 tons of cane from Louisiana. Beets furnish nearly all our domestic sugar production.

Hawaiian, Filipino and Porto Rican sugar is imported free of duty. Other foreign nations are subjected to a tariff of $2.20 a ton, except in the case of Cuban sugar, on which the duty is $1.76.

Lately the sugar industry has been cursed with overproduction. Beet sugar factory earnings have been low in recent years as a result and some factories have been closed down. There are, incidentally, now 84 such factories operating in 19 states.

The beet sugar companies want some curb put on Filipino sugar. Up to 1913 Filipino sugar was duty free up to 300,000 tons, which never was reached. In that year, restriction was removed altogether. Now the annual importation from the islands is 500,000 tons, an increase of 300 per cent since 1913. The beet sugar industry wants the duty free importations limited to 500,000 tons, recalling that the Cuban production once doubled in three years.

Congress is being informed that the government is now sacrificing a domestic industry for a possession 7000 miles away; that Filipino sugar is raised by a cheap tenant farmer system which has sometimes almost approached peonage, whereas American beet farmers are paid at a fixed rate, an aggregate of $55,000,000 a year.

TWINKLES

Considering that he has had worlds of sympathy because of his alleged inability to enjoy a single meal, it does look like John D. is ungrateful to live forever.

Edison says Will Rogers is a newspaper joke, which may indicate that he wastes a lot of those un-slept hours reading the "latest extras" and such.

The 42-year-old New Jersey man who has inherited $2,000 with which to "get an education" probably will enroll with some correspondence school, if television doesn't ruin the latter before he can get his hands on the money.

However, any man who inherits $2,000 is liable to get an education out of the lawyers' methods of collecting it for him.

Tom Blanton would clamp the lid on immigration for eight years. It also is inferred that Tom doesn't intend to leave this country during that period.

Olympic Skating Title Is Denied Jaffee, an American

Follows Protest When Soggy Ice Cancels One Event

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The executive committee of the International Olympic committee today decided to throw out the 10,000-metre race, held yesterday, from the Olympic records, cancelling the results thus far obtained and to re-run the race if the weather grows colder.

Despite the decision of the committee to cancel the race, the Norwegian skaters called upon the American contingent today and congratulated Irving Jaffee of New York as the 10,000-metre speed skating champion, saying that they considered him the winner of the event.

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Recognizing the protest of the United States, the executive commission of the International Olympic committee has reversed a decision by the International Skating federation and installed Irving Jaffee of New York as the official 10,000 meters speed skating champion.

Jaffee thereby gains the distinction of becoming the first United States champion in the 1928 Olympic events. The skating federation cancelled the 10,000 meters event because of soggy ice after Jaffee and five other contestants had finished their heats. The dispute arose after Clas Thunberg of Finland had won the 1,500 meters race, the only other skating contest on the day's skating program.

When the 10,000 meter event was called off, Jaffee was considered a virtual winner with a time of 18 minutes, 36 5-10 seconds.

The American protest was made by Augustus T. Kirby, official representative of the United States, and he was supported by P. J. Mulqueen of Canada and the Norway delegate.

Polo Tournament Will Start Today at San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Fourteen of the fifteen teams entered in the Southwestern Mid-winter polo tournament will swing into action starting today, if rain which caused postponement of the opening of the tournament Sunday does not interfere.

Fort Clark, winner of the open and handicap events in the recent Rio Grand-Valley meet, is scheduled to open the tournament against Fredericksburg, and Fort Bliss, winner of last year's tournament, will meet the Alamo Freebooters of San Antonio later in the day.

Austin meets Stonewall, Camp Marfa, tackles the Fifteenth Field artillery and the Air Corps training center plays the Twelfth Field artillery tomorrow, and two games are scheduled for Saturday, the Ninth Infantry meeting the Freebooters and the Eighth Corps area headquarters team opposing Camp Wood, Texas.

Ablene drew a bye, but probably will be matched Saturday or Sunday.

Oil Production of United States Shows Decrease

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 15.—(AP)—The daily average production of crude oil dropped 5,954 barrels during the week ending February 11 as compared with the week ending February 4, the Oil and Gas Journal says today. United States production for the week totaled 2,382,155 barrels, compared with 2,388,109 barrels for the preceding week.

Production in Oklahoma showed a gain of 2,945 barrels for the week, in spite of a loss of 1,015 barrels in the greater Seminole field. Most of the other state fields showed small gains, with Burbank leading with a 3,950 barrel gain.

Small decreases were shown in most of the major Texas fields. The total production for the week was given as:

State	Barrels
Oklahoma	670,655
Texas	668,214
California	616,500
Arkansas	88,570
Kansas	109,760

SPEAKER, SIMMONS AND MILLER, GIVE A'S A STRONG OUTFIELD

With Tris Speaker (center) as a balance wheel, Connie Mack of the Athletics has a new outfield which may rival those of the Yanks and Cubs. Heavy-hitting Al Simmons (right), sole survivor of the 1927 trio that included Cobb and Wheat, will move over to left field. Bing Miller (left), who has come back to the A's, will cover the right-hand corner, while Speaker hawks 'em in center.

NEW YORK—Connie Mack, in introducing a 1928 outfield two-thirds made over from that of 1927, will not be called upon to introduce either of the two new outfielders to the territory they will patrol.

Tris Speaker, who will play a short distance behind second base and call it center field, knows all there is to know about the center field terrain of Shibe Park just as he does about every other American league field.

Bing Miller, coming back to the Athletics to play right field, is really coming home, for most of his major league career has been spent wearing a White Elephant uniform. Miller broke in with Washington but went to the Athletics in 1922 and remained on the outfield staff of Connie Mack until 1926 when he was traded to the St. Louis Browns. Now he is back again, with a bit more bulk but still fast.

Al Simmons, sole survivor of the outfield cast, completed by Ty Cobb and Buck Wheat in "The Runner-Up of 1927," will have to go only a few feet to find his corner. He played center field last season. This year he will move over to left to make room for the gray ball hawk who in spite of his 40 years can travel along with the best outfielders in the business. Simmons hits the ball in spite of his awkward stance and in 1925 hung up a mark of 386.

Speaker will prove helpful to the Athletics beyond question. The Texan showed the youngsters how to go back on a fly ball 20 years ago and he is still showing them, old and young, that many a potential extra base hit can be caught if a fielder starts early enough in the right direction.

Hays Will Get Fill of Roughness in Match Tonight

Cyclone Hays says he likes them tough, and he will meet one of that kind when he ties into Joe Kopecky, the hard boiled Bohemian from Taylor, at the Pampa Athletic club tonight.

Kopecky has never been thrown on the local mat and the wrestling fans who have no love for the mauler are banking on the Cyclone to end on top. Elmer Guthrie is bringing in some of the best and fastest boys in the country to wrestle here.

The preliminary will feature two unknown boys who are said to be fast and furious. They are local youths who have been sitting back and letting the older men do the rough stuff but Jim Bolen, manager of the local club, says they are good and he ought to know because he has been in the game for many years.

The bill will commence at 8:30 o'clock.

Southward Fly Baseball Birds, and Fans Have Many Questions About Outcome of Many Trades

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The baseball birds are flitting Southward. Intimate details of their progress already are being dispatched by energetic correspondents. The holdouts who were so adamant a few weeks ago are falling into line. The magnates talk of booming the amateur game for boys throughout the country. Through it all is the delightful air of anticipation and preparation always associated with the coming of another baseball campaign and, the magnates hope, bigger and better gates.

There will be no little concern in the news that comes back from the training camps scattered from Florida to California about the perspiring or aspiring athletes, depending on their age, ability or previous condition of servitude.

Gotham fans will want to know whether the Jewish hope of the Giants, Andy Cohen, will fit into the somewhat ample niche vacated by Rogers Hornsby or whether Frank O'Doul, the rejuvenated veteran from San Francisco, swings a mean enough club to break into the regular outfield cord.

Likewise it will be of interest to Boston whether Hornsby puts his expected now dash and punch into the braves or whether his conversation is as disconcerting to the new club manager, Jack Slatery, as it seems to have been to John McGraw.

How the St. Louis Browns will assort their new talent in the rebuilding process, what the Senators will do with two such first basemen as Sisler and Judge around, how Tris Speaker will fit into Connie Mack's machine, whether Sparkey Adams fills the long-felt Pirate need for a second baseman and how Kiki Cuyler fares under Chicago Cub leadership are only a few of the salient features of the spring training program.

Since the Pittsburgh Pirates obtained Lloyd Waner at bargain rates, chiefly on brother Paul's recommendation, Major league teams have been scanning the family connection of other stars.

The research seems to have led to the Yankees signing Nick Moore, on the advice of his older brother Wilcy, whose good right arm had as much

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Ace Hudkins served notice today that he would quit the ring unless given an opportunity to meet champion Joe Dundee for the welterweight title.

Hudkins declared he expected to knock out Sergeant Sammy Baker in their melee here Friday night and that if he isn't carded against Dundee afterwards, he will hang up the gloves and go into business.

The Nebraska wildcat said he had saved a little fortune through boxing and that the only lure the game now offered to him was the championship.

Hudkins is an 8 to 5 favorite to defeat Baker.

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS
PHILO VANCE
JOHN E.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York County.
MARGARET ODEL (The "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man about town
KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. AMERSON LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau.

THE STORY THUS FAR
 The jewel case had been opened with a steel chisel after being battered with a poker. This leads Vance to think that the real murderer had not opened it, but someone who was hiding in the closet when the murder was committed. That man, he thinks, was Skeel, whose finger-prints were found in the apartment of the strangled Margaret Odel. Markham ridicules the theory and Vance painstakingly explains his reasons for thinking the crime was not one of robbery but the work of a highly intelligent man. Markham and Vance discuss Mannix, Spotswoode and Dr. Lindquist.

CHAPTER XXIV
 "You're so prejudicial!" said Vance. "But let us move reluctantly on—What's your picture of Cleaver? The fact that he's familiarly called Pop is helpful as a starter. You simply couldn't imagine Beethoven being called Shorty, or Bismarck being referred to as Snookums."
 "Cleaver has been a politician most of his life—a Tammany Hall regular. Was a ward-boss at twenty-five; ran a Democratic club of some kind in Brooklyn for a time; was an alderman for two terms, and practiced general law. Was appointed tax commissioner; left politics, and raised a small racing-stable. Later secured an illegal gambling concession at Saratoga; and now operates a pool-room in Jersey City. He's what you might call a professional sport. Loves his liquor."
 "No marriages?"
 "None on the records—But see here: Cleaver's out of it. He was ticketed in Bonton that night at half past eleven."
 "Is that, by any chance, the water-tight alibi you mentioned a moment ago?"
 "In my primitive legal way I considered it as such," Markham resented Vance's question. "The summons was handed him at half past eleven; it's so marked and dated. And Bonton is fifty miles from here—a good two hours' motor ride. Therefore, Cleaver unquestionably left New York about half past nine; and even if he'd driven directly back he couldn't have reached here until long after the time the medical examiner declared the girl was dead."
 "As a matter of routine, I investigated the summons, and even spoke by phone to the officer who issued it. It was genuine enough—I ought to know; I had it quashed."
 "Did this Bonton Dogberry know Cleaver by sight?"
 "No, but he gave me an accurate description of him. And naturally he took the car's number."
 Vance looked at Markham with open-eyed sorrow.

"My dear Markham—my very dear Markham—can't you see that all you've actually proved is that a bucolic traffic Nemesis handed a speed-violation summons to a smooth-faced, middle-aged, stout man who was driving Cleaver's car near Bonton at half past eleven on the night of the murder?"
 "And, my word! Isn't that exactly the sort of alibi the old boy would arrange if he intended taking the lady's life at midnight or thereabouts?"
 "Come, come!" laughed Markham. "That's a bit too far-fetched. You'd give every law-breaker credit for concocting schemes of the most diabolical cunning."
 "So I would," admitted Vance apathetically. "And—d'ye know?—I rather fancy that's just the kind of schemes a law-breaker would concoct, if he was planning a murder, and his own life was at stake."
 "What really amazes me is the naive assumption of your investigators that a murderer gives no intelligent thought whatever to his future safety. It's rather touchin', y' know."
 "Markham grunted.
 "Well, you can take it from me, it was Cleaver himself who got that summons."
 "I dare say you're right," Vance conceded. "I merely suggested the possibility of deception, don't y' know. The only point I really insist on is that the fascinatin' Miss Odel was killed by a man of subtle and superior mentality."

"And I, in turn," irritably rejoined Markham, "insist that the only men of that type who touched her life intimately enough to have had any reason to do it are Mannix, Cleaver, Lindquist and Spotswoode. And I further insist that not one of them can be regarded as a promising possibility."
 "I fear I must contradict you, old dear," said Vance serenely. "They're all possibilities—and one of them is guilty."
 Markham glared at him derisively. "Well, well! So the case is settled! Now, if you'll but indicate which is the guilty one, I'll arrest him at once, and return to my other duties."
 "You're always in such haste," Vance lamented. "Why leap and run? The wisdom of the world's philosophers is against it. Festina lente, says Cæsar; or as Rufus has it, Festinatio tarda est. And the Koran says quite frankly that haste is of the Devil. Shakespeare was constantly belittling speed: "He tires betimes that spur too fast betimes;" and "Wisely, and slow; they stumble that run fast."

 Chaucer also held similar views. "He hasteth wel," said he, "that wysely can abyde." Even God's common people have embalmed the idea in numberless proverbs: "God and quickly seldom meet"; and "Hasty men never want woe."
 Markham rose with a gesture of impatience.

"Hell! I'm going home before you start a bed-time story," he growled.
 "The ironical aftermath of this remark was that Vance did tell a "bed-time story" that night; but he told it to me in the seclusion of his own library; and the gist of it was this:
 "Heath is committed, body and soul, to a believe in Skeel's guilt; and Markham is as effectively strangled with legal red tape as the poor Canary was strangled with powerful hands. Eheu, Van! There's nothing left for me but to set forth tomorrow a capella, like Gaboriau's Monsieur Lecoq, and see what can be done in the noble cause of justice."
 "I shall ignore both Heath and Markham, and become as a pelican of the wilderness, an owl of the desert, a sparrow alone upon the housetop. . . Really, y' know, I'm no avenger of society, but I do detest an unsolved problem."
 (Thursday September 13; forenoon)

Greatly to Currie's astonishment Vance gave instructions to be called at nine o'clock the following morning; and at ten o'clock we were sitting on his little roof-garden having breakfast in the mellow mid-September sunshine.
 "Van," he said to me, when Currie had brought us our second cup of coffee, "however secretive a woman may be, there's always some one to whom she unburies her soul. A confidant is essential to the feminine temperament. It may be a mother, or a lover, or a priest, or a doctor, or more generally, a girl chum."
 "In the Canary's case we haven't a mother or a priest. Her lover—the elegant Skeel—was a potential enemy; and we're pretty safe in ruling out her doctor—she was too shrewd to confide in such a creature as Lindquist. The girl chum, then, remains. And today we seek her." He lit a cigaret and rose. "But, first we must visit Mr. Benjamin Browne of Seventh Avenue."

Benjamin Browne was a well-known photographer of stage celebrities, with galleries in the heart of the city's theatrical district; and as we entered the reception-room of his luxurious studio later that morning my curiosity as to the object of our visit was a the breaking-point.
 Vance went straight to the desk, behind which sat a young woman with flaming red hair and maspero-shaded eyes, and bowed in his most dignified manner. Then, taking a small unmounted photograph from his pocket, he laid it before her.
 "I am producing a musical comedy, mademoiselle," he said, "and I wish to communicate with the young lady who left this picture of herself with me. Unfortunately I've misplaced her card; but as her photograph bore the imprint of Browne's, I thought you might be good enough to look in your files and tell me who she is and where I may find her."
 He slipped a five-dollar bill under the edge of the blotter, and waited with an air of innocent expectancy.
 The young woman looked at him quizzically, and thought I detected the hint of a smile at the corners of her artfully rouged lips.

But after a moment she took the photograph without a word and disappeared through a rear door. Ten minutes later she returned and handed Vance the picture. On the back of it she had written a name and address.
 "The young lady is Miss Alys Le Fosse, and she lives at the Belafield Hotel."
 There was now no doubt as to her smile. "You really shouldn't be so careless with the addresses of your applicants—some poor girl might lose an engagement." And her smile suddenly turned into soft laughter.
 "Mademoiselle," replied Vance, with mock seriousness, "in the future I shall be guided by your warning." And with another dignified bow, we went out.
 "Good Lord!" he said, as we emerged into Seventh Avenue. "Really, y' know, I should have disguised myself as an impresario, with a gold-headed cane, a derby, and a purple shirt. That young woman is thoroughly convinced that I'm contemplating an intrigue."
 He turned into a florist's shop at the corner, and, selecting a dozen American Beauties, addressed them to "Benjamin Browne's Receptionist."
 "And now," he said, "let us stroll to the Belafield, and seek an audience with Alys."

PART OF THESE CONSIGNED TO PAMPA

A trainload of new Holt combine harvesters have recently been shipped from the factory of the Western Harvester company at Stockton, Calif., for Texas and Oklahoma wheat farmers. Nine of them are consigned to Biggs Horn, local dealer, and will be unloaded and placed on display soon.

These harvesters are the very latest models, with all the improvements that have been added by the engineers of a great factory who were the original builders of combined harvesters and who have been building them for 42 years. Three models, 34, 36, and the new 10-foot Model 38, especially built to meet the demands of the small and medium size farms, are included in the trainload. Each of the three models is included in the machines which Biggs Horn will get for Texas Panhandle farms.

This shipment is the first for this part of the country, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Colorado getting machines which are being made up now. The large number of machines sent to this section is in response to a demand for better and quicker methods of farming.

The most elaborate and attractive of Valentine decorations added to the loveliness of the spacious receiving rooms of Mrs. Hughey's beautiful home, and tea was served from a daintily arranged table. Mrs. Marion Howard presided at the tea table, and was assisted by Mrs. G. C. Walters and Miss Leora May. Little red satin heart-shaped boxes of candies were presented the guests as favors.

Mrs. J. T. Morrow, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Tolleson, added to the enjoyment of others by playing a number of violin solos. Mrs. Carrol Jackson of White Deer sang several lovely numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Elliott, also of that city. A very entertaining reading was given by Mrs. P. B. Carlson and Mrs. D. F. Hugh Gas Flow Struck in Holmes Well by Gulf Co.

The Gulf Production company's No. 2 Holmes in the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of section 107, block 3, on the edge of the Wilcox pool, encountered 75,000,000 cubic feet of gas yesterday at 2,905 feet and is setting 6-inch casing. This is the most gas ever encountered in that territory and came as a surprise to local men.

It is a direct north offset to the same company's No. 1 Holmes, which is making about 200 barrels a day. It is also an offset to the Texas company's No. 1 Davis in section 86, block 3, now drilling.

The Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1 Bowers in section 63, block B-2, made 195 barrels the last eighteen hours and is drilling ahead at 2,875 feet. This location is offset by three flowing wells, and is expected to hit second pay late today or tomorrow.

The Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1 J. J. Wall in section 162, block 3, nearly a mile from the Guernsey Oil company's No. 1 McKinney in section 163, block 3, is drilling ahead at 3,225 feet after encountering a show of oil last week.

The Texas company's No. 1 Henry Thut in the Thut Survey a mile east of the LeFors townsite well, is drilling ahead at 2,235 feet. Elevation at this point is 2,908 feet.

New Map of City Shows Growth of Local Townsite

The growth of Pampa in recent years is clearly shown by a comparison of old city maps with a new map just prepared for distribution by A. B. Allen. The new map is the first one to be published in five years.

The late map shows all of the additions and sub-divisions which have been added to the original townsite, which consisted of five blocks east and west of Cuyler street and four blocks north from the Santa Fe tracks. Later south Pampa was opened for six blocks south, followed by the North and East additions. Since that time, more than 40 additions have been developed. While the original townsite covered approximately 90 acres, the present city limits enclose about 1,850 acres.

Mr. Allen, night clerk at the Schneider hotel, with day phone as 551-W, is local representative for the Amarillo Abstract company, and is distributing up-to-date maps of the oil territory. Ownership, locations, and other late information is kept up to publication time. One map, showing Carson, Gray, and Wheeler county oil development, is especially valuable.

Expansion

By DAVE WARREN

Optimism is prevailing in the Panhandle this week. The Panhandle had a good rain a week ago Sunday night and Monday. And starting Sunday morning of this week, the Panhandle received a good rain followed by a slow snow. Wheat farmers are encouraged and it is looking like another good year for the Plains.

Farmers were not discouraged, however for they know that the wheat could stand a little more dry weather. They are now talking about how good crops can be raised in the Panhandle with such poor prospects. But the time is coming when the Panhandle-Plains is not going to depend on nature for rainfall. Cheap power will enable pumping of water from shallow wells in many sections of the Panhandle. That will mean bumper crops every year.

In addition to the pumping of water, there is also the possibility of irrigation along the Canadian river. Since the oil development in the Panhandle the past two years, there has not been so much discussion of irrigation. The Panhandle is bound to consider irrigation again on an extensive scale.

Another week has gone by and no permanent title of this column. A serious effort will be made to make a selection for announcement in next week's installment.

The past week brought forth announcement of more expansion for the Nunn-Warren Publishing Co. This firm has bought a corner lot 40 by 140 feet in Pampa and will erect a new home for the Pampa Daily News. The building will be 40 by 100 feet with a 14 foot ceiling. A perfecting press, which uses roll news print, has been purchased and will be installed as soon as the building is completed.

The growth of the Panhandle in the newspaper profession in recent years has been remarkable. A few years ago only Amarillo had daily newspapers. Today Lubbock, Vernon, Borger, Childress and Pampa boast of dailies. Plainview probably will have daily newspapers with the arrival of the Fort Worth & South Plains Railway.

The Nunn-Warren newspapers have installed a Monotype. Few cities as small as any of the cities in which this firm publishes newspapers can boast of this type of equipment. Column rules, leads, slugs and certain sizes of type are made. The largest battery of typesetting machines under one ownership in the Panhandle-Plains is controlled by the Nunn-Warren Company.

Interest in dairying is continuing in the Panhandle. A delegation from White Deer visited dairies in Swisher, Hale, Potter and other counties. The business men returned home generally encouraged over the possibilities of dairying. Dairying is a part of diversified farming and will bring wealth to a community. Plainview bankers told the business leaders that they had noticed that farmers were able to pay their loans on account of successful dairying.

land the general strike of 1926, Earl Oxford censured Lloyd George for his attitude in favor of the miners. Efforts to bring about a reconciliation of the two Liberal leaders failed and in October, 1926, Lord Oxford announced his retirement as Liberal leader.

The Earl's heir is eleven-year-old Julian, Viscount Asquith, son of the Earl's eldest son, Raymond Asquith, who was killed in action as a member of the grenadier guard during the world war.

Pampa Men Attend 40-8 Gathering

Dr. R. A. Webb, J. A. Pearson, and Tom Darby, of the local vulture of 40 and 8, left yesterday to attend "the wreck" in Fort Worth being held today for the State of Texas.

"The Wreck" is the gathering of 40 and 8 members to celebrate and hold a promenade. The program commenced at 8:40 o'clock this morning and will continue long into the night. The chief speakers at the gathering will be Pelham St. George Bissell, Chief de Chemin de Fer of the association.

The Pampa delegates, who have taken interest in the organization, will return tomorrow.

Texas Cannot Stop Piping of Gas to Any Other State

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—(P)—The state railroad commission cannot prevent the transportation of natural gas from Texas to another state, even if it is to be manufactured into carbon black, Assistant Attorney-General Allen Clark held Wednesday in an opinion to the commission.

Such movement would be interstate in character and the state can only regulate the amount of pressure on pipe lines, he said.

"We regret that such is the law," Clark added, "but the relief necessary must come from the Federal government and is something over which this state has no control."

WRIGHT ENTERS FIDDLELERS CONTEST IN AMARILLO

Tom Wright, Panhandle pioneer and for the last 25 years a resident of Pampa, has entered the old time fiddlers contest in Amarillo. Mr. Wright is known throughout the Panhandle as one of the real old timers, and with his fiddle has made many happy both at dances and at concerts.

The contest, open to Panhandle fiddlers, has been postponed from February 27, to the first week in March. The new date has not yet been set. If any other old timer in Pampa or the surrounding territory wishes to enter this contest he may notify F. P. Reid, who will get in touch with the Board of City Development in Amarillo, sponsors of the contest.

HERE'S HOW TO BREAK INTO MOVIES TOMORROW

A chance to get into the movies awaits local people, if they will be at the intersection of Foster and Cuyler at 3 o'clock tomorrow.

At that time Paul L. Hoefler, who is preparing a film showing Panhandle scenes, will "shoot" the Pampa business district. He wishes as much activity as possible at that time.

SCHICK SONG REVISED
A beautifully executed revision of Prof. Otto Schick's song, "Morning Glories Bloom for you," has been received by him for distribution.

The cover has been given a new illustration of unusual attractiveness, and the song now has six pages and includes a violin obligato. On the back is an advertisement of "Sweetheart of Mine," another Schick song.
