INSULL WILL BE ALLOWED TO STAY IN GREECE UNTIL JAN. 31

AGED FUGITIVE MUST JOURNEY TO NEW LAND

TIME EXTENDED MONTH BY PREMIER OF NATION

ATHENS, Dec. 15 (AP)—The Greek government today granted Samuel Insull an extension to January 31 in the length of time he will be allowed to remain in this country. Previously, in refusing to renew the former American utilities operator's police residence permit, the government announced he would be forced to leave the country, January 1.

His present permit expires December 31. Mr. Insull requested and was granted the extension after the minister of the interior had informed him he would be expected to leave by the first of the year. At the same time, he was informed that his passport will be visated to any country he chooses to visit after leaving Greece. However, as he has no passport Mr. Insull will be required to travel on temporary papers.

The aged fugitive, wanted in Chicago to face embezzlement charges, made formal application for the extension of the permit yesterday. Within a few hours, the premier himself announced the decision. Indicted while in Paris in the autumn of 1932, he fled first to Italy and later to Athens as American agents sought his arrest and return.

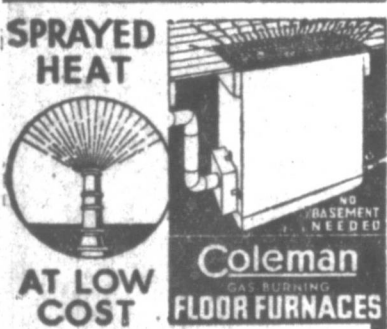

There he appeared safe when Greek courts twice held against American extradition moves. The permit decision ends that security, although it does not alter the fact that the government still can not, as one official said, "hand him over" to the United States.

Turning toward possible new scenes of asylum, Mr. Insull faced the fact that he was without consular status as an American citizen. The United States has revoked his passport. (And, at Washington, it was said the United States lacks extradition treaties only with Afghanistan, Persia, China, Egypt, and the internationalized section of Morocco.)

ITS STILL MISSING
CHICAGO—Miss Lillian Murray, who had charge of the world's first lost and found department revealed that among the articles turned in were these: Fifteen sets of false teeth, a false eye, and a half pint of whisky. The teeth and the eye were returned to their owners. "I don't know what became of the bottle of whisky," she said.

Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The finite must yield to the infinite. Advancing to a higher plane of action, thought rises from material sense to the spiritual, from the scholastic to the inspirational, and from the mortal to the immortal. Bandits Kill 8 Passengers On Japanese Train

TOKYO, Dec. 15 (AP)—A Rengo Japanese news agency dispatch from Harbin today said eight passengers were known to have been killed when bandits wrecked and pillaged the eastbound international train of the Chinese Eastern Railway near Tsitsihar. One of the dead was an unidentified European, believed to be a German. Eight of the passengers were injured. The dispatch added that a number of the passengers were kidnapped.

A Japanese armored train sped to the rescue from Harbin.
Loosening the rails, the dispatch said, the bandits caused the wreck and several of the cars were smashed.
Thereupon, 300 bandits leaped from their places of hiding nearby, thoroughly looted the train and stripped the passengers of valuables. Two Germans were known to have been passengers on the train. The outrage was the second of the kind in three weeks. On November 26, bandits derailed the international train and though once repulsed by Japanese troops abroad, attacked again. Two Japanese soldiers were killed, nine Japanese civilians wounded.

Similar methods were used in both instances.
Wilson W. Boyd of McLean was a visitor in the city this morning.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General topic: Paul in Rome.

Scripture Lesson: Acts 28:11-22, 30, 31.

11. And after three months we set sail in a ship of Alexandria that had wintered in the island, whose sign was the Twin Brothers.

12. And touching at Syracuse, we tarried there three days.

13. And from thence we made a circuit, and arrived at Rhegium; and after one day a south wind sprang up, and on the second day we came to Puteoli;

14. Where we found brethren, and were entreated to tarry with them seven days; and so we came to Rome.

15. And from thence the brethren, when they heard of us, came to meet us, as far as The Market of Appius and The Three Taverns; whom when Paul saw, he thanked God and took courage.

16. And when we entered into Rome, Paul was suffered to abide by himself with the soldier that guarded him.

17. And it came to pass, that after three days he called together those that were the chief of the Jews; and when they were come together, he said unto them, I, brethren, though I had done nothing against the people, or the customs of our fathers, yet was delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans;

18. Who, when they had examined me, desired to see me at Liberty, because there was no cause of death in me.

19. But when the Jews spake against us, I was constrained to appeal unto Caesar; not that I had aught whereof to accuse my nation.

20. For this cause therefore did I entreat you to see and to speak with me; for because of the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain.

21. And they said unto him, we neither received letters from Pudea concerning these, nor did any of the brethren come hither and report or speak any harm of thee.

22. But we desire to hear of thee, thou thinkest; for as concerning this sect, it is known to us that everywhere it is spoken against.

30. And he abode two whole years in his own hired dwelling, and received all that went in unto him.

31. Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ with all boldness, none forbidding him.

Golden text: I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.—Phil. 3:14.

Time: Paul's journey toward Rome, A. D. 60. Paul's first imprisonment in Rome, A. D. 61. Paul's second imprisonment in Rome, A. D. 66. Paul's martyrdom, A. D. 67.

Place: Mediterranean Sea. Malta. Rome.

The Roman Empire was an embodiment of power—"Rome was the whole world and all the world was Rome"—its eagle a symbol of human almightiness. Paul was a little weak, Jewish man, under arrest; an itinerant missionary of an insignificant despised sect, whose emblem was a shameful cross. But he was indwelt by the power of the Holy Spirit. Today the sovereignty of Rome is only a remembrance of history; that Eternal City only a museum of antiquities.

Paul's gospel, on the other hand, has conquered the inhabited earth as Rome never did and everything beautiful and notable in that city is crowned with the same cross in which Paul gloried, which Rome held in such contempt. Looking down upon Rome you think all this. Gentle Rome received the gospel that Jewish Jerusalem rejected; welcomed Jesus' great ambassador whom the Judean city cast out.

"We Came to Rome" v. 16. If we think merely of Paul's being taken to Rome as a prisoner of the Empire, we miss the meaning of this part of his life, from his point of view. God is taking him there. It is the fulfillment of his destiny, of his ambition and the divine plan (23:11). He had also preached the gospel in other great cities of the Roman world; the greatest of them all would come next (Acts 19:21; cp. Rom. 1:15).

The journey thither may not have been as he had expected; but Paul was never greatly concerned about the means, about external circumstances, so long as the end he ever had in view was attained; winning men to Christ. Preaching "Jesus and the resurrection" in Jewish synagogues, or rented hall, or public square, or by the shackles that loaded his wrists there at Rome (Rob. 1:22f.)—it was all one to him, if only the gospel got itself preached.

Paul in Rome v. 16

"Paul was suffered to abide by himself with the soldier that guarded him." "On reaching Rome Julius marched his gang of prisoners to the Caelian Hill and handed them over to the commander, Paul, however, doubtless on the ground of the report of Festus and the testimony which Julius would bear to his behavior during the terrible voyage, was accorded a welcome privilege. He was allowed to reside outside the barracks, apparently in the house of some hospitable Christian, in the enjoyment of comparative freedom." He was not indeed suffered to stir abroad, and he was linked by the wrist, day and night to a military guard; but his attendants Luke and Aristarchus, might go where they would, and visitors had unrestrained access to him."—Prof. David Smith. "As soon as the apostle knew where he was to be for a time, he sent for representatives of the Jews at Rome. In accordance with his principle, 'to the Jew first' he now sought to persuade his kinsmen that Messiah had come."—Principal James Iverach.

Paul's Two Years in Rome, vs. 30, 31

"And he abode two whole years in his own hired dwelling." Luke must have known the apostle was released, since he knew the duration of his imprisonment, but he gives no further particulars, perhaps reserving them for a third volume, relating the remainder of Paul's life and his death. Perhaps the faithful historian did not write this third volume because he, like his comrade, died for the cause he loved so well. "And received all that went in unto him." Besides casual visitors, Luke and Aristarchus were with Paul most if not all all of the time, and he enjoyed long visits from Tychicus, Timothy, Onesimus, Mark and Demas who seems to have gone back to ways of worldliness. He was allowed to speak with utmost freedom, "none forbidding him", v. 31, and especially made use of his opportunities thus to win over the members of that picked troop, the Praetorian Guard, who were chained to him day and night in swift succession. So Paul's closing reserves were for the gospel, but only served as a help, binding his audience to him.

Paul's Last Missionary Work

While Paul was in prison in Rome he wrote that crown of all his Epistles (unless we except the letter to the Romans), that to the Ephesians; he also wrote the Epistles to the Colossians and to Philemon, and the Epistle of Love, that to the Philippians. All that we know regarding his subsequent history we gather from tradition and from three brief letters, a letter of pastoral instruction sent to Titus in Crete, and the two letters to Timothy, the second of which, written shortly before his death and urging Timothy to hasten to him from Ephesus, is the apostle's last piece of writing that has been preserved.

Soon after his release from prison occurred the burning of Rome, a fearful event probably due to the mad Emperor Nero, but which he chose to attribute to the Christians. At once arose a fearful persecution of the followers of Christ. And in the course of this persecution Paul was arrested on what grounds we do not know, probably only because he was a Christian and was sent to Rome. His second imprisonment was attended by circumstances of the utmost barbarity. He suffered from cold and from many other miseries in his damp, dark cell. Luke alone was with him to help. At his first arraignment before the emperor he had no one to take his part. Finally, the greatest man of the age was condemned to die by the most ignoble man, (Nero) was led outside the walls, where now is a commemorative church, and there, according to the Roman custom was beheaded.

ferred, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; and henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing."—2 Tim. 4:6-8.

TRAVELER SEATTLE—Hans Hanran now sets out to make a world tour on a bicycle. He has traveled around the world four times on oil tankers, and last summer crossed the Atlantic with his brother in a 25-foot sailboat. Hanran has a breakfast date here on December 12, 1935, with Captain Gus Hasselblad, of the police department.

KEPT A CATFISH, LOST A WIFE ST. LOUIS—All because of a catfish, Mrs. Katie Lenz has been given a divorce from Arthur Lenz, a huckster, after 26 years of married life. She charged her husband kept a catfish in the bathtub for two weeks, preventing members of the family from taking a bath. "Divorce granted," said Judge Moses Hartmann.

The latest place of abode will be none other than the galleries of the Art Institute of Chicago. Director Robert B. Harshe made the announcement, fixing December 14 as the date for the first showings of 100 originals by Walt Disney, originator of Mickey Mouse. SUCCEEDS LEGGE CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP)—Addis McKimstry was elected president of the International Harvester company today, succeeding the late Alexander Legge.

MORE ATTENTION TO GIRLS' BASKETBALL SHOWN AND NEW RULINGS FOR GAME ADOPTED

CANADIAN, Dec. 15.—At a meeting of the girls' basketball at Amarillo recently plans of organization, rules, and methods of elimination were discussed.

X-RAY IS CURE FOR DIABETES, DOCTOR WRITES

Will Substitute For Injections Of Insulin

BY JAMES C. LEARY, Associated Press Staff Writer. CHICAGO, Dec. 15. (AP)—Treatment by x-ray of diabetes and high blood pressure was described today in the Illinois Medical Journal by Dr. James H. Hutton of Chicago.

It was further decided that a bi-district would be formed and that the champion team of district one would play the champion of district 2, under the direction of the bi-district officials in order to be eligible to compete in either district, it is necessary to pay an entrance fee of $1 to the bi-district chairman, Supp. W. H. Younger, Tulsa.

After discussion, it was voted to have a district tournament on Feb. 23rd and 24th, 1934, on a single elimination plan, the place of the tournament to be selected by the chairman after investigating as to the ability of the team to accommodate those attending the tournament and the willingness of those present to decide on the method of elimination and other matters pertaining to the organization.

Diabetes, inability of the body to utilize sugar, was once an "incurable" disease. In 1923 insulin, extracted from the pancreas, was found to control the disease, which has since then been regarded as due to pancreatic deficiency.

Following these instructions from the floor, the chairman appointed F. N. Sawyer of Canadian as temporary chairman of district 1. Immediately following the adjournment of the bi-district meeting, the chairman proposed for each of the districts called a meeting of those present to decide on the method of elimination and other matters pertaining to the organization.

At the same time, he continued, individuals in whom there are other signs of pituitary overactivity, such as dwarfs, also show signs of diabetes and victims of pituitary deficiency, such as dwarfs, show signs of overactivity of the pancreas.

For a number of years, the Panhandle-Pineas League has shown the way to other sections of the state in quality girls' basketball. School people are just awakening to the fact that a good girls' team will "pack the gym" with paid customers.

From a large mass of evidence in medical writings, Dr. Hutton concluded that the adrenal glands, in turn dependent on the pituitary, are the background of most cases of high blood pressure. X-ray treatment to both glands is almost immediately effective and is even more efficient so far, than in diabetes.

Why the pituitary becomes overactive was not directly discussed in Dr. Hutton's article, but evidence quoted indicated that it may be traced to the gonadal decline of later life.

He spoke out again today with no job to lose: "Her head, eyes and mouth were constructed for an amiable nose, but nature presented her with a complicated one—interestingly modeled, but bringing the eyes too close together."

Thompson estimated there were between 25,000 and 35,000 transients in Texas. Of this number, approximately 75 per cent are residents of other states, many of whom have significant intention to return home.

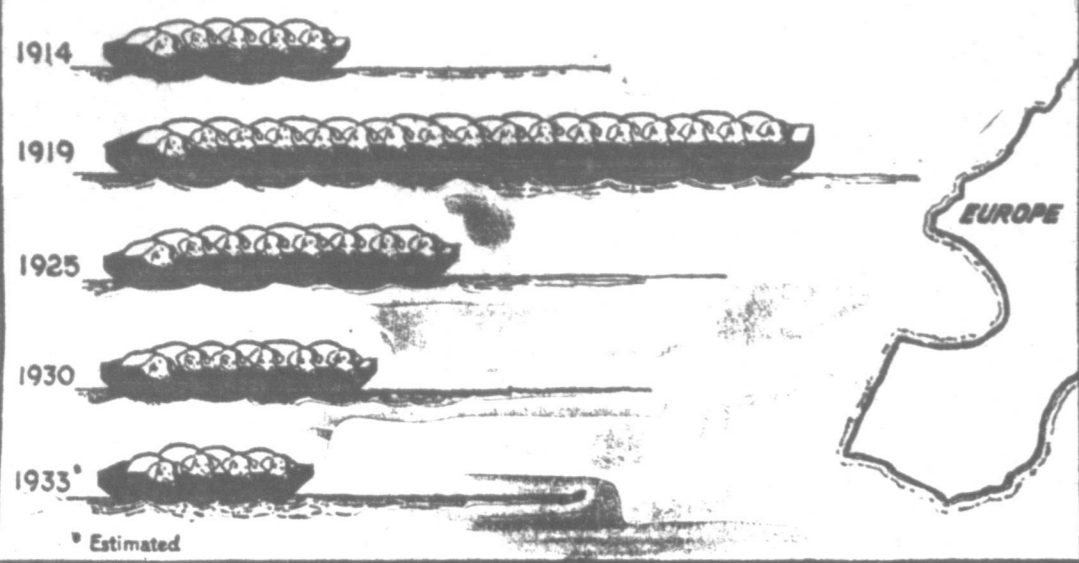

There would be if one of them had Lupe Velez' profile, Joan Bennett's facade and a boyish figure. Stanlans would add a touch of lip stick, rouge and mascara.

UNITED STATES EXPORTS OF HOG PRODUCTS (Each hog represents 1,000,000 head.)

THE accompanying graph constitutes a vivid explanation of one reason why the prices for corn and hogs have been so low the last few years. The main reason is the severe decline in the export demand for United States hog products since the 1919 peak.

Under the stimulus of the World War, foreign purchases of our hog products jumped to the equivalent of about seventeen million hogs. But since the war, our exports have dropped back again to the equivalent of about four million hogs. This decline has been due to a rapid restoration of hog production in European countries since the war, particularly in Germany and Denmark, and more recently because of tariffs and of quotas which limit the quantity of imports.

United States has continued to increase at about the same rate as the population. Consequently, the products no longer shipped abroad have become excess products on the home market and have driven down hog prices. Some adjustment to this changed demand must be made if hog prices are to be raised to a more favorable level. The corn-hog production-control program, now being offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, will help farmers bring about this necessary better balance.

STRATO FLIGHT DIDN'T SETTLE RAY ARGUMENT

SCIENTISTS ARE STILL CONVINCED EACH IS RIGHT

BY W. R. WALTON. Associated Press Staff Writer. CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP)—Preliminary scientific findings indicating that science stands to enhance greatly its knowledge of the elusive cosmic rays as a result of the recent ascension into the stratosphere by two Americans, were announced today by Dr. Arthur H. Compton, University of Chicago physicist.

Dr. Compton, who with Dr. R. A. Millikan of the California Institute of Technology, is vitally interested in the cosmic ray rays obtained by Lieut. Commander T. G. W. Settle and Major C. I. Fordney on their flight from Akron, Ohio, last November 20, made his first official report to the National Academy of Science for publication in the January issue of its monthly.

First of all, he said that data computed so far from readings of instruments placed in the gondola of the balloon by himself and Dr. Millikan, it was learned that the rays are 100 times greater in the stratosphere than at sea level. "Both Dr. Millikan and myself are confident that the information obtained was so excellent that it is only a matter of time until our individual theories are sustained or disproved," he said.

Dr. Compton, Nobel prize winner in 1927, holds to the theory that the rays are molecular—that is electrically charged particles, while Dr. Millikan maintains they are light waves resulting from the formation of heavy atoms in interstellar space. Both have their followers.

To ensure the rays and attempt to solve the mystery of their nature and origin two tests were made. For one an unshielded ionization chamber was installed in the gondola and for the other an ionization chamber shielded by the equivalent of a sheet of solid lead to keep out other rays.

Then as the balloon rose to the layer of thin air surrounding the earth the rays set up an electrical current in the ionization chambers. "Both sets of apparatus for measuring the ionization were self-recording," he said, "and gave satisfactory records. Due in part to an unexpected rapid rotation of the balloon, the program of directional experiments could not be completed, although valuable data on the number of rays were obtained."

The oscillations of the gondola also made impossible use of the adjustable support for the quartz spectrograph, and attempts to secure spectrograms by holding the instrument in the hands were unsatisfactory.

By use of a crystal of calcite painted with uniformly spaced black bands, so as to compare visually the intensity of the ordinary and extraordinary rays, he said Settle and Fordney determined that the sky light at 40 degrees from the sun was completely polarized within an estimated limit of about 5 per cent.

SUMMER IS HERE DENVER—Manager of Paris Walter Lowry is trying to figure out a way to make the lilacs and other park shrubs realize it is winter. During the past few days, under summer-like skies, they have started to bud. "We're going to get a cold wave sooner or later, it's going to freeze the buds and then there won't be a new crop next spring," he wailed.
