600 'BUTTONS' BEING PLACED

Six hundred additional traffic lane buttons are being installed on downtown streets by street department employees. The new buttons are center lane and "turn" lane directors.

Center lane buttons are being placed on two blocks on South-Cuyler street. "Turn" lane buttons are being installed 20 feet back from the intersections of Cuyler and Foster and Cuyler and Kingsmill streets.

Motorists are urged to use the center lane for through or left turn traffic and the outside lane for through or right turn traffic. Do not attempt a right hand turn from the center lane or a left hand turn from the right lane as a caution released by Police Chief Art Hurst.

CANDLE NETS $25 FOR LOCAL CHRISTMAS FUND

Estimating how long a three-foot, five-inch candle will burn has enriched the Christmas fund of the Pampa Supplementary Relief organization by $25 and a large amount of clothing and shoes today.

Donations from persons who have made estimates on how long a candle in the window of the Adams Hotel will burn were turned over yesterday to Mrs. Willie Bain, case worker for the PSRF.

Estimates will be taken until New Year's Eve when the candle will be lighted and allowed to burn out. Fire Chief Ben White has figured his estimate scientifically and mathematically. He burned a small candle after taking its dimensions and then used algebra, geometry, etc., to make his estimate on the large candle.

Only requirements to make an estimate is that a donation of a dime or some article of clothing accompany it. All proceeds will be turned over to charity.

DRUNK DRIVING CHARGE FILED AGAINST WICKER

E. B. Wicker of Borger, charged with drunken driving in connection with an automobile collision five miles west of Pampa Monday night, was released on posting bond for $1,000 in justice court yesterday.

Wicker's automobile was in collision with another car, driven by Biggs Horn of White Deer, former Pampa.

Only minor injuries were suffered by the two men.

COTTINGHAM RECOMMENDS OIL SHUTDOWN

AUSTIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—E. V. Cottingham, railroad commission engineer, recommended today at a statewide prorotation hearing that the Texas oil field be shut down on Sundays to extend to the rest of Texas.

He said the shutdown in East Texas had resulted in stopping an alarming decline in bottomhole pressure in the area and had built up a slight pressure increase.

On December 8 the pressure was 111.2 pounds per square inch compared with 110.93 on Nov. 8.

The largest crowd to attend a prorotation hearing in months signified the interest in the situation.

Operators and attorneys representing major oil companies were present from all sections of the state. Several members of the legislature from oil field areas also attended.

"We have held the pressure gain in October and have added a little," he said. "The alarming decline of several months has been checked and pressure is increasing."

He said the present business situation over the country, including Texas, indicated Texas operators ought to retrench and stop piling up stocks of surplus.

In answer to a question by Terrell Cottingham said flatly, "I think the entire state should be closed in."

The East Texas field has been shut in for the last four Sundays ostensibly for the purpose of taking pressure tests.

Engineers reported 10,518 new wells had been completed in the first 11 months of 1937, for an average monthly of 956, and 384 more from Dec. 1 to Dec. 15.

Purchasing companies reported that the three oil companies crated 597,294 barrels daily, an increase of 7,652 over December.

PANAY VICTIMS ARRIVE BY BOAT AT SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, Dec. 17 (AP)—With flags fluttering at half mast the little United States gunboat Oahu arrived at Shanghai tonight bearing the dead, wounded and rescued survivors of her sister ship Panay.

Two Japanese destroyers, the Otori and Kasasagi, and the British gunboat Ladybird conveyed the United States vessel as she steamed alongside the flagship Augusta, ending her 200-mile trip down the Yangtze.

On board were the bodies of storekeeper Charles L. Ensminger of the Panay; Capt. C. H. Carlson of the Standard Oil vessel Melan; Sandro Sandri, Italian newspaperman, and the Chinese quartermaster of one of the three oil company craft destroyed in the Japanese attack Sunday.

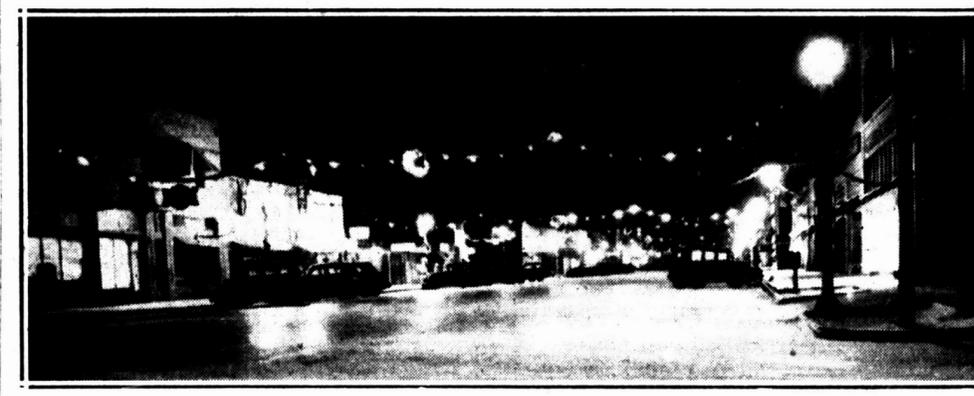

The Oahu also carried some 60 survivors, 15 of them wounded.

The United States Government's concern over belated information that Japanese boats had machine-gunned the Panay before she went down with her flags flying was emphasized when a naval court of inquiry boarded the Oahu down the Whangpoo at Pootung.

Pampans Urged To Take Names Or Leave Money

Pampa Good Fellows are taking names of families off the list at the desk in the City Hall. "There are still quite a few families and individuals to be added to the Good Fellows and take the names off this list," said Howard Buckingham, Commander of the American Legion post which is sponsoring the Good Fellow movement.

Cuyler, Seething With Vehicles By Day, Is Silent At Midnight

"Silent Night" might be a good title for this picture of Cuyler street, snapped by Photographer Foster Fletcher the other midnight. It shows Pampa's festive, electrically-lighted Christmas holiday theme. Contrasting the midnight scene here, the same locale, Cuyler looking south from Francis, thrives in the daytime and early night with vehicular and pedestrian traffic as busy shoppers hurry to get their Christmas buying done early. It is a reminder, too, that there are only six more shopping days until Christmas.

SHOPLIFTERS HELD IN JAIL

Pleas of guilty have been entered by both a man and a woman held in county jail here on charges of shoplifting in connection with the removal of five pairs of women's bloomers from J. C. Penney company, and several pairs of hosiery from Montgomery Ward and Co., yesterday evening.

The two were arrested on West Foster avenue late Thursday by Deputy Buford Reed and Constable Otis Hendrix. The man, Hilton Patton, was carrying a sack containing the merchandise. The woman, Elcie Potter, was not found in possession of any of the articles allegedly stolen. Both were trying to thumb a ride out of town when they were apprehended, officials said.

The woman changed an original plea of not guilty, made last night before Justice of the Peace E. F. Young, to guilty, this morning. A fine of $50 and costs has been assessed each of the prisoners.

TEXAS SKIES CLEAR AFTER GENERAL RAINS

Skies cleared in Texas today after three days of general rains which in many sections brought precipitation totals to near normal for the year.

Nearly all of the state, excepting only the north and northwest, received precipitation. Palestine with a two-day total of 4.98 inches, had the heaviest.

The weather bureau at Dallas said winter temperatures generally would prevail over the state, and the New Orleans bureau issued a bulletin indicating a gulf disturbance was moving eastward away from Galveston.

Dallas' two-day rain amounted to 2.41 inches, bringing the year's total to 1.89 inches. Corsicana reported 1.89 inches.

HAMILTON AND GLENN FRANK IN CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton arrived today to confer with Dr. Glenn Frank, former University of Wisconsin president, and determine whether Frank would accept chairmanship of the party's new policy committee.

The Republican national executive committee, at a four-day meeting in St. Louis, selected members of the policy committee which Hamilton said ultimately would have between 135 and 140 members.

2 Oklahomans Escape From Alcatraz Rock; Bay Waters Searched

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Heavy shore patrols and a swarm of federal and police boats searched the waters of San Francisco bay today for two desperate criminals who escaped from Alcatraz island's "escape-proof" federal penitentiary under cover of a dense fog.

Officials expected to find their bodies.

There was only one chance in a thousand, authorities agreed, that Alvin Karpis, 29-year-old bandit from Duncan, Okla., and Theodore Cole, 23-year-old kidnaper of Stroud, Okla., still lived.

During a half hour between regular counting of prisoners yesterday afternoon the pair broke two panes of glass in a window and escaped from the machine shop where they worked. Hidden from tower guards by the densest fog of the year, they reached the outside wire fence where they jumped a gate.

"The cliff beyond the gate is almost sheer," said Warden James A. Johnston. "There is about a 20-foot fall but it could be made in a jump of two."

Plunge Into Tide. After reaching the rocks at the base of the cliff, the pair hid in caves on the island, plunged into the powerful ebb tide in an attempt to swim the mile and a quarter to San Francisco, or slid into the water to make a rendezvous with a confederate boat screened from the 12-acre rock by the fog.

The entire island, caves and all, was repeatedly searched without revealing further trace of the men.

"If they went into the water, Johnston said, "it was a long gambler's chance. I don't see how anybody could make it."

"I don't see that the men had any chance of clicking if they hoped to reach a prearranged boat, standing out of sight. I don't think they could have got to the boat."

Former fellow prisoners recalled that shortly after he was sentenced to 50 years on Alcatraz for kidnaping J. A. Rutherford, Oklahoma pipeline worker, Cole remarked he would not stay on the island long enough to be bored.

Escape In Death. In the three years since Alcatraz became a federal penitentiary, convicts have escaped from it only in death.

The only other prisoner to attempt escape from Alcatraz, Joseph Bowers, a mail robber, was fatally shot.

Postmaster C. H. Walker and his staff are having Christmas mailing troubles again. It's the same old story of Pampans mailing cards in unsealed envelopes bearing a 1 1/2-cent stamp with an incomplete address. When that happens the cards are treated as if they were circulars and are thrown in the waste basket.

"PLEASE" — says Postmaster Walker, "if you mail cards with a 1 1/2-cent stamp, put a complete address on the envelope. For example—Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, 123 Fifth Street, Pampa, Texas, or if to a box, place the box number. An envelope addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, Pampa, Texas, will be consigned to the waste basket according to postal rules and regulations."

Also, Postmaster Walker urges persons mailing cards first class to place a full address and also a return address on their cards. First class matter carries a two-cent stamp in the city and three cents outside the city.

KIDDIES' FREE MOVIE PLANNED

Here is good Christmas news for boys and girls under 14 years of age—the annual Lions-LaNora Theater-Pampa Daily News Christmas party will be held at the LaNora theater at 10 a. m. Friday, Dec. 24.

This has been a yearly event by the triple sponsors and last year the LaNora was jammed to the doors with nearly 1,500 children who turned out for the Christmas party.

Candy, fruit and nuts will be distributed to all who attend by old Santa Claus who will be on the job bright and early that morning.

Claude Motley, theater manager, said today he is negotiating for an all-children's program for the morning matinee and promised that the screen will offer plenty of good fun and entertainment.

Parents who accompany their children will be asked to remain in the rear of the theater so as not to occupy seats which are to be reserved exclusively for children at the Christmas party show.

R. J. Hagan has been named chairman of the Lions Club committee which is handling arrangements for the annual holiday event.

PER CAPITA PAYMENT MADE GRAY SCHOOLS

AUSTIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—Texas public schools received a higher payment of per capita aid prior to Christmas this year than ever before in history.

State Superintendent L. A. Woods made the statement with completion of mailing $3 per scholastic yesterday making the total $7. He said another $3 of the $22 appropriation would be sent out about Feb. 20.

The office of the superintendent of Gray county schools has already received a check from the state department of education for $1,468, making the total per capita aid received to date $7.

The Pampa Independent School district had not been notified by its depository today of any receipt of per capita funds, but this was expected within a few days.

On the basis of $3 per capita, the check for the Pampa Independent School district will amount to $10,800, making the per capita $12.985, other check, amounting to $17,985, was received November 8. Most of this sum was for per capita aid.

POLICE CAUGHT IN OWN TEAR GAS AT ST. LOUIS

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 17 (AP)—Police were caught in their own tear gas barrage today as they attempted to halt the hurling of bricks and bottles at workers approaching the Ford assembly plant.

Men throwing the missiles at a 200-car caravan of Ford employees jeered loudly as wind caught the tear gas intended for them and blew it back upon the officers. One policeman suffered gas burns and was taken to a hospital.

The employees got into the plant without the hand-to-hand fighting which marked the reporting hour yesterday.

PROPOSAL TO REPEAL TAX TURNED DOWN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—A House tax subcommittee turned down today a Republican proposal to repeal the controversial tax on undistributed corporate profits.

Chairman Vinson (D. Ky.) said the vote, along party lines, was 6 to 3.

He said Representative Crowther (R. N. Y.) moved that the committee adopt a plan by which the present normal corporate tax of 8 to 15 per cent would be boosted to 12 to 16 per cent and the capital gains tax fixed at a flat 12 1/2 per cent.

Vinson said the committee had been informed that if this plan had been in operation for the present taxable year, the government would have received $416,000,000 less in revenue.

"We're going to retain the principle of the undistributed profits and capital gains tax," the chairman said.

The employees got into the plant without the hand-to-hand fighting which marked the reporting hour yesterday.

CARDS WITHOUT Full Address Go To Waste Basket

Postmaster C. H. Walker and his staff are having Christmas mailing troubles again. It's the same old story of Pampans mailing cards in unsealed envelopes bearing a 1 1/2-cent stamp with an incomplete address. When that happens the cards are treated as if they were circulars and are thrown in the waste basket.

TOKYO DENIES MACHINE GUNS RAKED PANAY

(By The Associated Press) Japan, several times faced with framing replies to stern diplomatic complaints over her operations in China, today formally advised Soviet Russia "it is impossible to heretofore longer" the treatment of her Nationals in Russia.

She complained Japanese were imprisoned as spies in Russia without trial. Simultaneously, Tokyo newspapers reported Vladivostok, Russia's far eastern port, was being extensively fortified.

At Shanghai a United States naval board of inquiry boarded the gunboat Oahu to interview survivors of the gunboat Panay, bombed and sunk near Nanking by Japanese planes. Survivors said the gunboat was machine-gunned both by planes and motorboat military detachments.

This was flatly denied by Tokyo, but the state department in Washington prepared supplemental representations to Japan based upon this development.

His capital at Nanking fallen, China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek broadcast an appeal from his island refuge for his people to continue the fight. A widening front developed north of Nanking. There were rumors Japan now may undertake an expedition against Canton, neighboring Britain's crown colony of Hongkong.

Russia was sending two cruisers, 18 submarines and six destroyers to the port next week, Yomiuri asserted. The newspaper added that the Moscow Government moved 600 pilots and 110 planes to Vladivostok last week.

China's Wang Blum, named chairman of the Lions Club committee which is handling arrangements for the annual holiday event.

The foreign office statement to the Russian embassy said in part: "On Nov. 4 an unknown woman handed Daiji Takahashi, director of a Japanese company at Vladivostok, an envelope on the street. Immediately lying in ambush arrested him and took the letter declaring he would be indicted for 'espionage'."

"Takahashi was placed in detention. His trial has not yet been held."

Peace In Orient. The protest listed other similar cases, asserting that Soviet authorities accused each Japanese of "military espionage" but failed to place them on trial.

Holiday Program Given by Society

A candle-light Christmas service at which white wrapped gifts were carried to a Christmas tree by members of the auxiliary was a feature of the Presbyterian Women's auxiliary meeting Wednesday afternoon which was held in the church annex. The gifts are to be used in packing Christmas baskets for the needy.

During the service, Christmas customs of other lands were discussed by Mrs. Robert Boshen. In an impressive service, Mrs. Fred Roberts read a Christmas story and followed it by a talk and prayer on "I Go to Bethlehem."

Children of the church who sang carols during the refreshment hour, were accompanied by Mrs. W. S. Dixon. The ladies also sang carols throughout the program.

Mmes. Brant Blomkvist and R. F. Dirksen, hostesses at the meeting, served refreshments to 29 members and three visitors, Mrs. Lemon of Oklahoma City, Hill of Iowa, and L. J. Beacher of Toledo, Ohio.

CRITERIA FOR SILVER

When you shop for silver, do you know the relative fineness of the silver used in sterling? 925-1000 pure for sterling, 100 per cent pure silver is used for plating. The alloy in sterling is needed to give the pure metal stiffness and durability and to allow the metal to be worked by the silversmith. In plated ware the base metal supplies these needs.

Look for the trademark? Attach importance to trademarks in general? (Remember, there are many trademarks and some are used on inferior brands. Be sure you know just what a given mark represents. This comes only through experience, or through dealing with a merchant you know to be trustworthy.)

Make sure that minute details of design are well executed? Look for "burrs," or rough edges? Also look for thin, sharp edges in spots where they should be rounded? Become curious when a national brand, usually sold at a standard price, is advertised at an absurdly low figure?

Glorifying Yourself

Anyone who needs further proof that the time and effort spent beautifying eyes are not worth while has only to look at a Hollywood star before, then again just as she is ready for a scene. What the makeup artists in the studios can do to make merely so-so eyes appear larger, more luminous, really lovely, is nothing short of miraculous.

Naturally, no woman of good taste wants to follow the screen technique of eye makeup. One cannot go around during daytime hours, or evening either, for that matter, with layers of mascara on lashes, false lashes to make her own seem longer, more luxuriant, or quantities of eyeshadow on eyelids. However, she can appreciate that shiny lids, subtly darkened lashes and neatly groomed brows enhance the appearance of anyone's eyes.

For instance, do you brush a tiny speck of cold cream lightly over eyelids right after you have powdered your face and applied rouge? You should, you know. The resulting gleam creates the effect for you that eyeshadow does for the motion picture star before the camera, without making your face seem hard or too made up.

When you powder around eyes, it's a good idea to spread slightly the skin at outer corners, then to press the powder on firmly. This way, fine lines do not show up as cracks in the powder. As a finishing touch, moisten your mascara brush with plain water, then brush eyelashes and brows. If either is absolutely colorless or faintly pale, apply a very thin coat of mascara, and be sure that you use a waterproof variety.

If your lashes stick out here and curl under there, get one of the eyelash curler gadgets and use it to make them curl upward and stay that way. If you are miserably every time you have to pluck out a stray hair near your brows, you might consider an automatic tweezers. Do not, however, get overly enthusiastic every time you have a tweezer in your hands. It is not smart to pluck brows into thin, unnatural lines. Let them grow as nature intended, removing only straggling hairs that grow across the bridge of the nose, on lids, and so on.

For holiday parties (mostly for fun, however), there are silver and gold eyeshadows to be applied lightly on the lids. Also a new bluish-green mascara that makes lashes shine nicely and look longer. Either of these is well worth a trial, and both make excellent small presents for the toe of some glamor girl's Christmas stocking.

Miss Williams Has Part in Recent College Activities

Miss Rose La Nell Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Williams of Pampa, played the oboe in the A band of the Texas Tech college at Lubbock on Thursday evening at a Christmas concert given in the high school auditorium.

Miss Williams was also a model for the style show given Tuesday by the Orientation classes.

Bachelor Girl Meat Loaf

One pound chopped beef, 1 lb. chopped veal, 1-2 lb. chopped fresh pork, 1-2 lb. sausage meat, 1 egg, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 can tomato soup, salt and pepper.

Mix all these together, grease a meat loaf pan and place mixture in it. Place in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) for 20 minutes, then lower heat a little and continue to bake until well browned.

The menu recommended for the teetotaler is Cream of Tomato Soup, Meat Loaf with Mushroom Sauce, Spinach and Carrots Vichy, Hot Rolls, Grape Jelly, Meringue Shells with Ice Cream, Coffee. But lots of men won't like it.

If your male guest happens to be a food fancier, the authors of "Corned Beef and Caviar" hope you will serve a little supper like this: Green Turtle Soup, Brook Trout, Amandine; New Potato Balls, Green Salad with Frozen Cheese, Crepes with Orange Marmalade, Black Coffee. Better have a part time maid to help serve this.

Frozen Cheese

(Serves 2 heartily)
One-half pound cottage cheese, 1-4 lb. Roquefort cheese, 1 tablespoon finely chopped chives, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper.

Chop the two cheeses together and then force through a strainer. Add sufficient cream to make a smooth paste, then add chives and seasoning. Freeze in the automatic refrigerator or in a small ice-cream freezer. Cut and serve with the green salad. Quite a tidbit and most likely to impress your intelligent guest.

If you happen to be entertaining the "perfect gentleman," Misses Hillis and Foltz beg you to try Bananas in Rum.

Bananas in Rum
Bananas, butter, brown sugar and rum, depending on the size of your gentlemen.

Feel and split bananas in half lengthwise. Place in buttered baking dish. Dot liberally with brown sugar. Pour rum over them. Bake in hot oven for about 15 minutes.

All of the above recipes are supposed to help the bachelor girl get her man with a meal. A laudable ambition and quite an inspiration to better cooking.

Our Model First Lady

trimmed cape. The top of the gown is rhinestone studded and shirred. At right, she appears in a purple gown trimmed in brilliant fuchsia crepe. A jeweled clip is worn at the V-neckline. Note the ankle-length, slashed skirt.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Can a saucypan sing with merriment? Can't a recipe dance to the stove and into the living room where your nice young man is waiting for his supper? "Yes" seems to be the answer. A publisher just sent me a book, saying, "I'm sure you will say this is a cook book with a lift." Let's sniff the evidence before we sniff at it.

According to Bertina Foltz and Marjorie Hillis the Marjorie of "Live Alone and Like It", their combined efforts and experience in studying males and the problems of single girls and their entertaining have produced "Corned Beef and Caviar." It tells a girl how to be a hostess on a tiny salary or on a fat and generous one. When you ask a teetotaler to dinner give him lots of rich food and sweets, they suggest. Meat loaf is a rich yet easy main dish to serve the teetotaler who gets himself invited to your tiny apartment for dinner.

One pound chopped beef, 1 lb. chopped veal, 1-2 lb. chopped fresh pork, 1-2 lb. sausage meat, 1 egg, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 can tomato soup, salt and pepper.

Mix all these together, grease a meat loaf pan and place mixture in it. Place in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) for 20 minutes, then lower heat a little and continue to bake until well browned.

The menu recommended for the teetotaler is Cream of Tomato Soup, Meat Loaf with Mushroom Sauce, Spinach and Carrots Vichy, Hot Rolls, Grape Jelly, Meringue Shells with Ice Cream, Coffee. But lots of men won't like it.

If your male guest happens to be a food fancier, the authors of "Corned Beef and Caviar" hope you will serve a little supper like this: Green Turtle Soup, Brook Trout, Amandine; New Potato Balls, Green Salad with Frozen Cheese, Crepes with Orange Marmalade, Black Coffee. Better have a part time maid to help serve this.

Frozen Cheese

(Serves 2 heartily)
One-half pound cottage cheese, 1-4 lb. Roquefort cheese, 1 tablespoon finely chopped chives, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper.

Chop the two cheeses together and then force through a strainer. Add sufficient cream to make a smooth paste, then add chives and seasoning. Freeze in the automatic refrigerator or in a small ice-cream freezer. Cut and serve with the green salad. Quite a tidbit and most likely to impress your intelligent guest.

Ladies Aid Will Help Needy Family

SKELLYTOWN, Dec. 17.—The Ladies Aid of the Community church of Skellytown met recently at the home of Mrs. Chester Strickland for a social.

Mrs. T. B. Barron, president, was in charge of the short business meeting, when plans were made for a Christmas basket which will be given to some needy family Christmas Eve.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Roy Lee and Aaron Edwards who directed the games and contests, with Mrs. Roy Christopher winner of the prize.

Gifts were exchanged from a beautifully lighted tree, and refreshments in a Christmas motif were served to: Mesdames Earl J. New, Bill Lott, J. C. Jarvis, S. C. Dickey, J. W. Lee, T. B. Barron, Roy Christopher, Wesley Black, C. H. Boyd, Roy Lee, W. W. Hughes, and the hostess.

Birthday Party Given Miss Parker

SKELLYTOWN, Dec. 17.—Sara Florence Parker was honored on her birthday, by her mother, Mrs. T. B. Parker at their home in the Skelly Camp.

Bingo and other games furnished the amusement for the evening, with each guest receiving a prize.

Mrs. Parker was assisted by Mrs. T. B. Rogers in serving individual birthday cakes with candles, jello with whipped cream, and punch. Santa Claus and nut baskets were given as plate favors.

One of the outstanding meetings of the year for the Altar Society of the Holy Souls Catholic church was the annual Christmas party given Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. E. McKernan with Mmes. T. K. Manley, George M. Quinn Jr., L. W. Burrow, and Donald A. Powell as hostesses.

Decorating the entertainment rooms were Christmas wreaths, a silver and blue tree, and lights which were strung from one room to another.

After the luncheon, the group sang carols and conducted a short business session in which arrangements were made for the distribution of Christmas baskets to the needy as part of the Christmas program were made.

Gifts were exchanged by Mmes. W. H. Davis, M. F. Roach, Dan Kennedy, Ann Nesselrode, W. Cook, Gill Bunch, O'Rourke, William Flankbeiner, Frank Keim, A. B. Zahn, J. W. O'Day, Mickey Conley, L. H. Faculty Guests At Bridge Party

SKELLYTOWN, Dec. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Parker were hosts recently to a few friends and members of the Skellytown school faculty, with a "Crazy Bridge Party" at their home in the Schafer Camp.

Guests had to play cards with cotton gloves, one eye closed, etc. Miss Mary Beth Campbell won high score in the games for ladies and Marshall Gordon high for men.

Christmas decorations were used in the interesting rooms, and the same color scheme was carried out in the refreshments which were served to: Messrs. and Mmes. George Heath, Glenn Davis, and Raymond Loflin of White Deer, Miss Sue Mitchell and Mr. Johnson, of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Strickland, Misses Billie Campbell, Mary Ella Bean, Mary Beth Campbell, Leo Butler, Oriana, Bandy, Margaret Harvey, Lillian Davis, and Frances Hamner, Messrs. JOHN HARDIN FUNERAL WILL BE TOMORROW

DALLAS, Dec. 17 (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow (2:30 p. m.) at Burk Burnett for John G. Hardin, 83, millionaire philanthropist, who died here at Baylor University hospital last night. Services will be held at the First Baptist church of Burk Burnett with the Rev. Miles Hays in charge.

Mr. Hardin, who came to the hospital here nine months ago with a complication of ailments, had been in critical condition several days.

His career was the story of humble beginnings, the accumulation of more than $6,000,000, and the gift of most of it to educational, civic and humanitarian causes.

Amassed $6 Millions.

Born at Ripley, Miss., he moved with his parents to Tennessee and a 21 settled on a farm in Johnson county, Texas. Later he bought 127 acres of Wichita county land, in Northwest Texas, for $1 per acre, paying $10 down. His dwelling was a dugout with a wagon sheet for a door. He bought more land, went into the mercantile business, and when oil came it "paid off big," he said. He amassed a fortune estimated at $6,000,000. The past seven years he gave most of it to institutions, spending the last months of his life in an institution that was among the beneficiaries, Baylor hospital.

The university hospital, and the medical branch here, together with Baylor university at Waco, received more than $1,500,000. Burk Burnett, Hardin's home at Dallas received $1,200,000; Abilene Christian college, $181,000; Howard Payne college at Brownwood, $100,000, and other endowments to Mary Hardin-Baylor Women's college at Belton; Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene; Hardin Junior college and an institution for the care of underprivileged children at Wichita Falls.

Mr. Hardin's death brought the re-alignment of various benefices administered under a trust fund. During his lifetime various beneficiaries paid annuities which served to build up the trust fund for other institutions.

Hardin's death will mean additional income for some institutions and less for others, it was explained by George Mason, executive secretary of the Baptist Foundation of Texas. In 1933 the philanthropist set up the Hardin trust of $900,000, which by December 1, 1937, had grown to $1,826,000 from an 8 per cent annuity on donations to various institutions. Hardin's death terminated the annuity payments.

Funds in the Hardin trust will be divided as follows: One-fourth to Mary Hardin-Baylor; one-sixth to Howard Payne; one-sixth to Baylor university hospital; one-fourth to Wichita Falls Junior college and one-sixth to Hardin-Simmons.

Burk Burnett, his home town, had been given an electric light plant, a high school building, and debts on several churches were lifted.

No children survive. His first wife, Cordelia Adams Hardin, died in 1882. In 1898 he married Mary Catherine Funk, who died in 1935. They reared three children, two of whom reached adulthood.

VOTING IS POPULAR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—When it comes to "model citizens," Greenbelt, Md., government housing development, takes the cake.

In an election for Greenbelt's first town council, 276 residents out of 280 eligible cast ballots, far surpassing election records set in other communities. The one woman candidate was defeated in a last minute rush of male voters.

WORST FLOOD IN YEARS SWEEPS THROUGH ROME

ROME, Dec. 17 (AP)—Drownings increased to six today as thousands of workers, augmented by troops, fought to prevent flood waters of the Tiber from deluging Central Rome.

The swollen torrent reached a record stage of 55 feet, seven inches at noon and still was rising. It was the greatest rise in 67 years. King Vittorio Emanuele, the Queen and Premier Benito Mussolini, separately, toured inundated sections of the city and watched troops helping families evacuate endangered homes.

Authorities feared the remainder of historic Sublicio bridge, where Horatius fought his heroic battle in 507 B. C., might be swept away. Highways to Pisa and Naples were cut off.

Some of the patients of a hospital on Tiber Island were ferried to safety while others were taken to upper floors.

Rescuers in rowboats saved a group of brown-robed priests of the Fatebene brotherhood who were trapped in their chapel on the Island while praying that the waters subside.

BALDERSTON FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Mr. Balderston had been in ill health for several months. Survivors are his widow, and a daughter, Lucille, of Canadian; two sons, Robert, of the Burrus Milling Company, Dallas, and Fred, Canadian; two brothers, Ollie of Denver and Watson of Wichita, Kas.; a sister, Marianna, Wichita, Kas.

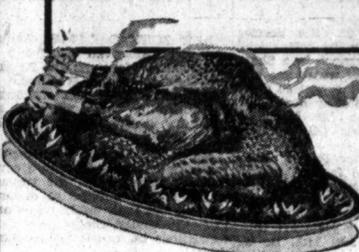

Mr. Balderston was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge and of the Presbyterian church.

MOVIE STAR'S NAMESAKE.

ARLINGTON, Neb. (AP)—Arlington residents have presented a new claim to distinction—that the town is the namesake of Arlington Bright, better known to movie-goers as Robert Taylor. Taylor's father lived here as a youth, they point out, and liked the town so well he named his son after it, although residing elsewhere at the time of the boy's birth.

MEXICO PLANS RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGNERS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 17. (AP)—Legislation designed to tighten restrictions on foreigners in Mexico and end what some Mexicans call "forced servitude imposed by foreign economic power," was well on its way to approval by the chamber of deputies today.

A "law of economic recuperation," drafted by Labor Deputy Ismael C. Falcon, which would bar aliens from many fields of activity, last night received unanimous vote of the chamber's committee on labor defense.

Falcon's bill would require, among other things:

1. That Mexico be zoned into regions where foreigners might, or might not, live.

2. That the commercial activities in which foreigners might engage be limited to agricultural and industrial production, and the export trade. Retail selling would be barred to them.

3. That the executive fix the maximum percentage of foreign-controlled enterprises to be permitted in Mexican commerce and industry, and that properties of all over that number be confiscated and given to workers' cooperatives.

4. That all foreigners found to have entered the country as industrialists without investing the 20,000 pesos (about $5,500) required by immigration laws, be deported and their properties expropriated.

5. That naturalization be rigidly limited and that applicants for Mexican citizenship be required to have resided five, instead of two years (as at present), in the country.

6. That the labor law's clauses compelling industries to employ 90 per cent Mexicans be changed to stipulate that they must be Mexicans "of origin." This, Falcon explained, was in view of alleged abuses in issuing citizenship papers.

FOR OPPOSES NATIONAL REFERENDUM ON WAR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today he did not believe a referendum on war was consistent with a representative form of government.

Asked by a woman reporter if he thought a referendum, requiring a public vote before the nation could go to war, was consistent with the United States form of government, the President said the easiest way to answer that was to just say no and stop right there.

A petition circulated by Representative Ludlow (D., Ind.) proposing submission of a constitutional amendment for a war referendum was signed by 218 house members, forcing the house to order a vote on the proposal.

The President had no comment on the Japanese bombing of the American gunboat Panay, referring questioners to the state department.

CHURCH CHOIRS WILL BE HEARD OVER RADIO

Mrs. Fred Rush will play the accompaniment for the musical program to be presented over radio station KPND Sunday afternoon between 2 and 2:30 o'clock.

Members of the choir of the First Baptist church are sponsoring the special feature in which all singers of other churches are invited to take part. All who are to take part are asked to be at the radio station by 1:15 o'clock. Books will be furnished for everyone.

BOSTON LABOR UNION FOE SHOT TO DEATH

BOSTON, Dec. 17. (AP)—An assassin's pistol today killed David J. "Beano" Breen, 41, Boston sporting world figure, in what Police Commissioner Joseph P. Timilty described as a possible outbreak of warfare in the "labor field."

Breen, whose career had included the operation of a night club in the prohibition era, participation in gambling rackets, and management of boxers, recently turned to furnishing "strike breakers," police said, in labor disputes.

Breen was shot down by an unidentified assailant in a South End hotel early today.

MORE WPA JOBS TO BE AVAILABLE SOON

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 17. (AP)—H. P. Drought, state administrator of Texas for the Works Progress administration, announced today that an increase of 13,000 jobs will be available in Texas in January.

Drought arrived at the figure in a conference with staff heads here following his return from a meeting of regional directors in New Orleans.

There are now 52,000 persons assigned to projects in Texas, it was reported, and the increase will mean that 65,000 men and women will have opportunity to get on WPA rolls next month.

ALLRED AND FATHER SPEND NIGHT IN AUTO

AUSTIN, Dec. 17. (AP)—Governor James W. Allred disclosed today he and his father, Renne Allred Sr., were lost Wednesday on a huge ranch in Southwest Texas and had to spend a rainy night in an automobile.

They left the ranch house on the 90,000-acre ranch of Dolph Briscoe on the edge of Webb and Maverick counties about noon, planning to hunt leisurely en route home and to reach a paved road before nightfall. Heavy rain mired their car and finally they decided to wait until the next day before going ahead.

MRS. MOORE PASSES AWAY IN SHATTUCK

Mrs. Al Moore, 21, the former Hazel Pauline Ivey of Kingsmill, died yesterday afternoon in a Shattuck, Okla., hospital where she had been confined for the past 10 days. She had been in failing health for more than a year. Mr. Moore is with Sinclair-Prairie Oil company here.

She was a former Pampa high school student and faithful worker in the Central Baptist church and Dorcas class. Her aim was to become a Missionary. She moved to Kingsmill nearly six years ago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ivey, from Borger.

Survivors are her husband; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivey, and a sister, Mrs. Melba Ivey Rowe, Pampa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Central Baptist church with the pastor, the Rev. John O. Scott, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Herman Coe of White Deer. Burial will follow in Fairview cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

Persons familiar with Danish law observed that although taxes in Denmark are generally higher than in this country, the former Barbara Hutton has been automatically a Danish subject since her second marriage and had little opportunity of escaping taxation there. They said the inheritance of her 22-month-old son, Lance, could have been complicated under her dual citizenship.

Now in her second day at sea returning to her husband and child in London, the 27-year-old, auburn-haired Countess disclosed through attorneys the secret of her one-day visit here. She appeared before a Federal Court Judge for a few moments Wednesday to renounce "absolutely and entirely" her allegiance to the land of her birth because, a statement by her lawyers said, "her dual nationality has resulted in various legal complications affecting her status as well as that of her child, and she has finally felt obliged, as in the case of a number of other American women similarly situated, to forego her United States citizenship in order to alleviate this anomalous and unsatisfactory situation."

Granddaughter of Sitting Bull Goes To Oregon College

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 17. (AP)—Waste Agidiwin is sorry she ever told any one she is the granddaughter of Chief Sitting Bull, who led the Sioux Indian massacre of the advance party of General George A. Custer in Montana in 1876.

A few days ago she confided in a fellow student at Willamette University, who immediately wrote the story for the university newspapers.

"It irks me," she said, "to have people look at me as though I were not normal."

"I even have received proposals of marriage from people whom I never have seen. I never knew people could be so crazy."

"Lots of people think I lived in a tepee, and that I learned to speak English at college."

"I am taking archery here, and I never shot a bow and arrow before I came here."

Waste, known to fellow students as Evelyn Walsh, is a senior studying social service work. Her home is on Fort Peck reservation in northeastern Montana.

She is the eldest daughter of the eldest son of Sitting Bull. She said she is only one of his many grandchildren.

She has extreme pride in her race, regarding Indians as real Americans who are really intelligent.

TWENTIETH CENTURY SINGERS TO ENTERTAIN

Members and friends of the Twentieth Century club are again invited to join the club in singing carols Saturday evening at the various homes in town.

Those who care to take part in the annual affair are asked to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fisher, 900 N. Somerville street, at 7:30 o'clock. All who desire to have the singers at their homes are asked to call Mrs. Fisher at 776. Each member is to take a flashlight.

Following the tour of the city, the group will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rose, 505 N. Gray street.

JEW BOYCOTT PUSHED.

NURNBERG, Germany, Dec. 17. (AP)—Red placards on Jewish store windows and on bulletin boards throughout Franconia today advised Aryans to withhold patronage or be declared traitors to the German people. The placards were signed by Julius Streicher, as Nazi district leader.

CITIZENSHIP RENOUNCED BY RICH BARBARA

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. (AP)—Renunciation of American citizenship by the Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, heiress to the Woolworth 5-and-10 millions, set tax authorities wondering today whether she will escape heavy taxation in this country.

Morris Greenbaum, director of the labor audit bureau and a certified accountant, said "the treasury stands to lose millions of dollars," pointing out that, unlike other nations, the United States places no restrictions on export of American capital.

Persons familiar with Danish law observed that although taxes in Denmark are generally higher than in this country, the former Barbara Hutton has been automatically a Danish subject since her second marriage and had little opportunity of escaping taxation there. They said the inheritance of her 22-month-old son, Lance, could have been complicated under her dual citizenship.

Now in her second day at sea returning to her husband and child in London, the 27-year-old, auburn-haired Countess disclosed through attorneys the secret of her one-day visit here. COPENHAGEN, Dec. 17. (AP)—Tax experts said today decision by the Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow to give up American citizenship and keep that of her Danish husband would not make her liable to income tax here unless she lived in Denmark three months each year or transferred her fortune here.

BAYLOR HONORS HARDIN

WACO, Dec. 17. (AP)—Baylor University put its flag at half mast today in honor of its greatest benefactor, John G. Hardin, 83-year-old Texas philanthropist who died in Dallas yesterday. President Pat M. Neff prepared to attend the funeral in Burkburnett tomorrow.

MOBETTIE'S CAGERS WILL PLAY HARVESTERS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

LOCALS SPLIT WITH HORNETS LAST EVENING

Mobettie's Hornets, always a dangerous basketball foe, will be the next opponent of the Harvesters of the local gym floor. The Harvesters and Hornets A and B teams will play tomorrow night. The B teams will clash in the first game which will begin at 7 o'clock and the A teams will battle in the second game which will begin at 8 o'clock.

Last night the Harvesters slipped up on the Hornets at Mobettie and won a 10 to 10 victory, though most all Mobettie fans admitted that their team was off form. They are expected to come to Pampa tomorrow night with blood in their eyes.

The Harvester B string met a fate which Mobettie fans expected the Pampa first stringers to meet. The Harvester reserves were taken to a 20 to 12 cleaning by the Hornet seconds.

In the afternoon, Coach Prejean took his Harvester B squad to Lefors where the Pirate reserves eked out a 20 to 19 victory. The Pampa boys clashed with the Harvester seconds Wednesday night here.

The Harvesters looked better on the defense at Mobettie. Andis, right again, scoring 7 points. Claude Hetschell scored 8, Miller 2, Cunningham 2 and Reynolds 2. The starting lineup had Hetschell and Andis, forwards; Cunningham, center; Foster and Reynolds, guards.

Take It or Leave It, Say Giants

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Giants, says President Horace Stoneham, have made their last and best offer for Van Lingle Mungo, the Brooklyn pitcher, and they are worried.

"I thought Brooklyn was crazy when it didn't accept our offer for Mungo," said Stoneham.

Mungo, one of the best right-handed pitchers in the trade, has proved himself but has sworn not to pitch another lick for Brooklyn.

Every other club in the National League wants the fireballer, but only the Giants and the Cubs were sufficiently heeled in cash and players to go after him.

The Giants have offered pitcher Hal Schumacher, catcher Gus Mancuso and outfielder Hank Leland and a chunk of cash estimated at $75,000 for him. If, as Stoneham reveals, the Chicago Cubs went higher than that, then they really laid something on the line. But the Brooklyns turned both of them down.

"What Brooklyn wants, of course, is the Cubs' outfielder, Frank Demaree," said Stoneham. "The Cubs want to pay a lot of money for Mungo and to keep Demaree. They know that Brooklyn needs the money."

And there you have the reason for Stoneham's worry. He knows that the Cubs, with Mungo and the slugger Demaree, would be in position to give the Giants a dangerous run for the flag next season.

41 LUMP-SUM CLAIMS FILED IN AMARILLO

AMARILLO, Dec. 17.—A total of 41 claims had been filed in the Amarillo office of the Social Security Board under the lump-sum payment provisions of the Social Security Act up to November 30, Dewey Reed, manager, announced today.

Of this number, 30 were claimed by widows, close relatives, or administrators of estates of deceased workers. The remainder represented 11 claims filed by workers who had attained age 65 during 1937. The largest claim was for $87.50, and was filed by the estate of a deceased worker in Amarillo.

Lump-sum payments under the provisions of the old-age insurance section of the Social Security Act are computed on the basis of 3 1/2 per cent of wages paid to a worker in covered employment before death or attainment of age 65. Reed said. Payment goes directly to the worker who reaches age 65 and files a claim; while the settlement in the case of the employee who dies, is on the estate.

It is pointed out that receipt of a lump-sum payment in no way affects the worker's job; he does not have to retire from employment in order to collect the sum due him. Monthly retirement benefit payments will not become payable until 1942, it was explained.

Higami To Put On Sleep Hold At Wrestling Card

Promoter Cliff Chambers is going to give a few skeptical wrestling fans a chance to back up their words Monday night at the Pampa Athletic arena when he brings Tsetaio Higami to Pampa at his own expense to prove that he can really put on a sleep hold.

"Several fans have remarked 'hoogy,' after seeing Higami use his hold to lull an opponent into submission," Promoter Chambers said, "so I am bringing the Jap here Monday night and will challenge any man, big or little, in the audience to let Higami use his sleep hold. I'll guarantee that the hold will not affect him in any way unless sleep does."

Besides the appearance of Higami, Promoter Chambers has arranged one of the best cards of the season. He will send Jack Mandell, human kangaroo, against Sailor Jack Moran in the main event and nothing more need be said. Mandell is without a doubt one of the greatest wrestlers ever to appear here. Moran is a roughster with plenty of wrestling knowledge.

Benny Wilson, wild cowboy from Fort Worth, will mix and mingle with Andy Tremaine in the semifinals.

For an opener, Chambers will present Otto Ludwig and Gust Johnson. The first gong will ring at 8 o'clock with admission 65 cents for reserve ringside seats, on sale at Pampa Drug or by calling 905M, and general admission for 40 cents.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—No fooling about those offers to Bernie Bierman... Sewanee is said to have started the bidding with $12,000, and a big western school will start pitching as soon as it gets the go-ahead signal.

George Pippars, the old Yankee pitcher, who did a good job of umpiring in the New York-Penn league, is in line for a major league tryout.

Harry Thomas bought his dad a new auto with part of the Schmelting fight check and is driving it out to Eagle Bend, Minn. ... Bob Peller must have plenty on the apple at that. ... Twice last season he fanned 12 batters and both times his victims were the Yankees. ... Notre Dame will have its own cheering section when it plays Southern California in Los Angeles next year. ... 200 Irish fans have joined a savings club to finance the trip.

Curtis Sanford, president of the Dallas Cotton Bowl, was almost stymied by this one. ... A lady phoned and said: "I must have better tickets than those I got on the 10-yard line. ... My boy is going with a girl and is trying to argue her into marrying him. ... He believes a couple on the 50-yard line will turn the tide in his favor." ... Mr. Sanford said he was sorry but the guy would have to do his wooing from the 10-yard line.

215 TRAMP COMPANIES EVADE CORPORATE LAWS

AUSTIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—Secretary of State Edward Clark said today that Texas now has 315 "tramp" corporations, or associations which evaded the Texas corporate laws by obtaining charters in other states.

These concerns, Clark said, will be asked to surrender their permits by May 1 and organize Texas corporations. May 1 was chosen as the date due to the fact franchise taxes are not paid until then.

"The attorney general will be requested to file suits," Clark said, "against those associations which fail to incorporate under Texas laws and any money which may be tendered by such 'tramp' corporations in payment for 1938 franchise taxes will be held in suspense pending disposition of such suits."

TURKEY SHOOT WILL BE HELD HERE TOMORROW

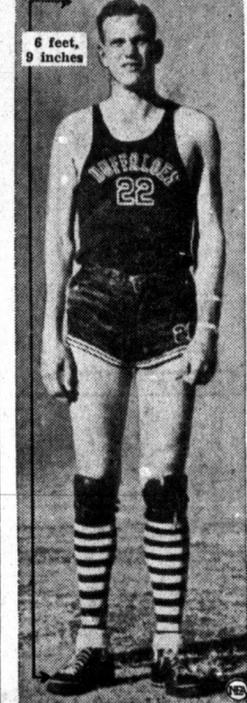

A four-day turkey shoot will be held at the Southern club range a half-mile south of the city limits on the LeFors road beginning tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Shooting will commence at 1 p. m. on other days.

The shoot is being sponsored by the American Legion and Forty and Eight who say they will have targets for trap, skeet, rifle and pistol shooting.

"Bring your own gun and we will furnish the ammunition," announce the veterans in charge. "This will be a good chance to get that Christmas turkey."

SAMMY BAUGH PROVES VALUE OF GOOD PASSING, RECEIVING

Tallest Cager

Just when a lad, like Ray Shackelford, above, could do a lot of good, the rules committee abolished the center jump, but the West Texas State Teachers nevertheless expect their six-foot nine-inch center to be a big help throughout the basketball season. Shackelford, believed to be the tallest collegiate player in the country, performs with what perhaps is the tallest team. The average height of the squad is six feet four.

ALLISON EXES TO BE GUESTS AT A BANQUET

ALLISON, Dec. 17.—Ex-students of Allison high school who played basketball under Coach John Peoples, who is coach superintendent, will be honored with a banquet Saturday night in the basement of the Methodist church. The banquet will follow two basketball games between the present teams and the exes.

It is expected that 77 students will come from three states to attend the banquet. Allison, for its size, has probably turned out more top basketball players, boys and girls, than any other community in the state.

Coach Peoples girls' teams have won 197 games and lost 34 during his six years of coaching. Last year his sextet won 36 and lost 4 in reaching the semi-finals in the state tournament. His team was nosed out by Emory, 30 to 29, with Emory winning the title.

This year's team had won seven consecutive games. Back from last year are Oletto Jones, captain and forward, who was an all-state player last season when she scored more points than any other girl in the state of Texas—930 in 40 games; Ruth Garner, forward; Ruth Richardson, all-state guard; Virginia Dillon, guard; Virginia Mae Wright, guard; Ruth Jones, guard.

New girls on the squad include Bonnie Brown, Faye Hayes and Edith Hamilton, forwards, and Rosetta Keesee, guard.

PRESSING DEMANDS BLOOMFIELD, Neb.—Things came to a pretty pass on a paving project here.

A group of men issued an ultimatum to the mayor, threatening to halt work on the project unless given employment.

Then they commandeered a tractor and started to work without benefit of authority. Police seized the tractor and put it in storage.

And the mayor wired Washington to learn what to do about the situation.

NO. 1 SURPRISE TURNED IN BY CHAMPION JOE

(Note: This is the fifth of a series analyzing the annual Association Press sports poll. It covers the query on the year's most surprising team or individual results.)

By ALAN GOULD. NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—For the second straight year, Joe Louis and Minnesota's football team figured in the events that caused the biggest surprise among the nation's sports-writing experts.

Although carrying nothing like the impact of Max Schmeling's knockout of Louis, which was rated the biggest surprise package of 1936, the Brown Bombers' failure to do better than outright British Tommy Farr in their 15-round heavyweight title match last August was rated the year's No. 1 upset.

Football surprises, as usual, covered a wide range but not even substantial developments minimized the general view that Minnesota's Big Ten champions were the victim of the season's biggest upset when beaten early in October by Nebraska.

The pennant victory of the New York Giants, the poll revealed, was the source of more eyebrow-lifting than their semi-collapse against the Yankees in the world series, but the Newark Bears were credited with producing baseball's biggest surprise when they came from behind to take the last four games of a seven-game "little world series" from Columbus.

Tabulation of the poll on the year's sports surprises:

Event	1st Pts.
Farr's heavyweight title fight with Joe Louis	18 83
Nebraska's football victory over Minnesota	11 52
Newark's "little world series" comeback	3 13
Late-season pennant comeback of N. Y. Giants	1 10
Harvard's football victory over Yale	3 10
Lafayette's unbeaten-untied football season	2 9
Washington's rout of N. Y. Giants in pro football	2 8
Rout of N. Y. Giants by Yankees in world series	1 7
Washington's second rowing "slam" at Poughkeepsie	2 6
Anita Lizana's triumph in U. S. championship tennis	0 6

Budge and Riggs Tennis Heroes

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Two tennis success stories with J. Donald Budge and Bobby Riggs as heroes are reflected in the recommendations of the rankings committee of the United States lawn tennis association, which would place Budge at No. 1 and Riggs at No. 2 in men's singles.

Budge easily retained his status No. 1 a year ago, he is No. 1 again on a series of smashing triumphs in Davis Cup, Wimbledon and Nation Play.

Riggs ousted Frankie Parker of New York from the secondary spot and forced Parker and Bitsy Grant, of Atlanta, third last year, to take No. 3 and No. 4 on the list.

Alice Marble of Beverly Hills, Calif., kept pace by holding her post at the top of the women's ranking.

Just behind her in the No. 2 and No. 3 spots are the veteran Helen Hull Jacobs and the youthful Dorothy May Bundy, two other Californians who helped retell the Wightman cup this year.

Joe Hunt, of Los Angeles, took fifth place in the standings, an advance of four places, while Wayne F. Sabin, of Springfield, jumped from No. 17 to No. 6. Harold Surface, of Kansas City, Mo., took over No. 7 with Gene Mako, of Los Angeles, Budge's doubles partner, in No. 8, Don McNeill of Oklahoma City ninth and the veteran Johnny Van Ryn of Austin, Texas, tenth.

EAGLE LOSES BATTLE WITH SIX MEN. SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP)—It took six men to capture the eagle Dr. I. P. Hayes wounded near here.

The doctor was hunting pheasants when he saw the eagle and shot twice at it. Bird fell stunned, but was up on his feet and trying to run when Dr. Hayes and his five hunting companions overtook him.

They tied his feet and wings and brought him to the Sheridan zoo. "But it was a job holding him down until we could get a rope on him," the men said.

Such a keen judge as Earl (Dutch) Clark of Detroit calls Baugh the most accomplished passer that he has ever seen.

With his running, blocking, and kicking, Sammy Baugh of Sweetwater in another season may take his place with the all-time greats as an all-round performer.

Indeed, the Bears, Giants, Green Bay Packers, and the rest aren't at all certain that he does not merit such ranking right now.

Longview Favored Over Conroe's Miracle Men

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF. DALLAS, Dec. 17 (AP)—Little Conroe's miracle men make their supreme bid for football glory Saturday when they face Longview's mighty Lobos in the battle for a place in the Texas Interscholastic League finals.

The winner of this game will be made favorite to win the championship next week over the team that emerges from the other semi-final contest to be played Saturday at Wichita Falls.

Undeclared and untied, Conroe and Longview hold the center of the stage though Wichita Falls' game with North Side of Fort Worth bears equal importance in the title race.

The duel of two midget backs who made the headlines and stayed there gives the Conroe-Longview game a color not in evidence at Wichita Falls though the latter contest also has its outstanding stars but with a different glitter.

Dick Miller is the spark behind Longview's juggernaut. Cam (Pawder) Harrell is the magic behind the midget magicians of Conroe. These two backs have run wild all season and their meeting Saturday makes the game the 1937 "football natural."

Longview enters the contest the general favorite to win but prospects are for a glittering offensive battle that will make it one of the greatest games ever staged in Texas as schoolboy football.

The critics are giving Wichita Falls' Coyotes a slight edge over North Side's Steers but the latter have staged so many surprises this season—the biggest one being to win the district championship—that odds on the Coyotes will be very short, if there are any at all.

Two fine all-around backs are due to feature the Wichita Falls-North Side game. Harold Fleming, the Coyotes' giant fullback, and Danny Reese, ace passer of the Steers, will vie for honors in a game that will see the North Siders outweighed heavily. But giving weight is nothing new to the Fort Worth team with its versatile offensive and rock-rubbing defense.

Longview has won twelve games, scoring 326 points to the opposition's 69. The Lobos have played but three close games, one of them coming last week when they nosed out Temple 19-12. Conroe has won eleven games, scoring 433 points to 25 for the opposition to hang up the season's offensive and defensive records. Only two teams have come as close as two touchdowns. Last week Conroe slaughtered Robstown 47-7 in the quarter-finals.

Wichita Falls has won six games, lost two and tied three. The Coyotes won on penetrations in a 7-7 tie with Austin (El Paso) last week. North Side has won eight games, lost two and tied one. Last week the Steers showed unheralded power in crushing Sherman 25-7.

All four teams announced themselves physically fit for this week's games. Conroe had feared the loss

FULLBACK HAROLD FLEMING OF WICHITA FALLS PREACHES ON SUNDAY AT CHURCH IN CITY

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 17 (AP)—Michigan's famous "punt, pass and prayer" football system is the literal creed of strapping Harold Fleming, 18-year-old "preaching fullback" of Wichita Falls high school.

Touchdowns Saturdays, sermons from the pulpit Sundays—that's the life of Fleming, schoolboy grid sensation and minister of the Loyal Church of Christ.

Tomorrow, Wichita Falls' Coyotes meet North Side of Fort Worth in a semi-final battle for the state championship. As usual, Fleming, a quintuple threat, will carry the burden.

He is the team's expert punt, pass, run, block and defense man. He is an outstanding candidate for all-state honors in a section that produces some of the nation's greatest players. He completed 33 of 58 passes in the last four games.

And he is a fine preacher, his congregation agrees. Football and preaching do not mix in the pulpit, Fleming says, and he never connects his gridiron feats with sermons. Some of the congregation objected to his football, so he leaves thoughts of lateral passes and end sweeps when he fills the pulpit.

Fleming isn't an ordained minister; his church depends solely upon lay preachers and does not pay them. Instead of ordination, the church requires a period of study under a mature minister to qualify young men to enter the pulpit.

Fleming is a constant student of the Bible but "football is taking so much of my time I just can't study the Bible like I ought."

He was scheduled to preach last Sunday, but a grueling quarter-final game with Austin High of El Paso left the 175-pound six foot two "preaching fullback" almost unable to walk.

He played that game with the thumb and fourth finger of his right hand broken. But he played 60 minutes, did all the punting and passing and most of the running.

Teammates who have known him since childhood never chide him. Instead, they go to his church on Sunday and listen intently to their crashing fullback.

Fleming, whose brother, Leslie, is an outfielder for the Beaumont team in the Texas league, will prepare himself for the ministry by playing football and studying theology at Texas Christian university.

BAMA LEAVES TUESDAY FOR ROSE BOWL BATTLE

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Dec. 17 (AP)—Alabama's big red regiment leaves Tuscaloosa for Pasadena next Tuesday, pledged to carry on a victory torch passed down by four legends undefeated in Rose Bowl football.

Set aflame by the 1925 Alabama team with a 20-19 victory over Washington, the torch flickered in 1927 in a 7-7 tie with Stanford, but blazed brightly when teams of 1929 and 1934 smashed Washington State, 24-0, and Stanford, 29-13. Victory over California New Year's day would heighten the aura of tradition begun years ago by Pooley Hubert, Bill Buckler and other Alabama gridiron greats.

There is no cockiness in the players' attitude, but a determination they must not lose because of the vigorous teams that have gone before.

of Bob Looney, star guard, through injuries but he whipped rapidly into shape and will be ready to go. Wichita Falls was worried over Fleming, who showed up with a severe cold, but he also now is in tip-top condition.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE

Are you wearied with the burdens of every day life, with the battle against temptation, with the injustice with which men judge you? Do you long for peace, for joy, for happiness? "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest."—Chivers.

THEY NEED YOUR HELP

Christmas holidays are "just around the corner." The yuletide spirit reigns supreme. Mistletoe, holly, and the pungent, fresh greenness of new-born Christmas trees are beginning to cheer Pampa homes. Shop windows, chock full of all sorts of tempting gifts, bedecked with tinsel and trimmings are exciting portents of the fun to come.

Adding to the general atmosphere, but in a more serious vein, are the tinkling bells of the Salvation Army, and the double-barred cross, emblem of the Anti-Tuberculosis movement, which is so familiar to all of us on our friendly little Christmas seals that ornament our packages and cards. Both of them have appeared in Pampa almost as magically as Santa Claus himself—and they are equally as indispensable as agents of good cheer.

Don't neglect either of them! They need your help, as do the souls less fortunate than yourself whom they represent, and whom they strive each year to bring within the great fold of gaiety which envelops the nation during the Christmas season.

A CHRISTMAS WARNING

Believing that a warning about the hazards of fires at this season may save life and property, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has published a new eight-page leaflet entitled, "Keep Your Fires Friendly at Christmas Time."

The leaflet's cover displays a blazing Christmas tree. Inside a sketch pictures Santa Claus with beard and clothing afire. Additional sketches illustrate the hazards of nitro-cellulose film in home movie projectors, inflammable decorations, and flimsy costumes.

A fatal fire resulting from the careless act of a smoker near a Christmas tree is described, and each special holiday hazard is considered in turn. Included are the fire dangers in homes, stores and public halls.

Fire control during the holidays, or any other season, is a simple matter—if you have the proper knowledge at your command. The National Board is performing a real public service in publishing these leaflets, which will go a long way toward assuring a really Merry Christmas—by keeping fire where it should be, in the furnace and under the turkey.

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON—We have had an opportunity to inquire about the President's health, and found it good.

He took a substantial beating from the recent combined attack of acute indigestion and infected tooth. It took the steam out of his boilers for a time. He is on the pickup again, now.

Such, in brief, are the findings of Capt. Ross T. McIntire, naval physician assigned to the White House.

"A combination like that—acute indigestion and an acutely affected area around the root of a tooth—would shake anybody," Dr. McIntire said.

The President's progress was evident to reporters who saw him on his return from Florida fishing waters. He has a sort of mental "bounce" when he is riding high and feels good. He exhibited that at his press conference.

Dr. McIntire gauges the President's health in part by his zest for his work and exercise. When the zest is missing, a rest and special watching follow.

As a matter of fact, nothing much ever goes wrong with the President's health. He takes no tonics, medicine or pills. There is no such thing as a routine daily check-up except Dr. McIntire's "zest-measurement." Dr. McIntire doubts if the President would submit to sucking a thermometer every morning.

Fatigue is the major thing the physician has to watch for. The President works hard and can never get fully away from his job. On his South American trip a year ago, a batch of mail and radiograms awaited him at every stop. It was the same in Florida lately. But on such trips he does get away from the constant pressure of the White House.

Before we all forget it—do you know that there are only six more shopping days before Christmas? . . . The Christmas season is definitely here. . . You can't get away from holiday time. . . Which reminds me of a story that comes from the 'Good Fellows' desk in City Hall. . . It has to do with the man who appeared at the desk and talked about two kinds of Christmas. . . He says there is a white Christmas, with which most of us are familiar.

But, there is also a Black Christmas, the man said. . . He had that kind of Christmas last year, so that's why he went to the Good Fellows desk this year. . . He probably can't afford it, but he took a name and he's going to play Santa Claus to some poor family this Christmas Day. . . In fact when he appeared at the desk, he was asked if he wished to have his name placed on the list. . . But, he said that wasn't his mission—he wanted to take a name OFF the list.

He wanted to spare some family the pangs of a Black Christmas—which he described as a Christmas morning when a penniless father awakens with his family and has to explain to his children why Santa Claus missed them on his Christmas Eve rounds. . . That is a Black Christmas, the man said, but you will never fully appreciate just exactly what it means until you have experienced it yourself.

Christmas takes on deeper magnitude when there are children in the house, it seems. . . I get a lot of pleasure watching the wonderment in the eyes of my small son as he marvels at the Christmas tree which already has been put up at our house. . . His birthday falls in the Holy week and there is double rejoicing and celebration. . . Family ties should be bound most securely at this time of the year. . . When they are not, it takes something out of the holiday season.

As Charles Dickens wrote long ago—Christmas-time awakens! . . . We write these words now, many miles distant from the spot at which, year after year, we met on that day at my grandfather's farm, a merry, joyous circle. . . Many of the hearts that throbbled so gaily then have ceased to beat; many of the looks that shone so brightly then, have ceased to glow; the hands we grasped, have grown cold; and yet the old house, the great room with its huge fireplace, the merry voices and smiling faces, the jests, the laughs, and the most minute and trivial circumstances connected with those happy meetings, crowd my mind with each recurrence of the season, as if it had been only yesterday.

A Christmas that can win you back to delusions of childhood days, recall the pleasures of youth, and transports you—no matter how far you may have roamed, back to the old fireside. . . Unalloyed delight should reach its zenith at Christmas time. . . It is the season, of all seasons, that should bring a brief period of joy and happiness to numerous hearts.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
While cold weather was cutting crude oil production elsewhere, Gray county held her new high production and gained 25 barrels daily besides.

Miss Margaret Buckler returned from the Hockaday school in Dallas to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
Officers to guide the Pampa Kiwanis club during 1937 were installed at the annual banquet and ladies' night in the Schneider hotel with 141 present. C. E. "Dan" McGrew was installed as president.

Pampa basketball teams split two games with Canyon teams at the high school gymnasium when the Harvesters won 45 to 16 and the Pampa girls lost 22 to 21 in two periods of overtime.

McIntire likes it best when Mr. Roosevelt weighs between 180 and 185 pounds. Occasionally he slips over that but on his own initiative cuts down on his food. He eats normally, perhaps sparingly—few sweets or deserts—and tries to be regular about his meals.

Breakfast is at 8:30, usually fruit juice, some cereal or an egg, and coffee. Lunch at 1 p. m. is equally light, and never includes meat. When the President has guests for lunch his own fare is often lighter than theirs. He eats a well rounded dinner but rarely lets himself go except on dishes he especially likes. Maryland terrapin is one.

The President takes his exercise every afternoon with rare exceptions. He follows a course he worked out for himself years ago in Warm Springs. Occasionally he takes a brief nap or rest in late afternoons.

What impresses Dr. McIntire is the President's quick comeback from illness. Unless he is especially fatigued this "comeback" capacity is always evident. If the physician isn't satisfied with the pickup, he urges a vacation.

One wearing duty of the President and all his predecessors hasn't been solved yet, the matter of receptions. Dinners and receptions will come at the rate of two a week all the balance of this winter. Hundreds of guests file by. Each calls for a grip, a nod and a word or two. With the same energy the President could row half way across Lake Michigan.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In other years, before it grew into Big Business, Christmas cards were those pretty little things on counters that your Christmas cards were those pretty then made a raid on the dime store counters and the people got them only four days late.

Now, however, the Yule card people are making a determined effort to educate New Yorkers in the why-and-wherefore (I almost said care and feeding) of greeting cards at Christmas, and also they are sponsoring a course of instruction in the proper etiquette of said cards. This has been most pronounced in New York.

Onto the desks of all metropolitan editors now has fallen a mimeographed history of the Christmas card—a fat manuscript, that is filled with understanding do's and don'ts. For instance the simpler expressions are most popular this season. The English "Cheerio" is used extensively, but the more formal French "Noel" is fading out.

Individually signed cards are in favor and just as correct as printed or engraved signatures. There is grave danger in the latter if the type doesn't blend harmoniously with the background. As for color, blue is the dominant hue. . . Stars and trees, say in white, red and gold, against a blue background, give an ideal combination. . .

For absent friends who, perhaps, are in the chips and are therefore wintering in the South, or the tropics, special cards are to be found, with waving fronds replacing toboggans in snowy backgrounds.

The sophisticated wit of the first repeat years is out. The pine branch and the hemlock spray have replaced the cocktail shaker and the frosted glass. . . Skiers, silhouetted in black against a cobalt sky, and ice skaters swirling over over mirrored lakes are high up in favor. . . For the romantic minded there are love poems, with as much delicate sentiment as is required to thrill young hearts.

As usual, the Child-and-lamb motif is strongly represented in the religious selections. . . Cats, believe it or not, are gaining new friends at the Yule card season, demanding some of the recognition hitherto reserved for Scotties and penguins. . . Other pets include squirrels, elephants, rabbits and birds.

Let's forget: All cards should be sent first class if possible—that is, 3 cent stamp for out of town; 2 cent if local. . . It is eminently correct for married couples to sign their cards "Bill and Jane" if they are being sent to close friends. . . Envelopes must be addressed pen and ink—never typed. . . A widow may use her first name, as Bessie Jones, on cards only for her immediate friends and relatives and relatives. However, you should address her by her husband's name, such as Mrs. Charles Jones. . .

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Now comes today this letter . . .

Dear Archer: I heard from Mrs. Kleinsberger today, and she wrote about Donald. I knew you would want to know everything she wrote about him. . . It does not seem possible that it has been 12 years since you and I took care of him at the University. You have always said, and I will say it again now, that we go more out of Donald than we got out of the books we studied and read. . . You remember what a dear baby he was. . . We were certainly lucky to get that job when the other students had to wash dishes, sweep floors, wash tables, but we had Donald between us. Had we been rich we would have paid to have taken care of him, but we were poor and they paid us! No wonder we have loved all children ever since! Think of it, he is 12 now and he was three months old when we began taking care of him. It does not seem possible. My dear Duke, we must be getting old. Mrs. "Kelly" said in her letter that all her children are gone and she is "all alone with my little son, who has a birthday tomorrow, and intends to join the Boy Scouts Friday. He weighs about 110 pounds and reaches to my eyes and does all my banking, paying of bills and running of errands on his bicycle, a left-over of Laurence's (older brother) younger days. Think of Donald being that big! Do you remember how we used to keep him quiet by reading to him. He wouldn't listen to Browning, but would to Keats, and we swore he knew what we were reading about. Remember that poised, all-knowing look he used to have in his eyes. . . We used to read him to sleep on Swineburne. Remember how we used to watch his diet, change his diapers, and wash them to, read him rock him to sleep. . . Then there was that time we gave him his first ice cream. He was three years old and he spat it out on the sidewalk. Does it make you glad that he is joining the Scouts? I know that you are a Scoutmaster, but I thought perhaps you wouldn't want Donald to join them. . . I must write Donald, either this night, because he meant more to us than any course in English. . . We have always felt that he belonged more to us than anyone. Well, after all didn't we raise him for three years?"

Book A Day

—By BRUCE CATTON

Legends about John Wilkes Booth apparently will never die. It is a poor year that does not see the publication of at least one book, purporting to set forth the "real story" of his assassination of President Lincoln, or offering some new theory about the tragedy. One of the best of these books is "This One Act" by Izola Forrester (Hale, Cushman & Flint; $3). It is best, not only for its inherent interest, but because it is better written than most and offers excellent reasons why it should be accepted as serious history. Booth, says Miss Forrester, was not a debonair bachelor, as everyone supposed, when he committed that mad act in Ford's theater. He was a married man, the father of a child; in 1859 he had eloped with Izola Mills, daughter of a proud Virginia family. Miss Forrester herself, she says, is his granddaughter. The assassination was a mad act, born of impulse; but Booth, she continues, seems to have been the tool of that mysterious outfit, the Knights of the Golden Circle. A plot for the kidnaping of Lincoln had been evolved. When it fell through, Booth substituted murder. In his flight, he had the help of the organization. Finally, she declares, Booth was not killed by Union troops in the Garrett barn. He escaped, nearly west, rejoined his wife and lived for a time in California, became the father of a son, moved later to Bombay, and apparently died there in 1879. Only a qualified historian, probably, could properly assay this amazing story. I can only say that Miss Forrester tells it convincingly, that she has assembled a considerable mass of rather solid-looking evidence, and that she makes an extremely interesting and persuasive story out of it.

Around Hollywood

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Unreal parade: One of the beauties of the movie Christmas is the seasonal production slump which already has resulted in lay-offs at some of the plants. Here where sentimental tears are shed at the slightest provocation (if properly dramatized), a pink slip reading "until further notice" cheers many a workman's outlook on the glad season. . . The Olive-Me-Towels club split 50-50 on attending the preview. . . They say Garbo, who wanted Metro to buy the play for her and was huffed when she lost it was present although this witness saw her not. . . But Kay Francis, who sued Warner Bros. for giving it to Claudette Colbert, was otherwise occupied. . .

Benchley Sizes Up Hollywood
The generality that Hollywood talks of nothing but pictures is false, if for no other reason than that half the time Hollywood talks of radio. . . The world, sweetheart, is waiting for a sponsor—that's how they sing it now. . . Today's quotation, from Master Robert Benchley, the one-man movie: "There's one thing about Hollywood that stymies the Broadwayite on his first visit. He finds himself lionized, made over and promptly forgotten. There are too many celebrities to go around. Everybody has just made a million dollars or a hit picture. Or lost a fortune. Either way he's famous. After your first week here, you think you've forgotten some article of apparel when a stranger looks at you twice. . ."

The Nottingham castle set for "Robin Hood's" adventures in technicolor calls superlatives to arms, spreading as it does over a vast sound stage and occupied by hordes of banqueters. The mountains of food are mostly real, including the whole beef roasting on the spit and varnished at intervals to bring out its camera flavor. . . The amazing thing is that the huge grey "stones" are merely painted composition board, the heavy wooden doors so light that a two-year old could open them easily—so light, moreover, that they had to add an artificial squeak to make them sound heavy. . .

Fonda's Publicity Shy
The Zanuck-Warner feud, dating from Zanuck's break from the Warner lot in '33, flared amusingly when Zanuck issued a statement "on behalf of the industry" condemning certain radio commentators on movie matters. Pronto spoke Harry Warner challenging Zanuck's right to speak for other than his own studio. (Warner has under contract at $50,000 for a movie, one of the best known airers of movie matters.)

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M.D.

Since the head sinuses are really extensions into the head bones of the nasal spaces (or cave-like formations opening into the nose), it is to be expected that inflammation of the membranes of the nose will also affect the lining membranes of the head sinuses. And this commonly happens.

Many a person suffering with a head cold will sense vague or acute pains in the cheek region, or above the eyes. Usually these pains disappear when the cold is completely cured. But some persons continue to suffer from sinusitis even when the acute cold (rhinitis) which started the sinus inflammation has completely subsided.

How can we account for the sinus inflammation persisting after the cold disappears? Part of the explanation lies in "drainage." The nose spaces, unless obstructed by a closed middle wall or other abnormalities in structure, allow for free drainage of whatever secretions (mucus or pus) may appear during the inflammation. The sinuses generally drain into the nose through comparatively small openings. Frequently these openings, instead of being low in relation to the sinus spaces, are high up—then they are of little help in promoting drainage.

Very little mucus is normally secreted by the membranes of the sinuses. The mucus, once removed by the sweeping action of the cilia, by suction produced during the act of breathing in, and by gravity. These forces suffice to keep the sinuses clear of their normal secretions. But they are likely to prove inadequate when the sinuses become inflamed and the secretions are copious. Under such circumstances, chronic sinusitis is apt to result.

To prevent sinusitis: Avoid catching colds as far as possible. If a cold has developed, have your doctor treat it promptly. Ask him to show you how to promote easy drainage of the secretions from your nose. The intake of much fluid, steam inhalations and humidifying the air all help to "liquefy" the secretions.

Have your nose and throat examined. If there are obstructions and abnormalities, have them corrected. If you suspect you have a sinus infection, do not delay having yourself examined and treated. See to it also that your diet is well balanced and that it includes plenty of the foods that contain vitamins and mineral salts.

CHINESE TRIED FUTILELY TO AVOID DEATH

(Editors Note: The following description of the siege and capture of Nanking by the Japanese was wirelessly to the Associated Press from the United States gunboat Oahu by Arthur Menken, Paramount newsreel cameraman.)

By ARTHUR MENKEN
NANKING, By Radio From Gunboat Oahu, Dec. 17 (AP)—The once-proud capital of ancient China was strewn today with the blood-splattered corpses of its soldier defenders and civilians killed in the bombing, shelling and fierce fighting to which the city was subjected.

Scattered through the city were hundreds of uniforms discarded by fleeing Chinese soldiers who had tried to escape death at the hands of the Japanese by substituting civilian garb.

To me, the unsung hero of Nanking's fall was an unknown Chinese private whose action probably saved me and Tillman Durbin, New York Times correspondent, whose home is in Pecos, Texas.

Walking along Chungshan road near the Metropolitan hotel we were motioned out of the way by the private who, with a small group of soldiers, was putting up a last-ditch fight. We ducked into the safety zone just before Japanese tanks roared down the street, with machine guns firing.

When they had passed, we found the private and his comrades dead in the street.

Japanese Also Loot
During the Chinese retreat from Nanking after their defense had been smashed by the terrific Japanese onslaughts, I saw some disorganized looting by fleeing Chinese soldiers and, when they had gone, some Japanese carried on the looting.

The Japanese refrained from shelling and bombing of some zone which was set aside under sponsorship of American and German residents of Nanking. More than 100,000 Chinese sought refuge in the zone.

Despite the fact that Chinese troops were slow in withdrawing from the zone and planted guns along its edges, the Japanese did not attack there. Only a few stray shells fell in the zone and only a few were killed in it.

C. Yates McDaniel, the Associated Press correspondent in Nanking, and I saw many policemen shedding their outer clothes and walking around in underwear searching for old civilian clothes.

To make sure that the watchman at the American embassy was not executed for having arms, McDaniel took away his pistol and made him stay inside. This probably saved his life.

Guns Ineffective
We first learned of the Panay's sinking from a young Japanese navy lieutenant on the gunboat Seta. After Nanking's fall we had gone to the river side to request the Japanese to radio the Panay and ask it to return to Nanking.

The lieutenant answered: "Oh, so sorry, Panay sunk."
Unbelieving, we heard him repeat that the gunboat had gone down.

He could give no details.
During the final days of the siege we saw no Chinese planes in the air, and Chinese anti-aircraft weapons were hopelessly ineffective in keeping off Japanese bombers, although one Japanese plane was believed shot down.

The American-supported University of Nanking, a haven for thousands of terrified refugees, was not hit or disturbed.

All-Metal Plane Sells for $1,500
TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 17 (AP)—Construction of a small, all-metal monoplane to sell for about $1,500 was announced by the Luscombe Airplane Corporation of West Trenton today as it entered the race to provide airplanes economical enough for the average man.

The announcement was timed to the thirty-fourth anniversary of the first powered airplane flight by man. Orville Wright made the flight December 17, 1903, and demonstration of the new Luscombe plane will be part of the anniversary program at Mercer airport today.

Don A. Luscombe, president of the Corporation, said the plane was the first all-metal, "turret-top" plane in its price range.

Luscombe said the plane could fly more than 100 miles an hour and get 25 miles to a gallon of gasoline. It is a two-person highwing craft with a 50-horsepower (Continental) motor. The wingspread is 36 feet and overall length, 19.

Made of aluminum alloys, the ship weighs only 600 pounds.

His Riding Stopped Horse Show

PIPELINE FROM COLORADO TO IOWA PLANNED

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 17 (AP)—Surveys for a proposed $12,000,000 gasoline pipeline from Colorado, Texas, to Des Moines, Ia., are complete. H. M. Champion, of Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation, Oklahoma City, announced as tank car using refiners closed a two-day meeting here yesterday.

Oklahoma, Kansas, and Texas refiners gathered here to assemble data against a proposed rate increase. The proposed pipeline would be 1,350 miles long, and refiners attending the meeting said added pipelines virtually would eliminate rail transportation of their products.

The plans for such a transportation system were announced several months ago and negotiations for it have been under way for several years.

It would be designed to provide a gasoline outlet for independent companies in North Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas which do not now have such facilities.

The survey completed by Ford, Bacon and Davis, New York pipeline engineers, showed the project feasible, Champion said.

In the preliminary work the Anderson-Prichard Company was affiliated with the Cal-Tex Company which has a refinery at Colorado, Texas. Under the proposed set-up the Cal-Tex Company would have its outlet in the line.

The system would be arranged to benefit various companies, including the Bell Oil and Gas Company, several refineries in the Wichita Falls area, the Rock Island Refining Company at Duncan, Okla., Cosden Oil Company at Cyril, Okla., and several refineries in the Oklahoma City and Cushing, Okla., area and Kansas.

It was explained that in the tentative set-up each company might secure right-of-way for the line in its area and a corporation embracing the whole plan could be formed when the time came to start construction.

SENATE GROUP DENIES SYMPATHY FOR MOONEY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Chairman Ashurst (D., Ariz.) challenged today what he termed the "unauthorized and flagrant misuse" of the Senate judiciary committee's letter head by the national committee to vindicate Tom Mooney.

Waving a copy of a letter which he said the Mooney committee had sent out in seeking a pardon for Mooney, Ashurst asserted that a photograph of the judiciary committee's letter head had been superimposed on the paper.

He denied that any member of the judiciary committee had authorized use of the official stationery, or any copy of it, in that manner.

Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), chairman of a judiciary subcommittee, which this week heard an appeal from Mooney supporters that the Senate pass a resolution calling on the Governor of California to pardon Mooney, also denied any authorization for such use of the Senate stationery.

205 TEXANS VIOLATE GAME LAWS IN MONTH

AUSTIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—The State Game Department said today 205 charges alleging violation of hunting and fishing laws were filed by game wardens during November, the month big hunting started in Texas.

Fines totaling $2,619 were assessed in 153 cases, a slight gain over $2,292 the same month last year. Charges against 35 defendants were dismissed, one sentence was suspended, four defendants were adjudged not guilty and 12 fines remained unpaid, some of the defendants preferring to go to jail. The most common charge was hunting without a license with trespassing second.

THE BIRTH OF JESUS. Text: Luke 2:8-20.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance.

The story of the birth of Jesus is at least one story that never grows old. Each succeeding generation tells to its children the story of the shepherds in the field, and the glory that shone around them as the angel came announcing the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem.

It is a story for children, a story that has above all others emphasized to the world the value of the child and the romance of the newborn Babe.

But it is much more than a story to tell and to teach to children. It is a story for adults, and for those of all ages. It is the story of the birth of a Savior, of the coming into the world of one who revealed divinity in human form, and who brought into the realm of human words and action all that is highest.

It is a story of the life of Jesus, of the life that came into the world with the birth of the Babe in the manger in Bethlehem. The world is not given so much today to speculations concerning Him as it once was. We do know and we cannot understand our own souls; and much less can we understand the mysteries of this divine being in human form.

There is nothing in His age or environment to account for Him. He comes as the gift of God to man.

He came to tell men of another world of divine relationships of love and kindness; a world of different values where men were not seeking their own ends, but where they were living with a sense of the welfare of all.

It was a world that could be realized only as men learned to love one another, and even their enemies.

But this love, so different from the world of humanity's daily life into this world of actual relationships with men. He lived the things

MEXICO ATTEMPTS TO HALT CURRENT THEFTS
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Mexican government finally took action today to protect the power industry against flagrant thefts of electric current.

President Lazaro Cardenas sent a bill to Congress which provides fines ranging from five to 5,000 pesos and prison sentences from three days to five for power stealing.

The Mexican Light and Power Company and its subsidiaries on Dec. 1 announced that after Jan. 1 they would accept no new customers because of wire tapping by power thieves.

Company officials estimated theft of current amounted to 250,000,000 kilowatt hours annually—25 per cent of the annual production.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—The old post office in Beaumont, Texas, was practically the city's today for the taking.

Rep. Dies (D., Tex.) said treasury officials assured him if the city wanted the old building, they could have it if they removed it from the present site.

The government offered the structure for sale, but only one bid was submitted. J. H. Phelan of Beaumont offered $50,000, but the procurement division of the treasury rejected the offer because it had appraised the property at $65,000. A 30-day period in which Phelan could have increased his offer expired last midnight.

Questions Raised By Slump Find No Ready Answers By Factions

RODNEY DUTCHER, Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—This is not one of those periods when any one whose function it is to prophesy what's going to happen next in government, politics, business and other national affairs finds himself having very much fun.

Under influences of a downward business curve which has been almost perpendicular for many months, the Roosevelt formula of government by zigzag has reached the point of zigzagging so rapidly that it is often impossible to tell a zig from a zag, partly because the quickness of both zigs and zags deceives the eye.

Yet there probably is no more confusion inside the government as to the future than there is on the outside—and probably nowhere near so much. The question of who or what started this depression has given way to debate on which forces are now most scared—the administration or those of "Big Business"? Faith in the curative powers of tax revision, budget balancing, attempts to stimulate building and other measures is ebbing.

Faith is shaken. There appears to be real worry in New York that the situation can't be saved simply by tearing down the New Deal, that private capital can't and won't take over during a depression, and that no one really knows the answers. Conservatives who believed in an "independent Congress" and a balanced budget are now not quite so sure, especially after observing Congress in its special session. The conviction grows in Washington that government spending is going to have to be used to halt the economic spiral, but that isn't official because no one will admit it.

Proposals from the National Association of Manufacturers that government co-operate with business toward recovery caused hardly a ripple in Washington, perhaps because of a deep-seated conviction that the N. A. M. is an incorrigible enemy of the New Deal. There are tugs of war between various sets of administration advisers as to the nature and extent of "concessions to business," but these only accentuate confusion.

An example of this confusion is the complete uncertainty as to what extent the corporation surplus profits tax will be modified, in view of Roosevelt's insistence on retaining its principle in the face of widespread demand for repeal.

Assorted Advisers. Probability that Chairman Joe Kennedy of the Maritime Commission will be made ambassador to England has started everyone guessing whether this is a bad sign inasmuch as it gets perhaps the President's closest conservative adviser far away from the White House, or whether it isn't a good sign when Roosevelt demonstrates his faith in his closest conservative adviser.

Almost simultaneously Roosevelt has thrown a package of mingled good news and bad news to both conservatives and progressives by appointments of Jerome Frank, liberal lawyer, and John W. Hanes, Wall Street broker, to the SEC.

Dr. Rex Tugwell has just visited Roosevelt at the White House (for lunch) for the first time since he quit the New Deal. Arch-conservative Congressman Bruce Barton of New York, advertising magnate, has advised the N. A. M. to get interested in low-cost housing on the ground that one gesture of "social consciousness" will do more good than all the resolutions in the world.

Rev. Gerald Doig Well. The political picture continues to be complicated by the third-term specter, and there are rumors that High Commissioner to the Philippines Paul V. McNut, will seek a coalition nomination for 1940.

The Republican executive committee meets at St. Louis to name a program committee which will be just as much mixed up on the program question as everyone else. The Republican governors of Vermont and New Hampshire, who are expected to be seldom seen and never heard, have both found voice to demand party reform—a fact which means practically nothing except as it may indicate a concerted attack on Herbert Hoover's control of party machinery.

Meanwhile the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, who will rabble-rouse over 40-odd radio stations every Sunday as long as he can raise money to pay for it, has moved into the Hay-Adams House in a room where he gazes daily across the park at the White House and thinks of new polemics to hurl at its most celebrated occupant.

And if anyone asks you "Where do we go from here?" the best answer is: "I bite!" (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

U. S. AGENTS SMASH PERFUME SMUGGLING

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Some Americans who planned to give expensive foreign perfumes, purchased at moderate cost, as Christmas gifts this year are likely to be disappointed.

United States custom office agents here announced today a ring which smuggled French, Spanish and Italian perfumes into the country over the Mexican border had been broken up.

The smugglers take orders for the perfumes and then purchase it in Mexico, the agents said, and it is placed in secret compartments in automobiles and smuggled into the country to avoid payment of the high duty.

Agents said customs officers at El Paso late yesterday found 40 bottles of perfume, wrapped in Christmas boxes, in an automobile and had taken the driver of the car into custody.

Two El Pasoans, they said, were being questioned in connection with the smuggling and several arrests were expected.

Coffee was originally used by the Arabians to keep them awake during the long Mohammedan religious exercises.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
LINDA BENTON—Heroine, daughter of a famous singer.
CAPT. BARRYMORE TRENT—Hero, flying "daredevil."
MIRANDA TRENT—Barrymore's grandmother, a "strong" woman.

Yesterday, Linda Benton moves under the roof of proud Miranda Trent. Life is perfect. And her happiness is stimulated at the news that Captain Trent is due there for Christmas leave.

CHAPTER II

Not even Miranda Trent's glowing descriptions of her grandson had prepared Linda for the actuality of Captain Trent as he flashed upon her that first evening—tall, vivid, and irresistible, with a gay charm, at once teasing and caressing, that set even the stately grandmother—whom he breezily addressed as "Duchess, bridling and blushing like a girl.

It did not, apparently, seem at all strange to Mrs. Trent that from the beginning the young flyer settled into the old-maidish routine of her evenings with complete satisfaction.

It did seem strange to Linda that she was admitted so unreservedly into the hallowed family circle she soon understood, however. It was necessary to the proud grandmother that she have an audience to whom to exhibit this superlative grandson of hers. The old lady relaxed and glowed proudly.

As for Captain Trent, he referred to them impartially, as "you girls," teased and flattered them indiscriminately, and trounced them both at their spinsters' little games—to the ill-concealed pride of his grandmother, who ordinarily played for blood—meantime carrying on a running fire of rally and nonsensical song.

Or quite as often, he lounged in a big chair while Linda read aloud, his mobile face unaccountably quiet and contented in the firelight.

Sometimes when Mrs. Trent's knitting slid quietly to the floor and the old lady nodded, Linda would glance up to find the grandson's dark eyes fixed upon her own face, dancing with mischievous comradeship, as if they too shared a delightful secret, too precious to be put into words.

And Linda would smile back her quick, elusive smile, a little confused, a little startled by her own sudden happiness would straighten her slim body in its demure frock and read on much more rapidly, tripping sometimes over the words, in the conscious news that, across the fireplace, his smile had become more intimately amused.

Once, noticing that as she perched on one of his grandmothers' tall chairs, her feet barely touched the floor, knelt with absurd extravagant ceremony and placed it beneath her feet.

"A footstool for Titania," he said. And though the stool was the one that had come over on the boat which had brought the first Trents to American homes, and was guarded by old Miranda as jealously as his life, she only smiled now, proudly, as if at one more evidence of her grandson's superior discernment. "That's it, I've always wondered what it was, Miss Benton reminded me of Titania, of course."

For the first time almost as if she liked me, Linda thought, happily.

She had been dreading this first Christmas away from home. Now she began to look forward to it. She must get a gift for Mrs. Trent—that knitting basket she admired yesterday, perhaps. . . . She would sing for them, when some Christmas music. People always liked to hear her sing.

Hard to believe now how once the portraits—even the walls of the old house—had seemed secretly hostile and terrifying. Now, as she hurried down the broad stairway each evening, the very stair railing under her hand seemed to tingle with friendliness, and indeed the whole house had suddenly come alive and young again.

There was one evening when as she knelt before Mrs. Trent to disentangle a snarl in her knitting yarn, Captain Trent strolled across the room to stand over her, his eyes following her slender, supple fingers. When she glanced up, his glance met hers with something so like a laughing caress that her hands faltered and Mrs. Trent said rather tartly, "Careful, Miss Benton. . . . Do go away, Barry. It's enough to make a cat nervous the way you're prowling around. I declare I don't know what's come over you these last few days!"

"What you girls need around this house," Barry countered, "is a good, able-bodied seaman. I never knew a woman yet who knew how to untie a knot—or tie one either."

And taking the yarn into his own big, clean-cut hands, he untangled it with a deft legerdemain too swift for the eyes to follow.

"Good thing you'll have me around to trim the Christmas tree for you," he finished impudently. "When it comes to a job that takes real skill, women are all thumbs." "Don't pay any attention to him, Miss Benton." Old Miranda's proudly indulgent smile included Linda in a friendly entente of sex against sex. "I know that he thinks well enough of women to have a new sweetheart in every port."

"That's where you're wrong," Barry spoke abruptly, without looking up from the pipe he was filling. "The lists are closed now." Then, as if startled by his own sudden lapse into seriousness, he broke into some absurd sailor's ditty about "The gal in Singapore." . . . That was like Barry, not serious for long.

But his grandmother glanced

He rose, and bringing her a stool, knelt with absurdly extravagant ceremony and placed it beneath her feet. "A footstool for Titania," he said.

He went over to the radio and dialed sharply at him, and her face tightened in a way that Linda had come to know to dread.

She's jealous, Linda thought. She'd much rather think there was a girl in every port than—just one.

And she knew that she would, too.

But it was not until a few days before Christmas that Linda began to understand the thing that was happening to her.

She glanced up from her book one evening as a gentle swish told her that Mrs. Trent's knitting had fallen again; and her eyes, as they had come to do, met those of Captain Trent across the room.

Only this time his eyes were not amused, as if at some precious secret between them. They were burning upon her with an intensity that made her flush and tingle all over.

For a moment they sat so, while something in his look seemed to reach out warmly and draw her to him, so that in spite of the room between them, the moment was as sweetly intimate as a caress.

Then suddenly the spell was broken by Miranda Trent's clean, clipped accents. "Why have you stopped reading, Miss Benton?"

"I'm sorry. I thought you were asleep."

"Asleep? Certainly not. I was merely resting my eyes."

"It's eleven, anyhow, Duchess. Barry said quickly, Time you girls got your beauty sleep. And there's a special broadcast I want to listen to."

The meat of the coconut contains 30 to 40 per cent oil and 50 per cent water.

Several members of the group spoke over the radio, including the pilot of the passenger ship, an ex-navy flyer, Lieutenant Rust.

Barry listened with knit brow. "Craziest business I ever heard of," he growled as he snapped off the radio. "I flew over that country with Rust while we were stationed in Panama. It's mere guesswork that they'll make a successful landing, or that they'll ever be able to take off again if they do land. I tried to talk Rust out of it, but he always was a fool for punishment."

"It must, indeed, be a crazy business if you think so," commented his grandmother dryly; but her eyes were proud.

"I think I will run out to the field tomorrow and wish them 'Good luck!' Captain Trent went on. "God knows! They're likely to need it."

Linda's one thought was that the house would seem empty tomorrow. There was nothing to tell that this evening's broadcast was the forerunner of more heartbreak and despair than she had ever dreamed of.
