Twinkles

Candidates are very noticeably avoiding growing of sideburns. Maybe they think the babies won't like the feel of whiskers when kissed.

Regarding that bridge: We wish that were the hardest job that Gray county will ever face.

A few whiskers bolster man's position in the home—but not if he lets them get long enough to pull.

Polo is now played in every section of the country. Or, if you're feeling blue, you can jump out of an 8-story window.

The healthiest girl in Birmingham was in bed with measles when news of the award arrived. But when you have measles you aren't really sick; you're afflicted.

Brevitorials

Musings of the moment: A claim is given for achievement a little ahead of the field, or a bit off the beaten track. Specialization is rewarded often. The Pre-Centennial, first in Texas, illustrates our point. Ochlire county furnishes another illustration. Encouraged by the county agent, the county residents are planting cherry trees in large numbers. It will be a county of cherry blossoms in season.

TEXANS, in inviting millions of persons from other states to the Centennial in 1936, are perhaps largely unaware that there is no adequate road system in this state. Although we have hundreds of miles of highways, only the old Bankhead (No. 1) route is paved across the state. It is one of the roads least likely to be used by Centennial trippers. Other states have met our borders with connected roads, but we have not kept faith with them.

HIGHWAY 60 is a transcontinental route but largely unusable without completion of paving across gaps. In the Panhandle, the gap in Deaf Smith county and on west to the New Mexico line is being delayed by routing disputes. In Oklahoma, politics and shortage of funds have prevented hard surfacing. Good roads would do much to give Centennial guests a good opinion of this state. A big paving program on the main highways is needed.

MOTHER'S day is over, but a furor over the 3-cent commemorative stamp continues. Artists claim that Whistler's famous painting has been "imitated" by the lower left-hand corner. Engravers say the workmanship is not worthy of the original artist or of this great nation. Stamp making has become something of a hobby in many nations—the smaller the nation, the more ornate is the stamp likely to be on any great occasion. But the people liked the Mother's day stamp idea and did not turn art critics. At least they bought the stamps in huge quantities.

CURRENT Events tells us that a giant sun spot, 16,000 miles wide, has been spotted by astronomers. They tell us it is a swirling tornado twice the diameter of the earth, crossing the sun's surface at terrific speed. Earth's weather may be affected by this spot and others which are expected during the next 12 years. Storms, rains, and electrical disturbances of unusual character are predicted. If droughts and dust storms continue to affect a third of the country, it may be easy to believe in sunspots and many other causes not apparent to the ordinary senses.

RIFT AMONG MEMBERS OF COMMISSION IS DENIED

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—R. D. Parker, formerly chief supervisor of the oil and gas division and more recently chief administrative officer today was "relieved of all duty except that of enforcement officer of the East Texas field," by the Texas railroad commission.

The order, dated May 15, was signed by Commissioner C. V. Terrell, who is at Glen Rose, recuperating from an illness, and Ernest O. Thompson.

In announcing the order, Thompson displayed a telegram dated May 15 from Lon A. Smith, chairman of the commission, to Terrell, in which he said, "will sign order tomorrow without modification, Thompson agrees."

He also showed a letter, dated May 15, in which Chairman Smith said "have wired Terrell will sign order in Dallas tomorrow, without any change. I think I should discuss this matter with Parker since he is to meet me in Dallas."

In Dallas, Smith telegraphed Terrell and Thompson stating "I can not sign an order restricting the activities of R. D. Parker to East Texas in the light of present developments. I feel that the proposed order would be a repudiation of the commission's order of March 31 which named Mr. Parker as chief administrator in the oil and gas matters for Texas."

Thompson denied there was any rift among members of the commission. (See PARKER, Page 8)

Old Timer at Miami Writes Of Olden Days

"I saw Pampa when you had a box car depot and I think one house—in which Mr. Ling lived," wrote J. V. Coffin of Miami in a letter to the Pre-Centennial committee accepting their invitation to attend the celebration and round-up here May 31 and June 1. "Will say," he continued, "that I'll be there. So catch me a horse and hold the cattle. . . would suggest you have the Dough Boys on your program to sing old time cowboy songs."

Mrs. Richard Bussell of Canadian also wrote a favorable letter and sent the names of seven old-timers at Perryton she wishes to receive invitations.

From Mrs. Olive K. Dixon, widow of Billy Dixon, famed Indian scout, came this letter: ". . . I expect to be there and am glad that I can be numbered among the old-timers of the Panhandle."

The Pioneers committee had already anticipated the entertainment wishes of the old-timers, and had written several dough boy bands to play for the old timers. Answers have not yet been received. However, arrangements to have authentic cowboy songs sung are being perfected.

CRITICIZES 'GENTLEMEN' OF HOT OIL RACKET IN TEXAS, CALIFORNIA AND NEW YORK

TULSA, May 17 (AP)—Secretary Ickes, the petroleum administrator, came to Tulsa today on his first visit to the midcontinent area.

Chief speaker at a mass meeting Secretary Ickes said that the nation's oil industry was in a chaotic condition when he entered the picture less than a year ago. He recounted the failures, delays, and obstructions of following months and talked confidently of the future.

"If it should fail to pass at this session the situation may get out of hand," he said.

The bill, he pointed out, is "based upon experience" and would give oil administration "clear-cut powers to control the production of crude oil and keep it down to market demand."

"We are in accord that proper conservation is not a debatable question, are we not?" he asked. "If so, we are driven to the inevitable conclusion that the federal government must give life and form and substance to the principle of oil conservation. The bill merely tends to make effective the powers granted under the oil code."

Ickes was the guest of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, meeting during the eighth International Petroleum Exposition and Congress.

"I have found you to be a straight shooting group; that is, most of you," the administrator said.

The obstructionists, he said, are well known and their motives understood.

"They are the runners of 'hot oil,' and you know better than I do what a 'hot oil' gentleman is. He is the man who steals his neighbor's oil, surreptitiously sneaks it into a refinery which serves as a fence for stolen goods and then bootlegs it into the retail market."

"These constitute the crooked fringe. They claim to be independent, stealing an honored and respected designation.

"There are three feet of these gentry, who would make Al Baba's thieves look like Sunday school pupils—one in California, one in East Texas, one in New York city."

FEDERAL LOAN-GRANT IS SOUGHT FOR TOPPING

GOOD highway news—long awaited—came out of the Gray county commissioners court late yesterday, when it was decided to advertise for bids on construction of the Pampa-LeFors paving in three sections.

It is planned to open the bids June 2 and to accept the best one, whether as a whole project or in one or more sections. In this manner, an advantageous bid is anticipated. The contract will cover a 10-mile placement only, since the loan and outright grant of 30 per cent for the cost of topping with asphalt.

The court will convene tomorrow to choose an engineer to prepare specifications.

The motion to go ahead with the Pampa-McLean road was made by Commissioner W. W. Williams, of precinct 4, second by Commissioner John White of precinct 1, and adopted unanimously. The move was made possible when the Brown-Crummer company found a buyer for $30,000 worth of county paving bonds. The county already had $35,000 on hand. The $64,000 to be available within a month will more than pay for one section of the road. It is hoped by the court that the remaining $70,000 in bonds authorized this week to be sold can be placed by the time the money is needed.

Announcement of the court's action is expected to be gratifying to residents of all parts of the county.

It is planned to meet this afternoon to hear reports of various members.

Roosevelt Policies Are Approved 2 to 1 in Digest Vote

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—First returns of the Literary Digest's national poll, as broadcast by the publication last night, showed the time has been running slightly more than 2 to 1 in favor of approval of the Roosevelt administration's policies.

The returns were announced by Graham McNamee in a broadcast over an NBC hookup as far west as Omaha and Kansas City. They were from eight cities in the east.

WESTERN UNION WOULD GO TO COURTS IF CODE WERE FORCED UPON INDUSTRY.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Western Union threatened today to challenge "fundamentals of the national recovery act" in the courts if a code is forced on the communications industry.

Bankers, brokers, industrialists and other major users of wire services rallied at today's NRA hearing to back up Western Union's attack on the proposed code.

Other witnesses came to the support of Postal Telegraph, which wants a code and accused Western Union in the opening session yesterday of unfair propaganda against the regulations.

Francis R. Stark general solicitor of Western Union, said that if the code were pressed the company would have no alternative but to wage a legal contest along all fronts, necessarily challenging some of the fundamentals of the national recovery act.

The proposed code would eliminate special advantages now given many classes of wire customers.

Ranger Expects To Make Arrest In Robles Case

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—Captain D. E. Hamer of rangers headquarters today revealed he expected an arrest in the June Robles kidnapping case in Texas 12 hours after the arrival here tomorrow night of "an operative" from Chicago.

His prediction was made after telephone conversations with Sheriff Bolton of Tucson, home of the 6-year-old girl who was returned Monday after being held captive 19 days, and with authorities at Chicago.

14-Year Old Boy Kills His Father

MIDLAND, Pa., May 17 (AP)—A 15-year-old boy was quoted by police today as saying he killed his father with a shotgun to save his mother from being attacked with a pitchfork.

Police said the boy, Steve Vrvas, told them his father, Lawrence Vrvas, was chasing his mother around the barnyard with the pitchfork.

KELLEY AND WALSTAD ARE CHOSEN AS MANAGERS

THIS will answer the foremost question of the day among those who like to swim: the municipal pool will be opened for its 1934 season Saturday, May 26.

Harry Kelley, associate manager last season, will be head manager this year. He will be assisted by Archie Lee Walstad, former Harvester star athlete. Monroe Owens, local griddler, will be lifeguard, assisted by Mr. Walstad at certain hours.

In the office will be Mrs. Lillian E. Snow and Mrs. Josie Young. J. T. Posey will be custodian and nightwatchman.

Prices will be the same as last season: Ten cents for wading up to 8 years of age; 15 cents for swimming up to 16 years; 5 cents for towel rental; 20 cents for suit rental; 25 cents for adult swimmers. Ticket books of 20 swims will be sold to the juniors at $2 and the same to adults for $4. Season tickets for admission only will be $10 for adults and $5 for juniors up to 16 years.

No pop candy, cigars, ice cream or other confections will be sold. The profit was small on these items last year and the sales caused congestion in the office.

Some special rulings and announcements will be made later. The city commission made these decisions at a special session last night.

Salaries will be $100 per month for Kelley, $90 per month for Walstad, $12 per week for office help, $30 per month for Owens, and $60 per month for Posey.

BOYS OF PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL MORE THAN 60 OF THEM—CAME THROUGH FOR THE PRE-CENTENNIAL PAGEANT LAST NIGHT. A PROMISE EVIDENTLY MEANS JUST THAT TO THEM BECAUSE THEY PROMISED TO COME AND THEY DID.

First rehearsal will be held Friday night beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock in the high school gymnasium. All persons who have attended an one or three of the meetings in the last 10 days are asked to be on hand for the rehearsal.

The harried but delighted directors immediately cast the youths in pageant roles—Indians, Spanish, French and Mexican soldiers, frontiersmen, adventurers, pirates, and the boys looked like a million dollars. So said the directors. As the count stands now, the directors have a cast of 100 men. They need 15 more, and in addition 15 more women.

Some of the merchants responded to the plea of Sherman White, pageant chairman, and sent over employees last night. Names of business places who furnished members of the cast will be published shortly. Fifteen more men are needed.

Harvester athletic teams of this term of school were well-represented. The athletes volunteered almost to a man to take part in the patriotic pageant.

Directors are fearful that the general citizenship does not realize that the Pre-Centennial is the biggest thing this town has attempted to put on, and the pageant should be the biggest show ever staged in the Panhandle—bigger even than Adobe Walls battle site, one might say.

The pageant will be staged in Central park by Hal C. World, Executive Director of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Dallas Saturday. His subject will be "County Claims."

In giving Mr. Wilson a place on the program, officers of the association said that he had earned a reputation for being one of the most efficient auditors in the state and one who has made many useful suggestions in such work.

He will speak after George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, and immediately before Hal S. Lattimore, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Fort Worth. The convention will be held tomorrow and Saturday.

All Veterans to Have Duties on Memorial Day

The American Legion groups, including the Auxiliary, will have the cooperation of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the Memorial day services to be held May 30.

Paul Hill, who has been made chairman of the day, said that business firms would be asked to close from 10 a. m. to noon of that day. All veterans, regardless of affiliations, are urged to attend. They will meet at the Legion but will march to the city hall for a short service. Then they will march to the gymnasium, where cars will be waiting.

SURPLUSES IN FUNDS TO PAY MAJOR PART

AFTER much figuring, discussion, and study of surpluses in county funds, the Gray county commissioners court late yesterday by a 3 to 1 vote decided to build a long, low wooden bridge across McClellan creek to serve the oil industry in the east central portion of the county.

The move was consistently opposed both in argument and vote by Commissioner W. W. Williams of precinct 4. Mr. Wilson thought all funds should be concentrated on the Pampa-McLean road.

No Warrants, No Levy Under the plan adopted, there will be no issuance of warrants, no increased taxes. The commissioners court temporarily will transfer, or borrow, as it legally can do, $7,000 from the jury fund to be placed in the road and bridge fund. It will transfer $5,000 from the courthouse and jail fund. Estimated cost of the bridge proper, without approaches, is $14,000 to $17,000, according to a representative of the Austin Bridge company. The small difference between this and the $12,000, obtained from surpluses and needed this year in the two funds mentioned can be arranged with the contractor.

Bids will be opened June 2 if plans are consummated. Construction will require about 30 days after materials are received. About 20 days or more will be required to ship timbers from Oregon lumber mills.

North of Ford Approaches to the bridge will be built with county machinery and labor will be paid for out of precinct funds. The site recommended by the bridge company engineer is somewhat north of the present McClellan ford and not as close to the Port Worth & Denver railroad bridge as another site considered.

The present crossing would be nearly twice as long as the site recommended, and would necessitate longer approaches. The one selected is on the half-section line. The motion to build the bridge was made by Commissioner John White of precinct 1 and seconded by John Haggard of precinct 2. The vote showed only Commissioner Wilson dissenting.

Near County Line Plings would be about 45 feet long, driven 30 feet into the earth. The length would be about 812 feet. It is about 1 1/2 miles on eastward to the county line. It was mentioned that steel traffic plates might be moved to the bridge from the Beaver Dam span, which is little used.

County Judge C. E. Gary and Auditor R. C. Wilson showed that surpluses in precinct funds totaled $29,048.79. Both Commissioner Wilson and Commissioner McCleskey said they would need all the money they had in sight. Surpluses in the courthouse and jail fund and jury fund will not be exhausted, he needs this year, however.

Oil Men Pleased The action was very gratifying to oil company executives, a number of whom were present. They said that the bridge would enable them

Police War on Faulty Lights

Here's a warning to motorists driving cars with one light or no tail-light. . . . City traffic officers and a state highway patrolman issued 43 "tickets" to offenders last night. A number of those given tickets failed to report to the police station as requested. Their failure will likely prove costly.

The officers will continue the drive until the hazard of faulty lights has been removed from the streets. Many officers will work late tonight to this end.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war in the Hoover administration, today demanded that a senate committee require A. V. SOME ACTS OF SALESMANSHIP

Several candidates for state offices are declaring their support for a bill which would outlaw a prevalent practice of many office-holders—that of accepting retainer fees or gifts from private interests seeking special favors.

The people should furnish the pay for lawmakers. They should reduce the number of legislators and raise the pay. They should certainly not make it necessary for legislators to supplement their salaries with work for the big interests—or little ones.

The same principle applies to city and county officers and employees. It is a fact known to any close observer that companies which sell to public officials and employes use subtle salesmanship which, in many cases, is plain bribery.

Suppose a public officer buys, at public expense, a supply of sanitary supplies, stationery, or other supplies. Is there any good reason why that officer should be given a pair of new shirts, a handbag, or any other gift? Yet we say that this happens all the time.

There are letters on file here in which some gifts we have mentioned are discussed as a subtle reason why orders should not be canceled by the present county judge. We think such orders ought to be canceled and prices brought down to a fair price to the people who pay the bills.

Salesmanship involves many ways to pad orders. Often a change in a cover on a printed pad will lower an order several dollars. Constant vigilance will make constant savings possible. Records of the county auditor show that such savings are being made in various departments.

And any attempt to obtain orders by making gifts to employees or department heads should be instantly exposed and the salesmen told to make their gifts to the people in the form of prices that are more reasonable. Every official charged with the responsibility of making purchases at public expense should be very alert.

King Levinsky's Jitters Probed By Commission

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—Latest bulletins from the hospital room of King Levinsky, Chicago's personality kid of boxing and strange disappearances:

"Your old Kingfish is getting stronger. Still nervous and afraid to look at himself in the looking glass. He hopes to get out in a day or two. Will go back to Los Angeles as soon as he can to fight that Art Laskey guy. He isn't mad at anyone and that includes Pete Reilly."

The bulletin was issued by the Kingfish and his sister-manager, Lena Levy.

Meanwhile, the Illinois state athletic commission continued a quiet but firm investigation into the whole case, of Levinsky's raining at Los Angeles for the Laskey fight and his sudden run-out on the match. A physician was dispatched to examine the Kingfish and will make his report to the commission today. The general opinion here was that the Kingfish would be able to patch up the whole affair.

Moll's Story of Relations With Dillinger Told

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 17 (AP)— Evelyn Frechette's brief career as John Dillinger's moll was sketched for a federal jury today in her trial for harboring the notorious outlaw.

The jury already had the account of her association with the long sought fugitive, as related by a prosecution witness, H. H. Reinecke, department of justice agent. Miss Frechette, together with Dr. Clayton May and Mrs. Augusta Salt, is on trial on charges growing out of Dillinger's machine gun escape from a St. Paul apartment last March.

Reinecke, who questioned the black-haired girl after her arrest, said she told him she met Dillinger in the fall of 1932 and traveled with him to Florida, St. Louis and Tucson, Ariz.

She visited him in the Crown Point, Ind., jail once. The night he made his wooden gun escape, she was in Chicago and met him there the next day. Reinecke said she told him they came to St. Paul and took an apartment where they lived under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Hellman.

When the police came to the apartment March 31, she refused to let them in, locked the door and awakened Dillinger.

"John said 'keep your shirt on' because she was a little nervous," Reinecke testified. "He dressed, tossed some money into a suitcase, shot through the door once with a burst from his machine gun and sprayed the hallway with another burst."

They fled through a rear stairway, the federal agent said, and were surprised to find no police in the rear alley. She backed their car out of a garage and they drove to Indianapolis.

Dirigible Macon Sails Over Texas Mountains Again

SIERRA BLANCA, May 17 (AP)— Perfect weather favored the navy dirigible Macon today as she easily sailed across the rugged mountains of Southwest Texas and continued westward toward El Paso.

The giant air craft, on route to her base at Sunnyvale, Calif., after participating in naval maneuvers in the Caribbean, passed over Sierra Blanca at 7:50 a. m. Indications were she would reach El Paso, 87 miles to the west, in about an hour. There was no wind and the weather was clear.

It was the third successful flight the Macon has made across the mountains of Southwest Texas. About two years ago the dirigible Akron encountered heavy fog and clouds over the mountains and was forced to cruise along the eastern slope for many hours before finding an opening which warranted risking a flight over the jagged peaks.

The Macon left Miami, Fla., at 6 a. m. yesterday and reached Texas late in the day. She passed near Houston just before 10 p. m. and proceeded into the sparsely-settled ranching country to the west. She reached the mountains after dawn and, following the Texas and Pacific railroad, sailed through the towering ranges. On her homeward flight, the Macon retraced virtually the same route she followed a few weeks ago on her way to Florida.

See "G-3"—the tire that gives 43% longer non-skid mileage!

HOW they mauled this newest Goodyear on the test feet! Brakes "went out" in 8 hours—had to be relined every 72. Day and night, they scuffed, dragged and mauled these tires—but the "G-3" All-Weather kept right on rolling!

That's the tire we're offering you today—at no price increase! A tire built to stand up on the new, modern, high-speed, quick-starting, quick-stopping cars—and keep its grip 43% longer!

A tire that gives more safety—more miles of traction—on any car!

It keeps the famous All-Weather Tread—but makes it wider—puts more tread blocks in the center of the tread—more rubber—an average of 2 pounds more—in the tread! And it can do all this because it has the extra resilience, extra endurance of Super-twist—a patented Goodyear ply material in the body of the tire.

Come in and see it! It's the greatest buy in years. It costs more to build—but there's no extra cost to you!

WARNING!

Watch the rest of the industry try to copy this amazing tire. Watch them try to duplicate Goodyear's claims. But, remember, you have to have "non-skid" before you can have "non-skid mileage." And to have "non-skid," you have to have GRIP where you see it here—GRIP in the center of the tread—the place where it counts, because it's the spot where the tire contacts the road. Look at the grip on this Goodyear Tire and ask yourself why buy any tire that lacks this safety?

Bluebonnet Club And Guests Hear Advice on Buying

"The average farm woman walks 7-8 miles daily in doing her work. The feet are the foundation of the body and properly fitted footwear is essential to good health as well as comfort." Miss Ruby M. Adams said to a group of Bluebonnet club women at the Schaffer school this week.

Many bodily ills, attributed to other causes may be cured by having the feet correctly fitted. Hosiery should fit perfectly; hose too short cause discomfort and do not wear well, she said.

Miss Adams, county home demonstration agent, also gave instructions in buying wisely. Some highlights of her talk follow: Hosiery should be of animal and vegetable fiber. Vegetable fibers are cotton and linen. A drop of ink applied to test pure linen will spread quickly.

The best prints are 80 by 80 thread count per inch, and vat dyed. Animal fibers, wool and silk, may be tested by boiling 2 minutes in a solution of one teaspoon lye to one quart water. All material remaining is cotton, as the lye dissolves wool.

Always wash rayons in a mild lukewarm suds, squeeze out, not wring, and iron with a cool iron.

Mrs. Dwight Davis, hostess, served a lunch of hot cocoa, cookies, and sandwiches to 35.

Special guests were Mrs. Walter Ollinger, Alfred Adams, Ely, Claude Schaffer, H. C. Turner; Misses Kate and Jimmie Schaffer, Elizabeth Dudley, Ada, Mary, and Daisy Schaffer, and Ruth Davis. Nodan and Donald Cole, Charles Shelton, Bill David, Lawrence McEe, George Saunders, Paul Luttrell, Russell Roof, Doris Jackson, Rita Holmes, Martin May, Elizabeth McAfee, Raymond Jackson, Billy Davis, Floyd Johnson, Louis Johnson.

Song Convention Program Planned

The semi-annual singing convention of Potter county will be held May 26 and 27 in the Amarillo high school auditorium instead of in the municipal auditorium as in previous years. The convention is for the day until about 5 p. m. The day will be taken up with class singing led by some of the best leaders in this part of the country with everyone taking part and with some special numbers mixed in with the group singing.

This convention is for the public and there is no charge attached to it. It is not for one denomination or church only but for everyone that enjoys good music and good singing.

JUNE ROBLES TO BE SENT BACK TO SCHOOL TO FORGET KIDNAPING

TUCSON, Ariz., May 17 (AP)—June Robles is going back to school Monday to try to forget the horror of 19 days alone in a desert hole. But the ordeal of her cruel imprisonment by kidnapers has cut deeply into her young mind. From Carlos Robles, uncle of the little girl and one of those who rescued her last Monday, came the statement that the 6-year-old victim has been more affected physically and emotionally than appeared to casual observers. Pitiful efforts by the child to amuse herself with dolls fashioned out of date seeds and paper while she sweated beneath a desert sun and of her dazed condition when she was lifted from the grave-like hole were related. Spurred on by these revelations, authorities extended their efforts to find her abductors. "It has been difficult," Carlos Robles said, "to secure any information from June about the time she lived in the tin box (lining in the hole). It repels her to speak of those days and she recoils when asked a direct question. I have had to use subtlety in eliciting information as we play with her bunnies, or cut out paper dolls. I have secured bit by bit, details of those 19 days." Carlos Robles is assistant Pima county attorney and together with County Attorney Clarence Houston they found the girl, being directed to her hiding place by an anonymous letter from Chicago. "I asked her," Carlos said, "if the kidnapers had given her any dolls or things to play with. She replied they had not, but they gave me a box of dates that had passed around it. After I ate the dates I had a lot of seeds, and I took the paper and dressed up the seeds as pretend dolls. "The long days must have been very difficult for the child without amusements other than she could provide for herself. "Nothing has been disclosed in the investigation, authorities said, to cast doubt on June's story that she was held for 19 days in the desert trench—the entire time she was missing. Carlos related how June told him hundreds of ants crawled over her and the scant food left for her and how the ants stung her lit body, already painful with sunburn. Chained by her ankles to a stake, June had no chance to leave the virtual coffin, which was hidden with brush and mesquite. The kidnapers never attempted to contact Fernando Robles, June's father, for the $15,000 ransom they demanded in a note he received two hours after June was kidnaped April 28 as she returned homeward from school.

Studer to Have Charge of Work On Plains History

CANYON, May 17.—A chair of archaeology will be established at the West Texas State Teachers college according to a decision made by the State Board of Teachers college regents this week. Floyd V. Studer, of Amarillo, best known archaeologist and paleontologist of Northwest Texas will be director of the work, which will be done in the Panhandle field. Regent J. E. Hill, of Amarillo, who has made a study of the possibilities of valuable work in this subject, showed the value of the new undertaking to other members of the board. President J. A. Hill, who returned from Austin yesterday, expressed his delight that the board had taken this action, which will mean so much to the Canyon college and to the Panhandle Plains Historical Society museum. Dr. Hill also announced that the board of regents had approved his budget for the coming biennium and stated that he asked for no buildings and for only minor improvements. The State Board of Teachers college regents will hold its summer meeting at Canyon August 10 and 11, on which occasion Mr. Studer will take the members to a site of ruins of a prehistoric civilization. All presidents of Texas Teachers colleges will be here also to confer with the board.

Advanced Course In First Aid to Be Planned Here

Twenty-four men signed for an advanced course in first aid at the last session of the Red Cross-Boy Scout course here last night. The session last night took the form of a banquet at the Junior high school cafeteria. Forty-two men were present from various parts of the county. Forty of them received their diplomas. Thirty graduates not present may obtain their certificates from C. A. Clark at the Boy Scout headquarters in the city hall. The Rev. Gaston Foote was toastmaster. Don Conley, Clyde Gold, Harry Kelley, Dr. R. M. Bellamy, Dr. H. L. Wisler, and others made brief talks. It was brought out that much more efficient first aid is being given men hurt in the oil fields as a result of the emphasis placed upon first aid by safety departments, the Red Cross, and the Boy Scouts.

President Did Not Talk Business to Astor, Latter Says

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Vincenzo Astor told the senate air and ocean mail committee today that the affairs of the International Mercantile Marine corporation had not been mentioned to President Roosevelt while he was Astor's guest this spring aboard the yacht Nourmahal. Previously, P. A. S. Franklin, president of the corporation, told newsmen that he had not seen any company messages to Kermit Roosevelt while the latter was aboard the vessel. That was their answer to Senator Robinson (R., Ind.), who some time ago read to the senate published reports that the investigating committee had in its possession I. M. M. messages delivered to the Nourmahal while the president was cruising with Astor and Kermit Roosevelt off Florida. Other testimony today concerned the I. M. M.'s financial set-up, some of its financial transactions, and whether any of them adversely affected American shipping. Claude Seitz of Miami transacted business here this morning. Myra Millard of Canadian was a shopper in the city this morning.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Two men have been murdered in Pampa, Dufresne's big house. All the evidence points to the fact that they shot each other, but Sergeant Harper does not believe they did. Howard Doyle, who inadvertently brought Mrs. Dufresne into the tangle, only to have her faint and injure herself, tells Harper that the detective will be glad the mistake was made.

Chapter 13

DOYLE'S CONTRIBUTION

"Here's the queer part. The Old Man acted human for once—but firm. I was off the case and that was that. It's a puzzle, because I have good reasons for doubting that Dufresne would go behind my back about a thing like that."

"Why shouldn't he, Doyle? Mrs. Dufresne was scared half to death and it led to an injury that is very serious to any woman, and especially a beautiful woman."

"Sergeant, I'm surprised! Don't you know a detective's first duty is to keep his mind free from all prejudices, favorable or otherwise?" He laughed.

Harper's face began to redden. "I don't see anything funny about a beautiful woman having her face disfigured for life," he retorted.

"Of course you don't, Sergeant, and neither do I. Don't misunderstand me. In such a situation one must cultivate a philosophic attitude, like our friend Dufresne. If that had happened to your wife, or mine, we'd have taken a poke at the chap who caused the trouble."

"But Mr. Dufresne is content to sit and mullur. 'C'est la main du Seigneur.' In case your French is a little rusty, that means 'It is the hand of God.' Does Dufresne's reaction seem regular and normal to you?"

Without waiting for an answer, Doyle continued, "I'm all washed up with this case, but I'm going to let fly a couple of broadsides before I go and you'll be smart enough to profit by them."

"What has that to do with you since you've been withdrawn from the case?"

"That's what I'm coming to. Listen, you've talked with Dufresne about those 'crank' letters?"

"Yes, he hinted something like that."

"Didn't he give you the impression that there was something that he feared, but wouldn't talk about? He was pretty well shaken up over that ambush, wasn't he?"

"Yes, but that's only natural. No one but an idiot would make light of it."

"Don't you think it odd that the first time he went out without a bodyguard he was fired out and that it occurred on a lonely road, far from the city?"

"No, it's not odd, if some one were waiting for just such a chance."

"This doesn't say much for the ability of Barry and Markison, who were supposed to be guarding him. I've always thought they were pretty good men."

"No one is infallible, Doyle."

"I think both Markison and Barry know their business," Doyle shrugged. "But let's look at it from another angle. Who knew where Dufresne was going on that trip?"

"Only himself, Mrs. Dufresne, and the two detectives, so far as we know. Possibly Andrews, the butler, knew also."

"All right, we'll drop that line, but think it over and see if it doesn't suggest something to you. Now, after you ran out on us so mysteriously, I got to thinking about the hints Dufresne had been handing out and I guessed you had made the sudden dash to give the latest developments to the new widow, and incidentally, to find out just how she had been spending the evening. I remembered having seen her name in the society column, so I looked up the notice. I found that Mrs. Creighton Morlock's house was only about a mile from here, so I left and walked over."

"And was I surprised when I got there and found you hadn't been near the place! And let me tell you that the lady was expecting trouble. She didn't give me half a chance to tell my story. At the first words she rushed out of the house and into a car. The rest of the story you know."

Harper stirred restively. "I don't see where that alters the circumstances."

"Wait a minute, you haven't heard all of it yet. Doyle's alert eyes were fixed steadily on the detective's through the cigarette smoke. "By and by the smart detective on this case is going to call in everybody concerned, one by one, and ask, 'Where were you on the night of January 10th?' When that time comes, Harper, you're going to find that Mrs. Dufresne will have an alibi that is really no alibi at all—then what?"

"Certainly, I'm aware that there was a dinner party at Mrs. Morlock's last night and Mrs. Dufresne is a house guest there. But you will hear that Mrs. Dufresne came over on the news of the attack on her husband yesterday afternoon that she developed a severe headache and remained in her room. She did not come down for dinner. "I've found out that you tried to reach her by telephone from the Austerlitz and couldn't get an answer. Perhaps you haven't had time to find out why, so I'll tell you. By a most strange coincidence, there was a fire last night in the Morlock garage and the telephone wires, strung just outside it, were burned and put out of commission. "When I got to the house the confusion was at its peak—fire engines all over the street, salvaged automobiles parked anywhere, guests and servants running in and out to watch the show. No one knew where any one else was, or had been."

Doyle lowered his voice impressively. "While I was looking around I saw a woman's figure going into the house through the side door. I couldn't see her face, but I got a good look at the fur coat and the shoes. This woman had come up the rear walk. I could see her footprints in the snow. Everybody was over on the other side of the house, watching the garage burn."

"Well, I finally found a housemaid running excitedly around the hall and I asked for Mrs. Dufresne. The girl went upstairs and in a minute or two Mrs. Dufresne came over on the other side of the house, watching the garage burn."

"Well, I finally found a housemaid running excitedly around the hall and I asked for Mrs. Dufresne. The girl went upstairs and in a minute or two Mrs. Dufresne came over on the other side of the house, watching the garage burn."

"No, only that, but they were soaking wet from the snow, as wet as my shoes were from walking over a mile in it! And when Mrs. Dufresne sent for her coat, to go along with me, there was the same fur coat I had seen disappearing through the side door, the fur still damp from melted snow. Now, what do you make of that?"

Harper was slightly digesting this story of the reporter's. "That will bear a lot of thought, Doyle," he answered slowly.

"Get this—my final broadside, Harper. I don't know how far you've gone with your investigation but it strikes me that there's something in this case resembling the state of Denmark in Hamlet's time."

Doyle stood up and pointed through the window. "Do you see that stone wall? That's the boundary wall of Dufresne's property. On the other side of the wall are thick bushes. Last night some one hid there between the bushes and the wall, walked up and down and watched this house, most likely this very room. There is your witness! Find him, and you'll know what went on here last night!"

A few moments later Sergeant Harper and his assistant, Lafferty, bent thoughtfully over the sketch the former had drawn of the Dufresne house and grounds.

They had just come in from their inspection of the spot Doyle had discovered by a fortunate chance. The reporter's final broadside had been very telling, indeed, riddling into holes the inferential evidence so far provided by the killings. A witness, and a secret one, certainly substantiated Harper's doubts that the affair had been "haphazard." Here was the first bit of premeditation.

"That is certainly a choice bit of luck," Lafferty chuckled. "Wait till we blaze away with that and see whose feathers fly."

"That's exactly what we're not going to do," Harper countered. "It's an ace up our sleeve, but that's the best place for it—at present. It's something to think about quietly, not brag about."

NOTICE SHERIFF'S SALE

The state of Texas, County of Gray by virtue of an order of sale, issued out of the honorable District Court of Gray County, on 30th day of April A. Three-Cent Piece Asked By Senator

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—If Senator Vandenberg succeeds in convincing this country that what it needs is a good 3-cent piece, it will be a case of "the third time's the charm."

Two other three-centers have been given up the ghost after about a quarter of a century of circulation.

One was a silver 3-cent piece, which looked too much like a thin dime to please the public; the other was a coin made of nickel.

The silver 3-center was authorized in 1851, and departed this life in 1873, after 42,736,240 of them had been minted. Now they're mostly melted, though here and there one crops up, still good legal tender.

The 3-cent in nickel arrived in time to overlap its little silver sister a bit, March 3, 1895. It ceased to be coined in 1890.

Senator Vandenberg's contention that some coin is needed between the penny and the nickel has stirred interest at the mint.

"If the people are for it, I'm for it," said Director Nellie Taylor Ross, "however, many objects are presented to us."

PROVED-

PROVED-

Now we ask you to

Drive it only 5 miles and you'll never be satisfied with any other low-priced car

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Very frankly, here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. They have compared performance—on rough roads, in traffic, over hills, through sand and mud and water! And they have proved, to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it—hundreds of thousands of owners know it—and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car. That's why we urge you to "Drive it only 5 miles"—and that's why we promise, "you'll never be satisfied with any other low-priced car."

PRESIDENT WILL ASK FOR BI-METALLIC STAND IN MESSAGE

IN AGREEMENT WITH SENATE SILVER BLOC

MAY SEND DOCUMENT TO CONGRESS IN 48 HOURS

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt, in agreement with the senate silver bloc, will send a message to congress proposing a bi-metallic stand for United States currency.

The chief executive set about writing this new money document today for dispatch possibly in 48 hours. He was reported satisfied with the understanding. It will mean the purchase of a huge store of silver, estimated up to 1,800,000,000 ounces.

Congressional leaders rearranged their legislative calendars to make room for action on the new administration-tagged proposal before the scheduled early June adjournment. The program in rough outline will call for:

1. A mandatory declaration of policy that silver shall be purchased until it constitutes 25 per cent of the nation's monetary backing, as against 75 per cent gold.
 2. Discretionary authority as to the time and amount of purchases in world markets to bring about the desired ratio.
 3. Permissive authority for the nationalization of domestic stocks of silver—condemning at a price not to exceed 50 cents an ounce a supply in this country estimated at around 250,000,000 ounces.
- The present understanding is that silver would be purchased at the market price but given the required value of $1.29 an ounce for the issuance of dollar certificates. This would mean some inflation.
- It was understood that nationalization, not included as mandatory, would be undertaken only in the discretion of the president and subject to international agreement to protect the United States from the unknown quantities of the white metal lying just beyond its borders and throughout the world.
- Smiles by the group of senate silverites and Secretary Morgenthau hailed the understanding following yesterday's meeting with the president.
- The senators, including Wheeler of Montana, Pittman, of Nevada:

It had been rumored in East Texas that Parker might resign his connection with the commission. In Dallas today, he declined to say whether he planned to resign if the proposed order was made effective.

The order said in part: "The reason for this order is that the commissioners desire to give Mr. Parker full time and every reasonable opportunity to enforce the law to the end that excess production shall be stored in the East Field. It is therefore the order of the commissioners that Mr. Parker shall remain in the East Texas field and give his entire time to the enforcement of the law and our orders in that field to the end that hot oil in that field shall be stopped."

The following statement was typed on the bottom of the order: "What we are now doing is merely relieving Mr. Parker of all other duties except the enforcement job in East Texas. This is being done so that he can promptly stop excess or 'hot' oil production. That will for the time be his only duty. Mr. Parker has the right to hire and fire all commission employes in East Texas field. He will continue to have this power."

BRIDGE

(Continued from page 1) to develop the field without establishing warehouses in Wheeler county and thereby reducing Gray county valuations. They predicted that increased valuations would more than offset the cost of the bridge in the next few years.

"We'll remember that when we start assessing taxes," laughing, replied the court.

Bill Coleman of McLean transacted business here yesterday.

Borah of Idaho; and king of Utah; were unanimous in declaration that the way had been found by a formula of general principles. The exact bill to be introduced remains to be drawn. The domestic price of silver is less than half of the proposed $1.29 an ounce value to be given to certificates and the treasury is to be given the right to cease buying and to sell silver at any time the price overreaches this point.

Bank Deposits Jump a Billion In Two Months

DALLAS, May 17 (AP)—A billion-dollar jump in national assets and deposits in the first two months of 1934 was announced today by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency.

He said assets increased from $21,747,483,000 on December 30, to $22,941,173,000 on March 5, while deposit liabilities went up $1,200,605,000 to $18,790,487,000.

O'Connor gave the figures in an address at the fiftieth anniversary meeting of the Texas Bankers' association. It was the first public statement of results of the March 5 call for the condition of national banks.

"The total assets of the 5,293 licensed national banks operating on an unrestricted basis in the continental United States, Alaska and Hawaii on March 5," O'Connor said, "amounted to $22,941,173,000 in comparison with total assets of $21,747,483,000 reported by 5,159 national banks as of December 30, 1933, the date of the previous call, and total assets of $20,980,491,000 reported by 4,902 national banks as of June 30, 1933, the date of the mid-summer call last year."

Minnesota Senator Favors Mellon For President of U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Senator Schall (R., Minn.) said in a statement today "the United States needs a man like Andrew Mellon for its next president."

The former secretary of the treasury, Schall said, reduced by $11,000,000,000 the "greatest national debt in history" which he said was inherited from the Wilson administration. Mellon, he said, kept the country from going bankrupt while keeping the country on "the high road to prosperity" and constantly reducing taxes.

"When the Roosevelt dynasty passes, which it most certainly will as indicated by the election returns from Pennsylvania, this country will need a man with the financial genius of Mellon to again save it from bankruptcy. Today we are in debt $32,000,000,000 and every line of industry at a standstill due to the new deal which is the greatest misdeal in history."

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Inflationary psychology was revived in the stock market today in the wake of administrative approval of silver legislation at this session of congress. Metal issues spurred 1 to 2 points and other categories not up 1 to more than 4. Trading, except for a brief flurry, was quiet. The close was strong. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

Assure Baptist Speech Freedom In Berlin Soon

FORT WORTH, May 17 (AP)—The Southern Baptist convention heard today from J. H. Rushbrook, of London, general secretary of the world alliance, to be held in Berlin in August, that the hosts would not interfere with sessions of the gathering.

Rushbrook wrote that "it is simply ludicrous to suppose that it is unsafe to go to Germany." He stated there was "no foundation for the idea that in Germany our congress would be denied freedom of speech."

"If the world alliance had not been fully convinced upon that point, it would never have consented to go," Rushbrook assured the convention. "They have not asked us to suppress our principles or to come as anything other than we are—evangelicals and Baptists."

Beauty to Bow

DENVER, May 17 (AP)—A father's efforts to gain possession of his son ended here today as Percy Lamar Armstrong Sr., 36, and Robert McPhail, 21, were taken into custody on a fugitive warrant received by Denver police from Tennessee authorities.

The men and Lamar Armstrong Jr., 16, were found in a Denver apartment which they had rented yesterday as department of justice agents enlisted aid of Denver police in winding up a search that began May 11 at Clarksville, Tenn.

Armstrong and McPhail offered no resistance. They told officers they came to Denver to start a restaurant.

Advice reaching Denver police from Clarksville, Tenn., said the father took the boy from a school yard in that city last Friday. Since then their trail has led through tourist camps in a number of states. The boy had been awarded the mother when the Armstrongs were divorced four years ago.

The victim was said to have told arresting officers his grandfather was a former governor of Tennessee.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., May 17 (AP)—Relatives of 10-year-old Percy Lamar Armstrong Jr., grandson of the late Austin Peay, one time governor of Tennessee, were overjoyed today when advised the boy had been found at Denver, Colo., in the custody of his father.

The boy was placed in the custody of his mother several years ago by a divorce decree at Memphis. Members of the family said they had believed the boy had gone with his father when they learned he left school Friday morning when a man called him.

OKLAHOMA WHEAT ENID, Okla., May 17 (AP)—Oklahoma will produce 37,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, according to the estimates of grain dealers from all producing sections of the state for the thirty-seventh annual convention of Oklahoma Grain Dealers association, if favorable conditions prevail from now until harvest.

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—Knights of Columbus of Texas councils convened here today for their 31st annual state meeting.

WTCC Criticism Of Relief Board Is Called 'Just'

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—Earle P. Adams, member of the Texas relief commission, termed "just" criticism of 1934 relief expenditures expressed in resolutions adopted at the West Texas chamber of commerce convention.

Adams, who joined with M. N. Christman, of Dallas, in an unsuccessful attempt at a recent relief commission meeting to curtail expenditures, predicted that "unless a halt is called by the relief commission, or the legislature, approximately $17,000,000 of the $20,000,000 bond issue will be spent by January 1 and only $3,000,000 left to last from January 1 to August 26, 1935."

CHICAGO GRAIN CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—Wheat prices scored rapid late advances today largely owing to an increase of unabated adverse crop reports from north and south of the Canadian boundary. Greater notice taken of prospective silver legislation at Washington served also as a late stimulating factor instrumental in more than overcoming earlier transient downturns of wheat prices.

Official reports from 10 stations in South Dakota said only two points received as much as one inch of moisture during the past month, and in North Dakota only one station out of 15 showed as much as 1/2 inch.

Wheat closed nervous, 1/4-1/2 above yesterday's finish, July 89 1/2, Sept. 90 1/2; corn 1/2 up, July 50 1/2; oats 1/2 up, Sept. 51 1/2; provisions unchanged to 17 cents higher.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, May 17 (AP)—Cotton price continued to improve to the end of the first hour of trading, July reaching 11.51, October 11.66 and December 11.79, or 14 to 15 points above yesterday's close.

Later in the morning the market eased off 7 to 8 points from the highs on lack of sustained support, and July traded down to 11.44, October to 11.58 and December to 11.72, still 6 to 8 points above the previous close.

Around midsession, prices recovered 3 to 6 points owing to an advance in wheat.
