EDUCATORS ALERT TO TRENDS

The NEWS in common with many other papers is receiving questionnaires from educators who wish to have opinions on such questions as taxation for education and ideas on curriculum making.

An educational system in this country better keyed to the needs of the times would end much confusion in the minds of students. There seem to be two trends in this country—one toward reform by legislation, the other by force of strikes and other drastic gestures. Level heads need to be kept in both instances.

The recent report of the Social Studies Commission of the American Historical Association calls for school changes, and demonstrates that some educators, at least, are aware of our need for a method of teaching which will really tell pupils what kind of world they are inhabiting.

For instance, the report urges that school children be taught to study their own communities in a realistic manner. It suggests that they look into "the inefficiencies, the corruptions, the tensions, the conflicts, the contradictions, and the injustices of the age", in addition to "the material and spiritual potentialities implies in man's mastery of natural forces."

One need only compare that program with the general custom at present to see what a change it would involve.

Nowadays the youngster in the grade school learns all the theories of democratic government perfectly. He is shown how our American system is meant to work—how it would work tomorrow, if it could be set down in a vacuum, free from the stresses and tensions of everyday life.

Then, after a while, he finishes his schooling and goes out into the world—and discovers that his teachers didn't tip him off to the real way in which things get done.

He finds that they forget to tell him anything about ward politics, about the devious business of city contracts and "honest graft," about the power in government, about the favors and deals and compromises through which politics is commonly run.

He has to discover those things for himself; the discovery usually comes as a shock, and the contrast of reality with the ideal he studied in school is so distressing that the youngster is likely to conclude that politics is a dirty business in which a gentleman will not dabble.

The natural result is that politics remains the happy hunting ground of those whose scruples are less sensitive—and we go on having our Tammany Halls, our Vare machines, our Big Bill Thompsons and our Huey Longs.

New Cleaner Made For Swimming Pool

A new cleaner will be used at the swimming pool tomorrow. It will be home-made and will be similar to one costing more than $600. It was constructed under supervision of City Manager C. L. Stine, who drew the plans. The cleaner is a two-inch pipe with a cap on each end and an eighth-inch slit along the bottom. It is attached to a long pipe and hose to which a suction is connected. The pipe is moved along the floor of the pool on mornings after silt has been allowed to settle overnight. The filter is operated during the day and purifies the water. City Manager Stine estimated that the cost of the new cleaner would not exceed $70.

BOLIVIA APPEALS TO LEAGUE TO END WAR WITH PARAGUAY

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper has only a piece of string and the testimony of a manufacturer of disguises to go on as clues to the mysterious death of two men in Pierre Dufresne's house. The string may explain what became of one of the death guns, but the information about the disguise only complicates matters. He is questioning the housekeeper, who has told him that a maid recently left the Dufresnes' employ.

Chapter 30
PUZZLED HOUSEKEEPER
"How long have you been living over the garage?" Harper asked.
"Since about the middle of December."
"When did the decorators finish?"
"About two weeks ago."
"Why didn't you move back to the house?"
"Mrs. Dufresne thought it just as well to leave things as they were until the house was opened again. There was to be a big party then, I believe."
"Then, since the middle of December there has been no one staying in this house at night?"
"No. After the workmen left each day Mr. Holliday looked up and brought me the keys. Every morning he came for them, so the men could get in and work."
"Were you here in the house at all yesterday?"
"Yes, in the afternoon. I was in every room of the house."
"What then?"
"I looked up and went back."
"Was it snowing then?"
"Just beginning."
"Your husband was there all the time?"
"Yes."
"During the evening, did you at any time look out of the window, over toward the house?"
"Not that I recall. We went to bed early. The next thing we knew the phone was ringing and Andrews was telling me that some one had been killed in the breakfast-room and to hurry over. So we got up and dressed."

ARMS POLICY IS ONE CAUSE FOR PETITION

PARAGUAY IS SAID TO HAVE MUNITIONS FACTORY

BY JOSEPH E. SHARKEY, Associated Press Foreign Staff.
GENEVA, May 31 (AP)—Bolivia appealed to the League of Nations under two articles of the covenant to end its war with Paraguay in the Chaco Boreal of South America.

This sensational development came at the very end of a league council meeting after representatives of both nations had spoken to the assembled members.

First, Costa Durval, Bolivian delegate, invoked Article 13 whereby disputing nations may ask arbitration. He was answered by Caballero Bedoya, Paraguayan representative, who said: "We cannot allow arbitration to be a snare for the nation's good faith."

Then Costa Durval appealed for a settlement of the dispute under Article 15 which authorizes the council to make recommendations for the settlement of disputes with out the vote of the disputants.

The latter article is a step preceding the possible application of military measures against an aggressor nation. It authorizes the council to publish a report of the dispute.

If the council unanimously agrees on its recommendations, the members of the league undertake that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with the recommendation.

The Bolivian representative announced that his nation was forced to resort to Article 15 declaring that Paraguay had failed utterly to bring any hopeful contribution to a plan of settlement.

Earlier in the session he insisted that the proposed international arms embargo means the "finish" of Bolivia. He charged that Paraguay has a munitions factory.

around. The idea if that's what's buzzing in your head you'd better open the windows and let some clean air in."

The licensed woman stalked toward the door, leaving behind her a Sergeant of Detectives who seemed no whit abashed nor embarrassed by her vehemence. Indeed, his face assumed the pleased expression of a man who has suddenly collared an elusive idea.

Her angry suggestion about opening a window by some hidden process of mind, had linked itself with a piece of twine tucked away in his pocket. In a flash he grasped the significance of that clue and the force of this intuition carried certitude with it.

Mrs. Whitmore, throwing open the door for her wrathful exit, hit the lanky Lafferty, who had that instant put his hand on the knob to enter the room.

Lafferty hunched his shoulders and raised his arm in front of his face in mock defense. "What did you do to the old crew?" he inquired. "Her feathers are all ruffled and, unless my ears deceive me, she was cussing as she left."

Harper had unrolled his piece of twine and was fingering it thoughtfully.

"Charming woman, Mrs. Whitmore," he exclaimed. "She thought she was giving me a piece of her mind, but she just told me where that missing gun was hidden."

"That's as clear as mud. Where do you think the gun is hidden?"

"Come on," Harper invited. "I can show you quicker than I can explain it. I know I'm right—it must be there. I ought to have figured it out even without finding the string."

They made their way to the top floor, without meeting any one en route, and mounted the cramped and sharply-turning shaft of steps that led to the square, glass-enclosed cupola or tower that crowned the house.

The detective rubbed one of the windows after a stubborn resistance, and slipped out over the sill. Lafferty followed. "What now?" he queried, turning up his coat collar.

Harper stood looking around. From this elevation the surrounding world appeared like a soft white wilderness, stretched away to infinity.

But the detective had only a moment's thought for this. His feet left clear tracks in the pristine whiteness as he went carefully toward the edge of the roof.

"Watch out you don't start slipping down that slope," Lafferty warned, "or you'll end up with a broken neck."

They walked gingerly along the danger line, careful to avoid any sudden slip. Harper with his eye cast on the short, steep slope to his left. Suddenly he stepped ahead and pointed down to a dark blotch in the snowdrift spot that edged the roof.

"There it is! There's the gun!" (Copyright, 1934, by Walter G. Brown.)

Tomorrow, a revolver tells Harper things we want to know.

Barber's Chair Ideal Place to Thwart Holdup

CHICAGO, May 30 (AP)—Arthur Steuben, a private watchman was sitting in a barber's chair having his chair out by James Ferrol, owner of the shop, when a stranger came in.

The stranger asked to be directed to the washroom, and later attempted to hold the shop, Ferrol said, at the point of a gun.

From beneath the apron Steuben fired, thrice. The intruder fell, mortally wounded, dying later at a hospital, where he was identified as Antonio Anselinger, 22, an unemployed saloon porter.

English Thug Kills Self as Officers Near

WORTHING, England, May 31.—(AP)—After a 48-hour man-hunt in which police and hundreds of citizens united, England's lone gunman, Leonard Hill, killed himself today with the pistol with which he shot a policeman.

Hill was no Dillinger—Policeman Arthur Jex, whom he shot, is recovering—but Hill committed suicide rather than face English justice.

The police and volunteer posse surrounded Hill in Sussex woods. The whole country was incensed by the wounding of the policeman Sunday night. The use of a gun is rare in England.

It was a woman who finally trapped the fugitive. She is Mrs. Michael Sadler, wife of the prominent publisher and author. She owns two bloodhounds and took them herself, on leash, into the woods.

"Suddenly one of my dogs pulled sharply to the left," she said, afterward. "There I saw a man lying under a tree. The hounds had followed the scent perfectly."

"I called to police behind me, 'there he is.' The man who apparently had been asleep, started up as the police closed in on him."

"As they did so, a shot rang out."

Barrow's Mother Screams as Son's Death Is Shown

DALLAS, May 31 (AP)—Released from custody of officers after she had been arrested in a local theater for screaming against the showing of newspapers picturing the death scenes of her son, Clyde, and Bonnie Parker, Mrs. Henry Barrow was "sorry" and apologized.

The aged mother of the late southwestern criminal rushed into the theater last night and shouted: "You can't do that to my boy!"

The film, taken near Arcadia, Ia., where she machine gunning pair was slain last week by Texas and Louisiana officers, was being viewed by hundreds of patrons. Screamed they listened to the mother storm her plea to attach the picture stopped.

Theater attaches took her outside. There she is reported to have torn down placards bearing her son's picture, used as an advertisement. Police arrested her.

Gracy Finds Sale Of Liquor Bearing Stamps Is Legal

AMARILLO, May 31 (AP)—Gracy Underwood thought all along she was violating the federal liquor laws.

Imagine her surprise when she learned in federal court here that the government no longer objects to the sale of liquor, but does require that it bear revenue stamps. She had never heard of such things, son of the 128th district court.

"I thought I was just violating the prohibition law," Mrs. Underwood told Federal Judge James C. Wilson, after she pleaded guilty to possession of a still, whisky, and mash.

She was sentenced to 30 days in jail, and 10 months suspended.

AUSTIN, May 31 (AP)—Arguments on legal questions involved in the state's suit to compel the Lone Star Gas company to obey a 20 per cent rate reduction order were resumed here before Judge W. F. Roberts, son of the 128th district court.

STEERS WHIP SOONER TRIBE TO TAKE LEAD

CATS RUN UP A HUGE SCORE TO BEAT TULSA

By The Associated Press. Manager Fred Brainard's Dallas Steers, combining a little never-say-die stuff with improved slickwork, pulled in two more wins yesterday to wrap themselves around the top of the Texas league in convincing style.

They bagged six tallies in a big fifth inning to take the first game from Oklahoma City, 9-6, and then punched away in the second to come out with a 6-4 decision. Fifteen hits—when they counted—did it in the first game, while Joe Vance tripled in the eighth inning of the second to break a 4-4 tie.

Fort Worth's sluggers, featuring Holley, West, Tauby, and York, gathered in 25 hits in the first game of a twin bill with Tulsa to win 21-9. But the willows weakened as they lost the second, 5-3. Holley grabbed six bingles in the first melee and added another in the nightcap. Tauby was good for six safe licks.

San Antonio's Missions split a twin bill with the up-and-going Beaumont Exporters, winning the

FAMOUS HOUSE OF DAVID BASEBALL TEAM WILL MEET DANCIGER OUTFIT FRIDAY

The baseball menu for the rest of the week, including Sunday, is an interesting one. The Danciger Roadrunners will play the House of David team tomorrow afternoon and Saturday afternoon. On Sunday the Roadrunners will meet the Colteco Gasoline team from LeFors. Game time each afternoon will be 3 o'clock. Admission tomorrow and Saturday will be 35 and 55 cents.

The price of admission to regular games, including the game Sunday afternoon, have been reduced to 25 cents for women, 25 cents for bleachers and 35 cents for grandstand seats. Pampa fans are urged to give the Roadrunners more support. The attendance at the last few games has been disappointing and the team deserves more support.

and backing because it is a credit to Pampa. Fans should be on hand early to see the House of David players workout and put on their pepper game which is famous the country over. The bearded wonders make the ball do tricks that a magician would give the world to learn. They hide it in their whiskers, catch it on their toes and toss it over their heads and catch it with their heels. The pepper game alone is worth the price of admission.

Names on the House of David roster are bywords in American baseball. The bearded players are known the country over. Many of them have been offered attractive professional offers but most of them have stuck to their religion or creed. Only three of the players this year were not with the team here last year when the Roadrunners nosed them out 6 to 4.

Bill Hardin, one of the Roadrunners pitching aces, was with the bearded team last year and will probably get the call to pitch the opening game although little Lefty George Bulla is ready for mound duty. Manager Aaron Ward has not definitely named his starting hurler.

Two drowned in Iowa, two in Ohio, three in Minnesota, and one in Indiana. When an automobile and train crashed at Flint, Mich., four were killed, and three injured, one fatally.

A woman fell from her New York apartment window; a farmer fell from a roof in Wisconsin; two were killed in Texas, a deputy stabbed, and five others shot and in Rhode Island, a farm hand, later killed by police, shot a state officer, to death.

4 rounds, two minutes
Pug Cole, 150, Pampa vs Red Davis, 152, Amarillo.

Fight interest in Pampa reached its highest pitch this morning when a last minute rush for seats to the Panhandle's greatest fight, to be staged by the Pampa Daily NEWS at Roadrunner park tonight at 8:45 o'clock, developed early. Only a few tickets were left when a check was made at 1 o'clock. Remaining tickets will be sold at the park tonight.

Both Duke Tramel, Fort Worth middleweight champion of Texas, and Ralph Chong of Houston, Chinese contender, expressed themselves as ready for the big fight. Both are confident of victory, probably by the knockout route. They appeared in fine condition but not over-trained.

Odds were about even with both camps having a large following. Tramel's great record, especially the last few months, caused him to be an early favorite, but fans who saw Chong in action in Amarillo last week, and witnessed his workouts here, soon brought the odds down to a 50-50 basis.

A complete sell-out is anticipated by fight time. Tickets have been sold in nearly every town and city in the Panhandle. There will be 285 ringside seats, 90 box seats and between 1,500 and 2,000 general admission seats in the park tonight.

The big fight card will begin promptly at 8:45 o'clock with Pug Cole of Pampa meeting Red Davis in a four-round bout that should be a wild slugging affair. The second event will see Bill Gay of Borger meeting Earl Madden of Spearman in an even wilder and woolier battle.

Joe Vernon, Pampa battler, meets Dick Hedgspeth of Perryton in the six-round special event. The two fighters are top-notchers and have headed many fight cards in Pampa, Amarillo, Lubbock and other cities. They punch and they fight and never back away.

A main event in itself will be the semi-final between Jack Thompson and Herschel Howerth. Thompson has come under the eye of Jack Dempsey a couple of times and Howerth has been making a name for himself in the south and since coming to the Panhandle.

Helen Jacobs Is Near Net Title

PARIS, May 31 (AP)—Helen Jacobs, United States titleholder, today advanced to the final round of the French hard court tennis championships with an easy 6-2, 6-2 victory over her former nemesis of the courts, Mme. Rene Mathieu, France's ranking player.

She will play Margaret (Peggy) Scriven of England, the defending titleholder, for the championship.

Bloomer Creator Honored This Week

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., May 31. Falls housewife was recalled throughout America today—and the "bloomers" she advocated back in 1851.

This week feminists observe the 118th anniversary of the birth of Amelia Bloomer, who started the bloomer fad and was one of the nation's leading champions of women's rights.

She was born at Homer, N. Y., May 27, 1818, and became a pioneer reformer in the feminist movement after she married a young journalist and came to live in this village.

First presenting her views in her husband's newspaper, she gained national recognition after the first women's rights convention was held here, through her publication of "The Lily."

In 1851, when "The Lily" was six years old, Mrs. Bloomer published her sensational editorial urging adoption in America of the oriental-styled costume that was given her name.

CUMMINGS IN RECORD RACE

Time Better Than That of Louis Meyer in 1933 by Small Fraction.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (AP)—On the sun-scorched bricks of the Indianapolis motor speedway, Wild Bill Cummings has achieved the victory he decided on 20 years ago.

As 135,000 spectators looked on, the 28-year-old driver flashed past the finish line yesterday to win the annual 500-mile race at the record-breaking average of 104.863 miles an hour, and collect about $40,000 in prizes and awards.

Cummings won by just 27 seconds from Mauri Rose of Dayton, O., who chased him for the last 50 miles to the closest, most sensational ending in the 22 years' history of the track. Cummings' time was 4:46:05.20. The Indianapolis youngster and Rose both smashed the former speed mark of 104.162 miles an hour set by Louis Meyer of South Gate, Calif., in 1933.

Thus did the daring veterans of the speedways defeat the plans of race officials who thought to place a clamp on the excessive speed by limiting gasoline allotments to 43 gallons for each little racing car. Not one of the 20 cars forced out of the running failed because of too heavy fuel consumption. Cummings himself said he had "about three gallons" left over.

DALLAS CLERK MEDALIST FOR GOLF EVENT

LOUIS NOWLIN TURNS IN 34-37-71 FOR NEAR PAR

By Bill Parker, Associated Press Sports Writer.

DALLAS, May 31 (AP)—Two rounds of match play faced contestants today in the annual Texas Golf association championship at the par 35-3.—70 Brook Hollow Golf and Country club course.

The eighteen-hole qualifying test yesterday contributed husky Louis Nowlin, Dallas bank clerk, as the medal winner. Nowlin toured the layout in 35-37-71. The former high school football and basket ball star three-putted the eighteenth green from a distance of 15 feet to miss shooting even par.

This year's championship flight is one of the fastest in several years if the qualifying scores are a correct indication. A medal round of 79 was required to make the first 32 low in the championship bracket. Reynolds Smith, Dallas city champion and former finalist in the state event, posted a 36-40-76. Smith found plenty of trouble on the homeward nine to shake up some of the confidence his supporters had in his ability to win this year's tournament.

In the first round today, Nowlin faced Horace Henry of Dallas, who qualified with a 76. David Goldman, Dallas Country club champion, had L. R. Robertson, one of the best putters in the tournament, as his foe. Reynolds Smith faced Norris Norton of Wichita Falls.

The upper bracket of the championship flight was sludged with stars such as Nowlin, Smith, Chas. Dexter, David Goldman, Tommy Cochran, Jack Jackson, and Rube Albaugh.

In the low-price motor car field there's nothing that even compares with Chevrolet's famous 5-mile ride. The reason is: No other car at Chevrolet's price has any of the vital features pictured here. And without these features, it's impossible to equal Chevrolet's ride! You can't get Knee-Action results with anything less than a genuine Knee-Action car. You can't get six-cylinder economy with more than six—nor can you get valve-in-head performance with anything inferior to valve-in-head design. And the same thing applies to the Fisher body, the brakes, the steering. Chevrolet offers one feature after another that makes a tremendous difference—in the way the car feels, performs and saves. GREAT AMERICAN FLEET BOOMS OUT SALUTE TO ITS COMANDER

DAILY PANHANDLE GAS WASTE ALMOST EQUAL TO DOMESTIC CONSUMPTION IN WHOLE U. S.

AMARILLO, May 31. (P)—An amount of natural gas slightly less than the daily domestic consumption of the entire nation is wasted every day in the Texas Panhandle field—the world's largest known gas reservoir.

A billion cubic feet—enough to supply the fuel needs of 12,500 families a year—is being popped into the air daily, principally by gasoline absorption plants, in what was recently described to a Texas senate investigating committee as "the greatest economic crime in history."

Getting Worse Daily

Each month the average daily waste is being increased by more than 100,000,000 cubic feet and its proportions now are such that it presents one of the gravest problems confronting the Texas legislature, and perhaps one of the most perplexing situations in the nation involving the conservation of natural resources.

Largest cities of the west and midwest—Denver, Kansas City, Chicago, Omaha, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, St. Paul—which get their natural gas through big pipelines from the Panhandle are peculiarly interested since their source of supply is threatened with depletion.

Briefly, the question to be decided by the legislature is whether the immense reservoir, estimated by geologists at 16 trillion cubic feet, is to be conserved for use as fuel for a century, or depleted within in a decade or so for the immediate benefit of those in the best position to take advantage of the "law of capture."

Already Fourth Gone

Most geologists estimate that the reservoir underlying 1,300,000 acres, 115 miles long and 20 miles wide, is one-fourth depleted. The withdrawal now is at the rate of two billion cubic feet daily—450,000,000 to the 19 pipelines, 1,600,000,000 to the gasoline plants, the carbon black industry conserving 450,000,000 cubic feet of the residue. With no increase in the withdrawal, the field would last 16 years. The pipeline companies, however, who own more than half the total gas producing acreage, have threatened to begin "stripping" unless the practice is stopped.

The law legalizing "stripping" was passed by the legislature a year ago to provide landowners, leaseholders and independent producers a market for their gas after the pipelines had refused consistently to take ratably from all wells, a practice which is common to the oil industry. Most of the wastage is residue from the "stripping" plant for which there is no market.

No Equitable Market

Neither the gasoline plants nor the farmers and ranchers an equitable market. In the very shadow of the big "stripping" plants and of land adjacent to leases owned by the pipelines are farmers who have had gas wells for a decade and have never realized a dollar from their investment. Meanwhile their land values have been increased for taxation. Their gas is being drained from under them while their own wells, which they formerly looked upon with hopes for wealth, have become an economic burden. Their neighbors who have no gas wells are better off.

From 3,000 to 4,000 cubic feet of gas is stripped to produce a gallon of natural gasoline. At present prices for this product, which is blended in manufacturing motor fuel, it is necessary to strip 6,400,000 cubic feet—a year's fuel supply for 80 families—for the landowner to receive a dollar royalty.

May Not Need Gas

The Panhandle Gas Conservation association, which was organized recently to urge the control of waste, estimates that the stripping of gas and its rapid depletion will entail a loss of $100,000,000 to land owners and royalty owners in the ultimate recovery of both oil and gas, and $16,000,000 to the state in gross production tax alone.

New uses for gas and its value for fuel have entered the already complicated picture. The old statutes provided that gas should be utilized only for light and fuel. It already is obsolete for lighting purposes. Meanwhile, carbon black has been given an equal rating with fuel.

"Industry and science are moving rapidly, and the civilization of the next generation may have no use for natural gas," commented the railroad commission in this connection.

PROUD PARADE OF 96 SHIPS VIEWED TODAY

AIR DEMONSTRATION IS PART OF COLORFUL DISPLAY

NEW YORK, May 31. (P)—The United States fleet, a gaunt gray armada of 96 ships and 40,000 men, paraded proudly before President Roosevelt today in one of the greatest pageants of American naval history.

Sailing in from southern waters, the fleet met at rendezvous with its commander-in-chief at sea, two miles off Ambrose lightship, near the harbor entrance.

It was a three-fold spectacle—the ships in review, the planes in an aerial demonstration and the final procession of the vessels to berths about Manhattan.

The early morning fog was dispelled by a warm mid-day sun and the column of ships, 12 miles long, came up over the horizon majestically on the sparkling sea.

Pass 500 Yards Away

With battle flags flying and guns thundering the presidential salute, the vessels passed within 500 yards of the anchored reviewing ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis on which stood President Roosevelt.

A second heavy cruiser, the Louisville, flying the flag of Col. H. L. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, accompanied the Indianapolis.

The United States fleet flagship, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, under the four star blue flag of Admiral D. F. Sellers, led the line of march.

All in Full Dress

For nearly an hour the ships passed, with all men in full dress uniform and the rails manned—a tradition of the sea, with men spaced at arms length about the rails.

As each vessel drew abreast of the president, the crew came to hand salute, the guard presented arms, the band played the National Anthem and each saluting ship—battleships and cruisers—in turn gave the presidential salute of 21 guns, fired at five second intervals.

The president, himself a sea-going man and once assistant secretary of the navy, accepted each salute and eyed the ships and men closely, proudly, as the 700,000-ton power of the navy was spread before him.

The flagship Pennsylvania, after passing in review, anchored in the reviewing line, and the six carriers Saratoga and Lexington, each with two escort destroyers, and the U. S. S. Langley took places favorable to launching their planes.

Planes Blacken Sky

As the last ship in line passed the president, the carriers released their planes, a swarm blackening the sky for half an hour, flying about in formations, laying smoke screens, flying and zooming in horizontal and dive bombings.

The ships of the fleet executed a counter-march and fell in behind the reviewing vessels as they weighed anchor and the president's ship led the way in a stately parade to land. The twelve air squadrons, representing 174 planes, returned to nest and ride in on the decks of their carriers.

Thousands of spectators saw the review at sea from steamers and private vessels and planes, but literally millions lined the New York and New Jersey shores to watch the procession of ships into the harbor and to cheer:

"The fleet's in!"

JACKSONVILLE TOMATO FESTIVAL RECALLS BEGINNINGS OF INDUSTRY

RUSK, May 31. (P)—"National Tomato Week," the first general celebration of the cultivation of the tomato in East Texas, will be observed throughout the growing area, June 3 to 9. The event, which will climax in the Jackson Tomato Festival, has set pioneer growers reminiscing regarding the origin and development of the industry.

To a little band of Craft (Cherokee county) men—R. B. Jarratt, S. H. Jarratt, A. L. Dover, C. A. Walker, W. N. Goodson, Joe Sharp and Tom Taylor—inspired by C. D. Jarratt and W. R. Stout, belong pioneer honors. Regardless of the scoffs of neighbors and the handicaps of inexperience, they laid the foundation for an industry which has had an almost phenomenal development reaching far beyond East Texas.

In 1896, two brothers-in-law, C. D. Jarratt and W. R. Stout, employed in the Cotton Belt railroad offices at Tyler, made the acquaintance of an ex-Mississippian growing tomatoes on a small scale for express shipment. Amazed by his season's returns, the railroad men determined to sell the tomato idea to their home community.

Elaborately they pictured to relatives and friends the new road to wealth. A few caught the vision and agreed to risk some 35 or 40 acres. They sent a representative to Crystal Springs to study Mississippi methods of culture and prepared to plant the first carload crop of Texas tomatoes.

Although they financed two of the crops, C. D. Jarratt and W. R. Stout remained in Tyler during the first growing season. When the tomatoes were ready for market Jarratt took the first car to St. Louis. Thus began the long career as buyer and grower which won for him the title "Father of the East Texas Tomato."

In time the first coldframes appeared. "So many fool questions were asked," recalled S. H. Jarratt, "that we started telling folks it was a populist cemetery."

"In our haste to get started," another pioneer explained, "we planted the hotbeds before Christmas and they all got killed. I tried to save mine by painting the sheet and of course killed all my plants before they froze. We had lots to learn!"

"It must have been an ideal year," contributed another, "for 300 pounds of cottonseed meal per acre was our only fertilizer. Tomatoes simply won't grow that way now."

Minus inspection, pops, catfaces, and all manner of culls going in with choice fruit, the first car was loaded June 14, 1897. The season's shipment was limited to 6 or 8 cars.

The entire county listened for returns. Two hundred and fifty dollars for one acre of tomatoes when cotton was selling at 5 cents per pound! Skeptical neighbors who had jeered at the "fool tomato venture" longed for a share in the gold mine. It was not surprising that the 1898 tomato acreage showed such heavy increase that many farms stood idle.

Two decades later Jacksonville was the center of an 8-mile radius producing 90 per cent of the tomatoes shipped from Texas. Despite the extension of acreage in East Texas, southwest Texas and the Rio Grande valley, Cherokee county is still recognized as the center of the state's tomato industry.

Possibly no other industry has had a more romantic development. In the beginning only a small wrinkled member of the poisonous nightshade family, an outcast from the realm of food, next a garden ornament whose supposed aphrodisiac properties gave it the romantic name of love apple. Finally an article of commerce shipped by trainloads to supply its universally advertised vitamins to waiting millions. Such are the major divisions in the life story of the tomato.

Sixteenth century Spanish explorers, homeward bound from South America, carried tomato seed. These strange plants, discovered possibly in Peru, would make enviable additions to Spanish gardens. Into North America also,

Pampa Furniture Co. Shows Aged Sewing Machine

Especially for the Pre-Centennial, John W. Crout has had an interesting relic that has been in the family for three generations brought to Pampa. It is a Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine, patented in 1850 and apparently manufactured soon thereafter. It has been in storage in Vernon for many years until Crout had it sent here and put on display at the Pampa Furniture company store.

The machine was brought to Denison, Texas, in 1850 by Crout's grandfather, James Wood.

Crout and L. O. Johnson also provided an interesting display of World War relics for Memorial day. These included pictures of war scenes, various types of ammunition, shell fragments, etc. G. C. Malone provided a World War rifle and cartridge belt.

Also in the Pampa Furniture store display is a mercantile agency reference book published by R. G. Dunn and company in July, 1855, when the nearest town to Pampa having a bank was Panhandle. Then Panhandle business houses of that date, some of which old-timers will probably recall, are listed in the directory.

CHOOSE THE TIRE CHAMPIONS BUY Firestone

Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-Mile Race FOR 15 CONSECUTIVE YEARS

EVERY winner in the 500-Mile Indianapolis Race—the most gruelling tire test in the world —drove to victory on Firestone High Speed Tires.

Race drivers know that heat generated by friction inside the cotton cords is the greatest enemy of tire life. These men will not risk their lives on any but Firestone Tires, because they know the high stretch cords in every Firestone Tire are protected by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Gum-Dipping soaks the high stretch cords in liquid rubber and saturates and coats the millions of fibers inside the cords, counteracting destructive friction and heat. It provides greater adhesion between the plies of the tire, and between the Gum-Dipped cord body and the tread.

Firestone chemists and engineers kept pace with new car developments by building stronger, safer tires to meet the exacting demands. Drive in today and equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, with deeper, thicker, flatter, and wider non-skid tread, more and tougher rubber, more traction, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Remember, in Firestone High Speed Tires there is Greater Strength—Greater Safety—and Greater Blowout Protection than in any tire made.

THE ADHESION TEST

Note how the rubber in a Firestone Tire clings to the high stretch Gum-Dipped cords. This greater adhesion and strength is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Note how the rubber in an ordinary tire pulls away from the cords that have not been soaked and laminated with rubber. This causes friction and heat within the cords, resulting in separation.

Oil Field News

By GEORGE L. GUTHRIE Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

In Gray county, the Skelly Oil company is cleaning out after shooting its Vickers number 13, in section 127, block 3, I&GN. It is estimated that it will make about a 300-barrel well. It is also cleaning out its number 5 Heaton in section 164, block 3, I&GN after shooting but there is no estimate of the number of barrels it will make.

E. O. Lilly et al. number 1 Hughey in section 16, block 3, I&GN have shot the dolomite pay and are bailing out. This well is a half a mile east of the Empire Gas and Fuel company's number 1 Hood, which came in in 1927 for an initial production of 655 barrels after a shot of 470 quarts.

The Dixon Creek Oil company is drilling at 3274 in its Garey number 1 section 114, block 3 I&GN and has a show of oil. It will shoot its number 1 Barrett in section 127, block 3, I&GN, today.

In Wheeler county, the Mid-Continent has failed to make its number 4 Carville as good as number 5 Carville was after several days of cleaning out. This was probably due to a local change in the porosity of the lime pay in that area.

In the eastern half of Wheeler county the Piney Oil and Gas company's well in the north east quarter of section 64, block 13 is on test and may average 100 barrels a day. The Skelly Oil company's Mary E-1 in section 5, block A-8 is sidetracking a bit at 2160. There have been no further reports on the Debaw well in section 26 block 13, which is one of the most important wells now drilling in Wheeler county, as it will do much to determine the trend of the pay in that area.

AID FOR QUINTUPLETS CORBELL, Ont., May 31. (AP)—While aid was hurried from the outside world, a country doctor continued an unceasing fight today for the lives of five tiny patients—quintuplets born in a humble farm home. Now three days old, the infant girls were gaining strength—but the heaviest weighed only three pounds, four ounces at birth. Quintuplets are rare in medical annals and it is even rarer for all to survive.

GONZALES OLDTIMER RECALLS HOW SALT MADE FROM "FLATS"

GONZALES, May 31. (AP)—Making salt is a forgotten art that once was a part of the annual tasks of pioneers in this section. The salt still is there but present-day residents prefer to get the product in a more convenient form at the grocery store.

In the 60's during dry periods of the year settlers from all over this section would go to the salt flats near Pilgrim to lay in a 12-month supply. It was an arduous process but the easiest and cheapest way of getting salt.

The salt flats, located 10 miles south of Gonzales, form an area of more than a mile square. On the surface of the sandy soil a salty crust forms from which salt can be made.

In order to extract the pure salt from the sand and salt mixture, it was customary in the old days to use a box similar to an ash hopper. The box, or hopper, was filled with the salt crust and water poured over it.

As the water filtered through it was caught in buckets, poured into large kettles and boiled until nothing remained but salt. Several days were required to make enough to last the average family for a period of a year.

HOLIDAY BALL CROWDS JAM MAJOR PARKS

EIGHT CITIES PROVIDE TOTAL TURNOUT OF 238,000

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

The season's biggest turnout of fans made the first of the holidays which fall within the baseball season a pleasant memory to major league magnates yesterday although it might rankle a bit in the minds of the players of five clubs which failed to win a game.

About 238,000 fans filled the stands in eight cities. The largest throng, 70,000, gathered at the Yankee stadium to see New York and Washington divide a pair of brilliantly played games.

At New York Earl Whitehill held the Yankees hitless for 8 1-3 innings, then was removed after giving the one New York hit in Washington's 1 to 0 triumph. The Yankees evened the count and remained close behind Cleveland's league leaders by taking the second game 5 to 4 in 11 innings.

Cleveland also was held to an even break, dropping the 12 inning opener to Chicago 9 to 7, despite Sammy Hale's two homers, then winning the second contest 5 to 4 when Hal Trosky hit three homers in a row.

Detroit's third place Tigers were the only American leaguers to win two games, beating the St. Louis Browns 7-6 and 5-4, and they had to go 10 innings to capture the second game.

Philadelphia and Boston split a morning and afternoon program. The A's took a 3 to 2 decision in an early encounter marked by the first appearance of Boston's brother battery of Ferrell and Ferrell. The Red Sox came back with a 2 to 1 triumph behind Dusty Rhodes' five-hit pitching.

Three of the four teams involved in the National league battle swept twin bills while the fourth, Pittsburgh, lost twice and skidded down to fourth place. The Chicago Cubs accounted for the Pirates' downfall by scores of 7 to 2 and 5 to 4.

Chuck Klein's 13th homer helped win the opener while the second game went 11 innings before Larry French walked in the odd run.

The league leading St. Louis Cardinals took two easy victories from the last-place Cincinnati Reds, 9 to 6 and 9 to 2, piling up 29 hits in the two games while the New York Giants captured second place from Pittsburgh by walloping Brooklyn 5 to 2 and 8 to 6 and had additional cause for celebration when Lefty Watson Clark pitched his first full game in the opener.

WHEAT IN ADVANCE

CHICAGO, May 31. (AP)—Wheat jumped more than 3 cents to above $1.00 a bushel after sharp downturns at the start. Abnormally high temperatures and practically no important abatement of drought in domestic wheat territory gave impetus to great general buying. Opening 1/2-1/4 lower, July 96-97, wheat rapidly soared nearly four cents in some cases, as compared with the initial bottom figures.

Wheat closed excited at the day's top 4 1/2-5/8 above Tuesday's finish, corn 3 1/2-4 cents up, oats 2 1/2-3 1/4 advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 30 cents.

July traded down to 11.32, October to 11.52, and December to 11.64, down eight to nine points from yesterday's close.

PALO DURO STATE PARK WILL BE DEDICATED IN 5-DAY EVENT

Formal dedication of Palo Duro State Park, 25 miles southeast of Amarillo, will be marked with a five-day celebration beginning July 4, D. E. Culp, chairman of the state park board, announced.

Panhandle Park boosters and the state and national park officials are aiming to make the occasion of the formal park opening the greatest outdoor festival ever staged in this section.

Contract has been signed between Leonard Stroud, world famous rodeo rider and promoter, for five afternoon rodeo performances and evening entertainments.

Pageant Planned
A pageant is being written for the park opening. It was announced.

There are 20 wild bucking horses in the canyon at present, and Fred Marshall, who has charge of them, reported that Stroud had asked to lease them in addition to his regular riding in order to make the Palo Duro rodeo the biggest event possible.

Stroud is bringing a company of 20 Indian performers as well, according to Mr. Marshall.

Speaking Program
Since the state and sectional political races will be nearing the home stretch by the Fourth of July, the park authorities are expected to arrange several speaking programs for the numerous candidates.

Letters have been sent to all chambers of commerce organizations in the Panhandle area inviting them to assist in staging the big affair.

High state officials in addition to the park leaders will be invited to participate in the dedication activities.

Pampa has had the largest delegation of any city in the Panhandle to visit the canyons, according to T. H. Elliott of the state park service said this morning. Mr. Elliott has a loud speaking system here and also slides of the Palo Duro canyons. He will show the pictures in the school library this afternoon and tomorrow. Time will be announced at the gymnasium and other places.

Many riding parties are visiting the canyons. Fred Marshall and Hollis Hollabaugh, his assistant, are in charge of the rides. They will supply a guide free to parties of five or more.

dream of a golden city of Cibola, described to him by traitorous Indians. All he found was dirty Indians and starving horses.

LaSalle, claiming Texas for the French, was shown in the entry of the Elks club. The Business and Professional Women's club float showed the first wedding in Texas, that of St. Denis and Marie Villessac. The Mission San Francisco de los Tejas was reproduced on the float of the Holy Souls Catholic church. This old mission was the first Catholic church in Texas and was founded in 1690.

Lions Show Alamo
A replica of the Alamo, the shrine of Texas liberty, was shown on the entry of the Pampa Lions club and the Rotary club float bore a reproduction of another mission of great significance in Texas history, the mission nSan Francisco de la Espada, which is still standing at San Antonio after 300 years. Stephen F. Austin, called the father of Texas, was shown in his Mexico City dungeon, where he was incarcerated for over a year by Santa Anna, on the float of the First Methodist church. The American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion united in the construction of another beautiful historical float.

Texas under six flags was the title of the entry of the Treble Clef club. Two large and beautiful maps of Texas adorned the sides of the float, and color bearers carried the flags of France, Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the United States, and the Southern Confederacy, the six flags which have waved over Texas soil during its colorful history.

Surrender Seen
Santa Anna surrendering to Sam Houston after the battle of San Jacinto in 1836 was posed by pageant characters on the float of the Kiwanis club. This float, bearing a large tree under which the wounded Sam Houston reclined, was drawn by four white horses.

LaFitte the pirate and his crew on Galveston Island was portrayed by the float of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. LaFitte set up a miniature kingdom about 1800 and was a law unto himself in Texas for several years.

Old-timers at the high school gym this morning were showing the "young squirts" a thing or two about dancing, several couples doing steps of two or three decades ago to the tunes of a string band. One of the highlights was a real old-fashioned jig by Jim Bowers.

Mrs. Claude Ledrick and several other old-timers were wearing costumes of long ago. Mrs. Ledrick was wearing a dress she made 35 years ago. It included a black silk skirt that reached the floor and a hand-made shirtwaist.

Memphis brought her 32-piece uniformed band which, playing at intervals on the streets, attracted much favorable attention.

Amarilloans, as heralded, were arriving in large numbers.

PAGEANT

Santa Anna, Moses Austin, Stephen F. Austin and scores of others re-enacting historical scenes in pantomime while a reader explained their actions over a public address system.

The pageant is chock full of action—it could hardly be otherwise, considering the colorful and exciting history of Texas. There is plenty of shooting, stabbing, hating and loving—all authentic history. The pageant will last from 8:15 until 10 o'clock tomorrow night. Last night's dress rehearsal was the last rehearsal scheduled, although many of the characters donned their costumes today to take part in the Pre-Centennial parade.

with the singing of America and a salute to the flag. Immediately after the salute, he said, "the heckling was started by Julio Guerra, district clerk, who stood on a bench in the audience."

"I then remarked," Canales said, "that this was a peaceful meeting and we are going to keep it so and I am going to appoint a sergeant-at-arms."

He quoted Julio Guerra as saying, "we are going to let you speak but you can't talk personalities." He said a short time later Julio Guerra advanced toward him but some men held him back and the melee started.

means and some time ago got a gun to shoot myself but I was arrested for carrying it and placed on probation.

"I was laid off as a mechanic and in the hospital several times." The officers urged the man to consider his invalid wife and three children. They said he wept at the mention of his family.

But he insisted he would carry out his plan, saying to "kingdom come," despite the fact that officers promised they would obtain work for him.

Benpet, police said, told them he once served a term in the penitentiary at Florence, Ariz., on a grand theft charge, being pardoned in 1909.

NINE ARRESTS MADE
City police officers made four arrests on charges of drunkenness and two arrests for vagrancy last night. Pleas of guilty were received on each charge this morning by Judge W. M. Craven. County and precinct officers made three arrests on intoxication charges last night.

IN TRIPLE COLLISION
WOODBRIDGE, N. J., May 31 (AP)—A man with a summons for reckless driving in his pocket drove his car into a triple collision early today, and three women were killed. Six other persons, including a little girl, were seriously injured. Two may die.

North Carolina state college broke traditional custom this spring and omitted a formal address at the annual commencement exercises.
