OHIO TROOPS AGAIN USE RIFLES IN 3-DAY STRIKE BATTLE; ONE MAN SHOT

1500 RIOTERS TRY TO STOP MAN'S ARREST

MOB IS WASHED BACK WITH BLASTS FROM GAS GUNS

TOLEDO, O., May 26 (AP)—Rifles barked again today on Toledo's strike-ridden front.

As new moves for peace appeared in the protracted automotive walkout, national guardsmen brought their firearms into play for the third consecutive day in the riot-scarred factory district.

A detachment of 15 riflemen fired a volley into the air when part of a growing throng of some 1,500 persons tried to prevent militiamen from taking a prisoner in the crowd.

Casualties were added to the growing list of those injured when the guardsmen made their foray into the massed hundreds in the street. As the crowd resisted the militiamen, reinforced momentarily for the effort, the strikers and their sympathizers were washed back with repeated blasts from gas projectile guns.

One man was rouna a short time later with a serious gunshot wound near an artery in his thigh. He was identified as Owen Dougherty, 24, but how he got the wound remained undisclosed.

A newspaper photographer, David West, was slugged in the scuffle incident to the capture of the drunken man, and he lost his camera.

Clarence Hanson, 27, was struck and hurt by a flying brick. Ralph Dickens, 27, was taken to a hospital with a bayonet gash in the back.

Two other men, among five jailed on suspicion—Joseph Thorpe, 29, and William Radde, 39—suffered slight bayonet wounds in the scuffling.

One of five men picked up was Ted Selander, 29, an official of an unemployed council. During the day a dozen suspects were stung out of the crowds and placed in improvised guardhouses of the militiamen for questioning in an effort to apprehend agitators.

During the evening's melee a guardsman fired on an automobile. He said the driver had failed to halt outside guard lines upon orders to do so. The windshield of another automobile was smashed by guardsmen, using their rifle butts for clubs, for similar reasons.

The incidents were over within a few minutes, the only serious disorders of the day. During five days of rioting two men have been killed, and nearly 200 persons injured.

Meanwhile, a sudden flurry of checker-board moves and counter-

Parents Listen To Scouts Plans

Parents of Boy Scouts were interested listeners to plans on the Boy Scout camporal at Near-To-Nature park on Monday and Tuesday when they visited Scout headquarters in the city hall yesterday morning.

Some of the parents opposed their boys' attending the camp until they learned the program of activities and the care taken of the boys.

The Pampa Scouts will leave Monday in buses for the camp headquarters. Seven Pampa troops had registered to attend up to yesterday afternoon. Scout Executive C. A. Clark was to leave this morning to see that everything was in readiness.

The large statue to be awarded the troop making the most points in contests has been on display in Murfee's Inc. window and it has been admired by hundreds.

Mothers Mourn Wayward Scions

Her body shaken by sobs, her face buried in a handkerchief, Mrs. Emma Parker, mother of the notorious Bonnie, is shown leaving the funeral home after granting a clamorous public permission to view the body of her slain daughter.

RURAL REHABILITATION WILL BE ATTEMPTED UNDER BOARD TO BE SET UP WEDNESDAY

The Gray county relief board last week was instructed to set up a rural rehabilitation commission by the Texas relief organization. Mrs. W. H. Davis, administrator for Gray county, has called a meeting of those who will comprise the commission for 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in the city hall. The Gray county board will meet at the same time.

The new commission, according to word from Austin, will consist of the county administrator, Mrs. W. H. Davis, the county agent, Ralph Thomas; the county home demonstration agent, Miss Ruby Adams; the vocational agricultural teacher, J. L. Lester; the A. A. A. committee chairman, Clarence Bowers of Laketon; and the chairman of the emergency crop loan association, J. B. Demlee of McLean.

The above committees in turn will appoint another committee to be composed of two land owners, a tenant farmer, and two farm women, and will be contact committee. The object of the program is to (See RURAL, Page 6)

DISNEY PLAN WILL REPLACE THOMAS BILL

SCOPE OF CHANGES IS NOT KNOWN; TEXAN LEADS FIGHT

By WILLIAM S. WHITE, Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—

The administration's oil production control bill was modified tentatively today by a senate mining subcommittee in executive session, as proponents strove for speedy action on both sides of the capitol next week.

The scope of the revisions adopted by the sub-committee, still to be proposed by the whole committee for a vote not later than Tuesday, could not be learned. Senator Thomas (D. Utah), sub-committee chairman, said, however, he believed the bill now would be "much more acceptable" to all factions.

Thomas disclosed the first action of his body was virtually to substitute for the senate bill, by Thomas (D. Okla.), the Disney house measure. That step had been expected.

How much further the revision went, however, he declined to say, explaining the matter still had to go to the whole committee.

Asked what action was taken concerning a section in both bills permitting Secretary Ickes, as petroleum administrator, to set production quotas for individual wells and leases, Thomas replied without application that efforts were made to "provide a cooperative arrangement between the states and the federal government."

Carl Estes, Tyler, Texas, publisher, and advocate of the bill in general, began two days ago an attack on the quota allocation provision, contending it unnecessarily invaded state sovereignty.

After he had launched the assault it was learned authoritatively the administration, while publicly still on record as insisting upon the provision, probably would be willing to waive it insofar as Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas—all of which have state regulatory bodies of their own—are concerned, provides that step was regarded necessary to save the bill.

Estes today expressed confidence the bill would not carry the section in issue, saying "90 per cent" of the proponents of the bill had come around to his view.

Conferees Are In Agreement On Stock Measure

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The long, dispute-ridden task of writing a law for the regulation of the nation's security markets tonight entered its last phase with completion and final enactment within a week assured.

Conferees of house and senate reached a complete agreement on all the measure's many and intricate details. On Tuesday their report will be laid before the senate. As soon as it approves, the report will go to the house. Then President Roosevelt will sign the bill.

The agreement reached today put the measure in its final form. The conference report must be either accepted or rejected by senate and house with no amendments permitted.

The measure provides for regulation by a specially created commission of five members. It calls for the registration of exchanges and listed securities with the administrative board, and empowers the latter to require extensive and frequent reports on the financial condition of listed corporations.

The bill gives wide discretion in the imposition of minimum margins to the federal reserve board put for its guidance sets up a standard under which the purchase of securities would be required to post at least 45 per cent of its current market value.

RECREATION IS NOT POSSIBLE THIS SUMMER

Lacking Funds, Body Decides Not to Start

In announcing that the program proposed could not be launched this summer, the Pampa Recreational board yesterday issued the following statement:

"News of the failure of the Recreational board to accomplish its goal in Pampa (namely, the furnishing of pastime amusement and environment for the boys and girls of the city during the school vacation period) will be received with disappointment by the many clubs and civic organizations of Pampa who were instrumental in starting the movement that is doing a very commendable work in other localities.

The reason for the failure of the board was not the lack of interest of the board or members of the general assembly who were selected by the above mentioned organizations and in turn selected the board from its members, but in order to carry out the program in Pampa, it is necessary to have one supervisor and two assistants, which would necessarily have to be paid their salaries from the city funds. The city commission was requested for a maximum of $750 for this purpose to carry out the program in Pampa, but has preparation for this work now would be so short, the board deemed it advisable not to attempt to put it into effect this year.

Pageant Rehearsal Is Tuesday Night

A highly important rehearsal of the Pre-Centennial Pageant will be held at the high school gym on Tuesday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. It will be the next to the last rehearsal. Final practice will be Wednesday night.

Costumes for the 125 characters will arrive today, according to a telegram from Worth Amusement Enterprises, Dallas, costumer for the pageant. Directors urged all members of the cast to attend rehearsal Tuesday night and to use their influence in securing 100 per cent attendance.

F.D.R. 'Opens' World's Fair

Chicago, May 26 (AP)—A dazzling display of rainbow light flooded the world's fair tonight at the turn of the hand of motion picture proxy of President Roosevelt.

The figure of the president flashed upon the screens of three theaters on the grounds before thousands of persons massed in first night audiences. They saw him press a button. Immediately by synchronization the great system of illumination burst into a multi-hued suffu-switch the wondering throngs looked over the rippled surface of the lagoon and saw the world's largest fountain spout up and spray in the dancing rays of submerged klieg lamps.

The first family thus initiated the most fascinating features of the lake front show. These words of Mr. Roosevelt rang in the hearers' ears:

"Those who will come to the exposition of Century of Progress of 1934 will discover many evidences of recovery that have been brought about and see many signs pointing the way along that upward path along which we, as a nation, have set our feet."

The optimistic sentiment had a practical echo at the fair gates. At 9 p. m. paid admissions reached the 146,880 mark—more than 27,000 above the 1933 inaugural day attendance.

Mrs. Roosevelt was cast on the same celluloid sheet. As she closed

CONSTABLE IS STILL SOUGHT FOR SLAYING

OKLAHOMA SHERIFF IS SHOT TO DEATH IN ELECTION FEUD

THACKERVILLE, Okla., May 26 (AP)—Constable John Smith, who is sought for the slaying of Sheriff Sam H. Randolph of Love county here late Friday after a "bad blood" quarrel was still at large late today as posses searched the river bottoms and guarded bridges.

Randolph was shot through the heart in a grocery store, allegedly after slapping the constable in the face when Smith made what was considered an insulting remark concerning the officer's work.

"Don't believe a word of it," witnesses quoted the constable as saying. "They said the sheriff, who had driven down to Thackerville from Marietta, the county seat, with Undersheriff Lovell Green on a trip in the interest of his campaign for re-election, did not think Smith was serious at first, but when the constable repeated the remark, Randolph struck him in the face."

Green was outside the store tacking up a campaign card. He rushed in as Smith fired a bullet into the sheriff's chest. Green said the 60-year-old constable then threatened him as he grabbed the undersheriff's pistol and fled in an automobile.

Smith's friends expressed belief he would await an opportune moment for surrendering but that he likely considered such a move unsafe in view of the assembling of hundreds of citizens when news of the killing spread. Officers said, however, that apparently the crowd was merely a curious throng.

Bolivia Claims Decisive Victory In Chaco Battle

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 26 (AP)—Bolivian army headquarters today declared its forces were winning a general victory against the Paraguayan attack in the "Canada strongest" sector of the Chaco border.

The following communique was issued: "As an indication of the magnitude of the disaster which Paraguay has suffered in the Canada strongest sector is the fact that the total 10th regiment of infantry was destroyed. Its commander, Major Cesar Lopez, and those who remained alive in his command were captured."

"Destroyed in the same way was the famous 9th cavalry regiment whose chief, Capt. Flores Avalos, with many of his men, was captured."

"The 2nd of May" regiment was badly cut up and one of its battalions, ignorant until the last moment of the Bolivian action, was captured with its commander, Captain Pampliega."

"The heroic Bolivian air corps performed brilliantly in the battle. Among its innumerable feats must be mentioned the complete destruction of an enemy artillery battery. Air bombs destroyed four heavy field pieces."

Price of the tickets is three for a dollar. Each ticket will entitle the holder to admission to the donkey baseball game, the old time square dance and the pageant.

Jaycee Prexy PLAN TO FLY 6,100 MILES IN 65 HOURS

LEBOURGET, France, May 27 (Sunday) (AP)—Heading westward for California on a 6,100-mile non-stop flight, the veteran French fliers Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi soared into a dawn-streaked sky today in the plane which holds the present world record.

They took off at 4.10 a. m. (11:10 p. m. eastern standard time) laden with more than 2,000 gallons of fuel and rose slowly and steadily after bumping dangerously over 5,000 feet of runway.

Suddenly deciding Saturday, after weeks of quiet preparation, that the time was ripe, the two fliers who flew 5,635 miles in 1933 from New York to Syria, set out on the most ambitious non-stop westward flight ever undertaken.

Weather reports favored them in their dangerous westward Atlantic journey. Last reports, shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night, said the weather was good over the Atlantic, with tail winds.

The fliers took off within 10 minutes of the time they had announced. Their wives and Rossi's weeping mother were not at the field, but they were waved on their way by Dieudonne Coste, who made the westward crossing of the Atlantic with Maurice Bellonte, and by Madame Louis Blerio, wife of the builder of the plane they flew.

"We are going just as far as we can," said Rossi, as he climbed into the ship's cabin before the take-off and seated himself at the controls. "We don't know just where we will land, but we hope it will be somewhere on the Pacific coast between San Francisco and San Diego."

Both aviators remained at Rossi's home all during the evening, so busy making ready for the departure they had no time for dinner.

Rossi's aged mother begged him on bended knees to abandon the trip, but he was determined. "Nothing, mama, will stop me," the son replied gently as Madame Rossi clung to him.

The aviator's route depended upon the weather, which was reported extremely favorable over the Atlantic where a tail wind was expected to boost their speed during the first 12 hours after they leave the Irish coast.

They expected to first sight the American continent over Newfoundland or Nova Scotia and cross it passing over either New York or Montreal. The fliers were eager to give New York a sight of their plane and picked San Diego as the most likely destination.

A prize of $50,000 francs ($2,500) awaits them if they succeed. The prize is offered by the French government, which owns the plane.

The single-motored plane had not been altered, with the exception of a new radiator, since the record-breaking flight to Syria.

The fliers, while depending on radio messages to help keep them on the right track, are carrying neither parachutes nor a collapsible boat for use in event of an accident.

The slow plane is built for distance rather than swiftness. It has a maximum speed of 105 miles an hour with a cruising speed of 93 miles. It takes off and lands at only 37 miles an hour.

Ever since the Pre-Centennial celebration and Pioneers Roundup was announced six weeks ago, Clarence Kennedy, above, president of the Junior chamber of commerce, has labored daily without ceasing. He is the "big wheel" which has made every other wheel turn.

ALL PANHANDLE IS INTERESTED IN CELEBRATION

'Eyes Of Texas' Are Truly Upon Pre-Centennial

On next Thursday and Friday, Pampa will produce a celebration that has no precedent in Texas history—the first observance in the state of the 100th anniversary of Texas' bloody but glorious struggle for independence.

Six weeks ago, the idea was new to the young but enthusiastic and hard-working members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Today, thanks to wide publicity, the eyes of Texas are upon the Pre-Centennial celebration and Pioneers Roundup—just as Pampans hoped they would be when initial plans were announced.

The celebration started out as a Jaycee idea but it has become a Pampa idea. Today scores of Pampans women, not old timers only, mind you, but also modern young women, single and married, have their heads, hands and hearts united, working for the success of that celebration. High school students, teachers, preachers, priests, barbers, CWA workers, society matrons and at least one negro are doing their share in the pageant, and the parade. Long-time residents, both men and women, are intensely interested in the Pioneer Roundup activities.

In neighboring towns the interest is no less great. They are talking about the celebration in Panhandle, Canadian, Higgins, (See CENTENNIAL, Page 6)

Pre-Centennial Ticket Demand Is Growing In City

Another increase in Pre-Centennial ticket sales was reported yesterday after placards urging readers to buy the pasteborders were placed in all drug stores and confectioneries in the city.

Price of the tickets is three for a dollar. Each ticket will entitle the holder to admission to the donkey baseball game, the old time square dance and the pageant.

Henry Ford Gets Job At World's Fair From Boy

CHICAGO, May 26. (AP)—Henry Ford came out to the World's Fair today and got a job. A 10-year-old Boston boy offered him a chance to serve as guide around the Ford exhibit, and Ford, while his secretaries complained, took him on a personally conducted tour.

Before it was over, it developed into quite a job. A half dozen other visitors, between 9 and 15 years of age, accepted Ford's services and fell in with the party. Meanwhile, several important business callers waited.

Up to that time, Ford had gone through the exhibit unrecognized by the first visitors. He arrived shortly after the fair gates swung open.

Ford's employer was young Geoffrey Berman. The auto builder saw Geoffrey as the boy was inspecting some forges. The two struck up an acquaintance and the boy plied Ford with questions about this exhibit and that.

"Mr. Ford," said a secretary, "you're not going to get any place today, going like this. We can give these boys some books which will give them all the statistics."

"I'll give the statistics myself," said Ford. "The boys come first. What did you say, Geoffrey?"

NOGALES, Ariz., May 26 (AP)—Less of thousands of head of cattle in the state of Sonora, Mexico, was reported, unofficially here today. Severe drought conditions prevail.

Reports reaching the border are to the effect that unless the drought is broken soon that half of the cattle in the state are doomed. It is said that there are more than a million head of cattle now on the parched ranges.

ROYAL SCOT'S PROUD RECORD EASILY BROKEN

TRAVELS 96 MILES AN HOUR FOR OVER 1,000 MILES

CHICAGO, May 26. (AP)—Ending the first sunrise to sunset nonstop run in American railroad history, the Zephyr of the Burlington railroad swept into Chicago at 7:09 p. m. tonight (C. S. T.) at 96 miles an hour.

The rushing little stainless steel train more than doubled the proud record of Britain's Royal Scot for non-stop runs, bettered its own record for short run speed, and set a new American mark for sustained high speed.

It had travelled from Denver to Chicago without stopping, a distance of 1,019.4 miles, in 13 hours 5 minutes, between sunrise in the Colorado capital and sunset in Chicago.

The Royal Scot's record of 56 miles an hour for 401 miles was replaced by a new mark of 77.5 for the 1015.1 miles.

The Zephyr sped 96.3 miles at a sustained velocity of 90 miles and had reached a peak speed of 112 miles per hour which it held for three miles, beating its own previous mark by three miles.

The 600-horsepower Diesel motor pushed the modernistic train along the better-than-thirteen-hours between the breaking of a timer's tape at Denver union terminal and a similar one at Halsted street station here without a miss. Consistently the three coach train, which weighs less than 100 tons, had accepted race challenges from airplanes and beaten them.

It was said President Budd of the Burlington, a great day in American rail history.

Every mile of the long route was policed. Every highway and country lane was roped off to give the Zephyr the clearest right of way an American train ever had.

The trip, said President Budd, demonstrated three things: "That the morale of the men and officers of the Burlington is proved by the way this run has been planned and carried out; second, the efficient condition of the railroad has been shown; third, that the train performs fully up to expectations."

Uncounted thousands of persons lined the right of way as the Zephyr sped across eastern Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois.

The crowds were in evidence until the new style train breezed into its stall at the wings of a century building on the grounds of a Century of Progress where it will be an exhibit forecasting improvement of American railroads during the coming 100 years.

The blazing finish of the trip was in contrast to its start. Scheduled to leave Denver at five a. m. C. S. T., the train was found last night to have a burned out armature bearing. To help a fellow in distress the Union Pacific loaned the necessary parts, rushing them by fast train to Cheyenne and flying them to Denver from there.

It was but a few minutes before five the Zephyr rolled into the terminal. Hastily loaded, the 100-ton, three unit speeder swept out of the Denver station at 6:05 a. m. (Central Time) at the sun rose.

At Akron, Colo., the Zephyr slowed almost to a halt as news dispatches were thrown off.

White-faced, Budd rushed to ward the engine room crying: "Don't let it stop!"

The slow speed, it was explained, was due to a double reverse curve in the Akron yards. Relieved, Budd went back to his seat.

Japan Ready To Limit Parley To Naval Questions

TOKYO, May 26 (AP)—Japan is prepared to insist in preliminary naval discussions with London and with the United States—if the latter nation invites such talks—that the 1935 conference limit itself to naval questions, a high authority said today, and omit far eastern politics from the agenda.

In the Washington conference of 1921 and the subsequent London parley oriental political questions were discussed by the representatives of the western nations, but the present position of Japan is opposed to a repetition of this method of approach.

Foreign minister Koki Hirota, it was pointed out, made this position clear in an address here on May 4 when he declared that Japan would not confer with western nations on Asiatic matters. He was referring then particularly to the league of nations position on Manchukuo, but the same policy applies to naval matters, official quarters declared.

The navy office said the opportunity for preliminary discussions is welcomed and that experts on limitation questions probably will be sent to London and Washington to assist and advise the ambassadors.

PHILLIPS WINS FROM LOCALS IN 13-12 TILT

BOTH TEAMS COLLECT 16 HITS IN WILD SLUGFEST

The Phillips Oilers of Borger evened the count in games won and lost with the Pampa Roadrunners Friday night in Borger by taking a wild 13 to 12 game under artificial lights, which bothered the Roadrunners. Both teams collected 16 hits in the wild melee.

Although the Roadrunners gathered 14 extra base hits for a total of 28 bases, they were unable to get in the win column under Borger lights. Ater and Setz hit home runs and the former gathered in two triples besides his four ply wallop. Lefty Cox, big first baseman, got his batting eye to get a single, double, and triple on five trips to the plate. McLary gathered in two doubles and Ward and Vaughn got one each. Brickell connected for two singles and a double.

Borger's big hitters were Perry and Setz and home run, Deck and Franes with three single each, and Surface with a single and triple. Borger batters hopped on Stegman in the second inning, after going out three straight in the first stanza. The Oilers got five singles and Stegman hit one and hit one as Borger countered seven runs and chased the veteran to the showers. Hardin took up the hurling duties and rocked along in fair shape until the last inning when, with the Roadrunners one run ahead, he gave up three singles and took a "killer cut" and as a result, some fancy fanning in the pinches.

Underhill started on the mound for Borger but was relieved in the sixth by Mulrooney who finished the game. Borger's former Amarillo football star, got one and whiffed the game three times. The Pampa hurlers got six strikeouts while 10 Roadrunners took three cuts and went back to the dugout.

TO DEDICATE LEFORS PARK AT 3 TODAY

Coltoso's Gasoliners Will Play Roadrunners in New Tree-Surrounded Diamond

LeFors' new baseball park will be officially dedicated this afternoon with a baseball game between the Coltoso Gasoliners of LeFors and the Danciger Roadrunners of Pampa. Game time will be 3 o'clock.

The Roadrunners will be playing their third hard game in two days when they invade LeFors. The Coltoso aggregation has been strengthened by two good hurlers and three infielders. The latest addition to the team is Bellah, who will play the hot corner, releasing Freddy Newcome to his old position in the outfield. Bellah played third base with Hollis when that team played in Pampa. He is not a flashy player but is a steady fielder and a heavy hitter.

Manager Aaron Ward will have to make a sudden choice on his pitcher, while Manager Pointexter will have Haley and Croft ready for duty with Haley likely to get the call. He is a big righthander who had a trial with Fort Worth this spring. Manager Pointexter will be behind the bat.

A grandstand with a seating capacity of more than 300 and a bleacher section about the same size have been completed. The seating space will be enlarged for the football season or before if the necessity arises. The park is in the grove of trees on the river bank and near the swimming pool and picnic ground.

Admission to the opening game this afternoon will be 40 cents.

Baseball Game Is Delayed By Rain

A heavy rain in Wheeler Friday night caused postponement of the game scheduled for yesterday afternoon between the Pampa Indians and the Wheeler Independents. The two teams will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Wayne Kolley, who can catch, pitch, or play first base, arrived home from college yesterday and will be in the lineup this afternoon. Manager C. O. Busby will probably start Miles "Gomer" Marbaugh, big left hander, against Wheeler. Harold Gregory will be ready to relieve Marbaugh if he weakens.

Raymond Acklam, veteran, will be out of the game for some time. He may have to undergo an operation. Larry Tremary, pitcher and infielder, is expected home from college today and may arrive in time to accompany the team. Tremary has been playing third base at Texas Tech this spring.

Wheeler won the Cotton-Off league last year and has nearly the same lineup that represented Wheeler last season.

BULLA BEATS PHILLIPS FOR ROADRUNNERS

DECIDING GAME OF 5-GAME SERIES WON BY PAMPANS

Little George (Lefty) Bulla pitched his fifth consecutive victory yesterday afternoon as he hurled the Roadrunners to a 5 to 3 win over the Phillips "66" Oilers of Borger in the rubber game of a five-game series. Borger won two games under the lights at home while the Roadrunners took the three games played in Pampa.

Besides pitching winning ball, Bulla hit two nice doubles on four trips to the plate. He walked only one man, the second last man to bat, and fanned seven batters, four in a row in the fourth and fifth innings.

Manager Bill Ellis started the game for Borger and rocked along until the seventh inning when Haddock went to the mound to hold the Roadrunners to two hits and no runs.

Eddie Sain, Roadrunner catcher, picked out one he liked in the third inning and placed it over deep centerfield fence. Perry, Borger leftfielder, duplicated the feat in the fourth on one of Bulla's slow balls. Brickell doubled in the first inning for the only other extra base hit for the Roadrunners. Red Lowrance doubled for the Oilers in the third.

The Rev. Gaston Foote paid tribute to Charles "Chuck" Carroll, Pampa third baseman who died last Saturday following an operation, and asked the audience to remove their hats and look towards third base for 29 seconds. "He was a man first and a ballplayer second and was liked by all and liked all," Rev. Foote said. The game played yesterday and the game played in Borger Friday night were benefit games.

Whitney Vaughn played a great game in right field for the Roadrunners. He made three pretty catches on difficult flies into the sun. Seitz also looked good in the field and stole two bases. Cox looked better than in any other game this season. The all-around playing of Gib Jackson at shortstop for Borger was outstanding. Jackson replaced J. R. Corbett, who has failed to come through with his hitting.

The Roadrunners scored two runs in the opening inning. Brickell, first batter, doubled off the left field fence and went to third on Ater's fly. Seitz singled to score Brickell and went to second on the throw-in to home plate. Seitz scored from second when Vaughn rolled weakly to first and the first-baseman tossed wild to the pitcher who covered first. Two more scores crossed the plate in the second inning when Sain hit his home run and Cox walked to be scored by Bulla's double.

Borger scored in the second when Perry singled and went to second when the ball went through Setz for an error, an out and nice sacrifice bunt by Francis. Another was added in the third when Lowrance doubled and scored on Jackson's single. The Oilers came within a run of tying the score in the fourth inning with Perry's home run.

The Roadrunners went two runs in the lead in the fifth inning when Seitz walked with two out, stole second, and scored on Vaughn's single.

TURKMAN WEBS

MEXICO, D. F., May 26. (AP)—Luther C. Turkman, wealthy oil operator formerly of Fort Worth, Tex., was married today to Miss Zella Mae of Big Spring, Tex., who was chosen Miss West Texas in a 1933 beauty contest. Turkman came to Mexico in 1931 with two sons he removed from the custody of his first wife.

Mrs. Earl Isley of LeFors, was a Pampa shopper yesterday afternoon.

ESKIMO LOOKS DANGEROUS TO IRISH TERROR

TO FIGHT McSHAIN AT OWN GAME MONDAY EVENING

If looks would win wrestling matches, Danny McShain would be defeated before he enters the ring at the Pla-Mor auditorium tomorrow night to do battle with Jack Eku, French-Eskimo grappler from Nome, Alaska. Eku is a hard-looking mauler with lots of experience in the rough and tumble type of wrestling.

The northerner has been imported to battle McShain at his own game. The idea was conceived by the master mind, Dutch Mantell of Amarillo. The Irishman declares that the going will be rougher for the Eskimo than it has been for the others imported to down him.

Eku, whose regular profession is driving a dog team, is one of the most colorful grapplers in the game. He takes it seriously and adapts himself to the kind of mauling his opponent desires. His schooling was in the camps of Alaska, and it was a rough schooling.

The dapper Irishman is popular one week and unpopular the next. He completely loses his head when the going gets rough, and no one is safe. McShain can wrestle but it would cause heart failure among fans if he did. He likes to swing his fists and it is a wonder that he isn't a boxer.

Cyclone Mickey of Amarillo has been away from his home diggings for a long time, but he returned last week. Tomorrow night will get a chance at Dan Carver of El Paso in the semi-final. Wrestling should be in order in this event. Carver and Charlie Heard put on one of the best exhibitions of the year last week and Mackey can stick to the rules when necessary.

Jack Muller will replace Lobo Brown in the opener with Joe Bauer providing the opposition. It will be a case of German against German, and may be the best man win.

Tickets to the all-star attraction are on sale at Pampa Drug No. 1.

300 Persons Swim In Pool First Day

The water was warm but the atmosphere was cool for the opening of the municipal pool yesterday. When the doors opened yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, more than 25 youngsters were lined up at the door.

Harry Kelley, manager of the pool, estimated that more than 300 persons, mostly boys and girls, entered the pool. The temperature of the water was 83 degrees. Dick Sullins, life guard, was on hand all day.

The pool will be open this afternoon and tonight and for the rest of the summer.

PLOT TO KILL JEFF CAFFERY IS REPORTED

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO GUARD U. S. ENVOY'S LIFE

HAVANA, May 27 (AP)—A plot to assassinate United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery and to destroy American property in Cuba was reported today by Cuban police, who revealed that extraordinary precautions are being taken to guard the ambassador's life.

Cayetano Fraga, chief of the technical police, revealed that an automobile, suspected of containing assassins, had been observed loitering along the streets through which the American Ambassador drives on his way home.

Several efforts to capture the occupants of this mysterious car have failed, the chief said, as it has been too speedy for pursuing police machines.

While he said he had no definite information regarding the identity of the plotters, Fraga blamed "communists and other enemies of President Mendia and of Cuba who wished this government to fall and with it the Cuban republic."

Special policemen in plainclothes have been delegated, the chief said, to guard all American property and to protect prominent Americans in Cuba, "including newspapermen."

The explosion of a bomb on May 22 in the Havana post office building was referred to by Fraga as one evidence of "a plot against American property."

Mr. Caffery, it was indicated, was selected as an important American in Cuba because of his relations with the present government.

Communists and other radicals who oppose the government have made him a target of unfriendly slogans and speeches in their demonstrations during recent weeks.

Ambassador Caffery declined to comment on the reported plot further than to say, "I know nothing of a plot against my life."

STRIKE

(Continued from page 1.) moves developed among negotiators. Out of the mysterious developments came an agreement between union leaders and Charles P. Taft, chief federal negotiator, to meet together at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

This conference will be followed by a round robin of all interested groups—federal mediators, strikers' representatives, and officials of three employing companies, the electric Autolite company, Bingham Stamping and Tool company, and Logan Gear company.

Union leaders started the sudden developments when they drew up their plan for settlement, and called a meeting of workers to pass upon it. The first condition of peace was withdrawal of national guardsmen. Others were:

Closing of the three plants during the controversy.

Submission of issues involved to a labor board.

Demands for a ten per cent wage increase and union recognition to go before whatever board is agreed to.

Gray County Is Developing Strip Straddling River

By GEORGE L. GUTHRIE Consulting Geologist Combs-Worley Bldg.

Gray county is reacting to the hot spot of Wheeler county by developing a continuation of the pool on this side of the county line. This reaction was started more than a week ago when the Vulcan Oil company brought in its number 1 Kinnard in section 41, block 25, flowing 50 barrels an hour from the granite wash at a total depth of 2371. There are now fourteen wells drilling in a strip three miles wide and about four miles long which follows the river on both sides from the east line of Gray county. It will be a week or so before these wells start coming in, but when they do there will be a lot of it, I told you so's and I could have bought, etc.

Gray county has two wells going on the railroad commission test today, the Sinclair-Prairie Combs-Worley number 1, which from all reports looks like it will live up to the standards of the rest of the Combs-Worley wells. The Magnolia Petroleum company has just finished cleaning out its number 7 Wright in section 13, block 3. This well came in four years ago last April, so the outcome of the test should give a pretty good idea of how the wells are holding up in that area. Wright number 7 came in with an initial production of 1,640 barrels daily.

There is one new location for Gray county today, the Dixon Creek Oil company's Horner number 6, 330 from the south line and 990 from the east line of the north-east quarter of section 139, block 3.

Wheeler county has several wells due to be completed today or tomorrow, the Elbar corporation's Noel number two was making 14 barrels of oil at 5 o'clock last night and still drilling. The Mid-Continent has not yet finished cleaning out the Carville number 4.

Other than that there is not much new work being done at the present time, the companies are steadily closing the gap between Kellerville and the river. There was one new location filed for Wheeler county today, the Magnolia Petroleum company on the Koons the exact location will be forthcoming. It is in section 43, block 24.

During the week, there were nine new locations filed for Gray county, and Wheeler ran a close second with eight, while Hutchinson showed only two. Gray and Wheeler were tied with two completions. Hutchinson and Moore registered one completion each. Gray county is leading by far in the number of drilling wells having a total of 70, while Wheeler has about half that many or 36. The rest of the counties are drilling as follows: Hutchinson 18, Carson 11, Moore 4, Collingsworth 2, while the rest of the surrounding counties can boast of one each, all of which are shut down except the Chicken Creek Oil company which is drilling up a baller.

There is one thing that the people of Gray ought to be really thankful for and that is the McClellan creek bridge. This last rain showed the need of the structure more than anyone who didn't see the creek can imagine. Trucks had to go nearly all the way to McLean to get into the hot spot; however, trucking companies and supply house men will not be the only ones to benefit from the bridge as many oil men have to make the

POLICE ESCORT FOR BONNIE AT CURIOUS RITES

Newsreel Cameras At Grave As Girl Is Interred

DALLAS, May 26 (AP)—The reign of terror of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker as the south-west's worst killers in a general ended today as the grave closed over Bonnie, 23-year-old, red-haired, machine-gunning "moll."

Neighbors from west Dallas who had known Bonnie since childhood tramped weeds and graves in the old fishtrap cemetery to witness the last rites, which were accompanied by the hum of newsreel cameras.

Floral wreaths the middle one sent by the Barrow family, which buried the outlaw Clyde yesterday in a cemetery a mile away, beside the grave of his brother, Buck, killed a year ago in a gun fight with officers at Dexter, Iowa.

The Rev. Clifford Andrews, after reading the 90th Psalm, spoke today of Bonnie as he had at the Barrow funeral, saying he "loved Bonnie, because God loved her."

"From what I have heard," he said, "I am sure that deep down in her heart, this young lady had a yearning for a better life."

Even as he spoke, the funeral group was guarded from disorder by policemen who had spent weary hours searching for Bonnie and her killer companion whose career marked a trail of death among peace officers across the middle west.

Only about a hundred of Bonnie's relatives and friends attended private services at a funeral chapel. Police lines held in check a crowd of several hundred which milled around outside.

The frenzied crowds which surged about the funeral homes where the bodies lay Thursday and yesterday were absent but 300 curious persons stood outside as the funeral services at the undertaking establishment began. Police provided a motorcycle escort for the small coterie of relatives.

SHERIFF

(Continued from page 1.) son of the slain sheriff, disclosed that antagonism between his father and Smith had flared for years. He said it was renewed last fall when the sheriff opposed selection by county commissioners of Smith as constable at Thackerville. Both officers were married, Randolph had eight children, Smith two.

Marietta citizens said the feud between the sheriff and constable had its origin several years ago when the Ku Klux Klan was a political issue.

Randolph and Smith recently cleared up the slaying of Lieutenant Commander S. J. Trowbridge of San Diego, Calif., who was knocked in the head with a hammer by Leo Hudgins, a hitchhiker, near Greensburg, Kan., a week ago. Hudgins confessed to the slaying to Randolph after his arrest Sunday by Smith at Thackerville.

The Randolph family said that Smith had been nursing a belief that the sheriff "stole" the credit for clearing up the Trowbridge case.

Randolph, known as a courageous officer, was instrumental in the capture at Ardmore, April 15 last year, of Harvey Bailey, Urschel kidnaper who escaped from the Dallas county jail.

Randolph was 52 years old. Several years ago, he filled the unexpired term of Sheriff Sam Long when that officer was slain by bank robbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holt and daughters, Maxine and Betty Joe, left yesterday afternoon for San Antonio and points in Old Mexico. They will be gone three weeks.

Jack Cunningham made a business trip to Kellerville Friday.

GENTENNIAL

Perryton, Spearman, McLean, Clearendo, Shamrock, LeFors, Miami and other towns.

The celebration is well-known to Texas editors. Didn't they read an editorial praising and commending it in the Texas Weekly, widely-quoted and widely-read, Dallas magazine? Dale Miller, the author wrote, "Pampa, through its activity on this project, may well become the Panhandle's Centennial City."

A great pageant in the Panhandle commemorating the events of Texas independence, as well as earlier explorations, will prove of value to the progress of the Texas Centennial.

Pampa is ready to welcome the residents of the Panhandle to share in the celebration, with old-fashioned hospitality and cheer. On Thursday and Friday the multitudes that line the streets and fill the theater park will be thrilled with the exciting panorama of Texas history that will be depicted in parade and pageant. They will become aware of Texas' glorious history—a history the like of which no stage in the union has had.

From Dallas came this spicing-tingling encouragement from Cullen F. Thomas, president of the Texas Centennial: "It will testify that Texans are not unworthy of the incomparable heritage left to them by martyrs and patriots, dying and ready to die, that Texas might become an Anglo-Saxon commonwealth. It will rid our state of the specter of sectionalism, to the end that Texas may remain in territory, ideals and destiny forever undivided and indivisible."

Silver Bill Is Sent To House

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—The silver bill was hurried along today by a favorable report by the house ways and means committee after only two days of hearings.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) said he expected to bring the measure up in the house some time next week and that he looked for approval without delay.

Not an opposition witness testified before the house committee. Professor E. W. Kammerer of Princeton university, noted monetary authority, was expected to voice objection to the silver purchase program today but he failed to appear.

Instead, Representative Dies (D-Tex) and White (D-Idaho) urged passage.

Dies, who introduced the measure in the house, explained its provisions at length.

Wagner's Labor Bill Reported

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—Greatly altered by its long stay in committee and the many operations performed on it there, the Wagner labor board bill emerged today to seek congressional sanction before adjournment.

Despite the renewed pressure put behind the bill by the administration in its concern at the growing seriousness of widespread labor troubles, there was no certainty the bill would be enacted in the few weeks remaining to congress.

Senator Walsh (D-Mass.), chairman of the senate labor committee, said, however, that he hoped to obtain enactment.

The committee's report on the bill definitely removed the labor board, to which it would give congressional sanction, from the realm of an arbitrating body except in cases where both labor and capital asked that it serve in that capacity.

Walsh said that "all this bill does is to set up machinery to find facts and define what interfering with fair labor practices." The committee report said the board would be "strictly judicial not primarily a prosecuting agency to ferret out offenders."

Roosevelt May Prohibit Arms Sale On Monday

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt may issue on Monday a proclamation prohibiting the sale in this country of war munitions to be sent to Paraguay and Bolivia.

Threats of unrestricted warfare between the belligerents in the Gran Chaco may cause the president to issue the proclamation without waiting for international action on an arms embargo through the league of nations.

Paraguay warned the world at Geneva today that since Bolivia had bombed undefended Paraguayan towns and threatened to bomb Asuncion, the capital, Paraguay also would discard the international rules of war.

A proclamation embodying the president's ideas concerning continued warfare between the two South American republics, and exercising his powers to prohibit any American sales to prolong the struggle has already been drawn up by the state department, ready for immediate signature.

Quick Solution Of 'Snatch' Case Expected Hourly

MEXIA, May 26 (AP)—Solution of the mysterious kidnaping and murder of John L. Adams, 50-year-old dairyman, was expected momentarily tonight, Red Burton, former Texas Ranger and special investigator in the case, announced.

The arrest and subsequent grilling of a 19-year-old suspect shed light on the case that is expected to clear up the slaying, Burton said.

Sheriff Will Adams and Burton were led to a lonely spot near the tank where Adams' body was found and there recovered Adams' coin purses, which had been buried.

Meanwhile, three other suspects were held in the Groesbeck jail. Burton said it was his belief that Adams was taken, bound and gagged, to the tank and then shot as he struggled in the water.

The investigation still studied a note Duaine Adams, the slain man's son, received the day after his father disappeared. It said: "Your old man is safe," excuse us, "we got the wrong man."

Wealthy Oil Man Marries Beauty

FORT WORTH, May 26 (AP)—Luther Turman, wealthy oil operator, who married Miss Zelah Mae Ford of Big Spring, Texas, today in Mexico, D. F., was understood to have divorced his first wife in Mexico this week.

The divorce of the first wife, Mrs. Beryl Turman of Fort Worth from Turman here was set aside by the supreme court of Texas in November, 1933, where a motion for rehearing was pending. A settlement involving over $1,000,000 in oil holdings was pending in this divorce suit.

In July, 1931, Turman attracted wide attention by taking his two young sons, Tommy and Luther Jr., to Mexico by airplane after the children had been awarded to Mrs. Beryl Turman. The children are now with their father in Mexico City, where he is making his home. Turman was supposed to have taken $700,000 in cash with him to Mexico.

JAYCEES WILL PLAY DONKEY BASEBALL TILT

Pampa and Borger to Clash in Queer Game

"Giddap, whooooo, why won't these pesky beasts do anything right," will be the cries of woe from Pampa and Borger Junior chamber of commerce members as they attempt to control their mounts during the Donkey Baseball game to be staged at Roadrunner park Thursday afternoon. The game will be called at 3 o'clock with admission 40 cents.

Nice, stubborn, mean, contrary, long-eared donkeys will be brought to Pampa for the game. They have been trained to play ball but have ideas of their own when it comes to running bases and chasing fly balls in the outfield or going after grounders in the infield.

It will not be unusual to see a donkey run within a foot of first base and stop dead until the ball has been recovered and thrown to the first baseman. It will not be unusual to see one of the animals run over first and head for second with the ball in the second baseman's hand. It will not be unusual to see a donkey make a home run on an out and it will not be unusual to see one of the critters rear back on his hind legs and send the unwary rider to the ground.

This game of donkey baseball is played with playground balls and bats. If the ball is hit to the outfield, the outfielder must ride his animal to where the ball lands, get off and retrieve the ball unless he is a good horseman, and gets it while leaning from the saddle. Then he must get back on the mule and then throw the ball. The same goes for the infielders.

Several of the local Jaycees are working on padded pants for the occasion. The "powderpuff" or those dignified gentlemen without beards will be the first sent to the firing line. The "he-men" or whiskered gentlemen will come in after the "powderpuff" have played out.

Borger Jaycees are growing whiskers for the occasion and the game will look like a couple of House of David teams in action. It was rumored here last week that the Borgerites would bring some of the House of David players to Pampa. (See BASEBALL, Page 8)

BEWHISKERED BASEBALL NINE TO PLAY HERE

House of David to Meet Danciger Team Here Next Saturday.

One of the feature attractions during the Pre-Centennial and Pioneer Roundup will be a baseball game. That statement doesn't mean much to a lot of people but they will take notice when they learn that the House of David baseball team will meet the Danciger Roadrunners Friday afternoon at Roadrunner park. The same two teams will play again Saturday afternoon.

Both games will be called at 3 o'clock and admission will be 35 cents for bleachers and 55 cents for grandstand seats. The team coming to Pampa is the original Israelite House of David team as re-organized by Mary Funnell at Benton Harbor, Mich. Some of the players have been with the team more than 10 years.

The names of Hanson, Hutson, Tucker, Wycock, Anderson, and Tally are known from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico. They have been classed among the greatest baseball players of all time. Major league team contracts have been offered those great players year after year but they have refused to turn professional and have stuck to their religion.

Practically the same team played in Pampa last fall. A few new faces will appear in the lineup but most of them will be familiar to baseball fans. On first base will be that sensational veteran John Tucker, whose mit can be made to do tricks that deceive the eye. Hanson, a veteran, will be at second. He will replace Lowrance, now with the Borger-Phillips "66" team. Alwell will be the shortstop and Wycock will hold down the hot corner again this year. The veteran Hutson will play leftfield while Cliff will be in centerfield. Anderson, who can almost sit on his hair, will be in right field. Fleming will do the catching.

The pitching staff will be headed by that veteran Doc Tally who is also a great outfielder and hitter. Tally is recognized as the Babe Ruth of unorganized baseball. Bergen, another veteran, and Harper and Freshour round out the pitching corps.

The House of David team last year played 147 games, winning all but 37 of their encounters. The team covered 3,000 miles and won 171 of their string of victories were such teams as San Francisco, Los Angeles, both Pacific Coast league teams, Kansas City Monarchs, colored champions of the world, and many other great teams.

Pampa's Roadrunners are fast improving in shape and should be in mid-season form by the end of the week. Warm weather is needed to limber up a few joints. Manager Aaron Ward will have his full corps of pitchers ready to throw against the bearded men. The Roadrunners will play this afternoon and then rest until the game Friday afternoon.

One of the largest crowds in baseball history is expected to see the two games. The game Friday will be the last day of the Pre-Centennial celebration.

Pampans Receive Many Responses To Invitations

What makes the Pre-Centennial committees almost sure that the largest gathering of old-timers who ever assembled in one place in the Panhandle, will attend the Pioneers Roundup is that many have written they would attend.

More than 700 letters inviting old timers who live all over the Panhandle have been mailed in the last month. Answers from more than 100 have been received. The committees consider that such a response augurs well for a good attendance. All the old settlers who attended the 1932 Frontier Days celebration were sent invitations, and in addition more than 200 who did not attend.

Letters have been received from Clarendon, Amarillo, Higgins, Miami, Claude, Canyon, Mobeetie, Shamrock, Wheeler, Allison, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

The event has been widely advertised both in state and rural newspapers. One of the most valuable of all the articles written about the celebration was an editorial in The Texas Weekly by Dale Miller. This editorial lavishly praised Pampa for staging the celebration, and suggested that Junior chambers of commerce all over the state emulate the Pampa Jaycees. The Weekly is one of the most-frequently quoted weekly periodicals in the United States. (See BASEBALL, Page 8)

Pampa To Have Title Fight

Duke Tramel Will Do Battle With Chinese Flash in NEWS Boxing Card

A championship boxing match, the first ever staged in the Panhandle, will be one of the leading attractions of the Pre-Centennial celebration. The Pampa Daily NEWS has charge of the big fight card and will present Duke Tramel of Fort Worth, middleweight champion of Texas, and Ralph "King" Chong of Houston, leading contender for the middleweight crown. The big fight card will be staged Thursday night at Roadrunner park on West Brown street, which is the home of the Roadrunner baseball team. The big card will open at 8:15 o'clock. Admission will be $1.65 for reserve seats, and only a few are left; $1.35 for box seats, and they are nearly all sold, and $1.10 for general admission. Supporting the championship bout will be an eight-round fight between the great Oklahoma boxer and slugger, Jack Thompson of Marietta, and Herschel Howarth of Houston, rangy slugger. A six-round special event will see Joe Vernon, Pampa favorite, meeting Dick Hedgspeth of Perryton, one of the toughest boys in the country. A great preliminary matching of Earl Madden of Spearman and Bill Gay of Borger has been arranged. The opening four-round bout is yet in doubt but it is hoped to match Dick Stamps, Macon, Ga., and Pug Cole, Pampa, in a fight of winner-take-all. Sale of tickets in all towns and cities outside of Pampa will end tonight and remaining tickets will be called in tomorrow morning so that (See FIGHT, Page 8)

PAGEANT WILL BE PANORAMA OF 300 YEARS

DRAMATIC EVENTS TO BE PRESENTED ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Important events in 300 years of Texas history up to 1834 will be dramatized in the Pre-Centennial pageant, "The Land of Friends," which will be produced in the city park Friday night. The pageant was written by Ernest Cabe, junior high school history teacher, and Archer Fullingim of The NEWS, general chairman of the celebration.

The spectacle will be produced on two stages. One a stage of five feet high and more than 60 feet long built of lumber with the ends curving around to back stage. The lower stage will be the ground and will be 20 feet wide, the same width as the upper stage.

Guns Will Fire.

Action will usually begin on the lower stage and end on the upper stage. The change of action from one stage to another will denote lapses of time. Several "battles" will be fought behind stage and there will be not a little firing of guns. However, several of the characters will be "killed off" on the lower and upper stages. Horses will appear only on the lower stage.

The background of the stage will be a map of Texas, and Texas U. S., Spanish, French and Mexican flags. The costumes will include the following periods: Spanish soldier, 16th century, in armor; Spanish soldiers, 17th and 18th century; French soldiers, 18th century; Mexican soldiers, 19th century; American frontiersmen and adventurers, pirates, Spanish dons and senoritas; American gentlemen, early 19th century. The 14 scenes in the pageant deal with the following historical personalities and their followers:

Alvarez de Pinedo, the first white man in Texas; Cabeza Vaca and Black Stephen; Francisco Vasquez de Coronado and his search for the Seven Golden Cities of Cibola, or the Gran Quivira; Rene Robert Cavalier Sieur de La Salle, French explorer of the Mississippi, first colonizer of Texas, pirates, Spanish dons and senoritas; American gentlemen, early 19th century. CAST OF PAGEANT INCLUDES 125 MEN AND 25 WOMEN; SCENES TO BE PERFECTED BY FRIDAY NIGHT

Names of Persons in Cast Listed For First Time

The cast of the pageant includes more than 125 persons, of whom 100 are men. The fact that men predominate the cast was no fault of the pageant authors or the directors. There simply were not any women in Texas for 200 years after Alvarez de Pinedo landed on the coast of Texas in 1519.

La Salle brought a few women with his colonists in 1684 but they either died or were killed by the Indians within a year. Women did not have any appreciable influence upon Texas history before Stephen F. Austin brought his first colonists to Texas in 1820.

Rehearsals thus far have been satisfactory. The Friday night rehearsal revealed that 10 of the 14 scenes are almost perfected. The show will be ready for production Friday night.

The cast includes the following characters:

De Pinedo, Bert Hobson; Cabeza de Vaca, El McCarley; Coronado, Wayne Hutchens; Rene Robert Cavalier Sieur de La Salle, Harry Hoare; St. Denis, Joe Stephens; De Leon, Russell Kennedy; Philip Nolan, Dud Steele; Gutierrez, J. O. Gilliam; Magee, George Friauff; Jean LaFite, Bob Knox; Dr. Long, Mr. Gaskins; Moses Austin, Mullins; Stephen F. Austin, Dee C. Blythe; Sam Houston, John Casey; General Santa Anna, Jack Dunn; Hayden Edwards, Cecil Miller; Captain Villaseca, Jack Powell; Indian hunter, Paul Schneider; Father Massanet, E. A. Records; priest, Morris Vernon Lawrence; priest, Morris Johnson; Captain Ross, Frank Carter; Captain Gaines, Frank Hill; Captain Lechabaz, Harry Walker.

French soldiers of 17th century, Glenn Davis, Harold Bray, Elmer Irving, Philip Below, Melvin Qualls, P. O. Anderson.

Mexican soldiers: Harry Clay, W. H. B. Lovett.

Friday afternoon—Mmes. Sherman White, E. D. Zimmerman, John Hodge, J. M. McDonald, N. T. Maddux, W. R. Campbell, J. M. Turner, J. A. Kelly, Chas. Thut, J. E. Williams, Edwin Vickers.

Friday afternoon—Mmes. O. H. Booth, C. H. Walker, J. M. Saunders, Dick Walker, Nest McCallough, Kiser, E. B. Fisher, George Taylor, J. M. Dodson.

All the hostesses are asked to wear "old-time" clothes of any period before 1900 or 1910, if they can possibly do so. They were asked by Mrs. Ewing to report at the gym by 9:30 o'clock if they have the morning shift; 7:30 o'clock if they have the afternoon shift.

The old fiddlers contest and calling games are set for Thursday evening in the gym.

HUNDREDS OF CITIZENS ARE LENDING HELP

OLDTIMERS, OLD DAYS TO BE HONORED IN EVENT

All trails and public highways will lead to Pampa next Thursday and Friday—May 31 and June 1—when thousands will come here to attend Pampa's Pre-Centennial celebration and Pioneers Roundup.

The celebration will bring back old timers and old-time customs and pastimes, affording opportunity for a very entertaining program and giving, at the same time, a measure of merited recognition of those who pioneered in this section. The celebration is being made possible through the efforts of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Pampa Board of City Development. Clarence Kennedy, president of the Jaycees, is generalissimo. He is backed by committees which have worked unceasingly for six months.

Men who have lived in the Panhandle when there was not a fence to break the scenery and who have been away from these parts for years plan to renew acquaintanceship before they are moved down by the Grim Reaper. Most of those who attend Frontier Days here two years ago will be back. Not only will oldtimers be welcomed in Pampa during the celebration. Everyone is invited. There will be interest and fun for all and lots of it.

Newcomers will enjoy hearing old-timers telling about life in the Panhandle in the early days when herds of cattle were driven hundreds of miles to the nearest railway.

Trips Made

Chairmen of the various committees have worked faithfully to make the celebration a success. Early settlers in this section of the Panhandle have furnished lists of old-timers so that letters could be mailed to them. Mrs. Chas. I. Hughes has written letters and addressed hundreds of envelopes to old timers, inviting them to the celebration. George Briggs and C. A. Clark advertised the celebration at the Guymon picnic; Mr. Briggs, Dee Blythe and Morris Johnson made sure that everybody at the old timers reunion at Plainview last Saturday would enjoy the celebration. Last Sunday, a group of Pampans, including Mr. and Mrs. Chas. I. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Zimmerman and others attended an old settlers reunion at Grant, Okla., and obtained assurances that many would attend the Pampa fest.

Chairmen Are Busy

Pampans are cooperating with Alfred Gilliland to place relics, old-time pictures, furniture, clothing on display in windows of business places. Joe Burrow and Harry Clay are busy making banners, bugles, boys, for the parade. John Osborne is preparing to take care for the last-minute details that will add to the comfort of old timers. He will see that the gym is comfortably furnished with chairs and lounge, tables, water and refreshments. Bob Watson, chairman of the floats committee, has at last had a chance to breathe because construction of floats is underway but trucks are his and the organization's entering the floats, present worry.

Worth, Costumes To Arrive Today

Hal C. Worth of the Worth Amusement Enterprises, Dallas, will arrive here today with 125 historical costumes and lighting and loud-speaking systems to be used in the Pre-Centennial pageant on Friday night.

The pageant will be produced in the natural theater in Central park beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Worth will construct a stage more than 60 feet long in front of the row of Lombardy poplars. The stage will face the southwest. Mr. Worth will start building the stage tomorrow. The lighting and loud-speaking systems will be installed after the stage is built.

Mr. Worth, a well-known showman, has produced pageants for several years at the Dallas State fair, the Fort Worth Livestock show, the World Cotton Palace, the big staged productions at Amarillo, in Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico and other states.

Mr. Worth will store the costumes in the huge room above the Cartwright-Taylor Motor company in the Saunders building where several Pre-Centennial floats for the parade are under construction.

TEACHER IS VISITOR Mrs. Ruth Dyeon, teacher in the Dalhart schools, was a guest at Mrs. Clifford Braly yesterday.

Death Rapidly Flaming Ranks Of Old Settlers

Several old timers attended their "last roundup" here in 1932, for since then they have passed to that far away ranch of the Boss in the sky.

Among those who have been called by death since then are Milo Blodgett of Spearman, W. C. Isaacs of Canadian, J. W. Kelley of Higgins, J. L. Strope of Pampa, Chas. C. Cook who was responsible more than any other man for the New Pampa and was considered an old timer even if he never punched cattle in the '90s, was taken by death.

Persons feeling the cold breath of the Reaper behind them know that they "can't live forever," and that's one reason why they will flock to the Roundup next Thursday and Friday; they know that soon they may "saddle old Paint for the last time and ride."

BASEBALL

The whiskered team being in Berger on that date.

President Clarence Kennedy of the Pampa organization will have charge of the local team. He hopes to have the animals here in time for a workout and if that is impossible, he will draft some of the boys who have little or no work on the Pre-Centennial celebration and will use them for donkeys in the practice session.

The game will be immediately after the parade Thursday.

Marriage Will Be Performed In History Pageant

The Pre-Centennial pageant will not be without scenes where women take the spotlight during the 125 men in the cast.

One scene tells the story of St. Denis, dashing young Parisian who came to Texas from Louisiana in the 17th century, and Maria Villaseca. St. Denis and Maria fall in love at first sight and are married on the stage by a priest despite the bombastic objections of the Mexican governor of the province. St. Denis is Joe Stephens and Maria is Virginia Pullingim. Miss Beth Elythe is director of the act.

In the Stephen F. Austin scene, a group of Mexican soldiers break up a square dance in which old timers will participate, including four women.

THIRD NATIVE AMERICAN TO TAKE TROPHY

BEST GOLF EVER SEEN IS TURNED OUT BY CALIFORNIAN

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 26. (AP)—Literally blinding his opponent with the greatest exhibition of competitive golf ever shot in the championship, W. Lawson Little, 23-year-old Pacific coast husky, today overwheeled hapless Jimmy Wallace, Scottish carpenter, 14 and 13, to win the British amateur title.

He was the third native American to win the championship. The gallery of upward of 12,000, which swarmed after the match hopeful of victory for their native idol, gave the square-shouldered American one of the greatest ovations ever accorded a golfer in this country.

Every man, woman and child who watched the long-hitting Little burn up this strenuous seaside course under most trying conditions will remember the invader's red hot 66 to be 12 up at the end of the morning round and his three under par score for the concluding five holes. Wallace did not win a hole.

When the new champion and Wallace returned from the 23rd hole, where the slaughter ended, a solid lane of cheering Scots made a triumphant pathway to the clubhouse for the victor and the vanquished. There the spectators remained patiently for another look at Little, who ducked into the clubhouse to change his clothes for presentation of the trophy.

Regardless of their disappointment over Wallace's crushing defeat, the natives of the land of heather love a great golfer and when Little made a charming speech in accepting the trophy they interrupted him after every sentence with a booming cheer.

Throughout the sensational, record-cracking match Little's face was a mask of determination but he smiled when the cup was presented to him by the venerable Marquis of Ailsa, acting for the Prince of Wales.

As far as 12,000 Scots are concerned, Little now supplants Bobby Jones and the veteran Harry Vardon as the world's greatest golfer. They saw him shoot 23 holes in eight under par, including seven birdies and an eagle three for a new record for this classic tournament.

Little's 66 in the morning shattered the professional course record of 69 hung up by MacDin-ald Smith and smashed the amateur standard of 67 set by E. Blackwell. That sizzling round also created a new low for championship rounds.

Only once in what was to have been a 36-hole match did Little yield to par. The lapse occurred at the sixth hole where he required two putts from six feet for a five. Otherwise he was even with par or under regulation figures.

The hunky Californian sent the gallery wild at the 505-yard third hole in the morning. He belted two healthy wood shots to put the ball 15 feet past the cup and then sank the putt for a brilliant eagle three, demoralizing the carpenter who snared a birdie.

Little gained the finesse by virtue of victories over the following opponents: R. W. Ripley of Bonstead Downs; Lester Rankin of Sunningdale; Eric McRuvie of Scotland; Lionel Munn of Ireland; Gordon Peters of Glasgow, and T. A. Bourn of Sunningdale. Bourn was beaten in the 1893 finals by the Hon. Michael Scott who did not defend this year.

While Little was scoring the course Johnny Goodman, American open champion, who was put out in the fifth round by Leslie Garnett, looked after the transportation of Little's baggage to Liverpool from where the American Walker cup player left tonight on the S. S. Laconia on their homeward journey.

Following the precedent established by Bobby Jones in 1930, when he won the championship, Little personally is bringing home the trophy. Jess Swisher, who was the first native American to win the title, had the cup sent over after him.

tin, Sam Houston, James K. Polk, President of the United States when Texas was admitted to the Union; James Bowie; David Crockett, heroes of the Alamo; Pannin, hero of Goliad; General Robert E. Lee of "Traveler," carrying a Confederate flag; Participants in this cavalcade will carry the six flags under which Texas has lived. The band will play "Dixie" when Lee rides across the stage. Various band selections will be played throughout the pageant.

The selections will include "Come to the Bower," pieces played by Sam Houston's life and drum corps at the battle of San Jacinto, various national anthems; the final number will be "The Eyes of Texas."

The action of the pageant will be explained through a giant loud-speaking system with the directors of the various scenes and John Casey reading the lines. About an hour and one-half will be required to stage the production. Rehearsals indicate that six minutes will be required for each scene. Some will be shorter.

Black-tailed jack-rabbits are abundant throughout all of eastern Colorado and also on the dry plains of the southwestern section.

Pre-Centennial Night Club Ball Set For Friday

The principal social event of the Pre-Centennial celebration and Pioneers-Roundup will be the Pre-Centennial Ball to be given Friday night at the Pla-Mor auditorium, Jack Dunn, dance chairman announced yesterday. The ball will begin promptly at 10:30 p. m.; by that time the pageant will be concluded and persons attending the historical event will have plenty of time to attend the pageant and get to the Pla-Mor in time for the dance.

The Pre-Centennial ball will not be just another ordinary dance. The interior of the Pla-Mor will be transformed into a night club for the evening. A highly recommended "floor show" will furnish song and dance entertainment. Persons who expect to attend the ball may reserve tables, just as in a night club. The floor show will be performed in front of the tables. The show includes four men and two girls, some of them direct from New York.

One of the best orchestras in the middle-west, Maj. Dunn's Thoroughbreds of Lincoln, Neb., will furnish the music. The band has ten pieces, and each member is a noted solo artist. The orchestra is noted for solo parts and for the many variations it uses in playing a number.

Reservations for tables of which there are a limited number can be made by calling Mrs. B. C. Low at 834. Sales started yesterday morning, and tickets sold rapidly all day.

Announcement of his coming was made by his campaign manager, W. H. Kiltrell Jr., of Dallas. His address will be timed so as not to conflict with the Pre-Centennial pageant, according to local supporters.

Mrs. Y. A. Haines returned to Lubbock yesterday after visiting here brother, Dr. J. V. McCallister, who has been seriously ill.

Washington hotels are said to be making money for the first time in four years. There is a surplus of guests and no plow-up.

Coronado was told that in the Panhandle of Texas lived a fabulously rich king in a city whose walls were of gold and whose doors were studded with precious gems. The next morning he had it to do all over again. This legend will be depicted in the float.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: There are many tangled threads about the baffling murder of a policeman and a stranger in Pierre Dufresne's house. One of them, the disappearance of a mysterious .45 calibre revolver, seems to lead to Dufresne himself. Sergeant Harper is the more suspicious because Dufresne is too anxious to stop the investigation, and get the police out of his house. Dufresne has called in Harper's superior officers.

Chapter 26 PEACEMAKERS

"Sergeant," the Director began in his booming voice, "Mr. Dufresne has asked me to see what can be done to expedite this inquiry. Of course," he continued quickly, "I have never been my policy to interfere arbitrarily with any man in my Department, as you know, Harper, but Mr. Dufresne is an old friend of mine and I want to be as accommodating as I can, especially in view of Mrs. Dufresne's mishap."

"I think it would be inadvisable to move from the scene of the crime under present conditions," Harper replied, quickly but firmly.

"But why, in Heaven's name?" cried Dufresne. "Am not I the one most concerned? There will be no more threatening letters, no more shots from hiding, I don't care who he was or what he was, it is enough to know that he will not trouble us again. He was undoubtedly a homicidal maniac."

"What makes you think so?" Harper challenged.

"Dufresne—stared—in surprise. 'What else can we think? You have every characteristic of a violent homicidal maniac.'"

"Apparently, yes, and of the most virulent type," agreed Harper. "But you forget that we have no proof whatever that the man who was killed last night was the same one who wrote the threatening letters and shot at you yesterday."

Dufresne broke in excitedly. "Sergeant, you are deliberately manufacturing difficulties. To call such a train of events a coincidence is to stretch a remote possibility until it snaps of its own thinness." He snorted his scorn of such an idea.

Captain Macklin had been taking in this verbal tilt intently. From the first he had sensed some underlying current of hostility between Dufresne and the detective. He injected himself smoothly into the conversation. "Harper, have you any direct evidence that this man was not the one who wrote the crank letters?"

"Captain Macklin, I would prefer to make my report privately."

"Come, now, Sergeant," Connors boomed, "there's no need to take that line. There seems to be a little friction between you and Mr. Dufresne. We don't want anything like that."

"Gentlemen," said Dufresne with great dignity, "my wife needs peace and quiet after the shock she had last night. She is the innocent victim of bungling methods."

"Mr. Dufresne," Harper snapped, his temper rising, "you will please remember that I had nothing to do with Mrs. Dufresne's mishap."

"I am not blaming you, Harper. There was nothing personal in my complaint, but the fact still remains."

"Let's not get side-tracked," Macklin resumed. "Is there any such evidence, Harper?"

"No direct evidence, sir."

"Of course there isn't," Dufresne interrupted again. "What happened in this room last night is plain to be seen. There is no need to twist it into still more fantastic shapes nor in trying to rationalize a madman's actions."

Director Connors waved his big, blunt cigar in the air. "Yes, Harper, if you've got anything substantial to build on, let's hear about it."

Harper drew himself up stiffly. "Very well, Director, I have been reluctant to part with this information for fear it would hamper my further work in this case. Maniac or not," he answered impressively, "this man was murdered, not by Officer Hamill, but by a third person who was here in this room! This same unknown person also killed Hamill! The scene was fixed, the evidence tampered with so that it would look as if the two men had killed each other. At first this was only a theory, a suspicion of mine, but now I positively know it to be a fact."

"You have the proof?" Captain Macklin asked with restrained tenacity.

For reply the detective briefly recounted the doubts he and Carlin had shared concerning the wound in the murdered man's head and how it had led to the recovery of the original .45 bullet and the roll of carpet with the telltale bullet hole.

Harper had been keeping a wary eye on Dufresne during his recital. And the latter appeared as nonplussed as the others.

"This is utter nonsense," he cried. "It cannot be. The bullet that killed this maniac came from the policeman's gun. It was found right here in the room."

The detective held up the steel-jacket. "Why was this bullet hidden away so carefully? He slipped the roll of carpet by the table. Why does this carpet have a bullet hole through it? We tested our theory of concealed murder by hunting for concealed evidence—and we found it! And we're going to find more of it!"

"But these are not proofs," Dufresne continued. "A stray bullet, a hole in some old carpet."

"There are traces. The substitution of bullets is one. It is true there are no fingerprints but this criminal was too astute for that. No doubt he wore gloves. The murderer sat in this room with his victim. They even drank together and perhaps it was at that moment the killer chose to fire. After the murder the extra glass was washed, dried, and put back in the cabinet. But we have found the glass, with traces of its recent use, still in the bottom."

"The murderer's first thought was to melt down the bullet by holding it in the flames of the log fire with these tongs. A systematic job made to hide the victim's identity—a ring was forced from his finger, an emblem from his coat lapel, whatever papers, keys or other articles he had were rifled from his pockets. Even the labels were ripped from his own clothes. None of these things has come to light in the house—we assume that the murderer carried them away."

"That is all guess-work, Harper," Dufresne rebutted. "If there was a third person, as you insist, how did he escape from this house after the crime? I'll admit fingerprints can be wiped away but you can't wipe away tracks in the snow."

"I can't answer that question, yet," the detective replied. "I don't know how it was done, but I know that it happened. We've had men murdered in locked and sealed rooms and the solution turned out to be quite simple. If the murderer planned a way to escape without leaving tracks in the snow I'll find how it was done before I'm through!"

Harper looked directly at his commanding officers. "I have other evidence that cannot be divulged in this house without seriously injuring our chances of success."

Dufresne sneered openly. "It's fortunate I was under your own police guard last night, Harper, or you would crown this whole fantasy of yours by accusing me of being the master mind behind this affair."

Harper's face reddened at the insulting tone which barred these words. He stepped forward so that he stood face to face with Dufresne. "These two men were murdered," he repeated, "and I am sure that at least one person in this house could identify the man who masqueraded in your likeness. I'll go even further. I believe that you, Mr. Dufresne, are helping to shield that person from us and that is a dangerous game to play."

The master of the house threw back his head and laughed tauntingly. "Now I know you're crazy!"

"Mr. Dufresne," Harper purred, "a little while ago you told me that you had only one gun in your possession—an automatic."

"Yes?"

"Perhaps you'd be interested to know that you own another weapon, a revolver of large caliber. This was usually kept in the upper right-hand drawer of the highboy in your dressing-room. Early this morning that revolver was still in its place. It has since disappeared. Can you tell us anything about that?"

Dufresne looked at him out of a face suddenly sobered. "I own no such revolver," he stated firmly.

Keeping Their Chins Up

The happy trio pictured above are Dick Powell, Ginger Rogers, and Pat O'Brien, who form the starring triumvirate of "Twenty Million Sweethearts" the film now playing at the La Nora. The radio favorites who are featured in this radio comedy are The Four Mills Brothers, Ted Fio Rito and his band and the Radio Rogues.

LEE TRACY IS AGAIN IN ROLE OF NEWS MAN

"I'LL TELL WORLD" IS REX FEATURE TODAY

Lee Tracy, motion picture star, who never pouted a typewriter or a pavement in his life is beginning, nevertheless, to feel as if he "used to be a newspaperman himself."

The fast-talking blond, signed to a 5-year contract recently by Carl Laemmle, Jr., again portrays a newspaperman in "I'll Tell the World," which is now playing at the Rex theater. It concerns the loves and adventures of a world-wide news-gathering agency. In the cast are the beautiful, blonde Gloria Stuart, Roger Pryor, Onslow Stevens, Alec B. Francis, Herman Bing, Hugh Enfield and many other noted players.

Two-thirds of the pictures in which Tracy has appeared have found him as a newspaperman. Among them are "Blessed Event," "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain," "Love is a Racket," "Dr. X," "Circus All Wires" and "Advice to the Lovelorn." He was a press agent in "Blonde Bombshell" and "The Half-naked Truth," and that's the next thing to being a newspaper man!

He says that if he had to start his career all over again and couldn't be an actor, he'd be a newspaperman. His nearest relation engaged in the newspaper business, is a cousin, Robert Johnson, managing editor of the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Record.

"I have all the thrills of being a reporter," he says, "but never had to write the story afterwards. That's a break a real reporter never gets."

In "I'll Tell the World," Lee's rival news reporter is Roger Pryor, who played the reporter in "Blessed Event" on the stage in New York which Tracy portrayed on the screen. He is great competition for Tracy.

POWELL AND ROGERS SCORE IN NEW SHOW

"20 MILLION SWEETHEARTS" COMES TO CITY

For something new and different, "Twenty Million Sweethearts," now at the La Nora, is delightful entertainment. It attests the arrival of a new romantic team which will probably be registered among the great lovers of the cinema, Dick Powell and Ginger Rogers.

With Pat O'Brien cast in a part made to order for his unique abilities as a comedian, and Powell and Rogers, making musical love throughout the action of the fast moving and hilariously funny comedy, with the Four Mills Brothers, the "Three Radio Rogues," and Ted Fio Rito's orchestra, and a remarkably capable cast in the supporting roles, "20 Million Sweethearts" will undoubtedly take its place as one of the outstanding hits of 1934.

The picture paints in an exciting manner the back of the scenes life of radio entertainers, their struggles and their successes, their heartaches and their romances. It is filled not only with exciting drama, lively comedy and colorful romance, but with some of the catchiest musical numbers that have ever been heard on the screen or over the radio.

Barthelmess Is Back at State

It's not often that a motion picture star remains continually in the public favor. Popularity wanes almost as quickly as good looks. And so it is a remarkable tribute to the charm and ability of an actor when he can look back on a record of fifty successful pictures and look forward to a public constantly clamoring for more.

That, ladies and gentlemen, is Richard Barthelmess. His fiftieth film hit, "Massacre," in a return engagement now at the State, continues one of the longest cycles of popularity ever known to the silver screen. In this picture, produced by First National, talented Dick has done his bit towards celebrating by turning out a film which will live with his other immortal efforts, such as "Tolable David," "Broken Blossoms" and "Dawn Patrol."

He is supported in "Massacre" by Ann Dvorak, Claire Dodd, Dudley Digges and many other screen notables. Alan Crosland directed.

A house of worship built by the Russian colony in 1812 still stands in fairly good repair near Fort Ross, Cal.

Powell Proves Brilliant

Dick Powell is as brilliant in this picture as he was in the great musicals of "Wonder Bar," "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933" and "Footlight Parade," if not more so. His voice has a quality of unusual warmth and color while his personality is one of exceptional charm. He has well been named the man with the million dollar smile.

The titian haired Ginger Rogers, who plays opposite Powell as his radio sweetheart, won fame both on the musical comedy stage and in screen musicals as "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933." In "20 Million Sweethearts," she not only gives a splendid performance but renders her songs in a voice of rare and unusual sweetness.

Harry Warren and Al Dubin, the ace song writing team of Broadway, and more recently of Hollywood, have outdone themselves in this picture with songs of unusually catchy air and words. The reviewer misses his guess if these tunes are not soon being whistled the country over.

"Your butler, Andrews, says that you do."

"Ring for him. We'll soon get to the bottom of that," Dufresne replied, sharply.

They waited in an uneasy silence until the butler made his appearance. Andrews stood looking from one to another inquiringly under his turfed white eyebrows.

"Andrews, what in the devil have you been saying to the police? Go on, Harper, you started this."

Harper faced the old man. "A little while ago you told me that Mr. Dufresne kept a revolver in a drawer of the highboy in his room. Mr. Dufresne denies that."

Andrews lifted his head. "I never saw such a revolver," was his calm statement.

PAMPA STUDY CLUBS ACTIVE THIS SEASON

FEDERATED GROUPS OF DISTRICT ENDING YEAR'S WORK

BY MARGARET TURNER
Chairman, Newspaper Publicity
LUBBOCK, May 26. (Special)—Vacation season for study and culture clubs in the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, is at hand and annual celebrations mark the closing sessions of many organizations. A number of clubs have had final meetings during the past two weeks, and during the coming fortnight "school will be out" for the majority of the remaining clubs.

Two major projects of Pampa study clubs during the spring were an exhibit of paintings done by Mrs. Amy Means Jackson of Amarillo that hung in the club rooms as a courtesy of the Arno club. Mrs. Jackson was present and explained some of the etchings and paintings that she had done. A total of $85 was realized from the exhibit and the amount is to be used to purchase pictures to hang in the schools.

Gives to Library
The Pampa Twentieth Century club gave the city library a sixth annual book shower last month and as a result 48 volumes were placed on the library shelves.

Hale County Federation of Women's clubs observed the twentieth birthday anniversary with a special program last Saturday in Abert. This is the second oldest county federation in the United States. Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, president, presided. Senator Arthur P. Duggan spoke on the "Texas Centennial" and Mrs. D. P. Avriest of Lamesa, president of the seventh district, discussed "The Pioneer Club Woman."

Members of the Plainview Music Study club presented a program at a Saturday afternoon tea given in Lubbock on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Wilson on May 12.

Four study clubs in Lubbock closed their season's activities during the last week. These were the Junior and Senior Twentieth Century clubs, the Athenaeum club and the Lubbock Woman's club.

Lubbock Woman's club members attended a Federation Day luncheon at Seaman hall on Thursday afternoon. The occasion honored district officers.

The Athenaeum club attended a party in the patio of First Methodist church.

Selecting Studies
Several Plainview clubs have announced courses of study for next year. The As You Like club is to begin a three-year course on drama under the direction of Dr. Allan L. Carter, head of the department of English at Texas Technological college. The Junior Pioneer club is to study modern Europe. A study of the modern novel will be pursued by the Junior Pioneer club No. 2. The Home Economics club will continue a study of comparative literature.

The Plainview Browning club will study modern American literature next year. The Travel Study club is to study insular possessions of the United States next year. Next year the Plainview Delphin club will continue a study of Shakespeare.

During the last year the Clarendon Woman's club has donated fifty salad plates and fifty sherbert glasses to the woman's club room. They helped, also, to make payments on a gas range.

Accomplishments of the Berger Twentieth Century club this year include the giving of magazines to the negro school and stressed the need of better homes. They studied travel and famous women, supplementing the programs with reviews of current books, debates, reading and music. They are planning a summer recreational house for youth of the city.

TEACHER WILL TAKE DEGREE ON THURSDAY

CANYON COLLEGE EXES TO HAVE BANQUET THURSDAY

Mrs. Sam Irwin, teacher in the Sam Houston school here, will go to Canyon Thursday to be graduated with the Teachers college class of 1934. She will receive her B. S. degree.

Her son, Lloyd Oldfather, and husband will accompany her, as will several ex-students of the college, including Mrs. L. K. Stout and Mrs. John I. Bradley, local teachers.

F. H. McDonald, high school teacher here, is president of the Ex-Students association, which will have its annual banquet at noon Thursday.

Today's Fashion Hint

Nothing is more youthful than cotton. Realizing this, many smart June brides will choose it for their wedding gowns. And they'll dress their attendants in it, too. The bridal gown, above, an Elizabeth Hawes model, is fashioned from crisp organdy. It has an extremely high neckline, long sleeves, and is worn with a short organdy veil. The bridesmaid also is wearing organdy in red, white, and prettiest of all, in a small hat of matching material.

FRIENDS TOLD AT DINNER AND BRIDGE PARTY

CEREMONY TO BE READ JUNE 16 BY REV. FOOTE

Intimate friends of Miss Dorothy Doucette learned of her approaching marriage to Walter E. Biery at a charmingly arranged dinner bridge party Friday evening in the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Doucette. The Rev. Gaston Foote will officiate for the ceremony, which will take place at 8 o'clock the morning of June 16 at the First Methodist church.

The wedding will be of wide interest in this section for Miss Doucette, who was born and reared in Pampa, and Mr. Biery, who is connected with the Standard Oil company, are well-known to north plains residents.

Dinner was served in pink china and glassware. The table was decorated with pink and white flowers. The date of the wedding was revealed when guests drew their tallies, which, arranged on a mirror with a cluster of pink and white sweet peas, formed the centerpiece for each table. Fan corsages of pink and white flowers, made complimentary favors and place cards with vases of spring flowers, gave added beauty to the living room.

The lace-covered dining room table was beautifully significant in its decorations. A colonial lady, dressed in pink, served as a centerpiece from which streamers led to members of a miniature bridal party and to a tiny traveling bag, hope chest, ring, automobile, and bungalow.

Dainty bud vases were given Miss Margaret Buckler and Miss Esther Stark with blue core in contrast and auction bridge, respectively, and a silver cigarette case to Miss Virginia Faulkner for second high in contract.

Guests were Mrs. E. L. Turner and Misses Virginia Faulkner, Margaret Buckler, Meiba Graham, Fern Hughes, Jessa Eskin, Edna Stark, Florence Cooley, Lorenz Nicholson, Frances Finley, and Louise Waldstad.

CLUB PLANS ENTRIES FOR COUNTY SHOW

McLean Groups Are Active in Last Week

McLEAN, May 26.—Mrs. Bob Sanders was hostess to the Home Demonstration club at an interesting meeting Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. C. T. O'Neal, called the session to order. Members answered roll call by describing the clothing each would have ready for the county clothing exhibit. It was announced that style would count more than workmanship in this contest which is to be held in June.

The club voted to give away its quilt on Trades day, June 9 in front of Mrs. Wilson's dry good store. Mrs. Wade reported having sold the first recipe and Mrs. Walter Smith the most recipes.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Jack Wade, W. R. Wise, W. J. Bridge, C. T. O'Neal, Walter Smith, Claud Robinson, and the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. H. Wade on June 1.

Will Sing

Mrs. J. W. Garman, Jr., above, local talented musician, will be presented in public recital at the city club rooms next Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The public is invited to hear her. She is a lyric soprano.

TEXAS DINNER IN IOWA SETS NEW CUSTOM

Mrs. Ickes Describes Need of "Keeping Page"

BY MRS. JOHN M. FOX,
Wichita Falls, State Publicity Director

Twenty-eight women delegates from Texas instituted a "Texas dinner" at Des Moines during the convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers recently in session at the Iowa city.

Texas congress members may be sure that everything that happened at the convention, every new idea advanced and every high note of progress reported will be faithfully relayed and brought back to the 81,408 parent-teacher workers in the state of Texas.

Of especial interest was the address by Anna Wilmarth Ickes, wife of Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior. Mrs. Ickes spoke on the education of the child in order that he may meet the new conditions under which this generation is living. Special emphasis was laid on the charges that are occurring in the school systems of today.

"It is hard," said Mrs. Ickes, "for education to look ahead as in the increased momentum of our present age changes occur with such rapidity. A child trained today with the idea of fitting him to meet life's conditions as we know them, may, if he enters the ranks of school teachers, find himself preaching creeds out-of-worn. How shall the educator keep up or drop back on those fundamentals that have been the backbone of our civilization of the past to be of permanent value. Another great stride has been made in the schools of today in the changed relationship between teacher and pupil which is now almost universally one of friendship and mutual respect.

Only when severe over-crowding forces a teacher to become a martinet and puts personal relations out of the question does the old time condition of distrust prevail. Cooperation has become the accepted rule. Mrs. Ickes contends that there are still improvements to be made and that perhaps the most urgent today is the subject of the correspondence discussion which has been emphasized throughout the entire conference, namely, "The Future of the Forgotten Child."

"GEOMETRY" TRIMS NEW WARDROBES

BY ADELAIDE KERR.

PARIS, May 26.—Geometry's squares and angles, borrowed for fashionable femininity's trims, stepped into the pages of summer clothes with the midseason showing staged by Lanvin.

The mathematical accents appeared on frocks and coats designed on an easy fitted feminine silhouette, in marked contrast to the angular lines in vogue a few seasons ago.

A gold four-inch "carpenter's square" tipped the trim revers of beige wool traveling fabric and a high-necked yellow crepe blouse. A crisp-cross geometric design of blue crepe decked the front of a white pique tulle blouse which accompanied a blue wool coat and skirt, and tiny window pane squares of pale green organdy, applied to leave the edges loose, trimmed the bodice and full skirt of a white organdy evening gown.

Soft Lines.
Afternoon frocks of beige, lapis lazuli blue and black crepe and bright prints—ready for every occasion from luncheon to the races—went cut on soft lines designed to clothe the figure rather than mold it closely. Necklines were high—softly draped, square or round—those on dark frocks being worn with detachable bibs of white organdy or lame.

Crushed fabric girdles with one long and slip through a big buckle of the material worn at the side appeared on many frocks.

Wide Brimmed Hats.
Wide brimmed hats were worn with more than half the dresses. Brims so straight in the early spring showings, took a new slant in the latest displays, sometimes curving gently upward all around, again lifting down over the eyes and up in the back. Black straws were the favored material, with shades of deep blue and natural colored straws also appeared.

Three-quarter length coats designed with simple necklines and buttoned just once in front were shown with a number of plain crepe and printed frocks. Tomato red, beige and black were fashioned full length, models made on easy fitting lines. Many of the coats were designed with the full upper sleeves which distinguished a number of frocks.

of the little house bring to us the difference between the way we live today and the occupations every housewife had in those days.

From there, you may go to Monroe's old law office. Be sure to look into the little garden at the back for it has a charm all its own. You will then go to Betty Washington's home—Kenmore—which has been beautifully restored. Betty Washington, George's only sister, married Fielding Lewis, maker of guns during the Revolution.

"Tradition" tells us that the first Christian shrine in America was erected by Spanish missionaries in Fredericksburg, and it is a matter of record that Captain John Smith visited it in 1608, one year after the settlement of Jamestown. It was known as "Escheland" until 1727 and was used as a point below the falls of the Rappahannock where the ocean-going vessels of those days made their way. I doubt if any other city of its size has so many interesting traditions. The farm where Washington lived as a boy is to be found there and some of the stories surrounding his boyhood, which may or may not be true, probably emanate from incidents which happened on that farm.

Here in Fredericksburg, you will also find the home of Matthew Fontaine Maury, known as the "Father of the Sea," and the home of John Paul Jones, "Father of the American Navy." It is likewise in this little city, again, we find a Masonic lodge (possibly the oldest in America) where Washington was initiated, passed, and raised as a Master Mason and where, with patience and courtesy, the caretaker will show you a large number of relics. You will, of course, want to see the Rising Sun Tavern of those days made their way. I doubt

First Lady Finds Interest in Home of Mary Washington in Virginia.

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT
Another day of one's visit to historic Virginia will be spent by visiting Mary Washington's cottage in Fredericksburg where she lived from 1775 to 1789 and where her son came to visit her. She must have lived through many hardships, but I imagine that she kept a certain enviable serenity, for there is a monument erected to her memory on a site overlooking the valley where it is said she used to bring her work and sit and sew of an afternoon, which would seem to indicate that in her declining years she was able to enjoy the quiet and beauty of nature. Her little cottage is very simple, but it has been restored. Some of the old fashioned things apparent in the furnishings

Prizes Given for Best Bird Essays

Local circles of the Child Conservation League of America offered two prizes to children of the grade schools for the best compositions on birds.

The prize for the fifth and sixth grades was awarded Russell Roof of Baker school. That for primary grades was given Anita Andrews, a third grade pupil of the Woodrow Wilson school. Bird study is being carried on in the grades.

The composition written by Anita Andrews follows:

"The garden club gave each school child a tree to plant. When these trees grow up, they will furnish homes for many birds. Birds like the cool shade and swinging branches of big trees. The more trees we plant, the more birds will have."

"Bird houses may be built to encourage birds to come to Pampa. When decorated in pretty, bright colors, they add much to the attractiveness of a yard or rock garden. They should be placed on a tree or pole and protected from cats and other enemies. There are many different kinds of birds and when building bird houses one should keep in mind the size and habits of the bird for which it is intended."

"Birds are not only beautiful but they are useful because they feed on weed seeds and insect pests. They are pleasant neighbors and we love them because they make us happy with their sweet songs."

Miss Gilbert Is Ranking High in College Work

High honors in the Southwestern State Teachers college have already been won by Miss Myrtle Faye Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gilbert, who has just returned after her first year's work in the Durant, Okla., college.

Miss Gilbert, who was Pampa high school's salutatorian last year, also won the scholarship which is offered each year by the local branch of the American Association of University Women to some high school senior who is outstanding in scholarship, character, and personality.

Miss Gilbert was on the dean's list during her first college year, a scholastic honor higher than that of appearing on the honor roll. She also attended a reception for honor students given by the A. A. U. W. branch at Durham. Her average was an A and in English, her major subject, she was a straight-A student.

She is a member of the Kappa Kappa (pep squad), Societas Latina (Latin club), and Y. W. C. A.

Summer Theme Used at Party

Mrs. E. L. Turner was hostess Thursday to the Linger Longer bridge club.
A summertime theme in yellow and blue was used in the appointments. Mrs. Shug Cobb was high scorer and Mrs. Jack Baker was second high. Mrs. Russell Kennedy won with the high cut.
A pretty salad plate was served to the following:
Mesdames Shug Cobb, Clyde Oswall, Jack Back, Russell Kennedy, E. J. Pafford, Jack Baker, and Miss Frances Finley, Miss Mary Sneed, and the hostess.
Mrs. Jack Back will be hostess at the next meeting June 7.

Auxiliary Has Large Growth

The American Legion Auxiliary entered May with approximately 40,000 more members enrolled than at the same time last year, according to Mrs. E. E. Wallace, membership chairman of Pampa unit of the Auxiliary.
The total 1933 enrollment was expected to be exceeded by the end of the month. Four departments, Nevada, Maryland, Alabama, and the Panama Canal Zone have exceeded their 1934 quotas, while four others, Idaho, Michigan, Minnesota, and Oklahoma, have exceeded their highest 1933 enrollment.

KITCHEN HINTS

A little lemon juice, sprinkled over fruit, vegetables, fish or meat salads just before they are served, greatly improves the flavor.
Left-over cooked asparagus may be mixed with celery, pickle relish and salad dressing and served on lettuce, or it may be combined with left-over ham or veal and served in a creamy sauce on toast or buttered toasted rolls.
Fresh strawberries mixed with fresh or canned pineapple, sweetened and chilled, make a refreshing dessert and one especially inviting to serve after a rather heavy meal.
Left-over cooked ham mixed with hard cooked eggs, celery, and dressing makes a good salad to serve for luncheon or supper. This should constitute the main course.

where the patriots gathered and drafted the resolution which was tantamount to a Declaration of Independence. In more modern times, Fredericksburg was the objective for both the northern and southern troops and the numerous historic markers on all the roads leading to Fredericksburg will attest the violence of the struggle that centered around it.
If it is warm weather and you can afford an introduction, I would urge you to stay at the Farmington Country Club, through the Hotel Monticello, at Charlottesville, which faces the old court house across an interesting square, is comfortable and convenient for visiting the University and Monticello. Farmington, though now a club, was an old plantation where one of Jefferson's friends lived. Jefferson's taste and aid was invoked in the planning of the building, which is charming and spacious. I should mention its swimming pool, which will be the main attraction at the end of a warm summer's day. You may have tea and, I imagine, supper if you wish it, out on the stone-flagged terrace.
If you are in a hurry, you may crowd your visit to the University into your first day, but I would advise you to wait and start out the next morning when you are rested.

Nursing Service a Success.
Miss Ethlyn Cockerell, Red Cross nurse who has finished two months of nursing service in McLean and vicinity, made her final report before a meeting of the local Red Cross chapter when it met in the city hall Monday, May 21.
An interesting feature of the service was the school in home hygiene and care of the sick which she held in McLean and Back, ladies in McLean who received certificates from this school were Mrs. Homer Abbott, Mrs. N. A. Greer, Mrs. Belle Handerson, Mrs. Scott Johnston, Mrs. Luther Petty, Mrs. A. A. Tampe, Mrs. From Back, Mrs. W. A. Back, Mrs. Chas. Carpenter, Mrs. L. L. Moore, and Mrs. Oma Watson.
Miss Cockerell supervised a pre-school clinic in McLean, also one at Back and Webb. She was assisted by Drs. C. P. Batson, W. L. Campbell, H. W. Finley, and Mrs. John Harris, health chairman in the local P. T. A.
Her work in the two schools in McLean as well as at Alnreed, Back, Webb, and Enterprise, was worth much to both teachers and pupils.
It has been recommended by Miss Cockerell and the local chapter that a nurse be procured earlier in the year next time, about January and February. It is thought more lasting good may be done by having her at this time of the year.

STANFORD IS AGAIN WINNER OF IAAA MEET

"BULLET BOB" KIESEL AND BONTHON ARE STARS

PHILADELPHIA, May 26 (AP)—Stanford University's small but sturdy band of athletic stars turned the 58th Intercollegiate A. A. A. track and field championships into another far western rout today, pulling away from all opposition to capture the team trophy with unexpected ease in a meet otherwise featured by two dazzling double victories for "Bullet Bob" Kiesel, University of California's spring ace, and Bill Bonthon, Princeton's champion middle distance runner.

Thanks mainly to marked superiority of two young giants in the weight-lifting events, John Lyman and Gordon (Slinger) Dunn, who took the first two places in both the shot-put and discus, Stanford had no trouble in rolling up 35 1-4 points. It was the tenth consecutive I. C. A. A. A. victory for a Pacific coast team, the 18th triumph in 14 years and Stanford's fourth, annexation of the East's most highly prized track and field trophy. "Dink" Tompkins's pupils who last won the championship in 1927-28, succeeded Southern California, which did not send a team this year after scoring four successive victories.

Yale, as expected, led the eastern challenge but finished nearly ten points behind the winners with a total of 25 1-2. California, with three first places, landed in third place with 20 points, while New York University finished fourth with 18 and Harvard fifth with 16 1-4. The rest of the teams were scattered through the standing, including Michigan State with 9 points and William and Mary—the south's lone entry, with 6.

In the high school field, there will be offered courses in English, mathematics, history, civics, possibly occupations, typing, shorthand, and others if there is demand enough for them. The tuition rate is $10 for one-half unit or $18 for two half units, two-thirds payable at the opening of school and the remainder at the beginning of the second month. If all is paid at the opening of school, a discount of 10 per cent will be made on the last third, thus making the total for two subjects $17.40.

EARLY TEXAS HISTORY DATA CATALOGUED BY EVETTS HALEY

AUSTIN, May 25.—Making available for general usage a wealth of historical data pertaining to the early days of Texas, the state historical survey, under the sponsorship of the University of Texas, has investigated the historical resources of fifteen Texas towns and cities representing as many regional divisions of the State. Employment was furnished to more than 250 persons in the various local projects, with supervision being given gratis by accomplished students in the field of history and social science, according to J. Evetts Haley, State director of the survey.

"We feel that the results are a worthwhile permanent contribution to the life, literature and history of the state," Mr. Haley said.

Perhaps the largest division of the historical research survey was that of the indexing of historical references in a large number of early Texas newspapers. Transcriptions of a large quantity of historical material of which only one copy is available were made. In all cases results of the investigations have been kept in the local libraries and duplicate sets of indexes and carbon copies of transcriptions have been placed in the University of Texas library.

The work generally was classified as follows: The cataloging of newspaper files and local libraries; the indexing of newspapers and early Texas books for historical material; the transcription of manuscript documents of historic significance; the mounting of newspaper clippings worthy of preservation; the translation of Spanish archives pertaining to the history of Texas; the cataloging and filing of manuscript collections in the archives of the University of Texas; and the preparation of a cumulative index to sketches of Texas biography from the earliest history of the state to the present time.

"The University of Texas sponsored this state project, and results of the work gravitated to its library and archives," Mr. Haley said. "Check lists of all newspaper files in the various localities under survey were prepared. Approximately 500,000 specific references were prepared in card index form to the historical information found within the newspapers, of which 284 volumes falling within the period 1829-1934 were indexed.

"Approximately fifteen thousand pages of manuscript material, such as diaries, reminiscences, memoirs, and early institutional records were transcribed. More than ten thousand clippings of significance were mounted, filed, and indexed. Approximately one thousand pages of the Bexar archives for 1803 were translated from Spanish to English and typed while a great mass of manuscript material was sorted and filed for permanent safe-keeping in the archives of the university. A catalogue to the fifteen thousand volumes of newspapers in the library of the university was almost completed, and some three hundred and fifty books pertaining to the history of Texas were indexed for more convenient usage."

Four Golfers of School Lettered

Four Pampa high school golfers were awarded sweaters yesterday by T. H. McDonald, golf coach. The four boys lettering were Captain Buck Talley, John Austin, Elmer Watkins, and Wilbur Irving.

John Austin was elected captain of the 1935 golf team. All of this year's lettermen will return next year. They will have some strong competition in Wilbur Watkins, A. D. Nichols, and Russell Cartwright. The golf team this year had marked success. They defeated Amarillo in a dual meet here to mark the first time a Pampa golf team has defeated the Amarillos. The Harvesters took second place in an open meet in Amarillo.

Miss Hermine Stover of the May Foreman Carr school of music and her mother, Mrs. E. Stover, are to leave soon for a visit with friends at Lawrence, Kans.

Pre-Centennial

MAY 31st JUNE 1st

The creak of the wagon wheel has been submerged in the roar of the motor car. The virgin plains have bloomed under the hands of men. The vast mineral resources, hidden to the adventurous pioneers have been brought to light. Inspired by the fortitude of their noble ancestors; these adventurous pioneers have been brought to light. Inspired by the fortitude of Texas have builded a wonder state. In the hurry and roar of present day life, we are apt to forget or even belittle the efforts of those men and women who laid the foundations of Texas.

It is the purpose of our Pre-Centennial to pay homage to the pioneers and early patriots. It is our further purpose to educate ourselves in Texas history and ancient lore. It is our wish that the descendants of Texas founders honor us with their presence at this monstrous celebration. We want you to come as you are and enjoy yourselves with us.
