CAR CRASH HERE INJURES 3

Saturday's nightmare—handling election returns—will just about wipe out the value of our week's vacation trip. But we sympathize with the rest of you who will be at a very low ebb Sunday morning.

Democratic Chairman Siler Faulkner, noting that an Amarillo paper had the voting qualifications badly garbled, remarked that the writer was probably thinking of football eligibility at the time.

Of one thing we can be sure: What a governor promises and what the legislature allows to be accomplished are very separate things. Until we set up a dictatorship, gubernatorial leadership will be vastly more important than promises.

Evidently London wasn't bombed last night, as many citizens thought they heard by radio. We're glad to deny catastrophes, although we admit that we sometimes have a secret desire for "something to happen."

The West Foster Grouch, whose only enthusiasm is football, says he will be darned glad when this political palaver is shelved for the year.

BREVITORIES

Musings of the moment: The drought is world-wide. The depression is lifting slowly. Most everybody is getting by somehow. People have lost interest in patent remedies for the depression. Faith and patience are returning. Radicalism is impressing the alien elements of the cities but the country folk—and that includes most of us—are still solidly conservative. We draw these deductions from conversation with tourists.

BACK home, we're deluged with political prognostications, most of which must of necessity be wrong. When you add it all up, the fact remains that you could toss a coin and not be far wrong on the first four places in the governor's race—Small, Allred, Hunter, McDonald. Today we'll look over the ballot and comment a bit on some of the races.

First under the party pledge is the senatorial list of Bailey, Connally, and Fisher, the latter an unknown in the sections of San Augustine county. We favor Mr. Connally because of his proved ability, high standing with President Roosevelt and congress, and friendly helpfulness to Pampa and Gray county. We know of no reason why Texas would be better served by taking Mr. Connally out of the senate and placing Representative Bailey in his place. Senator Connally will continue to grow in power as his seniority grows. Mr. Bailey will not suffer through more service in the house, if he chooses to seek a continuance in that office.

OUR POSITION on Senator Clint C. Small is too well known to necessitate expansive treatment. We consider Senator Small as big as any man in the race. We think his chances for a fine administration if elected are exceptionally good. We think the Panhandle would be foolish to overlook this opportunity to give the people downstate concrete evidence that this section can produce a governor. The other candidates are Edgar Witt, Tom F. Hunter, James V. Allred, Edgar C. Russell, C. C. McDonald, and Maury Hughes.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL, we must choose between Clyde E. Smith of Dallas and Walter Woodward of Coleman, and William McCraw of Dallas. Senator Woodward has been a useful and influential legislative ally of Senator Small and is, in our opinion, more qualified than his red-headed Dallas opponent. Our vote is for Woodward.

For state comptroller of public accounts, George H. Sheppard of Sweetwater, incumbent, is opposed by Manley H. Clary, Jack Patterson, and Dolph Tillison. Knowing Mr. Sheppard well, we can vouch for his value as a public official. We see no reason for a change in his office. He is a good man.

CHARLEY LOCKHART, state treasurer, looks as good for reelection as any of his opponents, who are George B. Terrell, Dennis B. Waller, and Kay Griffin. We haven't heard much out of any of them up here.

State Superintendent L. A. Woods is unopposed.

WE give our enthusiastic support to J. E. McDonald for reelection as commissioner of agriculture. He has done many useful things, showing a keen insight into the needs of farmers and stockmen. His program is a long-sighted one which he deserves the privilege of completing. His opponents are C. C. Conley, Fred W. Davis, and K. Terrell. Similarly, we recommend J. H. Walker, incumbent commissioner of the general land office. He has come up from the ranks, he has the support of the landowners he serves, and he is a safe, honest man of the type we do well to keep in public office. His opponent is Walter E. Jones of Gregg county.

THE office of state railroad commissioner is a very important one. It may be continued intact or it may be split with a special oil and gas commission as many persons are advocating. The incumbent is Len A. Smith, a fine old man and longtime office holder.

BLOOD-SOAKED CAR FOUND BY OFFICERS HERE

MACHINE WAS STOLEN IN ABILENE ON JULY 14

An automobile seized here by local officers after it was abandoned two days ago in front of the old Schneider hotel may have been used in the flight of three convicts from the state penitentiary.

The car, a Ford V-8 coach, was stolen in Abilene July 14. In it were found tools, burglar's keys, blood stains, bloody trousers, a Stetson hat bought in Memphis in which the name of the dealer had been erased, and small change wrapped in paper.

The locks had been forced on the car door and ignition. There was evidence that the machine had been operated at high speed thru black-fleck country. Deaves had fallen into the car and there were moths in the radiator shell, indicating that it had been operated at night.

The back cushion and floor mat were blood-soaked. The gasoline tank was about half empty and the oil supply was ample.

No one was ever seen about the car. Every department of local law enforcement investigated the machine, which now is at a garage in the custody of the constable.

Minneapolis Is Ruled By Troops Under Governor

MINNEAPOLIS, July 26 (AP)—Four thousand national guardsmen were ordered to place Minneapolis under military rule today by Gov. Floyd B. Olson after warning flights in the truck drivers' strike failed to agree on final peace plans submitted them by federal mediators.

The martial law decree, at 12:20 p. m. (CST), followed by about an hour the acceptance of the peace plan by the drivers' union, No. 574, and a reply from the employers advisory committee accepting some terms with reservations but repeating the wage scale suggested by the Rev. Francis Haas and E. H. Dunning, mediators.

BERLIN, July 26 (AP)—The border between Austria and Germany, closed last night, was reopened today.

Nice and Ice

No one can blame Tulsa, Okla., folks for ordering ice whether they need it or not after this glimpse of Laura Colston on her rounds. At 17, she's a fullfigured "ice-man," driving her father's truck and helping in delivery. She's barely five feet tall and her weight is less than twice that of the 50-pound chunk she's carrying.

WHEELER WELL IS MAKING 25 BARRELS HOUR

WELL ON DERRICK IS GOOD FOR 300 DAILY

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE, Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

The Smith brothers No. 1 Plummer in section 45, block 24, Wheeler county, is flowing at the rate of 25 barrels an hour. Preheated gas is being run into the well through a 2-inch upset tubing and lifting the oil through between the tubing and the 6-inch pipe. The pay was from 2464-66 and an increase was shown from 2466-71, the total depth.

NO WORD FOR 'PUTSCH'

What the coup d'etat is to the French, the "putsch" is to Teutonic peoples.

The American has no word for it. The "putsch" is a bold and unexpected stroke, accomplished while the victim is off guard. It usually is an action outside of established rules, often, but not necessarily, accompanied by violence.

Allies Believe Death Blow Has Been Dealt Nazis By Dollfuss Assassination.

ROME, July 26 (AP)—A high official of the foreign office told the Associated Press a movement today of Italian troops toward the Austrian frontier constitutes an affirmation, directed at Germany, that Italy will not tolerate foreign interference in Austria's domestic affairs.

ROME, July 26 (AP)—Four army divisions, each with a strength of about 48,000 men have been ordered to points along the Austrian frontier it was stated by an official communique issued late today.

VIENNA, July 26 (AP)—It was unofficially stated today that Premier Mussolini of Italy is expected to come here to attend the funeral for the assassinated Chancellor Dollfuss Saturday.

Rome, July 26 (AP) An official communique announced today that Italian troops had been ordered to the Austrian frontier, but added that this precaution was considered sufficient in view of the improved situation in Austria.

The troops took up strategic positions on the border while Premier Mussolini held a council of war in his office with the under-secretaries of war and air.

The official communique indicated that the troop movements were not of great intensity and explicitly stated that the situation in Austria is such that these precautionary measures will not proceed further.

Houston's Great Granddaughter Is Noted For Beauty

ALVA, Okla., July 26 (AP)—Pretty Margaret Houston, great granddaughter of General Sam Houston and granddaughter of Temple Houston, a man whose picturesque career in the southwest perhaps was surpassed only by his father's, is enrolled in Northwestern State Teachers' college, Alva.

Margaret lives up to the tradition of the Houston women for loveliness. Large, limpid brown eyes, skin as fair and smooth as cream colored satin and almost black hair—truly one of "the ravens."

Margaret is the daughter of Sam Houston III, on the staff of Oklahoma military academy, Claremore.

On the walls of the history rooms of Northwestern are several life size oil paintings depicting the pioneer life of Oklahoma which were executed by Margaret's father.

Temple Houston's life was the inspiration for one of the scenes in the film drama, "Cimarron." He was the lawyer who so ably defended "Rose of Cimarron."

There was no better known man in the Panhandle, especially in this section, in the 80's than Temple Houston. His practical law extensively in Wheeler, Gray, Donley, Carson and Potter counties. He was famed for his oratory and courtliness.

They were all believed to have been swept to death when a wall of water pushed by the 80-mile wind.

MANY PERSONS MISSING FROM GULF SECTIONS

GIGANTIC TIDAL WAVE SWEEPS INLAND SIX MILES

HOUSTON, July 26 (AP)—From the hurricane-devastated South Texas coastal region today came tragic reports which indicated fatalities might exceed thirty and that crop and property damage would amount to many millions.

There were at least 17 persons missing from the low-lying Sargent area where a giant tidal wave swept inland for a distance of six miles, laying waste a rich farming section.

As the storm raged in from the gulf, the wind howled at a velocity of 80 miles an hour and at least one community, disrupted the twisting characteristics of a tornado. At Morelos, in Jackson county, the wind wrecked practically every building and killed five persons. Another person was dying from injuries today.

The dead at Morelos were Neal Lewis, 45, of Wink, Texas, his two adopted sons, Harvey Lewis, 43, and Roland Lewis, 12; Mrs. Sue A. George, the mother of Mrs. Lewis; and a negro farm laborer, Handy Cook. Mrs. Neal Lewis was injured probably fatally. The Lewises and Mrs. George were crushed in the wreckage of Mrs. George's home. The negro was killed while working in a field.

The wind had subsided today all along the coast from Galveston to Corpus Christi and efforts were being made to open communications with the stricken area in order to learn the full extent of the disaster. Telephone and telegraph lines were still out of commission to many coastal towns near where the center of the disturbance struck—Freeport, Port Lavaca, and Port O'Connor. A coast guard radio truck was rushed from Galveston into the area.

Along the coast were strewn innumerable small craft, battered into wreckage along the beach, roofless buildings, tangled communications lines, washed out bridges, ruined crops and muddy roads marked the desolate scene inland.

Hugh W. Herford, 63, drowned near Freeport.

Daniel B. Singleton, 40, drowned near Texas City.

Mrs. Red Howard, Bay City, and her small daughter, drowned near Sargent. Matagorda county.

Adolph Socha, drowned near Sargent.

Six unidentified negroes drowned near Sargent.

Unidentified man, drowned at Freeport.

Old timers said the tidal wave was the worst the section had ever known. The wind was blowing 60 miles an hour when the great wave rolled inland, flooding Sargent. It was 15 miles in length and rushed over the 6-mile stretch inland in 15 minutes. Residents were trapped. Water stood everywhere at a depth of 3 1/2 feet.

The government drawbridge over the intracoastal canal crumbled as the huge wall of water brushed into it. All crops were leveled.

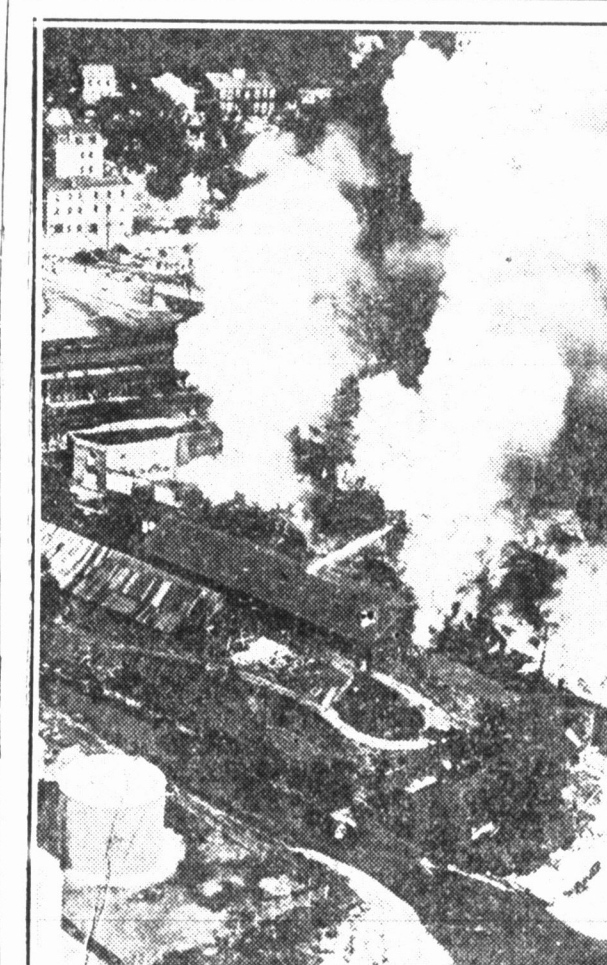

The heaviest loss of life was believed around Bay City.

Carey Smith, editor of the Bay City Tribune, said this morning that around 17 persons were missing in the Bay City and Sargent area.

They were all believed to have been swept to death when a wall of water pushed by the 80-mile wind.

Fire Follows Bus' Crash

Two square blocks of lumber yards, coal yards, and docks were leveled by fire caused by blazing gasoline shot from the exploding tank of a bus that crashed—killing 18 persons and injuring 27—at Ossining, N. Y. Firemen from Ossining and adjacent towns fought for hours to conquer the blaze shown in the air view above.

Dillinger Aide Kills Himself In Questioning

Accused Of Harboring Dead Bandit, Man Jumps From Window On 19th Floor.

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Brought to the office of the federal bureau of investigation for questioning in connection with the Dillinger case, James Probasco, 67, a West Side resident, committed suicide today by jumping from a nineteenth floor window to the alley below.

S. P. Cowley, in charge of the bureau in the absence of Melvin H. Purvis, said the government had been informed that it was in Probasco's home at 2509 North Crawford avenue that Dillinger had his face lifting operation performed.

Agents had gone to Probasco's home this morning and he accompanied them without objections, Cowley said.

Cowley said Homer Van Meter, ace machine gunner for the Dillinger gang, also had a face lifting operation performed at the Probasco home. He said the physician who performed the operations had not yet been taken, but that the government agents were after him.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 26 (AP)—The police here dodged in life stood guard today at the grave of John Dillinger.

To prevent the morbidly curious from violating the resting place of the Indiana outlaw, a police sergeant and two patrolmen kept vigil over the mound of freshly-disturbed soil.

MAN EXPECTED MOMENTARILY TO DIE HERE

RELATIVE OF SENATOR TOM CONNALLY IS HURT

Skull fractures were suffered about 10 o'clock last night by three persons, one of whom was expected momentarily to die today. They were hurt in an automobile collision on the Berger highway—a crash which left them unconscious and in terrible need.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dunson of Roxana and Fred C. Connally of Pampa, the latter a son of Tom Connally, prominent Clearenden grain dealer, and a cousin of Senator Tom Connally.

Mr. Dunson's head was laid open in the crash and part of his brains dashed out. How he managed to survive for even a few minutes astonished physicians. Mrs. Dunson also has her scalp torn open and one side of her skull fractured. She has a chance to recover. Least injured of the three is Connally, the only one who is conscious. He has a small skull fracture and is not permitted to discuss the accident.

M. A. "Mike" Dunaway, probably the only witness of the accident, told THE NEWS this morning that he was working on a well 320 feet from the scene of the accident about 9:30 o'clock last night. He saw the two cars approaching but did not see the actual crash. He hurried to the scene of the accident in his car. Believing Mrs. Dunson most injured, he placed her in his car and brought her to Wesley hospital.

A Stepienon Motor ambulance was sent after the other persons. Mrs. Dunaway said the Pontiac car driven by Mr. Connally was coming toward Pampa and the Ford was being driven west. The cars crashed left fender to left fender about the location of the lights. The Ford was thrown into a ditch, overturning while the Pontiac also overturned but righted itself on the paving, facing west.

The accident occurred three miles west of Pampa at the east corner of the R. B. Thompson lease.

Mr. Dunaway has been the first of one of the first persons to reach 4 accidents in the last eight months. He has taken several injured persons to local hospitals in the last year.

Mr. Dunson is employed by the Shell Petroleum company, with which he has been since May 17, when he came here from Vernon. Mr. Connally is an employe of Pampa Motor company.

Diving Stunts At Pool Will Be Free

Diving exhibitions by members of the Pampa municipal swimming pool team will be given free at the pool at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, Archie Lee Walstad, manager, announced this morning.

Two or three clowns will be present to entertain the audience thru-out the program. The young entertainers are clever in their exhibitions. The pool team has improved wonderfully in the last few weeks but needs practice before crowds.

The public is invited to visit the pool whether they desire to swim or not. Plenty of seating space will be available.

SELF-INTEREST SAYS "SMALL"

Voters of the Panhandle do not need to be told how to cast their ballots in Saturday's election. This newspaper recognizes that voters of this enlightened section are well able to make up their own minds, and it has no intention of trying to dictate how the people shall vote.

At the same time, it is pertinent to point out indisputable facts bearing upon the question. Votes are cast upon many bases, some prejudiced, some merely friendship. Minds will differ just as identical clocks refuse to tick together.

There are some voters to whom the impossible promises of Tom Hunter appeal. Others rally to the Ferguson battle cry and support Jim's candidate. There are others who have voted for James V. Allred often before and see no reason for changing now. To some, the wet platform of Maury Hughes has most appeal. And there are others who see in Edgar Witt the most experienced candidate and one of the soundest in Texas politics.

We recognize that in Gray county, as in other counties, there are voters who choose to follow one of these men. With them we have no quarrel; it is their privilege.

But the Panhandle is offering for the first time a candidate who has a chance to become governor. It is an opportunity which, in earlier years, many of us have predicted would not arrive in our lifetime. We have a chance to show the rest of the state that we have men of statesmanship; that we are not an ignorant group of frontiersmen. Election of a Panhandle governor big enough to ably serve the entire state would greatly enlarge the political opportunities of those who will aspire to state offices in the future.

This opportunity may not present itself again soon. The Panhandle is an unknown land in many parts of the state. The men best known to us here are unknown elsewhere. That the man who happens to have attained statewide caliber, is Senator Small is immaterial. Any good man in the same position would give this section the same opportunity.

It is material, of course, that the Panhandle's candidate be big enough, able enough, experienced enough to be the state's candidate as well. We believe that Senator Small is such a man.

And we believe that if the Panhandle passes up this chance to win previously demanded representation downstate its people should not again cry from the housetops that they are the "step-children" and the forgotten residents of the state.

We must speak now for our candidate or henceforth suffer far more silently when our relief and other problems become snarled and we can get no assistance from our state government.

REDS OFFER A LESSON ON PUBLIC MANNERS

Much as we may deplore the philosophy of the Russian Reds, we must admit that the lads who wear their shirts outside of their pants do get ideas now and then.

The latest is a stunt to teach the proletariat how to behave itself in public.

On the edge of Moscow there is a vast amusement park—the Park of Culture and Rest, a sort of glorified Coney Island. Soviet authorities have been bothered by people who get drunk there, commit acts of rowdiness and in other ways disturb the peace. So they have started putting up life-sized wax figures of the offenders in public places, with signs telling just what the guilty parties did.

And while this might tend to make the park look queer, it does seem to be an idea with possibilities.

You can see for yourself how it would work in this country.

On the edge of the picnic grounds, for instance, you could put up a nice effigy of a banjo-eyed moron and hang from its neck a sign reading something like this:

"Here's Luke McGloob, who scatters paper, banana pebbles, partly consumed doughnuts and cigar butts all over the place where people eat picnic dinners. Luke is a dope."

And then, on some bench along the path, you could have the figures of a pasty-faced sheik and his red-fingernailed sweetie, with a sign along this line: "These halfwits think a public place like this is a swell place to engage in necking. They have been locked up."

And by the roadside, a cigar-chewing maniac with a steering wheel in his hands, and a sign like this: "This is Joe Doakes, who thinks any speed below 50 miles an hour is too slow, and who specializes in crashing traffic lights. He has been liquidated."

All of this probably sounds pretty odd. Yet it is exactly the sort of thing that is being tried out in the Moscow park, and it is far from being the dizziest idea the Muscovites have had lately.

Give a few of these public pests a chance to see what they look like to the innocent bystander, and they might start getting wise to themselves. And if they did, our parks and highways and recreation spots would be much pleasanter places.

No. 13 Holds No Terrors For Lamb County Resident

SUDNA, July 26 (P)—Thirteen has no terrors for H. J. McCarty, who lived 13 years in the same house on edge of this western county town. "I have 13 children and 13 grandchildren," he said. By sexes there are 13 boys and 13 girls. "Thirteen children have been born in this house but not all were mine," he added. Mrs. McCarty was operated on for appendicitis December 13, 1933, and is now well and hearty. One son, Mr. McCarty said, was operated on for appendicitis and the doctors told him because of his condition he could not get well. "Put me in room 13 and I will," he was quoted by his father as telling the physicians. He was placed in a room with "13" in the number and recovered.

AAA BATTLING DROUGHT, CONSIDERS WHEAT CONTROL CHANGE

PLAN IS NOW TO RETURN TO NORMAL CROP

GREAT WHEAT LANDS OF WEST TO BE EVACUATED

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—A sweeping change in the AAA's wheat control tactics was under consideration today as the drought tightened its disastrous grip.

Instead of plowing under to cut the crop, officials studied a plan to return to virtually normal acreages next year—but with an ace in the hole. If restricted production were found necessary, part of the crop would be harvested while still green to be used for forage.

Uncertainties in the world wheat situation, as well as lessons learned

INTEGRITY

WILLIAM McCRAW is the type of man that Texans can place faith and confidence in with perfect assurance of his worth. He is the only man that the people of his county ever elected to three terms as their District Attorney. He was never defeated. No class, clique or clique ever influenced him in public service. There were no back doors to his office as District Attorney—he could not be "reached."

The unexpected audit of the books of all Dallas County officials found his books "correct"—thousands of dollars of the people's money had been honestly handled.

All this insures that Texas will combine unquestioned and proven integrity with demonstrated ability.

from the drought, influence the plans.

The new control idea would enable the nation's farmers to harvest the crop on normal acreages if that much wheat is needed next season or if the world wheat export agreement collapses and the United States desires more grain for export.

Farmers could be held under contract to harvest unmaturing wheat for forage on government instructions.

It was explained that this plan would serve both as a partial guarantee against a wheat shortage in case of another bad drought and would furnish food for livestock if ordinary forage ran short.

The disclosure came soon after Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, declared that tens of thousands of people must be evacuated from the western half of the Dakotas, eastern Montana and Wyoming.

Aghast at the disaster, which left "no green thing" growing, he said the region must be returned to a range land. The evacuation of the farmers would be one of the greatest mass movements of its kind in history.

Secretary Wallace said that "if the drought keeps up for three weeks we will have a real serious situation on our hands." He said the AAA program softened nature's blow by saving much corn for future feed and stimulating pasture and hay production.

Other drought developments:

1. The RFC will lend $10,000,000 to a company to purchase surplus hides of cattle bought by the farm administration.
2. A committee headed by Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, economic advisor to Wallace, began a study of available feed supplies in comparison with the livestock population.
3. The labor department, AAA and NRA continued efforts to arbitrate the Chicago stock yards strike.
4. Buying of cattle in the drought area will be resumed as soon as the market glut can be eliminated.
5. Wallace declared it was fortunate that the government has many agencies available to cope with the disaster and he viewed the appropriation of $525,000,000 as "an extraordinary blessing."

Six peace officers in the party which killed Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, southwestern desperadoes, shared a $1,000 reward offered by L. G. Phares, chief of the Texas highway patrol.

SPITE MARRIAGE

by Katherine Hamilton Taylor

SYNOPSIS: Marsha Moore had thought herself in love with Geoffrey Tarleton. But he introduced her to the "new Mrs. Tarleton," and she married Bob Powers out of spite. Now Geoffrey has come to call on Marsha, and although Bob has gone to the village, Marsha feels the danger that he may discover the truth. And Marsha loves Bob now, and does not want him to know.

Chapter 20 THE BLOW

MARSHA joined him, wearing a scarlet frock that made her a flame; she called from the doorway, "Why didn't you smoke, Geoff? There are things on that low table by you."

She settled in a deep chair near the hearth and again he sat down. He fumbled among the promiscuous brands that filled the humidor, lit the captured cigaret, stared at the gorgeously colored flames.

"Dramatic voice you have," said Geoffrey, "powerfully dramatic and sweet voice, and one that can sway a man, who hates you, Marsha."

Once she had felt herself to be decorated by a hate that grew of love, or she had been "amused" at it. Now she wanted peace; a pleasant relation with any human whose elbow even brushed hers in a hurried passing.

"Must you hate me, Geoff?" she asked gently. "I would really so much rather you did not."

He turned upon her suddenly. "You know," he accused, "how it was with me. I always flattered around other candles, but then you always let other chaps singe their wings at your flame. We were even, there! But I thought—you made me believe—my soul, Marsha, you said, and not any more than six months ago—"

"But Geoff—"

"No, wait! You said you agreed with me in feeling that we would make it go all right. I understood you'd marry me."

She laughed scornfully. "What about your side of it?" she asked. "I came back and found you with the new Mrs. Tarleton."

He stood up and she followed his lead; the moment's tense quality made repulse difficult.

"What?" he asked, frowning fiercely. "What?"

"That night—" (His hands closed around her upper arms as she spoke, closed to hold her firmly) "that night I saw you at the Frivoltly Club you introduced—" she stopped suddenly and swallowed.

"Go on," he prompted harshly, and she wondered at the bitter, yet triumphant quality of his smile. "Go on!"

"Your wife."

He laughed. "Tell me this," he said, "for the sake of old times—because I've loved you so long and because I love you, Marsha, had you planned to marry Bob Powers before I—"

His gaze held hers; her eyes fell under it.

"Say it!" he commanded.

Her honest "No" was loud. The qualifying "but" which was to follow it and tell many things—was stifled by the pressure of Geoffrey Tarleton's lips.

WHEN she drew away some magnetism made her turn toward the door where Bob Powers stood looking at them.

"Sorry to seem the spy," he said through stiff, set lips. "Came back rather sooner than was expected, I presume."

He slipped a shaking, icy hand into a pocket; he had picked up in the village a small ivory elephant he had thought she would like; an amusing small thing that would, the credulous believed, bring the owner luck.

Marsha saw him moisten his lips; glance slowly at Geoffrey; at her, back again.

"Bob!" she whispered.

"You needn't bother to explain," he managed to say and fairly steadily. "I heard some of this; all apologies to you both. I couldn't help hearing it. Rather knocked, you see. I tried to speak, and couldn't. Hope you'll manage to overlook it."

Geoffrey, who was not a coward, was at his best during such moments. He had had practice with them. Nevertheless, Bob's attitude troubled him; he was not used to apologies from husbands who had overheard.

"No end sorry, Powers," he murmured, "but there was a misunderstanding."

"So I understand," said Bob. He turned to Marsha with a question;

"You thought," he asked, "that Tarleton was married, that night when you accepted me?"

"Yes, Bob, but—" her tone was strident, frantic. But she could make no inroad on his set, icy calm; his determination to speak; to dominate the scene.

"It was Tarleton's younger brother who was married, Marsha," Bob went on; "it was Tarleton's sister-in-law whom you met that night. I thought everyone knew of the marriage. It was talked of, considerably, a few months ago."

"I've often been a pirate," Geoffrey admitted with a wry smile and a raise of brows, "but believe me, Powers, I regret hurting you through this affair. However, now that we all understand."

"We don't!" Marsha flung out unsteadily; "we don't! Bob—"

Marsha stepping back to a world of ruin, the world she had thought the one world, raised her shoulders, her dark, arched brows. "You would not believe me now, under oath, Bob, I presume?" she questioned.

"I prefer, if you don't mind, to discuss that when we're alone," he answered. But he had made his reply; the set of his chin, his glittering eyes, his stricken face, made further words unnecessary.

BOB turned then, toward the door and for an out-door man whose tread was sure, he was pitifully uncertain of motion.

"Bob!" Marsha appealed. He did not respond and she realized that, no matter how physically close they could stand, hereafter, he would ever be beyond her reach.

Geoffrey was smiling. "No end sorry," he said, as Bob disappeared. She covered her face with her trembling hands. He moved closer to pat her shoulder. He felt her shrink. "After the divorce," he said with a gentleness rare for him, "you'll look me up? We won't lose any more time. I won't trust you again for fear you might think me married to anyone who happened to be in the same room, on the same block—"

"Don't!" she appealed. She dropped her hands and he was shocked by the change in her face. She smiled slowly, stiffly.

"You don't understand—" she faltered. "I don't know how to make you understand. But you must believe this, even though you don't believe in love. I'm deeply in love with my husband. There will never be anyone else for me."

"Perhaps he's through with me; I think very probably he is. But—that wouldn't make me seek warmth elsewhere. I couldn't, having known him, let another man so much as touch my hand. Will you try to understand it's over between us? And—will you go?"

Geoffrey's ideas for revenge had faded. He was hurt, but, too, he was awed. And he had hurt her, whose sincerity had put within him a new sort of love.

"God," he said brutally, loudly, "I am sorry!"

She made no response. He turned to the door. At the door he paused. "If you want anything I can give you—"

She shook her head violently. He heard a weak, "But thank you."

He saw her sink to a small stool by the hearth; he left her crouched there and staring into the flames.

As he reached the hall he heard above him the hard tread of some one who must pace a room. He was leaving an inferno, which would haunt him, he knew.

If he could reach Powers to make Powers believe that truth was his hand in Marsha, would that help? He doubted it. A man of Powers sort probably could not forgive a woman who married him in order to keep from wearing the limp robe of the jilted; who married him, too, in order to tell another man that she did not mourn his having married.

"Lord, what a mess!" he murmured.

There was sleet in the air as he stepped out. The wind was bitter and cutting. He looked back at the small house, ominously silent. "And now what for them?" he asked of himself. "And their next move?"

Divorce, he presumed. He had never before forgotten himself through others. But Marsha's face had made him see how it was with her. She had looked old, and agony was in her eyes, and he had learned what love may be by looking in them. Her pain mattered, not his.

NAZI SLAYING OF DOLFUSS IS DESCRIBED

CHANCELLOR'S DYING WORDS WERE FOR HIS FAMILY

VIENNA, July 26 (AP)—The dying words of Engelbert Dollfuss, "gamecock chancellor," were for his wife and children.

And Dollfuss, staunch Catholic

chief. Dollfuss was in a corridor of the chancellery building when he heard the plotters, Adan said.

"He went into his own office from here," the official continued, "where an office boy followed him and urged him to flee into the building of the state archives adjoining the chancellery. The chancellor agreed to this proposal.

"On his way to the office of the federal president he had to pass the so-called congress hall which also has a door leading to the corridors.

"As he entered the congress hall, the door was broken in by the plotters, and a group of ten or twelve followed their leader into the room, rushing with drawn pistols upon the chancellor.

"Two shots were fired at close range. One shot hit Dollfuss in the throat and the other below the shoulder.

"To defend himself, the chancellor raised both hands against his face, turned a little sidewise and dropped backwards to the floor.

"He called out twice in a faint voice 'help! help!' and then was silent.

"After a short time, Minister Fey (Emil Fey, former vice chancellor), was called by the plotters.

"The office boy, who witnessed the shooting, believed the chancellor was dead. The lad was led from the room and Dollfuss remained with those who shot him.

ERRORS MAR GAME AS ROAD RUNNERS BEAT COLTEXO 7-3

Bulla Hurls Game And Gets Three Hits; LeFors Club Has 'Off' Night.

Errors marred a good ball game last night when the Pampa Road Runners defeated the Coltexo Gasoleros 7 to 3 under the lights at Road Runner park.

Manager George Bulla, besides pitching good ball for the local nine, batted 1.000 when he got three hits, one a triple, on three official times at bat.

Trantham, hurler from Escelline, started on the mound for Coltexo and was in trouble most of the way. Errors caused considerable trouble for the big right hander, but his wildness was also responsible for his getting in tight spots.

LeFors counted in the second when Lister and Newsome singled in succession and Lister scored on an infield out.

Pampa added another run in the second on a walk to Cox, Bulla's perfect sacrifice, an out, and an error.

LeFors made an attempt to even the count in the third. McMahan went out but Baldwin walked. Gaither signed, sending Baldwin to third, from where he scored on an infield out.

The scoring ended in the eighth when Cox was safe on Lister's error on center field. He made third and then scored when Gaither threw over the third baseman's head.

That likeable, dignified Irish gentleman, Danny McShain of the state of Washington, will return to the mat was Monday night when he meets Don Hill of Hollywood, Calif., in the main event match at Road Runner park.

Henderson wore the lightweight crown for three years and had to relinquish it when he became too heavy. He is a great wrestler who knows all about the legitimate side of the game.

DECLINE OF SENATORS AND YANKS DUE TO ACCIDENTS

By HUGH S. FULLETON, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer Unless there is a sudden change in the luck of the American league clubs, the 1934 campaign may become known as the "hospital season" of big league baseball.

The Yanks stepped out yesterday to defeat the Browns 5 to 4 and reduce Detroit's lead to a single game when the Red Sox bludgeoned out a 9 to 7 decision over the Tigers.

Cleveland's Indians assaulted four Philadelphia throwers to overcome an all-lead and defeat the Athletics 8 to 3 for their eighth victory in the last ten games.

YOUR VOTE SATURDAY FOR J. P. WEHRUNG FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Will be for a man who commands the respect and confidence of citizens in all walks of life. A man who has a reputation for giving his best to his job. A man who is conservative, yet constructive.

A man who is alert and awake to the needs of Gray County. A man who is qualified by CHARACTER, JUDGMENT and ABILITY to fill the office. A man big enough to serve the ENTIRE COUNTY. (This advertisement paid for by friends)

LOCAL TOURNEY GETS BOOST AS AMARILLO'S IS CANCELED

Amarillo To Back Pampa's Tournament; Will Send Team and Many Fans.

With the definite announcement that the Amarillo News-Globe baseball tournament, scheduled to open tomorrow, would be cancelled, all eyes are now on Pampa, where the Junior chamber of commerce will sponsor a big invitation tournament.

Only four teams had definitely announced last night that they would enter the Amarillo tournament. They were the Pampa Road-runners, defending champions, Amalie Oilers of Amarillo, Abernathy, and Coltexo of LeFors, Jerry Main, tournament manager, would not take a chance of having a few weak clubs to fill out the bracket, and decided to call off the event rather than stage a "flop."

Word comes from Amarillo that that city is solid behind Pampa and her baseball tournament. An Amarillo team will come here to compete for the large cash prize. Amarillo citizens will come to Pampa, particularly to night games.

District Attorney

I have endeavored to see as many of the voters of the district relative to my candidacy for re-election as possible. But because the duties of the office command much of my time, it has been impossible to see everyone. To those I have been unable to see, I take this means of asking you for your vote at the polls Saturday, July 28. I submit my record as your District Attorney for this term, and believe that you approve of what I have been doing. If you do approve of my work and the manner in which I have conducted myself I earnestly solicit your support for a second term, with the assurance that I will continue to do my very best to make you an able official and feel that my experience better qualifies me to do so for the next two years. AGRICULTURE COMMISSIONER IS PLEASSED BY RESPONSE GIVEN BETTER BREEDING MOVEMENT

J. E. McDonald, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, has stated to J. L. Nunn, who is caretaker of the state station located in Potter county, that the people of this section have taken advantage of the opportunity to breed to this high grade stallion and that it shows an increased interest in better live stock for this section of Texas.

Mr. Nunn says that he is equipped now to handle this stallion and, during another season, he will be in a position to serve the people of this area even better than he has this year. Mr. McDonald states that this stallion will remain in Potter county and that he hopes with the receipt of additional funds to place other Jacks and Stallions in this section.

From every portion of Potter and adjoining counties, farmers and stockmen have taken advantage of this opportunity offered them by the department of agriculture and within the course of a few years should Mr. McDonald be able to continue this program, Texas will be the leading live stock producing state of the nation, and farmers and stockmen will be receiving income from out of the state through the sale of horses and mules of a very high type.

Although the fund for the purchase of these Jacks and stallions has been limited, Commissioner McDonald advises that he has placed animals in 103 counties of Texas, and in every instance has received the full cooperation of the caretakers, county agents, and the local paper in giving publicity to this movement, for all of which he is very grateful and assures you of his continued effort to serve the people of Texas in every way.

Gray county will apply for a stallion.

Woodward Says New Deal Must Be Interpreted

ENNIS, July 26.—State Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman was presented to an audience here Thursday morning as a man who, if elected attorney general, is capable of solving the state legal problems arising out of the new order of things.

"The new deal, has raised state legal problems about the rights of business, the privileges of labor and the powers and limitations of government," Senator Woodward said.

"During the next two years the attorney general will be called on to make decisions affecting every citizen in Texas."

"Send a man to do a man's job in the attorney general's office."

Senator Woodward then pictured the kind of law experience he has had. The scene showed him as a small town civil lawyer for 25 years, addressing courts and juries in behalf of average small town businesses and private persons.

"One day I represent some person who is suing a corporation, the next day I often am defending some person in a suit," he said, "we country lawyers swap about and represent one side and then another until we get a general all-around experience."

Woodward told how he has served as state senator for 10 years representing a district of 16 West Texas counties and always casting his vote for the consuming public. He termed himself a free lance, unaffected by outside influence or special interests, free to serve as attorney for all the 6,000,000 people of Texas.

Keller Appeals For Support In Constable Race

Herewith is presented a photograph of Jim M. Keller, who several weeks ago placed his name in the announcement column for constable of the Pampa precinct.

Mr. Keller came to this section in 1907 and has many friends in the area. He has had some experience as a peace officer and has long been interested in public affairs.

Mr. Keller states that if elected he will give his full time to the office, working fairly and impartially for the good of all.

Frau Dollfuss Off For Vienna

RICCIONE, Italy, July 26 (AP)—Frau Dollfuss, heartened by the personal encouragement of Premier Mussolini, took off for Vienna today to go to the side of her husband, the assassinated chancellor of Austria.

Rising early this morning, Frau Dollfuss told her two children that she was returning to Austria, but did not tell them of the death of their father.

She drove from the villa at her disposal by the Italian government to the Riccione airport, where Mussolini and his wife, Donna Rachele, awaited her.

Mussolini gave Frau Dollfuss a firm handclasp. Donna Rachele kissed her and told her she would take good care of the children. There were tears in her eyes as Frau Dollfuss stepped into the waiting plane.

A moment later the ship passed out of sight and it was turned her racing car toward his home town of Forth.

Frau Dollfuss was prostrated when she first heard yesterday of her husband's death, and Mussolini, who was to have engaged in a political conference with the Austrian chancellor here this week-end, came at once to offer his assistance.

TO WAR ON RABBITS
DALHART, July 26. (AP)—County commissioners and directors of the Dalhart chamber of commerce are to meet soon to work out a plan to furnish farmers who agreed to participate in a rabbit eradication program, with poisoned grain. The pests are in unprecedented numbers this year and are eating up crops that have survived the drought, farmers say.

EMERGENCY CROP LOANS WILL BE MADE THROUGH I. B. HUGHEY

Farmers seeking emergency crop loans for general purposes may now place their application for such loans with county loan committees which functioned during the spring of 1934 in all the drought stricken counties of Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, Charles W. Sherrill, regional manager of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan office of the Farm Credit Administration at Dallas announced today. Crop loans were discontinued May 31 but the period for receiving applications has been reopened in response to demands from drought stricken sections of the southwest region. Mr. Sherrill said, I. B. Hughey will take local applications.

The loan area covers primary and secondary drought counties in the three states. The same regulations which governed spring crop loans will apply. Crop loans are limited to $250 to one individual for general purposes and $500 for combined purposes of summer following and the purchase of seed for winter wheat, winter rye or barley. Loans may not exceed certain maximum allowances per acre in connection with grain, truck and miscellaneous crops.

The reopening of the emergency crop loan facilities will not interfere with the making of feed and forage loans in the emergency drought areas from the recently appropriated $25,000,000 fund. The crop loans, including loans for feed for livestock in secondary areas, are being made from the $40,000,000 fund appropriated by the act of congress approved February 24, 1934; where as the loans for livestock feed and forage production in the emergency areas are being made from a part of the recently appropriated $25,000,000, drought relief fund.

If an applicant already has obtained an emergency crop loan during the year 1934, his new crop loan plus the principal amount of the old crop loan must not exceed the $250 limit for general purposes, or the $400 limit for the purpose of summer following. Loans will be made only to applicants who do not have other available sources of credit, and any farmer applying for a crop loan in excess of $150 must submit written evidence from a production credit association that his application for a loan of approximately the same amount has been rejected. The crop loans will be secured by liens on the crops financed, and loans for feed for livestock from the $40,000,000 fund in secondary areas will be secured by mortgages on the livestock.

Loan committees established in the spring will receive the applications which are given consideration by the committee and government field supervisors and forwarded to the Emergency Feed and Seed Loan office at Dallas.

Supplies are in the hands of the committees in county seat towns and farmers who cannot obtain credit elsewhere are eligible to apply for aid to plant fall cash crops.

Beauty Pageant Still Open to Local Entrants

Pampa's annual bathing beauty pageant to be held on the La Nora stage Tuesday and Wednesday will present the most beautiful girls of this county and city in connection with music furnished by Claude Hips and his orchestra. Several novelty song and dance numbers will be included with the program to make the event one of the season's best in entertainment.

Fifteen local girls have consented to appear in the contest and will compete for the title of "Miss Pampa 1934". The winner will be given a trip with all expenses paid to Albuquerque to represent Pampa in the "Miss Queen of the West" contest. The final winner will be given a trip to the World Fair in Chicago for about 10 days. Movie screen tests are rumored and the winners of each contest are practically assured of receiving a test by one of the larger cinema producers.

Several more bathing beauty contestants are still needed and any girl desiring to place her application is urged to get in touch with the theater management immediately.

Senator Connally Leading in Poll

DALLAS, July 26.—(Special)—Unless all of the most astute and experienced political writers of Texas are mistaken, United States Senator Tom Connally will be re-nominated to a second term in the senate on July 28 by an overwhelming majority. Such a forecast is the consensus of the outstanding newspaper observers of Texas.

Two separate state-wide polls in which the opinions of newspaper editors in every county in the state were sought, have been made, and each shows that Connally has a tremendous lead.

The first, taken by Ed Kilman, recognized as one of the state's most competent political observers, and writer for the Houston Post, forecasts that Connally will carry 234 of the 254 counties in the state.

Another poll, just published by the Dallas Times-Herald, gives the following results:
For United States senator—Tom Connally, first in 141 counties, which have an estimated total vote of 707,517; second in 17 counties; third in one county.
Joseph W. Bailey Jr.—First in 25 counties, which have an estimated total vote of 97,170; second in 123 counties; third in one county.
Guy B. Fisher first in no county; second in 10 counties; third in 139 counties.

National Guard To Camp Aug. 4 Near Palacios

SAN ANTONIO, July 26 (AP)—The annual encampment of the thirty-sixth division, Texas national guard, will be held at Camp Hulen near Palacios August 4 to 18, inclusive, with approximately 554 officers and 6,850 enlisted men attending, according to announcement from the eighth corps area headquarters here.

Major Gen. John A. Hulen, division commander, will command during the encampment and a corps of regular army instructors will assist in the training.

Field artillery units of the division will use motor trucks in transporting their guns, equipment and personnel to camp but infantry and other units will make the trip by rail.

Chevrolet Master Six Coach

And the latest and greatest forward step is the KNEE-ACTION RIDE

Look back down the years. Think of the biggest strides motor-ing has taken. The self-starter—saving drivers from the drudgery of cranking. The sliding gear transmission—making it easier to learn to drive, easier to keep on driving. The safety gas tank—located out of harm's way and as far from the driver as possible. The streamlined car—a thing of beauty, a practical advantage for speed and fuel saving. No Draft Ventilation—the first basic body improvement since the invention of the closed car. Now think of the greatest motoring advancement of 1934—one of the greatest of all time—Knee-Action. Chevrolet pioneered them all in the low-price field. And, with the exception of Knee-Action, Chevrolet has forced all other low-priced cars to adopt them too. Knee-Action will be next. Nobody who pays the price of a Knee-Action car will long be satisfied to get anything less than Chevrolet's wonderfully smooth and easy Knee-Action ride.
