AMERICANS BEAT NATIONALS

Twinkles
Probably this is, as claimed, a part of the drought-stricken area, but you wouldn't think it if you measured some of the weeds on vacant lots around this town.

Skippy, the family pup, is growing more human every day. He relishes ice cream cones but no child ever turned up a more distasteful nose at a spoonful of cod liver oil.

And, after all, we think scientists have barely scratched the surface of the diet problem. Methuseah didn't leave any menus, but he seemed to have set a pace in longevity that is beyond our comprehension.

Maybe long lives are undesirable, anyhow. It would be tragic, with industrialists retiring me at 40, if science were to make us live to be 200 just when the government is worrying over plans for old age security.

A popular cosmetic is made from lemon juice. And the West Foster grouch adds it would be all right with him they took all the grape fruit and made soap out of it.

Brevitorials
Musings of the moment: Habits cling. Many a man wears his garters until they literally fall apart. Many a wealthy man wears his tooth-brush to the bone handdle before getting another one.

IT IS GOOD news to supporters of Senator Clint C. Small that political leaders in all parts of the state concede him a fighting chance to get into the second primary. No Panhandle candidate is likely to get more than that in any first primary. Mr. Small is certainly no sectional candidate this year. His support is well scattered. There are communities in East Texas which are expected to give him more votes than any other communities in the Panhandle. That's a fact.
While the Panhandle support as a whole is strong for the home man, it is no secret that some folks in the Panhandle have been for the senator so long they are changing over this year for sake of variety, if for no better reason. That is a sort of political psychology which just will crop out.

THE FIGHT on Jimmie Allred is not entirely on the grounds that he is likely to be high man in the first primary which many profess to doubt. The race has gone so long in peace that something had to be done to revive it.
It was necessary to heave a few rocks to attract the attention of the dear voters. In seeking about for a victim, the gubernatorialists realized that no man is likely to be as vulnerable as an "in" or office holder. Mr. Allred met the requirements and the chunking began.

IT WAS ALSO noticeable that Mr.
Allred was unusually mild this year. His manner invited brickbats. Seemingly, he thought he had worn out his old standby issues—
the chain stores and big business.
His campaign car is no longer filled up with tin cans and breakfast foods. Actually, Jimmie has conducted the most amazing campaign in recent Texas history.
In shouting up and down the creeks about the evils of lobbying, misconduct of public utility heads, and monopolistic tendencies, he is giving himself a left-handed panning for not curbing these things.
The attorney general, far more than a government official charged with correction of these evils.

MEANWHILE, the old Allred planks are being vigorously paraded through scores of Texas communities by Tom Hunter, who calls Jimmie the little boy with the big breeches. "Them's harsh words," the news comes out from many of the places where Hunter has spoken that the campaigner is getting many an Allred vote. Hunter is by far the most radical candidate in the race and it is no joke about radical promises being good for many a ballot in this or any other year.

ALLRED'S LONG emphasis upon lobbying and retaining fees by legislators may be tied down to something concrete as a result of the swatting Jimmie is getting at the hands of Senator Small. But here again, are complications. Mr.
Small has accepted retailer fees, undoubtedly, but from some of the independent, small refiners and lawn owners whom Mr. Allred has sworn eternal vigilance to defend.
If the attorney general has more "on" the senator, he will undoubtedly spring it before long.
Mr. Small's darts are getting a bit too accurate to ignore.

ACTUALLY, the vein of truth running through the whole matter is not likely to be told. The government is not an office from which any man can dictate the policies of the legislature and of the several state departments. There is no more futile effort than that promised by Tom Hunter, who would like to see recalled every of-

NAZIS' HEAD
PROPAGANDIST
FLAYS PRESS

FRENCH AND ENGLISH
NEWSMEN SCORED
BY GOEBBELS

BERLIN, July 10. (AP)—Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda, read the riot act to the press of the world tonight, especially the French and English press, in an address internationally broadcast.

"I call you all to witness," he said to an invisible audience of many millions in describing the suppression of the second revolution, "that there have been cases of lies, slander and misrepresentation of the true facts such as are almost without parallel in journalism."

A large part of the foreign press, he charged, "has embarked upon a campaign of lies which in its maliciousness can be compared only with the campaign of atrocity tales that were set in the scene against Germany during the war."

Goebbels' version of events 11
days ago is as follows:
"With his authority and with remarkable brevity, der fuhrer (Hitler) quick as lightning suppressed the revolt of a small coterie of saboteurs, ambitious men afflicted with a malady.

"A huge wave of confidence welled up in the entire nation for Adolf Hitler because of his heroic acts. If anything in Germany changed, it was possibly this. That the German people are devoted with even greater love to the fuhrer and to the political regime represented by him."

UNION POLICY
OF OIL FIRM
DENOUNCED

COMPLAINTS MADE BY
PAMPA, BORGER
EMPLOYEES

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)— Contending the Phillips Petroleum company of Texas and Oklahoma has violated the petroleum code and the national recovery act, the petroleum labor policy board today asked the firm to refrain "from any further efforts to secure the establishment of its own company employees' union."

The action was taken after an investigation of complaints from employees at the company's plants at Borger and Pampa, Texas, and Seminole, Oklahoma.

The board advised Secretary Ickes, the oil administrator, it had determined that in two selections sponsored by the Phillips company on a plan for organizing an employees' union, the firm had not given an opportunity to express their views on any other type of organization.

It is for the employees freely to choose such an organization if they prefer it, and any election that purports to give employees an opportunity to express their choice must provide an opportunity for the employees to choose, from and must not be confined or restricted to a vote on the employer's proposal alone.

The election should be by secret ballot, and must not be conducted by an agent of the company. It should be supervised by an election committee chosen by the employees and representatives of different organizations among them, or by a neutral party agreed upon by all parties.

"If this can not be arranged, the election itself.

LATE
NEWS
NEW ORLEANS, July 10 (AP)— Cotton prices continued to soar today under the influence of the bul-lish government acreage report issued yesterday and a dollar a bale jump today brought the increase for the two days to almost $3.00 per bale. The advance today was aided by unfavorable weather in the belt as well as the influence of the acreage report, and buying showed more activity than it has in recent weeks.

Bullets Graze Peck Hyer's
Temple in Domino Parlor;
C. L. Suddath Is Charged

MEAN, June 10.—Assault to murder charges were filed against C. L. Suddath, proprietor of a domino parlor, here last night after Peck Hyer, also of McLean, received scalp wounds.

Hyer was struck by two bullets from a .45 caliber automatic pistol.
The slugs "creased" his temple but did not injure him, and Hyer was walking about as usual today.

Suddath declared—and produced witnesses to show—that Hyer had threatened him violently prior to the shooting. Suddath quoted Hyer as boasting that he "would get a butcher knife and cut that—Sud-dath's head off." The two men quarreled during the afternoon.

ALMA OIL COMPANY HITS TOP OF PAY IN TWO WELLS IN WHEELER

Wheeler county strays look like it may continue to do so for quite a while. Yesterday, the Alma Oil company touched the top of the pay in two of its wells. The most interesting, although it probably will not be as large a well, is No.

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—
Conditions on July 10 indicated wheat production this year would aggregate $483,662,000 bushels and corn 2,113,000,000 bushels. This estimate, for the United States only, was made today by the department of agriculture. The devastating drought had intensified interest in the report.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10 (AP)— Another death and increasing strike threats in three cities drew the Pacific coast maritime dispute rapidly toward a new crisis today as a federal board pleaded for an armistice.

Paper Predicts
General Strike
Of Oil Workers

FORT WORTH, July 10 (AP)—A general strike is threatened "if not actually impending," in the entire petroleum industry, the International Oil Worker, official publication of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America, says today.

The journal, published here, predicts that "unless satisfactory agreements are reached within a short time, there will be a widespread suspension of work that will involve and close down all the large refineries and many other branches of the oil business in all parts of the United States."

Workers are taking strike votes at many places, the paper continues, on claims of non-observance of contracts, violation of the recovery code for the petroleum industry and the "blocking of efforts at amicable settlements and the adoption of working contracts."

Streets To Be
Roped off for Connally Talk

North Russell street between Francis and Kingsmill avenues will be roped off while United States Senator Tom Connally addresses voters of this area Thursday afternoon. The senator will begin his address from the balcony on the east side of the courthouse at 3 o'clock.

Senator Connally will be making his second appeal to voters of the Panhandle when he speaks in Pampa. The senator from Marlin has made a name for himself in his first period in the senate. He is chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds and can point with pride to some of Texas' fine federal buildings, authorized during his time in Washington.

The senator from Texas is a member of the senate finance committee, a member of the foreign relations committee, and a member of the committee on privileges and elections.

Baby Drowns in Tank Near Groom

Artificial respiration and use of the fire department's inhalator failed to save the life of the 23-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hermesmeier of the Groom community last night. The child fell in a tank of water and it was several minutes before the mother found it.

Dr. R. A. Webb was called and immediately started giving artificial respiration. He called an ambulance from Pampa and notified Fire Chief Clyde Gold, instructing them to proceed toward Groom. He immediately left for Pampa with the child and met a G. C. Malone ambulance and Chief Gold 15 miles from Pampa.

THE CANDIDATES MIGHT TRY IT

If it has been assumed that candidates for the legislature and for governor believe the state should help finance a big Centennial celebration in 1936—it will have to be big to succeed. But they are not committing themselves on the subject unless asked. Probably it would be smart politics for them to make their position clear. It might garner a few votes.

At this stage of the campaign, candidates for state offices confess they are bewildered by the voters' lack of interest in them and their promises. In the current issue of the Texas Weekly, an editorial offers the explanation that the eyes of the people are upon Washington and not on Austin. "There is a widespread feeling that 'There isn't much the state government can do,'" it states. But if any appropriation is made for the Centennial, the legislature will have to do it. The fate of the celebration will be in the hands of the legislature. The Centennial may be the biggest proposal upon which the next legislature will have to pass. What is the attitude of the candidates toward it?

Their present lack of an attitude toward financing the Centennial was brought to the attention of Texans last week by Cullen F. Thomas who urged voters to make the Centennial a determining question in voting, and by the Weekly which says that the people must support the Centennial if there is to be a celebration. The Weekly editorial advises Texans, if they really want a Centennial, to vote for legislators who will be favorable to a large appropriation. It is conceded now that an appropriation will be necessary.

The candidates are complaining that not even the country boys are interested in them any more. Well, they might be if they would talk on proposals that are certain to come up at the next session of the legislature. Most of the candidates are making preposterous promises and some are making none at all. They are overlooking a great opportunity for oratory in ignoring the Centennial—also, they may be overlooking votes. They might experiment, anyway.

ACCIDENT RATE KEEPS IN STEP WITH RISING THERMOMETER NOW

The rising thermometer exerts a sympathetic influence on the accident rate, according to the National Safety Council, and if you would escape needless injury you must season your summer activities with a generous amount of caution and common sense.

The obvious hazards, auto accidents and drowning, lead the list as causes of death. But there are many others, less well known, which contribute greatly to the high total of injuries in the hot months and which also cause many fatalities. Most of these are brought about by the American habit of getting away from the city for week-ends in the summer and for the annual two-weeks vacation. The farmer, when he comes to the city, may be called a "rube" by his urban brother, but when the city dweller leaves his natural habitat for the rural areas he becomes a most hapless boob in the woods.

Dangers Enumerated

Following are a few of the many hazards which beset the urbanite when he goes camping or touring in the summer:

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

1. Poison ivy and poison oak. He should learn to recognize these irritating plants and not expose his skin to them.
2. Sunburn. An overdose of sunshine on the first day out can easily ruin an entire vacation and, indeed, jeopardize one's life.
3. Illness from changes of food and impure water. The natives may have developed a surprising immunity to enteric complaints, but the city dweller who has trained on chlorinated water and pasteurized milk falls an easy prey to diseases borne in food and water. Beware the hot dog and dirty roadside stands, the old oaken bucket, and the bubbling spring whose water may be contaminated.
4. Cuts and scratches—and infection. Axes, knives, and hatchets are included in most camping equipment but a knowledge of how to use them safely is often lacking in the camper's mental equipment. Cuts and scratches often become infected. Remember when you are camping you are usually a long way from a doctor and should use sharp implements with care. That goes for firearms and fish hooks as well.
5. Heat stroke and sun stroke. There is a difference between the two both in symptoms and treatment, which should be learned.
6. Over-exertion. Muscles made soft by fifty weeks of swivel chair duty will not stand excessive exercise. Take it easy on your vacation and you will not only enjoy it more, but you may avoid strain.
7. Snake bites and insect bites. Injurious snake bites are not common; nevertheless the untrained camper will avoid reptile infested areas. Mosquitoes are much less terrifying than snakes but they are more prevalent and they can ruin a vacation.

McSHAIN HURLS CHAIR, THEN CHOKES BRACKMAN FOR FALL

Garrison Stays Five Rounds With Trained Bear But In The End Takes Count.

Pampa's Irish grappler, Pat Garrison, says he would rather meet Dutch Mantel in the dark than Andy, the bear he wrestled last night at the Pla-Mor auditorium. Pat stayed five and a half rounds with the bear before his shoulders went to the mat following a number of slams and a hammerlock. Danny McShain came from behind to win from Speedy Brackman, owner and trainer of the bear. The bout was one of the wildest seen here in some time. McShain went out of the ring once to grab P. S. Brown's chair and hurl it at his opponent. The chair knocked the decorations into the ring and McShain proceeded to take the bear and choke Brackman into submission to win the second fall.

Curly Lewis, Pampa boy, showed that he has learned much about the wrestling game when he stayed 20 minutes with Claude Swindell in the preliminary. Lewis stayed behind the veteran most of the time and displayed a nice knowledge of holds. He broke most of Swindell's grips and executed some nice ones himself.

Garrison and the bear went "round-and-round," with the bear doing most of the wrestling. Andy got behind the Irishman, slammed him, flipped him and used a nice hammerlock, held in place with his nose. The Irishman worked a few headlocks and bit the bear twice, sending it from the ring. Referee Andy Gump came in for a lot of misery when he tried to separate the grapplers.

Announcer Jess Hall presented Garrison with a wreath of freshly cut daisies before the match and then made the mistake of introducing the bear at Pat Garrison. The four-footed grappler left its corner, reared up on its hind paws, and went to work at the gong of each round.

Brackman won the first fall of the main event in 14 minutes after giving McShain six new type headlocks and a hammerlock. McShain had been in a double toe hold two minutes and a hammerlock the same length of time before losing the fall. Brackman used a wrist whip to the jaw effectively before the final fall. McShain presented his usual dry tricks and Referee Andy Gump had a time keeping things even half clean. He tangled a couple of times with the Irishman and came out best, the last time by connecting with McShain's jaw with a hay-maker.

The second fall went only four minutes. The Oregon lumberjack was having the better of the argument when McShain threw the chair, tearing down the decorations.

McShain won the last fall by landing on Brackman's head from his perch on top of one of the corner posts, where he had gone to get away from Brackman's arm blows. The lumberjack was arguing with Referee Gump when McShain landed on his head, hurling him to the mat and pinning his shoulders in 11 minutes.

N. F. Adams of Borger was a visitor in the city last night.

ENTRY LIST TO BE LIMITED TO SIXTEEN CLUBS

FIXED SCHEDULE WILL BE FOLLOWED RIGIDLY

Teams entering in the Pampa invitation baseball tournament will fight for a $1,000 guaranteed cash prize for first place. The amount has been underwritten by a number of Pampa baseball fans. The tournament will open either August 24 or 26 and end Labor Day, September 3.

Roy Bourland, Pampa business man and tournament manager, met with his committee last night in the chamber of commerce rooms and started the organization functioning. Mr. Bourland was selected as head of the tournament by the Pampa junior chamber of commerce which will sponsor the affair.

Committee chairmen are being selected and will be announced within the next few days. Rules and regulations are being prepared and will be accepted at the next meeting of the executive committee, composed of Mr. Bourland, Judge Ivy Duncan, Mayor W. A. Bratton, Travis Lively, George Briggs, Clarence Kennedy, Bob Knox, Harry E. Hoare, Bob Fuller, Harold Miller, and J. A. Meek.

The committee agreed that, instead of announcing that all money above expenses would be placed in a prize fund, it would set aside a certain percentage for expenses and place the balance aside for the three winners, dividing it 50 per cent for second place, and 20 per cent for third place.

A schedule, to be followed rigidly throughout the tournament, will be adopted and teams will know when they will play and whom they will meet well in advance of game time. There will be no juggling of teams to get them out of the tournament and there will be no favoritism shown, the backers of the tournament announced.

The entry list will be limited to 16 teams and the executive committee will reserve the right to select teams. Although no application forms have been prepared and the tournament has been given little publicity, five strong teams have already announced their intention of making application to play in the tournament. The teams are Hollis, Okla., Wilcox Oilers of Oklahoma City, Phillips "06" of Borger, Coltex of LeFors, and the Pampa Roadrunners.

Lights for Roadrunner park have been ordered and will be installed within the next two weeks. Night baseball will be introduced before the tournament, but the dedication night ball game will not be until the opening game of the tournament. The lighting system was ordered direct from the Giant Manufacturing company and will be similar to those used in all the big ball parks throughout the country.

Admission to all games will be small. There will be no increase in the charge for Sunday and holiday games. More bleacher seats will be installed at Roadrunner park before the opening game. The grandstand will seat nearly 1,200 fans and bleachers are available for about 800 more, not including the "knot-hole gang" section.

Pampans Attend Elston Funeral

Among those from this community who attended the funeral of Judge Frank Elston in Panhandle yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Jess Wynne, long-time friends of the Carson county judge; C. E. Cary, county judge, and Commissioners John Haggard, W. W. Wilson, and H. G. Meskeley.

Services were held in the First Methodist church with the Rev. Foster, pastor of the Episcopal church of Amarillo, in charge. The church was filled with friends and acquaintance of the judge who had lived in Panhandle since 1898. Burial was in Panhandle cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gregory and son, Harold, have returned from an extended vacation with relatives and friends in West Virginia.

Amarillo Ball Tournament to Begin July 27

AMARILLO, July 10.—Baseball fans of the Texas Panhandle appear to be rallying behind the ninth annual Globe-News tournament like they never have before.

A general, nation-wide revival in the grand old game has spurred fan interest to a new height in this territory. Evidences of interest in the coming classic arrive daily on the tournament manager's desk.

This year's great meeting will commence on July 27 and end on August 5. Already over a dozen team managers have signified intention to enter the race for glory and gold.

The Globe-News tournament furnishes an outlet for both players and fans that they can get in no other way in this section of the country. Old rivals come here to vie with ready money at stake. New crops of youngsters arrive daily on the ladder of fame each year. Here is an event that compares, in a relative way, with the greatest that baseball has to offer—the world series.

Information regarding ticket prices or the entry of teams may be had by writing to Jerry Malin, sports editor of the Globe-News, who has had complete charge of the past five tournaments.

STANTON

ton from San Antonio with Stanton and Nelson, was arrested as he walked down a street in front of the rooming house they had occupied.

He told officers that Bill Doupe, fourth member of the quartet who broke jail at Lubbock June 24, had not been with them since shortly after the break.

Stanton, a condemned killer, and Nelson, burglar, were seated in an automobile and Stephens was standing on the sidewalk as two Houston detectives, Tom Eubanks and Martindale, approached them. Stanton and Nelson fled in the car while Stephens, attempting to throw off suspicion, walked calmly down the street.

The detectives' automobile careened into a tree but they continued the chase and finally ran the fugitive pair down a blind alley. They jumped from the car and ran, dodging a hail of lead the officers fired at them.

Eubanks and Martindale rushed back to the spot where they had first sighted the trio and nabbed Stephens as he leisurely walked down the street.

Stephens readily admitted his identity and spoke freely to officers, telling of the jail break and subsequent kidnaping of Walter S.

Jack Foster Is With Firestone In Ohio Plant

Jack Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster, arrived in Akron last Saturday where he will be employed by the Firestone company.

Mr. Foster received his degree from Oklahoma university in June and was given his assignment to the company before graduation. The first six weeks will be spent in a training school, during which time the students are classified as to which department in the company they can best fit. It is Mr. Foster's desire to obtain foreign service.

Mr. Foster was an outstanding student at the university. He was a member of the university National Honor Society and was voted the most popular member of the Lambda Chi fraternity.

A PAYROLL to support 34,000 Texas People

IN 1933 over 34,000 Texans depended upon the pay checks of Texas legal reserve life insurance companies for their means of a livelihood. To the 10,000 people directly employed in home offices and the field went $8,000,000.00 for wages, salaries and commissions.

For purchases made in Texas and in tax payments, in 1933 these companies paid out an additional $2,115,000.00 . . . support of further employment in Texas.

The Texas companies also had another payroll, much larger and equally important. In 1933 they sent $20,000,000.00 to Texas beneficiaries and policyholders in payment of death claims, surrender values, endowments and annuities.

These companies had $83,000,000.00 invested in Texas in 1933 . . . and released into the channels of trade $30,000,000.00 of spendable income.

The Texas companies and their 1,200,000 policyholders invite you to join them in the important work of making Texas a better state in which to live and make a living.

MOB LYNCHES NEGRO AFTER HE CONFESSES

ATTEMPTED ATTACK ON PROMINENT WHITE GIRL

BASTROP, La., July 10 (AP)—A young negro farmer lay dead in an undertaking establishment today, lynched by a mob after officers reported he had confessed an attempted attack on a prominent white girl.

Three hundred men hanged Andrew McLeod, 26, from the limb of an oak tree on the court house square here late last night despite his pleas for mercy.

McLeod was accused of attempting to attack the 19-year-old girl early Sunday near Jones, La., 30 miles from here. He was arrested Sunday and officers were preparing to file formal charges against him at the time the mob battered down the door of the small brick jail house and seized him.

Witnesses reported that the mob formed quietly and grew to such proportions that officers in the town were unable to halt their plans.

A telephone pole and a railroad rail were used to break down the iron doors to the small jail and to burst into the cell where the accused negro was crying and pleading for mercy.

The negro was forced to stand on the top of an automobile while the rope was fastened and then he was pushed clear. The first rope broke and the victim fell to the ground. An unidentified man ran up and slashed his throat.

A stronger rope was obtained and McLeod was hanged. Then the mob dispersed.

Chief of Police B. C. Walton was reported out of town at the time of the lynching and there was no night marshal at the jail. Two other negro prisoners in the jail were said to have pointed out McLeod to the leaders of the mob after they gained entrance. The other prisoners were not molested.

Sheriff Fred Carpenter said he and his deputies were unable to halt the mob.

Bet These Guys Would Put Cash On the Sandies!

JOLLET, July 10. (AP)—Two men strode into the marble reception room of one of this city's best known buildings. Depositing their luggage in front of the desk, pushed back their hats and announced:

"We want a room and bath for the night. What are your rates?" This was a new one on Joseph Smith, reception clerk at Stateville prison, but he controlled his emotion and replied:

"Our rates are the lowest in the state, but we do not accept guests for less than a year."

The strangers identified themselves as Harry Ramsey and Donald Brick of Amarillo, Tex., and explained that they were on their way to Chicago. Not wishing to arrive late at night, they asked a filing station attendant to direct them to a good hotel.

"The finest in the state is just over the hill," they said the attendant told them.

When Smith explained where they were, the Texans resumed their trip to Chicago.

According to League of Nations figures of world population, the globe's net gain in population averages 30,000,000 a year.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

THE RANCHERS ENTERTAIN By The Pampa Irish Farmer

Come around here in the shade, neighbor, and let me tell you about that party. The best one I ever went to, I do believe. I don't know when I ever did see folks have such a good time, unless it was at the Oldtimers reunion.

Yes, Mr. and Mrs. Rancher came by for me, and we were out to the ranch early, but there were some of the neighbor ranchmen there ahead of us. Some of the farm boys were still on the combines, as we drove along, trying to finish their field before dark so they could celebrate the Fourth too.

First thing when we got to the ranch, they took me out to the windmill, so I could have one more drink right from the well. My, that was good and cold. And then they took me into the milk house, gave me a good cup of cold butter-milk as good as I ever tasted.

Ever see how they make their milk trough? They build up a concrete trough about waist high, and form the shelves in its stairs-step fashion. The butter bowls and shallow vessels are placed on the top shelves, and the big milk crocks and jars set on the low deep shelves. The floor is clean, damp sand, in the milk house, so the melons and vegetables keep cool placed on the floor.

The little house is built snug, to keep out the dust and flies. The mill pumps the water into the drinking barrel, from which it runs through a pipe to the milk trough, and on out into the stock tank. Everything in that trough keeps like it was on ice, and there was a five gallon stone jar of that good butter-milk on the big bottom shelf, with a big pitcher to pour from.

Partner and Slim hurried me off to see their garden before it got dark. They were as proud of it as a kid with his first boots. Starting it a little late, they did not have so many blooms yet, but it sure was looking fresh and good. You could not find a weed in it.

Mrs. Rancher said after they got Slim started hauling that fertilizer, they had a time stopping him. He thought everything would do better with a dose of it, so she found him out there one even scattering it all over the little moss.

Then they worked and worked to get that all picked out of those little plants, which did not like manure on their bed.

We found big easy chairs on the broad front porch, a big library table, that had one big big bowl in the center filled with velvet red phlox. Did you ever see anything richer than that little annual phlox? On either side of the flower bowl, was a tray of smokes and matches. Back against the wall of the porch, were gallon buckets filled with Shasta daisies. The girls had painted the buckets blue to match the bowl on the table, and those white daisies stood in them, looking so clean and cool. Made you feel like you wanted to spend the rest of the summer right there on that porch.

The boys had removed everything from the main big rooms, except the calendars on the walls, so they would have lots of room for dancing. The cook had baked all night and the day before the party, and let the fire go out of the big range, so the house would be cool.

The musicians were seated in the big hall, and started those fiddles at 9 o'clock. The boss led out with the visiting niece, and Partner followed with Mrs. Rancher, then came Slim and his widow, and all the others followed, even to the newest hand and the cook. Everybody on equal footing and everybody dancing. I was sitting in that big tall chair, right outside the big window, so I wouldn't miss anything.

After the first dance, (and all the others) they went to the kitchen, and the boys fixed their partners something to eat. You know cowboys have good beef all winter, so their idea of a party, is to have all the baked ham, and ice cream they can hold. There were whole hams on the platters, and more in the milk house, and big trays of fresh crisp lettuce, and fresh tomatoes rounded up on a big tray, and loaves of nice bread. There were big pans turned down in a row on the back side of the cabinet, which made me curious. I learned later what they covered.

The boss spent most of the evening on the porch with me and we had our pipes, but the boys didn't let the Missus sit with us long at a time. She was wanting to tell me about her town garden, and how happy she was with her new water tank at the ranch. She was planning to plant a fall garden out there.

At midnight, the boys brought the big freezers of cream out in the front yard and then I saw what was under those pans, on the cabinet, cakes, and more cakes, and every kind of cakes. They turned on the radio, while we all ate ice cream and cake. Could we smell that garden? Did you ever notice how much sweeter some flowers are at night? Those petunias perfumed the whole ranch that night.

When the dancing started again, the boss wanted to get me a cot. No sir. I was having too good a time with my chair tipped back, and my heels up on the banisters, and watching those boys tag the widow away from Slim every turn around the room. When the new hand finished a dance, he would say "MUCH Obligated," and walk away, leaving his partner standing alone in the middle of the floor.

The boys had said they would dance all the morning glories opened, so at daybreak we went out to see and sure enough they had a few blue blooms, smiling above the other red and white flowers.

Yes sir, they danced all night and ate all night, and every body happy all the time. Those cowboys work all the year through, with that one night in mind, when they can have all their neighbors and friends in to share their food, music, and fun. Such big hearted fellows, all on the level, it sure is a treat to be with them, and watch them work and play.

Well, I thought I would come home and sleep some, but somehow I don't feel one bit sleepy, so I just believe I will see if these dahlias need another tie. They soon grow above the ties we put on at first.

When I left out there this morning, what do you suppose I heard the fiddlers playing? I saw Mrs. Rancher whisper to them, and they struck up on our tune, and maybe you think it didn't sound pretty, on the farm.

Hi, my dear, and the farmers The farmers in the dell, the farm that early morning air.

BATTLE OF THE BLACK BASS IS RAGING IN MANY STATES

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—The battle of the black bass, fishing classic of America's inland waters, is getting under way.

Millions of anglers—from the provincial barefoot boy with angle-worm or grasshopper on bent pin to the wealthy sportsman with the fanciest of flies—will be whipping ponds, lakes and rivers throughout the country for that fighting favorite of the average American fisherman.

The black bass season opens July 1 or soon thereafter in most of the states. The prospects for good catches have been reported excellent in most sections of the country, streams having been generously stocked by the federal and state governments and rains overcoming to considerable extent the effects of the drought.

'Follow Ike's Philosophy' Bureau of fisheries experts say such flies as the Brown Hackle, Coachman, Parmachene Belle, Lord Baltimore, Silver Doctor and Professor will take the game and elusive bass but they advise anglers to choose their flies according to their day and the philosophy of Izak Walton.

Seth Gordon, president of the American game protective association, says that about two-thirds of the 10,000,000 fishermen in the United States are interested chiefly in black bass due to the fact that they can be found in waters in every one of the 48 states and to their ability to test the angler's skill.

"The black bass is to anglers of the United States what the canvas-back duck is to duck hunters," Gordon says.

He says considerable impetus has been given to bass and other fishing by the action of many state legislatures in recent years in providing non-resident short term fishing licenses with a reduction as much as 50 per cent in price compared with the oldtime non-resident license.

Use Wet Hands, Advice.
Talbot Denmead, head of the anglers' section of the bureau of fisheries, urges anglers to use wet and gentle hands in taking undersized bass from hooks and putting them back in the water.

"Wet hands can mean the saving of millions of little fish so that they may grow up to be big fish," Denmead says. "An experiment carried on recently by the bureau shows that practically 99 out of 100 fish correctly handled survive."

"Out of 288 small mouth black bass caught on treble hooks and then transported in buckets and automobiles, only four died. These fish were put in brood ponds at a fish hatchery in West Virginia and were observed for months."

If the hands are dry, Denmead points out, they disturb the mucous protective sheet on the outside of the fish, and fungi attack the disturbed places and kill the fish eventually.

McLEAN GIRL IS BRIDE OF TRAVIS STOKES

CEREMONY IS READ BY REV. JONES FOR DAUGHTER

McLEAN, July 10.—In a simple but impressive ceremony, Miss Lorraine Jones, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. S. R. Jones, was married Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of her parents to Travis Stokes, son of Mrs. Kate Stokes of McLean.

Only a few near relatives and close friends were present. The bride's father read the marriage ceremony, and Lorraine Hodges played the wedding march. The living room was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and pot plants, the color scheme of pink and white being carried out in the decorations. The bride was becomingly dressed in a lovely pink crepe wedding gown with white accessories. The groom was attired in gray. A lovely dinner was served at 12 by the bride's mother, honoring the newly married couple and their guests.

The bride is an accomplished pianist and has a class in piano at present. She and Mr. Stokes are members of McLean municipal band. He is engaged in the trucking business.

They will make their home in McLean.

Misses Effie C. and Addia A. McCreary of Lovington, N. M., are guests of their grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Cobb, at the Cobb apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper of the City Food Store left Monday morning for a vacation which will carry them by Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Mrs. Ed Dishman left Monday morning for Hedley for a visit with relatives. She was accompanied by young Mr. Billie Kinslow of Memphis who has been the house guest of the Dishmans since last week.

Supt. and Mrs. C. A. Cryer returned Friday from the mountains of New Mexico, where they have been for several weeks. Little Jane Alice also returned and brought with her a severe case of whooping cough and now the superintendent wishes he had taken a course in nursing instead of football.

ROADRUNNERS LOSE SECOND TOURNAMENT GAME

PHILLIPS TEAM WINS 23-15 IN BORGER AFFAIR

A barrage of base hits in the first three innings gave the Phillips "66" Oilers a substantial lead from which they were never ousted last night in the Borger tournament and resulted in the second defeat for the Roadrunners, 23 to 15.

Bulla started the game for the Roadrunners, but lasted only three innings. During his tenure on the mound, the home boys collected 17 hits good for fifteen runs. Bill Hardin finished the game and fared but little better, although he managed to hold them to eight runs in the last six innings.

Red Gaither, Phillips shortstop, was the leading hitter of the game, collecting six for six. Perry was the long distance clouter with four out of five, three of which were triples and one a double.

The Roadrunners had only one regular outfielder in the game. Brickell was unable to play on account of leg injuries and it was necessary to use a pitcher in right field when Vaughn had to do the catching in the absence of Sain who was ill. Several fly balls fell in right for extra bases that would have been put-outs for an outfielder accustomed to playing the position.

Aaron Ward put in a busy night at second base. He had seventeen chances and handled sixteen of them cleanly. The one he bobbed was a rather hard play and he was hurrying it to start a double play.

The Ater, Ward, and Cox double play combination continued to function with three fast double plays. The other double plays were pulled in the game, Ward figuring in both of them.

The Roadrunners scored eight runs on three hits in the seventh and eighth innings. Errors and walks placed men on bases and clean hits brought them home. Ray E. M. Campbell, and Miss Evangeline Skibinski. Visitors present were Miss Margaret Skibinski, Mrs. N. B. Cude, and Mrs. E. R. Sunkel.

OGDEN, Utah AP)—In an effort to cut down bicycle thefts, riders of this city have to buy licenses now and register them with police. The cost is 25 cents for a small white plate engraved with blue numerals. There's a $10 fine penalty for riding an unlicensed bike.

Big Time Vaude Acts. Scheduled At Sadler Tent

Big time vaudeville is featured this year with Harley Sadler and His Own company. This popular company is in Pampa for one week under the auspices of the American Legion.

Among the vaudeville features are Munde and June, jugglers; Goldie and Wilson, yodlers; Whitehouse Twins, singers and dancers; Fox sisters, singers and dancers; Ewert and Barry, acrobats; Ralph Thomas, xylophonist and dancer; Hart Couch, singer; Jie Gloria Sadler, dancer, and Joe Golfbro and his 12-piece band.

All new plays have been selected for this season, and it is said to be the strongest show in Sadler history.

Wichita Falls aggregation defeat Phillips, the same two clubs will meet again tomorrow afternoon and then Pampa and Wichita Falls will play again tomorrow night. A win for Phillips this afternoon will probably throw Pampa and Borger together tomorrow night.

FRENCH BAN FILMS
 PARIS—France clamped a temporary but absolute ban today on the importation of American raw sensitized film for motion picture cameras. The embargo is designed to force American companies to manufacture here all film for sale in France. Instead of having it imported. Some American firms have plants here but the government's object is to insure employment of French labor on the raw materials.

rice holder who fails to keep his campaign promises. Mr. Hunter was elected, he would have to be a second Napoleon with more than Napoleon's luck to carry out his promises. It is essential that the governor shall be a honest, capable leader of men and a student of public affairs. If he knows what should be done and has the ability to persuade the legislature to make a step in the right direction, he is an A-1 governor.

SENATOR SMALL may never be governor. But if he should be elected, this section would know that it had a friend in the governor's mansion, a champion of its basic needs, an honest man trying to render an honest service. Vastly important also would be the fact that he would know the problems of the Panhandle. He would know Gray county; he would know Pampa. His hatch-string would be out to Panhandle people visiting in Austin. After all, isn't that what we have been demanding all these decades?

Relief Members Quit Commission

AUSTIN, July 10 (AP)—Two members of the Texas Relief Commission had tendered their formal resignations today. They challenged other appointive members to follow their example, suggesting that the state legislature replace the existing relief agency with one that would function harmoniously.

In a post-lunch address to Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and Coke R. Stevenson, speaker of the Texas house of representatives, Ed Huston of Houston and J. F. Reed of Junction asked to be relieved of their duties on the commission. Huston is Governor Ferguson's only appointee on the board while Reed is one of three named by Stevenson.

"Political partisanship now fathomed by the majority of the commission" was given by Reed and Huston as the basis for their action. The resignations were submitted subject to acceptance by Speaker Stevenson and the governor.

Criticism was directed in the letter of resignation at failure of members of the majority bloc to attend a regular meeting of the commission yesterday. Only Reed, Stevenson and B. E. Hiesbeck of Fort Worth, an appointee of Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt, were present.

SMALL LEVELS CRITICISM AT JAMES ALLRED

WITT WOULD LIKE TO BE CENTENNIAL GOVERNOR

BY R. W. BARRY, Associated Press Staff Writer.

AUSTIN, July 10 (AP)—Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt of Waco, who is asking to be governor, told the voters again that he would like to be in the executive chair when the 1935 Centennial is held.

Witt took occasion to make the Oklahoma election, also. He said the voters gave "positive voice to the trend of the times in the southwest when the people turned a deaf ear to political promises and nominated a candidate for governor who of late has become something toward the economic chaos."

Attorney General James V. Allred was at home. He spoke to a home-coming crowd at Wichita Falls. He said he was the first candidate for state office from West Texas ever to have been elected.

"I broke the jinx after everyone had decided a West Texan could not be elected," he said.

Again he expressed his preference for a "real graduated chain store tax."

Edward K. Russell, speaking at Fort Worth, said, "The absence of an appropriate relief program for our struggling people" . . . evidences that his opponents are disqualified to render Texas significant service."

C. C. McDonald, in a speech at Sherman, said he wanted to maintain the schools "with a liberal appropriation as our state finances will permit." He added that he opposed "the creation of any further state supported schools at this time, or the abandonment of any now

BEER CAPACITY

NEW YORK (AP)—Julius Liebman, president of the New York State Brewers' association, estimated that the average adult resident of the state consumed two-thirds of a barrel of beer during the past twelve months.

These weighed 800,000 tons and upheld New York's reputation for beer drinking, for they represented 16.3 per cent of the nation's beer consumption.

Ten Million People HELPED TO BUILD THE TIRE SENSATION of '34!

Beyond Comparison in Quality, Construction, Appearance and Price With Any First Quality Tire Made

THE way to create a TIRE SENSATION is to give the people what they want, and Firestone has done this with the new Firestone Century Progress Tire.

As millions of people visited the Firestone Factory at the World's Fair last year, we asked, this question—"What do you value most in a tire?" They answered—"Give us Blowout Protection, Non-Skid Safety, and Long Wear, at a moderate price." This was a big order, but Firestone has a habit of giving car owners what they want when they want it.

We knew there was only one way to build Quality and Value into a tire at a moderate price, and that was by volume production. We built the greatest tire ever made to sell at these low prices. Car owners are profiting because we found out what they wanted and found the way to give it to them.

The new Firestone Century Progress Tire IS EQUAL OR SUPERIOR to any first quality tire built, regardless of name, brand, by whom manufactured, or at what price offered for sale.

Check These Amazing Values

Come in and equip your car with the marvel of tire construction, at the lowest price we have ever been able to make on a tire of this high quality and construction, carrying a Triple Guarantee.

FIVE TO HOLD JOHNSON POST THIS SUMMER

N.R.A. ADMINISTRATOR TO 'REST' WHILE TRAVELING

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—NRA came today to the threshold of a new experiment.

Hugh S. Johnson expected to clean up a batch of business before converting the recovery agency's one-man leadership into a "five-man committee" for the summer.

Most of the job of directing NRA will be shifted to five assistants. Johnson wants to see how NRA can get along without his hand on the helm. The "five" which is purely informal and designed to give Johnson a chance to relax will be also an important test of commission control.

The general's way of relaxing will be a swing across the country to see the Blue Eagle and put in a good word here and there for the new deal.

A last-minute rush of affairs came to his desk. Among problems that awaited his return from a week of rest and conferences in New York were:

1. Promulgation of one big code for 50 small industries. It would be simple, touching on such matters as wages, working hours, and child labor.
 2. NRA's price policy awaits further clarification, especially President Roosevelt's 15 per cent tolerance order. This permits tolerance to be "open price" codes to go as much as 15 per cent below listed code prices in bidding on government contracts. Steel and some other industries are reported to be seeking exemption from this tolerance.
 3. NRA must select the administrator member to the code authority for the billion-dollar bread industry. This code became effective today.
 4. A 50-page report, ordered by President Roosevelt, on salaries paid moving picture stars, is expected to be turned in soon.
- Johnson's plans for his four assistants but NRA officials expect him to travel to the Pacific, beginning his speeches Wednesday at Waterloo, Iowa.
- The five-man board will run NRA except for major decisions which Johnson must make under the law. On the board will be G. A. Lynch, NRA administrative officer; Robert W. Lea, assistant administrator for industry, and George L. Berry, A. E. Glancy and George Buckley, division administrators.
- After the basic code for small industries has been promulgated, Johnson plans to put NRA's emphasis on compliance, and it is this job particularly which the board will have in his absence.

HOT WEATHER GETS THE BLAME

PHILADELPHIA—In the good old summer time, Vincent Kelly either keeps his sleeves down and stays warm, or rolls them up—and gets drunk.

"You see, Judge, it's this way," he explained in night court. "I used to have a girl I loved so much. I had her name tattooed on my arm. I lost her, and nowadays every time my sleeve slides up and I see her name, I feel so bad I just have to get a drink. Last night, I had my sleeves rolled up."

The magistrate discharged Kelly.

Texas Keep Doctors Busy COMMERCIAL, Ga. (AP)—The stork seems to have things framed up against the doctors in this community the other night. Dr. M. P. Deadwyler delivered twin boys at a farm house and then went home to bed. He was barely asleep when another call came. This time they were twin girls. At the same time Dr. G. O. Castellaw was delivering twin girls at another farm house close by.

SPITE MARRIAGE

BY KATHERINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS: When Marsha Moore's boy, but not too helpful parents died, Marsha was sent to live with her Aunt Gertrude. She arrived a spoiled little girl and decided to be loved and to please. In ten years her upbringing, education, dress, hair, and skin changed her into a girl who was as good as dead. But now she was a girl who was as good as dead. But now she was a girl who was as good as dead.

Chapter Eight THE RING

MARSHA, who believed with Miss Minny that there is no wine like that, had expected Bob Powers to kiss her hotly, to grow a little languid and to go his way, but the affair had not followed this form.

He had kissed her not hotly, but humbly and gently and timidly, and she revealed no evidence of wanting to go any way but hers.

For two strained, unhappy weeks she had "phoned around" with Bob, Geoffrey Thibault, her one intimate that usually took hold, was in town, she knew, and he had not looked her up.

He was a six-eyed old young man, of an unwholesome full and slack underlip, and his life had taught him to know women. His drawing motto was "Keep 'em longing," and he understood the art of doing so.

Marsha could see him in his rooms, smiling over the thought of her knowing he was in town and wondering why she did not see him. She heard, through the fence of friends, that Geoffrey was paying court to a Spanish dancer who was turning New York mad.

Geoffrey, she had realized early, would always "do that sort of thing," yet two weeks at home without even calling her by telephone was rather brutal, even for Geoffrey.

Bob Powers' attitude had also complicated life. His simplicity made him see a kiss as a pledge, and she had kissed him rather thoroughly, wondering whether she could make him lose his head.

She had not; she had had instead, made him lose to her the last corner of his hitherto untouched heart. He had drawn away after her kisses to stare at a portrait of the Moore who had been an Ambassador in the Henry Adams era. The ironic moment had occurred in Miss Gertrude's arctic drawing-room.

"You are heaven's sweet," he said, when he could manage to speak; "generous! Perhaps after twenty or thirty years together, and my trying during all that time to show you what I think and feel of you, you will understand a little of my gratitude and worship."

She had thought, "Oh, heavens!" But she did not tell him brutally that there would be no twenty or thirty years together. Such affairs sometimes "worked out," she teased, without help and quite satisfactory.

She reckoned the wren who "let things slide" and who "managed nicely"; their number reassured her, who heretofore had had no hesitation in dealing a death blow with a smile. But she did not sleep well.

Bob brought her the ring; she let him slip it on her finger, and looking at it, alone, she cried. She did not cry easily. But three times she had cried since "growing up."

But it might work out. She, who had offered so many poisoned cups, in the manner of Lucrezia Borgia, and with as little feeling—she didn't want to hurt him.

ONE afternoon at the start of November she went with Bob to see his mother and, heading toward the old residence street in the new city, she knew herself to be as treacherous and uncertain as she had been at ten.

He understood it, who understood sundry things so well and others not at all, and smiling down on her, he put his hand over hers.

"There isn't any dragon for you, dear," he said. "Don't you know that I'm the Knight who slays them?"

She tried to smile, and seeing that she must try to smile, he was touched deeply by her perturbation. "Darling," he said, "my mother will—does—love you. Otherwise sound in state; she cares rather amazingly for me and she knows what you have done for me. How happy you have made me." (he hesitated) "stepping to me."

She murmured a stifled, "Don't!" He did not understand that, but seeing her need for comfort without understanding it, he tightened his hand on hers and he spoke quickly of matters he hoped might divert her.

ABOUT NEW YORK

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There was one of my early city editors, a wise and sarcastic veteran, who handed me this bit of advice to guide my early efforts as an ambitious cub.

"Mister youngster," he said, "you are entering a profession that demands very much. So remember this: you are interested only in facts, impartial facts. And while keeping that in mind, remember that it is nearly always the heart that will betray you into distorting the facts. So keep your heart free, and you will have little trouble with your integrity, your logic or your responsibility."

In the years since then it has often occurred to me that the gray-haired editor probably had once been betrayed by his heart, but what I started out to relate is the story of the reporter who went out on a story and lost his heart—but not his head.

He is a good reporter and a promising one; he makes $65 a week. The girl in the case (naturally there is a girl) is one of the best known beauties, a lass whose millions particularly want a wedding with flowers.

Subway Interlude

It was a fascinating little comic opera as it happened on a downtown subway late the other night. At Fifty-ninth street three women boarded the train. They were in evening dress and bedecked with a dazzling array of corsages and jewelry.

A station or two further several other passengers boarded the train. These being tousled-haired, sloppily dressed youths whose derisive glances at the well-dressed trio revealed their dislike. They began singing in low, slurring tones "The Internationale," the hymn of the communists.

As they started on the second chorus, the expensively attired women walked over and joined them in singing the song in stirring voices.

At Fourteenth street the bevy of reds arose and started out the door. As they went out the door the three capitalistic pretties raised their right hands in the clenched fist salute!

The departing reds blushed a deeper color than their party flag.

Atlantic Beach, near Morehead City, N. C., is one of two public bathing places on the eastern seaboard that extends east and west, the others lying north and south.

Such a house, and its inmates, would know a great deal of order and the things-gentle-folk could do. Regard for law and the following of such conduct as keeps a thin above the timber line was written on the solid structure before which the motor stopped.

Then the street, and its inmates, would know a great deal of order and the things-gentle-folk could do. Regard for law and the following of such conduct as keeps a thin above the timber line was written on the solid structure before which the motor stopped.

BOB opened the door before the chauffeur could leave his post. "Home," said Bob a little breathlessly; and his eyes troubled Marsha as they had often and because they were filled with confidence, happiness, humble gratitude and adoration.

Bartholomew, a stooped old servant, admitted them to the house; he said, "Mr. Bob," and he bowed low to Marsha.

A good many people would be hurt, she realized, when the truth was told.

She liked the hall, which she saw through confusion and a bit hazy. The furniture was old, good, solid; the rugs, which had been bought before people generally turned toward the East with their need to cover floors, would mean a fortune to such as reckoned in that manner, and the utmost satisfaction to another group who required gentle, warming color in their daily fare.

No one who lived in a house with such a sort of hall, could shout with a gasp, or "blush with cold shame." Bob's hand on her arm, Marsha moved with him toward the drawing room. As they reached the threshold for the broad doorway Mrs. Powers rose, a small, faded symphony in gray with gentleness written upon Marsha's face and in her garb.

"My dear child," said Mrs. Powers; she moved toward Marsha, both rather tremulous hands outstretched. Marsha felt dry lips on hers... odd moment, and how Geoffrey would smile over it! And why had she let the affair go thus far?

"That is a very stiff chair for you, dear," said Mrs. Powers, after she had smiled, and arched Marsha, as close to awkward as she could be, had followed the lead.

"I'm feeding stiff," Marsha admitted ruefully. "When I am a bit less frightened I'll move to a slumber chair!"

They laughed. Mrs. Powers said Bob, "That will probably become one of the family jokes," said Mrs. Powers. "Family jokes," echoed in Marsha. Did families really have them? She'd been certain that all that stuff about family jokes and closeness was the roughest "poppycock!" But Mrs. Powers didn't look as if she could lie.

"I meant," Mrs. Powers amplified, "that when you are very much at home here, we shall look back to smile over this visit and your having felt restrained." She leaned forward then to lay her hand upon Marsha's. "I understood from my son," she said, "you were fairly beautiful, but it is more than that which he said I see; your eyes, dear child, are signposts of your fitness."

Definitely, Marsha shook her head. "She is a very humble small person, mother," said Bob. He was staring at Marsha in a way that further disconcerted her; she could almost hear his inner chant, "You're here! You're here!"

(Copyright, 1934, by K. Hamilton-Taylor)

Tomorrow, Marsha is drawn farther into a difficult situation.

American Party Ready to Ascend To Stratosphere

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 10 (AP)—Everything except the weather was ready today for man's latest venture into the thin upper air.

Officials of the National Geographic society and army air corps waited hopefully for the favorable weather they must have for the safe stratosphere voyage of their 3,000,000-cubic foot capacity balloon.

Major William E. Kepner and Captain Albert W. Stevens, who will be pilot and scientific observer, respectively, announced all preparation had been completed for an immediate ascent.

Disappointing civic leaders who hoped the balloon would be called "Miss Black Hills," geographic society and army officials in Washington selected "The Explorer" as the name for the air-tight metal gondola.

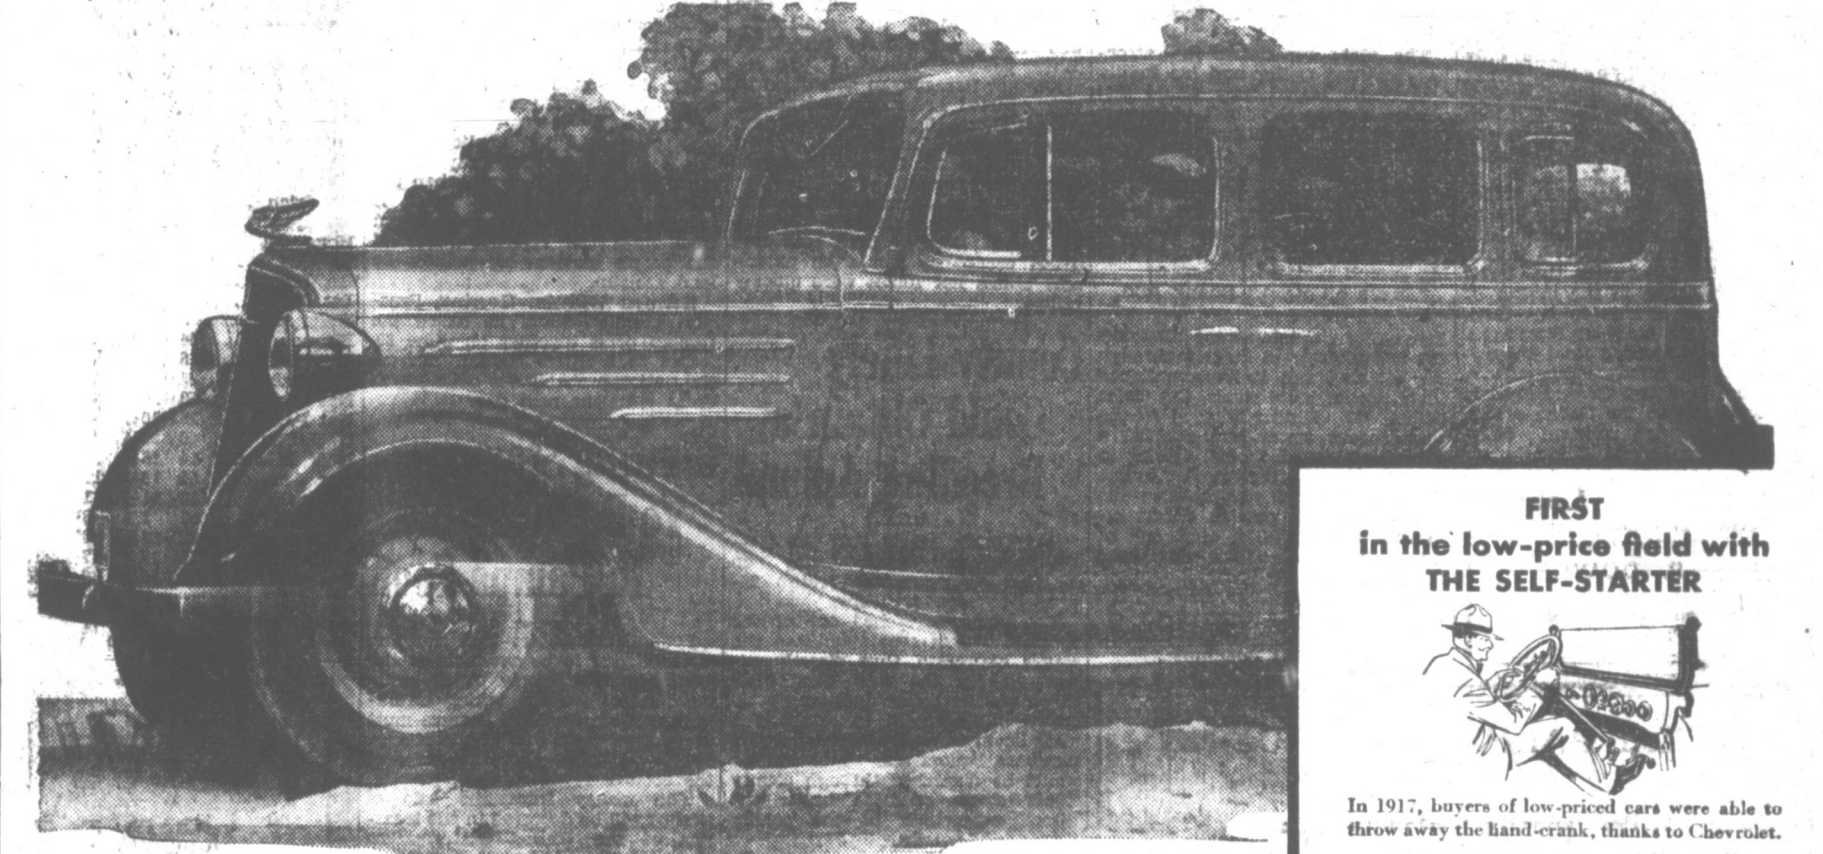

An official statement announcing the name said it "tells in a word the object of the unique expedition far above the earth," and added: "The gondola of the balloon which soon will rise far into the stratosphere is more fully equipped for exploration than any that has been taken into that region before. The expedition will explore the upper stratosphere itself and the unseen forces so vital to the world below that play on its outwardly calm spaces. It is hoped to bring back to earth as a result of its explorations new facts from a new world as truly as did Columbus when he crossed an unknown sea of water."

Chinese cabbage thrives under certain fall weather conditions in the state that prove harmful to the ordinary cabbage crop.

City May Be 'Landed'. SACRAMENTO, Cal. (AP)—In gold rush days, the mining town of Columbia came within one vote in the legislature of being named the capital of California. Recently it was revealed by Attorney General U. S. Webb that the state may lease the ghost city for $1 a year as a historical site.

The Japanese population of Harbin, Manchuria, has increased from 4000 to 10,000 within three years.

FIRST in the low-price field with the SELF-STARTER

In 1917, buyers of low-priced cars were able to throw away the hand-crank, thanks to Chevrolet.

FIRST with the SLIDING GEAR TRANSMISSION

Chevrolet introduced the modern type of transmission into the low-price field. Others adopted it, years afterward.

FIRST with the SAFETY GAS TANK

Chevrolet led drivers of low-priced cars out of danger, by putting the gas tank at the rear of the car, instead of in front. Eventually, all low-priced cars did the same thing.

FIRST with MODERN DYNAMIC LINES

It was Chevrolet that set the pace for the low-price field in true modern streamlined styling.

FIRST with NO DRAFT VENTILATION

Last year, Chevrolet introduced genuine Fisher No Draft Ventilation. This year, other low-priced cars are trying to catch up with Chevrolet—by claiming the same kind of feature.

Year after year, it's been the same old story: Chevrolet FIRST... with the NEWEST and BEST! Chevrolet leading—others following. Chevrolet out in front with the latest proved advancements—others in the low-price field trying vainly to catch up with the leader in engineering progress. The self-starter! The sliding gear transmission! Modern streamlined design! It was Chevrolet aggressiveness and Chevrolet progressiveness that forced all low-priced cars eventually to adopt these and other major improvements. And now, this year, comes the climax of Chevrolet's engineering leadership: the Knee-Action ride!

This newest of motoring sensations is a marvel of smooth, easy, gentle motion. No other ride in the world can even compare with it—for comfort, stability, safety and sheer downright enjoyment. It makes Chevrolet far and away the best riding car in the low-price field. What's more, Chevrolet's experience with it has been tremendously successful.

Have you noticed how America has taken to the Knee-Action ride? In the first 6 months, demand for Chevrolet cars sent production to the highest total attained by any automobile manufacturer during 1934.

HITLER TO ANSWER QUESTIONS IN REICHSTAG TALK FRIDAY

YORK SMACKS FIVE HITS TO BEAT DALLAS

STEERS DROP TWENTY-FIRST GAME IN 27 STARTS

By The Associated Press
Rudy York, who has been wielding the willow for the Fort Worth Cats in such a business-like fashion that Manager Del Pratt has moved him from behind the bat to the outfield, went on the war path last night, banged out five hits in as many tries and led the Felinos to an 11-6 victory over the Dallas Steers.

Among his blows was a ninth-inning homer off Little Sal Glatto that scored Smith ahead. Four Steer misuses, three of them infield bobbles, added to the rout, which was witnessed by 7,634 fans who filed through the turnstiles only to see the Herd drop its twenty-first game in its last 27 starts.

The league-leading San Antonio Missions lost more ground in the pennant chase when the Houston Buffaloes staged a battling bee at the expense of pitchers Abe Miller and Clarence Fieber. The Buffs cleared out thirteen safeties and defeated the Padres, 8-5. The San Antonio artillery went the Buffs one knock better in the matter of hits, but was unable to put them together as well as their Bayou city rivals. It was Fieber's final appearance with the Missions his owners, Chicago White Sox, having ordered him to report to the Dallas Steers. George Binder, veteran Okla-

Lawyer Calmly Awaiting Death For 4 Murders

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., July 10 (AP)—Mark H. Shank, his eyes closed and his face expressionless, lay impassively in a death cell today, waiting out the 17 days before he must die for the quadruple murder of an Akron, Ohio, family.

Word came to the attorney that his wife, whose letters have been his only interest since he was brought here, is ill and will be unable to visit him before his execution day.

Only action by Governor Futrell can save Shank from electrocution July 27 for killing Alvin Colley, his wife and two small sons last August in the Saline county woods.

The governor will hear this week the plea of his counsel, Blake Cook, that the former Akron attorney and parish civic leader is a cyclotimic victim of a mental disease which carries the sufferer "from the heights of egotism to the lowest depths of despair."

The state contended the attorney poisoned Colley and his family because he was afraid they would indict him in the theft of papers from the prosecuting attorney's office at Barberton, Ohio. Colley was sought for the theft and Shank allegedly was interested in the case.

From his cell cot, Shank heard Supt. A. G. Siedman read the governor's mandate fixing July 27 as his execution day.

"That's all right," Shank said.

PARAGUAYANS BELIEVE THEY HAVE WON WAR

But Bolivians Claim They Stopped Advance

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 10 (AP)—Paraguay was jubilant today over belief she had clinched a decisive victory in the Chaco war.

If Paraguayan hopes are confirmed, it appeared likely the army could eject Bolivia from Fort Ballivian, her principal stronghold in a disputed area for which the rival armies have been battling since June 13. A statement of the ministry of defense claimed Paraguayan forces had taken the third line of defense of Bolivia before the fort and that the enemy was retreating in disorder toward Argentina.

(A Bolivian communique at La Paz said the Paraguayan offensive was checked effectively after it had pierced only an outer line. One Paraguayan plane, the report said, was shot down Sunday and three others put to flight.)

Another Paraguayan assault corps was reported here to be advancing toward Guachalla, behind Ballivian, after breaking the Bolivian line in two places in the Chaco's strategic northern sector.

This report fanned Paraguayan hope of quick possession of Fort Ballivian. Sources here said Bolivian occupancy would be untenable unless her forces were quickly rallied.

PARLIAMENT IS CONVOKED FOR FORUM EVENT

EXPECTED TO EXPLAIN EXECUTIONS OF JUNE 30

BERLIN, July 1. (AP)—The Reichstag was convoked today for Friday for a speech by Chancellor Hitler on events which made the executions of June 30 necessary.

Chancellor Hitler, who since June 30, the date of climatic events marking the beginning of the "second revolution" has kept silent, once more will use the forum of the so-called national parliament to address the nation and the world.

His speech is anticipated to answer innumerable questions that German citizens and foreigners have been asking in explanation of the executions of June 30.

The Reichstag has not met since January of this year, when the chancellor's speech was an exhaustive account of the first year of his stewardship.

It is part of Hitler's policy to call the Reichstag together only on the most important occasions when the opinion of the entire world is focussed upon such a meeting, and then have the representatives of the people endorse his policies by loud acclaim.

Herman Wilhelm Goering, Prussian premier, when he called the foreign press together on June 30, stated that Hitler would address the nation probably the same night, or at least the next day.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—Stock market sentiment turned to the optimistic side of the price picture today and recoveries of 1 to more than 2 points were recorded by numerous issues. Although some extreme gains were shaded by profit taking in the late dealings, the close was firm. Transfers approximated 650,000 shares, more than double yesterday's total.

Sadler Musicians Entertain Jaycees

An outline of the Pampa Invitation baseball tournament to be sponsored by the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce was given by Roy Bourland, tournament manager, at noon today. Mr. Bourland congratulated the Jaycees on past accomplishments. He declared that they were facing one of their biggest tasks and that only a united effort would carry them through.

Accordian music was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Ewert of the Harley Sadler company. The program was in charge of Frank Carter.

Guests were Jack Claybourne of Houston and District Attorney Lewis Goodrich.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 10 (AP)—The market continued to improve late in the morning, due to buying on rain in the eastern belt and continued drought in the west.

October advanced to 12.57 and December to 12.72, or 19 to 29 points above yesterday's close. Near mid-session, trading quieted down some and price reacted slightly on profit taking, losing 5 to 6 points, but recovering a part of this loss.

At mid-session, prices still showed net gains of 15 to 16 points over the close of yesterday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 10. (AP)—A pronounced reversal of bearish sentiment, as to grain values became evident today, and all cereal markets went upward.

Commission house interest regarding wheat was the most active witnessed for some time, contributing factors including a decrease of hedging sales, together with advances shown by cotton and securities.

There were also less optimistic crop reports as to spring wheat both sides of the Canadian border.

What closed unsettled $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ above yesterday's finish, September new 88 $\frac{1}{2}$ -%, corn $\frac{1}{4}$ -%, oats $\frac{1}{2}$ -% off to $\frac{1}{4}$ up, and provisions showing 7 to 15 cents gain.

SNAKE BITE FATAL

GOLDTHWAITE, July 9 (AP)—A rattlesnake bite had brought death today to Thomas J. Harrison, pioneer of this county. He was alone when the reptile struck him and it was an hour before he could receive medical attention. Harrison had farmed in this county for 40 years. Formerly he lived at Waco and at Crawford.

hona City shortstop went hit crazy for the night, and largely through his efforts the Indians walloped their Sooner state rivals, the Tulsa Oilers, 7-3. Binder trudged to the platter four times and swatted a single, triple and double, driving in four of the Redskin's runs. In the meantime, Shoaf was holding the Oiler bludgeons well in check, allowing but five hits, only one of which—Berg's triple—was good for more than one base.

The Beaumont Exporters and the Galveston Pirates enjoyed an off day but will make up lost time in a doubleheader at Beaumont.

County Likely Could Obtain a Breeding Animal

JACKSON, Miss., July 10 (AP)—Mississippians voted today on whether to scrap the state's 25-year-old "bone dry" law.

The voters scratched one of the shortest ballots ever submitted the state's electorate, thus directly expressing for the first time their views on the liquor question.

The bill proposes to establish a state liquor commission which would purchase liquors and wines. These would be dispensed through county liquor stores operated under the direct supervision of the county supervisory boards.

All profits would go into the general fund of the state treasury.

Harold Mills of Kingsmill was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Fred Lamb had returned from a vacation trip to points in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Colorado.

Hunting Stamps To Be Available In Pampa Soon

Federal migratory-bird hunting stamps, soon to be available at the local postoffice, apply to all hunting licenses for the taking of migratory waterfowl. All licenses must be adorned with one of the stamps at the cost of $1 above the price of the license.

The money from the sale of stamps will be deposited in the treasury of the United States. The stamps will be issued in postoffices of the county seats of all states, in postoffices in all cities with a population of 2,500 or over, or at such other offices as regulations prescribe.

Each stamp will be affixed to the license issued by the state through proper channels. The new tax will provide extra money to the government. All stamps will expire after June 30, next, succeeding its issuance.

The new act follows in brief:

"Ninety days after the date of enactment of this act, June 24, 1934, no person over 16 years of age shall take any migratory waterfowl unless at the time of such taking he carries on his person an unexpired federal migratory-bird hunting stamp issued to him in the manner hereinafter provided: except that no such stamp shall be required for the taking of migratory waterfowl by federal or state institutions or official agencies for propagation purposes or by the resident owner, tenant, or share cropper of the property, or official designated agencies of the department of agriculture for the killing of such waterfowl when found injuring crops or other property, under such re-

"Manager for a Day" This will be a SENSATION

Sound Like A Movie Thriller

... and the girls in the store say that's just what it is. Each department head is to show what they can do as managers. ... they are to have "full sway" and have already informed me that I'm not to holler if it hurts.

They are going to show me how to move merchandise and I'm waiting breathlessly to see if I have a "shirt to my back" when they get through.

We think we have the finest lot of saleswomen possible to assemble. Maybe some of you do not know them personally, so our advertisements will carry a short, intimate story of who they are and where they come from, etc. (I have agreed not to tell their ages.)

The "manager for a day" advertisements will appear about three days apart. Watch the PAMPA DAILY NEWS for these ads or you may be sorry you didn't get in on it.

THE FIRST AD WILL APPEAR ON THIS PAGE TOMORROW . . . !

HOW BIG A LUBRICATING JOB CAN A QUART OF OIL DO?

Five quarts of New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil lubricated a motor nearly five thousand miles in a test against five nationally known, widely advertised motor oils

If YOU are one of the many motorists who believe that a quart of any brand of quality oil is like any other quart, read this story of the "destruction" test made at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway under the strict supervision of the Contest Board, American Automobile Association.

Six strictly stock cars of the medium priced class, and six different brands of oil of the same S. A. E. grade were used in this test to prove the motor protection and consumption of each oil. Simultaneously the cars were driven for an average of 500 miles a day at 50 miles an hour until the motors refused to operate. On the 4th day, three cars were out of the test. Oil No. 4 had gone 1,732 miles; Oil No. 6 had completed 1,764 miles and Oil No. 5 had finished 1,815.9 miles. On the 5th day, Oil No. 1 failed, after going 2,466.8 miles.

Three of two oils competing. In defiance they ran the 6th, 7th, and 8th days, when Oil No. 3, after totaling 3,318.8 miles, wrecked its motor and crept to a stop. Oil No. 2—New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil piled up a total of 4,729 miles! More than 3,000 miles farther than the first oil to go out, and more than 1,400 miles farther than the last oil to fail.

New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has much greater vitality, or film strength, to withstand great pressures and increased heat of modern automobile motors. It has great resistance to effects of dilution and the minimum of carbon and sludge. It has greater oily penetration called the "Hidden Quart," protecting your cold motor in starting, when most of the wear occurs. This oil is covered by recent United States patents and only Conoco can make it.

It was these superior qualities that carried New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil to a record of 4,729 miles on five quarts.

Here is a record of motor protection and low consumption that conclusively proves how big a lubricating job a quart of oil can do. Drive to a Red Triangle Station, fill and know that you have the highest lubricating value in either miles or dollars that your money can buy.

NEW AND IMPROVED CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL
EXCLUSIVE NEW FEATURES PROTECTED UNDER RECENT U. S. PATENTS

Warning TO NEW CAR OWNERS . . .
Some car manufacturers are using new types of bearings which will stand greater pressures and temperatures, resulting from increased power and speed. New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has been exhaustively tested on these new bearings. The results indicate that it gives them greater protection against damage than straight mineral oils.
Protect your new car by using the motor oil you can be sure of.
