RECOMMEND NEW BOND BILL

SENATE WOULD KEEP PRESENT RELIEF GROUP

APPROVES PASSAGE OF $9,500,000 BOND MEASURE

AUSTIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Texas senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, today recommended the passage of a relief bond sales bill which would issue $9,500,000 securities and retain the present Texas relief commission. The action was on a voice vote.

Significance was attached to the action because the entire senate constituted the committee. There was no debate on either the amount of bonds to be issued or retention of the commission, discussion in which was revealed in lengthy testimony taken in a senate inquiry.

The house last week voted to re-submit the issue of $6,000,000 and to transfer relief administration to the state board of control.

AUSTIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Debate started in the Texas house of representatives today on a bill to remit penalties, interest and costs on delinquent taxes with Rep. Hubbard Caven of Marshall contending the policy had crippled state and local governments.

Caven asserted tax payers were allowing current taxes to become delinquent in belief the legislature would continue to charge off the extra levies assessed those who fail to pay.

"They are getting so they will not pay because they know the legislature will remit the penalties, interest, and costs," Caven said.

"The bill would remit charges on all delinquent taxes on August 1, 1934, and would provide for a graduated penalty. A one per cent penalty would be charged if paid by March 31, 1935; two per cent if paid before December 31, 1935; four per cent if paid before March 31, 1936, and six per cent if paid before October 30, 1936.

Caven's argument was challenged by Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi, author of the bill. Pope said the drought and short crop created an emergency requiring further remission.

"The people would pay if they could pay," Pope said. "They just haven't the money to pay taxes and buy food and clothing too."

Pope said hundreds of tax suits were being filed and that property owners would be sold out for taxes unless the legislature acted.

The tax penalty remission law which expired June 30 caused payment of twice as much in delinquent taxes in the time it was effective than in any two-year period in the state's history, Pope said. He said another continuance would be an inducement to pay taxes and that many persons could pay their taxes where they could not pay the penalties, interest, and costs.

Housing Outlook Is Brighter Now

The outlook for making repairs and remodeling loans available here is much brighter, members of the Board of City Development learned last night in their regular session. The project was discussed at length.

Much time was given to hearing proposals for radio broadcasting from Pampa by remote control, through Amarillo stations. Competing sponsors of the program were told to consult the business men, who would be asked to finance the broadcasts.

Several other matters not yet ready for publication were studied.

They say Pampa's team is too beefy and that a sharp knife can cut any beef, no matter how tough.

PLANES OF U. S. ARMY USED FOR DEMONSTRATION

Army Pilots Proved Helpful in Sale of Ships

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The use of army pilots to demonstrate planes for a private concern abroad was described today by the senate munitions committee.

President J. S. Allard of the Curtiss-Wright Export corporation said his company frequently borrowed army pilots and they had proved helpful in the sale of the planes.

He said the pilots usually were on leave. Other evidence was presented that the corporation in March, 1931, attempted to arrange for President Hoover to receive Commander Arturo Merino, chief of the Chilean air force, on Merino's trip to the United States, in order to help counteract efforts of the Prince of Wales in Chile.

Two Kidnapers Of Littlefield Teacher Hunted

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 12 (AP)—Two men described as kidnapers of Miss Lillian Hopping, 26, teacher of English in the Littlefield high school, were sought by officers throughout the Texas-New Mexico border area today.

Miss Hopping, suffering from nervous shock and exhaustion, was resting at the home of a sister, Mrs. Pat Boone, from which she reported she was abducted at pistol point Monday night.

The blue-eyed, brunette school teacher said she slipped away from her captors when their automobile punctured a tire in a pasture 25 miles from Littlefield. She walked to a ranchman's house, within three miles of Littlefield, and was brought from there by automobile to the Boone home.

Miss Hopping said the inquiries of the men convinced her they thought they were kidnaping Mrs. Boone, whose husband manages the Littlefield estate, with properties in Littlefield and Austin and cattle in New Mexico. Mrs. Boone and her husband were absent from home when the abduction occurred.

RAIN MAY DELAY GAME

GALVESTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—A hard rain fell here this morning, indicating that the opening Texas league play-off game tonight between Galveston and Dallas might have to be postponed.

OPERATOR OF MORRO CASTLE ACCUSES AIDE

BRITISH STEAMER IS RETURNING TO BALBOA

CRISTOBAL, C. Z., Sept. 12 (AP)—The British freighter Bradburn, carrying a cargo of cotton and phosphate, out of Tampa, through the Canal zone, and bound for Kobe, Japan, reported today that she was afire.

The Bradburn reported that she was returning at full speed to Balboa from which she sailed Sept. 9. No further report came immediately on her progress nor was there an immediate estimate as to how serious the fire might be.

The Bradburn is operated by the Leeds Steamship company of Great Britain.

With the report on a fire aboard the S. S. Bradburn, three days out from the Panama canal on her way across the Pacific, the total of ships reported with fires in the last five days reached three.

The Grace liner Santa Rita caught fire Sept. 7 off the coast of Colombia, but made Balboa safely.

The Ward liner Morro Castle caught fire Sept. 8 off the New Jersey coast and was destroyed in a great marine disaster.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—George W. Rogers, chief radio operator of the burned liner Morro Castle, testified today that some time ago his first assistant, George Alagna and another operator "tried to instigate discontent on the ship."

Rogers testified hesitantly on this

PARR FAILS TO ELECT MAN FOR COMMITTEEMAN

Rancher's Victory Is Scored Over R. J. Bobbitt

GALVESTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Jim Noel, towering Webb county ranchman who decisively defeated the veteran political leader, Archie Parr, in the state senate race in the district along the lower Rio Grande, was happy today as the result of another smashing victory over Parr.

It was Neal, sometimes called "the Abe Lincoln of the Rio Grande," who led a successful fight to have the state democratic convention here name Ed Downs of San Benito as executive committeeman from his district. W. R. Montgomery, former representative of Edinburg, a Parr supporter, had been reported as the district caucus choice for the committeeman's post.

Neal's victory was the more remarkable because it was scored over Robert Lee Bobbitt of Laredo, convention keynoter. Bobbitt said the caucus had nominated Montgomery by a vote of "61 or 62 to 1."

Pollard Must Stand Trial

INDICTMENT IN CIGARET CASE NOT QUASHED

JUDGE ORDERS TRIAL OF EX-OFFICIAL TO PROCEED

AUSTIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—District Judge W. F. Robertson today overruled motions to quash an indictment charging Claude Pollard, former Texas attorney general, with consenting to the use of counterfeit cigarette tax stamps and ordered his trial to proceed.

The district judge overruled contentions of Pollard's counsel that the state cigarette tax act was invalid because the indictment was faulty because of insufficiency. Arguments on the legal points consumed two days.

Pollard was indicted by a Travis county grand jury last June, concurrently with the indictment of several others on similar charges. His case was the first called for trial.

A number of character witnesses, many of state wide prominence of governmental, political, religious, and business life, were called for Pollard's defense.

His counsel included R. L. Batts of Austin, former federal circuit judge; former Governor Dan Moody and W. A. Keeling, both former attorney generals, and Amos Felt, Austin attorney.

Pollard's counsel objected to the ruling and to its announcement before jury retirement.

Judge Robertson ruled amendments to the tax act, validity of which was questioned, were not in conflict. He ruled the indictment, which named a person to whom Pollard was alleged to have given consent, was sufficiently definite.

Praises Local Council For Work Done in Last Year

Boy Scouting in the Adecbe Walls council was highly praised as setting a fact base under difficulties when executives of the ninth region met for a week's conference at Mineral Wells, Executive C. A. Clark has just returned.

The local council was commended for having taken over two "dead" councils, removing debt burdens and adding new troops during the depression.

A new troop was installed last night at Magic City by Mr. Clark.

DOUBLE PARKING LAW POSITIVELY WILL BE ENFORCED, SAYS CHIEF

Double parking in Pampa is becoming a nuisance and will have to be discontinued. There is an ordinance prohibiting double parking but as a rule, it is disregarded. Chief of Police Art Hurst has asked THE NEWS to warn Pampa motorists that fines will be assessed for double parking in the future.

Double parking as defined in the larger cities of the country is to stop a car on the street, behind a row of parked cars, longer than required to allow a passenger to alight and close the door, or to step from the curb and enter a car.

There are parking lots close enough to all stores in the city to do away with the need of stopping to allow merchandise to be placed in a car while it is double parked, it is claimed.

Another matter of traffic that will be given more attention by the police is the practice of turning to the right on a red light without the car being brought to a stop. Many motorists have been seen to drive at a high rate of speed around a corner, endangering the lives of pedestrians crossing on a green light.

TWO SHOT BY TROOPERS IN SAYLESVILLE

N. Carolina Mill Owner's Son Found Shot and Seriously Injured at Gate.

SAYLESVILLE, R. I., Sept. 12 (AP)—Two men were shot and believed to have been critically wounded by Rhode Island National Guardsmen on strike duty at the Sayles finishing company here as a crowd of nearly 2,000 pickets and strike sympathizers rushed the state troops.

It was the first time the state militia has fired on a crowd in New England during the current strike. Those wounded were William Blackwood of Pawtucket, shot in the head; and Charles Corsey, 18, Central Falls, shot in the abdomen. Both were taken to North Dame hospital here where doctors said a preliminary examination indicated their condition was critical.

The shooting occurred when the crowd made a rush for 15 national guardsmen in the Mooshasuck cemetery, for three days the scene of violent clashes between police or troopers guarding the plant and strike sympathizers.

The guardsmen ordered the crowd back, but it continued to advance. They hurled gas bombs, but still the crowd drove on. Warning shots were fired and then as the crowd continued to advance, the guardsmen fired into the oncoming throng.

One guardsman was struck on the head and apparently knocked down by a thrown rock. He had to be helped from the scene and given first aid.

FOREST CITY, N. C., Sept. 12 (AP)—D. D. Little, Jr., son of the owner of the Florence mill here, was shot and seriously wounded at the mill late this afternoon. Police said they did not know how the shooting occurred. The mill has been closed and picketed since the start of the general textile strike.

Mrs. Wilkes Is Improved Today

Mrs. W. B. Wilkes, seriously injured when the car in which she was driving with her husband crashed into a culvert on the Borger highway early yesterday morning, was slightly improved this morning and hope for her recovery was held. Mr. Wilkes, less seriously injured, was able to leave the hospital last night.

The insurer woman was found unconscious in the car by George Timm as he was returning from work. Mr. Wilkes had been thrown clear of the car and was lying unconscious on the pavement. They were taken to Worley hospital by Mr. Timm and another motorist whose name has not been learned.

Mrs. Wilkes received a skull fracture, ribs and bruises, and possibly other injuries. Mr. Wilkes was cut and bruised but otherwise uninjured. Their car was badly damaged.

One Long Candidate Dies; Another Election Will Be Held, Says Dictator.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Senator Huey Long realized today his ambition to smash "the ring" that has been a power in New Orleans for half a century.

His candidates in yesterday's democratic primary won convincing victories, and "the ring" candidates, sponsored by Mayor T. Semmes Wamsley, were beaten.

The election results went further than a mere endorsement of candidates. They established Long as a dictator with wide powers in the state.

Previously, "the ring"—the old regular organization which year after year has elected its candidates with little trouble—has repulsed Senator Long's determined drives against it. As recently as January, in the mayoralty election, it defeated Long candidates.

The senator had his vengeance today and it was not an ordinary vengeance, but one that brought tears to the eyes of hardened campaigners. The hurrahs of victory was strangely lacking.

Huey Long, himself, was jubilant. He said he won because the election was "fair," and the opposition hadn't had a chance to count him out "as they did in the January

Those Harvesters look bigger than they are. Some of them, such as Green, have put on many pounds during the summer and now are just a few ounces under an elephant, as high school lads grow.

There are other Harvesters who have gained very little. One or two has lost weight. Some have worked hard and are lean and tough; others have fallen into the habit of eating like canary birds during hot weather. We prescribe thick Panhandle beef steaks.

We commend to the attention of the city administration the need for a pedestrian walk across the ravine on East Francis avenue, and possibly on East Browning. When blinded by glare, a motorist cannot be expected to detect the presence of a pedestrian, especially if the latter is dressed in dark clothing which harmonizes with the surroundings.

Those who walk on streets do so at their peril. They should walk on the left side of the street. If at all, FACING the on-coming cars and giving them a chance to dodge if necessary.

Brevitorials
Musings of the moment: Subsistence is a good old American word, but many do not understand it. Relief is on the basis of this word. It means that relief funds are barely ample to keep those listed from starving. It is not a "living wage" in any sense. . . . Republicans who were highly interested in Maine before the recent election now would like for that to be the "forgotten state." . . . The new deal will be plastered with mud from now on, but those who want more favors and the conservative who wish less will be as far apart as the poles.

DRIVING, fortunately and unfortunately, is a habit. It is fortunate in that many decisions made in a crisis are automatic from reflex action. Many an accident has been averted because habits are quicker than thought in an emergency.

BUT bad habits in driving—and who does not have some!—persist despite good intentions. Some drivers do not stick out an arm when they intend to stop or turn. They either do not have their minds on their driving or they do not have the courtesy to warn motorists behind them. Or perchance both arms are busy! Both pedist and motorist's ought to keep their minds on their traffic work. We plan to start a series of illustrated, educational traffic talks soon. Watch for them.

IF a somewhat belated drive on law violations can be said to be timely, that announced by the sheriff's department is certainly timely. We believe the period of indifference to law enforcement is passing. We sense a sharp turn in the other direction. Gambling slot machines, and illicit traffic hurt legitimate business. The Fort Worth-Dallas drive on race track betting was sincere and powerful. Crime does not pay. Indifference to law nets only a civic headache.

LAW enforcement agencies are receiving an injection of public support and are showing potential effectiveness. Police officers ought to be tried of playing blind to violations of laws they are sworn to enforce. We don't think they ever did enjoy it. We know that it was cutting when men they arrested red-handed later were either never indicted or were freed to flaunt their liberty in the face of the arresting officers. As we have pointed out many times, any quality which fails to arrest vagrants and suspicious characters is becoming a haven for wanted men—dangerous men who commit burglaries and hijackings.

WE DON'T know who robbed No-D-Lay Cleaners. We don't know who robbed the two places at LeFors Saturday night, although clues point in a certain direction. But we do know that a wide-open county invites thugs and provides havens for them. We do not believe the

MUST WE RETAIN AN ANCIENT CONCEPT?

Mr. J. J. Shouse's recent assertion—in reply to a White House criticism—that human rights and property rights are inseparable, suggests that we need to re-examine the whole question of what constitutes freedom.

The inter-relationship of human and property rights dates back to the Dark Ages. The legacy of law and order that came down from the Roman empire was little better than a memory. For the ordinary man, might made right, and it did no good to cry about it.

In those days the common man was little better than property himself. He was attached to the soil, and his life was at the mercy of his overlord. The whole development of feudalism was simply the story of society's effort to evolve some kind of protection for him.

When the common man of those days tried to win a little freedom for himself, he had no abstract concepts of liberty in mind. Our modern concern over freedom of speech and conscience would have been beyond his understanding.

Liberty, to him, meant the right to own a bit of property, and to be secure in that ownership, no matter how much the rich and powerful might covet what he had.

As the years passed, this struggle for freedom continued. The merchant in the town, the peasant on his farm, the exporter who took pack-loads of goods over makeshift roads or sent ships past the haunts of pirates—all of these people wanted, first and foremost, to be secure against the threat of dispossession.

If freedom meant anything to them, it meant that property rights, then, meant human rights, very directly.

Now the property right of those days was a very personal thing. The ordinary man was struggling to get out from under; he could do it only through the medium of his possessions.

To be able to do what he wished with his own was the supremely necessary first step on the road to liberty.

What we need to do today is to study whether that still holds good in a time of far-flung, impersonal corporations; to determine, for instance, whether the same sacredness attaches to a corporation's rights in a coal mine, for instance (which no stockholder has ever seen), as it does to a peasant's possession of a cow which is his family's insurance against starvation.

We might find that the fight for freedom today is on a different basis than it was centuries ago—and, on the other hand, we might not. In any case, we need a thorough public discussion of the whole subject.

ABOUT NEW YORK

BY GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK — Your New York sense would find an early drunkard's grave if he attended all the cocktail parties and teas arranged each fall and winter by press agents who go about this admittedly commercial business because they want to place their proteges before the public.

By the first of September, couriers begin dropping most-scented envelopes on your desk, and when this happens you have the unfailing indicator that autumn is at hand. It doesn't matter what the calendar says, for the amusement season, or rather its beginning, is autumn to Manhattan, and so these little get-togethers are the tip off that it's time to order the winter coat.

Usually they are held in luxuriously appointed suites on Manhattan's ritzier hotels, but sometimes they take place in the private apartments of the sponsors, or even their "town houses," if they have them.

You see all your acquaintances at these functions, and though the procedure sometimes varies it is usually something like this: You arrive at the hotel, inquire where the party is, and ascend. Having deposited your hat, coat and cane with some mental who is probably better fed than you, you saunter into the room and light a cigarette. This is to enable you to spot the tray or trays of drinks.

The guest of honor may be Katharine Hepburn, Jean Harlow, Walter Huston or Maurice Chevalier. But this is a secondary consideration. She or he will be there when the drinks are gone.

Glass in hand, you arrange yourself "long side the pretty little girl from the movie magazine, or an office caddy, or maybe even your host—the press agent—and talk shop. Meanwhile you have spotted Constance Bennett or Joan Crawford or whoever the guest of honor happens to be. She is surrounded by ladies and gentlemen of the press who probably have an earlier deadline than you and consequently have to get back to the office.

They are firing questions, mostly small chatter, at the star, and that pretty thing is being as amiable as possible. Her smile is infectious, her eyes bright, her teeth the acme of a tooth-paste ad-writer's dream.

You'll be entranced of course you don't want to stand there and drink all afternoon, and so eventually, when one of the earlier guests falls back, you glide across the room at your

Public School Is Not Sponsoring a Kindergarten Class

Answering the inquiries of numerous parents, Supt. R. B. Fisher said today that the public school is not sponsoring any kindergarten nor recommending any one of the teachers who are organizing private classes.

Parents of small children are urged to make their own investigation of the teachers and proposed classes, as school officials are not designating any one.

Schools here do not allow any credit in first or second grades on work done in kindergarten, Mr. Fisher further explained. The kindergarten gives pre-school work suited to the child's age, and merely prepares him for entrance to the public schools.

POLITICS at Random

BY BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Whatever Herbert Hoover's present standing with the voters may be, his return to the forum of public affairs has certain implications which no practical politician discounts.

These implications include no suggestion that Mr. Hoover will be a candidate in 1936, or will influence greatly the choice then to be made by his party. It would be contrary to all precedent if either of these things occurred.

He is judged today in the political realm more as a symbol than as a leader. No one doubts there are many who feel just as he does, whether or not they would be willing to entrust party fortunes again to so badly defeated a former chief.

The man's words, divorced from his own individuality and personal estate, are what the politicians are thinking of. The fact that he is willing to break his silence leads them to wonder how many others may be approaching, or are actually in, the same state of mind.

Armistice Is Over In his magazine article Mr. Hoover renews his 1932 complaint against "regimentation"—a word, incidentally, which he introduced into political discussion long in advance of those acts of the Roosevelt administration which he now enumerates as invasions of personal liberty.

His speaking out carries something of a warning—in two directions.

It is notice that the armistice is over; that one class of sentiment against Mr. Roosevelt which has been dormant for a long time is breaking out again in full force and vigor.

At the same time it is notice of the difficulties this sentiment will have in organizing itself for practical expression.

On one hand, it shows the "progressive" republicans, who never really liked Mr. Hoover, that he and his kind still are members of the party, and vocal. On the other, it shows the new American Liberty League how hard it will be to incorporate all such opinion under one flag.

One scarcely can imagine Messrs. J. J. Shouse, Al Smith, et al, welcoming Mr. Hoover to their fold, even though he is talking now much as they are.

W. L. BOYLES, PANHANDLE, NAMED EXECUTIVE COMMITTEEMAN

HORSE RACING IS CONDEMNED BY CONVENTION

FAVOR SUBMISSION OF PROHIBITION TO ELECTORATE

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer
GALVESTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Friends of James V. Alfred, democratic nominee for governor of Texas, were in control of the state party machinery today and the state democratic convention had adopted a platform in accord with his frequently expressed views.

With expected ease, supporters of the attorney general, whom the democrats have chosen to succeed Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in the governor's chair, wrested the party of hopes yesterday from persons friendly to the retiring administration. With equal ease, they persuaded the platform committee and the convention to place the party in harmony with his stand on governmental issues, which have proved controversial in the past.

The only heated floor contests of the biennial convales were over the selection of two of the 31 members of the new state democratic executive committee. In both instances the convention overrode the reported action of the caucuses of the districts affected and named the men it preferred.

Gerald Mann Wins
Gerald Mann, whose feats on the gridiron as a member of the Southern Methodist university eleven a few years back attracted attention throughout the southwest, was named executive committee man from Dallas. Mann was Alfred's campaign manager in Dallas county. His opponent for the committee man's post was C. J. Cusack. Ed Downs of San Benito was chosen as committee man from the 27th district after the colorful Jim Neal, nominee for the state senate from that district, had told the convention that ratification of W. R. Montgomery of Winburg, reported as the district caucus nominee, would be a rebuke to him.

Racing Condemned
Repeal of the law permitting

horse racing in Texas was made a platform demand. Alfred had advocated repeal in his successful campaign and the platform plank was adopted without opposition.

At the suggestion of former state Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas the plank was made stronger than originally proposed. "We condemn the law legalizing race track gambling and favor its repeal," the convention said. The words "and favor its repeal" had been added to the original draft.

Favor Submission
Without declaring for or against repeal of state prohibition, the convention went on record in favor of submission of the question. The matter of when the vote would be taken was left to the discretion of the legislature. The tentative platform requested "immediate" submission but the word "immediate" was stricken out. An effort in committee by Alvin S. Moody, Houston prohibition leader, to have the vote postponed until the 1936 general election was defeated.

Other important platform declarations were those against the general sales tax, against federal control of the oil industry, for a substantial graduated chain store tax and for transfer of some measure of the unemployment relief burden from the state to local governmental units.

Executive Committees
The new executive committee is composed of C. E. Newman of Lubbock, S. H. Sanders of center, Joe E. Wheat of Woodville, Beaman Strong of Beaumont, J. M. Brownlee of Madisonville, Ballard George of Corsicana, Earle B. Mayfield, Jr. of Tyler, Charles K. Devall of Mount Vernon, B. F. Gofford of Sherman, Sterling F. Hart of Commerce, Gerald Mann of Dallas, Arch D. Gray of Waxahatchie, Raymond Barnett of Marlin, Paul D. Page of Bastrop, E. A. Armin, Jr. of Flomonia, James G. Donovan of Houston, H. C. Hughes of Galveston, Sam Fore, Jr. of Floresville, Tom D. Gambrell of Lockhart, Everett Looney of Austin, L. M. Shinnett of Gatesville, E. L. Morris of Cuero, Bert King of Wichita Falls, Charles C. Curry of Breckenridge, L. D. Hillier of Brownwood, C. S. Slatton of San Antonio, Ed Downs of Fort Worth, Joe I. Sanders of Del Rio, J. O. Jones of Lubbock and W. L. Boyles of Panhandle.

Myron Blalock of Marshall is chairman of the committee and Vann Kennedy, Austin newspaperman, was selected as its secretary. A tremendous ovation was accorded Alfred when he entered the convention hall. He spoke of the harmonious that had prevailed and stated that "it should inspire new confidence and broadly benefit the whole party."

"Given the whole hearted cooperation of the legislature, as your honored nominee for governor I face the future with hope and courage," he said.

Texas democracy praised the recovery efforts of Franklin D. Roosevelt and paid tribute to Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, and other Texans prominent in the national administration. Sam Rayburn, veteran congressman from Bonham, was endorsed for the speakership of the national house of representatives.

United States Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally were honor guests and each delivered an address.

TIGER ISLAND

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

SYNOPSIS: Somehow to his surprise, Harvey Bowers, the big game hunter, finds himself chaperoning a cargo of wild animals to Singapore, assisted by an exceedingly attractive young animal trainer, by name Ivy Green. What Bowers and Ivy do not know is that Captain Wong Bo and his American radio man, Flint, plan to scuttle the ship for the insurance.

Chapter 13
WONG BO
The same two Chinamen who had assisted McLeod had been told off to assist Ivy. They were born shirkers. You had to stand over them cooking, caressing and bullying to get any work done at all.

The day's work began almost immediately after breakfast. The cages, which now seemed innumerable, had to be cleaned, and it soon appeared that when Ivy said cleaned she meant cleaned.

This work consumed the better part of the morning. A lathered awning shielded the forward cargo-deck from the direct rays of the sun, but the rays themselves were not to be thwarted so easily. They darted around the edges of the awning, and bounced upward and inward from the nearest surface of the sea. Only the stockhold was holed.

The work of cleaning the tiger cages fell to Ivy. Bowers' one attempt drove them into a frenzy of excitement, and they disliked the ministrations of the Chinamen infinitely more.

Wong Bo was catholic in his tastes. He liked English cooking and French cooking, but he preferred one or two of the coolie dishes, and all the aristocratic dishes of his own people.

One of the preferred coolie dishes was of course, rice. The other was pork, exquisitely roasted and served cold in narrow strips. Bird's nest soup, shark's-fin and one hundred-year-old eggs tasting for all the world like avocado pears, were staples. Champagne flowed, and dinner was a merry time.

After dinner the Chinese captain, Flint and the two passengers played bridge in the old smoking-room. This had been scrubbed clean, and a punkah had been installed. With the high-silled door hooked open and all the portholes ajar, it was like being on deck.

Bowers had faced his first game with much misgivings. He was an excellent player, and disliked nothing more than being the victim of persons who had yet to learn the rudiments. But both Ivy and Flint had natural card-sense and played soundly enough, while Wong Bo, it seemed, had made such a hobby of the game, that he was a post-master.

Ivy had dealt, sorted her hand and bid two spades. Bowers passed. Wong Bo bid five diamonds. Flint passed, and Ivy jumped her original bid to a little slam. It was then that Bowers realized that he had fallen into good hands. Wong Bo smiled a sudden approving smile at his partner.

"Oh, you play Culberson," he said. The stakes were low and the games were most amiable. Wong Bo was the best player, but both Bowers and Flint preferred to cut with Ivy, and this was not because as a rule she held the best cards. A young man is an irrational animal. He would rather go down to defeat with a pretty girl than win decisively with a fat Chinaman.

Both Flint and Bowers put themselves out to be agreeable, not only to Ivy and Captain Wong Bo, but to each other. Wong Bo would have been glad to play all night. Like all Chinamen, he was a nocturnal animal. But Ivy insisted on early hours; three or four rubbers was her limit.

Always while the winnings and losses were being computed, the cabin boy in an exquisite suit of silk brocade fetched a nightcap bottle of champagne in a bucket of salt and ice, and an extra bottle in his straw jacket. As Wong Bo always carried this extra bottle off with him; it was fair to presume that he drank it warm through the night.

This, however, was not the case. There was a large shipment of champagne in the hold of the Bol-doro, and as this was not destined to be delivered to the consignee, it was without any value in dollars and cents.

To serve it so freely at meals and in the smoking-room cost Wong Bo nothing, and it would have interested the two passengers to know that the bottle which he carried off to his cabin every night served him as a tooth-wash and a pleasant lotion after shaving.

The days and nights were much alike. Little breezes rarely ruffled the waters, and by the same token, there were few disturbances of the routine set for Bowers and Ivy by the nature of their task.

(Copyright, 1934, by Gouverneur Morris)
Bowers has, tomorrow, a new sort of "great moment!"

FLIERS EN ROUTE
WICHITA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Colonel Roscoe Turner, aerial speed king, and Clyde Pangborn, flying their new bi-motored airplane to New York for shipment to London, where the fliers will compete in the air race from London to Australia, landed here at 9:21 o'clock this morning and took off at 9:50.

DU PONT FIRM TO BE PROBED BY COMMITTEE

INQUIRY DESCRIBED AS 'RIGHTEOUS' ONE BY HULL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Despite protests from some foreign countries as to what the Senate munitions investigation is bringing out, Chairman Nye gave the word today that "there will be no change in our plans."

The committee turned its searchlight today upon the 130-year-old Du Pont company, which has furnished the United States with a large part of the material used in its wars.

Secretary of State Hull, to whom protests have been made by foreign countries, conferred yesterday with Senator Nye, and it was following this conference that Nye said the committee's plans would not be changed. Secretary Hull spoke of the inquiry as a "righteous" one.

A committee member said one of the subjects discussed at the conferences was testimony to be given by officials of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours corporation of Wilmington, Delaware.

Testimony was received yesterday that President Rodriguez of Mexico had interested himself in war material sales and purchases.

At Mexico, D. F., a statement was issued on behalf of the president saying "it is absurd and inconceivable to try to connect the name of the president of the republic and the names of other Mexican functionaries in the investigation . . . and whatever declarations may be made before that committee do not affect in any way the reputations of these persons, nor do they interest them in any way whatsoever."

Committee members viewed the complaint as encouraging and holding opinion will be aroused to perils of unchecked trafficking in munitions.

One committee member said the world should "hold its temper" at the United States for pioneering in the munitions investigation work, and undertake to get at the real facts insofar as they affect their own countries.

A letter was given Hull by Nye that will be used to answer the diplomatic protest from Argentina and other representations understood to have been made by England, Chile, and another Latin-American country.

Hull, aroused by testimony before the committee reflecting on his department, told reporters he had fought for peace in the Chaco war in South America over a long period

"when everybody else was deaf and dumb."

Skidding Causes Many Accidents

Five-and-a-half times more accidents are caused by cars skidding than by tire blowouts or punctures, insurance records show.

Reason for this, according to Jack Baker of Addison & Gunn, local Goodyear dealer, is that tires with smooth treads skid 77 per cent farther than tires with good treads. Moreover, as demonstrated in 3400 laboratory and road tests, other new tires skid 14 to 19 per cent farther than Goodyear "G-3" All-Weather tires which maintain a record for faster gripping and more positive and quicker stops than those of other tread design.

In the case of sudden stops, the new Goodyear "G-3" tire gives one an ample margin of safety as additional protection from the careless driving of others on the highways who may stop suddenly without signalling.

Though the new tires provide 43 per cent more miles of real non-skid; are provided with a flatter, wider tread; have more center traction; heavier, tougher tread and a super-tact cord body, there is no extra cost.

Nearly 90 per cent of hte 728,000 square miles of cattle tick infested land in the south has been rid of the pests since the government began its efforts 27 years ago.

963,000 Miles of Road Tests

followed by the Indianapolis Destruction Test to Prove Greater Motor Protection and Lower Oil Consumption!

What would you have us do that has not been done to establish New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil?

Hundreds of cars, trucks and tractors were used. A road test of 963,000 miles was made. Equipment from a single to a sixteen-cylinder unit was employed in this test.

Don't you think this was exhaustive? Don't we have a license to say that you know you can get greater motor protection? An unbiased Destruction Test was run on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway under the sanction and supervision of the AAA Contest Board (Sanction No. 5001).

New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil competed with five nationally-known oils. We wanted you to know the truth of our claims, so we drove six identical stock motors to destruction at the rate of 50 miles per hour. The car containing New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil out-distanced its nearest competitor by 1,410.2 miles. It traveled 3,015.8 miles farther than the first oil to fail. Over half a century of serving the public with motor oils and gasoline has given us a wealth of experience and information to fortify the unusual results we are now offering to you.

NEW WEIGHTS SHOW HARVESTERS LIGHTER THAN OBSERVERS EXPECTED

NEW MATERIAL IS GREEN AND HARD TO MOLD

ONLY FEW BOYS HAVE PLAYED OVER ONE SEASON

The Harvester football squad was weighed yesterday afternoon by B. G. Gordon, business manager and publicity director of the team, and Harry E. Hoare, Sports Editor of THE NEWS. The weights with positions and number of previous years playing experience are being released today.

The weights given are lighter than anticipated in most instances. The boys look big in their uniforms but there is considerable bulk and not much weight. Then too, the form-fitting uniforms have not been released and will not be given out until the team returns from Oklahoma City, where they play the opening game.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and Argus Fox have plenty of material but it is green. They have six boys with three years previous experience and the same number that has played two years. Most of the previous experience was gained on the Gorilla squad.

Mundy Playing In Backfield at Military School

Buck Mundy, former Harvester football star and now a cadet at New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, has been placed in the backfield and is one of the big hopes of the Bronchos hopes lie in the new story in the Roswell Record.

With only three lettermen back, the Bronchos hope lie in the new material. The Record says "Mundy is being groomed for a backfield position on the Broncho team and looks like one of the best backs on the squad in early practice sessions. He tips the scales at 175 pounds."

Buck played two years Gorilla and one year Harvester football here. Last year he shone in the guard and tackle positions. He spent one year in the backfield on the Gorilla squad and appeared to be a "natural."

YOUTH HAVING ITS FLING IN GOLF AMATEUR

16-YEAR-OLD DEFEATS JOHNNY GOODMAN AT BROOKLINE

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 12 (AP)—Youth is having its fling in the National Amateur Golf championship.

What has happened in the first two rounds—the elimination of Francis Quimet, Johnny Goodman, Johnny Fischer, Max Marston, Jesse Guilford, Davidson Herron, Billy Howell, and Jack Munger—seems likely to pale by comparison tonight when the casualties are counted.

A new star appears in the constellation each day. In the first round Robert Carpenter (Bobby) Jones of Detroit accounted for Quimet. Jones since has passed passed from roll of survivors but his place has been taken by Chubby Bobby Jacobson of Deal, N. J. Jacobson's star went up yesterday when he squeezed out Goodman on the nineteenth green. It was a major conquest for the 16-year-old New Jersey boy—the youngest player left in the field—over the former national open king and international team player.

Another unknown shared the spotlight with young Jacobson. He was Al Anderreg, a public pasture performer from Chicago. Anderreg, who failed to qualify in the sectional test but was given a berth because one of the qualifiers withdrew, scaled the heights in his 21-hole defeat of Johnny Fischer.

For the third round Jacobson drew Jack Ahearn of Buffalo and Anderreg was matched against Mark Stuart of New York, former Metropolitan and Bermuda champion.

George Terry Dunlap Jr., the defending champion, caused his supporters plenty of anxiety yesterday when he was carried to the eighthteenth green where he could shake off W. B. McCullough Jr. of Philadelphia.

South predominated in the battle royal but there were still four veteran ex-champions in the thick of the fray—H. Chandler Egan, who won the crown for the first time exactly 30 years ago and accounted for Goodman last year, Jess Sweetser, Chick Evans, and Ross (Sandy) Somerville, the Canadian.

ROAD RUNNERS PLAY PONCA CITY CHAMPS IN WEEK-END

Oilers to Make Stand Here Friday, Saturday Nights and Sunday Afternoon.

Pampa baseball fans got a sample of the baseball in store for them the next two weeks at Road Runner park Monday night. It will be worth while to brave the cool evenings to see the type of baseball to be presented at Pampa's lighted park until the end of the season.

On Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon, the Road Runners will meet the Ponca City Oilers, winners of the last half of the Western association. Those games will be the forerunners of a two-game series between the Road Runners and the House of David team which will be here the nights of September 19 and 20.

The baseball season will close with the Fort Worth Cats, Texas league team, here for night games September 21 and 23 and an afternoon game September 23.

The Western association this year was one of the strongest leagues in the southwest. The brand of ball played was on a par with that in the Texas league and other similar classes of baseball throughout the country. Ponca City has a strong team, made up of former stars with a sprinkling of youngsters.

The Oilers boast a 16-year-old third baseman who has been the sensation of the league this year. He is such a promising prospect that he has already been purchased by Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League.

Bill Hardin and Lee Daney are doped to hurl the opening games for the Road Runners. The two shift and power players from a single wing close formation. The players have got to learn their positions, the style and timing—much that is new, together with new plays. We will use the huddle for signals.

Hamilton is building his offense around William C. Clark, a crack punter, and Frew (Buzz) Borries Jr., a highly rated athlete. He has a group of veteran reserve and former plebe players to replace 13 letter men lost by graduation.

Play-off Games in Texas League Set For Tonight

GALVESTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—A crowd of about 5,000 was in prospect today for tonight's opening game of the Dallas-Galveston play-off series despite the fact that skies were overcast and there were threats of showers.

The Steers arrived in town this morning and Manager Fred Brainerd said he planned to start his veteran southpaw flinger, Charlie Barnabe, who has been quite successful against the Bucs' manager Billy Webb probably will send Jim Biven or Harry Gumbert, right-handers, against the top-starters.

In a practice game between the Bucs and a group of all-stars here yesterday, James V. Allred, gubernatorial nominee of the Democratic party, tossed out the first ball.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Overcast skies failed to stop the seat sales for tonight's ball game between the second place San Antonio Missions and the third place Beaumont Shippers who are all set for the first of a five game series to determine which club will compete with the winner of the Galveston-Dallas series.

Ash Hillis, leading pitcher of the league, will face Larkin of recent no-hit fame.

Indications were at mid-morning that a near capacity crowd would pack the Tech field which seats approximately 8,000.

The Shippers arrived this morning bulging with confidence that they would make a "clean sweep"

Perry Has Lame Ankle; To Play Allison Today

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Fred Perry, the 25-year-old Englishman who holds all the major tennis singles championships of the world, has only courageous Wilmer Allison, the veteran Texan and the handicap of a lame right ankle between him and his second straight American singles title today.

The combination, the experts agreed, might force Perry to open up his full bag of tricks before the thrill-hungry crowd at the West Side club courts.

It was conceivable at any rate that the handicap of a turned ankle suffered yesterday in Perry's casual conquest of Vernon G. Kirby in the semi-finals, plus the stout backhand, and hard court championship in the final, might bring back to the West Side courts a picture of the champion all out.

Up to the time he met Kirby, Perry hadn't lost a set. Sometime in the second set, which he led 2-6, Kirby 2-6, Perry turned the right ankle he injured in the French hard courts championship in Paris. He had the injury taped at intermission time and came back to win in four sets, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2.

The accident added immeasurably to the chances of Allison, ranked No. 2 nationally. The Texans battered down Sidney B. Wood, Davis cup singles star, 6-2, 6-3, containing the blond New Yorker with his remorseless accuracy, the strength of his service and forehand, and the pressing strategy that sent him constantly to the net to bewilder Wood with sharply angled replacements. The final today is scheduled for 2 p. m. (E. S. T.).

TIGERS LOSE TO RED SOX--YANKEES WIN

DETROIT LEAD REDUCED TO FOUR GAMES IN TUESDAY TILTS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Yankees, striving to overhaul Detroit's Tigers in the American league pennant race, have enjoyed more than usual success on their current western tour but the hardest part is still ahead.

By dividing a doubleheader with the Browns yesterday while Detroit took a 4-3 setback from the Red Sox in eleven innings, the Yankees cut another half game off the Tigers' lead reducing it to four games. When they beat St. Louis 7-4 in the opener, then lost 7-3, it gave the Yankees a record of five victories and two defeats so far, a sharp contrast to their record of 14 won and 15 lost in previous games in the west.

The catch lies in the fact that after a day off today, they invade Detroit and Cleveland, where they have won only four games and lost ten this season.

The order was reversed in the National league where the league leading Giants ended their string of three losses and Pittsburgh's seven-game winning streak with a 3 to 1 triumph while the Cardinals split a twin bill with the Phillies. This increased New York's lead to 4½ games.

Manager Bill Terry's eighth-inning single with two aboard broke up a flinging duel between Roy Parmelee and Bill Swift to give the Giants their triumph. The Cards, after being blanked 5-0 when Syd Johnson limited them to give hits came back with bunched blows to win 6 to 4.

The third-place Cubs beat the Braves 2 to 0 in an elbowing argument between Bill Lee and Ed Brandt in which each gave six hits while Emil Leonard's four-hit hurling carried the Dodgers to a 5 to 2 victory over the Reds.

Hal Trosky established a new Cleveland record by hitting his 33rd homer but the Athletics won the ball game 6 to 4 with a 13-hit assault on Mel Harder. A pinch hit by Manager Jimmy Dykes in the eleventh gave the White Sox a 3 to 2 victory over Washington.

Jack Westland Loses to Youth; Dallasite Wins

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 12 (AP)—As the forerunner of another stormy day in the United States amateur golf championship, Jack Westland of Chicago, Walker cup veteran and 1931 runnerup for national title, was upset early in the third round today by 23-year-old James E. French Jr. of San Francisco. French won six of the first seven holes and crushed his noted rival by 7 and 5.

Sixteen year-old Bobby Jacobson of Deal, N. J., the conqueror of Johnny Goodman and youngest player in the tournament, continued his sensational march with an exciting third round victory over Jack Ahern, Buffalo veteran, one up. The youngster clinched the decision on the 18th where his rival three-putted.

Bobby Jacobson, Deal, N. J., defeated Jack Ahern, Buffalo, N. Y., one up.

T. A. Torrance, Scotland, defeated John E. Lehman, Chicago, 4 and 3.

SOLOMON WAS A COPPER KING

CINCINNATI (AP)—Solomon was the first, and still perhaps the greatest, of the world's copper kings, believed Dr. Negson Glueck, just back from archeological explorations in Transjordanias of Asia Minor.

Professor at Hebrew Union college here, Dr. Glueck said research showed Solomon evidently worked his mines in the valley of Arabah near Feinun, with forced labor, transporting the ore to Feinun to be smelted, and sending it throughout the then-known world to exchange for gold and silver.

FIDDLER WINS MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP FROM DUNDEE

Pittsburgh's Largest Boxing Crowd Sees Violinist Whip Aging Champion.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP)—Nearby Monaca all but closed up steel mills and everything else today to pay tribute to youthful Teddy Yarosz, who between violin lessons, has managed to sandwich in enough boxing experience to become the new holder of the disputed middleweight championship of the world.

More than 28,000 persons—the largest crowd in Pittsburgh's boxing history—saw Teddy take the title last night from aging Vince Dundee of Newark, N. J.

Yarosz, as was Dundee, is recognized as middleweight champion of the world in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New York, the International Boxing Federation's recognition of Marcel Thil, of France, as middleweight champion, being accepted elsewhere.

Dundee's age was apparent as he flat-footedly permitted the younger man to lay enough leather on him to smother an ordinary boxer.

Dundee, in losing his title earned $25,000. He weighed in at 158½ lbs. Yarosz, whose earnings were 15 per cent of the $70,000 gate, scaled 157-1-4.

Referee Al Grayber and Judge George McBeth, of Pittsburgh, voted for Yarosz, whose third judge, Leo Houck, of Lancaster, Pa., cast his ballot for Dundee.

Promoter B. W. Kelly's negro boxing card to be staged at the Pla-Mor auditorium Tuesday night, starting at 8:30 o'clock, should be another big attraction. He has secured good boxers, and although weights will be a little out of line, boxing ability is believed to be equal.

THE SPORTS HORN

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Regardless of how they fare in today's matches, Texans competing in the National Amateur golf tournament at Brookline, Mass., deserve credit for their excellent playing in the first two rounds.

When third round matches started today the four sons of Texas who were successful in sectional qualifying round at Brook Hollow here, answered the starter's call.

Reynolds Smith, Dallas and Texas' amateur champion, survived the first round with a one up victory. In the second round yesterday he beat Billy Howell one of the finest shot-makers in the tournament.

Charles Dexter won easily Monday, and yesterday he breezed in with his second victory, a triumph over Charles Moore. Dexter, who eighteen years ago held the Southern championship, is the only official of the United States Golf association capable of playing championship golf.

David Goldman of Dallas and Leonard Hamman of Paris did not compete in the first round but they displayed their shots in the second round. Goldman eliminated Howard Tryson, and Hamman defeated Robert Lester. Goldman started his match with three consecutive birdies.

Jack Munger of Dallas, a semi-finalist last year, did not qualify from this section. He lost yesterday in his first round match. Fred Haas of New Orleans, 18-year-old Southern champion who qualified at Brook Hollow, survived the first round to give the southwest a clear slate of victories the first two rounds.

The job of ranking the ten leading amateur golfers for the Texas cup matches to be held in October at the Houston Country club has started. Sports writers will file their rankings with Bill Parker, the Associated Press, Dallas, where the composite team will be announced. The first ten players will compete against the first ten ranking players of the Texas Professional Golfers association. In last year's Texas cup matches, the professionals poured it on the amateurs.

AMARILLOAN CONVICTED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 12 (AP)—John Foster, Clovis, N. M., and H. L. Dillard, Amarillo, were convicted by a federal court jury yesterday on four counts of a counterfeiting charge in connection with an alleged attempt to "bunce" a Belen, N. M., merchant last March. They will be sentenced later. The jury was out one hour.

POORHOUSE PROSPERITY

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Federal agents set out to find why the Chester county poorhouse guests weren't poor any more.

The found the answer in a cornfield on the county poor farm. Mounds and crude furnace for making counterfeit money.

Bogus nickels, quarters and half dollars were turned out, the agents said.

FIRST SHOTS FIRED BY GUARDSMEN AT RHODE ISLAND MILLS

FIERCE FIGHT TAKES PLACE IN CEMETERY

40 STRIKERS AND TEN GUARDSMEN ARE WOUNDED

SAYLESVILLE, R. I., Sept. 12 (AP)—National guardsmen of Rhode Island fired their first shots in the textile strike in this state this morning when they discharged a volley over the heads of strikers who advanced upon them in the vicinity of the Sayles Finishing company, where serious rioting has occurred during the past 48 hours.

The detachment of 24 guardsmen, under command of Col. Harold R. Barker, met the threatening group of about 17 strikers advancing across Moshassuck cemetery, near the plant, armed with rocks and stones. After their refusal to disband, Colonel Barker gave the command to his men to open fire. A volley roared over the group as they fled. An Auburn haired woman and between seven and nine men were arrested by guardsmen and taken to the mill property where, guardsmen said, they were held for local police.

Brigadier General Herbert R. Dean, in command of the troops, said "my men have taken an awful thrashing for the past 14 hours. They have been fine under conditions. From now on these risks are not to be tolerated. They have taken all they are going to take. They went out with orders to shoot at anyone who does not comply with their commands."

Saylesville resembled a war torn village today, as 500 national guardsmen, patrolled the streets in the wake of bloody fighting between troops and strike sympathizers.

Guardsmen, with bayonets, tear and nausea gas and steel helmets, were stationed around the Sayles Finishing company plant, scene of wild rioting which has caused injury to 70 persons within the last 48 hours.

The latest outburst came last night when approximately 3,500 strikers and sympathizers engaged in a fierce battle with the troopers which culminated in a running fight through the Moshassuck cemetery. Tombstones were used by both troopers and strikers as bulwarks during the engagement.

The clash came when the strike sympathizers, armed with rocks and stones, surged over the deadlines established by the guardsmen after three persons, including a 73-year-old woman, were injured. The strikers group smashed hundreds of windows as they engaged the troopers.

It was estimated 50 were wounded yesterday, including ten guardsmen and a Central Falls policeman killed by gas.

The running fight in the cemetery had all the appearance of real warfare.

Flares used by the strikers and roman candles by the troopers lent an eerie light to the cemetery battle in which graves were trampled and tombstones broken to be used for ammunition against the advancing troopers.

All state and local police as well as deputy sheriffs were withdrawn upon the arrival of the national guard. Martial law reigned as sentinels with bayonets blocked roads leading to the mill, stopping each automobile for questioning and examination before permitting it to pass.

Log King

Champion log burler of Michigan, Whitney Alberts is shown here, fit and ready to defend his title at the coming Edenville, Mich., lumberjack festival, the greatest event of its kind in the country, attended by more than 20,000 in 1933. Alberts, a half-blooded Chippewa Indian, will compete with at least 20 experts in seeking another victory.

The use of the nausea gas, said to be effective for hours after it is administered failed, however, to break the spirit of the strikers after their one big offensive just before midnight.

Several hundred of them remained in the streets, darkened when they broke street lights. Even early this morning a crowd of nearly 100 continued sporadic howling at the guards.

Throughout the rioting more than 500 employees of the plant, who reported for work at 5 o'clock, remained at their tasks. Mill officials said every department was operating last night.

Plans for getting the workers safely out of the plant today and conducting the incoming employees to their departments were being made by Brigadier-General Herbert R. Dean, commander of the troops here.

Grandmother of Communism Dies

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 12 (AP)—Countess Catherine Breshkovskaya, "the grandmother of the Russian revolution," died today at the age of 90 years.

The countess, who turned her back on the nobility to strive against the czar, died at her home, near here. On August 21 it was said that the end was "not far away" and Alexander Koresnsky, former prime minister of Russia, was at her side. She lost her prestige in Russia when Kerensky fell and left the country with rise to power of the bolsheviks.

Included in her adventurous life were 23 years of exile in Siberia.

Women Charged With Shooting Of Vernon Man

VERNON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Anne Lankford, 41, was held in jail without bond here today, charged with murder for the shooting of Ollie O. Tipton, 68, Vernon, business man, while her attorneys planned habeas corpus proceedings seeking her release.

She waived examining trial at a preliminary hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace F. M. Taylor and was remanded to jail to await action of the Wilbarger county grand jury which convenes

October 15. Tipton, who had lived here 25 years, was killed as he sat on the bed in his home, clothed only in underwear. Soon after the shooting, officers found Mrs. Lankford, unclothed and her feet stained with blood, wandering in the yard of the Tipton home. Officers said they found a jar of whisky, half filled, and two small glasses on a cabinet in the kitchen of the house. A pistol lay on the floor. Tipton was unmarried.

tude has been discouraging, but the election is over, the officials are our friends, and we know that they know our attitude. Few citizens are beyond criticism. We all have been too fearful of public attitudes. If all of us would "hew to the line and let the chips fall where they may," the result would be better.

OFFICERS have a duty, which includes arrests. Then can do this regardless of the ultimate outcome. Prosecutors can bring the guilty to trial, even if they doubt that twelve men will ever agree on a conviction. If there is any buck passing, it should be to the public through the jury system and not to some other officer. If some laws cannot be enforced they should not die on the books but the people should change them. A continuation of this flaunting of the law will mean further progress into legal chaos. Nullification is anarchy.

ALL HAVE a duty to place the needs of society above profits. Any lawyer who advises a known violator in the evading of prosecution ought to be ostracised by public opinion and disbarred. . . . Counties of this size ought to have a full-time prosecutor-investigator who could do the work of both the county and district attorney. Some counties have this plan. . . . The law can be enforced and should be enforced. Any edict wholly impossible of enforcement has no place in the laws and should be removed and relegated to the status of moral codes, over which churches and schools have some influence.

Mrs. Roland Dauer of White Deer spent yesterday afternoon shopping here.

TEXANS FAVOR SAM RAYBURN FOR SPEAKER

WAS YOUNGEST PERSON EVER TO SERVE AS TEXAS SPEAKER

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (AP)—Proposed promotion of Congressman Sam T. Rayburn of Bonham to the speakership of the national congress has been given the enthusiastic endorsement of the Texas house of representatives where Rayburn received his early legislative experience.

Rayburn, as chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, is regarded as a powerful figure in the national house. He has announced he would be a candidate to succeed the late Henry T. Rainey who ascended to the speakership on elevation of Texas' John N. Garner to the vice presidency.

Rayburn is the youngest person ever to serve as speaker of the Texas house. He presided over the 32nd legislature when 27 years old after having been prominent in legislative affairs for two previous terms. He is a graduate of East Texas college and studied law at the University of Texas.

The prospective speaker was elected to the 63rd congress and has been re-elected to each succeeding congress. Rayburn is not a native of Texas. He was born in Roane county, Tenn. He is 52 years old.

The Texas house lauded his congressional services and requested all members of the Texas delegation to urge his candidacy. Word from Washington is to the effect that Rayburn's candidacy is not being regarded with fervor in certain quarters because of the belief that Texas already occupies a too prominent place in national affairs. The vice president is from Texas and Texas congressmen hold many enviable committee chairmanships, including the important appropriations committee directed by Congressman J. P. Buchanan of Brenham.

In all Texas occupy six important committee chairmanships in the house and two in the senate. Rayburn's candidacy is not without precedent. Washington reports disclose in the 67th congress both the vice president and speaker of the house were from Massachusetts while in the 68th congress both the president and speaker were from the same state.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think, talk, write, Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

The following items were published in the Texas Centennial News, official publication of the publicity committee of the Texas Centennial Commission, Corsicana, Texas, and furnished to Texas newspapers for republication so that the citizenship of Texas may keep informed of Centennial activities over the state.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING HELD BY LIONS CLUBS A meeting of the five districts of Texas Lionism, headed by their district governors, was held in Hillsboro Tuesday of this week.

The meeting was in honor of Melvin Jones, founder of the service club, and its present international president.

Approximately 750 persons were present at the all-day meeting.

Lowry Martin, chairman of the publicity committee for the centennial and president of the Corsicana Lions club, was invited to appear on the evening program. He attended and delivered a stirring address in behalf of the Centennial.

The international officials of the club were en route to Mexico City to make arrangements for the Corsicana Lions club, was invited to appear on the evening program. He attended and delivered a stirring address in behalf of the Centennial.

Incidentally all are favorable to the holding of the 1936 international convention, which attracts thousands of visitors to Texas.

The Lions clubs of Texas are unanimous in their support of the centennial movement. In practically all of the clubs of the state a centennial committee has been appointed to work with the publicity committee in furthering the movement.

BARWISE SAYS PUBLICITY JOB IS WELL DONE J. H. Barwise, prominent Fort Worth attorney and member of the Tarrant county advisory board was in Austin Saturday when proposals for the central celebration city were received. He attended the meetings of the advisory board executive committee.

Judge Barwise was enthusiastic over the outlook for the Texas Centennial. He asserted the Centennial News had a large part in moulding this sentiment, and also praised the 44 page brochure, which he declared to be a valuable contribution to Texas history, and a production which he intended to keep permanently in his library.

MEMBERS OF LEGISLATURE PLEDGE SUPPORT In Austin Saturday several members of the state legislature visited members of the centennial commission and advisory boards and expressed enthusiasm over the centennial movement.

Not only that but they assured the commissioners that as members of the legislature they would do all within their power to forward the movement.

Among these was Rep. Harold Kayton of San Antonio district, who is actively interested in the movement to have highway markers placed all over Texas at historical spots, a move in which the highway department is rendering splendid cooperation.

SPANISH LANGUAGE PAPER BOOSTS CENTENNIAL La Libertad, a Spanish-Mexican newspaper published in San Diego, county seat of Duval county, is one of the outstanding Texas publications which has been giving full cooperation to the work of the Centennial commission publicity committee.

La Libertad carried in full the proclamation of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, setting aside centennial week, and called upon the large Spanish-American population of the city to properly observe it.

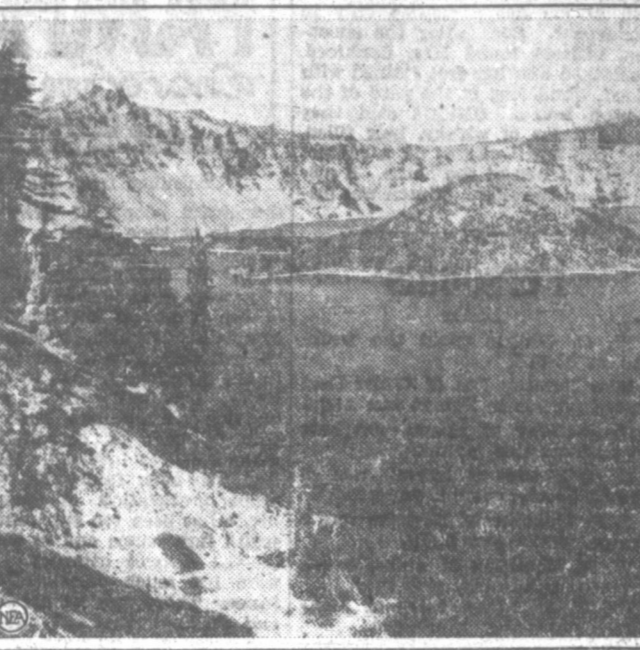

Reports from all sections of Texas are that the Spanish-American population is squarely behind the centennial movement, and has given every possible cooperation in furthering the cause.

MCCULLOCH COUNTY NOW IS PLANNING PART The tourist-committee of the Brady chamber of commerce is making preparations for McCulloch county's part in the Texas centennial of 1936.

As a starter in the movement it is procuring all the historic and scenic data possible in regard to the county. Every citizen has been urged to participate in the survey and the Brady Standard, wide-awake publication managed by Harry Schwetzer, is lending liberally of its space to the movement.

Islet Rising From Crater Lake To Be Pictured on New Stamp

Justing up from the clear waters of Crater Lake, as shown here, Wizard Island, with its tree-covered slopes, is a striking scenic feature of Crater Lake national park, a picture of which will adorn one of the new stamps to be issued by the Postoffice Department. The park is in Klamath county, Oregon, in the Cascade mountains, the body of water after which it is named being assumed to have been at least 16,600 feet high. The majestic grandeur of the surrounding territory has attracted thousands of tourists.

Head Wolf, Promising Cub

The first candidate to report to Hunk Anderson at North Carolina State was little Billy Anderson, 3-year-old son of the former. Notre Dame coach. Here is Billy, who wants to be a center, and his dad, who was a famous guard at the Irish institution. Anderson is starting a three-year tenure of coaching the Wolfpack.

COURT HOUSE NOTES

Bryan Combs of Bowers City has been charged with possession of whiskey for purpose of sale as a result of a raid made by the sheriff's and constable's departments Saturday night. He was released on $500 bond.

The officers seized 5 points of bonded whiskey, 4 half-pints of bonded whiskey, and some bottles partly filled.

Three drunks, three vagrants, and three persons charged with misdemeanor thefts have been arraigned before Justice James Todd Jr. All charged pleaded guilty and decided to "lay out" their fines. The county is having so many prisoners under the more vigorous policy of the officers that there are not enough mattresses to keep all the men off the floor. Compliments of discomfort are being heard from prisoners. A shipment of "comforters" is en route here.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Ross Cunningham and Jennie Goodwin and to C. E. Atkinson and Mrs. Dora Schulz.

Panhandle Will Get Its Share Of Relief Fund

The Panhandle will get its pro rata share of relief funds but no special recognition will be made of the length of the drought in some hard-hit counties, it was learned at the San Angelo conference Monday by three Pampans who attended.

The trippers were Mrs. W. H. Davis, county relief administrator; Alex Schneider, chairman of the county relief board; and C. H. Walker, board member.

Col. Lawrence Westbrook, now of Washington, made known the attitude of the government and pointed out that most of the counties of Texas were listed for emergency relief. Little was learned that was not already known here. Various delegations were heard on special requests.

It was urged that all counties should have work projects so that men could earn what they receive. Mrs. Earl Powell has returned from a visit with relatives in Oklahoma.

BOY SCOUTS TO HELP IN DRIVE FOR CLOTHING

THRIFT ROOM WILL RECEIVE GIFTS SATURDAY

Boy Scouts have offered their services, as a community good thing, to collect the clothing that is so badly needed by school children here. Collections will be sponsored Saturday by the school thrift room.

The city engineer's room at the city hall is to be used by the Parent-Teacher welfare committee for collecting and storing the clothing at present. It will be open all day Saturday to receive donations.

Anyone who has wearable used clothing that might be worn by students is asked to telephone 384 or 411, and a Boy Scout will call for the donation Saturday.

Dozens of children must be furnished with suitable clothing, before they can start the school year. Mrs. J. H. Hulme, thrift room chairman, has found. The room will be operated this year on the same plan that was used successfully last year. Workers from various Parent-Teacher units here will receive the clothing and make necessary repairs.

Since donations of shoes were always inadequate last year, the welfare committee has adopted a new plan this year and will solicit members' tips in a "Dollar-a-Year Shoe Club" to provide the much-needed shoes.

EXAMINERS

The administration has been disturbed for some time about the negligible extent of bank loans and Mr. Roosevelt recited today incidents of severity by bank examiners which he feels were beyond the rule of reason which he wants applied.

He recalled a case where a small town merchant wanted to enlarge his store, a profitable business, and had two endorsers for an $800 loan. The federal bank examiner declined to permit the bank to execute the loan.

In another incident he told of a farm worth $6,000 at an emergency sale and probably $8,000 normally. The farmer had a $3,000 loan and had been paying the interest for three years but nothing on the principal. He said the bank examiners ruled out this loan.

Coincidentally, the president conferred today with Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and John Fahey, chairman of the Home Loan board, in a routine conference on these vast lending agencies. He expected a call late in the day from Donald Richberg, chairman of the executive council.

It was stated in response to inquiry that the president was "not" discussing reorganization of NRA with Richberg, former counsel of NRA and recent foe of General Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator.

CLARK

(Continued from page 1) Tonight the troop at the McCullough Memorial Methodist church will receive its charter. Ernest Gee is scoutmaster and J. E. Beard is assistant scoutmaster. H. C. Boyd is chairman of the troop committee, which also includes the Rev. Lance Webb, A. R. Randolph and E. N. Franklin. There are ten boys in the troop.

Speakers from Scouting's national headquarters were Arthur A. Schuck, national director of operations and authority on social problems; Geo. Ehler, assistant to James E. West, chief executive; and Stanley Harris, director of inter-racial Scouting.

Much time was devoted to studying problems of helping the Indians, Negroes, and Mexicans. The negro population is increasing so rapidly that grave concern is felt for the youth of the race. Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico have a large share of the three races.

At the close of 1933 the Adobe Walls council was fifth in status and second in progress in the ninth region. Many new troops have been added since that time, although a few have been dropped for lack of interested scoutmasters and community support. James P. Fitch of Dallas, regional executive, stated that he was proud of this council and its work.

The council is ahead of the average council in its progress on the Ten-Year program. Last year it won the president's award for attaining its objective. This does not mean, however, that the council is adequately supported. As a matter of fact, its executive is continuing his work at a great personal sacrifice.

SHIP AFIRE

(Continued from Page 1) point and only after he received permission to consult his attorney, who subsequently was found not to be present. The witness said he feared his statements might be misconstrued.

Dickerson N. Hoover, conducting the inquiry for the department of commerce, told Rogers he wanted to learn whether discipline was maintained aboard the liner.

When his attorney did not appear, Rogers said: "Some time ago there was a strike among the radio operators. Alagna and another operator tried to instigate discontent on the ship by seeking signatures to a protest that the food on the ship was bad."

Rogers testified that one operator "got drunk and was discharged in New York," and added that when he became chief operator "things went along quite smoothly."

The chief operator said that Captain Robert R. Willmott, master of the Morro Castle who died the night before the fire, conferred with him concerning Alagna and asked: "What's the matter of Alagna, is he crazy?"

The witness testified Captain Willmott told him that he and other officers of Alagna's superior officers often received sarcastic remarks from the operator, "that he refused to obey orders, that he was an agitator," Rogers quoted Willmott as telling him he wanted to "get rid of Alagna in New York," and said "I don't trust that man."

Rogers said he had no theories as to the origin of the fire. Karl C. Nielson, a member of the examining board, asked Rogers if he thought there was a panic on the boat.

"There was an awful mess," the witness said. "A regular riot."

Topping Is Badly Needed on Highway

Pampa motorists, especially baseball fans, believe that unless the state decides to place topping on highway 33 through the city soon, the work done through PWA and FEWA programs will have been useless.

Holes in the caliche base are becoming so numerous and so large, that, in the opinion of motorists, another coat of caliche will have to be placed before topping can be done.

The present relief program of finishing curb and gutter, and widening the caliche base on the west end of the road, is nearing completion. It is hoped locally that work on Highway 88 south of Pampa can be started soon.

Topping of the Pampa-McLean caliche also is being urged.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tolle and daughter, Margie, of Cooper, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tolle and son, Harold, of Pawnee, Okla., are visiting their father, C. W. Tolle, on Roberts street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Damon and children returned Sunday from northern New Mexico, where they spent a week's vacation.

PARR

(Continued from page 1.) 39," that Montgomery was a "working and paying" supporter of Allred and that his nomination should be confirmed.

Neal was a closing speaker in the heated discussion. The booted ranchman soon had the convention cheering and when the convention chairman called for the vote in support of Downs, the response from the hall was so loud and so nearly unanimous that the outcome of the contest no longer was in doubt.

After the scattering "no" vote had been taken, Neal waved his hand in the air and rushed to the front of the platform to thank the delegates and to shake hands with those who came forward to congratulate him on his speech.

"Four years ago when Senator Parr defeated me by about 1,200 votes," Neal said in his talk, "I went back home and did not attempt to hinder him in any way. Now, when I have beaten him by nearly 8,000 votes, he tried to tie onto me an executive committee man who has been a Parr supporter for 20 years."

"There is no question about how the people of the twenty-seventh district stand in this matter. Their vote in the senatorial race shows how they feel and this is not an anti-Allred fight because Ed Downs likewise worked for Jimmy Allred and contributed to his campaign."

F. W. Seabury of Brownsville joined hands with Neal as he had on the senatorial campaign and asked the convention to elect Downs. Seabury was eliminated from the senate race by a close vote in the first primary and supported Neal in the run-off.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—Unsettled by Winnipeg reports that a small lot of Canadian wheat had been sold to the United States, wheat prices underwent late downturns today.

Owing to the fact that trade volume here both in wheat and other grains was scanty, the markets were easily influenced. It was not specified whether the Canadian wheat referred to would be for United States consumer use, or would be for grinding in bond. Contributing to late weakness of grains was a sharp break in United States government bonds.

Wheat closed unstable 1-1/2 under yesterday's finish, December new 106 1/2-3/4, corn 1/2-3/4 down, December new 79 1/2-3/4, oats unchanged 1/2 lower, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 7 cents advance.
