

THOUSANDS OF PANHANDLE FANS ARRIVE TO SEE LUBBOCK-PAMPA CLASSIC

SPECIAL MET BY BAND AND SCHOOL BUSES

WESTERNERS REPORTED IN FINE CONDITION ON EVE OF GAME

LUBBOCK, Nov. 23.—A party of 212 including the Lubbock high band and pep squad, boarded a Santa Fe special train this morning for Pampa where the Lubbock Westerners meet Pampa's Harvesters in an important district I game this afternoon. Approximately 100 of the passengers, or about 100, are down town fans, including some of the city's big shots. Supt. Kenneth Oberholzer and Principal R. W. Matheis led the high school delegation. Possibly 100 additional fans left by automobile this morning for the site of the game.

As Old Sol gave his smiling benediction to the annual Pampa-Lubbock football game today, Pampans extended greetings to several hundred Lubbock fans who arrived by train at noon and to others, including visitors from all parts of the Panhandle, who arrived by train and automobile.

The special train was met by the Pampa high school band and the pep squad, besides many students and citizens. The bands led a colorful parade downtown and on to the high school gymnasium, where the parade broke up.

This afternoon, the junior chamber of commerce members and policemen assisted in handling traffic while school buses were used to transport visitors to Harvester park.

"Give them a glad hand, then beat the Westerners" was the slogan of students and citizens generally. The game was accompanied by the fanfare and color which makes the annual occasion one which would do justice to a college homecoming.

For Pampa high school exes, it was a home-coming. The exes assembled at the cafeteria on the Central campus for a turkey luncheon, an interesting program, and election of officers. Judge Ivy E. Duncan is president of the former students.

The football game, one of the leading clashes in the Texas schoolboy race, is receiving very wide publicity. Telegraph and radio was to carry the play-by-play accounts to fans in distant towns and cities. Papers as far away as Fort Worth sent representatives.

Condition fine; spirits, excellent; determination, 100 per cent; thus the Lubbock Westerners arrived in Pampa Thursday noon and took a light workout on Harvester field yesterday afternoon in preparation for their battle with the Pampa Harvesters today.

Calhoun, blocking halfback who was out of the game when the Westerners fell before Amarillo, was in uniform taking out imaginary foes for Mr. White of White Deer to get in the open. White's bruised shoulders and blistered heels were in perfect order and his "White Phantom" admitted that he intended to burn the grass at Harvester field.

The few fans who watched the Westerners work out yesterday said the team looked 100 per cent better than it did against Amarillo two weeks ago. The linemen came out fast and hard and the backfield showed more speed and ability than at any other time this year.

With Dunaway and Fanning out of the starting lineup, the Harvesters were expected to be hard pressed to eke out a win over the determined Westerners. The Harvesters were also to be fighting a tradition. A Lubbock team has never been defeated on Pampa soil.

Lubbock on 'Spout' For Lubbock, today's game was a life-or-death struggle. A loss would eliminate them from the Inter-scholastic League. A loss by Pampa would take the Harvesters and Westerners and give the locals the responsibility of defeating Amarillo on Thanksgiving to achieve a three-way tie.

Contrary to general local opinion, Lubbock's record excepting the Amarillo game ranked on a par with Pampa's. Pampa appeared to have the greater reserve strength, but an injury to Dunaway tended to even the power of the backfields. Lloyd Hamilton was faced with the task of master-minding the game as well as offsetting the tricky speeding of Morris White of Lubbock.

Business here slowed down to a trickle this afternoon as most stores and firms, as well as public buildings, closed from 2 to 5 p. m. or longer.

STUDENT KILLED DENTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Miss Grace Meachum of Arlington, student in Texas State College for Women, was killed and two other students and three Dallas men were injured in an automobile accident near Corinth late Thursday night. Miss Virginia Looney, Calvert, and Miss Melba Davis, Dallas, the injured students, were not seriously hurt, attendants at the college hospital said this morning.

SHOT TO DEATH GLADEWATER, Nov. 23. (AP)—Kabat Baker, 37, of Center, Tex., was shot and killed at the apartment of his estranged wife here last night and Bruce Anderson, Mrs. Baker's brother, was charged with murder without malice several hours later. He was released on $1,000 bond.

I Heard . . . That Pampa football boys had to pay admission to see the Amarillo-Pampa football game in Amarillo last Saturday. G. C. Malone and Fred Cary took three of the boys over to the game.

Twinkles WELCOME. LUBBOCKITES! Pampa greets you with a smile that won't come off, regardless of the outcome of today's game.

After all, the players are our boys; they will do their best; and they must not be taught that a victory or a defeat in a contest is an end above all other considerations.

Pampa, in welcoming the Westerners recalls pleasant similar occasions in Lubbock. Our city is yours for the day.

Indeed, Pampa and Lubbock are so generous that they usually let the other win over the host. If Pampa breaks this precedent today, we beg your pardon!

To change the subject, let us remind you that there are ONLY 25 MORE SHOPPING DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS.

Musing of the moment: A newspaper welcomes news—when it is true. The Cleburne Times-Review last week was handed a written account of an announcement: party of a prominent young man. The man in question proved that the report was erroneous and that no such party was held. The district attorney is investigating, for it is a criminal offense to offer a newspaper false news. Although the circumstances may have been a "practical joke," but a serious offense and one to be probed thoroughly.

Brevitorials PAMPA HAS another adult leader training course in progress. Most persons give the course only casual attention and wonder, perhaps, what it is all about. Readers often note that the purpose of the work is to train Boy Scout leaders. But to understand this, one must realize that Scouting is a supervised program for boys. It depends for its effectiveness upon the contact of good men with good boys. The relationship is responsible for much of the success of the movement.

TWO THINGS worry these interested in boys and the Scout program for boys. One is that men are "too busy" to give much time to even their own boys. The other is that the older boys are "too busy" to give much attention to Scouting. An investigation will show that the time spent in being "too busy" is often mis-spent. Yet Scouting pays big dividends to both adults and boys who participate in it.

SCOUTING is the week-day program of the churchman, the civic club members, the school men, and lovers of boys in general. Scouting is the greatest leisure time pleasure and occupation. It answers the question of the Sunday school teacher who wonders what the boys are doing on week-days that makes them hard to "reach" on Sunday. It cares for the worries of the teacher who sees character building work undone by bad companionships. It is the answer to the problem of boy gangs and, as a result, of adult gangs.

SCOUTING BEGINS at an early age. Its relatively new program, Cubbing, reaches the boys too young to become Tenderfoot Scouts. Then, at 12 years of age, the lads join the Scouts. It should not be assumed that Scouting by catering to young boys, does not have a manly appeal to older ones. The Scout program now extends through a lifetime. "Once a Scout, Always a Scout," is a reality. It is possible to be registered in the movement all one's lifetime after joining. Up to the age of 15, Scouting has an undeniable appeal. After that comes the struggle.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT long a Scout, is backing the Ten Year program with all his energy. The goal is to reach one-fourth of all the boys attaining the age of 12 years and to hold them in Scouting at least four years. If you do not think this is worthwhile, you know nothing of the "boy problem" of today. There is no good reason why the "problem" should not become the "boy opportunity."

These things explain the training courses. Unless men of ability and character give some of their time to rearing good boys, the nation cannot expect to have good men. For boys, bothersome as they are sometimes, are the necessary material from which we must make good men—doctors, lawyers, mechanics, farmers, legislators, presidents.

Japan Votes Biggest Army-Naval Budget In History

WORLD PEACE CALL IS MADE AT SAME TIME

U. S., BRITAIN STAND FIRMLY AGAINST NAVAL PARITY

TOKYO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Japan met "the international situation" today—the oriental empire granted its army and navy the most money ever allotted its military machines. More than one billion yen about $290,000,000 will go to the national defense in one year. This is 46 per cent of the total budget of 2,210,000,000 yen (approximately $640,900,000) and a 9 per cent increase over the current appropriation. A weary cabinet which had been in session for 13 hours approved the figures this morning, ending the long and heated "battle of the budget." It was a victory for the army and navy, who had fought with propaganda for months for larger and better equipped forces. In a broadcast, to patriotic organizations of the country Koki Hirota, foreign minister, referred today to "the absurd limitations imposed by the Washington and London naval treaties" and said Japan "is anxious" because of them. Japan, he said, would abolish capital ships if the other powers would agree. "Let Britain and America," he asserted, "at present maintaining the largest armaments, set the example and make considerable sacrifices. Then peace among Japan, the United States and Great Britain, and even world peace, would be assured."

LONDON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The British and American delegations to the preliminary naval conversations agreed between themselves today to insist on the "continuance of the principles of the Washington naval treaty of 1922."

The representatives of the United States and Great Britain met together and decided to ask the delegation from Japan, the third party to the conversations, for a further explanation of why the Asiatic empire thinks it should have as large a navy as either the United States or Great Britain.

Both the Anglo-Saxon delegations made it clear that they had no intention whatsoever of granting Japan the tonnage equality which she demands.

BARONESS IS MYSTERY KEY SAYS SEEKER

Third Expedition To Leave For Galapagos Islands In Last 10 Days Puts Out.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23. (AP)—The Baroness Elsie Bonsovet de Wagner is believed to hold the key to the mystery of the Galapagos—the finding of two bodies on black Marchant Island down near the equator. "Find the baroness," said W. Charles Sweet, navigator of the cruiser Veleiro 3rd, which sails today for the islands on a combined scientific quest and effort to solve the mystery, "and you will find the story that will meet your deepest zest for a tale of adventure." The body of one of those found on Marchena Island apparently the victim of thirst, was tentatively identified as Alfred Rudolph Lorenz of Paris, who was a member of the "court" of the Baroness de Wagner in the strange tropical setting. The other body is believed to be that of a sailor who lives in the Galapagos Islands. The baroness knows the story of Lorenz and Sweet, indicating he hopes to learn from her how the men found their way to Marchena Island. But Baroness de Wagner herself, according to latest reports from Galapagos, is missing. She was reported to have disappeared several months ago with a companion, Robert Phillipson, also of Paris. Her present whereabouts are unknown. To add to the strange drama of the tropics, Dr. Frederick Ritter, another of the South American voyagers on the old cutter island of Charles, wrote to Capt. G. Allan Hancock, Los Angeles explorer and owner of the Veleiro 3rd, that he knows something about the departure of the baroness that he dared not write.

The Veleiro 3rd is expected to leave for the Galapagos islands in 10 days. The Pampa fire department answered a call to South Hobart street, near the Santa Fe railroad crossing, at noon today. A car was on fire. The blaze had been extinguished when the department arrived.

E. C. McKenzie, who has been ill the past few days, is able to be in and will fill his pulpit at Francis Avenue Church of Christ Sunday.

Pampa music and dance lovers will be much interested in the announcement made by world famous Russian chorus touring the United States, that they will give concerts here soon at 3 p. m. and 8:15 p. m. under auspices of Miss Lorene McClintock, local teacher of piano.

The date will be December 3. To those who have never heard of this chorus, it may be mentioned that it is one of the oldest choral organizations in the world. It was first organized 75 years ago in Russia, and has visited practically every country in the world, under the able direction of Dmitry Slaviansky, founder of the chorus, and his daughter, Mme. Margarita Agreva-Slaviansky, present conductor. It has been said of them that they are the "undisputed peers of choral harmony," and one of the slogans given them by a famous critic on the Pacific coast is "In All the World No Singers Like These."

Their programs are extremely versatile, also fiery and characteristic Russian, Gypsy dancing, all performed in gorgeous costumes. With special lighting effects, their programs are extremely colorful, and fast moving with an unusual eye and ear to people of every class, from highly educated concert patrons to those who know nothing of music. The chorus has never been to Pampa.

The accompanist and one of the soloists is Mile. Mara Slaviansky, daughter of the regal conductor of the chorus. This community is considered fortunate in being included in the itinerary of this celebrated chorus, and no doubt a large audience will be on hand to greet them at the city auditorium at 3 and 8:15 p. m. The concert here is under the auspices of Miss Lorene McClintock, local instructor in piano, who is being congratulated on her enterprise in sponsoring this famous organization.

Matinee prices for grade school children will be 10 cents, for high school students 25 cents, for adults 55 cents. The evening concert prices will be 25 cents for children, 55 cents for adults, and 75 cents to the reserved section. Reservations may be made at Fatherese Drug No. 4, Pampa Drug No. 1, and City Drug store.

Bride Found In River Clutching Wedding Bouquet

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP)—A gay wedding celebration ended today with the bride floundering in the murky Chicago river, still clutching her wedding bouquet—and the police had a new puzzle. Screams of the bridesmaid, widow of gangster Dion O'Banion, attracted bridge tenders to the bride's plight after the police said she had flung herself from a bridge at the termination in early morning hours of a celebration of her wedding. Firemen pulled the bride, Mrs. Vera Wittine, 33, and two bridge tenders who had attempted to rescue her from the river while the bride's twin sister, Mrs. Viola Carter, widow of the slain gangster, stood by. What prompted the act, police said they were unable to determine after rushing Mrs. Wittine to the city hospital.

BARBECUE IS GIVEN CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE BY HENRY SCHAFER ON RANCH

Congressmen Visit Stripping Plants; Pampans Attend Skellytown Event. A delegation of Pampa oil men and others attended a barbecue given by Henry Schaffer on his ranch near Skellytown for the Cole Congressional oil inquiry committee at noon today. The congressmen, headed by Rep. William P. Cole of Maryland, this morning visited gasoline extraction plants in the Gray, Wheeler and Hutchinson county fields in their investigation of the alleged waste of gas in the Panhandle field. The congressmen toured the field as the guests of the Panhandle Conservation Association. The committee is composed of Congressmen W. P. Cole, Jr., chairman; Sam B. Pettigill, Edward A. Kelly, Carl E. Mages and Charles A. Wolverton. Accompanying the committee are E. B. Swanson, of the petroleum board; Millard S. Breckenridge, attorney for the I. C. committee; Elton J. Layton, clerk for the I. C. committee; and Walter M. Jenifer, secretary of the I. C. committee. ### Forest Fires Peril Towns

A Score Of Southern West Virginia Communities Are Threatened By Flames.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 22. (AP)—A score of southern West Virginia communities, threatened and in some cases isolated by raging forest fires, welcomed scattered rainstorms today. Two thousand men—all available fighters—struggled throughout the district to halt the sweep of the flames toward the settlements. One fire fighter, Henry Frith, 19, was crushed to death by a blazing tree which fell on Zion mountain.

The largest of the communities threatened was Beckley, a city of 10,000 inhabitants, situated on a mountain top about 70 miles from Charleston. After the flames destroyed telegraphic communications to Beckley yesterday, arrangements were started for radio broadcasts to the isolated city. The wire services

Special Offered To Amarillo For Turkey Day Game

A special train from Pampa to the Amarillo-Pampa Thanksgiving game is offered students and citizens. The round-trip fare would be $1.10, and 150 tickets would be necessary to make the trip possible. Tickets will go on sale Monday at the Board of City Development and Santa Fe station. The deadline for purchases will be Wednesday, insofar as the minimum is concerned. The train would leave at 12:30 p. m., arrive in Amarillo at 1:45 p. m., halting near Butler field and leaving immediately after the game. To avoid heavy highway traffic, many citizens have been inquiring about the special train.

Rambling Talks On Labor Trouble Heard by Court

After lengthy and rambling arguments of attorneys, the hearing on a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction granted the Texas company against its striking employees and certain other arrested persons was recessed at 11:35 a. m. until 3 p. m. this afternoon.

Judge W. R. Ewing, after narrowing the argument to points of law, showed that the main point was over the alleged difficulty of strikers in getting an audience with Texas company officials. On the statement of J. L. McMahon, division manager, that he "was always ready to talk to anybody" about company affairs, a possible meeting of the two sides early this afternoon was seen.

Most of the argument was between Alonzo Turner of Berger, attorney for the defendants, and H. S. Garrett of Fort Worth, general counsel for the Texas company.

SOVIET WOULD SEND ARMY TO BATTLE NAZIS

FRENCHMAN SAYS HIS KNOWLEDGE CAME FROM RUSSIA

By JOHN EVANS Associated Press Foreign Staff (Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press) PARIS, Nov. 23. (AP)—The chamber of deputies, in short order, today voted the French war budget of 5,689,000,000 francs ($374,336,200), after blunt discussion of German rearmament.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—A budget reporter informed the French parliament today that Russia had offered France its huge army in the event of conflict with Germany, although government officials termed his description of the circumstances as "exaggerated."

The announcement of an "offer" was made by Leon Archimbaud, the reporter for the finance committee, in presenting France's war budget to the legislature.

"Russia has a strong and well-equipped army which she offers us in case of conflict with Germany," stated Archimbaud. "Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany does not observe the (Versailles) treaty. "Russia gave us the first warning and an understanding is arranged between us."

Col. Jean Fabry, former minister of war, asserted that France's knowledge of German rearmament, the details of German troops, and information regarding the secret manufacture of arms and airplanes in Germany came from Russia. Archimbaud said he regretted that "twenty years after the war we are obliged to go back to the old system of European 'equilibrium' but a well defined union with Russia, manufacture of arms and airplanes in Germany came from Russia."

Archimbaud said he regretted that "twenty years after the war we are obliged to go back to the old system of European 'equilibrium' but a well defined union with Russia, manufacture of arms and airplanes in Germany came from Russia."

Archimbaud said that some army chiefs had impeded rearmaments, which Deputy Chouffet suggested, because they sought to make increased compulsory service imperative.

The huge steel and concrete network of forts facing the Rhine, said deputation Beaugotte, "cost four billion francs but are useless unless they are defended." He said that one fort, which needed at least 500 men to be manned by four men and a corporal.

He told the Chamber of Deputies that Germany was supposed to have 100,000 troops concentrated just across the Rhine. "If these 100,000 were thrown without warning into the fortifications," he declared, "they would break through."

Colonel Fabry stated: "There are at this moment more than 600,000 men in German barracks. More and more, special automobile highways are built up to the Rhine and five new bridges have been constructed." He said that the one year training period must be increased unless rearmament brought enough trained men to form the framework of a wartime army.

"War material," declared Colonel Fabry, "can be had with money but there must be men. France must love its army and it wants a strong army. The army must be the beloved child of the nation."

The officials said the relations between France and Russia are growing steadily closer but that "there are no military agreements." He said that the one year training period before the pre-war Franco-Russian relations" could be revived.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mumford and children, W. M. Dearwood, Bobby, and Marian arrived yesterday from Wichita Falls to see the Pampa-Lubbock football game. Franky Mumford, Harvester end, is another son.

Bridge Tourney Plans Completed By Altar Society

Final plans for a benefit bridge tournament next Tuesday were made in a meeting of Holy Souls Altar society Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. S. C. Jensen and Mrs. M. F. Roche were hostesses at the latter's home.

Mrs. John Cummings is general tournament chairman, and Mrs. F. D. Keim is ticket chairman. The society is inviting all bridge enthusiasts of this community to play.

Annual election of officers will be conducted at the next regular meeting. It was announced.

Present Wednesday were Mmes. Ed Carrigan, Wilbur Cook, Cummings, Emmet Dyer, John Delaney, Ed Fitzgerald, Helen Fitzgerald, D. J. Grubbs, M. E. Holler, Mary Ikard, Keim, R. J. Kiser, T. E. Manley, C. H. Robinson, L. E. Sullivan, H. W. Waddell, J. P. West, and the hostesses.

MRS. THOMPSON IS HOSTESS AT BRIDGE PARTY

Home is Decorated in Thanksgiving Motif

Mrs. Rufe B. Thompson entertained the Thursday club at her home yesterday, when three tables of players enjoyed bridge games.

Autumn colors in a Thanksgiving motif made the rooms attractive and marked the bridge tables. Mrs. Henry Thut made high score. Miniature turkeys were given as high cut favors at each table.

Mrs. W. M. Craven was a club guest for the afternoon. Members playing were Mmes. J. M. Saunders, Ben Farris, Bob McCoy, Sherman White, Thut, Frank Winslet, Crawford Atkinson, Joe Burrow, J. M. Fitzgerald, A. A. Kelly, Howard Neath.

Texan Defeated in Anzac Meet By Leo Diegel

MELBORNE, Australia, Nov. 23 (AP)—Two Philadelphians, Denny Shute and Leo Diegel, won their way today into the finals of the $1,000 (about $5,000) Gentenary professional golf championship at the expense of fellow-countrymen.

Shute, 1933 British open champion, took a close one from Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., when Wood missed an 18-inch putt which would have halved the 36th hole.

Although not in his best form, Diegel annihilated Joe Ezar of Waco, Texas, 6 and 5. Ezar was troubled by the lack of his own clubs—he used a set borrowed from a reporter.

The gallery joined in the players' laughter when Diegel three-putted from 15 feet on the 17th. Both he and Ezar had a tough time in the afternoon.

Shute shot a sensational morning card of 68, 6 under par and went to lunch 3 up. Wood was brilliant but erratic but he squared up the match on the 35th by a superb afternoon rally. He missed a 6-foot putt on the 36th which would have won the match and then lost it entirely when the 18-inch refused to drop.

Shute and Diegel battle tomorrow for the $500 (about $2,500) first prize. The loser will get $200 (about $1,000). Ezar and Wood gained $100 each by reaching the semi-finals.

No-Trump Club Has Thanksgiving Party Wednesday

Miss Ouida Brandon was hostess to No-Trump bridge club Wednesday evening at the Crystal Palace. In four games, Miss Mary Patton scored high; Miss Cleo Kendrick received consolation, and Miss Bonnie Patton the traveling prize.

Food drinks were served before the games started, and pumpkin pie with coffee afterward. A Thanksgiving note was used in nut cups and game appointments, and in the lovely orange and yellow flowers.

Club guests were Mmes. Margaret Longard and Lela Bronnath. Members playing were Mmes. Mildred Plumlee, Claudia Brandon, Alene Chandler; Mmes. J. C. Crawford, Juanita Hargis, and C. H. Dunaway; and those who received game awards.

Miss Bonnie Patton is to be the next hostess.

PAMPA WOMEN TAKE PART ON ZONE PROGRAM

TALKS AND LUNCH AT McLEAN ENJOYED BY FIFTEEN

Fifteen women from the Methodist Missionary society here attended a zone meeting at McLean yesterday. A number of officers from this and other conferences were present to appear on program.

Mrs. W. Purviance of Pampa, district secretary, was program chairman for the day. Mrs. Joe Shelton, local president, gave the Pampa report which was complimented for its wide scope of work shown.

After a devotional by Mrs. S. L. Seago of Memphis, guests were welcomed by Mrs. G. A. Cryer of McLean, and Mrs. Porter of Wheeler responded. Reports were heard before the delicious lunch was served by McLean women.

The Rev. N. U. Stout of McLean conducted the afternoon devotional; Mrs. Nat G. Rollins of Abilene, president of societies of the West Texas conference, gave an inspirational address; and J. J. Mickle, on leave of absence from missionary work in Japan, spoke on that country.

Visiting officials were Mrs. Randall of Seymour, who conducted the final consecration service; Mmes. J. M. Simpson, G. C. Adams, and R. I. Gray of Amarillo; Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Rollins.

Women who went from Pampa were Mmes. Purviance, Shelton, Babione, DeTar, Elkins, Waters, Baker, Carson, Campbell, Patrick, Bever, Foote, Hurst, Castleberry, and Ward.

The next meeting of the society here will be at the church Monday at 2:30, when officers for next year will be chosen.

New Patrol Formed By Girl Scouts of Troop 5 This Week

Darning, one of the arts required of a Girl Scout who receives a needlewoman's badge, was learned by members of troop five when they met Wednesday afternoon.

A new patrol was organized, with Jacqueline Hurst as leader. Girls discussed their work of dressing dolls for distribution Christmas, and planned their next meeting at high school cafeteria.

Three new members, Sara Frances Bourland, Heidi Schneider, and Helen Chandler, were present with Mary Kate Bourland, Frances Thompson, Virginia Callison, Jacqueline Hurst, Marjorie McColm, Alice Marie McConnell, Margie Coffey, June Beck, Martha Price, Mattie Brown, Peggy Stephens, and Mrs. R. A. Selby.

Panhandle Man's Brand Resembles Hitler's Emblem

PANHANDLE, Nov. 23 (P)—Barbed wire closed the open range half a century ago but progress and the rustler's exit have not made useless the cow country's various coats-of-arms.

Cattle brands, marks of ownership burned into the hide with hot irons, that had their advent when the first longhorns were herded across the Rio Grande into Texas have not passed out of use.

In Carson county alone 16 new brands were recorded this year, bringing the total for the county to 250. It is estimated that there are over 20,000 different cattle brands in Texas.

Texas ranchmen haven't turned to the new method of branding—that of spreading a mixture of chemicals with a tooth brush. They still brand bawling calves with red-hot irons, burning in the coats-of-arms so effectively that the marks go with the hide to the shoe factory.

There are about as many designs in cattle branding as there are in wall paper. Stockmen search for individual marks to such an extent that practically all letter combinations, including those in the "new deal," and geometrical figures have been exhausted.

C. E. McCray of Panhandle fashioned a design for his ranch brand in 1915, years before Adolf Hitler was heard of in Germany. The McCray brand easily could be mistaken for the Nazi emblem.

MEANEST MAN REFORMS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—During the annual Red Cross roll call, a counterfeit $10 city warrant was found among the contributions. Today a bona fide $10 warrant was sent to Red Cross headquarters, with this note: "I couldn't sleep, please forgive me."

SPEED, THE NEMESIS

ANOK, Minn.—The hit and run traffic peril of today seems to have been a problem even before the advent of the automobile. Thirty-six years ago, a local weekly newspaper carried an editorial advocating prosecution of "the reckless bicyclist who justifies his victim into the gutter while he proudly continues on his destructive way."

CALLS ALL-BRAN NATIONAL NATURAL LAXATIVE

Delicious Cereal Checked His Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Daniels:

"For many years I have been habitually constipated, and have used all sorts of laxatives. So, in fairness to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I heartily claim it to be a most wonderful remedy for constipation.

"Need I tell you that I have long since ceased using laxatives? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the National Natural Laxative. If it were used by every family in the United States for breakfast, we would have a much healthier race of people."—Mr. John Daniels, 1090 Third St., North Bergen, N. J.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this food much pleasanter than risk-taking pills and drugs? Two table-spoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

KEEP ON THE SUNNY SIDE OF LIFE

General Topic: The Christian Steward.

Scripture Lesson: Matt. 25:14-30.

14. For it is as when a man, going into another country, called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods.

15. And unto one he gave five talents; to another two, to another one; to each according to his several ability; and he went on his journey.

16. Straightway he that received the five talents went and traded with them, and made other five talents.

17. In like manner he also that received the two gained other two.

18. But he that received the one went away and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money.

19. Now after a long time the lord of those servants cometh, and maketh a reckoning with them.

20. And he that brought the five talents came and brought other five talents, saying, Lord, thou deliverest unto me five talents, lo, I have gained other five talents.

21. His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy lord.

22. And he also that received the two talents came and said, Lord, thou deliverest unto me two talents; lo, I have gained other two talents.

23. His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy lord.

24. And he also that had received the one talent came and said, Lord, I knew thee that thou art a hard man, reaping where thou didst not sow, and gathering where thou didst not scatter; and I was afraid, and went away and hid thy talent in the earth; lo, thou hast thine own.

25. And I was afraid, and went away and hid thy talent in the earth; lo, thou hast thine own.

26. But his lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked and slothful servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I did not scatter?

27. Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the bankers, and at my coming I should have received back mine own with interest.

28. Take ye away therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him that hath the ten talents. For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance; but from him that hath not, even that which he hath shall be taken away.

29. And cast ye out the unprofitable servant into the outer darkness; there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.

Golden Text: Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.—Matthew 25:21.

Introduction.

"Right giving is a part of right living. The living is not right when the giving is wrong. The giving is wrong when we take God's portion to spend on ourselves."—Henry Lansdell.

"Stewardship of money is only a fraction of our full Christian stewardship. Giving is only a fraction of our stewardship of money. Tithing is only a fraction of our stewardship in giving. All of these have their place in the larger stewardship, but when put together they do not constitute full stewardship living nor meet the boundless needs of the times. The call is for such stewardship living as will not be fractional, in which the whole life will be included, in which self and substance will both come under the rule of stewardship living. Bring yet all the tithes into the storehouse." (Mal. 3:10)—Charles A. Cook.

"His Goods." v. 14.

"And delivered unto them his goods. His goods; the talents did not become theirs just because they were entrusted to them. Yet how often do men regard abilities and goods as their own just because the Lord of all has placed them in their hands to use for him during the few short years of life! We need to reconstruct our ideas of ownership, if we would place our lives on just foundation.

To One, Five Talents, to Another, Two, v. 15.

"And unto one he gave five talents." The talent was not a coin, but a certain weight of gold or silver, varying according to the money standards of the times. "To another two, to another one; to each according to his several ability." "This parable first gave the word 'talent' to all Christian languages."—Rev. Wolcott Calkins. The Christian's "talents" include what ever God has given him whereby he may advance the work of the Lord, promote the kingdom of heaven. We are told that the goods after all are his. "We do not see the Owner, but he sees us, and watches our every deed. The thought of our stewardship—of time, money, influence, knowledge, beauty, social graces, and spiritual power—should be the dominant thought of our lives."

"The Day of Reckoning." v. 19.

"The lord of those servants cometh." No feature of our Lord's teachings is clearer than his prediction of his second coming. He is constantly insisting that he will return to judge mankind, and bidding his followers to be on the watch for that solemn event. But "our watchfulness for Christ's coming is not to degenerate into idleness; but while we watch, we are to work, each in his allotted sphere, with the talents wherewith he has been entrusted."—Rev. William M. Taylor, D. D. "And maketh a reckoning with them." There are few articles in our creed to which we more easily and generally assent than that which affirms that God will come to judge the world by that Man whom he has appointed. And yet how seldom do we reflect on the fact that the Lord whom we serve will one day sit in judgment on our service! Every one of us must stand before his judgment-seat, and there he will make a careful, deliberate, and exhaustive 'reckoning' with us.

Golden Text: Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.—Matthew 25:21.

Well Done." v. 21.

"His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant." "A philosopher would ask at least a hundred words to define a great life. A poet would perhaps demand as many more. A statesman could hardly get along with a less number. But Christ takes the philosopher's hundred, the poet's hundred, the statesman's hundred, drops at least 98, substitutes two words which may have been altogether absent from their reckonings, and writes a definition which is well-nigh overpowering in its simplicity: 'Well done!'"—Rev. Frederick F. Shannon, D. D. "What this parable teaches so powerfully and clearly, is absolute continuity of life, and absolute identity of character in this world and the next for us all. The good servant has not reached his goal—he has only come in sight of a diviner goal."—Rev. W. J. Dawson, D. D. "Fidelity over a few things here puts us in trust of many things there. Our toil does not give us eternal life, but it enriches our eternal life."

The Two Talent Servant, vs. 22, 23.

"And he also that received the two talents came and said, Lord, thou deliverest unto me two talents; lo, I have gained other two talents." Probably this man was disappointed because he did not, like his fellow servant, receive five talents; but he was courageous; he made the most of what he had, and doubled it, even as the five-talent man doubled his talents. "Whether you are a man of five, or four, or three, or two, or one talent, you can never learn a lesson more profoundly useful than this—to make the best of yourself!"—Rev. W. Mackintosh Mackay.

"His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant." The five-talent man and the two-talent man received exactly the same praise, and the same reward, for their fidelity had been equal, and the praise and reward are for fidelity, and not for concrete results.

Failure to Use Forfeits Possession, v. 28.

"Take ye away therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him that hath the ten talents." If our lack of gain is due to neglect, even what we started with, no more will be given us. "Every one who diligently and faithfully cultivates his powers, finds them becoming ever more effective; feels himself continually growing richer in capacity to know, to do, and to enjoy. Those, on the contrary, who are neglectful discover after a time that they are steadily deteriorating, becoming less and less capable of doing anything useful, honorable, and good."—Rev. Ray Palmer.

Special Lessons.

1. One word is worth a lifetime: "Well done."

2. The reward of faithful service is the opportunity for more service.

3. Blessed spiritual law of grace: "to him that hath, given"; relentless spiritual law of judgment: "from him that hath not, taken"; the unused evaporates.

"And unto one he gave five talents." The talent was not a coin, but a certain weight of gold or silver, varying according to the money standards of the times. "To another two, to another one; to each according to his several ability." "This parable first gave the word 'talent' to all Christian languages."—Rev. Wolcott Calkins. The Christian's "talents" include what ever God has given him whereby he may advance the work of the Lord, promote the kingdom of heaven. We are told that the goods after all are his. "We do not see the Owner, but he sees us, and watches our every deed. The thought of our stewardship—of time, money, influence, knowledge, beauty, social graces, and spiritual power—should be the dominant thought of our lives."

"The Day of Reckoning." v. 19.

"The lord of those servants cometh." No feature of our Lord's teachings is clearer than his prediction of his second coming. He is constantly insisting that he will return to judge mankind, and bidding his followers to be on the watch for that solemn event. But "our watchfulness for Christ's coming is not to degenerate into idleness; but while we watch, we are to work, each in his allotted sphere, with the talents wherewith he has been entrusted."—Rev. William M. Taylor, D. D. "And maketh a reckoning with them." There are few articles in our creed to which we more easily and generally assent than that which affirms that God will come to judge the world by that Man whom he has appointed. And yet how seldom do we reflect on the fact that the Lord whom we serve will one day sit in judgment on our service! Every one of us must stand before his judgment-seat, and there he will make a careful, deliberate, and exhaustive 'reckoning' with us.

FRANCE TO SPEND $230,000,000 ON PLANES IN ARMAMENTS RACE

By STUART MORONEY
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

PARIS, Nov. 23 (P)—France made plans today for a commanding air force in the face of allegations that Germany has a large plane building program underway.

Victor Denain, minister of air, asked a committee of the chamber of deputies for 3,500,000,000 francs (about $230,000,000) to finance the program to be spread over a period of several years.

The task of recovering ground lost by French aviation is already well underway, the minister said. He has spent 500,000,000 francs (approximately $32,500,000) of an appropriation available for modernization.

"We have obtained very important results," Denain told the committee. The air minister warned that "since Goering (German minister of air) came to power, Germany has a military air fleet available and proclaims it."

Denain admitted France has more machines than Germany, in protesting against "panic fomenting" who claim Reich has thousands of planes. Bue, he estimated, Germany will have from 1,000 to 1,100 by January.

Funds To Mark Historic Spots Will Be Sought

AUSTIN, Nov. 22 (P)—An appropriation to locate and mark historic spots of interest in Texas will be sought at the regular session of the forty-fourth legislature.

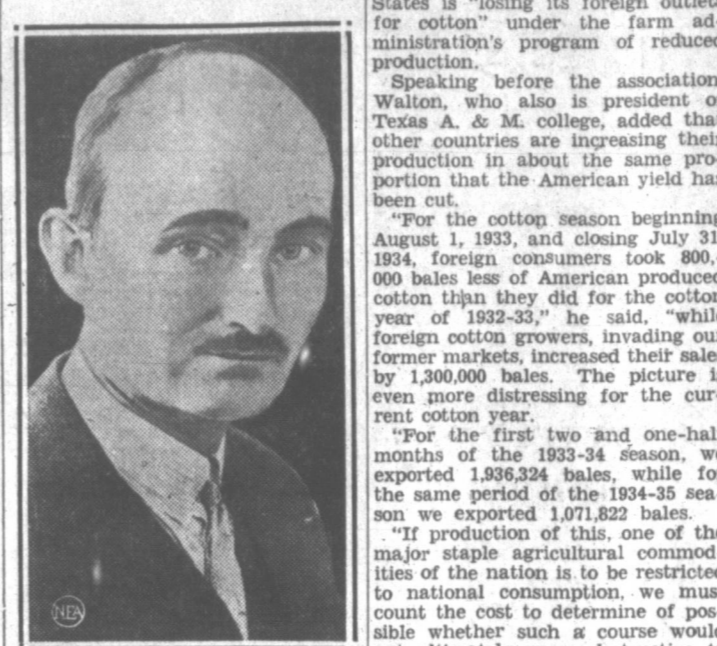

While the forty-third legislature, at its fourth special session, authorized such location and marking, it made no appropriation for the work.

The federal government is spending approximately $6,000,000 to improve the parks through the medium of the citizens civilian corps, according to Herndon, and plans to continue the program.

"As the Centennial year draws nearer Texans are taking a greater interest in their own state, its history and background, and the efforts being made by the state parks board and parks association, in locating and marking the spots of historic interest and building parks around these patriotic monuments," Herndon says.

Haines No 'Yes Man' To Admiral Richard E. Byrd

GALVESTON, Nov. 23 (P)—William C. Haines, a former observer of the weather bureau here, is the only man on the Byrd antarctic expedition who can answer Admiral Richard E. Byrd in the negative and get away with it.

Haines came here from Houston July 30, 1912, and served as observer until August 15, 1914, with William P. Stewart as meteorologist.

Haines, who is third in command and senior meteorologist of the expedition, is always asked his opinion of weather conditions by Admiral Byrd before any exploration trip by land or air is undertaken in antarctic. Haines advises against the adventure if he considers the weather unfavorable and Admiral Byrd follows his advice invariably without protest.

In addition to being a member of the present expedition Haines accompanied Admiral Byrd on his north pole expedition and on his first antarctic expedition.

Haines also takes care of the beauty treatment of the men of the expedition as he is recognized as the best hair cutter in Little America. He volunteers to shear locks for those who in return will work a day compiling meteorological data for him. "Six months' growth of hair artistically removed for a day's work," is the way he strikes his bargain.

It's Tit For Tat In Rattlesnake's Feud With Hawk

BALMORHEA, Nov. 23 (P)—The eternal feud between the deadly rattlesnake and its foe of the air, the hawk, goes on in the southwest, with death the only consistent victor.

On two occasions recently, men have chanced upon a deadly encounter between a snake and a sharp-beaked hawk. In the first battle, the hawk pecked the snake about the head, mortally wounded it, then soared away to devour its prey.

In the second, witnessed by the Rev. E. E. Dawson of Balmorhea, the hawk was seen to rise with a 2-foot rattlesnake dangling from its talons and soar aloft.

At a height of about 400 feet, the hawk suddenly began to flutter wildly and started toward the ground for a landing. But while it was still about 100 feet above ground the bird suddenly released the snake and plunged limply down. After a few convulsive jerks it lay dead.

The snake had struck the hawk in mid-air and its quick-acting poison had taken effect before the bird could land.

RAMBLERS AND ARMY TO PLAY ON SATURDAY

IRISH WILL OUTWEIGH CADETS 11 POUNDS TO THE MAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—The football warriors of Notre Dame and Army had left their home bases today, setting out on paths that ultimately will converge at the Yankee stadium tomorrow.

Notre Dame's squad was confident despite a relatively poor season marked by defeats at the hands of Texas, Pittsburgh, and Navy. Head Coach Elmer Layden, who predicted the Ramblers' defeats by Pitt and Navy, was not quite so outspoken as the team left for New York.

"We are ready," Layden said. "Army can expect a first class ball game."

The Ramblers' starting eleven probably will have Miller and Vetro at the ends; Sullivan and Michuta, tackles; Smith and Schirali, guards; Robinson, center; Fromhart, quarterback; Shakespeare and Melinkovich, halfbacks, and Elser, fullback.

After Army had wound up its practice preparations on the plains, the squad of 38 left for Briarcliff where the players will remain until game time. There was an unmistakable spirit of confidence in the Army camp although Head Coach Gar Davidson regards the game as a toss-up.

"All that we can do now," he commented, "is to pray."

The Cadets will be heavily out-weighted—11 pounds to the man—but are counting on their more effective attack engineered by Jack Buckler and Joe Stancok to offset this physical disadvantage.

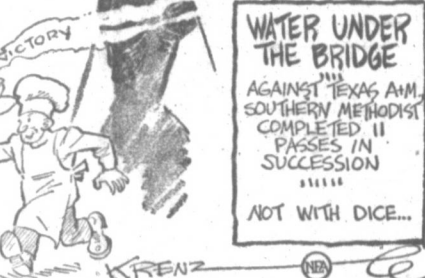

The Army's starting lineup probably will include Schuler and Edwards, ends; Miller and Beall, tackles; Easley and Stillinger, guards; Glifford, center; King, quarterback; Buckler and Grove, halfbacks, and Stancok, fullback.

YALE FAVORED TO WIN FROM HARVARD CLUB

ARMY IS GIVEN EDGE OVER NOTRE DAME ELEVEN

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—Heads bloody but unbowed, football prognosticators thundered down the home stretch today along with the waning football campaign. From this corner, prospects for outstanding games appear to be about as follows:

Yale-Harvard: The iron men in blue against the crimson of Harvard. On form and not forgetting Yale's amazing upset for Princeton last week, there's no doubt the Elis are stronger. The main difficulty, however, is that past performances rarely mean anything in Yale-Harvard football and there's no use trying to dope the winner by logic or a slide-rule. However, the Jerry Roscoe-Lawrence Kelley passing combination looks like a more dangerous scoring threat than anything Harvard has shown and for that reason, this ballot goes to Yale.

Army-Notre Dame: Another one of those traditional games in which the tossing of coin is recommended as the best method of foretelling the winner. In sheer power, Notre Dame holds a wide edge but the Ramblers have failed to make their strength show in the point column. The hunch here is that Jack Buckler and Joe Stancok, plus the more polished Army attack, give the Cadet the edge.

Minnesota-Wisconsin: Wisconsin's Badgers removed one Big Ten contender last week, Illinois, but it will be a miracle if Doc Spears' lads can hold off Pug Lund, Stan Kostka and other Gopher luminaries for four periods. Minnesota, handily.

Stanford-California: Despite California's comeback in recent weeks, Stanford, heading straight for another Rose Bowl engagement, seems to have a pronounced edge, defensively and offensively. The Cardinals also boast one of the outstanding backs of the season in young Bobby Grayson. We'll take Stanford.

Purdue-Indiana: Indiana showed a dangerous attack for the first time this season against Maryland last Saturday but the Hoosiers do not appear to rate quite up to Purdue's all-around class, especially with the Boilermakers eager to snatch part of the Big Ten crown.

Tulane-Sewanee: Tulane should brush past Sewanee's contest. Rice-Texas Christian: This is the big obstacle for Rice in its bid for the Southwest title and Jimmy Kitts' Owls should hurdle it, narrowly.

Nebraska-Missouri: If the score's no worse than 30 to 9 against them, it will be a moral victory for Missouri's hapless Tigers.

Princeton-Dartmouth: The invading Indians from Hanover probably will pay for the beating Yale handed the Tigers last week.

Rutgers-Colgate: Colgate rates a pronounced edge. Temple-Villanova: Pop Warner's undefeated Temple Owls should break the Villanova jinx this time. Washington-Washington State: Beaten twice outside the conference but undefeated within it, Washington State's Cougars have the greater incentive, a possible share in the Pacific title. Washington State, after a real battle.

U. C. L. A.-Oregon State: Those teams from the far north generally lose their effectiveness when they knock down a pass and was tackled and thrown across his goal line before he could get loose from the ball.

The Miami team played smart football throughout the game. The Warriors pulled a number of trick plays which had the Gorillas guessing for a time. A trick lateral worked until Elkins fathomed it with disastrous results.

Morrison, Aerhart, and Carr made several long runs. Bennett plunged through the line for much needed yardage. In the line the play of Locke, Branch and Wilson was outstanding.

Coach Ellis Locke has a group of well trained boys that needed only experience earlier in the season to have made an excellent showing in the sectional race. The boys were green at the opening of the season but learned fast.

4,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND GAME AT SHAMROCK TONIGHT

Class B Classic Between Tigers And Irishmen Is Drawing Wide Attention.

One of the outstanding Class B football games of the season will be played in Shamrock tonight when the McLean Tigers and the Shamrock Irishmen meet in a bi-travel show. Game time has been set for 8 o'clock.

A number of reserve seats have been erected for the game and bleachers have also been moved in, but they will not be sufficient to accommodate the anticipated crowd. If the weather is favorable, 4,000 fans are expected to witness the battle.

The game is expected to be one of the hardest fought of the season. The two elevens are rivals of many years standing and honor so far have been about even. Shamrock won a wild 6 to 0 game from the Tigers early in the season. Since that time, both teams have improved. McLean looked strong in winning from LeFors two weeks ago.

Coach Garrison Rush of the Tigers has been letting his team coast during the last few days. The Tigers appeared at their peak against LeFors and the coach has been trying to avoid stalemates.

Coach J. C. Prejean of the Irish, former Texas university star, is coaching his first Shamrock team. He has a wealth of material and one of the best teams ever to represent Shamrock high school.

The starting lineups:

HILLIARD IS 'GREATEST BACK EVER DEVELOPED IN TEXAS'

He Has Survived Dozens Of Injuries Despite 10-Year Cry of 'Stop Hilliard'

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 23 (AP)—This is not a romantic narration of northwest survival who always get their man.—Instead it is of Southwest conference gridiron gladiators who have failed to obliterate their man.

It is a last page chapter in the life of Bohn Hilliard, the intangible, and his ten-year struggle to physically survive a career of football that is brilliantly punctuated with daring success.

There isn't a Southwest conference stadium that hasn't bellowed with the echo: "Get Hilliard."

There isn't a conference newspaper that hasn't screamed with 48-point bold face type: "Stop Hilliard next Saturday."

There isn't a rival conference coach who hasn't huddled his warriors around him and warned them with: "Boys, watch this Hilliard tomorrow. I'm not telling you to hurt him. Just be sure he doesn't get loose and make monkeys of you."

If service stripes were awarded for football injuries, Hilliard would resemble a barber pole. The ten-year-old Texas gridiron war cry of

"get Hilliard" is almost as well known as the "Eyes of Texas" song. From his Orange, Tex., high school days, on through his two years at Schreiner Institute, and including his four years at the University of Texas, the prey has been Hilliard and the posse rival football teams. The pursuit of the slippery Texas halfback has been one of the most interesting chapters since the Southwest conference blossomed into reality.

Numerous times Bohn's football career was in jeopardy because of injuries, but each time, Hilliard, surely the greatest all-round halfback ever developed in Texas, returned to the battle field to make players and fans marvel at his absorption of punishment. In his ten-year career, Bohn cultivated practically every injury possible—in the midriff, head, shoulders, knees and arms, but somehow he existed—each time he has whipped back with the throttle-valve open and ready to tune in on another broadcast of "get Hilliard."

They—meaning players, coaches and fans—split the ozone with cries of "stop Hilliard" and "get Hilliard" the afternoon when he galloped 94 yards from scrimmage against Texas Tech after an off-kick shoot toward short side of field.

It was the same warning, the same stadium roar two years ago when he ripped through a broken University of Oklahoma field for a 95-yard run.

He made Southern Methodist fans say: "Why don't they stop that Hilliard?" Last year when he hobbled on the field and kicked a field goal from the 28-yard line, intercepted a pass and raced 35 yards for a touchdown, and then kicked point from placement to beat the Mustangs 10 to 0.

At Notre Dame perhaps they didn't think it necessary to issue a "get Hilliard" order when Texas went to South Bend this year, but that's where they made a mistake, for Bohn slashed six yards off-tackle for a touchdown and kicked goal from placement to give his mates a 7 to 6 victory.

All this "get Hilliard" business really started back in 1929 when he was playing with Schreiner Institute. After picking up a bad pass from center, eight yards behind his own goal line, Hilliard raced 108 yards for a touchdown against the Rice Institute freshman team.

The end of college football is near for Hilliard, but perhaps always there will come roaring across gridirons to his eyes and ears, yesterday's cry of "stop Hilliard." But they never stopped him. The only thing that halted his touchdown parade was time—ten years of it.

DAFFY GETS FUNNY
LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Said Paul "Daffy" Dean, junior member of the St. Louis Cardinals pitching brother's act, to a young woman autograph hunter: "Try this jar of cold cream. It smells well." As she crouching woman removed the lid, a snake shot out of the jar; the young woman shrieked, and Daffy laughed. Daffy bought a quantity of novelties and headed back to Russellville, Ark., to "have some fun."

MOFFETT AND TICKES DIFFER ON RECOVERY

HOUSING IS ISSUE ON WHICH OPINION IS DIVIDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Clashing viewpoints within the government and outside emphasized today the prospect of momentous struggles in which the winners will be decided by President Roosevelt, by congress, and perhaps by the direction of the business curve.

For the moment at least, housing is the rock on which waves of opinion break most sharply. Secretary Tikes, PWA chief, has just outlined the possibilities of a housing-for-recovery campaign which, in several respects, is strikingly different from the drive being conducted by James A. Moffett, housing administrator.

Tikes, speaking of potentialities and not of a sure thing, indicated his belief that PWA would hasten employment and help exorcise the mortgage bugaboo by pouring out large sums on new and inexpensive houses. He spoke of long term contracts directly between the government and the home owners, with interest of 3 per cent.

Many spokesmen for business and banking oppose the idea of the government's taking such a direct part in housing. Rallying leaders of such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce of the United States behind him, Moffett is pressing the campaign in which new homes are built with money furnished by private agencies. The government merely sets the basic maximum interest rate at 5 per cent, and arranges insurance on mortgages up to 80 per cent of assessed value.

Such men as Moffett and Henry I. Harriman, president of the chamber of commerce, picture such a drive as one bellwether to lead the nation out of the economic morass, just as automobiles led the way out of another depression.

Tikes raised the question how quickly and how effectively private business would take hold in this field. While PWA would welcome large investments of private capital in housing, he said, there is no evidence of such a trend.

"The government is not looking for any extra work and responsibilities," he declared yesterday, "but we can't sit around indefinitely waiting for private capital to come in. We must go ahead on the basis of present conditions."

Tikes expressed the opinion the government can build better and cheaper homes than private capital, "on one straight mortgage at 3 per cent." He spoke of costs as low as $1,600 a dwelling, possible elimination of down payments, and perhaps an agreement whereby union labor might cut hourly wage rates in return for more money per year.

MARKET BRIEFS

WOOL MARKET
BOSTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: "There is a broader demand for wool and the volume keeps up fairly well. Consequently, prices are a bit firmer and in some descriptions a bit higher."

"London values were generally down 5 per cent at the opening compared with October. The foreign primary markets are slightly under London parity."

A recently good demand for piece goods is reported in New York.

"A fair weight of fall wools has been moved in Texas. Otherwise western operations have been slow. Mohair is still slow and prices are nominal."

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:
Scoured basis—Texas: Fine 12 months (selected) 73-75; fine short 12 months 70-72; fine 8 months 66-68; fall 58-60.

nia, where the business of investigating the oil industry in the field will be completed.

Difficulties in regulation of control from the East, Texas oil field the nation's largest, figured prominently in testimony adduced during six days of hearings in Dallas. In addition to many Texas operators, the committee heard Astell J. Byles of New York, president of the American Petroleum Institute, four other instituted directors, and state and federal officials discuss the controversial matter.

Divergence of opinion on federal control was illustrated by the last four witnesses heard yesterday. In behalf of the West, Texas chamber of commerce, W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls advocated federal regulatory measures for proper conservation of crude, and criticized the interstate compact plan as impractical without federal authority. Hamilton said he was an independent worker.

Marion S. Church of Dallas, speaking for numerous non-integrated companies, asserted nine-tenths of the independents opposed the Thomas-Dissley bill or compulsory interstate compact.

Youths Plot To Overthrow Santo Domingo's Chief

HAVANA, Nov. 23. (AP)—Youth's eagerness for adventure led Cuban national police today to the discovery of what they called a plot to overthrow the government of Santo Domingo.

Police took a hand in the matter after relays of anxious parents reported their sons had disappeared. Nearly all left notes indicating they were going to Santo Domingo on "a perilous adventure."

At first the police were skeptical, but when the number of reports increased they decided to investigate. As a result they are searching for a "committee of lawyers" believed to be leaders of the movement.

Havana newspapers said they learned youths were enlisted and sent to the nearby town of Marigay by truck. Plans were made for them to board a vessel known as the Aurora II at an isolated spot near Mariel. Port police said the Aurora II was not registered but a hunt is being made for the vessel.

The revolt was said to have as its object the overthrow of President Rafael y Trujillo of the Dominican republic. There is much feeling against him among Cuban revolutionaries because General Trujillo furnished asylum for Cuba's fugitive former president, Gerardo Machado, who sailed this week from Santo Domingo for France.

DIZZY NAMES HIS PRICE AND STICKS TO IT

ANYWAY HE WANTS TO WAIT AND SEE IF CARDS SELL

BY PAUL MICKELSON, Associated Press Sports Writer.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 23. (AP)—Impressed by the mention of seven figures in the big deal by which the St. Louis Cardinals may be (or have been) sold to Lew Wentz, millionaire Oklahoma oil man, the great Dizzy Dean has named two figures less—$25,000—as his take if or leave it salary demand for next season's work with the world's champions.

Dizzy came to the big major-league auction sales here in connection with some independent business, but immediately was cornered by the Cardinal bosses, who wanted him to sign his 1935 contract.

"I'll take $25,000, no more, no less," spoke up the world series pitching hero. General Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals argued, cajoled and talked but to no avail.

"They offered of $15,000 last time I saw them in St. Louis and off the diamond believe me will sign his contract for less but this he feels it would be a little wiser to wait until the Wentz deal for the Cardinals is completed or thrown over. If Wentz gets the club, Dizzy's friends believe he can get a better contract than he can from Owner Sam Breadon. Any one's guess was as good as the other's on the Wentz deal. Some insisted it had been completed; others said Wentz was ready to go back home and forget all about it. It was a cinch that all concerned were getting very restless over the delay."

Manager Bill Terry undoubtedly will keep his ace southpaw, Carl Hubbell, but he came close to trading him outright to the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday for Pitcher Larry French and Outfielder Freddie Lindstrom. Terry tried hard to swing the deal, planning to keep French and use Lindstrom in a trade to Chicago for Outfielder Kiki Cuyler, but the Pirates sent French and Lindy to the Cubs in a straight trade for Pitchers Guy Bush, Jim Weaver and Outfielder Babe Herman.

Whether Terry can find another deal attractive enough to stand Hubbell's loss is the question.

Danny McPayden, the bespectacled pitcher obtained two years ago by the New York Yankees from Boston for a reported price of $60,000 and players, was sold last night to the Cincinnati Reds. Danny was a disappointment to the Yankees.

Sea Serpent's Bones Are Found On B. C. Beach

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Sea serpents had scientists on both sides of the continent all stirred up today.

In Prince Rupert, B. C., a huge creature found dead on the rocky coast near there aroused speculation as to whether it was a real sea monster.

In Washington the Smithsonian Institution pointed to a newly found one to prove that sea serpents existed 60 million years ago. The bone, a single vertebra of the largest fossil snake ever discovered in North America, was found by Dr. W. Gardner Lynn of Johns Hopkins university on Belvedere Beach, Virginia. It originally was buried in seabottom deposits of eocene times and was preserved to this day.

Even with only a single bone to judge by, it is plain that this sea-serpent was a monster, says Dr. C. W. Gilmore, expert on extinct animals. It was at least 25 feet long and had a thick body. It is believed to have been distantly related to the modern python family. The scientists have named it "palaeophis virginianus."

The decomposing body of the British Columbia "sea serpent" has stumped Dr. Neal Carter, director of the Prince Rupert dominion of fisheries experimental station. It resembles no known creature of the sea, he said, but its shape—30 feet long and about two feet thick at its bulkiest point—indicates it was truly a sea serpent.

Youths Asked To Register For CCC

Although there will be no openings in Civilian Conservation Corps camps until January, a survey of those desiring to enlist is being made throughout the country and will be completed by December 10.

Gray county youths between the ages of 18 and 25 years, whose parents are on relief or are likely to be on relief this winter, desiring to go to camp are asked to register with George E. Porter in the basement of the city hall.

A rigid physical examination must be passed before the applicants are accepted at camps.

REDUCTION IN GAS RATES IS BEING SOUGHT

STATE TO RENEW ITS EFFORT AGAINST COMPANY

AUSTIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Efforts of the state to force a reduction in the gas rates of the Lone Star Gas company will be renewed soon with the filing in the third court of civil appeals of its brief supporting its appeal from an adverse lower court decision.

Prepared by Assistant Attorneys General A. R. Stout and William C. Fitzhugh, the brief will contend that an order of the railroad commission reducing the rates from 40 to 32 cents was just and reasonable. A Travis county district court jury held that the order was not just and reasonable.

The state will contend further that the district court trial should have been limited to a review of a hearing on the rates held by the railroad commission prior to the trial.

The commission conducted the hearing in intervals over a period of eight months, taking many thousands of words testimony, but the same straw, for the most part, was threshed over again in the district court.

The third point in the state's argument—and all will be buttressed by claims of errors in procedure and admissibility of evidence—will be that the Lone Star Gas company's business is almost wholly interstate and therefore is subject to regulation by the state.

At the district court trial, the company argued that it was engaged in interstate commerce, that its business could not be segregated into intrastate and interstate divisions, and that its interstate business was not subject to state regulation.

were restored, however, before the broadcasts became necessary.

With high winds whipping the flames over miles of forest, land, the fire fighters were encouraged by predictions of continued rains throughout most of West Virginia today.

State forest wardens estimated the total number of fires at 250, in both the northern and southern sections of the state. It was in the south that the flames reached most serious proportions.

The fires were attributed to a 3-week dry spell and to careless hunters. So far, thousands of acres of virgin and second-growth timber land have been devastated. State officials, unable to make an immediate estimate of the damage, predicted it would run into thousands of dollars.

Huey To Start To Work On Rose Bowl Game Soon

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 23 (AP)—Louisiana's Kingfish, Huey P. Long, enjoying a belated honeymoon, cast a speculative eye on the "Long for President" movement today and remarked: "Who can tell what will happen in the next two years?"

Beyond that, questions about the organization of the "Long for President" club drew responses dealing mostly with football, and especially with Louisiana state university.

As for LSU's Rose Bowl prospects, the senator said: "I'll have to get to work on that right away."

The "quiet" program for his delayed honeymoon included such items as an open challenge to a wood cutting contest, golf, a football game, and maybe a little fishing on the side. "I really need a rest—had to get away from all that," said the senator, waving in the general direction of Louisiana.

Andrew Walker and Bill Kelley, Pampa students attending Texas Tech at Lubbock, arrived home yesterday afternoon for the football game and to visit their parents.

BLACK-DRAUGHT For CONSTIPATION

"I am 71 years old and have used Theodor's Black-Draught about forty years," writes Mr. W. J. Vanover, of Rome, Ky. "We are never without it. I take it as a purgative when I am bilious, dizzy and have swimming in my head. Black-Draught relieves this, and helps me in many ways. . . . Keep a package of this old, reliable, purely vegetable laxative in your home, and take it for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation."

ALLIED FLEES FROM MOB OF JOB-SEEKERS

GOVERNOR RESORTING TO PRACTICE OF PRESIDENTS

AUSTIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Governor-elect James V. Allred already has resorted to the practice well known to newly elected presidents.

To obtain relief from long conferences with hordes of job-seekers and persons who have advice without end on what the state needs in this way a new legislation, he has been forced to get clean out of the country.

Even before he was formally elected governor on November 6, the waiting room of the attorney general's office has frequently been the numbers of persons sitting about in hope of a personal interview with the next chief executive. Since then the number has increased enormously.

Not only that, but the young attorney general's mail has increased in volume until he frequently arrives at the office about 6 a. m. and does not leave until late at night, endeavoring to catch up with the rush of correspondence.

This week Allred arranged a hunting trip into Mexico with a small party of friends. While he is an ardent huntsman—and fisherman—the need for a rest prompted the vacation. He asked that the published detail on the location of the hunt be confined to "northern Mexico," in order, among other things, that any possible reception at the border might be forestalled.

"Yes, I'm having plenty to do," Allred confided to newspaper men, "but it's all right. I asked for it."

It was recalled that immediately after his election as president, Herbert Hoover took a trip to South America. Franklin D. Roosevelt had recourse to a yacht cruise in the Atlantic. Other presidents have resorted to somewhat similar avenues of escape.

The few days following the inauguration of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson two years ago saw extraordinary numbers of office-seekers in the governor's legislative chamber. The room was filled and the throngs overflowed into the great entrance hall of the capital. Finally, former Governor James E. Ferguson addressed the crowd, saying it was impossible to give jobs to all those asking them and calling for a general dispersal.

During a session of the legislature, the governor's waiting room always is crowded. To the regular attendance of persons seeking clemencies and having various business to transact with the governor are added members of the legislature seeking conferences on legislative matters. Legislators usually are given right of way, when possible, but at times they, too, have to await their turns.

Negro Executed In Penitentiary

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 23 (AP)—June Woodfolk, 27, San Antonio negro, was electrocuted in the Texas prison here early today for the brutal slaying of Mrs. Alma Dell Cabbie in a San Antonio apartment house more than a year ago.

He walked to the electric chair calmly and had nothing to say. Officials pronounced him dead at 12:10 p. m.

J. F. Hogan, 57, Hidalgo county farmer, was scheduled to have been executed at the same time but Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson granted him a 30-day reprieve yesterday to study further his plea for commutation of sentence. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence of slaying his wife. He denied the charge and numerous letters from San Antonio persons and from nine of the jurors who convicted him led the chief executive to effect a postponement.

Mrs. Cabbie was slain when she went to the apartment house to answer an employment advertisement. She was beaten with a blunt instrument and was left dead. Woodfolk was a janitor in the building.

Huge Crowds Greet President on Inspection Tour

First of the huge crowds that greeted President Roosevelt as he proceeded through Dirle on to his inspection of the giant New Deal projects in the Tennessee Valley was the throng of 35,000, shown above, in Harrodsburg, Ky., where the president dedicated the memorial to pioneers who won the wilderness for the U. S. Inset are the president and Gov. Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky in their auto during the parade.

Marian Gordon
by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Casada's husband, Lon, is worried almost beyond endurance. His boss, the crooked contractor, McSwain, holds a check over Lon's head which he says Lon has raised, and plans to use it to force his employee to pass defective material in a high school McSwain's firm is building. Marian wants to free Lon, and to do it she must find Max Hamlin, who is the only man who can furnish the evidence necessary to control McSwain.

Chapter 41.
MESSAGE FROM KING
The district attorney had said that he believed McSwain would force Lon to bear the responsibility of the high school. Perhaps Lon was realizing this; perhaps this was what was worrying him. Marian wondered if he would have to choose between McSwain's orders and prosecution.

"I don't know," she said. "I don't know." "You must hurry her counter attack. King should have an answer to her query before very long." Lon stirred, awakened, and Marian thought she detected a new attitude as he arose and prepared for the day. It was as though he had made a decision that night and his mind was at rest.

"I'm going to be late again tonight, only," he gave a wry smile, "I won't be out with the boys."

"Oh, Lon," she couldn't help the fears which arose like a host of her.

"Tell you what, I'm coming in on the 3:45 and we'll have dinner together; then I'll take you to a theater and call for you."

Marian hesitated a moment. She felt that after his vigil of the night before he was going to someone, either for advice, or with his decision.

"Lon," she said, "you don't want me to go with you, or know where you are going. . . no, don't misunderstand, I don't need to know. . . but, would you want anyone else to follow you?"

"I don't know what you mean."

"I mean this, and don't laugh or be bitter. This house is being watched and I am being trailed. Wherever I go, one of McSwain's Kanaka boys follows."

"I'm not," he said, "I'm not," she said, "but she saw something deeper. He believed her."

"That's why I didn't want his gardener here. That is why I keep Waki here. He understands and will protect me."

He was silent a few moments. Marian saw the steeling of the grim lines about his mouth, then he spoke. "Can you find someone to come out and stay with you?"

"No, this is the Steele's Saturday night on duty. I'm not afraid. Hero will give the alarm; I have my revolver and as I said, I know how to use it."

"Maybe we'd better take an apartment in town," he said in a worried voice.

"No, I'd rather not leave here." She didn't say she considered it inadvisable to frighten McSwain into action before she had the evidence she needed. "There's really no danger, aside from having some one know every step I take."

"I won't be out late," he promised. "I wasn't, but until he was well within the gates of home Marian stood guard at the window. As he approached the house from the garage she noticed that his arms were filled with bundles."

"Ran into Tony Gazetti, and he sent these things out to you," he explained, handing her a box which she found contained Mrs. Gazetti's famous chicken ravioli, "and this" he handed her an armful of shaggy asters in rose and purple pink and mauve.

"These, I brought," and Marian accepting the two small cornucopias flashed him a smile of understanding. Violets and marigolds. It proved that by some alchemy of thought, his understanding of her and belief in her had been restored.

"I'm going to be late again tonight," he said, after she had arranged the flowers in bowls and joined him at the fireside. "I'd like to have a serious talk with you. To begin with, do you trust me?"

"Trust you? In what way?"

"I mean if in the future I were to do things that looked mighty strange to you, would you and could you overlook them, knowing I did them with a purpose?"

"Now that you've forewarned me I could and would."

"I mean if in the future I were to do things that looked mighty strange to you, would you and could you overlook them, knowing I did them with a purpose?"

"Oh, Lon," the words flashed out

Paupers Bring In Oil Wells In Infirmary Yard

MARIETTA, O., Nov. 23 (AP)—The Pauper Oil company was looking for new fields to conquer today. The Pauper Oil company is owned by J. W. Yerian and John Hupp and it is one of the few companies ever to strike oil in the backyard of a county poorhouse—two barrels a day.

Yerian and Hupp had been living in the Washington county almshouse for only a short time when their sharp eyes noted and admired the black dirt in the infirmary's back yard. They smelled or perhaps just guessed there was oil in that neighborhood.

From the county commissioners they got a lease, from a friend, a drilling outfit, from L. A. Hall, infirmary's superintendent a few dollars to record the lease. Then they were ready to proceed.

They mined a little coal on the farm to fire the drilling machinery and before long they had two holes several hundred feet into the ground. At 500 feet they struck oil. Oil men say the two holes will produce a barrel or two a day. Yerian and Hupp are thinking of starting a third well.

Washington county taxpayers will collect one-eighth royalty as owners of the land, one-sixteenth for boarding and lodging the founders of Pauper Oil company. Superintendent Hall has an eighth interest for his loan and the owner of the drill has a one-quarter interest. That leaves seven-sixteenths for Yerian and Hupp.

Howard Payne To Honor Donors Of Big Trust Fund

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 23 (AP)—Thanksgiving this year at Howard Payne college will be a day of real thanks, for, at that time, in a homecoming program, the college and Brownwood will honor Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hardin of Burkburnett, Texas philanthropists, for including Howard Payne college in the $1,000,000 Hardin trust fund.

Howard Payne is to receive one-sixth of this trust fund, which is in the form of large annuities and increasing by interest payments at the rate of about $200,000 a year. The local college's part in the endowment at present is about $160,000, and this is increasing at the rate of about $30,000 a year. On the death of Mr. and Mrs. Hardin, the trust fund will be turned over to the Baptist foundation to be invested for the institutions it is set aside for.

Announcement of the gift was made by Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne.

In order to be eligible to participate in the trust fund it was required that a bonded debt of $88,000 be paid. This has been done thru contributions received from trustees, teachers and friends of the college. A $25,000 debt was assumed by the Baptist general convention of Texas.

McGee Is Named To Succeed Gen. Jacob F. Wolters

AUSTIN, Nov. 23 (AP)—Col. Lawrence E. McGee of Dallas is the new commander of the 56th cavalry brigade, Texas national guard. Col. McGee, who has been United States property and disbursing officer, stationed in Austin, automatically succeeded Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters on the latter's voluntary retirement yesterday.

Lieut. Col. Walter B. Pyron of Houston automatically and theoretically succeeded Col. McGee in the command of the 112th cavalry, being the next senior officer. However, since Lieut. Col. Pyron now is living in Los Angeles, the actual ranking officer after Col. McGee will be Major Clarence E. Parker of Tyler.

Just before his retirement, Gen. Wolters was brevetted a major general on orders of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. His service with the Texas militia started 41 years ago.

REDUCTION IN GAS RATES IS BEING SOUGHT

STATE TO RENEW ITS EFFORT AGAINST COMPANY

AUSTIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Efforts of the state to force a reduction in the gas rates of the Lone Star Gas company will be renewed soon with the filing in the third court of civil appeals of its brief supporting its appeal from an adverse lower court decision.

Prepared by Assistant Attorneys General A. B. Stout and William C. Fitzhugh, the brief will contend that an order of the railroad commission reducing the rates from 40 to 32 cents was just and reasonable. A Travis county district court jury held that the order was not just and reasonable.

The state will contend further that the district court trial should have been limited to a review of a hearing on the rates held by the railroad commission prior to the trial.

The commission conducted the hearing at intervals over a period of eight months, taking many thousands of words testimony, but the same straw, for the most part, was threshed over again in the district court.

The third point in the state's argument—and all will be buttressed by claims of errors in procedure and admissibility of evidence—will be that the Lone Star Gas company's business is almost wholly intrastate and therefore is subject to regulation by the state.

At the district court trial, the company argued that it was engaged in interstate commerce that its business could not be segregated into intrastate and interstate divisions, and that its interstate business was not subject to state regulation.

FOREST FIRE

were restored, however, before the broadcasts became necessary.

With high winds whipping the flames over miles of forest land, the fire fighters were encouraged by predictions of continued rains throughout most of West Virginia today.

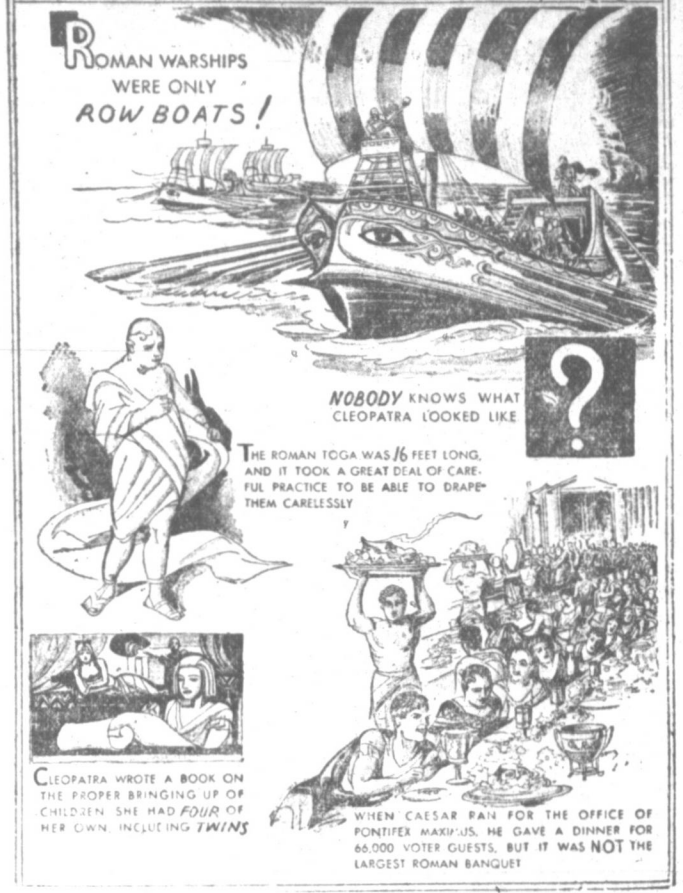

State forest wardens estimated the total number of fires at 250, in both the northern and southern sections of the state. It was in the south that the flames reached most serious proportions.

The fires were attributed to a 3-week dry spell and to careless hunters. So far, thousands of acres of virgin and second-growth timber land have been devastated. State officials, unable to make an immediate estimate of the damage, predicted it would run into thousands of dollars.

BODY TO TULSA

The body of W. A. Brittan, 40, who died here Tuesday night after a long illness, was sent to Tulsa, Okla., yesterday afternoon by the G. C. Malone Funeral home. Mr. Brittan had been a resident of Pampa for only a month. He had been in failing health for some time. He is survived by a brother, R. L. Brittan of Pampa, and four sisters.

Huey To Start To Work On Rose Bowl Game Soon

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 23 (AP)—Louisiana's Kingfish, Huey P. Long, enjoying a belated honeymoon, cast a speculative eye on the "Long for President" movement today and remarked:

"Who can tell what will happen in the next two years?" Beyond that, questions about the organization of the "Long for President" club drew responses dealing mostly with football, and especially with LSU's Rose Bowl prospects, the senator said.

"I'll have to get to work on that right away." The "quiet" program for his delayed honeymoon included such items as an open challenge to a wood cutting contest, golf, a football game, and maybe a little fishing on the side. "I really need a rest—had to get away from all that," said the senator, waving in the general direction of Louisiana.

Andrew Walker and Bill Kelley, Pampa students attending Texas Tech at Lubbock, arrived home yesterday afternoon for the football game and to visit their parents.

THE NEED FOR LOBBYING

Panhandle insurance agents, meeting here yesterday, furnished another reason for the spread of lobbying or, as they would put it, the need for representation at Austin and Washington.

In fact, it is one of the boasts of the Texas Association of Insurance Agents that it has "crashed the gates at Austin." Nothing sinister is intended by the statement. It means that the agents are organized so effectively that they have a much needed influence at the capital.

The agents must constantly be alert to protect their business. What they term unfair competitive practices tend to drain from their premium income. An example is the tendency for companies to write their policies with big concerns without consulting the local agents involved. If this were to continue, the agent system, with its local, valuable contacts, would be abolished.

Some companies are registered in Texas and pay fees which help to "pay the freight" of the insurance departments. It is just and right that the industry regulated should pay for that regulation, at least in large measure. The laws should be so framed that this would be true. And who is to work for such laws? The agents, through their associations, have more influence with lawmakers—and rightly—that the companies themselves.

Lobbying—if you wish to call it that—is a protective device peculiar to our modern time, as we mean it here.

PROFESSOR HAS BECOME FIRST BRAIN TRUSTER

Allred Relies Upon Montgomery Of University

By CHARLES E. SIMONS
AUSTIN, Nov. 23. (AP)—Dr. R. H. Montgomery, professor of economics at the University of Texas, has become the lone star state's first "brain truster."

Dr. Montgomery, who has spent much of his time as an interested spectator along legislative sidelines, will assist Governor-Elect James V. Allred in drawing certain bills to be presented to the legislature. Although Dr. Montgomery primarily is an economist he also is recognized in the field of governmental practices and operations.

He might aptly be termed an "explorer" in the attitude he takes toward public questions in that he displays no hesitancy in breaking away old ideas and branching out into greener fields of governmental enterprise.

Dr. Montgomery holds the contention that changes must be made in governmental procedure to keep pace with the perplexing revisions brought about by modern conditions.

A student of the forefathers who wrote the constitution, Dr. Montgomery is convinced they never intended to set up a "fixed" outline for the government to follow through the ages when they drafted the fundamental law. Rather, Hamilton, Jefferson, Henry, and the other immortals wrote the constitution with the view of "doing the best they could with the conditions then confronting them and with the idea of leaving to succeeding generations the task of determining their own problems."

The old system should not be thrown away or discarded because it contains many principles of government that are fundamental but it should be "modernized" to become adaptable to 20th century necessities, in Dr. Montgomery's opinion.

The university professor has spent enough time around the legislature to obtain a first hand view of the practical problems of pushing legislation through both houses, an extremely valuable experience that will stand in good stead when the legislature starts taking pot shots at his proposals.

DRESSED TURKEY SHOW WILL BE HELD IN PLAINVIEW, DEC. 6-7

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 23. (AP)—The southwestern dressed turkey show will be held in Plainview December 6 and 7. A total of $350 in premiums will be awarded contestants in several classes of exhibits.

The show is being sponsored by the Staked Plains Turkey Improvement association and the Plainview Board of City Development as a measure to improve the grade of turkeys and to encourage farm dressing and packing of birds for market.

Classes will consist of singles of young and old toms and hens hatched since January 1, 1934, and boxes of young toms of not less than 6 nor more than 10 birds to the box, and young hens of not less than 8 nor more than 12 to the box. Ten premiums will be offered in all single classes and 12 premiums in box classes. Three premiums of twenty-five, fifteen, and ten dollars will be offered in county exhibits.

Coolers at the Plains Cooperative, Inc., will be available to exhibit three days prior to the show. Entrance fees of $1.00 per box and 25 cents per single entry pays for cooling service. Exhibits must be delivered to the Plains cooperative not later than 12 o'clock Dec. 5, and must remain on exhibition until 8 p. m. Dec. 7. Producers who have owned the birds at least 90 days prior to the show may compete for premiums.

All feathers, including wing fan feathers, must be removed. Birds grading under U. S. prime will not be awarded more than fourth premium.

The two-day show program will open at 10 a. m. December 6 at the city auditorium with music by the Plainview municipal band. Paul A. Cunyus of the A. and M. poultry husbandry department will conduct a turkey grading school both days the show is in progress. A turkey luncheon will be served at noon December 6 by the Hale County Home Demonstration council.

It is likely Allred will ask the legislature to resubmit the proposal at its January session. If sufficient interest can be aroused the legislature may order the resolution voted on again next fall and not delay by following the usual procedure of submitting constitutional amendments at general elections.

The failure of Allred's first series of confidential chats with the public also probably will not deter the ambitious governor-elect from pursuing this course in the future. It has met with apparently unusual success by President Roosevelt and Allred believes it can be made equally successful in Texas.

Defeat of the amendment was attributed by Allred to the confusion that existed among the electorate. Eight amendments were up for decision. The amendment advocated by Allred was mixed up with one he opposed that would have placed a limitation of $22.50 per capita on state appropriations during a biennium.

The decisive vote by which the amendments were rejected would lead to the belief that some weight was given to pleas to "kill 'em all." Former Governor James E. Ferguson was one of the leaders in this line of thought.

REDUCTION IN GAS RATES IS BEING SOUGHT

STATE TO RENEW ITS EFFORT AGAINST COMPANY

AUSTIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Efforts of the state to force a reduction in the gas rates of the Lone Star Gas company will be renewed soon with the filing in the third court of civil appeals of its brief supporting its appeal from an adverse lower court decision.

Prepared by Assistant Attorneys General A. R. Stout and William C. Fitzhugh, the brief will contend that an order of the railroad commission reducing the rates from 40 cents to 32 cents was just and reasonable. A Travis county district jury held that the order was not just and reasonable.

The state will contend further that the district court trial should have been limited to a review of a hearing on the rates held by the railroad commission prior to the trial.

The commission conducted the hearing at intervals over a period of eight months, taking many thousands of words testimony, but the same straw, for the most part, was threshed over again in the district court.

The third point in the state's argument—and all will be buttressed by claims of errors in procedure and admissibility of evidence—will be that the Lone Star Gas company's business is almost wholly interstate and therefore is subject to regulation by the state.

At the district court trial, the company argued that it was engaged in interstate commerce, that its business could not be segregated into intrastate and interstate divisions, and that its interstate business was not subject to state regulation.

were restored, however, before the broadcasts became necessary.

With high winds whipping the flames over miles of forest, the fire fighters were encouraged by predictions of continued rains throughout most of West Virginia today.

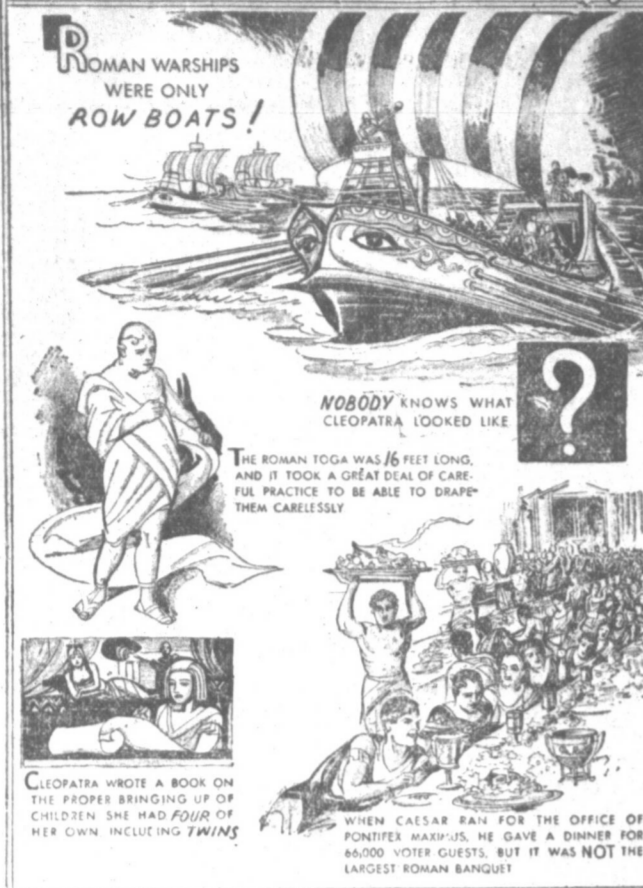

State forest wardens estimated the total number of fires at 250, in both the northern and southern sections of the state. It was in the south that the flames reached most serious proportions.

The fires were attributed to a 3-week dry spell and to careless hunters. So far, thousands of acres of virgin and second-growth timber land have been devastated. State officials, unable to make an immediate estimate of the damage, predicted it would run into thousands of dollars.

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The long arm of the White House is reaching around behind the scenes and into the Speakership fight.

It will be denied, of course, that the president is taking any part. But a squad of fellows as close to him as the hair behind his ears is out to make it clear to Democratic House members that the administration prefers Sam Rayburn of Texas to Joe Byrns of Tennessee.

Rayburn's campaign has made such headway in the last few weeks that efforts are being made to sidetrack him with offers of the majority floor leadership under Byrns.

His strongest friends, including some of the administration higher-ups, have hastened to point out—lest he be tempted—that the Speaker runs the House, dominates appointments to important committees, and can prevent a floor leader from being active.

Their ticket is Rayburn for Speaker and McCormack of Massachusetts for floor leader in a South-North combination.

The argument for Rayburn is that he is stronger and more liberal than the elderly Byrns. His able handling of the securities and stock market acts at a time when the Rainey-Byrns house leadership was creaking endeared him to many New Dealers.

Byrns, meanwhile, has a strong tactical advantage in his seniority, the favors he was able to distribute when he was floor leader, and his prestige among new congressmen as chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

Brig-Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, remembered for his defiant sympathy with the bonus army when he was police chief here in 1932, retains his friendly interest in homeless, unemployed men.

Before the government was doing anything for the transient unemployed, Glassford lobbied for appropriations for transient camps and now that such camps are operating he is frequently to be found in old clothes on incognito expeditions to find out how they are operating.

Recently, officials here have been receiving confidential protests from Glassford, who lives on a ranch in Arizona, against exploitation of transients in the camps by seekers of cheap labor.

He presents first-hand evidence that men are taken in trucks from camps in the Southwest to work in vegetable fields or canneries for 45 cents a day.

National Cheese Week is over, but the odor lingers on.

ALLRED FLEES FROM MOB OF JOB-SEEKERS

GOVERNOR RESORTING TO PRACTICE OF PRESIDENTS

AUSTIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Governor-elect James V. Allred already has resorted to the practice well known to newly elected presidents.

To obtain relief from long conferences with hordes of job-seekers and persons who have advice without end on what the state needs in this way a new legislation, he has been forced to get clean out of the country.

Even before he was formally elected governor on November 6, the waiting room of the attorney general's office daily saw considerable numbers of persons sitting about in hope of a personal interview with the next chief executive. Since then the number has increased enormously.

Not only that, but the young attorney general's mail has increased in volume until he frequently arrives at the office about 6 a. m. and does not leave until late at night, endeavoring to catch up with the rush of correspondence.

This week Allred arranged a hunting trip into Mexico with a small party of friends. While he is an ardent huntsman—and fisherman—the need for a rest prompted the vacation. He asked that the published detail on the location of the hunt be confined to "northern Mexico," in order, among other things, that any possible reception at the border might be forestalled.

"Yes, I'm having plenty to do," Allred confided to newspaper men, "but it's all right. I asked for it." It was recalled that immediately after his election as president, Herbert Hoover took a trip to South America. Franklin D. Roosevelt had recourse to a yacht cruise in the Atlantic. Other presidents have resorted to somewhat similar avenues of escape.

The few days following the inauguration of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson two years ago saw extraordinary numbers of office-seekers in the governor's ante-chamber. The room was filled and the throngs overflowed into the great entrance hall of the capital. Finally, former Governor James E. Ferguson addressed the crowd, saying it was impossible to give jobs to all those asking them and calling for a general dispersal.

Negro Executed In Penitentiary

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 23 (AP)—June Woolfolk, 27, San Antonio negro, was electrocuted in the Texas prison here early today for the brutal slaying of Mrs. Alma Dell Cabbie in a San Antonio apartment house more than a year ago.

He walked to the electric chair calmly and had nothing to say. Officials pronounced him dead at 12:10 a. m.

J. F. Hogan, 57, Hidalgo county farmer, was scheduled to have been executed at the same time but Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson granted him a 30-day reprieve yesterday to study further his plea for commutation of sentence. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence of slaying his wife. He denied the charge and numerous letters from San Antonio persons and from nine of the jurors who convicted him led the chief executive to effect a postponement.

Mrs. Cabbie was slain when she went to the apartment house to answer an employment advertisement. She was beaten with a blunt instrument and was left dead. Woolfolk was a janitor in the building.

Huge Crowds Greet President on Inspection Tour

First of the huge crowds that greeted President Roosevelt as he proceeded through Dixie on his inspection of the giant New Deal projects in the Tennessee Valley was the throng of 35,000, shown above, in Harrodsburg, Ky., where the president dedicated the memorial to pioneers who won the wilderness for the U. S. Inset are the president and Gov. Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky in their auto during the parade.

Marian Gordon
by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Casad's husband, Lon, is worried almost beyond endurance. His boss, the crooked contractor, McSwain, holds a check over Lon's head which he says Lon has raised, and plans to use it to force his employee to pass defective material in a high school. Marian wants to free Lon, and to do it she must find Max Hamlin, who is the only man who can furnish the evidence necessary to control McSwain.

Chapter 41.
MESSAGE FROM KING
The district attorney had said that he believed McSwain would force Lon to bear the responsibility of the high school. Perhaps Lon was realizing this; perhaps this was what was worrying him. Marian wondered if he would have to choose between McSwain's orders and prosecution... persecution.

Choosing wouldn't be an easy matter for he would have her to consider. She must hurry her counter attack. King should have an answer to her query before very long. Lon stirred, awakened and Marian thought she detected a new attitude as he arose and prepared for the day. It was as though he had made a decision that night and his mind was at rest.

"Ian," he said at breakfast, "I'm going to be late again tonight, only, and he gave a dry smile, "I won't be out with the boys."
"Oh, Lon," she couldn't help the fears which arose like a host about her.

"Tell you what, Ian, you come in on the 5:45 and we'll have dinner together; then I'll take you to a theater and call for you."
Marian hesitated a moment. She felt that after her vigil of the night before she was going to someone, either for advice, or with his decision.

"Lon," she said, "you don't want me to go with you, or know where you are going... don't misunderstand, I don't need to know... I want you to want anyone else to follow you?"
"I don't know what you mean."
"I mean this, and don't laugh or be bitter. This house is being watched and I am being trailed. Whenever I go, one of McSwain's Kanaka boys follows."
"Ian!" He was shocked, she saw that, but she saw something deeper. He believed her.

"That's why I didn't want his gardener here. That is why I keep Waki here. He understands and will protect me."
He was silent a few moments. Marian saw the steeling of the grim lines about his mouth, then he spoke. "Can you find someone to come out and stay with you?"
"No, this is the Steele's Saturday night, on duty. I'm not afraid. He will give the alarm; I have my revolver and as I said, I know how to use it."
"Maybe we'd better take an apartment in town," he said in a worried voice.

"No, I'd rather not leave here." She didn't say she considered it inadvisable to frighten McSwain into action before she had the evidence she needed. "There's really no danger, aside from having some one know every step I take."
"I won't be out late," he promised. He wasn't, but until he was well within the gates of home Marian stood guard at the window. As he approached the house from the garage she noticed that his arms were filled with bundles.

"Ran into Tony Gazetti, and he sent these things out to you," he explained, handing her a box which she found contained Mrs. Gazetti's famous chicken ravioli, "and this" he handed her an armful of shaggy asters in rose and purple pink and mauve.

"These, I brought," and Marian accepting the two small cornucopias flashed him a smile of understanding. Violets and marigolds. It proved that by some alchemy of thought, his understanding of her and belief in her had been restored. "Ian," he said, after she had arranged the flowers in bowls and joined him at the fireside, "I'd like to have a serious talk with you. To begin with, do you trust me?"
"Trust you? In what way?"
"I mean if in the future I were to do things that looked mighty strange to you, would you and could you overlook them, knowing I did them with a purpose?"
"Now that you've forewarned me I could and would."
"I am going to spend tomorrow with McSwain."
"Oh, Lon," the words flashed out lights on, and the blinds drawn. If Mr. Casad comes home, tell him I went to... let's see... to Mrs. Steele. Remember that?"

"I remember that," May assured her. "I say, Miz Casad, she go Miz Steele's."
"You'd better say Anne Steele," Marian decided, "and if he needs me you have him telephone there, won't you, May?"
"I do."
The Waki car charged down the Hill, Marian huddled down in the front seat trying to look as much like Mrs. Waki as her tall form would allow. Perhaps her shadow would decide the Wakis had merely come to call and were returning home, and would stay on, guarding the house.

They reached the depot just as the electric train pulled in and Marian was relieved to find no trace of a Kanaka boy or anyone else who seemed interested in her, in the background.
As they sped towards the city, she thought of the wire. The Oakmeers, one of the more obscure hotels. She would go directly to Anne's, then telephone from there and wait for him.

McGee Is Named To Succeed Gen.
Jacob F. Wolters

AUSTIN, Nov. 23 (AP)—Col. Lawrence E. McGee of Dallas is the new commander of the 56th cavalry brigade, Texas National Guard. Col. McGee, who has been United States property and disbursing officer, stationed in Austin, automatically succeeded Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters on the latter's voluntary retirement yesterday.

Lieut. Col. Walter B. Byron of Houston automatically and theoretically succeeded Col. McGee in the command of the 112th cavalry, being the next senior officer. However, since Lieut. Col. Byron now is living in Los Angeles, the actual ranking officer after Col. McGee will be Major Clarence E. Parker of Tyler.

Just before his retirement, Gen. Wolters was brevetted a major general on orders of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. His service with the Texas militia started 41 years ago.

Paupers Bring In Oil Wells In Infirmary Yard

MARIETTA, O., Nov. 23. (AP)—The Pauper Oil company was looking for new fields to conquer today. The Pauper Oil company is owned by J. W. Yerian and John Hupp and it is one of the few companies ever to strike oil in the backyard of a county poorhouse—two barrels a day.

Yerian and Hupp had been living in the Washington county almshouse for only a short time when their sharp eyes noted and admired the black dirt in the infirmary's back yard. They smelled or perhaps just guessed there was oil in that neighborhood.

From the county commissioners they got a lease, from a friend, a drilling outfit, from L. A. Hall, infirmary's superintendent a few dollars to record the lease. Then they were ready to proceed.

They mined a little coal on the farm to fire the drilling machinery and before long they had two holes several hundred feet into the ground. At 500 feet they struck oil.

Oil men say the two holes will produce a barrel or two a day. Yerian and Hupp are thinking of starting a third well.

Washington county taxpayers will collect one-eighth royalty as owners of the land, one-sixteenth for boarding and lodging the founders of Pauper Oil company. Superintendent Hall has an eighth interest for his loan and the owner of the drill has a one-quarter interest. That leaves seven-sixteenths for Yerian and Hupp.

Howard Payne To Honor Donors Of Big Trust Fund

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 23. (AP)—Thanksgiving this year at Howard Payne college will be a day of real thanks, for, at that time, in a homecoming program, the college and Brownwood will honor Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hardin of Burk Burnett, Texas philanthropists, for including Howard Payne college in the $1,000,000 Hardin trust fund.

Howard Payne is to receive one-sixth of this trust fund, which is in the form of large annuities and increasing by interest payments at the rate of about $200,000 a year. The local college's part in the endowment at present is about $100,000, and this is increasing at the rate of about $30,000 a year. On the death of Mr. and Mrs. Hardin, the trust fund will be turned over to the Baptist foundation to be invested for the institutions it is set aside for.

Announcement of the gift was made by Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne. In order to be eligible to participate in the trust fund it was required that a bonded debt of $50,000 be paid. This has been done thru contributions received from trustees, teachers and friends of the college. A $25,000 debt was assumed by the Baptist general convention of Texas.
