MHS STUDENTS VISIT EASTERN NEW MEXICO UNIVERSITY--Recently this group of Muleshoe High School art students, freshmen through seniors, and their sponsors spent a day at Eastern New Mexico University, touring the facilities and checking out the Fine Arts Departments, including art, photo, and other departments. They viewed slides, and were informed of the various financial plans available to allow them to attend ENMU following graduation. They are students of Hellen Adrian, art teacher at MHS.

Art Students Visit ENMU

Art students from Muleshoe High School recently toured the campus of Eastern New Mexico University in Portales. The trip was designed to make students aware of the opportunities available in the ENMU Department of Art, explained

Connie Garner, of ENMU. The 18 youth participating were high school students of Hellen Adrian. The youth ranged in grade from freshman to senior at Muleshoe High School and are all currently enrolled in advanced art classes.

"We wanted the students who have shown an interest in art to realize that attending a university like Eastern is not beyond their grasp," said Mrs. Adrian. "It was wonderful to see the kids excited about an art program and hopefully, they will want to experience a university setting bad enough to continue their education past high school."

The students were able to view first-hand the progressive direction of ENMU's Department of Art. David Noblett, acting chair of the department, explained the recent advances in the program which has established a solid reputation among artists in the region.

Toni Eagle Receives SPS Scholarship Check

Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce Manager Toni Eagle has been awarded a scholarship from Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) to an economic development course at Texas A&M University at College Station March 9-14, 1986.

On Friday morning, Ron Montgomery, manager of the local SPS office, presented Mrs. Eagle with a check to attend the course in March.

Mrs. Eagle, who became the Chamber manager in June 1984, will receive intensive training in "the nuts and bolts of preparing an area for an economic development program, prospecting, and stimulating client interest in the area," said Jon Krebs, SPS manager of area development.

SPS awarded three tuition-and-travel scholarships to economic development courses this year, Krebs said. Scholarships were also awarded to Gerald Hanners, director of development for Castro County, at Dimmitt, and to Claude Peterson, a City of Tucumcari (New Mexico) program specialist. The three were chosen from a field of 13 applicants, Krebs said. Judging in the scholarship contest was by economic development specialists at Shreveport, La., and Midland and Austin, Tx.

Mrs. Eagle, whose industrial development duties for Muleshoe include meeting industrial prospects and providing information to prospects about the City of Muleshoe, said, "I am extremely interested in rejuvenating the Muleshoe/Bailey County Industrial growth en-

Bailey County Chapter Plans Radio Auction

Darrell Turner, Muleshoe Mayor, issued a proclamation this week designating February as American Heart Month and urged Muleshoe area residents to support the 1986 campaign to be conducted nationwide.

"These diseases accounted for nearly 1,000,000 of the nation's deaths last year and more than 50,000 in Texas," Turner said, more than half of the deaths from all causes.

Numerous volunteers in the Muleshoe area will join the effort to distribute Heart information and collect contributions to support research, education and community service projects. These programs are aimed at reducing early death and disability from heart disease and stroke.

In Muleshoe members of the Bailey County Chapter of the American Heart Association will conduct their annual Heart Radio Auction on Saturday, February 15, beginning around 7:30 a.m. on KMUL Radio.

Each year, the group conducts an auction, auctioning various items of merchandise and baked goods which have been donated specifically for the auction.

Turner added that evidence indicates that some heart disease can be traced to an early age in life and that the disease could be prevented if bad habits -- poor nutrition, lack of exercise, smoking, and others -- were prevented in the first twenty years of life.

Thus, the Texas affiliate is particularly emphasizing a healthy lifestyle formation in youth. This approach will help achieve a long-range goal of ushering in a new century with a generation whose mortality rate from heart disease is significantly decreased.

The text of the proclamation reads:

"Whereas, heart disease and stroke this year will kill nearly 1,000,000 Americans and 50,000 Texans, a total which exceeds all other causes of death combined, and

"Whereas, more than 200,000 of these victims die before retirement age, and

"Whereas, the American Heart Association is the only voluntary health agency whose sole mission is to reduce early death and disability from heart disease and stroke, and

"Whereas, the Heart Association's relentless battle against this American epidemic combines a nationwide research program, as well as improving health care in the community through professional and public education, and community service programs.

West Plains X-Rays Now Are Safer

West Plains Medical Center X-Ray Department Supervisor L.T. Johnson said a survey of patient exposure to radiation was done in October, 1985, by the Texas Department of Health.

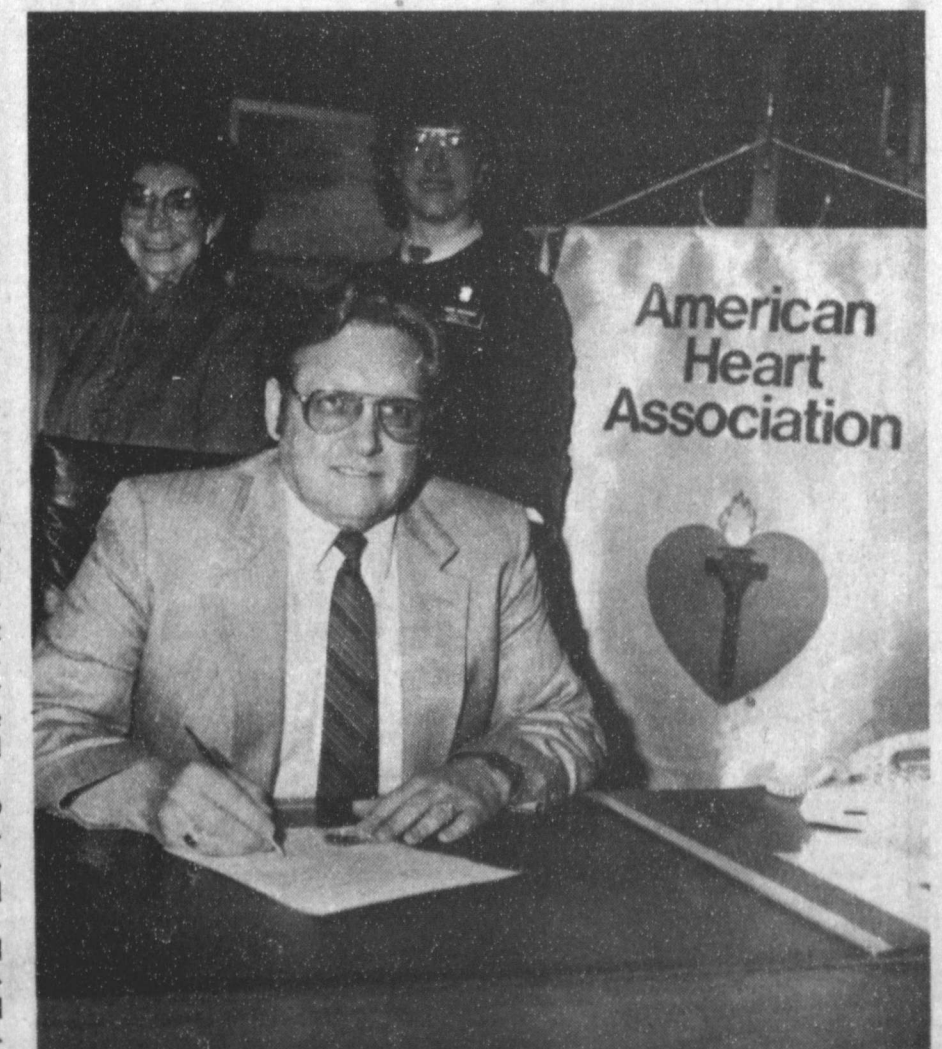

TDH used baseline data generated nationally by the Center for devices and radiological health of the United States Food and Drug Administration.

This program is known as T.E.X.T. for Texas evaluation of x-ray trends, and is coordinated by the Bureau of Radiation Control, explained the x-ray technician.

He said the BRC measures x-ray machine output through a standardized field survey technique which determines patient exposure levels. Tests done at West Plains Medical Center indicated an exposure level significantly less than the national average. Thus, less exposure to the patient receiving x-rays.

Since the time these exposure levels were checked, radiation exposure to patients has been further reduced by approximately 50 percent, due to the purchase of new upgraded equipment at West Plains Medical Center, he added.

"This is still another example of the quality care offered by West Plains Medical Center and of the concern we show for our patients," concluded Johnson.

HEART MONTH PROCLAIMED--Looking on as American Heart Month is proclaimed by Muleshoe Mayor Darrell Turner, seated, are Betty Burelsmith, left rear, and Janie Monihan, representing the Bailey County Chapter of the American Heart Association.

Social Security News & Views

Few people are prepared if a severe accident or illness prevents them from working for months or years. Some have private insurance or a disability plan where they worked, but benefits may be limited. And relatives and friends generally can help only during a short crisis.

For about three decades, Social Security has provided basic protection against severe disability for millions of Americans. Some $200 billion in monthly benefits were paid from 1957 through 1985. Social Security works when you cannot.

Eligible are disabled workers under 65 and dependents, disabled widows and widowers 50 or older, and unmarried children 18 or older who become severely disabled before 22. Disabled beneficiaries also have Medicare coverage after getting monthly checks for 24 months.

A disabled worker first must have worked long enough -- 1 1/2 to 8 3/4 years if disabled in 1986 -- to be insured. And except for blind workers, some credits must have been earned in recent years.

To be considered disabled, an applicant's impairment must be expected to prevent all substantial gainful work for at least a year, or be expected to result in death. He or she should be aware that Social Security's medical requirements are stricter than for most other disability programs, and only about one-fourth of initial claims are allowed.

Once a claim is allowed, benefits generally start with the sixth full month of disability. The claim will be reviewed periodically to make sure all medical and other requirements continue to be met. The frequency of reviews can vary from 6 months to 7 years, depending on the nature and severity of the impairment and likelihood for improvement.

If you wish more information about disability benefits, contact any Social Security office. The people there can send you a booklet that explains more about these benefits and how to apply for them.

The class will meet 8 a.m.-5 p.m. in the SPC Technical Arts Building, Room 222. Cost is $20 a person, which includes computer use and material. Instructor is Dr. Otto Schacht, SPC assistant professor of agribusiness.

Enrollment is limited to 20 persons.

Condiments Add Sodium To Diet

You can carefully avoid the salt shaker and still be getting significant amounts of sodium from the condiments and sauces you use to flavor food, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

A sodium intake of 1,100 to 3,300 milligrams daily is considered safe and adequate for a healthy adult, says Mary K. Sweeten. One teaspoon of salt contains 1,938 milligrams of sodium or almost two-thirds of this daily amount.

While the specific amount will vary somewhat according to brand, recent figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture illustrate the sodium content of many popular seasonings, condiments and relishes.

Among the sauces, soy sauce contains the most sodium with about 1,029 milligrams per tablespoon. One tablespoon of Teriyaki sauce contains 690 milligrams, chili sauce 227, Worcestershire sauce 206, and barbecue sauce 130 milligrams.

Some favorite condiments add smaller amounts of sodium to the diet, notes Sweeten. A tablespoon of ketchup has 156 milligrams while the same amount of sweet relish contains 124 milligrams.

Some favorite condiments add smaller amounts of sodium to the diet, notes Sweeten. A tablespoon of ketchup has 156 milligrams while the same amount of sweet relish contains 124 milligrams.

"Brined relishes like pickles and olives are another significant source of sodium," the specialist says. For example, one 2-ounce dill pickle adds 928 milligrams of sodium to the diet and four green olives increase the sodium count by 323 milligrams.

Condiments used in cooking will also add sodium. For example, one teaspoon of garlic salt contains 1,850 milligrams of sodium; onion salt 1,520 milligrams, meat tenderizer 1,750 milligrams and MSG, or monosodium glutamate, 492 milligrams.

If your doctor has prescribed a low-sodium diet of 1,000 to 2,000 milligrams per day, it will take careful selection of seasonings and condiments to avoid exceeding your sodium allotment, cautions Sweeten.

For flavor without extra sodium, she suggests sticking to garlic or onion powders, which contain only 1 gram of sodium per teaspoon.

"To avoid hidden sources of sodium in your diet, it's especially important to read the nutrition labels on any commercially prepared condiments and seasonings," advises the nutritionist.

Using a home-made mixture of various herbs and spices or flavoring with lemon juice can keep even a low-sodium diet from being bland, she adds.

Energas To Move Main Officers To Dallas Area

Charles K. Vaughan, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Energas Company (OTC), announced a number of management changes which will take place as of the effective date of the merger with Trans Louisiana Gas Company, Inc. (TRANSLA). Vaughan also announced the forthcoming relocation of the Energas Company executive offices to the Dallas, TX area.

Management changes are as follows:

Dennis S. Gillmore, formerly senior vice president of Energas, will become executive vice president; Robert F. Stephens, formerly vice president of Energas, will become senior vice president of Corporate Services; and Harry E. Neel, formerly vice president of Energas, will become senior vice president of Administration and Technical Services.

Also, D. Roy Brashier, formerly, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Transla, will become senior vice president of Operations for Energas; James A. Enloe, formerly general manager of Operations for Energas, will become vice president of Operations; Norman E. Wright, formerly senior vice president to Transla, will become vice president of Finance for Energas; and H. Richard Boultinghouse Jr., formerly senior vice president of Transla, will become vice president of Investor Relations for Energas.

Both the merger agreement and negotiations with the Transla management contemplated the potential relocation of the executive offices. The Dallas area was selected because of its central location relative to the service territories in West Texas and Louisiana. The centralization will allow the management of the combined company more and easier accessibility to all of its service area.

It is estimated that approximately twenty employees will be affected by the relocation with about three-fourths of them coming from Amarillo and about one-fourth from Lafayette.

The two companies had previously entered into a merger agreement whereby the remaining 9.6 percent of outstanding Transla common shares which were not acquired by Energas through its subsidiary EnerTras, Inc. during a tender offer which expired on January 27, 1986, will be converted into cash at $21 per share as of the effective date of the merger and subject to certain shareholder appraisal rights, if applicable.

Both Energas and Transla are natural gas distribution companies, with Energas serving approximately 280,000 customers in West Texas and Transla serving about 69,000 customers in Louisiana.

Angels Of Mercy of West Plains Medical Center

Ann Clements is the early bird of the pharmacy. Each morning she arrives before anyone else except the nurses to unlock the pharmacy and begin her workday. Mrs. Clements is a Pharmacy Tech. She assists the pharmacist in filling prescriptions for in-patients and out-patients. She checks stock levels of drugs at the nurses station to make certain all stock levels meet the standards set by the staff of WPMC. She is more than a Pharmacy Tech, she is the gaffly of the Nursing Staff. Ann double checks doctors orders, making certain that the drug ordered is the drug that is given. Many times Ann will come very quietly into my office and say, "Trina, I hate to be a bother but I really do need the 3-11 Charge Nurse to sign this form". That's okay, Ann. All of us understand you are just doing your job. Ann thinks she throws temper fits at the nurses station. She doesn't realize she is a lamb compared to some of the Lions we have seen throw fits at the station! Ann has been a resident of this area all of her life. She was born and raised in the southern part of the county at Enochs and attended school at Three Way. She has four children: Judy 32, Debbie 31, Linette 24, and Joe Bob 17. She and her husband Fred are hard working, quiet people who go about their lives in an unvarying manner: Steady as a rock. I asked Ann what she would most like to be remembered for and she said, "Two things: That I loved my kids more than anything else in the world, and that my fellow employees liked me and enjoyed working with me." No need to worry there. We DO enjoy working with Ann--she is a joy to have on staff because she is a Special Lady. She is an Angel of Mercy. T. Wilson RN SON WPMC.

the Bailey County Coliseum. This was the first time the banquet was held at the coliseum and we have received numerous compliments on the location and decorations. Speaking of decorations, 'Thanks' again to the Muleshoe Mule Skinners for their help. Jack Templar, Donald Harrison, and Weldon Eagle put in two full days of work just to provide decorations for the banquet. The SCAC and Jennyslippers also greatly contributed to the total banquet.

In the past the Chamber has traditionally lost money on the banquet but we may have made history this year because we came out a little ahead. This was due mainly to a very enthusiastic President, Charles Moraw. He spent hours visiting with members and encouraging them to donate items for the banquet to help defray costs.

Special 'Thanks' goes to Jesse Leal, Ed Cox, Roy Anzaldua, Bobby Free, Mike Perez, Bob Donaldson and Ray Day. Also 'Thanks' to the Nights of Columbus for cooking the meat for the banquet. It was truly a "Community" effort which shows what type community we have in Muleshoe.

A slogan for Muleshoe was presented at the banquet and promotional items are available at the Chamber office. "Mostly Muleshoe" says a lot if you think about it. I feel that the new slogan is extremely accurate. No town is everything to everyone. There are things that people go out of town for, but what we need and want from life is "Mostly Muleshoe". I hope you will come by the Chamber office and pick up a bumper sticker, lapel pin or sticker and name tags for your next meeting.

The Chamber is interested in rejuvenating the Muleshoe/Bailey County Industrial growth endeavor. We would like to offer the help of the Chamber staff, house the main information in the Chamber office for a central location and generally do the research and "leg work" for the Industrial board. In return the Industrial Foundation would be asked to help with office costs and supplies. The Muleshoe area is being left behind in the industrial race. We need to prepare ourselves and push ahead.

This year promises to be one of the best for the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. The 1986 Chamber board is excited, filled with ideas, and anxious to begin. Why not join us and be a part of Muleshoe's growth? New and exciting things are bound to happen.
