

ITALY REFUSES TO GRANT FRANCE CUSTODY OF ACCUSED SLAYER OF KING

ITALY OPENLY DEFIES PLANS OF YUGOSLAVIA

SECOND BLOW IN TWO DAYS DELIVERED TO SLAVS

By ANDRUE BEEDING

ROME, Nov. 26.—Italy today openly defied Yugoslavia's attempt to investigate the plot that resulted in the assassination of King Alexander at Marseille last month by refusing France's demand for the extradition of two alleged principals.

The court appeals at Turin ruled against France's request for Dr. Ante Pavelich, alleged terrorist leader and his supposed assistant, Egon Kvaternik. Both have been under arrest in Italy since shortly after the murder of Alexander and Louis Barthou, the late foreign minister of France.

A curt three-line communique issued this afternoon announced that the court appeals had decided the extradition "must not be conceded to France." This is the second blow Italy has delivered to Yugoslavia in two days.

On Saturday she demanded flattery that the League of Nations council immediately hear Yugoslavia's grave charges that the Marseille assassinations were plotted in Hungary, and an Italian government spokesman said Italy and Hungary will be joined by Austria in presenting a united front at Geneva when Yugoslavia's charge is heard.

France, acting on the urgent suggestion of Yugoslavia, demanded the extradition of Pavelich on the grounds that several alleged accomplices arrested in France named him as their leader. He was the acknowledged head of the Ustaich, a Croatian organization aimed at liberating Croatia from Yugoslav control.

That France's demand would be met with a negative reply was foregone conclusion in view of the fact that France had denied 42 Italian requests for the extradition of political exiles in recent years. However, diplomatic sources said that the Italian decision, coming at this delicate moment, would further complicate the situation and embitter the Italo-Yugoslav relations still more.

The Turin court communique did not state the reasons for the denial of the extradition request but officials sources said they were based on legal points of difference between ordinary crime and political crime. The court of appeal decision meant that extradition is definitely denied by Italy since, by the law, the minister of justice who is given the right of final decision must issue the same verdict as the court of appeal when that court decides in favor of a person under arrest.

Requests from Vienna are to the effect that the government of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg strongly supports Hungary and Italy in demanding an immediate hearing of the Yugoslav accusations. These three nations will request an investigation by the League of the entire question of political exiles.

Negotiations for an Italo-French rapprochement will not be halted by the present situation, the spokesman said. He pointed out that France did not present a note at Geneva to accompany the one submitted by Yugoslavia as did Czechoslovakia and Rumania.

FEW TICKETS ON SPECIAL SOLD TODAY

At Least 150 Persons Must Buy Tickets By Tuesday Night To Insure Train.

In order for the Santa Fe Railroad company to have suitable equipment on hand to carry Pampa football fans to Amarillo Thursday afternoon, orders for tickets should be placed in advance so that an idea as to the number of coaches needed can be made. Only 12 tickets were sold this morning at the Chamber of Commerce.

Fans have up to Tuesday night to order tickets which are on sale at the Santa Fe depot, the Board of City Development, and the Harvest-er Drug. E. A. Tusha of Amarillo, traveling freight, and passenger agent for the Santa Fe, was in Pampa today in the interest of the special.

The train would leave the local depot at 12:30 o'clock and arrive on the siding close to the football field at 1:40 p. m. The return would be made immediately following the game, probably at a few minutes to 5 o'clock. A round ticket would be $1.10. At least 150 persons will be needed to assure the train.

STORE ROBBED
ALTO, Nov. 26 (AP)—Safe burglars took apparently $500 from Brookshire brothers grocery store and $450 from Blanchard Dry Goods company here last night. Explosives were used to open the safes. Beside the cash, an undetermined amount of checks was taken. Fingerprints on a cash register were studied by Rusk and Lufkin officers searching for a clue by which to identify the burglars.

IDENTITY OF THREE CHILDREN FOUND DEAD IN MOUNTAINS IS SOUGHT—POLICE HAVE CLEWS

BUS DRIVER DECLARES GIRLS WERE HIS PASSENGERS

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 26. (AP)—A wide search for an abandoned automobile, presumably an out-of-date car, spread through the south mountains today as investigators sought to learn how three children found dead in the hill country near Carlisle reached there.

State police and Cumberland county authorities said they believe the children were brought by bus from New England or New York and were taken in an automobile from Harrisburg to the mountain side where their bodies were found Saturday, carefully wrapped in blankets along a lonely road.

Attention was focused on that angle of the case after Paul White, a Harrisburg bus driver, said he was certain the bodies of the three little girls were those of three children who accompanied a woman from New York to Harrisburg in his bus last Wednesday. He said they had tickets from Boston.

White also positively identified a suitcase, picked up two miles from where the girls' bodies were found, as one of three carried by the woman on the trip.

One child, White said, answered to the name of "Jennie." She was the youngest of three.

The party had tickets from Boston, he said, and the woman, who seemed "very tired," led the group from the bus at the state capital.

Before going into the morgue, White said he had described the children to authorities, even to a hole in the coat of the youngest, estimated to be about seven years old. This one he remembered particularly because he had helped her on and off the bus.

The other victims were about 10 and 16 years old. Theorizing the resemblances, authorities said they believe all were sisters. They were found, carefully tucked in by two

Court Of Honor Will Be Tonight

The first court of honor conducted by Earl G. Gist, new chairman, will be held by Boy Scouts of Pampa and nearby troops this evening at 7:30 in the court house.

Mr. Gist was named by A. G. Post, council chairman, to head the court of honor succeeding the Rev. A. A. Hyde, who recently moved from Pampa. The new chairman has planned an interesting hour's program for his initial court.

Boy scouts and Scoutmasters of the 12 Pampa troops are expecting troops from Hopkins, LeFors, Skellytown, and White Deer to join them for this program.

Parents of all boys participating are especially urged to be present as the Scouts welcome their new director in the court of honor.

The annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross is scheduled to end by Thanksgiving, and Jim Collins, local chairman, urges all workers and solicitors to cover their districts and report in full by Wednesday night. Around 8700 had been collected in memberships this morning. Many of the larger memberships have not been turned in.

Pampa has always gone over the top in the Roll Call, and it is hoped that this year will not prove an exception.

ROTTEN, SAYS DICKSTEIN OF FASCIST PLOT

Unexplained Sums of Money Made Much Of By Vice-Chairman of Committee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—The congressional committee on un-American activities believes "something looks rotten" in connection with General Smedley D. Butler's charges that he was asked to head a fascist "putsch" in the United States.

"You can't get away from it, somebody is trying to shield somebody on something that looks rotten, and honest people don't do that," said Representative Samuel Dickstein, vice chairman last night. The statement was contained in a report of the committee on the financial transactions of Gerald P. MacGuire, $432 a month bond salesman who, Butler said, asked him to become the "man on the white horse" in the putsch.

MacGuire, Dickstein said, it would like to hear an "explanation" from both Robert Sterling Clark, New York broker, and from Albert Grant Christmas, Clark's attorney both of whom were frequently mentioned by MacGuire. Clark and Christmas are now in Europe.

MacGuire's report said "reluctantly admitted receiving $75,000 from Clark" which was handled for an "unexplained purpose" while MacGuire was working on a drawing account of $432 a month. This

Keim Car Found Near Clarendon; Thief Escapes

The Ford V8 coach owned by Frank Keim, and stolen from in front of the Schneider hotel early Saturday afternoon, was found about eight miles north of Clarendon late Saturday night, after a farmer had driven the thief to Clarendon for gas.

The man told the farmer that he had to go to Clarendon and get money before he could purchase gasoline. The farmer left him in Clarendon but when he returned to his home, found the car still parked by the side of the road. The sheriff of Donley county was notified and he identified the car by the description sent out by Pampa police soon after the theft had been reported.

The thief smashed the lock on the steering rod and wired around the lock to start the car. Police are at a loss to know whether the man was a professional or whether he just wanted to get out of the city. Many people passed where the car was parked but so far, no one has reported seeing anyone working the car back to Pampa yesterday afternoon.

'NOT GUILTY' SAYS ROBSON IN A HEARING

FIRST COURT BATTLE
IN ROBLES CASE
STARTS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 24 (AP)—Oscar H. Robson, former Tucson dance hall proprietor, charged with sending extortion notes in the June Robles kidnaping last April, pleaded not guilty before Daniel Hurley, U. S. commissioner, here today.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Robles, parents of little June, were present at the hearing as Mrs. Robson.

It was the second time since his arrest by department of justice agents November 7 Robson has been out of the Phoenix jail. He was taken before the commissioner last Thursday at which time his hearing was postponed because of the absence of government witnesses.

Clifton Mathews, U. S. district attorney, said as the preliminary hearing opened he would let the government's case rest for the time being upon the testimony of C. A. Appel and S. T. Pickering, handwriting experts. Appel is one of the government authorities who figured prominently in the Lindbergh case.

Defense counsel announced that, by establishing Robson's absence from the state at the time of the kidnaping of little June, they hoped to have Robson's bond reduced to the $100,000 figure to which it was hiked soon after his arrest.

Old Toys Needed By Firemen For Poor Children

Pampans are not responding to the plea of Pampa firemen to send old toys to the fire station to be repaired before the community Christmas tree. Every year Pampa firemen repair broken toys and give them to poor children of the city but this year their appeal is not receiving the response of past years.

All of the old toys received have been repaired and the fire boys are calling for more. They have not received half as many toys this year as they had repaired up to this time last year.

A call to 617 will bring a fireman to your home to pick up old toys that have been broken or have been stored away and of no use.

AREA LARGE AS TEXAS CLAIMED BY BYRD PARTY

'All Land,' He Tells President In A Message

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Nov. 26.—(Via Mackay Radio) (Delayed) (AP)—A section of land almost as large as the state of Texas was claimed for the United States today by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd as a result of discoveries in Antarctica.

A huge stretch of ice-covered antarctic wastes, which previously had been considered to be over water was said by Byrd to be land. He made this announcement in a radio message to President Roosevelt following a flight east into Marie Byrd Land.

He brought back with him conclusive evidence that Marie Byrd Land runs in an unbroken line from the antarctic coast to the south pole and that a transarctic strait does not exist. Byrd declared it is all land, "overwhelmed by ice to be sure but land anyhow."

The result of the seven-hour flight, together with observations made on November 16, 18, and 22, was to reverse the preliminary observations of November 15, when Byrd found a sea level depression apparently running east, which led him to believe a long sought trans-continental strait lay beneath the ice sheet.

He had concluded that the elevated land masses of Marie Byrd Land constitute, if not a separate

PAIR CARRIED AWAY IN OWN CAR AT PARIS

AMMUNITION, MANY GUNS ARE LOADED INTO CAR

PARIS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Nearly 12 hours after they were forced at the point of guns to accompany two desperate fugitives in their own patrol car, two Paris policemen still were missing early this afternoon, while officers of three states sought some trace of the kidnaped officers and their abductors.

The missing policemen were Newt Baker and H. R. Marks.

Information received from Holdenville, Okla., led officers here to believe the man who abducted the officers might have been Ambrose Nix and Arthur Gooch, who broke jail at Holdenville about a month ago, along with four other prisoners.

It was considered probable the abductors would try to dispose of the officers as soon as possible, probably trying them up somewhere in the wooded section of East Texas.

The search turned toward East Texas this afternoon after reports were received that an automobile fitting the description of the officers' car was seen speeding eastward in the general direction of Texas.

A general broadcast requested officers of Texas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas to be on the lookout for the fleeing men and their victims.

Government To Purchase More Distress Cattle

Authority to purchase 750 head of distress cattle in Gray county was received by County Agent Ralph Thomas from state relief headquarters this morning. The program was to begin at noon today, Mr. Thomas said.

Only distress range cattle will be purchased in this program, the notification received this morning stated. In the past, any distress cattle could be purchased and today's authorization is the first which specifically states the type of cattle to be purchased.

Most of the stock purchased to date have been mixed cattle. More milk cows have been bought than range cattle.

Harry Lipsch and Sid Lipsch returned yesterday from Wichita Falls where they attended funeral services for their father who died last Wednesday.

OUR FLEET IS LARGE ENOUGH, EXCEPT ONLY AS AGGRESSOR

Those endless conversations at London seem to be bringing the naval disarmament conference up to a point at which the American people will have to make some definite, reasoned decision as to their future naval policy.

Japan's spokesmen say that they are going to have naval equality. If America and England do not consent, they will have it anyway. The famous Washington treaty seems headed straight for the palbearers.

That being the case, what do we do about it? Set out to outbuild the Japanese, regardless? In an uncertain world we can be sure of this—that would be a sure road to trouble.

Admiral Sir Herbert Richmond, of England, recently wrote a book called "Sea Power in the Modern World." In it he pointed out the reasons for the existence of navies; and in this crisis his remarks are worth listening to.

A nation builds a navy, he says, to protect its shores from invasion, to keep itself from being starved by interruption of its sea-borne commerce, to protect its merchant ships and colonies, or to implement some overseas policy.

A navy capable of doing these things is an adequate navy, regardless of the strength of other navies.

Certain things are immediately obvious. A smaller fleet than we have now would keep us safe from invasion. Furthermore, we cannot be starved into defeat, because we are so nearly self-sufficient.

What remains, then? Colonies? Hawaii, Alaska, the Caribbean Islands, the Canal Zone; World War experience indicates that it would take a fleet ever so much stronger than ours to wrest those from us.

One thing is left; overseas policy. We oppose Japan's course in China and Manchuria. But if we are preparing to fight to checkmate that policy, even our present margin of superiority is not enough.

All naval strategists agree that we could not fight successfully in Japanese waters without a much greater margin than we have under existing treaty.

These are things to be weighed thoughtfully before we decide on our future course. They might, conceivably, convince us that all is not lost even if Japan does make good her claim to equality.

The anticipated second revolt of the 'young liberals' in the AAA is likely to be hastened by return of Undersecretary Rex Tugwell from Europe. Some of his friends, at least, think Tugwell will refuse to stand for some of the "rough stuff" that has gone on in the organization under the weak leadership of Administrator Chester Davis.

Almost every day at AAA there's something new for the liberals and conservatives to fight about. The latest is the cottonseed refining code—involving a large industry which includes such corporations as Procter & Gamble, Wesson, and Swift & Co.—into which the AAA consumer and legal divisions insisted on inserting provisions against price-fixing and for both standard grades and examination of books and records.

The industry's answer was to get Davis to transfer the code to NRA, where a code is being devised more to its liking.

Another thing against "You and Machines" is that it sounds too much like sneering at a fellow for the way he drives.

NEW STATE POLICY RESULTS IN COMEBACK FOR HORSES

Improvement of Breeding Stock Reverses Trend—Blood Decline Deported.

Before the state became the beneficiary of a portion of the revenues derived from Texas race meets, the average age of all horses in Texas was 18 years.

The figure is from the state department of agriculture in Austin and shows the low ebb to which the industry had degenerated. Because, of course, everybody knows this average age was at least eight years too high and indicated the fast approaching dissolution of the horse industry in Texas.

But all that has been changed. The people of Texas are thoroughly aroused over the necessity of more horses and mules on the farm and ranches, with the result that the department of agriculture now has 1,400 applications ahead from counties and communities desiring a thoroughbred jack stallion under the provisions of the pari-mutuel law, which during this year has placed more than $100,000 in the department's hands for the furtherance of this work.

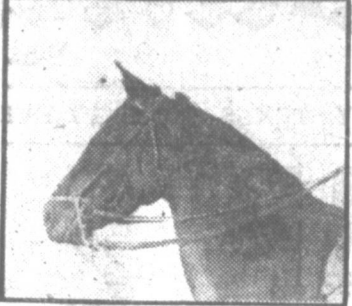

And here are some of the things it has done with that money: Since February 11 of this year, when it began operations, it has placed 76 jacks in Texas, the aggregate value of these jacks being $24,561.

It has placed 18 saddle stallions, to the aggregate value of $5,870. It has placed 78 draft stallions to the aggregate value of $28,580.

It has placed two thoroughbreds valued at $800. Included among the jacks now the property of the state is one from Tennessee, which was world champion three times. Those familiar with the high standard maintained by the mule breeders of Tennessee will understand that the State Department, under the able direction of Commissioner J. E. McDonald, is going out after the very best.

M. A. Morris, chief bookkeeper in the department, points out that purchases of draft stallions have been in the majority to date because of the deplorable condition of the draft horse industry, and the urgent necessity of bringing up a large number of brood mares. He asserts the records show there are literally dozens of counties in Texas now where there is not a single jack or stallion.

In the distribution of jacks and stallions to date, 125 counties have been covered. These reach from the Rio Grande to Amarillo, and from

Texarkana to El Paso. It is pointed out the distribution likely would have been greater except for extreme drought conditions in some sections of the state.

Although the distribution necessarily started late, the records show there have been 3,800 breedings and that $81,581.26 has been expended in the actual purchase of these animals.

Mr. Morris, perhaps the best posted man in Texas on the figures involved in the administration of this law, points out that in the short period of its operation the public schools have received more than $100,000 and that the 254 counties of Texas have to their credit more than $200,000, which will be prorated to them according to their tax valuations and for whatever public purpose desired by their local commissioners court.

Thus the actual result is that the revenue derived from this legislation is rebuilding a livestock industry in Texas. It is rendering very substantial aid to the public more than anything affording a considerable measure of tax relief to all the people in all the counties, thus making its benefits entirely state-wide in character, and permitting all the people to share.

"One of the greatest calamities that has ever happened to Texas is the neglect of its horse and mule industry," Mr. Morris said. "This state should be the absolute leader in these industries. It has the resources, the grass, the climate. The present law is doing more than anything to rehabilitate the industry."

"Bookmaking in Texas should not be tolerated. No right thinking Texan indorses this iniquitous racket. It must be driven from Texas. But the legitimate racing industry, as an outlet for the breeding of fine stock, and as an incentive for that purpose, deserves support."—Thorobreding.

HARVESTERS TO POLISH UP OFFENSE AND DEFENSE WITHOUT SCRIMMAGING

THREE SANDIE BACKS BOTHER CITY COACHES

BATTLE OF LINES IS IN STORE FOR THURSDAY

"Break the tradition of Butler Field" is the slogan of Pampa football fans as the time nears for the annual clash between the Pampa high school Harvesters and the Amarillo high school Sandies, to be played on Butler field in Amarillo Thursday afternoon, with the kick-off set for 2:30 o'clock.

The Harvesters will practice behind closed gates at Hester park. There will be no scrimmage sessions, coaches announced this morning. Much attention will be given to defense in an effort to perfect ways of stopping the advances of Mr. Harlow, Mr. Bufkin and Mr. Stidger of the Amarillo backfield.

Offense, both on the ground and in the air, will be polished up, but coaches will take no chances on injuries by scrimmaging. Bill Dunaway will probably be ready to start the game. He bruised his other hip when he blocked White early in Friday's encounter, and left the game. He started with an injured hip. Fanning may be able to play a portion of the game.

Must Fight 60 Minutes
Pampa football fans in the past have always played better football against Amarillo than against any other team, and the same will need to be true this year if the Harvesters can hope to break the tradition of Butler field. It will take 60 minutes of fighting football with no letup.

A class of football fans in the city may be penalizing the Harvesters. They are going around patting the boys on the back, telling them they have the game in the sack, and generally making themselves a nuisance to the coaches. The eleven Harvesters will have to play a better brand of football than they did last Friday if they hope to come back to Pampa.

The Amarillo Sandies will be trying for their 50th win on Butler field Thursday afternoon. It will also be their 26th attempt for conference victory in the district since 1928. In 49 games played on Butler field, the Sandies have run up a total of 1,800 points against their opponents 128 points, an average of 36.7 points against 2.6 points.

Sandies Are Whole
That is a tradition worth fighting for and the Sandies, after a long rest, will be at peak condition for the affair. There is not a crumple, great tackle, who played his last game with only one good eye, is ready for a full game again. Amarillo will also be strengthened by the eligibility of White, transfer from Oklahoma last year. He played part of the game against Lubbock and was a star in the line.

The Bufkin-Stidger-Harlow threat is being groomed for its peak performance against the Harvesters. That combination is one of the best in the country, but it is that Amarillo line that will win a ball game if the Sandies keep the tradition. The line is big, mighty big. It can charge fast and so far this season has not leaked. A line battle, even more than a backfield battle, is in store for fans Thursday. There will be a lot of it in the air. If Dunaway is in good shape, the Harvesters will be much stronger. If Haner can get the ball to the backfield with more consistency, there will be more yards gained. The boys tackle low instead of neck and jersey work as was demonstrated a few times Friday. Amarillo will not make so many yards.

The Harvester attitude is showing much improvement and it will be a battling eleven that will take the field against Amarillo on Butler field before an estimated audience of 16,000 fans. The Harvesters remember the game against San Angelo last year when their eyes were focused on Dallas.

South Dakotan Leads Scoring

(By The Associated Press)
A new scoring leader appeared on the national football horizon today. He is Paul Miller, crack triple-threat back of South Dakota State college's Jackrabbits. Miller completed a 10-game schedule last week with a total of 116 points, giving him an 8-point lead over Art Strutt of Duquesne, the eastern pacesetter.

The scoring leader in each of the nation's major groups or conferences follows:

Player and college	Total

The chart shows a collapse of an early favorite team, Lubbock. After impressive non-conference wins, Lubbock fell before the Amarillo Sandies and the Pampa Harvesters to be definitely out of the race. Plainview and Borger battled for color honors with Borger losing all four games.

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE HAS THREE POSSIBLE CLIMAXES

Texas University And TCU Have Chance At Title If Baylor Defeats Rice.

By FELIX R. M'KNIGHT
Associated Press Staff Writer
Three possible climaxes to the Southwest conference scramble, until last Saturday at apparent run-off for the Rice Institute Owls, appeared today as six teams buckled down to intensive drills for the circuit's finale this week.

Speculation would be terminated by a Rice victory over Baylor University at Waco next Saturday, but other solutions to the mixup would give the University of Texas a championship or vault Texas Christian into a first place tie with Rice.

The uncertainty of the outcome almost overshadowed the traditionally "big game" of the season, Texas vs. Texas A. and M. at Austin on Thanksgiving day. Nearly 35,000 are expected to cram Memorial stadium for the tilt, leaning decidedly in favor of a stampeding Longhorn. However, tradition usually relegates "paper" advantages to the background in this annual classic and an Aggie victory would drop Texas out of the championship picture. A Texas triumph and a loss by Rice to Baylor would hoist the championship flag over the Longhorn stadium.

Both Hilliard, one of the backfield greats in Texas history, will be playing his final game. He led the Longhorns to a smashing 19-12 victory over Arkansas last week.

Knocked from the nation's undefeated ranks by a 7-2 defeat Texas Christian handed them last week but still odds on favorites to capture the conference title. Rice will invade Carroll field and all its traditions at Waco to meet Baylor's Bruins. The Bears protect their home soil in uncanny fashion. Last week Southern Methodist, 3 to 1 favorite, fell 13-6, on Carroll field. The Bruins, featuring Lloyd Russell, a shifty running back and Captain Joe Jack Pearce, expert pass thrower, hope to end a ragged season by beating Rice. The Owls, featuring Bill Wallace, their All-American backfield candidate, and his touchdown partner, John McCauley, hope to clinch a title.

Texas Christian, thundering down the stretch at top speed, collides with the Southern Methodist aerial specialists at Dallas Saturday. The Frogs are clinging to a strand of hope which would shove them into a first place tie with Rice, namely: A victory over the Mustangs and the defeat of Texas and Rice.

The University of Arkansas, last year's unofficial titleholders, close their season on Turkey day at Tulsa in a game with Tulsa university's Golden Hurricane.

Three conference teams will engage in "post-season" battles, Southern Methodist will meet Washington University at St. Louis on Dec. 8 in a charity game; Texas Christian will play the powerful Santa Clara eleven from the Pacific coast at Fort Worth on the same date and the Texas Aggies have a date at San Antonio with the Michigan State, one of the country's standouts.

EASTER CLUB LIKELY TO BE CHOSEN AGAIN

ALABAMA IS PEOPLE'S CHOICE FOR ROSE BOWL ENEMY

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 26. (AP)—guessers, who felt certain Stanford would be elected by the Pacific coast conference today to represent the west in the Rose Bowl classic turned their feverish activities to the absorbing problem of picking an opponent for the unbeaten red shirted horde of Palo Alto.

Alabama, thrice a successful victor here, was the people's choice although selections in recent years in a degree belied the hope that anyone would listen to their voices in the matter.

In fact, if Stanford was selected, evidence pointed to the possibility of three eastern teams, all of them beaten, holding an equally chance with the undefeated southern team. These were Colgate, Pittsburgh and Columbia.

The west clamored to see Colgate play the New Year's day game of 1933 but Southern California selected Pittsburgh and promptly defeated the Panthers, 35 to 0, in the most one-sided game of the eighteen-old-old series.

And only last year Nebraska's Cornhuskers were favored. But Columbia was selected and the claim was loud and long when the abused Lions mired the western representative in the Rose Bowl mud, 7 to 0.

There were reasons enough why one of the three eastern teams might be picked should the ten coast conference schools vote Stanford in today. Coach Tyn Thornhill of the Indians and Jock Sutherland of Pitt played side by side in the line for the Panthers.

Kerr of Colgate came west to pave the way for Pop Warner at Stanford before he took charge of the Red Raiders.

A Columbia's Rose Bowl relations with Stanford, aside from the game, were so cordial that there was plenty of talk about the teams meeting again, either in or out of regular schedule.

Minnesota appeared definitely out of the picture because of the Big Ten wall built against post-season games.

STEWED FAN SEES YALE WIN BUT HE ROOTS FOR PRINCETON

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—This is a favorite situation for the comic cartoonists but Saturday it actually happened in the Yale bowl at New Haven.

An hour before the Ells turned back the Harvard in the Big Three climax, a huge fellow, swathed in a raccoon coat, pockets bulging, step unsteady and, eyes slightly askant, came plodding up the all but vacant aisles. In his hat, twisted out of shape and considerably askew, stood a bright orange feather with a big "P" on it.

He sat himself down and organized his paraphernalia around him. He had more equipment to get thru that ball game than Raphael needed to paint the Madonna. Once organized, he devoted himself for the first time to his surroundings.

"Come on you Princetons," he muttered hoarsely, testing his voice in the empty stadium.
The early birds in the press box pricked up their ears.
"Come on," said the man in the raccoon coat firmly, gaining confidence, "never mind about Yale, let's beat Dartmouth."
He looked around, and no one was disagreeing with him, because no one had gotten there yet. His voice rose with added authority.

"Yeah, Princeton," he hollered.
"Yeah, Tigers. Eat 'em up boys, eat 'em up."
"An echo supported him from across the stadium, and he looked around for the source of possible trouble. He looked again, a kind of incredulous, startled look came into his eyes. He rushed his forehead, looked again. From the press box you could see tragic realization creeping over him.
"Where am I?" he said—and paused.
"Where am I?" he demanded again, in a half wall that started the echoes once more.
He looked up to the press box.
"Zis ain't Palmer stadium," he announced belligerently. "Where's Palmer stadium? Where's Princeton? Where's Dartmouth? Zis 's Yale. What'm I doin' here?"
No one knew, so he tried brokenly to explain. He had gone down to a railroad station, Pennsylvania station leading to Princeton he thought, and had gotten on a football special with a lot of fine, exciting people who were going to a football game, Princeton-Dartmouth he thought. Actually he had gone to Grand Central station, had gotten on a football special all right,

Harvard Coach To Resign Job

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 26. (AP)—Eddie Casey, reliable sources said today, will resign as head coach of Harvard football.

The old halfback who reeled off many a yard for Harvard in the days when the Crimson goose hung high, has decided to relinquish the reins of coachship after the most disastrous season in the history of Harvard football.

The names of several are banttered about as possible successors—Kipke, Kerr, Little, Adam Walsh, Arnold Horween. But it was all guess work. Formal announcement of Casey's resignation has not been made.

For the first time in Harvard history in the team lost four straight this year; Holy Cross, Dartmouth, Army and Princeton taking its measure. Saturday Yale administered the last beating.

tion car when they went to a filling station to investigate a car that had stopped there. They had been notified by Tyler officers that two men had robbed Q. Mitchell's lunch and beer stand, two miles north of Tyler, last night, escaping with $110 and the place's stock of cigarettes. Mitchell and a negro partner were left tied to trees a mile from the stand.

The kidnapers abandoned a car here (1934 Chevrolet sedan). It was identified as having been stolen from Oscar Caldwell of Durant, Okla., on October 31. Tyler officers said it was the car used in the Mitchell robbery. In it were found a quantity of narcotics and some hypodermic needles.

A physician's case containing narcotics was stolen from a Holdenville doctor after the kidnaping. Gooch, Nix and the other prisoners, officers here were advised.

Officers here considered it probable the two kidnapers, if they were Gooch and Nix, might have left the kind woman north of town while they came into the kind woman carrying away the two officers, they might have picked her up and continued their flight. Probably changing their course to throw pursuers off their trail.

Nix and Gooch had been arrested Holdenville on charges of robbery with firearms after the kind woman was held for burglary. Bill Johnson was charged with highway robbery, as was the Lawson woman. Hurst was held on a burglary charge.

At first it had been reported that one of the men involved in the Tyler robbery and the kidnaping here resembled Raymond Hamilton, notorious bank robber and condemned slayer, who is at large, but after receiving word from Holdenville, officers here were inclined to think it more probable the kidnapers were Gooch and Nix.

When the officers were forced into the patrol car, the abductors transferred a quantity of shotguns, rifles, and pistols into the police car. Bedding, ammunition, food, and narcotics were found in the car they abandoned.

Sheriff Clyde Shelton, Chief of Police Gus Cotman and three city and county officers left immediately in two cars on the bandits trail. Hugo, Okla., officers who were notified to watch the Hugo-Paris highway, reported the stolen car had not passed there.

POWER CZARS DECLARE WAR ON FDR PLANS

LILLIENTHAL ACCEPTS CHALLENGE OF INDUSTRY

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—The electric power industry, charging a "barrage of attack" is leveled against it by various federal agencies, has accepted the challenge of the administration's power program.

Planning to fight in the courts, the Edison Electric Institute—an association representing 80 per cent of the nation's electric power interests—authorized its executives to take any steps necessary to determine whether there are limits under the constitution beyond which government may not go in using public funds to destroy by competitive construction and operating the existing investments of private capital.

Thomas N. McCarter, president of the institute and head of the Public Service corporation of New Jersey, said in announcing the move yesterday that the Tennessee valley project, foremost federal power development, has been found "palpably unconstitutional" in a legal opinion by Newton D. Baker of Cleveland and James M. Back of Philadelphia.

The declaration of war brought a prompt retort from David E. Lillienthal, director of the Tennessee valley authority.

"The mask is off," said Lillienthal, in a statement at Knoxville, Tenn. "The few men in New York City who through the holding companies control the electricity supply of 130,000,000 people have stepped from behind the 'widows and orphans,' the preferred stockholders, the ice men and the coal men, and are now speaking in their own behalf.

"We now have, in the open, a class battle between the people who use electricity and those who have controlled it."

The electric institute's board of trustees acted on November 15, three days after President Roosevelt made public a survey by the power authority of the state of New York, which asserted that rates based on a proposed "yardstick" would save consumers in northeastern states as much as 40 per cent of their electric bills.

McCarter's announcement came after the president's statement that communities in every state in the union would follow the example of Tupelo, Miss., first to contract for electricity from a federal development.

Lon looked at her, and laughed. "Silver," she chided, "haven't you had enough experience with men to know you should concentrate on one at a time?" and she hurried off into the darkness.

As she enumerated the hill her anger mounted with her until by the time she reached the house, she wished she had turned on the two of them, and told them what she thought of them. Trust Lon? She'd trust no man with Silver.

And Hamlin, that was the second time Lon's jealousy had frustrated her attempt to help him through the man he seemed to hate.

She dispatched May and Waki, let them run to the hill top and back, then took him indoors and sat down to wait for Lon. And as she waited her anger burned down to gray ashes of despair.

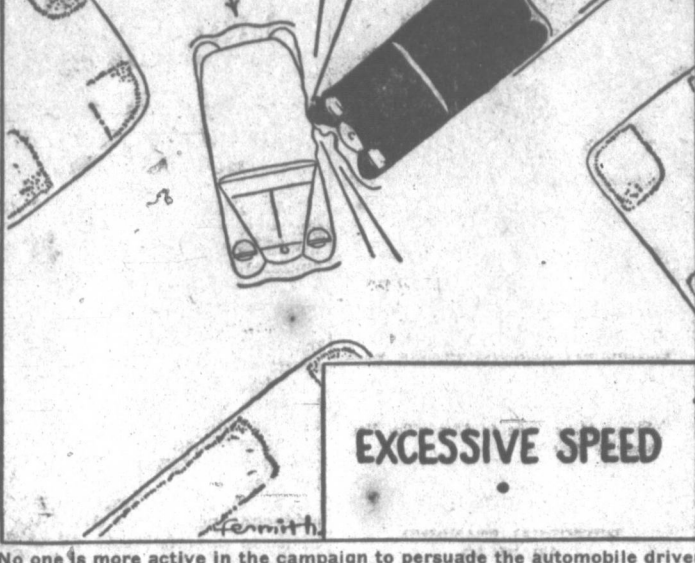

Silver had seen her talking to Hamlin. Would she realize the significance of that conference. Knowing that no one but Hamlin knew what had happened that night in Reno, would she with her alertness to her own danger, know what was in the air?

"Why did I tell Lon not to hurry?" she asked herself. "I must see him, we must talk this over. If Silver tells her father... but maybe she won't see him before next week-end... and maybe she's talking to him right now. He'll know what I'm up to. He'll know right away that I'm trying to reach Hondon."

She heard a car coming up the drive, it would be Lon for no one else had a key to the padlocked gates. Only apprehension for his safety was in her mind now. She heard the garage doors slam and Lon's quick, determined footsteps coming towards the house.

"I believe we owe each other explanations," Marian corrected. "I don't see that," he returned evenly. "I do." She smiled at him. "You left here early today to go to McSwain's for a conference. According to Silver you drove down the peninsula and into San Francisco for dinner."

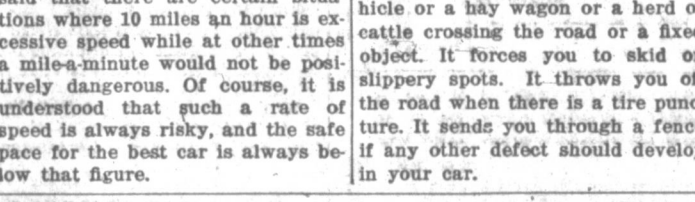

Diagrams of Danger—No. 10

No one is more active in the campaign to persuade the automobile driver to exercise the care, courtesy and common sense which will reduce the appalling number of accidents than Motor Vehicle Administrators. They know the facts. Ten of them, officers of National and Regional Associations, have described the most common driving and pedestrian faults.

By GEORGE R. WELLINGTON Registrar, Motor Vehicle Department, Rhode Island. Vice-President, Region No. 1 of American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

EXCESSIVE speed is the cause of more automobile accidents than anything else of which we have knowledge, according to the records of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. It played its part in virtually every one of the 800,000 accidents last year which took the lives of 30,000 persons and injured more than 850,000. The trouble is that there is no hard and fast rule for speed. This does not mean that there are no laws because nearly every state has speed limits and its towns have similar regulations. But speaking generally where the judgment of the motorist is involved it might be said that there are certain situations where 10 miles an hour is excessive speed while at other times a mile-a-minute would not be positively dangerous. Of course, it is understood that such a rate of speed is always risky, and the safe pace for the best car is always below that figure.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: For the second time Lon Casad's stupidity had prevented his wife, Marian, from getting the evidence which will free Lon from the machinations of McSwain, the crooked contractor for whom Lon works, and perhaps keep the young man out of prison. Not only that, but apparently Lon has spent the evening with Silver Hondon, McSwain's daughter and Marian's worst rival.

CHAPTER 43. STRAIGHT TALK. Lon had asked her to understand if he did things that seemed queer at the moment, Marian remembered. Well this certainly seemed queer, but why wasn't she accorded the same trust?

"Too bad you couldn't join us at dinner," Silver said. "We had a grand time, didn't we Lanny?"

"Umph," grunted Lon. "Indian for yes," Silver chuckled. "We went over to San Francisco, drove around by the peninsula, then came back across the ferry."

Marian felt she must say something. She couldn't let Silver see how deeply wounded she felt.

"One of these little see America first trips," she suggested. And added silently, then Lon hasn't been home, he must have telephoned the Gooch and Nix told him where to find me. What was all that rubbish he had talked about a business conference with McSwain? Mentally she tabulated the time it would have taken for such a trip, with dinner included.

"There's nothing clandestine about us, is there Mr. Casad?" continued Silver.

"There's no reason for anything clandestine," Lon barked. Marian felt her scalp tingle, forehead runner of anger, and she mustn't allow her anger to control her. "Think I'll suggest to Max that we try that," she said, and was rewarded by feeling the car swerve dangerously as Lon jerked the wheel.

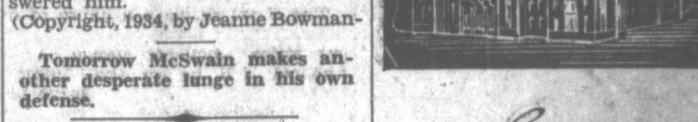

"Oh, don't take Max seriously," Silver countered, "he falls for every girl he sees. I had him on my hands for a while."

"And of course you couldn't afford to waste your time on a man without money?" Marian flashed back. "Too bad you didn't realize he was to make a fortune on 'Silver Steve.' Hollywood paid him an amazing price for his picture rights."

"Oh, really," Silver forgot her plique in her interest in Hamlin's finances. "How much?" Marian conquered a desire to say, "The last time you asked that question, it was about Lon." Instead she said in evasion, "I don't remember that he named the actual amount; I read about it."

Gloria And Her Four Guards Go To Church Sunday

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Nov. 26. (AP)—Little Gloria Vanderbilt has started attending church although the supreme court order saying she must do so does not become effective for another four weeks. It was a wide-eyed, shy, 10-year-old heiress to $2,800,000 who listened yesterday as a Catholic priest read from the scriptures that "there shall be great tribulation, such as hath not been from the beginning of the world until now."

Gloria was accompanied to St. Joseph's church in this Long Island community by her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, a slim governess, a stocky bodyguard in formal attire, and a chauffeur. It was Mrs. Whitney, sculptress and society matron, who was awarded general custody of the child in Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's fight to recover her daughter.

The court order, which Mrs. Vanderbilt is disputing, says that Gloria shall live with her aunt except for week-ends and the month of July. It becomes effective December 21 unless upset.

Negro Closes Jaws Over Cue Ball And Loses Three Teeth

HOUSTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Anson Jones, 36, negro, retained his reputation for having a big mouth tonight at the price of a trip to a hospital.

"Ah," said Jones as he stood in a pool hall, "kn close mah jaws over this cue ball for $5."

Several were willing to take the wager and Jones was "covered" promptly. He clenched his jaws over the cue ball and collected the bet. Then his jaws "hung." Jones staggered around speechless and unable to open his mouth.

Physicians at a hospital tickled him in the short ribs, and, convulsed with laughter, the negro spat out the pool ball and three teeth.

CHURCHES WILL UNITE FOR ANNUAL THANKSGIVING WORSHIP

OTHER EVENTS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR THE WEEK

SERMONS YESTERDAY HAVE GRATITUDE FOR TOPIC

Thanksgiving services to be observed jointly by all churches of the city Wednesday evening were anticipated in sermons at several churches here yesterday. The annual joint service will be at First Methodist church, with a sermon by Lance Webb, pastor of McCullough-Harrah Methodist churches.

Music will be led by the Methodist choir, which will render special songs. Everyone in the city is invited to this hour of Thanksgiving worship.

"A Thanksgiving for material benefits only is a poor thing," the Rev. C. E. Lancaster of First Baptist church said in one of the pre-Thanksgiving sermons. "Recent years have proved to us that, stripped of material plenty, we still have the eternal virtues for which we may all be grateful now and through the year."

Several events of the week were announced at various churches in addition to the Wednesday evening program. The men's Brotherhood of the Presbyterian church will have a supper in the church-annex Tuesday at 7 p. m.

The monthly training school conference at First Baptist church is scheduled tonight, and the Builders Union there will be entertained at a Thanksgiving banquet Tuesday evening. Several members of that church will attend a convention at Lubbock Thursday.

Next Sunday will see an observance of universal Bible day at First Christian church, it was announced. Persons who have rare or interesting Bibles of any type are asked to lend them for display at the morning service.

Sunday school attendance reports follow: First Christian, 388; Francis Avenue Church of Christ, 168; First Baptist, 752; Presbyterian, 149; First Methodist, 343. First Baptist training service was attended by 181. One addition was reported to the congregations of both First Christian church and Francis Avenue Church of Christ.

MARINA'S 'LUCK' INTRIGUES INTIMATES; WOOING WAS RAPID

By JAMES A. MILLS

ATHENS (AP)—Of all the talk in connection with the engagement of Princess Marina of Greece to the Duke of Kent, none is more revealing than the astonishment manifested by most of Marina's own relatives and friends at what they call the Greek princess' "extraordinary luck" in winning Prince George as a husband.

It emphasizes that Marina's parents not only are impeccable, but that Marina is a princess almost without a country, for she and her family had to leave Greece, when it became a republic.

"The luckiest girls in the world" is the expression of those friends of Marina who recall her girlhood. Marina herself, these friends say, almost despaired of finding a husband after she passed 25.

Mother's Ambition High

She felt that perhaps she was "too old" for most European princesses are married long before they are 28, which is Marina's age.

The names of other princes and noblemen of much less rank than Prince George, Marina's friends say, were suggested to Marina and her parents as possible husbands, but Marina's mother, Grand Duchess Helen of Russia, cousin of the late Czar Nicholas, set her heart on having a prince of the first rank as son-in-law.

Marina met George two years ago in London. Her friends recall that the popular British prince then had numerous other interesting and "likely" lady acquaintances, and they say George merely made a "mental note" of Marina.

'Just Cousins' At First

The two started a more or less desultory correspondence—for it must be remembered that even if they were not then really "in love," they were related to one another, being cousins.

Then a "Good Samaritan," a real royal match-maker, came along. He was Prince Paul of Yugo-slavia, cousin of the slain King Alexander, who was educated in England and who was a college-chum of George. Paul was peculiarly fitted to bring the young people together also because of the fact that his wife is a sister of Princess Marina.

So after the exchange of letters between the Greek princess and the British prince took on a romantic tinge, Paul, in collaboration with his wife and with the king and queen of Yugoslavia, invited George to visit Bled, the lovely mountain retreat of the Yugoslav royal family. There sylvan brooks, quiet woods, lovely mountain lakes, and singing birds make an ideal setting for romance.

'Pops' On Eighth Day

George flew from London, telling some of his friends he was making a little "commercial" flight. He told others he was going to pay a friendly visit to King Alexander, and Queen Marie.

After he had spent a week with Princess Marina, rambling in the woods by day and sitting chatting with her on the porch by moonlight, George's friendship ripened into affection, according to Marina's sister, Princess Olga.

On the eighth day of their mountain courtship, George asked her to be his wife and she said yes.

McLEAN JUNIOR CLUB STUDIES MODERN MUSIC

NEW CHAIRMAN NAMED IN P-TA MEETING RECENTLY

McLEAN Nov. 26.—Mrs. Ted Glass proved a charming hostess to the 1934 Junior club Thursday afternoon when members met at the home of Mrs. J. T. Glass.

"Modern Music" was the subject for the afternoon, with Miss Margaret Glass as leader, "American Folk-Songs" was the subject for a well delivered discussion by Mrs. Dwight Upham. Mrs. Upham said that though they were not as true American folk-songs as the cowboy songs, Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia and Old Black Joe were our most loved folk songs.

Mrs. J. S. McLaughlin ably talked on "Evolution of Modern Music" and said that every country had differed on modern music. She also stated that Germany had played a great part in making modern music a great art. American musicians mentioned by the speaker as famous were John Howard Payne and Edward A. MacDowell. Mrs. McLaughlin distributed literature from the state convention which convened at Austin, Nov. 12-16.

Dainty refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames J. S. McLaughlin, Harris King, J. B. Hemmer, Earl Stubblefield, Wilson Boyd, Dwight Upham, Miss Margaret Glass, and the hostess.

Chorus Has Been Acclaimed in U. S. At 1000 Concerts

It is stated that the "ultimate" in delightful musical and theatrical entertainment has been achieved by the world famous M. D. Slaviansky's Russian chorus, who are to appear here on December 3 at 3 and 8:15 p. m. at the city auditorium.

Ordinarily one might think that an all "Russian" program would be rather uninteresting, but this organization has established by its brilliant programs and unusual versatility new standards of beautiful entertainment, replete with glorious singing, Russian and Gypsy dancing, and balalaika orchestras music.

Brilliant soloists add to the lustre of the vocal program, in which many combinations of singers are used, and full ensemble, while fiery and characteristic Russian dances, given by agile and lithe Russian men and girls, create a spectacular side to the programs that win their audiences everywhere.

Mme. Agreva Slaviansky, conductor of this chorus, and one of the few internationally recognized women conductors, may well be proud of her wonderful organization, brought to America four years ago direct from Russia, via the Orient, which has given over a thousand successful concerts in America.

The accompanist and one of the soloists is Mile. Mara Slaviansky, daughter of the conductor of the chorus.

Tickets for this musical and theatrical event, are now on sale at Pampa Drug No. 1, City Drug, and Father's No. 4, Miss Lorene McClintock, piano teacher under whose local management this chorus appears, has the hearty support of music and dance lovers in this community.

OIL

The current allowable permits production of "only one sixth of one per cent of what a well is capable of flowing," which he termed "ridiculous—amounting to confiscation of property." He asked for an increase, and declared he did not think waste would result from an allowable of five per cent. The present low rate of flow, he observed, "has no relation to the prevention of physical waste."

Withdrawal of 107,587 barrels from storage in October was reported from the Panhandle field, although no increase in the allowable of 56,800 barrels was requested. Commissioner E. O. Thompson suggested to Hines Baker of Houston, attorney for the Humble oil and refining company, that arrangements could be made to supply additional crude to those who were forced to use storage.

was in addition to the $30,000 MacGuire received from Clark and $1,000 received from Walter E. Frew of the Corn Exchange bank for his "Committee for a sound dollar and sound currency, Inc."

In addition, the committee report said, MacGuire spent almost $8,000 on a trip to Europe, supposedly buying bonds but actually sending back detailed "reports" of fascist organizations abroad.

Though MacGuire denied a statement by General Butler that he (MacGuire) tossed $18,000 in $1,000 bills on a bed in a Newark hotel in September, 1933, for "expenses," the committee says its evidence shows MacGuire had that much money at the time. "Just six days after Butler claims MacGuire showed him 18 bills of $1,000 denomination, records in the Central and Hanover bank show MacGuire bought letters of credit for $4,000 and $9,000 and paid with 13 $1,000 bills," the report said.

The reichswehr, it is known, believes some of its traditional non-political character was destroyed by the oath of fealty to Hitler made on their behalf but that its superiority over a mere party group cannot be questioned.

Reports in reliable quarters indicated the emuity between the S. S. and reichswehr has become acute and deep-seated. Himmler secretly told his sub-leader that the S. S. is the fatherland's main arm bearer, that its members are training for an emergency and that they are ready.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—The stock market pushed up into higher territory today where equities were found to be in supply. The result was that prices backed away from their peak levels in the final hour. Support was forthcoming, however, and some of the utilities were heavily bought. The close was fairly firm. Transfers approximated 1,350,000 shares.

Clifford Jones' Father Is Dead

SPUR, Nov. 26 (AP)—Funeral services were planned today for Charles A. Jones, 73, founder of this town and formerly a business man of Kansas City and New York who died here early yesterday from a stroke of paralysis suffered at Los Angeles a month ago.

Jones formerly was assistant manager of the water works system at Kansas City and later became purchasing agent in the west for a large packing concern. He came to this sector in 1907, left four years later to join the Freeport Sulphur company, later worked for the same firm in New York and retired in 1927 because of ill health.

He is survived by two sons, Clifford and Hoyle Jones. Burial had been planned for Minneapolis, Minn.

blankets, on a wooded hill Saturday morning.

On the four-hour trip from New York to Harrisburg, White said the woman never left the bus. She was about 35 years old, with chestnut hair and "commonly dressed."

His story that the woman with the children on his bus was clothed in a red dress and a brown coat spurred authorities to redouble their efforts to check clothing worn by a woman found killed with a man in a shack at Duncansville Saturday.

This woman had on a red woolen dress. The dress has been taken to state police headquarters at Harrisburg, where it was being examined closely for comparison with a white woolen, red-striped jacket, found in a suitcase which was picked up in miles from where the bodies of the children were discovered.

Meantime, the examination for the cause of death of the three victims was further complicated by a report by Dr. George R. Moffitt that he found no traces of carbon monoxide poisoning or asphyxiation in the bodies of the girls.

The physician also reported he found no evidence of criminal assault. Dr. Moffitt reported he is continuing his analysis of specimens of the girls' blood for traces of other poisons. The analysis was ordered after autopsies failed to show the cause of death.

State police learned that coats worn by the girls came from a New York manufacturer and that their shoes came from Auburn Square, Mass.

Clark And Foster Return From Hunt

C. A. Clark and Frank Foster returned Saturday night after 10 days of hunting and sightseeing in South Texas and Old Mexico. Although Mr. Clark, local Scout executive, was the only inexperienced nimrod in the party which hunted on the Yuturra ranch, he was the only one to kill a deer.

Both Mr. Clark and Mr. Foster killed a number of ducks and brought back grapefruit and oranges from the orchard at the home of Mr. Foster's brother, Sam Foster, which was the Pampa's visited. The men saw the location of the "Battle of the Palms, and one afternoon viewed the native palms of South Texas. They spent one day at Matamoros and another at Point Isabel.

Delbert Brown and Jack Vincent of Lordsburg, N. M., were week-end visitors with Harry Davis. They were en route to spend Thanksgiving with relatives in Anthony, Kan.

BILL MILLER in Spearman Reporter—Happy days are here again. That's the theme song for the four hundred Hansford county citizens who received their 1933-1934 wheat allotment checks this week. Boys, let me give you some advice. Spend some of the money paying up your debts. Don't pay all of 'em—it might take some money out of circulation—and Hansford county merchants really need something to worry about.

T. A. LANDERS in McLean News—The most beautiful thing that the human race ever fell heir to is beautiful action, and you may search the world from end to end and you will find more of it embodied in the Christian religion than in all other creeds and isms combined.

continent, at least an isolated land of epic dimensions. Friday's flight, through the gap of unexplored area falling between previous flight tracks, proved the strait was more apparent than real, and that not far east of this depression, the plateau curved around and flowed to the south, so that no such passage could exist.

Australian Trio Off For Midland

WICHITA, Nov. 26 (AP)—Three Australian fliers, on a leisurely trip round the world, took off at 9:45 o'clock this morning for Midland, Texas, and the west coast after an overnight stop here, forced by muggy weather.

The fliers, Charles T. P. Uim, Sidney, Australia; George Mc. C. Littlejohn, and J. Leon Skilling, landed at the municipal airport here yesterday after a flight from Detroit. They had planned to spend the night in Texas but bad weather in this area forced them to land. The fliers left Australia several weeks ago. They flew across Asia and Europe and then shipped the plane across the Atlantic. For the past few weeks they had been touring Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Briggs left yesterday for Dallas where Mr. Briggs will confer with Dallas chamber of commerce officials.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

Twinkles Deep breathing in the open air is good for a person. But Mister Morris White let Pampa's do much of it Friday.

"Watching White" wasn't a very good idea. When the Harvesters decided to hold the ball and do things with it themselves, they got somewhere.

What with the new deal and year of ups and all, Pampa should defeat Amarillo on Butler field to round out a hectic season. The best way to do that is to start holding the ball in the very first quarter.

If we were a curbstone coach, instead of the kind of one we are, we would suggest that a place-kick would have been tried for Pampa to the games previously lost to Amarillo. We're not talking about a pass or place-kick a gambler's chance.

This is our last reference to how to play the game. We'll simply say BEAT AMARILLO. Get out the coaches, who are paid to do such things, tell the boys about the whens, whats, and hows.

Missing of the moment: About this time of year, sanity deserts many Pampans and many Amarillians. Things are said and done which cool friendships and make new ones impossible. It is an important game, to be sure, but not that important. . . . With all our enthusiasm, let us not be silly, and LET US SMILE!

Brevitorials AFTER WRITING this column (Saturday night), we'll venture forth to an Associated Press meeting in Amarillo. . . . We'll probably have something more to say on the subject later.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS managing editors, meaning the editors-in-fact of papers which belong to the Associated Press, make up the personnel of the association. . . . The writer is the voting member from Pampa, the northeastern-most unit of the vast network of Associated Press papers in Texas.

THE MANAGING editors actually run the Associated Press. Fred Dye, the A. P. chief for Texas, located at Dallas, is the guiding genius of the news report but in reality he is the referee, balancing the demands of the Pampa NEWS with the needs of the Houston Chronicle and seeing to it that no class of paper is disregarded. . . . This is no small task, for small dailies and big dailies vary more week to week than small communities.

THE WRITER is proud to have been a member of the Associated Press for the last 8 years and to have been an A. P. correspondent in some capacity for the last 10 years. . . . There also is satisfaction in the knowledge that West Texas comprises some of the best and most aggressive members of the A. P. there are in the country. . . . The A. P. operates a special West Texas wire, which covers an area larger than many states. . . . The news reporter is selected for the specific purpose of answering the interests of West Texas readers. An Austin correspondent gives special coverage, as also does a Washington A. P. man assigned to southwest news interests.

THE PUBLIC SHOULD know that the Associated Press is an association of newspapers—not a privately owned corporation. . . . Members pay according to their circulation, population, and ability as directors conceive it. . . . The full leased wire is identical over the area served, so that the larger paper has no advantage over the smaller paper, except in number of pages. . . . And even here, papers like THE NEWS print virtually all of the A. P. report for afternoon editions. . . . In fact, THE NEWS prints more of the best report than most afternoon papers. . . . The leading stock quote quotations furnish one example. . . . This paper goes to press from one to three hours later than other afternoon papers reaching this city, and therefore has later news.

THE A. P. IS NON-SECTARIAN and non-political. A democratic meeting is no more important than a republican meeting basically, although there are more democrats than there are republicans and individual editors and editors of the stories according to their local interests. . . . If THE NEWS notes anything which smacks of racial, religious, or political prejudice, it can

Kidnaped Pair Is Freed By Bandits

RIFT BETWEEN HITLER ARMY, GUARD GROWS

FEUD MAY BURST INTO FLAME AT ANY TIME NOW

By WALTER H. BROCKMANN (Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press) BERLIN, Nov. 27.—The German army and the nation's police forces are operating under a virtual declaration of a state of emergency, reliable sources disclosed today. All Christmas furloughs for members of the Reichswehr (army) and military police have been suspended. . . . The domestic situation apparently was responsible for the order. Its possible significance in relation to the foreign situation was minimized. . . . Fears that a smoldering feud between the Reichswehr and the Schutz Staffeln (picked Nazi guards) has been intensified, it was reported. . . . The step indicated that Chancellor Hitler, as he did during the "purge" of Nazi ranks June 30, is again depending upon those considered "reactionary" by his own men, since the army is not fundamentally a political organization. . . . Discontent has been rumored in ranks of the Nazi storm troops, whose leaders were summarily executed during the "purge." . . . A spokesman for the propaganda ministry flatly denied the emergency report, saying "we are quite ignorant of it" and "I cannot imagine such an eventuality." . . . It was learned, nevertheless, the measure is being enforced so vigorously.

Milt Good Convicted For Killing Two Inspectors

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Milt Good, convicted in the sensational killing of two West Texas cattle inspectors, today was granted a full pardon by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. Good was charged with killing H. L. Robinson and W. D. Allison, inspectors for the Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, at a hotel in Seminole, 1932. He was convicted in Lubbock and Taylor counties on charges of murder and given 25 and 26 year imprisonment sentence. His last trial was in July 1933 and was charged and convicted in connection with the double slaying. He died several

British Reject Monopoly Stand Of Japs On Oil

TOKYO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Formal expression of American dissatisfaction with Japan's "hands off" policy in the Manchoukou oil monopoly dispute was strongly indicated today, following Great Britain's example. The American embassy is keeping in close touch with Great Britain, which set forth its views in a note handed Foreign Minister Koki Hirota. London's action reopened the diplomatic controversy around the "independent" state of Manchoukou which involved three nations. The Netherlands protested the oil plan, as did Washington and London. It was learned oil companies who face loss of their business in Manchoukou because of the monopoly have reached an agreement on a joint plan of action. American, British and Dutch interests are involved.

FRANCE WILL GIVE UP SAAR SAYS REPORT

FRENCH AND GERMANS REACH AGREEMENT, SOURCES CLAIM

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar Territory, Nov. 27. (AP)—An agreement between Chancellor Hitler and the French foreign office, whereby France virtually yields the Saar to Germany, was reported today by informed quarters. France would not press for a victory in the Saar plebiscite and would drop talk of sending troops to the rich region, these sources said, and in return would be given by Germany as soon as possible for the Saar mines. The reported agreement, which has not been confirmed, would practically assure a Nazi victory in the January 13 plebiscite, a source of increasing tension in Europe. The hunt for the policemen's captors is just half completed, Chief Cotman declared, as he reported to Police Chief Cotman here and returned to their homes. This morning Baker and Marks were released 40 miles north of Antiers, Okla., safe and unharmed. They reported to Police Chief Cotman here and returned to their homes. "The hunt for the policemen's captors is just half completed," Chief Cotman declared, as he reported to Police Chief Cotman here and returned to their homes. The automobile they abandoned here has been definitely identified as one stolen Oct. 31 at Durant, Okla. The Paris officers said they rode with the outlaws about 100 miles, always covered with guns and in danger of being shot if they should make any move to escape. Department of justice agents have joined in the hunt for Gooch and Nix, said officers said. The two fugitives faced prosecution for kidnaping Baker and Marks and taking them across a state line. They also will be charged with violating the federal automobile theft act. The policemen said they were given no food or water during their 18 hours of captivity. They were weary from lack of sleep. Nix was the most dangerous man of the two outlaws, Baker and Marks said. Soon after leaving Paris with the two captives, Nix gave the order that kidnaping had been witnessed by M. A. Williams, attendant at the filling station where it occurred. "That service station man—he'll talk," Nix was quoted by the Paris officers as saying. "We ought to go back and get him." Baker would be too dangerous and, driving as fast as possible, the outlaws sped up highway 271 toward Hugo. At the Goodland gravel road, they turned west, then north again, to circle Hugo, Okla. From Hugo they turned east and again north through Spencerville and Rattan to a point near Cloudy. About daylight yesterday they drove into some woods to hide for the day. They spread their jackets on the ground and made the officers spread their coats over them. Baker and Marks were kept in the car, the outlaws keeping them covered with guns. The officers said that the outlaws took precautions to conceal the place where they entered the woods. They covered their tracks with leaves and poured water over the leaves.

Japs Seek Aid Of France, Italy In Naval Scheme

(By The Associated Press) Japan moved today to obtain international support for her project of ending the Washington naval treaty of 1922 which establishes her navy on the short end of the 5-5-3 ratio with Great Britain and the United States. The Tokyo government proposed to both France and Italy, who are also signatories of the treaty, that they join with Japan in denouncing the treaty before December 15. Such denunciation, under the terms of the treaty, would terminate it by Jan. 1, 1937. In London, where preliminary conversations are going on in an effort to revise the Washington treaty observers were of the opinion that neither France nor Italy would grant Japan's request. Japan, it was revealed, has been after the United States and Great Britain to end the treaty but those two powers are more or less satisfied with naval affairs remaining on their present basis.

Few Tickets To Amarillo Game Still Not Sold

Here is news for football fans who have no tickets for the Pampa-Amarillo game. A small number of bottom row tickets on the east side of Butler field are on sale at the office of Joe Smith in the court house. Some of these are tickets which were reserved but never called for by the persons requesting them. Since all unsold tickets must be returned to the Amarillo office tomorrow at noon, local residents should call at Mr. Smith's office before that time.

JAYCEES SOLICIT FUNDS TO PRODUCE SANTA DAY ON DEC. 5

Solicitation of merchants for funds to finance their fourth annual Santa Day, sponsored annually by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was begun yesterday. The response in most cases was satisfactory, Harvey Todd, chairman of the finance committee, said. Collection of the necessary funds will continue for a week. It was emphasized yesterday afternoon at a meeting of Santa Day committee chairmen that the attraction is held primarily for merchants who will benefit because of the horde of Christmas shoppers who are drawn to Pampa each year by the color event. At least 10 floats will be entered in the parade, Chairman H. L. Polley of the float committee said. It is his belief that probably 12 or 15 floats will be built before Dec. 5 when Santa Day will be celebrated. Letters have been written to all churches, civic organizations and clubs and schools inviting them to enter floats. The Jaycees will again advance $5 to defray part of the expense in building each float, as soon as they are assured the various organizations will take part in the celebration. "I hope that every church and school in Gray county will enter

First Snow Of Season Falls Here But Melts Rapidly; Mercury Drops As New Storm Is Reported On Way

LATE NEWS

TOKYO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Japan has proposed to France and Italy that they join her in abrogating the Washington naval treaty. It was learned from an authoritative source. Tokyo has decided to denounce the treaty before December 31.

NOVISAD, Yugoslavia, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Rev. Father Toma Shtrenger, a Roman Catholic priest, was killed today when he threw himself in front of two assassins who attempted to kill Bishop Marko Kolodjer, the head of the old Catholic church of Yugoslavia, in the village of Stary-Yankovatz near Vinkovac.

MENARD, Nov. 27. (AP)—Wiley Tomlinson, Meade county commissioner and special ranger, L. E. Trimble of Eden were wounded today in an exchange of shots at a ranch twenty miles west of Menard. It was reported that a quarrel over pasture land led to the shooting. Tomlinson's wound was said to be serious. He was being taken to San Angelo for treatment. Trimble's condition was not considered serious.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 27. (AP)—Forty members of the school of Journalism of Louisiana State university held a mid-day meeting on the campus and demanded reinstatement of the staff of the college paper, "Reveille," who resigned their jobs last night and shut down the paper rather than have its columns edited under the rag rule of Senator Huey P. Long.

VIENNA, Nov. 27. (AP)—Austrian students today attacked the Czechoslovak delegation in reprisal for Czech anti-German riots at the university in Praha, capital of Czechoslovakia, but were repulsed by police who battered them with swords and clubs. Vienna was thrown into a fresh turmoil by the demonstrations.

More Toys Are Needed By Fire Boys For Poor

The response to the Pampa fire department's plea for old and broken toys, published in THE NEWS yesterday afternoon, was gratifying but the fire fighters can take all the toys they can get. Late yesterday afternoon and this morning several bundles of toys were delivered to the station or calls were received to call at homes for parcels. As in other years, the fire boys are repairing old and broken toys which they will distribute among the poor children of the city thru a community Christmas tree. Any person having toys that can be repaired, or toys that are of no use, may call 617 and one of the fire boys will call for the package, or it can be left in the fire station. The repaired toys are being placed on display. Dolls, trains, horns, animals, etc., have already been made ready to make Christmas happy for some child who would otherwise think Santa Claus had forgotten him.

Citizens Asked To Sign Petition For Centennial

Gray county has been asked to furnish 4,500 signatures of the million names being gathered to ask the Texas legislature to appropriate funds for the Texas Centennial. Petitions are already being circulated by members of the Gray county advisory board, headed by John Sturgeon. Members of the Junior chamber of commerce today voted to assist in getting the signatures, after Gilmore N. Nunn explained the project. At next week's meeting, five new directors of the Jaycees will be nominated. Those whose terms are expiring are Arlie Crites, Dr. A. B. Goldston, Gilmore N. Nunn, A. J. Johnson, and Bob Knox. Miss Lorene McClintock announced details of the Russian chorus she is to bring to the city December 3. She also played a piano solo. John Osborne was program chairman. Committees on the Santa Day project set for December 5 met after the luncheon adjourned.

HAUPTMANN PANEL DRAWN FLEMING N. J., Nov. 27. (AP)—A panel of 150 prospective jurors was drawn today for the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnap-slaying suspect. The panel, as drawn, contained the names of 88 men and 62 women. Among the men were four who make their livelihood at carpentry, the same trade that Hauptmann himself once pursued.

RELIEF GIVEN TAXPAYERS IN NEW PROPOSAL

PENALTY AND INTEREST CAN BE SAVED IF CITIZENS ACT

Penalty and interest will not be collected on taxes which are delinquent on or before December 1, 1934, it was decided by the city commission last night. This relief is not yet mandatory, under the new state law not yet in effect, but many cities are extending relief now to encourage payment of taxes. The salary of J. R. McKinley, inspector of plumbing and other new construction, was fixed at $100 per month. The commission has under discussion a request that the city auditor be made available for wrestling bouts.

Special Train Tickets Must Be Purchased Today

Tonight is the deadline for buying round trip tickets to make a special football train to Amarillo possible. Tickets are on sale at the Harvester Drug, B. C. D. and Santa Fe station. One hundred and fifty must be sold to justify ordering the necessary coaches from Kansas City. Indications were today that about one hundred tickets had been sold. Several persons were giving Pampa an opportunity to buy the tickets. Tickets for the round trip are $1.10 each. The train will leave here at 12:30 Thursday noon if enough tickets are sold.

Peruvian Revolt Easily Crushed

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 27. (AP)—Revolt against the Peruvian government which burst in three cities was crushed today and more than 200 rebels were in jail. The interior department announced prompt action by the government had squelched the outbreaks at their inception in Lima, Huancayo, and Ayacucho Sunday night. A government bulletin said 300 persons gathered near Lima to storm the army's armory and then attack the city. Cavalry troops were called out to crush the movement and several machine gun volleys were fired. The bulletin said there were no casualties. Details of the action at Ayacucho were not available. Documents seized here said the revolt was to overthrow "the dictatorship at present in Peru." The government is headed by President Oscar Benavides, who participated in a successful revolution in 1914. After a cabinet session last night it was announced measures of public order had been adopted, but the country was said to be quiet.

STATE OIL ALLOWABLE CUT; PANHANDLE TO REMAIN SAME

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission today trimmed the state oil allowable to 936,277 barrels daily for December, a margin of 5,923 barrels under the federal quota of 941,200 barrels. New prorations schedules, effective December 1, reduced the East Texas field rate from 3.6 per cent to 3.45 per cent of the hourly production, reducing the daily output from 413,427 barrels as of November 23 to 398,160 barrels on December 1. Allowables prescribed for other districts were: Panhandle, 56,800 barrels, no change; North Texas, 56,500 barrels, no change; West Central Texas 31,000 barrels, no change; East Central Texas 46,552 barrels, increase of 3,180 barrels; West Texas 129,717 barrels, decrease of 1,160 barrels; Gulf coast 161,633 barrels, decrease of 969 barrels; Southwest Texas 36,880 barrels, decrease of 2,887 barrels and government wells fields 19,055 barrels, decrease of 2,581 barrels.

GARAGES BLOWN DOWN AROUND BORGER

Temperature Might Climb Again On Wednesday

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Snow fell today on western Kansas wheatlands misused by rain rains which alleviated drought conditions in other parts of the state. Snow also was general over the Rocky Mountains, Western Oklahoma, and the Texas Panhandle. A new storm was reported howling down upon Colorado from the north. A stiff northwest wind drifted snow in Guymon, Okla., and the mercury dropped below freezing. Freezing temperatures were forecast for other sections of Oklahoma by night. (By The Associated Press) The Panhandle plains were under two inches of snow today for the first time this year and a chill north wind drove the temperature sharply downward. Snow flurries continued to pile up the white blanket around Pampa and Borger. The temperature had fallen to 31 degrees at Borger and the mercury slump was reflected over North Texas. At Borger the wind was so strong it blew down garages and smashed windows. Wichita Falls was lashed by a norther as the temperature tumbled to 27. Overcast skies marked the impending advance of colder weather at Dallas and other points in North Texas. To the south, Austin reported intermittent heavy showers, but it still was warm there. A light sprinkle rain, with overcast skies, reflected the unsettled condition at Port Arthur. It was warm there also. Houston was warm and cloudy, with only a trace of rain so far. West Texas was in line for colder weather in the early part of the week and a 12-mile an hour west wind. The forecast was for colder weather in East Texas, probably with frost in the west and north portions tonight. West Texas was in line for colder weather in the early part of the week and a 12-mile an hour west wind. Temperatures may climb again tomorrow.

Special Buying Of Cattle Limited To Few Ranches

Through a misunderstanding, THE NEWS yesterday stated that more "distress" range cattle would be bought from the general list of stock registered with the county agent for sale. It has developed that the cattle to be bought this week will include only those from a dozen ranches whose managers have obtained special permission from the government. Although the authorization named 750 head of range stock, only about 350 head will be bought, because other disposition has been made of more than half of the cattle since the requests were placed with the government. The county committee will have nothing to do with the special purchases. Additional general purchases may be made, but there was no certainty of it today. WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Representative Jones was informed today by administrative sources that the government cattle buying program in Texas' drought areas will be continued well into December.

Wage Scale Of Relief Workers Given Revision

A few changes were made in the proposed wage scale for Gray county relief workers at a meeting of the county committee last night. The proposed changes will be sent to Austin for review and approval. The rate per hour for common labor and truck driving was not changed, but the rate of pay for women was reduced from 40 cents to 30 cents per hour. The rate of pay for various classifications of work as recommended by the committee, composed of P. E. Townsend, representing labor, O. L. Boyington, representing contractors, and A. H. Doucette, representing the relief commission, was: Plumbers, brick layers, metal workers, steel and iron workers and electricians, $1 per hour; a reduction of 25 cents per hour; roofers, painters and carpenters, 75 cents per hour; a reduction of 25 cents per hour; rent of trucks of more than 1 1/2 tons, $1.50 per hour; trucks up to and including 1 1/2 tons, 75 cents per hour; drivers of trucks over 1 1/2 tons, 50 cents per hour; drivers of trucks up to and including 1 1/2 tons, 40 cents per hour; team drivers, 40 cents per hour; common laborer, 30 cents per hour. In addition, 50 cents per hour is the rate set for other skilled labor, such as tractor operator, roller operator, grader operator, form setter, concrete finisher, and other similar skilled labor commonly used in road construction.

ANOTHER CLUE TURNS UP IN GIRLS' DEATH

MAN CLAIMS 3 GIRLS WERE DAUGHTERS OF HUGHES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Horace Hughes, whose identity was attested in Dunceville, Pa., 48 man found dead there, was located at work here today in a department store. CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 27. (AP)—Police seeking the identity of three little girls found mysteriously dead in Dunceville, Pa., last Saturday studied a cross-continent angle today on the strength of the story of Larry Carney, a Philadelphia man who says he once lived in San Francisco. Today Carney identified a photograph of a man found dead at Dunceville as Horace Hughes, about 37, of San Francisco, a former Salvation Army officer, who had three children whose ages, he said, correspond with those of the mystery girls. "That's him! That's Horace Hughes," exclaimed Carney when he saw the picture. A woman was found dead alongside the man at Dunceville the same day the children were found and police have intensely studied the theory that there is a definite link between the two. Carney said he met Hughes, whom he knew six years ago, on a Philadelphia street on Monday of last week. Hughes told him, said Carney, that he had hitch-hiked to Philadelphia from the Pacific coast with his "intended wife," about 21, and his three daughters by a former marriage. The children, he said, were Geraldine, about 15, Dorothy, about 12, and a third, about 8, whose name Carney does not know. The San Francisco trail was the clue most intensely followed by police who have been baffled for three days by a collapse of scores of "hot" clues. A truck with a California license plates, reported to have stood in a Carlisle garage for a week, proved of no value as a clue for a student investigation. Another theory that a man had been the forehead of one of the children was a "brand" made by some cult was dismissed by Lieut. A. J. Hudock of the state police, who said it probably was a suture taken by a doctor in closing a wound.

AFTER ALL, IT'S BOYS' GAME

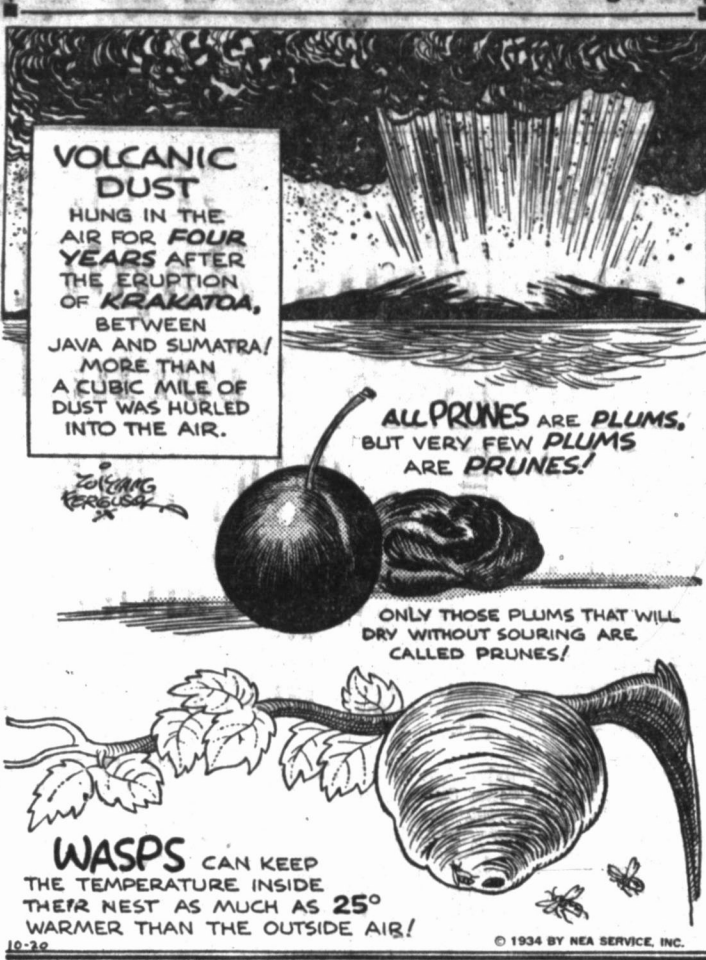

A few years ago there was much big talk about over-emphasis upon high school and college athletics. It was stated often then and it is as true now, that high school games are activities of the students primarily. Today the students must feel that the fans are trying to run the school teams, the coach, the admission prices, and everything else once considered within the jurisdiction of students and teachers.

Every football player is somebody's boy. Often the price of the tickets to see that boy in action is so much that the parents cannot attend games without financial sacrifice. And when "scalping" of tickets becomes as general a practice as it is now, something should be done about it. Reports have come to school authorities and fans alike that persons were offering tickets at $5 each. This is rightly condemned as deplorable and unsportsmanlike. True, the law of supply and demand determines the willingness of some persons to pay a fantastic price for tickets, but school athletics should be free from the practice of scalping.

But an even greater evil, in our opinion, is the growing prevalence of gambling on high school games. It is degrading to a fine sport. What gambling does to horse racing it can do to school athletics. Eventually—if the gambling keeps on growing—there will be a series of scandals which will rock this state.

Both of these evils are within the control of the fans. It is no sign of sportsmanship or of support of a team to scalp tickets and to place big wagers on the outcome of a game in which the result should depend upon the competitive spirit of the boys and the schools, and nothing more.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

KRAKATOA, a small volcanic island of 13 square miles, lay in peaceful slumber for 200 years. In 1883 the volcano became active, and, after several months of small eruptions, reached the grand climax, during which the island disappeared completely. One half of the world heard the explosion.

ing of their own accord. Goodman was defeated seeking the democratic nomination.

McGregor, noted for his parliamentary strategy, is accorded credit for legalization of pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing. As a member of the conference committee on the general appropriation bill in the forty-third regular session he succeeded in having the racing amendment tacked as a rider on the money measure in the closing hours of the session.

McGregor also is given a lion's share of the credit for defeat of a resolution in the forty-second legislature proposing to submit to the people the issuance of $200,000,000 in bonds for road construction purposes and played a leading role in passage of the law legalizing the manufacture and sale of 3.2 beer.

As a tribute to the long service rendered by Goodman and Weinert the house voted to have their portraits hung in a place of honor in the house hall. Goodman also was presented with a watch in a touching ceremony.

McGregor, although only 63 years old and still active in mind and body, has announced he has given up all intentions of ever returning to public service. He expects to spend much of his time at a ranch home he has constructed in the hills a short distance from Austin.

SHARON, Pa. The ordinance also gives George Heiges, the newly-appointed inspector, police powers to abate the nuisances.

Smear 'Em With Blood, Police Chief Advises

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine declared himself today for a policy of "marking and muzzing up" all known criminals who are arrested. He told 200 detectives at the police line-up to spread the word among the force that he wanted criminals to be beaten they would leave the city rather than face arrest.

"I don't want these men coming in here looking as if they had just left a barber chair," the commissioner declared.

His remarks were prompted by the appearance in the line-up of a man arrested on a charge of murder. The suspect was neatly groomed.

The commissioner pointed to the man and indicated what changes should have been made. "That velvet collar," he said, "should be smeared with blood."

"The district attorneys will protect you," Valentine advised the detectives. "Bring these known criminals muzzed up."

Valentine counseled the officers to "draw quick and shoot accurately."

"The racketeers, the thugs, and the gunmen who prey on honest people in this city must get out," he continued. "I want you to drive them out."

A Washington Daybook

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—This may turn out to be a cold winter for the fellows who, at a price, will send you a confidential weekly letter from Washington which will tip you off to the operations of the "Red Menace" in the White House and elsewhere around town.

Shrill, pitiful shrieks already are pouring from some of them as they see the battalions of industry and finance lining up with the New Deal and promising Mr. Roosevelt to help along with the recovery effort.

Dope letters of the Red scare type are aimed chiefly at glibble manufacturers and bankers who are willing to believe the administration is out to sovietize this nation.

As such customers continue to observe the big fellows in their groups getting clubbier with Roosevelt instead of more recalcitrant, some of their gullibility departs and it becomes that much harder to keep them on the subscription lists.

The same harsh factors also seem to indicate lean pickings for super-patriotic organizations which have lately organized and sworn to preserve our liberties and American institutions from the New Deal and hope to inspire you to contribute liberally.

They, like the "inside stuff" boys, may be left holding the bag.

The kind of information service you can get if you want to pay for it is indicated by the recent blast of a "preserve-our-liberties" association organized here by a "confidential dope" artist who is forever finding members of the Communist party in the cabinet and equally conspicuous places.

It concerned discovery of an alleged "hidden corporation" through which the administration was secretly preparing to exert tremendous Bolshevik powers: to wit, the Public Works Emergency Leasing Corporation.

It would have been a much better story if the PWELC, set up to give the PWA the same right as a business corporation in case it needed them, hadn't been fully described in a formal two-page press release several months ago.

Secretary Frances Perkins stepped out of the White House into an ambush of photographers who immediately started popping at her. She asked a newspaperman why this sudden rush of attention and he told her there had been a rumor that Roosevelt was about to fire her. Miss Perkins laughed hard. . . . Which was more than Mrs. Ellen McAduo de Onate, the senator's daughter, did as she and the bridegroom posed for pictures at the station and one enthusiastic young camera man yelled, "Kiss her." She just said, "I beg your pardon!" in her very frostiest voice. . . . Perhaps the most interesting thing about National Cheese Week (Nov. 11-17, in case you didn't get wind of it) was the official revelation that less than 10,000,000 of the 50,000,000 pounds of Swiss cheese this country ate last year came from Switzerland. . . . Emil Hurja, Farley's brigadier, is sporting several new suits and hats he won on the election. "He kept putting up so many articles of clothing to bet on," says Mrs. Hurja, "that I was afraid he would be completely denuded. But he came out all right." . . . Washington's dog license No. 1 was issued to F. D. Roosevelt for Winks, the current White House pup.

The big dipper, says a Cleveland scientist, is breaking up and we won't recognize it in 50,000 years. Better hurry and find a new way to tell the North Star.

As for naval armaments, the Japanese seem to have knocked the "I" out of limitation. They insist on imitation instead.

Those super-patriots who asked Gen. Smedley Butler to become dictator of the United States probably are not impressed by Huey Long's success in Louisiana.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS.

AUSTIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—When the forty-third legislature is ushered out of the political picture it will take with it three men of long legislative experience who have played a part in enacting many of the most important laws in the state's history.

They are Reps. T. H. McGregor of Austin, J. L. Goodman of Franklin, and F. C. Weinert of Seguin. McGregor and Weinert are among the few men in the state to have served in the senate and then gone to the house.

Goodman is the oldest in point of service. He started in the twenty-second legislature. Weinert entered the legislative halls one session later in the twenty-third, while McGregor's first law-making effort was in the thirtieth.

Weinert is the author of the suspended sentence and parole laws, regarded as two of the foremost enactments in the field of criminal procedure and reform. Goodman has been active in revising the civil laws and served during the forty-third as chairman of the house judiciary committee despite his 82 years.

SANDIE LINE WILL OUTWEIGH PAMPA'S 'IN POUNDS BUT NOT IN FIGHT'

WALL WILL BE 6 POUNDS PER MAN HEAVIER

LINES TO CARRY BRUNT OF BOTH DEFENSE AND OFFENSE

There was no hilarity behind the locked gates at Harvester field yesterday afternoon when the Harvesters went through the first of three final practice sessions in preparation for their crucial game with the Amarillo high school Sandies in the Amarillo Thursday afternoon.

Instead, a dogged determination could be felt. Plays were run in deadly earnest. It was wise that coaches called off scrimmage, for there would certainly have been injuries. An imaginary Amarillo line was battered and injured by Mr. Harlow, Mr. Stidger, and Mr. Bufkin were stopped in defensive practice.

Much of the practice session was given to work on the defense that will be used in an effort to stop the terrific drives of Harlow and Bufkin and the spinner plays and end runs of Stidger. The Sandies are not over-confident, though they have the edge on their side.

True, the Sandies have not run up as large scores as have the Harvesters, but they have had much stiffer opposition. The Sandie defensive record is more impressive than that of the Harvesters. Then, too, Amarillo defeated Lubbock 25 to 0 in Lubbock while the Harvesters could only nose out the Westerners 13 to 6 on Pampa turf.

Pampans will enter the game as the underdogs, as they have in the past. They will be making the greatest football team Amarillo has produced in many years. A great line, a versatile backfield, and a tradition will face the wearers of the Green and Gold.

The Harvesters are recognized as one of the best teams in the history of the school. They will be a little lighter than the Sandies, but have shown ability against weight disadvantages in past games.

Both teams have strong backfields, with Amarillo having the power and the Harvesters the most reserve strength. The Pampa team also has a slight edge on speed.

Dope points to the lines to carry the brunt of both offense and defense. Amarillo will have a great weight advantage in the line, averaging six pounds to the man more than the Pampans. The Sandie line will average 172 pounds with the Pampa line averaging 166 pounds.

Both teams boast stellar ends. The Harvesters have Paul Monroe Owens at left end and Mumford right. The Golden Sandstorm has Co-Captain John Peterson at right end and Cochrane at left.

Based on the play during the season, these four youngsters are going to have a lot of work to do with the winning or losing of that ball game Thursday.

How Ends Stack Up. Both teams use lots of end runs and off tackle cutbacks. On the offense it's ends must cut down enemy tacklers. On the defense the ends must be alert and stay on their feet if they are to stop the attacks aimed at their territory.

There is little difference in weight between Pampa's and Amarillo's ends. Peterson weighs 185 pounds, while his foe, Owens, tips the beams at 184. Cochrane weighs 169 pounds compared with Mumford's 165.

The Harvesters boast a great tackle in J. R. Green, a husky veteran of and will be opposite Stark Fitz, 200 pounds. Green plays left tackle playing his first year as a Sandie. Fitz weighs 181 pounds, and has performed admirably to date.

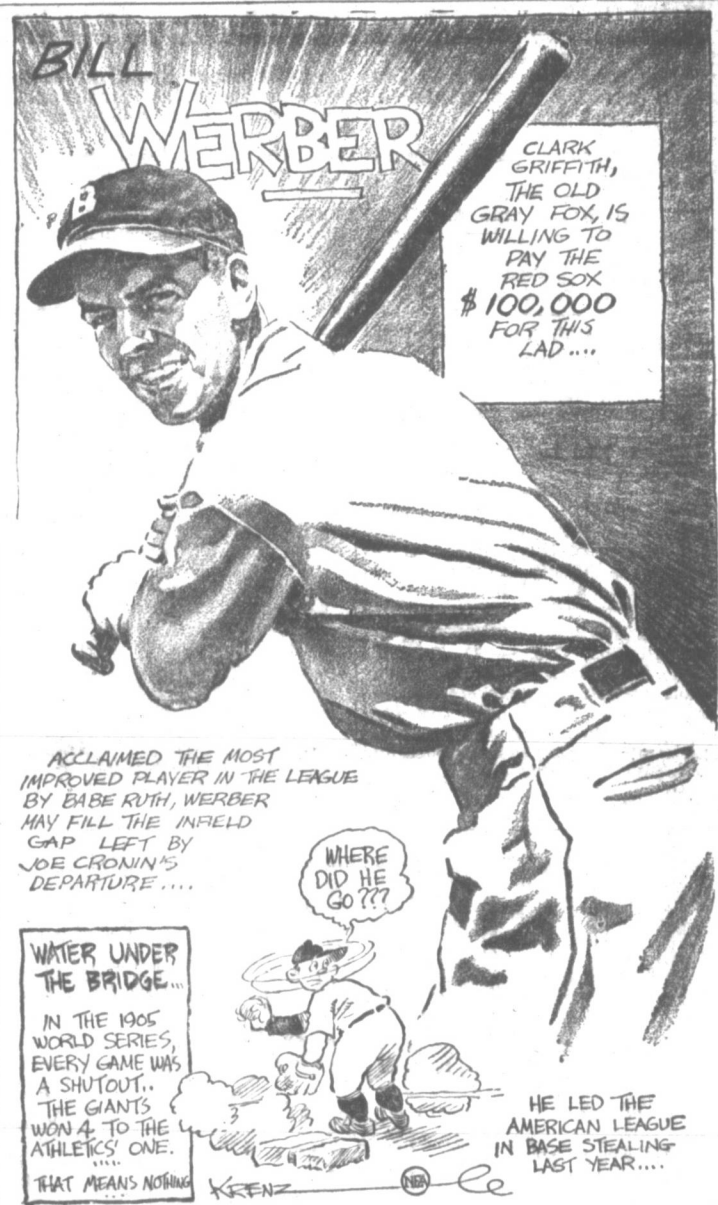

On the other side of the lines, young Ricketts, 16-year-old Sandie find, and Noblitt, another Harvester veteran, will line up against each other. Ricketts weighs 190 pounds, while Noblitt scales 165.

Stellar Guards. Both teams have been fortunate at the guard position this season. The success of wide plays often has depended on the guards, who pull

TALLEY NAMED U. S. CHAMPION OF BOY SCOUTS

Will Receive Loving Cup As Nation's Best Golfer

Robert "Buck" Talley, 16-year-old Pampa high school boy, has been named senior Boy Scout golf champion of the United States and will receive a large loving cup from Boys Life, a magazine which sponsored a contest among Scouts of America. Notification of Talley's achievement was received yesterday afternoon by G. A. Clarke at Boy Scout headquarters here.

Any Boy Scout in America between the ages of 15 and 18 years was eligible to compete in the contest. Every boy was to play his home course with two men as judges. The local sensation played the Country Club course here with F. D. Bredlowe and Dale Lott and tied the course record of 66 strokes, then held by Lott.

He not only competed against Boy Scouts, but also against readers of the magazine, Boys Life, which is published by the Boy Scouts of America, and also the originator of the Father and Son association. Three prominent New York men acted as judges.

Young Talley is a member of Troop 80, First Methodist church. He first joined the troop in April, 1930, at the age of 12 years. In November, 1933, he was advanced to the rank of Eagle Scout, one of the highest honors in the Boy Scout world. His record card shows that he has passed 28 merit badge examinations.

The boy golf champion is tall, slender, quiet and a young gentleman. He started swinging a club at an early age when he became a caddy at the Country Club. He showed a natural ability and players soon became interested in him. He learned most of his golf by watching the players for whom he caddied.

"Buck, as he is known throughout the Panhandle, is the son of Sheriff-elect and Mrs. Earl Talley, pioneer Pampa residents.

Huey Long King Of Ozarks? Heck No! Says Short

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 27 (AP)—The idea that Huey Long, Louisiana King, should elect himself up as King of the Ozarks today brought derision and indignation from a group of Missouri Ozarkians.

"We won't let him trespass on sacred territory," was the pronouncement of Dewey Short of Gatlena, who proved the firmness of his footing in these parts when he got himself elected to congress on the republican ticket.

"This country is more Short than Long," said the congressman-elect, unable to resist a mild pun, "and Huey can never supplant Dewey," he continued, carried away with the possibilities of the thing.

ALABAMA HAS INSIDE TRACK ON ROSE BOWL

ARMY AND NAVY WILL PLAY CLASSIC ON SATURDAY

BY HERBERT W. PARKER. Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Football fires a double-barreled volley this week in parting salute to a brilliant campaign.

Except in the mid-west and Far West where last week's conclusive cannonading established Minnesota and Stanford in the throne rooms, sectional encounters on Thursday—Thanksgiving day—and Saturday.

Although it carries no championship rating, sections of otherwise the prime fixture of the week will be the colorful service classic between Army and Navy at Philadelphia on Saturday. Always one of the greatest of all football box office draws, the game this year has assumed extraordinary interest, mainly because of the possibility of a Navy triumph for the first time since 1921.

Army's 12-6 defeat by Notre Dame on Saturday served as further indication that the Cadets will have to play their best game if the year if they hope to stop Buzz Borries and his Navy mates, victors over the Irish, 10-6, and beaten this season only by mighty Pittsburgh.

Stanford's Indians, winning the Pacific Coast conference crown by outpunching California's Golden Bears, 9-7, in a rough, brilliantly-fought game, apparently are certain to be chosen as far western representatives in the annual Rose Bowl game at Pasadena New Year's day.

Although Alabama's Crimson Tide, hoping to wind up an undefeated campaign by defeating Vanderbilt's expense Thanksgiving day, is known to have the inside track for the job of playing the Far West's representative at Pasadena, four eastern arrays—Pitt, Colgate, Columbia, and Temple—also are in the running.

Pitt, beaten only by the undefeated and untied Big Ten champion, Minnesota, winds up a successful campaign against Carnegie Tech on Thursday, while Colgate, trimmed only by Ohio State, closes against Brown and prep Warner's Golden Owls, undefeated but tied by Indiana, finish against Bucknell the same day.

Columbia's Lions, who upset Stanford in the last Rose Bowl game, dropped an early season decision to Navy but otherwise swept the boards in a campaign climaxed by a surprising 12-0 conquest of the powerful Syracuse outfit last Saturday.

Although Alabama can at least share in the title by whipping Vanderbilt on Thursday, the Southwestern championship situation will not be entirely clarified until after Saturday's clash between Tulane and Louisiana State, both undefeated and united within the conference. Should Louisiana State win, the issue would be further delayed until the Texas-Tennessee tussle with Tennessee December 8.

Despite their stunning 7-2 setback by Texas Christian, Jimmy Kittle's Rice Owls still can win clear title to the Southwest crown by stopping Baylor on Saturday. That may not be in view of Baylor's 13-6 triumph over Southern Methodist. The Rocky Mountain title will go to Utah State if the Aggies whip Utah on Thursday and Washington and Lee can take over the Southern conference title by beating South Carolina the same day.

Nebraska and Kansas State, in an actual tie now, will decide the Big Six championship on Thanksgiving day.

B. P. W. CLUB WELCOMES GUESTS AT THANKSGIVING FROLIC

GAY COLOR OF FALL USED ON DINNER TABLES

MUSIC, STUNTS MAKE AN ENTERTAINING PROGRAM

Only the gayer symbols of autumn were used in decorating the dining room of the B. P. W. club for the Thanksgiving dinner last evening. This was the annual guest day dinner of the club.

Mmes. Frances Sturgeon, Alex Schneider, and L. O. Wirsching, members of the public relations committee, were hostesses.

Tables were arranged in T shape, with a center marking of fall leaves. Small pumpkins were placed at intervals, surrounded with chrysanthemums and marigolds. There was a spray of flowers at each plate, and places were marked with hand-made pumpkin folders.

Guests were introduced by the members, and welcomed by Mrs. Sturgeon, who acted as toastmaster. The program included two violin solos, Indian Lament, Dvorak; and Evening Dreams, a Swiss melody, by Roy Walrabenstein with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Frank Perry; readings, Sunlight on Trees, and Lullaby, by Mrs. T. F. Morton with Miss Lorene McClintock as accompanist, and two piano solos by Miss McClintock, Shoen Rosemarin, Kriesler, and Tam o'Shanter, Warren.

A clever "Thanksgiving goose" contest, and the reading of humorous fortunes found at each plate, closed the program.

'DEAR SANTA'—GIRLS AND BOYS START EARLY CORRESPONDENCE IN RE. CHRISTMAS STOCKINGS

Wise children are already writing their letters to Santa Claus, reminding him of their wants this Christmas. This year, as usual, The Daily News invites girls and boys to send their letters in care of this paper, where they will be published before they are forwarded to Santa at his North Pole home.

Letters already received follow:
Dear St. Nicholas: I am but a small boy 5 years old; and as I will start to school next year I think it would be a wise idea to learn my A. B. C.'s so please bring me for my Christmas presents a large set of blocks with the alphabet on them, a gun, a ship, toy soldiers, a zeppelin, and Popeye the sailor man. Please do not forget the poor. Your friend, James Robinson.

Dear Santa Claus: I know you have to work hard getting all the different toys to the rich boys and girls but please remember that there are just as many poor boys and girls and they like Christmas presents too. So please don't forget the poor children this year. You may think I'm asking for a lot, but Santa Claus, I want a bicycle this year, and just anything else you want to give me. Your friend, Lynn Robinson.

Dear Old Santa Claus: Please bring me a Buck Rogers suit, a Buck Rogers watch, a filling station, some candy, nuts, apples, oranges, and other good things to eat. I go to the B. M. Baker school and am 7 years old. Your little friend, Kenneth Dwight.

Dear Santa: I am a little girl 9 years old. I go to Baker school and am in the third grade. I sure do like my teacher, Mrs. Gordon. I want a big doll with pink dress and cap, nuts, candy, and fruits. Don't forget other little children. Many thanks to dear old Santa Claus. Shirley McDaniel

CHICAGO FAIR WAS FIRST TO PAY EXPENSES

TOTAL OF $61,158,031 WAS SPENT BY 39 MILLION PEOPLE

In connection with interest in the proposed Texas Centennial, the following is the first of a daily series of six stories concerning other great expositions of the past.

Today's story deals with the recently closed highly successful Century of Progress exposition in Chicago.

In order others to appear will cover the Philadelphia Sesqui-centennial exposition of 1926; the Panama Pacific exposition of 1915 in San Francisco; the 1906 Lewis and Clark Centennial at Portland, Ore.; the St. Louis world's fair of 1904, and the Pan-American exposition in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1901.

These stories have been written especially for Texas Associated Press newspapers by Associated Press staff men in the various cities.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Century of Progress international exposition was the first world's fair in history to meet its obligations 100 per cent, closing recently with its current debts all met and its bonds paid in full.

The $43,000,000 exposition, which in its ten and a half month's operation attracted a total of 39,052,236 visitors, is unique, too, in that it was put over without cost to the taxpayers, nor did it have municipal, state or federal aid.

The $150,000 appropriated by the state of Illinois, and the $1,240,000 invested by the federal government were for their own participation.

The fair was incorporated, not for profit, in 1929 and the campaign for finances began with a drive for founder's memberships which brought in $650,000. Next a $10,000,000 gold bond issue, bearing 6 per cent interest, was put on sale bringing in $9,740,000.

Included in the bond sale and founder's membership funds, a total of $10,390,000 were 300 out-right $1,000 gifts by civic minded citizens.

The gold notes were secured by a 40 per cent deposit of gate receipts in case of the trustee, and the notes were guaranteed by a $12,000,000 endorsement by prominent Chicagoans.

More than 50 per cent of these notes were sold to the guarantors themselves during the summer of 1929 and in spite of the depression that followed the subscriptions were practically all fulfilled and paid during 1930 and '31.

Other expositions have greatly depended upon subsidies. The Columbian exposition in 1893 in Chicago received $5,000,000 from the city of Chicago and $2,448,000 from the federal government. In all the Columbian exposition received more than $13,000,000 in subsidies, sale of capital stock and souvenir coins, and was able to pay off a 10 per cent liquidating dividend to the stock holders and the city of Chicago, amounting to $1,048,000.

The Louisiana Purchase exposition, held in St. Louis in 1904, received from sale of capital stock, appropriations from the city of St. Louis and the federal government, and souvenir coins, approximately $15,000,000, and not one cent was paid back. It did, however, donate $476,565 to the construction of the Jefferson memorial building, erected after the fair.

The Panama Pacific exposition, held at San Francisco in 1915, received from public subscriptions, appropriations from the state of California and the city and county of San Francisco nearly $16,000,000, and paid back to subscribers 8 per cent, or $443,000, and to the state, $558,000.

After starting its preliminary financing officials of a Century of Progress began selling exhibit and concession space. From the sale of exhibit space in 1933 the fair received $2,987,000, and from concessions, $785,000. Revenue from concessions in 1933 brought in $2,967,000.

For construction alone the exposition spent $11,298,000 and in addition, the fair spent $460,000 in constructing and installing special scientific exhibits.

It is estimated that foreign governments and large private corporations spent in 1933 a total of $2,967,000 for individual buildings and that concessionaires spent $5,202,000 for their buildings, and both groups met a cost of $13,000,000 in installing exhibits, making a grand total of $32,627,000 for construction and installations.

For renovations and improvements the exposition spent $5,000,000 before the 1934 fair opened, and new and old exhibitors and concessionaires added $6,000,000, bringing the 1934 session up to a $43,000,000 show.

For a split of 13 per cent of the net profits—if any—the Chicago South Park board allowed the fair the use of 474 acres, a large portion of which was land made by filling in the coastline of Lake Michigan. On this the exposition and private groups erected buildings housing 82 miles of things to see.

M. N. Twister, controller, has made public a statement showing the fair to be in a condition almost guaranteeing payment of notes in full. At the first post-fair payment, Nov. 1, on principal, plus interest, left an unpaid balance of $587,500.

The fair has cash to $300,000 posted as surety with the South

Park board. A total of $900,000 has been set aside for the expense of demolition and demolition, experts figure, should bring in at least $100,000.

The controller's report further showed the fair with assets today of $1,977,693.61 and liabilities of $1,633,663.76, or $344,029 in favor of the exposition.

The report said that in 1933 visitors spent $36,683,166.11 while in 1934 the money spent amounted to $24,474,887.89. The two years' total is $61,158,031. These figures include ticket sales and money spent inside the grounds. The average individual expenditure was $1.58.

Individual state appropriations for participation averaged from $80,000 to $90,000, and there were 20 states taking part. The states installed their exhibits in space rented from the fair in the Hall of States.

Lott and Stoeften Depart.

While the United States Lawn Tennis association holds no bitterness towards George M. Lott, Jr. and Lester R. Stoeften for turning professional, it is a whispered fact that the American tennis solons breathed a sigh of relief, for the professional ventures of the Davis cup doubles players relieves the association of its "problem children."

The U. S. L. T. A., represented by President Walter Merrill Hall was a party to the rule adopted last summer by the International Tennis federation, limiting players to receiving eight weeks of traveling and living expenses a year.

Hall took the federation and its new rule at its word and returned to the United States with the definite intention of enforcing it to the letter. Sooner or later, certainly during the next winter season thru the south and southwest, the officials were destined to come to grips with Lott and Stoeften, who were in great demand by promoters of invitation tournaments. Their presence turned the turnstiles faster and that meant more money for the tournament sponsors.

So, by turning professional, that anticipated clash with the veterans Lott and the youthful Stoeften has been averted, leaving the association in somewhat of a hole as regards to building a new team for the 1935 Davis cup warfare.

The Eight Weeks' Rule.

There is an undercurrent of criticism, meanwhile, aimed at the British Lawn Tennis federation for its apparent violation of the spirit of the eight-weeks' rule.

Britain, like the 40 other member nations of the international federation, voted for the rule, which allows circumvention of it in the nature of a clause permitting a player to exceed the eight weeks' limit provided such an extension is approved by the governing body of the country he represents.

The particular case, being discussed privately by tennis officials of this and other nations, concerns Frederick John Perry of England. One official said:

"England isn't exactly violating the rule, but still I'm sure wasn't the intent of the federation to permit a player to live on tennis 365 days of the year the way Perry is apparently doing. That's overdoing it."

The case of Perry and the Britons' treatment of the rule will probably be taken up at the next meeting of the federation. But it will only be discussed informally among the delegates and unless Perry decides to join Lott, Stoeften, Tilden, and Vines

Youngsters Get Chance.
Getting back to Lott and Stoeften and the movie career of Frank X. Shields, No. 1 ranking singles player, the U. S. L. T. A. doesn't regard any of these developments as impairing our chances in next year's Davis cup competition.

As a matter of fact President Hall thinks America, with Wilmer Allison and Sidney B. Wood Jr. in the singles roles and Donald Budge and Gene Mako for the doubles, stands as good a chance of recapturing the trophy as it did this time a year ago. In addition to them he has John Van Ryn, Philadelphia doubles veteran, and Frankie Parker, schoolboy singles sensation, to call on.

In the case of Allison and Van Ryn, they are the only Davis cup players who have won points for America in the challenge rounds since we lost the cup to France in 1927. The others—Tilden, Vines, Lott, and Stoeften—have turned professional.

King Boris Also Likes To Wheel Baby's Carriage

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 27 (AP)—King Boris who likes nothing better than to pilot a locomotive around the curves of Bulgarian mountains, starled the populace today by wheeling a baby carriage through the streets of the capital.

In the carriage proudly rode his 2-year-old daughter, Princess Marie Louise. The popular sovereign made his way through the crowded streets skillfully, stopping only occasionally to bend over the carriage and chuck the little princess under the chin.

The delighted onlookers smiled broadly and made lively comments on the excellent paternal quality of their king.

Boris is regarded as the only king in the world who pushes a baby carriage.

BUDGET APPROVED

PARIS, Nov. 27. (AP) — The French chamber of deputies today completed its approval of a defense budget for next year totalling approximately $732,073,000. It quickly agreed to navy and aviation budgets as presented by the respective ministries and heard the government advocate plans for increased aviation developments as a mainstay of the French military machine.

WACO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Tilman J. Archer of Franklin, whose name L. Van Perkins allegedly forged on an endorsement of four veteran's administration checks, denied in federal district court today that he authorized Perkins to endorse his name to the checks.

NOTABLE NOTINGS OF P. H. S. By the Nimble Nil-Wits

Snooper heard that Lois Hill is suspicious of all little dogs. "Give three reasons for saying the earth is round," confronted Bill Parks in an examination paper. "My teachers say it's round, the book says it's round and a man told me it was round," wrote Bill. When Harold Gregory nearly went to sleep in class the other day Mr. Gordon said: That's certainly hard. Harold: What, going to sleep in class? Mr. Gordon: No, nearly getting to sleep and then being awakened. Miss Cariker: Mickey, make a sentence using a predicate nominative after an infinitive. Mickey: I think they are the same. Miss Cariker: That's wrong because teacher and poison don't mean the same thing. Mickey: I think they are the same. Snoper hears Albert Austin has a kind heart. He helps all the girls with the lessons they are too tired to get. Barbara Kilgort thinks a ten pound weight weighs a ton when someone drops it on your big toe. Snoper hears that two girls in PHS are so patriotic that they stood up in bed at 12 o'clock when one of them decided to sing "Dear Old Pampa High School."

FORMER DIVINITY STUDENT SLAYS PRIEST AND YOUNG BRIDE

CLAIM PRIEST ASKED WOMAN TO HIS ROOM

HUSBAND SEEN PEERING THRU KEYHOLE AT PAIR

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Joseph Lieb Steinmetz, accused of the slaying of his 17-year-old bride, Ruth Armstrong Steinmetz, and the Rev. Joseph J. Leonard, Catholic priest, collapsed at police headquarters today and could not be placed in the police lineup.

Instead of placing him under the glare of brilliant lights to be questioned before a group of detectives, police hurried Steinmetz through the formalities of photographing and fingerprinting.

Then they took him to homicide court, where Magistrate Guy Van Arman held him without bail for a hearing next Monday.

Detective Robert Rehman, who signed the short affidavit charging suspicion of homicide, said the 22-year-old prisoner had aged 10 years overnight. Steinmetz's clothes were wrinkled and he appeared on the verge of a complete breakdown when he was arraigned.

So far as could be learned, none of Steinmetz's relatives who live in Brooklyn, was present during the arraignment. He seemed most concerned about his mother learning of his plight. She was reported ill in bed at her Brooklyn home.

The prisoner spent the night in a cell in police headquarters. He was taken to the lineup room by two detectives and walked unsteadily to the rear of the platform, where prisoners await their turn for appearance on the brilliantly lighted platform.

Assisted to a chair, he buried his face in the upturned collar of his overcoat. A moment later he toppled from the chair.

Saul Price, assistant district attorney who took charge of the case, said Steinmetz admitted that he shot the other after all three had been drinking and "the priest asked my wife down to his room to hear a confession."

He fired several shots, Price says the prisoner told him.

"Then my mind was all in a whirl," he concluded. "I remembered nothing of it."

Investigation disclosed that Steinmetz, a foreign-born Jew, had renounced his family's faith to study for the Presbyterian ministry in Los Angeles. There he met Mary Tyles, a Catholic.

The girl's marriage license showed that they had been married at Tia Juana, Lower California, Nov. 10. They registered at the (Knights of Columbus) hotel last Tuesday. It was there that their bus trip from the west terminated.

Huey Longs Enjoy 21-Year-Late Honeymoon

Their honeymoon is 21 years late, but Senator and Mrs. Huey Long are enjoying it to the full at Hot Springs, Ark., where they are shown, at right, with Mayor and Mrs. Leo P. McLaughlin, left. Despite Huey's announcement that the honeymoon would be a quiet affair, he and Mrs. Long became the centre of attention when they arrived at the Arkansas spa.

Hotel Sunday night as John J. Leonard of Trenton, N. J., and Steinmetz told his questioners that he met the clergyman shortly afterward. The three met again yesterday morning and, the assistant district attorney said, drank heavily.

Hotel employees told police that a libby saw Steinmetz peering thru the keyhole of the door to Father Leonard's room just before the shooting.

Steinmetz went to the west coast in 1930 and studied two years at the Bible Institute in Los Angeles, police said. Forced to forego a career in the ministry, he had worked at other jobs since then.

The Catholic diocese of Trenton issued a statement saying that Father Leonard had "suffered from mental depression since a severe attack of influenza in 1932. He had been transferred from Bordentown to Lakewood, where it was thought his health would be better, and then to Springlake and Lawrenceville. At the time of his death he was chaplain of the Morris Hall home for the aged and pastor of St. Joseph's church in nearby Pennington. He was born in Danbury, Conn."

When his mind was all in a whirl, he concluded. "I remembered nothing of it."

Alive? Or Dead in Island Mystery?

First reports that the victims of hunger and thirst found dead on a barren Galapagos island were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wittmer, self-exiled Germans, were discounted by Americans who had visited them only a few days before the ghastly discovery, adding to the mystery of the identity of the luckless couple who perished. Above are shown Mr. and Mrs. Wittmer and their two children, as they appeared at their home on Charles Island last February.

Marian Gordon by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Casad is trying desperately to save her husband from the toils of McSwain, the crooked contractor for whom Lon works. Max Hamlin has the evidence necessary to control McSwain; when Marian meets Hamlin to talk with him Lon ruins her chances by his jealousy. Yet he has spent the evening with Silver Hondon, McSwain's daughter. Marian says Lon has misrepresented things to her.

Chapter 44
BAD SMASH

Lon looked at her and nodded. "I see what you mean, but I didn't knowingly misrepresent anything. When I reached the house, Silver met me and told me McSwain was in San Francisco and she was to drive me over. I preferred using my own car."

"She wanted to go by the way of the peninsula and I had no legitimate reason for refusing, so I took that route. We had dinner with McSwain. At the ferry building, we had to wait for a boat and I telephoned the house. May told me you were in town at the Steeles, that you'd left in a hurry. I called there, received no answer, so drove by and stopped in. Is that clear?"

"Perfectly," Marian answered, "and I believe every word of it." "Then suppose you give us honest explanation."

"All right. I received word that Hamlin was in town. He had some information I had to have. I went to Anne's apartment, telephoned him and asked him to come over. He had been there only a few moments when you arrived."

"Is that all?" asked Lon. "Can't you tell me what the information you wanted was about?"

Marian hesitated. "Lon, I want to, dreadfully, but I can't until you trust me fully."

"I trust you, but I don't trust that Hamlin fellow; he's got a bad reputation."

watch me. When Waki came back to the house from the depot without me tonight, the boy must have investigated and it dawned on him that Waki was my medium for getting news to and from the people with whom I've been in communication. He reported back to McSwain, and McSwain ordered him to wreck their car."

"How do you know it was McSwain's Kanaka boy who did it?" "I don't know, Lon." She turned to him as she donned coat and hat. "But I'd be willing to bet everything I own that if the police went to McSwain's garage right now they'd find a light truck with smashed fenders."

"That's a pretty serious charge, Ian," he insisted, reaching for his coat and hat.

"We're in a pretty serious mess, both of us, Lon," she answered, "and now that Silver has seen me with Hamlin, McSwain is going to strike at me through you. Lon, won't you leave him now while there's time?"

Lon came close, took her in his arms, smoothed the red wings of hair jutting out onto her cheeks back under her hat. "Poor little fire-brand," he said, sadly.

"Lon," she whispered, "won't you trust me? Won't you believe that I know what I'm talking about and get away from McSwain before it's too late?"

"Tan," he answered, "won't you trust me? Won't you believe that I know what I'm doing?"

Marian gave a great shuddering sigh, rested her head for a moment on his shoulder, then squared away. "Come on," she said, and they locked the house, took Hero with them, and went to the garage.

On the drive in Marian was silent. She longed to tell Lon everything, and yet her telling might be the means of taking from him his only chance to free himself of McSwain. A chance word dropped to Silver, or one of McSwain's men at the building, would destroy everything. She felt, too, that she should warn Hamlin, the luckless man who referred to her as being dead. Its loss meant as much as a death to him. I wonder how many lawn clippings, window washings, and hours of labor went into buying that old wreck? He loved it like a person."

"Shame," agreed Lon, "if it didn't mean leaving you without available cash, I'd use the money that came in from the prune crop to replace it."

"I don't need any money," Marian remonstrated, "and surely he deserves it. He's been so faithful!"

At the police station they found Waki looking very oriental, his head swathed in bandages which completely hid the "mountain with out." The arm that "made pain" was a sling, and various plaster showed where cuts and abrasions had been suffered.

It was plain to Marian however, that Waki's physical injuries were nothing compared to his grief over the loss of the car. Lon's offer to replace the car brought no response, and not until he thought of trying to salvage some of the old car, did the little man brighten.

"Sink maybe find him mota, very fine mota," he suggested hopefully.

"I'm sure we can find the motor, we'll assemble all the parts that can be used and build a new car around these," Lon promised. Waki, pacified, departed for home in a police car.

"I doubt if you can find enough to start anything," said the officer who had brought May and Waki in from the wreck. "I talked to the farmer who saw the crash and telephoned in to us. He said it was the most deliberate thing he'd ever seen."

"Said Waki was driving a little to the middle of the road as he always does, we know him around here, when from behind him came this truck driving like mad. He gave Waki the horn and Waki began moving over to his side of the road. Had his wheels turned that way and was about on the edge when the truck driver shot into him and sent him flying into the ditch."

"The crash sent the truck over to the other side but the driver straightened her out. He had to stop of course, but he didn't stop long. One fender had crumpled so it rubbed the wheel. He got out and didn't look towards the car in the ditch, had some tools handy, straightened the fender, turned off his lights and went sailing down the highway.

"The farmer didn't get his number because he was more interested in finding out if the people in the other car were killed, but believe me we're looking for that truck."

"Would you like to find it?" inquired Marian, cheeks flushed, eyes bright with anger. "Then take a run over to McSwain's, the Hondon place I mean, and look for a Kanaka boy driver."

"Hondons, eh, and a Kanaka boy? Okay! He was on his feet. I only wish it had been that Hondon girl; she ran over my kid's dog the other day. Looked back to see the poor little fellow in the road and drove on."

Marian noticed the officer go to a telephone booth. She waited until he had left, then went into the booth and called the Oakmere Hotel.

GOP LIKELY TO CONTEST SEAT OF RUSH HOLT

W. Virginia Senator Is Now Only 29 Years Old

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—West Virginia's 29-year-old senator-elect, Rush D. Holt, faces a probable challenge of the constitutionality of his election, whether or not he waits until he reaches the constitutional age of 30 before taking his seat.

Searching the records of old election contests, senate republicans have found two precedents which they contend apply to the West Virginian. In both cases the senate declared the elections void.

On the other hand, the republicans say the case of Henry Clay, who took his seat when he was 29, does not set a precedent because the question of his age never was raised nor passed upon by the senate. In fact, they say, his violation of the constitution was not realized until later.

The two cases which republicans are studying involve the famed Albert Gallatin, who was elected from Pennsylvania, and James Shields from Illinois.

Both were turned out of the senate, and their elections voided, because they had not been citizens of the United States for nine years. The citizenship qualification is part of the same sentence of the constitution which requires senators to be 30 years old.

Gallatin had lived in the country for 13 years and served in the Revolutionary war, but the senate turned him down because he had not become a citizen. Shields applied for naturalization in 1840 but the senate voted him out in 1849, almost nine years later.

Senate democrats will contend that while the constitution specifically requires a senator to be 30 years old, it does not require him to be that old when he runs for election, but only when he takes his seat.

Lon stayed out late again, Tuesday.

PUPILS WITH TICKETS TO RUSSIAN CHORUS' CONCERT TO BE ALLOWED TO ATTEND

High school students and pupils who show tickets to the matinee of the famous Russian chorus will be allowed by their teachers to attend the 3 p. m. performance on Monday, December 3, it was announced today.

Students who do not display the tickets will remain at their school duties. Announcement of the arrangement, which was authorized by Supt. R. E. Fisher, was made in various schools today by Miss Lorene McClintock, local piano instructor who is sponsoring the matinee and evening concerts of the Russian chorus here.

School buses will be held if necessary until the matinee concert closes to take pupils on their routes home. Supt. Fisher commended Miss McClintock for her enterprise in bringing the chorus, which he believes to be one of the best in the world of the kind. He pointed out that for sheer harmony, volume control, and musicianship, the Russian choir cannot be excelled. Such programs, he believes, will stimulate interest in local music and good music.

Matinee prices for grade school children will be 10 cents, for high school students 25 cents, and for adults 55 cents. Evening prices for the concert starting at 8:15 p. m. will be 25 cents for children, 55 cents for adults, and 75 cents for the reserved section. Reservations may be made at Fathree Drug No. 4, Pampa Drug No. 1, and City Drug store.

The noted chorus, which has never been to Pampa, is directed by Mme. Margarita Agreva Slaviansky. It will include Gypsy dancing and brilliant solos as well as both classical and the lighter numbers and Russian folk songs, many sung in English.

ously that all marriages of army men, or police, irrespective of their rank, have been postponed. Christmas is a popular wedding time for military men in Germany.

Heinrich Himmler, commander of the S. S., in addressing a big demonstration at Coblenz during the week-end was said to have alluded to the existing bad feeling between his group and the army. Baron Werner von Fritsch, chief of the Reichswehr, in a memorandum to Hitler, said plainly in discussing Nazi suppressive methods that unless a more liberal spirit prevailed the government would face opposition from all sides in case of war. He told Hitler something must be done about the bad blood between the S. S. and the Reichswehr.

The emergency situation was not interpreted as a challenge to France because of the approaching Saar plebiscite and the expansion of France's military programs.

One suggestion was that the Reichswehr is being kept in readiness to prevent impulsive storm troopers from crossing into the Saar at the time of the plebiscite.

years ago in Montana after escaping from prison.

Good escaped twice from the penitentiary but was recaptured. In 1932 he was granted a furlough by Governor Ross S. Sterling.

Good's pardon is effective January 20, 1935.

The governor's proclamation said Good had served with flat time and one-time commutation something over 17 years.

"The district judge and the district attorneys and the jurors who tried the case now recommend a pardon," it stated, "and the private prosecutor have withdrawn their protests against a pardon and say they will approve whatever action is taken for a pardon of the said Mill Good."

"Various county officials and prominent people of West Texas do not know the face of the case nor recommended pardon for the defendant. The defendant has a young and growing family of daughters who need the support of the defendant."

"The state board of pardons and paroles had recommended that Good be pardoned for the rest of his term 'conditioned on good behavior.' All members of the board concurred in the recommendation.

The report said Good had been recommended for clemency by the Rev. Father Hugh Finnegan, penitentiary chaplain, Warden W. W. Wald, Joseph Warden, member of the prison board and others.

"The Hon. Dayton Moses, attorney continued, 'who protested this case while he does not now recommend that this man be given clemency, states that since Good has been prisoner for more than ten years if the pardoning power feels there should be exercise of clemency he would not complain at such action.'

"Mill Good when first taking to the penitentiary in 1925 was guilty of an escape and of mugging a guard but was recaptured and returned to the penitentiary and in 1927 made another escape and was recaptured, and since that time has gone to work rehabilitated himself and when granted a furlough by Governor Sterling in December 1932, availed himself of it and returned before his time was up."

"He is at the present time a state approved trusty with work in connection with the mail at Huntsville, and in the opinion of every one who comes in contact with him is a reformed man and more than likely will make a good citizen if given clemency. Good is an excellent cattle hand roper."

The report stated further that "responsible men on the Texas Ranger force" had informed the board of pardons that Good fell under the influence of Ross, one of the most desperate killers in the southwest, went astray and was implicated in the killing of W. D. Allison and H. L. Roberson who were both shot by Ross while Good was operating with him.

"After these crimes were committed, Good was arrested, and Rangers in charge of the investigation state that Good asked them for protection which they told him they would give him, and thereafter gave the Rangers information of value in regard to 'Tom Ross' the report said. 'Tom Ross after escaping from the penitentiary killed two men in the northwest, after which he committed suicide which goes to show the desperate nature of this man.'

"Believing that this man has straightened himself up and there is before him the future every incentive to do right, to live decently, and make a good citizen, it is now recommended that he be granted a parole for the rest of his term conditioned upon his good and lawful behavior and his going to the aid and assistance of his wife and their daughters for the rest of his term, and this parole is therefore so recommended."

Post's Flight Again Delayed

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Nov. 27. (AP)—Hazy weather kept Wiley Post and his renowned plane, the Winnie Mae, on the ground today, delaying for at least a day his stratosphere record attempt. After scanning overcast skies, Post said he would make no attempt to takeoff today.

The Winnie Mae stripped of even a compass and all other instruments not absolutely necessary, Post said he would take no chances on blind flying with only a 519-hour gasoline supply.

Post waited at the airport, ready to go aloft the minute the weather appeared favorable but as the morning waned and the sun failed to lift the clouds, he said: "It's all off today."

Adverse weather caused him to transfer his attempt here from Chicago, where he waited for some time after months of preparations.

Capital Chatter

By CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Hundreds of persons continue to swarm into Austin in search of employment with the administration of Governor-Elect James V. Allred despite Allred's announcement he has no jobs to hand out to anyone.

Allred was sufficiently adroit during the primary campaigns to take a leaf from the book of experience of some of his predecessors. Instead of bearing down on the possibility of there being thousands of jobs available for his supporters Allred stressed the opposite and boldly asserted that chances were slim for an appreciable number of his adherents to obtain positions with the state.

In fact he made a neat play on this point and used it as the basis of a stirring appeal for support of the electorate on merit only. Nevertheless his office is always crowded with visitors, most of them with a lean and hungry gleam in their eyes as they observe the growing ramifications of state government operations and the hundreds of state employes scurrying about the capitol.

The only departments in which a clean sweep was made when Governor Miriam A. Ferguson came into power two years ago were the state rangers and the secretary of state's office. Both of them do not employ more than 100 persons and most of the positions could not be classified as good political jobs but they may be swept clean again when Allred takes over.

Monthly Pains Relieved

Women who take CARDUI have found that severe monthly pains have been relieved, and that by continued use of it for a reasonable length of time their strength has been renewed and their general health improved.

"I am glad to speak a few words for Cardui, the medicine I have taken for a year, run-down condition, for bad pains in my side, and back and for irregular periods," writes Mrs. Roy Chandler, of Cassata, Ala. "Cardui straightened me out and I felt 100 per cent better. It certainly helped me."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

TIRED OUT?...

get a Lift with a Camel!

● Camel smokers notice a positive energy-refreshing effect from smoking Camels when they are tired or "out of sorts." Above is Ray Baker, star newspaper man of the International News Service. He says: "The man on the INS desk has a high-pressure job. A big story breaks and I am on the desk for ten hours...twelve hours...working at top speed! Whenever I feel 'all in' Camels bring back my 'pep.' For over ten years I've preferred Camels—I can smoke them continually without jangled nerves." Science confirms the experience of smokers regarding Camel's "energizing effect." Camel's matchless blend of costlier tobaccos never upsets the nerves. And you never tire of their finer flavor!

TOBACCO EXPERTS ALL SAY: "Camels are made from finer, More Expensive Tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES!

BUSINESS GIRL. Eve L. Miller says: "I started to smoke Camels because I appreciate mildness and delicacy of flavor. Camels give me a 'lift' when my energy is low. They never upset my nerves."

HOCKEY STAR. "Bill" Cook, New York Rangers' star, says: "I smoke only Camels. They have a taste that sure hits the spot! I smoke all I want and I find that Camels never get on my nerves or tire my taste."

GIRL EXPLORER. Mrs. William LaVere says: "Any time I'm tired I just stop and smoke a Camel. It wakes up my energy in no time. And smoking Camels steadily, I find, does not affect one's nerves."

CARTOONIST. Chon Day says: "I often work 10-11-12 hours at a stretch and am smoking Camels all the time. They help to increase my 'pep' when I feel tired or glum, and Camels never upset my nerves."
