WILL HELP IN SETTLING OIL CONTROVERSY

GERMANS PRAISE JAPS' BLOOD AND RACE RELIGION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Japan is willing to act as an intermediary between the United States and Manchoukoo in an effort to reach an amicable settlement of the diplomatic controversy brought about by Manchoukoo's proposed oil monopoly.

Hiroshi Saito, the Japanese ambassador, made this known today after an extended conference with Secretary Hull.

He told newspaper men that while Japan was not responsible for Manchoukoo's foreign affairs, and could not meddle in a sovereign nation's affairs, it would, since the United States does not recognize the new state, accept the responsibility of forwarding communications between the two nations.

Saito emphasized that he had not offered the Japanese government's services as a mediator in his conference with Hull, and that his discussion with the secretary had been on Far Eastern questions in general.

Saito also told newspaper men that the Japanese naval policy was clear cut and well defined and that he seriously doubted that Japanese public opinion would accept any compromise solution of naval problems, now under discussion in London, which did not provide for equality for the Japanese navy.

GOSLAR, Germany, Nov. 15 (AP)—A scathing attack on "political Jesuitism" and lavish praise of Japan's religion of "blood and race" featured the first public session today of the National Nutritive Guild convention.

Mathias Haldin, in charge of the department of ideological upbringing of the farmer, observed amid the applause of 800 peasant delegates: "The Jesuitical conception of life is that of a shepherd and his flock. We reject this as contrary to the Germanic spirit of racial concepts."

"Jesuitism means the totalitarian claim not only in religion but in every phase of human life. It means a deviation from the straight course to achieve the end, such as burning people at the stake if preaching proved ineffective, of whipping people if the offered sweets prove unconvincing."

Haldin said political Jesuitism approves marriage between black and whites "provided their confession is the same."

Against this conception, he said, "we pose ours: That blood is the nation's highest boon. The Japanese, with their religious blood and race, have fared better than Christian Europe."

Selby To Attend State Teachers Annual Meeting

Principal R. A. Selby of Pampa Junior high school will be the official local representative at the Texas State Teachers association in Galveston November 28-30.

Supr. R. B. Fisher, who is second vice president of the association, will not attend because of the conflict of the date with the Pampa-Amarillo football game. It is likely that a number of Gray county teachers will attend the convention.

CANYON, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women at the West Texas State Teachers college, will speak on the subject, "Personnel and Character" at the annual meeting of the Texas State Teachers association in Galveston, November 28-30.

The ex-students and faculty members of W. T. S. T. C. who go to the convention will have their annual breakfast in the Anchor room of the Galveston hotel on November 30 at 7 a. m.

Only Paupers to Receive Aid of Gray in Future

An order discontinuing all direct relief and hospital facilities to individuals other than as provided by statute was entered on the minutes of the Gray county commissioners court.

The county clerk was requested to notify those who have been receiving county checks that no more would be issued until legality of the cases was established. Three pauper cases were so adjudged before the court adjourned. About ten persons (five of them at McAleer, were affected under the ruling. Three of these were those admitted under the statute.

Hospitals will be notified that the statutes hereafter will determine whether the county is liable for treatment of specific individuals. It was stated that hospital and other expenses had reached a point where the county was obliged to examine more closely the legality of each claim. After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to follow the statutes literally.

During the depression many counties, including Gray, have been interpreting the statutes very liberally, or going beyond them in some instances.

France Abandons Hope Of Negotiating Saar Crisis In Parley With Germany

STATEMENT IN CUSTODY CASE SAYS NOTHING

Judge To Award Custody Of Child After Confering With Women's Lawyers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—A supreme court justice will decide today on a new life for 10-year-old Gloria Vanderbilt, heiress to millions.

Whether she will live with her mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, or with her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, will be determined by Justice John F. Carew at a conference he has called for this afternoon with attorneys for both sides.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, fighting charges she is an "unfit" mother for Gloria, is seeking possession of the child, who has been living with Mrs. Whitney since June, 1932. If she does obtain custody of her daughter, through her habeas corpus action before Justice Carew she must provide a different life for Gloria from that which the child led when she traveled with her mother in various parts of Europe.

At the conclusion of seven weeks of testimony in the mother's suit yesterday, Justice Carew issued this statement:

"Mr. Justice Carew decided that the child Gloria Vanderbilt is not to have for the future the life that it had had from the death of its father up till June, 1932."

Questioned about its meaning, he said the statement meant "exactly what it says and nothing else."

Then he disclosed he had summoned Nathan Burkan, counsel for Mrs. Vanderbilt, and Herbert C. Smyth, Mrs. Whitney's attorney, to meet with him today and submit outlines of the kind of life both the mother and aunt would provide for Gloria. On the basis of those plans, he said, he would decide with whom the child shall live.

Gloria has been living on the Long Island estate of Mrs. Whitney for the last two and a half years. During the court hearing, she told Justice Carew she was happier there than anywhere she was living in Europe under the care of a nurse.

FRENCH DECIDE TO PUT ARMY IN BASIN

Paris, Nov. 15 (AP)—Pierre Laval, foreign minister, said today that the settlement of the troubled problem of the Saar Basin territory by direct negotiations between France and Germany was no longer possible.

"France must act within the League of Nations," he told the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies, indicating that France would demand strict adherence to the terms of the Versailles treaty requiring that Germany pay for the territory if the inhabitants of the Saar vote to rejoin Germany in the plebiscite to be conducted in January.

The foreign minister, who formerly favored face-to-face talks with Chancellor Hitler, declared:

"The hour for direct conversations is past."

The French cabinet unanimously approved the plan of sending French troops into the Saar Basin territory if the League of Nations governing commission demands their service. Pierre Laval, foreign minister, rejected the Saar discussion at Geneva and Paris and said France refused to dodge the responsibility placed on her by the league council. He said that France was hopeful there would be no necessity of intervention and that the Saar plebiscite in January would be conducted with the greatest calm.

CANVASSERS SUCCESSFUL IN CAMPAIGN

People Pressed For Funds Join Red Cross; Large Memberships Received.

Although reports were slow in coming into Red Cross headquarters this morning, it was known that many canvassers were having very good success.

A number of $25 memberships will be turned in when downtown teams are ready to report. Some teams are striving for totals set by themselves, and do not wish to report until they have been successful. One team is trying for $100 in its territory. Several committees, indicating that France would demand strict adherence to the terms of the Versailles treaty requiring that Germany pay for the territory if the inhabitants of the Saar vote to rejoin Germany in the plebiscite to be conducted in January.

CUERO, Nov. 15 (AP)—Eight thousand strutting turkeys, destined to regale Thanksgiving dinners, were paraded through the streets today in Cuero's famous "turkey trot."

Decorated floats, cowboys, cowgirls, and an array of state officials joined in the parade.

More than 35,000 persons poured into Cuero to watch the show, which has played a part in causing Cuero to be called the "turkey capital of the world." Close to 165,000 turkeys will be marketed from farms in this section this fall.

Decorated floats, cowboys, cowgirls, and an array of state officials joined in the parade.

Governor-elect James V. Allred headed the procession, followed by Congressman J. J. Mansfield and Richard Kleberg, and other officials.

A banquet in Allred's honor was given at noon and, this afternoon.

NORTHER, RAIN IN PANHANDLE—THAT'S REPORT

Freezing Weather On North Plains, Is Reported

(By The Associated Press)

The first cold weather of the season struck northwest Texas today when a norther sent the temperature down near freezing in the upper Panhandle.

Coming on the tail of general rains over the state, the temperature drop marked the end of prolonged dry, warm weather in that region.

The Wichita Falls area received 80 of an inch of rain during the night. The rain extended from Electro to Fort Worth and Dallas, and from Wichita Falls to Dublin, Whitesboro and Altus, Okla.

The moisture was badly needed to prepare the ground for fall breaking and to benefit late feed and truck crops as well as winter pasturage.

In the last 36 hours general rains have definitely broken the drought in practically all parts of Texas. West Texas benefitted especially, with 2 inches at Aspermont, 1 inch at Snyder, Colorado and Midland, good rains at Cisco, Baird, Haskell and Albany, and the finest rain in months at Llano, amounting to 1.85 inches. Monday.

Texas Company Operations Are Still Inactive

The strike situation in the Panhandle field remained virtually unchanged today, according to spokesmen for both parties.

The Texas company, which yesterday caused injunction writs to be served on 46 men, had not given instructions to other employees to resume operations.

The Danciger Oil & Refining company was still said to be "normal" in its field departments.

PECORA WANTS U.S. CHARTERS FOR BUSINESS

WOULD TAKE CHARTER POWERS FROM STATES

BY J. R. BRACKETT.
(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Federal charters for business corporations were advocated today by Ferdinand Pecora as a prelude to stockholders and the public.

Pecora, whose investigation of Wall Street for the senate won him a post on the securities and exchange commission, said in an interview that federal incorporation should be a further fruit of that inquiry.

"Such incorporation means that the charters empowering corporations to do business and prescribing what forms that business may take, would be granted by the central government rather than by the states."

"To my mind," Pecora said, "the most important reason for federal incorporation is that it will provide uniformity. Today there are 48 different kinds of charters by the 48 different states. Yet, in many cases, these corporations do an interstate business."

Khiva Temple to Hold Dance Here On November 22

Khiva Temple will have a dance at the Schneider hotel here on the evening of Thursday, Nov. 22, according to announcement cards being mailed to all members.

The announcement follows:

"Come bring the wife and another couple. All strikers with 1934 cards, and their ladies will be admitted free. A charge of $1 will be made for all strikers not having 1934 cards, and for invited guests."

"Potentate King is asking your cooperation in making this the best party ever given by Khiva Temple. Don't fail. Nobles residing in the Lubbock territory who plan to attend the Lubbock-Pampa football game on Nov. 23 are urged to come over the night of the 22nd and be at the dance."

J. M. Saunders is chairman of the Pampa committee in charge of the party.

INSTITUTE OF BUSINESS AGAIN HOLDS ATTENTION OF CITIZENS

To judge by the degree of interest displayed by business and civic organizations, the Institute of Business to be conducted here by Henry W. Stanley, director of the Trade Extension division of the Dallas chamber of commerce, will be one of the outstanding events in the business life of the city this year.

So many requests have been received for definite subjects the speaker will discuss during the 3-day institute, which will open Nov. 19, that there is printed below a list from which each day's subjects will be chosen.

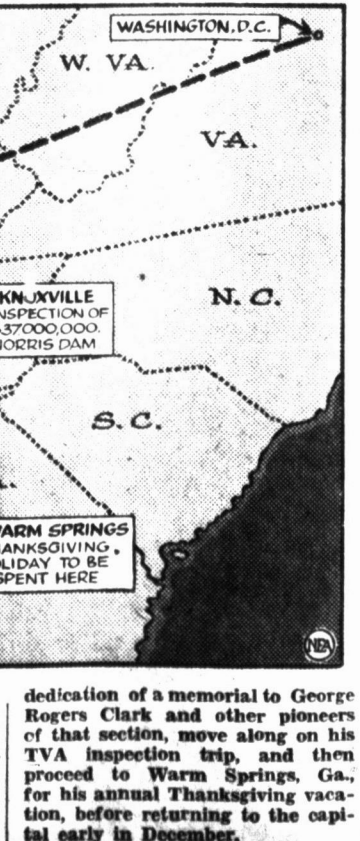

"The Merchandising Outlook," "Salesmanship," "The Keystone in the Arch of Business," "Making the Sale," "Successful Selling," "Advertising for the 1935 Volume," "Written Advertising Copy," "Window Display," "A Model Store," "The Retail Code," etc.

A question box will be conducted at each meeting. Anyone having a question on the subjects listed above is asked to prepare his question in written form and present them to Mr. Stanley at the close of the first lecture each evening at the city hall. As far as time will permit each question will be answered in the meeting and written replies will be given those which time will forbid answering.

President to See TVA Projects

The new deal's most ambitious undertaking—the Tennessee Valley development—will be inspected by President Roosevelt on his tour starting today, the route of which is shown above. Going direct from Washington to Harrodsburg, Ky., the chief executive will attend the dedication of a memorial to George Rogers Clark and other pioneers of that section, move along on his TVA inspection trip, and then proceed to Warm Springs, Ga., for his annual Thanksgiving vacation, before returning to the capital early in December.

BRITISH DENY THEY'VE SIDED IN WITH JAPAN

CLAIM THEY ARE NOT IN CAHOOTS WITH JAPANESE

BY HAROLD P. BRAMAN.
(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Great Britain let it be known today that if Japan rejects her proposal for naval equality "in principle," she will grant Japan equality in the actual tonnage of their fighting craft.

This indication, from an authoritative source, was contained in a statement that Great Britain still seeks a method of approaching a compromise on the difficult question of a new naval race but that it will not go beyond the recognition of equality in principles for Japan.

This decision was made independently by Great Britain some time ago and has nothing to do with any conversations her diplomats engaged in in the present preliminary naval parley here with the representatives of the United States and Japan.

Both the British and Americans here for the conversations said officials that reports that Great Britain and the United States were considering an agreement were entirely false. Both delegations said they wished the situation was near the agreement stage but that actually the three powers were just as far from an agreement as they have ever been.

The British last week suggested that the Japanese consider a compromise which would give them equality in principle but by which the existing ratios would be maintained. These ratios give the United States and Great Britain equal sized navies while that of the Japanese is 60 per cent the size of either of the others.

The British proposal means that the other nations concerned would recognize that Japan, in principle, has a right to equality but the Japanese navy would not be given actual equality in tonnage.

The United States has opposed this proposal, her delegates saying they believe Japan was given equality in security by the Washington and London naval treaties which now control the size of navies.

The Japanese have indicated informally that the British proposal is not acceptable because they want an equality in principle recognized in security by the Washington and London naval treaties which now control the size of navies.

OIL COMMITTEE TO LEARN OF CONDITIONS

DALLAS, Nov. 15 (AP)—A congressional investigating committee arrived in Dallas from Oklahoma City today to conduct hearings, beginning tomorrow, on conditions in Texas.

The group, a sub-committee of the house interstate commerce committee, planned to spend today reviewing and checking testimony taken at Oklahoma City during the last several days. A long list of witnesses had been called to testify before the committee as to the condition of the oil industry in Texas.

Chairman Cole of Maryland said the committee's sessions in Dallas would extend into next week.

En route to Los Angeles for additional hearings, the committee will take a day to view the Texas Panhandle gas field, cited by Secretary Ickes as an example of extreme wastage of a natural resource. The committee will leave the train at Childress and drive through the field to Pampa, Borger and Amarillo. Although most of the witnesses scheduled for the hearing were from Texas, Chairman Cole said the tentative list included Axel J. Byles of New York, president of the American Petroleum Institute, now in annual meeting here; and Henry M. Daves of the Pure Oil Co., Chicago, and an A. P. I. director.

Texas witnesses included Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas railroad commission; Tucker Royall, Palestine, of the Texas Oil Tender board; and numerous independents and major company representatives from each of the state's oil producing areas.

King Horrified When A Soldier Nears Carriage

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 15 (AP)—King Carol and Crown Prince Mihai experienced a moment of heart-thumping when they were returning in an open carriage from the opening session of parliament.

A Rumanian officer in uniform stepped out of the big crowd lining the streets and, with hand outstretched, approached the king.

Because of the existing atmosphere of fear and terror in the Balkans, everyone who saw the affair thought the officer intended to attack the monarch. The entire royal procession halted.

But, even as the king's guardsmen seized the officer, the man had interrupted the procession handed little Mihai a letter.

Mihai took the letter but the man who gave it to him was taken to a police station. There he gave his name as Capt. Alexander Sumar. He cited for definite subjects the speaker will discuss during the 3-day institute, which will open Nov. 19, that there is printed below a list from which each day's subjects will be chosen.

"The Merchandising Outlook," "Salesmanship," "The Keystone in the Arch of Business," "Making the Sale," "Successful Selling," "Advertising for the 1935 Volume," "Written Advertising Copy," "Window Display," "A Model Store," "The Retail Code," etc.

Coyote Drive To Be Held At Hoover On Next Tuesday

To horse my wranglers, to horse! Next Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock a coyote drive will get under way near Hoover and any person in this section having a horse is invited to take part in the big event. Those having wolfhounds are invited to bring them along.

The drive is being arranged by J. A. Morehead and C. V. Flemming of Hoover. Everyone participating will meet at the Hoover store by 8 o'clock. The area to be covered will be large and the horsemen will be divided into groups to work toward a given spot.

No guns will be allowed in the drive but ropes may be used. Already 40 men have signed to make the drive and the number is expected to reach the 100 mark. Wolfhounds have been offered, but many more will be needed.

Coyotes in that section have been over-running the country. A large kill is predicted.

C. D. Dickey, of near Tulla, a former Pampa resident, is in Pampa visiting friends this week.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy, except showers probable in southeast portion tonight and Friday; warmer in the north tonight.

DESCENDANT OF FAMOUS FAMILY DIES IN BLAZE

Wife And 2 Servants Burn To Death In Boston

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Henry Rusell Brown, 74, retired woolen commission merchant and descendant of an old New England family, his wife and two servants, were burned to death today in a fire that destroyed the Brown 5-story town house at 360 West 78th street.

The four were trapped in the house when the fire roared up the wooden front staircase, mushrooming at each floor, and burned thru the roof.

Brown's body, badly burned, was discovered in his third-floor bedroom. Apparently he had attempted to flee the flames, as he was halfway out of bed.

The bodies of the others were found on the top floor and were burned beyond recognition. Neighbors, however, told police that Brown lived in the house with his wife and two negro servants, a man and a woman.

Brown was widely known for his collection of books and engravings, including revolutionary and American documents, old coins, paper money, and historical relics.

Neighbors told police that Brown was the father of two children, one of whom is Henry Russell Brown Jr., vice president of Culver Associates, Inc.

Fastest Growing City in Texas—Panhandle Oil and Wheat Center

Twinkles
It is rather silly, when you analyze it, to work up a headache over high school football and nary a pain over English, math, and history. And what does this country need more than a better understanding of our economic history?

It is especially silly to play boys with "temperatures over 100" to satisfy the cravings of fans who have enthusiasms (and wagers, in some cases) ranging around the 100 mark.

Maybe you think this criticism will result in nothing, flat. Oh well, so do we.

Andy Melon may or may not be guilty of all the things he is accused of but never convicted for, but it does a lot of us good just to see him worried by the tax collectors.

Skippy, the family pup, certainly is smart in learning things that he shouldn't and, like some small boys, rather dumb in learning things that he should.

Musings of the moment: An eastern lady writes us to help do something for American poets. That's a good idea, if you can decide who are poets and who are not. There's positively nothing worse than doggerel that poses as poetry, yet the world is full of it. . . . We first need to know how to read poetry; how to enjoy it without tearing it apart and analyzing it like a botanist does a rose. . . . And we need poets whose technique is such that we won't wish to tear their work apart in disgust.

Brevitorials

A PAMPA YOUTH, desperately hurt, has illustrated the dangers connected with local traffic. It appears that this accident was unavoidable insofar as the motorist was concerned, and the bicyclist who was hit may have been influenced by pranks of other boys. But there was an accident and a serious one. Lads the car been moving more rapidly, instant death probably would have resulted.

IT IS MIRACULOUS that there are not more accidents. Motorists have little respect for traffic ordinances. The police do little about it. Red traffic signals are "run." Vehicles speed along narrow streets. Pedestrians jay-walk, walk down dark streets with their backs to the traffic. Boys ride bicycles with no lights, play football in the streets. . . . Yet, there is an accident, the first public reaction is to blame the driver of the car. This is unjust and it is not warranted by the facts.

FEW, INDEED, are there who do not break some traffic rule every month. Spending is so easy with modern cars. Most of us edge up beyond the safety limit at times. But speed alone is not so bad; it is the carelessness with which we usually find it. There is a danger in driving 30 miles an hour down a wide street with not a child in sight, not a car meeting you at right angles. The same speed in a narrow street, past "blind" corners, is positively murderous. . . . J. S. Wynne Tuesday night called attention of the city commission to an instance of this on North Frost street, where parking of cars on both sides of the narrow street has caused a hazard.

IT DOESN'T take any brains to to have an automobile accident. It usually takes no thinking but we realize there would be some injustice in it, but it would cut down motor car accidents a pretty percentage if everybody involved in every accident were made by law to wear a fool's cap for a week. And this would go for the driver, too.

Many accidents are caused by people who think they are being very smart. They think it is bright to "step on the gas" and beat death in some tight place. They consider it cute to sneak through a traffic light. Behind many accidents are not only chiselers, cheaters, show-offs, wise-guys, exhibitionists, but A-1 dumbbells and dullards, and a lot of people who are inconsiderate of other people's rights, and a lot of people in a hurry to get somewhere where they aren't needed as urgently as they think they are.

Indeed, we know that sometimes Fate causes accidents, but statistics gathered by the Travelers Insurance company show that in most cases the accident is caused by some sort of human folly. And it is true that your accident called attention to the other fellow's fault, but a part of good driving is to be on the outlook for idiots.

Fool's caps for all accidenters and fenderbenders wouldn't be so very far wrong in the long run.

Any dandy called a pedestrian can get into an accident; it takes a pretty smart person to stay out of them, these days.

BLAME PLACED ON RAIL BODY BY FERGUSON

THOMPSON CRITICIZES GOVERNMENT FOR NEGLIGENCE

DALLAS, Nov. 15 (AP)—The American Petroleum Institute heard from Texas last night—the state which Secretary Ickes said was the stumbling block to orderly progress in the oil industry.

Representing the governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, James E. Ferguson governor himself, told the directors at a dinner arranged by the Dallas chamber of commerce that "we are going to put hot oil operators out of business; the means would justify the end even if we have to hang somebody."

Ferguson explained that the Texas railroad commission, which handles oil matters in this state, "is working itself to death" with all the state problems which it deals" and said he was "not surprised that it has not accomplished what we thought necessary."

He said the governor would seek to have the legislature create an other commission which would deal exclusively with oil matters. That line of procedure has been the policy of the administration in Texas in recent months.

E. O. Thompson, a member of the commission, said informally that the federal government was really to blame for conditions because the commission requested such an agency as the federal tender board early in 1933.

"And," he said, "it took them 15 months to do what we suggested. We have no power to enforce interstate commerce regulations and it is up to them."

Thompson indicated that he might have further remarks to make when he testifies before the congressional committee here tomorrow. He called attention to the fact that the court of civil appeals in Austin yesterday upheld the right of the commission to require tenders for movement of refined products. The commission has called a hearing for Nov. 26 for the purpose of reissuing orders requiring such tenders.

Thompson declined to comment directly on Ickes' speech after the oil administrator finished, saying, with a smile, "he is still our guest."

The independent refiners of East Texas also had their word to add to the general discussion. Jules Constantine, president of the independent refiners' association of East Texas, issued a statement expressing surprise at reports indicating Ickes looked with disfavor on a purchasing agreement, between the refiners and major companies, as it is now constituted.

Constantine said 99 per cent of the refining capacity of the field had signed contracts for reinstatement of the agreement and said the refiners "now stand ready and willing to further cooperate with the state and federal tender board and the administrator in order that the stabilization program may be carried out for the benefit of the industry."

liminary naval conversations between Japan, Great Britain, and the United States.

As an indication of how "baseless" the reports are, the spokesman said, Norman H. Davis, American delegate, did not refer to them in any way yesterday during an important conference with the British.

There has been a great deal said concerning the Japanese suggestion that all navies be reduced to a point where they would be ineffective as aggressive weapons.

If the world is to accept the principles of the Kellogg pact, Saito asserted, he saw no reason why there should be any hesitancy in the world powers reducing their navies until they were actually merely naval police forces.

Saito indicated that any compromise arrived at in the preliminary naval talks in London should be toward naval reduction instead of on the question of equality.

Saito said that since the United States does not recognize the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchoukio there appeared no other way in which the United States could discuss the question of the oil monopoly with Manchoukio unless Japan acted as "postmaster" in delivering communications.

The Japanese government acted in a similar capacity in arranging the sale of the Chinese Eastern railway by Soviet Russia to the new state.

Mrs. George W. Hawthorne, 35, of LeFors, died in a local hospital last night following a long illness. She had been a resident of LeFors for of two federal agencies. The senate stock market committee has recommended it for serious study. The federal trade commission has compiled a report citing the views, pro and con, of prominent men. It was said to be likely that the commission will make more definite recommendations on the subject.

Federal incorporation has been opposed on the ground that it is an unconstitutional interference with states rights. On this point Pecora said:

"I am confident the courts would hold the proposal constitutional. Certainly most large corporations do an interstate business, and thus are subject to congress so far as that business is concerned."

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the chapel of the G. C. Malone Funeral home with the Rev. M. S. Leech, pastor of the Baptist church at LeFors, officiating. Burial will follow in Fairview cemetery.

Opposition Does Not Worry Long

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 15 (AP)—Huey Long's "dictator," "revenge" and "share the wealth" laws—44 of them—sped hither-sither toward final passage today as the "Kingfish" stood around and smiled at the absence of serious opposition for the first time in his tumultuous political career.

The house passed all the measures with scarcely no opposition at all yesterday afternoon, practically completing its "duty," and then shot them over to the senate, which suspended its rules and sent them to the finance committee.

The committee will meet at 2 p. m. today and report the bills favorably to the senate, which will suspend its rules to send them to third reading for passage early Friday.

The cycle will be completed Friday morning when the house meets to approve any changes made in the measures in the senate.

Raymond L. Smith Dies At LeFors

Mr. Smith had been a driller in the Gray county field for a number of years. He became ill Monday but felt able to get up early yesterday morning. Soon after he left his bed he became worse and death followed immediately.

Mr. Smith's body is at the Pampa Mortuary.

FOR HINTS OLD AGE PENSIONS MUST WAIT ON BETTER TIMES

SECURITY FOR JOBLESS WILL BE NEXT STEP

CRITICIZES FANTASTIC PENSION SCHEMES OF PROMOTERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Roosevelt administration, in concentrating on the job of getting "the economic system to function," may allow certain of its plans for social insurance to wait until better times return.

This became clear today as observers digested a speech by the president made late yesterday to delegates of the national conference on economic security.

In talking of the social security program to be proposed to the next congress, the president definitely included a system of federal-state unemployment insurance, to be financed by contributions.

But of old age pensions, he said: "I do not know whether this is the time for any federal legislation on old age security. Organizations promoting fantastic schemes have aroused hopes which cannot possibly be fulfilled."

"Through their activities they have increased the difficulties of getting sound legislation; but I hope that in time we may be able to provide security for the aged—a sound and a uniform policy which will provide true security."

Talking of insurance against sickness, he used the phrase "soon or later," indicating that this too much over into the future.

"We cannot work miracles or solve all our problems at once," he said at another point.

The tenor of the remarks on old age pensions and health insurance was understood to be welcome to the school of thought which believes that recovery should come first and "reconstruction" afterward. Many business and banking leaders are adherents of this school.

To some students of governmental affairs the president's latest speech seemed evidence that the government and the business community are continuing to find more common ground in the attack on depression. They pointed once more to what has been called "peace pact" ratified at the American Bankers association convention.

The president's statement that relief and getting the "economic system to function" are the first tasks, turned the spotlight on new plans that are being worked out.

Secretary Ickes, writing what many consider a significant article in the current issue of the magazine "Today," hinted that PWA may expand its public works program enormously, spending many more billions "in a continued effort to take men from relief and put them into industry."

Among the possibilities he mentioned rural electrification, the elimination of grade crossings, better housing, a trans-continental superhighway and flood control. Some of them he conceived, not as immediate projects, but long term possibilities.

"No one can reasonably contend," said the PWA chief, "that the standard of living in this country is so high that we can afford to require the employed portion of our people permanently to support the unemployed in idleness or require the employed portion permanently to divide their work with the unemployed."

On unemployment insurance, President Roosevelt told the several hundred students of social problems who attended the conference that he believes the system should be a "co-operative federal-state undertaking."

"It is important that the federal government encourage states which are ready to take this progressive step," he said. "It is no less important that all unemployment insurance reserve funds be held and invested by the federal government, so that the use of these funds as a means of stabilization may be maintained in central management and employed on a national basis."

For the administration of the funds, he asserted, the states are the "logical" choice. Since state laws will be needed and most legislatures will convene in January, he urged the social workers to make your plans accordingly.

Detton and Wife Move To Pampa

Mr. and Mrs. Dory Detton moved to Pampa yesterday to make their home. Mr. Detton is one of the best known wrestlers in this section of the country. He will be booked out of Pampa in the future.

The new resident was to have made his initial appearance here Tuesday night but the Fla-Mor management announced yesterday that decorating would be in progress then and that the match would be postponed a week.

Detton is a Mormon from Salt Lake City, Utah, and is one of eight boys. He has two brothers who are professional wrestlers, one in Australia and the other in Honolulu, and another brother is a professional boxer in Salt Lake. The other four boys are on the farm at home, but have wrestling ambitions.

Before dawn today, herders drove the birds to the edge of town and formed them in line for the parade, then when the procession started, the stately birds were marched thru town in droves of 500 to 600.

Occasionally an excited bird would take wing and soar through the air for a block to join a flock farther up the line.

Fifty fancy-dressed birds were arrayed in frock coats, with gaily colored trousers and cocky straw hats. They preceded a float bearing a party composed of Dr. Dan C. Peavy "Sultan Yekrut VI," his "sultana," Miss Margaret Peavy, Miss Dorothy Breden and Miss Agatha Weber.

"Sultan Yekrut VI" will be crowned at a ceremony tonight and will be honored at a coronation ball in the city auditorium afterward.

The celebration continues for three days, with rodeos, a junior street parade, dances, races, and other attractions on the program.

Younger Brother Of Carl Estes Is Killed In Wreck

TYLER, Nov. 15 (AP)—The body of Marion Estes, younger brother of Carl Estes, Longview publisher, was taken from a wrecked automobile on the Tyler-Dallas highway today. He apparently had been dead for some time.

A passer-by found the body and it was identified by papers found in the victim's pockets after it had been brought to a Tyler undertaking establishment.

Estes was survived by his widow and a two weeks' old baby.

Estes was employed by the Texas railroad commission.

Apparently the accident happened while he was en route to Dallas to return his wife and baby daughter.

Estes, who was 23 years old, apparently was blinded by rain and failed to negotiate a turn in the highway, his car striking a bridge.

An undertaker said the accident probably occurred about midnight.

Besides the Longview publisher, Estes was survived by his mother, who lives in Commerce, Texas, and three brothers, Joe Estes of Tyler, Dillard Estes of Port Worth, and Neal Estes of Carthage, and a sister, Mary Lou Estes, of Tyler.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed.

Carl Estes, in Dallas attending the American Petroleum Institute convention, planned to leave at one for Commerce to get his mother and proceed to Tyler. He said funeral arrangements had not been made but his younger brother probably would be taken to Commerce for burial beside his father.

He said his brother was a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and was working with the railroad commission's engineering staff.

Last night the victim visited his wife in a Dallas hospital, where she was recuperating from the recent birth of her baby. He was enroute back to East Texas at the time of the accident.

Liquor, Gambling Frowned Upon By Relief Agencies

Policies of the Texas relief commission regarding spending of money for alcoholic liquors, gambling, or operating a car for pleasure, have been received at the local relief office.

Regarding alcoholic liquor and gambling, the report says "each case must be handled on its own individual merits. In instances where either the county administrator or case worker supervisor has first-hand personal knowledge that heads of families are expending funds for alcoholic liquor, the families shall thereafter receive relief in kind only. The same rules apply in respect to gambling. Convictions in police court or frequent arraignment before any local court immediately brings a case within the scope of these instructions. If the head of the family refuses to perform work when not paid in cash, you are instructed to prefer charges of vagrancy against the client."

In connection with the driving of a car for pleasure, the report reads, "The relief commission recognizes that clients may need to use their cars to drive to and from work or to the relief office where they may secure relief grants but it is not the desire of the commission that administrators continue to give relief to any client where it is evident that the client is expending any appreciable amount of his relief funds for operating expenses on an automobile used for pleasure purposes. It is within the scope of the administrator, after consideration of each case on its merits, to deny relief to any family which persists in violating the rule."

Mrs. J. G. Stroup received word today of the death of her sister, Mrs. Margaret Martin, at her home in St. Louis. Mrs. Stroup recently visited Mrs. Martin, called there because of her illness.

M. B. Davis was an Amarillo visitor yesterday afternoon.

Crash Victim Is Much Improved

Condition of Russell Snow, young Pampa Daily NEWS carrier, boy who was injured when his bicycle collided with a car on the Berger highway Tuesday night, was much improved this morning, attending physicians announced. He was taken to his home from Worley hospital last night.

It was at first believed he had suffered a fractured skull and probably other serious injuries but X-ray pictures were negative. He will be confined to his bed for some time.

Enough natural gas was Blown into the Air Today To cook a good dinner for every family in America

WASTED TODAY in a single Texas gas field enough Natural Gas to cook a good dinner for every family in America, with sufficient left over to heat 80,000 homes for an entire winter month. Today and every day this waste goes on and is increasing at an alarming rate!

In the face of such staggering waste it is any wonder that 600,000 Texas families who depend upon Natural Gas for fuel, and who have $60,000,000 invested in gas burning equipment, are rising up, demanding that this waste be stopped? Is it surprising that thousands of industries which use Natural Gas for power are so vitally concerned?

Well may every thinking man and woman interested in the welfare of Texas and the comfort of their children be worried about this staggering waste. It simply means this: If the waste continues, the priceless Natural Gas resources of Texas will be ruined in a few years or months... and the industrial expansion of Texas will be crippled.

Most of this colossal waste results from the practice of "Stripping," or extracting the gasoline content from Natural Gas and turning the gas loose into the air. The recovered product is less than 3% of the heat energy of the Natural Gas... Over 97% is blown into the air—WASTED!

It is doubtful if in all history there has been another example of destruction comparable with this waste of Natural Resources going on right here in Texas. A free copy of booklet giving full details of this modern crime and how it can be stopped will be sent on request.

Let's stop this criminal waste and SAVE OUR NATURAL RESOURCES... Mail this coupon NOW!

BASED ON ART EXHIBITS AND STUDENTS' AID

PROGRAM THIS YEAR CONTINUES SAME PROJECTS

Award of first prize to the Arno club here, for outstanding art work among smaller clubs, was announced yesterday at the state convention of Texas Federated Women's clubs at Austin.

The award was based upon work accomplished by the club last year and summarized in the annual report to the district convention last spring. It included the sponsoring of three art exhibits here, two by Panhandle artists and one of copies of art masterpieces.

Encouragement of art in schools here was also one of the accomplishments.

Mrs. T. F. Morton headed the club during the season. This year, under the leadership of Mrs. John V. Andrews, members are planning to continue their work and have announced an exhibit by local artists, child and adult, for one of the major projects.

Christmas Cake Made in Club at Little Expense

Four women of Hopkins Home Demonstration made a profit of $17.72 by canning their Christmas fruit cake in a demonstration at the home of Mrs. C. P. Coutts Tuesday afternoon. Twenty-three persons were present.

Mmes. R. I. Davis, John B. Davis, E. R. Manley, and Cousin canned 48 pounds of fruit cake at a cost of 13 cents a pound, or a total expense of $6.24. At the usual market price of 50 cents a pound, this quantity would cost $24.

After this fruitful demonstration, given by Mrs. Coutts, a number of club members and visitors are planning to make their own fruit cakes and save Christmas money.

While the cakes were cooking, cake and cookies were served to the following visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stephens and Barbara, Mmes. Rob Mackie, Less Day, Robert Brown, Jimmie Hopkins, John R. Davis, L. Terry; Miss Leath Engle, and Martha Ann Hopkins; and club members: Mmes. R. I. Davis, John Thompson, Manley, Kiehl Davis, Ernest Vanderburg, Misses Pearl Thompson, Gwendolyn Coutts, and Pae Davis; and Mr. Vanderburg, Eddie Gould, and C. P. Coutts.

Announcement was made that the achievement day program of Hopkins will be from 2:30 to 4 p. m. Nov. 21, at the home of Mrs. Davis. She will hold open house, inviting visitors to see the party she has filled at food supply demonstrator for Hopkins club this year.

HAPPY KITCHEN CHATS BY Beulah Mackey Yates

The Romance of Cooking

A great celebration will take place on the day when dishes are invented that are inexpensive enough to be thrown away after one using, but still retain the virtues of china.

Until that time comes, however, our pride of ownership in good dishes will keep us at the daily cycle of clearing up the dinner table, washing dishes and storing them away in the meantime, also many of us will continually be seeking for ways to lighten the task that takes us from table to sink to cupboard. There is really romance in cooking if we but look for it.

If we examine the processes in dishwashing, reduce if possible the time each takes and eliminate those which are unnecessary it is possible we may find waste motions and reduce the unpleasantness of an unavoidable chore.

First, all dishwashing should not be left until after the meal. Begin to reduce the after-dinner part of the work the first moment of meal preparation.

Clearing away as you go along will simplify dishwashing unbelievably. Replace materials or containers as soon as they are used—the baking powder, the spice can, the sifter.

As you replace them determine whether or not they are in their most convenient location. Replacing is simple if it means merely reaching out to a shelf an arm's length away and not walking across the kitchen.

One meal process likely to create a confused and untidy kitchen is vegetable preparation. To avoid this all fresh vegetables such as lettuce, radishes, and tomatoes should be washed as soon as they arrive from the green grocer and placed in the refrigerator ready for use.

This keeps the untidiness of wilted leaves and sandy sediment out of the kitchen during its busiest time.

Other vegetable refuse, such as potato parings, carrot scrapings and bean strings, can easily be kept out of the sink by paring or cleaning them directly into waste cans.

The large accumulation of cooking dishes during food preparation—measuring cups and spoons, mixing bowls, pans—all but the last-minute cooking dishes, can be washed and rinsed with hot water.

Some housekeepers advise washing each dish as it is used, but there may be waste motion in that. A little easier system may be to clear away as one goes along but to have one washing during the last period of cooking.

When baking, a utility tray saves labor. Each tool as it is used is placed on this tray and taken with the soiled dishes on it in one trip to the sink to be washed.

The next step in cutting down waste effort in the handling of dishes after they come to the table is to have a systematic routine for them in the kitchen.

Extra space near the sink and a table placed conveniently near the sink where the dishes can be cleared and stacked as they arrive from the table are helpful.

It is at this point that a movable table of generous proportions makes its usefulness felt.

Dishes may be placed directly on the table in the dining room, moved to the kitchen cleared, washed put back on the table and taken to the point of storage if the cupboard cannot be reached from the sink.

HAPPY KITCHEN SCHOOL OPENS IN FOUR DAYS

MODERN EQUIPMENT, NEW METHODS, FEATURED

Only four more days remain until the opening of this newspaper's Happy Kitchen cooking school, under the personal supervision of the noted authority on foods and home economics, Beulah Mackey Yates. The school will be held at city auditorium, November 19, 20, and 21.

Mrs. Yates will cover a wide variety of subjects in her talks—cooking, new recipes, new methods, and the many new appliances that are now available for the home. She will tell you many of her own experiences in home-making, as well as the experiences of others of her acquaintance.

She will have an attractive modern kitchen for our inspection, equipped with the very latest in ranges, refrigerators, tables and cabinets, as well as many small, but important devices, such as beaters, mix-masters, aluminum utensils, and those handy gadgets which make kitchen work a pleasure in this modern age.

You will hear that there are newer and better ways to make a cake, or salads; that there are now economical, yet delicious vegetable recipes; that there are inexpensive but excellent meat dishes; all easy to make, good to look at and very appealing to the family appetite. Every phase of cookery from plain family meals to luncheons for parties and other formal and informal functions, will be explained.

Every day a variety of dishes will be demonstrated, each one different from those of the preceding day. Each day these dishes will be cooked while you are comfortably seated, perhaps notebook in hand. And Mrs. Yates will tell you how best to arrange and serve the meals that are discussed.

A feature of the school will be "The Question Box," which will answer your questions effectively. You do not even have to sign your name.

SHOES BOUGHT FOR 11 PUPILS IN P-TA ROOM

Thrift Room Calls Heavier Than Last Year

More than a score of children called for clothing at the school thrift room yesterday, and 11 pairs of shoes were purchased. Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association is in charge of the room this week.

Mrs. Travis Lively of that association was assisted yesterday by Mrs. Claude Lord of Junior High unit and Mrs. Roy Holt of B. M. Baker. Demands on the room are so great that three workers are kept busy on all open days.

Workers report that the demand is heavier now than at the same time last year, and that the supply of clothing is still very low. Other contributions of used clothing are needed badly, and will be called for if some of the P.-T. A. chairmen or workers are called.

Merton association will be in charge next week, keeping the room open to issue clothes on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons. Last week Sam Houston unit was in charge, with Mmes. Don Hurst, C. S. Boston, Luther Pierson, J. A. Arwood, and Sherman White as the workers.

NEW STUDY IS INTRODUCED IN CENTRAL BAPTIST WMS; ANNA BAGBY CIRCLE NAMES LEADER

MANY GUESTS AND MEMBERS AT H. D. CLUB

Candy Demonstration Is of Especial Interest

Introduction to a new text, "Where Is He?" which is to be completed by the first week in December, was the basis of study of Bethany and Anna Bagby circles of Central Baptist Missionary society, meeting jointly yesterday.

Mrs. D. H. Coffey and Mrs. G. C. Stark were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Stark. Mrs. F. L. Anderson introduced the new study series, after a prayer by Mrs. H. A. Over all. The general W. M. U. programs for the next two weeks will be devoted to this book instead of to regular Bible study. It will be completed before a week of prayer begins early next month.

Anna Bagby circle elected a new chairman, Mrs. Cecil Lunsford. Six members of that group subscribed to the Baptist Standard.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Cleo Coffey, Lunsford, E. V. Davis, Anderson, J. B. Hilburn, Owen Johnson, Walter Kirby, Etta Gilham, H. A. Overall, Wood Overall, A. L. Edmondson, and the hostesses.

Mrs. D. M. Scofield was hostess to Little Moon circle, where the first chapter of Personal Service Guide was studied. Mrs. W. L. Lane gave the opening prayer, Mrs. Scofield the devotional discussion, and Mrs. F. M. Mitchell led the lesson.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Nicholson, Keith Caldwell, A. B. Cecil, Lane, Mitchell, and the hostesses.

While Miss Adams was preparing for the demonstration, guests and members enjoyed a display of quilts hung in the bedroom. Nine beautifully made and quilted covers were on display. The flower garden, butterfly, sunburst, and wedding ring patterns were especially admired. Mrs. Meers had made all the quilts.

The hostess was assisted by her daughters, Mmes. Williams, Wilson, Nelson, and Sprinkle, and Miss Nellie, in serving refreshments.

Club guests were Miss Elizabeth P. Williams and Mrs. C. L. Williams of Kansas City; Mmes. Orin Colvin, Jess Morris, J. P. Tiffany, Ira Wilson, J. H. Smith, Dewey Voyles, and new members, Mmes. Swafford and Kelly, were present with Mmes. Phillips, Brown, Bridges, Taylor, Eaney, Bailey, Pickering, Knapp, Ford, Fischer, Simmons, Enloe, and Browning.

Officers are to be elected for the year at the next meeting, at 9:30 a. m. November 28, at the home of Mrs. Alva Phillips.

David Bruce of New York in 1938 invented the type-casting machine which has revolutionized the art of type founding.

API MEETING IS UPSET BY ICKES SPEECH

"TEXAS ON THE SPOT" AND RIGHTLY, SAYS FERGUSON

DALLAS, Nov. 15. (P)—Secretary Ickes sped early today to confer with his chief, President Roosevelt, leaving in his wake at the American Petroleum Institute varied reactions to stern and ominous predictions of federal control unless the oil industry promptly rid itself of malpractices.

The straight-talking cabinet member's denunciation of critics of the federal program and of the situation termed the "real stumbling block," upset the even tenor of the institute's fifteenth annual meeting.

Previously its two ranking officers, in general session addresses, asserted federal control was unnecessary and unwanted by the industry.

Eight directors of the institute, representing a cross-section of the petroleum industry, promptly were appointed on a committee after Secretary Ickes' address to consider the subject of federal legislation.

They were charged with the duty of studying all angles of the controversial matter of federal control, and, if possible, recommending at today's board meeting a course of procedure. Their report at this session was anticipated, but not assured.

Members of the committee were C. B. Ames, the Texas Co., New York, chairman; Wirt Franklin, Wirt Franklin Petroleum Corp., Oklahoma City; W. S. Frazier, Standard Oil Co., New Jersey; New York; H. F. Sinclair, Consolidated Oil Corp., New York; J. Howard Pew, Sun Oil Co., Philadelphia; Oscar Sutro, Standard Oil Co., of California, San Francisco; George A. Hill, Houston Oil Co., Houston, and Amos L. Beaty, planning and co-ordination committee, Washington.

Three courses apparently were open for the institute's officials. They could favor federal legislation as embodied in the Thomas-Disney bill, choose the interstate compact plan advanced by E. W. Marland, governor-elect of Oklahoma, or make no formal expression of policy.

Justification for Secretary Ickes' criticism of the Texas situation was voiced by James E. Ferguson, husband of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. He asserted the cabinet member's declarations put "Texas on the spot."

The state either must quickly act to obtain better regulation by transferring its administration of conservation laws from the Texas railroad commission to a separate board, or idly precipitate federal control, Ferguson predicted.

Likewise, he predicted congress would grant recommendations of President Roosevelt to carry out Secretary Ickes' warning of impending federal control unless conditions both in Texas and in the industry generally were rectified.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas railroad commission, against which Ferguson said much of the criticism was directed, replied to Ickes with the assertion 15 months elapsed before the oil administration established a federal tender board after President Roosevelt signed an executive order authorizing it.

In the meantime, he said the Texas agency continuously petitioned for federal aid to control interstate movement of crude, pleading it could similarly close a loophole as an intrastate one was closed by a state tender board.

Sessions of the planning and co-ordination committee under the petroleum code continued after the secretary's address, without an announcement of its discussions.

Hope dwindled, however, for reinstatement of the federal gasoline purchase plan in East Texas. Secretary Ickes said he would not approve a buying program as planned. Oil men concluded the secretary would disapprove any plan which might offer an outlet for illegal crude products.

Meanwhile, business sessions of the institute approached an end. The final day's program included another meeting of the board of directors, a session of the executive committee and group gatherings for production, refining and marketing divisions.

An annual dinner tonight, arranged in two sections at different hotels, and a barbecue tomorrow at the farm of W. R. Boyd, Jr., executive vice-president complete the convention.

Old Letters in Museum Records

CANYON, Nov. 15.—A recent contribution to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum was a group of duplicates of letters written from old Fort Griffin.

These letters, giving an interesting insight upon fort life in that day, were presented by J. Everts Haley, author and ex-student and former member of the faculty of the West Texas State Teachers college. They were taken from the government files at Austin. Most of the letters were those of George W. Arrington, then a Texas ranger. Mr. Arrington's letters tell of the constant wrangling between the government officials and the Texas rangers in the fort and speak of personal relations in the fort. Some of the correspondence told of the evils of the pioneer city of Seymour and its ultimate "clean-up."

The letters are to be filed in the museum library at Canyon.

MAN KILLED IN HIS FINAL BID FOR VENGEANCE

Tar-Feather Victim Of Louisianan Escapes

HAMMOND, Ind., Nov. 15 (P)—Ike Starns carried his grudge against Dr. Sedgie Newsom to the death. Starns, accused of tarring and feathering the Hammond dentist four years ago, died in a Main street gun fight last night in a last bid for vengeance upon the man he held responsible for his estrangement with his wife.

Before police gunfire thwarted his last attempt on the dentist's life, he fired his last two shots at officers from a prone position near the sidewalk where he fell wounded fatally.

His father, Burfin Starns, sitting in an automobile in the middle of the street, picked up a shotgun, but was disarmed by officers and arrested on a charge of attempted murder. His mother ran screaming from the car, and was led away by friends.

Starns began shooting when officers, who had been summoned because of a threat Starns made earlier in the evening against the dentist, fired and wounded him from violence. Two bullets grazed an officer while another hit perilously near Dr. Newsom.

Officers said Starns had made threats on previous occasions to "get the dentist." Dr. Newsom said his interest in the wife, Gladys Starns, was only professional and obtained judgment in a suit against Starns for damages. Mrs. Starns later divorced her husband for alleged defamation of character.

Dr. Newsom's story of his abduction from Hammond and of being tarred and feathered at a lonely spot in nearby Livingston parish where Starns operated a store, created a sensation in 1930. Ike Starns and four of his brothers were indicted on five charges in connection with the crime, but the case resulted in a mistrial.

NEW BOOKS IN CITY LIBRARY

PITCAIRN'S ISLAND, by Nordhoff and Hall. In this book you will finish the great trilogy by Nordhoff and Hall. This book completes the Bounty's Mutinies, and tells of the establishment of a tiny kingdom on an isolated island, which was sacked by internal strife.

GO RED THE ROSE, by Stark Young. The American novel that has swept the county, the most popular novel of the year. A marvelous story of the old south, a book that everyone will want to read.

NOW IN NOVEMBER, by Josephine Johnson. The novel deals with the life of the Haldmarnes, three daughters, father and mother, on a small farm in the mid-west. The father is working it as a last resort in an effort to provide some security for his children. The story is laid around the tenth year of their life on the farm. It is a year of drought, and in it occur all the significant experiences of the Haldmarnes life, passion, insanity, and death.

It is not an exciting book but one that deals with the actualities of life. It shows the part of life that is not seen, this is a book you will not want to miss reading.

FLUSH, by Virginia Woolf. A previous Book of the Month biography. This is a perfectly delightful biography of Elizabeth Barrett's famous cocker spaniel, but in reality "a dog's eye view" as Heywood Brown put it, of the Barrett-Browning romance.

MOLE DEADLOCK, by A. P. Herbert. Mrs. Herbert's novel is quite humorous and passes over situations where many writers would prove gross and vulgar, but also it is written with passion. You will ask yourself if it is a farce or a comedy? This novel is a satire on the English marriage and divorce laws, and is creating quite a disturbance among the more conservative M. P.'s, say the London newspapers.

BLACK GOD, by Doris McAnnors-Sutton. Black God is a brilliant picture of the black world of the Upper Congo, where the trees talk to the tree people, where leopard men hunt in packs, where ju-ju is a perfectly sensible way of making life possible in the jungle. This is a wonderful book portraying the life of the black man, a book you will not want to miss reading.

STARS PELL ON ALABAMA, by Carl Cramer. This is an exciting book. We see the characters in this book as they browse over the mint-juleps and admit to one another that the two places in the world where civilized man can comfortably live are Paris and Alabama. Every one will enjoy a good laugh if you read this book.

YEARS ARE SO LONG, by Josephine Lawrence. The question in this book is, what happens to old people who have taken no thought of the future, have never saved when it was no longer necessary to save for their children? What do the children owe them since they have created their own homes and have their obligations to meet? This is a book every man and woman should read, and profit by it.

42 YEARS IN THE WHITE HOUSE, by Irwin (Ike) Hoover. Here is a fascinating story telling of the personal characteristics, the peculiarities, and the intimate daily lives of presidents and their wives, from Benjamin Harrison to Franklin D. Roosevelt, recorded by the chief usher of the White House, the only man who lived in daily contact with them.

BREADON WILL CONFER WITH WENTZ TODAY

LOU STILL INTENT ON BUYING ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15. (P)—delayed a day because of illness of Louis H. Wentz, wealthy Oklahoma oil producer, the expected transfer of the controlling interest in the St. Louis Cardinals baseball club from Sam Breadon to Wentz may be affected today.

Wentz was apparently recovered from his brief illness last night and he indicated plainly that he hopes to become the next owner of the St. Louis club.

"If I do come to St. Louis as owner of a baseball club," he said, "I want to do so just that way, as a baseball man and not as a millionaire oil producer."

"I have always been an ardent baseball fan from my early youth, my keenest interest in the game dating back to the days in which I played, semi-professional baseball in and around Pittsburgh and to the days I spent as coach of the high school baseball team there."

Asked if Branch Rickey would continue with the Cardinals in event the deal goes through, Wentz replied emphatically:

"He certainly will."

Breadon announced his position in the matter remained the same, putting the next move up to Wentz, but the latter, when asked if he had any reply to make to Breadon's declaration, said yesterday: "I expect to have another conference with Mr. Breadon tomorrow."

Wentz would not say whether Breadon's price was satisfactory, nor would he name the figure. It has been reported that Breadon's figure was between $1,000,000 and $1,250,000.

Coyotes Are Thick In Garza County

POST, Nov. 15. (P)—Coyotes in larger numbers than in past years are roving through Garza and bordering counties according to G. W. Bradley, well known rancher living about 25 miles northeast of Post on the Garza county line.

"I have seen more coyotes this summer and early fall than I have ever seen before in the years I have lived here," said the veteran rancher. "There have been more on my ranch and more in my community than I have heard of."

Mr. Bradley came here to confer with W. C. Taylor, county agent, on a poisoning campaign for the pests.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 75,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestine, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 75,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are Nature's chief way of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass 3 pints a day thru the bladder which contains nearly 4 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this amount, your 75,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is the danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, humpback, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out your 75,200 feet of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs and so-called "kidney cures" which claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS, the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get the boxes with PILLS at your druggist.

WESTERNERS TO RISE IN FURY, LUBBOCK WRITER SAYS

LUBBOCK, Nov. 15.—The Lubbock Westerners began 10 days of preparation for their district battle with Pampa November 23 at Harvester field.

With whacking triumphs over Borger and Plainview, Pampa is now galloping neck and neck with Amarillo for the lead in the district.

The Westerners emerged from the conflict with Amarillo Monday in fairly good physical order considering the grilling nature of the struggle.

Besides Calhoun, Morris White was the most damaged. His lonely excursions through the hard-tackling Sandie warriors, netted Morris a pair of painfully but not seriously injured shoulders.

Calhoun agitated his old hip injury, but should be ready to go next week. Also receivers of serious bruises were Robert Allen Hill and Ocie Griggs.

Harvesters Are Tough.

The drill yesterday was not especially rigorous but the tempo at Fair park is to rise in fury this week as the squad goes about repairing the weaknesses apparent Monday, and assembling an offense to halt the husky Harvesters who, thus far, have been impressing as the dominating young men from Amarillo.

The regular outfit that faces Pampa may be a slightly different one from that which started against the Sandies. Jeton "Dago" Meador, small but a vicious blocker and tackler, may have earned himself a first-string slot by his performances Monday after he replaced the injured Ocie Griggs. There may be reorganization and shunting about of several places on the line.

Coia-Fipping.

The Westerners have had beaten everything in their path—and they have played some tough lines this season—up until Monday. But the wheeling, powerful Sandie carriers poured through the Westerner line in a most appalling fashion. This, of course, will be accounted for by lack of position—knocked down.

So there will be nothing but labor for the next fortnight at Fair park as the men prepare for last desperate efforts to throw the district into another triple deadlock. This, of course, will be accounted for by lack of position—knocked down.

According to interscholastic rules such things are to be decided either by the toss of a coin or by vote of members of the district executive committee.

Rice Given More Votes Than Huey P. Long's Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Later returns in an Associated Press poll today served to strengthen the belief of the nation's football experts that Minnesota's Gophers are the most powerful team in the land.

Out of a maximum of 650 points, the Gophers received 635 with 50 newspaper observers placing tickets back of the top of the ranking list and the other 15 who participated in the poll placing them second.

Ranked second by the experts were Stanford's Cardinals with 468 points while Alabama was placed in third position with 438; points back of the top of the ranking list and the other 15 who participated in the poll placing them second.

Ranked second by the experts were Stanford's Cardinals with 468 points while Alabama was placed in third position with 438; points back of the top of the ranking list and the other 15 who participated in the poll placing them second.

The result of the poll was marked by several peculiar placings. Stanford and Santa Clara, both undefeated, each tied for 10th position to which they played one another—yet Stanford was placed second in the list and Santa Clara no better than eleventh. Ohio State's only defeat of the campaign was a 14-13 setback by Illinois yet the Buckeyes were placed in ninth position, behind Illinois sixth, Colgate's Red Raiders, whom Ohio State defeated, 10-7, were listed eighth, a notch ahead of the Buckeyes.

Low Massey Wins From Tracy Cox

DALLAS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Low Massey, hard-hitting 136-pounder of Philadelphia, was awarded a 10-round decision here last night over Tracy Cox, 138, of Indianapolis.

The decision was based and started ringside reporters who had Cox down on their various score tablets for an overwhelming decision.

Tracy was the aggressor, landing the hardest punches and scored a clean knockdown in the fifth. He reeked Massey several times with rights to the chin, and knocked Low across the ring in the final round with a left hook.

The Associated Press score sheet gave Cox 6 rounds, Massey 1, and 3 were tallied as even. George White, sports editor of the Dallas News, gave Cox 6 rounds, Massey 3, and called 1 even. George Anderson, judge, voted for Cox, but Referee Bennie Bickers and George Schepers, the second judge, voted for Massey.

FATS AND LEANS WILL CLASH IN CLASSIC TOMORROW NIGHT

Secret Practice Is Held; Controversies Reach A New Peak Among Teams.

Participants in the Fat and Lean football game, to be played at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at Harvester field, will be fitted for uniforms at 7:45 o'clock tonight at the high school gymnasium. The gymnasium has been divided by a stone wall and the Fats will be confined to one side and the Leans to the other so that there will be no battles.

Following secret workouts behind closed gates last night, the two teams were called into huddles, we know not where, and final preparations for the big contest were outlined by Coach C. P. Buckler to the Fats and Coach C. E. "Dan" McGrew to the Leans. Both teams will have light workouts tonight, the big fellows at 8:30 o'clock and the thin boys at 9:30 o'clock.

Admission will be 15 cents for students and 25 cents for adults. Proceeds will go to the A. A. U. W. scholarship fund. The game is not an invitation affair. Any person in the city desiring to take part in the contest will be given a uniform tonight.

The Leans literally "blew up" last night when they learned that the Fats had signed Hezard Mackie. Coach McGrew declared that Mackie lived one-tenth of a mile closer to Frog pond than to Duck pond and was therefore eligible to play with the heavyweights. The skinny crew also declared that the A. A. U. W. committee, headed by C. A. Clark, was favoring the Fats because her husband, "Constant King" was on the team. The committee ruled that Hinkle, Gillham, and Perkins had graduated to the Fat class but that Cecil was still a thin.

The same committee is investigating the rumor that Referee Jim Groom has announced that he will favor the team that gives him the biggest apple. It seems that Jim has developed a liking for apples recently—his girl gave him a lemon the other day.

And tomorrow work for the committee is the Fats' protest that C. T. Hunkapillar, who gathered his knowledge of football from a board of education, is ineligible to play for the skinny clan because of being on the inside. Tom Doswell is also being contested because of the transfer rule.

New names are appearing on the rosters and there is still doubt as to the starting lineups. Captains Neal Bean of the Fats and H. H. of the Leans have promised to release their starting lineups to the NEWS tomorrow afternoon.

The weatherman has promised a nice night for the big contest.

WENTZ NAMED AS POSSIBLE BUYER OF BROOKLYN'S CLUB

BY EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Brooklyn, where the Dodgers are always reported about to be sold, rises again to deny these rumors vehemently, and at the same time cast one strong vote for Louis Haines "Lew" Wentz, the Ponca City, Okla., millionaire who is dickering for the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I guess he's about the only guy around here who's got the money to do it with. He'd be a great asset to baseball."

Quinn is better acquainted with Wentz than he is with the rumored seekers after the Brooklyn franchise, who range all the way from Col. Tillinghast L'Hommedieu Hus-

Harvester SURVIVOR OF GAME MAY GO TO ROSE BOWL

By HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—It may be "on to the Rose Bowl" for the survivor of Saturday's traditional football clash between Colgate and Syracuse.

It is much too early, perhaps, to hazard a guess on the annual question—who is going to Pasadena?—but there are strong grounds for believing that either one of the up-state New York teams has as good a chance as any and a much better one than most.

Last year Stanford, the far western representative, surprised practically the entire populace by inviting Columbia, beaten by Princeton during the regular campaign, to play in the Rose Bowl after the undefeated Tigers had announced they would decline any bids for a post-season game.

Now the Cardinals are almost certain to represent the far west for the second year in a row and once more their choice may fall on an eastern team.

If it does, either Syracuse or Colgate, depending upon which emerges the winner on Saturday, would be strongly in the running. Princeton, heading toward another undefeated season, probably would be the natural choice but it is doubtful if the Tigers will even be invited in view of old Nassau's policy on post-season football.

Pitt would be another possibility but the Panthers' two stunning routings by Southern California still are remembered in Pasadena. Neither Army or Navy, in all probability, would be available.

Thus it seems to simmer down to Colgate or Syracuse if an eastern team is to be selected.

Thanks to Colgate's magnificent performance against Tulane last week, the Red Raiders probably will rule slight favorites on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Voss have returned from a two week vacation trip to Arkansas and Oklahoma, where they visited relatives and enjoyed hunting and fishing.

GROOM'S TIGERS WILL INVADE PANTHER LAIR

The Class B conference race in this section of the Interscholastic League will close Friday afternoon with three games. Only one game will be to decide a sectional championship, and it is expected to be closely fought.

The "big game" will see the Groom Tigers invading the lair of the Panhandle Panthers. Both teams are undefeated in conference competition this season but are defeated in non-conference play. Panhandle is the favorite because of speed and reserve strength, but the Tigers are strong in the line and at passing.

Both teams use a running attack that has yet to be effectively stopped this season. Coach Kendrick has been putting his Tigers through two weeks of strenuous training for the crucial game. Coach Pat Gerald of the Panthers has been working on an improved attack, with much care on a pass defense.

LeFors will go to Clarendon for a conference game but it will have no bearing on the section. McLean already being the champions. LeFors should win by a large score.

Mobeetle and Canadian will tangle in the other conference affair at Mobeetle. That district has also been settled, with Shamrock being the winning aggregation.

Shamrock and McLean will meet in a bi-sectional play-off, the date to be set. The winner of the Panhandle-Groom game will meet Spearman, the team that downed Ferryton last week, in another bi-sectional contest.

"Huh, talking about Fat and Lean football games—I've got a bunch of pipeliners out at my place that can really be classed as a heavyweight football team," declared Howard Neath, superintendent of the Humble Pipeline company.

Howard, to prove his statement, weighed his "beef trust" and the actual weight of the 11 men he has selected for his team totaled 2,456 pounds, or an average of 223 pounds per man. The men ride to work every day on a truck which groans and creaks under the terrific weight.

Here is the Humble starting lineup with weights:

Name	Position	Weight
Slaton	end	215
Fries	quarterback	240
Vaughn	tackle	222
Davis	center	260
Bond	guard	240
Atkins	tackle	235
Roberts	end	210
Sehon	quarterback	198
Hogue	half	205
McGregor	half	206
Wiggs	full	225

Wrestler Jack Purdin, known as the alligator farmer, actually owns an alligator farm near Miami, Fla. He spends three months of each year in Florida, always managing to get "back home" for the dog races and horse races.

Purdin has more than 1,500 alligators on his farm. He says there is money in the business but that he can't keep out of the wrestling game.

Purdin is the originator of the famous alligator clutch hold, one of the most deadly in the wrestling game. Few grapplers have been able to break the hold once it is properly applied.

PARIS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Prince Alex Mdivani pointed today to a costly all-night party, with dinner, champagne and dancing, to prove that all is well between him and the princess, heiress to a 5 and 10 cent store fortune.

The occasion not only marked the 22nd birthday of the former Barbara Huton, Prince Mdivani explained, but also was designed "to end rumors of a rift in our happiness."

"I hope everyone will now realize we are happily married and love each other," he said.

And the staff of the Ritz, where the party was held in an opulent setting, was happy too. "We rarely get such parties these days," one employee admitted. He estimated the cost of the affair at slightly more than 150,000 francs (about $7,750).

The 120 guests, who included princes, a duchess, three barons, 13 counts, a lord and two baronets, among other titled aristocrats, danced until 4 a. m. in a ballroom transformed into a reproduction of a street in Casablanca, Morocco.

Princess Mdivani will fly to London Sunday en route to New York, while the prince will go to India for polo. He said they would meet in Indo-China early next year.

Bredson was said to be interested in shifting his site of operations to Brooklyn, one of the most prosperous franchises in the National league, if the deal with Wentz for the Cardinals and their farm system goes through.

"I knew Wentz when he sort of hung around the Pittsburgh club before he went out to Oklahoma to make millions in oil," Quinn said. "He's a great fan. He'd certainly be a great addition to big money men like Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox and Fowl Crosley out in Cincinnati, who've lived things up a great deal."

Selling the Dodgers, though, despite all the talk, the arguments between the Judge Steve McKeever and Charlie Ebbets estate interests that have forced the league to step in at times, never has reached a serious stage, Quinn insists.

Building Gains Throughout U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Latest building statistics, showing a marked expansion in operations throughout the country, attracted much attention in Wall Street today in view of the belief in some quarters that construction holds the key to the next phase of economic recovery.

The first convincing signs of an upward trend in building since the boom year of 1925 were noted by observers of the industry.

On the stock exchange a boom in building shares reflects the significance attached to the tangible evidence of broadening construction activity as well as hopes that administration would proceed with proposals for housing on an ambitious scale.

Some Wall Street students of the industry see a parallel with what happened in Great Britain the past few years. Much of England's recovery progress has been ascribed to the relatively high level of building activity there.

A compilation of building permits by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., for October disclosed an increase of 40.9 per cent over September and of 42.9 per cent over the total for October, 1933. The normal seasonal September to October increase is about 2.5 per cent.

AUSTIN'S STATUE REMOVED FROM HALL; ERECTION OF ANOTHER ON BANKS OF SABINE RIVER URGED

Writer Says Homage Should Be Paid To 'Father'

BY PETER MOLYNEUX.

A regrettable incident, considering the approach of the Texas Centennial, was the removal of the statue of the Father of Texas from Statuary Hall last Tuesday. We call Stephen F. Austin the Father of Texas, not merely because that title has been attached to his name traditionally, but because he founded the commonwealth of Texas more truly than any other man in American history founded a commonwealth. A competent authority has said: "Stephen F. Austin was the father of Texas. This is the designation justly accorded to him, as will be testified to by every man who is acquainted with the primitive history of Texas, or its progress as long as he lived. Posterity will never know the worth of Stephen F. Austin, the privation which he endured, the enterprise which he passed, his undying zeal, his ardent devotion to Texas and her interests, and his hopes connected with her glorious destiny." We quote these words because of their author. His name was Sam Houston. Sam Houston said that the title of "Father of Texas" was "justly accorded" to Austin. And now Austin's statue is removed from Statuary Hall in order that Houston's statue might remain there. As we understand it, a new federal law provides that no state may have more than one statue in the hall. And it became the duty of David Lynn, architect of the capital, to decide which statues must go. Texas had two statues in the hall, those of Houston and Austin, and he decided that Austin's statue should be removed. It was removed last Tuesday, exactly one hundred years from the time that Austin was lying in prison in Mexico City because of his loyalty to the interests of Texas. We are glad the architect of the capital made the decision which statute must go. We certainly would not have wanted to see such a choice put up to Texas. We do not think Texas would have found it possible to make such a choice. We certainly would not have known how to make it ourselves. Sam Houston's statue should be in Statuary Hall. There can be no question about that. There have lived few Americans, and they the greatest, whose right to such an honor may be said to have been better than Sam Houston's. But to say that there is more or greater reason for his statue to be in the hall than there is for Austin's statue to be there—we couldn't say that. For it would not be true. This may not be well understood outside of Texas. But all Texans understand it. Houston's fame is more widely diffused throughout the United States than Austin's because Houston's career was lived out on a broader stage—that of the United States—whereas Austin's career was confined to Texas. Moreover, Houston, although he was already president of the Republic of Texas when Austin died, outlived him by 27 years, most of which was spent in the spotlight of national politics, and in 1860 was seriously considered in other sections of the country as a possible candidate for president of the United States. Outside of Texas Austin was never widely known as Houston was known. That is why it will seem a matter of course in order that Houston's statue should remain. But in Texas we would have a difficult time making such a choice.

Houston vs. Austin. It is a curious law, it seems to us, which decrees that the statues of two men so equally regarded by the people of so important a state as Texas may not both remain in Statuary Hall. Neither was merely a local figure. Both impressed themselves on American history. Of Stephen Austin it can be truly said that he was the pioneer who carried Anglo-American civilization west of the national boundary of 1810, which stopped at the Sabine, the Red, and Arkansas rivers. He planned Anglo-American civilization west of the Sabine so deeply that it could never be uprooted, and that is the pivotal fact in relation to the expansion of the United States to the Pacific coast. As to Sam Houston, it is an anomalous circumstance that he is not remembered today for the things which made him a national figure in the United States during his life time. To Texas, of course, he is the leader who won Texas independence at San Jacinto. But that is not for this that he was known throughout the country in the 'fifties. It was not for this that the general committee of the democratic party of New Hampshire, for example, adopted a resolution suggesting Sam Houston as "the people's candidate" for president in 1836. It was rather such things as the spectacle of Houston standing on the floor of the United States senate as the sole democrat in opposition to the Kansas-Nebraska act, and warning his fellow democrats that this measure not only would split the party, but would set on foot an agitation, the termination of which "the youngest child now born will not live to see." It was Sam Houston sacrificing his seat in the senate rather than countenance the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. Sam Houston running successfully for governor of Texas on a platform opposed to secession. Sam Houston vacating the office of governor rather than take the oath of allegiance to the Southern Confederacy, on the ground that would violate his oath to support the constitution of the United States. He was a great American at a time when there were few Americans left, when most of the rest of the population had divided into Northerners and Southerners. Why is it necessary that his statue be placed in Statuary Hall by a single state? Statue on Sabine. Texas should honor Austin in some special way during the Centennial period. This would have been done in any event, but the removal of his statue from Statuary Hall just at this time serves to emphasize its fitness and makes it doubly imperative. And in this connection we should like to make a

Eagle Pass Fort Will Be Leased; City Loses Fight

EAGLE PASS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Old Fort Duncan, or Camp Eagle Pass as it was known in the World War period, is to be leased to the highest bidder, the eighth corps area headquarters has advised municipal authorities here. The 200-acre, weed-covered tract on the south-central side of the city contains 12 rock buildings, the remnants of a powerful fort in the days of Gen. Zachary Taylor and Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Leasing of the post will terminate a 2-year fight of the city to get the property for a municipal park. The movement began in 1932 with the introduction by Speaker John Garner of a bill to give or sell the post for a nominal sum. The bill remained in the house military affairs committee during the session but received an adverse report when returned in 1933. Introduced in a different form by Rep. Milton H. West in 1934, the bill was passed by congress but was vetoed by President Roosevelt on the score that it was not proper form.

Eagle Pass people view the post property as both a detriment and an opportunity. Situated in the center of the city it is a barrier to progress. An unsightly area which cannot be screened nor improved because it is federal territory. Fine of the town business thoroughfares end at its barbed-wire fence. Traffic from the southeast side of the city must detour 4 blocks northward in order to get around the mesquite pasture and its crumbling buildings. If it were turned over to the city it would be divided into blocks and part of it sold for home and business sites in accordance with plans of the city commission. The remainder would be laid off for a park and golf course in connection with the city park on the south side where there is a municipal swimming pool and baseball field.

Mrs. Roosevelt To Give Masked Party

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt broke another precedent today when her secretaries mailed invitations for the first White House masquerade party with the memory of man.

The party, December 8, will be to console the distaff side of the new deal for being barred from the semi-annual sabbath staged by newspapermen of the Gridiron club. To these "Gridiron widows" went cards saying: "You are invited to come in costume with mask. Prizes will be awarded for the three costumes judged best by a committee. Those winning prizes will be called upon to perform on a stage in any way they wish."

Roy Wright, Texas company engineer of Wichita Falls, is here with Mrs. Wright and Roy Jr. for a few days.

Will Irwin to Talk at College

CANYON, Nov. 15.—Wallace R. Clark, professor of music and head of the Lyceum committee of the West Texas State Teachers college announced recently the coming lyceum attractions of the year.

Some time during the next nine-week period a member of the former Byrd Expedition will present an illustrated lecture. During the same period Will Irwin, eminent lecturer will give an address. Dramatic interests envelop the first nine weeks of the second semester. The public will be privileged to witness an exhibition of the Pollard Players—artists of noteworthy talent and renown.

As the final attraction of the lyceum season, the Curtis String quartet will be presented. No definite dates for any of these attractions have been arranged.

COW GIVES MILK DESPITE BARBED WIRE IN HEART

VINTTA, Okla. (AP)—A dairy cow's business bent to produce milk, Pansy Buttergill kept right on doing it despite a gash in her heart.

Pansy, ailing for two months, was examined by veterinarians who found barbed wire had punctured the stomach wall and pierced the heart to a depth of almost an inch. Surgery removed the wire, the heart was stitched, and Pansy's health immediately improved. At no time was her milk flow impaired.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED

DALLAS—E. R. Smith, 42, felt the sudden sting of a mosquito on his foot as he rode in his automobile. He grabbed an automatic shotgun on the seat and started scratching the bite with the muzzle. A forgotten cartridge discharged and shattered his foot. Physicians amputated it.

NOW HE'S IN THE ROUGH

PHILADELPHIA—Richard Gaughan, 49, a caddy, knows when and how to use a spoon on the links, but police say he picked a shovel when he came home late one night and found dinner wasn't ready. His appetite got the better of him, the police explained. Not that he ate dinner with the shovel—oh, no. He hit his wife over the head with it. Her skull was fractured. He was arrested.

Arizona's Mower Wins His Point

PARKER, ARIZ., Nov. 15 (AP)—Arizona's national guardsmen were ready for trouble today, but the threat of it had vanished.

The guardsmen waited here, 18 miles south of the Parker dam site, expecting Governor B. B. Mower to recall them now that work on the Arizona side of the Colorado river has been halted by the United States reclamation bureau.

It was to protect the state against an "invasion" that Governor Mower declared martial law in a three-mile area along the damsite and ordered 101 machine gunners and riflemen to stop construction crews from working on the Arizona side.

The sudden change shifted the center of Arizona's fight for half the power developed by the dam and 2,800,000 acre-feet of water from Boulder dam out of the war zone into the conference room.

Interior Secretary Ickes has set Thursday for hearing Arizona's claim and the protests of four neighboring states, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming.

ON STEERING THE MIDDLE COURSE

The headlines are full of "viewing with alarm" statements, some based on very good reasoning. This country has gone a long way toward socialism and radicalism. Indeed, it appears that we are to have some sort of socialism, before long, and we'd better be thinking about which brand we wish under the name of the new democracy.

The Liberty League would like to go backward to the simpler principles of the old democracy, but it looks as if our day is a bit too complex for that, and rapidly getting more so. Society women of New York are joining the "fight to save America from radicalism." The more conservative element of the democratic party is little less concerned.

We cannot forget, moreover, that America has grown into a great and powerful nation. She could not have done this without a generous measure of individual initiative and opportunity. We cannot shelve the old order without losing a great deal that is fine and proper and vital to our strength as a people.

The best thinkers of the democratic party do not wish to kill and bury the republican party. A party of opposition is necessary under our form of government. Such a party tends to focus and control public opinion, which otherwise would likely fly off at all sorts of radical tangents.

Mr. Roosevelt has been embarrassed more than once by the fact that his aides were traveling too fast. He needs a governor on his program. That influence must come from a sane and constructive opposition.

Despite his progressiveness, Mr. Roosevelt listens to all viewpoints on most questions. He has republicans as close advisers, in addition to the very liberal-minded "brain trust." He is going too far in some directions, chiefly because he has been over-impressed by certain groups.

We are tending to travel faster in social progress than in economic recovery. What we would like to do is being pushed more than a consideration of what we can safely do. But we are going forward, not backward. We are re-defining liberty, as Senator William E. Borah did recently, to recognize that "there is no liberty worthy of the name without economic freedom and social justice." At the moment, conservative business men fear these two aims are highly conflicting. It will not be so if good judgment reigns and mutual respect is kept alive by both laborers and business men.

The middle course is the right course, and it is no retreat from the newly defined principles of human relations.

With all the flying being done to and from Australia, that continent seems so close now, the bootleggers and racketeers soon may include it in their territory.

Japanese fans cheered Babe Ruth and his teammates at their first game in Japan. At least, Americans hope that the sound the Japanese made was a cheer.

TEXAS HISTORY

Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

Interested in affairs at home, the Spanish officials were not willing to help Father Francisco Hidalgo re-establish the Spanish mission in Texas. Father Hidalgo, who had been at the Mission de los Tejas, in desperation wrote to Governor Cadillac of Louisiana in 1711. The letter reached Cadillac at a most propitious time. He was anxious to make Louisiana one of the greatest commercial centers in the new land, and at the same time keep on friendly terms with other nations and with the Indians.

Louis Juchereau de Saint Denis, fearless, impulsive, and dashing young explorer, was selected to take 10,000 livres of merchandise and go to Father Hidalgo in Mexico, and buy cattle and horses. St. Denis had been interested in the land of the Tejas Indians, and 11 years before he had gone with a party up the Sabine river on the Louisiana side, looking with longing eyes at the land to be explored. What an adventure it would be—the trip to far-away Mexico!

Until the French began their explorations again, the Spanish were blind to the fact that they were not taking advantage of a valuable possession. The missions that had been built were speedily garrisoned with married men, who came with their entire families to live within the mission-forts. The thing Father Manzanares had prayed for and pleaded for—physical aid for his priests—had come at last—but only thru an indirect means.

St. Denis reached Mexico, and soon became good friends with Captain Domingo Ramon. He was made chief guide, and went with Ramon to set up a mission close to the old Tejas mission. No records show that St. Denis bought the cattle he was supposed to buy, for at San Juan he married the beautiful Dona Maria, granddaughter of Captain Ramon, and lived in the new land.

of missionary and commercial activities. Spanish titles were definitely established to the Rio Grande, and Texas suddenly acquired a new significance as a land worth owning and worth inhabiting.

Children quit their play to gather pebbles and rocks as large as they could carry, to make the stone piles higher. Mothers and fathers cheerfully poured their day's supply of milk into the mortar the laymen were mixing. Mission San Antonio de Calero was being built, and tradition has it that men, women and children helped with the construction.

Father Olivares selected the site for the mission in 1718. He believed that the head of the San Antonio river would be better than building more missions in East Texas. Before many months had passed, the mission was completed, with its high wall around the court, and special rooms for the Indian converts. Two years later Mission San Jose was built, and soon after, Mission Concepcion, San Francisco, and San Juan were landmarks for the hosts of travelers who were beginning to make a real road out of the path which led from Mexico to San Fernando de Bexar, Bahia, and Nacogdoches.

Although the Indians did not accept Christianity without bribes and promises, and had to be locked in an indirect means.

About New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER.
NEW YORK—Sometimes the city, like a kindly mother, clasps some forlorn fledgling to its breast...

The only catch is that sometimes the human interest stories backfire—as in the case of that pathetically destitute and maimed old soldier who turned out to be a large property owner with so much coin that he could have financed several relief organizations.

They haled him into court and the tale he told would have made General Sherman's statue burst into tears. The lively countenance that the spectators wear turned solemn under it. His wife had forsaken him, as had his three daughters. One wondered if he were not drawing on Shakespeare here. Anyway, he had been shot to pieces in the Spanish-American war. He had come home to fight the good fight for home and respectability, but one by one the things that he loved had broken faith, and so, yer honor, it wasn't his fault if he had to sacrifice self-respect and beg an occasional dime on the street corner, was it?

Oh My, An Error!
And so they referred him to a welfare organization so that his days, now that they were in the serene and yellow leaf, might be made more comfortable.

Everything went along jolly well until they unearthed the fact that the old duffer had never been to war, that he owned five or six pieces of property worth thousands of dollars, and that he had been up seven times before, under different names, for vagrancy.

P. S.: He's in the hoosegow now.

It's a 'Gag.'
Another form of fleecing the public is the Old Wives Tale, spun by a forlorn seller of sheet-music.

The gag is this: The doorbell rings and when you open the door you are confronted by a whining old crone who holds up two or three brightly colored pieces of sheet music.

"Please, sir," she says, "my husband is an epileptic from the war and he has written a song. If we sell enough copies we can get it on the radio and make a little money. It's only a dime."

Then the hard-boiled man reaches down into his pocket and passes her the coin.

As a matter of fact, the incapacitated "husband" who was wrecked by the war is really some petty gangster who has dozens of women working for him. All are schooled in the ear-jerker spiel and then assigned to different districts. For Welfare Island birds are really tough. The other day a prisoner staggered into the hospital and called for aid. Somebody had stabbed him through the skull with a pocket-knife and the knife was still protruding from his head when the surgeons got to him. To complicate matters the handle broke off.

"You feel any pain?" he was asked.
"Now," replied the patient. "It don't hurt none."

Airship Half Of Macon's Size To Be Built, Maybe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—The navy general board has recommended that an airship about half the size of the Macon be built for training purposes pending determination of the exact place lighter-than-air craft should hold in the nation's naval program.

Secretary Swanson said at his press conference that the policy-making board favored construction of an airship of 2,500,000 cubic feet capacity.

He added, however, that he had not given his approval to the suggestion and that, he believed, additional airplanes, men and service vessels were more important than building additional airships.

ONLY REPUBLICAN ELECTED NOVEMBER 6 FROM INDIANA DIES

CONGRESSMAN ALSO PENNED 'COPPERHEAD'

WAS BROTHER OF KENESAW MOUNTAIN LANDIS

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Nov. 15 (AP)—Frederick Landis, congressman-at-large from the second Indiana district, newspaper columnist, radio commentator and author, died of pneumonia this morning in the Cass county hospital. He was 62 years old.

The only republican elected to congress from Indiana in the Nov. 6 election, Landis had been critically ill for several days. His condition was aggravated by a heart disability.

Members of his family including his brother, Kenesaw Mountain Landis, national baseball commissioner, and his son, Kenesaw Mountain Landis II, had been summoned to the bedside.

In political circles, it was said a special election will be required to fill the vacancy in the Indiana congressional delegation.

From the speaking platform, thru his newspaper column and over the radio Landis was widely known for his comment on current topics, both political and social.

In the political arena, he was a terror to his opponents, keen at repartee and biting in criticism of those opposed to his principles. He was known as a vote getter—he could sway his hearers by brilliant oratory.

Some of his best friends called him eccentric, but all were agreed as to his fortitude and his ability to succeed in his numerous endeavors. Although a lawyer, he practiced little.

Landis was born at Seven Mile, in Butler county, Ohio, August 18, 1872. He was graduated from the University of Michigan, and opened a law office in Logansport in 1893.

He was editor of a Logansport newspaper for several years, and it was there he started a syndicated column which dealt with current topics of the day.

Landis wrote several books, outstanding of which was "The Copperhead". It was produced as a play on the stage. Others were "The Glory of His Country" and "Days Gone Dry."

The widow and six children—Kenesaw M., Frederick B., Elizabeth Ann, Frances Katherine, Charles Walter, and Lincoln Landis—survive.

Dr. Stefansson Visits In Texas

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 15 (AP)—His next exploration trip probably will be in the American tropics, declared Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, famed Arctic explorer, on a visit here recently. Dr. Stefansson shed his coat and declared he enjoyed the hot weather at Brownsville. "I like hot weather as well as cold," he said. "In fact I like all kinds of weather."

Dr. Stefansson said he had explored some in the African tropics but had never been in the tropics of the Americas and hoped to make that his next exploring venture.

Olson Predicts Agrarian Revolt Or Farm Justice

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 15 (AP)—Governor Floyd B. Olson, recently re-elected, predicted today there would be an agrarian political revolt with a possible national third party unless equality is obtained for agriculture.

A supporter of President Roosevelt, Governor Olson said the possibility of a third party "depends on what Mr. Roosevelt does—he has control of everything now and the people expect him to deliver."

Mentioned frequently as a possible third party candidate for president, Governor Olson asserted that in the event of such a "revolt," he would be in the fight, but not as a candidate.

"I will predict one thing," he said, "either we get equality for agriculture, or we get an agrarian political revolt in a couple of years. All third parties in the past have originated in agrarian centers and that's where it will come from, if it does."

His bride's mother before the wedding promised him $1,000, a bedroom suite and said her daughter would keep her $18-a-week job for at least a year, he told Judge Vivian F. Gable. It wasn't so bad when he failed to get the $1,000 and the bedroom suite, Forman said, but he just couldn't keep his wife, Freda, at work. To make matters worse, the judge ordered him to pay $8 weekly support.

PREACHER IS ACQUITTED BY JUDGE IN 'KIDNAPING' HOAX

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Judge I. M. Meekins in federal district court today directed a verdict of acquittal for R. H. Askew, young "four-square gospel" evangelist of Goldsboro, who was charged with perpetrating a "kidnaping" hoax and attempting to collect $25,000 ransom from his wife.

Judge Meekins directed the clerk to enter the verdict after the defense had presented three medical witnesses who testified as to the mental capacity of Askew at the time he

First Big Fog Of Winter Stops English Traffic

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—A barrier against shipping and traffic in much of England and Scotland was thrown up today by the first big fog of winter.

Shipping in the Bristol channel, on the Mersey river and the River Clyde did not venture to move. Boats for Dublin and Belfast were held up.

Several motor collisions resulted in the London area as the fog came down from the northwest, showing one of its most frequent characteristics—patchiness.

People in parts of central London were astonished to hear of fog on the outskirts but realized it when motors, trains, and buses for the suburbs suddenly applied their brakes, having run into an unsuspected fog bank.

The country westward to Bristol and northward to Glasgow was smothered. Some trains cancelled their runs.

Big Lake Resident Killed By Trailer

BIG LAKE, Nov. 15 (AP)—Dee Jolley, 34, of Big Lake was killed near here today when he jumped from his truck and was run over by the trailer.

Jolly thought the truck was turning over, according to Barge White, who was with him. Ignition trouble caused Jolly to turn off the lights temporarily and the truck turned into a ditch. White stayed with the truck and was unhurt.

Jolly, a truck operator and blacksmith, is survived by his widow and two children.

REGULATION OF LIQUOR TRAFFIC PROVES COSTLY

Costs Two-Thirds As Much Now As In Dry Years

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The government is spending two-thirds as much to regulate the liquor traffic as it did at the height of efforts to enforce prohibition.

Enforcement activities of the alcohol tax unit are costing about $10,000,000 a year. The alcohol control administration, charged with supervision of manufacturers and wholesalers, requires $270,000,000 more.

The cost of federal enforcement during prohibition ranged from $2,059,000 in 1920 to $15,547,000 in 1932.

None of these figures takes into account the expense of rum chasers by the coast guard. Its expenditures have been curtailed slightly since repeal.

Secretary Morgenthau has ordered his tax unit to conduct unceasing war on the bigger bootleggers. New enforcement devices have been developed. One old favorite—wire-tapping, which aroused protest in prohibition days—has been brought into play again.

Trading in used liquor bottles has been outlawed to keep them from falling into the hands of bootleggers. Beginning January 1, liquor firms will be required to use bottles with a special symbol, and a warning against refilling, blown into the glass. Uncle Sam is trying to collect all taxes he can. Brewers have been ordered to install meters—whose keys are kept by federal agents—to measure the flow of beer from storage vats into bottles and kegs. The meters click every time 31 gallons flows through them. Each click means $5 for Uncle Sam.

Twenty-nine states where liquor sales have been legalized also are wrestling with regulation. Their liquor taxes vary widely, from 2 cents a gallon in one to $1.10 in another. Many tax spirits at 50 cents a gallon.

Lieut. Commander E. F. Lowry of the navy was a defense witness this morning, testifying that Askew was discharged from the navy in 1926 at Norfolk, Va., after he had been absent without leave and then placed under observation for two months.

The officer testified that Askew's trouble was diagnosed as a constitutional inferiority psychosis and he disappeared "as a flight from reality."

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouths and it had breath. We feel like a whipped tomato, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. ### Was Drought Of '86 Worse Than Drought Of '34?

AMARILLO, Nov. 15 (AP)—The problem of deciding whether the drought of '86 to '34 was worse has turned into one of much discussion. For instance, a strong supporter of the '34 dry spell declares that in '86 the people did not have to go to the state and federal capitols and threaten hunger strikes in order to get relief.

Here are main arguments for the drought of '86:

"Please send me a down Winchester rifle." Notation found in XIT ranch records.

"250 miles to nearest postoffice, 100 miles to wood, 20 miles to water—God bless our home. Gone to live with wife's folks"—chalked sign found on a vacant house in West Texas in '86.

"Kansas City is working up a subscription fund for relief of West Texas sufferers of the drought."—Tascosa Pioneer in '86.

While the debate remains unsettled, "Uncle Dick" Russell of Canadian, former Indian fighter and buffalo hunter, goes back 12 years on the '86 advocates and contends that '74 was drier than '34.

"The drought in '74 did not last so long as this one," said the pioneer who will celebrate his eighty-second birthday Nov. 18. "It started raining Sept. 4 and must have rained a foot before it quit.

"But it was drier than that it has been this year. It was so dry that year that cotton planted along the Brazos river dried up and blew away.

Droughts may be like classic literature—not fully appreciated until mellowed with age.

President Will Visit In South For Two Weeks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt undertook a heavy schedule today to speed up his recovery plans prior to departure on Thursday for a trip through the south.

Once again, relief and unemployment problems dominated the White House considerations with Secretary Perkins and Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, on the calling list.

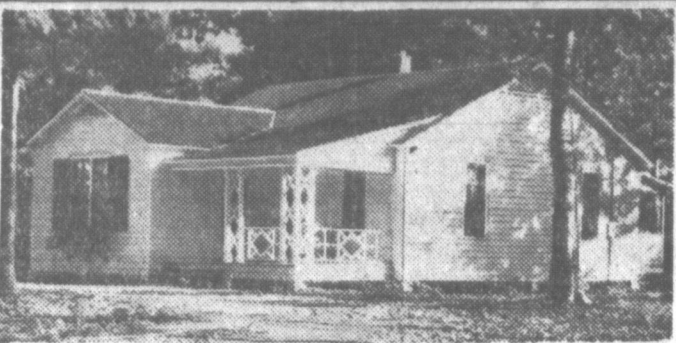

Mr. Roosevelt called in the cabinet for its regular session and devoted a share of the day with Donald Richberg, director of the emergency council.

The president hoped to receive all of the many reports now under preparation by immediate aides before going south where he will formulate policies to be announced probably in a radio talk to the nation upon his return here early in December.

Leaving the White House Thursday, Mr. Roosevelt will travel by special train to Harrodsburg, Ky., to dedicate a monument to the pioneers of that state on Friday morning.

He then will proceed through the Tennessee valley by way of Knoxville, Nashville, Muscle Shoals, Alabama, and Eupelo, Miss., concluding his journey at Warm Springs, Ga., where he will remain over Thanksgiving day.

New Deal 'Cabin in the Cotton'

Good fortune beyond their dreams has come to W. H. Smith, cotton farmer on poor relief, and his family. Thanks to U. S. Colonization Project No. 1 in Mississippi county, Arkansas, the Smiths have moved from a leaky, three-room cabin into the neat home shown above, which has modern plumbing and kitchen equipment and a bathroom and soon will have electricity and running water. With the house, which Smith will buy on easy payments, go 30 acres of land. Below are shown the happy Smiths.

Marian Gordon by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Casad's husband, Lon, just has been put in charge of the East Brazos high school building, which structure his employer, the contractor McSwain, plans to scamp. Lon is being made the goat, and Marian's proof of McSwain's treachery has been lost to her through Lon's stupidity. Now Lon has flounced out of the house because Marian has objected to his taking the school job, and also to McSwain's arrangement to replace Waki, her friend and gardener, with his own head gardener.

Chapter 34. CLEVER FOE. Marion couldn't think clearly. She was too tired, too sick at heart. She heard the purr of a motor, caught the flash of headlights on the windows and turning over, nestled her head into the pillow and feigned sleep. Lon was moodily silent the next morning. He kissed her lightly and went off to work with scarcely a word. Marian did not go to the hilltop, but she didn't need to see the car she heard coming to know to whom it belonged. Only one car had such an asthmatic cough, Waki's.

"Miss Casad say come up fix him garden," Waki explained. "Alla same come after say not come all same say come. I here." Marian gave an unnecessarily brilliant smile in response. Interpreted, Waki's message meant that last night Lon had driven down to do as she asked and she was free of the Hondon gardener. "Alla same come in postman," Waki was saying, working meanwhile to extract a letter from the inside of his sweater. "Come me like you say. See Missa O. K. Waki."

Marian nearly snatched the envelope from his hand. The letter, relayed through the only person she could trust, was from John King, her detective friend. Perhaps in this was the evidence she needed to convince Lon of McSwain's part in her Sacramento trip. She dispatched Waki to look over the grounds and see what was needed to beautify them, while she hurried into the house. Two pages of closely typed words confronted her.

Dear Marian: Sorry to send you this report but it is the best I could do. I'm afraid McSwain is too clever a man for a girl like you to fight single-handed. I'd advise you to talk to your father as soon as possible. Now about the telegrams. I started here, learning the telegram had actually been sent from Sacramento. The wording follows: To Lionel Casad, Confectionary Office, East Brazos High School. Lon, dear, please go to safety deposit box find letter written by Cliff Hondon stop address and mail to me Congressional Hotel, Sacramento stop send air-mail special delivery stop strictly urgent. Marian.

Marian leaned back in the chair. Clever, how clever. Of course McSwain, knowing it was coming and having arranged to have Lon leave his car at home for her to use in leaving town, was ready to take him to the bank. She was willing to wager that he had also accompanied Lon to the vault and ascertained not only that he had found the right letter, but that he did not have time to read it. McSwain had risked nothing. He was able to gauge Lon's lack of knowledge of the letter, by his attitude towards him. It had never changed from respectful admiration. She turned back to the report: My operative in Sacramento checked with the telegraph office there, learned that Messenger 205 had brought it in and talked to the boy. He said he was hailed from an automobile at the curb. A lady with red hair and dressed in a tan and white sports suit gave him the typewritten message and a substantial tip. Said the car was black with silver V hood trim and that there was a police dog in the car. Again Marian laid the letter aside. She had worn a tan and white sports suit. Lon's car had a silver V hood. It was easy enough to duplicate the colors of a sports suit, easy enough to find a police dog, but how clever. They could have sent this message without the trouble of the masquerade, but, by producing her double, they made proof that she did not send it impossible. She read on:

to find momentary release from her worries.

By Friday she was ready to declare a truce. She felt that even the presence of the Hondon gardener was preferable to this misunderstanding with Lon which persisted like the dull headache of a wound. She made a few overtures that evening, only to be met with monosyllabic answers from Lon.

The next morning, gloomy with a storm brooding in the hills, he stopped at the door. "I'll probably be late tonight," he said, "don't wait dinner for me. I'll eat with the boys—we're having a little get-together."

Marian nodded, afraid to trust her voice. After Lon had left she went to the hilltop. The mountain stood out black against the storm clouds; the valley lay below like a chalice awaiting the rain. (Copyright, 1934, by Jeanne Bowman)

Lon's return, tomorrow, brings terror to Marian.

Birthday Coins Are Desired By Arizona Chief

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP)—Orders for Texas Centennial silver 50c coins are being received in large numbers notwithstanding that the campaign proper has not been launched. Col. E. H. Green of South Dartmouth, Mass., formerly of Dallas, has sent his order for one thousand to be delivered as soon as the distribution program gets under way.

Governor Benjamin B. Meoer of Phoenix, Ariz., and his secretary, H. H. Hotchkiss, have sent orders for coins to Mr. Adair at headquarters of the American Legion Texas Centennial committee here. Secretary Hotchkiss wrote:

"We both came from Texas and are especially interested in the Centennial. My grandfather, William S. Hotchkiss, was in the treasury department of the State of Texas from 1836 to 1870 and my father was born and raised in the city of Austin. Governor Meoer and I both hope that your program will be an entire success." Orders also have been received from the governors of Michigan, Maryland, Indiana, Missouri and other states. Governor-elect James V. Alfred has placed his order for coins for "all the Alfred family."

COLLEGE MEN GET JOBS OKLAHOMA CITY—So great is the lure of politics in the Sooner state that college students don't wait for diplomas before running for office. Six new members of the state house of representatives will appear on the floor direct from the classrooms of the University of Oklahoma. Five are law students. The sixth is a sophomore in the arts and science school.

MYSTERIOUS CRACKS IN EARTH AT CLAUDE ENDANGER HIGHWAY

CLAUDE, Nov. 15 (AP)—The earth is giving trouble again and highway engineers are shaking troubled heads at the antics.

At a point where state highway 5 drops off the cap rock shelf of the plains midway between Claude and Goodnight, mysterious cracks and cavings big enough to cause highway hazards have occurred. The biggest chasm, which was caused by the apparent sinking of the earth, is from two to four feet wide, about 10 feet deep and 30 yards long.

The big crack opened up overnight. It angled toward the highway but played out at the edge of the roadbed.

Numerous other cracks, cavings, and holes have developed in the area and highway engineers expressed fear that a big break might open up overnight across highway 5. For this reason, the site is being patrolled.

Similar cracks appeared in the same area 10 years ago. At that time a chasm four feet wide suddenly opened up across the highway and continued through farms and pastures for more than a mile. The big crack into which fence posts could be dropped without making a sound when they hit bottom gradually closed after heavy rains but its "tracks" still are visible.

Engineers explained that the broken earth did not appear to be "drought cracks" but more like a cave-in. It was pointed out that the earth frequently cracked during extreme drought but the freak disturbances here do not appear to have developed from that cause. Geologists have been called upon to find the probable cause so that action can be taken to remove highway dangers. Engineers said that if the trouble continues, it may be necessary to change the location of the highway.

Highway 5 is the main road between Texarkana and Amarillo.

An unseen army helps Molly Malone serve your telephone

Darkness falls, the myriad lights of the city gleam into life, and Molly Malone, telephone operator, settles herself for the night watch before the long switchboard at the telephone office.

Through the quiet hours she will keep the voice paths of the telephone system open . . . speed on their way words of friendship, of pleasure, of business, perhaps of dire necessity!

But . . . she will not work unaided.

Back of her labors an unseen army, without whose help her job . . . and your telephone service . . . would become infinitely more difficult, more expensive, and less satisfactory.

In a distant city a light burns . . . a scientist bends over a delicate experiment that must be husbanded day and night to become successful. He is one of 4,000 workers at Bell Telephone Laboratories, research organization of the Bell System, dedicated to the task of finding better ways to give good telephone service, at low cost.

Drawing back from the glare of giant furnaces, workmen in a great mid-western factory watch molten metal pour into the moulds.

They are a part of the far-reaching manufacturing and purchasing organization of Western Electric, which buys or makes the 100,000 delicate parts needed in the telephone service . . . and sells them to the operating companies of the System at a cost in most cases below what would have to be paid on the competitive market.

Amos 'n Andy come on the air, their program routed over a nation-wide network of long distance lines. On a far prairie, in a squat brick building housing a maze of cables, coils and gleaming equipment, a lone watcher listens with practiced ear to the "quality" of the tones coming over the wire. Here is a "repeater" station of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, parent company of the Bell System, where weakening voice currents over the long lines that bind together the 24 operating companies of the System are strengthened and sent on their way . . . vital to voice-way communication.

A. T. & T., the parent company . . . Bell Laboratories, the research organization . . . Western Electric, the supply unit of the Bell System. Symbolic, these, of the specialized organization that lies back of Molly Malone . . . and your telephone service.

Without it the telephone service this company gives might be possible. But it could not be service as uniformly good, as quietly accurate, as far-reaching and inexpensive as the service you know today. For every unit which makes up Bell Telephone service has been made to contribute toward furnishing you good telephone service at low cost.

This is a fundamental, and enduring policy in the telephone service. Behind it lies the belief that in an undertaking such as this, planned for the long run, what is best for you as a telephone user becomes in the end the course that will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.
