THOUSANDS OF CITIZENS SEE COLORFUL RITE

CROWD IN LONDON IS GREATEST SINCE WORLD WAR

BY BURDETTE T. JOHNS, Associated Press Foreign Staff. LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Amid scenes of glittering pomp and splendor, George, the youngest son of the king of England, and Marina, lovely member of the former Greek reigning house, were married today at Westminster Abbey, the nation's shrine.

The royal couple said "I will" before three kings and three queens, royalty past and present, titled personages, the diplomatic corps and the elite of the nation's government and social life.

These were among the 1,500 guests who witnessed the union of the 31-year-old Duke of Kent and his 27-year-old bride.

Hundreds of thousands occupied every vantage point outside and cheered the royal processions to the palace. Old London had not seen such scenes since the war.

A short while afterward the union of the duke and the princess was sealed in a second time with the solemnization of the ancient and symbolical Greek Orthodox service when they had returned to Buckingham palace from Westminster Abbey.

Despite the hundreds of thousands who jammed the route to the abbey, the wedding went off in clock-like precision. George and Marina were pronounced man and wife at 1:13, only 13 minutes after the service started.

Their vows after the Archbishop of Canterbury. George's voice was slightly tense and strained, while Marina's was calm with a soft tone. It showed just a slight trace of accent.

The brilliant uniforms of the men and the gorgeous gowns of the women sparkling with costly gems gave the usually somber Abbey a vivid color.

Thousands which only a few minutes before had acclaimed the passage of the wedding party from Buckingham palace to the Abbey packed row upon row of gaily decorated stands erected on the Abbey grounds and in adjacent streets as the venerable, white-haired archbishop pronounced the wedding lines of the Church of England.

"Obey" Used. The Duke of Kent called his bride simply "Marina."

She said, "I, Marina, take thee to my husband."

The word "obey" was used in the service and the archbishop pronounced them man and wife.

King George and Queen Mary, King Haakon and Queen Maud of Norway, and King Christian and Queen Alexandra of Denmark occupied the places of prominence among the royal guests nearest the brilliant white-candled altar with its flickering candles, costly golden plate and altar pieces. Not far away sat former King George of Greece.

The diplomatic corps, in uniform or court dress, sat nearby. The United States' only representative at the wedding, Ambassador Robert W. Bingham, sat with Mrs. Bingham among this group.

The entire cabinet, a number of former cabinet members and other government functionaries occupied other places. Six of the Duke of Kent's servants sat in special seats.

While the service was proceeding the great crowds outside were able to witness the ceremony through loud speakers with practically every man standing bareheaded.

Ceremony Broadcast. It also was broadcast throughout the world.

The gorgeous processions extending the pomp of royalty to the wedding party to the Abbey for the service.

The king in uniform and the queen in fur coat and striking blue dress drove from Buckingham palace in the first procession. They rode in the state coach accompanied by a detachment of household cavalry, brilliant in scarlet uniform.

Marina and her father, Prince Nicholas, rode in the second procession and the third was made up by the Duke of Kent and his family, the Prince of Wales. The duke wore a naval uniform, while Marina wore an ermine cloak over her silver wedding gown.

Three Girls Murdered In Parents' Suicide Pact, Claim

BUT IDENTITY OF QUINTET IS STILL PUZZLE

CIRCUMSTANCES PIECED TOGETHER GIVE CLEWS

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 29 (AP)—The deaths of three little girls abandoned in the Blue Ridge mountains and of a couple shot to death near Altoona were declared today by Major Wm. G. Adams, superintendent of state police, to be "murder and suicide."

Convinced that the children were put to death because they were a "burden" on the impoverished couple, investigators, balked for almost a week, concentrated on these questions: Who are the five victims of the mysterious tragedy? Where did they come from? What caused the deaths of the children found huddled in blankets Saturday on a mountainside near Carlisle?

Police said they were sure that the man shot the woman and himself in the Duncansville shanty near Altoona.

Major Adams said today that the five deaths were a case of murder and suicide "without a doubt."

Another missing link in the chain of circumstance by which police hope to identify the adults and children has been supplied, he disclosed.

THANKSGIVING PRAYER

By Helen Welshimer. We give our thanks that there are crops ingathered. That through the ages the deep-voiced command, That while the earth remains seed-time and harvest, Will never fade or perish from the land.

Has been fulfilled—that there are crops to garner. But oh, Our Father, we have erred somehow Or why with food for multitudes decaying In sun-warmed fields should there be hungry now?

Ours was the unwise planning—we have wandered Away from simple precepts tried and true.

Teach us again old friends, old faiths are better; They served us well—why should we seek the new?

Thou givest life in beauty and abundance. We spoil the pattern, for we seek too swiftly with the threads that need slow plaiting.

We are not satisfied, dear God, to leave The harvest to Thy wise and gracious judgment.

We could do better, foolishly, we thought. Now we have looked upon the desolation That we in ignorance stupidly have wrought.

So as we come once more into the Where sunlight shines, we bring our praise again.

That testing time, strange though it was and weary. Has made us gentler women, braver men!

Hungry Will Eat-Hopkins

Needy Throughout Nation Provided With Thanksgiving Dinners, He Says.

By The Associated Press. The nation paused in its far flung activities today as its millions observed a day of Thanksgiving.

Although rain and snow prevailed in many parts of the country, a festive spirit filled the air.

Today was a day of feasting in which virtually everybody participated. The needy everywhere were provided with holiday dinners.

Said Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator: "Many millions of Americans will sit down to Thanksgiving day dinners provided by the federal relief administration expending federal funds."

"I am thankful that those in need of food will have it." President Roosevelt is observing Thanksgiving day at Warm Springs, Ga. Tonight he will preside at a turkey dinner for a group of young infantile paralysis patients at Warm Springs foundation.

In Plymouth, Mass., where Thanksgiving day was given birth by the Pilgrims 313 years ago, the day will be marked by religious services in the old Pilgrimage church.

I Saw . . .

This telegram from Jack Oakie and it is absolutely not phoney nor ghost-written. David Dallas, Rex Theater, Pampa, Texas.

I am wagering Mary Brian that Amarillo takes Pampa by twenty points. Lamy Ross doesn't know as much about football as I do so he is wagering Lydia Robert that Pampa beats Amarillo by one touchdown. Kindest regards.

JACK OAKIE. (Nice stunt, Dave!)

An egg brought in to Martin's Food store which was ribbed exactly like a football. Evidently this football enthusiasm is an epidemic affecting even the lower animals.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL DRIVE GOES OVER TOP WITH 1,000 MEMBERS

Thanksgiving day brought success to the annual Red Cross roll call, it was announced this morning by Jim Collins, roll call chairman.

The goal was 1,000 memberships. And one thousand memberships in the north half of Gray county were "in hand" today.

Though the drive has gone "over the top" there is still work to be done. Solicitations will continue for several days. Teams are urged to complete their work and to make their final reports as soon as possible.

A number of teams have never reported, although they are known to have covered a part of their territory.

Mr. Collins called attention to the work of one soliciting team in particular—Frank Allison and Al Lawson. This team turned in a sum representing 200 memberships. He also complimented the Parent-Teacher association groups which canvassed the residential districts, and the other solicitors who made the success of the drive possible.

Reports are made to the B. C. D. office, where records of the drive are kept.

Odd Fellows And Rebekahs Will Meet In Pampa

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of lodges over the Panhandle will convene for a rally at Central Baptist church here tomorrow evening.

A program will begin at 7:30, featuring special music by the Methodist quartet and other visitors, and a talk on Odd Fellowship by E. H. McGaha, Central Baptist minister. While the service will be especially for members of the two lodges, it is open to the public and all friends of members are invited to be present.

Sweden Plans Riksdag Birthday

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Sweden next spring will celebrate the 500th anniversary of the founding of the riksdag, its parliament. Committees already are at work on the program.

STARTING LINEUPS FOR TODAY

Probable starting lineups with numbers and weights for the Pampa-Amarillo game this afternoon on Butler field:

Table with columns: Player, No., Wt., Pos., No., Wt., Player. Includes names like Owens, Green, Smith, Haner, Parks, Noblitt, Mumford, Hamilton, Dunaway, Mackie, Nash.

Officials—Holton (Notre Dame); Devault (Texas); Ballard (Austin); Lovorn (TCU).

Brevitorials

DISTINCTION HAS come to Pampa through the achievement of one of its Eagle Scouts in winning a national golfing title for Scouts and readers of Boys Life, the Scout magazine. Robert (Buck) Talley has received one of the most beautiful loving cups ever seen here. He shot a 66 to win the title and the most significant thing about it was that such golf was not new in his experience. He is a credit to his parents, to Scouting, and to Pampa. May his kind increase!

EVERYONE WHO knew C. B. "Brownie" Akers—his cheerful smile, his great energy, his willingness to be helpful—will be interested in the news that he has been made general manager of the Griffith Amusement company of Oklahoma City. Brownie has been in the amusement business and we predict success for him in his promotion. Within a few days, announcement will be made of some other promotions which will affect the local management. The company also is adding to its vast chain of theaters.

"BROWNIE" came to Pampa from Wink to succeed the lamented Roy Siner, who was fatally burned in a gas explosion at the Rex theater. From here he went to Lubbock, where he became a well-known and popular. Of his promotion, the Lubbock Journal's Plainsman this week said:

"With the possible exception of Garland Woodward, now of Big Spring, there has not been a Lubbock newcomer who has been more active or more helpful from a civic angle than has Brownie in the same short length of time.

"The happy, hearty Brownie has never been too busy to lend a helping hand to any worthy enterprise, his vast store of energy and his aggressive mind gets things done in record-smashing time.

"Lubbock—and any other city, for that matter—needs and can use more citizens like Brownie Akers has been here. An almost daily visitor to The Plainsman, Brownie is known here at The Journal, Showman Akers has never been seen in a bad humor or in dampened spirits.

"As his Pampa friends wrote down here at the time of his transfer from that city to Lubbock, 'he'll do to take along, anywhere, any time.' From The Plainsman to Brownie: 'Nice goin', kid, and best of luck!'"

MAYBE NATURE knows more about what will grow in this climate than we do. We were interested in this A. & M. extension service item about our friends in Lipescob county:

"Enslage made from Russian thistles is being fed to the dairy herd of G. A. Robbins and sons of Lipescob county, according to C. M. Gray, farm demonstration agent. Mr. Robbins reports that the ensilage is very palatable and that his production records compare favorably with records from past years for corresponding cows that were fed alfalfa and sorghum hay as roughage when these feeds were more plentiful."

St. Nick Is Amazing; He's Everywhere At Once

Another letter from Santa Claus! And what do you think he wrote this time to Dick Hughes, who has been appointed by the Junior chamber of commerce, sponsors of Santa Day, as a sort of ambassador to the Court of St. Nick to keep the little boys and girls in the huge Pampa territory informed of old Santa's doings.

In answer to questions annually mailed him by youngsters, Santa said he can be the invisible man if he wants to be; that is, he can be right in the room with you and not be seen. Furthermore, he can be a million places at once. That is not surprising though, since he was born 1934 years ago, the same night that Jesus Christ was born of a virgin in a manger in Bethlehem.

Santa Claus, he wrote Dick, is just one of those things you must believe in. So after all when one considers that Santa is that old and that he can travel tens of thousands of miles per second, it is not hard to believe that he can be everywhere at once.

However, there was one thing that Santa made clear in the letter: He won't be the invisible man when he comes here on Santa Day. For the whole world has ever seen him lighting like a streak of great lightning thru the starry night in his toy-heaped sleigh behind those flying reindeer! And they never will write Santa.

Why? Little children always ask why they can never see Santa. All right. Little children never see the Lord Jesus when they say their prayers at night, but they believe in him just the same. It's the same way with Santa! Old St. Nicholas writes that he hopes every child in all the counties surrounding Pampa will be here on Dec. 5—next Wednesday. It's the children he wants to see. The parents will come anyway. Santa hopes there are 10,000 here!

Anthony's Fine New Store Will Open Tomorrow

As announced in a page advertisement in this issue of The NEWS, the C. R. Anthony department store, one of the largest in the city, will open for business tomorrow morning.

Located in the space formerly occupied by Baum's grocery and Hamlett's, the Anthony store has a beautiful home fully remodeled, decorated, and fitted with new furnishings. The front is an attractive introduction to the store within.

This Pampa store, featuring a complete line of reasonably priced merchandise, is No. 51 of the C. R. Anthony organization. The local manager is Tom Aldridge of Hollis, Okla., who was one of Hollis' most prominent citizens. He is assembling a sales force of Pampans.

In locating a store here, C. R. Anthony said that he had been watching the growth of Pampa for several years and was convinced that the city has a very bright future. Only such faith, he said, would justify the expenditure represented by the Pampa store.

Polley Declares Churches Should Seize Opportunity To Tell Old Story

Every school in Pampa will enter a float in the Santa Day parade here next Wednesday afternoon.

This announcement was made yesterday afternoon by H. L. Polley, chairman of the float committee. He had just come from a meeting of school principals which was called by Supt. R. B. Risher.

"Pampa's magnificent school system has again demonstrated that it is behind the town in every worthwhile civic enterprise," Mr. Polley said. "Pampa's school system is an asset of which we can all be proud. It's value to the town is as great as that of any other single institution."

Several churches entered floats last year. First prize was won by the Holy Souls Catholic church which won second prize in the Pre-Centennial celebration last May 31. The local Catholic and First Meth-and their principals are as follows: High school, L. L. Sone; Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Annie Daniels; B. M. Baker, Aaron Meek; Horace Mann, Miss Josephine Thomas; Sam Houston, A. L. Patrick; Junior high, R. A. Selby.

Mr. Polley was highly pleased with the way the float situation is shaping up for Santa Day. He said that the Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary clubs would undoubtedly enter floats, although they have not made such announcements yet. All churches of the city were urged to enter floats in the huge and colorful parade. Prizes will be given for the best floats.

Collection of funds to finance the celebration is progressing. Thousands of prospective shoppers from over this territory are expected to come to Pampa on that day.

odist churches were the only churches to enter floats in both the 1933 Santa Day parade and in the Pre-Centennial celebration. Mr. Polley especially urged local churches to enter floats because the Christmas theme is so closely associated with the churches. "They cannot fail to tell the story of Christmas, the Nativity, where all can see it," he said. "It is seldom that churches have an opportunity of telling what happened in a manger at Bethlehem 2000 years ago, but they can do so beautifully and profitably in the Santa Day parade." He also emphasized that the parade will not have a single tinge of commercialism, and that no business may be advertised on the floats.

Collection of funds to finance the celebration is progressing. Thousands of prospective shoppers from over this territory are expected to come to Pampa on that day.

WEATHER MAY CLEAR UP BY TIME OF GAME

Forecast of "possibly rain or snow Thursday" was still tentative today, with only a few flakes of snow seen in the Pampa and Amarillo areas. Amarillo during the night had a very light snow but not, it was stated, enough to wet the feet. The government forecaster thought "it might clear up somewhat toward mid-day." Local prognosticators held to the belief that Butler field would be white before the game ended.

AMARILLOANS PLAN TO WELCOME PAMPA HORDES

Pampans, football mad as usual this Thanksgiving, were thankful for many things today but were hopeful that the main event of the day would add even more to their satisfaction through a victory over the Amarillo Sandies on Butler field.

Most business places were closed this morning, the streets were quiet compared with an ordinary day, and what traffic there was grew in volume only as it left the city. Many citizens planned to eat Thanksgiving dinners with friends in other cities, but to reach Amarillo in time for the feature game of the season. The Harvesters left at mid-morning.

Snow at Lubbock. Lubbock had 2 inches of snow last night but skies were clearing this morning and the temperature was rising. Amarillo had not felt the moderating breeze and had a temperature of 27 at 8 a. m.

Big Spring awoke this morning to find a two-inch mantle of snow on the ground—the most snow that has fallen in two years. A football game between Colorado and Big Spring high school was postponed until Saturday. Snow was falling at 9 a. m. at Porsan, 15 miles south of Big Spring.

Amarillo reported the snow fall very light over most of the Panhandle. Lubbock, Plainview, Lockney, Hart and Dimmitt, however, were among the places having from two to three inches of snow. The lowest temperature reported was 13 degrees above zero, at Texline. The mercury fell to 27 at Amarillo.

Pampans were invited to make the Herring hotel their headquarters. Mayor Ross D. Rogers of Amarillo was taking a special interest in welcoming the visitors. The Amarillo high band and pep squad were to be active during the day in welcoming both the crowds at the hotel and those who arrive by special train. Amarillo's police force was enlarged to help handle the huge crowd expected. Mayor Rogers issued the following statement:

Mayor in Statement. "Several thousand visitors will be in Amarillo on this Thanksgiving day, most of them no doubt for the purpose of attending the big game to be played between Pampa and Amarillo. A large portion of Amarillo's visitors will come from our neighboring city, Pampa. I urge upon every citizen of Amarillo, man, woman, and child, that the utmost courtesy and consideration be expressed toward all of our visitors; in short, I am suggesting that the spirit of friendliness and good will that I know all of our people hold toward all visitors who come to Amarillo be expressed in no uncertain manner on this day.

"Many thousands of our citizens are intensely interested in the outcome of the football game to be played here. Quite naturally, we want to see the Amarillo Sandies win the game, but certainly we know the best team is going to win and that might be the visiting team; but our people should be good sports, win or lose, and I hope that this sort of feeling and spirit will be in evidence among our people.

Police Are Added. "A number of additional men will be used by the Amarillo police department tomorrow. The sole purpose of putting on these additional men from the standpoint of the city is that the utmost courtesy and consideration shall be afforded to all of our visitors. We shall apportion a sufficient number of officers to look after the large group of people

STUDY CLUB'S FALL LUNCHEON HONORS GUESTS

FINE ARTS COMMITTEE PRESENTS THE PROGRAM

One of the important club events of Thanksgiving week was the president's luncheon of Child Study club at Schneider hotel Tuesday at noon. The fine arts committee, Mmes. Lee Harrah, Horace McBe, and Herman Jones, were in charge of the program.

Dwarf chrysanthemums in shades of gold filled a basket and vase on the table, which had a panel of gay autumn leaves. Gold camelabra held orange colored tapers. Place cards were decorated with squirrels and autumn leaves.

Mrs. McBe presided for the program, and gave the invocation to which the club responded with its prayer and a Thanksgiving hymn. Mrs. Roy Tinsley, president, greeted the guests and Mrs. T. F. Morton, president of the Council of Women's clubs, responded.

Mary Potter Nelson sang a Thanksgiving song. Roy Tinsley played two violin solos, "Sourire," "Drida," and "Estrellita," Mexican air, accompanied by Mrs. W. F. G. Stein.

A talk, Teaching Thanksgiving in the Home, was by Mrs. Harrah. Mmes. Bob McCoy, Herman Jones, and Harry Nelson formed a trio to sing "Waters of Minnesota," "Lieutenant," a reading by Mrs. Gaston Foote closed the program.

Club presidents who were guests were Mrs. Morton; Mrs. Paul Jensen of Civic Culture club; Mrs. R. E. Fisher, Twentieth Century club; Mrs. Flais Jordan, Business and Professional Women; Mrs. W. A. Bratton, Treble Clef; Mrs. Charles Thut, El Progresso; Mrs. Roy Bourland, Twentieth Century Forum; Mrs. J. P. Wehrung, Garden club; Mrs. Marvin Lewis, Twentieth Century Culture; Mrs. C. A. Clark, A. A. U. W.; Mrs. John V. Andrews, Arno Art club.

Others present, in addition to those on program, were Mmes. S. C. Evans, Joe Gordon, John B. Hesse, N. F. Maddux, C. R. Nelson, T. C. Shaw, E. D. Stennis, J. M. Smeeth, Sherman White, W. J. Foster, Neil Bever.

STUDIO TAKES HOLIDAY
Studios of the Vincent school of dancing will be closed during the Thanksgiving holidays. It was announced yesterday by Mrs. Dudley Steele, director. Mr. and Mrs. Steele are spending the week-end with relatives in Denver. She will resume her classes Monday.

T. D. Pearce, pioneer resident of Durank, Okla., celebrated his 80th birthday by attending his first motion picture show.

Bell Club Women Aid 57 Families During the Year

Not only food supplies, but household linens, clothing, and expansion activities of Bell Home Demonstration club women were reported at the annual achievement day program in the home of Mrs. Clyde King, food supply demonstrator, Tuesday.

Posters showed that members have canned 443 quarts of meat, 974 quarts of fruit, 46 quarts of fruit juice, and 396 quarts of vegetables, all valued at $519.62. In addition, they have made 73 pounds of American cheese valued at $134.93, 573 pounds of cottage cheese valued at $68.73, 524 quarts of preserves and jellies valued at $80.20, and have cured $30 worth of food products.

An unusually complete display of linens was on view at the King home. Members estimate their work in household linens this year to be valued at $86.30, and in clothing, $281.60. They reported assisting 57 families of non-club members in their area.

A number of visitors attended the home program to view Mrs. King's pantry, the display of members' work, and the report posters. Meat and cheese sandwiches and coffee were served.

Winning Canned Foods Are Shown

Ability to make attractive and delectable preserves is an art of which any club member as a homemaker may well be proud, so many women who saw the 4-H pantry of Mrs. Joe Lewis last week decided and resolved to try her methods of preserving fruit next year.

Mrs. Lewis, food supply demonstrator of Priscilla Home Demonstration club, held open house to display the contents of her pantry.

She has repeatedly won prizes on her preserves, pickles, and canned asparagus at the Tri-State fair. Her products have been attractively arranged as well as meeting standard requirements.

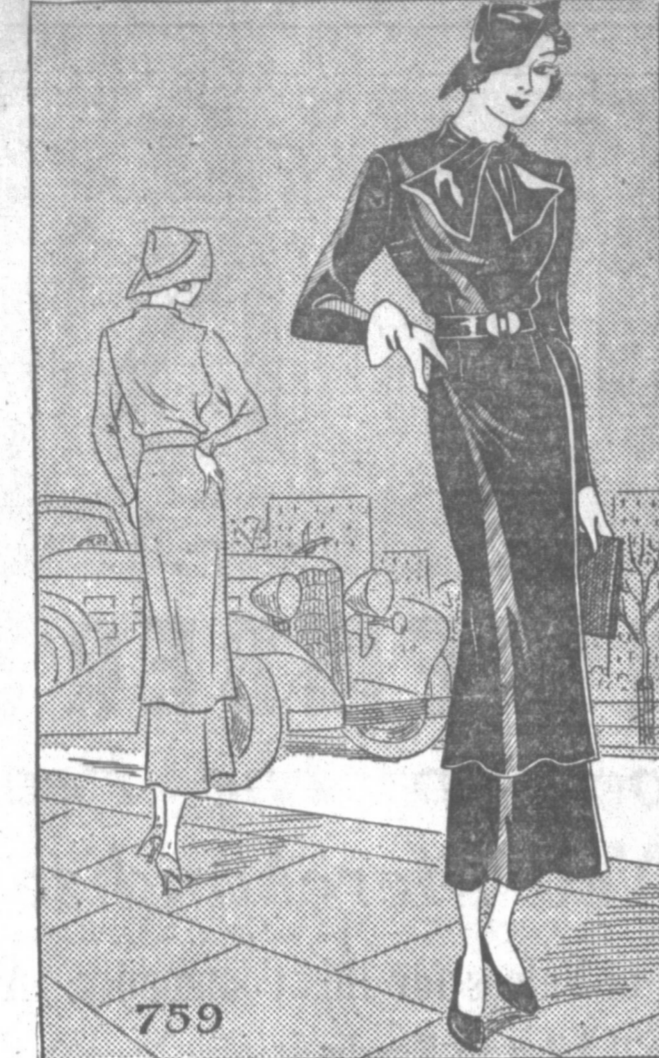

Having a pantry filled with well-canned foods enables Mrs. Lewis to find the leisure to attend club meetings and to work in the county club council.

Club Meets Early In Holiday Week

Advancing its meeting day because of the Thanksgiving holiday the Thursday bridge club met with Mrs. Jake Bass on North Hobart street Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Tommy Robinson scored high in the games, Mrs. Gib Frasier second high, and Mrs. A. C. Lovell third. Other members playing were Mmes. R. L. Moseley and Frank Roach. Guests were Mrs. Dallas Cullwell and Miss Verna Fox.

Two Governors Are to Address State Teachers

GALVESTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—The fifty-sixth annual convention of the Texas State Teachers association opens here today, with sessions to run through Saturday. Advance reservations indicated attendance would mount to several thousand persons.

Governor-elect James V. Allred of Texas and Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana are on the program for addresses.

Besides general sessions daily, there will be about thirty group meetings to consider various phases of educational problems.

Dr. J. O. Loftin of Kingsville, president of the association, called the first general session to order. It was devoted to Thanksgiving services. Rabbi Henry Cohen of Galveston will deliver the sermon. Robert Lee Bobbitt of Laredo, former attorney general, will speak on "Texas Heritages."

Other speakers on the program today and their subjects are: J. Frank Doble, secretary of the Texas Folklore society, "Texas Tradition in Life and Literature"; Dr. George Willard Frazer, president of Colorado State Teachers college, Greeley, "Bargain in Education"; Dr. Osbourne McConathy, Glen Ridge, N. J., "Music for Every Child"; L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, "The Public Schools, Part in Building New Eras"; Marshall E. Diggs, executive assistant to the U. S. comptroller of the currency, "Federal Deposit Insurance"; E. E. Oberholzer of Houston, president of the department of superintendence, National Educational society, "New Eras in Education and the New Era of Progress."

WEDDING

five shorts steps to the altar itself. A choir of 70 chanted the hymn "Gracious Spirit, Holy Ghost."

Dr. Foxley Morris, dean of Westminster, then advanced and read the introduction to the marriage ceremony, the exhortation to those about to be joined.

The Archbishop of Canterbury officiated at the actual ceremony of marriage, presiding at the speaking of the vows, the exchanging of the rings and the pronouncement of the couple as man and wife as they knelt at the altar of the Abbey.

The reading of the lesser litany prescribed by church ritual and the Lord's Prayer. The domed Abbey resounded with the voices of the guests as the responses to the latter were led by the Rev. Cyril Arncliffe, the preacher of the Abbey, and wearing the emblems of his high church office, then pronounced the prayers for "perfect love and peace," followed immediately by the pronouncement of the blessing by Dr. Norris.

The beautiful notes and words of the hymn, "God Be in My Head," then resounded through the Abbey. As the last note died away the Archbishop of Canterbury delivered the formal address.

He counseled them, "Let your deepest bond of union be in that inward region of the soul where conscience and true ideals dwell, for there you come near to God and God comes near to you."

After the address the hymn, "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven," was sung. Again the Archbishop of Canterbury took his place to deliver the final prayer and benediction as a deathlike hush fell over the assemblage.

The national anthem and the playing of the anthem, "Alleluia! Alleluia!," specially composed for the occasion, completed the ceremony save for the formal signing of the registers.

The bride and bridegroom and their attendants moved off to the chapel of St. Edward, the confessor for this ceremony as the last notes of the special anthem died away.

Two registers were signed by the bride couple and their official witnesses. One was the register of the Abbey, the other the government document in which the marriages of all royalty for more than the last 100 years are recorded.

As the bells of the Abbey began to peal, the wedding party formed again and drove back to Buckingham palace for the second ceremony of the day, a Greek Orthodox marriage in the private chapel there.

'DEAR SANTA'

Dear Santa: I want a bicycle for Xmas; that's all I'm asking for this Xmas. And my little sister wants a stream line tricycle for Xmas. She said that was all she was going to ask for this time. Your little friend, Lucille Bailey, Kingsmill.

Dear Santa Claus: I want a sidewalk bicycle for Xmas. That's all I'm asking for this Xmas. Your little friend, Jewel Bailey, Kingsmill.

Dear Santa Claus: I want a bicycle for Christmas and my brother younger than I wants a bicycle too and also remember us with lots of good things to eat. Best wishes to you, Santa, and lots of love from Clovis and Roy Sanders.

Dear Santa Claus: I sure wish you would bring me a nice doll and a set of dishes and doll bed, and my little sister, Paulene, wants a doll and a blackboard and doll bed and lots of good things to eat. Your little friends, Geneva and Paulene Sanders.

Dear Santa Claus: Since I have moved I thought I had better write you and tell you where I was, so you could find me. Please bring me an electric train, a car, a scooter, a steam engine, pair of cowboy boots, pants and jacket, a gun, rope, and red handkerchief, a cowboy hat, cowboy suit, a filling station, a red truck with electric lights, set of tools, pair of spurs, pair of striped overalls, a police suit, and a bridge and a Christmas stocking. Thank you a lot for all these things and I hope you bring me all this as it's not very much; not half as much as I have asked for. Keith Hardin.

Dear Santa Claus, I do not want much this year. I want a doll and I want her to have blonde hair and yellow dress. I do not want anything else if you will bring me that doll. But if you can not get me that doll please bring me one that is just like it only it wears a blue dress and has darker hair. Be sure to remember the poor children. Love, Reba Jo Grewell.

Dear Santa, I am a little girl four years old, so I'm having my mother write for me. Please bring me a big doll and bed with mattress. I want candy, nuts, and oranges. I love you, Santa. Joann Moore.

Dear Santa Claus: I have been a good girl hoping that you would not forget me at Christmas time. I want you to bring me a pair of skates, a walking and talking doll, an electric stove, an ironing board, a package of nuts and some candy.

Club Woman Has Filled Pantry at Very Small Cost

"Buying 940 quarts of foods for $55.48 would be an impossible task," said Mrs. Lewton Hoffer, farm and ranch food supply demonstrator for the Laketon Home Demonstration club, in giving her annual report Wednesday.

Yet that is what she has done, for she did not can a quart from her garden or orchard this year. In her pantry are 333 quarts of fruit, 246 quarts of meat, 197 quarts of vegetables, 171 quarts of pickles, relishes, preserves, and jelly. She has 150 chickens to supply eggs and there is an abundance of milk for drinking and for making butter.

Mrs. Hoffer's report shows that she has sold 678 dozen eggs and 1,277 pounds of butter.

LUCKY GIRL

MRS. STRONG AND DAUGHTER, NANCY

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin brought relief at once," says Mrs. A. C. Strong of 34-47 89th St., Jackson Heights, N.Y.

Her mother felt that family physicians and child specialists, and the hospitals must be right. A simple test that proves they are.

If anyone in your family is occasionally sluggish or constipated; especially any child, you should know this medical truth:

You cannot get safe relief with any medicine if you cannot regulate the dose. And to regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative. With a liquid laxative, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition.

Why Doctors Use Liquid Laxatives

A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of natural laxative elements like senna and cascara, it forms no habit—even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help themselves, not make matters worse.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing herbs, active senna, and cascara, and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drug-store. Why not make the "liquid test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps nearly everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better than you have in a long time.

If you will risk sixty cents to discover the natural, comfortable action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, we believe bowel worries will be over for your household.

JOHN HAMILTON NOW U. S. NO. 1 PUBLIC ENEMY

Federals Hunting For Mob Who Killed 2 Agents

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—The bullet-punctured body of America's No. 1 public enemy—George (Baby Face) Nelson—lay on a Cook county mortuary slab today, while U. S. government's war on his kind was pushed with unabated intensity.

John Hamilton, a lieutenant in the ruthless band of killers headed by the late John Dillinger, was the object of the far-flung drive in the belief that he was with Nelson when Nelson was fatally shot in the chest but furious gun battle that cost the government the lives of two of its ace investigators near Barrington Tuesday afternoon.

Hardly had Nelson's body, pierced by 17 bullets, been laid out on a muddy ditch near suburban Niles Center yesterday, than the federal investigators and police began a new and more extensive hunt for Hamilton. At the same time investigators hunted Alvin Karpis, already sought as one of the kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker, and the killer of Arthur W. Dunlap of West St. Paul, Minn. Other conjecture by some investigators was that if Nelson's companion wasn't Hamilton or Karpis, it might have been Tommy Touhy, leader of a notorious band of gangsters.

Nelson was killed by the deadly aim of Inspector Samuel P. Cowley and Special Agent Herman E. Hollis, both of whom died without knowing that their guns had found their mark.

And while the government men "rot" their man, there was none of the bizarre circumstances that surrounded the end of the crime career of Dillinger. Dillinger was fatally shot under the glare of the white lights of a busy North Side street. Nelson's end found him lying in a muddy ditch, a twisted smile on his face.

Apparently Nelson died as he was driven madly from the scene of the encounter with the slain federal officers—carted away by his male companion and the blond woman believed to have been Nelson's wife, Mrs. Helen M. Gillis. A crude cotton cloth had been wrapped about his body in an attempt to stop the flow of blood from a wound in his stomach.

Unsuccessful in their efforts to ward off death for their companion in crime, his accomplices apparently dumped his body into the ditch and then drove away later to abandon the automobile they had stolen after the federal officers had been slain. The car was found on the outskirts of Winnetka hours before Nelson's nude body, wrapped in a red and green blanket, was found.

A tip from an undertaker, Philip Sadowski, led to the discovery of the body. Two mysterious telephone calls from an unidentified person asked the mortician to go out and pick the body up, giving directions as to its location. Sadowski notified the Niles Center police. Chief A. C. Stolberg and two federal agents made the find after Chief Stolberg had stumbled upon a package of blood-stained clothing near the outskirts of Niles Center.

Nelson, named also as the killer of W. Carter Baum, federal agent shot to death last April near the Little Bohemia summer resort at Mercer, Wis., and as the slayer of Theodore W. Kinder of St. Louis Park, a suburb of Minneapolis, was believed by most authorities to have fired some of the shots that killed Cowley and Hollis, but there was at least one who expressed a contrary belief.

The opinion that it was Nelson's male companion who killed Cowley and Hollis, came from Police Commissioner Ambrose Brode of Niles Center, a witness to the duel. He said the agents guns were working faster than Nelson's and that the "Baby Face," so called because of his cherubic expression, had fallen before the officers dropped mortally wounded.

Nelson's demise, like that of Dillinger, disclosed that he had grown a mustache and attempted to hide his cherubic expression, had fallen erate his finger prints, but they were easily identified.

A group of traffic men will meet these visitors as they come into our city and will accompany them to the Herring hotel, where they will have their headquarters and go with them on their parades through the city and to the football game.

"It is the desire of your city commission that all our visitors be accorded a genuine Amarillo welcome and that no untoward incident or thing shall happen that will leave any impression whatsoever on any of our visitors that would make them feel that they have not been treated in the most cordial fashion by the citizenship of Amarillo."

Train Is Operated
Indications were today that about 350 persons would go to Amarillo by Santa Fe Special train, leaving at 12:30 o'clock, but the railroad was prepared to carry more than 500. Eight coaches were ordered. It was planned to start the return trip at 5 p. m., providing the game is concluded by 4:30 p. m. The trip requires one hour and 10 minutes of running time.

Several hundred persons, representing local churches, attended a Thanksgiving service last night at First Methodist church. Rev. Gaston Foote, pastor, presided. Prayers were offered by Rev. C. E. Lancaster and Rev. John Mullen. A quartet sang special music.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Lance Webb, recently named pastor of McCullough Memorial church and Wesley Harrah chapel.

Rev. Webb scored the tendency of many Americans to make Thanksgiving a "pagan, barbarous festival."

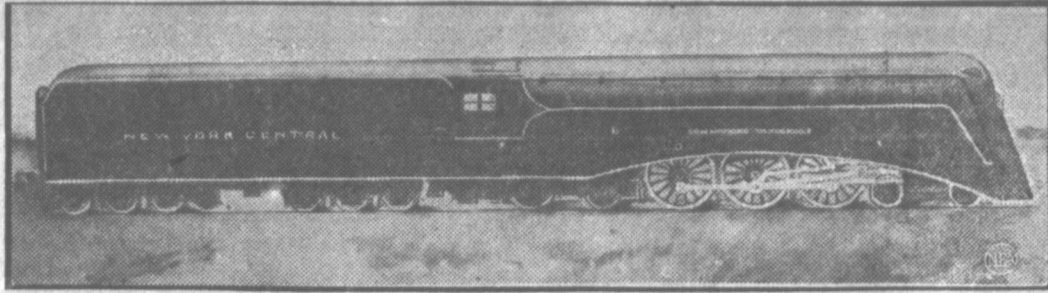

No Pagan Festival
"Do we thank God simply because we want a bountiful blessing next year, and because we are afraid if we don't show enough politeness and courtesy to thank him, we won't enjoy prosperity next year?" he asked. He deplored the tendency in some people to use Thanksgiving as a "time to get drunk; a time to fill up on turkey."

"Thanksgiving," he declared "has become the most blasé of all American days." However, he said, those who are the most blasé and sophisticated about Thanksgiving should bear in mind that in tens of thousands of American homes the people are humble enough to sincerely offer thanks.

In commenting upon a verse of Scripture which he read, Mr. Webb said that Jesus Christ gave thanks after he had suffered the first great disappointment of his ministry.

Reads a Poem
Rev. Webb closed by reading the following poem, entitled "Thanksgiving":
Five thousand breathless dawns all new;
Five thousand flowers fresh in dew;
Five thousand sunsets wrapped in gold;
One million snowflakes served ice-cold;
Five quiet friends; one baby's love;
One white made sea with clouds above;
One hundred music-haunted dreams
Of moon-drenched roads and hurrying streams;

First Streamline Steam Locomotive Faces Test Soon

This first streamlined high power steam locomotive soon will be given a series of tests by the New York Central railroad to demonstrate the rail line's faith in steam, despite recent advances in Diesel-powered locomotives in the west. The engine, named the Commodore Vanderbilt, after founder of the road, is streamlined to cut air resistance 35 per cent at a speed of 70 to 90 miles an hour.

Of prophesying airy winds and trees;
Of silent stars and browsing bees;
One June night in a fragrant wood;
One heart that loved and understood—
I wondered when I wake at day,
How—now in God's name—I could ever pay!

THREE GIRLS

and efforts were made to efface the number on the motor were interpreted by Adams to mean that the adults wanted to protect relatives from painful notoriety as a result of the planned murder and suicide.
Six persons identified the adults' and children's bodies yesterday, including Mr. and Mrs. Goodin Dill, tourist camp proprietors.

Mrs. Anna Lafauvre, Miss Anna Gaspron, and Louis Ellis, all said the dead were the persons who ate three times in a Philadelphia restaurant early last week. Ellis is the manager of the restaurant, Miss Gaspron is a waitress and Mrs. Lafauvre a customer.

To these was added Charles Bristow, tourist camp operator near the Dills, who said the roving family stayed with him November 18 and left a bottle bearing a label of a Sacramento brewing company, which Bristow gave police.

Ellis said he had talked with the man, who told him he came from California in search for a job. He said the man told him he was willing to take "any kind of a job," adding:
"My family is getting to be a pretty big burden."
State police had another lead from

Sheriff Otis Snodgrass of Muncie, Ind. He requested that Mrs. Dallas Barker, 40, of Muncie, told him she thought the three girls were her own, taken by her former husband, "Cornfield Billy" Williams, black-face vaudeville comedien, when they were separated six years ago.
Williams, 50, had relatives in Pennsylvania and New York. Mrs. Barker said, and the children were Erma Jean, 13, Dorothy Lenett, 11, and Von De Lee, 9. Erma Jean had a scar on her forehead and resembled pictures of the oldest girl, the mother said.

Full Turn-Out Is Desired At B.C.D. Banquet

A full turnout of Pampa business men for the industrial banquet to be held by the B. C. D. Tuesday evening is desired because of the scheduled presence of prominent visitors who will give valuable advice on ways to assure the steady growth of the city.

The banquet will be held at the Schneider hotel and will follow a conference of the visitors with B. C. D. directors and business men.

Guests will be high officials of the Santa Fe, Fort Worth & Denver, Southwestern Public Service company, and Central States Power & Light company.

J. H. Barwise, general counsel, and General John A. Hulon of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad are expected to be among those present.

Grand Jury To Probe Death Of Jerry Jarnegin

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29 (AP)—A letter hinting of murder brought the death of Jerry Jarnegin, actor and song writer, before the Los Angeles county grand jury today.

A coroner's jury decided the actor had committed suicide when he was found shot to death in his home four months ago, but members of the criminal complaints committee of the grand jury disclosed they had received new evidence indicating Jarnegin did not take his own life.

The new information was contained in a letter, now in the hands of the jury. Committeemen declined to disclose the name of the writer or to discuss this unexpected development.

Jarnegin's death was the second supposed suicide of a prominent Los Angeles resident to be revived in reports of a grand jury investigation. Recently the jury examined all records of District Attorney Buron Pitts' inquiry into the fatal shooting of Paul Bern, film executive and husband of Jean Harlow.
Jarnegin died in his home last August 19 amid the laughter of a gay little dinner party given by his wife, Irene Franklin, musical comedy actress. He was alone in the living room, his wife and three guests said, when their laughter was broken by a revolver shot.

"SUNDOWN," by John Joseph Mathews, (Longmans, Green).

Any one who has had contact with the Osage Indian and his oil bubble, his pitiful mishandling at the hands of his white neighbor, and his failure to recognize and eliminate the false side of the white man's "civilization" will recognize the truth of "Sundown" at once.

"Sundown" is a novel by John Joseph Mathews, himself part Osage. He knows the story of Osage oil because he has lived through it, but he is different from the chief character of his novel in that he can evaluate and appreciate both the red and the white man. That was Chal's misfortune; he felt himself different, far inside himself he even felt himself superior. But exterior and usually unimportant things forever made him act as if he were inferior.

Chal's mother was an Indian. His father had some white blood. The deeper self of the young Chal responded to Indian slurs—hunks in the air, the taunt of a pony between his thighs, the old Osage songs floating across the prairie. But he was born just at the beginning of the Osage "rise." Worse, he absorbed from his father a curious faith in the white man and the government, a belief that the white man's coming meant progress, and a feeling that however right the old Indian ways might be, they represented something inferior to the new "civilization."

Through school, through the university, in the flying corps, in his dealing with women, the feeling persisted. Chal reacted instinctively like an Indian, and was ashamed. When much money came to him he hadn't the faintest idea what substantial use to make of it. His relationships were all askew, even though those of his quiet Indian mother were honest and sincere. Chal was nothing in the white world, nor in the red world either.

Mr. Mathews has made a difficult person seem real. Perhaps a practiced novelist might have made a smoother book. But certainly a practiced novelist would not have understood Mr. Mathews' material at all.

November 1 was the publication date of TORCHES THROUGH THE BUSH by Ralph Connor. The scene is laid in Ontario, Ontario, between the Ottawa and the St. Lawrence rivers, that country so well known to the author. Cyrus LeRoy Baldrige, who so successfully illustrated STARS FELL ON ALABAMA, has just designed a full color all-round jacket, completed by Herbert Gorman, to be published November 25th. He is now working on a jacket, end sheet, and several spots for Faith Baldwin's AMERICAN FAMILY, an early January publication.

Myron Brinig, now living in New Mexico, has completed his new novel, MICHAEL SINGERMAN.

The Floyd Dells are planning to spend the winter on their farm in Hampshire, where the children are going to the country school. Mr. Dell is writing a novel.

Donald Hamilton Haines, author of TEAM PLAY, is working on a new boy's story to be published next season.

Travis Ingham, who has been a columnist on the Boston Herald, has placed his first novel with publishers. He wrote a novel for the movies but it did not come out in book form. This is to be the story of the "lost generation" that came just after the war and just before the depression with Yale as a background. It may be called THE CLASS OF '28, but is not a college novel.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

(Left)—"The family is on the porch to greet you." That, or something of the sort, serves to complete a greeting like this, made in the easy silhouette manner. (Right)—A little "dime store" reindeer made of glass, a toy Christmas tree and some sugar—that's all this table-top Christmas scene required.

Recently THE NEWS talked about snapshot Christmas cards, but no one short discussion could possibly be adequate. A book could be written about it—but not by us. Instead we'll devote today's space to it.

As we said before, the most important factor in the success of a photograph is an idea—an easily understood, cheerful idea, worked out in terms of a simple picture.

The subjects referred to in our first talk of Christmas cards were deliberately selected from among the more obvious ones—firesides, holly wreaths, winter scenes of the home, and so on. Obvious though they are, any of them is capable of fresh, new interpretation—as individual as your own personality.

And, as you become more familiar with your camera and its capabilities, you'll discover many different approaches to any one idea.

You can use, for example, storytelling silhouettes to give novel twists to otherwise "ordinary" picture ideas. A good silhouette can be made of a young lady hanging up a bit of misdeed, or of a little boy reaching for a Christmas tree ornament. Silhouettes, as you recall, are made with the help of a sheet, a doorway and a strong light.

Table-top photography has become a Christmas possibility. A little figure of Santa Claus, some white cotton sprinkled with sugar for snow—and you've got the foundation for a variety of good pictures. You'll find plenty of Christmas materials—little reindeer, gnomes, sleighs, bells and a hundred other reasonable "props" in any "five-and-ten-cent" store. But guard against over-elaborate set-ups. The simpler the better.

Whatever you do, be careful to keep it in key with your own personality. If you are musical, a glimpse of your hands on the piano keyboard plus a score for a Christmas carol on the rack, would be much more appropriate than, say, a shot of your snow-covered home. Or, a pose with your head lifted, singing, if you find you look well that way.

A baby in the family, of course, offers plenty of opportunity for greeting snapshots. If this is the baby's first Christmas, so much the better. A semi-close-up of mother and dad, indoors or out, with the baby perched on dad's shoulders and all three waving cheerfully at the camera, should make a greeting of more than ordinary charm.

Christmas isn't far away now. You'll be wanting to send out your greetings soon. So don't delay! By the way, don't let good opportunities slip by for taking unusual snow scenes. Maybe you won't use them this year, but there will be other Christmas scenes when they come in handy.

For snow scenes in bright sunlight, remember to use a very small lens aperture. Otherwise, the intense brilliance of the scene will give you an over-exposed negative.

Marian Gordon by JEANNE BOWMAN

Chapter 46. UNEXPECTED intruder

"What are you trying to tell me?" asked Marian of the district attorney. "Why should you worry whether I've got the house locked tonight?" "I don't know of any special danger," he answered with a laugh. "I only want to pacify this young husband of yours. Now listen, child—pack your bag and be ready for me, I'm coming right out to bring you back to town."

"Lon is hurt, isn't he? Don't let me please, I won't faint or do anything foolish."

"No, Lon isn't hurt. I'll tell you what's wrong, because if I don't some of your newspaper friends will. Lon is in jail. Now don't get panicky, it's the safest place he can be at a moment like this."

"On the check charge?" she asked.

"No, he was caught robbing McSwain's safe, in the Clark building."

"Lon... robbing?" Marian exclaimed incredulously.

"And don't worry about that either," came the laughing reply. "Run along now. Don't bother about unlocking the gate. I'll walk up to the house."

Marian turned from the telephone and hurried to the bedroom. It should take her friend about half an hour to drive out from town. Lon in jail. Curious that she should feel relieved. The idea of her Lon's robbing a safe was preposterous. How had McSwain managed to frame him in a position like that?

At least the blow had fallen. Now they could act. There would be no more of this suspense, no more of that agonized waiting for something to happen.

Her husband brought out her bag and folded clothes into it. She didn't know which clothes she'd packed. He marched to the closet and returned with his leash.

"All right, old man," she said patting him, "you are going to go for a ride in the automobile," she explained.

He pranced about joyously, following her, getting under her feet as she went from room to room seeing that everything was in order, turning off the refrigerator, seeing that she had turned the electricity off in the warming oven; returning to make sure she hadn't made a mistake.

The telephone again. She hurried back. It was Bowen, her old managing editor.

"Say, Ian," he began, "what's this wild yarn they're phoning over from headquarters, something about your husband being locked up for robbery? Is the fellow they have over there really your husband?"

"I imagine he is, the D. A. just telephoned and broke the news to me."

"You don't sound the least bit downhearted," Bowen commented.

"I'm not," she confessed, "I've been expecting so much worse to happen that this sounds like a reprieve."

"You mean you... you expected him to do this? Marian, what's it all about?"

"The biggest story you've had in a long time," she prophesied, "it's the story we were working for the night

THANKSGIVING DANCE TO BE ON THURSDAY

A special Thanksgiving dance, featuring the famous orchestra of Chick Talcott, will be given at the new Pla-Mor Dance Palace Thursday night. There will be no increase in prices, the regular charge of 25 cents, admission included, and it is hoped to have it ready for the dance Thursday night.

Talcott and his orchestra have played for several dances in Pampa and this territory and have proved to be one of the most popular musical organizations to appear here. A good crowd is expected and plans are being made for a "big" evening. The new dance palace has been recently redecorated and new lighting effects have been installed. A new amplifying system, giving clear tone to all parts of the auditorium, is being installed and it is hoped to have it ready for the dance Thursday night.

LONGHORNS ARE FAVORED TO BEAT TEXAS AGGIES TODAY

Around 30,000 Will Witness Historic Battle At Austin; Hilliard Watched.

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Thousands gathered here today to witness the Turkey day football spectacle between the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. in the first annual renewal of the Southwest conference's most jealous gridiron competition.

As a result of a heavy rainfall throughout the night indications were the contest would be played on a partially muddy and slippery gridiron.

Down-town streets were thronged with crowds in holiday mood to witness the first event on the gala program, the annual parade of the A. and M. cadet corps from their train to Memorial stadium.

Officials of the athletic council at the University of Texas predicted between thirty thousand and thirty-five thousand persons would witness the clash.

The Longhorns will enter the game a decided favorite on the basis of their season record and the Aggies will have whatever advantage attaches to the "under-dog."

Texas is in undisputed possession of second place by virtue of three wins, one tie and one defeat and holds a mathematical chance at a share in the conference title.

The Aggies have fallen prey to three conference eleven, tied one and eked out a victory over Baylor.

Many spectators came to witness the final performance of "Bullet" Bohn Hilliard, whose slashing runs and general all-around playing have marked him one of Texas' gridiron immortals.

The Aggies arrived in fine form. They stopped yesterday for a light workout at Baylor. Texas tapered off for the fray with a fast signal drill and was pronounced ready to go.

County Highway Work Under Way In 3 Directions

Important highway construction is under way in three directions from Pampa.

The Pampa-McLean asphalt topping has been completed and opened through LeFors and work is under way beyond. If good weather permits work, the road will be completed by the end of the year.

On Highway 38, the first course has been laid on the first mile of caliche base. About 1 1/2 miles has been torn up to make the necessary grade. Nearly one hundred men are used daily, and 12 to 15 trucks.

The third highway of interest to Pampa is No. 41, commonly known as the Oil Field highway to Borger. The new direct route will cut the distance between the two cities to little more than 30 miles. Of this, half will be completed with the finish of the difficult 2.88 miles from Borger this way across the creek. This project has been under construction 8 months, including the bridge. It will cost $90,000.

The Lone Star Construction company has the contract. The Borger project reaches only to the city limits, and not to the Carson county line. The next step will be playing of the rest of the road in Hutchinson county and the part which cuts across a corner of Carson county. Gray county long ago paved to the Carson county line.

The last gap on this road in east central Gray county, on highway 152, is expected to be let under contract by the state soon.

Dog Is Subject To Sale, Judge Holds In Trial

CLEBURNE, Nov. 29. (AP)—A dog is subject to sale, its love for its master and the affection between them notwithstanding.

District Judge O. B. McPherson so ruled today at a hearing on an application for an injunction brought by Manning Coward of Bono to restrain the sale of two dogs in connection with a judgment obtained against him by Sallie Gollock and James Gillock of Cleburne on a debt.

The petitioner alleged that a dog was a member of the family circle and that it was not the monied value of the dogs that he was concerned with, but the affection he and his wife held for them.

Another angle of the case was the fact that the dogs levied upon were put in the city pound by the constable and, while there, some one broke the lock and let them out.

Judge McPherson was asked to rule on whether sale of the dogs will be voided because they cannot be produced at the time of the sale. Judge McPherson granted an injunction to restrain sale of the dogs, since they cannot be produced. He provided, however, that if they are produced at the time of the sale, he will dissolve the injunction.

MORSE CODE RHYTHMS INSPIRE MUSICAL WORK PARIS. (AP)—The rhythm and beat of the Morse code inspired a piano concerto which the inventor's grandson, the American composer, Walter Morse Rummel, has just completed.

Rummel dedicated his work to his famous grandfather whose invention revolutionized the transmission of human thought. "What hath God wrought" was the first message sent by telegraph, and the concerto seeks to depict the epoch-making changes wrought by the instrument of Samuel F. B. Morse.

The concerto will be presented in Paris shortly with the composer at the piano.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think, talk, write, do my best, and be a part of the centennial celebration. I will give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glorious future."

MOBEETTIE, Nov. 29. (SP)—The history of old Mobeettie and Wheel County are being recalled in connection with plans for celebration of Texas' Centennial of independence in 1936 and the movement for the reconstruction of old Fort Elliott as a historical shrine.

The tearing down of Fort Elliott in 1900 destroyed one of the last of the series of posts constructed for the protection of settlers against attacks by Indians. Established in 1876, it was situated two miles west of old Mobeettie on Sweetwater creek, and only a marker now designates the spot.

The town of Mobeettie dates back into history farther than the fort itself, for in 1875 when the wagons loaded with lumber and other materials came down from Dodge City, Kan., they stopped at a settlement called Hidelot, a supply point for buffalo hunters, which grew and finally was renamed Mobeettie, the Indian name for sweet water. Between 400 and 500 soldiers were stationed at the fort during the few years it was maintained as a military establishment, and settlers moved in from other locations to seek their protection. Billy Dixon, the scout, of whom it is said "he shot and killed an Indian a mile away," visited the fort as did many other men prominent in Texas history.

Of the early-day Mobeettie, a part of the old-time west ruled its outskirts, while the culture of the section centered in the town itself. Among the earlier residents were Gov. J. N. Browning, Coe Grigsby, Temple Houston (a son of Sam Houston), L. D. Miller and Judge Willis. J. J. Long, who died in 1925, came to the county with Gen. Nelson A. Miles on an expedition against the Indians in 1874 and later drove the mail here from Dodge City. It was Long who purchased the Fort Elliott flagpole, which today stands on Mobeettie's main street, when the fort was torn down.

Several old-time houses and the jail built in 1886 still are standing, although construction in those early days consisted mainly of adobe rock and pickets, covered with hides, and the last buffalo in the county was killed one-fourth of a mile west of the old town in 1874.

THANKSGIVING SANDWICH PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—The city school board took action this week so it could serve 35,000 children turkey sandwiches at a nickel apiece. Clarence B. Kugler, Jr., cafeteria system manager, said the sandwiches cost about nine cents each.

'Bachelor Envoy' Is Family Man

Friends regarded Nelson T. Johnson, U. S. minister to China, as a confirmed bachelor when he went to the Orient five years ago, but two years later he married Jane Thornton Beck, and they are shown here as they landed in San Francisco with their 15-month-old son. Johnson, who has spent 25 years in the diplomatic service, is an authority on Chinese history and speaks the language fluently.

HUNTERS MUST OBTAIN PERMIT TO TAKE FIREARMS INTO MEXICO

LAREDO, Nov. 29. (AP)—As a precautionary measure against gun running or the entry of armed insurgents into Mexico, the Mexican government has issued orders requiring all foreign hunters to obtain permits from military authorities, as well as consular, to bring firearms and ammunition into Mexico. It is necessary to secure a permit from the Mexican consul at Laredo, Texas. El Boletin explained: "With this permit, call on the Mexican collector of customs and the Mexican military commander in chief of the Garrison at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, for a license. With each gun, fifty rounds of ammunition is permitted. "Hunting dogs must be accompanied by an official veterinary certificate of health, visaed by the Mexican consul. Dogs are subject to duties unless a special permit is secured. Hunters should secure the services of a reliable Mexican customs agency and be sure of their dealings with the customs house." The same procedure for taking guns, ammunition or dogs into Mexico is required should American hunters choose to enter the southern republic through any other port than Laredo. This is the first detailed explanation of the tightened firearms regulations available here. Last week it was reported that the Mexican government had made its firearms regulations more stringent as a move to avert any possible anti-government activity from across the northern border. Reliable sources attributed the precautionary measure to the efforts of Aurelio Manrique and other exiled anti-government agitators to arouse sympathy for "those resisting oppression in Mexico." Manrique recently spoke to a number of mass meetings of Mexicans living in the United States. He was very active in the Rio Grande valley, where thousands of Mexicans live.

GRIDIRON SEASON WILL CLOSE OVER U. S. IN AFTERNOON

By HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—That season of Thanksgiving rising today comes from the nation's football prognosticators, celebrating the virtual windup of as topsy-turvy a season as ever troubled a selector's waking hours. From this corner, prospects for today's battles seemed about as follows:

Alabama-Vanderbilt: This is the last obstacle in the path of Alabama's march to an undefeated and untied season as well as a possible bid to the rose bowl. Vanderbilt's Commodores may furnish rugged opposition but the Crimson Tide looks much too strong.

Nebraska-Kansas State: Kansas State offers a real challenge to Nebraska's continued reign in this Big Six championship struggle but the Huskers rate a slight edge.

Colgate-Brown: Another Rose Bowl candidate, Colgate, should wind up its regular season with a comfortable victory.

Pitt-Carnegie: And still another team which would like to play at Pasadena—Pitt. The Panthers, beaten only by Minnesota, should take this one.

Tennessee-Kentucky: Kentucky seems heavily outgunned here.

Temple-Bucknell: Tied once but undefeated, Pop Warner's Temple Owls hold a decisive edge in this one.

South Carolina-Washington and Lee: A chance to ascend the Southern conference throne should carry W. & L. through this closing encounter.

North Carolina-Virginia: North Carolina to win, easily, and thus be in a strategic position to take the Southern title should W. and L. slip.

Penn-Cornell: Penn's Quakers favored but this hunch on Cornell is predicated on the fact that Duke-coached teams generally reach their peak at the end of a campaign.

George Washington-Oklahoma: The Colonials were upset by North Dakota the last time out but this is a vote of confidence in their ability to come back against Oklahoma.

Utah-Utah State: One of those traditional things here but the dope still points to Utah State to win and capture the Rocky mountain title.

Texas-Texas A. and M.: No choice but Texas possible here.

Missouri-Kansas: Despite Missouri's fine showing against Nebraska, the choice is Kansas.

St. Mary's-Oregon: A timid bid for the Oregon Gaels of St. Mary's.

Loyola of New Orleans-Centenary: Centenary.

Tulsa-Arkansas: Tulsa, narrowly.

Loyola of Los Angeles-U. C. L. A.: U. C. L. A. but not much.

Oklahoma City-Oklahoma A. and M.: A. and M.

Denver-Colorado U.: Colorado, after a struggle.

permit from the Mexican consul at Laredo, Texas. El Boletin explained: "With this permit, call on the Mexican collector of customs and the Mexican military commander in chief of the Garrison at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, for a license. With each gun, fifty rounds of ammunition is permitted.

"Hunting dogs must be accompanied by an official veterinary certificate of health, visaed by the Mexican consul. Dogs are subject to duties unless a special permit is secured. Hunters should secure the services of a reliable Mexican customs agency and be sure of their dealings with the customs house."

The same procedure for taking guns, ammunition or dogs into Mexico is required should American hunters choose to enter the southern republic through any other port than Laredo.

This is the first detailed explanation of the tightened firearms regulations available here. Last week it was reported that the Mexican government had made its firearms regulations more stringent as a move to avert any possible anti-government activity from across the northern border.

Reliable sources attributed the precautionary measure to the efforts of Aurelio Manrique and other exiled anti-government agitators to arouse sympathy for "those resisting oppression in Mexico." Manrique recently spoke to a number of mass meetings of Mexicans living in the United States. He was very active in the Rio Grande valley, where thousands of Mexicans live.

HARVESTERS LEAVE TODAY AT 9 O'CLOCK FOR BATTLE FIELD

The game is causing a considerable stir in this section since both teams have played great football all season and are evenly matched for the big game. The outcome is a toss-up.

The Pampa Harvesters left at 9 o'clock for Amarillo to rest before the biggest battle of the year, at 2:30 o'clock on Butler field. With the exception of Bill Dunaway, swivel-hipped halfback, and Red Fanning, fiery fullback, the Harvesters were in good condition. Lloyd Hamilton's gold was better, but he was still a bit weak.

Bob Drake was expected to get the call to start the game at left-half in place of Dunaway, whose hip was still sore and troublesome. Drake made a good showing against Lubbock, and much was expected of the fleet-footed little fellow this afternoon.

Amarillo will be at peak condition, Coach Blair Cherry announced yesterday afternoon following a check-back practice. There is not a sore spot on a player.

WILSON FAILS TO MAKE GRID TEAM ROSTER

ALL-SOUTHWEST TEAM IS SELECTED BY WRITERS

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Associated Press' all-Southwest conference football team, selected by vote of 20 Texas sports writers, includes players from five of the seven conference teams. The Baylor Bears and Texas A. & M. Aggies failed to produce talent strong enough to make the consensus selection.

Perhaps the outstanding surprise was the failure of Robert Wilson, elusive Southern Methodist university halfback and the conference's leading scorer to make the team. Bohn Hilliard, University of Texas halfback and one of the greatest of all Southwest halfbacks, beat out Wilson for the left halfback position.

Bill Wallace, Rice's candidate for all-American honors, won the right halfback position without stiff competition. John McCauley's campaign for the quarterback job was his from the start.

Harry Shuford of Southern Methodist landed the fullback job to complete the backfield of Hilliard, Wallace, McCauley, and Shuford. It is a versatile, speedy secondary capable of easily accomplishing most anything required of a winning quartet of ball players.

The wing positions went to Sylvester of Rice and Sanger of Texas, who polled enough votes to beat Paul Rucker of Arkansas and Roach of Texas Christian.

Miller of Rice and Benton of Arkansas landed the tackles, while Spivey of Arkansas and Wetzel of Southern Methodist were placed at the two guards. Darrell Lester, Texas Christian's 215-pound center who played a great game against Rice last week, had practically no competition for center. Lester got 13 of the 10 votes.

The team as selected by the sports writers follows: Sylvester, Rice, left end; Benton, Arkansas, left tackle; Spivey, Arkansas, left guard; Lester, Texas Christian, center; Wetzel, Southern Methodist, right guard; Miller, Rice, right tackle; Sanger, Texas, right end; McCauley, Rice, quarterback; Hilliard, Texas, left halfback; Wallace, Rice, right halfback; Shuford, Southern Methodist, fullback.

LIQUOR RING UNCOVERED GALVESTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Garland H. Williams, U. S. customs service agent here, revealed yesterday the arrests of three persons in connection with seizure of a smuggled liquor cache, and intimated that a huge liquor ring operating in Louisiana and Texas might be uncovered. Williams said the case probably would involve some of the island's liquor barons of prohibition days and might even reach some names connected with the "Tim Alone" case of several years ago.
