Brevitorials Musings of the moment: It seems that Jimmie Allred has won a lasting court victory as well as one at the polls, and that he will be the next governor.

Back from Oklahoma City, perhaps we owe our readers a few remarks on the Harvesters' loss to Capitol Hill.

It started right at the beginning of the game. Capitol Hill brought out a right good looking football and handed it over to the Harvesters.

The drought hadn't affected the growth of the boys on the Hill, probably so-called because there's no capitol and hardly any hills.

Minority Bloc Thwarts Move For Centennial Session

AUSTIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—A minority bloc of the Texas senate today thwarted attempts to obtain direct consideration of a resolution to petition the governor to convene another session to provide supplementary funds for the Texas Centennial celebration at Dallas in 1936.

Strong pressure was brought to bear on Governor Miriam A. Ferguson in behalf of the movement, however, from other sources.

On a motion to suspend the regular order to permit immediate consideration was stopped, however, by a minority of nine.

Senator Tom Doberny of Bogata, who charged the senate was "trying to call a session and not get caught at it," warned he would invoke every rule possible to impede the resolution.

Cline said the planning committee had estimated $15,000,000 would be the minimum necessary and that Dallas, the Centennial city, had pledged $9,000,000 in cash and facilities.

Southern Members Of Congress Will Act on Cotton

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Representative West (D., Tex.) was advised today by Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the house agriculture committee, that another meeting of southern members of congress interested in the Bankhead cotton control act probably would be held after the farm administration has made a final announcement as to its detailed policy in administering the act.

NEW EVIDENCE DISCOVERED IN SECRET PANEL

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—District Attorney Samuel Foley announced today after a 3 1/2-hour grand jury session that the case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, as receiver of the Lindbergh ransom money, had been "completely broken."

Bruno's Old Pal Missing

LINDBERGH SOLUTION A MORAL VICTORY

Most Americans undoubtedly feel that the best news of the fall is the news that a break has finally come in the Lindbergh kidnaping.

This is the one crime above all others which the American people want to see avenged. The combination of its singular brutality and its tragic effect on the nation's most popular hero has had an emotional effect on the nation as a whole unlike that of any other case in modern times.

And yet the emotional satisfaction we get out of the solution is, after all, the least important part of it. Far more weighty is the fact that it restores to us a measure of our national self-respect.

Considered from all angles, the Lindbergh kidnaping was about the severest indictment of modern American civilization ever made.

Here was a young man of tremendous personal popularity; a man whom everyone in the country knew and liked and wished well, a man of wealth and position, who had founded a family and taken a home in the country to get a little of that privacy and happiness that every man wants.

Out of a clear sky, then, this man was struck by the most despicable of all crimes—the one crime that can be common only when society is helpless in the face of lawlessness.

The crime was committed and it went unpunished. The best-loved man in the nation had found that this was not a safe country in which to rear a child. Our grief and anger were impotent. The thing could not have happened in England, or France, or Germany; it was typically, terribly American.

Now, at last, comes retribution; and the fact is of tremendous importance, aside from the way it satisfies our desire to see a foul wrong avenged.

It shows that we have, after all, the kind of social organization which can do the hardest kind of protective work—getting on a cold trail, following a hundred worthless leads, keeping eternally vigilant, never forgetting or going to sleep, striking finally and effectively after a lapse of years.

In other words, we are not quite as disorganized as we were a few years ago. The Lindbergh case was our national low-water mark. Since then we have somehow managed to take a brace. We are not, any longer, the country in which the worst of all crimes can be committed with impunity.

OUT OF THE PAST T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. 9-25

around the corner of a thousand miles away, you'll want a few good shots of home. Then a view or two taken on the way to school. Maybe those views seem commonplace now, but wait a few years. . . .

At school, of course, there are the obvious shots of the buildings, the grounds, new classmates, teachers, old friends, sports, picnics, class ceremonies, and so on. It's a good idea to take them so as to form a kind of continued story. Then, when they are mounted in your album, the pictorial story will flow along evenly.

It's easy to plan ahead for the kind of pictures mentioned above. But don't forget the spontaneous things.

For example, if there's an exciting football game, try the trick of shooting blindly back over your shoulder into the crowd at an exciting moment. People won't notice the camera and the chances are that you'll get some amazing facial expressions!

And in less exciting moments it is still a good idea to avoid "posed" pictures as much as possible. People standing up in a stiff line, gazing intently at the camera, simply don't look comfortable, that's all. Catch them at leisure moments, as they perch on the school steps or linger on the lawn.

A really good collection of school pictures is hard to find, as any school year-book editor will tell you. Yet there's nothing much easier to take; and few snapshots increase in value, year after year, as surely as those taken at school.

Since Pampa's games in early season will be played at night, picture-taking possibilities in football will be very limited. However, for less than a dollar one can buy a simple flashlight arrangement which uses the new flash bulbs which the news photographers on the big papers utilize. These bulbs are a bit expensive—25 cents each, and they can be used but once—but worth using to make an album complete.

In using them, the camera shutter is opened wide on time or only the flashlight is fired by pressing a button, and the shutter is closed. That's all there is to it. Good pictures can be made with a box camera or other kinds, within a range of 15 or 20 feet.

Most of the newspapers published in the United States since 1868 are probably doomed to extinction through decay of the paper unless preservative measures are employed, the national bureau of standards reports.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY By O.E.H.

They failed to get more, but that was because folks didn't know how hard those Pampans were fighting and thinking.

Coach Jim "Mussolini" Lookabaugh took his veteran squad, hypnotized it, and told it to go out and play over some of the last games of 1933. The Redskins just imagined they were playing Central High and they were up on their toes all evening. They looked as if they enjoyed every minute of it and would like to continue indefinitely. . . . Incidentally, we heard on good authority that Central High, also of Oklahoma City, has an even bigger eleven. But we'll stick Capitol Hill against most any team but Stanford.

Well, it was a pleasant trip and we Pampans ought to have learned a lot. Since we didn't go over to win the first game, we should lament this reason, we can hardly lament the loss of it. And, remembering THE big game to come, we can be satisfied with nothing short of Capitol Hill's blocking, fire, and speed. . . . It should not be overlooked, also, that playing under the lights requires practice—practice which will hereafter be possible here when needed.

Quannah beat Sayre by two touchdowns last week and will bring a big, powerful Class A outfit here Friday night. . . . Bill Egan's old knee injury may have to be given time to heal and Hamilton's shoulder, bruised at Oklahoma City, will require watching. . . . But it is our confident prediction that those Harvardsters will surprise even themselves in the next few games as they realize the strength which we believe is in the squad. You, of course, must see to be convinced; we mean that you ought to come out to the games and not take our word for it.

We regret to report that Governor Bill Murray is a poor farmer. We looked in vain for that garden he promised to raise at the governor's mansion. We did find a good crop of weeds around the fences and along the curb in front of the mansion. We went up to his office in the capitol to tell him a few things about it but he wasn't in. Maybe he was just as well—he might have called out the National Guard and locked us up, thereby causing diplomatic difficulties and possibly causing us to remain incarcerated.

NEW YORK POLICE COMMISSIONER RESIGNS HIS JOB IN HUFF

CLAIMS MAYOR INTERFERED IN POLICE ORDERS

CHARGES LA GUARDIA WITH ENCOURAGING PUBLIC DISORDER

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Gen. John F. O'Ryan turned back to his law practice today, leaving the police commissionership with a blast of criticism against Mayor La Guardia.

A few hours before he handed over his shield to the chief clerk last night, General O'Ryan issued a statement accusing the mayor of "serious interference" with the police department and encouraging "public disorder."

"When mass picketing is encouraged by the chief executive of the city," General O'Ryan said, "it matters little whether such encouragement is the result of recklessness, or of political audacity or of ignorance—the danger is the same."

He said he tendered his resignation to the mayor the night of Sept. 13—primary day—"after a heated and discourteous tirade by him over the telephone, and after I learned that he had issued orders to the chief of staff of the police department to concentrate approximately 1,400 policemen and detectives in the Harlem area—in his own political balliwick."

Citing several strikes and demonstrations as "typical examples of the encouragement given public disorder by the mayor," General O'Ryan said: "If serious disorder develops on the streets of the city the task of the police will be so greatly hampered by the policies of the mayor that the interests of the people will be prejudiced."

Chief Lewis J. Valentine will be sworn in today as General O'Ryan's successor.

Fascists Hail Crown Prince's New Daughter

NAPLES, Italy, Sept. 25 (AP)—The rejoicing at the birth of a daughter to Crown Prince Umberto and Princess Marie Jose took on a fascist flavor today.

An official proclamation plastered on walls throughout the city welcomed the tiny Princess Maria Pia to a land "revived" by fascists.

"We rejoice over the dawn of this life, which comes at a moment when a new light shines for the future of Italy, revived by fascism," the proclamation of city authorities said.

"We hope the august eyes now just opened may never behold anything more beautiful than our Italy."

The infant was born at 1:15 p. m. last night in the royal palace. She is the first child of Umberto and Princess Marie Jose, daughter of the late King Albert of the Belgians. They were married in Rome in 1930.

Gifts which practically filled the room, were mute testimony of hopes that vanished when the child proved to be a girl. A male child would have been heir-apparent to the throne.

The little princess was to be baptized privately in the Catholic faith this morning in a chapel in her mother's private apartment. Marie Jose and the infant were reported to be doing well.

'Rescued' Cattle Die of Hunger

Striking support of charges of the Memphis Humane Society that federal relief cattle are being shipped to Mississippi river islands only to die of starvation is given in this picture. In the foreground, on the creek rim, a dead cow is shown where it became smothered in the bog and in the foreground is another about to succumb. Hundreds of cattle already have died of hunger, society officials charge.

COMPLETE REORGANIZATION OF HOUSE NECESSARY IN JANUARY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Almost complete reorganization of the house and some important revamping of the senate will be necessary when the 74th congress convenes in January.

The change in personnel brought about by primary contests, retirements and deaths will force the reorganization without regard to casualties that may occur in the November elections.

Not only is the speakership left vacant by the death of Henry T. Rainey, but eleven important house

EIGHTY NEW FACES ASSURED FOR 74TH CONGRESS; MORE PROBABLE

BY CECIL DYCKSON.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The turnover in congress seats is proving terrific. Forty-four new faces are assured for the seventy-fourth congress, meeting in January, regardless of whether the political complexion of the senate and house is altered by the November elections.

Already a record has been set in the turnover. Names that long have been on the congressional rolls have been wiped off by defeats in primaries, voluntary retirements, aspirations for other offices, and deaths.

At least 69 house seats and five senate seats in the present congress will be filled by new men in January. Further, six out of 14 representatives aspiring for senate seats were nominated. Contests with five sitting senators are being waged and casualties on one side or the other are certain. However, three house members who failed to gain senate nominations are running again for their old seats.

Five senators on their way out are: Stephens (D., Miss.) and Erickson (D., Mont.) who were defeated in the primaries; Goldsborough (R., Tenn.), who ran for governor, and Lill (D., Wash.) and Thompson (D., Neb.) who are retiring voluntarily.

Twenty-seven representatives, 22 of them democratic and five republican, failed to win renomination, or election. (One democrat and one republican incumbent were defeated in the Maine election.)

Seventeen representatives—six republicans, including Rep. Beck of Pennsylvania, and 11 democrats—are retiring voluntarily. Of the others, two were renominated for governor, two defeated for governorships, four, including Speaker Henry T. Rainey (D., Ill.), have died, and the remainder have accepted or are going to accept government appointments.

Party slates were complete in all the states except New Mexico, New York, and Rhode Island. In New Mexico party conventions were held today. New York democrats met Wednesday and Thursday to name senatorial and gubernatorial nominees, the republicans doing likewise on Thursday and Friday. Rhode Island democrats name senatorial and two house candidates October 3, and the republicans on October 10.

Not much change in the line-up in those states is expected according to reports received here except in New Mexico where Rep. Dennis Chavez (D.) is to be named to oppose Senator Bronson Cutting (R.), whose nomination is assured.

Further, five posts on the appropriations committee, including the key positions on the military and naval sub-committees, four on the equally potent judiciary and three on the interstate commerce committee will have to be filled.

Already democrats, confident they will control the next house, are engaged in a scramble for the speaker-ship and other high positions.

Six democrats have announced their candidacies for the speaker-ship. The race will get going in a big way after November 6, election day.

Representative Joseph W. Byrnes

President Will Talk Over Radio Thursday Night

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt packed his bags today for a return to the White House after a month's comprehensive survey of national conditions.

Whatever he had in mind for action at Washington upon his arrival there tomorrow morning was undisclosed, but he will make a radio address Thursday evening, in connection with the New York Herald-Tribune conference on current problems.

Within a week or so, Mr. Roosevelt will talk to the nation over the air, giving a report of his stewardship and an outline of his views for the future.

There is every indication that he is confident of the trend of the times but ready to take whatever steps he feels may be necessary to bring better days.

Today was set aside for disposition of routine papers which have accumulated during his days of study with national leaders of all thoughts. Late tonight he boards a special train for the capital.

The national recovery administration is the principal thought of the president at this time.

Frederick Perry May Become Pro In Movie Shorts

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25 (AP)—The name of Frederick Perry, world's premier tennis player, was linked with new talk of professionalism today after his third consecutive victory in the Pacific southwest championship.

While the brilliant British Davis cup star was non-committal on the subject, he needs only to sign his name to a motion picture contract to get $100,000 for a series of tennis shorts, such as Bobby Jones made on golf.

He polished off Lester Stoeft, American cup player and world's doubles champion, 10-8, 6-4, 6-3 in the final here yesterday.

When Perry came here for the tournament he made it plainly understood he wanted a chance in pictures. It was a feature role he was seeking, however.

He was definitely convinced at that time that no work jeopardizing his amateur standing would be considered. But at that time the

OLD 'TWO TOES' HAS KILLED HIS LAST TURKEY IN GONZALES AREA

GONZALES, Sept. 25 (AP)—Old "Two Toes" has made his last raid. For seventeen years this marauding timber wolf roamed the woods and pastures east of Gonzales, killing as he pleased, warily sidestepping steel traps and eluding packs of pursuing wolf hounds.

One night recently, however, the giant wolf mauling six feet from top to tip, was run down and killed by a pack of hounds. It took them an hour and a half to catch him.

It was back in 1917 that the killer began to attract the attention of farmers by raiding their turkey flocks. As many as fifty turkeys were slain at a time.

Because he was young and evidently inexperienced at that time, the wolf stepped in a trap set for him, and would never be caught in one. He learned to step over or around them but never again near the trigger.

Thousands of dollars in losses have been credited to the raider in his long career of destruction. Turkeys by the hundreds, young calves, hogs and sheep fell before his slashing teeth.

Hunters have listened to their hounds baying on his trail many times but, until his last desperate run, none had been able to stick to his trail until the kill.

hundred thousand dollar offer had not been made.

Donald Budge, Oakland, and Gene Mako, Los Angeles, won the men's doubles title by defeating Wilmer Allison, Texas, and John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3.

Other champions crowned were: Women's singles: Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, Los Angeles. Women's doubles: Elizabeth Ryan, Santa Monica and London, and Carolyn Babcock, Los Angeles.

FOOD PROFITEERING IS REPORTED DESPITE INCREASED ESTIMATE OF CANNED FRUIT, VEGETABLE SUPPLY

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Housewives who are stocking pantry shelves with canned fruits and vegetables in anticipation of a winter food shortage are doing it needlessly, says Dr. Frederick C. Howe, consumers' counsel of AAA.

"Supplies of canned fruits and vegetables promise to be six per cent greater this year than last," he says, "and yet reports are coming to me that merchants are using scare propaganda to persuade the public to hoard foods." "I have also noticed that in some cases they offer no special price, and their support in promoting their but seem to be trading simply on the fear that consumers may not have enough to eat next winter. Consumers who buy in dozen or case lots are certainly entitled to a discount."

Fight Profiteering
However, many of the large, reliable associations of food dealers have lined up with the consumers' division of AAA, promising Howe their support in protecting the consumer from profiteering.

Consumers should keep the following facts in mind about fruits and vegetables, Howe says: 1. There are ample quantities of fresh fruits and vegetables, so there is no need to shift to canned and varieties. Supplies are now coming from the "late" states, practically untouched by the drought. This winter supplies will be coming from the south. Potatoes are as large as last year.

2. Some vegetables for canning are grown in the drought states but because more acres were used for them this year the drought affected them only slightly.

3. Canned vegetable supplies in 1934-35 are expected to be nine per cent greater than last year. Canned tomatoes will be 14 per cent above the average for the year.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission:

AUSTIN, Sept. 25. (AP)—Plans of Texas Centennial for an immediate appropriation of state funds for the exposition yesterday proceeded introduction in the senate of a resolution to request Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to reconvene the Texas legislature for that purpose.

Stiff opposition was manifested. Despite pleas of sponsors for immediate adoption, objections were made to consideration out of the regular order of business and a noon recess was ordered by a vote of 13 to 12.

Governor Ferguson would be requested to confine the scope of the session to the one purpose of appropriating centennial funds.

Urgent pleas for immediate action by the legislature were made by members of the Texas centennial commission, official planners of the celebration of 100 years of independence and progress in Texas, in speeches before an open session of the senate.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, husband and adviser of the governor, sat in the senate throughout the speeches and listened attentively.

Commissioners made no request for a specific amount of funds, but said their plans were based on expenditure of a minimum of $15,000,000. They pointed out Dallas' successful bid for the main celebration was worth approximately $9,000,000 and that aid from the federal government would be sought.

Parades were made that proper historic celebrations would be conducted at San Antonio, Houston and other places identified prominently in Texas' struggle for freedom, as required in a previous centennial act.

Walter D. Gilne of Wichita Falls, chairman of the executive committee of the commission, told the senate several large exhibitors at the Chicago exposition had promised to expand their displays for the Texas celebration. He predicted $100,000,000 industrial exhibits could be obtained.

Attendance was predicted at 20,000,000 people, who would spend an aggregate of $1,500,000,000 in Texas, including over $10,000,000 for state gasoline taxes.

Commission members will appear before the house of representatives tonight.

The Texas Centennial St. Louis Globe-Democrat: For several years Texas has been laying its plans for celebrating the Centennial of its independence from Mexico, gained in 1836 at San Jacinto, when the Alamo massacre was avenged. Another step was taken a day or so ago when the Texas Centennial Commission designated Dallas as the central Centennial City, around which the State-wide observance will rally.

Selection of Dallas as the focal city—pledges very close to $8,000,000 and a site of 245 acres for the honor—carries interest far beyond the borders of Texas for the reason that Santa Fe, Denver, Omaha, St. Louis, Birmingham and New Orleans are about as close, or even closer, to the Centennial city than some cities of Texas itself. That, of course, offers itself as an advantage in the matter of attendance from neighboring Commonwealths, which might have been reduced somewhat had Houston or San Antonio been selected, as they wanted to be. True enough, either of the losing cities may have attractions to lay before visitors that Dallas could not offer and they might have drawn larger attendance from deeper into Texas than Dallas can hope to do.

Dallas, however, is not intended to encompass all of the Centennial celebration. The important duty of designating other cities of the State in which historical and patriotic celebrations will be held in connection with the Centennial two years hence remains a part of the unfinished business before the commission. And no doubt much of the color of the State-wide observance of independence rests in that program.

It must be remembered that Texas, the State, will be celebrating the creation of Texas the Republic; that it won its independence from Mexico by its own efforts and that it was not accepted into the sisterhood of which it is now a part until something like nine years after Texas, under General Houston, won the battle of San Jacinto, captured Santa Anna and gained independence.

Whether, in 1945, it will celebrate 100 years of statehood remains to be seen.

TIGER ISLAND By GOVERNOR MORRIS

SYNOPSIS: When the Boldero strikes a reef and begins to settle, Harvey Bowers and Ivy Green find themselves locked into the smoking room. Captain Wong Bo has scuttled the ship, and broken his promise to his partner in barter, Flint, the radio man, that the passengers should be saved. Flint witnesses the truth to Singapore, and is shot by Wong Bo. Bowers and Ivy escape, and Ivy begins releasing the cargo of animals she and Bowers were taking to Singapore.

Chapter 24 PARTING

Ivy was for giving the tigers their chance of life with the other animals, but Bowers was strongly opposed.

"I've got the raft overboard," he said, "but the only land we can get to is the volcano thing over there. The breeze is blowing in that direction, and we'll have to go with it. There is no big land anywhere around except Borneo. That volcano is probably part of a mangy little island, and it is damned foolishness to add tigers to all the natural normal difficulties of being cast away."

"They're in my care," said Ivy, "and if they go down with the ship, I go with them."

One look at her face told him that nothing that he could say would shake her in his resolve. He shrugged his shoulders and gave in.

"At least wait," he said, "until I get a gun, in case they turn on you."

"They're not in the mood to turn on me anything else," said Ivy with sublime confidence. And with firm strong hands she unbolted the door of their cages.

The male tiger himself opened his with a leaping rush that almost slammed it off its hinges. His ears were laid flat back to his head, and in his hurry to get to the distant shore his claws ripped grooves in the deck.

But so eager was the female that she overtook him, passed him and was the first to plunge into the water.

"That's how dangerous they are," Ivy in a superior way.

"Any time you're ready," said Bowers, "we'll begin to think about ourselves." The scene over the tigers, short as it was, had nettled him, for he knew that he had been worsted when in the right.

"Can we still go below?" she asked.

"Probably if we hurry. Get your clothes together and I'll get my guns. They are important."

With the fireman's ax Bowers had soon chopped and smashed a way into his cabin. To get his guns and the ammunition, packed in neat leather carrying cases, aboard the raft necessitated three trips. He could not have risked a fourth. The cabin-deck was awash.

Ivy, working at random, had stuffed two suitcases and a small valise with belongings that would come in handy and belongings that would not. She was a little rattled.

The ship might stay up for hours, it might go down at any moment. Bowers had said something about water compressing air against the undersides of decks and keeping vessels afloat longer than anyone thought possible. But you couldn't count on that, Ivy did not, however, forget her animal-trainer's whip or Helen's belt and chain.

Bowers was long on guns and ammunition, but he had also salvaged some shirts and some shorts of rough brown linen. When these things, together with Ivy's belongings, had been loaded on the raft and lashed in place, they scoured the ship for whatever might be useful to the ship-wrecked.

ly, "For trying to help us. Isn't that right, Flint?"

Flint was not able to affirm what Bowers had suggested in so many words, but the strained look went out of his eyes. He had so wanted her to know, and now she knew!

Flint's head rolled to one side, and his knees straightened. Bowers could not find any pulse. Held close to Flint's mouth, the bright gold watch which he had willed to Ivy did not miss over. Flint's short, colorful and sinful career had come to a glorious end.

When Helen was released from her cage, she escaped from her mistress and the impending belt and chair ran off screeching like a thing bereft, and disappeared through the smashed door into the corridor outside the smoking-room.

No one would have guessed that Helen's actions were the result of her tenderest feelings having been lacerated. Something dreadful was going to happen to the ship. She knew that. The man and the woman had brought up their belongings from below, but they hadn't brought hers.

Ivy and Bowers had followed, half laughing and half in tears. The sudden tragic death of Flint had left both in an emotional state where the smallest incident might produce the most astonishing reaction.

Helen was out of sight, but her gibbering reached her anxious mistress. (Copyright, 1934, By Gouverneur Morris)

New Game Law Is Sent to Governor

AUSTIN, Sept. 25. (AP)—The Texas legislature today sent to the governor for approval a bill which would empower the Texas game fish and oyster commission to prescribe rules and regulations governing the hunting of ducks, geese, and other migratory water fowl.

A session of the commission was scheduled for next Monday to make rules for the approaching season. Governor Miriam A. Ferguson was expected to approve the measure before then.

Chairman A. E. Wood of the commission said regulations would conform to those of the United States biological survey promulgated by the secretary of agriculture. The open season would start October 29, and continue for ten weeks with shooting permitted only on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays. The bag limit would be 12 ducks and four geese daily, with possession limited to two days' quota. The limit on dead heads, canvas backs, teals, and greater and lesser scaups would be five per day.

Having secured the compass and the chart, he pulled open drawers and lockers. In one of the lockers, folded and piled, were signal-flags and the flags of many nations. Half-way down one of these piles, a bold pattern of alternating red and white stripes caught his eye. He jerked it loose and found that it was the Star-spangled Banner.

That would be nice to have. In one deep drawer was a heavy coil of quarter-inch manila rope and two spindles deeply wrapped with heavy fish-line. To the end of each line a coarse hook upon which bait had dried was attached. The chart-room offered no further treasures, and for luck he pushed open the door of the wireless room and looked in.

Almost instantly he was on his knees beside Flint. The wireless man had rolled over on his back, his knees drawn up and his hands clasped across the wound in his stomach.

"My poor friend!" exclaimed Bowers. "What have they done to you?" Flint's eyes were glassy and his words were gasped rather than articulated, so that Bowers was never sure that he had understood exactly what the dying man said. "Lady-smith coming," he seemed to say, and after an interval and more distinctly: "Wong Bo."

To Bowers it seemed that he was trying to tell him that for the wound in his stomach Wong Bo was responsible. A tormented twitch of the mouth may have been meant for a smile, and it seemed as if Flint was trying to say that he had "spilled the beans."

"We've a life-raft overboard," said Bowers, "and you're coming with us. I'll rig a sling and lower you over the side. You're going to be all right."

But Flint moved his head slowly from side to side. He was done for and he knew it. He withdrew his right hand from the wounded area and with bloodied fingers fumbled at the watch pocket in the waist-band of his trousers.

Presently he drew out a plain old-fashioned hunting-case gold watch. It was evident that he wished Bowers to take it. His lips seemed to form the words: "For Miss Green."

Much moved, Bowers hurried out on the bridge and shouted to Ivy where she was tying the corners of the wet blankets to secure what she had salvaged from the storeroom and make it more easily portable.

"Ivy," he called, "come here quick!" When she knelt by Flint there was still a flicker of life in him. He moved his bloodied hand toward her, and she took it in both hers and pressed it hard. Then she loosened her left hand and stroked his hair back from his forehead.

"He was shot," said Bowers firmly.

WORLEY'S $10 CAR WINS ITS SHARE OF FAME

Takes Governor and Senator for Ride In Machine

SHAMROCK, Sept. 25. (AP)—Eugene Worley, 25, University of Texas student, decided Texas politics needed new blood. So he stepped from the university campus into a $10 car and conducted a whirlwind campaign that won him a seat in the house of representatives from the 122nd district over two much older men.

While Governor-elect James V. Allred, 25, was waging a campaign for promotion from the attorney general's office to that of chief executive, Worley was in his battered auto telling voters in four large counties that politics needed youth.

Up and down the highways and lanes of Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth and Donley counties the youthful candidate rode—and walked. His staid car became a familiar sight in the district, but friends always came to his aid and he managed to keep the noisy machine going.

Once when Worley rode up to a political gathering, someone made a remark about his car. "When I'm elected to the legislature," Worley responded, climbing from the old machine. "I'll take the governor of Texas for a ride in this car."

He did. Worley led his nearest opponent by more than 1,000 votes in the first primary; then he again jumped into the old auto and waged a successful second primary campaign against the incumbent, seasoned politician in public life.

It was time for the young politician to make good his first campaign promise. Youthful James V. Allred had been named democratic nominee for governor, equal to election in Texas. So Worley met Allred at the state democratic convention at Galveston and not only took the governor-elect riding in the old auto but took U. S. Senator Tom Connally along.

After the auto ride, Worley said he intended to keep all promises as he had the one about taking the governor for a spin in his campaign machine.

Worley said he favors a conservative, economical government in Texas. "New blood can do that," he said. "I'm not the only young man who has seen the need of youth in government. Jimmie Allred is just 35, and he was elected attorney general four years ago."

Herman Jones, 23, of Decatur, one of Worley's classmates in the university, joined Worley in seeing what youth could do for politics. He won a place in the state house of representatives from the 48th district.

"We decided to run for the legislature while we were in the university," Worley smiled. "We did and we won."

TO TEST LAW

SHERMAN, Sept. 25. (AP)—W. J. Durham, negro attorney here, said today that Texas negroes would take the most direct route to the United States supreme court to determine their right to vote in the Texas democratic primaries. A suit for $10 damages will be filed in a Houston justice court against the Harris county clerk for refusal of absentee ballots to negroes in last summer's primaries. Durham said that procedure would permit an appeal from the justice court to the federal court.

U. S. Detective To Probe Lindy Case in Kamenz

KAMENZ, Germany, Sept. 25. (AP)—Arthur Johnson, New York detective who is coming here to investigate angles of the Lindbergh kidnaping case, is a famous man in Kamenz long before his arrival.

"This will give us a rare chance to see a real American detective," many people say. Dispatches from Madrid said Johnson, there in connection with another case, planned to leave this morning for Kamenz.

American correspondents in this town, where Bruno Richard Hauptmann, suspect in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, was reared, have been deluged with requests by natives for American newspapers. "We would like to read what America thinks and writes about our home town," they say.

The mother of Richard Hauptmann, Frau Pauline Hauptmann, has gone into seclusion, overcome by news of her son's arrest in New York. The case is an absorbing topic of conversation to nearly every resident of Kamenz.

Johnson, before leaving Madrid, said he would investigate antecedents of Hauptmann and of Isador Fisch, who died this year in Leipzig shortly after his return from New York. Hauptmann claimed Fisch gave him the Lindbergh ransom money.

HORSES? NIGHTMARE!

PHILMROBRIA—Ernest Abe (a name, not a pun), says he doesn't like to hear horses tap-dancing.

That's what the dancers in Miss Mildred Marriott's classes next door sound like when he's trying to sleep in the afternoon, he told Judge Joseph L. Kun.

Edwin Mackin, Miss Marriott's neighbor on the other side, testified, in effect, that Abe's story was just so much horseshit. He sleeps soundly with his sofa against the wall of the dancing academy he said. "On with the dance," ruled the Judge.

BUCCANERS WIN TEXAS LEAGUE FLAG; TO PLAY NEW ORLEANS TOMORROW

FIRST THREE GAMES TO BE AT GALVESTON

SAN ANTONIO DEFEATED 9 TO 2 IN SIXTH PLAYOFF TILT

By Bill Parker. Associated Press Sports Writer. GALVESTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Proud of their accomplishment of winning the 1934 Texas league pennant, the fence-smashing Galveston Buccaneers arrived here early today from San Antonio where last night they smothered the Missions, 9 to 2, to win the sixth game of the championship play-off and conclude the series, 4 games to the Missions two.

Purty Fair Show, Paul Admits

A purty good show, but nothing to make such a fuss about, opined Paul Dean, St. Louis Cardinals' hurling ace, after he had fought his way through a clamorous throng following his no-hit, no-run victory in Brooklyn. Here the younger Dean is shown as he believes cheerfully to a knot of youthful hero worshippers gathered to acclaim him as he moved toward the clubhouse. Dean turned in a similar performance in the American Association in 1932.

PELICANS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP IN FINAL GAME

NASHVILLE SHUT OUT 2 TO 0 BY NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25 (AP)—Manager Larry Gilbert and his New Orleans Pelicans rested happily today and leisurely packed their bags for a trip to Galveston, Tex., to defend the Dixie championship from the threat of the Galveston Buccaneers. New Orleans captured the Southern association championship for its second successive season yesterday when Denny Galehouse shut out the Nashville Volunteers, 2 to 0, in the deciding game of the series.

Tennis Ratings in Muddle. They, meaning the master minds of the United States Lawn Tennis association who annually get a headache from making up national ranking lists, will have to shake the whole list from top to bottom for 1934. It's been a tough season and a dizzy one, from the home bred standpoints and perhaps it would be best, after all, if the tennis authorities adopted the policy of golf's governing body and sidestepped anything resembling a ranking list altogether. The theory of the golfing rules is that there's trouble and embarrassment enough without inviting more of it by attempting to grade the players. That's why they had the "blind draw" at Brookline this year and, at that, it probably worked out as well as if it had been carefully "seeded."

DETROIT WINS PENNANT RACE IN AMERICAN

CARDINALS NOW ONLY 2 GAMES OUT OF FIRST PLACE

By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer. For the first time in 25 years, the Detroit Tigers have won the American league pennant but whether their world series rivals would be the New York Giants or the St. Louis Cardinals none could say today. The idle Tigers "backed" into the flag yesterday when the New York Yankees were shut out, 5-0 by John Merena, a Boston Red Sox rookie right hander and thus lost their last mathematical chance of overhauling Detroit in the race to the wire. Merena pitched 5-hit ball, while Mickey Cochran's inspired club thus was sewing up its championship, developments in the National league served to indicate that if the world champion Giants are to win again they'll have to do so on their own behalf. They'll get scant help from the Cardinals.

QUANAH HAS REPUTATION FOR PILING UP HUGE SCORES IN NON-CONFERENCE GAME WINS

Indians Won All 4 of Their Foreign Games Last Year; Two Veterans Are Back.

The Quanah Indians, from last season's record, is apparently a non-conference team and if the same be true this season, the Harvesters will be in for a busy night Friday when night baseball is introduced to Pampa. Last year Quanah won all four of her non-conference games, but won only a single conference game. The Indians scored 135 points against non-conference opponents while keeping her goal unbeaten. The team continued to show great defensive strength by only having 81 points scored against it, although playing Chidress and the "Red Raider," Red Ratican, Electra and Wichita Falls. The Harvesters will present only two real veterans this season. They are W. Slaton, a halfback, and R. Folsom, a guard, and each have played three years with the Indians. Geo. Franz, last year's tackle but this season playing end, is one of the stars the Harvesters will have to stop. He is a good pass receiver and a deadly tackler. Besides Slaton, the Indian backfield is composed of Marvin White, sophomore fullback, who was kept from lettering last year because of ineptitude; Herbert Edmondson, senior halfback and lefthanded passer who played end last year, and A. Edmondson, quarterback and co-captain. The Indian backfield will average 160 pounds and the line will be about the same size. The team will probably be one of the tallest the Harvesters will face this year. Eight of the players are six feet or taller and six of them measure 5 feet 11 inches. Only seven lettermen are available this year.

The semi-final bout on the week-end presented a bit of a surprise as the Pampa auditorium last night completely stole the show. Joe Gunther of Nashville, Tenn., substituting for Rex Mobley of Berger who failed to appear, and Gene La Belle, French-Canadian from Montreal, Que., went to a 33 minute draw in the fastest closest bout in Pampa wrestling history.

ENDEAVOUR'S CREW IS BLAMED FOR HER POOR PERFORMANCES

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 25 (AP)—Barring an accident or a reversal in form on the part of either the defender or the challenger, the New York Yacht club should be privileged this evening to lock the America's cup away in its vault until another challenger takes up the quest. As Rainbow, Harold S. Vanderbilt's defender, and Endeavor, O. M. Sjöqvist's British challenger, prepared to face the starting line today for what may be the last time, even the most loyal supporters of the invader thought very little of her chances. Yesterday she suffered her third straight defeat in four minutes, the largest margin of the series. Previously, she won the first two races of the four out of seven contests. Unless she is able to lead Rainbow home today she may just as well sail up the bay to Bristol for her jury rig with which to make the passage back to England. Rainbow, it has been apparent to all, has improved since the start Lighting System Is One of Best in Southwest; Haner Still on Injured List.

Reflectors placed at the top of 52-foot poles at Harvester field will radiate 2,136,000 candle power which is believed equal or greater than any lighting system in the southwest. All connections were completed this morning and the first test will be made tonight. Focusing of the lights will be made tomorrow night when the Harvester A and B squads will play a full game. The squad was divided yesterday afternoon and worked out separately after a lengthy blocking session. Another big workout was in prospect for this afternoon.

AUSTIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—Bohn Hilliard, whose sparkling run of nearly 100 yards carried the University of Texas to victory over Texas Tech Saturday, is not seriously injured. Coach Jack Chevigny said today. Chevigny said Hilliard sustained a minor strain in his left ankle but that he would be ready to play next Saturday against the Texas Freshmen.

Alison Getting Be No. 1

The top ranking American player on the basis of 1933 performances, in order, were Frank Shields, Wilmer Allison, Lester Stoefen, Cliff Sutter, Sidney B. Wood, Gregory Mangin and Bryan (Big) Grant.

Stoefen Wins Davis Cup

The Californian yielded the singles berth to Shields and Wood and it wasn't until the last that Captain Dick Williams was satisfied to have him keep the job as George Lot's doubles partner. Like the rest of his touring team-mates, Stoefen was a big disappointment at Forest Hills, although he did give Allison a hard fight before yielding in five sets.

Wood Made a Fine Impression

Wood made a fine impression abroad but the ranking list isn't made up on that basis and it must be conceded that Sidney has not been so "hot" on the domestic courts. He was beaten more soundly than was Stoefen. Frankie Parker, the perennial boy wonder, may move up into the top five or six and they will have to hoist such California youngsters as Gene Mako and Don Budge into the higher brackets but otherwise the list looms as so much guesswork.

Young Calvert Is Opponent of House Speaker

AUSTIN, Sept. 25. (AP)—A youth was pitted against a veteran of the political wars today as hurried re-arrangements were made in the struggle for one of the state's most powerful offices, that of speaker of the Texas house of representatives.

Representative J. B. Ford of McGregor withdrew unexpectedly from the race yesterday and the candidacy of Representative R. J. Calvert of Hillsboro, one of the younger members serving his first term, was immediately launched. The action further confused an already muddled race in which Coke R. Stevenson of Junction, speaker of the current legislature would break a precedent by succeeding himself.

Calvert entered the race with strong support from Ford and possibilities of further strength should James V. Allred, democratic candidate for governor, interest himself in the campaign. Allred is reported to look with disfavor on Stevenson's attempt at re-election, Stevenson having opposed Allred in the democratic primary campaign.

Calvert was closely allied with Allred in the campaign.

Calvert is a forceful speaker and played an important role in shaping legislation. He is alert and aggressive, is about 30 years old and practices law in Hillsboro.

Prisoner's Wife Periled by Mob

Mob violence threatened Mrs. Richard Hauptmann, wife of the suspect held in New York in the Lindbergh kidnaping hunt, as she was taken into the street by police after a grilling about the ransom money found in the Hauptmann's garage. A crowd shouting "Hang her!" was forced back by police. Mrs. Hauptmann is shown here as she left the Greenwich Village police station in custody of two detectives. She denied any knowledge of the kidnaping throughout the quiz.

PROTEST

(Continued from page 1.) would be called for tonight as soon as the formal protests are filed. The defeat came as a heart-breaking climax to Endeavour's gallant bid for victory in a yachting classic that goes back 63 years and where a British challenger never had brighter prospects.

ACTOR

(Continued from page 1.) I'm sorry this had to happen." Spectators asserted the "battle" lasted only long enough for Saunders to uncock a long uppercut and Marshall to hit the floor.

Marshall issued a statement today in which he said Saunders' statement "is the best proof to date that he is a writer of melodramatic fiction."

"I can understand why Mr. Saunders in making his statement preferred fiction to facts, inasmuch as the truth would compel him to admit that I was seated at the time he delivered his spectacular blow and looking in another direction," Marshall said.

"The only active part I played in this melodrama was to resent his insulting behavior to a lady at my table."

Saunders said that early yesterday he and his actress wife, Fay Gray, accompanied Marshall and Gloria Swanson, star of silent and talking pictures, to the latter's home to accept a table tennis challenge.

"There came an interlude in the play, and Saunders reportedly mentioned the similarity of recent magazine photographs of his wife and Miss Swanson."

Saunders related.

"Marshall seemed to resent this," he said the four then returned to the Lubitch home where the party for Reinhardt still was in progress.

Saunders, Miss Swanson and Marshall sat down at a table with Myron Zelznick, screen agent, and Ernest Malita, writer. Miss Gray joined friends across the room.

"For some unexplained reason, Marshall began a tirade against me," Saunders declared. "I thought it was a gag and paid no attention to the remarks. Perhaps he didn't like my looks, because he mentioned something about me being handsome, which, of course, is an innocent statement of fact. Then he made a remark I looked to see if he was smiling, but he was not."

The writer said he arose from the table and Marshall did likewise.

Then the author of "Wings," "The Dawn Patrol," and "Nikki and Her Pals," said he "hung one" on the Englishman's chin, putting him down for the count.

Mariene Dietrich, Irene and David Selznick, Virginia Bruce, Al Kaufman and Max Reinhardt's son, Grottiere, were reported among the ringiders.

NEW CLEWS

(Continued from page 1.) 1, 1932, and those of Hauptmann. The imprint of a man's foot was found near the base of the ladder down which the kidnaper carried the 20-month-old son of Col. Lindbergh from his second-story nursery.

To a suggestion that Hauptmann's footprint were larger than that found at the Lindbergh Hopewell, N. J., home, the answer of the scientists was "that's a bum guess."

Department scientists also were seeking data on the footprints of the late Isador Fisch, the man Hauptmann said gave him the ransom money for safekeeping. Officials sought to see whether there was any similarity between his footprints and that found at Hopewell.

The bill directed that 35 per cent of the funds allocated to the respective counties must be expended in the construction, repair, and maintenance of lateral roads with at least 80 per cent of the work relief money to be paid for labor.

Use of $100,000 of the bond proceeds would be authorized to construct a building at the state tuberculosis colony at Sanatorium. A maximum of two and one-half per cent could be utilized for general hospitalization of indigents and three per cent for care of tuberculars.

This section giving the board of control drastic authority over county administrations was hotly contested in the house. County boards and administrators under the existing regime are appointed by the county commissioners courts with approval of the Texas relief commission.

Under the conference bill the board of control would select both the county boards and county administrators.

Passage of the bond bill by the house abated, to some extent, the reports of another special session but widespread rumors the governor would convene another extraordinary meeting at noon tomorrow continued rampant in legislative halls. The proposed session would deliberate establishment of a natural resources commission bills to raise additional revenue and financial participation by the state in a Texas Centennial observance.

Reports Made of State Convention At Jaycee Lunch

Reports on the state Junior chamber of commerce convention held in Mineral Wells last week were given at the Jaycee luncheon at noon today. Jim Collins was introduced as the vice president of the Panhandle section of the state organization.

Plans for the reception for Gray county teachers to be held on the Mel Davis ranch south of LeFors were completed. Pampa merchants will be hosts and local Jaycees will be in charge of some of the arrangements.

At a meeting of the board of director following the luncheon, Harry E. Hoare was elected a director to fill the unexpired term of E. M. Conley who has left the city. Harvey Todd was named acting treasurer for the rest of this year, taking the place of Mr. Conley. An alternate director will be elected.

Visitors at today's luncheon were Murrell Neeley and Fountain Works, both of Amarillo, John Hayes formerly of McLean but now a resident of Pampa, Joe Gordon, Arthur Teed, and Guy McTaggart.

Weekly Church Program To Be Wednesday Eve

The "food-faith-and-fun" program will be resumed at the First Methodist church tomorrow evening promptly at 7 o'clock, Gaston Foote, pastor, announced today. On account of the revival meeting that was in progress at the church last week the weekly program was not held.

The meeting will be the second one of the fall season. All members of the church are urged to attend, especially new members who joined the church during the revival last week. The program will begin with a sing-song, followed by a covered dish luncheon which members of the church are asked to provide. "Just bring what you have for supper," said Rev. Foote, "and if you don't have anything for supper come anyway."

A forum will provide opportunity for discussion of problems confronting the church.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 25. (AP)—With spot delivery of corn commanding the highest premium reached yet this season, corn values developed strength late today, and rallied wheat.

Wet weather over parts of the corn belt caused apprehension as to conditioning of the new corn crop. Strength shown in the New York stock market was also a late stimulating factor relative to grains.

Corn closed strong 1 cent to 1 1/2 above yesterday's finish, December new 78 3/4, wheat firm 1 1/4 advanced, December new 1.04 1/4-1/4, oats unchanged to 1/4 up, and provisions varying from 25 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

So large are the Smithsonian Institution's collections of fish that 100 kinds new of science have just been found among specimens gathered in 1907-10 by the Albatross expedition.

WHEN YOU'RE TOO TIRED TO GO ON...

Get a LIFT with a Camel!

YOU'LL ENJOY this thrilling response in your flow of energy!

ANY TOBACCO MAN WILL TELL YOU:

"Camels are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

In light of the recent scientific confirmation of the "energizing effect" in Camels, note what Miss Engelhard, champion woman mountain climber, says:

"Mountain climbing is great sport, but don't try it unless you have plenty of energy. Many times up there above the timber line, within a short climb of the goal, I have thought 'I can't go another step.' Then I call a halt and smoke a Camel. A Camel lifts me up in just a few minutes and gives me the energy to push on to the mountain top!"

People in every walk of life have found that Camels increase their energy. Perhaps you have observed this among your own circle of friends.

You'll like Camel's matchless blend of costlier tobaccos. Mild—but never flat or "sweetish"—never tiresome in taste. You'll feel like smoking more, so go ahead! For with Camels, you will find that steady smoking does not jangle the nerves.

SALESMAN, E. W. Davis says: "I'll say this for Camel's costlier tobaccos—they taste better! And when I'm tired a Camel revives my energy!"

MOTOR-BOAT RACER. Florence Burnham says: "For a long time I have been a Camel fan. . . Camels, being so much milder, never disturb my nerves. I smoke them all I want."

Camel's Costlier Tobaccos never get on your Nerves!
