

TOM KIRBY ELECTED PRECINCT NO.3 COMMISSIONER BY 46-VOTE MAJORITY

VOTERS OKAY ONLY ONE OF AMENDMENTS

UNIVERSITY LAND TAX IS APPROVED IN ELECTION

Gray county voters, relatively few in number compared with the primaries, frowned upon write-in candidates, disapproved proposed constitutional amendments, and showed themselves predominantly democratic as usual in yesterday's general election. There were scattering republican votes and a few socialist and communist votes.

In precinct 3, Tom Kirby was elected county commissioner with a 46-vote majority over H. G. McCleskey, incumbent and original nominee. Mr. McCleskey withdrew his name during a contest of the Grandview county and Mr. Kirby was certified as the democratic nominee. At Grandview yesterday Mr. Kirby received 115 votes while 105 persons wrote in the name of Mr. McCleskey. At the other box in the precinct, Hopkins, the vote was 46 to 10 for Kirby.

A last-minute campaign for Clem Davis in precinct 1 fell short by 95 votes. Artie Carpenter the nominee received 275 votes while 180 persons were writing in the name of Mr. Davis, the runner-up in the primary. At LeFors, Mr. Carpenter received 215 votes to 125 for Mr. Davis; at Laketon it was 45 to 42 for the winner and at Farrington 15 to 13.

The vote on the amendments by precincts follows:

1—(LeFors): Property classification, 74 for and 67 against; county reorganization 84-52; maximum tax 41-97; fee abolition 91-48; county consolidation 82-73; city charter 73-61; city official terms 72-55; University lands 83-60.

2—(Pampa): Property classification 33-32; county reorganization 37-31; maximum tax 21-33; fee abolition 33-26; county consolidation 20-35; city charter 17-37; city official terms 22-33; University lands 42-20.

3—(Grandview): Property classification 20-61; county reorganization 17-48; maximum tax 5-65; fee abolition 9-50; county consolidation 9-56; city charter 8-52; city official term 12-50; University lands 18-61.

4—(Alameda): Property classification 11-61; county reorganization 21-47; maximum tax 8-58; fee abolition 32-42; county consolidation 16-61; city charter 16-45; city official terms 14-47; University lands 36-28.

5—(McLean): Property classification 17-109; county reorganization

MRS. LANGER TRAILS DEMO IN N. DAKOTA

Mr. Roosevelt's Friend Is Elected To Congress From New York By Large Vote

(By The Associated Press)

Mrs. Daniel O'Day, friend of Mr. Roosevelt, was by far the first woman to triumph among 97 running for important offices. Many suffered defeat.

Mrs. O'Day was being showered with congratulations as New York's representative-at-large long before the task of counting the votes of six women who sat in the 73rd congress had been finished.

Representative Isabella Greenway, Arizona democrat, another friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, was far in the lead early today. Laughing in contented returns were two other democrats. Representative Virginia Jenckes of Indiana and Representative Kathryn O'Loughlin McCarthy of Kansas. All three are first-terms.

Though Mrs. O'Day won, another democratic aspirant in New York state, Mrs. G. F. Mills, failed. She lost to the republican incumbent from the 32nd district, Francis D. Culkin. The only other new female candidate from a major party was Gertrude Jones, republican, 8th Ohio.

Further interest on the female complexion of the next house centered on the tallies for those veteran incumbents, Mary T. Norton, New Jersey democrat; Florence P. Kahn, California republican; and Edith Nourse Rogers, Massachusetts republican. Representative Kahn was victorious and it looked as though the other two would win also. Not a single senate aspirant seemed in the least likely to join Mrs. Hattie Caraway, Arizona democrat, lone woman senator. Olive M. Johnson, social laborer, New York was definitely out with Senator Copeland's victory.

Chances for a woman governor looked slim with Mrs. William Langer, republican, trailing Thomas Moodie, democrat, in North Dakota. Mrs. Langer, only woman nominee of a major party in the gubernatorial lists, was running on a platform of "vindication" of her husband, deposed governor. Mrs. Elba Chase, New Hampshire communist, lost a bid for governor.

KIDNAPER OF ROBLES GIRL IS CAPTURED

DANCE HALL MAN IN TUCSON CHARGED IN CRIME

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The department of justice today announced that its agents had taken into custody Oscar H. Robson ("Buster") upon authorization of the U. S. attorney of Phoenix, Ariz., as the kidnaper of 6-year-June Robles.

The department said that a federal complaint is being filed charging Robson with the sending of extortion letters through the United States mails.

Robson, a 31-year-old resident of Tucson, Ariz., was identified by the various handwriting experts who declared that the handwriting in the extortion letters, which called for payment of $15,000, was his.

For several years he has been connected with a dance hall in Tucson. The Robles child was kidnapped by an unidentified man about 3 p. m. April 25 while she was going home from school.

Later the same afternoon a small Mexican boy gave her father a written demand for the $50,000 in five, ten, and twenty-dollar bills.

The boy who delivered the note said he had been given 25 cents by a man he did not know to deliver it.

The initial ransom demand was roughly printed in lead pencil bearing the signature "XYZ" and contained specific directions for delivery of the money.

No further word was heard from the kidnaper until April 29 when a second letter was dispatched from Tucson to the girl's father repeating the demand.

Robles then addressed through the newspapers a request to the kidnapers that they submit proof his child was still living. Robles expressed willingness to comply with all their demands.

Early in the morning of May 6 the third note, similarly signed "XYZ" reached the uncle of the kidnapped child. This note said the child was in good health, and again demanded delivery of the money.

On the afternoon of May 14, June was found by her uncle and her father's attorney and returned alive to her home.

The girl was located through information in a letter from Chicago, signed "XYZ" and addressed to the governor of Arizona.

She was found in the desert about nine miles east of Tucson chained in a specially constructed wire cage, buried about two feet under the ground with a small opening in the top of the cage to let in light and air.

At that time the child in a very emaciated condition and suffering from exhaustion, was unable to furnish any clues.

She said her abductors were Americans, that one man picked her up on the pretext that her father was working on a radio at his home and sent for her; that this man had taken her to the place where she was found, chained her to the cage where she had remained all of the time. Occasionally, she said, she would visit her at night. She further said she did not know and had never previously seen either of the abductors.

No ransom money was paid, relatives of the child said.

Launch Red Cross Roll Call

The annual Red Cross roll call was started at the White House when Phyllis Smith, age 5, pinned a Red Cross button on President Roosevelt's lapel to signify that he had set an example for the nation by renewing his membership. The president is lending a helping hand to Phyllis, who was perched on his desk for the ceremony.

RESULT OF CHAVEZ-CUTTING CONTEST IS STILL IN DOUBT

Senator Cuts Sharply Into Lead of 3,000 Democrat Had Over Republican.

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 7 (AP)—Senator Bronson Cutting (R) whose bid for re-election on the republican ticket cut him the support of President Roosevelt today cut sharply into the lead of his democratic opponent, Rep. Dennis Chavez, leaving the result in doubt.

Cutting, who supported Roosevelt in 1932, reduced Chavez's early lead of 3,000 votes to 716 on returns from 406 out of 785 precincts in New Mexico.

Cutting followers said they looked to the remainder of the precincts to cut further into the margin of the democratic congressman, who was given active aid by the democratic national headquarters.

While Chavez was making a hard race of it, his colleague Senator Carl Hatch (D), was running away with the ticket, seeking to complete the remaining two years of the term vacated by Sam Bratton on his elevation to the federal bench. Hatch led former Governor R. C. Dillon by 14,000 votes with the count about half completed.

In the congressional race the republican candidate, Maurice Miera, and J. J. Dempsey, democrat, were about the same distance apart, with Dempsey in the lead.

Clive Tingley, democratic nominee for governor, had a slightly smaller lead over Jaffa Miller, republican.

Because of the heavier, hand-sung vote and the isolated location of some voting precincts, final returns of the New Mexico voting probably will be slow in being tabulated.

LEGISLATURE AT STANDSTILL OVER TAX ACT

LEADERS ARE WORKING TO OBTAIN VOTE IN SENATE

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (AP)—The right of the 43rd legislature to continue in session with its present personnel was questioned today in a point of order raised by Representative Lon E. Alsop of Carthage.

Alsop asserted a new legislature had been elected at yesterday's general election and that terms of members of the 43rd house expired at midnight last night.

A ruling on the point was deferred by temporary Speaker J. C. Duvall of Fort Worth until the return to the chair of Speaker Coke Stevenson.

Speaker Stevenson indicated previously he would follow an opinion written several years ago by C. M. Cureton, now chief justice of the Texas supreme court, ruling that members chosen at the November general election could not take office until the regular session in January.

Sixty-eight new members of the house were elected yesterday.

Senate advocates of remission of penalties and interest on delinquent taxes worked feverishly to break a deadlock between the houses on that subject. The senate yesterday rejected a conference committee report on the bill and the house threw the legislation into confusion by refusing the senate's request for a new committee.

Senate leaders said they had succeeded in winning over two votes for the conference report, which would divide the senate at 14-14 on the question with Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt holding the deciding vote. Witt has supported the tax penalty remission bill. Hope of obtaining another vote in favor of the conference report was held by senate sponsors of the report.

Merriam Lead Over Sinclair Is Increasing

PENNSYLVANIA GOES DEMO FIRST TIME SINCE '60S

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Frank F. Merriam's lead over Upton Sinclair for the governorship of California passed the 200,000 mark on returns from 8,678 precincts out of 10,721 before noon today. The vote: Merriam, republican, 877,768; Sinclair, democrat, 676,200; Raymond L. Haight, commonwealth, 209,153.

(By The Associated Press)

Pennsylvania, long the nation's citadel of republicanism, has gone definitely democratic.

Returns from yesterday's national elections, in which the democrats generally triumphed overwhelmingly, showed that Joseph P. Guiffy, Pittsburgh, republican, had been sent to the senate by Pennsylvania.

Associated Press returns on the 35 seats in the United States senate, compiled at 12:20 p. m. Eastern time, showed:

Democrats elected, 24; holdover, 43; total, 67; vacancies 51.

Republicans elected, 5; holdovers, 18; total, 23.

Farmer-Laborite elected, 1; holdover, 0; total, 1.

Progressive elected, 1; holdover, 0; total, 1.

Seats still in doubt, 4.

Necessary for a majority, 49.

Associated Press returns on the 435 seats in the new house of representatives, compiled to 12:20 p. m. Eastern time, showed:

Democrats elected, 241; present congress, 369; vacancies 51.

Republicans elected, 77; present congress, 114; vacancies 21.

Farmer-Laborite elected, 1; present congress, 5.

Progressives elected, 3; present congress, 9.

Seats still in doubt, 113.

Democrats elected, 15; republican gains, 13; progressive gains, 3.

Necessary for a majority, 218.

Throughout the nation, the democrats elected 24 senators—reversing nine senate seats compared with republicans to give them a two-thirds senate majority for the first time since pre-civil war days, with four contests still unsettled.

They also had named 241 democrats to house seats compared with 77 republicans with many contests pending. The G. O. P. captured 13 democratic seats while the democrats took 15 republican seats.

Democrats were leading in all four undecided senate fights, two races in New Mexico and in North Dakota and Wyoming.

This was the first time Pennsylvania had elected a democratic senator since civil war times and a democratic governor in a generation.

The state also selected 11 democratic representatives and nine republicans, with 14 remaining in doubt.

Twenty-one states had elected democratic governors compared with six which named republicans. Contests undecided were in Maryland, Iowa, Wyoming, Oregon and Nevada, in all of which democrats were ahead.

CREW BLAMED IN REPORT ON MORRO CASTLE

MYSTERY MIGHT NEVER BE SOLVED, SAYS HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Death of 84 passengers and 30 members of the crew in the Morro Castle steamship disaster was attributed today by steamboat inspection service to the rapid spread of the fire, delay in giving the fire alarm, ineffectiveness of the fire alarm, failure to mark exits properly and delay of the officers in sending the SOS message.

Dickerson N. Hoover, in charge of inspection service, reported to Secretary Roper that the fire which destroyed the ship off the Jersey coast could have originated either in the locker, in the writing room or in a hold and could have spread from either place. He asserted that there was no evidence of incendiarism but that it was impossible to state the exact cause.

The origin of the fire is a mystery that might never be solved, Hoover said.

Hoover expressed hope that new light might be thrown on the possible origin of the fire through the trial of five officers of the ship now under way before a board of steamship inspectors of New York, and by the criminal investigation by the district attorney.

The report, 117 pages long, recommended more extensive use of fire resistance material in building ships, greater care by steamship inspectors and formation of an organization in Washington to see that the laws pertaining to the construction of ships are carried out.

Mrs. May King Denies Slaying

EASTLAND, Nov. 7 (AP)—Mrs. May King today testified that Leon Robinson shot himself and that she wounded herself twice after he had ended his life.

She is on trial for the slaying of Robinson, slain by her on the night of November 13.

When asked by the defense if she loved Robinson, Mrs. King, with tears in her eyes, answered: "I did."

Claude Woman Dies At Noel Home Here

Mrs. Walter H. Noel, 21, of Claude, died suddenly last night at the home of Mr. Noel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Noel, 310 North West street. She had been ill only three days and came to Pampa yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Noel before her marriage was Miss Doris Frizzell of Durango, Colo. Mr. and Mrs. Noel had been living at Claude for the last two months, having moved there from White Deer where they had lived for two years.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Noel is survived by a daughter, Jeannine, and a son, Duane. Other survivors are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Frizzell of Durango, Colo., and two sisters, Mrs. Steve McCormack of Pagosa Springs, Colo., and Miss Violet Frizzell of Durango, and two brothers, Harold Frizzell of Durango, and Franklin Frizzell of Claude.

The body is to rest at the Pampa Mortuary. Funeral arrangements have not been made, pending the arrival of relatives.

I Saw . . .

This about Morris White in the Lubbock paper: "He does not look much like your ideal football player. He looks more like an embyrd professor, what with his spectacles and things. He is a very mild mannered person . . . less; weighs little below than 150 pounds. Wears his clothes nicely and is kind to elderly ladies."

In the same column by Cotlier Parris, his comeback to the remark made by a Pampa high school girl that White was "dumb": "He must be awful dumb," he selected Lubbock over Amarillo, didn't he?" (He had a chance to go to both places in school.)

We note in the Amarillo paper that Pampa coaches will "attack" two coaches of Pampans on the Amarillo special. To be forewarned is to be forearmed, as the saying goes.

There is no such thing as a one-man team. And there is no such thing as a weak team with Amarillo's coaching and good material. Two great games are in prospect, probably more.

The millennium of intellectual self-government will be here when the headlines read "Blood Shed in Amendment Election."

A Chinese maewest has been discovered. Maybe it was she who told those Japanese soldiers to "come over some time" a couple of years ago.

The rains fall on the just and the unjust. But if it will resume falling on the just, we'll manage to get along with the unjust somehow.

Musing of the moment: Pampa is seldom without a diphtheria case. There are several new ones. Inoculation against the disease and against typhoid fever will halt this condition. Those who cannot afford to pay may receive free immunization at the offices of Dr. W. Purviance and R. A. Webb, county and city health officers. . . Brought in: Mother on discovering son sliding down banisters: "John, what are you doing?" Johnny: "Please don't scold me, Mother. I am preparing a pair of trousers for you to give to the Children's Welfare society."

THOUGHTFUL Pampans will sincerely hope that the second federal home loan plan will be workable than the first. The basic difficulty of the repair and remodeling loans was that local capital was required, the government merely serving as an agency insuring against losses. A drive about the city will show considerable remodeling and repair, and some of the need. Today in Amarillo Senator R. A. Stuart of Fort Worth will outline the second plan under which more federal money presumably will be available.

THE PRESUMPTION is of course that home owning will be desired enough to spur new construction. Home owning is instinctively natural

Claim Machado Is Near Death From Poisoning

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Herald Tribune says Latin American quarters in New York have received "private information" that Gerardo Machado, fugitive former president of Cuba, is near death from poisoning in Santo Domingo.

General Machado, the newspaper says, was reported to have been poisoned by his cook Monday night. "The cook," the newspaper added, was said to be a Cuban who had been assigned by a secret group to take Machado's life.

SEKS PREMIER

PARIS, Nov. 7 (AP)—President Lebrun cast about today for a new premier to replace Gaston Doumergue whose fall is imminent. The aged Doumergue, former president who came from retirement to form a government after fatal street riots last February, is expected to give Lebrun the resignations of the entire cabinet.

BERLIN, Nov. 7 (AP)—Automobile manufacturing in the United States were declared taboo for Germany today by Dr. Hjalmer Schacht, minister of finance. He ordered that in the future only two automobiles of each American company would be permitted to enter Germany each year through clearing arrangements with third countries.

ALLRED CHARGES 'INTERESTS' MISREPRESENTED AMENDMENT

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (AP)—Keen disappointment at failure of the electorate to adopt a constitutional amendment to permit classification of property for tax purposes was expressed today by Governor-Elect James V. Allred.

At the same time Allred rejoiced that the democratic party has been overwhelmingly vindicated throughout the nation.

Allred attributed defeat of the tax classification amendment to confusion among the voters since eight amendments were submitted on the ballot and to lobbyists for "certain powerful interests, particularly those who favor a sales tax."

He charged the interests conducted an undercurrent campaign in which they represented to the voters the amendment would vitiate the homestead exemption and destroy the exemption on church property.

"The fight for tax relief, particularly for real estate, has just begun," Allred said. "I feel sure that if the vote had been up to par or if these amendments had been voted on at the primary election, the classification amendment would have been adopted."

LATE NEWS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7 (AP)—Governor Murray announced this morning he had abandoned his plan to call a special session of the new legislature, within 15 days after yesterday's election.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 (AP)—Joseph F. Guiffy, Pittsburgh oil man and defender of the new deal, has been elected United States senator over David A. Reed, critic of President Roosevelt. Reed conceded the victory to Guiffy shortly after noon.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7 (AP)—Timidly reciting a long list of alleged discourtesies by her fourth husband, Michael Farmer, Irish sportsman, Gloria Fox-Tananson of the film today was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Superior Judge Clement Shinn.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 7 (AP)—Senator Bronson Cutting, republican independent, steadily whittled down the lead of his democratic opponent, Rep. Dennis Chavez, today and only 131 votes separated them on incomplete and unofficial returns from 468 of New Mexico's 785 precincts.

TAMMANY HALL IN A COMEBACK

BALLOT SHOWS Elects Comptroller To Embarrass LaGuardia

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Swept onward before the momentum of a rebuilt Tammany machine in New York City, the democratic party carried the New York state "off year" elections by tremendous proportions yesterday and captured completely the state government.

The democratic ticket, headed by Governor Herbert H. Lehman, ran up pluralities of 700,000 and more, won control of both branches of the normally republican state legislature and rendered an overwhelming endorsement of the new deal doctrines of President Roosevelt.

The collapse of the republican party in New York City was in sharp contrast to Tammany's boisterous hitting the come-back trail from its disastrous defeat of last November at the hands of the fusion party in the municipal election.

The striking pluralities of democratic candidates was due almost entirely to the New York City vote, only for Governor Lehman did upstate New York desert its traditional republicanism to hand over a substantial majority of the vote.

In New York City Tammany took revenge for its beating of last year by electing Frank Taylor, city comptroller over Joseph D. McColdrick, fusion incumbent, by the margin of 19,856 votes.

Oscar De Priest, Negro, Wins Again

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP)—With two per cent still uncounted, Rep. Oscar De Priest apparently had won re-election today as the only negro congressman, representing the first Illinois district.

Opposed for the first time by a negro democrat, he had pulled up from behind and was leading Arthur W. Mitchell by 61 votes on the unofficial returns. The vote from 145 of 147 precincts stood: De Priest, 27,335; Mitchell, 27,274.

ON CONTROL OF FUTURE WARS

Congressman-elect Josh Lee, the eloquent professor of Oklahoma U. who is well known here by reason of several appearances, will enter upon his new duties with the firm resolve to make war profits impossible. Since actual war days he has had in mind the passage of a bill which would conscript industry as well as the manhood of the country.

Recent munitions investigations have shown the logic of this reasoning. The makers of cannons can hardly be opposed to warfare. It is no more unreasonable to conscript industry and stop profiteering than it is to conscript men and put them into military service on a pittance.

Congressman Lee is a peace lover in an acceptable sense. He wants no more of war and he will vigorously attempt to make war less likely. But he is no policy of non-resistance. He is no pacifist.

Pacifism does very well as the plaything of radicals and timid persons, and even of true patriots who are unimpeachably sincere, but they know little of human nature who believe that war can be avoided by resolving not to fight. It is all right to delay fighting as long as possible, but also to "keep your powder dry." Few, indeed, are the men who will not fight to protect their homes or their country. And it is the history of America that intense enthusiasm rises when the sword is rattled in the name of patriotism.

Yet many of the young college men are signing anti-war pledges and urging total disarmament.

Newton D. Baker, who as secretary of war in 1917 put some 4,000,000 young Americans into the army, took occasion the other day to warn these idealistic young men that their anti-war pledges will mean precisely nothing if and when another war becomes necessary.

"God forbid that I should want anybody to go to war," he said, "but I'm too old to be otherwise than frank. The attitude of many youths and many churches in seeking to avoid war by having nothing to do with it is a flight from reality."

"If this nation became involved in another war the young men would be drafted, in spite of any pledges or desires or positions or responsibility."

"It is just as foolish to say you won't have anything to do with war as it would be, if you were walking through the woods and were attacked by a lion, to say you wouldn't have anything to do with the lion."

These words, unpleasant as they may be to peace lovers, are nevertheless full of good sense.

We can't avoid war by shutting our eyes to it. War, when it comes, is an outgrowth of a previously pursued national policy. If we hate war, our only course is to work for such policies as will enable us to live at peace with our neighbors.

A Washington Daybook

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—With elections over, the eternally optimistic Roosevelt believes, we will settle down to a period of rather good feeling in which hardly anybody will be criticizing the New Deal.

The White House even hopes for that major forward movement of finance and industry for which it has hoped so long in vain.

Bankers and industrialists have been told they might as well get going after election, that what they've really been suffering from is a simple case of old-fashioned election year jitters, and that the New Deal has long since paved the way for the big push.

It has been hinted to them that the administration understands their tendency to join in the Republican anvil chorus, even if only from force of habit, but that the occasion for that is all over now.

The White House hopes are shared only mildly by many New Dealers. But there's a wide feeling that more co-operation and less obstruction are to be expected.

Roosevelt, Richberg, and other administration spokesmen will continue to din this story into the ears of the New Deal critics: Either industry or government is going to put the unemployed to work.

So far, nobody has been able to thin up an answer to that one. Some of the whales of finance and industry, not excepting members of the House of Morgan and its affiliated industrial empire, are taking it—Roosevelt believes—very much to heart.

They realize that the New Deal is going to cost a lot more money in any event and wonder how they can get out of it as cheaply as possible.

Those closest to Roosevelt who anticipate active support from Big Business, feel it will come through an inexorable force of circumstances. The "Old Deal" is washed up, they think, and there's nowhere Big Business can go—for a time, at least—except with Roosevelt, however grudgingly and much as it may detest many New Deal policies.

The big reason for this is that Congress is getting increasingly "dangerous," from the conservative point of view. Big Business no longer has the most powerful voice on Capitol Hill.

The one control force is Roosevelt, who can make Congress do almost anything he wants it to do and who, on the other hand, can usually keep it from running wild.

TEXAS HISTORY

Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

The bells were ringing out over the early morning stillness, and Texas warriors and their wives left their huts for the mission San Francisco de los Tejas, where they were to worship the Great Spirit. Father Manzanet had told them about the mission, located southwest of the present site of Nacogdoches, was four hundred miles from the nearest Spanish settlement.

After Captain Alonso de Leon and Father Manzanet had found the ruins of the French village, St. Louis, they returned to their party on the Guadalupe, bringing with them a chief of the Tejas tribe. Kind and friendly toward the Spanish, the chief begged the Father to send missionaries to his people. Father Manzanet conceived the idea of the mission San Francisco, but he was not able to put his idea into effect until the following year. Sending messengers ahead to announce his arrival in 1690, he approached the Tejas Indians with his company of soldiers and priests.

Anxious to aid the Spanish, the Indians helped get the materials for the church, and watched with pride their part in the building of the mission. Best of all they liked the bell in the steeple. It did not take them long to understand that the tolling bell in the early morning and in the dusk of twilight was a summons to worship, and that certain frantic ringings of the bell were a call for help.

With the mission well-established, and the Indians acquainted with the ways of the Spanish, Father Manzanet felt that he should be back in the presidio of Coahuila, giving spiritual aid to his own people. Leaving three friars and only three soldiers at the mission, Father Manzanet and the rest of the soldiers went back to Coahuila.

Mission San Francisco de los Tejas lived three years. Although the young friars worked with great zeal, the soldiers were not in sympathy with their work, and their unruly conduct did more harm than did anything else. Far from physical and spiritual aid, the Indians were not always sincere, and the friars had a difficult time at the mission trying to fulfill their duties.

With sad hearts the priests buried the church bell, took all the beautiful altar figures, packed their Bibles and abandoned Mission San Francisco October 25, 1693. The government recalled them when it became evident that without reinforcements, the mission would fail. At that time no reinforcements could be sent; so the mission must be quit for awhile.

In the twenty years that passed before the Spaniards returned, the mission walls began to crumble, weeds and brambles grew over the

Is This Too Good For Your Cough?

Cremulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven helps in one. It is made for quick relief, for safety.

Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people need more and more, are using Cremulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist is authorized to guarantee it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are dangerous signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

BORGER WILL BE OUTWEIGHED MORE THAN 10 POUNDS PER MAN ON FRIDAY

HARVESTERS' INJURED PAIR NOT TO PLAY

SOONER AGGIES BEATEN BY BULLDOGS LAST WEEK 14-13

Borger's scrapping Bulldogs will be outweighed more than 10 pounds to the player when they take the field against the Pampa Harvesters in a conference game at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Harvester field. Admission will be 50 cents, with no extra charge to persons holding season reserve seats.

The game was transferred here from Monday to Friday so that fans from this section could attend the Amarillo-Lubbock game in Lubbock Monday afternoon. The change of location was made at great expense to the local athletic association.

The Harvesters will still be without Captain Monroe Owens and Red Fanning when they take the field. Fred Mumford will probably be able to play some of the game. Chubby Stewart is in uniform again and is looking good. He will probably get to play some in the game Friday.

Maye Nash will get the call at fullback, where Scott and Nix will take the left end position, in place of Captain Owens. Other members of the team will be the same that started all previous games.

Although the Borger team is light, and the underdogs, the Harvesters are not taking the game lightly. Borger has demonstrated a real fighting spirit and has shown great speed and ability. Borger held Amarillo 12 to 0, with many players missing their first string players. Since then Borger has defeated the Pan Aggies from Oklahoma, 14 to 13.

"Mite" Dunaway, Borger's bidder for all-district guard, will not be at his best but will be in the game. Dunaway was injured in the battle with Amarillo where his outstanding work was throwing Harlow and Bufkin for many losses. Trotter, end, is also on the injured list but will play.

A large delegation of Borger fans will accompany the team to Pampa. Borger has at last realized that they have a mighty little team and are supporting it.

National Loop Owners Would Draft Heydler

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—National league club owners have had a week in which to recover from the shock of the sudden resignation of John Arnold Heydler as president of the circuit but so far none of them has come up with an outstanding candidate for the position.

Owners now appear to point toward a movement to draft Heydler, at least to the end of his four-year term which does not expire until 1936, as soon as his health permits. Not only have the owners failed to agree upon a logical successor but there is a growing desire to wipe out the idea that the president resigned "under fire" because of his activities in keeping the clubs under surveillance during the closing stages of the 1934 pennant race.

Heydler had contemplated resigning for years but delayed it until he left the league's affairs in shape to pass on to a successor with a minimum of difficulty.

SENTENCE AFFIRMED
AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed the 99-year sentence of Ivory Criddington, convicted in Wilbarger county of murder for the slaying of Columbus Smith on March 8, 1934.

NAVY TO PLAY NOTRE DAME'S ELEVEN NEXT

TULANE AND COLGATE WILL PLAY IN NEW YORK

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON JR., Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—The 10 unbeaten and untied stalwarts of the gridiron, swing into action again this week with very little but trouble facing them.
Only Princeton, taking time out between the Harvard and Yale games to play around with its old sparring partner, Lehigh, seems to have a real setup. The others, with the exceptions of Syracuse and Michigan State, figure to win over strong opposition but they all have the kind of games that breeds upsets.

Syracuse, with a veteran array of regulars and a reserve list of flashy sophomores, runs slant into the powerful Michigan State team that already has walloped Michigan, Carnegie Tech, Manhattan and Marquette. The Orangemen have put Cornell, Ohio Wesleyan, Brown and Penn State on their list of victims.

The third of the east's survivors in the race for national recognition, Navy jumps from the Washington and Lee frying pan into the Notre Dame fire.

In the midwestern Minnesota and Illinois, all-contending rivals for the Big Ten title, continue their chase for the crown against Indiana and Northwestern respectively.

The Pacific Coast shows a similar situation where unbeaten Washington encounters its rival for the conference title, Stanford.

Tulane, one of the two southern teams which has a clear record so far, leaves its home section and heads right into trouble at New York. The Greenies encounter the Red Raiders from Colgate. The other, Alabama, has a much easier prospect against Clemson.

Utah Aggies, the only unbeaten survivor in the Rocky Mountain group, is favored over Colorado Aggies.

Bernie And Lads Will Play Nov. 17 In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Nov. 7.—Ben Bernie and All the Lads, who come to Amarillo Saturday night, November 17, for a concert and dance engagement, are enjoying almost phenomenal success on their present tour of the southwest.

Headed for Hollywood, where they will make another picture to follow the highly successful "Shoot the Works," the Old Maestra and the boys are packing them in at concert and dance places. In some places the interest in Bernie's appearance is so great that $5 per person is being charged for the dances. This is the case, for instance, at Shadowland in San Antonio.

The famous band leader and master of ceremonies, whose drawing "yowah" has become a by-word throughout America is being booked by the Music Corporation of America by Wilbur C. Hawk and will be presented in both concert and dance by the Nat Dance Palace. All profits from Ben Bernie's engagement in Amarillo will go to the Junior Welfare League of Amarillo, which is helping the Nat Dance Palace to sponsor this engagement.

PIRATES AND TIGERS HOLDING SECRET PRACTICE THIS WEEK

McLean Favored But LeFors Is Expected To Play Best Game Of Season Friday.

The Class B "game of games" will be played in LeFors Friday night with the starting whistle at 8 o'clock. The game will bring together the LeFors Pirates and the Cumberland, Tiger halfback, would not be at his best be confirmed.

McLean, because of size and experience, is getting the call to win over the Pirates of Bill Bronson. The LeFors boys, however, have demonstrated that they can battle against odds and win. The LeFors goal line has been crossed only once this season and the team is undefeated although tied once. McLean has lost two games and tied one in a hard schedule.

The game has gotten the competing towns at white heat and other towns in the district are watching the game with much interest. A thousand reserve seat tickets have been sold and it is predicted that 2,500 fans will witness the encounter.

MUCH WELFARE WORK
The American Legion Auxiliary has expended a total of $1,369,393.93 in its work for the welfare of disabled veterans and their families this year. Mrs. H. W. Kiser, chairman of the rehabilitation committee of the Pampa unit of the Auxiliary has announced. The money has been expended in many forms of aid to the disabled and dependents in every part of the country. Figures compiled by Mrs. Whit X.

MacHugh, of Afton, New York, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee, show that $753,219.90 was expended by the Auxiliary's 8,400 local units in welfare activities for the war disabled in their communities. State departments of the Auxiliary expended $59,340.93 for hospital care for veterans. Veteran made handicraft articles sold by the Auxiliary and occupational therapy equipment donated amounted to $70,984.80. A contribution of $25,000 was made to the American Legion rehabilitation work.

COUNTY ART EXHIBIT PLANNED AS ARNO PROJECT OF YEAR

STUDENT WORK WILL RECEIVE MAIN INTEREST

FAMOUS PAINTERS ARE SUBJECT OF TALKS YESTERDAY

A Gray county art exhibit during the first week of April will be sponsored by the Arno Art club, as its major project of this year, members decided at a meeting yesterday. Mrs. E. Hooks was hostess in the city club rooms.

Public school art and students' work will be stressed in the exhibit, according to plans. Further details are to be outlined later in the season.

Yesterday's program was on two 19th century American artists. Mrs. Roy Tinsley sketched the life of Homer Martin, who was born in Albany in 1836. A lover of nature and especially of mountains, he roamed the hills of the northeastern United States in search of material.

A trip to Normandy resulted in some of his finest work. Some of his best known paintings are View on the Seine, Honfleur Light, Normandy Trees, Harp of the Winds, and Sand Dunes on Lake Ontario.

The artist died in 1896 in St. Paul, Minn. Mrs. J. W. Andrews and Mrs. Jameson described his pictures, View on the Seine and Sand Dunes.

Winslow Homer, most famous American painter of marines, was also born in 1836, in Boston. He spent his early years in England but returned to live a hermit-like life of the Maine coast, where his best work was done. He died alone in his little cottage there in 1910. Mrs. A. H. Doucette said in presenting his biography.

Mrs. V. E. Fatheree gave a vivid description of his picture, The Fog Warning, and Mrs. T. W. Sweetnam, mentioned were Life Line, Under-tow, Off the Banks.

Members present were Mmes. Mack Graham, T. F. Morton, T. B. Solomon, Jameson, Fatheree, Andrews, Hooks, Tinsley, and Sweetnam.

Speak This Week

Two of the speakers appearing on programs observing national education week are pictured above. Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, top, chairman of the Parent-Teacher association, and Mr. Fisher, below, are scheduled to appear at Horace Mann Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon, on the program of B. M. Baker association next Tuesday afternoon and at Woodrow Wilson association Tuesday evening, when an open meeting will be conducted.

Members present were Mmes. Mack Graham, T. F. Morton, T. B. Solomon, Jameson, Fatheree, Andrews, Hooks, Tinsley, and Sweetnam.

LECTURE WEEK BEGUN AT NEW CHURCH HOUSE

SIXTEEN MINISTERS OF OTHER CITIES ARE PRESENT

The Lecture Week Program at Central Church of Christ, in charge of E. M. Borden, minister of the church, began yesterday at 10 a. m. The meeting lasted from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., with a short time at noon when the ministers and other visitors enjoyed lunch in the basement of the church.

J. E. Williams opened the meeting by giving an address of welcome to the ministers and other visitors. This was responded to by George Mickey of Idalou.

Subjects discussed yesterday were "What We Stand For," "Basis of Unity," "Things that Hinder the Growth of the Church," and "The Church and Its Needs Today." At 7:30 p. m. Glen E. Green of Chickasha, Okla., spoke on the subject: "Salvation by Grace." Large and attentive audiences attended the services.

The following preachers were present: John Rice, Abilene; R. E. Guley, Borger; W. B. Andrews, McLean; Geo. Mickey, Idalou; W. H. Fike, LeFors; Felix Tarbett, Dalhart; T. H. Tarbett, Amarillo; J. Vermillion, Laketon; Bohannon, Hereford; H. V. Hendryx, Wheeler; Jas. W. Mills, Marietta, Okla.; W. R. Swinney, Quanah; W. M. Thompson, Tuttle, Okla.; Glen E. Green, Chickasha, Okla.; L. D. Cummings, Friona; Hilman Prince, Tulsa; E. M. Borden, minister of the Central congregation, and C. E. Riley, Pampa.

There are a number of visitors from the nearby congregations in attendance. Other preachers are expected during the day.

The meeting opened this morning at 10 o'clock with the subject: "Spiritual Qualifications of Elders and Deacons," by Thomas E. Millholland, of Lawton, Okla. This was followed by J. H. Vermillion on the subject: "How Elders Should Be Chosen or Appointed," "Duty and Responsibility of Elders and Deacons," and "Our Duty Toward Elders," are the subjects discussed this afternoon by L. D. Cummings and Jas. F. Cox.

Jas. F. Cox, president of Abilene Christian college, is to preach this evening at 7:30 on the subject: How to Come to Christ.

The subjects for tomorrow will be "Value of Experience in the Ministry" by W. R. Swinney, "The Duty of Ministers of the Gospel" by Jesse Wiseman, "Elements of Strength in the Local Congregation" by Ebb Randol, "Elements of Weakness in the Local Congregation" by Felix Tarbett, "Evangelism in the Local Congregation" by W. C. Andrews, G. F. Mickey is to preach tomorrow evening at 7:30 on the subject, "The Day of Salvation."

SCHOOL LEADERS ARE QUIZZED TO INFORM MERTEN PATRONS IN EDUCATION WEEK PROGRAM

Crowd Fills House To Hear Unique Discussion

Questions and answers by school and Parent-Teacher association leaders acquainted patrons of Merten district with schools of the Pampa system in an education week program last evening.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, state chairman of school education in the P-T-A, acted as leader. She asked questions of the other speakers centered on the theme, Know Your Schools.

Supt. R. B. Fisher was asked about state and local school administration, the part of the federal government in schools, the method of setting school boards and officials; the cost of operating schools, plans of school taxation, and salaries of teachers.

Herman Jones, principal at Merten, was asked questions about the school, the size of the building, number of pupils and teachers, and needs of the district.

Mrs. C. R. Nelson, Merten Parent-Teacher association president, replied to questions about the qualifications of Merten teachers and work of the association.

Mrs. J. W. French, school attendance officer, was questioned about truancy and the effect of lack of proper clothing on school attendance.

Miss Llewellyn Shelby, health director of Pampa schools, answered questions about child health, especially as related to the fight for diphtheria immunization.

The unusual presentation of this program proved interesting to the crowd of school patrons who filled the auditorium.

In addition to the talks, the program included three numbers by the Horace Mann school band, Project, Military Escort, and Activity; a reading, Winning, by Wid Crawford; a reading class demonstration by first grade pupils of Miss Louise Whitfield; two numbers, Liberal, and Shoemakers Dance, by the rhythm band; a reading, Story About Angels, by Margaret Jones; a song, Juanita, by the school chorus; a violin solo, Meditation from "Thais" by Miss Marjorie Ericsson, accompanied by Miss Helen Stover. The invocation was by Mr. Byrum.

Announcement was made that the Merten association will sponsor a pie supper at the school building on Nov. 20.

The same intelligence which is applied to the planning of a workshop or a business office may now be used in making the kitchen a better place to work in, according to Beulah Mackey Yates, nationally known authority on foods and economics, who will be presented by this newspaper in the Happy Kitchen cooking school at city auditorium on Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

The old days of drudgery in the kitchen are no more—gone never to return—and what a boon to the housewife! There is something she is able to boast about as being far superior to mother's or grandmother's day!

Women have been known to walk miles and miles in a poorly planned kitchen in the course of a single day. Exercise is of course, a splendid thing, but the woman who gets her only exercise in the kitchen will find herself a nervous wreck at the end of the day.

So we might say that the old kitchen has had its face lifted, and is keeping step with progressive modern ideas—and the new kitchen has become a delightful workshop, thus doing its bit and adding materially to the progress of this modern age.

Mrs. Yates will tell how all these things are accomplished with the least possible effort, when the Happy Kitchen cooking school comes to Pampa, and whether you are a bride of a month, or a grandmother, or just a young housewife, or one of middle age, you'll enjoy these programs on the age old, but deservedly popular theme of cookery.

There are many short-cuts and main roads leading to culinary success and perfection, and the Happy Kitchen cooking school and this newspaper will show them to you, through the medium of this nationally known expert. Plan to attend every session. No admission fee and no obligation.

Wilson P-TA to Sponsor Evening Program Tuesday

Replacing their usual Thursday afternoon meeting, members of Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association will sponsor an education week program next Tuesday evening, inviting all parents of pupils to be present.

The topic will be, Our Public Schools. Several school officials will appear on the program.

An executive board meeting is called for 3 p. m. Friday, when all officers and committee chairmen are asked to be present at the school building.

J. E. Carlson and son, Milo, have returned from a week's hunting trip to New Mexico and Colorado.

Carnival Profit Will Aid School Fund at Wheeler

WHEELER, Nov. 7.—School equipment will be purchased with the $46.49 proceeds of a Halloween carnival sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association at high school Wednesday night.

All seats and standing room in the auditorium were filled for a free program of readings, songs and stunts presented by business men, teachers, and pupils.

Slide shows included a prize fight, "42" tables, a beauty parlor for boys, a basement House of Horrors, and booths with novelties and carnival refreshments. Bob Clark presented a magic show in the auditorium, and a "country store" and guessing game were conducted in the office. A bingo table was popular with the large crowd.

Conference Ends
A Bible conference under direction of Evangelist O. E. Phillips of Abilene, which had been in progress at the Church of Christ two weeks, closed Sunday night with a service on "Israel's Confession."

Reports indicate that the sermons met with much success, attracting large audiences of interested listeners.

Kitchen Is Like Business Office Says Mrs. Yates

The same intelligence which is applied to the planning of a workshop or a business office may now be used in making the kitchen a better place to work in, according to Beulah Mackey Yates, nationally known authority on foods and economics, who will be presented by this newspaper in the Happy Kitchen cooking school at city auditorium on Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

The old days of drudgery in the kitchen are no more—gone never to return—and what a boon to the housewife! There is something she is able to boast about as being far superior to mother's or grandmother's day!

Women have been known to walk miles and miles in a poorly planned kitchen in the course of a single day. Exercise is of course, a splendid thing, but the woman who gets her only exercise in the kitchen will find herself a nervous wreck at the end of the day.

So we might say that the old kitchen has had its face lifted, and is keeping step with progressive modern ideas—and the new kitchen has become a delightful workshop, thus doing its bit and adding materially to the progress of this modern age.

Mrs. Yates will tell how all these things are accomplished with the least possible effort, when the Happy Kitchen cooking school comes to Pampa, and whether you are a bride of a month, or a grandmother, or just a young housewife, or one of middle age, you'll enjoy these programs on the age old, but deservedly popular theme of cookery.

There are many short-cuts and main roads leading to culinary success and perfection, and the Happy Kitchen cooking school and this newspaper will show them to you, through the medium of this nationally known expert. Plan to attend every session. No admission fee and no obligation.

Kid Band Declines Invitation to Play in Southern Texas

Invitations to play at the state convention of federated women's clubs at Austin, and at San Antonio have been received by Woodrow Wilson Kid band, but have been refused because the long trip would be too expensive.

The band last year attended the state convention at Austin, a trip that was the high spot of its history. While short trips will be made this year, band sponsors feel that money necessary for so long a journey would be better spent on underprivileged school children.

Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal, said.

Wilson P-TA to Sponsor Evening Program Tuesday

Replacing their usual Thursday afternoon meeting, members of Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association will sponsor an education week program next Tuesday evening, inviting all parents of pupils to be present.

The topic will be, Our Public Schools. Several school officials will appear on the program.

An executive board meeting is called for 3 p. m. Friday, when all officers and committee chairmen are asked to be present at the school building.

J. E. Carlson and son, Milo, have returned from a week's hunting trip to New Mexico and Colorado.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Casad has in her possession evidence that will send McSwain to jail. McSwain fails to persuade her to give up the evidence, but goes at the problem a different way by hiring Lon, Marian's husband, as foreman on the job he plans to occupy. Lon's own business is on the rocks; he takes the job. The day he goes to work, Marian receives a wire that her mother is seriously ill and leaves at once for home.

Marian stopped for gas at the little station where they always cashed their checks. Murphy, the attendant, finding she was heading on a fast drive to a point beyond Sacramento, insisted upon going over the car, and the delay seemed endless.

And then she was speeding out through the valley, over the hump to the Sacramento river, across the high Antioch bridge, along the dyke road. An hour and a half winked along and she was in Sacramento, a stop for gas and to give Hero a drink, then on again.

Another hour. She looked up to the hill on which her home was situated. The place seemed ominously quiet, no cars, no figures moving. The gate was closed. It took four trembling minutes to open it, then make the last lap with her motor cycle.

She drove into the kitchen runway and turned off the motor. It was terribly quiet. The trucks were in their sheds. The family car was gone, even Jack's dilapidated touring car. Had they taken her mother to the hospital?

She dashed into the house. "Hoo, hoo," she called softly. No answer. There was no note left to tell her where she might find them.

Fear clutched her heart like a physical pain. She ran through the rooms. Everything was in perfect order. She ran back down to the yard. She would drive to the nearest neighbor. She jumped into the car, reached for the motor key, then heard her name called . . . her mother's voice.

She looked around. "You weren't going to leave without saying goodbye, were you?" inquired the pleasant voice of Mrs. Gordon.

And then Marian saw her; she was walking down hill from the barn, a checked apron doubled back. She'd been gathering eggs.

"Land sakes, child, you look as if you were seeing a ghost."

"Mother," sobbed Marian, and ran to her arms.

"Now, now, dearie, you'll break the eggs. It can't be as bad as that. Had a little tiff with Lonnie. Those things do happen." Arm about the astounded girl, she was leading her to the house.

"Mother, you're not sick?" Marian insisted.

"Never felt fitter in all my born days," came the reassuring reply and she looked it. Her sandy hair, threaded with gray, was glowing with life. Her sunbrowned cheeks were touched with rose. "Now let me put those eggs in the bin, then you tell mother all about it."

Marian waited until the precious eggs were stowed safely away.

"Mother, couldn't imagine what had happened. There wasn't even a dog around the place."

"Dad and the boys took them along on a fishing trip to Strawberry Lake, drove up in Jack's car. And the girls took the other to go to town to see a picture; now what brings you here?"

"I received a wire telling me that you were dangerously ill."

"Must have made a mistake in the person."

"No, mother, there's only one Valley View, at least there's only one family of Gordons there, and the wire was signed with Dad's name."

"Hm," mused Mrs. Gordon, "that's queer. You don't suppose anything's happened to father?"

Marian, relieved at finding her mother safe, answered "no," then a moment later, "I know what it is. Someone wanted to get me out of the house, a long way away from the house while they went through it."

"What do you mean, Ian?"

"I let a man know that I had a letter in my possession which would send him to the penitentiary if I turned it over to the law. He thinks it's at the house. Well, it isn't."

"And of course you wouldn't use a letter like that against a man?" questioned her mother anxiously.

"Not while he was living right," Marian answered. "I tried to give it back a long time ago, but couldn't find the person to whom it belonged. It was put into my pocket by mistake."

"They won't bother other things in the house, Ian? Hadn't you better telephone the police?"

"No, they might steal a piece of Lon's birthday cake, that's all . . . no mummy, and all my bureau drawers are in perfect order, so even my reputation as a housewife is safe."

"Then you can spend a few moments with me, better rest up before going back. Had your lunch? Neither have I."

GUFFEY BEATS PENNSYLVANIAN SENATOR REED

SENATOR FESS OF OHIO IS DEFEATED BY DEMOCRAT

(By The Associated Press.)
Pennsylvania: Republican stronghold cracks; Guffey in wide lead over veteran republican Senator Reed; democrat Earle ahead of G. O. P. Schnader for governor.

California: Sinclair's "epic" campaign crashes; republican Merriam wins governorship.

New Jersey: New dealer Moore defeats G. O. P. Kean for senate; democrat Dill trails republican Hoffman for governor.

Maryland: Democrats Radcliffe and Ritchie in van for senate and governor.

Michigan: Republican Vandenberg returned to senate.

Delaware: Democrat Adams trails Senator Townsend, republican.

Montana: Republicans trail new dealers for two senate seats.

Wyoming: Democrat Senator O'Mahoney and Republican Carter in nip and tuck senate race.

New Mexico: Independent republican Senator Cutting behind democrat Chavez for long-term senate; Senator Hatch, democrat, leads G. O. P. Dillon for short term.

West Virginia: "Baby" liberal democrat Holt crushes veteran G. O. P. Hatfield for senate.

Nebraska: Burke, democrat, leads republican Simmons by good margin.

Connecticut: Republican Senator Walcott ousted by democrat Maloney, giving state two democratic senators for first time in history.

Ohio: Veteran republican leader Fess capitulates to democrat Donahay for senate.

Indiana: Fiery anti-new dealer Senator Robinson ousted by democrat Minton.

Missouri: "Boss" Pendergast replaces republican Senator Patterson with democrat Truman.

Rhode Island: Republican Herbert bows to democrat Gerry.

Massachusetts: Democrat Curley, supported by James Roosevelt, son of the president, takes governorship; democrats easily return Walsh to senate.

Vermont: Austin, republican holds senate seat over democratic opponent.

Wisconsin: Young Bob La Follette and brother Phil out-distance rivals for senate and governorship on progressive tickets.

New York: Goes democratic; Lehman keeps governorship; Copeland senate seat.

Kansas sticks to dry side but six other states—West Virginia, Florida, Idaho, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming—lean wet on incomplete returns on state prohibition repeal.

HUGE AMOUNT OF HEALTH WORK SHOWN IN RED CROSS REPORT

Local Red Cross officials, preparing for the annual roll call, point out that in the Public Health nursing field there were 1,000,294 nursing visits made by Red Cross public health nurses to or in behalf of patients; 629,025 children in schools were inspected in the nation last year. At the close of the year, 750 Public Health nurses were employed by 424 Chapters.

Fifty-two public health nursing services were supported in part from a fund established through the generosity of Mr. Will Rogers, and 33 services were similarly aided by funds contributed by the Supreme Council 33rd Degree A. A. Scottish Rite, Northern Masonic Jurisdiction.

Reference in the report to other important phases of health work reveals that 1,425 authorized instructors were active in teaching classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick. Out of 62,600 students who received instruction, 49,006 satisfactorily completed the course and were awarded certificates. To date 732,733 certificates have been issued since the Red Cross first undertook the teaching of such courses.

A total of 654 instructors organized classes in cooperation with the Federal Emergency Relief Administration during the year.

Proper diets and malnutrition problems also concern the Red Cross. Seventy-six Red Cross chapters had available during the year the services of 253 women trained in home economics. Of these 240 were volunteers and 13 were nutritionists employed by chapters on a full-time or part-time paid basis. These instructors gave valuable assistance to chapters on school lunch projects, preparation of menus, low-cost recipes, and food orders, and in visiting homes of families with food problems.

A total of 3,500 persons completed Red Cross food and nutrition courses and received Red Cross certificates and cards. Altogether, since the Red Cross began these food and nutrition courses, 35,027 certificates and cards have been issued.

On August 15, 1933, the Central Wheat Distribution Office at Chicago closed after 17 months of operation, during which the Red Cross distributed 85,900,000 bushels of government wheat surpluses; 10,688,397 barrels of flour, 233,901 tons of feed, 4,835 tons of cereal. Recipients totalled 5,893,386 families, or one of every five families in the United States.

On February 28, 1934, the Central Cotton Distribution Office at Washington closed after 19 months of operation, during which the Red Cross distributed 844,063 bales of government cotton surpluses; 66,733,696 ready-made garments, 103,650,778 yards of cloth and sheeting, 3,179,941 blankets and comforters.

Recipients totalled 5,879,818 families, representing approximately 25 million individuals.

Civilian relief also was extended, the report states. During the year, 563 Chapters reported aid given to 284,669 civilian families.

At the request of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, Chapters generally made their services available to assist transient veterans. Chapters also cooperated with the FEPA in an adult education program for the unemployed through the use of unemployed teachers. Red Cross classes were organized in home hygiene, food selection, first aid and life saving.

Since the inception of the Red Cross its Chapters have been managed and surrounded by volunteers. In the last year 4,734,240 garments were produced by the workers. Moreover 342,366 pages of braille were made by hand and 314,788 by the duplicating process; 16,132 Christmas bags were prepared; 61,039 calls were made by the Motor Corps; 67,825 home service visits were made; 3,678,831 surgical dressings and 18,475 layettes were prepared; 1,970,202 persons were fed by sixteen workers. The number of volunteers, including those engaged in disaster relief, totalled 322,253.

The membership enrollment for the year ended June 30, 1934 was 3,802,384, an increase of 100,518 members over the roll call for the previous year. In the agency's seventeen Midwestern Area states, loss in membership during five years of depression has approximated only two percent.

The maximum membership in the Junior Red Cross during the school year 1933-34 was 7,350,280, an increase of more than a quarter of a million.

From metropolitan areas to the crossroads, throughout the United States there are 3,709 Red Cross Chapters with a total of 9,079 branches. The chapters and branches expended approximately $7,000,000 during the year in services rendered to their local communities. The National Organization expended for its national service program upwards of $3,800,000, according to the report.

The annual Roll Call is to be held from November 11 to 29. All the organization's activities are dependent upon individual support. Enrollment fees range from $25.00 down to $1.00. Except for fifty cents from each membership all funds derived from the approaching campaign are retained by chapters for local activities.

Mrs. Humber Has Party.

Mrs. J. B. Humber was hostess Saturday afternoon of a well-appointed bridge party at which four tables were arranged. High score went to Mrs. C. S. Doolin, and second high to Mrs. W. L. Campbell. Lovely refreshments of chicken salad, stuffed olives, stuffed dates, and coffee were served by the hostess to the following: Mmes. Ercy Cubine, D. E. Upham, Wilson Boyd, W. L. Campbell, C. S. Doolin, Earl Stubblefield, Thurman Adkins, Donald Beall, E. L. Turner, Monty Montgomery, O. G. Stokely, T. A. Massey, C. O. Greene, J. W. Butler, T. J. Coffey.

Lean visitors Saturday and Sunday. Other week-end visitors from Borger were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts and son, Joe Charles.

Miss Carpenter Crowned.
With the McLean band flaunting their black and gold colors and leading the procession, Miss Juanita Carpenter, member of the senior class and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Carpenter, was crowned football queen for the year 1934 Friday evening at Tiger field.

Miss Carpenter's "throne" was Boyd Meador's gold car, driven by June Woods, president of the senior class. She was attended by Charles Finley and Feb Everett.

Her royal highness's car was followed by the sponsor's car which was driven by Billie Robinson. In it were seated Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, Tigerette sponsor, and the three princesses, Mildred Reed, junior; Eula Faye Foster, sophomore; and Wilma Sue West, freshman. The Tigerettes, in black and gold uniforms, followed, forming the letters, M. H. S. of crepe paper rope. After kneeling before her royal highness, the girls circled the cars while the band played appropriate music.

With the assistance of her attendants, Miss Carpenter mounted her throne at the back of which stood the three princesses. At this time the Tigers in their football suits circled the court and Captain Tolliver advanced to the throne. He presented each princess with lovely pillows of black and gold and draped the queen's gorgeous black blanket, on which was embossed the Tiger emblem, around the shoulders of the queen before placing the black and gold football helmet on her head, an act which officially proclaimed her queen of the 1934 Tigers.

didate for governor of Wisconsin, won along with his brother, Robert M. La Follette, running for the senate.

Meanwhile, Chairman Fletcher of the republican national committee, said in a statement at Washington that "When you are licked, you are licked, but you don't have to stay licked."

Sinclair Quotes FDR. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Upton Sinclair's bid for the governorship of California with his "epic" plan has failed.

Charging thousands of votes had been "stolen," the former socialist who won the democratic nomination, conceded the victory of his republican opponent, Acting Governor Frank P. Merriam, today with a terse hint of a real movement.

Governor Merriam, Iowa-born farm boy, said his victory was one of "Americanism over radicalism," while Sinclair, author of the widely denounced "End Poverty in California" campaign, retorted "we are going ahead and enforce our program."

Sinclair charged President Roosevelt had promised to broadcast to the nation "on the principle of production for use," a major premise in the "epic" plan.

It was the first hint of the discussion which took place between the president and Sinclair at their two-hour talk at Hyde Park. During the campaign he stated "if President Roosevelt makes a statement on certain public policies, then I feel I will be elected governor of California."

"We congratulate you on your brief victory and we are preparing for the next campaign," Sinclair told Merriam.

"We know that thousands of ballots have been stolen and that more will be stolen," Sinclair stated before conceding defeat. "But to those who have loyally supported me during these last months and have worked unceasingly for our cause I want them to understand that this is only one skirmish in our battle for existence and we are enlisted for the period of the war."

"Remember that we have the power of recall in this state and if a republican reactionary becomes governor of this state we will have that recall power hanging as a sword over his head."

In the senate turnovers, former Governor Donahay of Ohio, called "Honest Vic," overwhelmed the veteran Simeon D. Fess, a former republican national committee chairman and assistant G. O. P. leader in the senate. Donahay has given

M. E. Church To Be Host To Big Crowd Tonight

First Methodist church planned to be host tonight to the largest crowd that has attended a "Food-Faith-And-Fun" program since Wednesday evening was designated as all-church night a year ago by the Rev. Gaston Foote, pastor.

The program will begin at 6:45 in the basement of the church, when a covered dish luncheon brought by members will be served. Special guests will be new members who joined the church in the last year.

These include 185 who have joined First church and 90 who joined Harrah chapel and McCullough memorial neighborhood churches in the city built during the last year.

All members were urged by Mr. Foote to be present.

unqualified approval of the "new deal."

A new "baby senator" was elected in West Virginia. The young liberal, Rush D. Holt, democrat, downed Senator Hatfield, after obtaining the big support of the American Federation of Labor and the United Mine Workers of his state. Although a year under the constitutional age limit of 30 years, Holt scored a striking victory.

Election of Judge Harry S. Truman, as democratic senator from Missouri over the republican incumbent, Roscoe Patterson, brought the powerful Kansas City political machine dominated by "Boss" Tom Pendergast into the national picture for the first time. The Pendergast machine controls the state administration and put its entire force behind the Jackson county judge.

Senator Patterson vigorously assailed the "new deal" which Truman supported.

The democrats ripped through the once strongly republican state of Connecticut, as their representative, Francis T. Maloney, captured the senate seat held by Frey, who was elected in that state. The democrats also picked up two of three house seats.

In the neighboring state of Rhode Island, despite the aroused republican "skunk hunters" in country towns, the new dealers romped away with another senator. Peter G. Gerry bowled over Republican Felix Hebert.

Defeat of another "new deal" critic was effected in Indiana when the democrat, Sherman Minton, ran through the republican forces backing Senator Arthur B. Robinson.

Democrats made quick work of New York and Massachusetts, retaining both governorships and senatorships, while their candidate A. Harry Moore led the veteran republican Senator Keen in New Jersey.

Backed by young James Roosevelt, son of the president, James M. Curley, a pre-Chicago Roosevelt advocate, stepped out for the Massachusetts governorship and was never headed by Gaspar G. Bacon, republican. Senator Walsh, democrat, easily dropped the republican Robert M. Washburn.

While a number of the old guard republicans lost, their colleague whom only a few years ago they called "a young Turk"—Senator Vandenberg of Michigan—apparently had been returned to the senate. He had a substantial lead over his democratic opponent, Frank A. Picard. The democratic high command had sought to stop Vandenberg, who like Reed of Pennsylvania, has been mentioned as 1936 republican presidential timber.

Attempts of both national party organizations to cripple each other for the 1936 elections through the defeat of Austin in rock-ribbed Vermont and Senator Key Pittman, Nevada demoted, failed. The democrats wanted to shock the republicans by defeating Austin, while republicans hoped to down Pittman, president pro tempore of the senate. Pittman came out for cash payment of the soldiers' bonus and ran over Republican George W. Malone, Legionnaire leader. Austin topped Fred C. Martin, Roosevelt-appointed internal revenue collector.

Both house party leaders were re-elected. Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, democratic candidate for the speakership, came through without opposition. Representative Snell, New York republican, won easily.

Two prominent republican representatives, Britten of Illinois, a "big Navy" advocate and ranking member of the naval affairs committee, and Coss of Connecticut, on the military committee, were beaten.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7 (AP)—After the moderate initial spurt, the market ruled quiet all morning. Around noon December traded at 12.10, March at 12.20, and May at 12.21, or 1 to 2 points above the previous close.

October raised off 5 points at one time, but later recovered slightly and traded at 11.91 around noon, or 3 points above the previous close.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—After hesitating throughout most of the day, the stock market finally surged upward on a substantial buying wave in the last hour today, and closed with numerous gains of 1 to 4 points a share. The turnover approximated 1,000,000 shares, and the final tone was strong.

ALL PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION ARE DEFEATED

'THAT'S GOOD' IS GOVERNOR'S FIRST REMARK

DALLAS AND TARRANT COUNTIES RETAIN BEER

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT, Associated Press Staff Writer.

DALLAS, Nov. 7 (AP)—Only formal inauguration today stood between James V. Allred, Texas' 35-year-old attorney general, and the towering goal he set after seventeen years ago—the governorship of the nation's largest state.

The ex-sailor, who rocketed from the ranks to his position as a powerful figure and an outstanding attorney, remarked "that's mighty fine" and went to bed after being formally certified as the next governor by a traditionally democratic vote yesterday.

All democratic state and national office seekers including Tom Connally, junior United States senator, enjoyed overwhelming victories.

Allred's smashing triumphs thru two democratic primaries and the general election were dimmed slightly, however, by the crushing defeat of a state constitutional amendment he had strongly favored. Voters refused to endorse a proposal to permit classification of property for taxation.

Allred promised a statement today on the failure of the proposal. It was one of eight proposed amendments that suffered stinging defeats.

James E. Ferguson, bitter Allred foe, waged a "vote agin 'em all" campaign against the amendments. The former governor and husband of the retiring chief executive, Miriam A. Ferguson, chuckled "that's pretty good" when advised of the defeat of the amendments.

Collapse of the proposed amendments was convincing enough, latest figures of the Texas Election Bureau, totaling 121,904 votes, revealed. The property classification measure went under, 72,679 to 35,527 in returns from 145 of the state's 254 counties, with only seven complete.

Included in the list of eight proposed amendments were proposals which would classify property for purposes of state taxation, provide for the general control of county affairs by commissioners' courts, abolish the fee system for compensating district and county officers in counties with more than 20,000 population, authorize the legislature to create new counties and change existing boundary lines, authorize home rule cities to amend charters every 12 months, authorize home rule cities to set maximum 4-year terms for elected officials, subject

West Texans Do Not Patronize A 'Canned Cow'

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 7 (AP)—West Texans don't get their milk from a "canned cow" any more. Only a few years ago it was commonplace to find ranchers with thousands of cattle and not a drop of fresh milk on the place.

But now ranchers usually keep a milk cow around the ranch houses and no longer have to rely on canned milk.

Another ranch innovation of recent years is fresh vegetables, which weren't cultivated to any great extent by the frontiersmen who came west to carve a cattle kingdom in the plains.

Lands of the University of Texas to taxation for county and school district purposes.

Latest results: Governor, Allred 118,194; D. E. Waggoner, 3,710. Property classification, for 35,527; against, 72,679. County reorganization, for 34,893; against, 68,057. Maximum tax, for 22,781; against, 79,495. Fee abolition, for 40,124; against, 63,806. County consolidation, for 28,754; against, 72,867. City charter, for 29,774; against, 69,877. City official terms, for 32,899; against, 67,431. University lands, for, 44,386; against, 59,606.

The state's only non-democratic member of the legislature, Bode Eolekamp of Boerne, was defeated by Allred Petch of Fredericksburg, democrat, in the 85th district. Eolekamp was an Independent.

The state's two major local option elections on retention or elimination of localized 3.2 beer ended in smashing victories for the beer quaffers at Fort Worth and Dallas. Tarrant county reported a 2-to-1 lead for retention of the brew while latest returns at Dallas showed 15,208 votes for beer and 8,708 against.

Allred, who will be inaugurated in January, battled the Ferguson forces to sweep through the two democratic primaries. He held a sizeable lead over Tom F. Hunter, his Wichita Falls neighbor, at the end of the balloting in the first primary, and maintained his advantage in the run-off. He far outdistanced Ferguson's original candidate, Charles C. McDonald, in the first primary and swept aside Ferguson's support of Hunter in the final democratic primary.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 7 (AP)—Wisconsin's infant progressive party kicked off its swaddling clothes in yesterday's general election and emerged a full-fledged political organization.

In its amazing development, it sent Robert M. La Follette back to the United States senate, gave his younger brother, Phil, an increasing lead for the governorship and put its congressional candidates out in front in seven of the state's ten districts.

Running in stride with Phil were the party's nominees for the lesser state offices.

While the governorship remained in doubt early today, with La Follette not far ahead of the democratic Governor A. G. Schmedeman, the progressives pulled off a decided upset.

The state democrats, proclaiming their allegiance to the new deal and boasting the administration was a "rubber stamp for Roosevelt," concentrated their efforts on re-electing Schmedeman. They fought Phil bitterly but had little to say regarding "Bob." The latter was known to have the well wishes of Mr. Roosevelt.

The senator had more votes than both John B. Chapple, republican, and John M. Callahan, democrat, his opponents.

The vote in 2286 of 2917 precincts; La Follette, 318,243; Chapple, 158,665; Callahan, 152,465.

Howard T. Greene, republican gubernatorial candidate, was far behind his rivals.

The vote in 2,733 of 2,917 precincts: La Follette 304,397; Schmedeman 255,290; Greene, 141,001.

Only Borah Is Left In Idaho

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 7 (AP)—Idaho's stamp of approval was placed on the new deal today in a wave of democratic votes that downed every republican aspirant for state or congressional office in spite of the fight put up by United States Senator William E. Borah.

The senator was not up for re-election, but the strong democratic vote gave body to the prospect that he will be opposed for the senatorship in 1936 by Gov. C. Ben Ross, who was elected for a third term.

DR. HARDY TO HEAD BAPTISTS ANOTHER YEAR

CHILDRESS MAN NAMED VICE PRESIDENT OF BODY

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Dr. J. C. Hardy of Belton, president of Mary Hardin-Baylor college, will head the Baptists of Texas for a third year. Without opposition Dr. Hardy was re-elected president of the Baptist General Assembly of Texas at the convention's reopening session here last night.

The president's annual address and the convention sermon by Dr. E. T. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church of Corsicana, featured this morning's program.

E. E. Day of Big Spring, G. E. Ellis of Gladewater, and Joe H. Hankins of Childress were named vice-presidents of the state organization. J. L. Truett of Whitewright and D. B. Smith of San Antonio were elected secretaries.

From speakers in close touch with the work of missionaries in foreign lands, the convention heard the greatest progress in that line in recent years except in Mexico.

Dr. I. L. Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist church at El Paso, presented the final report on foreign missions. He stated that the addition of 22 missionaries in the past year, the first time in several years that the force had been increased, meant that "the days of retreat have passed."

He cited as another encouraging sign statement that receipts so far this year for foreign missions were $146,000 greater than for the same period in 1933.

Several foreign missionaries who were reared in Texas were introduced to the delegates and pleaded for continued and expanded support of foreign missions. Among them were Miss Lucille Reagan of Big Spring, missionary to Africa; Mrs. B. L. Lockett of Abilene, former missionary to Africa, who is unable to return on account of her health; Miss Cecile Lancaster of Brownwood, who has been in Japan, and Miss Helen McCullough of Houston, who was a missionary in China.

'POOR PEOPLE' LAWS VOTED IN LONG'S REALM

Poll Tax Abolished, Car License Reduced

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7 (AP)—"Kingfish" Huey Long bubbled with enthusiasm today over the Utopia he says he is setting up in the United States.

He shouted hilariously over the sweeping adoption of his "redistribution of wealth" amendments in yesterday's election and prepared to call another special session of the legislature to pass a few more "poor people" laws.

Of the victory at the polls, he slapped his friends on the back, waved his arms wildly and shouted: "There's never been anything like this in the history of the world. Thousands and thousands of votes at the polls. They've fought me over and over again and I've beat 'em. Maybe this will teach 'em. Have you ever seen a slaughter like this?"

The amendments rolled to victory by majorities of anywhere from 2 to 1 in some sections to almost clean sweeps in others.

They provided among other things, to give everybody the right to vote without paying a $1 poll tax, to exempt homes from taxation up to the first $2,000 in assessment, to reduce automobile license rates and to impose an income tax.

There are 14 of the amendments, and Long said they were all closely bound together to "shift the burden of taxation from the little man who can't afford to pay it to the big man who can pay it, and never know a thing about it."

WMS Circle to Present Comedy

Plans for presenting a short comedy, Packing the Missionary Barrel, at the community night program of McCullough Memorial Church Thursday evening were made by circle five of the Methodist Missionary society at its meeting Monday.

The program was on home mission work in rural areas, and the part played by deaconesses in carrying out this work. Mrs. Wallace was leader, and the devotional was presented by Mrs. C. W. Tolle.

Members present were Meses. John Foster, A. C. Boyd, D. M. Franklin, A. N. Rogers, Tolle, Wallace, and William Cox. The meeting was at McCullough Memorial church.

Tom Mix Argues For Centennial

BRADY, Nov. 7 (AP)—Tom Mix believes the Texas Centennial is the greatest advertising opportunity the Lone Star state has ever had.

The cowboy circus performer was enthusiastic over the project while here with his show. He expressed hope that funds would be provided to restore the historic and scenic places and to properly publicize the Centennial to millions of American tourists who might be attracted to it.

Mix is a native Texan and is keenly interested in everything pertaining to his state's history.

He was of the opinion that due to the political disturbances threatening Europe and because of the devaluated dollar, more American tourists will remain in this country for their recreation and amusements, rather than travel abroad.

Texans can get her share of this increased tourist business if the state will make the proper bid for them through the Centennial and other advertising media, Mix said.

NOT A SINGLE REPUBLICAN LEFT IN STATE OFFICES IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7 (AP)—Stamping an emphatic "yes" on the new deal issue, Oklahoma voters swept to complete victory in Oklahoma, electing E. W. Marland, new deal advocate, as governor and returning nine democratic congressmen to Washington, a tabulation of returns disclosed today.

Marland won an overwhelming victory over W. B. Pine, republican ex-senator. Pine conceded victory today as Marland's majority neared the 100,000 mark. The republican charged he was defeated by "Tammany methods and relief money."

Returns from 2,314 of the state's 3,385 precincts gave Marland 240,646; Pine 149,343.

The democrats won every state office voted upon. After January there will not be a republican elector in the state house.

Three republican supreme court justices, a corporation commissioner and a criminal court of appeals judge will be succeeded by democrats.

Eight of the nine democratic congressional nominees were elected by wide margins, but in the eighth district Phil Ferguson, democrat of Woodward, won the seat vacated by Marland only after a nip and tuck fight with T. J. Sargent, republican, Newkirk.

The state was represented by nine democrats in the last congress.

Two constitutional amendment submitted at yesterday's election apparently were adopted. One provides cities may levy taxes for pensions for police and their widows. The other would require permission of the corporation commission for a utility to take over parallel lines of a competing company.

BRIGHT SPOTS IN THE NEWS

BRIGHT SPOT No. 1

Utility connections in Pampa are at an all-time high, indicating a population of 15,000 for Pampa—a 43% increase over the last census. Oil production mounts weekly.

BRIGHT SPOT No. 2

Since its introduction on April first, 1934, compared with the same period last year, the sale of New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil increased 66.1%.

BEFORE New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil was offered to you it was road-tested for 963,000 miles. It was then tested against five nationally-known oils in a Destruction Test on Indianapolis Speedway. One fill of this new oil carried a car 4,729 miles—1,410.2 miles farther than the next best oil!

The original Germ Processed Oil was giving satisfaction in cars in 40 states. Motorists said no other oil could touch it. But Continental scientists discovered, after years of research, that a better oil could be made—better than any mineral oil ever manufactured. And they made it! Increase of 66.1% tells how motorists took to this new oil. They tell us it has a lower rate of consumption than any oil they ever used. If you want an oil you can trust unconditionally, drive in at the Conoco Red Triangle and fill with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil.

CLAIM DEMOCRATIC PARTY MAY NOW SPLIT INTO TWO WINGS

REALIGNMENT OF POLITICAL GROUPS SEEN

REPUBLICANISM MAY BE GONE FOREVER IN NEW LANDSLIDE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—The election returns have settled several political questions with emphasis. They have left several others—potentially of far greater significance—wholly untouched.

The obvious thing is that the vast majority of the voters are willing to go along with Mr. Roosevelt for another two years; that the democratic party has been lifted to a high throne of prestige and power unoccupied by any previous political regime in America; that old-line republicanism has fallen to its lowest estate since the existing two-party alignment came into being.

In this sense, and to this degree, the election returns have written history. But beneath the obvious runs a set of implications embodying much deeper historical possibilities. The margin of democratic control is so great, the power conferred by the electorate is so sweeping, that the national destiny itself may depend on what the voters do with their victory.

Candidates of almost every conceivable twist of opinion have been swept into office on the democratic ticket. Their collective mental processes range from the inner shrine of conservatism to the borders of sheer radicalism. They have come to a new power under the wing of an administration whose policies have appeared to many to swing from left to right, from right to left.

Can this party, which has come so near to taking the place of both old parties in the conduct of the government, remain one party under the tightening strain of these years of constant change?

Realignment Ahead? If it does remain one party, can the dominance of one wing over the other be avoided, and which will become the controlling element? If it does not remain one party, is the long-foreseen realignment of American political groups now in prospect?

These questions point directly

Six States Vote For Repeal But Kansas Does Not

toward 1936. They are questions which must, perforce, receive the earnest consideration of the president between now and the time when, in all human probability, he will go before the electorate seeking re-election. No politician doubts that the interim will see the contest between right and left greatly aggravated, and 1936 a battle year of one kind or another between two fundamentally opposite schools of thought.

The alignments in the battle will depend very largely on Mr. Roosevelt himself. The election appears to have left him quite free to choose which way his party will turn. His position was such with respect to the campaign, that his left-wing supporters speak of the verdict as a mandate for liberalism, and his right-wing supporters describe his as a vote of confidence in his fundamental soundness. He himself might conceivably regard it as either.

Congress Has Answer What the election has left unanswered probably will be answered in part, at least, during the coming session of congress.

The president must put before that session a series of recommendations on such matters as the budget, the continuation of government control over agriculture and industry, and permanent social legislation. Almost inevitably he will have thrust upon him, either by legislation or by the threat of it, certain decisions on other equally controversial subjects, including the problem of the currency.

What he will do, or should do, about these things scarcely is hinted at in the election returns. They only emphasize the difficulty of his doing anything about them without offending one section or another of his following. The complicated, rather than simplify, his problem.

So far as the republicans are concerned, the decisions they now face will be difficult enough; but their situation will be tempered by a realization that hardly even a small part of the responsibility for what happens at Washington will rest now on republican shoulders.

Election Is Harbinger With the republican party it will

Prohibition repeal was running ahead early today in six of the seven states that balloted on proposals to legalize liquor.

Traditionally dry Kansas was the only one, on the face of partial returns, to resist the wet wave. Five of the six states where wets had commanding leads—West Virginia, Florida, Idaho, Nebraska, and South Dakota—voted upon amendments to their constitutions. Wyoming was taking a referendum, which starts the machinery for ultimate legislation.

Twenty-eight states now permit the sale of liquor under various systems of control. Two more, Maine and South Carolina, have taken preliminary steps in this direction—Maine in her September election and the southern state in her primary.

Here's how the wet-dry balloting stood early today on incomplete returns in the seven newly-voting states:

STATE	For Repeal	Against
West Virginia	151,452	110,646
Florida	15,456	6,292
Idaho	6,192	4,882
Nebraska	120,212	84,980
South Dakota	lead of 1,500
Wyoming	4,753	1,774
Kansas	116,287	154,215

Wheeler's Grid Coach Believes In Black Magic

WHEELER, Nov. 7. (AP)—Grid coaches and magicians face the same problem, that of producing "presto" effects.

At least, that's the idea of Bob Clark, Texas and Alabama grid and track star, who assembled a bag of tricks, earned his way through college and fooled people all over the nation.

"That's the thing—you've got to fool 'em," said Clark, now coach at the Wheeler schools. "Football is magic, a group of tricks that deceives the defen. Magic is trickery that fools the audience. No difference in them. Misdirection, deception do the trick."

Clark is putting his convictions into practice, and his grid teams are winning. Every boy from 6 on up at school here is lugging pigskins, bouncing basket balls and racing on the track.

And their instructions are illustrated by tricks that helped their coach attend Amarillo college and Sul Ross of Texas and Howard in Alabama. Clark rubs his hands together, makes a coin disappear; then tells the boys to do the football that way.

be a question of beginning all over again—for 1936, and thereafter. Just where the beginning will be made no one knows, or will know, for weeks to come. No one doubts there will be a demand for new leadership, and new policies. Only time—and the circumstances as shaped by the course chosen by the democratic administration—can determine whether a reunited and powerful republican party ever will be possible. Speculation about that, in the present circumstances, is futile.

From every viewpoint, the election of 1934 must be considered merely the harbinger of vastly important things political to come. And from every viewpoint, Mr. Roosevelt emerges as the figure who can determine, almost single-handed, the shape and substance of these momentous developments.

HOT GASOLINE ON LAST LEGS IN EAST TEXAS

ALL EXCEPT FEW SIGN NEW PURCHASING AGREEMENT

TYLER, Nov. 7. (AP)—Only a few independent refiners prevented major purchasing companies and government men from making effective today a plan to eliminate the dangerous distress gasoline—those manufactured from illegal crude oil from the Texas petroleum industry.

After a conference with refiners here, E. R. Lederer of the program committee for the petroleum administrative board, said only "four or five" refiners had not signed contracts calling for immediate installation of a purchasing agreement between the refiners as a whole and the majors. Lederer predicted that those few would be lined up shortly.

This optimistic report relieved the tension of major companies which had posted a schedule of 18, 18, and 20 cents for the three grades of gasoline in the face of the distress fuel which was sold at nearby independent stations for less. Some majors had to reduce their prices yesterday but planned to raise them again once the plan becomes operative. The tank wagon price of gasoline remained at 4 cents, plus the 5-cent tax.

The buying agreement provides that, in order to provide independent refiners with sufficient legal grade oil, above a refiner's total available, to meet his refining demands and, in turn, will take whatever surplus gasoline a refiner may not be able to sell to his own outlets at the stipulated price. These latter purchases are made at the rate of 5 cents a gallon, based on $1-a-barrel crude, with a 1/2 cent variation for each 5-cent change in the price of crude.

Meanwhile, the federal tender board seemed to be effectively stopping interstate shipments of "hot oil" and its derivatives, and the halt in interstate shipments, the railroad commission, governing body on Texas oil matters, recently prepared an order prohibiting truck shipments through the state but has not issued it.

Varied Foods to Be Distributed to Those On Relief

AUSTIN, Nov. 7.—The commodities distribution department of the Texas Relief commission has ordered for delivery to Texas relief clients during the late fall and winter months, sugar cane syrup, butter, sugar and cheese. It was announced today by C. Z. Crain, head of the department.

Orders placed with the Federal Surplus Relief corporation by months follow:

November, sugar cane syrup, 93,600 gallons; rice, 320,000 pounds; butter, 399,000 pounds; sugar, 470,000 pounds; December, rice, 360,000 pounds; butter, 378,000 pounds; January, rice, 320,000 pounds; February, rice, 320,000 pounds, cheese, 210,000 pounds.

In addition, several thousand yards of piece goods material have been ordered for delivery in November, December and January to Texas Relief Commission sewing rooms over the state, where they will be made into clothing for relief roll families.

All of these commodities, except clothing, will be delivered to clients unpriced, over and above their regular budgets.

Crain also announced delivery of 8,000 mattresses into homes of needy and said the distribution had now covered 100 counties of the state.

NEW BAND TO BE AT PLAMOR ON THURSDAY

A new orchestra, promising many musical thrills never before brought to Pampa and this territory, will provide the entertainment for the regular Thursday night dance at the Pla-Mor auditorium this week.

Bob Daugherty and his well-known seven-piece orchestra, will provide the music.

This orchestra is billed as "the best in the west with hits," and comes to Pampa highly recommended. Accompanying the group is a lady blues singer and entertainer who is featured in several musical numbers.

Plans are being made to care for a large crowd as the music of this orchestra promises to be unusually good. The regular tie-up with the theaters will be given whereby an admission paid to the dance before 9 o'clock will be allowed as that much credit on a ticket to the theaters.

Admission will be 25 cents and a charge of 5 cents per dance will be made. The management of the Pla-Mor auditorium invites you to get together your group and enjoy the music of this orchestra—which is new to the Panhandle. (Adv.)

REFEREE WINS ROUGH MATCH FOR WATKINS

TEX CHOKES, GOUGES, USES TACK ON OPPONENT

Jack Purdin, Florida alligator man, got the rawest deal of the year last night at the Pla-Mor auditorium when Tex Watkins from Post was awarded the third and deciding fall, after Referee Lobo Brown had Purdin and fallen on him while breaking a hold, and then allowed Watkins to fall on the winded Purdin to win the match.

Pampa fans have demanded that two referees be used in future matches where wild grapplers of the Watkins type are in the ring. One official does not have a chance to see all the illegal holds, and one man is not able to break two wrestlers for violations, which are more numerous than holds this year.

Tex started roughing things at the gong, and never let up until he strutted to his dressing room. Purdin came out of an eye hold with a figure four scissors soon after the opening. Watkins went to the ropes and roughed. Purdin started using a straight arm that sent the sailor to the mat several times. Tex worked head holds and gouged and then got hold of a tack which he stuck in Purdin's arm to break holds.

The wild sailor and a fan mixed things with the sailor again the best man. Watkins came out of the affray with the spectator to use a forearm to Purdin's jaw and then a smother to win in 15 minutes.

The second fall went to Purdin in the same time. The going got wilder as the match progressed with Purdin finally showing some of his old style of grappling. He met Watkins blow for blow, and knee for knee, and also got in some good wrestling.

Watkins got a hammerlock which he held for nearly two minutes. Purdin got a toe hold, slammed Watkins a couple of times, and then came up, with his famous alligator—clutch to pin Watkins' shoulders to the mat.

The going was still tough in the third fall. Purdin used his fists to meet Watkins' attack and also choked his opponent over the ropes.

TAOS INDIANS AVOID "FIRE WATER" ON TRIP TO PAMPA

While Brown was shaking his head in the corner, George pinned Costello's shoulders to the mat but there was no referee to make the count. Then Costello flipped George over and the referee counted George out.

Lobo Brown and Pat Garrison staged the bloodiest match of the year in the preliminary, which went to a draw. Brown got rough and had the Irishman bleeding from mouth and nose. Garrison stuck to wrestling most of the way, much to the surprise of fans who expected him to meet Brown at his own game.

George used his speed to keep away from the former bull fighter and then slipped in and down to dump Costello hard and often. George finally got under the big Spaniard and slammed Mrs. Costello's heel connected with the referee's jaw.

Tacs Pueblo Indians, arrayed in their native garb, walked about the streets of Pampa today to get their daily exercise in the open and to see the sights.

The most striking thing about them was their "realness." They speak little English and except for one are uneducated. Their music and their dances were learned from childhood. Primitive instincts were deep in their beings. Usually tractable, they nevertheless are unpredictable and their white managers do not profess to understand them.

It is a rule of their tribe that "fire water" will not be tolerated. Two or three of them regret the assistance of the rule, while the others belong to another tribe and are teetotalers.

The Indians have one thing in common, however: They like to travel. Juanito Lujan, noted Pueblo entertainer, heads the native troupe, which will be heard at La Nora this afternoon and tonight.

THIS CHANGE Helps Children

Intestinal irritation in many growing girls and boys can be traced to one mistake.

Are you making this mistake with your children? The "liquid test" will tell.

"What is this 'liquid test' they talk about?" ask mothers. Just this: a simple way of finding out if any boy or girl with irregular or insufficient bowel movements is in need of relief, or is getting the wrong treatment.

Doctors urge a liquid laxative for children. The child who has been convalescing in a hospital will often come out with bowels not working like a well-regulated watch. Hospitals give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

The Proper Treatment

Give that sluggish child a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not upset them.

Just give any headachy, bilious child a little of this gentle laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until the bowels seem to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.

How to Begin

Stop all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tablets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic strong enough for adults.

It is not wise to give laxatives of

LEGISLATURE SENDS DELINQUENT TAX RELIEF BILL TO 'MA'

CENTENNIAL IS ALSO VOTED IN SENATE ACTION

PASSING OF MEASURE EXPECTED TO HELP CENTENNIAL

AUSTIN, Nov. 8. (AP)—Hopes for passage of bills to assure a Texas Centennial in 1936 gained new life today in the legislature in the wake of the senate's capitulation to house demands on delinquent tax relief legislation.

Six hours of continuous session last night resulted in adoption by the senate of a conference report on a bill to remit until March 15, 1935, penalties and interest due on property taxes delinquent last August 1. The house previously adopted it by a heavy majority.

The senate also gave the Centennial program a boost. By a vote of 17 to 11, a senate bill to appropriate $5,000,000 for the celebration was passed and sent to the house. Clearance of the delinquent tax relief bill through the senate broke a deadlock which threatened to strangle in the session's final three days will major legislation. It also removed threats of executive veto of the Brazos river bill, first enactment of a major problem this session.

With its dissipation, hope revived for a final agreement on the lower Colorado river authority bill, now in conference stage.

Failure of the report to receive an affirmative two-thirds majority will prevent it from becoming effective until 90 days after adjournment, or February 8.

Reimbursement would be mandatory in all taxing subdivisions, a provision demanded by the house and objected to by the senate. Previously the senate had stood firm in its refusal to adopt the report because of that feature. It wanted reimbursement optional with municipalities and school districts.

A further provision of the bill would permit payment of delinquent taxes after March 15 with a graduated scale of penalties below the statutory rate. Payments from March 15 to April 1 would bear two per cent; in April, three per cent; May, four per cent; and June, five per cent. After July 1 penalties would be eight per cent and interest six per cent.

The reduced penalties provision, optional with cities and school districts, conformed to terms of a permanent plan tax relief bill, on which a conference report awaited action in both houses.

Although hope was injected in the Centennial program, many perils beset the course.

Responsibility for passage of bills to appropriate funds and levy new taxes to defray the cost rested on the house, where opposition was outspoken. It dealt a body blow to the tax bill yesterday by adjourning rather than passing the bill. Today the bill went under the house 72-hour rule, necessitating a two-thirds majority to obtain consideration.

Because the senate acted favorably on the tax legislation strongly desired by the house, leaders held hope the minority would divide to permit passage. Even in that event, session end rules offered formidable barriers to consummation of the legislation program this session, for the senate must also approve the tax measure and the house the appropriation bill.

As passed by the senate the Centennial bill would split a $5,000,000 appropriation between Dallas, the central exposition city, and 56 places designated for subsidiary celebrations.

Dallas would receive $3,000,000, a part of which it would share with Fort Worth for a live stock exposition. Of the $2,000,000 allocated for historical commemorations, $250,000 would be specified for equipping a state museum to be constructed by the American Legion on the University of Texas campus. Authority would be delegated to the Texas Centennial commission, aided in historical matters by an advisory board of L. W. Kemp of Houston, two University of Texas history professors, including Dr. E. C. Barker, to designate other places for historical commemorations.

AUSTIN, Nov. 8. (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today granted one full pardon, three conditional pardons and ten general paroles. Green Murphy, serving one year for violating the liquor law, received a full pardon. He was convicted in Cherokee county in July, 1934.

group two, where several visitors appeared on program. Mrs. Paul Hill presented the devotional and Mrs. Dick Rhodes the lesson, with Mmes. Roy McMilling, E. L. Reed, and Claude Lard assisting.

Mrs. A. L. Burge, president of the council, was a guest and spoke briefly. During the social hour Mrs. Walter Coffey gave a reading, Hands of Clay; a skit was presented by Mrs. Clifton Robinson, Clifton Simmons, and Mary Ramsey; and Mrs. Bob McCoy sang a solo, Come Ye Blessed, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Brummett.

Other guests were Mmes. Paxson, O. W. Johnson, and J. K. King. Other members present were Mmes. J. E. Tyson, H. J. Lippold, Don Hunt, P. E. Perkins, D. C. Isbell, George Harley and Ethel Olsen. The hostess served refreshments.

Group Three Reports Charities.

At the home of Mrs. DeLea Vicars, group three had a program led by Mrs. C. C. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. W. G. Kinzer and Mrs. Weldon Wilson, who presented the devotional.

Members reported 21 garments and several dozen cookies sent to the orphans' home.

Mmes. R. E. Abbott and Hazel Myers were new members. Mmes. Bob Wilcox, John Mullen, and J. S. Wynne guests. Other group members present for the study and refreshments were Mmes. C. L. Thomas, O. B. Robinson, J. G. Gantz, C. R. Followell, G. H. Brown, Charles Mundy, Ramon Wilson, and Tom Eckerd.

Group Four Luncheon.

In addition to their luncheon and the cookie baking, members of group four had a business session with Mrs. H. O. Jones presiding, and a devotional program on the topic, Gifts of God, by Mmes. Charles Stowell, John Mullen, Jack Wilkerson, and C. F. Bastien.

Luncheon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mundy, Mrs. R. P. Shields, Mrs. Cordell. Members present were those on program and Mmes. Glen Potts, H. C. Schofield, D. C. Hobbs, W. E. Noblett, B. C. Fahy, E. A. Twentier, Wellman, Bob Suckles, and Swayze.

Olson Elected On Public Ownership Issued By Voters

ST. PAUL, Nov. 8. (AP)—An anti-capitalist program was wooed and won to the farmer-labor banner by Minnesota's electorate, which apparently elevated to state offices all save two of that party's candidates in Tuesday's election.

Charles Olson, renamed for his third term, carried much of the ticket to victory, which he viewed today as a mandate for carrying out his party's platform of public ownership.

The governor said the republican party "made the farmer-labor party's platform a challenge, which he accepted." Olson was re-elected over Martin A. Nelson, republican, and John E. Regan, democrat.

The farmer-labor party, Olson asserted, will ask the state legislature in January to carry out its 16 plank platform. Among other things, the platform asks public ownership of factories, packing plants, banks, transportation, communication, mines and water power. The legislature would be asked to submit referenda to the voters.

Tailor Is Held In Kidnaping Of Rich Oklahoman

ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 8. (AP)—Thrown by an automobile accident into the hands of federal operatives, Alvin H. Scott, a tailor, was held here today in connection with Oklahoma's famous Urschel kidnaping.

Named with him in conspiracy charges filed in Portland was his companion, Margaret Hurlene. Each was held under $25,000 bond pending removal to Oklahoma City where 15 persons already have been convicted for the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, millionaire oil man.

Scott does not know of the charge. He has been unconscious since last Friday when he was critically injured in an automobile accident.

When he was picked up, C. C. Spears, special agent of the bureau of investigation, said $1,360 of the ransom money was found in his clothes.

The couple was under surveillance before Scott drove his automobile into a ditch. Department of justice operatives had traced ransom money to the house in Portland they occupied for the last several months but no charge was filed until the money was found in Scott's possession.

When Vandenberg's first came to the senate he found the republican leadership in the hands of such stalwarts as Watson, of Indiana; Moses of New Hampshire; Smoot of Utah, and Reed of Pennsylvania. He was one leader of a "young Turk" movement among the large crop of new republicans, who rode into the senate on the Hoover 1928 landslide. They rebelled against the old guard leadership and demanded new policies.

Now those old guard leaders of the past are gone. But Vandenberg will remain in the senate. Through the next two presidential elections. During the campaign, Vandenberg refused "either a blanket endorsement or a blanket indictment of the new deal, insisting upon 'taking each proposition upon its merits.'"

Before entering the senate, Vandenberg was a newspaper editor. He studied politics and history, and wrote several books about Hamilton and his theories.

100,000 bales larger than the trade anticipated, but the increase was not sufficient to materially affect sentiment. After a brief market recess for receipt of the government figure December opened at 12.16, March 12.30, May 12.32, and October 11.99.

VANDENBERG IS BEING TALKED FOR PRESIDENT

Has Neither Endorsed Nor Indicted New Deal Policies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—A republican—said apostle of Alexander Hamilton at that—rose to new prominence today above the G. O. P. carriage.

The re-election in Michigan of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, an advocate of "republican liberalism," prompted his friends to name him in the top flight of possible candidates for president. They believe his victory in the midst of the democratic hurricane and in a state which went democratic two years ago, stamps him as a man not to be ignored.

During his seven years in the senate he has been neither a regular nor an independent. He was regarded as regular enough to be nominated for president pro tempore of into a ditch. Department of justice operatives had traced ransom money to the house in Portland they occupied for the last several months but no charge was filed until the money was found in Scott's possession.

THINGS SEEMED FUTILE 1700 YEARS AGO!

It might help us to face our current problems with more hope if we could only make use of the ingenious time machine described in H. G. Wells' famous novel.

This was a machine, as you remember, by which one could rove about in time as an automobile enables one to rove about in space. You could go either forward or backward—back to ancient Rome or forward to the millennium, whichever you chose.

If we could get hold of such a machine, and spin back through a few generations, we might discover that our difficulties today are only reprints of difficulties which assailed other men in times past.

A writer in the "Business Conditions Weekly," of New York, recently set out to collect a few of the doleful outcries which former depressions have drawn from discouraged men.

As far back as the time of St. Augustine, 1700 years ago, he finds a writer complaining that agriculture was decaying, purchasing power was dwindling, taxes were soaring, and commerce was collapsing; the conclusion drawn, of course, was that the world was going to the dogs for good.

He finds a distinguished French physician in 1832 voicing similar complaints, lamenting the turmoil and confusion of the times—he had seen a post chaise rattling along at five miles an hour, and he said that "this madness of speed is wearing men out"—and he felt that his newly-born son faced a life which could bring him neither prosperity nor happiness.

He finds an American editor in 1857 describing the "universal commercial prostration and panic" about him, and remarking that "it is a gloomy moment in history . . . never has the future seemed so incalculable."

In 1886 a U. S. official speaks of the depression, doubts that any revival can come up to the level of the preceding 50 years, and concludes plaintively that "the day of large profits is probably past."

It is really worth our while to mull over the dismal Jeremiahs from the past. To be sure, it doesn't make our present problems any less difficult; but it may help us to see that a troubled time such as the present is never quite as dark and hopeless as the people who are living through it often suppose.

Historians 50 years hence will probably find some of our current fears just as quaintly humorous as those of former days seem to us now.

Put away those pay increases you've been promised under the New Deal. President Roosevelt says the cost of living will go higher.

"Civilization is going to pot," said France's Foreign Minister Laval. And here we've been trying to get it out of the pot since the World War.

The banks which busted a few years ago because they didn't have enough money are now reported bursting with too much.

Takes less to win a baseball series than a poker hand—the Cardinals practically won the championship on a single pair.

Admiral Byrd's men won't be allowed to vote by radio. Probably afraid their votes would have to be sponsored.

A Gypsy newspaper is now being published in Rumania. But it probably won't brag about its home-delivered circulation.

A Texas legislator wants to have the letter "H" tattooed on the hand of every habitual drunkard. Would it stand for "Horrible Example" or "Have One on Me"?

The Republicans may be right in their contention that politics is being mixed with relief, but that wouldn't be so bad if it were relief from politics.

Young King Peter of Yugo-Slavia is now head of the army, although he can hardly be said to have been graduated from his soldier toys.

A special black shirt organization is provided in Italy for boys as young as 6 years. Soon Mussolini will see that all boys are born in black shirts.

Teaches Browning was cut off in "Daddy's" will. Sort of canned peaches, you might say.

A dollar won on a football game and not promptly paid is, we suppose, a delayed buck.

Clarkburg, W. Va., hunter claims to have bagged four squirrels with one shot. One shot of what?

The Hungarian miners who went back on strike should have known there was a white man in the coal heap.

Just another way of reminding you—the Postoffice Department says it will make deliveries on Christmas.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission:

"I will think—talk—write—Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glorious that are to be."

DALLAS, Nov. 8. (SP)—The belatedly of some of Texas' citizens was not altogether quelled with the hard-bought winning of her independence from Mexico in 1836, the date which will be commemorated throughout the state in 1936, with Centennial celebrations at many cities. California visitors doubtless would be surprised to learn that plans, afoot immediately after the Revolution to take their present State away from Mexico with a one-brig navy, might have materialized. Had not the steady hand of old Sam Houston, opportunely sighted the ship of state.

The expedition was planned by a group of hardy adventurers, seamen and soldiers-of-fortune, who had thrown in their lot with that of the Republic of Texas. Edward A. Weyman, youthful midshipman, who later, the United States Navy to serve in the Navy of the Republic, was one of the ardent leaders of the band and advocate of the proposed conquest, together with Commodore Wheelwright, commander, Capt. Jim Wright, and Thurston Taylor. "navy" they proposed to employ for the expedition was one dilapidated brig, the "Jim Bowie," which had been turned over to them by the Texas government, together with sixteen letters of marque.

Plans to take the "Jim Bowie" around Cape Horn to San Francisco, where the naval force was to join land forces under command of a man, named Dr. Shepherd. After its seizure, California was to be offered to Texas for annexation. In casual offer was refused, the young adventurers proposed to set up an independent government of their own.

The expedition, however, awaited passage of a proposed war bill, which would authorize Texas forces to invade Mexican territory. Immediately after Sam Houston's election to the presidency, Congress passed the bill and it went to him for his signature, but Houston promptly vetoed it. This crumpled the adventurers' plans; their ship was taken from them together with their letters of marque. The enterprising conquistadores scattered to direct their energies in other directions—one to become a border sheriff, others to adventure in South America and still others to see California in the role of peaceable visitors.

DALLAS, Nov. 8. (SP)—One of most commendable features of the plan of operation of the Texas Centennial commission as submitted to the State Legislature for consideration is the creation of a Division of Historical and Cultural Celebrations, the purpose of which is to commemorate in impressive and enduring memorials the heroism, sacrifice and patriotic devotion of the glorious past and to portray in vivid, colorful, accurate pageantry and graphic and appropriate ceremony, the life, culture, civil policy and accomplishments in industry and science, art and religion of the people of Texas from the beginning of their social and political economy to the present.

Already a special committee, named by the commission and consisting of five members of the commission from separate sections of Texas and Ross Boothe of Gonzales, Prof. J. L. Clarke of Huntsville, Phil L. Sanders of Nacogdoches and Judge J. H. White of Coliad is functioning, and has held an initial meeting in San Antonio.

The primary function of this committee is to co-operate with the communities that design historical celebrations, such as San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston and Dallas. This committee will aid them in perfecting their plans and synchronizing these with the program of the Texas Centennial, both as to theme to be exploited and the date and duration of each celebration, and assist them in attaining and preserving with historical accuracy the sub-motifs, which in the aggregate of singular executions will present the composite portrayal of the Centennial picture.

Headquarters of this division are to be at Austin and that city also will be headquarters for a division of review to pass on the accuracy and correctness of historical data and presentations.

Only statutory contemplated spots so far have been designated for celebration, but others have been given until Nov. 1 to file requests for such designation.

Some government economists have been flirting with that idea for months.

Now President William Green of the American Federation of Labor has brought it into the open. He says a 30 per cent production increase would solve many problems.

In the theory, a most alluring case can be made to support that prophecy. It is argued that if all factories increased production sufficiently something like this would happen: Unemployment would cease to be a worry. The enormous relief expenditures would shrink to a negligible figure. It even might be possible to balance the budget next year. Necessary borrowing to meet such an expansion would loosen credit generally, and get the idle reserves in bank vaults into circulation. The larger payrolls would stimulate buying. With industry going full speed again, and everybody in a job, a new psychology of confidence would be created perhaps heralding the end of the depression.

Difficulties in Way.

Naturally, there is another side to the case. Even those who warmly support the project see certain difficulties of practical operation.

Presumably a production increase would have to be brought about largely through voluntary action on the part of industry. Any government attempt to force it certainly would be resisted.

Many industries could not accept the program unless they were prepared to do some heavy borrowing. Could they be induced to borrow, while they were doubtful if they could sell their greatly increased output at anything like cost plus reasonable profit?

It can be argued that the practical effect would be to transfer the load of relief expenditures from the treasury to the pocketbooks of private employers, who then would be taking all the risk of the gamble on better times.

And it can be argued in rebuttal that those who have enough cash or credit to operate a business these days are taking the risk anyway, because continued relief expenditures mean bigger taxes, and those who have material resources will be the ones who pay in the end.

Lower vs. Higher Prices.

Critics of the proposal also contend there is no need to take the

DEMOCRATS WILL HAVE 317 SOLONS IN HOUSE, 69 IN SENATE

RITCHIE LOSES GOVERNORSHIP OF MARYLAND

FDR AND LA FOLLETTE CONFERENCE TODAY AT LUNCHEON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt, returning today to exercise tremendous new power in carrying out the new deal, saw his party's victory grow more emphatic in the cleanup returns.

Late counts for congressmen gave the democrats eight more seats in the house and the astonishing lineup read as follows:

Democrats 317; republicans 102; progressives 7; farmer-laborites 3; in doubt 6.

Almost complete returns for the senate showed:

Democrats 69; republicans 25; progressive 1; farmer-labor 1.

This senate lineup was based on the assumption that democrats and republicans would split two seats in New Mexico, as latest returns indicated they would.

Late returns showed this roster of seats:

Democrats 38; republicans 8; progressives 1; farmer-labor 1.

The republicans drew some consolation from the defeat of Maryland's democratic governor, Albert C. Ritchie, by Harry W. Nice after a seven-day fight.

Ritchie was not extremely warm in his reception of the new deal but local issues played a large part in the campaign.

President Roosevelt, silent but happy over the most overwhelming "off-year" victory since the federalists were ground to pieces by the republicans 132 years ago, had a luncheon engagement today with Senator "Young Bob" LaFollette who won on the new progressive ticket in Wisconsin while his brother Philip was capturing the governorship.

No one knew what the two friends, Roosevelt and LaFollette, would talk about but some speculated that it might be the relief problem.

The paramount question occupying observers now is "will the administration turn to right or left?" The administration's view has been that it is proceeding straight down the middle.

Some predicted that congress, divided into a huge majority and a pitiful minority, would proceed to split, on lines more economic than political, putting pressure on the White House from right and left in more marked degree than in the past.

The republican campaign command, whipped but declaring it would not stay whipped, sought to reform the lines for 1936. At republican headquarters it was said Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, planned to call conferences of leaders within a few days to consider plans for rehabilitating the organization. Subsequently the republican members of congress are to be called together in January to formulate plans for the presidential campaign.

Of the 30 senate seats filled Tuesday, the democrats, on the all-but-complete count, had taken 26, republicans 6, farmer-laborites and progressives, one each.

There was some shifting in governorships. Democrats lost one to Wisconsin progressives and three to republicans in Maryland and Nevada. The democrats picked up four in Oregon, Pennsylvania, North Dakota and Nevada.

The governorships about which there was still a bit of doubt were Wyoming, where democrat Lesje A. Folleny, was ahead and Nevada, where Richard Kirman, democrat, was leading.

In Mexico, the independent republican senator, Bronson Cutting, held a slight lead for the long term over Representative Dennis Chavez, republican of the same state, while Senator Carl A. Hatch, democrat, apparently was elected over former governor R. C. Dillon, for the short term.

North Dakota's independent republican, Senator Lynn J. Frazier, who trailed first, was elected, and in raising the new deal to a new pinnacle, the voters gave senatorships to democrats in such places as Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Rhode Island and West Virginia.

Successfully penetrating Pennsylvania and shaking its republican foundations, the democrats seized besides a senatorship and the governorship, 11 house seats to add to eleven already held.

Not since democracy thrived in the inferno of the civil war has one party held such power in the senate. The sweep eliminated such staunch republicans as Senators Reed of Pennsylvania, Fess of Ohio, Robinson of Indiana, Walcott of Connecticut, Hebert of Rhode Island, Patterson of Missouri, Hatcher of West Virginia, Keen of New Jersey and took the seat held by republican Senator Goldsborough of Maryland.

The new democratic faces in the senate are those of liberal Rush D. Holt of West Virginia, "Boss" Donahy of Ohio, Harry S. Truman of Missouri, Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, Representative Francis T. Maloney of Connecticut, Peter G. Gerry of Rhode Island, Sherman Minton of Indiana, and George W. Radcliffe of Maryland.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, who differed from his conservative colleagues on some new deal legislation, came through with flying colors. Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, backed by the Roosevelt administration, Frazier of North Dakota, both independent republicans, LaFollette of Wisconsin, who dropped the G. O. P. label to head the progressive ticket, won out while old guards fell. All have voted for new deal legislation.

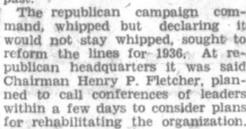

Returning to republicans were endorsed in Vermont, where Senator Austin was re-elected, and in Delaware, where Senator Townsend won. Maine barely returned republican Hale in September.

Nowhere were dyed-in-the-wool conservatives so successful over democratic incumbents.

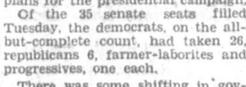

Returns showed that of seven states voting on repudiation of repeal, only Kansas, which stoutly stayed republican, also remained dry. By substantial majorities, Florida and West Virginia endorsed wet. Nebraska, South Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho appeared, on the basis of late returns, to have dropped prohibition.

THAT NEW DEAL WAVE
TROY, O.—It took the democratic tide 90 years to sweep into Miami county. The election of K. V. Mar of Piqua as sheriff and the defeat of Charles Green, republican incumbent seeking his third term, brought the first democratic sheriff to the county since Joe Pearson wore the star in 1845.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS and SOUNDS

BY ROBBIN COONS.

HOLLYWOOD—Queenie Smith, the stage star, was passing a photographer's display case on the studio lot when she noted a blonde beauty framed there in lonely splendor.

Being a curious soul where movie faces are concerned, Queenie went back to have another look.

"And lo! Who was it but Smith! Isn't it marvelous the things they can do here?"

That's how Queenie Smith told about the incident later, and it marks her as the kind of star who doesn't believe everything a movie still camera can tell her.

Weren't it wonderful if they could do the same thing on the screen—because I don't need to be told I don't look like that," she asserted. "But I'm afraid they can't. Still, I'm not really afraid. You see, I've had two careers already—realizing three careers—and I think I can bring something from all of them to the screen."

"But if I'm wrong, I promise you won't find me among those who go back to New York and say pooh-pooh to Hollywood. I'll know it isn't Hollywood's fault. When they really give you a chance out here, they 'do it up right,' she asserted. "Miss Smith (in private life she's the wife of Robert Garland, New York drama critic), took longer than most stage stars of her prominence to get to Hollywood. In the early talkie years, she had stage contracts which forbade movie work, and then—to be as frank as she is—the movie offers stopped coming, until this latest one, from Paramount, came after her success in a straight dramatic role in "Every Thursday."

"Anti-Typing Insurance." The test she took, when she got around to taking a test, was one calculated to demonstrate the Queenie Smith versatility, a sort of "anti-typing insurance."

Because of a child she danced at the Metropolitan opera, and later became a solo danseuse there, she didn't take merely a dancing test. Because she later turned to musical comedy as singer and dancer, she didn't merely sing and dance in her test. Nor did her success in the dramatic role confine her screen test to an emotional display.

She did some of each, and threw in a little character comedy. So when they wanted to cast her in the musical extravaganza, "Mississippi," she was on the screen, doing any number of things.

"Queenie," she says, "is her real name. "And to think," she laughs, "that I've become so accustomed to it I think myself going around thinking what funny names other people have!"

Indian Mounds Being Studied
PECOS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Indian mounds and ancient village sites in northwestern Reeves county are being studied by archaeologists from the University of Texas.

For many years amateur archaeologists have dug into these ruins, gaining information as to the customs of the primitive people who once lived in them.

The University of Texas scientists plan to work in the region for several weeks. They have already started their excavations.

Former Texan To Be Java Consul
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Walter A. Foote, assistant chief of the division of current information in the state department for the past four years, will sail November 14 from New York to become American consul in charge at Batavia, Java.

Capital correspondents and representatives of the Dutch legation honored him this week with a farewell party.

On this tour of duty here, Foote served as a state department representative in many different parts of the world. He is a native of Greenville, Texas, and a graduate of Texas university.

ON WITH THE ELECTION
LAWRENCE, Kan.—Miss Peggy Landon, 17-year-old daughter of Governor Alf M. Landon, tests her own political power today. She is one of nine candidates for vice president of the freshman class at the University of Kansas. Her father won re-election.

Patrol Leaders Are Chosen For Training Course

Eleven patrol leaders were named at the organization meeting of the Adult Leadership Training course in the basement of the First Methodist church Tuesday night. Gaston Foote was named leader and L. L. Sone assistant leader.

Mr. Foote spoke briefly on the purpose and methods of the training school. He said the purpose of the course is to give adults a general knowledge of the aims and contents of the Boy Scout program, with stress on the methods which can be used to teach this program to boys.

Classes will be conducted in such a manner as to make it as much like a real Boy Scout troop as possible.

Mr. Sone discussed scouting and education with the leaders, picturing the difference in the times of 10 years ago and now. He said that people only get out of life what they put in it and that they desire only to do the things in which they excel.

"There should be more personal contact between men and boys," Mr. Sone declared. "Men should spend more of their time thinking about people making their lives useful. Boy-Scouts, I find, make good boys."

Old Mexico Is Shipping Corn To West Texas

LUBBOCK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Corn from old Mexico is being shipped into West Texas for the use of farmers and feeders of livestock.

Due to drought curtailment of crops in this region, the demand for grain from other parts of the United States and from abroad is unusually good.

R. R. Stuart, chief inspector of the Lubbock grain exchange, says more than seven car loads of corn grown south of the Rio Grande already have been inspected by federal agents here.

Meetings will be held in the basement of the First Methodist church every Tuesday night. Meetings will be open to every man in this section over 18 years of age.

Patrol leaders selected last night were Lee Bowden, Kenneth Irwin, Ernest Cobe Jr., W. F. G. Stein, Harvey Todd, Bob Watson, Tracy Cary, E. W. Hogan, Alfonso Moore, Ernest Gee and Clyde Gold.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a bitter, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name "Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Request a substitute, 25¢ at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

API To Convene In Dallas Soon

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Reservation of virtually every available hotel room in the city and of quarters in apartment and office buildings is taken as presaging a record attendance at the fifteenth annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute scheduled for Dallas, November 13 and 15.

Present indications are that a group of oil men equivalent in size to the National Trade association's membership of more than 3,500 will attend the meeting, at which not only the institute but the oil fraternity of Dallas will be host.

The formal meeting program, listing 40 addresses and technical papers to be presented at more than half a hundred sessions, is nearing completion. Leading guest speakers include the federal oil administrator, U. S. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, and Chairman Amos L. Beaty, of the NRA petroleum planning and coordination committee. Also on the program is C. C. Chapman of Portland, Ore., publisher of "The Oregon Voter," and widely known as the "father of the gasoline tax."

A feature of the meeting this year will be 15 sightseeing trips to the larger of the many Texas oil fields which now produce about half the country's oil supply, and to other Texas points of interest. Another feature will be the 12 dinners arranged for oil men active in the various phases of petroleum industry undertakings—production, geology, refining, equipment and supplies, land lease, and scouting, marketing, trade press, etc.

Clovis Pair Is Held For Fraud

CLOVIS, N. M., Nov. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Beulah M. Brake, former housekeeper on a Texas farm, and Robert V. Dudgeon were under arrest here today on charges of using the United States mails in an alleged defalcation plot. Both were in jail in default of $2,000 bonds.

The man and woman were arrested yesterday by federal agents as Dudgeon called for his and the woman's mail in the Clovis post office lobby.

Sheriff E. B. Eastham said Mrs. Brake confessed to dictating letters written by Dudgeon in which they demanded $300 from Sam Wiseman, Sudan, Texas, farmer, under threat that the woman would disclose certain affairs which would injure Wiseman's reputation.

Mrs. Brake formerly worked as a housekeeper for Wiseman.

Sheriff Eastham said that Dudgeon, shown a copy of the alleged confession, also confessed in part to the plot, and later changed his story in an effort to take full blame for the letters.

Dudgeon and Mrs. Brake have been living in Clovis about three weeks.

The letters were understood to have been written about October 20, 1934.

Famous German Spy Is Honored

LUBECK, Germany, Nov. 8 (AP)—Germany's famous wartime spy, Carl Hans Lody, was honored today on the twentieth anniversary of his execution by a firing squad in the Tower of London.

To his memory was unveiled a statue of a knight in full armor at the gate of ancient Lubeck castle. Above the memorial was hung a bell to be tolled on future anniversaries of Lody's execution.

Lody was a German naval officer who traveled about England in the early days of the world war and an American passport giving him the name of Charles A. Inglis of Omaha. He had lived in Omaha where he was married.

He communicated his information to Germany by pre-arranged groupings of postage stamps. He was found guilty of espionage after a three-day trial by a court-martial.

He died bravely, sitting in a chair his legs crossed, his head back, his eyes unbandaged before a firing squad of eight soldiers.

His execution was the first in the Tower of London in 214 years and 11 other German spies followed him in death there during the war.

CAPITOL CHATTER

By CHARLES E. SIMONS
AUSTIN, Nov. 8 (AP)—While the Texas house of representatives showed little disposition to increase the turmoil in the relief situation through an extensive interim investigation, discussion of a resolution proposing the inquiry turned attention to one phase of administrative expense that the board of control has moved to correct.

Complaint was made by Rep. E. E. Hunter of Cleburne against what he termed the high cost of printing relief commission forms and blanks.

The board of control has revised the procedure with reference to the commission's printing and has taken it under its own wing. Printers who have state contracts will be offered the opportunity to supply the relief commission's needs at the same price they receive for printing for other state departments.

Officials expected to effect a sizeable saving through the change.

Leaders of a group of hunger marchers who expected to excite the legislature into action on the relief question were sorely disappointed.

The house and senate both listened while they presented their pleas for immediate action, but refused to take any steps to inquire into the conditions complained of. A majority of the members took the attitude that relief supervision had been vested in the board of control only recently and that any irregularities and inequities in distribution of relief funds would be ironed out as soon as the board could get its feet on the ground and really go into the situations existing in the respective counties.

One of Rep. Weaver Moore's pet ambitions is cover a football game for a newspaper. He would write the game from the spectator's point of view rather than from the viewpoint of a sports writer. The style would be that of an unofficial or grandstand quarterback who would reflect the feelings and musings of the ordinary onlooker.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Casad has a letter in her safety deposit box that will send the contractor, McSwain, to jail. McSwain cannot persuade Marian to give it up, so hires Marian's husband, Lon Casad, as foreman on the very job he plans to scamp. Then Marian receives a telegram saying her mother is dangerously ill; she goes at once to the Gordon ranch and finds the message was false. Knowing the telegram had been a ruse to get her away while her house was searched for the letter, she returns.

Chapter 29 LOW TRICK

Hero jumped from the car and ran sniffling toward the house. Marian followed, watching the dog's peculiar actions.

He reached the house, waited for her to unlock the door, then entered with low growls rumbling in his throat. Marian nodded. There was little likelihood that anyone would be here now, but some one had been here, someone whose scent Hero disliked.

She switched on the lights and followed the dog from room to room. Still the low growling, the uneasy pacing from bureau to chest, from chest to secretary, from secretary to Lon's workroom.

Nothing seemed disturbed. But where was Lon? A car was coming up the drive. She heard Lon's "Good-night, thanks for bringing me over—and say, the barbecue was fine."

He came running towards the house now. "Jan," he called, "well, this is a surprise. I didn't expect you back tonight. I'm glad your mother's better."

"What makes you think mother's better?" she asked.

"You wired me she was . . . say what's the matter with Hero . . . look he's actually growling at me."

"He probably doesn't approve of your dancing with Silver," she hazarded.

Lon looked at her in astonishment. "How did you know?" he asked.

"I don't know, but Hero does. He's found the same scent on you that he found here in the house."

"Lon, listen. My mother wasn't ill. Neither she nor Dad sent the wire. It was sent by the same person who saw that I had the car here at the house to use, in order to give them a chance to go through this house without fear of interruption."

"This McSwain sent me word that my mother was ill. After I left Silver came here . . . look at Hero if you can't take my word . . . she went through everything . . . watch him go from place to place . . . he associates something unpleasant with that scent. She frightened him that night in Nevada and you scolded him for snarling at her. He smells her scent on you, now . . . hold out your hand, the one you used in holding her hand while you were dancing."

"Jan, for Pat's sake be yourself. I suppose that next thing you'll be telling me you didn't send me a wire from Sacramento asking me to get that letter out of the safe deposit box and mail it."

"Lon!" Marian screamed his name as realization of what had happened came upon her. "What have you done?"

"Well, for the love of Heaven, what's going on? You wire me to do something, then yell at me for doing it."

"Forget me, Lon, listen, tell me everything. You say you got a letter out of the safe deposit box. What did you do with it?"

"Mailed it to Sacramento like you told me to . . . I guess it was the right one; it was the only one there in a plain envelope. It had Silver's name on it. Marian, what's the matter?"

"Tell me, Lon, you say you mailed that to me. To what address, and at what time?" She looked at her wrist watch. Could she reach Sacramento in time to intercept the letter?

Co-ed Punished

Her beauty failed to save Celeste Strack, above, from severe penalty when officials of the University of California at Los Angeles charged that student officers were involved in a Communist plot. Miss Strack and four other officers were suspended for a year and a campus riot followed in which several were hurt.

handed him the receipt, "she found that here, tipped off the person working with them in Sacramento what to wire, and then proceeded to arrange an alibi for herself.

"Lon, why won't you be convinced that Silver and McSwain are guilty of actually robbing me?"

"Why?" he repeated, and withdrawing his hand, faced her. "Because I happen to know what is behind this whole affair."

"You do? Would you mind telling me?"

"When McSwain and I started off this morning, he asked me if you had picked up a fuss over my working for him. I replied that you hadn't. He said he was surprised. I asked him why, and this is what he told me."

"He said that he and your father had been enemies for years. He told me a lot about your girlhood that I had never before known; how you used to be taken around to all sorts of places with crowds of rough men, so your father could use his pretty daughter for political purposes."

"He said it got to such a place your father's sister realized you were being spoiled for any normal womanhood and she stepped in and paid your way through this exclusive girl school, but that as soon as you left school, he forced the newspaper backing his faction into giving you a job as a reporter so you could further his interests there."
