NEW SPECIAL SESSION MAY BE CONVENED

MOVE TO STRIP OIL BODY OF POWERS GROWING

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (AP)—Bills to broaden powers of the Texas railroad commission in its campaign to close outlets for illegally produced crude oil advanced toward final passage today with favorable recommendations from committees in both houses.

Meanwhile, reports of the likelihood of another special session to strip the commission of its oil conservation authority gained momentum.

Protests of independent refiners that the bill would effect a discrimination against them in favor of major companies were brushed aside as the senate civil jurisdiction committee voted to recommend passage of the bill. Last night the house committee on oil, gas and mining gave its bill a favorable report.

The bill would prohibit the movement of oil products refined from illegally produced crude and empower the commission to promulgate orders necessary for enforcement.

Amos Felts, Austin attorney representing numerous independent refiners of East Texas, protested the bill as an extension of "Inquisitorial powers of the commission at the expense of small refiners, but in favor of the big ones."

He contended 90 per cent of East Texas production was transported by pipe lines to major refineries on the gulf, on which movement the commission had not sought to require reports.

Jules Constantine, president of the East Texas Independent Refiners association, argued existing conservation statutes were sufficiently strong "for absolute enforcement," which he said could be obtained "if the commission devoted less time to discrimination and more to enforcement."

Expanding Felts' argument, W. F. Anderson, representing the Chief Refining company, contended the effect of orders they anticipated the commission would issue under the act would "police 1,000 East Texas wells through independent refineries but disregard the other 14,000 wells" production of which is transported to major refineries on the gulf.

The commission agreed to inclusion of an amendment to require tenders for movement of oil products anywhere in the state. Senator Joe Moore of Greenville indicated he would offer one from the floor.

Mother Dangles Legs in Hole to Spite Light Firm

Lone Burglar Loots Home of Ely in Jericho

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP)—A mother of six who sat with her legs dangling in a pole hole for 37 hours, yielded her seat to her husband early today and he carried on the blockade to prevent erection of a pole by the electric company.

Mrs. Elsie Barnable and her husband say it's their revenge for the time the Public Service Electric and Gas company turned off the light when their little girl was sick.

Now, they note, it costs the company several dollars an hour to keep them here waiting for the vigil to weaken.

One complaint against the Barnables came from a neighbor, Denny Di Reizo, who said the life of his brother, Joseph, 23, a paralytic invalid, is being endangered.

Denny claims Joseph cannot eat except when his muscles are relaxed and that since the excitement began he is starving slowly. Denny threatens an injunction against the Barnables.

But the young looking Mrs. Barnable nonchalantly sat with her legs dangling in the hole all Monday night, all day yesterday, and through last night and her husband relieved her. She was warmed by a fire built by sympathetic neighbors and nourished by soup and food cooked by her 14-year-old daughter, Dina.

STRIKER BAYONETTED TO DEATH IN CLASH WITH CAROLINA ARMY

MAINE MILL IS PELTED WITH STONES

Death Toll in Strike Mounts to 13 as Man Dies

(By The Associated Press.)
The death toll in the textile strike mounted to 13 today, the tide was estimated at 420,000, and skirmishes in textile centers increased in number.

One name was added to the death list—that of Ernest K. Riley, 40 of Mount Holly, N. C. He died of a bayonet wound suffered last night when several thousands pickets "rushed" troops at Belmont, N. C.

A report of President Roosevelt's mediation board was awaited, in the hope that it would contain a clue for a peace move.

Tear gas was used extensively in several scattered clashes. A shouting, rock-hurling crowd of several hundred was dispersed from the Lowell knitting mill at Spartanburg, S. C., by special officers who used tear gas and fire hose.

Police used the same weapons to avert a serious clash between textile pickets and mill hands in Little Falls, N. Y.

More tear gas guns were brought into play at Waterville, Me., a new high tension spot on the textile map.

The rioting in Waterville, outside the Lockwood Manufacturing company mill, was the worst outbreak of the current strike in Maine. Six men were arrested and national guardsmen were dispatched to the scene.

Scores of windows in the plant were shattered.

Police in Indianapolis, Ind., investigated reports of disorder in connection with the strike at the Indianapolis Bleaching company. They were informed that a bag carrying workers to the plant had been shot.

Ford Stolen From West Foster Avenue

A Ford sedan, 1930 model, was stolen from where it was parked in front of the Johnson building on West Foster avenue early last night. The loss was reported to city and county officers by L. N. McAnally, the owner of the car.

Mr. McAnally told officers he was at the picture show and when he left about 9:30 o'clock his car had been stolen. He said the car was locked. Police immediately made a search of the city but found no trace of the missing automobile. The license number on the car was 412,328.

BRITISH AND FRENCH SCORE WAR IN CHAGO

WAR MUST BE STOPPED BY LEAGUE, AVER STATESMEN

GENEVA, Sept. 19 (AP)—With Russia occupying her permanent seat in the League of Nations council for the first time, France and Great Britain today denounced the bloody war between Paraguay and Bolivia as a debacle which must stop.

Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, told the council that the time had come for action in the Chaco dispute and "this conflict threatens to affect the prestige of the league."

Capt. Anthony Eden, British lord privy seal, said the war had lasted too long and the league must act.

Salvador de Madariaga of Spain urged the warring nations to declare an armistice.

Coincidence or design placed Maxim Litvinoff, Russian foreign commissar, beside the empty chair which Japan had quitted when he attended his first session of the council. The vacant chair was at the right; Poland's representative was at his left at the horseshoe table.

As Dr. Edouard Benes of Czechoslovakia opened the session, he expressed a welcome to Russia. The crowd in the chamber leaned forward to hear Dr. Benes said:

"We realize the importance of this great political event and we are glad to cooperate in a friendly way with Russia for the strengthening of peace."

Litvinoff answered with a pledge of cooperation with the league in a spirit of friendship and loyalty.

Dr. Ribas of Chile, taking his seat on that nation's behalf, said Chile, as a member of the council, would give "the same untiring cooperation" which marked her attitude as a member of the assembly.

To the council also was welcomed Turkey.

The general atmosphere of calm and welcome, however, was suddenly shattered by Dr. A. Costa du Reis of Bolivia, who protested against the general arms embargo imposed on the Chaco belligerents with a declaration that without proper surveillance of the embargo, Paraguay ran a "smuggling war munitions" from the Atlantic.

Dr. Cynocro Badoya of Paraguay responded immediately, retorting that Paraguay does not object to the embargo.

Protest against the admission of Russia to the league was received from exiles who said they represented a group of former independent nations now federated as republics with the Soviet union.

Burson's Bank Trial Will Go To Jury Today

AMARILLO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Testimony was completed this morning in the trial of John Burson, former Silverton banker who is charged with federal banking law violation. Arguments started shortly before noon and the case is scheduled to go to the jury this afternoon.

U. S. District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus closely questioned Burson about affairs of the bank which Burson had operated 30 years before it closed.

On the stand in his own defense late yesterday, Burson testified that charges brought against him were caused by an error in bookkeeping.

Burson is being tried on an indictment of five counts, one of which is the alleged misappropriation of $5,240.65 of the bank's funds.

Elmer Savage of LeFors was a Pampa visitor last night.

ELIGIBILITY OF DISTRICT ONE GRID PLAYERS DISCUSSED TODAY

Only Few Season Reserved Tickets Still Available

Athletic regulations and eligibility rules in District 1 of the interscholastic league were to be reviewed in Amarillo today by the executive committee and other school men of the area.

The Pampa delegation to the meeting was composed of Supt. R. B. Fisher, Principal L. L. Sone, Coach Osher Mitchell, and E. N. Dennard.

Each school will mention names of boys in other schools whose eligibility to participate in athletics this term is in question. Data will be compared and the rules interpreted. One word of the boy involved and that of his parents will not be accepted. Documentary evidence from schools previously attended is necessary. The investigations today will not prevent protests later in the season, but will tend to make the latter less likely.

Prices of admission to conference games and selection of officials also will be discussed.

U. S. NAVY OFFICER PAID COMMISSIONS FOR SALE OF ARMS

Procured Colombian Orders While He Was Still an Officer in U. S. Navy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The senate munitions committee was told today that foreign machine guns had been imported and sold without restriction in this country.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Testimony that General Laboratories, Inc., of Pittsburgh, paid commissions to Lieut. Com. James H. Strong for Colombian government orders he procured for the company while he was still an officer in the United States navy was introduced into the senate munitions committee.

Strong did not resign from the United States navy until February 19, 1934.

John W. Young, president of Federal Laboratories, testified he paid Strong commission on sales for technical work three times during 1932 and 1933.

Strong now is in charge of aviation in Colombia.

The testimony followed fresh talk of graft in munitions dealings in South America and the issuance by the committee of a statement asking citizens of South America to understand that the aim of the committee was to promote peace by disclosing the dealings of the private munitions industry. It said the committee was not dealing with morals of nations.

Answering recent South American reaction to disclosures of the senate munitions committee, Senator Bone (D., Wash.), read a statement on behalf of the committee that it is "not investigating the morals of a nation," but the private munitions business.

The statement asked the citizens of South America to understand "peace can only come with complete frankness."

"It cannot be bought by hiding, deceiving, and concealing," the statement added. "To show that officials of a company have used weak men is not an indictment of a people, any more than an expose of the racketeering of an Al Capone is an indictment of the people of Chicago."

"The senate committee is not investigating the morals of a nation—it is getting at specific facts in connection with certain deals in the private munitions business."

The statement followed an argument which developed when witnesses asked the committee to suppress the name of a Honduran public official, who was alleged to have been paid a commission on a government contract.

MORRO CASTLE ENGINES NOT ORDERED SHUT

FINAL ORDERS WOULD HAVE WHIRLED THE SHIP DIZZILY

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The final order from the bridge of the burning liner Morro Castle to the engine room would have left the ship turning crazily in circles, it was adduced today at a federal inquiry into the disaster.

The log of William W. Tripp, cadet engineer on the Morro Castle, was read before the department of commerce board headed by Dickerson N. Hoover, and it showed that the last order telegraphed from the bridge called for "Full speed ahead on the starboard engine; full speed astern on the port engine."

Tripp, a Boston Tech student, testified that his order, as noted in his log, came at 3:21 o'clock, but that in the confusion and growing heat of the engine room, it was not carried out.

At no time, his log disclosed, did an order come from the bridge to stop the engines—at least not up to 3:29 when the telegraph system between bridge and engine room stopped working.

Tripp described how the smoke poured into the engine room, how he and his fellow workers litged matches and groped through shafts and up ladders to safety after the lights went out.

"The smoke came on us like a fog," the witness said.

"Were the ventilators the cause?" They could have been one cause, he replied.

Quicker further, he said he knew of no reason why the ventilating system was not shut down.

The ship's engines were stopped about two minutes after the lights went out, he said.

DOCTORS TELL AMAZING FACTS ABOUT SYPHILIS

Rare Disease Found In Wellington Section

As the world becomes more civilized it becomes more syphilitic—the truth of that old statement was reaffirmed again in a telling manner last night at the regular meeting of the Gray-Wheeler Medical society in the city hall.

Physicians present at the meeting agreed that facts about the dread disease syphilis should be put before the public and groped through shafts and up ladders to safety after the lights went out.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

Twinkles

It remains to be seen how mean and hungry are the drought-bitten Somers of Capitol Hill. The Harvesters will make the test Friday night.

Jimmie Gillettine, writing in the Wellington Leader, urges citizens to plant turnips, and of the possible surplus thereof says, "Bring 'em to me." He should have underscored bring.

Young democrats of the future may have to turn historians to learn how they got their name. There are more communists today than there were socialists a few years ago.

Railroad companies brag about their air-conditioned cars. But we'll bet they still have a lot to do to the smokers. Cool travel is, however, just around the corner.

You must, in football language, give the textile workers credit for having "that old fight."

Brevitorials

Musings of the moment: There are booms in Texas where the drought is nearly forgotten. Rock Springs, "Devil's Sinkhole" has turned out to be a huge cavern, extending for miles. It may be one of the world's largest.

Seminole, down in Gaines county, boasts of the biggest boom in the state with the least oil development. Prospects are good and there is the Humble-Means discovery well just across the line in Andrews county.

The Crockett Courier has issued a special edition following the bringing in of Houston county's first oil well. Thirty years of prospecting, as the Courier calls it, preceded the discovery. All the merchants, elected, gave the Courier an ad, and some of the ads sounded sufficiently hysterical to show the tempo of the citizens. Incidentally, Houston is not in Houston county.

IN THE departure of the Rev. A. Hyde to Sherman, Pampa loses a citizen whose impulses have been guided by the highest motives. He and his family will be remembered for their charm and neighborliness. He served faithfully and well the Red Cross and the Boy Scouts. He is best known for his work with the Scouts. He organized in most of the towns of the Adobe Walls council and made stirring speeches in behalf of the movement. Such citizens cannot easily be replaced.

MR. AND MRS. Forrest P. McKimming write from Red Oak, Iowa, where they moved recently when Mr. McKimming was promoted by Cities Service. They are temporarily living 15 miles from facilities nearby. Red Oak is almost as large as Pampa. Omaha is only 40 miles away. Shenandoah and Council Bluffs are nearer. The country is so rolling that rarely is a large level spot found. Most of the crops grow on sides of hills. Corn, alfalfa, and wheat are principal crops. Fine hogs and thoroughbred cattle are numerous. Every farm has a silo and large machine sheds. Machinery is housed and used much longer than that used in the Panhandle. Buildings are painting and farms well kept. Around Red Oak, Swedes are numerous. They are very thrifty and are hard workers.

PREBYTERIANS here, where Mrs. McKimming was organist, the couple is attending the church of that faith in Red Oak. The congregation has a large brick church, paid out with pipe organ and gymnasium. Sunday school rooms open into the playing court of the gym. There are eight pianos in the Sunday school department. And yet the church has a membership of only 200 persons. The minister has been deaf from boyhood, but is highly educated and can read lips skillfully.

FREEZING IS frequent at night in Iowa now, and many days are cold. Drug stores close on Sunday. Liquor stores have recently been opened.

Homeless, the McKimmings are reading THE NEWS with great interest. They are following the Harvesters and hoping they may be able to come back for THE big game. "Mac" likes his new work and the fact that he has two days off each week. They send greetings to their friends here.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE CONSTITUTION

This is the fourth of a series of six articles reviewing the history and contents of the U. S. Constitution, in observance of "Constitution Week" and the 147th anniversary of the Constitution's birth, Sept. 17, 1787.

No sooner was the Constitution ratified than several basic objections were made. In fact, some of the states ratified the document on condition that certain amendments be added that would protect the states from invasion of their rights by the national government.

These amendments, numbering 10, were soon designated popularly as the "Bill of Rights." They were proposed at the first of Congress, Sept. 25, 1789 and declared in force, Dec. 15, 1791.

Amendment No. 1—Guarantees freedom of religion, of speech, and of the press; and gives right of peaceable assembly and petition.

Amendment No. 2—Provides the right to bear arms. Amendment No. 3—Forbids quartering of soldiers in private homes in time of peace.

Amendment No. 4—Forbids "searches and seizures" without warrant.

Amendment No. 5—Guarantees jury trial and other rights of accused persons; forbids taking of private property without "just compensation."

Amendment No. 6—Gives further guarantees of speedy, public, and impartial trials in criminal cases.

Amendment No. 7—Guarantees the right of jury trial in suits at common law.

Amendment No. 8—Prohibits excessive bail, excessive fines, and "cruel and unusual punishment."

Amendment No. 9—Reserves to the people the rights not enumerated in the Constitution.

Amendment No. 10—Reserves to the states, or to the people, the rights not delegated to the United States.

The last two amendments above—No. 9 and No. 10—were designed to prevent encroachment of the federal government upon the rights of the states as well as upon those of the citizens.

ON CONSTITUTION RESTS OUR LIBERTY

Among the things that every school child is taught is the fact that the Constitution of the United States is a document of great value and wisdom.

This is certainly true enough, and it is a wise and beneficial thing for us to set aside one day every year as "Constitution Day". But the school children and we older folk are alike in one thing—we seldom bother to read this document to which we do homage.

Our observance of the day ought to begin with that. For it is only by studying the Constitution, and seeing precisely what it does and does not say, that we can begin to understand what a stalwart bulwark of human liberty it really is.

And after we have read it, it is good mental task to go back and have a look at the circumstances under which it was written and adopted.

The colonies had won their independence from England—and they hardly knew what to do with it. They were weak, scattered, beset by a myriad of antagonisms and suspicions. They were divided geographically and socially. Some influential men would not have been sorry to see an American king; others preferred even the loose and inefficient articles of confederation, believing that these at least left the individual secure in his own freedom.

Out of all of this confusion and clash of opposing forces came the Constitution; and reading it, with its background in mind, one cannot fail to gain a new admiration for the men who concocted it.

They did their utmost to preserve the people from tyranny and oppression; they wrote the most rigid safeguards they could devise to keep despotism out of the country; they set up the elaborate, and subsequently famous, system of checks, and balances to make certain that no one branch of the government would ever become too powerful.

This document has been in effect for nearly 150 years. It is as strong today as when it was adopted—stronger, in fact, for it is buttressed by years of observance. Under it the people of the United States have recorded a great and glorious history.

Today we are passing through one of those times of stress which test any governmental charter. It is up to us to remember the strength which the Constitution has given us in the past—and to vow that it shall come through these troublous days unweakened either in letter or in observance.

BUSINESS IS BETTER

Although a July lull in many lines of business and industry had some people worried for a few weeks, rapid recovery during August indicated that the slump was seasonal, accentuated in some areas by unusually high temperatures and severe drought. Forecasts of fall activity are more optimistic now than they were a month ago.

The August upturn has been particularly noticeable in the Southwest. The Dun & Bradstreet trade review states that in the unexpected August increase in retail sales the most impressive percentages of gain were made in the South and Southwest. The monthly map of business conditions appearing in the September issue of the Nation's Business shows Dallas as the center of an area of which business conditions are given the highest rating.

Reports from various reliable sources indicate that, even during the July lull, activity in most lines was well above that for the corresponding period of 1933. An especially encouraging factor during recent weeks is the drop in business failures to the lowest mark since 1920. Bank deposits and bank loans have shown gains, and an increase in the opening of deferred payment accounts has been reported.

With the drought ended in most places and with many farmers receiving unexpectedly high prices for their products, the outlook for retailers has turned distinctly brighter. The rapid headway being gained in putting the housing act into effect promises increased activity in other fields as well. The pace may be too slow to suit some, but the trend continues in the direction of economic recovery.—Dallas NEWS.

COMMISSION'S OIL POWER TO BE BROADENED

MEASURE IS NEARING FINAL PASSAGE IN HOUSE

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—A bill to broaden the powers of the Texas railroad commission in its campaign to curb the output of illegal oil advanced another step toward final passage in the house today while reports that another special session of the Texas legislature would be called to strip the commission of its oil conservation authority grew in intensity.

The house committee on oil, gas and mining last night voted a favorable report to a bill to empower the commission to regulate the movement of refined petroleum from the East Texas field, regarded as essential in plugging the legal oil advanced another step toward final passage in the house today while reports that another special session of the Texas legislature would be called to strip the commission of its oil conservation authority grew in intensity.

Objections of committeemen to hasty procedure on the proposal were brushed aside as the committee speeded action to get it back to the floor of the house with a minimum of delay. Six members wanted to defer decision until tonight or refer the bill to a sub-committee. Eight members voted to report it immediately.

Two members of the railroad commission, C. V. Terrell and E. O. Thompson, advocated passage of the bill, made necessary when a Travis county district court ruled the commission did not have statutory authority to compel refineries to obtain commission approval before shipping refined products.

Independent refiners protested the bill would not be a panacea for the commission's ills in East Texas and predicted the commission would return at the next session of the legislature with a plea that it be granted more power.

Speculation on prospects for another special session was given impetus when Representatives Jesse James of Cameron reported 104 members of the house had pledged to support a natural resources commission bill that would relieve the railroad commission of its oil and gas administrative duties. James said he expected to confer soon with with Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband-advisor, former Governor James E. Ferguson, on the proposition. James said a poll of the house showed "considerable opposition" would be encountered by the bill if it attempted to vest the power to appoint the new commission in the present administration. James said decision on how personnel of the proposed commission should be selected would be left to the two houses and expressed the opinion that the administration would not seek to force through a bill delegating the appointments to the incumbent.

The senate civil jurisprudence committee had set a public hearing for today on its bill to widen the scope of the railroad commission's activities. The hearing was requested by East Texas independent refiners.

Other guests today were Raymond Calloway of Woodward, Okla., and R. G. Hughes and Raymond Wilson of Pampa.

John Sturgeon was an Amarillo visitor yesterday afternoon.

ADULT SCHOOL AT HOPKINS IS OPEN TUESDAY

Local Teachers At Work Awaiting EES Start

An adult education program started at Hopkins school last night, with about 60 present and indications that the enrollment will reach 75 or 100.

Teachers are not available now under the Emergency Education plan, but Supt. M. L. H. Baze of the Hopkins schools and other teachers there will conduct classes until others are secured. A teacher of shorthand and typing is especially wanted.

Requests were made for subjects ranging from arithmetic to art. Classes were organized in the subjects most in demand. In English, 46 were enrolled; in civics, 34; in business arithmetic, 28; in commercial law, 25; in chemistry, 18; in typing, 20.

A class for beginners in reading, writing and elementary arithmetic is to be organized, according to present plans.

The laboratory of the Phillips company plant at Hopkins will be used for the chemistry class. V. E. Stewart was made chairman of a committee to investigate the practicability of buying or renting typewriters.

Regular classes in the day school at Hopkins are operating this year with an increased enrollment of about 15 per cent, Mr. Baze said. Apparently the large enrollment will be reflected in the adult school.

SINS OF MEMBERS UNDERMINE CHURCH, FOOTE TELLS LARGE CROWD IN METHODIST REVIVAL

SERMON TONIGHT IS TO BE ON 'MOCKING FOOL'

"The thing that is wrecking the influence of the church today is that on the inside of it; the members of the church are victimized by little sins," Gaston Foote told a large crowd last night at the First Methodist church where a revival is in progress.

"I talked with a man today, asking him to come to church, and that man told me he had seen so much of the cheap, shoddy, sordid, so-called Christianity as practiced by the church members themselves that he didn't want to have anything to do with the church," the minister declared.

He asserted that there are eighty men "in Pampa whose pernicious influence is damning our city," and added that many of those men professed to be Christians and were members of the church.

Sin is Disease. Comparing sin to leprosy, Rev. Foote said that sin is contagious and that "sin in one's own life wells up and overflows into someone else's."

He said that sin starts in small beginnings, is contagious and brings suffering.

"I could have the opportunity of standing before the microphone of any of a radio hookup, whether it spread over a radius of 50 or miles or 5,000 miles, I would shout two words into that microphone, and they would be, 'sin kills!'" he said.

"He pleaded with church members to 'repent of their sins and acknowledge them.'" "One of the most damning practices of our church members is that they are too proud and too unwilling to acknowledge any one sin of their lives."

The minister scored citizens who will send their children to Sunday school and refuse to go themselves. "People go to hell because they are cowardly. Any man who will send his children to Sunday school and refuse to go himself is nothing less than a crack coward."

Week's Subjects. Tonight, the pastor will preach on the subject, The Mocking Fool. Thursday evening, his subject will be, The Tree Sitter; Friday, At the Crossroads; Saturday, Moral Leprosy; Sunday, God's Greatest Gift.

The Rev. Lance Webb, assistant pastor, is in charge of song services. The Methodist church band also plays tonight. Special numbers are being given by the Methodist church quartet, Verlon Twadell, soloist, and others.

The song services begin promptly at 7:40 p. m. The public is invited to attend the services.

GAS AND MACHINE GUN MANUFACTURER GAVE ADVICE TO CUBA

YOUNG CLAIMS IGNORANCE OF NATIONAL LAW

ADMITS HE MEDDLED IN AFFAIRS OF ISLAND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Senate munitions investigators sought today to trace the activities of the federal laboratories of Pittsburgh in selling gases and machine guns to South America.

Testimony already has shown that this company decided last fall to favor a revolutionary group in Cuba against the government in power. Examining senators hinted that this decision had a considerable influence in the fall of the government and victory for the Mendicta revolutionary group.

Shooting questions at John W. Young, president of the concern, investigators brought the Logan act into the picture after Young acknowledged that he advised Cubans last year about how to patch up their revolutionary troubles. The Logan act forbids private American citizens' meddling in diplomatic affairs.

"Are you familiar with the Logan act?" Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) asked.

"Never heard of it," Young answered.

Young told the committee his decision to favor Mendicta over the existing Grau San Martin government came after conferences at the state department and a personal visit to Havana. He said, however, that the state department officials never advised him what he should do in his business negotiations.

The federal laboratories, which recently has supplied large amounts of tear and nauseating gas for use in American strike zones, also did a large business in South America. It was their South American agent, F. S. Jonas, who once remarked in a letter to a friend that "it was certainly a hell of a business where a person has to depend on trouble for a living." Jonas was expected to tell the committee much about the company's business in South America.

Baker Will Be Special Guests at "Victory Dinner"

There's a good reason for the smile that graces the countenance of Jack Baker, well known Goodyear tire dealer here. He has just returned from Oklahoma City, where he was one of many honored guests of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company at a Victory dinner given to Goodyear dealers in this section of the United States whose sales of G-3 All Weather tires in July and August were up to the respective quotas assigned to them by the company. Meetings of this type were held in various areas over the country.

But Mr. Baker has additional cause for feeling proud. His percentage over quota was higher than that of any other dealers in his grouping, and in recognition of this signal honor he will be presented with an attractive plaque by the company. The plaque is prized very highly by Mr. Baker, who is proudly displaying it at his service station at 501 West Foster avenue.

"Really, the way our sales had been going, I thought we had sold G-3 tires to practically every car owner in our city," said Mr. Baker, "because immediately following the announcement of the introduction of this wonderful tire to the motoring public about May 1 the demand was even greater than I had anticipated, and I'll say right now that my calculations were very optimistic."

"Nevertheless we made a check of every available prospect in our town and its environs, for we were determined to have our town honored by representation at the Victory dinner. The vigorous selling program resulted in putting us away over the top, and naturally I feel proud of the achievement. The meeting at Oklahoma City was very enthusiastic and inspiring. I know that I got many inspiring thoughts from my contacts with progressive dealers and some helpful ideas in merchandising tires and giving of service.

"I sincerely appreciate the fine patronage that motorists of this vicinity have accorded us at all times, and especially in my efforts to win a seat at the Victory dinner. But, after all, it was a sort of mutual affair—the car owners helped me and they helped themselves when they bought G-3 All Weather tires, for that tire is the greatest tire ever built by Goodyear, just packed with unusual mileage, safety and comfort, in addition to being at a price within the reach of every motorist."

COUNTER MOVE FILED SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 19. (AP)—A Crory to vacate his order and permission asking Judge W. W. McMill the taking of expert depositions from James V. Allred, winner of the democratic gubernatorial nomination, and R. G. Waters of Austin, campaign manager for Allred, came today as a counter-move of the plaintiffs in the legal skirmishing of a suit to bar Allred from the general election in November because of alleged excessive campaign expenditures.

OPPOSITION TO REGULATION OF OIL INCREASES

NATIONAL OIL WEEKLY AND API OPPOSED TO CONTROL

BY WILLIAM VOIGHT, Jr., Associated Press Staff Writer.

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 19. (AP)—The search for adequate government control of the petroleum industry, under way on two fronts, shared attention this week with scattered developments affecting the refinery division and keeping prices at uncertain levels.

Secretary Ickes' determined stand before a congressional committee in favor of stricter federal powers was considered in many parts of the midcontinent as a response to increasing opposition that has shown up recently.

The verbal pace of the oppositionists had been set by Arxel J. Byles, president of the American Petroleum Institute, and C. B. Ames, former president, and this week an oil weekly of national circulation published here is taking an anti-control stand for the first time since discussion of a code started last year.

An attempt to bring gasoline and other derivatives under state regulation was being made in the Texas legislature at Austin. The new bill seeks to correct the weakness of a state law that ostensibly controls crude oil production but prevents interference with the constant flow into commerce of petroleum products.

As a result for a court ruling on the present law the "hot" gasoline has been produced and marketed in increasing quantities for more than 10 days and virtually destroyed the midcontinent refinery market.

Scouts and other company reporters have sent word to their firm executives that East Texas is "wide open" with many small stills running full blast and with tank car shipments booming.

Marketers saw the third grade gasoline quotations go down below 3 cents a gallon in tank car lots for the first time since the oil code was made effective. It was quoted in the group 3 (Oklahoma) territory at 2 7/8 cents a gallon and, 2 3/4 cents in East Texas.

Company scouts also report that "OES-6", the new shipper's affidavit required by the petroleum administration, is openly flouted.

The names of Secretary Ickes, of Chairman Nathan Margold of the petroleum administrative board, and of a half dozen Texas officials, are allegedly being signed to these affidavits as comenors of oil of questionable derivation.

Refiners and others in East Texas who have profited by the many legal setbacks given the state and federal governments in East Texas apparently have decided to wait for a government test of the legality of "OES-6". It was thought for a time that it would be attacked by the refiners and other shippers in a bold counter move.

The present plan apparently is to wait until the administration seeks to halt a shipment on accusation of false swearing, then defend on the plea that the shipper would have to perjure himself to comply with the regulation. Oil purchased at the refineries comes from many wells, the objectors declare, and they cannot be legally sure it all was legally produced.

The national gasoline purchase plan got away to a slow start this week in East Texas. Two contracts were reported signed, and surveys were being made in other areas to determine whether refiners with surplus gasoline can comply with the regulation that the oil from which the gasoline is processed was legally produced.

Marketers found in the fourth grade of gasoline to be offered commercial accounts in Chicago a new worry. The Standard Oil company of Indiana, plans to sell 63-65 octane gasoline, without anti-knock fluid content, in 100-gallon minimum lots at a half cent under the prevailing low price for the third grade.

Other marketers in the area were planning either to meet this competition similarly, retail the anti-knock content of their house brand product to conform to the octane rating, or to increase the anti-knock rating of their present third grade.

Few considered it an immediate problem but some thought was being given to the possibility that in the near future they may be forced to sell an additional grade at their service stations.

Mill Hands Guarded on Way to Work

"Prevent strike violence before it starts," seems to be the slogan in Seneca, S. C., where this scene was enacted. National guardsmen, with bayonets fixed and rifles ready, escorted an army of strikers through the textile strikers' picket lines and into the cotton mills. Soldiers also were stationed on each side of the road to prevent pickets from storming the marching column.

FORT STOCKTON JUDGE WATCHED LAST STAMPEDE

Saw 50,000 Buffaloes Going Crazy in 1878

FORT STOCKTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—The thunder of hoofs as 50,000 buffaloes charged toward him in the last great stampede on the staked plains is as vivid today in the memory of Judge W. C. Moore as when he faced death before the crazed herd in 1878.

Judge Moore, early day surveyor on the staked plains and more recently an attorney at Fort Stockton, believes he is the only living Texan who saw that spectacle.

Now in his 80th year, Judge Moore recalls how he stood in, single file with other members of a surveying party while the buffaloes tore towards them across the vast plain, then miraculously split to pass the surveyors. Judge Moore said it seemed as if the surging mass of giant animals grazed his shoulders on either side as it passed.

The surveying party was working in what is now Floyd county, between the present towns of Floydville and Lubbock.

"We stood in single file facing the herd, with the transit set up in the middle of the file and the last man holding the reins of my saddle horse. With the only rifle in the party, naturally I was at the head of the line in order to split the passing animals by firing the gun."

"We were not long in getting in shape for the rush, but we were barely ready when the herd was on us with a swirl of dust and a thunder of hoofs. The front line was thickly packed shoulder to shoulder, and the eyes were cast back as if trying to see something behind. When I realized this attitude, I began firing the gun. It had no effect."

"I came to believe we could not slip them by sight. So I began to shoot rapidly, but without effect until at a distance of about 30 feet, when I saw some of the animals in front begin to push to one side or the other to make an opening."

"That opening must have been about 12 feet wide when the front line passed us, though it seemed to me that I would touch a buffalo on either side with the point of my gun."

"Behind this dense line there was no regular formation, and the animals came on in loose order, gradually thinning out to the rear. During the terrific uproar of the passing multitude, I had dimly made out sounds which might have come from the men or horse behind me, and when I turned I greatly feared to find that some calamity had befallen us. But beyond a horse that was trembling, and a party of four men exceedingly dust laden and full of strange oaths, there was nothing to show that we had been in any danger."

BANQUET

Members of the advisory boards were appointed by the governor, state representatives and state senators.

The banquet will serve to add to the interest and enthusiasm already created in the Parthian by the Centennial and the Centennial.

All members of the advisory boards of the 26 counties have not had an opportunity to meet and organize since they were appointed. This summer, representatives of about nine counties met at Amarillo for the purpose of organizing, but a general meeting to which all members of the board have been invited had not been called until the Junior Chamber of Commerce decided yesterday to sponsor the banquet. The Gray county advisory board will appear on the program and the Centennial plans for 1936 will be discussed at the meeting.

On the county board members are Ivy E. Duncan, S. D. Stennis, Mrs. Gilmore Nunn and John Sturgeon. Likely others representing the south part of the county, including LeFors and McLean, will be appointed in the near future.

Sponsors of the banquet are planning to invite Congressman Marvin Jones and a member of the Texas Centennial commission. Advisory board members of other towns will appear on the program. Pre-Centennial plans for 1935 and Centennial plans for 1936 will be discussed at the meeting.

Morro Castle's Bridge Deserted Claims Operator

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—Chas. A. Maki, third radio operator of the ill-fated liner Morro Castle, who, according to earlier testimony went to the bridge for orders and did not return, testified today that he went back to the radio room on the ship at 3:30 a. m., and found it deserted.

After that, Maki said, he went to the deck and climbed into a life boat.

BANKHEAD ACT GIVEN PRAISE IN RESOLUTION

CHILDRESS MAN PENS BOOMERANG TO IRK MCGREGOR

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Proposed condemnation by the Texas house of representatives of the Bankhead cotton production control law threatened to boomerang today.

A resolution lauding the law and its general effects on cotton producers was before the house committee on agriculture an agricultural substitute for one proposed by Rep. T. H. McGregor of Austin in which the plan was bitterly denounced as unconstitutional and un-American and assailed as threatening postage to cotton farmers unless invalidated immediately.

Rep. Bob Alexander of Childress offered the substitute. It recommended benefits purportedly derived by cotton farmers from higher prices resulting from the law and urged that it be continued in effect as long as necessary. The substitute, however, recognized inequalities in operation of the Bankhead plan and suggested the agricultural adjustment administration simplify its procedure if the law was made operative another year.

McGregor referred to the Bankhead law as a "fungus growth on the new deal." Alexander termed it the salvation of the cotton farmer, made necessary when "chiselers," in the form of large cotton producers, refused to join voluntarily cotton acreage reduction movements.

The original resolution stated the law discriminated against the tenant farmer and small grower in favor of large land owners. This was hotly denied by witnesses who appeared before the committee, one of them asserting that he knew of an instance where a landlord's production was so reduced that a tenant offered to loan him $200 to tide him over.

The Bankhead law was characterized as "effective cooperative farming" by another witness.

The substitute and original resolution were referred to a subcommittee when Rep. George Wainwright of Mexia and McGregor objected to its language. Wainwright indicated he would accept the substitute if verbiage which he interpreted as casting unfair reflections on himself and McGregor as authors of the original proposition were deleted.

is transmitted from rabbits or ground squirrels, and results in swollen glands and a long course of fever similar to typhoid. Only 700 authentic cases of Tularemia, named for Tulare county, California, are recorded in medical literature.

The meeting was the first after the summer vacation. Several physicians took post-graduate courses during the summer and discussion of these made the meeting interesting. Two medical motion pictures were shown.

Those present included Drs. C. C. Wilson, H. L. Wilder, John Hooper, R. M. Bellamy, secretary; A. B. Goldston, W. Purviance, W. B. Wild, V. E. von Brunow, A. E. Connor, T. R. Martin, all of Pampa; Drs. J. W. Gooch and J. S. McCreary, Shamrock; Drs. High and Moss, Wellington; Dr. Glen Walker, Mobeetie; Dr. C. B. Watson, McLean, and a visitor, Bill Jarrett, Pampa.

Maki's testimony contradicted that given by George W. Rogers, chief radio operator, who last week declared that Maki disappeared after being sent to the bridge.

"Did Mr. Rogers give you a message to take to the bridge?" the witness was asked.

HOUSE OF DAVID AND ROAD RUNNERS TO PLAY TONIGHT AT 8:15 O'CLOCK

FAMED PEPPER GAME WILL BE AT 5TH INNING

SOLDIER CARUSO WILL SING HIS NOTED SONGS

The House of David will present a line-up of well known ball players when they take the field against the Road Runners at Road Runner park at 8:15 o'clock tonight. The same two teams will play again tomorrow night at the same hour.

Members of the bearded team will put on their pepper game at the fifth inning. The special entertainment, however, will begin before the game starts. The House of David management will present Soldier Caruso, nationally known tenor, who will sing several numbers. Caruso has thrilled large outdoor audiences with his Irish songs and many thousands have come to hear the singer rather than to see the ball game.

The House of David will field the same team that defeated the Road Runners here in the spring. The lineup will be:

Hutson, left field, formerly in the Southern association, where he hit .370, and in the Texas league where he batted .360.

Anderson, third base, one of the original House of David players and a member of the pepper game.

Tucker, first base, original member and one of the greatest first basemen in the national game today.

Wykoff, right field, formerly with the Cincinnati Reds, and later with Columbus. Hit .382 for the House of David last year.

Clift, center field, formerly with Oklahoma City and Omaha in the Western league. Led the Denver tournament in home runs last year.

Atwell, shortstop, former Western league player and with San Francisco this spring. He hit 26 runs with Davids last season.

Hanson, second base, played with Des Moines in the Western league in 1933. Has been scouted by many big league teams.

Fleming, catcher, formerly with Milwaukee in the American association but with the House of David the last seven years. Has caught an average of 150 games a year for the last seven years.

Talley, pitcher and outfielder, has been with the team 17 years and pitched in more than 400 games. A member of the pepper game. He is having his best year with the club.

Nusser, Brady and Spiesman, pitchers, all with professional experience.

The Road Runners apparently got all the bad baseball out of their system Monday night and should be able to play their old brand of ball again. Manager George Bulla will probably send Lee Dancy to the mound tonight in an effort to win a game. Either Pete Stegman or Bill Hardin will be on the mound tomorrow night.

One or two new players may appear in the Road Runner lineup during the series.

Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon at the Fort Worth Cats. With Art "What-a-Man" Shires at the helm will be here for a three game series.

Clowning Loses Rosenbloom His National Title

TORONTO, Sept. 19. (AP)—The light heavyweight throne will have to go to a beggar for an occupant while as far as the National Boxing association is concerned.

The association, which deprived Maxey Rosenbloom of title recognition on Monday because of his "clowning" tactics and his ridiculing of opponents in the ring, announced yesterday it would not recognize as champion the winner of a forthcoming match at Asheville, N. C., between Joe Knight of Cairo, Ga., and Tony Shucro of Boston.

Instead the association listed Shucro and Knight as outstanding contenders along with Al Garner of New Haven, Conn., Ambrose Palmer of Australia, Len Harvey of England, Lou Brouillard of Worcester, Mass., and John Henry Lewis of Seattle. When one of these fights his way to the top the association will recognize him as champion.

Cars Needed to Take Harvesters To Capitol Hill

The Harvester football squad will go to Oklahoma City Friday morning by car, Coach Odeus Mitchell announced this morning. Fans who can take some of the players are asked to get in touch with Coach Mitchell at 70 or 1033-J before noon Thursday, when all arrangements must be completed.

The Athletic association will pay $2.50 transportation for each boy. Several fans have already offered to take players but many more cars are needed.

Coach Mitchell would like for the boys to leave here early Friday morning so that they will arrive in Oklahoma City in time to rest before the game. He plans to send his regulars in the first cars to assure their arrival in plenty of time for a meal and long rest.

More than 50 tickets to the game have been purchased by Pampa fans.

MUCH IMPROVEMENT IS SHOWN BY HARVESTERS IN PRACTICE

Bone-crushing struggle is awaiting team at Capitol Hill; Fanning looks good.

The Harvesters showed much improvement yesterday over their work of Monday afternoon and if they continue to make such strides the team should not be the underdog in many contests. Coaches remarked after a hard scrimmage that if the eleven hadn't show improvement, they would have been ready to "throw up their hands and quit," so it can be guessed how ragged the squad appeared Monday.

Another big scrimmage was in order this afternoon. Tomorrow the boys will rest for their hard tussle in Oklahoma City Friday night, when they take on the scarping Indians of Coach Jim Lookabaugh at Capitol Hill. The game is doped to be one of the toughest of the season since Lookabaugh has nine first string lettermen back.

Coaches have not definitely named a starting lineup but were expected to do so after today's scrimmage. The work of Darwood "Red" Fanning at fullback was especially outstanding yesterday. Although practicing with three cracked ribs, Fanning showed lots of power and speed.

Hazel Mackie, another fullback prospect, also looked better than at any other time this season. Switching of Captain Monroe Owens to right end on defense appeared to bolster the right side of the line, which has caused coaches much worry. Lester Stephenson and George Nix gave their best exhibitions at end during yesterday's workout to hand Freddy Mumford something to worry about. Mumford has been playing the end position most of the time.

The tackles still have much to learn but they worked a little smoother yesterday. The guards have been playing fairly steady ball and Bill Haner has been looking good at center. The backfield combination has clicked nicely whenever the line played its part but has not been particularly strong at making and picking holes. Hamilton and Nash have been showing lots of power, while Dunaway, Drake, Brown and Elkins have been exhibiting considerable speed and side-stepping ability. Tom Rose is recovering from an injury and taking his turn at fullback.

The game at Oklahoma City is scheduled to be called at 8 o'clock but will probably be late in starting. The NEWS will receive reports by quarters.

The beast ran several hundred yards down the street after Patrolman John Robert Paul had fired five times at him as he sank his fangs into the horse's neck, taking refuge in the Hankins-Johann sheet metal works. Employees fled and the doors to the building were closed.

A circus guard with a rifle opened one of the doors and fired four times at the beast whose roars could be heard in the street. Then, accompanied by policemen, the guard entered and one of the officers finished the wounded animal with a pistol bullet.

ASK CENTENNIAL REPORT AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (AP)—A resolution requesting the Texas Centennial commission to submit a detailed financial report of expenditures from an appropriation of $100,000 was adopted today by the Texas house of representatives.

7 GAMES ARE ON SCHEDULE FOR GORILLAS

FIRST GAME WILL BE AT PERRYTON SEPT. 22

Coach Harry Kelley of the Gorillas has scheduled seven games for his team and is in touch with other teams to round out the season. Only two of the games will be played at home.

Competition has been keen in the last week. Several of the little fellows are likely to take places away from the larger players. The coach has not definitely named his first string, but at present Bowyer appears to have the center position captured. He is rancy and backs up the line well. Holt Hammett and Steve Goodwin have been the guards, but they are being pressed hard by William Ollis and Bob "Mourner" Wassler. Brian Green, brother of Clovis Green, now at T. C. U., and Stokes Green, brother of J. R. Green of the Harvesters, have the tackle positions, in hand, although being pressed by Jack Waldstad and John Hutchinson. Garvin Elkins and Ivan Noblett are the line signals, with Floyd Stevens and Kelly Kitchens at halves and Roy Showers at fullback. Don Foster, Claude Oliver, and Woody Woodridge, have been giving the starters a merry battle and will see lots of service.

Some of the big fellows are doing a lot of loafing, thinking they have their places made. They are going to get a big surprise one of these days, according to Coach Kelley.

The work of Fred Hartman, 200 pounds of real ability and brother of George Hartman, All American when with Army, has been disappointing. He would make a great Harvester next year if he would battle.

Coach Kelley will divide his squad later in the week. He will use his "A" team for games already scheduled and will try and match games for his "B" squad.

The Gorilla schedule follows: Sept. 22—at Perryton. Sept. 29—at Canadian. Oct. 5—at White Deer. Oct. 18—Wheeler here. Nov. 2—at Wheeler. Nov. 15—White Deer here. Nov. 22—at Miami.

Above are shown leaders of the football forces at Hardin-Simmons university for the coming season. Odell "Scatter" Winters, captain, is playing his third and last year—including some fast and promising sophomores, Cranfill hopes to put out a winning combination.

The Cowboys will open on Sept. 22 against the Amarillo Junior college team there and will initiate their conference season against the champion St. Edwards Tigers at Wichita Falls, Oct. 6.

TIGERS AGAIN BEAT YANKEES IN A SHUTOUT

FIRST TIME STUNT HAS BEEN DONE IN OVER FIVE YEARS

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Detroit Tigers were credited today with another outstanding baseball feat as they continued their career toward the American league pennant. They not only had beaten the challenging Yankees twice but they had shut them out two days in succession as they built their lead up to 7½ games.

The stunt had not been done in over five years, not since the Browns inflicted three whitewashings in a row on the Yanks back in 1929. Following Al Crowder's 3-0 triumph Monday, young Lynwood Rowe came through yesterday to limit the New Yorkers to six hits and win 2 to 0.

The Tigers need only two more decisions over the Yanks or four more victories regardless of the outcome of all New York's games, to clinch the flag.

In the national league the Giants found the going a bit tougher and failed to gain although the second-place Cardinals were kept idle by rain at Boston. The Giants split a doubleheader with the last-place Reds, winning the second game 4 to 2 with the aid of Mel Ott's thirty-fifth homer and a couple of walks off Allyn Stout that forced in runs. Cincinnati took the 10-inning opener 2-0 when Chick Hafey broke up a mound duel between Benny Frey and Fred Fitzsimmons with a home run.

The third-place Cubs also broke even, beating the Phillies 7 to 3 with a 12-hit attack in the opener but losing the second clash 8 to 1.

The pitching feats the league leaders saw faded out considerably when compared to Buck Newson's stunt of pitching a one-hit game for the Browns and losing it 2 to 1 to the Red Sox. The hit, a single by Roy Johnson, followed a pair of walks in the tenth inning and brought in the winning run. Two more passes, an error and a fielder's choice accounted for the earlier Boston tally.

The combined efforts of the Athletics and the Indians sent Philadelphia into sixth place in the American league standing and Washington down to seventh place. Behind Bill Dietrich's 6-hit blowing, the A's pounded out a 6-0 triumph over the White Sox while Cleveland downed the Senators twice, 5-4 and 9-6.

The Brooklyn Dodgers trounced the Pirates 9 to 4.

Coach Ingram Says Palaver About New Ball Is Just A Lot of Ballyhoo.

(This is another of a series on major college football prospects.)

BY RUSS NEWLAND, Associated Press Sports Writer.

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 19 (AP)—While his coaching colleagues are debating the merits of the new football or aguing the whys and wherefores of the various rules changes, curly Bill Ingram is building his 1934 University of California team on the premise: "Ball games are won by crossing the other fellow's goal line."

The big fellow, who won his playing spurs as a quarterback star at the U. S. Naval Academy, views "all this hue and cry" over the new ball and the rules changes as "just a lot of ballyhoo."

"I'm opposed to continual tampering with the rules but in these changes I can't see where any harm has been done," says Ingram.

"So far as I know, none of my boys has been able to distinguish between the new ball and the old one. If you put the two of them alongside each other I doubt if they could pick them out."

The object of the game remains the same, he said. "You can't win if you don't get the ball behind the other fellow's goal line. Any changes will affect my team neither more nor less than the other team."

Although he will have a third team composed of speedy players which he intends to send into games occasionally as a appetizing "new" item, Ingram does not think scores will be larger this year than before.

Beginning his fourth season at California, Ingram has what is considered the best material since he took over the reins. The Bear line, composed of veterans, is expected to equal if not exceed, any on the Pacific coast. It is heavy and powerful.

One discordant note has cropped up in the backfield harmony. After two days practice, Floyd Blower, star quarterback, took a place on the sidelines during observation for a possible recurrence of a kidney injury that halted his career part of last season.

Three complete elevens will make up the 1934 Bears variety crew. Ingram's men start off on even terms with Stanford and Southern California as co-favorites to win the Coast conference title.

The schedule: Sept. 29—Nevada and California Aggies at Berkeley. Oct. 6—College of Pacific at Berkeley.

Oct. 20—University of California at Los Angeles at Berkeley. Oct. 27—Washington at Seattle. Nov. 3—Santa Clara at Berkeley. Nov. 10—Southern California at Los Angeles. Nov. 17—Idaho at Berkeley. Nov. 24—Stanford at Berkeley.

VOLS DEFEAT PELICANS IN 17-11 FREAK

NASHVILLE SCORES 13 RUNS IN SEVENTH INNING

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 19 (AP)—"It was just a bad ball game," said Manager Larry Gilbert of the New Orleans Pelicans after yesterday's 17 to 11 mauling at the hands of the Nashville Vols, "but I remain confident that we will take the series."

Still, the 7,864 fans who saw the most weird and hair-tearing seventh inning in Southern Association history yesterday, thought it was a whale of a good ball game.

Hal Stafford of Nashville and Galehouse for New Orleans were expected to be today's pitching selections, although Galehouse doubtlessly will be wearing a worried expression and rabbit's foot to ward off the Vol voodooism that made a 13-run seventh inning possible in the first game.

The game will start at 2 p. m., with the promise of a clear sky. "It was just a bad ball game," Manager Gilbert repeated. "It was a good, tight game until the seventh. Then all the pitchers blew up. Anything could happen—and did. It wasn't good baseball."

But since Lance Richbourg used five pitchers, including Stafford, to stop the Pel 11-run attack, the Vols had a slight advantage in that department today, and if there should be another slaughter, the odds were that the Vols would be on the top-side.

The Vol victory, however, was sweet to the home-folks, and not the least of the incidental events was Grantham's sixth inning home run off Milnar's delivery. Grantham, it appears, had been struck out five times straight by Milnar, and his homer gave the Vols a 3-2 lead, since Dueker was on base at the time.

Today's game will be the last of the series here. The teams move to New Orleans for the third game of the three-out-of-five battle. The winner will play the Texas league champions in the Dixie series.

All-Negro Fight Card Is Canceled

The all-negro fight card scheduled to be held at the Pla-Mor auditorium last night was canceled because of the late arrival of Tiger Gibson of Oklahoma City who was to have met Billy McDonald of Amarillo in the main event. Gibson arrived here at 9:20 o'clock, several minutes after Promoter B. W. Kelly had called off the fight and refunded $12 more in admission money than he had taken in.

Gibson said his train did not reach Amarillo until after 7 o'clock and that he immediately left for Pampa by car. A flat tire at St. Francis caused a delay and another near White Deer made it necessary to patch a tire and caused the fighters to be late.

Promoter Kelly said this morning that he had promoted his last all-negro fight, but a number of fans doubt his decision because the negro fighters have become popular here. A large crowd was present to see the big fight.

DALLAS, Sept. 19. (AP)—The date of the second annual Texas cup golf matches, played by teams of ten of the state's outstanding amateurs and professionals, was announced today as Oct. 21.

'Arson Queen' Is Arrested in Death of Boy

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Warshovsky, Chicago's 56-year-old "arson queen," so-called because of her alleged connection with incendiaries, has confessed, authorities say, that she started a blaze that cost the life of an 11-year-old boy.

Joseph Pecori, who lived with his parents in a third floor apartment above a butcher shop, was the victim of the fire which occurred in 1928.

As a result of the reported confession, Thomas Falone, operator of the butcher shop at the time, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging murder. Attorneys Marshall Kearney, Gordon Nash and John Boyle, said they planned to seek murder indictments against Falone and Mrs. Warshovsky today.

Mrs. Warshovsky, who is a grandmother, told the prosecutors, they said, that Falone paid her $14 to start the blaze. They added that Falone collected $11,200 in insurance since which time he has expanded his business. They said he now operates five stores.

The woman's confession resulted from an investigation of arson rings recently begun by the state attorney's office.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The best rally in the stock exchange of September to date, carried many leading issues up 1 to 2 points today, and some of the volatile issues made wider gains. Buying was not aggressive, however, and market analysis generally spoke of the rally as "technical." The closing tone was strong. Sales approximated 525,000 shares.

It Costs 80.6 Cents To Produce One Barrel of Oil

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The petroleum administrative board summed up an eight months' study today with an estimate that the 1933-34 average production cost of a barrel of crude petroleum was 80.6 cents a barrel. Prices in the same period averaged only 72 cents.

The board said in a preliminary report to Secretary Ikes that the oil code boosted the production cost about 8 cents a barrel.

The cost study was authorized in the code. Oil administration officials said they expected to make no specific use of it, but that it would be invaluable should it ever be necessary to resort to price fixing. Price fixing is permitted by the code, but the administration regards it as an extreme measure to be invoked only as a last resort.

Production costs were shown to have dropped sharply below the $1.22 average which the tariff commission calculated for the 1927 to 1928 period.

The effect of operations under the code was disclosed by the board in an average of 77.5 cents for the last three months of 1933, when the code was in effect, against 69.9 cents in the first three quarters of the year.

The national average for 1931-33 was held down by relatively low costs in the flush production centers in Texas, California, and Oklahoma. Excluding the huge East Texas field, the national figure for three years would have been 87.5 cents.

Tri-State Fair Will Judge All Livestock Today

AMARILLO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Judging of dairy cattle and Duroc swine and a gathering of Panhandle Pioneer today will be features of the Tri-State fair and exposition.

Large delegations from Oklahoma are scheduled to be at the fair grounds for official "Oklahoma day." Old-timers who lived in the Panhandle and raised longhorn predecessors of the Shorthorn purebreds exhibited at the exposition will hold their annual reunion and review tales of early days.

Hereford cattle and Poland China and Hampshire hogs were judged yesterday.

Beau Stanway 2nd, junior yearling bred on the Foster Farms, Rexford, Kan., was judged grand champion bull, and Marie Domino, 3-year-old cow entered by C. M. Largent and sons, Merkel, Texas, was named grand champion female.

Seventeen exhibitors from Texas, Oklahoma, Oregon, Kansas, Missouri and Colorado entered 150 head of registered stock in the show, which was said by experts to be one of the most complete Hereford exhibitions held in the southwest in several years.

Poland China entered by B. W. Wilks, Plinview, was judged grand champion boar in that division, and an entry by Tierra Blanca Farm, Canyon, was judged champion sow. Entries from Sand Springs Farm, Sand Springs, Okla., were named grand champions in the Hampshire division.

OPPOSITION TO RAILROAD BODY IS INCREASING

EAST TEXAS OIL FIELD CONDITIONS MAY BE INVESTIGATED

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (AP)—Opposition to the Texas railroad commission as the oil and gas conservation authority flared again in the Texas legislature today as the house debated a resolution proposing investigation of conditions in the East Texas oil field by a special legislative committee.

No decision had been reached on the resolution at noon.

Nothing and is not getting done. "The railroad commission is not anywhere," Representative John Mathis Sr. of Houston asserted.

"The railroad commission has not been functioning and hasn't been able to cope with the situation. This legislature should determine if the fault is in the railroad commission, or in the laws so the next legislature can remedy the defects."

The threat of federal control of the oil industry was prominently mentioned in debate, supporters of the resolution contending the national government would assume charge of Texas oil industries unless the state acted promptly.

The resolution stated it is "a matter of common knowledge that there is a continuous, wholesale and flagrant violation of all oil production laws in the East Texas fields, which constitutes a constant menace to the entire oil industry and which will eventually lead to federal control. It has been represented that prosecuting officials of Gregg county and other counties are either refusing or failing to prosecute offenders under existing criminal statutes and are countering the most flagrant character of violations daily."

An amendment to strike out authority of the committee to institute other warrants proceedings against officials failing to do their duty was defeated.

A movement was reported under way to remove the railroad commission and replace it with a natural resources commission. Reports that Governor Miriam A. Ferguson would convene the legislature in another special session immediately to set up a new oil and gas board recurred with frequency today. One hundred and four members have pledged to support such a bill, Representative James of Cameron said. James planned to confer with the governor on the proposal.

Sheep Industry In West Texas In Evil Times

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Man's oldest industry and most primitive equivalent of wealth has fallen upon evil days in Texas. A prolonged drought seared the grass and dried up the water courses that sustained 7,500,000 sheep in the 50,000 square miles of ranges in southwest Texas. Stagnant demand or falling prices for wool climaxed one of the most difficult years ranchers in this, the premier sheep-raising state of the union, have experienced. The multiple hands of Uncle Sam, however, have reached out to save this industry, potentially more valuable than the state's vast oil pools, which dry up while sheep increase. The federal government plans to buy an unlimited number of sheep, paying $2 a head for ewes one year or older, prices far in excess of present range values.

DEMOCRATS POLL HEAVIEST VOTE IN WISCONSIN'S PRIMARY

VOTERS FAIL TO TURN OUT DESPITE PLEA

SLIGHTLY MORE THAN HALF OF ELIGIBLE VOTE IS CAST

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 19 (AP)—The democratic state ticket, strongly in support of President Roosevelt and the "new deal," apparently polled the biggest vote in the Wisconsin primary election Tuesday, leaving the new La Follette progressive party and the republicans behind at the rate of about 15 votes to a precinct.

This was indicated by returns from more than half of the state's 2,916 precincts.

Governor Albert G. Schmedeman had a heavy plurality over two opponents for the democratic gubernatorial nomination with more than half of the state reported.

On the other state tickets, Philip F. La Follette, progressive candidate for governor, and Howard T. Green, republican candidate, had substantial majorities over their opponents but fell short of meeting the democratic voting strength.

The progressives and republicans, who until this year fought their primary battles in the same party column, were running about even in their share of the balloting.

The voters themselves furnished the big surprise of the election by failing to respond to the general plea for a large turn-out. Available returns indicated that not many more than 500,000 votes were cast, compared with 900,000 in the primary of two years ago and 1,200,000 in the general election.

In the democratic senatorial race two of five candidates were running a close race for the nomination to oppose Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr., progressive candidate, and John B. Chapple, republican nominee. Neither La Follette nor Chapple had opposition.

In the democratic vote for governor 1,780 precincts gave Schmedeman 85,011; William B. Rubin, 20,648; Richard Lehmann, 4,203.

In the progressive gubernatorial race 1,628 precincts showed: Philip La Follette 76,967; Henry O. Meisel, 3,736.

In the republican contest for governor 1,973 precincts gave: Greene 46,611; former Governor Fred R. Zimmerman 30,608; James N. Tittemore, 6,586.

The vote in the democratic senatorial primary in 1,565 precincts was: John M. Callahan 26,029, Francis E. McGovern 21,505, Charles E. Ammersley 18,295, State Senator W. D. Carroll 13,544, Mrs. Gertrude Bowler 13,504.

The socialists had not contests for governor or senator. The nominees are George M. Nelson for governor and James P. Sheehan for the senate.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 19 (AP)—Democrats renominated Governor Albert G. Schmedeman in yesterday's primary.

In the democratic gubernatorial contest 2,440 precincts gave: Schmedeman 141,849; William B. Rubin, 25,359; Richard Lehmann, 12,738.

For the progressive gubernatorial nomination 2,338 precincts gave: Philip La Follette 120,425; Henry O. Meisel 6,080.

For the republican nomination for governor 2,388 precincts gave: Howard T. Greene 72,443; Fred R. Zimmerman 44,593; James N. Tittemore 9,719.

Zimmerman conceded Greene's nomination.

Senator Robert La Follette, without opposition, polled 107,438 votes in 2,519 precincts. John B. Chapple, republican senatorial nominee, also without opposition, ran along with

TIGER ISLAND

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

SYNOPSIS: Ivy Green, who with Harvey Bowers, the big game hunter, is caring for a cargo of wild animals on the way to Singapore, just has promised to marry Bowers. And then Flint, radio operator of the S. S. Boldero, follows Ivy to her cabin and tries to force her to hear his protestations of love.

Chapter 19 SIMPLE RUSE

"Who's going to know?" said Flint hoarsely. "Be a sport." She said that if he did not at once open the door she would start screaming. He had not opened the door and she had not started to scream. He was inexperienced and these gave him hope.

He advanced a short step and she drew back an equal distance and a little more to the right, a little nearer to the water bottle.

Her entire manner changed. Her eyes softened and he thought that she was going to be what he had called a sport. A good yielding sport. Her next words convinced him that this was the case. She spoke in a quick half-whisper.

"Isn't it better to bolt the door?" she asked.

It is doubtful if any man in history ever turned more quickly to the bolting of a door. But the business required two hands. The door itself had sagged on its hinges and had to be lifted by the handle, so that the bolt could be shot. The door was heavy and required a strong lift.

As Flint strained eagerly upward on the brass doorknob, Ivy swung the heavy water-bottle and brought it down with stunning concussion on the top of his head. He dropped in a heap, his fingers twitching. She recovered her sewing materials, stepped across the unconscious man, opened the cabin door and went on deck.

the republican ticket. His vote in 2,101 precincts: 90,733.

John M. Callahan held a lead over his nearest rival for the democratic senatorial nomination. The vote in 2,396 precincts gave Callahan 48,197; Francis E. McGovern, 41,783; Charles E. Hammersley, 33,448; W. D. Carroll, 24,026; Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, 21,944.

Daredevil Driver Gives Rules for Motoring Safety

Fred Frame, daredevil race driver, winner of the 1932 Memorial Day Race at Indianapolis, and winner of the Elgin National Stock Car Race, lays down eight rules for safe driving by the motorist. Fred says:

- 1—Never blunder into high speed until you know your car and the road.
- 2—When overtaking a car, safety lies in completing the operation in a few seconds.
- 3—At high speed don't run too close to the car ahead.
- 4—Keep your engine pulling around the curves.
- 5—Never apply your brakes when in a turn.
- 6—To avoid a crash, jam the gears into second gear, release the throttle and work the clutch in and out.
- 7—Drive your car at the point where it operates well. Avoid overstraining at critical times.
- 8—Use only the best tires you can buy, preferably non-skid.

"As a racing driver I am presumed to be a daredevil. True, I sometimes drive 160 miles per hour in racing cars, and more than 100 miles an hour in driving stock cars, but as racing drivers go, I am overcautious; in fact, to be overcautious is the best suggestion I can offer any motorist.

"The principles of sound driving apply equally to the tourist and to the racing driver. Odd as it may seem, I often use my horn in driving road races. When ready to pass a car ahead, I pull up as close to his tail as reasonable at the speed we are traveling, jam down the throttle, give him the horn and pull around as quickly as possible.

"Steering at high speed is one of the fine points every driver should learn. While you should never linger in passing the car ahead, there are serious dangers in running too close at high speed. If you are close and you see the road ahead and may pull out only to crash into an oncoming vehicle."

138 GEORGIA STRIKERS NOT DOWNCAST IN STATE CAMP

ATLANTA, Sept. 19 (AP)—Interned in one of the strangest prisons in the nation, 18 women and 112 men arrested by National Guardsmen for textile strike disorders commented today that "the meals are mighty fine," and some of them added: "We're not having a bad time at all."

With the possible exception of a few men who wondered what the "little woman" would say when they got back home, there didn't seem to be a downcast person in the camp today. However, they are in prison "indefinitely."

The odd prison, built overnight at the National Guard rifle range near here, requires no more of its inmates than that they cause no trouble. Meals, beds, ice water, and medical care are free, there is no work, and they are encouraged to spend their time pleasantly.

"And say," said E. N. Brown of Hogansville, "it ain't bad a-tall. The grub is a little better than I have been getting during the depression."

But S. E. Boswell, also of Hogansville, says with a grin that he and "some other boys" may have something to worry about.

He leaned on the barbed-wire fence enclosing tents and the half acre men's prison and confided:

"You see, the little woman doesn't know where I went when I left home Monday at 2 in the morning to go to Newnan for picketing. I'll bet I catch it when I get home," he said with a grin.

Not far from the men's prison is a one-story building, in a grove of pine trees, housing the women.

The girls—most of the women are under 20 years old—chat about their sweethearts, the strike, the food, which they praise—and the clothing problem.

Belle Horton, one of four sisters imprisoned, says she isn't been wondering "what to wear," but "they gave us some overalls. We'll at least have a change now. She and her sisters, said they were getting along "all right," but were a little bored with the routine of camp life.

Daily Texan to Have Telegraph Service Daily

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (AP)—With the purchase of International News Service facilities for daily wire coverage on general news, the Daily Texan, student newspaper at the University of Texas, has inaugurated a period of expansion which is expected to place it in the top ranks of college newspapers.

Another innovation of sweeping significance is Hardeman's plan to have a board of editorial advisors for the Texan, to be composed of approximately a dozen students chosen from among the various schools and colleges in the university and from the ranks of fraternity and non-fraternity men. This board Hardeman plans to use as a sort of testing group for Texan politics.

In its monthly meetings he hopes to obtain a cross-section of student opinion on the Texan's efficiency in meeting student needs for news, and to learn the reaction of the student body to the inclusion of the omission of certain news features. It is not planned to include journalism students on this board, for it is the general public opinion, and not the journalistic opinion, which Hardeman wants.

"A Woman must have had a hand in styling the new FORD V-8"

• A handy compartment for gloves and purse. • A steering ratio that makes parking decidedly easy. • Plenty of body, head, and leg room in the rear seat.

THE fact is, many women did. For this new Ford car was definitely planned to meet the needs of women, as well as men.

That's why you'll find a special compartment for your purse in the dashboard and sun-visor for your eyes. That's why interior fittings have been so tastefully designed. Why a finer grade of upholstery has been used. Why brakes act on the slightest touch of your toe. Why the steering ratio is 15 to 1 in order to make this car easier for a woman to handle.

And remember, the Ford V-8 has all the safety features modern engineering skill can devise—a V-8 Engine, Torque-Max Drive, All Steel Body, Welded Steel Spokes, Wheels, Safety Glass and many others.

Remember, too, that the Ford V-8 is the most economical car to operate. Ford has ever built. Not only that—Ford V-8 delivered prices are decidedly low.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write... to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

DALLAS, Sept. 19.—A resolution will be passed by the city council Wednesday, Sept. 26, calling an election on a $3,000,000 bond issue to raise money that will be used in enlarging and improving Fair park and to open, widen and beautify thoroughfares leading to the home of the central celebration for the Texas Centennial in 1936.

Mayor Charles E. Turner made this announcement Monday after a conference with workers in the Centennial movement at 3 p. m. and said the legal department would prepare the necessary resolutions or ordinances as quickly as possible.

To Allocate Funds. In order to decide how the $3,000,000 will be allocated between the two phases of the work, City Manager John N. Edy has called a conference for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning to gather this essential information for the legal department. Attending the meeting will be George Dahl, architect; Lawrence Miller, Dallas restorer; George Waverly Briggs, member of the Texas Centennial commission; City Director of Public Works O. H. Koch, and Assistant Director of Finance Stuart Bailey.

Full approval of the council and the park board has been given the Centennial plans and voting of the $3,000,000 in bonds is the first step in the qualification of Dallas for holding the central celebration of 100 years of freedom and independence in Texas. Other appropriate celebrations will be held in San Antonio, Houston, Brenham, Galveston, Huntsville, Nacogdoches and other spots identified with the history of the Lone Star State.

Committee on Job. Arthur L. Kramer, chairman of a special committee named to confer with city officials on the bond issue, headed the group that came to Mr. Edy's office Monday. Others were R. L. Thornton, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Dallas Centennial committee; Mr. Briggs, C. F. O'Donnell, president of the Southwestern Life Insurance company, and E. J. Kiest, president of the park board. Mayor Turner, Assistant City Attorney H. F. Kucera and Mr. Edy also attended.

The people will vote on the bond issue in two sections, officials believed Monday. One portion would care for the money to be spent in purchasing additional land for Fair park and to be spent in permanent improvements within the exposition grounds. The other section will authorize the bonds to provide money that will go for street opening and widening projects, paving and similar improvements.

To Take Care of Museum. The $3,000,000 bond issue is separate from the proposal made several weeks ago that the city issue $500,000 in bonds to build a museum of fine arts at the fair grounds as part of the Centennial plans. City officials do not contemplate at this time having to issue the additional bonds for the museum since they believe $3,000,000 will take care of everything.

Mr. Briggs said he received a letter from Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls, chairman of the Texas Centennial executive committee, indicating that a meeting of this group would be held in Dallas the latter part of this week. President Cullen F. Thomas of the Texas Centennial commission went to Austin Monday to confer with Gov. M. A. Ferguson about submitting the question of appropriate legislation on the Centennial to the special session.

MR. MOLEY VISITS. Dallas News—Professor Raymond Moley, Texas visitor at the week, submits a practical Centennial suggestion, two of these, in fact, are occasion, he thinks, ought to be made a basis for bringing to Dallas in 1936 the National Democratic convention, which will renominate Roosevelt and Garner, and at the same time, it should form attraction enough to lure the President from the White House to Dallas and Texas in 1935, if not in 1936. Old Man Texas indorses both ideas.

It is a little difficult to mix an exposition and a political convention, both events having an extraordinary character of their own. This may put an insurmountable bar to the convention plan, even if the fact that Texas has already entertained the national party within the eight-year period does not interfere. Offsetting the disadvantage is the fact that all eyes will be on Texas and Dallas in 1936 and the party could obtain a good deal of prestige by planting its political feet at a man traveled crossroad.

With or without a national convention, Texas is anxious to entertain Franklin D. Roosevelt. No State has given him more wholehearted campaign and administration support. In Texas he is among his own people, his own kind. The Moley suggestion becomes a singularly happy augury of continued union between a New Yorker with progressive ideas and a State that

Members Leaving For College Are Honored by Club

Two members who are leaving this week for college were honored when the Junior Civic Culture Club was entertained yesterday by Mrs. Ed Burch at the home of Mrs. Elmer Fite. Miss Ann Clayton, who will be a student at Texas Tech, and Miss Mary McKamey, who will enter West Texas Teachers college, were the honorees. A handkerchief shower was given them.

Refreshments were served Misses Roberta and Minnie Olive Montgomery, McKamey, Clayton, Grace New, Ethel Hamilton, and Anna Mae Gotcher. moves along with him hand in hand. Texas would be glad to receive the president earlier but stresses the point that if the occasion does not present itself before 1936, Mr. Roosevelt should keep his date book clear for his Centennial visit.

After a week in Texas, Raymond Moley can give him a pretty good idea of Lone Star hospitality. EARLY GONZALES HISTORY RECOUNTED BY EDITOR. The following interesting letter recounting some of the early history of Gonzales and the part it had in the freeing of Texas has been received from Henry Rees, editor of the Gonzales Inquirer. It was addressed to Harry Howard, chief of the publicity staff:

I have just read with much interest your recent radio message on the Centennial from a standpoint of history. The very splendid job you and your staff are doing in selling the Centennial to Texas is most commendable. Most of those who have given this great celebration any serious consideration realize that yours is the most stupendous task of the organization putting the Centennial over, for it is no small matter to satisfy and sell all the people of as large a state as Texas on any proposition.

Gonzales was among the first towns in Texas to organize a local Centennial club. Such an organization was created to promote the passage of the Centennial Amendment. Since the passage of the amendment, the organization of which I am president has not been very active. Our people were interested in the Centennial much earlier than most of the cities in Texas because we had two members on the original 100 of the Centennial and because of our part in the making of Texas' history.

That you may become more familiar with Gonzales' role in the formation of the Texas Republic, I should like to cite to you the fact that it was here that the first shot for Texas' independence against Mexico was fired on October 2, 1835, and the scene of that battle, known as the battle of Gonzales is appropriately marked. It was from Gonzales that a valiant band of citizens numbering 32 went to the aid of Colonel Travis' beleaguered forces holding the Alamo against an overwhelming army commanded by Santa Anna, there to die a hero's death when the Alamo fell, Gonzales being the only town to send reinforcements.

It was here that General Sam Houston mobilized his army and gradually retreated before Santa Anna's eastward march cleverly drawing him into the net that was his undoing, bringing about the battle of San Jacinto that brought a glorious victory to the Texas forces.

No town played a more prominent part in the early struggles of Texas that are now becoming glorious history—than did Gonzales and probably no town has within her gates more descendants of those brave pioneers than has Gonzales. Moreover the sacred dust of many of those pioneers rest here within the hallowed confines of the Old City Cemetery that dates back into the early thirties, men prominent in the Texas army, signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence and others who took a leading part in the development and upbuilding of the old republic. Others rest in private cemeteries nearby.

participation in the campaign. A total of one million glasses is expected to be reached before the campaign closes in the fall.

President Will Return to Hyde Park Residence

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 19. (AP)—Yachtsman Franklin D. Roosevelt got out his presidential clothes today to return to the summer White House at Hyde Park, N. Y., after having led a sport bent armada of spectator craft at the two most exciting international sloop races he had ever seen.

The president planned to witness at least a part of today's contest before starting the return trip of 275 miles down the coast and up the Hudson to Poughkeepsie. He will land there tomorrow morning and go immediately to Hyde Park to keep some business appointments. From the quarter deck of the Astor yacht Nourmahal which brought him here last Saturday for the first race, Mr. Roosevelt sent this message ashore by his secretary, Marvin H. McIntyre:

"Never have I seen two closer or better sailed races in any cup series."
