

Twinkles Two weeks ago, Frank Keim's coach was stolen, later to be recovered. Tuesday night we found him in our car, trying to unlock the steering wheel lock. Maybe it was the coincidence which made us laugh a bit louder than we perhaps should have done.

We acknowledge the visit of Little Miss Lorene Thompson of Borger, age 4, who sang "Shuffle Off to Buffalo" and "Old Spinning Wheel" in the best Shirley Temple style. She came over with her aunt, Mrs. Rex McIlroy, to see Old Santa.

Pampans are nothing if not generous. Toys are "pouring in" from the fire station to be repaired for distribution to poor children at Christmas.

Pranksters are writing Santa Claus letters. We have one purporting to be signed by Churchill Barrett, asking for a new wagon and a case of something forbidden, beside some toys for his "little playmates." Byard Low and somebody designated as "Mooseface" Studer. Naughty!

Now we know what is wrong with the American people. They refuse to obey our most common laws—they think they're following a parade.

Musing of the moment: Gone is much of the oldtime neighborliness. The older people rush over to see newcomers to tell the new neighbors all about everyone who is likely to say catty things about them. As with every new trend, this one has its good features. But collapse of neighborliness has made organized charities necessary.

Brevitorials

THE B. C. D. industrial planning move is more timely than one might at first suppose. It is true that no starting work is likely to be noted immediately. Industrial trends are gradual. They cannot be forced. There is no stone wall harder than the task of trying to move factories before conditions are right. But, when the right time comes, the preliminary work often determines whether a city is to grow or to decline.

THERE ARE THREE kinds of citizens at least, in every such move. There are those who say "it can't be done." There are others who think it can be done immediately and who expect great and instant results. The real city builders are like the generals who look to the final result and are not deceived by early triumphs or reverses. The new movement here is the minimum effort which should be made to assure the future stability of the community.

PAMPA HAS GROWN much, thanks to oil. It has built well, thanks to their bond issues and private expeditions. Yet the new city hall, courthouse, and paving are not evidences of economic stability, but of the faith which should through such movements as that launched last night, make stability possible. It is easy to vote a bond issue and with the money build a great edifice. But the building becomes a material asset and a monetary liability. It must be paid for. Pampa is not made stable by the courthouse. Neither is Stinnett made a city by its palatial courthouse. We must not be deceived by the material evidences of our bond issues. They serve us well—those buildings, and they impress the visitors with an appreciation of our progressiveness, but they require, rather than produce, payrolls and taxes.

PAMPA WISHES to remain a city. It must. The die is cast. There is but one direction to face—forward. Fortunately the outlook is very bright. It is bright because of two things: Oil and territorial leadership and service. Territorial leadership exists, in part, because of the assets, fine stores, good values, which the oil business makes possible. Eliminate the oil business in Gray county and you have what? Less agricultural value and livestock raising prosperity than supposed.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS INFORMED OF MASS DEPORTATION

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 6. (AP)—On top of an authoritative announcement that Yugoslavia is engaged in expelling all Hungarians who have not become Yugoslav citizens, a foreign office spokesman announced today that his government intended to settle its differences with Hungary in a peaceful manner through the League of Nations.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 6. (AP)—The Yugoslav government, it was announced today, has decided to expel all the 27,000 Hungarians now living in Yugoslavia.

The government decision means the uprooting of the entire Hungarian element in Yugoslavia. It was stated authoritatively that the expulsion will be a gradual process but will proceed relentlessly. It is estimated today that some 2,000 Hungarians already have been deported.

Austria To Let U. S. Extradite Ivan Poderjaj

VIENNA, Dec. 6. (AP)—Austria decided today to grant the United States request for extradition of Captain Ivan Poderjaj, wanted in connection with the disappearance of his bride, Agnes Tufverson, Detroit and New York attorney.

Poderjaj is charged with bigamy in New York, the grounds for the extradition. He has been a prisoner of the Austrian government for six months.

He will be handed over within a few days to Austrian police, who will take him to the German border. There German authorities will convey him to Hamburg and place him aboard an American steamer. Once aboard, American detectives will take charge of him.

I Heard...

City Manager C. L. Stine and Fire Chief Clyde Gold "sipping" coffee in a local cafe this morning. They sounded as if they were enjoying the nectar of the bean.

Makers Of Arms Accused

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—Evidence was presented to the senate munitions committee today that officers of the Remington Arms company "got busy" at Washington when a sales agent in the Chaco reported rumors of an American arms embargo were hurting business.

Previously, the committee had received evidence that the Du Pont company sent a shipment of powder to Holland in 1929 for re-shipment to China—while an embargo was in effect against sending munitions directly to China.

F. J. Monaghan, export manager for the Remington company, said he came to Washington to "see what the facts were."

He testified he came to the conclusion, as a result of his visit to the capital, that there wasn't going to be an embargo on the shipment of arms to Bolivia and Paraguay, the Chaco belligerents.

Monaghan was closely questioned about his activities by Senator Pope (D-Idaho) after a letter was read from the witness to the South American agent in 1933 saying "we immediately got busy" on the embargo question.

Testimony had been received the Remington company sold 20,000 cartridges to Bolivia during 1933 and in 1934—before shipments were embargoed by President Roosevelt on May 28.

Only 100,000 cartridges were sold to Paraguay during the same period, and he said he understood these were for non-military purposes.

H. P. Beebe, officer of Winchester Arms, said his company had sold about 2,500,000 cartridges to Bolivia during the same period and none to Paraguay.

It was brought out that Paraguay bought most of her supplies abroad.

WORLD-FAMOUS NUDIST DIES; ISLAND MYSTERY IS SOLVED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6. (AP)—Sudden death to a world-famed nudist, solution of an equatorial death mystery, and the strange disappearance of a baroness "empress" was the news flashed from one of the world's loneliest islands today by a party of Smithsonian scientists.

Capt. G. Allan Hancock, master of the exploration cruiser Velez III, found the maze of mystery, tragedy and adventure when his scientific party landed on the old convict island of Charles, 500 miles off the coast of Ecuador.

Dr. Friedrich Ritter, self-exiled Berlin philosopher and raw food faddist, who during his six years on the lonely island regarded Captain Hancock as his most intimate friend back in civilization, died from a paralytic stroke Nov. 21.

The equatorial death mystery of waterless Marchena Island where two mummified bodies were seen Nov. 17 by a tuna clipper's crew was solved by Captain Hancock to be a triple death tragedy.

He identified two of the victims as Alfred Rudolph Lorenz, former Parisian of Charles Island, and Trygve Nuggrud, Norwegian sailor of Chatham Island. The other was Nuggrud's negro boy helper, whose body has not been found.

The strange Baroness Eloise Bonquet de Wagner, who Dr. Ritter had written to Captain Hancock, held a clue to the strange drama, mysteriously left the islands July 5, with Robert Phillips. Not a word has been heard from this couple for five months.

WHITE GUARDS PUT TO DEATH WITHOUT TRIAL

NO ATTORNEYS AND NO APPEALS ARE ALLOWED

MOSCOW, Dec. 6. (AP)—A swift death to 66 "enemies" was Soviet Russia's grim counter-thrust at terrorism today as she buried the ashes of Sergei Kiroff, assassinated red leader.

The men were brought to trial in Moscow and Leningrad yesterday, speedily convicted and immediately executed. Only five of the 71 "white guards," foes of the regime, escaped a similar fate, at least temporarily. They were held for further questioning.

New "terror" decrees, invoked because of the nation's anger at Kiroff's slaying last Saturday, were carried out to the letter. There were no defense attorneys, no prosecutors—and no appeals were allowed.

A terse government announcement of the executions said 37 were put to death at Leningrad and two at Moscow.

Old Age Pension Association Is Organized Here

A Gray county chapter of the Texas Association for Old Age Pensions was organized at a meeting of nearly 100 Pampa residents last night in the district court room. Judge Newton P. Willis presided.

After John R. Smith of Borger, chairman of the West Texas division, disclosed the purposes and aims of the association, it was voted to have a Gray county chapter. J. S. Seary was elected president of the county group, with G. C. Rittenhouse as secretary.

An active Gray county organization will be perfected with C. S. Boyd and F. M. Brooks assisting the officers. Regular meetings will be held. Date of the next meeting will be announced soon, Mr. Seary said.

The Texas Association for Old Age Pensions was organized for the purpose of aiding the aged people of this state to get through organized action, the help and assistance that so far they have been unable to get through individual action.

The organization will foster legislation for old age pensions in Texas as a state proposition. It is estimated that 350,000 persons in Texas are over 60 years of age. Of this number, a large percentage are self-sustaining but there are thousands who are unable to earn their way.

MALADY TAKES 7 OF WHEELER COUNTY FAMILY

3 More Members of Wheeler Family Threatened

WHEELER, Dec. 6. (AP)—A strange malady that has claimed seven members of the A. J. Baker family in the last month today threatened to take one, and possibly three, of the four remaining members.

Funeral services were conducted here Wednesday for the last three victims to die.

Hoyle Baker, son of A. J. Baker, was the first to be afflicted, but was still alive. His wife, two sons, a daughter, two brothers and a sister have died. One son, Teddy, 3, a brother, Guy Noel, 8, and the sister, Corine, 17, died Tuesday. They were buried late yesterday.

Teddy died during his mother's funeral. Mrs. Hoyle Baker died Monday night. She was preceded in death by an infant daughter, who died November 3, and a son, Daniel Wayne, 4, who died Sunday, Melvin Baker, 14, son of A. J. Baker, died Friday.

Physicians said the disease was serbere spinal influenza, a form of meningitis which affects the spine and brain. They said it differed from regular spinal meningitis in that the infection was caused by influenza. The Baker cases were the first of the disease to be reported in Wheeler county.

A. J. Baker and Hoyle Baker and Hoyle's son, Thaman, 12, remained in a serious condition. Physicians held slight hopes for the recovery of Thaman. Mrs. A. Bentley of Canadian, daughter of A. J. Baker, was the only member of the family not affected by the disease.

The Baker home is on a farm one and a half miles northeast of Wheeler.

Ed Fisher of Amarillo transacted business in Pampa today.

SAYS TREATY SCRAPPING IS PEACE PERIL

WARNS NIPPON AGAINST RUINOUS NAVAL RACE

LONDON, Dec. 6. (AP)—In the first public statement of United States policy since the tri-power naval conversation began, Norman H. Davis, United States ambassador-at-large, said today that abandonment of the Washington and London naval treaties "would lead to conditions of insecurity, international suspicion, and competition with no real advantage to any nation."

This statement, regarded as a warning to Japan, was made before the American Correspondent's association at a luncheon.

Heretofore, all statements on the American policy have been released through a delegation spokesman.

Davis declared that "the American government stands for the continuance" of the principles of the two treaties.

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, met with Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira today and urged that the Japanese explain as soon as possible what they intended to do after they denounce the Washington-treaty.

The British foreign secretary also suggested that if the Japanese had any new proposals to make they should do so as quickly as possible. The Japanese ambassador replied that he would confer with the other members of his delegation.

Scout Library Purchased for Pampa School

Scout Executive C. A. Clark is much pleased by the fact that a complete Boy Scout library has been purchased for the Pampa high school library.

Miss Ruth Siddons, librarian, also was glad to get the books because of the many interests represented and the fact that both boys and girls can use the material with profit. There are 172 books and pamphlets.

The booklets include the instructions on scores of merit badge tests which the Scouts must pass to advance in rank. There include farming, first aid, swimming, photography, all the common vocations, dozens of hobbies, character building, woodcraft, sports, father-son relationships, and many others.

There also are booklets on Cubbing, the Scout program for boys of 9-11 years, inclusive. This is a relatively new movement, but one which, like Lone Scouting for rural boys, is making good progress in many parts of the country.

Each booklet will be mounted in a binder and placed on the shelves for general reference. The library also is receiving many biographies and other useful books. Interest in non-fiction is especially strong this year among the students.

RUSSIA ASKS FRANCE NOT TO MAKE TREATY WITH GERMANY

BY JOSEPH E. SHARKEY, Associated Press Foreign Staff. (Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press) GENEVA, Dec. 6. (AP)—Alarmed at the prospect of a close understanding between France and Germany, Soviet Russia has asked France not to conclude any special political accord with another nation pending the fate of the projected pact of Eastern European securities.

Russia was described by League of Nations sources today as fearing isolation for herself would result from any Franco-German political accord. It is understood France has agreed not to make any special bilateral political treaties without consulting Russia beforehand.

France, it was said, will continue her efforts to get both Germany and Russia into the proposed Eastern European securities convention—often called the "Eastern Locarno Pact." Such a pact, in the opinion of the French statesman who proposed it, would insure peace on Germany's eastern frontier.

YEARBOOK—SIGN OF NORMALCY

After a lapse of several years, Pampa high school will have an annual, or year book, this term. That, in itself, is a sign of better times.

The book will contain individual pictures of all the seniors and group pictures of all the other students, as well as art pictures and the usual snapshots. Every school needs a yearbook. The volumes become precious keepsakes.

In deciding to have an annual, school officials and the students determined not to ask the merchants to contribute to the expense of printing the books. This in part was because the Little Harvester annually has a commencement edition which summarizes lengthily in words as well as pictures the achievements of the closing term.

The annual has been made possible by the signature of more than 400 students on promises to buy a copy of the yearbook, which will be very reasonably priced.

The yearbook will be an ideal companion piece to the Little Harvester summarizing edition.

SOCIAL SECURITY LEGISLATION MUST BE SECURE IN ITSELF

Some kind of social security legislation seems destined to come out of the approaching session of Congress.

What we shall get will inevitably be a compromise. The difference between what everybody admits is needed and what is actually possible is very great.

Old age pensions, unemployment insurance, and the like cost money, and if we try to spend on them more than we can afford we are apt to make things worse than they were before.

The unfortunate part about such legislation, in fact, is that it is subject to two kinds of pressure.

In bad times there is a rising public demand to go much farther than is either practical or wise. One need only consider the fantastic $200-a-month schemes now being propagandized to realize this.

In good times, on the other hand, there is an influential demand that nothing at all be done, on the ground that it might rock the boat needlessly and put a crimp in prosperity.

Beset by these altering pressures, social security legislation to date has made hardly any progress at all. But this winter we are apt to have a different story. The demand is so strong, that something will almost certainly be done.

That being the case, the thing to remember is that security legislation is only part of the picture.

President Roosevelt has aptly remarked that "there can be no security for the individual in the midst of general insecurity;" and this is a warning against which all security schemes must be assayed.

Any pension and insurance scheme so ambitious that it sets off a genuine inflation of the currency would, obviously, be a sorry kind of boon for its beneficiaries. You may keep a man from disaster by giving him $50 a month—but not if your currency depreciates so fast that $50 will buy only a loaf of bread.

Similarly, a program so expensive that the taxes needed to finance it proved actively deflationary and thus postponed general business recovery, would also be a back-handed arrangement. Unless the economic machine can be made to function again, no security scheme will do very much good.

The problem confronting Congress, then, is exceedingly difficult. The demand for security legislation must be met—but there is need for great wisdom and forethought in selecting the proper means.

Washington Daybook

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—If you can take your eyes away from the New Deal fireworks a moment, let's take our hats off to Dr. Charles Armstrong.

Armstrong is one of those government scientists. You seldom hear about those fellows, though some make tremendous contributions to scientific knowledge and public welfare. As a group, they usually get it in the neck when an economy wave comes along.

The only time you ever hear of Armstrong is when he is laid low with some dangerous disease. He spends his life monkeying with death in the laboratory of the United States Public Health Service.

This time it's probably encephalitis—"sleeping sickness." His health comrades, studying his symptoms in the hospital as they work to save his life, aren't sure.

Armstrong was one of the crew rushed to St. Louis a little more than a year ago when the disease broke out there. Ever since, he has been working with the organs of encephalitis victims—and with rats and mice—in an attempt to isolate the germ to the point where it might be tamed.

So it could hardly be anything else. But the other USPHS physicians, some of whom also have contracted dread diseases before they conquered them, are puzzled by a rash on Armstrong's body which they never knew to accompany "sleeping sickness."

They speculate as to whether this may be some new form of it and, though expecting Armstrong to survive, pray that the after-effects won't unfit him for continuance of his work. He is 48 years old.

Last time it was psittacosis—"parrot fever." You may remember how scared everybody was in 1929.

Many died. Armstrong worked with flocks of parrots, shooting germs into them. In a bedlam of squawking, scratching death, he discovered the parrot fever virus.

His assistant caught the disease and died. Armstrong and nine others in the laboratory nearly died. Just in time, they were treated with serum made from a convalescent patient's blood—and it worked.

Armstrong and other convalescent patients were bled for more serum. That, along with Armstrong's subsequent achievements, licked parrot fever in the United States. Two years ago, when Mrs. Borah caught parrot fever in Idaho they bled Armstrong again and rushed the serum by airplane to save her.

Secretary Ickes has a new conception for himself. After he and Housing Administrator Moffett had been spanked by Uncle Roosevelt for what seemed like a public row between them over housing, Ickes censured correspondents for sensationalizing his "philosophizing." "You didn't call it that last week," somebody said. "I'm calling it that now!" Ickes snapped back.

Then someone asked a leading question and Ickes grinned: "I'm too old to bite on that one. I'm just a speckled trout."

By the crowds that thronged the streets for the wedding of the Duke and Duchess of Kent, any American stranger in London might have thought the event was the funeral of some racketeer.

The Duchess of Kent got nearly 1000 wedding presents, and still we'll bet she'll go out and buy things for the house.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write Texas Centennial in 1938! This is to be my celebration. In his achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

GALVESTON, Dec. 6. (Special)—When citizens of all the world come to Texas during the Centennial celebration to be held in Texas in 1936, they will see many things to prove that Texans always have been as progressive as the citizens of other states. Not the least evidence of progress will be the large percentage of telephones now in use by the population of Texas.

It is believed currently that the first telephone used in Texas was one in Galveston in 1876—the year that invention's first acceptance by the public and the year of the Centennial celebration by the United States at Philadelphia. Alexander Graham Bell had placed his invention on exhibition that year in an obscure booth of the exposition, where it received scant attention until the Emperor of Brazil investigated and talked over it. Even then the press of the United States belittled its import.

It is related, however, that Col. A. H. Belo, publisher of the Galveston News, became interested in the telephone at the exposition and purchased two of Bell's instruments. These he is said to have brought back to Galveston, placing one in his office and the other in his residence. Wires were stretched between his home and The News' building, via roof tops, fences, and trees, completing a successful hookup, according to the story.

No documentary evidence of this is readily available and Colonel Belo says nothing about it in his memoirs. However, it is certain that Colonel Belo did visit the Philadelphia Centennial, where the telephone was exhibited, and it seems historically authenticated that the first commercial use of the telephone in Texas was between the offices of The News and the Western Union in Galveston.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company in its booklet in 1926, regarding the Semi-Centennial of the telephone, asserts that the first telephone wire in Texas extended from Colonel Belo's home to the editorial rooms of the Galveston News. It credits Alexander Russell, editor of the Galveston Tribune in 1926, with making this installation.

Manager David Hall of the Western Union, according to the Galveston News, of Sept. 11, 1877, contacted his office on the evening of Sept. 10 with the Galveston News and gave a "demonstration" of the commercial uses of the new scientific marvel, the telephone.

All this, of course, was previous to the days of telephone exchanges and before switchboard equipment had been instituted. T. W. Milburn, later a resident of Dallas, was the manager of the first telephone exchange, which was opened in Galveston. Shortly afterward, the second exchange in Texas was opened in Houston with George W. Foster as manager. In 1883, Mr. Foster succeeded Mr. Milburn as manager of the Galveston exchange, which by that time had almost 300 stations. When the numbering system was adopted, telephone No. 1 in Galveston was assigned to the firm of Dealey & Son, which was credited with becoming the first regular telephone subscriber here on March 18, 1876. Mr. Dealey was the father of G. B. Dealey, president of A. H. Belo & Co., of Dallas.

BUFFALO LOST OVER MILLION ON EXPOSITION

McKINLEY SLAYING WAS CAUSE OF PART OF LOSS

This is the sixth and last of a series of news stories concerning the great exposition of the past compiled by the Associated Press because of Texas' interest in a Centennial celebration. Others have covered the exhibitions at St. Louis, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Portland, Ore. and the most successful financially of all, the recently closed Chicago Century of Progress Exposition.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 6. (AP)—The Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, May 1 to November 1, 1901, closed with liabilities in stocks and bonds of more than $2,300,000 and with $577,945 owing for contracting work, labor and supplies.

The attendance at the exposition was 8,120,048. Income was $8,869,757.20, and expenditures $9,447,702.93. The final loss to stockholders, mostly residents of Buffalo, was $1,643,203.

The financing was done through sale of stock and first and second mortgage bonds of the exposition company to the amount of $4,643,203.

Part of the loss was laid to the assassination, on September 6, of President William McKinley, while on the exposition grounds. Attendance was cut in half after the assassination.

This fact was used in going before congress after an earlier plea for funds had failed for $500,000 to be applied toward payment of the $577,945 owing on account. Congress granted that amount after the close of the exposition.

The federal government provided a $500,000 exhibit. New York state voted $350,000, the city of Buffalo $25,000 and the Buffalo Historical society $25,000 for the erection of the New York state building, the only permanent structure on the 366 acres of grounds. The classic white marble building is one of the show places of Buffalo today as the home of the historical society.

There were nine state buildings, a Porto Rican building and four by foreign countries—Canada, Mexico, Honduras and Ecuador.

The Pan-American exposition started as a small $2,000,000 proposal. Outside interest, however, was considerable, and it grew rapidly beyond the hopes and the plans of the earlier sponsors.

Throughout the summer there was a steady monthly increase in attendance and estimates placed the probable total of visitors in September and October at 5,000,000. However, after the assassination of the president many social and public events were omitted and attendance the final two months ran only slightly over 2,500,000. This resulted in a heavy loss from receipts alone.

The constitution of the state of New York prohibited the exposition sponsors from seeking payment of their claims there, and the Buffalo city charter also prevented the city from going to the aid of the persons whose money had financed the exposition.

Another Youth Is Arrested in Gorrell Slaying

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 6. (AP)—The arrest of another youth in connection with the slaying of John Gorrell, 23-year-old dental student here last week, was forecast today by officers working on the case.

Sgt. H. B. Maddux and George H. Reif, Tulsa, detectives, said that while in Kansas City yesterday they found evidence that would lead to the arrest of the son of a prominent Tulsa family. Although they did not divulge his identity or the source of the evidence, the officers said he would be charged as an accessory in the slaying for which Phil Kennamer, 19-year-old son of a federal judge, was being held on a murder charge.

At the same time Sergeant Maddux announced he was bringing Richard Oliver and Jesse Harris, roommates of the slain dental student to Tulsa because they were "afraid to stay in Kansas City."

Gorrell, student at a Kansas City dental college, was home on his Thanksgiving vacation when he was shot and killed.

The American ambassador-at-large also announced for the first time that President Roosevelt has proposed "a substantial all-around reduction in naval armaments."

Since no agreement has been reached, the envoy said in speech before the American Correspondents association "the United States strongly advocates continuing the Washington and London treaties with their assurance of 'equality of security'."

(Japanese spokesmen have served notice that Japan will denounce the Washington treaty, which gives the Far Eastern nation the smaller end of a 5-3 ratio.)

The speech was the first comprehensive public pronouncement of the American position since the tri-party discussions opened. It is considered of high significance.

The Washington conference "put an end to a ruinous naval race," he said, and established "a sound basis for peace in the Pacific and the Far East."

"Only by maintenance of the system of equality or security, with proportionate reductions downward of naval strength if possible," he declared, "can there be maintained the substantial foundation for security and peace which has thus been laid."

"Abandonment now of the principles involved, would lead to conditions of insecurity, of international suspicion, and of costly competition, with no real advantage to any nation."

Great Britain, Japan and the United States discovered at the Washington conference, he explained, that it was impossible to reach an agreement through academic discussion of a nation's naval needs or what it required to satisfy its national pride.

Through cooperation, Davis declared, the nations concerned in promoting peace in the Far East and Pacific reached agreements which "established an equilibrium of political and economic rights and made possible limitation on the basis of essential equality of security."

"No nation," he said, "attempted to impose its will on the others, but each was willing to contribute something substantial to the achievement of the ends desired."

The United States, Davis declared, voluntarily scrapped warships which would have given it naval primacy.

The essence of the Washington treaty was equality of security, Davis asserted, and an attempt to replace that principle with equality of armament would nullify that security.

"The United States favors a progressive reduction in naval armaments," he said, "in accordance with the principles established in the Washington and London treaties and, under instructions from the president, I have proposed a substantial all-around reduction in naval armaments to be effected in such a way as not to alter the relative strengths or to jeopardize the security of the participating nations as established by these treaties."

"Failing agreement upon any reduction, I have made known we would nevertheless be prepared to abide by the Washington treaty and renew the London treaty with only such modification in detail as circumstances require and as meet the whole-hearted support of the other parties thereto."

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Trench just has been acquitted of murder. He did not kill Osborne, but the trial brought out no evidence as to who did the deed. Now Nicholas has been invited by his family solicitor, Mr. Cresswell, to spend the night at his house. Nicholas' only pleasant memory of the trial is the face of a girl who attended every session.

Chapter Two
SEYMOUR'S LETTER

I shook my head. "It's frightfully kind of you," I broke in. "You've been an absolute brick all through, and I can never bring to thank you sufficiently for a quarter of what you've done."

"If you won't think me ungrateful I'd rather be alone for the next few hours. I want to get things straight in my own mind."

"Why, of course," Mr. Cresswell seated himself beside me. "You do exactly as you please, my boy. If you feel you would be better by yourself, well and good. Don't try to think too much, however. Look on it all as a wretched mistake that's finished and done with, and tomorrow or the next day, when you are quite yourself, you must come along to lunch with me and we'll have a good long talk."

I stared at him for a moment in silence. "Do you believe that people will agree with the verdict?" I asked.

"Certainly I do; at least ninety-nine out of a hundred. There are always a few fools about who like to flatter themselves that they know better than the jury, but you can take it from me that every sensible man who has followed the case will be absolutely convinced of your innocence. That reminds me—he put his hand to his breast pocket—"I've got a note for you here from your cousin."

"What—Seymour?" I inquired.

He nodded. "It was sent round to my office this morning with a covering letter. He expressed a wish that it should be handed to you before you left the court."

I slit open the envelope with a certain curiosity. Even in the midst of my own troubles I had found time to wonder more than once what sort of emotions the arrest and trial of his nearest relative had aroused in the mind of my distinguished kinsman. The note had been addressed from 3, St. James' Mansions, and was dated the previous evening.

My Dear Nicholas,

Since you will receive this as soon as you have been cleared of the appalling charge at present hanging over you, I hope to be the first to offer you my congratulations and to express the profound relief with the news of your acquittal will bring to your family and friends.

I am extremely anxious that, before you take any steps at all with regard to your future, you should give me the opportunity of offering you my advice and assistance. I shall be at home tomorrow evening from five to seven-thirty, and I trust and hope that you will come straight here directly if you are at liberty to do so.

Your affectionate cousin
Seymour Trench.

I folded up the missive and replaced it in its envelope.

"What has he got to say about it?" I asked.

"Have you seen him or talked to him?"

Mr. Cresswell hesitated. "We had an interview at my office. He wanted to know whether any money would be required in order to provide for your defense but I assured him that, as far as that side of the matter was concerned, there was no occasion to worry. I need hardly add that he was extremely agitated and—and distressed."

"Yes," I said. "I imagine that it must have upset him—quite a lot."

My companion cleared his throat. "To a man of Sir Seymour's temperament and position," he observed, "the shock was naturally a severe one. At the same time I see no reason for doubting that his concern was principally on your account. I am sure he will be prepared to do everything in his power to help and encourage you at this—this difficult juncture."

"Well, we shall see," I remarked. I put the letter in my pocket and rose to my feet.

"Goodbye, Mr. Cresswell," I said. "I'm unutterably grateful to you for all your kindness, but I feel too stupid and dazed to express myself intelligibly just at present. I'll ring you up in the morning and we'll make an appointment."

He shook his hand again. "That's the idea," he replied. "You only want a rest as I've already told you. Go home and take things easy, and in a few hours you will be looking at everything in a fresh light. Remember you have nothing to bother your head about now—nothing whatever."

We walked out together into the corridor, where we found the warder lounging against the wire netting.

"I am going to leave my client in your hands now," said Mr. Cresswell. "We should like to avoid any unnecessary fuss or publicity, so if you can see him off quietly as you suggested . . ."

"Quite easy, sir," chimed in the

Wheat Freight Rates Changed In Some Cases

SO DOES A HARE
BUDAPEST—A huntsman was shot near Kecel when a hare had fastened to his belt revolved suddenly and kicked the trigger of his gun.

His face expanded in a broad grin, and giving me a friendly grip, he swung open the door.

The first thing I did when I got outside was to search for a cigaret. It was a wonderful feeling to be at liberty again, and for a minute or two I stood motionless on the sidewalk, half-distracted with the novelty of the situation.

The entire Panhandle was embraced in the emergency area, which included 127 counties. Other sections included were the Big Bend area, and the west central Texas sector extending almost to Fort Worth and Austin.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace Tuesday announced that $2,738,000 had been appropriated for the purchase of 225,000 cattle in Texas. The program will end December 31. The cattle will be turned over to government canning plants.

McCrum, Austin, state director of surplus commodities; Tom Coble, Amarillo, president of the Texas-Southwest Livestock association; Theodore Pile, Longfellow cowman; L. W. Anderson, Reeves county rancher, and Grover B. Hill, AAA field representative, were among those attending.

No quotas by counties were announced.

WORK AGAINST FAKERS

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP)—A warning to beware of fake inspectors has been issued by the Texas state department of health. The department said reports had been received of persons falsely claiming to represent the department and making charges for inspecting food and drug establishments. "The department inspectors carry credentials to prove who they are and they make no charge for their services," the warning said.

EAST TEXANS ASK REMOVAL OF OIL CZAR

THOUSAND PERSONS AT MASS MEETING IN KILGORE

KILGORE, Dec. 6. (AP)—Removal of Secretary Harold L. Ickes as oil administrator was urged by speakers at a mass meeting attended by approximately 1,000 persons here last night.

Sam Goldman, Kilgore merchant, who presided, urged all present to send telegrams to President Roosevelt asking for Ickes' dismissal.

"President Roosevelt should be ashamed to have a man in his cabinet that would close down the industry and throw five thousand men out of work when the government is spending millions to feed the unemployed," State Senator Joe Moore of Greenville told the gathering.

A resolution, directed at Secretary Ickes, said:

"Resolved, to demand the resignation of Secretary Ickes because of his action, due to inexperience and unfamiliarity with the oil business in East Texas or willful design to suppress and destroy the independent refiners in this area."

Other speakers protested against the Thomas-Disney federal bill or similar action and declared against discriminatory enforcement of state and federal oil regulations.

Senator-Elect Joe Hill of Henderson said "East Texas welcomes enforcement but we want enforcement without discrimination. I don't believe in making fish of one section and fowl of another."

Jules Constantine, president of the Independent Refiners association of East Texas, said "To my way of thinking the days of 'hot oil' are over, and with proper and just administration in other parts of the state and country, if the system of regulation is not discriminatory, I think we can conquer this situation and operate our plants."

Charles Cope, independent producer, said in his opinion the East

Texas field is "the only one being prorated."

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount of urine burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. SPAIN AND HOLLAND MEET IN GAY COSTUME OPERETTA TO BE PRESENTED TOMORROW NIGHT

GLEE CLUBS OF JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL INVITE PUBLIC TO PROGRAM AT CITY HALL AUDITORIUM

Colorful costumes, an amusing plot, and tuneful music are promised in the operetta, My Spanish Sweetheart, to be presented by the boys' and girls' glee clubs of junior high school in city auditorium tomorrow evening at 8.

Directed by Miss Helen Martin and Emmitt Smith, the operetta has a cast of 90 students, most of them members of the two glee clubs. Misses Doris Strader and Anne Louise Jones are accompanists.

Leading roles are taken by George Guthrie, Muriel Horne, and Betty Elkins. Other principals include Hugh Anderson, Jack Cunningham, Betty Sue Price, Betty Ruth Baker, Roberta O'Hara, Lamaria Courson, Bertie Vaught, Jack and Jim Brown, and Ysleta Davis.

The scene is laid in a quaint town of Holland during a tulip festival, where a troupe of Spanish dancers and bullfighters have come to provide entertainment. Choruses of Dutch and Spanish girls and boys furnish a colorful background for the numbers.

The two clubs have been practicing several weeks on songs for the operetta, and expect a large crowd to see the performance. Admission prices are 35 and 15 cents, and proceeds will go to the art and music departments of junior high school.

ETHEL LOST QUITE A LOT OF FAT

FOOLED HER FRIENDS

"Every time I went out one of my friends would say to me, 'Why Ethel you're getting fat'—until I got tired hearing it. Now they say, 'Ethel, you sure look a lot thinner.' I have lost quite a lot of fat with Kruschen," Ethel Kerr, Frovo, Utah (Dec. 12, 1932).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at Richards Drug Co., Inc., or any drug store in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin, and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after this first jar. (Adv.)

Maury Hopkins Resigns To Go To Sooner City

FORT WORTH, Dec. 6. (AP)—Maury Hopkins has resigned as assistant general manager of the West Texas number of commerce it was learned here today.

Hopkins resignation is effective December 15. He has accepted a position with the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce, where his title probably will be that of assistant manager.

It was understood that no successor will be named for the vacancy occasioned by Hopkins' resignation from the West Texas chamber organization.

Hopkins in Wolfe City, Hopkins began his chamber of commerce work as secretary of the Floydada unit. For six years before his connection with the West Texas organization, he was secretary of the Plainview chamber of commerce.

Hopkins, a wholesale agent of the regional body four years ago, Hopkins maintained an office at Stamford for three years, moving to Fort Worth Dec. 13 of last year.

Champ Clark's Son Gets Death Merchant 'Told'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—A heated exchange between Senator Clark (D. Mo.) and Irene Du Pont was climaxed today before the senate munitions committee by an assertion from the senator that it was not necessary for the United States to get in the world war "except to protect the munitions makers' profits."

He also told Du Pont, a munitions manufacturer, that the latter was not "running this investigation."

It started when Clark contended that powder had no beneficial effect on mankind.

"Did you feel that way during the war?" Du Pont asked.

"Certainly," Clark, who served with the A. E. F., replied. "Naturally when we got in the war we needed powder, but I don't agree it was ever necessary for us to get in except to protect the munitions makers' profits."

"Do you mean," Du Pont said, "that President Wilson was dragged into the war at the instance of munitions makers? We made our profits before the United States got into the war."

"I mean," Clark said, "that the United States throughout the war and before we entered it followed a course of action of selling to the allies which set into motion a chain of events that dragged us into the war."

Garner 'Just a Country Boy' In Town, Says Texan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—"Just a country boy who has just arrived in town to look around" was Vice President John N. Garner's answer today to queries as to why he arrived in Washington so long before the session of congress.

He maintained his usual silence on public questions but said he would confer with President Roosevelt on certain matters of legislation and administration policy.

The Vice President and Mrs. Garner arrived by early train. Both said they were feeling fine.

Mr. Garner said he had not had an opportunity to look over several situations and declined to discuss the speakership contest among house democrats.

Then, asked again why he came to Washington far in advance of the next congress, he replied:

"My hunting season was over. I got my bear and there are several things here I wanted to look into."

NUDIST DIES

Shortly before she vanished, Captain Hancock reported, she drove Lorenz from Charles Island, of which she was the self-styled empress.

His plea for food and water were refused by the baroness, islanders said. Without supplies, Lorenz, Nugrud and the negro boy sailed in the Norwegian launch for Chatham island, 50 miles south of Charles.

Storms, and probably engine trouble, drove them 100 miles to the north, where their bodies were found on the barren, waterless island of Marchena.

Important pages in the tragic story were left blank by the disappearance of the empress and the death of Dr. Ritter. His mind surging with the turmoil of the isolated island where he had sought peace six years ago, the former Berlin dental student died 15 days ago.

He and his mate, Frau Dora Strauch Koerwin, who told Captain Hancock of Lorenz's exile, were the first colonists to arrive on the former penal island, once the haunt of pirates.

Three years ago the baroness arrived, bringing with her Lorenz and Phillipson, employees of her Paris gown shop. Then came trouble.

Ritter complained of the "arrogant young woman dominating dull young men." There were stories of capturing sailors, casting away a shipwrecked honeymoon couple, a wild woman parading in silk panties with a pistol dangling from her waist by a silver cord.

The Ecuadorian government investigated last January but decided the stories were grotesque exaggerations.

The body will be sent to Ozark, Ark., by the G. C. Malone Funeral home.

YUGOSLAVIA IS DRIVING PEOPLE ON TO HUNGARY

Tales of Horror Are Told by Refugees At Border

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 6. (AP)—The Hungarian government decided today to place before the League of Nations the expulsion and alleged ill-treatment of hundreds of Hungarian citizens by Yugoslavia.

Government officials are already at Szeged and other frontier stations taking testimony of refugees concerning their summary ejection and alleged mistreatment.

So apprehensive is the government, however, that the situation may lead to an open break with Yugoslavia all newspapers were instructed not to print anything about the number or condition of the refugees entering their homeland.

There has been tension between the countries since the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and the subsequent Yugoslav charge at Geneva that Hungary was involved in the crime.

SZEGED, Hungary, Dec. 6. (AP)—Long lines of Hungarian refugees ejected from Yugoslavia because of Yugoslav resentment over their countrymen's alleged complicity in the assassination of King Alexander streamed over the border into their homeland today.

Exhausted, bedraggled and dejected, they told harrowing stories of hardship. Some were barefoot, some coatless; other were sick. From some came tales of severe treatment by Yugoslav soldiery. Many related they were evicted without warning and given no time to gather their baggage and household effects or withdraw deposits from the banks.

Most of them carried their few possessions in bandanas at the end of sticks. Scores of the refugees said they had lived in Yugoslavia 30 and 40 years and had all but forgotten their native tongue.

So far 1,400 of the deportees have plodded across the border. As many more were expected tomorrow. Among today's arrivals were two 65-year-old women, leading their 86-year-old blind father, and a 4-year-old barefoot girl had lost both her parents in her flight. A young mother, arrived with the newborn babe to which she gave birth along the route.

REPEAL OF PROHIBITION

has resulted in a tremendous increase in drunken driving, according to reports of police bureaus, safety departments and similar organizations. No one knows whether this is due to people drinking more than during the prohibition era—but it is a fact that more people are drinking, and more people are behind the wheels of their cars.

A driver does not even have to be noticeably drunk to be dangerous. Investigations show that very moderate doses of alcohol produce the following effects on the average driver: Slower reactions, less uniformity in response, narrowing of the field of attention, a rise in self-assurance which breeds recklessness, and a general decline in mechanical efficiency. The change occurring may be relatively slight, but when the driver is in sole charge of a hurtling mass of metal, it becomes important indeed. A man who shows, few signs of his drinking, and is a pleasant and rational companion, may become a menace to the public in his car.

The "wets" of the country should take the drunken driver to curb the drunken driver. He is one of the worst dangers to the cause they espouse—"alcohol on the highway" is certain to be used as a potent argument for prohibition. Today, with liquor legally on sale in the bulk of states, legislation to curb drunk driving should be made even stiffer than in the past—and should be enforced to the letter. Alcohol and gasoline don't mix.

RUSSIA ASKS

to be left free to cope with the Japanese problem in the Far East.

The agreement between France and Russia was said to have been reached directly between Pierre Laval, French foreign minister, and Maxim Litvinoff, Russian foreign commissar.

From official sources, it was learned that Konstantin von Veitshagen, German foreign minister, had telephoned German Consul Krauel at Geneva, authorizing the acceptance of the dispatch of an international police force into the Saar basin territory to preserve law and order there during the plebiscite next month.

Germany's reply to the league offer of such a force, which would include British soldiers together with those of other nations, was described as "absolutely affirmative."

It was understood that the German reply expressed the hope that the military force would be limited in size and would only remain in the Saar for the necessary period.

League of Nations' leaders regard the proposed dispatch of an international army into the area of an international force for the League of Nations. It will be the first time in its history that the league will have an army at its disposal.

Experts remarked that this precedent might be followed on other occasions and that there might even be efforts to use it in such places as the Chaco Boreal in South America if preventative measures were deemed justified.

The Saar will vote January 13 as to whether it will remain under the control of the League of Nations, be annexed to France, or revert to Germany. The general opinion is that the inhabitants will vote to go back under German sovereignty, from which they were removed by the Treaty of Versailles ending the World War.

Tentative plans provide that the Saar army shall be composed of 2,000 British, 2,000 Italians, 500 Belgians, and 500 neutrals of the World War including Swedish and Dutch.

deported and the number is increasing daily.

About 300 luckless former Hungarians have found themselves without a country. This group was composed of men and women who renounced Hungarian citizenship preparatory to becoming Yugoslavs. Hungary has thrown them out and Yugoslavia will not permit them to return. They are living in three trains stranded in "no man's land" at the Hungarian-Yugoslav frontier.

Several hundred of the refugees already have reached Budapest, and the excitement here is intense. Angry threats have been uttered against Yugoslavia.

In addition to the 20 government representatives at Szeged, another commission is to be sent there tonight.

Police have been mobilized to prevent outward demonstrations and incidents likely to embroil this country further with Yugoslavia. The police are keeping an especially vigilant eye on the university students who it was feared would attempt violent manifestations against Yugoslavia.

The government itself was laboring diligently to prevent serious incidents at the Yugoslav-Hungarian border.

Refugees told listeners that the Yugoslav army was in an ugly mood. They said Hungarian residents in Yugoslavia had been pulled out of bed in the middle of the night and made to walk half-dressed to a railroad station where a train was waiting to take them to the border. In one case, it was alleged that soldiers had extinguished all the lamps in the streets so that the public could not see the half-naked Hungarians being marched to the station.

The total number of Hungarians who are to be thrown out of the country is about 27,000. Many hundreds of them already have been sent to the Hungarian border.

The official reason for the expulsion is that these persons, during the 16 years of Yugoslav sovereignty, have not seen fit to drop their allegiance to Hungary. The government does not wish that this fact be used as a basis for treaty revisions under which parts of Yugoslavia might be turned back to Hungary.

A rumor that Yugoslavia had broken off diplomatic relations with Hungary was denied indignantly by the foreign office spokesman.

EXECUTION

spared, 29 executed here and three held.

The cloak of official secrecy, applied to details of Kiroff's death, was extended to the executions. In what manner the 66 were killed and where was not revealed. It was assumed they had faced firing squads.

Property of the condemned men was confiscated. Their names were announced but none apparently was prominent in the "white armies" in civil warfare following the Bolshevik revolution, nor had they achieved prominence since.

The court said that Leninist said the convicted men there had entered the country with instructions to organize terrorism and that they came in through Finland, Latvia and Poland.

All the cases were tried separately by a military collegium of the supreme court, the communique said. The general charge of plotting terrorist acts against the government had been made against the "white guards."

Leonid Nicolief, held as Kiroff's assassin, presumably is still being questioned. He was not mentioned in the communique.

Whether any of the "white guards" was accused of complicity in Kiroff's slaying was not known. Workers have been aroused to a high pitch of indignation over the slaying of Kiroff and demanded stern action against their enemies.

Full military honors were given Kiroff, who was secretary of the party's central executive committee and a member of its political bureau. He was a military hero because his eleventh red army defeated anti-Bolshevik forces in the Caucasus in 1919.

More than 300,000 workers passed by his bier in union hall before the cremation last night.

The official announcement of the execution was brief. It said that a woman named Zinaida Bulgina was among those executed in Moscow. Just what connected her with the crime, actually committed by a discharged former Soviet employe, Leonid Nicolief, was not specified.

The list of the condemned showed a duplication of family names and middle names in three cases, indicating that brothers had been executed. All the property of those put to death was confiscated.

CABBAGE WAR

EDINBURG, Dec. 6. (AP)—Details of the burning of the Carl Brett shed at Alamo last March 13 during the "cabbage war" were related by C. A. Beach, night watchman at the shed, in the trial of A. C. Barnhart, charge with arson, here yesterday. Beach said four men came to the shed, forced him to accompany them in a motor and released him a mile away. He returned to the shed to find it in flames, he testified.

KIDNAP THREAT IS RECEIVED BY BOSTON FAMILY

Niece of American Envoy to Japan Threatened

BOSTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—A threat to kidnap Eugenie H. Grew, 17-year-old adopted daughter of Randolph Clark Grew, member of one of Boston's oldest families and a brother Joseph C. Grew, U. S. ambassador to Japan, today took heavily armed department of justice men to the Grew summer estate at Manchester.

The kidnap threat, contents of which were not disclosed, was received by Mr. Grew at midnight, Tuesday, while he was at his town house at 185 Marlborough street.

Miss Grew was at the summer estate on the North Shore with her grandmother, Mrs. William S. Jones.

Word of the threat was relayed immediately to Manchester police and department of justice men in Washington, and within minutes a squad of Boston agents was sent over the road to Manchester.

News of the threat and of the swift and elaborate precautions became known early today.

Police and federal men remained on duty throughout yesterday. Late in the day, it was reported, Miss Grew, together with her grandmother, left the summer estate and, with one of the family chauffeurs, started for Boston. A machine with department of justice agents followed closely.

The girl, however, was not at the Marlborough street home, here, late last night, nor were other members of the family, and the presence of federal and Manchester officers at the North Shore estate early today gave rise to the belief the entire Grew household had gone to the summer home.

It was reliably reported that the midnight threat Tuesday was not the first threat of such a nature to be received by Mr. Grew.

Grew married Mrs. Helen Jones Coffin in 1928 and Eugenie, daughter of Mrs. Coffin by a previous marriage, was adopted by Grew at that time.

Athlete's Foot

If your toes itch you are probably suffering with ATHLETE'S FOOT. This disease is a form of RINGWORM that is deeply imbedded in the inner layers of the skin. Blisters form that cause spreading. TECH LIVESTOCK JUDGES PLACED FIRST IN CHICAGO EXPOSITION

LUBBOCK, Dec. 6.—Leading a field of 23 teams representing colleges and universities in the United States and Canada, the senior livestock judging team of Texas Technological college placed first at the Chicago International Livestock exposition, December 1, 2, and 3. The team scored 4,385 points to lead Missouri university by 51 points, next high. Texas A. & M. college was 4,318; followed by Iowa State college, 4,296; Purdue university, 4,248; Colorado A. & M. college, 4,247; Nebraska university, 4,241; Michigan State, 4,235; Oklahoma A. & M. college, 4,223; and Kansas State college with 4,214 points. Tech's team in judging types of live stock placed seventh in cattle, sixth in horses, and first in sheep. Homer Brumley was fifth and Casey Fine eighth in individual scoring out of a field of 115 contestants. Representatives may compete only one year. Texas Tech is the only United States institution not a part of the regular federal land grant college set-up which has ever won first place. Syracuse university, the only other university which is not a part of the previously mentioned set-up which has competed in the contests, dropped out after three years and is the only other full senior college in the United States beside Tech which offers full-degree work in agriculture and not a land grant college. The outstanding trophy awarded to the winning team is the massive bronze bull, known as the Speer trophy, which becomes the property of the institution winning it three times. The team is coached by Ray C. Mowery, associate professor of animal husbandry, and is composed of Homer Brumley, Hereford; Casey Fine, Slaton; J. P. Smith, Littlefield; Henry Elder, Cuero; Lawrence Shipman, Pfluganna; and Herbert Davis, Lubbock. Mosquitoes cannot breed without water.

FOUR INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE BI-DISTRICT GAMES SCHEDULED FRIDAY

VERNON PLAYS HIGHLAND PARK ON OWN FIELD

LONGVIEW TO BE FOE OF GREENVILLE'S STATE CHAMPS

BY BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Four Texas interscholastic league bi-district football games are scheduled tomorrow. Dallas Highland Park invades Vernon; Longview plays Greenville; Corpus Christi goes to San Antonio to battle Thomas Jefferson, and Athens journeys to Corsicana.

Four Saturday games will complete the first round, and the elimination process will continue until the week of December 23, when the championship will be determined.

The 1933 Greenville Greenville Lions are strong favorites over a big Longview team. The Lions are undefeated and untied this season. Longview was defeated in district 10. Greenville boasts speed and deception. Longview features various pass formations.

An undefeated and untied Corsicana team is favored over an undefeated but tied Athens aggregation. Corsicana is versatile. Athens depends mostly on running attacks. Corsicana has better reserves. Corsicana won the 1932 championship. Athens has never advanced beyond the second round of bi-district competition.

The Corpus Christi Pirates loom a shade better than Thomas Jefferson. The Pirates swept district 16 with five consecutive wins and added further laurels by ending their schedule with an unmarred record of 10 wins. They piled up 369 points against their opponents. Strong defensive playing will be required of Thomas Jefferson ends to stop the Pirates running attack. Both teams are husky and versatile.

Ranger at Amarillo tops Saturday's slate. Big Spring at El Paso; Beaumont against Jeff Davis at Houston; and Fort Worth Masonic Home against Dallas Tech at Dallas completes the schedule.

Greenville and Corsicana are the only teams which have previously won the championship.

years. He is a powerful line plunger and a fair passer. Philip Nolan had to much opposition to make a regular berth this season, but he is expected of him next year. He is the only guard returning from the 1934 team.

BIGGEST CROWDS OF SEASON SEE NOTRE DAME AND ARMY

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—College football attendance, rebounding from the low point reached in 1932, showed continued gains in all sections of the United States in the season now nearing an end, a compilation by the Associated Press today shows.

Of 32 representative teams chosen for the survey, 24 reported gains this year over last with only 8 failing to draw more customers.

The increase was not so great as a whole, nor were any individual gains as large this year as in 1933, but it was general and not confined to any one section.

The middle west showed almost as good a gain as did the east and south—the leaders in this year's turkey parade—and only the far west showed a decline as a section. There the fall off was largely at Southern California. The Trojans, muddling through their worst season in years, drew only 223,000 fans to seven home games as compared to 400,000 to the same number in 1933.

In the east Yale, Princeton and Fordham all showed small declines but their losses were more than made up by Navy, Army, Columbia—cash in on its Rose Bowl publicity—Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania.

Notre Dame took from Southern California the honor of playing before the most fans, the South Ben Ramblers "showing" to 357,000 this year, closely followed by Army, which drew 325,000 to 10 games.

The Army had the honor of playing before the two biggest crowds 80,000 squeezing into Yankee stadium to see the loss to Notre Dame and 79,800, another sellout, watching the Navy finally beat them on the gridiron at Franklin field, Philadelphia, last Saturday.

HEREFORD TO PLAY FRIDAY AT SHAMROCK

AMARILLO TO BATTLE RANGER IN TILT SATURDAY

Pampa's faithful football delegation will have two important games to cover this week. Friday afternoon they will go to Shamrock and on Saturday afternoon they will be in Amarillo.

Shamrock will be the scene of the Class B bi-district playoff between the Shamrock Irishmen, winners of District 2, and the Hereford White-faces, victors of District 1. Amarillo will be host to the Ranger Bulldogs in a Class A bi-district battle.

Both games are scheduled to be of the nip-and-tuck variety, with Hereford having the better record in the Class B race and Amarillo taking the top position in the other contest.

Shamrock will have to battle L. B. Russell, last of the famous Russell family of Hereford, J. D. Clayton, and Mead Smith, if they hope to win a football game. Hereford's trouble will be in stopping "Big" and "Little" McIntyre, and Jackie Fields, aces of the Shamrock backfield.

The two lines are reported about even, with Hereford probably having the advantage at center and Shamrock the edge at the tackle positions. Coach J. C. Prejean of the Irishmen has been working at top speed on a defense against the terrific speed of the Hereford backfield. Coach Tom McCollum of Hereford will have to cope with the speed of Fields and "Little" McIntyre, and the plugging of "Big" McIntyre.

Both teams have versatile passing attacks which have proved disastrous to all opponents during the season. One of the best games of the season is in prospect. Game time has been set for 2:30 o'clock.

The tradition of Butler field is in danger for Saturday in Amarillo when the powerful Ranger team meets the Sandies. Game time will be 2:30 o'clock.

The Ranger attack is led by Britt, 210-pound quarterback, and Anderson, 195-pound fullback. The Ranger attack is expected to function unless the forward line leaks and lets Amarillo linemen through before they can get the Ranger back a dangerous pass attack, with Britt on the passing end.

Amarillo's Harlow and Stidger will carry the brunt of the Sandie attack against Ranger. Burkin is suffering from a knee knock-down before the game. The Ranger has a dangerous pass attack, with Britt on the passing end.

Stagg Expects To Be Coaching When He Is 80

STOCKTON, Calif., Dec. 6 (AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, 72-year-old coaching marvel, expects to be doing the same thing when he's 80.

"From the way I feel now, I expect that in 80 years I will still be active and able to run about and coach football teams," said the gridiron patriarch who now is coaching at the College of the Pacific.

"I get in a little exercise every morning. First I run and walk a mile and a half or so. Then I bat a tennis ball around a few hundred times. Then I run and walk back home."

In the meantime, it would please him if the Big Ten conference of which he once was the mastermind figure, would again permit its members to play post-season games. There is no doubt he would have derived keen pleasure in watching the power-house of Minnesota team play Stanford in the Pasadena Rose Bowl had Big Ten rules permitted the Gophers to accept an invitation.

3 Texas Stars Asked to Play On West Team

DALLAS, Dec. 6 (AP)—Three Southwest conference grid stars, two Southern Methodist Mustangs and one University of Texas Longhorn today received invitations to join the West's forces in the annual East-West all-star college charity game at San Francisco on New Year's day.

Capt. Ray Fuqua, end, and Clyde Carter, tackle of the Mustangs, accepted invitations extended by Coach Dana X. Bible of the University of Nebraska, while Behn Hilliard, running sensation of the Stagg backfield, said he would accept if his coach, Jack Chevigny, and the Texas athletic council approved. All are seniors.

Fuqua will complete his second season as Southern Methodist captain in the Washington university game Saturday at St. Louis. Carter and Hilliard were named on the Associated Press all-Southwest conference team.

Paul Will Let Brother Dizzy Do His Talking

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Dean brothers act, pitching sensation of the St. Louis Cardinals in the last baseball season, has been assured of a 1935 encore.

With Dizzy safely back in the fold—he signed a contract yesterday—President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals announced the younger brother, Paul, would be next. The announcement quieted rumors that the little brother might be set adrift by the Cardinal organization next year.

"Had Paul been in Bradenton when I was there last week I would have talked contract with him, the same as I did with Dizzy," Breadon said. "Paul was not there, though, so we'll get together later. We're in no hurry to sign him."

The Cardinal office would not disclose the financial terms of Dizzy's contract, but from Bradenton, Fla., Dizzy said he would get "between $20,000 and $26,000" for next season's work.

Last year Dizzy's contract paid him $8,500, including a bonus for signing.

The season was Paul's first with the Cardinals, and his contract for $3,000. Paul wants $12,000 next year, Dizzy says.

Paul, asked at Houston how much he wants, said he hadn't considered the matter. He explained he was "letting Dizzy do most of the talking."

Cecil Smith To Be Handicapped At Eight Goals

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—There will be no ten-goal players on the list when the United States Polo association announces its revised handicaps next month, says an article in the December issue of "Polo Magazine."

The magazine says Tommy Hitchcock and Cecil Smith will be dropped from the maximum of ten goals to nine and that Elmer Boeske, third of America's three ten-goal stars during the past season, will be reduced to eight goals. Sharing top ranking at nine goals with Hitchcock and Smith will be Winston Guest.

'GOOFY' GOMEZ LED LEAGUE IN PITCHING WINS

HE WON 26 GAMES AS AGAINST FIVE DEFEATS

BY PAUL MICKELSON, Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (AP)—Something should be done about rechristening of star ball players.

Vernon Gomez, star southpaw of the New York Yankees, is called "Goofy" but he won the American league pitching championship last season by a margin of 94 percentage points. Jerome Herman Dean of the world's championship St. Louis Cardinals, known far and wide as "Dizzy" was easily the greatest pitcher of the year in the National league.

Final official averages, released by the American league today, proved that Gomez was far from "Goofy" when he got out on the pitching hill for the Yankees. Not only did he win the most games, 26 in all as against 5 defeats, but he also had an earned run average of 2.33. He led the league with 25 complete games and hurled nine games in which the opposing team made less than five hits. He pitched the longest number of innings, 382, and topped the circuit in the art of striking out batsmen, fanning 158. His control was so good that he didn't hit a single batter.

Max Harler, Cleveland's right-hander with a roundhouse curve ranked second to Gomez in the earned run average with a mark of 2.61. But Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe was runner-up in the matter of games won and lost with a record of 24 and 8 for '34. The Detroit star, who tied the record by winning 16 consecutive games, had an earned run average of 3.45.

Lefty Grove, of the Boston Red Sox, victimized by an ailing arm, finished the season with an even record of eight victories and eight defeats. Gomez and Harler were the only ones to beat the three mark in earned runs.

Jack Russell, Washington relief pitcher, was the workhorse of the league, pitching in 54 games as against 47 by Buck Newson of the St. Louis Browns, who issued the most walks with 149. George Blaeholder, St. Louis, allowed the most hits, 276, while Milt Gaston of Chicago allowed 146 runs.

BEARDS TAKE A CUT

TORONTO—University of Toronto's beard-growing contest entries were cut to five when the temptation to attend the university follies proved too strong and a number of contestants cut off their whiskers. Originally there were 20 competitors in the contest, staged by second-year students at the school of practical science. There are only 12 more growing days.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel drowsy and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "top and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

PARADE

out to his admirers—in fact it was too big a job, and Gilmore Nunn was asked to assist him. Santa left a letter last night which said that he did a lot of checking up on the children, and that he found them well-behaved. It is likely that he will generously answer the many letters he is receiving on Christmas eve night.

City and state highway traffic officers led the parade, followed by the fire truck which cleared a path through the pushing eager mob of spectators. An automobile filled with Jaycee officials was next, then came the high school band led by Drum Major Paul Schneider and the Harvester color bearers. The Harvester pep squad, clad in uniforms, followed.

Holy Souls Float
The Holy Souls Catholic church float was the first of the floats in the parade. Again, the local church demonstrated the ingenuity, beauty and sincerity that have characterized floats entered by the church in previous parades. The church used time and money lavishly to depict the flight of Joseph, the Holy Virgin and the infant Jesus into Egypt. Joseph was costumed with amazing appropriateness, and so was Mary. They stood on each side of a saddled donkey. The scene might have been photographed, and the resulting picture would have closely resembled Biblical pictures of the flight into Egypt. The figures stood under a canopy which was beautifully painted in mauve colors. Decorations on the canopy centered around the Catholic cross. The scene vividly recalled the nativity and the persecution which was directed by Rome against the infant Savior. The Christmas theme was exemplified in this float more than any of the others.

The Girl Scouts' float which was sponsored by the Kiwanis was adorned with lettering which proclaimed that it was more "blessed to give than to receive," and which announced that "Girl Scouts all over the world are joining in playing Santa Claus" to those who need it.

Schools Predominate

Despite the excellence of the Holy Souls, Boy Scout and Girl Scout floats, the parade would have been brief had it not been for the school floats, the school bands and the marching children in the parade. All of the grade schools and the ward school were represented with floats and bands. The Sam Houston school float showed a family on Christmas eve sitting around a Christmas tree before the fire place.

The Boy Scout float was the length of two trucks. The body of the truck was covered with American flag bunting, and the bed of the truck and trailer was covered with artificial green grass. Several Scouts building a camp fire, shooting bow and arrows, and doing other things that good Scouts do, were part of the picture. Uncle Sam stood high behind Buck Talley with his hands on the youth's shoulders. The Scout emblems and shields were prominently displayed on the float.

The Baker school float showed fairies, dressed in green and red, seated at the feet of Santa, and surrounding him. The Girl Scout float carried girls dressed up in the costumes of various nations and wearing Santa masks to show that Santa and Christmas are universal.

Wilson Band Excellent

The Woodrow Wilson school band made a splendid sight. They rode high on a truck, as many as thirty boys and girls, all dressed in colorful red uniforms. Hearers highly praised their music, noting that "it was nearly as good as the high school band's." Winston Savage is director of the band. The Woodrow Wilson truck was entitled "Texas Under Six Flags." It contained six children dressed in the costumes of France, Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States. Each child held authentic flags used by the nations at the time they owned Texas. In the center of the float was a large silver star on the sides of which was drawn a map of Texas. Mrs. Annie Daniels is principal of Woodrow Wilson school. The costumes worn by the children were authentic and colorful. An interesting feature of the float was that the Mexican flag was held by a Mexican boy student in Woodrow Wilson.

The Horace Man school's float was one of the most beautiful entered. It also carried out a Christmas theme. A throne covered with glistening lint was occupied by three youngsters wearing silver crowns and robed in white. The uniformed junior police of each school marched behind each float.

Best Decorated Float

The Junior high school float was the best decorated, of all the school floats, judges said, as far as the body of the float was concerned. The engine hood and the wheels were completely covered up with attractive paper decorations. All well-decorated floats have the body of the truck completely concealed with decorations. It was said.

The Jaycee float on which Santa Claus rode was topped with a large sleigh which contained the huge hampers of candies.

All the school floats were built by teachers, assisted by pupils. H. L. Polley, chairman of the float committee, had warm and enthusiastic praise for the school system today. He pointed out that the chief cost in building the floats was the $5 the Jaycees gave to each float entrant, although each undoubtedly cost more to construct. An interesting feature of the parade was that the Baker Junior Police force was led by two pupils who carried a large framed Photograph of President Roosevelt.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. (AP)—Stock market encountered profit-taking currents today, but was generally able to hold its own. Buying interest was extremely selective, however, and most of the so-called leaders did little or nothing. Copiers, aircrafts, farm machinery and scattered specialties were the favorites in active trading. The close was a little irregular. Transfers approximated 1,400,000 shares.

Men Stand in a Pillory to Avoid Brick Pile Job

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6. (AP)—The city of Paintsville has a large pile of old bricks that need cleaning and the three men who stood in a pillory here yesterday soon will have an opportunity to work with other prisoners on them. That was the ultimatum issued today by City Attorney Clifford F. Pace as he discussed the case. He and Chief of Police Powell Williams disclosed that the three had been in jail several times before on various charges including drunkenness. They were chained to posts on a street near the jail yesterday on orders of Police Judge R. A. Fetrick after refusing to work out their fines. "We won't work out our fines as long as we live," said the three, James Price and William Dills, each 25 years old, and Oscar (Blackie) Peiphrey, 23. They remained in jail today and spoke of their experience in a light vein. Each owes the city $28.50 in fines which each said he could not pay. In lieu of fines city prisoners customarily work on the streets, getting credit at the rate of $1 a day. While in jail no credit on the fines, unless a physician's certificate shows them unable to work. The trio had no such certificates. "If the boys get away with this, why we might as well close up the police department," City Attorney Pace said today.
