U. S. Warns Japan Not To Change Chinese Customs

HULL WORRIED OVER LOSS OF CHINESE TRADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Secretary Hull, concerned for the future of China's commercial "open door," warned Japan today that the United States could not look with equanimity on any attempt to tamper with the Chinese maritime custom's system.

Acting on his instructions, American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew formally notified the Tokyo foreign office the American government would be "very much concerned" if the Japanese conquerors of Shanghai and other parts of China disturbed the integrity of the Chinese customs service.

So seriously were they beaten that Dr. C. A. Miller, county physician, said Dwyer might lose the sight of his left eye and Lorenz apparently was suffering from a semi-paralyzed right arm.

O'BRIEN MUSTANG-RICE BATTLE WILL DECIDE TITLE

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
FORT WORTH, Nov. 27 (AP)—Half-pint Davey O'Brien, the busiest man in the Southwest Conference every Saturday afternoon, beat Southern Methodist 3 to 0 with a field goal today and thereby kept Texas Christian University in the title chase.

The game was the season finale for the Horned Frogs, but if Southern Methodist can defeat Rice next Saturday at Dallas, O'Brien and his helmsmen will win the championship.

Rice defeated Baylor, 13 to 7, at Houston to hold first place and could gain the title with a victory over the Mustangs.

A homecoming crowd of 17,000 saw the game.

O'Brien's field goal, kicked from the 13-yard line after carrying the ball to the 5, came on the tail end of two furious fourth-period assaults and was his second attempt. Minutes before, Hughes, Southern Methodist tackle, broke through and blocked O'Brien's try from the 17-yard line.

Frogs Set Back

Through the second and third periods, the Horned Frogs were set back deep in their own territory because of a whistling cold wind that made ineffective O'Brien's best punting efforts.

In the fourth period, with the wind at their backs, the Frogs surged downfield scarcely impeded by a Mustang forward wall that wilted under the battering of burly T. C. U. linemen.

O'Brien picked up a first down at the 37 to start the first drive of the last period. A S. M. U. penalty, one line buck by Clark and mighty line plunging by the 153-pound O'Brien, carried the oval to the 7.

John Hall, Frog back, gave O'Brien the second opportunity with an interception on the S. M. U., 28. O'Brien passed to Clifford on the 11, sneaked to the 7 off right guard and got to the 5 on another essay at the line. From the 13, he made his second placement good.

The game was over five minutes later.

Deserts Line Play

There the drive bogged when Morrison deserted line play and passed twice over line.

O'Brien stole the show with his fine running attack and the winning field goal, but crowding him left the game with an injury in the last quarter, the Frogs made most of their goalward gains through the tackle position he had vacated.

T. C. U. made 13 first downs to the Mustangs' 9.

The line-ups:

S. M. U.	POS.	T. C. U.
Acker	LE	Looney
Phillips	LT	Hale
Sanders	LG	Roscoe
Gray	Center	Aldrich
Matthews	RG	Mayne
Sprague	RT	Williams
Ransport	RE	O'Brien
Crouch	QB	Taylor
Ewing	RB	Hall
Jackson	FB	Blackmon
Bearden	K

Score by periods: S. M. U. 0 0 0 0-0; T. C. U. 0 0 0 3-3.

Christian scoring: Field goal, O'Brien (from placement).

Substitutions—Southern Methodist: Ends, Duvell; backs, Ewing, Sprague, Aaron, Richter; center, Hawn; sidger, Patterson, Morrison, Belleville, Harlow; Texas Christian: Ends, Kline; guard, Dunlap; center, Tittle; backs, Clifford, Clark.

Officials: Kenney (Miss.) referee; Hart (Texas) umpire; Fouts (Baylor) head linesman; Frasier (Baylor) field judge.

High School Game Seen by 100,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Bill De Corvont, the nation's highest scoring football player—prep, collegiate or professional—thrilled more than 100,000 spectators in Soldier Field today by giving Austin high school a 26 to 0 victory over Leo for the city championship.

The game served as justification for 19 year old De Corvont's yards of press notices. He skipped, dodged and darted his way to three touchdowns in the 35 minutes he played.

His efforts gave him a scoring total of 204 points in nine games besides proving his speed and ability in the open.

Sandies And Coyotes To Play In Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 27 (AP)—Wichita Falls succeeded Vernon as titleholder in district 2-A football Saturday night by virtue of a decision of the district executive committee in special session here. The Coyotes will meet Amarillo next Saturday in the bi-district contest.

The committee ruling came after Quannah conceded the ineligibility of one of its players in the game with Wichita Falls Nov. 12 and erased the 7 to 0 and only defeat of the Coyotes during the season.

Jim Butler, Quannah end, was held ineligible under the eight-semester rule.

Vernon had succeeded to the crown with one defeat, 20 to 0 at the hands of the Coyotes, previously tied for second place with Olney, which held Wichita Falls to a 6-6 tie.

Under rules of bi-district games between the same schools, the Panhandle-Wichita Falls contest will be played in Coyote stadium next Saturday since the team here met Amarillo the last time (1935) at Butler field.

Panhandle And Tulia to Play Friday at 2:30

Pampa football fans are about as worked up over the Panhandle-Tulia game to be played Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Panhandle as they have been this season. Hundreds plan to see the bi-district battle.

Panhandle, starting the season with a new coach—Lefty Fowler—came along slowly until the conference season got under way and then they "went to town" defeating everything in their path and then downing Perryton for a district title. The Panthers showed their fangs when they held the Harvesters to a 13 to 0 score for their only loss of the season.

Tulia romped over Canyon to take a district title and the right to meet the Panthers for the second consecutive year in bi-district play.

Wellington is standing by waiting for a district committee to decide whether Flomont or Spur will be their opponents in a bi-district play-off next Friday.

Led by Nolan Sparks, cousin of the great Connie Sparks, and Crawford and Smith, the Panthers have proved winners. The line was green in front of the veterans but coaches have worked the two together.

BASEBALL PLAYER DIES IN GRAHAM CAR CRASH

Pampa baseball players and fans yesterday learned of the accidental death of Andy Bednar, former major league baseball player and well known here, in an automobile crash Friday night near Graham.

Bednar played several times in Pampa as a pitcher for the Eason Oilers of Enid, Okla., and the Redbirds of Seminole, Okla.

Bednar was found pinned beneath his automobile which overturned, pinning his neck in the door. He made his winter home in Graham.

He was one-time pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League and for the Fort Worth Cats in the Texas league. Last spring he had a try-out with Tulsa in the Texas league but an old arm injury kept him from making the grade.

DALLAS GRID FINALS

FORT WORTH, Nov. 27 (AP)—North Side's Steers, champions of district 7 and the Dallas district titlists, Woodrow Wilson's Wildcats, will play for entry into the Inter-scholastic League quarter-finals at Texas Christian university stadium Saturday afternoon.

Last Game in Southwest to Decide Title

DALLAS, Nov. 27 (AP)—The last game of the Southwest conference schedule—Rice vs. Southern Methodist at Dallas next Saturday—will decide the championship.

Rice clinched its part in the final drama with a 13 to 7 victory over Baylor, while Texas Christian university squeezed by S. M. U. 3 to 0, to clutch a mathematical chance.

If Rice defeats Southern Methodist, it wins the title; if the game results in a tie, Rice and Texas Christian will be deadlocked at the top, and if Southern Methodist upsets Rice, Texas Christian will be the champion.

UCLANS BEAT TIGERS

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, Los Angeles, Nov. 27 (AP)—General Kenny Washington, dusky halfback sensation of the University of California at Los Angeles, led the Bruins to a 13 to 0 victory over the road-weary Missouri Tigers today.

The Bruins' first touchdown came on a 56 yard march led by Washington.

CORDILL AND RICE WRECK BAYLOR 13-7

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
HOUSTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Sophomore Ollie Cordill, raw-boned West Texas nudger, Rice Institute closer to the Southwest Conference flag today with a pair of touchdowns that dropped Baylor 13 to 7.

Once by air and once by ground Cordill struck and Baylor, scrapping back in the dying minutes of play, couldn't overcome the work of the 185-pound halfback who finally limped out of the game to the cheers of 20,000 numbed fans.

Four times Baylor blew scoring chances, some of them within driving distance of the goal stripe and others on passes which slipped through hands numbed by icy winds that swept the field from the kickoff. But Rice, with Cordill, Doug (Scott) Sullivan and Tom (Red) Vickers slicing off the tackles, also had other chances that died within reasonable scoring distance.

On the opening kickoff Cordill almost slipped away for a score, starting from behind his goal line and carrying 60 yards in a dizzy broken field run before Patterson finally snatched him.

Patterson, Baylor's great junior quarterback, opened up with passes and runs to bring in the Baylor score. It started on the Baylor 25 when Patterson passed to Barnes for 20 yards and continued with smacks at the line by Patterson and Gernand that carried to the Rice nine, where Patterson fumbled and Rice recovered. But the touchdown was inevitable, Patterson, Gernand and Carl Brazell coming back with a surge after a Rice kick that ended when Gernand plunged over for the score. He also added the point.

BAYLOR POS. Rice: Ends, Hines; Blue, Moore; Coleman, Arthur; E. Williams, Center; Kriel, RG; Marx, RT; Houser, RE; Patterson, QB; E. Williams, LB; Braxell, RH; Mecher, FB.

Score by periods: Baylor 0 0 0 7-7; Rice 0 7 6 0-13.

Baylor scoring: Touchdown, Gernand; point after touchdown Gernand (place kick); extra point, Gernand.

Rice scoring: Touchdowns, Cordill (2); point after touchdown: Vestal.

Baylor substitutions: Ends, Wimpee, Kimbriel, Barnes; tackles, Black, Robinson; guards, Taylor, Aikin; center, Rose; backs, Wood, Evans, Linder.

Rice substitutions: Ends, Hager, Williams, Palmer; tackles, Green, Singletary; guards, Hauer, McBrayer, Hairston; centers, Frue, Husbands, Flowers; backs, Lain, Schuible, Vestal, Vickers, Coffey, Neese, Garrett.

high standard instead of coaches having to play children. Take away the eight semester rule or hike the age limit, I say. When a Texas team plays an out of state team they have to give away two or three years in age.

From downstate comes the cry, "why not play Texas teams?" To which we in the Panhandle can say, "Where are we going to get them without travelling long distances?"

The Panhandle is closer to Oklahoma and New Mexico teams than to good Texas teams. Then, District 2 and District 3 are over-crowded and it would be necessary to go far downstate to secure games and there the teams play each other in adjoining districts in non-conference games.

Pampa has gone to Port Arthur and to Greenville to secure games within the state. They have had to cut out competition with good Oklahoma teams because of the difference in age and rules of eligibility.

Something should be done to put Texas football back on its former

102,000 See Navy And Army Game; LSU Wins

By HERBERT W. BARKER
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 The east's twin football powerhouse, Pitt and Fordham, have offered a little rebuttal testimony to offset Alabama's claim to a berth in the Rose Bowl game against California at Pasadena New Year's day.

The virtual end of the campaign yesterday saw most of the glamor and tradition concentrated at Philadelphia where Army subdued Navy, 6-0, in the annual service battle but it remained for Pitt and Fordham to keep the Rose Bowl question alive.

Pitt, unbeaten and tied only by Fordham, took advantage of two fumbles to whip Duke's Blue Devils before a crowd of 40,000 at Durham while 65,000 saw Fordham, likewise unbeaten, spill New York University after more of a dog-fight than most experts had expected, 20-7.

Somewhere near 500,000 fans watched the day's fun from one coast to the other and Army-Navy duel drew the largest crowd of the season, 102,000. Army ploughing over the lone touchdown of the game in the first period, Jim Craig ploughing over from the two-yard line after two passes had picked up 37 yards.

Sid Luckman's passing, plunging and kicking enabled Columbia once more to exercise its jinx over Stanford's Indians who were lucky to quit Baker field with nothing more than a scoreless draw charged against them. Holy Cross wound up an unbeaten season by trouncing Boston College, 20-0.

In the Southern sector, Louisiana State came from behind to trip Tulane, 20-7, and finish second to undefeated Alabama in the South-eastern conference race. Georgia fought off several threats to finish in a 6-6 draw with Georgia Tech. Auburn polished off Florida, 14-0.

Mario Tonelli's 70-yard run and subsequent line plunging in the final two minutes enabled Notre Dame's fighting Irish to overcome stubborn Southern California, 13-6. Lowell English's second period field goal from the 23-yard line enabled Nebraska to trip Kansas State, 3-0, and retain the Big Six conference championship.

ST. EDWARDS LOSES

EL PASO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Sparked by hurler Kenneth Heinenman and an announcement during the game that coach Mack Saxon has just become the proud papa of twin boys, Muckers closed their season with an impressive 34-7 victory over St. Edwards' University of Austin, Texas, before more than 500 persons at Kidd field this afternoon.

FORDHAM WINS OVER VIOLETS IN 20-7 GAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Fordham's "Rose Hill to Rose Bowl" football express roared through its last way station today with a 20-7 victory over New York University, and then looked ahead for the signal from Pasadena and the post-season classic.

In mud and rain, before a crowd of 65,000, the Ram Limited was slow to wind up their nine-game schedule, tracked in the first and third periods, but once the throttle was opened, there was no stopping it.

The Rams banged over two touchdowns in the second period and added another in the fourth to ploughing over from the two-yard line after two passes had picked up 37 yards.

Paced by a classy collection of backs, particularly jarring Joe Granski who galloped 60 yards for the second touchdown, after Dom Principe pounded over to climax a forward and lateral-passing, 50-yard drive in the second period, Fordham took sweet revenge for the 7-6 beating the Violets gave the Rams a year ago.

The vaunted Fordham line gave one of the neatest defensive and offensive performances of its season. Tackle Ed Franco was all over the Violet backs, and center Alex Wojciechowicz was so outstanding he was voted the annual Madcow trophy as the top player in the game.

Although the violent Violets stymied the Fordham march throughout the first period, it was plainly evident it was only a question of

Grapplers Issue Bloody Threats

If threats could damage a person, there would be little chance of Promoter Cliff Chambers holding a wrestling card on Monday night at the Pampa Athletic arena but since they can't the little promoter will present his all star card, beginning at 8 o'clock in a warm arena despite the outside temperature.

Otto Ludwig, the big German, just can't wait to get at Cyclone Mackey, and doesn't give a hoot for Japs and he plans to put one out of the way tomorrow night.

No less bitter will be the semifinal between Tsuto Higami and Jack Hagen. The little Louisiana and doesn't give a hoot for Japs and he plans to put one out of the way tomorrow night.

A couple of other wildmen who have never even seen each other will battle in the preliminary when Dick Sampson of Bucyrus, Ohio, takes on Andy Tremaine of Phoenix, Ariz., in the preliminary.

Promoter Chambers is unable to fathom the deep dislike among the boys. None of them have ever met the other on the mat so it must be a case of nationality.

OLDS HEATER WARMS BACK SEAT DRIVERS

No longer need rear seat passengers of a car depend upon a front compartment heater to provide summer temperatures for winter motoring. Oldsmobile now has come to the aid of winter rear seat riders with a deluxe rear compartment hot water heater, especially designed to "toast the toes" of tomesau travelers.

Arranged to take up but very little space, this new Oldsmobile heater is the first hot water heater ever offered nationally for the comfort of back seat passengers. Unique is the fact that this heater directs the warm air current against the feet, instead of at the knees of the passengers.

Controlled by a variable speed switch, the unusually large fan draws cool air in through a round grille and forces the warm air out through openings at the bottom. Concealed pipes, which carry the hot water from the engine, are so arranged as not to interfere with the forward or backward movement of the front seat, to which the heater is attached.

The heater is finished in an attractive color which blends with the car upholstery and is available as optional equipment on all Oldsmobile four-door sedans. As a safety factor, wires leading to the fan motor carry a separate fuse, thus protecting the car electrical system.

Although front compartment heaters in the past have successfully raised the air temperature throughout the car, this heater directs its warm currents to the floor of the rear compartment, a place never before successfully heated. In addition, the warm air currents which rise from the heater tend to project a level heat throughout the entire automobile. The unit may be used independently or in conjunction with a front compartment heater.

'MOST BEAUTIFUL THING ON WHEELS'—NEW 1937 PONTIAC

There is an interesting parallel in construction between the Empire State building, world's tallest office structure, and the "most beautiful thing on wheels," the Pontiac.

Both use an identical product, plate glass, for the finest possible vision. Pontiac, of course, uses plate glass in laminated form for the greater protection of passengers.

Safety plate glass as used by Pontiac is superior to ordinary safety glass which is made of sheet or window glass, because it is ground and polished. The grinding and polishing is done to remove waviness and distortion, and thus helps to eliminate one of the greatest hazards faced by drivers—eye strain and fatigue, while providing better vision for passengers. The polished gleaming surface of plate glass, too, adds its measure of beauty to Pontiac. Safety plate glass is not used merely in the windshields of Pontiac cars, but in windows and ventilators as well.

Plate glass was specified for the Empire State building windows in order that the daily army of visitors might have the added advantage of superior clarity of vision to better enjoy the magnificent views from its lofty heights.

BUICK SALES HIT NEW MARK

FLINT, Mich., Nov. 27—Stimulated by automobile shows in many major cities and with the 1938 model selling program well under way, Buick sales have soared to a new all time record, it was announced today by W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager.

At the same time, output at the Buick factories in Flint and in assembly plants in Linden, N. J., and Los Angeles, was at a rate of more than 1,200 cars a day, representing an increase in original November production schedules and bringing employment and payrolls to a new high for this season. It was stated that unfilled orders at the factory and in the hands of dealers were sufficient to keep the plants operating at high levels throughout the remainder of the year.

A total of 6,776 new cars were delivered at retail in the United States during the first 10 days of November, Mr. Hufstader said, exceeding the best volume for this period in Buick history. It compared with 4,740 cars retailed during the first 10 days of the preceding month, a gain of 2,036 units or 42.9 per cent, and with 5,048 cars in the corresponding period of November, 1936, a gain of 1,728 units or 34.2 per cent.

He added that in Wayne county, (Detroit) Mich., Buick registered 348 cars in the first 12 days of the month, the third largest registrations in the county and representing 11.2 per cent of the total sales for this area. A similar position is being maintained in other large markets, he said.

Pampa Elks to Give Mardi Gras Ball Benefit on Dec. 21

A mardi gras ball for the benefit of the Pampa Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Christmas Basket Fund will be held Tuesday night, Dec. 21, at the Southern club, it was announced last night by officials of the lodge.

Each year the lodge contracts to supply a number of Christmas baskets to the homes of the city's needy families, and proceeds of the mardi gras ball will go for that purpose, according to A. J. Hindman, secretary of the fraternal order.

The entertainment will include an evening of dancing and a floor show with eight acts of vaudeville to be headlined by Billie Graham, 8-year-old boy dancing marvel, and a special appearance of Claudetta, billed as "delinquent of the dance."

The Graham boy has appeared in motion pictures with Eleanor Whitney and Louis DeFron.

Music for dancing at the benefit ball will be played by Ray Hummel's band, which gained national notoriety through mention by Robert Ripley, of "Believe It Or Not" fame. The band is made up entirely of nine members of one family.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE

Gratitude is one of the greatest traits which a man can possess, and yet men are more inclined to petition God for Blessings than to thank Him for those received. "Were there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine? There are not found that returned to give glory to God, save this stranger."—Chivers.

SHOP IN PAMPA

Soon the first rush of holiday buying will be under way in Pampa. Store windows suddenly will sparkle with the colorful trappings of Christmas. Advertising will have a gift-season dash about them. There'll be a gay secretiveness in all that surrounds us.

Our merchants are putting the best foot forward—in a delightful conspiracy we all applaud and enjoy. Christmas buying, for the next few weeks will be the common objective of all of us.

But where shall we do our buying? We make no appeal to support community stores just as a civic duty. True, money spent here goes to build purchasing power here; to help our tradesmen and clerks, and merchants. But that, perhaps, is not enough. We want the best price and the best quality; we want all our dollars can buy!

We do not quarrel with that, but we do urge that you compare price and quality, as Pampa merchants advertise them, with price and quality elsewhere. Local stores, in this day of highly efficient merchandising not only can meet the competition of larger stores in larger cities; often they can surpass it. They have smaller overhead. And you have the added satisfaction of knowing that money spent at home means a greater measure of prosperity at home. Look in the show-windows; read the advertisements; make your comparisons. Our merchants have what you want—price and quality—and gay-colored ribbons and Christmas spirit to wrap the packages in. Let's shop at home this Christmas.

VOICE YOUR OPINION!

The editor of the Pampa Daily News would like to have expressions of opinion from readers of the newspaper on burning issues of the day—local, state, national or international.

The newspaper would like to publish these letters in a special department reserved for them on the editorial page.

This does not mean that the name of the sender will be published. For the printed page, initials or a non de plume may be used.

The only stipulation that the Pampa Daily News makes is that the sender sign his real name and address for the information of the editor only. This assures the newspaper that the letter has been sent in good faith. And it will be left entirely up to the author of the letter as to whether or not the signature is to be published.

The Daily News has received several good anonymous letters within the past month or two, but they have not been published because the writers did not sign their names and addresses.

So, why not write a letter to the editor? Sign your name and address. The name will be kept secret if you express the desire that it not be published.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—A stage manager of one of the opera companies tells of two of his divas who are carrying on a feud with one another. It appears that one of his warblers, in a flirtatious mood, carried off the boy friend of the other.

He jilted one immediately favored her more successful confere with a blistering dressing-down, calling her 50 different kinds of Judas and warning her to keep out of her path thereafter. It was a ringing denunciation, replete with acrimonious invective and leaving the atmosphere quite decidedly sulphurous and blue.

Finally she ended on a note which was a masterpiece of rebellious whimsy: "And you can find someone else to lend your curling irons to after this, too!" she screamed.

William A. Brady, one of the veteran and more successful producers hereabouts, received a lot of enthusiastic comment after his talk on the radio the other night. The husband of Grace George, whose career has been as chock-full of adventure as four Sax Rohmer novels, related many exciting moments in his theatrical and sporting hey-day, such as the time he presented Helen Hayes in a play one night and managed the late Jim Corbett in a prize fight the next.

However, as he humorously recalled, his most thrilling achievement came at the age of nine. Devoted to the theater even at that age, he was seated in "peanut heaven," which means the upper balcony, one night, and from that distance succeeded in throwing a marble through the bass drum in the orchestra pit. That, he says, gave him his greatest thrill.

It isn't generally known that John Golden, another eminent producer with a fund of anecdotal reminiscences that would startle even Bob Burns, has piled the trade of a brick layer in his career. Yet, it is true. In addition to accepting packages from Irish hod carriers, he has been a lawyer, a song writer, an inventor and a comic-strip artist. His most notable achievement on Tin Pan alley was the hit, "Poor Butterfly," which he wrote in collaboration with Ray Hubble, and on another occasion he wrote a song in collaboration with Woodrow Wilson.

Professor Golden's latest contribution to the theatrical stage is one of the town's three smash hits, "Susan and God." He aims to throw four others into rehearsal between now and February.

Subway stations have long been popular as indoor retreats for homeless men, especially during winter. However, they are not warm in winter. These subterranean enclosures often are colder than the air on the street levels.

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—It seems time to tell you about Mrs. Virginia Jenckes, representative in congress from Terre Haute, Ind. She wants to go Secretary Wallace one better. She wants to "plow under" the Japanese cherry trees in Washington.

These cherry trees, which 25 years ago were presented to Mrs. Taft because she liked their floral effect, are not merely cherry trees, says Mrs. Jenckes. They are a sinister influence.

"If we Americans were alert in the maintenance of a true national defense," said Mrs. Jenckes, "we would, through proper legal action, root up every Japanese cherry tree on federal property, saw them up for fire wood and replant them with American cherry trees."

It was in an address to Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington that Mrs. Jenckes let go against the cherry trees.

Mrs. Jenckes no doubt will find many to agree with her that the Japanese cherry blossoms in Washington do not compare in beauty with American cherry blossoms. But the penetrating eye of Mrs. Jenckes sees stealth behind the beauty.

It may be deduced from Mrs. Jenckes speech that the cherry trees had a hand in persuading Lieutenant-Commander Farnsworth to sell naval secrets to Japanese agents, for which he is now serving sentence in a federal penitentiary.

"The Japanese cherry trees in Washington," she said, "have developed, through the unfriendly, deceptive activities of the agents of

Tex's Topics

Out of the thousands and thousands of readers who consume the really interesting features in the Pampa Daily News there have been only two protests over the announced intention here Wednesday that this column will be cut to the bone from now on. . . Which makes it a lot easier for us to follow the plan. . . Have you ever noticed how rumor spreads? . . . Yesterday the Daily News was swamped with calls from persons wishing to learn the identity of the man killed in an auto wreck near the Southern club the night before. . . There was a crash, but nobody was seriously hurt. . . The story got out though, and many of the queries came from persons who "had talked to a man who saw the body pulled from the wreckage."

Mickey Ledrick, back from Texas Tech for the holidays, was pleased yesterday because the Tech frosh no longer will be required to wear those silly little red hats. . . The reason—Tech won its Thanksgiving Day football game. . . It's a college tradition that if the school's griders can't make the Turkey day raffle, that freshmen must suffer by continuing to wear their funny-appearing headgear. . . Kelly, the barber, finally got a haircut for himself. . . Joe, his vice president and general manager drew the assignment. . . Tommy, the blind popcorn man, on West Foster, will not change any folding money that is of more than one dollar denomination. . . Somebody took advantage of him once, and it cost Tommy four dollars for having faith in his fellowman.

Now, that the Amarillo Golden Sandies have come out on top of the District One heap, it behooves all of us to become Amarillo fans from this point on. . . We should all be over there next week whooping it up for the Sandstorm in that game against Vernon. . . It would be nice to see Amarillo go right on through and take the state title again. . . If so, the Pampa Harvesters can lean back in their fireside chairs this winter and say, "well, we're next to the best, anyway. . . Being beaten only by the state champion (forgetting that Clovis-Pampa reserves thing) it would not be such a bad season's record. . . So, the cheering section will now give three lusty "rahs" for the Sandies—they've got what it takes. . . And, may the state schoolboy title flag wave again in the Panhandle after Christmas Day.

I still have seen no sign of that promised bear meat. . . To the man who sent the note inquiring if I wanted a violin, the answer is "no"—I went to the barbershop yesterday, smarty. . . Dr. R. Malcolm Brown shot a coyote up around Dalhart Thanksgiving day, brought the pelt back to Pampa figuring it would bring him five or six bucks. . . So far, his best offer has been 50 cents, the doctor reports. . . The name of Dr. Sam K. Broyles, of Amarillo, was inadvertently omitted from the list of out-of-town guests at that buffalo banquet the other night. . . Judging from the latest press agent's picture sent out from Hollywood, Simone Simon's name should be changed to Seymour Seymour. . . Uh-oh, I just forgot that I'm cutting this column shorter.

Allie Barnett did not attend the Berger-Pampa football game. Neither did he eat any turkey on that day. Instead, Thanksgiving was full of woe for him. Early Thursday morning he learned that a radio station announced that Bill, his brother, was killed in a car wreck at Dalhart. Allie's blood ran cold at the thought of it. He found he simply could not break the news to his mother. Then he telephoned Dalhart. Nurses at the hospital there would give him no information whatsoever. In fact they would not even answer civil questions. Later, Bill's girl could say nothing except that he was killed. Finally Allie decided to drive to Dalhart. He debated whether or not to take his mother, and finally decided he would. Junior Barnett, the younger brother, also went along. Allie told them Bill was hurt in a car wreck. When he got there he learned that the dead boy was named Burnett, that he looked like Bill, and that he and Bill went with the same girl. Bill himself was safe in Colorado. Allie, whose nerves had been strained to the breaking point all day, felt like collapsing when he learned that the poor chap was not his brother. Then he told his mother and Junior about it. It was one of the most miserable days he had ever spent.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M.D.

John Bunyan called tuberculosis "Captain of the Men of Death." It is an apt description, for even today tuberculosis is the leading cause of death in the United States among persons 15 to 45 years old. More than half of all tuberculosis deaths occur in the productive period of life (15 to 45) when a person is of the greatest economic value both to his family and to his community. Taking into consideration the loss to family and community of the earning and spending power he would have enjoyed, plus the cost of medical care, it is estimated that each tuberculosis death costs about $10,000.

There are four sectors of the enemy line on which our sustained attack on tuberculosis must now be concentrated. These are:

- (1) Male workers, who are one of the hardest-hit groups. Experience has shown that tuberculosis is nearly seven times more deadly among the unskilled industrial workers than among professional men. Here then is a field where intensive work should result in a favorable decline in the death rate.
- (2) Young women, particularly those between 15 and 25, among whom the death rate is abnormally high. In this age group the death rate is one and one-half times that for males of the same age. Here more efforts should be concentrated on case-finding, especially the use of X-ray examination for apparently healthy groups in school, college and industry.
- (3) The negro and other racial groups present a problem that cannot be ignored. Since the negro death rate is from three to six times that of the white, there is special need for intensive work in this quarter. Negro leaders have become increasingly aware of the devastating effects of tuberculosis among their people, and are offer-

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—All work and no play makes jack-for Uncle Sam, say some of the colony's best paid stars.

Keeping their incomes out of the higher tax brackets, where the cash residue from excess earnings scarcely balances in the stellar mind with a nice three month's vacation, has become a serious game with these folks. This game joins with the usual professional reason—fewer pictures bring longer screen life—to make these stars extremely choosy about the pictures they'll do.

One cause or the other, usually both, accounts for limited screen appearances of such people as Claudette Colbert, Garbo, Dietrich, Carole Lombard, William Powell, Ronald Colman, Irene Dunne.

These, under contract or on their own are "shopping" for vehicles. They'll take the ones they think you'll favor when you shop for pictures to see.

And so the producers, each trying to lure a big fish with choice bait, are shopping for vehicles—better stories, better production, bigger and better pictures to get valuable names on their respective dotted lines. Colbert commits herself to Warner Bros. for a picture, but she doesn't visit for a run-of-the-mill vehicle. She takes "Tovarich," important enough for Kay Francis to sue about. William Powell's been talking new deal with Metro, and he'll protect himself against future "Double Weddings" or I miss, Ronald Colman, elusive to producers as in private life, signed with Roach for "Fancy Free." Knowing nothing of the story, I'm content that it's pretty good—else Colman wouldn't take it. Grace Moore, with a picture to do at Columbia, skipped town—she didn't like her vehicle.

Hollywood, often described as a state of mind, or a town without boundaries, recently acquired city limits as an outgrowth of the forgotten Culver City-Hollywood name dispute.

But Hollywood is really everywhere, nowadays. Where it isn't, it goes to get what it wants.

Mme. Kirsten Flagstad, of the Met, couldn't come to Hollywood in time, so Paramount sent a set and crew to New York to get her scenes for "Big Broadcast."

The music for "100 Men and a Girl" was recorded in the east, photographed in Hollywood.

"Background crews" are everywhere, canning scenery to be shipped to Hollywood, revived through the trick process screen on Hollywood stages.

No More Legit

When M-G-M staged its first studio air show—for a food product it doesn't (or didn't) use in its own commissary—the scene was the stage of Hollywood's last stronghold of the "legitimate" theater. It was a good show to see, especially when you include such irrelevant treats as watching Jeanette MacDonald sing with her reading specs on.

ing their whole-hearted support and cooperation. Well directed efforts in this group of the population, in large cities of the north and in the south, are bound to be productive of good results.

(4) Adolescent boys and girls, particularly those in high schools. Here the use of tuberculin tests and X-rays has revealed a serious condition. We must increase our efforts in this direction because much tuberculosis in middle and late adult life can be averted by adequate measure of case-finding and treatment among this group.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. HOLLES.

A quarter of a century ago, the United States adopted the policy that piracy (legally) was profitable. We decided at that time that it was perfectly right for the government to take from an individual, because it had such power, and give him absolutely nothing in return.

At the same time, we decided it was right for certain groups to have the special privilege of combining to keep their products scarce so they could take advantage of other groups of society and make an unfair trade.

At the same time, we decided we would give another group the special right of loaning other people's wealth and giving this special group the interest on the wealth of other people.

As a result of these decisions made a quarter of a century ago, we had a temporary appearance of prosperity. However, the actual physical volume decreased as rapidly as it increased before we entered into the habit of piracy, of plain thievery.

We have now had eight years of a severe depression as a result of the people believing that it was practical for them, by the voting majority—by force—to take from one group and give nothing in return.

Most Learn Over

Centuries ago, primitive man decided it was easier to work and exchange than to steal. Westmark, in his great book, "The Origin and Development of Moral Ideals," explained how primitive man found out that stealing and thievery were too hard work. He tells how primitive man decided it was easier to buy a woman than to steal her. He learned from this that it was easier to buy other things than to steal them.

But men forget and believe they are strong and can violate natural laws and not pay the penalty. It would seem that eight years of depression and the outlook as dark as it is at the present, that it is time any sensible man would begin to look around and analyze what we did to cause this. Until we rectify these mistakes, we will continue to pay the penalty.

It seems that it is a long way, however, from rectification because both major parties and labor groups are advocating principles that are bound to mean unemployment, poverty and misery.

Have we no reason, or must we think through our stomachs?

Book A Day

—By BRUCE CATTON

Eleanor Roosevelt gave her country something of a shock five years ago by demonstrating that the President's wife could be a person in her own right and could go on living her own life despite the fact that her home happened to be in the White House.

The country looked on in a daze for a little while, and then settled back and decided that Mrs. Roosevelt was an interesting and a stimulating woman who was worth watching.

If you happened to join in that verdict, you will want to know about Mrs. Roosevelt's new book, "This Is My Story" (Harper's, $3).

The book is just what you might expect. Mrs. Roosevelt gives away no state secrets and is discretion's own self when it comes to talking about politicians and statecraft; but she is remarkably frank about everything else, and is engagingly and unassumingly candid in speaking of herself.

She says bluntly that she was something of an ugly duckling as a child, and she lets one see that she had a slightly unhappy and rather ill-guided childhood. She confesses that she was unprepared for marriage and says that when she set up housekeeping she had practically none of the housewifely accomplishments.

Her wedding, by the way, was singular. T. R. came down to give the bride away, and stole the show; bride and groom found themselves deserted right after the ceremony with everyone gathered around the President listening to him tell stories.

Mrs. Roosevelt carries her story down to 1924, and hints at a second volume to follow. I hope it is soon forthcoming; if this book is any criterion, it will be a volume well worth waiting for.

SCOUT COUNCIL WILL MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

Plans and policies for 1938 and setting of the date for the annual meeting in January will be high lights of an important business session when the executive council of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council meets Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the city commission room in the hall. President C. H. Walker will preside.

Every district in the council has been asked to send a representative group to the meeting. A change in council policy will be discussed at the meeting which will center around making each district self-supporting. In the past a few communities have carried the burden of the entire council.

A committee to nominate officers for the next year will also be named at the meeting.

"The time has come when the council must be placed on a more business like basis and that is why we desire every district in the area to be represented," President Walker said yesterday.

GUEST CLAUSE INVOLVED IN $20,000 SUITS

Two notices of dismissal of cause of action by plaintiff were filed in two cases in 31st district court, one on Friday, the other on Wednesday.

In the case for which notice was given on Friday, the suit was based upon injuries allegedly received in the same accident involved in a suit for damages filed Wednesday, styled R. L. Mounts vs. W. L. Heskek et al.

The second notice of dismissal of cause of action was filed on Wednesday also, in a case styled T. C. Grantham vs. Cleveger Brothers trucking contractors.

A coincidence of these three cases is that all three involve the guest clause, all three have the sum of $20,000 as the damages claimed in each case, and that two of the three cases are based upon injuries resulting, according to plaintiffs' petitions, from the same accident.

Two of the three cases were filed on the same day, October 20, and the same attorney represents the plaintiff in both cases, by himself in one suit, and with an associate in the other.

Notice of dismissal was filed by plaintiff Friday in the case styled John Turley vs. H. & R. Rig Co. John F. Studer was the plaintiff's attorney, and the accident, from which arose the asking of damages was the same accident as the one mentioned in plaintiff's petition in a suit filed Wednesday, styled R. L. Mounts vs. W. L. Heskek et al., in which John V. Osborne is attorney for the plaintiff.

The dismissal, according to petitions, is alleged to have occurred two miles east of White Deer, on October 12, when a car driven by W. L. Heskek was in collision with the car of A. P. Tucker, in which R. L. Mounts, plaintiff in the suit filed Wednesday, and John Turley, plaintiff in the suit in which cause of action was dismissed Friday, were guests.

In the second case in which notice of dismissal of cause of action was given by plaintiff, a case styled T. C. Grantham vs. Cleveger Brothers trucking contractors, the plaintiff was also riding in a car as a guest, in this instance of Ray Vernon.

The car in which Mr. Grantham was riding was in collision with a car owned by the trucking concern on West Foster, February 26, according to plaintiff's petition. John F. Studer and Bruce L. Parker were plaintiff's attorneys.

But he has attended thousands of Santa Days over the nation in past years, and there is really no good reason why he should not attend this Santa Day—except that maybe he's mad at the Jaycees.

Concerning Mr. Kennedy

The Roving Reporter knows for a fact that Old Santa didn't like the jokes that Clarence Kennedy, who is chairman of the Santa Day committee and whose duty it is to teach that Santa gets here, told to the teachers when the Jaycees entertained the school marms and professors. The R. R. thinks that Santa is mad at Clarence who is now a model of perfection and who looks as innocent as Cocker Spaniel.

Dick Hughes has also reformed—the R. R. hopes it isn't too late to get Santa Claus here.

Well, kiddies, the R. R. will do his best to get Santa here. On his own hook, he made Sid Patterson and Santa another message late last night. It is believed that old Santa, holed up there in the white north had his ears glued to the radio as he heard Sid broadcast: "You'll like our parade, too. It will recreate fairlyland, especially for you benefit."

Where is Santa?

It's going to be the pest parade we ever had. You can't afford to miss it. You can't disappoint 10,000 kiddies. You may be mad at the Jaycees but you can't be mad at the kiddies!

It may be that Santa Claus has not received the message. It may be that Sid can't locate him. He may be at some inaccessible (that means unreachable) place.

At any rate, the Roving Reporter has stepped into this deplorable situation, and will keep you informed every day.

The Democratic leader said he did not believe the President's letter would have "any retarding effect" on farm legislation now pending in both houses.

Senators debating the farm legislation have varied widely on their estimates of cost, with most guesses ranging between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000.

Senator McNary, the Republican leader, quoted H. R. Tolley, AAA administrator, as saying the new program would cost about $250,000,000.

Sam Houston School

Sam Houston's first, second and third grades will tell the story of The Glass Slipper, according to A. L. Patrick, principal, and the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will portray the story of the king-and-queen-of-hearts attendants.

The first grade will show The Old Woman in the Shoe, the second grade pupils will re-enact the always amazing story of the Pied Piper of Hamelin, and the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will tell the fantastic, beautiful fairy story of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

Junior high school will depict the story of the Three Little Pigs and the Little Tin Soldiers.

No rural schools have entered the parade yet. But Mr. Parker, W. B. Weathered, Claude Motley, general chairman, and other Jaycees are expecting most of the rural schools in the county to enter. They may portray any fairy story or characters of fairyland they wish.

Since then, trade authorities said, American and other foreign exporters have been able to enter the Manchurian market only with small categories of goods Japan was unable to supply.

Approximately 55 per cent of America's annual exports to China proper, amounting in 1936 to about $47,000,000, move through the Shanghai customs.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 28 (Sunday) (AP)—Japan's soldiers today pushed their conquest deeper into China's Eastern provinces while Japan's representatives in the rear tightened their hold on the communications and customs services of conquered Shanghai.

Wuhu and Kwangteh, in Anhwei province, hitherto not invaded, were objectives of rapid thrusts which threatened to isolate Nanking even before the capital could be reached by other Japanese columns and perhaps before its defenders would withdraw.

Hangchow, capital of Chekiang province, was menaced by other Japanese forces swarming through the hilly country 100 or more miles southwest of Shanghai.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Belief developments in Washington would soon be turned into concrete aid for business brought a leading issue in the stock market and leading issues advanced 1 to 2 points.

Building material, steel and other heavy industry issues led in the short Saturday session, rally reflecting Wall Street's hopes President Roosevelt's housing message to Congress Monday would open the way for revival in the construction industry.

Utilities were in demand as traders hopefully weighed the prospects of a "peace pact" between private power companies and the administration.

The usual business indices still portrayed a cloudy picture, but apparently financial circles had already discounted the recession side and were placing emphasis on prospects for an early resumption of the recovery trend.

The rally with Friday's gains wiped out most of the losses early in the week, before the Thanksgiving holiday. The Associated Press average of 49 stocks closed at 45.60, a gain of 2 points. The average a week ago was 44.3. Transfers were 1,141,250 shares compared with 1,292,100 last Saturday.

Building supply shares were particularly active throughout the session. U. S. Gypsum was up 5 points at 66 and Johns-Manville 5 1/2 at 57. American Radiator, Crane, National Gypsum and other issues in this group closed 1 to 2 or more higher.

the better Washington reports and selling pressure was extremely light.

Occasional flurries of liquidation were encountered during the session but the offerings were taken up at small setbacks.

In later trading demand became more aggressive and the market rallied until prices showed net gains of slightly more than 50 cents a bale.

December finished at 8.24, January at 8.20-bid, March at 8.25-26, May at 8.29, July at 8.30, October at 8.31, December (new) at 8.34-bid. Middling sales closed 7 points higher at 8.26 on sales of 2,629 bales.

CHICAGO WHEAT
CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP)—The wheat market today was unable to rise above Friday's close and when trading ended was unchanged to 1/2 lower.

Prices were lifted about one cent a bushel the first few minutes but this was soon lost when buying contracted. Most of the session prices fluctuated nervously in a quiet trade.

Weakness at Buenos Aires, where wheat closed 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower, lagging export business in domestic wheat and failure of Liverpool prices to reflect fully yesterday's upturn here were bearish factors. Reports of rain in the domestic southwest and forecast of additional precipitation depressed July wheat, which was the weakest of the three contracts.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/2 off compared with yesterday's finish, December 65 1/2; May 80 1/2-90; July 85 1/2-90; corn 1/2 down to 1/2 up, December 53 1/2, May 66 1/2-67; oats unchanged to 1/2 higher, December 30 1/2; rye 1/2-3/4 lower, December 65; lard 2 to 12 cents down.

MISS PERKINS AND RALPH MORRISON WED IN PRETTY CEREMONY

COUPLE WILL VISIT SOUTHERN CITIES ON TRIP

In a pretty Thanksgiving ceremony Thursday morning, Miss Wilma Perkins, daughter of Mrs. Ella Perkins of Paris, Texas, became the bride of Ralph E. Morrison, son of Mrs. Sophia Morrison of Burlington, Iowa.

The Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor of the First Baptist church, read the double ring service in the presence of members of the immediate families at the home of Tom Perkins, brother of the bride. The wedding band used by the groom, has been in the Morrison family through three generations.

A lattice arch banked with palm leaves and white chrysanthemums, from which two silver wedding bells were hanging, provided an attractive background for the ceremony. Tall baskets filled with large white mums and green fernery flanked each side of the improvised altar.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Leona Hurst, wearing a brown velvet frock with gold accessories, sang "I Love You Truly." She was accompanied by Mrs. Bob McCoy, who was dressed in cut velvet of variegated fall colors.

The bride wore an attractive ensemble of Duvenette crepe with matching accessories. Her corsage was of bride's roses and baby breath.

Mrs. Tom Perkins' dress was of brown lace and her shoulder corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums. Mrs. Charles Wooley, sister of the groom, wore dark blue chiffon velvet with a corsage of dark rose chrysanthemums.

Little Carol Jeannine Perkins carried a white satin pillow and little Eleanor Ann Perkins, another niece of the bride, carried a white basket with autumn flowers. Both girls were dressed in dainty frocks of King's blue taffeta made princess style.

After the ceremony, an informal reception was given for the members of the wedding party. A three-tiered wedding cake which was cut by the bride centered the lace covered dining table.

The couple left immediately for a short trip south and upon their return will make their home in Pampa. Mrs. Morrison's traveling suit was Wallis blue with fox collar and her velvet turban, gloves, and purse were of red cedar.

The bride, who has lived in Pampa several years, received her B. A. degree at the East Texas Teachers college.

Mr. Morrison attended school and college in Burlington, Iowa, and is now employed as a production clerk at the King Oil company.

Mrs. Montgomery Hostess to Bon Ton Bridge Club

Mrs. Robert Montgomery was hostess to the Bon Ton Bridge club in the home of Mrs. Ted White this week.

Fall flowers decorated the room in which bridge was enjoyed by the club members and one table of guests.

The award for high score went to Mrs. Max Cooper; Mrs. Ted White received the traveling prize; and Mrs. C. J. McNaughton made low score.

Guests playing were Mmes. John Shannon, Jim White, E. N. Hogan, and Skeet Roberts.

Club members attending the party were Mmes. W. B. Murphy, Irvin McClung, Cooper, White, Hugh Isbell, Carrol Wood, Albert Brannon, McNaughton, and the hostess.

Mrs. McNaughton will entertain the club on December 6 at her home, 716 East Kingsmill.

Holiday Party Given For Members of Rebekah Lodge

Entertaining the members of the Rebekah lodge number 355, Mmes. Roy Hallman, Mable Fletcher, and Georgia O. Daniels were hostesses at a party given Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Hallman.

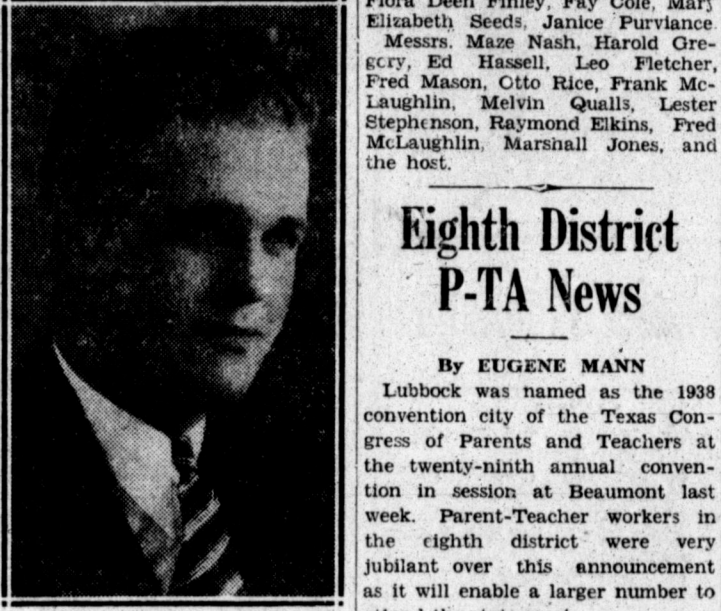

Places were laid for 40 members at a table decorated with large stalks of celery and bunches of carrots in crystal vases, pumpkins, kerechus, potatoes, onions, cabbage, green beans, and other vegetables.

Dinner and Dance Entertain Group

College students at home for the Thanksgiving holidays and several ex-students gathered at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. James Saunders Thursday for a gay evening of dancing.

Soloist

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Steverson; Misses Lillian Rice, Eugenia Johnston, Gwendolyn Bellows, Helen Draper, Betty Jo Townsend, Lois Certain, Flora Deen Finley, Fay Cole, Mary Elizabeth Seeds, Janice Purviance, Messrs. Maze Nash, Harold Gregory, Ed Hassell, Leo Fletcher, Fred Mason, Otto Rice, Frank McLaughlin, Melvin Qualls, Lester Stephenson, Raymond Elkins, Fred McLaughlin, Marshall Jones, and the host.

H. W. Miner Jr., director of music at the First Baptist church, will sing the beautiful tenor aria, "Comfort Ye, My People," from the Messiah which will be presented in the high school auditorium on December 27.

History Of Messiah Presented

All singers, who expect to take part in the presentation of the Messiah on December 29 at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium, are urged to attend the rehearsal Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

The Messiah, Handel's most successful and best-known oratorio, which was composed in twenty-four days in the year of 1741, was first performed at a concert given for charitable purposes at Dublin, Ireland on April 13, 1742, with Handel conducting the performance. The next year, on March 23, 1743, the composer again produced the Messiah at London with great applause from the vast audience.

It is said that when the famous Hallelujah chorus was rendered, the king and queen arose to their feet; the great audience arose with them and remained standing until the close of this stirring and breath taking number. From that day until today, whenever and wherever the Messiah is performed, it is customary for the audience to stand while the Hallelujah chorus is being sung.

As the centuries have passed, the Messiah has become more firmly entrenched in the hearts of all music loving people. It is today an annual event in many of the large cities of the United States. Its magnitude is so great that one cannot appreciate it or grasp its musical significance upon hearing it for the first time. Indeed, throughout the whole world, thousands of people each year return again and again to hear this, the greatest of oratorios.

It is conceded that the vocal difficulty involved in the presentation of the Messiah is a great one; it is rarely attempted even in the larger cities where there is a large field from which to draw talent. Our city, therefore, should be justly proud of the fact that the combined choirs have both the courage and the ability to put on a musical production of the magnitude and scope of this oratorio.

The Messiah will be presented by the combined choirs of Pampa under the direction of Lester Aldrich. Those who need books for this fourth annual presentation may get them at the Tarpley Music store.

Missionary to China Will Speak Here on Wednesday Evening

The Rev. R. J. Snell, minister-in-charge of St. Matthew's mission at 707 West Browning, has announced that Professor A. J. Allen of Central China, Wuchang will speak to the members of the Episcopal church and any others who care to hear this address on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Parish hall.

Professor Allen is sent out from the speakers bureau of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal church to acquaint the churches of the district of north Texas with one of their mission fields. Pampa is his first speaking engagement and he will go from here to Clarendon and on through the district.

Central China college is the jointly managed college of the Episcopal church and other denominations in the city of Wuchang, which is one of three adjoining cities in the province of Hankow with a population of over one million. In these three centers of population the Episcopal church has several thriving churches and is carrying on both educational and medical work through its college, boys' and girl's schools, and hospital.

As a resident and worker of Wuchang, Professor Allen will be able to depict graphically not only the work of the church but the great difficulties of carrying on in a field which has been overrun with bandits and communist agitators and now is threatened by the Japanese invasion of the neighboring province of Shanghai. The province of Hankow has a total population of 45 million people.

After Professor Allen's talk, an opportunity will be given to ask any questions that may come to mind.

To keep rice flaky during cooking do not stir or cook it in quantities of boiling water. After it has been boiled the rice should be drained, rinsed in hot water and "dried off" for five minutes in a moderate oven. It may then be served as a vegetable, a dessert or combined with other foods.

Courtroom Setting For Three Of Week's Films

TREATMENT OF THEME VARIED IN EACH PLAY

Photoplays that have a courtroom background are featured in three films on this week's programs at Pampa's theaters. At the Crown today, tomorrow, and Tuesday is showing Republic's film version of the Faith Baldwin novel, "Portia on Trial," at the LaNora Wednesday, Warner Brothers' "They Won't Forget," and Will Rogers is seen as the Kentucky judge in "Judge Priest" Twentieth Century-Fox filming of the Irvin S. Cobb story, at the Rex Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

While the courtroom is perhaps only incidental in the Will Rogers picture, it does reflect something of the law as it was practiced in Kentucky after the Civil War.

"They Won't Forget" is a dramatic attack on sectional prejudice that often results in sending an innocent man to death at the hands of lynchers. It's an adaptation of Ward Greene's sensational love novel, "Death in the Deep South."

In this picture, as in others presented by the same company, a present day social problem is vividly and significantly brought forth on the screen.

The Crown picture brings a fresh angle on courtroom theme pictures. The film, "Portia on Trial," adapted from the Faith Baldwin novel, is a soul-stirring mother and son story, with Frieda Inescort as the brilliant woman barrister who defends a young girl accused of murder under tense dramatic circumstances—the murder victim being the man she once loved and who wronged her the prosecuting attorney being a man she now loves.

Walter Abel, Heather Angel, Neil Hamilton, Ruth Donnelly, and Barbara Pepper, are included in the cast of this picture, which is directed by George Nichols Jr., whose successes include "The Covered Wagon," "The Silver Cord," "Anne of Green Gables," "The Soldier and the Lady," "The Return of Peter Grimm" and others, with Republic's "Portia on Trial."

DOUBLE AT REX.
A double program is scheduled today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the Rex. In addition to the Will Rogers picture, "Judge Priest," the Rex is also showing Wheeler and Woolsey, Lupe Velez, and Marjorie Lord in "High Flyers."

LANORA HAS CLASSIC.
Johanna Spyri's famous story of the life of the people of the Swiss Alps is depicted in Twentieth Century-Fox's film of the same name, "Heidi," with Shirley Temple in the title role. Jean Hersholt, Arthur and Helen Westley head the cast. The picture is showing today, Monday, and Tuesday at the LaNora.

FAULKNER SEA STORY.
The author of "Pylon" and "Sanctuary" wrote the story of "Slave Ship," Twentieth Century-Fox sea drama, with Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery as co-stars. Faulkner based his story on a novel by George S. King, "The Last Slave," which deals with the last voyage of a slave running schooner in the early 1800's. The picture required

In Johanna Spyri Story

Shirley Temple takes the title role in "Heidi," Twentieth Century-Fox film showing at the LaNora, today, tomorrow, and Tuesday.

On Rex's Double Program

two years to make. Directed by Tay Garnett. Showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the LaNora.

COMEDY.
For those fans who prefer hilarious comedy or pictures with an up-to-the-minute setting, full of wisecracks and mirth-provoking situations, there is the Twentieth Century-Fox film "Life Begins in College," featuring the merrymaniacs, the Ritz Brothers; showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the LaNora; "Ever Since Eve," Wednesday and Thursday at the State, featuring

Bob Montgomery; and another of Clarence Budington Kelland's stories about tuba-playing Mr. Dodd, only this time he's a radio singer in "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air," starring Kenny Baker, and showing also at the State, on Friday.

MODERN ADVENTURE.
A sort of modern counterpart to the adventure provided in the sea story of the 1800's is "West of Shanghai," a Warner Brothers presentation showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Rex. Boris Karloff has the role of General Wu Yen Fang, mighty war lord, in this story about Americans held captive in Chinese war zones.

BUCK AND BOB.
Buck Jones appears on the Rex screen Friday and Saturday in a story about Alamo Bowle (Buck Jones) as a range rider who stamps out desperadoes who threaten to take over the mining town of Tombstone, Ariz. The picture is entitled "Law For Tombstone." It's at Universal.

At the Crown on the same dates appears Bob Steele in the picture "The Lone Rider."

LaNORA

SWISS ALPS.
Shirley Temple has the title role in Twentieth Century-Fox's film version of Johanna Spyri's classic, "Heidi," a story of the Swiss Alps and its colorful people. Veteran Actor Jean Hersholt heads the cast. Other leading roles are played by Arthur Treacher, Helen Westley, Pauline Moore, Thomas Beck, Mary Nash, Sidney Blackmer, Mady Christians and Sig Rumann.

PREJUDICE.
A terrific indictment against prejudice is contained in "They Won't Forget," Warner Brothers release of the First National picture adapted from Ward Greene's best seller, "Death in the Deep South."

"They Won't Forget" is scorching drama of murder, prejudice and mob hatred. The story centers around the Northern school teacher, Robert Hale, accused of killing one of his young Southern pupils, Edward Norris is cast as Hale, Claude Rains as a Southern district attorney.

Gloria Dickson, Otto Kruger, Allyn Joslyn, and Lana Turner are among the principals in the cast. Screen play by Robert Rossen and Aben Kandel. Produced and directed by Mervyn LeRoy, who was the producer of "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," "Little Caesar" and "Anthony Adverse."

RITZY COLLEGIANS.
The daffy Ritz brothers go college in Twentieth Century-Fox's comedy, "Life Begins in College," a jamboree of giddy gags, girls, and frenzied football. Featuring Joan Davis, Tony Martin, and Gloria Stuart. The comedy-mad Ritz brothers work their way through college in a cleaning and pressing shop.

10 INSPECTORS ADDED TO CHECK BOLL WORMS

AUSTIN, Nov. 27 (AP)—The State Agriculture Department today ordered 10 additional inspectors into plains counties to prevent spread of pink boll worm infestation.

J. M. Del Curto, entomologist, said cotton growers and peace officers in adjacent counties, now free of pests, had requested more men for patrolling roads.

He said all seed produced in Winkler, Crane, Upton, Ector, Midland, Glasscock, Howard, Martin, Andrews, Dawson, Terry, Gaines, Yoakum, Cochran, Hockley, Lamb and Baylor counties must be sent to designated mills properly qualified to sterilize it.

Due to the best crop in history in the plains region there was a tendency to smuggle some seed into adjacent counties, he said, exposing them to possible infestation by the worst of cotton pests.

Although the infestation is light, the department has decided to throw all its resources into an attempt to check its spread, he explained.

By OREN ARNOLD, Copyright 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday: Exploration of the ancient pueblos begins. And for Bob and Mary Melissa romance begins, too. Bob had called her by her pet name!

CHAPTER IX

SMALL logs had been used in building the ceilings of Defiance Castle. Most of them had crumbled and rotted, but Dr. Barry was able to get a fairly solid cross section of one. He studied it intently. "As near as I can tell, studying the rings with this pocket glass, this thing dates back about 1200 years," he told the others. "We'll take it in for detailed analysis."

"It all seems sort of sacred, doesn't it," Lissa was impressed with the old clan house and fortress. "Just imagine the people that were once here, the busy days, the happiness, and everything!"

"Twelve hundred years! That would be nearly 800 years before Columbus discovered America. What manner of men could have inhabited the arid Southwest then? What language had they? What dress, customs, manners? What color? Whence came they, and where did they go?"

Archaeology may be a "dead" science from the schoolroom viewpoint; it may lack adventure in the field. Even Hades Jones and the muscular Holliman, uneducated in the scholastic sense, felt the spell of exploration and help of the preliminary measurements and surveys. No actual digging was attempted the first day, but when the party descended toward nightfall, everyone was fatigued.

Scott Holliman, remembering his bargain with Honey Bee, made an opportunity to begin his love campaign. He stayed near Mary Melissa on the walk to camp, managed to separate the two of them from the others.

"Well, Lissa, how do you like the cliff house?" He began with high confidence. "Lissa, astonished, wondered if she heard him correctly. She had been civil to him heretofore, just as she would have been to a janitor or gardener in New York. She had been impressed on her first day in Blanco Canyon, when Holliman rode the bucking horse, but he was hired as a workman."

All at once, though, a new thought struck her. Was Holliman after all, a "mere" workman? Wasn't he hired rather to be one of a scientific party, on an equal footing with the others? Was it fair to expect Dr. Barry to maintain high standards of employers and servants? Hades Jones had been accepted as a social equal, surely. And the West is famous for its democracy, she knew.

Holliman mistook her pause for shyness, and she was pleased at the compliment. "Anytime you want anything, Lissa, you just ask men, huh?" Holliman was growing more confidential, assuming genuine intimacy.

Lissa was furious instantly. She would have turned to slap him, and doubtless Mr. Holliman would have received a classic bawling out from a lady with an excellent if refined choice of words. But Bob Barry chose that moment to turn back and call to her.

"That hammer still has me worried," Bob repeated, waiting for Melissa and Holliman to catch up with him. "I can't imagine why the rawhide strip wasn't disintegrated, gone, with all the years. It couldn't be more than a hundred or so."

"Maybe Indians explored the cave, and dropped it."

Mary Melissa forced herself to be calm. She welcomed the interruption, really, until she could have time to think. After all, this party of five persons had to live together for some weeks.

"No," Bob answered, "it's not Indian make. Not like the weapons of any tribes in the past few centuries, I'm sure. They had a definite pattern for stone hammers, tomahawks and the like. The grooves in this one which held the rawhide, were different. The shape was unique. And the rawhide was strangely fresh!"

He shook his head at the mystery. When supper was over that night, talk about the castle was resumed. Only Honey Bee said nothing. Washing the dishes, she hovered near enough to hear, however.

"I'm still guessing about the entrance to that castle, too," Bob repeated. "Those people were farmers. They simply had to go up and down often. I'd give a lot to solve that riddle."

Nobody had any suggestions. They had thrashed it out before, without results. When 9:30 came the entire party went to bed.

At breakfast, Bob had already been up two hours, making entries in his notebooks, and outlining work for the days to come.

"First thing, Uncle Hades," he addressed the others, "you'd better take the pack mules to the spring and bring back all the water you can. Take it easy. It's a 12-mile jaunt, you know."

"Holliman, I think you'd better cut some more poles and construct wider and more permanent bunks in our tent houses here. Make Miss Lane's and Honey Bee's first. We'll need comfortable beds. You might make a chair or two, and a larger table, if you have a knack for it. We may be here for weeks."

Holliman went out to start for the necessary poles, and Mary Melissa went toward the corral to saddle her horse and take a ride. Holliman saw her there alone, and angled across the area, carrying his ax, to speak with her. Might as well get on with his hired love-making. Besides, after due consideration, he was liking the idea very much. He had given it much thought during the night.

Bob lingered at the breakfast table, sketching and making notes. He wanted a complete record of every move made on this expedition. Every piece of pottery, every bit of rock or artifact collected, had to be properly classified and labeled. Honey Bee brought him more coffee, then lingered.

"Bawb?" she ventured, hesitatingly. She had never addressed him so intimately before, but he appeared not to notice. He looked up at her.

"I hear you say," she went on, "how you give the leg to learn door to cliff house."

"Yes, sure, Honey Bee. I mean, it's a scientific point that would be very valuable, if we could settle it. Most of the cliff dwellings explored heretofore had some sort of narrow stairway, cut in rocks usually, or augmented with ladders. This one showed no sign of such, you know."

"You do not have to give the leg," she informed him, smiling. "Honey Bee save thee leg."

"Huh? You mean—?" He looked at her, questioningly.

"Last night, in the dark, I take flashlight and go back to castle. I know many Indian signs. I want to look carefully, after what you say after supper."

"You went up again, Honey Bee?"

Alone? In the dark? He was incredulous.

"Yes. For you. I was not afraid. I know Indian people. Many of our signs are very, very old. I look for sign of one long square in another long square. It means door. Maybe you know."

"Yes! Yes, the entrance sign! And—?"

"I find it. On these castle rocks. I am sure. I think it show thee secret entrance to thee castle."

She paused, rather impressively. Bob stood up, in his excitement. He stared at the Indian maiden.

"Look here, Honey Bee," he jabbed a finger at her, beaming. "Can you show it to me? Right away? Great grief, woman, this is big stuff, if you're right! Let's go!"

He gripped her arm, in quick thanks, as he passed her. Honey Bee smiled, and in that moment she was truly beautiful. But—

"I'll get Lissa," Bob called. "We'll get right up with you."

Slowly the Indian girl's expression changed. It was almost super-natural, for the scowl that grew, in place of the smile, was deep with pain, tainted with spiritual venom.

WHEAT CATTLE PROVIDE MAJOR FARM RESOURCE Wheat and cattle together accounted for nearly 70 per cent of the farm cash income of the Top O' Texas in October, according to a report released yesterday from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Dr. F. A. Beuchel is assistant director and Elmer H. Johnson is regional economist of the bureau. The report says that wheat stands out prominently in the northern high plains of Texas, and the arable lands of this section are, from the standpoint of climate, soils and topography, admirably suited to the growing of hard winter wheat.

This section is the southwestern extension of the American hard winter wheat region which radiates from Central Kansas. It is the only section of Texas in which wheat is the dominant item.

In the Top O' Texas wheat accounts for 49.33 per cent of the total farm cash income.

Cattle are 19.33 per cent of the total, and for 68.76 per cent for the cumulative per cent.

Cotton lint is 6.72 per cent of the total, 75.48 of the cumulative per cent; hogs, 6.46 and 81.94 per cent; milk and milk products, 4.97 and 89.34 per cent.

The computed farm cash income for Texas during October, representing about 90 per cent of the actual cash income, is $71,178,000. This compared with $101,957,000 for September and $80,783,000 for October last year.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—A united Christmas appeal for funds for war sufferers is being issued to 125,000 clergymen throughout the country by the Federal Council of Churches in America.

CUPID TWISTS NAMES HERE

A flustered middle-aged bridegroom and a marriage of two young persons whose family names were the same provided interest to the usual business routine of issuing marriage licenses at the county clerk's office during the past week.

In the case of the middle-aged bridegroom, he was so confused when asked for the first name of his bride that he had to leave the office, find the lady, and learn from her how to spell her first name, a five-letter name.

A marriage license granted recently was believed to be the first here in which both the bride and groom had the same family name.

The license was issued to Arthur L. Carter and Vernie Jo Carter. The two were not related, even as distant cousins, County Clerk Charlis Thut said.

This is believed to be the first case of this kind, although marriage licenses have been issued in which the name of the bride was the same as the groom as the result of a previous marriage.

One marriage license was issued on Thanksgiving day. Although the courthouse offices were closed, County Clerk Charlis Thut was in his office early in the morning. He issued a license at 7 a. m. to W. R. Pace and Helen Ferguson.

A marriage license was granted November 24 to Ralph E. Morrison and Wilma E. Perkins.

BRITAIN'S TALKS KEEP DIPLOMATS GUESSING

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Great Britain's confidential talks with Germany on one hand and France on the other kept an excited and troubled Europe guessing on the diplomatic outcome today.

The visit of Viscount Halifax to Germany last week and the forthcoming visit of French leaders to London were seen by some observers as a British move to wipe out long standing friction between France and Germany in the hope of easing European tension.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain assured the House of Commons last night Britain was contemplating no agreement with Germany threatening the security of France or any of her allies, quietening fears Halifax' talk with Hitler might result in a secret pact at the cost of French friendship.

The meeting was spent in making plans and working on things for the annual bazaar. Girls present at this meeting were: Glenda Raye Davison, Maxine Thurlow, Donna Jo Martin, Agnes Bowsher, Sara Florence Parker, Dorothy Bowsher, Wilma Lee Martin, Willie Mae Cheeley, Mary Elizabeth New, Virginia Wedge, Irene Pike and Peggy Covey.

WOMEN WILL GO BACK TO SEWING JOBS

Workers on the WPA sewing project in Gray county, which was suspended on September 30, when the 39 persons employed were transferred to a library project, will return to their original work at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Assignment slips have been mailed to those women who are to report at sewing rooms in Pampa, LeFors, and McLean. There will be 17 assignments at Pampa, and a total of 10 at LeFors and McLean.

Mrs. Buena Burchfield, who has been supervisor of a library project at Panhandle, will return to her former position as supervisor of the three Gray county sewing rooms.

The library project is being continued, with five women, formerly employed in the sewing room, at Pampa, high school and ward school libraries, three at Pampa public library, and five at the McLean school library.

Two of the women who had been transferred from the sewing room to the library project are now employed on the tax survey, having been re-assigned from the library work.
