PRICE FIVE CENTS

'POLITICAL FRAME-UP' CHARGED

Sentencing of Hickman Is Delayed by Defense Motion

ARGUMENTS TO BE HEARD ON NEXT TUESDAY

Arrest of Judgment and Appeal May Be Tried

MISTRIAL IS MUCH HINTED

Trial by the Jury Was Denied, Walsh Argues

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—(AP)—William Edward Hickman, who was found sane when he kidnaped and killed Marian Parker, obtained his first of what his attorneys said will be a series of legal delays when he appeared in court today for sentencing. Hickman was standing before Judge J. J. Trabucco waiting to hear his sentence when his attorney moved for a new trial. Arguments on the motion will be made Tuesday.

Hickman stood erect and with concentrated attention when the venerable jurist in powerful voice read to him the terse facts of the crime charged against him and reiterated to him that he had been found sane when tried on the plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity," which he had entered to the kidnaping and murder indictments. The court then asked if the defendant was ready to be sentenced at which point Judge Trabucco paused.

Score of Allegations
Jerome Walsh, chief defense counsel, promptly interposed the motion for a new trial which he had drawn up ready for the moment. It listed a score of allegations of error and trial violations of California and United States constitutional law.

After the long motion had been read, Judge Trabucco ruled that the sentencing of the defendant would be postponed until Tuesday, when arguments on the new trial motion first would be heard.

If the new trial motion is denied, the defense has stated, an arrest of judgment will be interposed. If this also is denied, the court procedure, attorneys indicated, calls for the sentencing of the youth. The same verdict was returned on both the kidnaping and murder indictments.

After Hickman is sentenced, which under the law, may be either death by hanging or life imprisonment, Walsh will file a notice of appeal to the state supreme court from the conviction and sentence.

May Go to Prison
County Jailor Frank Dewar said that in spite of the notice of appeal as soon as Hickman is sentenced he will be sent to San Quentin prison there he will await action on the appeal.

The alleged grounds for a new trial included:

Errors of law in Hickman's sanity trial; that the verdict was contrary to the law and the evidence; that the court erred in granting the plaintiff the right to employ jury challenges after it (the state) and the defense had passed the jury; that the defendant had been deprived of his right to a jury trial for murder; that new and material evidence had been discovered; that in violation of United States Constitution the defendant had been compelled to act as a witness against himself; that the court erred in instructing the jury, and that the jury received evidence out of court.

The allegation that the defendant had been compelled to act as a witness against himself was interpreted by attorneys as referring to the use as evidence of Hickman's written confession of the crime.

Mistrial Is Hinted
The possibility of the sanity being declared a mistrial was seen by prosecuting attorneys in the allegation that the jury had received evidence out of court.

It is believed his presence will expedite passage of the electoral law which has been approved by the American State Department and is the subject of a fight in the Nicaraguan Congress.

BEBE DANIELS HURT IN FALL

Imitation Pullman Is Swept From Truck by Tree Limb

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Physicians after an examination of x-ray plates taken of Miss Bebe Daniels film comedienne, who was brought here from Pasadena, Calif., after an accident during the filming of a picture, said she apparently suffered no internal injuries. The x-ray plates, they said, did not show any fractures.

However, Miss Daniels will be confined to the hospital for several days. The hospital physicians said, as she suffered a sprained back and severe bruises in the accident, which occurred when a make-believe pullman car mounted on a truck, was swept off its foundation by the overhanging branch of a tree.

With the comedienne was James Hall, who was playing opposite her and who, in spite of a broken wrist, pulled her from the wreckage.

Others in the imitation sleeper were Clarence Badger, director, and Roy Hunt, cameraman, who were not injured.

As the set crashed to the ground Miss Daniels threw her hands over her face to protect it from flying glass and plunged with the curb car to the ground.

"Fort Worth" to Try for World's Record Today

FORT WORTH, Feb. 11.—(AP)—After several test flights this afternoon of the giant monoplane "Fort Worth" it was announced tonight that the ship will take off from municipal airport here before 7 o'clock tomorrow morning in an attempt to break the record.

Al Henley and Joe Hart, Oklahoma aviators, will take turns in piloting the plane.

Good flying weather for 24 hours and south wind were predicted for Fort Worth by the local United States meteorologist. The ship will carry not less than 525 gallons of gasoline and the fliers tonight were confident that they would keep the plane in the air for at least sixty hours.

Sandino, Out of Ammunition, Is Reported in Flight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—An official communication from Nicaragua reporting Sandino, the Nicaraguan enemy of the Marines, in flight to Honduras with his ammunition "practically gone" was given to the Senate foreign relations committee today by Secretary Wilbur.

On the basis of the communication and the data submitted by the navy secretary and a staff of naval and marine corps officers, Chairman Borah of the committee declared afterward that "the outlook is very good."

Mr. Wilbur reported at the meeting of the committee behind closed doors that 12 American and 156 Nicaraguans had been killed in hostilities since the present force of Marines entered Nicaragua; that Sandino is the only disturbing element in the country, and that a fair presidential election can be held there next summer.

Postal Inspectors See Local Need for Street Delivery

"Pampa is the best town in the Panhandle and her future is beyond all expectations in my opinion; in fact, I believe it will be necessary to enlarge the local postoffice to meet the demands of the people, and although at the present time the office is in excellent condition, additional help and street delivery are needed here," Inspector M. B. Johnson of Amarillo stated while here this week.

Inspector Johnson left the matter of local improvements in the hands of Postmaster W. A. Crawford, who will have an announcement to make in the near future. Weldon Jolly of Clarendon was recently added to the staff here, and tomorrow morning Mrs. Garnett Sears will commence her duties in the local office as the result of the large increase during the last month.

Inspector Rose of Fort Worth, paying his first visit to the Pampa office, was more than surprised at the size and activities of Pampa.

"When I left Fort Worth yesterday I expected to land in one of those typical oil towns, but when I got off the train I found I was in a thriving city," the inspector said.

Postal receipts for January showed a gain of nearly $500 over the same month in 1927. The receipts for last January were $3,652.25 as compared with $3,198.94 for January of 1927.

Santa Fe Officials Predict Increasing Pampa Business

R. H. Allison, vice-president and general manager of the Plains division of the Santa Fe, and F. J. MacKie, superintendent of the Plains division, visited here Friday conferring with representatives of the White Deer Land and the Cabot Co. They were accompanied by their wives and Mrs. M. C. Blanchard, wife of the chief engineer of the division.

This being the first time the officials had any spare time here, a trip through the Bowers pool, and the Wilcox field was made during the afternoon. The railroad men were surprised at the recent development in the field and were very optimistic as to the growth of Pampa.

Mr. Allison stated that this is the first time in history that Pampa has shown a greater amount of business than Borger, and he looks for greater strides in the future. February has started off with large increases in all departments.

Both Die Almost at the Same Instant in Houston

HOUSTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—T. D. Martin, 52 years old, shot and killed his wife, Ellen, 48, as the result of domestic discord and was in turn shot to death by his son, Roy D. Martin, 30, in a futile effort to save her, at the son's home here today.

The elder Martin was a small merchant. The son operates a transfer business.

It was brought out at the inquest that the elder Martin had separated and that the wife had sued for a divorce. Martin, the testimony showed, shot his wife with a pistol as she fled from him through the rear yard. The son killed his father with a shotgun at about the same instant.

He was charged with murder, but was released on nominal bond. "I had to do it," the son said, and added, "if I only could have saved mama."

Mrs. Martin was shot twice in the back with a .41 calibre pistol. She died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital.

Two buckshots from a double-barrel shotgun killed the elder Martin almost instantly. One severed the jugular vein and the other entered his right breast.

After the father had been slain, the son placed his mother's body in his father's automobile and started for a hospital. He transferred it to an ambulance he met on the way. She was dead when the hospital was reached.

The younger Martin drove to the police station and calling a nearby motorcycle policeman to him, surrendered with the simple statement that "I've shot my father and father shot mother."

Traffic Showed Big Increase in January Here

Traffic on the Santa Fe is showing a decided increase this month, both incoming and outgoing. L. W. Klein, local agent, states. Incoming oil well supplies, building material, and merchandise are rapidly climbing in proportion, while the oil being shipped from the Pampa loading racks is increasing steadily.

At the present time, more than 120 cars of oil and gasoline is being shipped from Pampa over the Santa Fe daily from the Sinclair, Roxana, British American, Toronto, Wilcox, Magnolia, and Atlantic companies' loading racks.

During the month of January, the Sinclair company shipped 1,208 tank cars of oil from their loading rack east of Pampa, and the February total of the company is expected to be more than 2,000 carloads.

Levine Abandons Flight When Car Causes Plane Break

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 11.—(AP)—An absent-minded motorist today foiled the take-off of the monoplane Columbia in an attempt to recapture the world's duration flight record. The flight now is scheduled for tomorrow, weather permitting.

Just as Charles Levine, with his pilot, Wilmer Stultz, sped down the runway in an attempt to take off with their heavily loaded plane, a motorist drove directly in their path. Stultz quickly veered the plane sharply, bringing it to a halt with a dislodged tail skid and broken rudder post.

"Honest Abe"

Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth president of the United States, was born in a cabin in Hardin county, Kentucky, 119 years ago today—Feb. 12, 1809.

Elected president in 1860 as the nominee of the newborn republican party, Lincoln had been in office but a month when Fort Sumter was fired upon—the event generally regarded as marking the beginning of the Civil war. During its course Lincoln was reelected to the presidency, after issuance of the Emancipation Proclamation freeing the slaves, and a month after his second inaugural the war ended with the surrender of the Confederate forces.

35 MINERS ARE STILL IN MINE

Hope Is Renewed as Rescue Apparatus Is Obtained

TIMMINS, Ont., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Almost two score miners were still trapped in the depths of the great Hollinger gold mine tonight, the second night since fire imprisoned them, but hope ran high among their praying families at the shaft head. For during the day, a dozen men were brought from the mine alive and only six were positively known to be dead.

As the rescued men were brought up and their wives and children embraced them, hope was reborn in the hearts of the relatives of the other trapped men that they too might survive.

The fire started yesterday at 500 foot level in rubbish which had been accumulating for years.

Panhandle Off 690 Barrels Daily Production Now

In the absence of new wells, the Panhandle took a production drop this week, totaling 79,915 barrels daily as compared with 80,605 last week, a loss of 690 barrels daily.

Production by counties: Carson—7,332 barrels for gain of 25 barrels daily. Gray—21,955 barrels daily for loss of 1,080 barrels. Hutchinson—49,415 barrels daily for gain of 320 barrels. Potter—30 barrels daily. Wheeler—1100 barrels daily for gain of 40 barrels.

Moore—No production. The Bell Oil and Gas company is erecting a twenty-car loading rack on its property one mile east of the Santa Fe depot across from the Sinclair company's loading rack. The Santa Fe is laying the track at the present time.

J. C. Schroder is local manager of the Bell Oil and Gas company, which has its head office at Tulsa. T. Spurr is being laid by the Santa Fe to the Atlas Chemical company's Carbon Black plant, which is under construction north of the Empire Gas and Fuel company's camp three miles west of here.

The plant will use gas from the Empire Gas and Fuel company's gasoline plant, and is said to be smokelers in the process of making the carbon black.

DOUGLAS WILL FIGHT EFFORTS TO OUST HIM

Feels Confident Conduct Will Not Result in His Removal

POLLARD SENDS TWO ATTORNEYS

Wortman, Holmes and Incumbent to Seek Office

(Special to the News)
BORGER, Feb. 11.—(AP)—"I am ready to go to trial any time," declared Curtis Douglas, district attorney of the new 84th district, here Saturday night when questioned on his attitude toward the ouster proceedings which Governor Moody has asked against him.

"I have never been guilty of misconduct, either in private or public life, and have refused to submit to requests for my resignation, feeling secure in the belief that no proceedings the governor may bring against me will result in my being ousted on the grounds of misconduct.

"I have not communicated with Governor Moody, and have received no official communication that ouster proceedings will be instituted. It is a political frame-up, and I expect to announce for re-election as district attorney of the 84th district in the near future."

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Two investigators to push Attorney-general Claude Pollard's projected attempt to oust a district attorney in a Panhandle county will be dispatched from Pollard's department soon it was learned late Saturday.

Governor Moody, after having received reports of the attorney's alleged unsuitability, suggested that the attorney-general act.

BORGER, Feb. 11.—(AP)—C. S. Wortman, an attorney of Pampa, has declared to friends here that he is a candidate for district attorney subject to the Democratic primary to be held on July 28, 1928.

Attorney Wortman served as county judge in Oklahoma for two consecutive terms, having been elected on a platform of strict law enforcement without fear or favor in that state, and declares the same policy will be paramount if elected to the office of district attorney for this district.

Attorney Wortman declares that he intends to speak in every county of the district and that he hopes to be heard by every voting citizen in the line comprising this district.

In speaking of enforcing the prohibition law, Attorney Wortman said he believed in and would fight for strict prohibition enforcement. He further stated that he had never so much as taken a drink of intoxicating liquor in his life.

J. A. Holmes of Borger announced his candidacy for the office of district attorney in the 84th district a few days ago.

NEW TEMPERATURE RECORD. KANSAS CITY, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A new high temperature record for February 11 was established here when the mercury went to 65.1-2 degrees this afternoon. Previous high record for this date, the weather bureau said, was on February 11, 1915, when the temperature reached 63 degrees.

Wheeler Officers Alert for Fines

A local man who spent Christmas in Kansas and because of illness in his family did not return until this week is convinced that Panhandle officers are on the alert to make all motorists take out their 1928 licenses.

Friday, he said, he "was soaked $12.70 before he could get out of Wheeler." Explanations to the judge had no effect, and he had to obey an injunction to "come across."

As he passed through Mobeetie a large car pulled up beside his and a be-stared gentleman demanded another $12.70. The Pampa man argued the point, and after showing the receipt for the Wheeler fine, was allowed to go on his way.

In Church—A Thought
Through dim stained glass
The tempered daylight steals;
The congregation bows,
In padded prayer,
Before the flower laden
Altar where
The silk-robed ministrant
Intones and kneels:
Upon the perfumed air
The organ peals—
Ah, what if Christ Himself
Should enter there,
The weeping Magdalene
With streaming hair,
And all his rough disciples
At His heels?

Would we not stare
And stir uneasily,
If such a motley crew,
One so unfit
To enter, should be
Ushered in to sit
Beside us in our Cushioned pews?
Might He not come—
And sorrowfully go
From us His worshippers,
And we not know?

Escaped Men Are Closely Followed

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 11.—(AP)—The trial of John Burns and Samuel Baxter, youthful convicts, who disappeared Tuesday, was definitely followed to Decatur, Ill., today, when the automobile of Deputy Sheriff John P. Grove was found there in a garage. The fate of Grove and Deputy McClure, however, who dropped from sight while transporting the prisoners to the Pendleton, Ind., reformatory, was still an unsolved mystery.

A hat bearing the initial J. P. G., and identified as belonging to deputy Grove, and a belt, from a Corduroy coat, believed to have been worn by Burns, were picked up on a road near Maple Point, two and one half miles east of here. Authorities said this indicated that the prisoners began a fight for freedom immediately after leaving Lafayette.

A Gordon returned last night from Kansas City and other points, where he went to buy goods for his stores.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS

- HILO VANCE
- JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York County.
- MARGARET ODELL (The "CANARY")
- CHARLES CLEAVER, a man about-town
- KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, a manufacturer
- LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
- DR. AMBROSE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
- TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
- WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
- CHARLY SPIVELY, telephone operator
- ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau.

The jewel case had been opened with a steel chisel after being battered with a poker. And this puzzles Vance when it is found near the strangled body of Margaret Odell. Finger-prints lead to Dr. Lindquist have been questioned. Vance indicates he believes Skeel was hiding in the clothes closet when the murder was committed, and witnessed it. Markham, believing in Skeel's guilt, ridicules the theory. Mannix is brought in and questioned.

CHAPTER XXIII

Markham ignored the question. "Can you think of no one who might have borne Miss Odell a grudge, or had cause to fear her?"

Mannix was volubly emphatic on the subject of his complete ignorance of any such person; and after a few more questions, which elicited only denials, Markham let him go.

"Not bad at all, Markham old thing—eh, what?" Vance seemed pleased with the conference. "Wonder why he's so coy? Not a nice person, this Mannix. And he's so fearful lest he be informative. Again, I wonder why. He was so careful—oh, so careful."

"He was sufficiently careful, at any rate, not to tell us anything," declared Markham gloomily.

"I shouldn't say that, don't y' know." Vance lay back and smoked placidly. "A ray of light filtered through here an there. He denied he'd been black-mailed—which was obviously untrue—and tried to make us believe that he and the lovely Margaret cooed like turtle-doves at parting—Tost!... And then, that mention of Cleaver. That wasn't spontaneous—dear me, no. Brother Mannix and spontaneity are as the poles apart. He had a reason for bringing Cleaver in; and I fancy that if you knew that reason was you'd feel like flinging roses riotously, and that sort of thing."

"Why Cleaver? That explanation was a bit weak. The orbits of these two paramours cross somewhere. On that point, at least, Mannix inadvertently enlightened us. Moreover, it's plain that he doesn't know our fashionable healer with the satyr ears. But, on the other hand, he's aware of the existence of Mr. Skeel, and would rather like to deny the acquaintance. . . . Plenty of information; but—my word!

—what to do with it—"I give it up," acknowledged Markham hopelessly.

"I know; it's a sad, sad world," Vance commiserated him. "It's time for lunch, and a fillet of sole Marguery will cheer you no end."

Markham glanced at the clock, and permitted himself to be led to the Lawyers Club.

(Wednesday, September 12; evening)

Vance and I did not return to the district attorney's office after lunch, for Markham had a busy afternoon before him, and nothing further was likely to transpire in connection with the Odell case until Sergeant Heath had completed his investigations of Cleaver and Doctor Lindquist.

Vance had seats for Giordano's "Madame Sans-Gene," and two o'clock found us at the Metropolitan. Though the performance was excellent, Vance was too distrustful to enjoy it; and it was significant that, after the opera, he directed the chauffeur to the Stuyvesant Club.

I knew he had a tea appointment, and that he had planned to motor to Longue Vue for dinner; and the fact that he should have dismissed these social engagements from his mind in order to be with Markham showed how intensely the problem of the murder had absorbed his interest.

It was after six o'clock when Markham came in, looking harassed and tired. No mention of the case was made during dinner, with the exception of Markham's casual remark that Heath had turned in his reports on Cleaver and Doctor Lindquist and Mannix. (It seemed that immediately after lunch, he had telephoned to the sergeant to add Mannix's name to the two others as a subject for inquiry.)

It was not until we had retired to our favorite corner of the lounge-room that the topic of the murder was brought up for discussion.

And that discussion, brief and one-sided, was the beginning of an entirely new line of investigation—a line which, in the end, led to the guilty person.

Markham sank wearily into his chair. He had begun to show the strain of the last two days of fruitless worry. His eyes were a trifle heavy, and there was a grim tenacity in the lines of his mouth. Slowly and deliberately he lighted a cigar, and took several deep inhalations.

"Damn the newspapers!" he grumbled. "Why can't they let the district attorney's office handle its business in its own way? . . . Have you seen the afternoon papers? They're all clamoring for the murderer. You'd think I had him up my sleeve."

"You forget, my dear chap," grinned Vance, "that we are living under the benign and upliftin' reign of Democracy, which confers upon every ignoramus the privilege of promiscuously criticising his betters."

Markham snorted. "I don't complain about criticism; it's the lurid imagination of these bright young reorters that galls me. They're trying to turn this sordid crime into a spectacular Borgia melodrama, with passion running rampant, and mysterious influences at work, and all the pomp and trappings of a mediæval romance. You think even a schoolboy could see that it was an ordinary robbery and murder of the kind that's taking place regularly throughout the country."

Vance paused in the act of lighting a cigaret, and his eyebrows lifted. Turning, he regarded Markham with a look of mild incredulity.

"I say! Do you really mean to tell me that your statement for the press was given out in good faith?"

Markham looked up in surprise. "Certainly it was. . . . What do you mean by good faith?"

Vance smiled indolently.

"I rather thought, don't y' know, that your oration to the reporters was a bit of strategy to lull the real culprit into a state of false security, and to give you a clear field for investigation."

Markham contemplated him a moment.

"See here, Vance," he demanded irritably. "What are you driving at?"

"Nothing at all—really, old fellow," the other assured him affably. "I knew that Heath was deadly sincere about his belief in Skeel's guilt, but it never occurred to me, d'ye see, that you yourself actually regarded the crime as one committed by a professional burglar."

"I foolishly thought that you let Skeel go this morning in the hope that he would lead you somehow to the guilty person. I rather imagined you were spoofing the trusting sergeant by pretending to fall in with his silly notion."

"Ah, I see! Still clinging to your weird theory that a brace of villains were present, hiding in separate clothes-closets, or something of the kind." Markham made no attempt to temper his sarcasm. "A sapient idea—so much more intelligent than Heath's!"

"I know it's weird. But it happens not to be any weirder than your theory of a lone yeggman."

"And for what reason, pray," prestidid Markham, with considerable warmth, "do you consider the yeggman theory weird?"

"For the simple reason that it was not the crime of a professional thief at all, but the willfully deceptive act of a particularly clever man who doubtless spent weeks in his preparation."

Markham sank back in his chair and laughed heartily. "Vance, you have contributed the one ray of sunshine to an otherwise gloomy and depressing case."

Vance bowed with mock humility. "It gives me great pleasure," was his dulcet rejoinder, "to be able to bring even a wisp of light into so clouded a mental atmosphere."

A brief silence followed. Then Markham asked: "Is this fascinating and picturesque conclusion of yours regarding the highly intellectual character of the Odell woman's murderer based on your new and original psychological methods of deduction?" There was no mistaking the ridicule in his voice.

"I arrived at it," exclaimed Vance sweetly, "by the same processes of logic I used in determining the guilt of Alvin Benson's murderer."

Markham smiled.

"Touche! . . . Don't think I'm so ungrateful as to belittle the work you did in that case. But this time, I fear, you've permitted your theories to lead you hopelessly astray. The present case is what the police call an open-and-shut affair."

"Particularly shut," amended Vance dryly. "And both you and the police are in the distressin' situation of waiting inactively for your suspected victim to give the game away."

"I'll admit the situation is not all one could desire," Markham spoke morosely. "But even so, I can't see that there's any opportunity in this affair for your recondite psychological methods. The thing's too obvious—that's the trouble. What we need now is evidence, not theories. If it wasn't for the spacious and romantic imaginings of the newspaper men, public interest in the case would already have died out."

"Markham," said Vance quietly, but with unwonted seriousness, "if that's what you really believe, then you may as well drop the case now; for you're foredoomed to failure. You think it's an obvious crime. But let me tell you, it's a subtle crime, if ever there was one. And it's as clever as it is subtle. No common criminal committed it—believe me. It was done by a man of very superior intellect and astounding ingenuity."

Vance's assured, matter-of-fact tone had a curiously convincing quality; and Markham, restraining his impulse to scoff, assumed an air of indulgent irony.

"Tell me," he said, "by what cryptic mental process you arrived at so fantastic a conclusion."

"With pleasure," Vance took a few puffs on his cigarette, and lazily watched the smoke curl upward.

Biggest January in Studebaker history

58% increase in actual retail deliveries over same month last year

See these four great Studebaker lines of fine cars and you will understand why

ACTUAL retail deliveries of Studebaker dealers for January, 1928, exceeded those of January, 1927, by 58 per cent. They were the largest in the history of the Corporation for that month, which so often sounds the sales keynote for the year.

The reason back of this sales record is the championship performance of Studebaker motor cars—demonstrated by a succession of spectacular feats of endurance and speed—culminating in Studebaker's unique position of holding all the highest endurance and speed records for fully equipped stock cars, regardless of power or price.

See the four great lines of Studebaker cars which are sweeping the country today. But do more than simply see them—ride in them and drive them! Then you will know that they embody the most advanced engineering of 1928 combined with Studebaker's 76-year-old traditions of quality.

RURAL SCHOOLS — No county in the Panhandle will be so big for many years but that its system of rural schools will be of vital interest, deserving of as much skilled attention as the city schools. Indeed, to be effective in that specialized field, rural schools need specially trained supervision.

We agree with Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, former state superintendent and now professor of education in the University of Texas, that the system of popular election of county superintendents of schools is one of the weak points in the administration of rural schools. Moreover, in those counties nearing the point where a county superintendent is possible, the system of loading the work on the county judge, as ex officio county superintendent, is bad. Election of school officials by popular vote is obsolete except in the case of the county superintendent. True, a number of counties have special laws providing for the appointment of the superintendent by the county commissioners, but the number is all too small.

For instance, the work of the county judge in court, road, and probate matters in Gray county is becoming so great that the additional school work is too much, and neither is working to the detriment of the man or the schools. Gray county now has nearly 2,800 scholastics. The next census is almost certain to show more than 3,000. When that number is reached, it is mandatory upon the county commissioners to inaugurate the county superintendent plan. The rural schools of Gray county deserve the attention of a trained educator who can give sufficient time to the work.

As a matter of fact, the change could be made next year in all probability. Certainly it could be made under another provision, through the presentation to the county commissioners of a petition signed by 25 per cent of the voters who took part in the last election of a governor. The county superintendent should be appointive. The election plan now used resulted from the evolving of the position out of the elective office of county judge, and it has no relation to modern educational methods.

Rural schools need better supervision and better teaching. As Dr. Blanton says: "Among the rural school teachers, 33 per cent are graduates of no school, as compared with .8 of one per cent in urban schools; 48 per cent are graduates of high schools as compared with 39.1 per cent in urban school districts; 13 per cent are graduates of Teachers colleges, as compared with 23.1 per cent in urban school districts; and 6 per cent are graduates of other colleges or universities as compared with 27 per cent in the city schools."

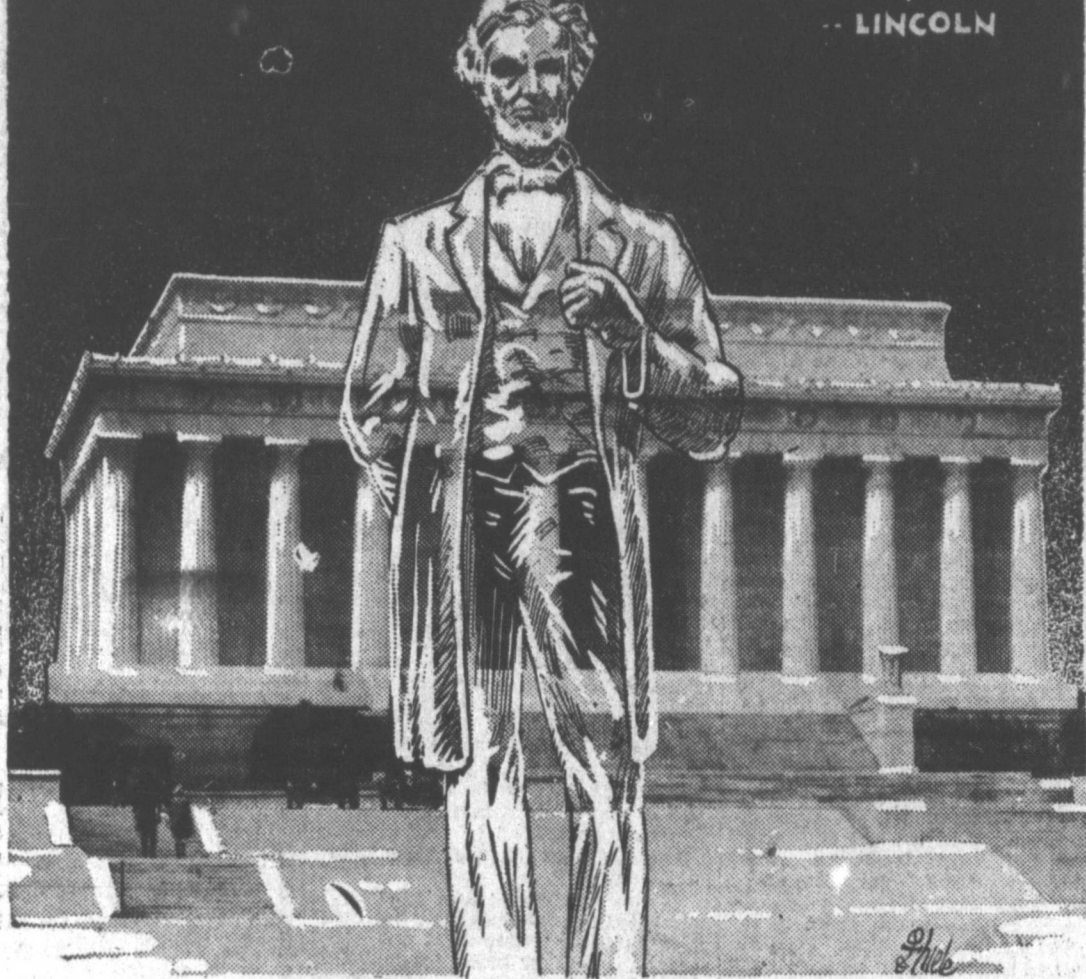

Regarding the election of the county superintendent, it is asserted that "the effect is that a man is more likely to be elected to that position because he is a good mixer than he is because of professional qualifications for the place. People are accustomed to think of rotation in political office. It requires about two years for a county superintendent to become thoroughly familiar with his duties and in about two years more he reaches his full value to the community.

"The trend in the United States is toward the election of a county superintendent by a county board of trustees, just as city superintendents are elected by city boards of

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — What happens when a bill is introduced in Congress?

Plenty! All sorts of sieves await it and if it can get itself made law in the face of controversy, it may consider itself lucky. Many persons have forgotten just how a bill becomes a law, so here's how.

First, the bill is dropped into a basket on the speaker's desk and becomes introduced. The bill clerk then takes it, numbers it and sends it to the government printing office, where it is printed. Copies are then returned to the House and Senate document rooms.

It is then referred to the committee which handles legislative preliminaries for measures of its general nature and the committee clerk gives it a date on the calendar. The committee decides to have hearings on the bill and notifies all interested parties so that they may present their arguments for or against.

After the hearing, it is referred to a subcommittee which reads the hearing records, generally changes the text and perhaps the sense, trustees, and toward making a position more secure during the period of efficiency."

Amusements

June Collyer, the lovely blond "Josephine Van Horn" of the "East Side, West Side," produced at the Fox New York Studio, can be counted as another Allan Dwan "discovery," for this is her first part in pictures. She will be seen in the new film at the Crescent theatre where it opens a two day showing today.

The role required a society girl of the fragile artistic type to contrast sharply with the dark-eyed "Beska" from the Ghetto, played by Virginia Valli. Miss Collyer was chosen from among many experienced actresses who were tested, because she looked the part so thoroughly.

Like the "Josephine Van Horn" of the story, Miss Collyer comes from old Dutch stock, and is a "born and bred" New Yorker. She made her debut three years ago, but, after a season in society, she felt an urge to do something more constructive than dancing and more interesting than drinking tea in smart salons.

The role in "East Side, West Side" is an important one, and is the first definite step in the direction of a career. Everyone who has seen her work on the set, predicts a brilliant future for her.

"The Garden of Allah" at Allah" at Biskra, Algeria, is exactly as described by Robert Hichens in his novel which Rex Ingram filmed abroad for Metro-Goldwyn. The famous picture comes to the Rex theatre today.

It has deteriorated scarcely at all in the twenty-five years since Mr. Hichens thinly disguised it as being on the "oasis of Beni-Mora overlooking the great Sahara desert."

The garden, considering its unique desert surrounding, is one of the most beautiful estates in the world and certainly the most artistic in Africa.

From it you get a wide view of the Sahara. The garden itself is a mass of towering palms and rich growth of grass and fruit trees so thickly planted that the tropical sun can hardly penetrate. It takes in about eight acres. A marble statue of a purple dog described by Hichens, adorns the lawn.

The original designer and owner was Count Landon, a Frenchman. He is now 85 years old and still living. He gave the estate to his sister on her betrothal. When she died the magnificent wedding present was left to his niece, who now occupies it part of the year. Visitors are allowed in at all times.

The estate is such a showplace, thanks to the publicity it has received from the novel, play and motion picture, that the big travel bureau now make out touring itineraries which read "Algeria, Biskra, The Garden of Allah and Tunis." The tours take fifteen days.

New Capitol Hotel Opens in Amarillo

With the opening of the $1,000,000 Capitol Hotel in Amarillo, Texas, on February 15th, 1928, the people of Panhandle, will be welcomed by Ed R. Mayer, the builder, to one of the most excellent and modern hotels in America. No effort has been spared to meet every requirement of the most discriminating patronage.

Situated in the heart of Amarillo, the Capitol Hotel is easily accessible from the business, shopping, and theatrical districts of the city. For the traveling business man it is as easily accessible from the wholesale, jobbing and industrial districts. For the traveler, it has been located on the highways and on the only corner in the city which permits the hotel to face the entrance of the Santa Fe depot, the Fort Worth & Denver depot, and the business district of the city. Only a block or two from the city auditorium, the Masonic Temple, Elks club, courthouse and Federal building, it represents a convenient location for the traveling public.

The Capitol Hotel is a six story and basement, first class fire-proof reinforced concrete structure and has incorporated such lasting materials as the finest marble, granite, tile, and terra-cotta to withstand the depreciation of time. Other features of the hotel include: 200 rooms, each and every room equipped with full tiled beautiful bath room, with choice of tub or shower; full panel walnut Servent doors, with prompt valet service department; modern and complete ventilating equipment, which washes and cools the air in the summer, or heats it in the winter. This air cleanses from the dust of the streets, flows into the lobbies, mezzanine, dining room, and halls at all hours; circulating ice water in every room, from complete ice plant installation; water softened installation for entire build; telephones in every room; guest room suites of walnut, designed especially for the Capitol; a delightful and beautiful cafe; two high-speed elevators; equipment and furnishings ranking in quality with that of the finest hotels of the city.

Sheriff E. S. Graves—I am heartily in favor of the measure adopted at the Sheriff's convention Friday with regard to the reward for bandits "dead or alive." No officer wants to go out and willingly kill a man, and in this way get a reward. By the suggested ruling, a convicted live robber would be worth as much as a dead one, and the officer would not have a death on his hands.

J. M. Dodson—I think the action of the sheriffs at their convention is good. This may save an innocent life some time.

DeLes Vicars—Drastic measures have been necessary but if the new plan is successful it will be an improvement over the "dead" question.

Selection of Name

New, New Mexico
* * * * *

BY DAVID M. WARREN
Many readers of Name It are expecting the winner to be announced in the recent campaign for a permanent name for this column. Any person having these expectations will be disappointed this week, as the writer has not had time to study the several hundred suggestions that have been offered.

The writer was called out of the city for several days, and that explains why no selection could be made. Many good suggestions were received and several persons in Panhandle called the writer's home as late as ten o'clock Saturday evening, asking if it would be all right to come to the house and leave their suggestions.

Name It's writer was called to Trinidad, Colorado during the past week. The return trip was made through Santa Fe and Las Vegas. One night was spent near the head of the Pecos river. New Mexico is becoming more and more aggressive in its campaign to obtain summer visitors. Resort owners stated that a good percentage of their visitors come from the Panhandle of Texas.

The writer and a friend stayed at "Dad" Irvin's. Irvin's on the Pecos is the advertising which this man sends out. Dad and Mrs. Irvin settled on the Pecos nearly twenty years ago. They value those mountains and rocks far more than most people in other sections value the most high priced land.

The Irvin's have built a number of cabins, a dance pavilion and a dining room. All these improvements have been built from pine logs by Dad Irvin and his son, Tom. Guests are going to the Irvin's as late as November. That they are becoming widely known is evident from the fact that mail addressed to Irvin's on the Pecos, New Mexico, reach them. The Santa Fe Railway is giving them considerable publicity in the Fred Harvey tours.

New Mexico believes that it can get large numbers of Panhandle tourists during the summer on account of the short distance. The driving distance from Amarillo to Santa Fe is only three hundred and sixteen miles. A party can leave the Panhandle early in the morning and easily reach the mountains by night. As most persons have limited vacations, the saving of two or three days in traveling is worth considering.

BONUS OF 22 PER CENT
The annual bonus of the Western Union will be 22 per cent of a month's wages, it has been learned here.

Dodge Brothers Victory Six is not only a new car but an entirely new and better kind of a car. For the first time in history, body and chassis are a single, integral unit.

The wide, deep Victory chassis frame, flush with the body lines, eliminates the body sill and the customary body OVERHANG.

Major body parts are reduced from 367 to 81!

175 pounds of useless weight are cast off!

The gravity center is radically lowered—with head-room and road clearance unaffected.

The results can not be expressed—they must be experienced.

No unpleasant skidding or sidesway at the corners. No back-wheel "chatter" when the Lockheed Hydraulic brakes are quickly applied.

A smoothness over cobble roads that you have never imagined possible.

A swift car that is safe—a moderate-priced car that is unsurpassed in smartness and individuality.

Do You Need Street Paving Along Your Property?

Pampa is building for the future and is building well as is evidenced by the high type of construction in its business buildings, churches, schools and homes.

Among Pampa's most important improvements has been its permanent street paving. This pavement was built with a heavy concrete base and a BRICK wearing surface, the brick being vitrified and tested for its wearing ability. The brick surface, being waterproof, is especially adapted to the climatic conditions of the Panhandle country, and is a most wear-resisting pavement approved by the best engineers.

Because of the long life of BRICK PAVEMENT and so little need of any repair, it is by far the most economical pavement you can buy.

IF YOU DESIRE PAVING IN FRONT OF YOUR PROPERTY

The city commissioners would appreciate having you send in a request for same at once.

If you approve of the DURABLE BRICK PAVEMENT as is now in use here, we will appreciate your asking the commissioners to—

Burleigh Grimes Is Traded for Vic Aldridge, Even-Up

Baseball World Again Startled by Big Exchange

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitball pitcher of the New York Giants, was traded to Pittsburgh today for Vic Aldridge, curve ball star of the national league champions, in a deal that caught the baseball world again by surprise.

Made on a straight playing basis with no cash involved, the trade was completed in a long distance telephone conversation between Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, and Jim Tierney, Giants' secretary.

On the basis of 1927 records, which showed Grimes a much more consistent performer, the Pirates got the better of the deal, but both twirlers rank among the best in the league.

Grimes, who pitched his first big league game for Pittsburgh in 1916, turned in a sensational streak of fourteen victories in a row last year. Aldridge failed to show his best form at the start of the 1927 race but rose to great heights when Ray Kramer, ace of the champions' mound staff, was injured. At this point the hoosier schoolmaster jumped into the breach, pitched and won two games in one five-game series against the Giants, and continued to turn in victory after victory until Kramer returned to the lineup.

So far as figures go, Grimes out-ranked Aldridge both in Games won and lost and in earned run allowance. Appearing in 39 games, Grimes won nineteen and lost 8 to rank third among the league's pitchers in the won and lost column. Aldridge, with 15 games won against 10 lost, stood eleventh in the list. In earned runs, Grimes stood 15th and Aldridge 24th.

Both hurlers have seen long service in the big leagues. Grimes, who is 34, started his professional baseball career with Ottumwa in the central association in 1913. Going to Detroit the same year, he pitched no games for the Tigers, however, and was sent to Chattanooga and later to Richmond and Birmingham. Scouts for the Pittsburgh Pirates garnered him from Birmingham in 1916, late in the season, and the recruit turned in two victories against three defeats in his first season of actual big league competition. In 1918 the Pirates traded Grimes, Ward, and Mammaux to Brooklyn for Stengel, Cutshaw and cash.

Under Wilbert Robinson's tutelage, Grimes quickly jumped into the front rank among the pitchers. He remained as one of the mainstays of the Brooklyn staff until last year when he came to the Giants.

Honor Black Gold, Wonder Horse.

Floral tributes given Owner William Daniel and Jockey Tony Pascuma when Justice F., a British-bred colt, won the $50,000 New Orleans handicap a few days ago were placed over the grave of Black Gold, little wonder horse who was killed in New Orleans while racing after he had broken a leg. Our photographs show, top, Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago presenting the winner's cup to Pascuma, center, and Daniel, right; middle, Pascuma astride Justice F., and, below, Daniel and Pascuma placing the floral blankets over the grave of Black Gold.

Amarillo Broncs, Training on Home Lot, Will Meet Many Teams in Exhibition Games in March

AMARILLO, Feb. 11.—The Amarillo entry in the Western League race for the 1928 season will no doubt show quite a few changes by the time the bell rings on April 12.

Profiting by the experience of last season, the officials of the club are sparing no effort to put a winner on the field. Manager Allen will have the following men report to him on March 12; catcher, the veteran Jack Adams Modino, who saw considerable service last year, and two youngsters in Wlier and Price; pitchers, Morgan, Sanders, Lyons, Joe Newton and Storti, who played third when not taking his turn on the mound, and Stockton, Ponken, Harwood, and Whited will also report for tryouts. The infielders and outfielders will report about March 10. Among the infielders candidates are: first base, Weber, a recruit, and the old reliable Swansboro, Harding, a sandlotter from Ft. Worth, Tuck from Sherman, and Jarvis from the semi-pro ranks of Houston will give Nufer a tussle for the keystone cushion. At shortstop Seeds, who needs no introduction around these parts, and Charlie (Chuk) Carroll, who has had several years experience in professional ball, and who was mentioned as one of the outstanding players in the Denver Post tournament last fall, are the only players listed at present. Marty Fielder and Jack Wright will battle it out for the hot corner, with a possibility of Storti again making a strong bid. Gunther, Connelly, and Don Anderson are the only outfielders on the roster, with Seeds also a possible starter.

Vincent Expects Hard Fight With Granite Tomorrow

Boys whom fight fans of Pampa enjoy to see in action will be here tomorrow night on the Pampa Athletic club boxing card, which commences at 8:30 o'clock. Kid Granite, the Roxana boy who has made a hit with the fans of Pampa will meet his oldtime rival, Bobby Vincent of Stillwater, the college boy who has been knocking again. Several local ladies have asked to be admitted to the club. A meeting will be held in the near future to discuss plans for the coming season. The club has a nice bank balance from last year and if enough members enroll two additional courts may be built.

of gloves will be thrown in the main event.

Warnie Smith, the veteran of more than 200 battles, who will weigh in at 165 pounds in the semi-final, will meet Marion Coffee, weighing 180 pounds, and says he will beat the big boy in three rounds. It is going to be a slugging affair.

Frankie Farrell, one of the cleverest youngsters in the game will give Guy Beard ten pounds and the hardest battle he has ever had according to the wise birds who haunt the club during workouts.

Harvesters Lose to Wildcats at Canadian Friday

Playing good basketball only in spots, the Pampa Harvesters went down to their second defeat in the hands of the Canadian Wildcats Friday night, 35-24, in Canadian. With Captain Troy Manessoff his shooting, the Harvesters seemed to be lost although Cash, Stalls, and Moory were finding the basket.

Cash was the high scorer for the Pampa team with 8 points, while Stalls found the basket for 7 and Moore for 6. The two guards, Roberts and Kahl, accounted for the rest. The team seemed stale from so many long trips and hard games during the last two weeks.

As in the previous game the Wildcats were led to victory by the fleet-footed Sherman on the Canadian forward line. He was again shooting straight and passing accurately to his teammates.

The Harvesters will journey to Miami tomorrow night to play their return game with the Warriors, which is the home game.

Members of the Pampa Tennis club held an enthusiastic meeting last week and interest in the coming season was keen. The recent spring-like weather has gotten into the blood of tennis enthusiasts and the first of the week will see the club members at work on their courts.

Several new members will be admitted to the club this season, some of which are well known in the tennis world, especially H. D. Lewis, who last year ranked in the first ten in the state. W. A. Bratton has also signified his intention to get into the game the state's attack in the trial, declared he knew nothing about it," but it is one of the allegations. Of course, the defense will have to prove it before the hearing could be called a mistrial.

He admitted that proof of such an allegation would arbitrarily force the court to call it a mistrial.

Walsh and his associate, Richard Cantillon, declared to amplify the allegation, merely pointing out that it was in the motion. They refused to disclose any evidence they had as proof of such assertion.

District Attorney Asa Keyes announced that Hickman and Welby Hunt, his 16-year-old "pal" will have to stand trial for the murder of C. Ivy Thoms, Rosehill druggist, who was shot down Christmas Eve, 1926.

The announcement came as a surprise, it was generally believed that the second charge against Hickman would be dropped, since a jury found him sane in the Parker murder trial.

Hickman, together with Hunt, must appear before Superior Judge Hardy next Wednesday morning for trial. A short delay is expected by the prosecution.

Edison's Opinion

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison, celebrated his eighty-first birthday at his winter home here today by eating strawberries for luncheon, a delicacy not often allowed him by his wife, participating for the first time in a public observance of the day, and granting his annual interview to newspapermen.

Religion, moral standards, Lindbergh, and rubber came in for comment from the inventor, who wrote with a stubby pencil answers to questions submitted to him by the interviewers.

Replying to a question whether he thought modern Americans were drifting away from religion, he said:

"They are drifting away from superstition and bunk," adding that increase of scientific knowledge was responsible for the fact that 11,344 churches in the United States reported no additions in 1927."
