The West Foster grouch says folks are having a good time at night, but he finds some slight comfort in the thought that they can't fall through the ice.

Democracy seems near a collapse when folks like Mrs. Gushway simply can't find any statesmanlike qualities in anybody they know. The smart man is usually one you don't know much about.

If the governments, local, state, and national tried to enforce the laws as the federal government has to convict Hauptmann, we might get some-where in this country.

Gray county needs a recreational park. Some owner of suitable land could endeavor himself to county residents, present and future, by donating a suitable site.

On every cold day, folks tell us that it was colder than we reported. Then, several days later, we are criticized for reporting that Pampa was the coldest spot in Texas. Funny!

Musing of the moment: Remember that little duty of paying your poll tax? Well, time is short for paying it this year. True elections will be few, but if prohibition repeal is submitted—as seems likely—you may wish to vote. And don't forget that we've warned you. Today is the last day.

Brevitorials
WHAT IS THE EAST thinking and saying about business conditions, the new deal, and similar topics. We put this question to the general manager of THE NEWS, Gilmore N. Nunn, who with Mrs. Nunn has just returned from a business trip which took him to Chicago, New York, Boston, Charleston, S. C., Galveston and Houston. He made contacts with national advertising agencies and manufacturing concerns, presenting voluminous statistics advertising Pampa as a market and as an up-and-coming community and territory. He talked to publishers, bankers, politicians, brokers, and leaders in business, professional, and automobile circles. And, without exception, he said, these men predicted steadily improving conditions. True, some of them thought the improvement might be in spite of the administration measures and the President.

THE MOST SEVERE critics of the administration were, of course, the leaders in the utility business. These men feel that the president is strutting a popular cloak to take attention from weak spots in the new deal. They all admit he is smart, but believe it is unfair to make utility condemnation so broad and all-inclusive. Only a few seemed to sense, Mr. Nunn said, a differentiation between Roosevelt's blow at utilities, and held that he is aiming at the banks and especially holding companies. In contrast to the good utilities and operating companies. They feel that, in the end, the state utility commissions which regulate rates will be the bodies on which the real wrath will fall. They cite the fact that business men are beginning to see the connection between the drive for municipal ownership and the government's group upon private business generally. Fear of crushing control of all private business is calculated to drive the drive for municipal ownership and other socialistic trends.

MR. NUNN is a deep-eyed democrat and an ardent admirer of President Roosevelt, hence he heard with some belligerence some evidence of dissenting or at least skepticism in the ranks of the ordinarily stable democrats of the eastern states. He told us: "I must admit that I heard rock-bound democrats that have been affected the most point out that this is Roosevelt's last chance to prove his programs and theories of recovery and prosperity. They class him as a gambler who rode into the arena as an idol under unusual circumstances, shot ten dollars, lost, then doubled the ante and is now calling the dice to see whether he gets the twenty dollars back or loses all. They all seem willing to stay with him through this next drastic shot, then if he loses, look out—if he wins, they believe he'll come back to the 'right' and follow more sane and generally acceptable theories. They're even going to such a sacrifice as admitting that though farm prices were boosted 45 per cent of the way back, the biggest factor in the AAA program was an act of God—the drought—that though, including CWA, more than two billion dollars was spent to remedy unemployment, 400,000 more persons are out of work than a year ago; that with all of his new labor boards and policies, 10,000,000 more man-days of work were lost by strikes, etc., than in 1933; that even with foreign treaties, and improved

Urge Dirigibles As Competitors Of Fast Liners

1800 ATTEND THREE DANCES FOR CRIPPLED

700 BUY TICKETS TO THREE BIRTHDAY BALLS

The second celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday here was a huge success, socially and financially. There has never been anything like it in the city. It was unprecedented in gaiety and in numbers, and far exceeded the expectations of the optimists.

A check-up this morning revealed that approximately 700 persons paid admission to the celebrations at the Southern, the Pla-Mor and the Schneider, and that 1,800 persons, including women, attended the three dances. A tentative report showed that 700 paid admission to the three affairs.

The birthday cake brought a total of $375. The 21 candles on the cake were auctioned off to the highest bidders and some of them sold for $4.50 each. The first half dozen candles sold for an average of $3 each. Half of the cake was sold to R. G. Allen at auction at the Schneider for more than $22. The rest of the cake was taken to the Southern where it was sold for 25c per slice. The cake had only 21 candles because in the Roosevelt family no more than that number are ever placed on a birthday cake.

Expenses incurred by the general committee in making the celebration the unusual success it was amounted to about $175. The tentative report showed receipts $49 at drug stores, $29 at the Southern club, $194 at the Pla-Mor and $184 at the Schneider. The Southern club appeared to be the popular rendezvous of the dancers, and the crowd there was not a crowd but a jam.

Bruno Rebukes Wife After Her Turn on Stand
NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—The New York Times says today that Mrs. Bruno Hauptmann was rebuked by her husband, Bruno, after her effort to furnish him an alibi on the witness stand at the Fleming trial yesterday.

I Heard . . .
From Russ Allen the following announcement: "Because I am unwilling to receive congratulations on something for which I am due no credit, I wish to advise you that in successfully bidding on the cake at the President's ball last night, I was representing a syndicate composed of married men who do not want to be known as cake givers. The syndicate was headed by Lynn Boyd, Bill Fraser, Mel Davis, C. P. Buckler, and Earl O'Keefe."

World Leadership in Aviation Proposed By Committee

BY THOMAS J. HAMILTON, Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—A proposal that the United States meet the competition of racing speed foreign liners in the North Atlantic passenger service with dirigibles—government-built but privately operated—was made to congress today by the aviation commission.

The recommendation was one of several designed to maintain for this country "a position of world leadership" in aviation it was predicated like the others, on the findings of the commission, which was named by President Roosevelt and headed by Clark Howell, Atlanta newspaper publisher.

With a suggested permanent aviation commission guiding civilian aviation policies, the investigating commission suggested to congress that lines of heavier-than-air craft be encouraged by subsidy for transatlantic and transpacific routes, that airmail contracts should be on a strictly commercial basis and that, in the military branch of aviation, a new dirigible and more airplanes would be valuable.

The commission took cognizance of the transatlantic race between nations for passenger service, a race in which the most recent entrants are the high speed, superliners now being completed by Great Britain and France—by saying: "The United States has so far failed to build new liners of immense size and speed to compete across the North Atlantic with the new vessels supported by the British, French, German, and Italian governments. . . . Speed at sea is being pushed and the economical limit that part of the mails, express, and passengers should go by air. The airship promises here an effective and economical answer to the super-ship."

The North Atlantic volume of mail, express, and passengers is relatively enormous on account of long-established trade and cultural relations," the commission said, "and there is a good prospect that, once established in public confidence, an airship line should become self-supporting."

Government construction with operation by a private company for a rental based on net income, was considered the most desirable form of subsidy.

Mindful of the plea by Dr. Hugo Eckener, German dirigible expert, for permission to buy helium, the non-inflammable gas produced solely in the United States, the commission is expected to report that it is possible to avoid destructive competition by negotiating trade and traffic agreements based on American control of helium and terminal facilities.

'ALFAFA BILL' APPLAUDED BY LEGISLATURE

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO STOP FORCED SALE OF REAL ESTATE

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 (AP)—"Alfafa Bill" Murray, former governor of Oklahoma, has made a vivid impression on the Texas legislature. A resolution was adopted in the house today stating his talk yesterday marked him as "a profound scholar, statesman and philosopher" in contrast to some impressions he was a "political opportunist."

Another resolution was prepared requesting the University of Texas to employ Murray as a professor of government and inviting him again to become a citizen of Texas, his native state.

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Texas house today passed 105-19 a bill to re-enact a law declaring a moratorium on the forced sale of real estate. The bill was similar to a law passed by the last legislature and held unconstitutional because it impaired the obligation of contracts.

Authors asserted the Texas supreme court's decision was contrary to the federal constitution and a strictly commercial basis and that, in the military branch of the United States supreme court. They hoped for senate approval tomorrow.

The bill would authorize district judges to suspend real estate sales in mortgage proceedings in worthy cases.

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Texas house today strongly endorsed the federal public utility construction program.

The house adopted a resolution by Representative J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene commending the federal trade and the federal power commissions for investigating interlocking systems of holding companies.

Bradbury said hydro-electric projects financed by the government had effected reductions in utility rates in many communities while federal loans to construct municipal utilities promised more relief.

CITY MANAGER AT FORT WORTH WORKS MEETING

To Gain Information About Possible Projects

City Manager C. L. Stone left today for Fort Worth to attend a state-wide meeting called to discuss public works projects desired under the President's huge program to end unemployment.

Mr. Stone was given instructions this morning at a called session of the city commission.

The city manager is expected to learn how much federal money will be available, whether it will be in the form of self-liquidating loans, grants, or through relief projects, when applications must be filed, and numerous other details.

Mr. Stone and the city commission have been discussing such projects for several months and the city manager has tentative plans which call for an expenditure of about $900,000—if the federal government will do such things as build locate the more than four billion dollars he has asked. The Fort Worth meeting will make known what the people of Texas desire, so that details may be placed before Congress in support of the appropriation.

Magician, Bishop On Program For Ladies Tonight
Pampa Rotarians will have their annual ladies' night banquet at the Schneider hotel this evening with President R. Earl O'Keefe as toastmaster.

The principal address will be by Bishop Robert E. Luecy of Amarillo, who will be introduced by W. J. Smith, local attorney.

Kentucky 'Army' Moves To Stamp Out Crime Gang

ARKANSAS IS OFFERED FOR EXPERIMENT

INVITES GOVERNMENT TO PUT WALLACE PLAN TO WORK

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 31 (AP)—A tentative proposal to offer the state of Arkansas to the national administration as a proving ground for new experiments in the new deal was made today in the state legislature.

Rep. Leo F. Nyberg of Helena advanced the idea through a concurrent resolution submitted in the house.

Calling attention to a suggestion advanced earlier this week by Secretary Wallace, author of a proposal for an "economic supreme court of the people," that the proposal be tried out within a single state, Nyberg asked the Arkansas legislature to invite Wallace to address a joint session of the assembly on what he had in mind.

The house quickly adopted the Nyberg resolution without a record vote and sent the resolution to the senate after the author had taken the floor to say: "This resolution puts Arkansas on record as being the first state to take steps to let the people really rule."

Wallace recently prepared creation of a powerful group of four men, known as "economic councilors," to be appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate, who would pass on key questions of national policy and submit them to popular vote in a test state.

The decision of the people on that question would be binding in the voting territory. And such decisions could not be set aside by the courts.

Death Comes to Famous Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Richard Washburn Child, attorney, writer, and former ambassador to Italy, died at his home, early today from pneumonia.

Child, who was 54, caught cold several days ago and the cold developed into pneumonia. He was named ambassador to Italy by President Harding.

The funeral, it was learned, will be held Saturday. Interment will be at Newport, R. I.

Claim Ring Headed By Prominent Official

BY ALEX McNEILL, Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.
MANCHESTER, Ky., Jan. 31 (AP)—National guardsmen and state police rolled into this foothill town today in a surprise move to break up what adjutant General Henry H. Dehardt called "an automobile theft ring headed by a prominent official."

The force, commanded by Brigadier General E. Carter, halted on the outskirts of Manchester a few minutes after the long string of 13 national guard trucks and half dozen state police cars closed up.

A score or more of people poured out of nearby houses. Some afoot and some on horseback, they preceded the soldiers and police into town. Citizens rushed to the main public square at the trucks rolled in. Heads popped out of windows as the troops formed in the square.

The guardsmen and police, about 150 in number, were issued full rounds of ammunition at London, in an adjoining county. They met a quiet reception.

Machine gun and hand grenades, and nauseating gas guns as well as rifles were in evidence. The 110 soldiers and some 40 state police stood in shivering groups in the square, waiting orders to details.

From the crowd which soon grew to several hundred, there was heard a chorus of "come on, come on," and "let them have it," there was some one with an emphatic "glad they came."

Construction of the first of 24 modern cottages will be started immediately by H. B. Carson on lots at the corner of Kingsmill avenue and Purviance street. Mr. Carson operates the Pampa Tourist court, which is across the corner from where the new cottages will be located.

Mr. Carson's plans call for the cottages to include a bed-sitting room, kitchenette and bath. He estimates that the total cost of the 24 cottages will be $10,000 and this morning he took out a building permit for that amount.

Mr. Carson has been a resident of Pampa for the last 8 years. He is a believer in Pampa and its future and his only regret is that he cannot erect more and better homes in Pampa.

Construction of the J. C. Carroll apartment house on North Frost street will be started soon. The contract for the $15,000 building was let this morning to Glover and Boyington, local contractors. Material has been ordered and construction should be completed within 60 days.

The apartment house will be stucco and erected in a court design. There will be four apartments of four rooms each and four apartments of three rooms each. Each apartment will be modern with built-in features.

PROPRIETRESS DISCOVERED IN BURNING HOUSE

SHE IS TRUSSED AND GAGGED AND IS UNCONSCIOUS

BY WILLIAM A. KINNEY, Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Fannie Rivkin, 43-year-old proprietress of a Bronx beauty parlor, who had offered to testify for the prosecution in the Hauptmann trial, was found today gagged and trussed in her burning establishment, the apparent victim of an attempt at murder.

She was rescued by the superintendent of the building, who noticed smoke coming from the beauty parlor, and entered to find the woman lying unconscious on the floor, a rope tight around her neck, a metal gag in her mouth and her hands and feet securely bound.

Mrs. Rivkin was revived by an ambulance doctor, but her condition was such that she could give no immediate explanation of what had happened to her. She had apparently lost consciousness when her frantic attempts to loosen the rope around her neck caused it to tighten instead.

When she was revived, after nearly an hour's work over her, she started babbling hysterically.

"I'll say I don't know. I'm not going to tell. I swear," she cried out several times.

Two days ago a New York newspaper (Journal) carried an interview with Mrs. Rivkin in which she said that Mrs. Bruno Hauptmann used to come to her shop for beauty treatments and that $10 and $20 tips were commonplace with her.

At Flemington Attorney General David T. Wilentz said he had not yet determined whether he would call Mrs. Rivkin and declined to indicate the nature of her possible testimony.

The beauty parlor is located at 2655 Third Ave., Bronx.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 31 (AP)—Two men with a ladder in an automobile appeared at Princeton, N. J., in the afternoon of the day Baby Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. was kidnapped and slain and neither was Bruno Richard Hauptmann, a defense witness testified for Hauptmann today.

Lou Harding, a laborer of Trenton, N. J., said the two men asked him the way to the Lindbergh estate.

Just before him on the witness stand August Van Henke testified he saw Hauptmann in the Bronx on the night of March 1. He was the fourth person to support this alibi.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 31—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's defense sought today to break the state's circumstantial murder evidence chain with a third alibi witness to place Hauptmann more than 60 miles away from the kidnapping and murder of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

Louis Kiss said he saw Hauptmann in Christian Frederickson's Bronx bakery-restaurant shortly after 8 p. m., March 1, 1932, the night the child was stolen. His word supported the testimony given before him by Elvert Carstrom, 27-year-old carpenter's helper, and Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, wife of the defendant.

The cross-examination was made to admit on cross-examination that he bootlegged rum before repeal, and Carstrom was forced to resort to a constitutional right when Attorney General David A. Wilentz asked him about his activity in Brooklyn after he visited the bakery in the Bronx where he said he saw Hauptmann. Carstrom said the answer would incriminate him, but later explained he was "in the company of women."

Both witnesses were closely cross-questioned on dates and places as the state sought to show they had poor memories.

Refuses To Answer
Kiss said he read of Hauptmann's story of taking Frederickson's police dog out on the night of the crime, and then he remembered that he had dropped into a Bronx bakery for a cup of coffee on that night. He called Defense Attorney

Back at Old Trade and Happy

"Back to the mine" isn't the punishment for Miss Ida Mae Stahl that the term implies for most people. A state ban imposed a year ago has been lifted, and she's shown here, working at the job near Cadiz, O., back at the trade

she followed for more than 20 years. "I'm happy to make some money to pay off the debt on our house and get off the relief rolls," declares Ohio's only woman coal miner. "Housekeeping'll be only a sideline for me from now on."

Mastadon Bones Are Discovered Near Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 31 (AP)—Bones of a mastadon, which roamed this section thousands, perhaps millions of years ago, have been discovered on the Miller farm in the Clio community about 14 miles northeast of Brownwood.

The find is considered of great geological importance by Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the bureau of economic geology of the University of Texas, who has been here to see parts of the skeleton. The skeleton eventually will be placed in the bureau's museum at the university.

The discovery was made by Chris and Thomas Hoover, who live in the Clio community. They were walking on the Miller farm when they saw what appeared to be a rock in the bank of a drainage ditch which is about 15 feet deep. They uncovered a perfect tusk six feet long and 12 inches in diameter at the base.

The youths, members of the Boy Scouts, realizing that the discovery might be important, told Scout Executive G. N. Quiri at Brownwood and the three notified Dr. Sellards. He came here at once and made a preliminary investigation and will return later to direct unearthing of all of the skeleton that can be salvaged. In addition to the tusk a molar was found which measured about 10 inches long by six inches wide. Dr. Sellards took it to Austin. He said that the six-foot tusk is the most perfect he has ever seen. It is not decayed, chipped, nor broken.

Rules for Making Bed Linens Given Bluebonnet Club

A display of pillow cases and sheets was examined by the members. Those present were Mmes. John Clark, E. E. Clark, Willard McAdams, T. F. Britten, Milt Williams, and the hostess.

HAUPTMANN WITNESS WON'T ANSWER

REPLY WOULD INCRIMINATE HIM, HE SAYS

ATTORNEY HOLDS MAN WAS NOT IN BRONX DURING 'SNATCH'

BY WILLIAM A. KINNEY, Associated Press Staff Writer.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 31.—The placid young Swedish carpenter, Ever Carlstrom, faced further cross-examination today on his story he saw Bruno Hauptmann in a Bronx bakery-lunchroom the night of the Lindbergh kidnaping.

For the past 20 hours detectives throughout the metropolitan New York-New Jersey area have been checking every detail of his testimony, and the state expected to use all the information developed in these investigations in an attempt to discredit the witness and his story.

Cross-examination of Carlstrom finally got under way at 10:25. Q. Now you testified yesterday you saw the defendant only once and that was on the night of March 1, 1932 in the bakery?

A. Yes. Q. And you testified you were up in the Bronx that night to see a young lady who lived near the bakery, a young lady of whom you were very fond?

A. Yes. Q. Did you see her?

A. I didn't. Q. Oh you didn't?

A. It was too late. Q. But you said that was why you went up there that night?

A. Yes. Q. The witness told Wilentz he fixed the time that he went to the Bronx Bakery by the subway clock.

Refuses To Answer Q. After visiting the bakery Carlstrom said he went to Brooklyn, about 1 a. m.

Q. What did you do there? Carlstrom did not answer for a long time, and Wilentz asked if he understood the question.

Reilly interposed, suggesting that the witness might feel that it might incriminate him.

"Will your answer incriminate you?" Wilentz asked.

"Yes," said Carlstrom and an answer was not required.

Q. Tell me what time you left Brooklyn?

A. About 5 in the morning. The witness said he finally got back to Dunellen at 9:30 a. m. He was employed as a caretaker at an empty house there.

The attorney general then directed the witness to return to his account of seeing Hauptmann on the kidnap night, Carlstrom said. The prisoner was reading a paper when he saw him in the shop where Mrs. Hauptmann was counter girl and waitress.

Carlstrom said "as far as he could see," Hauptmann was reading a newspaper that night in the bakery.

The witness, prompted by Wilentz, admitted he had no engagement to meet "Esther" but came to the Bronx with expectation of meeting her.

Wilentz asked the witness to identify Arthur Larsen, with whom he boarded in the Bronx. Larsen arose from a chair near the prosecution table and Carlstrom said he remembered him.

Q. Arthur Larsen worked in Dunellen with you?

A. Yes. Q. He stayed in that house with you?

A. No, he lived in the Bronx. Q. But he didn't go home to the Bronx every day he worked?

A. No. Q. He stayed in Dunellen at night?

A. Yes. Q. Slept in the same house with you?

A. Yes. Q. You never said a word about Larsen yesterday?

A. Because you never asked me. Wilentz began reading yesterday's record to show that Carlstrom testified he lived alone in the house in Dunellen.

Q. The truth is that you never left Dunellen on any week day night, except the week-end?

A. I never left on week-ends. I left the night of March 1.

Q. Don't you remember you and Larsen both slept in that house the night of March 1?

A. No, I don't. Wilentz asked Carlstrom if he would believe it if the house owner, Christiansen, showed records to prove it.

"I don't think so," the witness said.

Q. Mr. Christiansen came out to Dunellen to take possession of the house in the end of March?

A. He came out in middle of April.

Q. Didn't Mr. Christiansen take you back to New York on April 2, 1932?

A. No. Objects To Records Wilentz had Christiansen's book of records, but Reilly objected to having the witness refer to it.

Carlstrom asserted he "would believe my own testimony" rather than Christiansen's records.

Wilentz brought out front pages of a New York newspaper, bearing photographs of Hauptmann, taken at the time of the arrest.

Carlstrom said he did not recall seeing the pictures. If he did, he said, he did not recognize them as the man he saw in the bakery the kidnap night.

At one pause in the questioning Carlstrom glared at Arthur Larsen, the man who allegedly told the state he and Carlstrom slept in the same house in Dunellen on the kidnap night. It was the first time his placid expression had changed.

Wilentz ended his examination of Carlstrom and Reilly asked him about his duties at the Dunellen house.

The witness said it was his duty to live there and care for the fire. Larsen, he said, came to paint the inside of the house. The painter came to the house some time after he arrived and remained about a month. Larsen, he said, lived in the house.

Carlstrom explained that when he ordered a meal in broken English at the bakery Hauptmann laughed at him. He said he "got a good look at him" then.

The witness told Reilly he was "in the company of women" between 1 a. m. and 5 a. m. after he left the bakery.

Wilentz brought from the witness that he had left the Christiansen house unguarded that night.

"Playing hooky on your birthday?" Reilly asked. The witness nodded.

"You didn't play hooky on any other birthdays that year, did you?" asked Wilentz.

Kiss Testifies The by-play between counsel ceased and Carlstrom was excused. Louis Kiss, a bald, cadaverous looking man, was the next defense witness called.

Q. Where do you live? A. New York City.

Q. What's your occupation? A. Silk painter.

Q. How long have you been in the United States? A. In 1922.

Q. Where do you come from originally? A. Hungary.

The witness spoke with an accent which made him difficult to understand.

Kiss told of his various places of employment in New York City.

Q. On March 1, 1932, were you in Frederick's restaurant in the Bronx? Read 'Dog Article' A. Yes, but I find out it was Frederick's last Sunday.

Q. And when you read the article about the dog, what did you do? A. I jumped up and I says to my wife—"laughter".

Q. Never mind what you said to your wife. It was about the article in the paper? A. Yes.

H. then related how he notified Reilly.

In broken English, Kiss told of his appearance as a defense witness. He said he saw the story of the trial in the paper and went out last Sunday and called Reilly's Brooklyn office. He said he was told to report Monday at the office and on Tuesday he came to Flemington.

The witness told of getting lost during a subway trip to the Bronx March 1, 1932. He took a bus and finally got off to inquire his whereabouts.

"I found a man," he explained, "who told me where the subway station was."

Q. And where was that subway station? A. 233rd.

"When I left the man I looked at my watch. It was 8:15. I saw his bakery lunch room on my way to the station, so I dropped in for a cup of coffee," the silk artist went on.

Q. What time did you arrive in the bakery? A. About 8:15.

K. Who waited on you? A. A lady.

Saw Bruno With Dog Kiss told of a man entering with a police dog.

Q. What happened? A. The lady came from serving the coffee and the man said in German to her "somebody wanted to take the dog away."

Q. You got a good look at the man? A. Yes.

Q. The restaurant was well lighted? A. Yes.

Q. Did you see the man in the courtroom? A. Yes.

Kiss stood up and with long arm pointed at Hauptmann.

Kiss, prompted by Reilly's questions, said he connected the man, the dog and the incident with Hauptmann after seeing his trial pictures in the newspapers.

The witness said he connected the bakery incident with Hauptmann also from the radio report of the kidnaping, March 1.

Reilly concluded with Kiss, brought out that he was not connected with Hauptmann nor related to "anyone in the courtroom."

Direct examination concluded and a 5 minute recess was taken at 11:16 a. m.

At the conference before trial started, the defense counsel complained of quotations in morning newspapers from prosecution counsel that statements of defense witnesses would be investigated for possible perjury.

Justice Trenchard advised them to submit affidavits of any irregularities if they chose. No immediate action was taken.

Court resumed at 11:28 and the state took Kiss for cross-examination.

Attorney General Wilentz conducted the questioning.

Q. When you saw the dog you recognized the man? A. I looked up and recognized the man.

Q. But because of the dog? A. Yes, and because he spoke in German.

Q. When you saw the pictures in 1934 you didn't recall that was the man? A. No, it didn't come to me.

Addresses Recorded Kiss recounted for Wilentz his career in the United States after arriving in 1922. He said he worked as a bus boy while living in Yorkville in 1924. He was a chauffeur at Cedarhurst seven months and went back to New York in 1925.

As Kiss continued his recital thru the succeeding years, Captain John J. Lamb, of the New Jersey state police, recorded every address given.

for checking the witness's story. Wilentz then had the witness relate in detail the various employments he held since he has been in this country. Kiss recited of street addresses, the names of numerous employers, the exact duration of each job whether it was a few days or few months, and other data.

Only once did he falter when he was telling of a Batik studio he had "at 63rd Street and Eighth Avenue."

Wilentz asked if Kiss were sure there was such a corner in New York at 63rd Street and 8th Avenue. The witness said he wasn't sure whether it was Eighth or Ninth Avenue, although he lived, worked and received mail at the studio for a year.

This questioning interlude over, the silk painter went confidently on with his recital.

Wilentz called the witness's attention to direct testimony that exactly one week before the Lindbergh kidnaping he had taken his sick seven year old son to the hospital.

Q. Sure of that? A. Yes.

Q. Couldn't be mistaken? A. No.

Q. You'll stand on that statement? A. Positive.

Wilentz asked him details on the hospitalization of his boy on Feb. 22, 1932, the name of the doctor and the departure from his home.

Wilentz read Kiss his previous testimony that he took his boy to the hospital "exactly one week" before the kidnaping.

"One week exactly is the 29th of February," Wilentz said to the witness.

Fisher interrupted to point out that 1 a. m. in the morning, when the boy was taken to the hospital, would be the 23rd of February.

Wilentz suggested the Kiss' testimony be accepted as he gave it.

Kiss told of making "rum" from alcohol and flavoring. He said he was taking two pins to a friend in the Bronx when he got lost the night of March first.

Q. Did you give this rum you made to friends just as a charitable? A. Oh no, no, they paid.

Q. How much did you sell it for? A. $1.25 a pint.

The delivery of rum was about 9 p. m. Kiss said, after leaving the restaurant.

Kiss said he had not been drinking his "rum" that night.

"Kiss' memory for the second time became hazy as Wilentz pursued the rum sale questions. The witness said he could not recall whether the delivery of the two pint was the first or second to the customer in the Bronx.

During the quiet badgering of the witness, Hauptmann sat forward in his chair, hand on chin, listening intently.

Wilentz objected to Wilentz' question: "So it was shortly before midnight, February 27, that you took your boy to the hospital?"

A delay for examination of the record followed.

Wilentz released the witness and Reilly asked him when he called a doctor. Kiss said "about midnight."

Reilly asked that the record, which stated the call was made at 9 p. m., be corrected. Justice Trenchard declined, saying "You may question the witness."

Kiss said the departure for the hospital occurred at 1 a. m. of February 23. He was excused and the noon recess was called at 12:27 p. m.

Love Letters of Maj. Shepard Are Heard in Trial

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 31. (AP)—The love letters and the long dead romance of Maj. Charles A. Shepard and a blonde young stenographer confronted the retired army medical officer today in his second federal court trial for murder.

Containing such terms as "my darling Charley," and "my darling sweetheart," they will be presented as evidence by the government in an effort to prove its contention that the 63-year-old physician fatally poisoned his second wife.

Mrs. Zenana Sheppard, that he might be free to marry the blonde stenographer from Texas, Miss Grace Brandon.

Miss Brandon, who later broke with the defendant, was the ace prosecution witness in the major's first trial which ended in his conviction and a life sentence. S. S. Alexander, United States district attorney, said the stenographer would be called probably late today or tomorrow.

Constantly at the side of the slender grey-haired defendant, is his third wife, the former Alice J. Witt, of Denver. She turned her head away yesterday as glass jars containing portions of the viscera of the second Mrs. Shepard were presented in evidence.

SENATE IS COOL TOWARD ALLRED PLANNING BOARD

Bare Majority Given Recommendation For Passage

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 (AP)—Fate of Governor James V. Allred's recommendation for establishment of a Texas planning board to coordinate state and federal recovery programs was watched closely today in the legislature.

United support was not in prospect in the senate. Only a bare majority of its state affairs committee voted to recommend passage. In sharp contrast, the house jammed the bill through by an overwhelming 117 to 15 majority.

Governor Allred told the legislature the proposed state agency was vital to a long-range, planned recovery program. Legislative sponsors frankly admitted recovery programs was watched closely today in the legislature.

Senators in committee questioned its feasibility. They pointed to many applications for federal funding pending before various federal administrations and asked if the new board would not disrupt procedure.

Senators gave the administration 30 to 1 support on a series of emergency bills to conform state statutes with national housing act regulations. The ninth bill of the series, held up for revision and broadening, also was ready for the senate action today.

The biennially recurring question of corporate employment of legislators was another item on the senate's agenda. Decisive action was anticipated. The immediate question was adoption or rejection of the resolution demanding publication of names of employers or legislators.

Behind that, however, was insistent demands of Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth for a thorough investigation of conditions which prompted house authors to write "It is commonly believed and talked . . . that members of the legislature are representing interests antagonistic to and conflicting with the interests of the masses of the people."

Senator Rawlings had prepared an amendment to authorize an investigation. He said much testimony had been volunteered. In addition, the senate invited the four banks to relate the basis for the preamble statements in the resolution.

Still other proposed investigations into governmental affairs awaited house action. The latest proposal was by republican W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi, who demanded an inquiry into the disposition of public money.

His resolution stated rumors were current "to the effect that state funds are being unwisely expended by numerous state departments." Many, he added, had not been audited for several years.

Committee study was underway on a resolution providing for an investigation of investment of public school funds by the state board of education.

Terraced Land Increased Crop 37.5 Per Cent

Land terraced and contour listed increased the first year's crop 37.5 per cent over the adjacent unterraced area on heavy silt loam soil, says Harley A. Daniel, acting director of Panhandle Experiment Station at Goodwell, Oklahoma.

The experiment was started January 28, 1934 and the furrows were left open until May 16, the time the plots were planted to Tepary beans. The ridges were mowed out with a lister and the beans planted in a narrow row. Both the terraced and unterraced plots were cultivated alike throughout the season.

The total rainfall from the time the terraces were built until the beans were harvested was 11.8 inches, and that which fell during the growing season was 5.8 inches. When the effective rainfall was calculated from rains in excess of 3 inches and less than 2 inches, only 3.4 inches of water were available for plant growth.

The yields from both the terraced and unterraced plots were low, compared to a normal season. The terraced plots made an average of 672.2 pounds of hay per acre, and the unterraced area made only 488.7 pounds per acre. These data show the importance of holding the water in place when it falls, since the yield of hay was increased 183.5 pounds per acre from only 3.4 inches of available rain throughout the entire growing season.

Since terraces during the last three years at this station have increased the crop yield an average of 32.8 per cent per year over the adjacent unterraced land, the director believes that each farmer in the Panhandle region should terrace and contour list as much of his crop land as possible during the winter and spring months.

New Enrolment At College Now

CANYON, Jan. 31.—The first semester is over at the West Texas State Teachers college and new students may enrol until February 6. Many new courses are being started for the benefit of those who are just entering college. Fees can be paid for each nine weeks period.

Examinations have gone on for two days, but they will not be followed by an intermission.

Among the changes at the half-way mark are two in the English department where Miss Margaret Wiley and Miss Mattie Swayne will change places with Miss Fanny Cherry and Miss Polly Pearl Crawford of the English faculty of the University of Texas. The exchange will continue until June first, according to arrangements made by President J. A. Hill and Dr. E. E. Fronberger of the local college and President H. Y. Benedict and Dr. J. B. Wharey of the university.

More About Bridge

CHICAGO, (AP)—It was contract bridge that doomed their romance from its inception, Mrs. Allen Bessler, 22, testified in superior court. She and her husband, 31, quarreled from the nuptial date in 1929 until last Monday over bridge, she said, making six years in all. The quarrel terminated Monday when they separated. Judge Rudolph F. Desort awarded her a divorce and custody of her year-old daughter.

CROWDS LARGE AT CAPITOL'S BIRTHDAY BALL

Dance Bigger, Better Than One Held Last Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—A happy "thank you" was President Roosevelt's response to his nationwide birthday party.

While Mrs. Roosevelt and other members of the family sat listening at a table of honor at a brilliant birthday ball, the president spoke over the radio from the white house to tell the nation of his gratitude.

Declaring that 70 per cent of the proceeds from the dances held throughout the country would go to care for infantile paralysis victims in their home communities, and the remainder for prevention research, he said:

"I need not tell you of my own deep personal happiness that my birthday is being made the occasion for aiding this splendid work. . . . To all of those who are so generously helping the cause of crippled children everywhere, I also send my thanks and best wishes."

After a birthday dinner with her husband, Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Anna Boettiger, her son, Elliot, and the latter's wife, went to the gala hotel party. A blast of trumpets heralded their entry through an aisle formed by soldiers and sailors in dress uniforms.

Attended by white house aides and seated near members of the cabinet, their wives and leaders of Washington society, they heard the chief executive toasted by entertainers to outbursts of applause.

It was a bigger and better ball than last year. The crowds that strained at the corridor ropes as Mrs. Roosevelt passed were larger. She wore a striking costume of light blue, silver and white ermine and carried a huge blue fan.

HEALTH FUNDS GROW AT HUGE RATE FOR PARTIES

QUARTER MILLION AT BIRTHDAYS IN NEW YORK

BY FRANCIS CARPENTER, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Jan. 31 (AP)—Happy Americans, smiling just as broadly as the honor guest, had a huge time at the nationwide birthday party given President Franklin D. Roosevelt for the benefit of infantile paralysis sufferers throughout the land.

Health funds grew as the fifty-third birthday of the president passed into history to the accompaniment of cheers, laughter, and dancing from New York to Frisco and from Dixie to the Great Lakes. Thousands of dollars were raised for the fight against infantile paralysis.

The 900 patients at the Warm Springs Foundation and their relatives cut a huge cake which bore the inscription "Happy Birthday, President Roosevelt." The cake was five feet high and it bore 53 candles, although the Roosevelt family doesn't count above 21 when it comes to birthdays.

The children here gave a costume show, dressing up to depict famous personages of the day.

Last year the Warm Springs Foundation, which President Roosevelt was instrumental in organizing after winning a fight against infantile paralysis, received $1,000,000 from a national birthday party. This year the money raised by yesterday's celebrations will be divided between local agencies and a national research fund.

The president in a nationwide radio broadcast from the White House last night told persons attending 7,500 birthday balls of his gratitude for the celebration.

"I like this kind of a birthday," he said.

The Roosevelt family enjoyed a birthday turkey dinner at the White House. The birthday fruit cake, true to Roosevelt custom, bore only 21 candles.

It was a monster celebration in New York—almost a quarter of a million people joining in the fun. The president's mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, marched at the head of a procession into the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria.

Eight thousand invited persons attending 7,500 birthday balls at Hollywood.

The smart Colony club at Palm Beach, Fla., was crowded with fashionable folks. Tickets for this affair brought from $10 to $250.

FOSSIL BEDS FOUND
CANYON, Jan. 31. (AP)—One of the largest fossil beds yet discovered in the Texas Panhandle has been found in the Palo Duro state park near here.

C. Stuart Johnston of the Department of Archaeology at West Texas State Teachers college and D. G. Vieaux, of Eustis, Fla., made the discovery while looking for geological specimens.

They unearthed fossilized bones of a horse, a rhinoceros, dogs, camels, mastodons and turtles. Johnston estimated that the bones were five million years old.

The fossil bed will become a laboratory for a class of 19 students of paleontology at W. T. S. T. C., Johnston said.

CLERK'S ERROR MAY TAKE LIFE OF DALLAS MAN

Date on Commutation Of Sentence Is Incorrect

DALLAS, Jan. 31 (AP)—In the shadow of the state's electric chair because of a clerk's inadvertent mistake, Cecil Short, 23, today sought an attorney to aid him in his complicated fight for existence.

The youth, convicted for the slaying of a 75-year-old negro during an $11 robbery, heard Judge Nolan G. Williams formally sentence him to death yesterday after it was discovered a commutation to life imprisonment granted by Ex-Governor Miriam A. Ferguson had been dated seven months prior to commission of the crime.

The trial court assessed the death penalty and the court of criminal appeals sustained the verdict, but Governor Ferguson granted clemency. Several days ago Judge Williams asked the youth for the proclamation for use in entering it into the court's minutes.

Short hugged the proclamation and refused to let it leave his sight, explaining "it means life to me and no one can have it." Judge Williams asked a photostatic copy from the secretary of state. It was then the error was detected.

Meanwhile, Short had given the commutation to his mother. She returned to her Denton county farm home and today the youth sought her. She had conferred with attorneys and the condemned boy did not know his attorney's name. He admitted he needed him badly.

Judge Williams said he did not expect the death sentence to be carried out, adding that he did not wish to "be a party to thwarting justice by making it possible for Short to get out of serving his life sentence because of a clerical error in the governor's proclamation." He admitted the mistake "obviously was a typographical error."

Judge Williams set the execution date for March 8.

SQUARE DEAL SENDS APPEAL TO ROOSEVELT

GARNER AND SPEAKER BYRNS OF HOUSE SENT WIRES

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 31 (AP)—The Square Deal association, bitter anti-Long organization, has appealed directly to President Roosevelt for a congressional investigation of conditions in Louisiana under Huey Long's dictatorship.

The plea was made on the eve of the scheduled resumption by Long of a court "inquiry" into what he charges was a plot to assassinate him.

The hearing, before an East Baton Rouge district judge, is due to be taken up Friday where Senator Long left off last Saturday after presenting a witness who testified to a conspiracy against Long's life.

The congressional inquiry was requested by the Square Dealers thru their executive committee and Lee O. Lester, vice president and acting head of the association.

The request carried an "absolute dictatorship exists in Louisiana depriving our people of their constitutional rights of suffrage and liberty and called on the president and congress to name a committee of 'nationally known men who are not political office holders . . . to study the situation in detail, to read all our late so-called laws, to ascertain for you how completely our people have been subjugated and to report back to you and to congress as quickly as possible.'

The appeal was wired to President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, and Speaker Byrns of the house.

Long's charge of an "assassination plot," the appeal said, "is recognized by every thinking citizen of Louisiana as an attempt to intimidate by a frameup those who oppose him."

RABBITS SLAIN
PLAINVIEW, Jan. 31. (AP)—About 3,000 jackrabbits, part of the vast army which has been feeding on West Texas farm crops, were killed in a recent drive near Hart in Castro county.

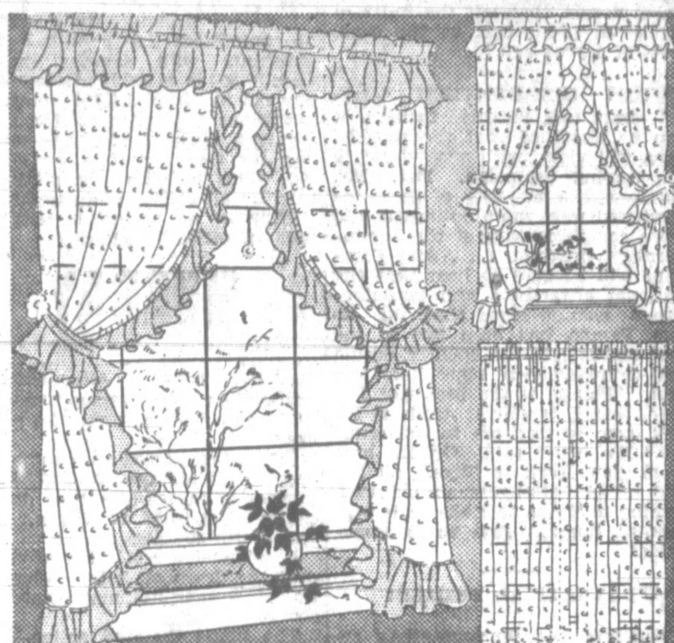

About 100 hunters closed in on the rabbits, shooting those that broke through the lines and hemming in the others.

Other hunts are planned soon in an effort to thin the ranks of the long-eared pests which cause thousands of dollar damage annually.

Girls, Gorillas To Play Friday, Saturday Nights

There will be basketball in Pampa this week despite the fact that the Harvesters are on a road trip.

Canadian will provide the opposition for the local teams on Friday night. Goodnight will send two teams here Saturday night.

The opening game each night will be called at 7:30 o'clock. Admission will be 10 cents for students and 25 cents for adults.

Both visiting clubs will be making their first appearance on the local floor. The teams are expected to be evenly matched and good games are predicted.

The Amarillo Sandvettes were to have met the Harvestettes, but Miss Kathleen Milam, Harvestette coach, received word this morning that the Sandvettes had disbanded for the season.

Coach Harry Kelley's Gorillas have been showing some fancy basketball recently. He has some promising material and the visiting teams are due to receive stiff competition.

Texans Captured By Clovis Posse

CLOVIS, N. M., Jan. 31. (AP)—Sheriff Bob Thomas of Curry county said today he had received verification of the statement made by Albert Wallace, captured late yesterday with Raymond McGwiggins by a posse southwest of here, that he was wanted for car theft in Quitman county, Texas, and is under bond for an appearance there February 4.

No replies have been received to inquiries sent to Oklahoma concerning the car abandoned by the men in sandhills when it ran out of gas and there has been no definite identification of McGwiggins, who claims Ardmore, Okla., for his home.

McGwiggins is suffering from a bullet wound in the right leg below the knee. He says he received the injury Saturday night.

Thomas said no charges had been filed against the men.

DIRIGIBLES

ticular reason for a Pacific service "in that the most essential of all intermediate stopping-places, the island of the Hawaiian group, are under the American flag."

Establishment of a non-partisan commission to regulate air civil aviation, with a membership of "not less than five and not more than nine" was recommended. This commission would have authority to determine rates and firm rates and issue payments without which air lines could not operate.

The commission said that because of its special problems control over aviation should not be given to a general transportation agency at present but that the president should have authority to merge the air commission later by executive order.

Air-mail contracts should be "on a strictly commercial basis" and in the case exceed total revenues from that service and additional payments at present necessary for every line should be allocated by the new agency from a lump sum appropriation. It suggested an annual subsidy of $7,000,000, an average of 16 cents a mile, with the largest amount 25 cents.

The report recommended the commerce department continue its regulatory and inspecting services, proposed a new post of assistant secretary of aeronautics, and suggested that the weather bureau be transferred from the agriculture department because forecasting now is more important to aviators than to farmers.

Has Good Luck

Luck has bestowed its broadest smile on Dolores Montez, above, exotic character who won the Chicago world's fair beauty contest. Miss Montez has been taken under the wing of Billie Burke, widow of Flo Ziegfeld, for screen tests, in the hope that she can be placed in the cast of the film depicting Ziegfeld's life.

Murder Case at San Augustine Goes to Jury

SAN AUGUSTINE, Jan. 31. (AP)—The Lee Purrrish murder case went to the jury today after the prosecution had demanded that the reputed backwoods moonshiner be sent to the electric chair for the killing of Lonnie Hooper, 15, and the defense had asked acquittal on the grounds of insufficient and unreliable evidence.

Lonnie Hooper and his brother, Ewell, 19, were shot to death last Oct. 11, in the hill country 15 miles northwest of San Augustine.

Purrrish was indicted in both slayings and was on trial for Lonnie Hooper's death.

The defense, in closing arguments, bitterly attacked the testimony of Boss Brown, backwoods farmer, around whose statements the state constructed its case. Brown claimed he saw the fatal shots fired in the direction of the Hooper boys after he and Parrish, riding horses, had followed them along a country road. John Anderson, defense attorney, contended that Brown's testimony conflicted with that of every other witness as to the actions of the defendant on the day of the double killing. The defense had called nearly a dozen witnesses who claimed Parrish was unarmed that examination when ridden near the scene of the shooting.

Edward J. Reilly's office last Sunday to tell about it, he said. Reilly took the Attorney General David T. Wilentz continued an effort began yesterday to discredit the alibi testimony of Carlstrom and caused that witness to resort to his constitutional right not to answer a question which he said would incriminate him.

The question, concerning his activity in Brooklyn after he left the Bronx bakery the night of March 1, 1932, was answered, however, on redirect examination when Carlstrom explained he was "in the company of women."

Wilentz indicated in other questions that he intended to call Arthur Rosen for rebuttal to testify that Carlstrom spent the night of March 1, 1932, in a house at Dunellen, N. J., and could not have been in the Bronx.

Kiss said that when he read Hauptmann's testimony in the newspapers, the dog, the Bronx and the Lindbergh kidnaping broadcast at the time, all became connected in his memory.

"I jumped up and I says to my wife," he began, only to be cut off by state objection.

He said he was in the bakery and a man came in with a dog. "What happened concerning that man?" Reilly asked.

"That lady who served me the coffee," he said, "came from the back and that man about two or three feet in front of me met that lady and that man saying to him in German, 'Somebody want to take away the dog,' that is the way now I remember the whole thing, because he saying that in German. Then I looked up at the man and I drink my coffee and I walk off. I forgot the whole thing."

"What did the man say in German to the lady?" "Je man hat voll das dog—das hund vehmannen."

He translated it to "Somebody wanted to take the dog away." "Now, did you see the man in the courtroom," Reilly continued.

"Yes, sir." "That you saw come in with the dog and speak these words in German?" "Yes, sir."

"Kiss stood up. He stretched a long arm toward Hauptmann. 'Right there,' Hauptmann stood up. 'Is that the defendant you are speaking of?'"

"Yes, he confirmed. Defense Attorneys Object—Before Carlstrom's cross-examination was resumed today defense attorneys called the prosecutors before the judge's bench for a long whispered conference. It was learned later the defense was complaining of published statements purporting to have come from the prosecutors to the effect that defense witnesses would be investigated for possible perjury.

Garner Is Set—A year ago there was talk, very high up in the party, of putting up an insurgent republican as the Roosevelt running-mate. Now the talk is all for the renomination of Vice President Garner.

In every state (except Huey Long's Louisiana) the democrats are building up, and relying on, a down-the-line democratic state organization, and frowning on all conditions. Of course if any disgruntled republicans want to go along, they are welcome, but they are not encouraged to expect favors.

There are a lot of possibilities in that. A return of the insurgents to the republican camp would be calculated to aggravate greatly the struggle for control already raging there.

relations, the U. S. foreign trade (comparing on gold basis, which is only comparable figure to use) was at the lowest ebb of the depression years; and that industry, N. R. A., etc., broke all over the place with an explosion that left the index of industrial production at the exact level of a year ago."

WHEN DISGRUNTLED democrats talk in this fashion, it can be imagined that the republicans will view with vast alarm the coming campaign. But, Mr. Nunn said, a majority of those interviewed were more optimistic and more complimentary of the administration program.

And Pampans will be glad to hear that the national advertisers and manufacturers acknowledged that, for its size, Pampa has been one of the best markets in the country during the depression—in some lines the best. "Pampa is the best spot I've seen, and I wouldn't trade it for any town or territory in the country," Mr. Nunn said.

planning board. Administration leaders hoped for passage tomorrow. The house had approved the measure.

The senate passed and sent to the house a bill appropriating $7,350 for salaries of judges of special district courts established in Gregg, Rusk and Smith counties.

It adopted a resolution of regret over the death of J. C. Adams of Dallas, former national democratic committeeman.

The house deferred action on a resolution to appoint a committee to inquire into expenditures by state departments pending a proposal to group several prospective inquiries. Departments not audited recently would be investigated.

OUR POLITICAL PRIMER:

Senators and representatives receive the same annual salary—$30,000, minus the five per cent cut under the economy act. They receive the same mileage—20 cents per mile coming to and from sessions.

A representative is allowed $5,000 annually for clerk hire, provided the amount is paid not more than two persons and that no one person gets more than $3,900. The allowance for clerks of house committees varies with the importance of the committee. Each committee clerk may have from one to five assistants.

In the senate, committee clerks and their assistants serve as office help to the senator who is chairman of the committee. Thus a senator's secretary is clerk to his senator's committee and may have as many as 10 assistants. One of the major committees of the senate has a payroll of more than $25,000 annually, while a lesser one gets an allowance of only $11,400.

Senators without chairmanships of committees are permitted four assistants with salaries ranging from $1,800 to $3,900 set by law. This amount to about $10,320 annually. Stationery allowances for senators run about $19,500 per session and for representatives about $6,000. This includes the stationery used by all offices and committees.

They pay no postage or telegraph tolls on official business.

RETURN OF UNEMPLOYABLES TO BE HALTED UNTIL BILL PASSES

BY THOMAS J. HAMILTON JR. (Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—The federal government, an authoritative source disclosed today, has called a temporary halt in its drive to return "unemployables" now remaining on its relief rolls back to the care of states and localities.

Although PERA officials said the goal of their campaign is in sight, it was indicated officially that the aged crippled and other "unemployables" still left on the rolls would be allowed to remain there until after President Roosevelt's social security program is enacted.

Last month, Harry L. Hopkins, emergency relief administrator, said he would seek to remove all 1,500,000 "unemployable" families from the federal rolls to state and local care. The first deadline mentioned was Feb. 1—tomorrow—but later it was indicated the transfer would be a more gradual process.

The campaign thus has been progressing several weeks. Now, officials said today, only 150,000 families in this classification are wholly dependent on the federal dole. Statistics on how many are partly dependent were not announced.

PERA officials said that after the president's security plan is passed, the old age pensions and aid to dependent children provided in it will care for the majority of unemployables.

They said also that the $880,000,000 for relief in the $4,800,000,000 work and relief bill now before congress will help provide for unemployables until the states, aided by the social security program, can assume the burden. Another function of this $880,000,000 is to help provide for able-bodied jobless while the government is swinging through its transition from dole to work relief.

"WHITE PARADE" OFFERS MANY HEART THROBS

Described as one of the most human and dramatic screen stories of the year, Jesse L. Lasky's "The White Parade," a Fox film production, will be seen at the La Nora theater beginning Friday.

Loretta Young and John Boles play the leading roles in this first of all films to deal with the student nurse—her training days, her heart aches, and her happiness in service. To judge from advance accounts, the picture sets a new high for faithfulness to life and for discovering heart throbs, pathos, and laughter in the most realistic of material.

Student nurses—the girls nobody knows! These are Dorothy Wilson, Muriel Kirkland, Astrid Allwyn, Frank Mellon, Walter Johnson, Jane Darwell, Frank Conroy, Sara Haden and Joyce Compton.

A notable cast is lined up in support of the two leading players. Among them are Dorothy Wilson, Muriel Kirkland, Astrid Allwyn, Frank Mellon, Walter Johnson, Jane Darwell, Frank Conroy, Sara Haden and Joyce Compton.
