Twinkles Our London correspondent says that coaches of sports have no social standing in England. Oh, well, neither do losing coaches over here.

Old Mother Earth is pretty smart, but her progress through the orbit might be a bit faster if she were streamlined. Yet, come to think of it, that would make Christmas bills come more often.

Sounds queer, but Pampa now has an all-paved highway to Oklahoma City and soon will have one to Fort Worth and Dallas.

If we understand Mr. Alfred correctly, anyone who thinks 'he won't like the state penitentiary and its bill of fare would do well to stay away from the place.

Tree belt projects remind us that the frontiersmen have ridden many a mile to find a tree on which to hang horse thieves.

Well, about all we know is what we read in this paper, and we put in about all we know, so that explains why we're so (?) smart.

Musing of the moment: Gene Shackleton was teasing his 7-year-old grandson, John Austin Hughes, about 'singing like a bird.' 'You'd better not sing like that out in the yard,' Gene told him, 'the birds might not like it.' Replied John Austin, 'Well, I just made a 'C' in my music so I don't think the birds will object.'

Brevitorials NOW IS AS GOOD A time as any to 'discover' the Harvesters. Contrary to a general assumption, the lads do not hibernate during the winter and come out only for spring football training. They are playing a game called basketball. We hear that it is the same activity which was being played on a windswept outdoor court when we came to Pampa back in February, 1927. Northerners were more frequent in those days. Sometimes pebbles which seemed as big as basketballs hit the spectators in the face, but it is a fact that audiences of that type were just about as big then as now.

WE WHOOPED IT UP editorially for the gymnasium and we've never regretted the fact. The city really needs several gyms. . . . It might be as good a time as any to learn more about this indoor football game called basketball. . . . This is the final examination period and most of the students have had things—statistics and such—on their minds. . . . The opposition tonight is almost unbelievably tall, if advance reports are true.

PROFESSIONAL sports are fairer in some respects than amateur games. Lightweight fighters battle other lightweights. But a big bustling football team faces plucky but luckless little gridder. Tall basketball players play against short ones. Some coaches and fans are of the opinion that something should be done about these human bean-poles. Some of them wish to lower the baskets for the benefit of the little fellows. The standard height is ten feet. Others would raise the baskets to 12 feet on the theory that this would be fairer to the midgets. 'Dunking' of goals by elongated basketballers is rather easy if your head is by nature up in the stratosphere and your arms are proportionately long. . . . The coach up at Missouri U. is experimenting with a basket that is 2 inches larger than the present one and with using the same-size basket with balls that are 2 inches smaller in diameter. . . . After you watch a few games, you may be an advocate of one of these changes. You may wish to move the bank-board inside the end boundaries a few more feet to lessen the number of throw-ins. . . . Our thought is that we might develop curbside coaches in basketball as in football. Such mentors are lamentably mediocre but better than fan silence—and absence!

OUR POLITICAL PRIMER: There are four different methods of voting in the federal house: in the senate usually only two. Since there are only 96 senators, votes are taken either viva voce or by roll call. In the house, with a membership of 435, in order to conserve time a roll call is employed only when absolutely necessary. Usually the speaker puts the question: 'Those in favor say 'aye'—those opposed, 'no.' If the speaker is in doubt, or if it sounds close, any member may ask for a division. In this case those in favor stand up and are counted then those opposed do the same. The speaker does the counting and announces the result. If he still is in doubt, or if a demand is made by one-fifth a quorum, tellers are ordered. The speaker appoints one member on each side of the question to make the count. The two tellers take their places at the head of the center aisle. All

'Tri-State' Gang Leaders Captured By Federal Agents

'YOU LIE!' TELLS MRS. HAUPTMANN

DEATH CHAIR IN RICHMOND AWAITS PAIR

TWO ARE UNDER DEATH SENTENCE IN VIRGINIA

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (AP)—Robert Mals, 29, and Walter Legenza, 41, who shot their way out of a Richmond, Va., prison, and three other members of the 'Tri-State' gang, were arrested in New York, the department of justice announced today.

The other three under arrest, Frank Fay, of the department of justice, said were Mary McKeever, 34; Martin Farrell, 28, and Edwin Gale, 23.

Mals was surprised in an apartment at 8 Manhattan Avenue at 3:30 a. m., and was captured in bed. Federal operatives and Philadelphia and New York police had surrounded the apartment house, and entered the apartment door, so unexpectedly that Mals had no time to reach for a .38 calibre automatic pistol that was at his side.

The first taken into custody were Farrell and Gale, seized in a mid-town hotel yesterday morning, Fay said. Legenza next was located in a Manhattan hotel, where he was receiving treatment for a broken leg. His arrest took place last night as did that of the McKeever woman who was visiting the patient.

Fay, who is head of the intelligence division of the department of justice here, said 'The arrest of these five criminals, so far as we know, the tri-state gang.'

Mals and Legenza shot their way out of a Richmond, Va., prison Sept. 29, 1934, killing one prison guard and seriously wounding two others. They were under sentence of death for the slaying of the custodian of a U. S. small truck.

Fay said that after their escape they robbed government armories in Baltimore and Norristown, Pa., to obtain weapons.

The two also had been sought for questioning in connection with the kidnaping of William Weiss in Philadelphia last November. Ransom of $8,000 was paid for his return, but Weiss is still missing.

'Double'

The discovery of the marked similarity of appearance between Frank Scanlon, Menlo Park, N. J., really man, top, and Bruno Hauptmann, below, may be used by the defense to confound state witnesses who testify they saw Hauptmann near the Lindbergh home at the time of the kidnaping. Scanlon, it is reported, was at Houewell on business then.

HOUSE RECEIVES ALLRED'S STATE PLANNING BILL

Board Would Include Seven Appointed By Governor

AUSTIN, Jan. 18. (AP)—A bill to establish a state planning board, backed by Governor James V. Allred and regarded as the base on which state recovery will be laid, was introduced in the Texas house today.

It carried numerous signatures. It would set up a board of seven. The secretary of state would be an ex-officio member and six would be appointed by Governor Allred for two, four, and six year terms. Members would receive no salary but would be paid their expenses.

The bill recommended an appropriation of $12,000 to support the board until August 21, 1935. Governor Allred has advised the legislature that a planning board was necessary for Texas to obtain its full share in the national government's public works recovery program. The board would initiate project investigations and prepare data for submission to the PWA.

TWO ARRESTED, WHISKEY AND MASH SEIZED IN SHERIFF'S RAID ON STILL NEAR LEFORS

RAVINE HOLDS 2,700 GALLONS OF MASH ON NORTH FORK

Sheriff Earl Talley led his deputies on an excursion yesterday afternoon which resulted in confiscation of a huge whiskey still and arrest of two young men found at the site about 7 miles southeast of Lefors.

Acting on a 'hot tip,' Sheriff Talley and his men made a circuitous approach after wading the North Fork, afoot. The still was hidden in a dry ravine which runs into a small tributary of the North Fork. The officers were able to get within 10 feet of the still, peering over the wall of the small ravine, before they made themselves known.

No one was in sight but voices were heard in a small tent. Sheriff Talley shouted for the men to 'Come on out, hands first.' One man emerged.

'How many more are there in that tent?' asked the sheriff. 'One more,' said the first man. The second man was ordered out and the two were searched. No weapons were found. Leaving Deputies Ben Lockhart and O. T. Lindsey to guard the arrested men and the still, Sheriff Talley and Deputy Siler Hopkins went to Lefors and telephoned to Pampa for a truck to haul the still.

Before dark, the metal parts of the still were brought to Pampa and the wooden vats, holding 2,700 gallons of mash, were destroyed with an ax, releasing the foul-smelling fluid into the creek bed.

The location was within 50 yards of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad, near a trestle. Water for the still was taken from a creek bed and fuel from an old gas well 400 feet away. The gas was carried through strings of garden hose.

The end of the ravine had been spaded down so that an old car could be driven down out of sight. The tent, vats, coil-tank, and other equipment, likewise, could be seen only at the open end of the ravine, from the north. Several cases of whiskey were ready for removal and the still was in full operation when found. About 400 gallons of mash liquid was used every 24 hours, it was estimated. Substantial supplies and considerable food was on hand. The still evidently had not been operating many days. Lumber in the mash vats was bright and new.

Future Clouded

Arthur W. Cullen, the grain speculator, famous for his activities in the Chicago pit, is pictured above as he attended a hearing before a cabinet tribunal in Washington, when his defense against charges of disguising grain future deals was presented. A month is expected to elapse before a decision will be reached on whether or not he will be barred from further trading on U. S. Grain exchanges.

McLean Poultry Judging Contest Opens Tomorrow

MLEAN, Jan. 18.—Tomorrow the McLean P. A. chapter will conduct a poultry judging contest for the Vocational Agriculture students of the entire Panhandle district, to which 25 schools have been invited.

Barbara Mdivani Leaves For Egypt

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (AP)—Princess Barbara Hulton Mdivani, heiress to the Woolworth millions, sails tonight for the sunny skies of Egypt and a reunion with her husband, the roving Georgian Prince Alexis.

Neighbors Dies Of Broken Neck And Other Hurts

Arthur Neighbors died in a local hospital at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon of injuries received Monday morning in the south Pampa oil field. Mr. Neighbors received a neck fracture when struck on the head by a joint of tubing, while at work on a Texas company well.

Bruno's Pale Wife Accuses Her Neighbor

TURMOIL BREAKS OUT AS SHE SHOUTS AT WITNESS

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 18. (AP)—Justice Thomas W. Trenchard at the request of prosecution defense counsel, today determined to adjourn court over Saturday.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 17. (AP)—Anna Hauptmann, who said 'It's a lie' as Mrs. Ella Achenback, a 'surprise' witness for the state said that Mrs. Hauptmann came to her one or two days after the Lindbergh kidnaping and told her that she and her husband had just returned from a trip.

'You lie, Mrs. Achenback, you lie,' the pale faced wife of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, on trial for murder in the kidnaping, shouted. This was the second outburst in two days, Hauptmann himself having given the lie to a federal agent yesterday.

The courtroom was in turmoil. Spectators leaped to their feet as did the members of the two legal staffs.

Mrs. Hauptmann's face, usually pallid, was red but she had a satisfied look.

'Whether the defense objects or not, I want that in the record,' Wilentz said with heat. 'This is not the second, but the third time the Hauptmanns have interrupted. I want to know whether they or the court are trying this case. I know the court law.' 'The defendant and his wife are under high tension,' Reilly explained.

MARRIAGE IS PERFORMED IN GOTHAM HOUSE

JOHN BOETTIGER AND MRS. ANNA DALL ARE WED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—Today's newest, most startling twist to the old Horatio G. Alger story—the marriage of the president's daughter to the news reporter—swept aside all other topics of conversation in the capital.

The minute the President and Mrs. Roosevelt had announced the marriage in New York this morning of Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall to John Boettiger, former Chicago Tribune correspondent here, nothing else seemed to matter in this town of talk.

The Lindbergh kidnap trial, the world court, the gold case, all avidly dissected by yesterday, succumbed to a most minute recapitulation of this romance which had the city aroar months ago, and which rose above all ob-stacles.

In all the years the newsmen have been assigned to 'cover' the comings and the goings and the sayings of presidents, the resourceful and handsome Boettiger, working on an anti-administration paper, and writing articles often critical, was the first ever to marry into the presidential family.

He quit that job in December, but an acquaintance which began in the press car of a political campaign train in 1932 had ripened into romance during his comings and goings as a reporter assigned to the white house—and as a friend there.

In press conferences with the dad of his bride-to-be, he would ask as many questions as anyone. Now and again the president would preface his reply with 'John.'

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (AP)—In a simple ceremony, without flowers or attendants, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, daughter of the president, and John Boettiger, former Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, were married today at the Roosevelt town house on East 65th street.

'They had parental blessings and the president telephoned his congratulations from Washington,' Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said after the wedding.

The couple left immediately by automobile for an unannounced destination on their honeymoon trip. The ceremony took place about 9 a. m., shortly after the license was procured at the city hall.

The marriage culminated one of Washington's pet romances, but it did not come as a surprise to the president's family, Mrs. Roosevelt said.

Great secrecy surrounded the ceremony.

One Killed And Five Injured In Panhandle Wreck

AMARILLO, Jan. 18. (AP)—One man was dead and five persons were injured, two seriously, as a result of a head-on highway crash near Panhandle last night.

A. C. Fletcher, 44, Pampa mechanic, who killed when his automobile collided about 7 o'clock. . . . Gibb Frazier, Pampa, suffered a fractured left ankle and chest injuries, and C. V. Maxwell, Dimmitt, suffered a broken leg and back injuries. They were brought to an Amarillo hospital.

Mrs. and Mrs. M. T. Couch, and Mrs. Mildred DeShong, and C. H. Prather, all of Pampa, were bruised. Mrs. DeShong was taken to a White Deer hospital, and Mr. and Mrs. Couch were taken to Pampa.

Fletcher's body remained at Panhandle pending arrival of relatives. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Couch were brought to Worley hospital in a G. C. Malone ambulance. Mr. Prather was brought to Pampa by a passing motorist, A. Malone ambulance took Mrs. DeShong to White Deer. . . . Mrs. Fletcher, employed here by Tom Rose, Ford dealer, came here from Oklahoma City in November.

I Heard . . . Stanley Kretzmeier receiving congratulations about town this morning. Yes, it's a blond, curly-haired daughter. She has been named Margaret Ann. Mrs. Kretzmeier and baby are home from Worley hospital.

Frank Layd telling about the fellow who got up in the morning, looked in the mirror and didn't see himself, so decided he had gone to work.

Victim Blinded By Lights; Car Crashes Into Rear End Of Loaded Truck. AMARILLO, Jan. 18. (AP)—Harold W. English, 32, Amarillo flier, was killed instantly about 12:30 o'clock this morning when the automobile he was driving crashed into the rear end of a truck three miles east of Amarillo. English was driving toward Amarillo at the time of the accident.

At the time of his death, English was associated with Thornton Oxnard, president of the Amarillo Airport Corporation, in the drilling of a deep oil test near here. . . . Robert Campbell was driver of the truck which was loaded with farm machinery. English was manager and secretary-treasurer of English Field, which he established in 1929 and which was named for him.

COURTS RECOMMENDED. AUSTIN, Jan. 18. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today recommended reestablishment of two special district courts in Gregg and Rusk counties to handle oil litigation and state pronation cases.

I Saw . . . Edward Scott and Stokes Green who have been suffering from bad colds and flu call time out to take capsules at the scheduled time in the Amarillo game last night. Ed has been ailing for a month. Stokes a week. . . . That center on the Tell team that will play here tonight—and he is two and one-half inches taller than the tallest man in Pampa. . . . Clarence (Chick) Barrett, attending the Amarillo-Pampa basketball game last night, taking four of the boys on the team with him. Bob Paine attended the basketball game in Amarillo last night.

HIGHWAY BANQUET BINDS PAMPA, McLEAN CLOSER TOGETHER

CROSS-COUNTY THROUGHFARE IS CELEBRATED

ABOUT FIFTY PAMPANS ATTEND McLEAN EVENT

M'LEAN, Jan. 18.—Gray county, an area divided by geological differences strikingly parallel to the varying climes and soils of the state itself, was bound closer together in its population here last night as Pampans, local residents, and guests celebrated the opening of the cross-county paving.

It was the annual banquet of the McLean chamber of commerce. Attorney Claude Williams presided as toastmaster at the Chevrolet show-room where the event was held. In welcoming the guests, Attorney Thurman Adkins praised the early trail blazers, whose roads meant to pioneers what the new Pampa-McLean paving does to present-day Gray county residents. He said that inter-relationships of neighbors made for friendly cooperation and the mutual well-being that was essential to all. Responding in the same spirit, Travis Lively of Pampa told of the pleasure that his community felt in being bound more closely in friendship and understanding with the south half of the county.

Judge Ivy E. Duncan of Pampa recalled some of the early obstacles to the road and told how these difficulties were overcome. Present Judge C. E. Cary expressed his appreciation and that of the court for the cooperation given by citizens in the completion of the project.

In the stirring main address, the Rev. Gaston Foote of Pampa humorously then with serious logic spoke of three kinds of citizens, those who say "It Can't be done," those who say "Let George Do It," and those who say "We can and we will."

Boyd Meador was introduced as president of the McLean chamber for the third time. In outlining the work of the last year, he recalled that the chamber assisted in getting a widened right-of-way along the Gray-Wheeler county line, assisted in securing transfer of high school pupils to the McLean system, sponsored a trip to the Tri-State fair, held a national housing contest, visited rural communities, and brought Santa Claus to McLean.

Other new officers of the chamber were given as follows: Vice-president, Witt Springer; secretary, W. E. Bogan; treasurer, Thurman Adkins; directors, Jesse J. Cobb, M. T. Wilkerson, W. K. Wharton, C. O. Greene, C. A. Cryer, and E. L. Sitter.

The 1934 officers were: President, Boyd Meador; vice-president, Claude Williams; secretary, W. E. Bogan; treasurer, Witt Springer; directors, T. A. Landers, Ralph A. Caldwell, C. O. Green, Jesse J. Cobb, D. A. Davis, M. T. Wilkerson.

President Meador announced the following committees for 1935: Agriculture—E. L. Sitter, D. M. Davis, A. A. Tampke. Highways—C. O. Greene, Witt Springer, Claude Williams.

Industry—M. D. Bentley, Thurman Adkins, E. J. Lander. Legal—Claude Williams, Thurman Adkins, C. S. Rice. Livestock and poultry—A. A. Tampke, D. A. Davis, M. T. Wilkerson, J. A. Jackson.

Publicity—Jack Gray, R. W. A. Cryer, Rev. W. A. Erwin. Membership—W. W. Boyd, W. E. Bogan, Ralph Caldwell. Trade extension—J. J. Cobb, W. W. Boyd, John Cooper, W. K. Wharton.

Advertising—T. A. Landers, Lee Wilson, Clifford Allison, C. S. Doelen, Geo. Colebank. Civic improvements—T. A. Landers, C. O. Greene, Witt Springer, E. L. Turner, M. C. Davis.

Housing—Earl Subblefield, C. L. Suddeth, T. J. Coffey, W. E. Bogan, B. F. Gray. Mr. Bogan is starting his seventh year as secretary of the chamber.

Brief talks were made by Mason King of the Amarillo Globe-News, T. W. Gilstrap of Pampa, and Olin Hinkle of the Pampa Daily News.

As the group assembled, music was furnished by the McLean orchestra, directed by Prof. Bobt. C. Davidson. T. A. Landers and W. A. Erwin constituted a reception committee. After the singing of "The Eyes of Texas," the invocation was given by the Rev. W. A. Erwin.

The entertainment program included a reading, "The Shooking of Dan McCree," by Mrs. Thurman Adkins and vocal trios by Miss Erdine Benton, Miss Maurine Pearce, and Miss Hester Lester of Pampa, with Miss Lester at the piano.

Out-of-town guests included the following: Amarillo—Ed Hardin, Mason King, Jim Florey, Bob Epperson. Alameda—W. J. Ball, W. E. James, J. P. Eims.

LeFors—Jack Gray, R. W. McDonald, Hank Bretning, A. Carpenter, E. Bacchus, Floyd Bull, E. W. Griffin. Shamrock—Guy Hill, Robert F. Douglas, Lewis Goodrich.

Pampa—F. M. Culbertson, Gustave C. Cary, Jack Gray, Earl Roff, Olin Hinkle, Rev. Guston Foote, Travis Lively, T. W. Gilstrap, Roy Bourland, J. S. Wynne, B. W. Rose, H. L. Polley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fenn, Jack Nesves, Paul Hill, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Leech, George S. Holt.

Handwriting Experts Will Aid Hauptmann

From Europe and distant parts in the United States the defense of Bruno Hauptmann has recruited an imposing squad of handwriting experts to refute the state experts' contention that the German carpenter wrote the Lindbergh ransom notes. They are shown above in Trenton, N. J., with Hauptmann's counsel. Seated are the writing analyst, left to right, Arthur F. Myers, Baltimore; Mrs. Charles Foster, New York; Mrs. Julia Parr, Brooklyn; Mrs. Elizabeth Zangelen, Warsaw, Germany; Rudolf Thielen, Berlin; J. M. Truendley, St. Louis; and G. F. Goodspeed, New York. Standing are James Rao, investigator; Albert Huron, C. Lloyd Fisher, attorney; Chief Defense Counsel Edward J. Reilly; Herbert Rosencranz and Fred Pope, attorneys, and M. ## NINE RECOVERY BILLS FAVORED FOR PASSAGE

Only One Dissenting Vote Cast Against Measures

AUSTIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—The first of the new administration's recovery bills has been placed in position for early action by the Texas legislature.

With only one dissenting vote, the senate state affairs committee recommended passage of 9 bills which would enable Texas to participate fully in the national housing program. Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston was the dissenter.

Senators agreed, however, not to call the bills for floor consideration until next week. They wanted time to study the proposals and determine whether amendments were needed.

A bill to establish a state planning board to coordinate state and national recovery efforts was ready for introduction in the house. Sponsors said they would ask for prompt committee consideration. In his message to the legislature Gov. Allred stressed the need for such a board.

The house entered its eleventh day without any standing committees as Speaker Coke Stevenson strove to satisfy all members in so far as possible in the matter of committee assignments. He said he was virtually certain the personnel of the committees would be completed this afternoon.

The senate received from the house a resolution which would make immediately effective the law enacted at the last special session remitting penalties and interest on delinquent taxes. If two-thirds of the senators vote for the resolution, remission of penalties may start at once. Otherwise the law would not be effective until February 9. The house approved the resolution 115 to 1.

The senate also received a house resolution calling for the appointment of a joint committee to inquire into sources of income of members of the legislature. Answers to the questionnaire would be made public.

During the campaign last summer, Allred urged that legislators be required to state from whom they receive retainers.

The 9 administration bills approved by the senate state affairs committee would revise state limitations to permit financial institutions to invest in government insured loans under the federal housing act. Separate bills were drafted for building and loan associations, mutual insurance companies, banks, casualty insurance companies, life insurance companies, savings banks and other financial institutions.

A. E. Wood of Austin said building and loan associations he represented were in accord with the program, but doubted whether the bills covered all the changes necessary. He said a substitute would be drafted.

Smith Funeral Services Held

Funeral services for A. D. Smith, 46, were conducted at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the First Baptist church at LeFors with the Rev. M. S. Leach, pastor, officiating. The body was sent to Hico today by the G. C. Malone Funeral home.

Mr. Smith, owner of the Gypsy cafe at LeFors, died in a local hospital Tuesday morning after a short illness. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

The biennial report of the Idaho state land department showed an increase in revenue, with 492,754 more acres of land under lease.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
"Life" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 20.
The golden text is: "The Life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and shew unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us." (I John 1:2).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM; and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you." (Exodus 3:14).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Because Life is God, Life must be eternal, self-existent. Life is the everlasting I AM, the Being who was and is and shall be, whom nothing can erase." (page 288).

Huffstutter Rites Conducted In City
The body of Paul J. Huffstutter, 24, was sent to Elbridge, Tenn., by the G. C. Malone Funeral home following services at 8 o'clock this morning in the Church of Christ, LeFors, conducted by the Rev. Pike, pastor.

Mr. Huffstutter died in a local hospital yesterday following a hunting accident the previous afternoon when he fell on the stock of his gun, causing fatal injuries. Mr. Huffstutter was superintendent of the Shamrock Oil and Gas company pipe line division and had been a resident of this county for nearly two years. The family resided east of LeFors.

Mr. Huffstutter is survived by his wife and small daughter, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Huffstutter of Elbridge, and four sisters and three brothers, all of Elbridge.

"THE SON OF MARIE ANTOINETTE" by Meade Minnigerode; (Farrar & Rinehart).
If city editors of newspapers assigned reporters to go into quiet corners and produce books full of human interest, one can imagine a very gifted reporter turning out Meade Minnigerode's "The Son of Marie Antoinette."

Because of what Mr. Minnigerode has written in his charming retreat at Essex, Conn., is the human interest side of that woefully complicated mystery of Louis XVII, the little boy who was, as Mr. Minnigerode points out a number of times, always in the way. The historical side is there, too; several sides to be exact. But the important contribution is not the history, which has been adduced by droves of writers for almost a century and a half.

"The Son of Marie Antoinette" first traces the career of the boy and his parents up to the day on which "Papa King" and his harried family fled to the "protection" of the Assembly, later to be herded into the Temple. Then he very astutely, and at the same time very warmly, reconstructs the life in the Temple; the various removals, the separations, the alterations in the Tower itself, even the accounts. Some of the detail seems fine-drawn, but there is certain "human interest" attached to the number of boxes of peaches consumed by the royal family in a given month, after all.

Against this background of detail, Mr. Minnigerode sets the movements, and the deaths of the King and Queen and others. And finally he arrives at the day when the little boy, now theoretically Louis XVII, is left sadly alone in the Tower, and to a consideration of his various "deaths," the various pretenses, and the whole complicated business that followed.

Authors of importance who died during 1934 include Hal G. Everts, writer of westerns; Louis Joseph Vance, adventure stories; Thorne Smith, author of "Turnabout" and other hilarious novels; Robert W. Chambers, Milton C. Work, and Mary Austin.

Gordon Funeral Is Held Today

Fred W. Gordon, 65, Panhandle pioneer who died at his home nine miles south of Miami yesterday morning following an illness of several months, was to be buried at Fairview cemetery this afternoon following services at the family home at 2 o'clock.

Services were to be conducted by the Rev. J. H. Hamblin, pastor of the Methodist church at Vernon. Burial was to be in charge of the G. C. Malone funeral home.

Mr. Gordon was born in California but 35 years ago moved to a ranch near Clarendon where he lived for a number of years. He later moved to Miami where he started ranching and where he lived until his death.

Surviving Mr. Gordon are his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Kelly Hamblin, Vernon, and Mrs. Durwood Skilton, Clarendon, and one son, Frederick Gordon Jr., Miami. Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. F. P. Heare, Mobeetie, and two brothers, J. W. Gordon, of Pampa, and Ernest G. Gordon of Miami.

Funerals named were W. R. Campbell, Marvin Dautcherty, Joe Herr, B. Heare, Isaac Heare and Harley Talley.

TELEPHONE POLES' FROM TELL TO PLAY HARVESTERS HERE TONIGHT

FAST FOLLETT DON'T FAVORED OVER GORILLAS

HARVESTERS DROP ONE TO SANDIES IN AN 'OFF NIGHT'

Based as heavy favorites before the game started, the experienced and fighting Sandies whipped a struggling Harvester basketball team 27 to 21 on the Amarillo court last night.

On the basis of their performance last night the Harvesters will not be favorites at 7:30 o'clock tonight when they take the field against the amazingly tall "red" Sandies who average six feet and two inches in height. Three of the players on the Childress county rural school team are brothers and their height is six feet five inches, six feet and six feet seven inches, respectively.

Since the Harvesters were "off" last night, by one process of reasoning they are expected to be "on" tonight. At any rate, the boys were optimistic today, and no doubt will exhibit none of the nervousness and hesitancy that characterized their tiff with the extremely chesty Sandies.

Beginning at 7 o'clock, a fast Follett quintet will square off against the Gorillas and perhaps a few members of the Harvester second string. The Follett team is highly favored, and Coach Harry Kelley's boys admittedly will have a job on their hands. The Follett boys wanted to play the Harvesters, but Coach Odus Mitchell had already matched the Sandies, so he matched them against the Gorillas.

The Harvesters and the Gorillas are on the same spot. Until last night, it was believed that the Harvesters had improved a dozen or so points in the last two weeks since they lost by a 20-point margin to the key's Turks who lost by a dozen points to Tall.

Sandies Mix It

Stidger, Eufkin, Peterson and Harlow fighting as if they were playing on a basketball court, but they were not. They were playing in an aggressive, determined manner that won despite the obviously superior floorwork of the Harvesters. That was one thing the Harvesters didn't do—mix it up. They were penalized frequently and they continued their aggressive attack. Referee Frank Kimbrough called 22 fouls, but could have assessed forty fouls.

The Price players who were here last week were softer compared with the Sandies, yet Kimbrough overlooked few if any glaring fouls. The Harvesters simply were not used to the type of fight the Sandies put up and were reluctant to meet them on their own ground—that is all except Maxie Nash.

Nash who has been improving rapidly gave the Sandies competition. He slipped in blocks, and he went after the ball when the Sandies had it.

The Sandies grabbed the lead with the first field goal and kept it until the beginning of the fourth quarter when the count stood 17 all.

The Sandies failed to score in the third quarter when the Harvesters chinked up six points, but the Amarilloans came back in the fourth period, adding nine points.

Green Leads Scoring

J. R. Green was high-point man of the evening. He shot three baskets and made four free shots for a total of ten points. Stidger was next with nine points. Peterson was the hot shot of the Sandie team. In the first quarter, the zone defense used by the Sandies seemed to bother the Harvesters—it was the second time the Pampans have encountered it this year and then against Lakeview in the Mobeetie tournament. It was Peterson's first game of the season. He has been out of school since the state championship football game, but has worked out with the Sandie basketball team. Coach Howard Lynch has virtually his 1934 first team back this season.

The Harvesters will get another chance at the Sandies, Feb. 7, and this time they plan to get revenge for the stinging defeat last night.

The game was rough—so rough that J. R. Green injured the knee that left his leg stiff a month last spring after football training. The injury may or may not keep him out of games in the future. Scott suffered a hip injury that may or may not prove serious. The Harvesters were handicapped by illness—Scott, Stokes, Green and Irving had colds and were taking medicine.

The box score:

Hoppe To Be Here Saturday

Willie Hoppe

It is not often that billiard fans have an opportunity to receive free instruction on the fundamentals of the game, from the world's premier billiardist, but this opportunity is given to the citizens of Pampa when Willie Hoppe, New York City, present holder of two world's titles and known as "King of the Ivorys" appears here at Pampa Athletic club, 115 1/2 W. Kingsmill, at 10 p. m. on January 19, in connection with the national "Better Billiards" program which is being sponsored by the National Billiard association of America. This invitation is especially extended to women.

Hoppe needs no introduction to the billiard fans of this vicinity. Commonly known as the "boy wonder," Hoppe began playing billiards at the age of 8 years when it was necessary for him to stand on a soap box to reach the table. Ten years later he won his first world's title when he went to Paris and defeated the then present champion, Maurice Vignaux. From that time on, Hoppe's name has been synonymous with billiards all over the world. He was born in Corwatt, N. Y., in 1887 and has made his living off of billiards since he became of age.

DETROIT TIGERS ARE GETTING SET FOR NEW PENNANT DRIVE

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, the club that made the turnstile click for the American league last year, were picking up the odds and ends around the front office today, getting ready for another pennant fight without a hold-out in sight unless Schoolboy Rowe decides to hold out—for more pitching assignments.

The business relations between Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit baseball club, and his players are a club secret, and baseball men cannot remember when holdouts worried the Tiger management since Ty Cobb and Dutch Leonard were classed as holdouts.

The start of the Tigers' spring drill at Lakeland, Fla., is six weeks away, but the foundation for another pennant drive has already begun with the order of Pitcher Tommy Bridges and Marvin Owen, the third baseman, to Hot Springs for early conditioning. Alvin Crowder was sold to the Tigers last year just in time to cut in on the finish of the pennant fight, may also be sent to Hot Springs.

The club management already has Rowe's pitching arm under examination to make certain that he will be ready for another fling in a new record for consecutive victories.

Manager Mickey Cochrane is expected to depend upon Rowe, Bridges, Crowder and Eldon Auker to combine their talents in winning the biggest share of 100 ball games in the 1935 campaign.

With the other clubs in the circuit still juggling their prospective line-ups for the next season, it is likely that the Tigers will be the only club in the American league to start the season with the same infield setup that finished the 1934 campaign.

Drizzling Rains Dampen Northern Part Of State

By The Associated Press

Drizzling rains dampened the northern part of Texas today and more precipitation was forecast. Temperatures ranged abnormally high.

A light shower fell in Palestine last night and skies were cloudy today. The mercury did not fall below 58 degrees during the last 24 hours.

Corsicana had 38 of an inch rain and the temperature remained above 50 degrees.

Fort Worth had 30 of an inch. It was cloudy with a temperature of 50 degrees. Dallas had drizzling rain most of the night and likewise had a lower temperature reading of 50.

Austin was cloudy, with .01 of an inch rain.

At San Antonio, the temperature reading of 67 degrees this morning tied the all-time record there for the highest January minimum temperature. San Antonio was cloudy, with rain in prospect.

Abilene had .02 of an inch rain.

Cabbage Prices Produce Pickets

HARLINGEN, Jan. 18 (AP)—Pickets surrounded produce sheds in this section today in an effort to prevent the movement of cabbage purchased for less than $10 a ton, a minimum price set by the Valley Produce Growers' association.

Homar P. Humley, secretary-treasurer of the growers' association, which lists a 5,000 membership, said last night Rio Grande Valley farmers would peacefully picket the sheds and restrain the shipment of cabbage bought for less than the minimum.

The action was taken when the minimum price in some sections dropped to $8 a ton.

THE SPORTS HORN

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Coach Henry Frka of the Greenville high school Lions, 1933 Texas interscholastic league gridiron champions, may join the Northwestern university coaching staff.

Frka returned to Greenville yesterday from Oklahoma City where he discussed the situation with Lynn Waldorf, the new Northwestern football mentor.

"I told Waldorf I was happily situated at Greenville, had a good job and received fine support from school officials and fans," he said. "I would give the Northwestern position serious consideration if offered me but I can't say now that I would accept it."

A number of Frka's admirers are interested in a movement for his employment by Southern Metho-

MORRISON TO ANNOUNCE HIS FUTURE SOON

MUSTANG COACH STILL PONDERS VANDERBILT COACHING OFFER

DALLAS, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Southern Methodist university "sacral caucus," one of the greatest of the nation's forward passing elevens, may be without Ray Morrison, its ringmaster, after today.

Morrison said last night he would definitely announce "within a day or two" his decision whether to terminate 16 years of coaching at the Methodist school for an attractive Vanderbilt university offer.

Secretive about his decision, Morrison merely said, and rather wearily after a month's deep thinking over the matter, "I am anxious to dispel the matter from my mind."

He admitted having conversed by long distance telephone with a Vanderbilt official yesterday but quickly denied the report from Nashville that he had been given 48 hours to make his decision.

A month ago Vanderbilt officials, upon the resignation of the veteran Dan McCullough, tendered the coaching job to Morrison, who was quarterback berth on one of Walter Camp's all-American teams while calling McCullough's signals in a Commodore uniform. Twice he has visited Nashville but has delayed his decision.

Southern Methodist officials have exerted every effort to retain the popular coach and even the Dallas city officials solemnly passed a resolution urging the university officials to persuade Ray to remain here.

Morrison's son Jack, former Dallas high school star, was a shining light on the Vanderbilt freshman team last season.

Business Asked To Give Tips To Administration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Roosevelt administration fashioned today a speaking tube through which officials said, all business men can tell the government their ideas on what the new deal should and should not do.

After a white house conference, Secretary of Commerce Roper announced that his business advisory and planning council, composed of 53 leading business men, had been designated as the agency to receive suggestions about pending legislation or other matters.

In turn, the suggestions will be passed on to the cabinet officers or other officials. The move was in answer to demands among business men that some way of free-ly registering their ideas with high officials be worked out.

H. P. Kendall of Boston, chairman of the council, attended the white house meeting with Roper. He said one of the first subjects to which the council would devote itself should and should not do.

The plan first became known at a dinner given by Roper last night to industrial leaders and high officials. "The watchword of this meeting is cooperation," he said.

Leading business executives also found today that they had some governmental support for a theory held by many of them—that the NRA should be continued on the present temporary basis for a further period.

This belief was announced by S. Clay Williams, chairman of the blue edge board, before the National Retail Dry Goods association in New York.

TOPS IN TABLE TENNIS

CHEWIGNY WOULD PLACE NO LIMIT ON TOSSING OF BALL

AUSTIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—If Jack Chewigny, head football coach at the University of Texas, was allowed to make football rules spectators would become dizzy watching the progress of a ball during a lateral pass play.

Chewigny said he would place no limit on the number of times the ball may be tossed around. Chewigny is of the opinion a liberal interpretation of the rule would make the game more thrilling and spectacular. His views are contrary to those entertained by other football mentors.

Chewigny believes the existing rules, generally, should be interpreted satisfactorily before the book is loaded down with new regulations.

"I am content with the present rule and before adding new ones I feel we should have a better interpretation of the existing rules," he commented. "A clearer ruling as to when the forward progress of the ball has not been stopped and when it has been stopped is necessary."

Chewigny recalled a play in the S. M. U.-Arkansas game which Arkansas scored a touchdown on a lateral pass but the officials called it back, ruling the ball was dead before the lateral was thrown. Many observers, Chewigny said, agreed the play had not been stopped and that the touchdown should have been allowed.

Many of the remedies proposed to cure evils of subsidizing are impractical, Chewigny said.

"A definite code is both impossible and impractical. The only manner in which a code could be definitely established and enforced would be by a classification of schools—a definite code for an "A" ranking schools."

Chewigny said he was in sympathy with the agreement reached by coaches and officials at the national intercollegiate coaches conference to concentrate on preserving the fundamental principles of scholarship and amateur standing among athletes.

Groom Defeated By McLean Boys And Girls Teams

GROOM, Jan. 17.—McLean's two high school basketball teams won games from Groom teams here, the McLean girls winning 50 to 13 and the McLean boys on the long end of a 17 to 14 score.

Miss Preston of McLean was high scorer, followed by Miss Tidwell of Groom. McLean led at the half, 26 to 7, with a fine exhibition of basket-shooting.

Groom's boys led 4 to 3 at the half but the Tiger hoopers got to work in the last half to eke out a win. McLean's Ledbetter was high point man on the floor with 10 points. Kuehler scored high for Groom with 6 points.

Players taking the floor during the games were:

Girls—Groom: Clark, Tidwell, Burdord, O. McDonald, J. McDonald, Brunner, Collins, and Weems. McLean—O. Back, C. Beck, Glenn, Young, Landers, Ayers, Swafford, Preston, Reimer, McCarty, Downer, and Penney.

Boys—Groom: Kendrick, Kuehler, Kimmons, Dodd, Hall. McLean—Tolliver, McCarty, Stratton, Ledbetter, Daniels.

Olin-Lewis Bout Delayed Because Of Aching Tooth

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Madison Square Garden will be dark to boxing tonight—all because of an infected tooth.

The aching molar belongs to Bob Olin, light heavyweight champion. It gave him so much pain that he pleaded for postponement of his 10-round heavyweight match with John Henry Lewis, Phoenix, Ariz., negro contender, scheduled for tonight. After Olin was examined by a state athletic commission physician, an indefinite postponement was granted.

BORGER CLUBS TO PLAY HERE SATURDAY EVE

BULLDOGS FAVORED TO BEAT HARVESTERS TOMORROW NIGHT

The Harvester basketball team will again be the underdogs in a game here tomorrow night with the Borger Bulldogs. The Pampans lost a dull affair devoid of thrills to the favored Amarillo Sandies last night by six points. Last week, the Sandies posted in a game preceding the Bulldog-Harvester clash. The girls' game will start at 7 o'clock.

On the basis of those figures the Bulldogs are rated at least five points better than the Harvesters. The Borger girls will tilt with the Harvesters in a game preceding the Bulldog-Harvester clash. The girls' game will start at 7 o'clock.

Whether the Sandies are experiencing early-season luck or whether they have a better team than the Harvesters and Bulldogs of course cannot be learned until they meet on the court. The Sandstorm was adequately downed last week at Hereford, a team which lost heavily to Tulsa's Hornets who were literally swamped in a game here.

Coach Odus Mitchell is expecting strong opposition from the Bulldogs. He believes they have a better team than the Sandies and will be harder to beat than the Amarilloans. The Harvesters are expected to be fully recovered from their slump at Amarillo last night by tomorrow night, and are due to come back fighting for victory.

Wheeler County Tournery To Be February 15-16

MOBETTIE, Jan. 18.—The Wheeler county conference will be played in Mobettie on February 15 and 16 with seven teams competing. The winning team will go to Pampa for the district tournament.

Teams to compete in the county tournament are Shamrock, Biscoe, Wheeler, Kelton, Lela, Magic City, and Mobeetie.

Mobettie has several hard games scheduled before the tournament. They will meet Wheeler in Mobeetie Friday night. On January 26 and 28 the Hornets will enter the Canadian tournament. Tone and home games will be played with White Deer on February 1 and 2.

The Mobeetie girls' team has been defeated only once this season. Mobeetie and Shamrock will play off for the right to enter the Panhandle basketball league play-off.

Players taking the floor during the games were:

Girls—Groom: Clark, Tidwell, Burdord, O. McDonald, J. McDonald, Brunner, Collins, and Weems. McLean—O. Back, C. Beck, Glenn, Young, Landers, Ayers, Swafford, Preston, Reimer, McCarty, Downer, and Penney.

Boys—Groom: Kendrick, Kuehler, Kimmons, Dodd, Hall. McLean—Tolliver, McCarty, Stratton, Ledbetter, Daniels.

HELPING HAND EXTENDED TO BOSTON CLUB

NATIONAL LEAGUE WILL RESCUE BRAVES AT MEETING TODAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Club owners of the National League met in extraordinary session today to rescue the Boston Braves from the financial rocks.

Just what line of procedure the league would take still was undecided, but President Ford Frick said the special session would continue until a solution is found.

"After a week or so of wrestling with this thing," he explained, "I don't anticipate a great amount of trouble getting things straightened out. Frankly it doesn't look nearly as tough as it did."

In the absence of official comment, baseball observers expressed the opinion that only through complete reorganization could the club emerge from the tangle.

Such a solution, they believed, probably would mean the retirement of President Frick, as well as of Charles F. Adams, who not only is vice-president of the club but holds most of the Braves' mortgages and controls the holding corporation which leases Braves field.

Adams, who has wide-spread business enterprises not connected with sport, has announced publicly he does not care to add the Braves to his other interests.

Several possible buyers, it was reported, have appeared, and from them may come the answer for which the league so fervently is looking. As a last resort, the league itself may operate the club until a buyer can be found.

FIRE DEATH

STATESBORO, Ga. (AP)—Fire Chief W. M. Hagin must have his little joke—and his men must have practice.

Clouds of black smoke caused a general turnout of the citizenry, including the fire department. They dashed to the scene and found a trash pile blazing in a vacant lot. The firemen extinguished the blaze and went back to the station.

Chief Hagin said he had ignited the blaze to give his laddies practice. Statesboro hasn't had a fire alarm in two months.

W. M. Lane was in Amarillo on business today.

ALVIS KARPIS NEAR ARREST AGENTS HOPE

'DOC' BARKER IS HELD INCOMMUNICADO IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Federal agents worked at top speed today to put the finish to the Barker-Karpis kidnap gang, with the arrest of Alvin Karpis, new No. public enemy and remaining "kingpin" of the mob believed to be imminent.

The belief that the government investigators were closing in on Karpis was based on a series of developments including the disclosure of a federal agent at Ocala, Fla., that heavy reinforcements of agents had been sent into that state for a concentration near Miami.

This disclosure, made at the inquest into the death of Fred Barker and his mother, Kate, both of whom were slain earlier in the week by federal agents at Oklawaha, Fla., came almost simultaneously with the announcement that Arthur (Doc) Barker, brother of the slain Fred, was held incommunicado in Chicago. At the same time another report said that they were searching gangland haunts on Chicago's northside for Karpis.

The activities of the federal investigators here, however, were shrouded in mystery, but there were reports that information which might lead to a final cleanup of the gang, wanted in connection with the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker, had come from three women, also held in Chicago in the government's war on crime.

One of the women, whose name was not disclosed, was captured when the federal men caught up with Arthur Barker, but was released recently in Chicago about the same time that the government men shot it out with Russell Gibson, a minor member of the gang, killing him as he emerged from the rear of a North Side apartment.

The other women held were Ruth Hile and Clara Gibson, widow of the slain gangster. When Gibson was shot they surrendered with Burton Bolton, who was identified, the police said, as the "finger man" of the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven Chicago gangsters in a North Clark street garage in 1929.

Hungary Washes Hands of King's Assassination

GENEVA, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Hungarian government officials washed their hands today of any responsibility of the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia at Marseille last October.

Reporting to the League of Nations the present of investigations suggested by the latter in connection with Yugoslav charges of Hungarian complicity, Budapest declared:

"The minutest inquiry shows it is impossible to establish any link, direct or indirect, between the Hungarian government or Hungarian authorities and the assassination at Marseille and that they are in no wise responsible for the crime."

Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, also fell before the assassin's gun.

Hungary, however, found several of its official agents guilty of negligence through inadequate control of cross immigration and punished them.

Two police captains were discharged, an inspector given a month's detention and two gendarmes were sentenced to one month's imprisonment. As a result of the assassinations and the league's resolution, Hungary announced she had instituted a reform by imposing more drastic supervision of foreigners and political refugees, especially in connection with the issuance of passports and visas, and "is convinced she had fulfilled her duty."

Youth Fails To Get Custody Of His Young Wife

LUBBOCK, Jan. 18. (AP)—With his 16-year-old bride declaring that she was unwilling to assume marital relations with him, Truman Jones, 20-year-old Garza county youth, lost out in a habeas Corpus action to seek "release" of his wife from her father, P. C. Wester of Lubbock in a hearing in 99th district court this morning.

Young Jones had brought the action seeking custody of his wife and alleging that she was being detained by her father through force after Wester had filed an abduction charge against him and later had instituted a marriage annulment proceedings.

The abduction charge will be dropped, Wester said following outcome of today's hearing but annulment proceedings will be continued.

The young couple was married here on January 11 and had started on a honeymoon in New Mexico when their car was wrecked near Fort Sumner. N. M. Jones was arrested the next morning and the abduction charge filed against him. He has been free on $1,000 bond since then.

COURT HOUSE NOTES

Two Men Charged
Willie Parks and Johnnie Parks have been returned from Walters, Okla., to face burglary charges. They were held for local officers and returned by Wayne Nicholson, city officer and Deputy Constable W. J. Durpin. The complaint charges that the young men entered Nicholson's house January 5 and took a coat, gun, belt, and other articles.

Liquor Is Seized
Tom "T" has been charged in Justice James Todd Jr.'s court with possession of intoxicating liquor for sale. He was arrested by the constable's department. Small quantities of gin, whiskey, and alcohol were seized.

After Crash in Clouds Killed Two

These two planes crashed high in the air and plunged to earth, one wrecked and the other crippled, two flyers dying in the collision near Murfreesboro, Tenn. The craft were Indiana national guard planes, returning from the Miami air races. Lieut. W. B. Morgan of Indianapolis and his observer landed safely in their crippled ship, shown above, coming down in a cornfield six miles away. The dead airmen were Lieut. Henderson Wheeler and Richard Miller, also of Indianapolis, killed instantly in the wrecked plane shown below.

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Trench and Jerry Mordaunt just have been driven from Farmer Gowland's yard, because he heard their question, Mrs. Gowland about John Osborne. Osborne had boarded with the Gowlands while living at Hambridge; it was he who stole a valuable formula from Molly O'Brien, who with Jimmy Fox, Trench, and Mordaunt, make up a party on the "Seagull." Osborne has been murdered, a d formula has disappeared. Peter Orloff, unscrupulous and cunning, is searching for it also. Molly is explaining Gowland's fury.

Chapter 38
NEW SORTIE

"Well, Osborne wasn't the sort to waste a chance like that," Molly continued. "He'd start making love to her right away, and you can take it from me that she knows something or what happened. I don't know how her husband found out, but he evidently did."

"I guess it knocked him clean off his balance, and since then he's been walking around half drunk and three parts crazy. Doesn't need much to send a man like that over the edge, and when Nick said he was a friend of Osborne's..." she paused.

Jerry looked at her with admiration. "The girl has brains," he remarked. "There's no doubt about it."

"It was Nick's idea in the first place," protested Molly modestly. "I've only worked it out."

"You've worked it out jolly convincingly, anyhow. God, I'm sorry for that wrecked woman! She must have been leading a ghastly life."

"We must get hold of her again alone, somehow or other," I said. "If she's Osborne's friend he may have told her quite a lot about himself. I'm certain she knows something or the wouldn't be so deadly scared."

"Gowland and that brute of a dog are enough to scare anyone," objected Jerry. "All the same I'm entirely of your opinion. Another interview with the lady is distinctly indicated, and with the permission of the syndicate I'd like to handle the job myself."

"Well, you can't make a bigger mess of it than I did," I observed a trifle bitterly.

"It wasn't your fault, Nick," Molly put out her hand and squeezed mine comfortingly.

"I'm not blaming the lad," said Jerry. "Still the fact remains that as far as Mrs. O's concerned he seems to have torn it pretty badly. If we want to get anything out of her we'll have to approach her from a different angle."

"Bluff," returned Jerry. "It's my strong suit as a diplomat. I shall tell her that we've found out all about her relations with Osborne, and that unless she's perfectly frank and answers our questions, we're going to hand on the information to the police. Seems a bit brutal, but that can't be helped."

We sat silent for a moment considering his suggestion.

"It sounds feasible," I admitted; "the chief objection is that after what happened yesterday, I'm not over keen on your going up there by yourself. If his dog's too sick for work that lunatic's quite capable of taking a pot shot at you through the hedge."

Jerry grinned. "I intend to be extremely wary. No one's more pas-

Victoria Field To Be Restricted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—Secretary Ickes has announced plans for development of the McFaddin oil field in Victoria county, Tex., but restricting new wells to five during 1935.

Ickes said the program would be effective until the expiration of the national industrial recovery act or any extension thereof.

"Any and all wells hereafter drilled shall be located in accordance with a well-spacing pattern of not more than one well to 20 acres and all wells shall be drilled so that location in the producing horizon shall conform as nearly as practicable to location on the land surface," he ordered.

"On or before Dec. 10 of each year, the operators shall submit to the administrator for his approval a plan for the number of wells to be drilled during the ensuing calendar year."

The oil administrator also said all production must conform to all locations and quotas made under the oil code and must be without waste "as defined by law and shall be limited to such production as can be put to beneficial use with due regard to the avoidance of inferior uses."

DEATH CHAIR

Fay said, "but it was not necessary to fire a shot."

Miss McKeever had been hunted on a suspicion that she assisted Mals and Legenza in making their escape from Richmond, Va. Mals and Legenza were made through close cooperation of Pennsylvania, New York and federal authorities, said that recent leads as to the whereabouts of the gang had been picked up by New York detectives and federal operatives, and followed up swiftly, culminating in the roundup.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—The department of justice plans to turn Robert Mals and Walter Legenza, tri-state gang leaders captured today in Philadelphia, over to the state of Virginia for execution.

The two broke jail in that state while awaiting fulfillment of the death sentence for murder.

Educator Talks To Kiwanis Club

The drastic changes in living conditions, and governments of Russia, Germany and other foreign countries was interestingly discussed before members of the Kiwanis club today by Dr. H. B. Bruner of New York city, head of the curriculum department of the Teachers college, Columbia university.

He told of his study of the customs of the people in Russia and Germany and of their plans for the future.

A bridge party will be given by the Kiwanians Friday night, Feb. 8, in the hall of the Wynne-Merten building. The entire proceeds will go to the underprivileged children's fund.

Alex Schneider and Pete Post were appointed to meet with a group to form a Kiwanian club here.

Lewis O. Cox was awarded the attendance prize today.

Chapter Masons May Be Formed

Plans for organizing a Chapter Masons order here were discussed at a meeting in the Masonic hall last night. William Hogue, past high priest of Berger chapter No. 437, and O. A. Davis of Pampa were the chief speakers.

Another meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night when plans will be advanced for the local organization.

Those attending last night's meeting were O. A. Davis, I. P. Yoder, G. E. Kinney, W. Hughes, B. M. Bradley, L. E. Thompson, Joseph Maunood, Tom Boyd, E. H. Hester, S. E. Love, all of Pampa, William Hogue and M. E. Nicholson, both of Berger. W. H. Palmer of Higgins.

J. G. Shipley was a business visitor from LeFors yesterday.

Two-thirds of the 1,240 forest fires occurring during the 1934 season in forest region No. 1, Montana and northern Idaho, were caused by lightning.

HOUSE Hearings Might Last Two Weeks On Relief Bill

Fain recalled legislation of parliamentary wagering on horse races was put through two years ago as a rider to the general appropriation bill after the house had defeated a bill on the subject.

He and proposed constitutional amendments continued to pour in.

They included bills to require all public and private motor vehicles to be equipped with safety glass after January 1, 1936; to put state river beds and fresh water lakes on the market for mineral prospecting; to establish a special district court for Anderson, Henderson and Houston counties; to require newspapers to charge the regular rates for political advertising; to place a ten star limitation on collection of delinquent taxes; to authorize the state health officer to fix specifications for milk and milk products; to establish a state board of dental examiners and require dentists to register annually.

A proposed constitutional amendment would authorize a system of workmen's compensation for employees of the highway department.

The senate acted promptly upon Governor Alfred's recommendation to re-establish a special district court in Rusk county to handle oil litigation and state cases. A bill by Senator Joe Hill of Henderson was passed and sent to the house within a few minutes after receipt of the message.

Senator Hill said he would have ready Monday a bill to establish a special court in Gregg county, also urged by the governor.

The senate adopted a memorial resolution to the late Judge J. O. Woodward of Coleman, who was a member of the state board of pardons and paroles and father of former Senator Walter Woodward.

To extend benefits of the firemen's relief and pension act to volunteer and part paid firemen; to require all educational administrative expenses to be borne by the state school fund instead of the general fund; to increase from two to four years courses in North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington, and to exempt from state ad valorem taxation property of young men's Christian associations.

An old but unreported Los Angeles city ordinance forbids the grazing of more than two cows in a certain downtown area of the city where land now is worth up to a thousand dollars a foot.

BRIDGE PARTIES YESTERDAY FEATURE SPRING FLOWER MOTIF

CLUB MAYFAIR AND QUEEN OF CLUBS FETED

LUNCHEON AND PARTY IN AFTERNOON ARE GIVEN

Spring flowers blossomed in mid-winter to form settings for two pretty bridge parties yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. W. J. Smith entertained Club Mayfair with a luncheon at Hotel Schneider and Mrs. A. M. Martini was hostess to the Queen of Clubs.

Tables for the Mayfair luncheon were lighted with yellow candles and centered with flowers. After the meal, three tables of players enjoyed bridge.

Mrs. Arthur Swanson scored high and Mrs. P. O. Sanders second high, and received attractive awards.

Guests were Misses Virginia Faulkner and Margaret Buckler; Mrs. Clyde Fathere, Edward Damon, T. R. Martin, Lynn Boyd, Julian Barrett, John Sturgeon, Arthur Holland, Byard Low, Swanson, and Sanders, all club members.

Mrs. Martini was hostess to the Queen of Clubs at her home, where plants and flowers added to the hospitable air. A table of guests played with three tables of members in the bridge games.

Mrs. H. D. Keys was winner of high score and Mrs. Raymond Harrah of second high for club members, and Mrs. K. I. Dunn of high for guests.

An appetizing refreshment course was served to Mrs. Clifford Braly, Glen Pool, Max Mahaffey, Dunn, and Boston of McLean, special guests, and Mrs. Mack Graham, B. C. Lilly, Carl Smith, J. E. Huggins, Neil McCullough, A. B. Goldston, R. S. Lawrence, Edward Buckingham Harrah, and Keys, members.

Delegate Named To Convention by Episcopal Women

Attendance at the annual church convocation in Amarillo this weekend was planned in the meeting of Episcopal Women's Auxiliary Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Earle Schweg was appointed official delegate.

All members wishing to attend should call Mrs. Schweg or Mrs. Frank Perry. The convocation will begin with a reception Saturday night and extend through Monday. Representatives will be present from every church in the district. All who can go from here were urged to do so.

Mrs. Perry, new president of the Auxiliary, was in charge of the business meeting and gave the opening prayer. Nine members answered roll call.

Plans were made for the colonial tea, an annual event with the auxiliary. It will be given in February. Members also voted to make the holiday bazaars an annual occasion to be held each December. The first bazaar, just preceding the Christmas holidays, was a successful benefit for the auxiliary.

Mrs. Crawford Is Hostess to Club

Mrs. J. C. Crawford was hostess to No-Trump bridge club Wednesday evening at the Crystal Palace. In four games, Miss Mary Patton scored high; Miss Bonnie Patton received consolation and Miss Ouida Brandon the traveling prize.

Decorations were in pink and white, and the prize packages were wrapped in the same colors. Sandwiches and hot chocolate were served, with plate favors of colorful birds holding amusing fortunes.

Mrs. A. J. Swafford was a special guest. Other players were Misses Aline Chandler, Cleo Fendrick, Mildred Plumlee, Claudia and Ouida Brandon, Bonnie and Mary Patton; Misses Lela Branaugh, Juanita Hargis, C. H. Dunaway, and Crawford.

Unusual Service Is Planned Sunday at Methodist Church

An unusual service will be held Sunday evening at 7:17 o'clock at First Methodist church when the pastor, Rev. Gaston Foote, will preach from the subject "George is Dead."

Mrs. Jno. Hooper will play a violin solo preceding the message. Tonight at 7 the board of stewards will meet for supper to make final plans for the campaign to pledge the budget of the church for this year.

REVIVAL WILL BE CONTINUED TO WEDNESDAY

All - Day Services Announced For Sunday

Revival services at Central Church of Christ will be continued through Wednesday of next week, it was announced today, if the weather remains favorable. The revival has been in progress all this week with increasing crowds.

Largest attendance and greatest interest marked the service last evening, the minister, E. M. Borden, reported. Robert R. Price, evangelist, spoke on the subject, "The Great Commission, and held the interest of his hearers.

No day services will be conducted tomorrow, when members will be preparing for three preaching hours Sunday. After regular morning meetings, lunch will be served in the church basement Sunday, followed with song service and sermon in the afternoon and later evening services.

Sermon Topics. Tonight's sermon will continue the discussion started last evening. The subject is "The First Sermon Under the Great Commission. Tomorrow evening the subject will be, "A Divided Christendom."

Mr. Price will speak Sunday morning on "Mission and Work of the Church and Sunday evening on Biblical Definition of the Church. His Sunday afternoon subject has not been announced.

All song services of the revival are being conducted by the local director, A. C. Cox. An invitation is extended the public to attend all meetings.

Elders and deacons of the church, meeting yesterday afternoon, decided to ask Mr. Price to conduct another revival some time during the year.

New Bridge Club Elects Officers

The Who Deal club met Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hatcher and elected officers before starting bridge games. Mrs. Bert Murphy was named chairman, A. E. Shaw, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Clyde Fry reporter.

Mrs. Fry and Mr. Shaw made high scores, and Mrs. Shaw low. Refreshments were served after a delightful evening.

Present were Messrs. and Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse, Shaw, Lawrence Horne, Bert Murphy, Fry; Mrs. Elmer Henderson, Bill Wells, Merle Harmon, and the hosts.

The club will meet next Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Henderson.

Meat Canning Is Demonstrated in Busy Bee Club

"The quality of the finished canned meat product depends primarily upon the condition of the meat animal when it is killed," said Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent, to the Busy Bee club at Mrs. George Puckett's home Wednesday.

"An idea has existed generally that it is good to grade or cull, sell the best, and then when nothing else respectable may be done with the poorer quality of foods, 'can it.' That idea is moth-eaten and is fast being replaced with the slogan, 'Quality raw products for quality canned products.'"

Clyde Carruth, assistant farm agent, gave a meat cutting demonstration for club members and guests. A buffet lunch was served after all had joined in a theme song of thanks to the tune of "America."

Those entertained were Mrs. R. F. Watson, Frank Ferguson, H. L. Grove, J. A. Turrell, D. H. Pond, C. Y. Still, Messrs John H. Rickard, Edd Ralsback, Clyde Carruth, George Puckett, guests of the club.

Mrs. C. W. Stonecipher, W. D. Champion, Floyd B. Boyd, Ralsback, U. H. Hall, Coe, Rickard, Roy Cosner, Puckett, and Miss Adams, members.

PATMAN BONUS BACKERS MAY FORCE A VOTE

BONUS ADVOCATES IN SHARP DIVISION IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Backers of the Patman bill to pay the $2,100,000,000 soldiers' bonus with new treasury notes, surged forward today with a threat to force a vote in the house if administration leaders seek delay.

In an informal caucus that threw into sharp relief a division of opinion among bonus advocates as to just what bill should be pressed, 125 house democrats went on record last night for quick passage of the measure introduced by Rep. Patman (D., Texas).

The commander of the American Legion has come out strongly for the Vinson bill, which leaves to the treasury the method of financing the bonus. Assailing this measure last night, Rep. Gassaway (D., Okla.) said it was a "bankers' bonus bill." He continued the bankers would "get a bonus in interest" thru the issuing of treasury notes.

Foes of the Patman bill, on the other hand, object to its as inflationary.

At last night's caucus, which was called by Patman, Rep. Connerly (D., Mass.) presented the resolution in favor of the Patman bill.

Patman said: "Speaker Byrns promised the democratic caucus an early vote on the bonus. If nothing is done after 30 days, a petition will be filed on the speaker's desk to force a vote on the measure."

"We have 218 votes necessary to force the ways and means committee to report the bill."

Bonus advocates expressed dissatisfaction over the action of the democratic leaders who, in responding to pressure from the White House, decided that the social security and work relief programs would be given precedence over the bonus.

The house ways and means committee, which is handling the bonus bills, decided to give right of way to the security measures.

Declaring the Vinson bill has "muddled the waters," Patman said that "if the bonus legislation fails in this congress, the American Legion will be responsible."

He substantiated the testimony already given that a $20 gold note, part of the Lindbergh ransom, was found on his person when the officers overtook him. He said Hauptmann told them he had no more gold certificates, but that he had $120 in gold pieces in a strong box at his home. This the officers found.

"A search was made of the entire house by the investigators," Wallace testified. "I was handcuffed to Hauptmann all during the stay at the Hauptmann home, and he was asked questions about gold certificates and any other articles that may be in his possession."

"Did he state at any time that he had thousands of dollars of gold certificates in his garage?"

"He did not, no sir."

"Did he ever reveal that he had any gold certificates in his garage?"

"No sir."

"Did he reveal that he had any money outside of the gold pieces any place about his home, or any other place?"

"No sir."

Reilly Objects

"Did he deny that he had any gold pieces, or gold certificates, or moneys except the gold pieces that were found in his home?"

"He did, yes sir."

Wallace said Hauptmann was taken to a savings bank where he said he had a safety box. The box was opened in his presence, he testified, and no gold certificates or other money was found.

"When Wallace told of specimen writings being dictated to Hauptmann at the police station, he said 'to the best of my recollection they were dictated, not spelled.'"

"Never mind your recollection," Wilents suggested, "were they dictated?"

The defense objected, insisting that "to the best of my recollection" should stand. The court, however, allowed the witness to amend his answer and say the writings were dictated.

The point has been considered important by the defense which has attempted before to show that specimen handwritings were taken unasked from Hauptmann, that police officers deliberately tricked him into writing words as they appeared in the ransom notes. Eight handwritings, experts have said Hauptmann wrote the notes.

Money Admitted

"During the search of the garage in the presence of Mrs. Hauptmann, myself, Detectives Dunn and Murphy," Wallace's testimony went on, "Detective James Petrosini of the New York City police department found two packages of gold certificates wrapped in newspaper." New York Daily News of June 25, 1934, and New York Daily Mirror of September 6th, 1934, in the south

"TOOK ALL KINDS OF PILLS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF"

Constipation, Due to Insufficient "Bulk," Relieved by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

A fine letter from Mrs. Snyder: "I have had trouble" with my bowels for years, taking all kinds of pills and drugs, with no relief. "One year ago, I saw Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and bought a package. I have good movements every day. I am 73 years old. I am telling my friends what bran has done for me." Mrs. Sallie Snyder, 918 N. Craft Ave., Hollywood, Cal.

Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to correct common constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables. How much better to use this food in place of patent medicines.

At all grocers in the red- and green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Brands Accused Ransom Writer

Bruno Hauptmann wrote the Lindbergh ransom notes, Elbridge W. Stein, second handwriting expert called as a state witness, declared at the Flemington, N. J., trial, corroborating the view of A. S.

Osborn, who preceded him on the stand, Stein, who underwent a vigorous cross-examination, is shown here with handwriting specimens used in his testimony.

amined the nails in the kidnap ladder. He testified how he received the nails from Captain John J. Lamb, examined the nails and returned them, witnessing the operation by which they were replaced in the ladder. The metal technologist did not give any hint of his findings. Wilents offered him to the defense for cross-examination.

Pope engaged Keith in cross-examination of the nails of the ladder. Keith said they were removed and placed in custody of Capt. John J. Lamb, at the New Jersey state police headquarters in Trenton. The nails were later restored to the ladder. Keith was excused.

Detective James Petrosini, of the New York City police, took the witness stand to tell how he searched Hauptmann's home Sept. 20, the day after the arrest.

Hauptmann was visibly annoyed as he began the thirteenth day of his ordeal, hearing Henry Eichlin, Bronx engineer, complete testimony on the terrain of the Bronx where he lived and where the ransom for the Lindbergh baby was paid, and Sergeant John Wallace of the state police relate again to the jury the story of his arrest last September 19.

The German carpenter apparently was finding it hard to maintain a grip on his emotions, which yesterday flared up and caused him to accuse a witness, special agent Thomas H. Sisk of lying.

Hauptmann's first annoyance was manifested with the flash of cameramen's bulbs as he was led into court. As soon as he sat down he leaned forward and conferred gravely with his chief attorney, Edward J. Reilly.

Queried About Condon

Eichlin's direct testimony was completed at the close of court yesterday. Reilly cross-examined with the aid of a Bronx map and as he did so Hauptmann leaned forward, and bit his underlip, thoughtfully.

The attorney elicited detailed information from the witness about Dr. John F. (Jasie) Condon's residence, City Island, Woodlawn cemetery, Van Cortlandt Park, the New York Central railroad station in the Bronx, and other places shown on the map which have figured in the testimony.

Dr. Condon is the man who testified he paid Hauptmann the ransom money.

Woodlawn cemetery is the place where Dr. Condon said he first met Hauptmann.

Van Cortlandt Park is the place where Dr. Condon said he sat with Hauptmann on a bench and negotiated the ransom.

MARRIAGE

emony, and no inkling of the event came until the president's secretary made the announcement in Washington.

Even Mrs. Roosevelt did not know where the couple went on their honeymoon.

"I've no more idea than the man in the moon," she said, smiling. "But John has a job here and I expect they will be back Monday or Tuesday."

Was it a surprise, she was asked. The president's wife shook her head thoughtfully, then said: "No."

'Obey' Omitted

The ceremony was performed in the spacious, high-ceilinged library of the East 68th street residence by general sessions Judge J. Frederick Kernochan.

"It was the usual ceremony performed by the city clerk," he said. "As you know, the word 'obey' is not included in the clerk's reading."

Only members of the immediate family, including Mrs. James Roosevelt, Sr., the president's mother, attended the wedding. The only two not there were James Roosevelt, in Doctor's hospital in Boston, and Franklin, Jr., whose examinations at Harvard prevented his attendance.

The others in addition to the president's wife and mother, were Mrs. James Roosevelt Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, John Roosevelt, and Harry Hooker, an intimate in the family.

For months before the marriage the capital had buzzed with rumors of the romance.

The two were seen riding together at Fort Myer, where the Roosevelts keep their horses, in the early morning, and dancing together at the fashionable Washington hotels at night.

They became friends during the Roosevelt campaign transcontinental tour when Mrs. Dall was with her father and Boettiger covered the trip for the Tribune. Later he was assigned to the Washington staff of the newspaper.

In a ten-minute proceeding, Mrs. Dall was divorced from her first husband—Curtis B. Dall, a broker—last July 30 at Minden, Nevada. She charged "extreme cruelty."

They had been married eight years.

The divorce was obtained in the same small brick court house where Mrs. Dall's brother, Elliot Roosevelt, was divorced about a year earlier.

Only Mrs. Dall, Mrs. William S. Dana, court officials and attaches were present when the president's daughter gave her brief testimony behind closed doors in support of her charges.

Custody of the Dall children, "Sis-tie" and "Buzzie," who stay at the White House, was provided for in a written agreement approved by the court but its terms were not made public at the time.

Mrs. Dall with her children has lived in the White House practically the entire time of the Roosevelt residence.

Rumors of her estrangement from Dall circulated before the Roosevelt campaign even started.

They had been married in 1926, in a fashionable church ceremony at Hyde Park, N. Y., Dr. R. Benedict Peabody, headmaster of Groton school, President Roosevelt's school, officiated.

They went abroad on their honeymoon. They had two children, Anna Eleanor, always called Sis-tie, because she carried the same name as both her mother and grandmother, and Curtis Roosevelt Dall, nicknamed Buzzie. Sis-tie is now 8 years of age, Buzzie 4.

The Dalls separated in 1933, Dall remaining in New York to conduct his brokerage business and Mrs. Dall going to the White House to live.

Stephen Early—a secretary to the president—gave the announcement of the Dall-Boettiger nuptials weekly to reporters at the White House.

Mrs. Dall Popular

Since her arrival here, Mrs. Dall has been one of the most popular members of the younger Washington set. She is tall, pretty, a good dancer and possesses high spirits and wit.

She arrived with the rest of the family for the inaugural ceremonies in 1933. Dall was seen here with the family a few times after the common but then faded from the picture. Mrs. Dall and her children continued as residents of the White House. She flitted back and forth to New York as an assistant to her mother in their writing and radio work.

She was seen three and four times a week early in the morning on the bride paths, centering along with her mother. Horseback riding and swimming are two sports which she enjoys.

Often in the afternoons she was seen in a White House car calling for her children at the school they attend, playing with them on the White House lawns, or taking them for a drive.

She attended many evening parties. Because of her arrival at them alone the rumors about a possible separation did not start until some time after her arrival as a White House resident.

Then she began to be seen occasionally with Boettiger.

Rumors of romance were met at the White House with constant denials.

On one occasion Mrs. Roosevelt parried questions with: "Some may have heard rumors, but I haven't."

Periodically, however, Mrs. Dall and Boettiger were seen at Washington dance spots dropping in for a few numbers and then leaving. They were usually one and obviously absorbed in their conversation.

Southern California police are on the lookout for a new type of public enemy—the turkey thief. A band of them recently made off with 1,000 birds, using a truck.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (AP)—Speculators, notably preferred issues, provided what little excitement there was in today's stock market.

While the turnover was relatively small, there were a number of substantial gainers in the list. The so-called leaders, however, were narrow. The close was steady. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

AN EXAMPLE FOR REST OF WORLD

"The 'I'm Alone' case seems to be settled, finally and forever.

Maybe you'd forgotten all about it. If so, that's the significant thing about the whole business.

It was almost six years ago, during prohibition, that two U. S. Coast Guard cutters opened fire on the Canadian schooner 'I'm Alone' in the Gulf of Mexico. They sank her. One of her crew drowned. Two were saved and put in irons.

There was a sensation. Canada was indignant, saying that even if the 'I'm Alone' was suspected of being a rum-runner, this was no way to treat Canadian citizens on the high seas, in defiance of every international law and courtesy.

Stop a moment and think what might have happened if the 'I'm Alone' had been a Russian fishing schooner and the Coast Guard ship a Japanese destroyer. Or if the encounter had taken place in the Adriatic between a Yugo-Slav merchantman and an Italian cruiser.

There would have been immediate sword-rattling and diplomatic passages, ultimatums, and probably a world crisis. And war would have hovered menacingly in the background.

But no one mentioned, or even thought of war when the Coast Guard sank the 'I'm Alone.' The affair was considered on both sides in a light reflecting its importance, which was really small. Canadians were not up on their hind legs screaming about their 'national honor.' Americans were not breaking out with the flag and demanding pledges that Canada use all her resources to enforce American prohibition.

For the feeling that runs across the long undefended border between the United States and Canada is a cordial and friendly one. So here was a regrettable incident which ought to be discussed in friendly fashion and adjusted as fairly as possible.

It has taken six years to settle the affair. Now a final adjustment seems imminent. Chief Justice Duff of Canada and Supreme Court Justice Van Deranter of the United States have examined all the evidence, and recommend that the United States apologize to Canada and pay $25,000 in damages to members of the crew and their dependents.

There seems no reason why our government should not immediately accept these findings, and make good on the affair with willing good grace.

When you are wrong, the manly and dignified thing to do is to admit it and make what amends you can.

When a genuinely friendly feeling exists between two countries, there is little trouble in adjusting satisfactorily almost any dispute. When there is no such feeling, no machinery can guarantee peaceful settlement.

Both countries should be happy in a condition that permits such settlement of vexing cases like that of the 'I'm Alone.'

Unfortunately, in a jealous and bitter world, we're practically alone.—B. C.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—New Dealers are acting like a flock of hens suddenly aware of a big bad hawk hovering close overhead.

It was funny how the whole atmosphere changed just because some supreme court justices asked a few searching and unsympathetic questions of government counsel during trial of the gold cases.

Long distance telephone traffic mounted as industrialists, bankers, and brokers began calling to see what it was all about. Quite a few Wall Streeters hopped the first train here to learn personally whether the court might be expected to declare illegal the New Deal's annulment of gold clauses in federal and private contracts—which they figured would just about force everything and everybody to go bust. Most of them returned reassured.

But the town continued to seethe with the private, unofficial challenge of many New Dealers that an adverse decision would virtually mean the "end of the supreme court."

Heretofore it has been considered a bit sacrilegious to mention the possibility of "packing" the court—that is, adding enough pro-New Deal judges to assure validation of new laws. Now you hear that sort of thing on nearly every other lip.

You hear demands—in important quarters, too—for a constitutional amendment, in case the government loses the gold suits, which either would eliminate the court's right to invalidate an act of Congress or require prompt judicial review.

Some of the boys have dusted off an old declaration by Ex-Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and are prepared to use it in case a showdown with the supreme court becomes necessary. Here it is, as made before the Harvard Law School Association at New York in February, 1913: "I do not think the United States would come to an end if we lost our power to declare an act of Congress void. I do not think the Union would be imperiled if we could not make that declaration as to the laws of the several states."

Some of the lawyers who sat through the gold case look for a five-to-four decision one way or the other. Although it's still generally believed the court "won't dare" suddenly increase bonded indebtedness by 69 per cent, it is very genuinely feared that it may insist that the government pay its own bonds in gold or the currency equivalent thereof.

One important result of the furore created by the big new worry was the dawning of a certain amount of light on Attorney General Cummings.

Cummings, whose department is loaded with political hacks, remarked privately that he had heard various complaints that the lawyers in his solicitor general's office were doing a rotten job in presenting New Deal cases, but now realized for the first time that there was truth in them. He has promised that something will be done to remedy that situation.

Cummings made the star appearance for the government in the gold cases. But he dealt mostly with the flag, home, and mother, explaining how terrible things had been when the administration jettisoned the gold clause and how awful they would be if the court upset the apple-cart now.

TEXAS HISTORY

Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

It was a busy Saturday afternoon in San Felipe de Austin. Since early morning wagons had been on the rough roads leading into the community center, farmers with their families bringing their Indian corn to be ground at the mill, in exchange for food and dry goods which had come in on the last ship from the states. Only on Tuesdays and Saturdays was the mill open for the corn grinding, and at least once every three weeks it was necessary to stop and trade and visit with neighbors.

Comment on the street corners dealt considerably with the editorial which had appeared recently in the Texas Gazette. "However flourishing may be the condition of others, the inhabitants of Austin's colony, we think, have abundant reason to be satisfied with theirs. Although remote from the seat of government, our welfare and prosperity, is nevertheless, looked by those at the helm of affairs, with a vigilance that reflects much glory on the character of the principal officers of the state."

Pioneers in the colony were pleased and excited at the changes in the postal system. When they had first come to Texas, many months had passed before they had letters from home, and the waiting and loneliness was terrific. In the May 22 issue of the Gazette, however, had been an announcement that arrangements had been made with the Mexican consul at New Orleans to forward all letters that arrived in that city with the postage paid, to be forwarded on to the San Felipe post office. The prospects of regular correspondence with the United States "of the North," as they called the states, was the cause of much joy for many days to come.

The people were especially glad that regular correspondence was to be established for it would now be possible to correct impressions of Texas that were unfavorable. The New York Commercial Advertiser, Cotten had said in his paper, had the wrong idea about Texas, for "the inhabitants of the more remote parts of the United States of the North consider us a banditti of thieves and vagabonds, neither owing nor paying allegiance to any government under the sun and destitute even of the rude forms of justice which have been found necessary for the existence of communities of rogues." Honest, sober people naturally resented the attitude the unknowing ones took of them and their adopted country.

Thus the little towns developed, all working, planning, playing together for the state which would soon, in their opinion, be the most important in the Republic of Mexico, and which developed into the commonwealth to celebrate its centennial in 1936.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

BY ROBBINS COONS. HOLLYWOOD—In many respects the most difficult of Charles Dickens' novels to photograph, because of its biographical and therefore rambling character, "David Copperfield" comes to the screen as a parade of memorable characters across a quaint and colorful background.

As in the book, so in the picture, it is these characters rather than the narrative that stick in the memory, and yet, pre-viewers thought, a sympathetic adaptation by Hugh Walpole and screen play by Howard Estabrook manage to project on the screen, in surprisingly much of the enormous quantity of material that was on hand.

Some Familiar Names. In a cast of some 25 principals of varying importance will be found many familiar names, their features often doing unfamiliar things.

Edna May Oliver impersonates Aunt Betsy Trotwood, David's irascible donkey-hating aunt, and W. C. Fields' Mr. Micawber and Roland Young's very slimy Uriah Heep also are on the long list of characters of whom an audience is likely to wish for more than can be given even in a lengthy film.

David Copperfield, the boy, is portrayed by 10-year-old Freddie Bartholomew, his performance doubtless admitting him to the growing ranks of child stars. David, the young man, is played by Frank Lawton, who easily can be imagined as young David grown up.

Lionel As Old Dan. Lionel Barrymore appears as hale old Dan Peggotty, and his sister, Nurse Peggoty, is done by Jessie Ralph. Elizabeth Allen recreates David's young mother, Basil Rathbone is the stern and forbidding Mr. Murdstone, and Violet Kemble-Cooper portrays his sister, Jane Murdstone. The quite balmly Mr. Dick, companion of Aunt Betsy, gives Lennox Pawle a place in the Dickens sun.

David's "child wife," Dora, gives Maureen O'Sullivan a different sort of characterization, while Madge Evans makes Agnes Wickfield somewhat more human than that very good young lady might be expected to be. Lewis Stone is Mr. Wickfield, her father, Una O'Connor is that "lone, lorn critter," Mrs. Gummidge, and Herbert Mundin appears briefly as Barkis, the coach-driver who was "willin'."

Copperfield fans may find the first half of the film, that devoted to David as a boy, more gratifying than the second part, where the multiple plots characteristic of Dickens must of necessity be covered with some dispatch, else the film would go on all night. George Cukor directed.

Germany's domestic trade in household and kitchen utensils has shown a marked improvement this year but exports from Germany of these articles have maintained a downward trend.

Expansion of Japan's chemical industry is strikingly reflected in its foreign trade in chemicals and allied products which was valued at $13,700,000 during the first 6 months of 1934, an increase of 130 per cent over the similar 1932 period.

'STOP LYING' GERMAN TELLS FEDERAL MAN

HAUPTMANN LAWYERS QUARREL AMONG THEMSELVES

BY WILLIAM A. KENNEY, (Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 18.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, his erstwhile calm cracked and his attorneys at odds, here today the full brunt of the state's drive to trace the entire $200,000 Lindbergh ransom to his hands.

"Money, money, money, lots of money he wanted, and he got it," the state asserted, calling two witnesses to complete its case against Hauptmann for the Lindbergh baby kidnap-killing.

The cool young federal agent, Thomas Sisk, against whom the hot tide of Hauptmann's wrath burst, came back from cross-examination by Chief Defense Counsel Edward J. Reilly.

Reilly himself was beset by differences with his own associates, the three New Jersey lawyers protesting that the burly Brooklyn attorney was not insistent enough in objections.

One of the defense counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher, was so incensed that he stalked from the court room yesterday. Another, it was learned authoritatively, consulted Justice Thomas W. Trenchard about withdrawing from the case but was advised to stay.

Fisher and Reilly, apparently patching up their rift, at least temporarily, paid a nocturnal visit to Hauptmann's cell, but they did not disclose the trend of the interview.

Reilly, his face growing redder and redder, said the defense would contest more vehemently the rest of the state's evidence, asserting: "We are admitting nothing."

His first chance came in cross-examination of Sisk, to whom Hauptmann, his sullen eyes flashing from their dark sockets, cried out yesterday, "Mister, Mister, you stop lying!"

Reilly directed Sisk, a moving figure in the federal drive that brought Hauptmann's arrest and an important witness in the attempt to link Hauptmann with the ransom board, to produce in court confidential reports on the case.

After Sisk, the state lined up methodically the witness it said would place $49,960 of the ransom money in Hauptmann's possession.

First were Wall Street employees to recount Hauptmann's transactions in the stock market, and then police officers to detail how one sheaf of ransom bills was found beneath the floor of Hauptmann's Bronx garage, and another cached skillfully with a small pistol in one of the garage's wall beams.

The story of the "hot money" whipped interest in the trial back from the doldrums to which it had sunk during the technical hand-writing testimony.

Spectators became tense in their uncomfortable benches. For them it was the approach of the end of the state's case.

Crew Of Wrecked Steamer Rescued

HALIFAX, Jan. 18 (AP)—Twenty-two members of the crew of 29 from the wrecked British steamer, Kenkerry, were carried to safety today on a breeches buoy rigged above a boiling sea.

The captain and chief engineer remained on board, although the freighter was pounding heavily on the rocks.

Apparently they were waiting until the last minute before abandoning ship. The life lines were still holding.

The first of the 27 to start across the line shortly after 4 a. m. had to be hauled back aboard when the basket stuck halfway between the vessel and land.

A second line was rocketed from the Kenkerry to a group of fishermen composing the rescue party. One by one the sailors hauled themselves hand over hand to safety. The rescue was completed before daylight.

Stranded on the rocks of Black Point, less than 100 yards from land, the 3,390-ton freighter remained in danger of being pounded to pieces.

She ran aground last night, only a few miles from Halifax but it was hours before tugboats dispatched to her assistance could locate the distressed vessel.

Cavalcade Will Enter Handicap

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP)—Interest in the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap was quickened a page or two today as a welcoming committee went out to escort Cavalcade, high money winner of 1934 racing season, to Santa Anita park.

True, Twenty Grand, with all the discussion of his lameness after sensational workouts, Mate, Equipoise, Statesman and others of the more than 70 nominees, have done pretty well to keep interest alive in the handicap.

But Mrs. Dodge Sloan's 4-year-old, winner of $111,235 in 1934 when he captured the Kentucky, American, and Detroit Derbies, is, after all, the future book favorite.

Members of the Los Angeles Jockey club planned to make the most of Cavalcade's arrival. Headed by Charles Strub, general manager of the track, they will climb aboard the train at one of the outlying stations and escort the great thoroughbred into town.

Bob Smith, great trainer who has been conducting Cavalcade at Columbia, S. C., will be along.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Peter's Lesson In Humble Service.

Scripture Lesson: John 13:1-17; 1 Peter 5:5.

John 13:1. Now before the feast of the passover, Jesus knowing that his hour was come that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, having loved his own that were in the world, he loved them unto the end.

2. And during supper, the devil having already put into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him.

3. Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he came forth from God, and goeth unto God,

4. Riset from supper, and layeth aside his garments; and he took a towel, and girded himself.

5. Then he poureth water into the basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded.

6. So he cometh to Simon Peter. He saith unto him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?

7. Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt understand hereafter.

8. Peter saith unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me.

9. Simon Peter saith unto him, Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head.

10. Jesus saith to him, He that is bathed needeth not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit; and ye are clean, but not all.

11. For he knew him that should betray him; therefore said he, Ye are not all clean.

12. So when he had washed their feet, and taken his garments, and sat down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?

13. Ye call me, Teacher, and Lord; and ye say well; for so I am.

14. If I then, the Lord and the Teacher, have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet.

15. For I have given you an example, that ye also should do as I have done to you.

16. Verily, verily, I say unto you, A servant is not greater than his lord; neither one that is sent greater than he that sent him.

17. If ye know these things, blessed are ye if ye do them.

1 Peter 5:5. Likewise, ye younger, be subject unto the elder. Ye, all of you gird yourselves with humility, to serve one another; for God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace to the humble.

Golden Text: All of you gird yourselves with humility, to serve one another.—1 Peter 5:5.

Time: Thursday, April 6, A. D. 30.

Place: In the Upper Room where the Last Supper was held in the city of Jerusalem.

Introduction

In passing from the events of last week's lesson, to the beautiful evening scene described in our lesson for this week, we pass from the late autumn of A. D. 29, to the early part of April, A. D. 30, and from the northern extremity of Palestine to an upper room in Jerusalem. The section of John's Gospel beginning with chapter thirteen, and concluding with chapter seventeen, is, in many ways, the holy of holies of the New Testament. Christ "has uttered his final word to the outside world, and himself withdrew within the bosom of his own family; and we are privileged here to see him among his spiritual children, and to hear his farewell words to them in view of his decease. It becomes us to enter the supper chamber with deep reverence."—A. B. Bruce.

The Contention About Greatness

Luke 22:24-26

The beautiful object-lesson in humble service which Jesus gave when he washed his disciples' feet grew out of a specific situation. On the last night of his earthly life, even while they were eating the paschal meal, a contention arose among the disciples as to which of them was recognized as the greatest. Then, in full recognition of his true dignity and in order that he might teach his disciples a lesson that they would never forget, Jesus assumed the part of a servant and began to wash his disciples' feet. The service they disclaimed, the Master was now performing. When he came to Peter, Peter demurred, perhaps drawing up his feet. But Jesus insisted that fellowship with him was grounded in the spirit of this unselfish deed. Simon did not need a bath—only his sandaled feet were soiled from the dusty streets.

The Lesson Explained, vs. 12-17

The object-lesson finished, Jesus picked up his garments and sat down to explain what he had done. They called him Teacher and Lord, and so he was. So if he, their Teacher and Lord, had the humility to take the place of a servant and wash his disciples' feet, surely they ought to be willing to wash one another's feet. It was the spirit of the act, not the act itself, that Jesus enjoined them to practice. It was a lesson that Peter never forgot. Years afterward he wrote these words: "Ye, all of you gird yourselves with humility, to serve one another" (1 Peter 5:5).

(1) Peter Doctrine of Foot-Washing

We have no authority here for foot-washing as a church ordinance. We give the following reasons:

NEW GENERAL STRIKE NEXT SPRING SEEN

TEXTILE WALKOUT TO BE MORE SERIOUS THAN LAST ONE

By DONALD CAMERON, Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Textile union leaders, an authoritative source disclosed today, are setting up a far-flung organization in preparation for another general strike call this spring.

Although no statements are made about it publicly yet, labor leaders privately voice the prediction that the walkout will be more serious than the widespread strike last September. Comment from government officials or spokesmen for the industry was not immediately forthcoming.

The organization work is being directed by Francis J. Gorman, first vice president of the United Textile Workers. Gorman, an advocate of long-range planning, has followed the same course he pursued before the paralyzing strike of last fall.

The United Textile Workers are known to have hopes that later this month they may effect a working agreement with unions in the automobile, tobacco, oil and steel industries. In addition, when the executive council of the American Federation of Labor meets Jan. 29, U. T. W. officials plan to voice a militant demand to President William Green for more active support in the conflict with textile manufacturers.

There is wide difference of opinion between textile manufacturers and union leaders as to conditions in the industry and what could be done.

Among other things, union men say earnings have decreased despite NRA codes; that minimum wages have become almost maximum wages in southern mills; that rulings of the textile labor relations board have been ignored, particularly in the south, with the government helpless to enforce its own decisions.

The industry, disputing U. T. W. contentions, also says that a combination of circumstances makes it impossible to swell present payrolls.

Humility In Action

Humility is most beautiful when quietly in action. We offer this perfect illustration. Dr. P. H. Carroll was one of the giants among Southern Baptists. In stature, intellect, consecration, and power he towered above his brethren. His home in Waco, Texas, was headquarters for Baptist missionaries, preachers, and other workers. One day an associational missionary and colporteur rode up in front of Dr. Carroll's house, hitched his horse, and went up to the "prophet's chamber" reserved for the special servants of Christ. The next morning a student boarder was up early and as he went out on the back porch he found Doctor Carroll there cleaning the dry mud from the missionary's boots. In amazement, the young student asked the patriarchal theologian what he was doing. Calmly, the spiritual giant replied, "I am washing the disciple's feet." That is the correct interpretation of the Master's teaching and a perfect picture of Christian humility.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—The forty-fourth legislature will see a renewal of the long standing fight between representatives of the rural districts and those from the big cities over the balance of power in the house.

That balance, which rests definitely with the "boys from the forks of the creek," will remain there unless some of them weaken and vote to give the cities larger delegations. The problem of legislative redistricting has confronted the legislature since Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, and Fort Worth became big cities and will continue a source of controversy for years regardless of what the current legislature does about it.

The country representatives considerably outnumber their city colleagues and any legislation that would give the cities control of the house, or even an opportunity to control it, would have to be passed while they were asleep. The boys are on the job on mase this time and to turn back any assault on their cherished majority.

The controversy simmers down to a difference in the interests of the areas represented in the legislature. The country members feel that to increase representation of cities would be a move toward concentrating control of the state's affairs in the hands of those elected from the heavily populated areas to the detriment of the smaller communities. The members from the big cities assert Texas has a representative government, that the constitution apportions membership in the lower house on the basis of population and that they are entitled on this premise, to a substantial increase in numbers.

The city members face the almost insurmountable task, however, of overcoming the huge bloc of votes from the sparsely settled sections. It requires a majority to pass a bill to restrict the state and the rural members and those representing smaller towns will not vote for it unless it is to their liking, the constitution to the contrary notwithstanding.

Rep. George Moffett of Chillicothe, who championed the cause of the ruralites and their supporters in the last session, was on the ground early disseminating information to bolster his contention that representation should not be based solely upon population. Moffett accompanied his propaganda with maps and charts to demonstrate his theory that the wide open spaces of Texas are more in need of representation in the legislature than cities which already have from two to six members from their concentrated areas.

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar Basin Territory, Jan. 18. (AP)—The last vestiges of Nazi opposition disappeared today so that Reichsfuehrer Hitler will take over the Saar Match 1 with a clear path ahead.

Socialist and communist organizations were dissolved and their funds given to the Nazi winter help fund. Police sealed the printing plants of newspapers of those parties.

An organization of dissenting Catholics also was disbanded. All opposition leaders are now in France, seeking refuge, while the rank and file is slowly moving across the French border.

Not a single anti-Hitler organization or newspaper remains and Jewish merchants one by one are posting "selling out" signs.

and throughout the South and West.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write—do my best to make this Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

QUANAHA, Jan. 18. (Sp)—While Texas is preparing to commemorate 100 years of independence by Centennial celebrations in 1936, local citizens are prone to recall that less than fifty years ago there was no town of Quanaha—less than fifty years ago, even, within the present city limits of Quanaha, a white man, Joe Earl, one of a party of three men attacked by a roving band of Kiowa Indians, was brutally murdered and scalped. Today his grave is a rock-covered mound in the Quanaha cemetery. At that time the Quanaha country was an unsettled part of the vast wilderness of the lower Panhandle of Texas.

The spirit of the Centennial project, however, has extended to Hardeman county and plans are being formulated here for creation of a district by the Centennial year and beautification of the different communities of the county in anticipation of contact with tourists en route to the various Centennial attractions. The noted Colorado-to-Gulf highway, east to west across Hardeman county, passes through Quanaha and affords a route for tourists from the west to the forthcoming central exposition at Dallas.

Hardeman county was created in 1858, but not organized until 1884, a quarter of a century later. Quanaha, founded in 1885, was named for the famous Comanche chief, Quanaha Parker, son of the Texas girl, Cynthia Ann Parker, and the chief, Peta Nocona, who was killed by Capt. Sul Ross and his Rangers on Pease River, near the mouth of Mule Creek, when his wife was captured. The son, Juanaah, escaped and at the time the town was founded had become an influential figure among the Indians and a friend of the whites. The old chief, greatly pleased at the completion of the town's being named after him, in July, 1890, paid a visit to Quanaha, bringing with him his wives, his warriors and their families—three hundred strong—for a two days celebration.

DALLAS, Jan. 18 (Sp)—The Texas Centennial hopes soon to soothe the civic breast of the state with the dulcet strains of sweet music. At any rate Walter D. Cline, newly appointed managing director of the central exposition at Dallas and chairman of the executive committee of the Texas Centennial commission, is looking for an official Centennial song. He invites all composers of music, professional and amateur, to submit their offerings. The prize will be official endorsement.

Many songs are already in the commissioner's hands—ballads, marches, symphonies and dance tunes. Poetry and lyrics flow into the Centennial offices in each mail and they want more of them. They want the best available, according to their official spokesman. And they want complete orchestrations, too, so that the band can start playing from scratch. They predict that the other soon will be filled with Texas music, written by Texans, and depicting the glories of the Lone Star State.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 18. (Sp)—Columbus and Colorado county citizens with due regard for this community's association with the early days of Texas' history are planning active participation in the observance of the Centennial of Texas' independence in 1936. Several months ago the county was organized thoroughly for that purpose, local chairmen being named in every town. It is desired here to erect a $40,000 building on the spot, where "Three-Legged Willie" Williamson, as Judge, held the first district court session ever convened in Texas. The wide-spreading live oak area, under which court was held, still stands in Columbus.

The proposed building, Columbus citizens plan, would be used as a museum to house relics and other evidences of the history of Columbus, where a survey originally was made by Stephen F. Austin with a view of establishing here the capital of the Province of Texas in 1822, while what is now the State of Texas was a part of Mexico. Near here the armies of Gen. Sam Houston and Santa Anna first came near contact, being on opposite sides of the Colorado River. For a time, it seemed probable that the battle, which Texas' independence might be fought here, but, burning the buildings of Columbus, the Texan army retreated, taking with it the citizens of Columbus, to San Jacinto, where the historic Texas' victory was won.
