BERNIE MOORE NEW COACH OF LONG'S TEAM

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 24 (AP)—Bernie Moore, state university freshman football coach, has been appointed head coach for the Tigers, succeeding Captain Lawrence "Biff" Jones, who resigned after his argument with senator Huey Long, it was announced today by Dr. James M. Smith, president of L. S. U.

President Smith said the head coachship had been offered to Moore and he had accepted. Moore, besides being coach of Louisiana state university's nationally famous track and field teams the past few years, also has been chief grid scout for L. S. U.

Capt. Jones always relied upon him strongly for advance information about state's foes.

The new Louisiana state coach was at his home in Winchester, Tenn., today for the Christmas holidays.

In announcing the appointment, President Smith said that Moore was the popular choice of the University Athletic Council and the L. S. U. players and students.

Moore has a strong personal following on the L. S. U. campus and in Baton Rouge and elsewhere.

He is quiet, genial, and unassuming, and is said by his friends to have a "knack" of athletic coaching, and of understanding athletes.

If Santa Doesn't Come to See You, Blame Mae West

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 24 (AP)—Mae West is keeping in character on her Christmas cards.

She had a drawing of herself sitting on Santa's lap, with this jingle:

"If Santa fails to reach your house
"Just bear it with a grin,
"I wrote and said 'come up some time'
"And the dear old guy moved in."

Xmas Tree Brings Happiness To 500 Children Of City

Clasping a top in one hand and a sock of candy and nuts in the other, more than 500 children of needy Pampa families left the city hall yesterday afternoon following a visit from Santa Claus, made possible by the civic clubs, women's clubs, fire department, and individuals.

The Christmas tree was one of the annual efforts of the relief board to make Christmas happy for children who would otherwise not enjoy the visit from Santa. Toys and candy were given to 513 children.

Negro children of the city were not forgotten. They had a Christmas tree following the one for the white children. Thirty-seven children were awed by the visit of Santa. Each of them were given a top and bag of candy and nuts.

Beautiful programs were presented at both parties. Songs, readings, and plays were given on the programs. A huge, beautifully decorated Christmas tree stood in the center of the stage.

The auditorium was filled with children and parents and visitors who enjoyed the programs.

Through the generosity of Pampa organizations and individuals, the relief board was able to secure funds or names of persons who would adopt needy families, for the delivery of 250 Christmas baskets. Delivery of the baskets will be made today.

Five of the Dempsey family died in the shootings yesterday. The mother alone still lives.

A pitiful note, telling how she could not have her little 7-year-old son with her to enjoy Christmas happiness, was found by police who said it held the explanation of the motive for Mrs. Schoch's act.

It read in part:
"O, dear God, it's hard to do all this but I just cannot go on any longer. Not to feel my darling boy's arms around me nor hear his precious voice makes living unbearable."

At Mrs. Schoch's apartment in Dunkirk, police broke in and found her sister Mrs. Ruth Dempsey Hughes, dead of a bullet wound. They said she possibly had been slain by Mrs. Schoch before the latter left for Pittsburgh.

Besides Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Schoch, the dead are:
Walter Dempsey, 42, welfare worker.

Robert, 12, Thomas, 8, Walter, Jr., 10, and David, aged 15 months, all sons of Dempsey.

Mrs. Clara Dempsey, the mother, is in a hospital with a bullet wound in the head. Physicians said she has a chance for recovery.

The father and three of the sons were killed as they slept. Walter Jr. died in a hospital several hours later. The baby, David, was shot while he slept in his crib by his parents' side.

FIRST CHRISTIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL TO HAVE TREE
Children of the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church will have an enjoyable occasion and tree at 7:30 o'clock this evening. There will be treats for all following a public program by the Sunday school, Judge Ivy E. Duncan and a committee planned the event.

PLANE DEATHS ADD TO LIST OF TRAGEDIES

FORMIDABLE TOLL OF ACCIDENTS TAKE MANY LIVES

By The Associated Press

Death intruded on the holiday scene today as reports of airplane disasters were added to a formidable list of accidents and tragedies.

These were the stories of death: Ventura, Calif.—An airplane was reported to have crashed in flames in a ravine near here. A searching party saw flames but was unable to descend into the gorge until after daylight.

Elko, Nevada—A pilot and his passengers, two girls and a boy, were sought after their plane disappeared in fog and snow. Rescue parties faced frozen drifts and icy winds in their search.

Wilmington, Calif.—Lost in a heavy fog, Elmer R. Hunt, 29, drove his car off a pier, his wife and two children drowning. Hunt escaped.

LeVain, Neb.—An automobile, crashing into a truck, brought death to four.

Medora, Ind.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Eschom and their nine-months-old son, driving home from Sunday school Christmas exercises, were killed when their car was struck by a train.

Pittsburgh—Four persons died when a bus, carrying travelers home for Christmas, was in collision with an automobile.

Delaware, O.—Two fast trains, bearing Christmas passengers and mail, crashed, killing three members of the locomotive crews.

St. Louis—A student pilot's Christmas present to his roommate, his first airplane ride, ended in death for both when the ship crashed.

Bunbright, Tenn.—An air mail pilot, Russell Riggs, was found dead in the burned wreck of his plane atop Big Pilot Mountain.

Mazatlan, Mexico—Hope was abandoned for seven persons aboard a plane which fell into the Gulf of California.

Carlsbad, N. M.—Fire which destroyed the Carlsbad Inn brought death to four persons.

Fairport, O.—A fishing tug, wrecked by an explosion, burned to its water line. Coast guardsmen said they believed the two men aboard were blown overboard and killed.

Miss Roy Riley is spending the Christmas holidays in Lubbock with her parents.

Jimmie Drake of Portales, N. M., is spending Christmas in Pampa and McLean.

Thousands Visit Nativity Grotto

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 24 (AP)—Thousands of pilgrims, white and black, representing a score of denominations, poured into this little market town in the Palestine hills today to observe the birth nearly 2,000 years ago of Jesus Christ.

Many of these modern pilgrims came by automobile over the broad highway from Jerusalem, eight miles away.

Both here and in Jerusalem tonight the air will resound with the singing of carols and ringing of bells as the age-old rites begin. The climax of services in many churches will be reached at midnight (5 p. m., EST) in the church of the Nativity, built over the spot where the holy child is believed to have been born.

After a long mass, a procession of priests with swinging censers will stand before a curtained niche

IMAGINATIVE TRACT MAILED EVERY JUROR

PAMPHLET CLAIMED TO BE PREJUDICIAL TO DEFENSE

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 24 (AP)—Demands for a new jury panel for the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the slaying of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby were contemplated by both defense and prosecution today, following charges of tampering with the present panel.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck charged that a pamphlet entitled "No. 2310, criminal file exposed, aviator's baby was never kidnaped or murdered," had been mailed to each of the 50 prospective Hauptmann jurors.

The pamphlet's author, Mrs. Mary Belle Spencer, of Chicago, said it was a satire, written two years before Hauptmann's arrest, "to poke fun at the asininity of our police and court system as a whole."

She scoffed at Prosecutor Hauck's charge that a "malicious and deliberate effort" had been made to "tamper" with the panel and said she "didn't even know they had a panel."

"I just took a bunch of fictional background from a dozen cases and wove them into something I thought was funny to expose the complete dumbness of the whole legal system," she said.

"The charge of the prosecutor in New Jersey rather gives flavor to the satire, don't you think?"

C. Lloyd Fisher, associate defense counsel, asserted he would demand a new jury panel, and an official source disclosed that the state may join in the demand.

Fisher disagreed with Hauck's assertion that the pamphlet was "prejudicial to the state's case but not to the defense."

"We hold it just as prejudicial to our case for that matter even more, than it is to the prosecution," he said.

I Saw . . .
A letter to Santa purported to be from R. A. Dunsforth who wrote he wanted, among other things, "lotsa nerts," and that "we have a big chimney out at our place."

An old man with a shotgun nearby guarding a lake near Magic City, that was covered with ducks. There was not foot of water on it that did not contain ducks. Persons who try to kill the ducks are greeted with buckshot.

MARVEL OF MARVELS! THE QUINTUPLETS' FIRST CHRISTMAS!

Five little stockings, all in a row! It still seems a miracle to Mama Dionne, as she gazes at them, while little Emelle's eyes stray away from the display.

There never was a Christmas like this one at the Dionne home! Just see the multitude of gifts that Santa showered from his bulging pack for the quintuplets, viewed by Nurse Yvonne Leroux, left, Mama Dionne, and Nurse Louise De Kirline, as they hold the wondering tots at their first yuletide celebration.

Who else would be Santa but Dr. Dafee? He's getting the thrill of a useful lifetime in playing the jolly saint role, with his pack overflowing with toys.

BUSINESS EAGER TO CAST OFF CRUTCHES IN NEW YEAR

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER, Associated Press Financial Editor. NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (AP)—Eager to cast away its crutches, American business enthusiastically faces the new year. The end of 1934 finds this powerful patient of the economic doctors undenably stronger than a year ago, and letted with the regimen of convalescence. But the Washington physicians while anxious to have business back at work supporting the huge American family once more, assert that it is not yet able, and cannot be permitted, to return to its unguarded life of the past. They insist upon imposing permanent rules of health.

The second calendar year of recovery, therefore, has been a year of controversy, of trial and error, but nonetheless of progress. The drama of 1933—a year of bold surgical operations upon the economic structure—has been lacking.

Recovery during 1934 was most striking in agricultural areas, despite a record-breaking drought. And for the country as a whole, consumer buying swelled in the later months of the year to the largest volume since perhaps 1930. While statistics on the volume of Christmas trade are yet meager, a number of business analysts believe it has been the most abundant Yuletide in four years.

Cost of Living Up. But industrial production and factory payrolls do not show much change from a year ago. The entire 12 months of 1934 were well ahead of the previous year, but that was due in no small measure to the extremely poor record of the early months of 1933. Factory payrolls, according to recent statistics, are only moderately above the levels prevailing toward the end of last year. And the cost of living has risen, too.

Despite improvement in wages and employment here and there, relief rolls continued to mount in 1934, as more and more families that had managed to get by on savings or the help of relatives found their resources exhausted. How to get millions back to work? That is the challenge to 1935.

The government's emergency expenditures swelled to a flood rivaling that of wartime; and in the opinion of most analysts were an important factor in the year's improvement in sales of consumers' goods.

But the heavy lines of industry, such as construction, steel, railway equipment, made limited progress. These lines, together with innumerable miscellaneous services and distributive activities which require general prosperity, accounted largely for the defiant problem of unemployment.

Famer's Income Rises.

Emergency outlays and credits of the government came close to $4,500,000,000. Benefits and bonuses paid to farmers, together with higher crop prices, gave the cash income of the agricultural areas a husky boost. Some estimates have placed total farm income at more than 25 per cent above 1933.

With hard cash in his pocket for the first time in years, the farmer has shown himself no miser. The automobile industry made and sold more cars in any year since 1930. In the final months of the year, retail sales reports from the south, middle west and southwest registered gains of 20 to 25 per cent over the previous year.

While industrial production is still close to the levels of December, 1933, it has followed a more normal pattern than in that hectic year. There was a spring expansion, a pronounced summer lull, and moderate seasonal pickup in autumn. That was almost the reverse of 1933.

Both industry and finance have had an opportunity in 1934 to adjust themselves to the new order of government regulation. And the regulation has undergone adjustment to business and finance. The NRA has been revamped, and the securities

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

EGYPT HAS AN AREA OF 383,000 SQUARE MILES... BUT, DUE TO ITS LACK OF RAINFALL, ONLY 12,000 SQUARE MILES ARE CULTIVATED.

ALL there is of Egypt that is under cultivation, or is habitable, is a small groove worn in the desert sand by the Nile river. The Nile is not filled by rains that fall in Egypt, but by snow and rain from the peaks of equatorial Africa.

act of 1933 has been amended. Regulation was expanded to embrace stock exchanges, and Wall Street groaned for a time, but it was rather widely agreed that the stock market regulation was working satisfactorily by the end of the year.

Foundations Are Laid. The year in banking and finance was less spectacular than 1933, but 1934 may have been the year in which foundations were laid for the normal functioning of the great credit and money mechanism. There was no more than seasonal expansion of bank credit during the year. And while the government was pouring out its $4,500,000,000 of special expenditures and advances, new capital raised by corporations thru issue of securities, according to registrations with the securities and exchange commission, amounted to not much more than 10 per cent of that.

Yet banking authorities say that the potentialities of credit expansion now existing in the banking structure are almost unlimited, and some express concern that once credit starts to move, it may be difficult to prevent a dangerous, runaway boom. The outstanding financial step of the year was taken last January, few weeks before the election, federal government spokesmen began a campaign of reassurance. Business sentiment, most observers report, has taken a sharp lift in the past two months. While some business and financial spokesmen still urge an early balancing of the budget and withdrawal of the government from most of its emergency activities as essential to the restoration of business confidence, leaders in the administration reply that government expenditures will be curtailed as soon as business is able to take up the slack in employment.

In the meantime, there is little doubt that many business and financial leaders look to 1935 with high hopes that the challenge to resume employment and get rid of the crutches can be met.

HARVESTERS TO PLAY SAYRE AND HAPPY CAGERS FOUR NIGHTS THIS WEEK

FIRST BATTLE IS SCHEDULED ON WEDNESDAY

SAYRE TEAM TO MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE ON LOCAL COURT

Harvester cagers will play four basketball games this week against two reportedly strong teams. The Harvesters officially opened the season here Friday night by defeating Perryton's Rangers and duplicated the feat Saturday night.

Attendance at the opening games was disappointing and it is hoped that Pampans will attend during the holiday season and see the team. It will be the first time since the team was organized that a price of admission to the Harvesters prospects fighting for a starting assignment.

On Wednesday and Thursday nights, at 8 o'clock, the Harvesters will play the Sayre high school team. It will be the first time Sayre has played here and it will cost considerable money to bring the team to Pampa. Sayre is said to have a good team which has been practicing for several weeks. Admission will be 25 cents for adults with no charge for students.

An old rival will come to Pampa Friday and Saturday nights, also at 8 o'clock, when the Happy Jacks of Happy meet the Harvesters. Although Happy will be without "Big" Barnard, the team is said to be strong again this year. Happy, in past years, proved about the strongest competition faced by the Harvesters in early season games.

Closing the holidays, and the last home games in some time, the Tulsa high school Hornets will come to Pampa Jan. 2 and 3. Tulsa takes a great interest in basketball. The team has been practicing for several weeks and should be in near mid-season form.

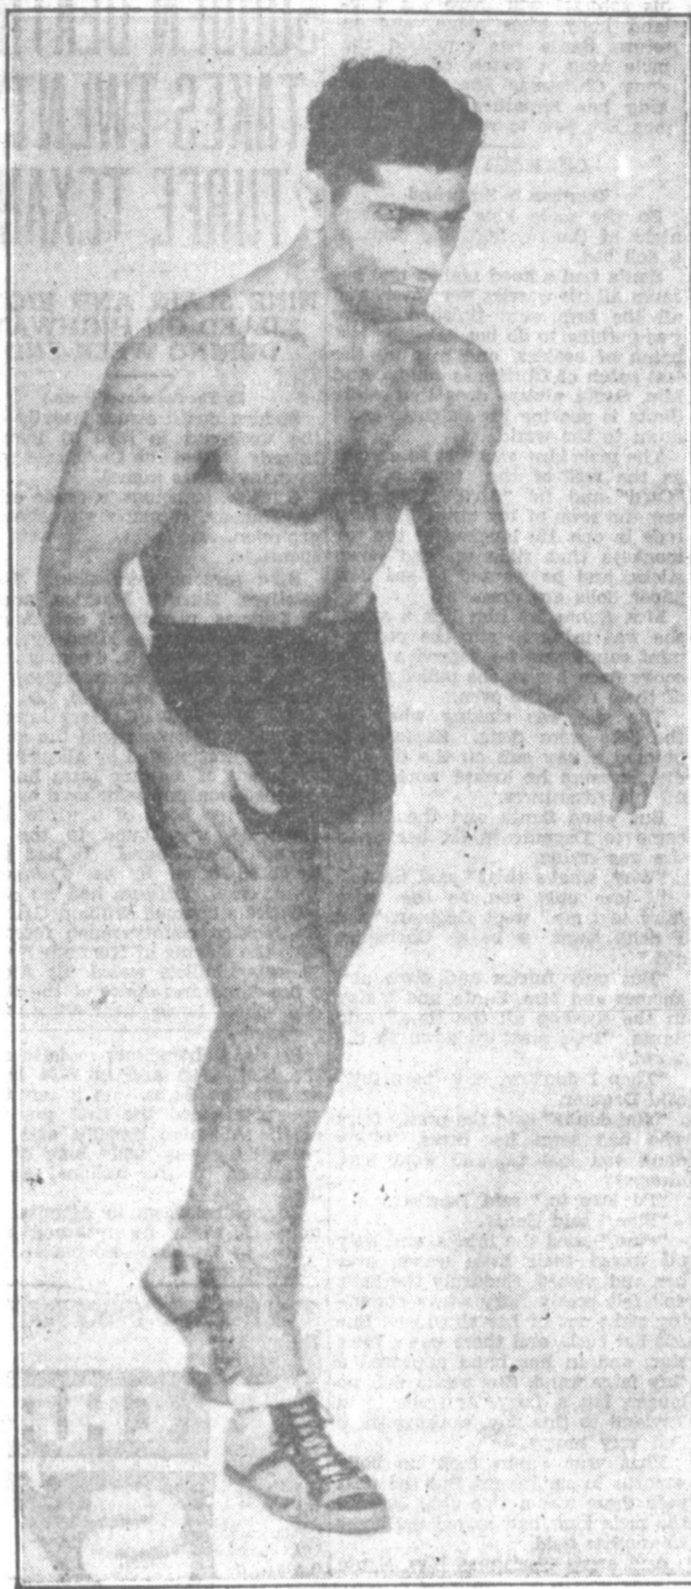

Coach Odus Mitchell has not decided on a starting Harvester lineup. His boys have not been on the floor long enough to get accustomed to hardwood following a stiff football season. The usual "wish" that two or three prospects were just a "leettle" taller is possible this season, but there is a hope that one or two of the smaller boys will turn out to be second Robert Woodwards or Morris Enloes.

The work of Hassell, Herring, and Nash, all short in stature, has been particularly outstanding. Unless some of the big fellows come to the front, a couple of midgets will be getting the starting call. The little fellows have been bringing fast, doing some nice guarding, and their shooting has been improving.

Big J. R. Green has been the spark plug of the Harvester offense in early games. The big fellow led the scoring against Perryton and was effective at guarding. Bill Dunaway and Edward Scott have been doing the regular guard work. Stokes Green, brother of the Harvester center, has been a starter and has shown some excellent ability which only needs to be developed.

Sparking, Irving, Strickland, Spurling, Irving, Strickland, showing ability. They are all tall and fast and may come to the front with a rush.

To Wrestle Here Tuesday

BULL COSTELLO

The mean-looking gentleman pictured above is Bull Costello, former Spanish bullfighter but now an aspirant to the mid-weight wrestling championship of the world. Costello will meet Dory Detton, Pampa's new grappler, in a finish match at the city auditorium tomorrow night when a charity wrestling card will be presented. Five bouts, in all, will be presented with admission only 20 cents for women and children, 40 cents general admission, and 60 cents ring-side reserve seats. The first match is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Proceeds, after expenses of bringing the wrestlers here and state tax have been paid, will go to charity. The wrestlers will give their time free.

Supporting the main event which should be one of the best matches in many months, will be a semi-final between Cyclone Bobby Burns of Shreveport and Gene LaBelle, Canada. Three preliminaries, including: Pat Garrison, Pampa, versus Lobo Brown, Amarillo; Andy Dowler, Pampa, versus Dave Luttrall, Lubbock; Barber Kelly, Pampa, versus Curly Lewis, Pampa.

Grid Recruiting Code Expected To Be Adopted

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (AP)—A code on the ever-present subject of recruiting and subsidizing of college athletes, especially football players, may be adopted by the National Collegiate A. A. at its annual sessions this week.

Prof. Z. G. Clevenger of Indiana, appointed chairman of a special committee to study the subject at last year's convention, will conduct a round table discussion Thursday which the N. C. A. A. hopes will lead to the adoption of a code directed at the elimination of these twin athletic evils.

Meeting in joint session with the N. C. A. A. from Wednesday to Saturday will be the American Football Coaches' association, the College Physical Education association, and the American Student Health association. It marks the first time in history these four associations have merged their deliberations, thus avoiding the program conflicts that used to prevail.

The National Football Rules committee, through its chairman, Walter Oakeson, will make its annual report on Friday and perhaps indicate what, if any, changes need to be made in the code for next year.

Max Baer Will Fight Levinsky Friday Evening

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (AP)—Max Baer, in person, pumps some extra life into the national boxing industry this week.

The gay champion fights a four-round bout with King Levinsky, Chicago's rough and tumble clown, as the feature of an all-star card at the Chicago stadium Friday night.

It is not an exhibition and Baer's title will be at stake. He and Levinsky have tangled twice before with neither able to inflict much damage in 10 rounds at Chicago or 20 at Reno. Baer insists he'll send the King to the showers early this time. The usually talkative Levinsky is saying nothing, an ominous sign perhaps. Max's younger and bigger brother, Buddy, is slated for a 4-rounder with Gene Stanton on the same card.

Otherwise, a heavyweight match between Johnny Risso, Cleveland veteran, and Charley Retzlaff of Duluth, at Minneapolis Friday night is the only other important bout on the week's card.

The "Alumna," converted ship which makes and sells beer as it is being towed to southeastern Alaska ports, is expected to give the territory from $20,000 to $35,000 in beer tax revenue.

KANSAN WINS GOLF TOURNEY IN PASADENA

H. McSPADEN WINS THE $1,000 PURSE IN CALIFORNIA

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 24 (AP)—Because he discovered clubs in his golf bags more valuable than his driver, Harold McSpaden was wealthier by a thousand dollars today.

He won that much money yesterday through a fine display of iron shots in 72-holes of play in the seventh annual Pasadena open golf tournament. The sturdy 26-year old Kansan City, Kas., professional put together cards of 70-67-71-73 for a 281 total, five strokes better than his closest rivals and three blows to the good over par.

"I'm no longer trying for those booming drives I used to get," said the Kansan. "I found out, a year ago it was getting me no place. Accuracy is my motto now instead of distance. And I find my irons also are working better."

Five strokes back, were Dick Metz, young Chicago pro, and Ted Longworth, Portland, Ore., player, with cards of 286 and $500 prize money each. Fourth place with $350 in cash as the reward went to Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., with a 287 total.

Five players tied for fifth place with a 288 score to win $210 each. They were: MacDonald Smith, Los Angeles, Willie Goggin, San Francisco, Horton Smith, Oak Park, Ill., Ralph Guldahl, Los Angeles, and Jimmy Hines, Long Island.

Mrs. Long Dies At Groom Home

Mrs. L. E. Long, 20, died early this morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Davis, four miles north of Groom. Mr. and Mrs. Long also resided on a farm near Groom. Both had been residents of that community for many years.

The body is at the Pampa Mortuary. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon in Groom but complete arrangements had not been completed this morning.

Mrs. Long is survived by her husband, her parents, and one brother, Vernon of Groom.

Livestock experts say dairy cows need at least six weeks of rest between lactation periods to rebuild their body tissues and bone structures.

AMARILLO AND CORPUS WILL PLAY IN DALLAS SATURDAY

Blair Cherry, Fearing TCU Field Jinx, Asks Game Be in Stadium at Fair

DALLAS, Dec. 24 (AP)—Finalists of a thrilling chase for the Texas school boy grid title, Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm and the Corpus Christi Buccaneers, amazing coastal city team, will meet here next Saturday at Fair Park stadium for the Texas Interscholastic league title.

P. C. Cobb, director of athletics for local high schools, started laying plans for a crowd of 20,000 spectators. The Fair Park bowl, one of the largest in the south, seats 46,000.

Officials of the two schools met at Fort Worth yesterday and decided on Dallas as the neutral battleground. The field will be covered with a huge cover to assure a dry playing surface in the event of rainy weather.

Coach Blair Cherry of the Sandstorm voted against playing at Fort Worth. Twice his Sandies have lost championship battles on the Texas Christian gridiron and he feared a jinx. Coach Bobby Cannon of Corpus Christi liked the idea of a field cover, admitting his team had been weak on muddy fields this season.

Officials for the game will be "Dutch" Meyer of Texas Christian referee; Harry Vneir, umpire; A. Custis, head lineman; and Clyde Littlefield, field judge.

The Sandies, victors over Masonic Home of Fort Worth, 3 to 0 last Saturday, will move down to Denton Wednesday of Thursday to taper off training. The Buccaneers, surprisingly potent in another Greenville, last year's champion 34 to 14, at Houston Saturday, will arrive in Dallas Thursday or Friday.

New Deal Is in Sight for Cornell

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—The new deal in football that Cornell alumni have been seeking for a half dozen years may be on the way.

Although re-affirming the university's "traditional amateur spirit of sport for sport's sake," the committee on athletics control announced a liberalized policy for scholarships for athletes yesterday in a formal statement evoked by publication of an editorial in the Cornell Alumni News.

Dismissing the suggestion that Cornell "buy" football material as something the university never would do, the committee said, however, that if funds for scholarships became available through the alumni it saw no reason why men of athletic ability should not receive them along with non-athletes, always providing that "character and brains remain the primary consideration."

THOMAS D'SPAIN AND MISS NEWMAN WED

McLEAN, Dec. 24. (P)—Wedding bells are ringing simultaneously with the Christmas chimes in McLean. Two weddings of unusual interest to many McLean people have been solemnized this week.

Last Tuesday evening following the football banquet, Coach Garrison Rush was married to Miss Ruth Churington, of Pampa. The ceremony was performed at Sayre, Okla.

The bride is a graduate nurse.

having been associated with the Worley Hospital, Pampa for several months. The groom has coached football in McLean for the last five years where he has proved not only to McLean fans, but to the entire Panhandle that he knows his football.

The marriage was kept secret until the newlyweds had left town Friday afternoon for their vacation at Byers, the former home of both. They will be at home to friends after the first of the year in an apartment at the J. H. Bodine home.

Miss Newman Weds Thomas D'Spain

Saturday morning in Amarillo, Miss Corrie Lee Newman and Thomas D'Spain, both of McLean, were married at the home of Eld. Robt. C. Jones, the latter performing the ceremony. They left immediately for various points in Colorado to spend their honeymoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Newman of McLean, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. D'Spain of the Gracey community.

Church Organizations Have Christmas Parties

Practically all ladies' organizations of the local churches had appropriate Christmas parties. Ladies of the Presbyterian church were entertained at the home of Mrs. T. J. Coffey where on the Christmas tree lovely presents were hung for all.

Ladies of the Church of Christ had a similar party at the home of Mrs. W. E. Amis on Thursday afternoon. The Methodist ladies enjoyed a delicious luncheon at the home of Mrs. Carl Greene Tuesday where gifts were exchanged.

Mrs. George Colebank entertained members of the Baptist W. M. U. with an appropriate party on Wednesday.

Mrs. Cubine Entertains Pioneer Club

Mrs. Ercy Cubine was hostess to the Pioneer Study club Thursday afternoon at her home in the Cubine apartments.

A Christmas program of unusual interest was rendered. Mrs. C. O. Green was leader for the afternoon. Devotional, the Bible story of the first Christmas was given by Mrs. D. A. Davis.

Mrs. Green and Mrs. W. E. Bogan sang "Silent Night" as a lovely duet. Mrs. S. A. Cousins told the beautiful story of "No Room in the Inn." Mrs. Jim Back gave "The Vision of Sir Launfal." Mrs. Cecil G. Post sang "The Holy City."

Mrs. C. A. Cryer told an appropriate Christmas story and Mrs. N. U. Stout sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Lovely refreshments were served by the hostess. Little David Shelburne made a debut into society, coming with his mother for the first time, to attend the Pioneer club.

P-TA Hears Christmas Operetta

Perhaps two hundred people enjoyed the Christmas Operetta presented by pupils of the primary grades of the local Ward school at the high school auditorium Thursday evening. The program was given by the pupils of Miss Pearl Simmons, Miss Vera Hamilton, and Miss Beulah Hobbs, the three teachers being congratulated greatly upon its success.

During the evening the audience enjoyed hearing readings from various members of Mrs. Bob Black's class in expression.

Teachers Leave for Vacations

Following the various Christmas programs which were marked by the exchanging of gifts, most of the teachers left town to spend the holidays in various parts of Texas.

Supt. Cryer, with Mrs. Cryer and Jane Alice, left for Amarillo where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stone, father and mother of Mrs. Cryer.

John Harding, Miss Vera Cummings, and Mr. and Mrs. Garrison Rush left for Byers to spend the holidays with relatives.

Miss Elizabeth Kennedy accompanied the T. J. McCarty family as far as Estelline where she will be the guest of her mother for several days. The McCarty's motored on to East Texas where they will visit until the first of the year.

Miss Aline McCarty left for Lubbock immediately after the ball games Friday night for Lubbock to be the guest of her mother. Mr. Loter also left for his home.

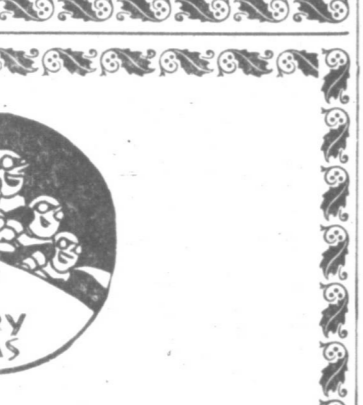

Miss Beulah Hubbard remained in McLean until Sunday so as to help in the special music at the Methodist church before going to her home at Wheeler. Bill Bryan and Martin Murdock left early Friday afternoon for Canyon and Albuquerque, New Mexico respectively.

SUDDEN DEATH TAKES TWENTY THREE TEXANS

NINE SLAIN AND EIGHT KILLED ON HIGHWAY DURING WEEK-END

(By The Associated Press.)

Sudden death struck heavily over the week-end to take 23 lives as tragedy blotted the Christmas spirit in many Texas homes.

Gunfire, stabbing, a grade crossing tragedy, automobile crashes, an explosion, and a hanging were responsible.

Nine persons were slain. Three relatives, Murray, Maurice, and J. E. Thomas, prominent San Augustine residents, were killed by pistol bullets in the W. R. Thomas store. Tom Burleson, also wounded, was near death at a Manfield, La., hospital. Sheriff W. C. Gary knew of no motive. Reports said the shooting was precipitated by alleged mistreatment of a negro farm hand.

Bullet-traced and punctured by stab wounds, the body of a white man, about 30, was found in the Rio Grande near Donna. It had been weighted down by an automobile crank case. Officers had no clues.

Officers charged William Griffith, 52, Jackson county ranch foreman, with the slaying of Kenneth Hailey, 19, after bullets ended his life at a pre-Christmas dance at the Navid school house, near Victoria.

He is a hereditary chieftain of the Mati clan and in 1934 led it against the Serbs. As a result he was proclaimed the first president of the Albanian republic and four years later was made king of the Albanians by the national assembly.

Zog, called Zogu in Albania, was only 17 when he returned from Balkan in Istanbul and entered the Balkan war.

CHAPTER XIII

Dagmar Is Surprised

So the mole king stayed overnight at the toyshop, and slept in a doll bed.

Santa had a good night's rest because all his worries were over, and all the toys were finished. There was nothing to do but bake the last batch of cookies, and mix up the last batch of Christmas candy. And Mrs. Santa always does that while Santa is packing his sleigh to come down to the world.

The mole king was just as excited as the rest of the toyshop. He "Oh'd" and he "Ah'd" when he saw the rows of toy autos. He even rode in one. He laughed at the toy monkeys that slide up and down sticks, and he wanted to see how paper dolls are dressed.

Mrs. Santa let him lick a spoon she was using to stir the peppermint candy and he begged a fresh cookie from her as she pulled a pan of them from the oven.

The sun was sinking when all the jobs were done. Santa even painted a new suit on the tin soldier, because he looked worn after all his adventures.

But when Santa and the fairies came to Dagmar to fix her dress she was crying.

"Why, what's this?" said Santa. "I love only you, as the wise fairy told me," wept Dagmar, "and I don't want to be a Christmas gift."

"But only fairies and elves and gnomes and Mrs. Santa and I stay in the toyshop all the time," said Santa. "Toys must go down to the world."

"Then I don't want to be a toy," said Dagmar.

"You don't?" said the pretty fairy who had sewn her dress. "Why don't you join us, and work here always?"

"I'd love to," said Dagmar. "Fine," said Santa.

"Fine," cried the fairies, and they all waved their little wands over her head. Suddenly the little doll felt pretty fairy wings sprouting right out of her shoulders. She felt her curls, and there was a fairy star, and in her hand appeared a tiny fairy wand. She was a doll no longer, but a fairy. And she is in Toyland to this day, working there and very happy.

That year Santa took no holly wreaths to our homes. But the next year there was a fine crop because the mole king had moved his home to another field.

And every Christmas Mrs. Santa bustles out to his tunnel door and leaves a big batch of cookies for him.

The moles have a grand time eating them—just as you will tomorrow on Christmas morning.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU ALL!

Claim Revolt Is Seething Against Albanian King

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 24 (AP)—The newspaper Mathimerina said today travelers from Albania reported a revolt was under way against the government headed by King Zog and that 2,000 men were marching on Tirana, Albania's capital.

The revolters, the newspaper asserted, were led by former army officers under the direction of the king's aide-de-camp.

Martial law was said to have been declared with a partial mobilization of the nation's military forces ordered.

Today was the tenth anniversary of Zog's ascension to the throne and a national celebration had been planned by the little Adriatic kingdom.

King Zog, who is 39, is unmarried, which has been a source of disappointment to his people.

JERRY PAULK ORCHESTRA TO PLAY IN CITY

In keeping with the plans of the management of new Pla-Mor Dance palace to bring new orchestras and new music to Pampa Jerry Paulk and his band will play for two dances at the Pla-Mor Monday and Tuesday nights. Paulk and his musicians are direct from the Moonlight Gardens Ballroom, Springfield, Ill.

Most of the bands which have played at the Pla-Mor have been from the South and East. The new orchestra is from the north and new numbers and different entertainment are promised for those who attend the dances Monday and Tuesday nights.

The Monday night dance will be a Christmas eve affair with special Christmas decorations and music appropriate to the occasion. The dance Tuesday night will be no less a gala affair with many people celebrating the holiday at the new dance palace.

The Pla-Mor management invites the public to celebrate both Christmas eve and Christmas nights at these dances. Plans are being made to care for a large crowd and an interesting evening promised. —Adv.

Cecil Wheeler, cafe operator, was shot through the heart on a downtown street at Sanger, near Denton. A man surrendered but officers had filed no charges.

Christmas shoppers in downtown Dallas scattered when bullets from two pistols blazed into the crowd. Clyde S. Jones, 25, a bystander was killed. W. O. Parker, 53, shot thru the jaw, was charged with the man's death. D. A. Shepherd, nightwatchman, fired the shot that wounded Parker.

The husband of Mrs. Lulu Harper, 35, was charged with his wife's death after she was found slain in the kitchen of her Beaumont home.

At Paris, it was the wife of L. B. Choate, army sergeant, that officers accused of slaying her husband. He was stabbed at a cafe.

Automobile accidents took eight lives.

Hurrying to Vernon for his prospective bride, Lewis C. Crowe, 30, of Dallas, was killed in an automobile accident near Decatur. He was to have married Mrs. Bertha Bonner of Marietta, Okla., on Christmas day.

Lee Wette of San Antonio, en route to Corsicans to spend Christmas day with his wife, met death in a highway accident near Waco. His machine plunged off a bridge.

Mrs. G. W. Cowgur, 59, the mother of six children and six stepchildren, stepped from behind a parked machine at Gainesville into the path of a moving automobile. She died soon afterwards.

Pinned beneath his overturned automobile, Gustav Paul Renfer, 29, Spring farmer, was found dead 20 miles from Houston. Physicians said he had been choked to death by the weight of his car on his neck.

Marvin Ferguson, 8, of Andice, was killed when the Andice school bus overturned after a collision near Waco. Nine others, including five members of the Ferguson family, were injured.

Isabel Guerrero, 45, of Hondo, was fatally injured in a collision near his home.

The skeleton found hanging in dense woods near Rising Star was definitely identified as that of H. L. McBee, former employe of the state highway department. He had been missing since May, 1933. Officers said he might have been stabbed or shot. Decomposition prevented a definite conclusion.

Christmas greenery they had gathered in a nearby wood was still in the car when four persons met death at a grade crossing near Tyler. They were Mrs. Levi H. Grett, 40, of Sinclair City; her two daughters, Beatrice Nelson, 17, and Mary Frances Grett, 3, and Pontaine Weaver, 21, living near Tyler. A Sunshine Special train demolished the automobile.

Howard Bremer, 17, a University of Texas student going to his Coleman home for the holidays was killed when a machine in which he rode with four other university students overturned near Goldthwaite.

A. F. Felts of Panhandle, started to Fort Worth with his family of four. A collision near Fort Worth resulted fatally for Felts.

Flying parts of machinery killed H. E. Cone, Jacksonville laundry employe, in an explosion at the plant.

INFORMALITY IS OBSERVED IN FUNCTIONS

YULETIDE CARDS THIS YEAR REVEAL MUCH ORIGINALITY

THAT SEASON which so beautifully combines holiness and festivity has been entered by Pampans this year with a Christmas spirit even surpassing the usual. Happiness radiates from wreaths and Christmas trees which sparkle by the hundreds in local homes. The wishes of little children (and so many of them were read in those Santa letters in The NEWS) often have been ignored in the hurry of every-day living, but this Christmas they have been gratified abundantly, as any merchant handling toys will verify. Serenaders have brought joy to shut-ins, and the more fortunate Pampans have shared with their needy neighbors.

Entertainment continues through the season, but it is much less formal than at other times of the year and consists chiefly of gatherings of relatives and close friends.

Original Cards Are Received

The mail this season is the heaviest in the history of Pampa, which means, of course, more thrills upon receiving those packages and Christmas cards.

And what interesting cards! Many of them are original. For instance, J. Events Haley, Austin historian who is known to many Pampans, and Mrs. Haley have sent cards featuring a drawing by Harold Bugby of Clarendon. A cowboy is pictured distributing a meager quantity of AAA cottonseed cake over starving cattle. This card is particularly significant, coming, as it does, after the publication of Mr. Haley's article on Cow Business and Monkey Business in the Saturday Evening Post a few weeks ago.

From Spearman comes a Christmas greeting in the form of a miniature newspaper prepared by "Hon. Est. Bill" Miller. The greeting appears in the guise of news, with the streamer story beginning thus: "What is probably the largest landslide of good will, Xmas cheer, and plain old brotherly love the ever hit Spearman has enveloped the entire Miller family."

Dee Blythe, a Pampa who went to Clovis, N. W. in June to join the editorial staff of the Clovis News-Journal, sent some of his friends a Christmas card which was the telephone. This message was included: "I may look tough in this photo, or blase and lacking in cheer, but it's just a reporter calling to wish you a happy New Year! P. S. Also a very Merry Christmas."

House Party in Mountains Given

The hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lewright is being enjoyed by several Pampans this Christmas at the couple's lodge near Therna, N. M. The guests include Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McCannald, Miss Josephine Flanagan, Mrs. N. A. Heistand, and Dr. L. Mackechney, of Wichita Falls.

Holiday Dinner Given Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Williams entertained a group of relatives at turkey dinner Saturday noon in their home on E. Francis street. Those present were Mrs. Maggie Hopkins, Mrs. C. E. Banner, Mr. and Mrs. Roger McConnell and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glascock and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Siler Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. John Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Adams of Clarendon, and Misses Margaret and Rachel Melton of Miami.

Will Attend Amarillo Dance

Tom and Clifford Braly of Pampa will be among guests at a dinner dance to be given at the country club of Amarillo Dec. 26 with Miss Cynthia Lumpkin and Miss Evelyn Freeman as hostesses. Tom Braly is a student in the law school at the University of Texas this year and is spending the holidays with his mother here.

The broadcast will last from 8:55 to 10:10 a. m.

Special broadcasts will be scattered throughout the day before Christmas and Christmas itself, including such events from overseas on Monday as carols from Cambridge university, England, on WJZ-NBC at 11 a. m.; fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Toynbee Ball, London, from New York and London on WJZ-NBC at 4:30 p. m.; part of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" from Leipzig, Germany, on WEAF-NBC at 6, and Christmas mass from Poland on WJZ-NBC at 11:30 p. m. GLASS CLAIMS AUTHORITY HAS BEEN USURPED

SAYS INTEREST RATE CUT BY ECCLES IS ILLEGAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—A denial of Senator Carter Glass's charge that the federal reserve board "usurped" the power of congress in connection with a recent cut in interest rates came today from Marriner S. Eccles, new chairman of the board and prominent new dealer.

"The federal reserve board acted strictly in accordance with its legal rights," he said.

In a letter that also was acrid with criticism of some new deal "brain trusters" whom he called "sub-professors" and "supremely wise men" Virginia's democratic senator had said the board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation had exceeded authority by including non-member state banks in an order cutting maximum interest rates on time deposits from 3 to 2 1/2 per cent.

Glass, writing to Charles S. Hamlin, member of the reserve board, said Leo T. Crowley, FDIC chairman, had disclaimed responsibility for the interest slash.

The reserve board, Glass declared, "thus may be held to account for a proceeding which may keep out of the system hundreds of desirable state banks which will not relish having an untried corporation assume unlawful authority over their business practices."

Eccles emphasized that the reserve board cut only the rates on member bank deposits, and took no action in regard to non-member state banks. The FDIC advised him, he added, that it had acted to cut the maximum interest in the latter institutions, and the federal reserve board merely called attention to the FDIC's move in a press release announcing its cut.

"If Mr. Crowley said the FDIC took no action, which I cannot believe, then no action was taken with reference to non-member state banks," Eccles said. "For certainly the reserve board took no action in regard to them."

To some observers, Glass's statement seemed to foreshadow a possible fight in the next senate on confirmation of Eccles' appointment. Eccles is widely known as a "liberal" while Glass is regarded as an exponent of more "conservative" banking thought in the senate.

 A sprig of holly or bit of mistletoe along with nuts, candied fruits and plenty of spice can transform even the humblest, cooky into enchantment. Baskets or boxes filled to overflowing with these sweets impart the old Yuletide spirit and make most acceptable remembrances for family and friends. WORLD URGED TO PRAY FOR WORLD PEACE

POPE SEES CONSTANT INCREASE IN ARMS

By ANDRUE BERDING
 Associated Press Foreign Staff
 VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24 (AP)—Pope Pius in his Christmas address to the Cardinals said today "the clamor of war spreads even farther" and urged the world to pray and work for peace.

"We see a constant increase in warlike arms," his holiness asserted.

"This is a distracting element," he continued, "in which the spirit seems to have no part. We are on the eve of a day when the heavens resound with the hymns of angels calling for peace on earth.

ABOUT STAMPS

BY QUINTON JAMES
Ludwig Holberg, a Danish humor been made the subject of a new commemorative set of stamps from Norway.

Holberg, who also was a dramatic seventeenth and eighteenth cen design. Across the top is the name to be a facsimile of the poet's sig

The values consist of 10-ore green,

30-ore blue.

Some more official stamps have

BOTH WANTED IN BANK ROBBERY SATURDAY IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 24. (AP)— Arthur Gooch was alive in the county jail here today, while federal officials investigated his alleged criminal record, thanks to the fact an old fashioned double barreled pistol failed to fire.
Gooch, who surrendered yester day after his companion, Ambrose
Nix, was killed near Okemah, es caped death twice in the same day.
Officers bullets which cut down
Nix missed Gooch and later at the Okemah jail, John Hopkins, fill ing station operator who said he had been robbed by Gooch, pointed an old pistol directly in Gooch's face and pulled the trigger.
Gooch and Nix were waylaid by officers near Okemah yesterday for questioning in the $17,000 double bank robbery at that city Saturday and Nix was killed when he opened fire on the officers. They also were wanted for questioning in the ro bbery of a store at Hallsyde
Thursday night. In addition Dwight Brantley, federal department of justice agent, here, declared they were the pair of desperadoes who kidnaped two Paris, Texas, police men recently and transported them across the state line into Oklahoma, releasing them near Antlers.
Gooch was brought here by fed eral officers in company with Irene Jones, or Sutton, who is said to have been a companion of Gooch and Nix, when they recently es caped from jail at Holdenville.
After their arrival here police re ported the discovery of a cache of arms in an Oklahoma City house.

All Roosevelts At White House For Christmas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—From the man in the white house to the buck private on China station, the government of the United States took time out today to begin celebrating a merry Christmas.

Sleeping from an executive mansion as low with the aura of yuletide, President Roosevelt planned to cross the street late in the day to give the season's greetings to the nation over the radio.

That ceremony—the lighting of the capital's official Christmas tree in Lafayette park at 5 p. m., eastern standard time—was the high spot of the yuletide eve observance.

The official tree, due to come alive with color at the president's touch of a button, reflected the gay decorations that festooned the interior of the white house. Four generations of Roosevelts gathered there to celebrate.

Four Christmas trees glittered downstairs and upstairs while holly wreaths framed every window and doorway.

Every member of the president's immediate family, from his mother—Mrs. James Roosevelt—to his grandchildren are on hand except a son, Elliott. He is spending Christmas at the home of his wife in Texas. They will be back for New Years.

Carlsbad Hotel Fire Kills Four

CARLSBAD, N. M., Dec. 24 (AP)—Mute evidence of a mother's frantic dash to save herself and her baby from fire was found today in the ruins of a small hotel in which four persons lost their lives yesterday.

The bodies of Mrs. John Owen, Portales, N. M., and her one-year-old son, Clyde, were found two feet from a door where the terrified mother was overcome by smoke.

The other victims of the fire, which destroyed the two-story frame building in a short time, were Felix Miller, 68, a rancher of near Carlsbad, and J. B. Morrison, Woodson, Texas.

Six persons, suffering from burns and other injuries received in fleeing from the flames, were in a hospital.

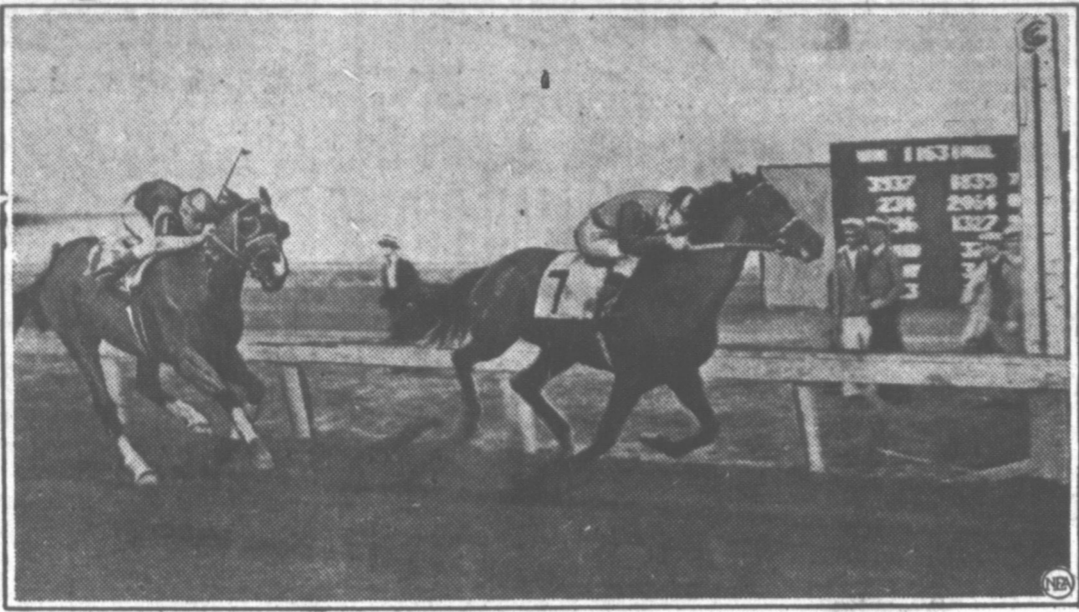

E. A. Wood, chief of police, said he believed the fire started in the lobby.

TO DELIVER PARCELS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—Gift parcels, special delivery mail, and perishable parcel post will be delivered by the postman on Christmas day. Other classes by mail, however, must wait. An order to this effect has been issued by Postmaster General Farley to lighten the work of the employes on the holiday.

Road Accident Fatal to Rotan Youth; 2 Injured

STAMFORD, Dec. 24 (AP)—One youth is dead and two others are in the hospital here gravely injured as a result of an automobile accident between Roby and Rotan Saturday night.

Odell Morton, 20, died Sunday morning and funeral rites were held yesterday afternoon at Rotan. He had a skull fracture, compound fracture of both legs, and a broken arm.

The injured are Carl Patterson, 19, who suffered a fractured skull, and June Colwell, 18, who received serious lacerations about the head, face, and hands.

The accident occurred as the youth, attempting to pass one car were blinded by the lights of another and swerved into a ditch to avoid a collision. Their machine overturned twice.

All are members of well known families in the Rotan section.

Tom Colwell, father of one of the boys, is in the hospital here gravely ill and has not been told of the accident.

Mrs. J. R. Crawford and two children, Elizabeth and Wynne, will arrive this afternoon to spend the Christmas holidays in the home of Mrs. Crawford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wynne. Mr. Wynne saw the Mason-Sandle game in Amarillo Saturday.

Miss Leora Kinard will spend Christmas day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Kinard at McLean.

Officers Seeking Three Attackers Of a Patrolman

AMARILLO, Dec. 24 (AP)—Panhandle officers hunted today three men who beat State Highway Patrolman Boyce Long over the head when he sought to question them near Canyon last night.

The trio, traveling in a black (Plymouth) sedan bearing one New Mexico license plate, grabbed Long's gun when he stopped them and beat him. A hammer also was used.

E. S. James of Amarillo, who witnessed the beating, gave chase when the trio dragged Long inside their car. Shortly afterwards they dumped Long on the highway and fled. Their machine crashed into another automobile and Mrs. Hal Bruner, one of three Amarillo residents in the car, was injured.

Long was released from a hospital after treatment of head wounds.

2,000 Children Given Candy at Theater Party

Hundreds of pounds of candy went into the outstretched hands of nearly 2,000 children, guests of the Pampa NEWS, LaNora theater and Lions club at a Christmas party at the LaNora theater this morning.

Packed two and three in a seat, sitting in the aisles, and standing, the children sent up shouts of laughter that could be heard outside the theater as 8 reels of comedy attractions were presented. Old Santa Clause appeared and wished the children a Merry Christmas. He told them that candy awaited them at the door as they left the theater, where there would be plenty for everyone, and to be good boys and girls through 1935.

Every year children of the city are given a Christmas party by the NEWS, theater and Lions club. The party this year was bigger and better than ever before.

COUNTRY NEEDS A GOOD $25 HOUSE

The late Vice President Thomas R. Marshall once lifted his office temporarily from obscurity by announcing that what the country needed most was a good five-cent cigar.

Now Writer Granite comes forward in The Nation to remark that what the country needs most of all is a good $25 house.

That isn't quite as wild a demand as it sounds. What Mr. Granite means is a new, modern, well-built house of five or six rooms which could be purchased for $25 a month, covering interest charges, taxes, upkeep, and payment on the principal—a house, in other words, that would cost not more than $2,000 to build, occupying a $500 lot.

Even with these modifications, such a goal looks very distant indeed. Yet with all the recent talk about slum clearance—and some of it has been very fine talk—we are going to have to approach some such figure as this if our slum clearance is to amount to anything.

The one outstanding fact about a slum is that people live in it because they can't afford to live anywhere else. The slum is occupied by a low-wage group and in that group $25 a month is just about top, as far as paying rent is concerned.

Several model slum clearance jobs have already been begun. But in most cases the rents will not be down in the brackets which ordinarily slum dwellers can touch. We can rebuild our slums until doomsday, but if we don't replace them with houses which cost no more in rent than the old ones cost, we shall simply be chasing our tails in a circle, with new slums arising automatically to replace the ones that are destroyed.

Unless all signs fail, we are about to pour huge additional sums into public works. The bulk of these will be more or less unproductive, in the sense that new housing is productive; that is, as Mr. Granite says, "a road, a bridge, a dam, a pile of concrete in a desert pays no taxes, buys no furniture, solves no personal human problems, houses no happy children, kindles no hearth fires, does not warm the hearts of men."

Why not pour some of these projected public works billions into low-cost housing? If the money is to be spent any-way, why not put it where it would do the most good?

We would then be solving a very great social problem, and at the same time we would be investing in a project from which we had a good chance of getting at least part of our money back.

The New Deal is often spoken of as a war on poverty. The slum is poverty's most hideous front—and its most vulnerable. A really energetic attack there would yield dividends beyond imagining.—R. G.

CAPITOL CHATTER

By CHARLES E. SIMONS
AUSTIN, Dec. 24 (AP)—The drive for enactment of a state drivers' license law, long regarded in many quarters as an urgent necessity to increase the safety of highway travel, will be resumed with vigor at the regular session of the Texas legislature in January.

The proposal has been before several preceding legislatures but encountered stiff opposition and could not be pushed to final passage. At one session it was debated two days in the house but became bogged down in a flood of amendments and its sponsors threw up their hands in dismay and decided to await a better day.

That day, they believe, is at hand. The previous bill was regarded as too elaborate to be practical in Texas and at the next session they will concentrate on a more simple measure that purportedly has proved highly effective in other states. It is a bill drafted by the national conference on street and highway safety and will be revised to make it applicable to traffic situations or conditions that are peculiar to Texas.

The bill with variations, has been enacted into law in about 25 states and is reported to have resulted in substantial reductions in the number of fatal traffic accidents.

One of the main objections voiced to former bills on the subject is that the fee has been too high to permit the average family, in which each person usually operates the family vehicle, to obtain licenses for all its members. A simple method of registration, for which a nominal fee was charged, might find favor with the legislature. If it proved successful its scope could be enlarged at a succeeding session.

Experts on the subject feel that a comprehensive drivers' license law, in which applicants for permits to operate motor vehicles were subjected to a rigid examination, would be a forward step in removing many reckless and incompetent drivers from Texas highways. The licensing system also would provide an additional penalty for reckless driving in that it would permit judges to revoke a drivers' license for serious infractions of the traffic code. In an age where automobiles are regarded more as a necessity than as a luxury revocation of licenses would give drivers cause for reflection.

The Texas conference on drivers' license law legislation had called a meeting in Austin before the session to draft plans for the campaign. All organizations that have supported the movement have been requested to send representatives. The movement has given the support of numerous civic organizations, notably the Parent-Teacher association and the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

Marland Urges New Scheme For Controlling Oil

PONCA CITY, Okla., Dec. 24 (AP)—Creation by federal law of a joint state-federal fact finding body to assist in controlling the nation's oil production was proposed here today by Governor-elect Marland as he renewed efforts to bring about an oil states compact.

Governors of the oil states will meet here Jan. 3 to continue discussions in an attempt to agree upon a compact. Efforts to reach an agreement failed at a meeting early this month.

Under the proposed federal measure, copies of which were sent to 14 governors, the agency to be known as the "Interstate Oil conference" would be composed of federal officers named by the president and a member from each state.

Its recommendations would be advisory. The president would be given broad powers in determining market demand, enforcing laws against transportation of illegally produced oil and restricting imports.

As Marland prepared for the second conference he also drafted and sent to the governors a proposed bill to be acted upon by state legislatures authorizing the various states to enter into agreements on oil legislation.

The states which Marland said would be represented here Jan. 3 are Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, California, Louisiana, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and Arkansas.

SECOND VICTIM DIES

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 24 (AP)—The death here of Mrs. D. H. Davis increased to two the number of fatalities resulting from an automobile wreck 12 miles southwest of Wichita Falls yesterday. Mrs. Thomas F. Gholson died last night. The automobile in which the Wichita Falls women rode hit a cow. Mrs. A. A. Watts was injured critically and D. H. Davis, A. A. Watts, T. F. Gholson and Lila Lee Watts, 4, were injured less seriously.

Yellow fever now is found only in a few isolated districts of South America and Africa.

Forty forest fire look-out towers were included in a CCC construction program in east Texas.

OUT OUR WAY

A Washington Daybook

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The four Du Pont brothers have had rather an annoying time of it before the Senate munitions committee. But their embarrassment doesn't seem to measure up quite to that of a former employe, Dr. C. Y. Wang.

Pierre, Lamont, Irene, and Felix Du Pont puff their four pipes in relative comfort. Incidentally, they all look like folksy, middle-class merchants except Pierre, who has a hard-boiled, distinguished exterior.

They talk in millions the way most of us would talk about dollars. They nod approvingly as their man Casey suggests it's better to embargo food than munitions and like to tell how effective some of their weapons of death are.

"Why, the French government even decorated Pierre!" says Irene proudly—and then scowls as Senator Nye remarks that the French also decorated Sir Basil Zaharoff.

Nobody ever mentions the fact that munitions are designed eventually to reach human beings and wreck and destroy them. But when they stood up to be sworn, a photographer's little flash-bulb exploded and these four millionaires who make dynamite and smokeless powder leaped and shouted.

The Du Ponts and their retainers sit on one side of the committee room, just opposite a group of 12 or 15 "regulars," mostly pacifists, and the two groups sneer and glare at each other continually.

Stephen Raushenbush and Alger Hiss, chief investigator and committee attorney, are grimly effective as they put the Du Ponts on the griddle—more so than the senators, as the two questioners have all the facts at their finger tips. This is annoying, because they're both young; Hiss is five years out of Harvard.

That being more or less the picture of the Du Ponts in the committee room, you may now turn your imagination to a picture of the aforementioned Dr. C. Y. Wang. He was a chemical engineer engaged in military sales work at Shanghai, dealing with government officials.

His name arose as Casey was telling how 4 per cent of money involved in munition sales was earmarked for "greasing" officials, which was described as "an old Chinese custom."

NRA publicity release No. 9274 is entitled "Liquidated damages approved for Ice Cream Cone Industry" . . . A multiplicity of doors leading into and out of Roosevelt's new executive offices is not as important as people are saying. Secret visits to the president have always been possible. Now they're a lot easier. . . . Stories of the recent campaign I hadn't heard before: 1. When Senator Walcott of Connecticut learned that Senator Pat Harrison was coming to the state to campaign against him, he wired Pat inviting him to make his stay at the Walcott home. Pat declined with thanks. (Walcott was licked). 2. Senator-elect Bilbo of Mississippi financed his campaign by selling handsome neckties with his name embroidered across them.

Coach Biff Jones of Louisiana State University talked back to Huey Long and quit. It still remains Huey Long's university.

Now Clara Bow's baby boy is "It."

For the first time in diplomatic history, the word "I" was used in a note Mussolini sent to the League of Nations, and some of the delegates still wonder what it means.

CANDY AND CHRISTMAS JUST NATURALLY GO TOGETHER—SO HERE ARE SOME GOOD RECIPES

DENTON, Dec. 24.—Christmas would not be Christmas without candy. Home-made candy makes a very nice gift, even though it takes time and patience to make fine-grained, moist candy and careful packing to keep it in good condition.

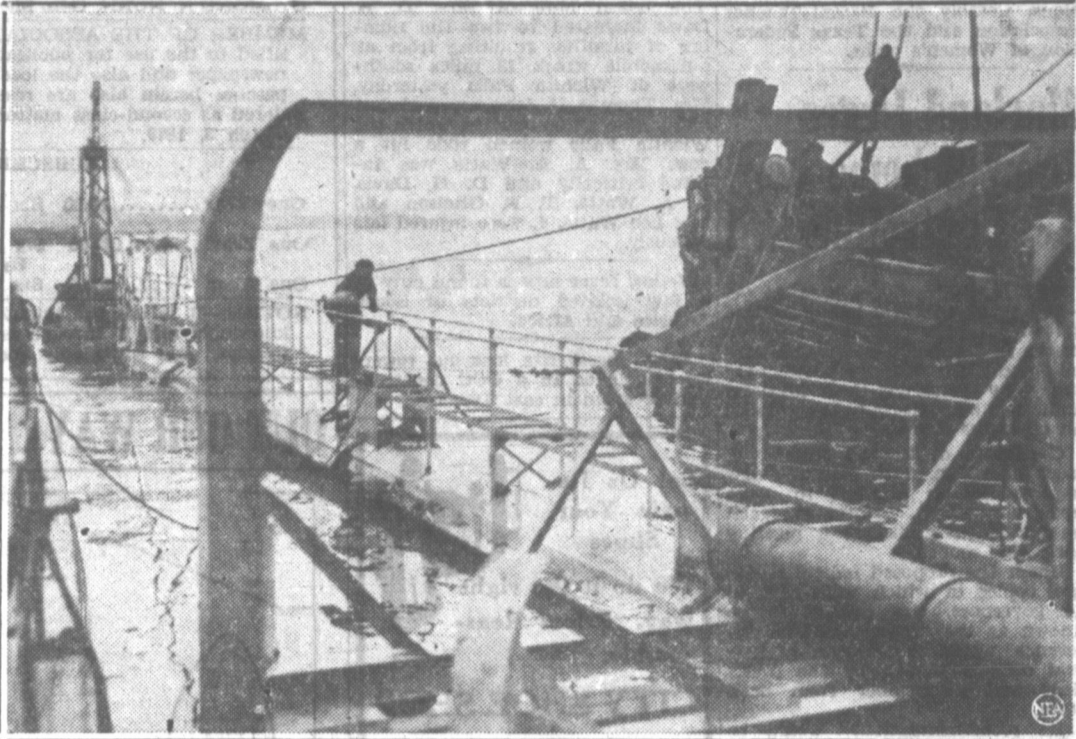

Many delicious varieties of candy may be prepared if a few fundamental rules are remembered. When sugar and a liquid are boiled together, a syrup is formed which grows thicker as the boiling continues. The thickness of this syrup will determine the general characteristics of the candy prepared. A creamy texture is a desirable characteristic of all soft candies. Creamy means that the texture should be smooth, not at all grainy; soft but not sticky. The sugar must not remain as a syrup but must crystallize. The crystals, however, must be very fine, so that they cannot be felt by the fingers nor in the mouth.

Creamy candy should not be overcooked, but if by mistake the temperature goes too high a small amount of water may be added to the product. This candy will not have as smooth a texture if the error is made, but the re-cooking will improve it materially. The candy should be cooled to the lukewarm stage (110 F.) before it is beaten. The cooling insures the presence of smaller crystals and small crystals make for a smooth texture. A small amount of corn syrup, cream of tartar, lemon juice, or vinegar may be added to the candy recipe to give a creamy product. These materials when added to the candy recipe change part of the granulated sugar to glucose during the cooking process.

Recipes.
Pecan Penuche Roll: 1 c granulated sugar, 1 c brown sugar, 3-4 c milk, 2 T butter, 1 t vanilla, 1 c pecans (halves and pieces).
 Put the milk, sugar, and butter in a sauce pan, warm slightly and stir until sugar is dissolved (if desired, 2 cups brown sugar instead of 1 white and 1 brown may be used). Wash crystals from sides of pan with wet fingers or with swab

Submarine to Claw River for $40,000,000 Gold

Simon Lake, inventor of the modern submarine, is ready to start his search for $40,000,000 gold that sank with the British Frigate Hussar during the Revolutionary (cheese cloth wrapped around tines of fork) wet in water. Stir occasionally to avoid sticking, and cook to a good soft ball stage (236 degrees F.). Remove from fire, add vanilla, and allow to cool without stirring. When cool, beat until it is creamy and can be taken into the hands, knead until soft, smooth, and plastic. If crumbly, take a little butter or other moisture onto the hands. When smooth work in some broken pecans, mold into roll, cover surface with pecan halves, and lay in cold pan. Slice with sharp knife as desired.

Fudge: 2 c sugar, 2 oz. chocolate, 2 T butter, 2-3 c milk, 2 T syrup, and 1 t vanilla.

Break the chocolate into small pieces and add to the sugar, milk, and corn syrup mixture. Stir constantly until the sugar is dissolved, and cook slowly. Continue cooking, stirring often to prevent burning, until the temperature, 236 degrees F., is reached.

Date Pecan Loaf: 4 c granulated sugar, 2 c brown sugar, 1-4 c white karo, 2 c top milk, 1-4 t salt, 3 T butter, 2 small or medium packages dates, 2 c pecans, 2 t vanilla.

Place sugar, karo, milk, and salt in saucepan and cook to firm, soft ball when tested in cup of cold water (238 degrees F. or 114 degrees C.). Add dates, cut in small pieces, and butter, cook until dates are well blended with sugar mixture (to 238 degrees F.). Cool slightly, beat until spoonful will hold its shape. Pour on cloth wrung dry from very hot water, shape into loaf. Cut, before it gets entirely cold, into slices about 3-8 inch thick.

CAVALCADE OUTSTANDING IN 1934—LEGISLATION IS HELP

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.
 CHICAGO, Dec. 24 (AP)—A small bay colt called Cavalcade—possessed of a late turn of speed that makes him outstanding among recent distance runners the turf has developed—was responsible for such racing history as came out of the 1934 season.

The rest of the season was a tale of the successful extension of racing into the new territories opened by the passage of pari-mutuel betting laws, of competition for the limited number of thoroughbreds between prosperous new tracks and long-established race courses, and of stricter regulation than the sport has known in many years.

Cavalcade ended the season as nearly undisputed a 3-year-old champion as the American stake schedule can provide. He won six of his seven starts. The list included the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, the American Derby at Washington Park, the Classic Stakes at Arlington, and the Detroit Derby. Despite reduced stake values, Cavalcade won well over $100,000 to top the 1934 list of money-winning horses. His victories permitted Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Brookmeade stable to lead, for the first time, the list of owners, with winnings of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Equipose Disappoints.
 Cavalcade's only failure came in the Preakness stakes at Pimlico a week after his Kentucky Derby triumph. Late in making his move, he was bested by a nose by his stablemate, High Quest. In every meeting during the season Cavalcade beat 1934's second-best 3-year-old, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Discovery. The only other contender for the 3-year-old championship, Joseph E. Widener's Belmont Stakes winner, Peace Chance, went wrong before he could be given a chance to meet Cavalcade in Arlington's Classic Stakes.

But if 1934 was a year of good 3-year-olds, it was otherwise undistinguished. The failure of C. V. Whitney's perennial handicapper, Equipose, to stand training through the summer robbed the handicap division of a legitimate champion. The Belair Stud's Fairno, largely because he raced most frequently, was the largest money-winner of the older horses. The Wheatley Stable's Dark Secret, Mrs. J. A. Bosley Jr.'s Chase Me, and Sylvester Labrot's Springsteel, all contenders, had to be destroyed after mishaps. Equipose won three of his six starts, with the Philadelphia Handicap at Havre de Grace, and the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico his most important victories.

Chance Sun Tops Class.
 Honors were so scattered among the 2-year-olds that it is impossible to guess from what quarter the 3-year-old aristocrats of 1935 will come. Joseph E. Widener's Chance Sun, chiefly because he won the rich Futurity stakes at Belmont, was the high money-winner of the 2-year-olds. And second only to Cavalcade in the all-age rankings. A 2-year-old filly, the Calumet Farm Stable's Nellie Flag, was third high money-winner of the season, with such other youngsters as Norman Church's Toro Nancy, the Brookmeade Stable's Psychic Bid, C. V. Whitney's Moito, the Greentree Stable's Plat Eye, and Col. E. R. Bradley's Ballidier winning frequently enough in stake company to make them stand out from the rank and file of the juvenile division.

It was the winnings of their 2-year-olds, in fact, that moved many owners close to the top of the list of money-winners. C. V. Whitney won ranking behind the Brookmeade Stable because of Motto's successes. Chance Sun put Joseph E. Widener third, and it was Flat Eye that put the Greentree Stable and Ballidier that put Col. E. R. Bradley in the first five.

Jockey Race Close.
 The race for jockey honors, no contest last year when Jack Westrope set a modern record of 301 winners, promised to run to the last day of California racing this season, with the apprentice, Morris Peters, and the veteran, Silvio Coucel, the contestants. Dublin Taylor, the early leader, dropped back to third place after losing his apprentice allowance in midsummer, and seemed to have no chance of overtaking the leaders.

Despite new tracks and a demand for riders which put many inexperienced jockeys up, there was only a single fatality in 1934. The experienced Duke Bellizzi was killed in a fall at the Jamaica track in New York on May 17.

The most successful new track of the year was Narragansett Park at Pawtucket, R. I. Racing in Texas and at Hot Springs and Miami likewise proved profitable. New tracks such as Bay Meadows near San Francisco, and Santa Anita near Los Angeles, promise the restoration of racing of the first rank to California.

The German sparkling wine industry is enjoying a great revival in business as a result of the removal of the heavy governmental tax on that product.

SANTA CLAUS REPORTS BUSINESS BOOM AS USUAL, THANKS TO STAMP COLLECTORS

Little Indiana Town Getting More Popular Every Year Because of Name.

By NEA Service
Santa Claus must be all things to all people.
To the kids, Santa Claus is the jolly sain who brings them secretly everything their little hearts desire. To mother, Santa Claus is just a big dinner to be prepared for the whole family. To pa, sometimes, Santa Claus is a pain in the neck. To 1200 Hoosiers, Santa Claus is home.

But to the growing number of dyed-in-the-wool philatelists (stamp collectors to you), Santa Claus is an item.
You've heard of Santa Claus, Ind., the little crossroads hamlet that rises each year to a peak of temporary fame and rushing postal business at the holiday season and then slumps off for the remainder of a humdrum year.

But did you know that if it weren't for stamp collectors, perhaps there wouldn't be any Santa Claus?

Name Change Happy Idea.
Santa Claus, situated deep in rural southern Indiana, was founded long before the Civil war under the name of Santa Fe. In 1858, the residents began to think it would be nice to have mail delivery, and they applied for establishment of a post-office.

The application was rejected, however, because there already was another office named Santa Fe in northern Indiana. This rejection was received only a few weeks before Christmas.

They had to think fast—Christmas, Santa Claus, Santa Fe—so they dropped the Fe, substituted Claus, and submitted a new application under the name of Santaclaus (one word). It was accepted.

So for 68 years the town went inconspicuously along as Santaclaus. In 1926 an enterprising Los Angeles stamp collector changed all that. He got an idea.

Stamp Fan Starts It.
He wrote to Postmaster James F. Martin, sending a letter to be mailed back to him from Santa Claus and thus canceled with the Yule postmark. It was the first such request Martin had had.

But the Californian went farther. He suggested that if the name of the town could be changed to two words, Santa Claus, that would raise the temperature of all good stamp collectors, and might mean business for the town.

Postmaster Martin, being a stamp collector himself, saw the point, and wrote to Postmaster General Harry New, an Indianan, asking the change. New also saw the point, and Santaclaus became Santa Claus, Indiana.

When the next edition of the Postal Guide carried the change, a flood of mail designed to secure samples of this unique postal marking began to rise, and it has never subsided. Ever since 1931 it has been necessary to put on a large extra force of clerks to handle the hundreds of thousands of letters.

The mass production of postmarks became by long odds the biggest business of Santa Claus.

In 1932 business was so heavy that the postoffice at Santa Claus was raised from fourth class to third class, and all the latest equipment installed, including an electric canceling machine.

Some time ago a move was started to change the name, but it was promptly buried under a perfect avalanche of protests from governors, senators, representatives, mayors, national organizations, and stamp collectors. It was abandoned.

Department stores and other businesses then "got next". They began sending Christmas direct-by-mail advertising to Santa Claus to be mailed there with the magic postmark that would give it unusual attention, as "direct from Santa Claus."

But the bulk of the mail is still that of the stamp collectors, who consider the Santa Claus postmark on an envelope "unique," "intensely sentimental in its appeal," "very colorful and immensely interesting."

Of course to be a non-stamp collector, it is just like any other cancellation mark except that it says "Santa Claus, Ind." instead of "Miamama, O."

The building up of this big postal business, oddly enough, almost cost Postmaster Martin his job. When Santa Claus became a third instead of a fourth class postoffice, the job of postmaster was automatically removed from civil service and became a "presidential appointment," in other words in this case a political plum.

Martin is a Republican and an active one. He was all set for the skids when three-cent postage caused business to drop to the point where Santa Claus was once more safely back in the fourth class.

Lone Cover to F. R.

Martin has opportunities to do thousands of favors for people he doesn't know, for their is no limit to the requests made of him—for signatures on the envelopes, and all kinds of trick variations of the coveted cancellations.

But in 1932 he had an opportunity to make a pretty gesture, and he did it. In that year Christmas fell on Sunday, and therefore there would normally be no Christmas Day mail cancellations from Santa Claus. Let Martin tell of his graceful act:

"I dispensed slightly with the usual rulings, and canceled one letter on that Christmas Day, and that was for President Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"The cover I flanked with a full set of the popular Washington Bicentennial stamps, with the exception of the nine-cent value. So our president, United States No. 1 Stamp Collector, has the only Dec. 25, 1932, cancellation in existence from Santa Claus, Ind."

"The cover now rests in President Roosevelt's famed stamp collection."

FDR ADVISERS CANNOT AGREE ON PWA SUMS

SIX BILLION DOLLARS IS DIFFERENCE IN ESTIMATES

By W. B. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—A six billion dollar difference in opinion over the amount that should be spent for public works next year was reported today to exist among presidential advisers.

The amounts of prospects spending pressed upon the president varied from three billion dollars, or even less, to nine billion dollars.

There was fairly general agreement, in the absence of more than a broad smile from President Roosevelt, that this was one of the spaces that so far had been left blank in his message to congress and that the sum would be filled in within the next ten days.

Figures varied according to the individual. All those in high quarters refused to discuss the matter for publication.

Speaking "off-the-record" however, one authority expressed the opinion that a good guess probably would be four or five billion dollars.

From another "not-for-quotation" source came a prediction that the amount would be extremely low. This opinion was based, the official said, on the expectation that the president would hold public works expenditures as low as possible in the hope that there would be a business upturn early next summer.

If such a plan were followed, he said, the way would be left open for greatly expanding the works program should there be no pick-up in private industry. By so doing, he added, the president would be leaving an open door through which industry might march to tackle the unemployment problem.

Meanwhile, a meeting was called today for the recovery committees of the chamber of commerce of the United States and the National Association of Manufacturers in New York on Jan. 11.

Broadcast Will Be Given From Old Catacombs

ROME, Dec. 24 (AP)—The ancient catacombs Christmas afternoon will be the site of a ceremony the early Christian probably never imagined could happen—a radio broadcast, and to country they did not know existed, America.

Father Michael Ducey, of the Catholic university at Washington, D. C., arranged the program. Bishop Joseph F. Busch, of St. Cloud, Minn., will speak.
Fifty Benedictine monks of the college of St. Anselm at Rome will chant Gregorian-Christmas chants in the St. Donatilla catacomb 50 feet underground.

St. Gregory, father of this chant, once preached a famous sermon in the room where the broadcast will take place, and one of the chants will be a hymn believed to have been sung in the catacombs nearly 2,000 years ago, called "Ubi Caritas et Amor" or "Where Charity and Love are There is Christ."

CLAIM CALLES RETIRES FROM DICTATORSHIP

CARDENAS IS ACTUAL MEXICO RULER, IS BELIEF

MEXICO, D. F., Dec. 24 (AP)—Developments in the first three weeks that President Lazaro Cardenas has been in office have gone far toward convincing the Mexican people that he will be president in fact as well as in name during his term, and that to the best of his ability he intends to aid them in solving their problems.

The departure for the north recently of former President Plutarco Elias Calles, officially termed "chief of the revolution" and known unofficially as the directing force behind all recent governments, was seen in political circles as evidence that Cardenas will have a free hand to carry out his policies and program.

In a politically significant statement in which he announced he was leaving for Sinaloa for medical treatment and to rest, Calles called on all revolutionaries to end unnecessary agitations and cooperate with Cardenas, whom he called a "strong and clean revolutionary we all respect." The statement of the former president was taken in part as an indication that he is tired of politics, and partly to mean that he feels that under the six year plan which Cardenas has pledged himself to fulfill, Mexico is now firmly entered on the period of "institutional government" which Calles has long described as his desire for the country.

The powers of the national revolutionary party, which some persons felt was usurping governmental functions, will be drastically reduced hereafter as the result of a statement by the minister of interior that his department will resume its constitutional functions, the minister instructed governors of the various states to deal directly with him concerning matters which hitherto have been taken up through the party. The party, of which all prominent government officials are members and which was founded by Calles, has been completely reorganized with General Matias Ramos, former governor of Zacatecas, replacing Carlos Riva Palacio as president of the executive committee.

A tendency noted before the inauguration of Cardenas on December 1 to classify members of the party and other important official figures as "Callistas" or "Cardenistas" has apparently been checked at least partially by Calles' appeal for unity. The former president declared that the task before the government "is of such magnitude that it claims the closest collaboration of all sincere revolutionaries," and stated that it was the clear duty of the national revolutionary party to "give its solid aid to this government which guarantees the integral fulfillment of the revolutionary program."

Less than three weeks after Cardenas took office, reports of a cabinet shakeup to eliminate several ministers who disagreed with the new president's policies have been widely circulated. It is rumored but without confirmation, that at least one minister has already tendered his resignation. Government offices have been thoroughly reorganized with only a few of the important sub-officials retaining their jobs.

'Best Dressed'

America's best-dressed woman is looking at you here, upon her return to New York City from Paris, where couturiers have fallen into the habit of awarding her that crown. Mrs. Harrison Williams declares it costs her at least $20,000 annually in wardrobe bills to annex the coveted title.

The first acts of Cardenas and his democratic methods have won him widespread praise from all sections of political opinion in his brief period in the presidency. One of his first moves was to set aside an hour daily for the public to send him complaints over the national telegraph lines, which handle the messages without charge. More than 300 messages were received the first day and this number has increased in two weeks to over 800, daily. All of the complaints are turned over to the ministers concerned and a report of the action taken on each one must be submitted to the president.

Cardenas' office in the national palace is open at all times, as far as official business permits, to citizens of all ranks and the ante-rooms are crowded daily with barefooted Indians to brush shoulders with generals and diplomats. The new president also takes every opportunity he has to listen personally to complaints and petitions from the public, and holds impromptu audiences in his automobile or the patio of the palace when he has the time.

His elevation to the presidency has not changed his mode of living, and he and his wife and son continue to occupy their small home in Gaudalope Inn, a modern suburb. It has been reported that he will not occupy Chapultepec Castle, traditional residence of government heads for over a century, but will turn it into a national museum.

Alabama Tackle Is Recovering in Del Rio Hospital

DEL RIO, Dec. 24 (AP)—The Alabama Crimson Tide rolled on towards the Rose Bowl today but Bill Young, husky reserve tackle, greeted Christmas with a forced smile.

Heartbroken, the youth remained in a hospital bed here today recovering from an emergency operation for appendicitis. He insisted in at least witnessing the New Year's Day game.

Assistant Coach H. F. Barnum and Dr. H. F. Ledbetter, team physician, told Young they "would see what could be done." Out of his hearing they said it was an impossibility.

Young, stricken suddenly on the special train late Saturday night, was rushed to a hospital here when the Alabama squad arrived.

College athletes home for the holidays, scores of citizens, groups of club members and other planned to visit the youth tomorrow—the first visiting day. Hundreds of miles from home, the 220 pound Little Rock, Ark. youth will have a Christmas day with all the trimmings—furnished by local citizens.

Barnum and Dr. Ledbetter departed for Los Angeles last night.

Four dust coated paintings, being carried to a rubbish heap at Honolulu, were found to have values of $800 to $1,000 each.

This year's pecan crop in 50 counties around Brownwood, Tex., was estimated at a growers' meeting to be 15 per cent of normal.

POLITICS at Random

BY BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

The season's most ambitious letter to Santa Claus, it appears, has been written by the President's national resources board.

The program projected in the board's voluminous report is so sweeping that it would take columns merely to list the details, and years to carry them into effect.

Things suggested for the future include a public works program running into the billions, large-scale readjustment of social relationships, a close-knit planned economy covering the whole face of nature.

Few officials can be found who have been able to take the time to read so long a document; a foreword says that even individual board members "have not all had an opportunity to give full consideration to all of the points involved."

It seems unlikely that the board as a whole or individually expects ever to wake up and find all of these points carried into execution.

No one believes the President will adopt all of them. The report is a wonderful list of things wished for, not an inventory of things actually expected.

Surprising The Politicians

The Associated Press tabulation of final returns from the congressional election contained some genuine surprises for the politicians.

Considering the democratic gains in senate and house, few had disputed Chairman Farley's assertion that the drift among the voters between 1932 and 1934, had been toward the democrats.

The complete figures, however, showed democratic house candidates polling a slightly smaller percentage of the total vote than two years ago. The explanation is that although they carried more congressional districts this year, the democrats won in many places by narrower margins than those which accompanied the 1932 landslide.

Another much-pondered feature of the tabulation is that the republicans fared worst in those parts of the country where they made their greatest effort.

It was in the industrial east where the democrats registered their largest gains, despite the fact that the republican high command pitched its campaign to an appeal for industrial conservatism. There is no agreement as to the explanation of this.

Not A 'War Scare'

It would be easy to misunderstand why Washington has been talking so much recently about war and preparedness.

Control of munitions has become a very live subject. Mr. Roosevelt has named a board to seek the elimination of war profits. A new neutrality policy is being drafted at the state department. A naval building race appears in the offing. This does not signify that the American government expects any real trouble tomorrow, or next week, or next year.

The possibility of a European outbreak always is present, but there is no disposition to believe the United States easily could be involved.

In the far east Japan is pursuing a policy which seems to American officials to call for a gradual, not a sudden, re-making of political geography. Eventualities is what Washington is thinking of there; many official observers believe the Japanese objectives many years away.

There is no "war scare" in Washington. What is being done is designed as part of a long-term national policy, not the answer to any present emergency.

The co-eds giggle and take it, but men students grumble, turn red, and shuffle about. However, it's their job—so they have to keep at it for two hours.

Lithuania Wants Russian Timber KAUNAS (AP)—The Lithuanian government is trying to persuade the Soviet Union to fulfill a contract, dating back to the peace treaty of 1920, by which, it is alleged, Russia agreed to make 250,000 acres of forest available to Lithuania for timber cutting. The Soviets, it is claimed, never made good on this promise.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write—Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

LA GRANGE, Dec. 24 (Sp.)—On Monument Hill, in this Fayette county city, rest the bones of seven men, whose fate is immemorially written in the annals of Texas history, although their deaths came after the achievement of Texas' independence, the Centennial of which is to be celebrated in many cities of the State in 1936. They were the victims of the death lottery of the Hacienda del Salado in Mexico.

Their demise came as a result of the last attempt by the Republic of Texas to send an armed expedition into Mexico and the capture by them of the only Mexican city taken by Texans in post-revolutionary days.

Following Gen. Adrian Woll's capture of San Antonio, in September, 1842, and his subsequent retreat across the Rio Grande, public sentiment in Texas was aroused and an expedition of 1,200 men formed for reprisal at San Antonio.

Before Gen. Alexander Somervell, in command, started for the border, Nov. 18, 500 of the volunteers had left for their homes and only 750 men marched with him to the Rio Grande. At Laredo, 200 of these decided to turn back, but Somervell with the rest proceeded along the river on the Texas side until he reached a point opposite the town of Guerrero, which he plundered on Dec. 15. There he decided to abandon the enterprise and, Dec. 19, ordered his men to return to Gonzales and disband.

proved too great. The Mexicans counter-attacked and after sustaining a battle, which included a cavalry charge, for eighteen hours, Fisher, Dec. 20, negotiated a surrender to an old companion in arms and 226 Texans became prisoners.

These were started on a march to Mexico City, but Feb. 11, 1843, at a point about 100 miles south of Saltillo, they overpowered their guards, seized the Mexican cavalry horses and dashed towards the Texas border. Becoming lost in the mountains without food and with but little water to be had, when overtaken finally by Mexican troops they were glad to surrender.

Several had died of starvation, a few had made their way back to Texas, but 170 again were prisoners in Mexico. In punishment for their attempt to escape, it was decreed that one in every ten of their number should be executed. Accordingly, a jar containing 170 beans, 17 of which were black and the rest white, was brought forward, and each of the prisoners, blindfolded, directed to draw forth a bean.

A black bean meant a sentence to death and the seventeen Texans who drew them immediately were shot. Having taken no part in the attempted escape, Fisher was not a participant in the death lottery.

During the Mexican War, Gen. Walter P. Lane and a scouting party made a special trip to the Hacienda del Salado, where the execution occurred, and, exhuming the bones of these unfortunate men, brought them to La Grange, where they were interred with military honors.

DALLAS, Dec. 24—Stories of the advent of the Catholic missionaries in Texas are familiar to all who peruse relations of the early history of Texas as the celebrations of the Centennial of the state's independence in 1936 by many of the cities of the state approach, but the Protestant churches also, even prior to the Revolution, turned their eyes to what is now the Lone Star state as a fertile field and the Methodist was the first of those to enter the new territory.

The pathfinder for all the southwestern frontier of Methodism was William Stevenson, who was born in South Carolina in 1768 and died in 1857. As early as 1817, he preached and organized a class at Jonesboro on the Red river, but this was done under the impression that it was in United States' territory. Henry Stevenson, a Methodist preacher, stationed in Rapids Parish, La., paid brief visits to Texas in 1824 and in 1829, without holding services, although in the latter year a meeting was held near the Sabine river in Louisiana, at which Texans joined the church.

Tell 'Em Apart?

Even their parents can't tell which is Dorothy and which is Eleanor. These twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fairbanks, of Independence, Mo., are such near-perfect doubles that they alternated in the feminine lead role in a school play and no one else knew of the change. That's Dorothy at the left.

At the second camp-meeting in September a regular church organization was effected with 48 members and Major Samuel B. McMahan was appointed class leader. In July 1834 the first Methodist church to be organized within what were then known to be the limits of Texas was established in McMahan's home.

North Texas Road Is Being Topped

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 21 (AP)—Resurfacing of state highway No. 40 from Gainesville to Denton and laying of a 6-inch crushed rock base will get under way within the next few days under the supervision of G. R. McKissack, maintenance foreman of the state highway department for Cooke county.

As soon as the rock base is completed, an asphalt topping will be placed on the road for a distance of 32 miles and a heating plant for preparation of the asphalt has been shipped from Wichita Falls to Valley View, where it will be set up for use during the paving project.

Silver City, N. C., claims the distinction of shipping more wild rabbits to food markets than any other city in the United States.

Sooner Coaches Probably Will Be Hired Again

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 24 (AP)—Football players at the University of Oklahoma rallied to the aid of the two coaches, Lewis Hardage and Bo Rowland, and prospect that the two would remain on the job became much brighter yesterday.

At a meeting of all football players, a "decided majority" voted in favor of the two coaches being retained.

The vote threw an "entirely new light" on the situation. Dr. Guy Y. Williams, head of the athletic council, said. The council previously had expressed unofficial opposition to the coaches. He said Hardage and Rowland probably would be retained.

While Williams would not reveal the count of the vote, it was understood that 40 voted for Hardage and two against them.

The move to oust the coaches had gone so far that negotiations had been opened with two prospective successors, Williams revealed. There were Biff Jones, who recently resigned from Louisiana State university after a tiff with Euey Long, and Lynn Waldorf, Kansas State coach.

Major P. Maloney, University of O. T. C. commandant, and a close friend of Jones, had talked to the retiring L. S. U. coach Thursday night by telephone, Williams said. Jones told Maloney that he was not desirous of remaining in the foot-

Helen Wills Moody—Restored health and a grand comeback.

In Which Citizen Describes America

LUBBOCK, Dec. 24 (AP)—An applicant for United States citizenship was being examined in federal court as to his knowledge of the American government.

"Do you know about the form of government of the United States?" asked a naturalization bureau examiner.

"Yes, there are three departments or divisions—executive, legislative, and judicial," replied the applicant.

"But I mean, what form is it—a kingdom or a republic?" persisted the examiner.

"Sometimes it is a republic, sometimes it isn't," replied the prospective citizen.

XMAS TRUCE IS OUT AS JUNGLE BATTLE NEARS

Decisive Battle May Be Fought On Christmas

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 24 (AP)—A Christmas truce in the Chaco Boreal appeared little likely today as Paraguay made ready to hurl thousands of picked troops against Bolivia's last line defenses in what observers said might be the decisive battle of the war.

From all directions Paraguayan columns were closing in on Villa Montes, Bolivia's central army base, and the La Paz government massed all available reserves in that sector, asserting its defenses were impregnable.

Meanwhile, advices from Asuncion said official circles doubted the feasibility of any truce, such as that suggested by the Vatican, pointing out that both armies were spread over such wide fronts that the Armistice would be tactically impractical.

La Paz reported General Joe

Estigarribia, Paraguayan commander-in-chief, was preparing to strike at Villa Montes, while Asuncion reports said Bolivia was massing men and munitions in several sections, apparently making ready for an impending counter offensive.

With minor skirmishes reported in three sectors, three Paraguay columns, each comprising one entire army corps, moved toward Villa Montes.

'Cinderella' Boy Will Enjoy Xmas

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—Peter Christopoulos, the orphan lad whose 13-letter name frequently figured in the headlines there last two years, looks forward to his merriest Christmas.

Remember 15-year-old Peter? He spent most of his life in orphanages; was adopted by a wealthy man under storybook circumstances; then was sent back to an orphanage as "temperamentally unfit."

But he finally found his Utopia—a home here with two brothers and a sister. He was busy there today with preparations for a gay holiday and the celebration of the marriage of brother Michael.

"It's going to be my best Christmas," he said. "I'm happy here."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

ANIMAL PICTURES

Although this snap was made in a zoo, it has all the "feel" of reality because the taker avoided the showing of bars or barriers.

Animals—from household pets to jungle giants—afford ideal snapshotting. For animals don't pose; they are always entirely natural and, as a result, interesting. Next to babies, they are the finest "actors" in the world for the simple reason that they do not "act."

To get good pictures of any animal the first essential is patience. It is quite possible that the family dog will stand up obligingly for you on command, but in picturing all other animals you'll find it necessary to wait for the picture you want.

And this brings us to the question—what do you want in an animal picture?

Ten or fifteen years ago there was a great fad for picturing kittens in all sorts of outlandish poses. The poor little tykes were dressed up, propped up, and photographed as though they were puppets in a miniature show. To most people, however, pictures of animals as they really are have much more appeal. You will probably prefer to snap a kitten as it plays with a string or a dog wrestling with a big stick.

Domestic animals, of course, offer few real camera difficulties, for you can get them to come where the light is right. Open shade, on a bright day, will be found best. As for shutter speed (if your camera has variable speeds), you'll need 1-25th of a second faster, to catch fleeting poses and expressions. Unless the light is exceptional, better work with the lens wide open.

To snap less controllable animals—squirrels, birds and such—you'll need greater patience and cunning. Much depends on background and on your distance from the subject. At more than ten feet, for example, a squirrel becomes almost invisible unless it is sharply revealed on a branch, with the sky for background. Obviously, you'll need to use a fast shutter; squirrels move too swiftly for slow snaps.

The zoo can be a happy hunting ground, too. In many cases, you'll be able to shoot through or over the bars of cages, obtaining clear, unobstructed snaps. In zoos where "natural" settings for the animals have been built, you can get pictures comparable to those that Martin Johnson and Frank Buck travel months to find.

Use a modern, color sensitive film. You'll need all the detail you can get and the utmost in color value rendering. Otherwise you'll find your picture of a cinnamon bear looking very much like one of a black bear.

Though zoos are scarce in this section, stuffed animals, placed in realistic surroundings, look very natural.

RUMOR PRINCE OF WALES WILL WED SWEDISH PRINCESS INGRID

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Staff
(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

This is another effort to marry off the world's most famous bachelor—Britain's "Prince Charming," the Prince of Wales.

It has been tried many times before by more influential persons than I, including the king and queen, other members of the royal family, and prime ministers. However, they do say there now is a real glimmer of hope, despite the fact that the prince has pursued his stubborn bachelorhood to the not-so-pleasant age of 40, and probably would be showing a bit of gray about the temples if his hair weren't as Saxon-blond as Hollywood's best.

The question of marriage actually has been under discussion recently in St. James palace, the prince's home. (His democratic highness refers irreverently to this ancient abode of kings as his "digs"). The girl is Princess Ingrid, the lovely and talented 24-year-old daughter of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden.

Yes, the name of this blue-eyed beauty has been linked with that of the prince before and nothing came of it. Europe also has had her engaged, or about to be engaged, to Prince Olav of Norway, King Prince Frederik of Denmark, King Boris of Bulgaria, Count Nils von Rosen, Swedish cavalry officer, and

Woman Travels 45,000 Miles in Last 12 Months

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (AP)—Only two other women in America have jobs similar to that of Mrs. Merle Sproull and only a very few in the course of a year visit as many places.

She is here today and gone tomorrow. One month she is in Istanbul; the next, it's Bombay, Rangoon, Singapore.

During the last 12 months, vivacious energetic Mrs. Sproull has sailed 45,000 miles, has been in 40 countries and met a thousand new people.

A Kansas-born, Montana-reared Californian, she is social directress aboard a world cruising liner (the Resolute).

Unlike passengers who go ashore, Mrs. Sproull spends most of her time in ports sleeping.

"At sea," she said, "I am on the go from 8 in the morning until midnight."

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS Nicholas Trench, Jerry Mordant, and Molly O'Brien have joined forces to find a formula worth millions which Molly's father devised, and which was stolen at his death by John Osborne. Nicholas has been acquitted of the charge of murdering Osborne, but several dangerous persons believe he has the formula, nevertheless. He and Molly are moving from their studios; tomorrow Nicholas will have lunch with the great chemical engineer, Sir William Avon.

Chapter 18 NEW ALLY

I had packed my bag and was in the act of fastening the clasp, when a tap at the knocker announced that Molly had returned. I heard Jerry open the front door, and emerging from my bedroom, I found them waiting for me in the hall.

Jerry picked up a couple of suitcases which were standing on the mat.

"Do you mind sitting behind and looking after the baggage, Nick?" he inquired.

"Are you referring to Molly?" I asked.

He grinned. "Molly says she'd prefer to come in front with me."

"I've never been driven by a baronet," explained Molly. "I rather want to know what it feels like."

We passed through the gate into the narrow lane outside, where a large ear was blocking up the fairway. I kept a sharp look-out while we packed ourselves in and rounded the corner into the main road, but, as far as I could see, no one appeared to be taking the least interest in our departure.

During the first hundred yards or so I glanced back once or twice through the small window behind me; then, satisfied that we were not being followed, I lighted a cigarette and ceased to trouble myself any further in the matter. After all, if they had the number of the car, it would be easy enough for them to discover the owner's name without trailing us openly through the streets of London.

It was just on twelve o'clock when we turned out of the crowded Strand into the courtyard of the Milan Hotel. The commissionaire on duty evidently recognized Jerry, for as he stepped forward to open the door, he touched his cap with a respectful smile of welcome.

"Haven't seen you for quite a time, sir."

"No, I've been leading the simple life," said Jerry. He gave instructions that the two suitcases should be taken to the motor, and making our way through the revolving door, we entered the lounge. Owing to the earliness of the hour it was still comparatively empty.

Jerry took me by the arm. "Shall I talk to 'em?" he suggested. "They know me pretty well here, and I'll make sure they give her a decent room and don't overcharge her."

"Right you are," I agreed. "I'll get a seat over there in the corner and order something to drink."

I strolled across to where I saw a comfortable-looking settee, one-half of which was partly hidden behind a giant palm. There was the obvious chance that at any moment someone I knew might walk in, and I had no wish either to be stared at or congratulated.

Close to the place I was making for stood a small page-boy. As I reached my destination he started forward with the obvious intention of relieving me of my hat then, pulling up short, he remained there as though glued to the spot, his blue eyes fixed upon me in a kind of incredulous astonishment. Somehow or other his face seemed vaguely familiar.

I beckoned to him and, pulling himself together, he came up to where I was sitting.

"What's the matter?" I inquired.

"You look as if you'd seen a ghost," he crimsoned violently. "Beg pardon, sir, but aren't you Mr. Trench?"

"That's so," I replied.

"You wouldn't remember me, sir. My name's Jimmy Fox. You—you looked at some things of mine down at the drawing-class in Battersea last May."

Directly he spoke it came back to me at once. A friend of mine called Francis, who was interested in a scheme for giving free art teaching to working-class lads, had asked me to drop in one evening and inspect some of their efforts. I had been particularly struck by the work of the smallest boy there, a dirty-faced, tousle-headed urchin who was obviously gifted with a streak of real talent.

Pleased by his keenness and intelligence I had presented him with a couple of bob to buy himself some paper and pencils. It was the same boy who was standing in front of me now, though in his tight-fitting uniform and with his smoothly brushed hair he looked so smart and clean that I had momentarily failed to recognize him.

"Of course I remember you now, Jimmy," I said. "It was those beautiful buttons of yours that put me off. Besides, you've grown such a lot since I last saw you."

He blushed again.

"How long have you been here?" I asked.

"Two months, sir. Mr. Francis—he got me the job."

"Still keen about drawing?"

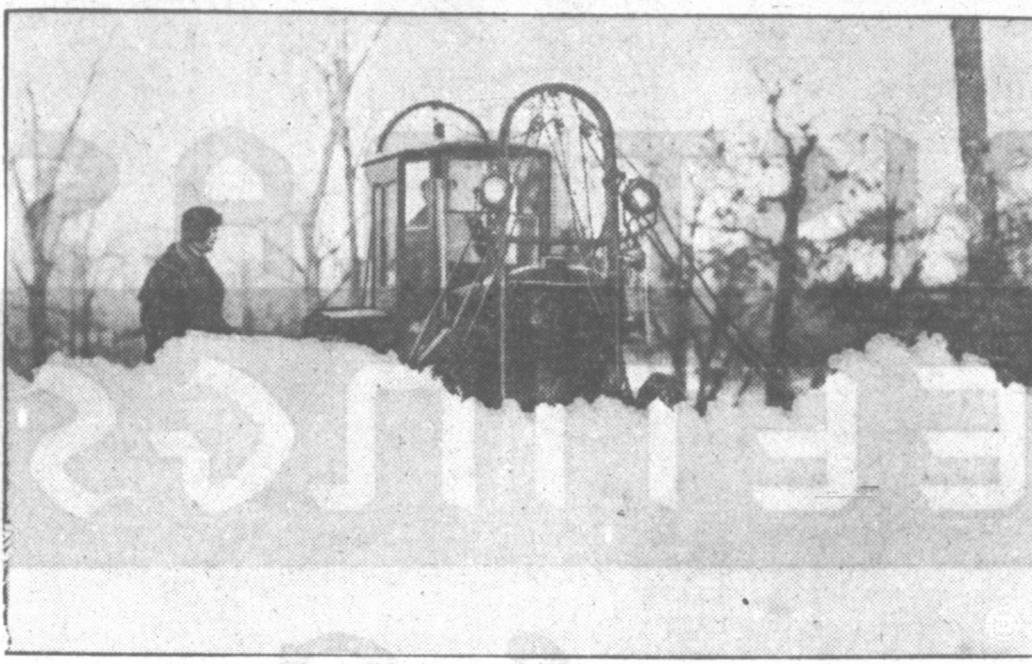

"Yes, sir—rather, sir! I don't get the chance to go to no classes now; have to do it at odd times when I ain't on duty."

"Well, I'm pleased you're keeping it up," I said. "I shall probably be here tomorrow, and if you like to bring some of your work with you I'll have a look at it."

His eyes brightened. "Will you really, sir? It's awfully kind of you." He hesitated and then came a step nearer. "You won't be angry with me, sir, but—oh, sir—I was so glad to see as how you'd got off. I—I..."

"That's all right, Jimmy," I interrupted. "Very nice of you to

Wow! Here Comes Winter's Advance Guard

Roaring in over the Mississippi and Missouri Valley states as far south as the Ozarks, winter's advance guard is capturing zero after state. A heavy snow blanket under temperatures approaching zero spread rapidly eastward. Above, a snow-plow shouldering its way through drifts in St. Paul, where traffic was blocked for 24 hours by drifts five and ten feet deep.

He retired to the door. "Sir Jerrold has finished his bath sir. He asked me to say that he will be with you in a few minutes."

Left alone with George, I glanced carelessly through the principal headlines. As Dawson had said, nothing of any burning importance seemed to have occurred during the past twenty-four hours, and eventually, abandoning my search for information, I got up and sauntered across to the open window.

It was a pleasant look-out, especially to a man who had been cooped up for six weeks in Wandsworth jail.

The trees in the Embankment Gardens were still in full leaf, and beyond their green tops, the river—a sheet of silver in the bright September sunshine—curved its way towards the distant arches of Waterloo Bridge.

Right in front of me a heavily laden barge was drifting along slowly with the tide. I ached it enviously, and I as just thinking how vastly I should enjoy the sniff of the sea myself, when the door opened and Jerry made his appearance.

He greeted me with a disarming smile.

Nicholas meets, tomorrow, a very important man.

Shirley Temple Offers to Wed Her Pal Dunn

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 24 (AP)—Hollywood's newest romance took a long step forward the other day when the girl proposed to the boy!

She was the 6-year-old actress, Shirley Temple. He was the actor, Jimmy Dunn, her co-worker in three pictures.

Whether she had grown tired of waiting for him to say something about it or was prompted by jealousy when she saw another girl, the blond singer Alice Faye, playfully sitting on his lap on a film set, is not disclosed.

At any rate, when the other girl had gone, she climbed up on his knee, looked at him with solemn blue eyes, and said:

"Jimmy, I'll marry you."

Their romance started when he played as her father in "Baby, Take a Bow." Since then their mutual admiration has grown apace.

Dunn credits much of his return to favor in the studios to his appearance in her pictures.

Walking To Be Christmas Gift Of Texas Girl

FORT WORTH, Dec. 24 (AP)—Christmas Day will find few happier persons in Fort Worth than Minnie Maurine Kendrick, 12, who this week walked for the first time in her life.

Born a cripple, Minnie Maurine all her life has been carried about in her mother's arms—to and from school, through the department stores at Christmas time and to an occasional movie.

Last August she underwent an operation at the Children's hospital. Last week with the aid of a specially constructed walker, she took her first steps while doctors and nurses stood by to see the result of their work.

FDR Receives 6,000 Packages

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—Mallmen were busy today hauling Christmas gifts and greetings to the white house for the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

More than 6,000 packages and cards were received yesterday and clerks estimated that the volume would increase until after Christmas.

Among the gifts received thus far are fruit, ducks, pheasants, turkeys, a buck deer given by Henry Bridges of the Woodmont Rod and Gun club in Maryland, cranes, dolls, wood carvings, ship models, prints and the like.

Check Tax Will End January 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—A happy new year, in at least one sense, awaits the nation's bankers and writers of some 2,250,000,000 checks annually—for on Jan. 1 the two-cent bank check tax automatically dies.

The treasury will lose around $45,000,000 a year in revenue.

Germany has prepared nine new charity stamps ranging from 3 to 40 pfennigs. Each bears a surtax which will go to the winter relief fund.
