U.S. JURY TO PROBE GRAFT CHARGES ON $4,000,000 TEXAS PWA PROJECT

ICKES REFUSES TO DESIGNATE GROUP OR JOB

INVESTIGATION MADE AT REQUEST OF SECRETARY

By MELBOURNE CHRISTERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The first special grand jury since the famous Fall-Doherty oil cases was called today to meet Feb. 6 to investigate charges of graft in a $4,000,000 Texas public works administration project.

Secretary Ickes, whose PWA investigators uncovered the alleged graft, refused to name the project involved or to say whether any public works officials were implicated. All others having knowledge of the case steadfastly declined to name the project most directly involved. Ickes did, however, indicate this inquiry "may have ramifications."

First word of the proceedings came from United States Attorney Leslie G. Garnett after he had summoned the jury. Garnett said the inquiry was being undertaken solely at the request of Ickes and that the jury would analyze "specifically one project, a $4,000,000 project in Texas." Louis Glavis, head of the PWA investigation division, has been in Texas three or four times recently, presumably in connection with the graft charges. He worked up the case which will be presented to the jurors by Garnett's assistant, John W. Finley.

The only direct statement Ickes would make was:

"The public work administration investigation division has made a long and careful study of the project upon the direction of the administrator and presented to the proper prosecuting officials of the government a full report for such action as they deem proper to take."

At a press conference later the secretary, who recently has been subjected to heavy congressional criticism for his administration of public works, said the investigation division was constantly inquiring into projects to prevent graft.

He would not, however, say other instances had been uncovered. Reporters pressed him on this point because of statements from Garnett's office that after the Texas inquiry the grand jury would probe disbursement of PWA funds on other projects.

Likewise, the secretary declined to comment on reports that eight or 10 persons, including federal officials, were implicated in the Texas case.

Local Minister To Be Installed By Presbyterians

Formal installation of L. Burney Shell as pastor of First Presbyterian church will be conducted in the services at 7:30 this evening. Dr. R. Thomsen, pastor of Central Presbyterian church in Amarillo, will deliver the sermon.

Charles L. Dickey, pastor at Canyon, will deliver the charge to the congregation and John E. Sharp, clerk of the Amarillo Presbytery, will give the charge to the pastor. An anthem by the choir will precede this ceremony.

Mr. Shell has served the church here as pastor since the first of the year. He came from Talequah, Okla., to succeed the Rev. A. A. Hyde, who moved to northeast Texas.

Mrs. W. A. Bratton, wife of Mayor Bratton, underwent a major operation at Pampa hospital yesterday morning. Her condition was reported favorable last night following a restful day.

Lobbyists Missing As Inquiry Comes To A Head

With his name in the world of letters secure, Thornton Wilder, above, noted as a writer of best sellers, has turned to grand opera in search of new laurels. The author will make his operatic debut in Chicago in February, appearing as a soldier in Handel's Xerxes and also directing production.

COLLINS GIVEN PROMOTION TO MANAGERSHIP

Gilstrap Will Go To Amarillo Under Plan

James M. (Jim) Collins, young Pampa civic leader, will become manager of the Southwestern Public Service company February 1. Mr. Collins came to Pampa 5 years ago as cashier and office manager of the company.

Officials of the company said his advancement to the managership came as a result of his diligent service and ability, and his keen interest in the community. He is thoroughly "sold" on the community and had given freely of his time to many enterprises. In 1932, he received the distinguished service medal award by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was recently made a director of the Board of City Development.

Mr. Collins will succeed T. W. Gilstrap, who will be transferred to Amarillo as commercial manager. Although Mr. Gilstrap has lived in Pampa but a few months, he has expressed his keen regret in leaving his new friends. The place made vacant by Mr. Collins' promotion will be filled by O. O. Zarpe, who was stationed here temporarily last summer and who expressed a desire to return to Pampa at the first opportunity. He is a graduate of Texas A. & M. college in electrical engineering and has held the position of efficiency engineer in the company for several years.

CIVIC CLUBS WILL SPONSOR FDR'S BIRTHDAY BALLS HERE

Dancers in the Pampa territory this week-end began organizing parties to attend the three President's Birthday balls to be held here Wednesday night. Many planned to take their "dates" or their wives, while many social groups planned to attend in a body, going from dance to dance. As they made their plans, they remembered the Birthday ball here last year, and planned to observe President Roosevelt's birthday for sentimental as well as charitable reasons. "I hope I have as good a time as I did last year," was a comment heard frequently.

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—A widely-heralded and long anticipated showdown on legislative retainers and sources of employment, with the legislators as principals and the general public as interested spectators, is in prospect for Capitol Hill next week.

The fur-flaying stage should be reached Thursday when the senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, plans to consider a house resolution proposing appointment of a joint committee to inquire into corporate connections of members of the two chambers. The resolution passed the house without a dissenting vote but evoked sharp words in the senate.

For several years the subject of corporation influence on legislative proceedings has played a lively and prominent part in primary campaigns. It was a burning issue in the campaign waged last summer by Governor James V. Allred.

The agitation for inquiry into affiliation of members of the legislature with the "interests" and for strict regulation of lobbyists has had a decided effect on the general sentiment prevailing during the first few weeks of the session, in the opinion of members and observers. For the most part lobbyists have given the legisla-

Death Comes To J. F. Vicars In San Jose, Calif.

J. F. Vicars, former Pampa resident and an uncle of DeLee and Edwin Vicars, died Thursday in a San Jose, Calif., hospital where he had been a patient since last June. DeLee Vicars made a trip to California last June when his uncle became critically ill, and stayed with him until his condition improved.

Funeral services were held today at San Jose. He is survived by his wife, Mr. Vicars moved to Pampa in 1908 and lived here until 1921 when he moved to California. He was known and loved by all the old timers here.

"When it rains it pours," J. S. Wynne said Friday in comment upon the illness and death which occurred among his relatives and friends recently. Last week, he and Mrs. Wynne attended the funeral of Mrs. Wynne's sister at Emporia, Kans. Their daughter, Mrs. DeLee Vicars, became seriously ill while her parents were away, and underwent a major operation at Pampa hospital. Her condition was much improved today. The news of Mr. Vicars' death in California was received Thursday.

Court of Honor To Meet Monday

A meeting of the Boy Scout court of honor will be held Monday evening at the city hall headquarters, it was announced yesterday by T. W. Gilstrap, chairman.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock and will be short, he said. Preparations for it were completed yesterday.

Mother Charged With Killing Her Son And His Wife

GATESVILLE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Elbel Johnson, 46, of Dallas, was indicted late today by the Coryell county grand jury for the slaying of her son Joe Blankenship, 20, and his 19-year-old bride, Bernice, on a farm near here Aug. 19, 1934.

Sheriff Joe White said tonight the indictment was returned after an exhaustive two weeks investigation. More than 100 witnesses were called before the grand jury in the investigation of the double slaying, once called a murder and suicide by an official coroner's verdict.

Sheriff White said he had asked Dallas officers to arrest Mrs. Johnson, wife of a federal radio commission inspector, and hold her for Coryell county officers.

The woman will be held in Coryell county jail without bond, Sheriff White said.

Mrs. Johnson, charged several weeks ago in a complaint filed by the dead girl's father, W. E. Daventport, prominent San Angelo attorney, vigorously denied the accusations after she had been held incommunicado in Tarrant and McLennan county jails for four days.

NEW DEFENSE WITNESS WILL RELATE ALIBI

'IRON-CLAD,' DECLARES REILLY OF NEW DOG STORY

By JOHN FERRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 26 (AP)—A New York policeman, returned from Germany with relatives of the late Isador Fisch to testify at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for murder, has also given the state new handwriting evidence, it was learned tonight, to be used against the Bronx carpenter.

As Hauptmann's counsel moved to bolster Hauptmann's main hope—an alibi—the state announced Lieut. Arthur Johnson of the New York City police, recently returned from Germany, had brought back several samples of Hauptmann's handwriting.

"We want not only a conviction of this man," said Attorney General Wilentz, "but we want to pile evidence upon evidence so convincingly that Hauptmann will break under it and make a full statement of guilt."

To Use Relatives
To this a member of Hauptmann's counsel said:

"We are more confident than ever that Hauptmann will be acquitted."

Lieut. Johnson also brought back relatives of the dead Isador Fisch—the man Hauptmann by implication accused of the Lindbergh baby murder—who will testify that Fisch died in poverty. This testimony will be used in rebuttal.

In this connection came a dispatch from Montreal tonight stating that Edward J. Reilly, chief defense counsel, had wired for details of a Montreal man's statement that he had seen Fisch in Montreal with a child, shortly after the kidnaping.

Mr. Reilly, a former news-stand operator, signed an affidavit last week that he thought he saw Fisch in Montreal with a child "closely resembling" the Lindbergh baby about 15 days after the kidnaping. Barry said he had not seen DeLee Vicars made a trip to California last June when his uncle became critically ill, and stayed with him until his condition improved.

Another Montrealer, John Harrow, owner of a tailor shop and small hotel, came forward today, a Montreal dispatches said, with a story similar to that of Barry.

Fisch 'Identified'
Harrow "positively identified" a picture of Fisch as that of a man he saw with several other men in a United States car about the time Barry is supposed to have seen Fisch.

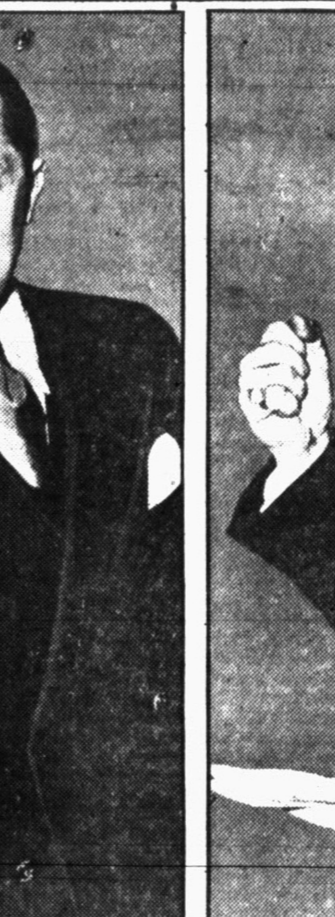

He said the car drove up before his hotel and after the occupants, who seemed very nervous, had discussed something in a low tone the man he believes was Isador Fisch asked to see a room. He said he had a woman and child with him. Finally the woman carried the child into the hotel, screaming in fear. She refused to sign the register, Harrow said.

Prepare for Burst of Oratory Over Hauptmann

The stars of the last act in the Flemington, N. J., courtroom drama will be David T. Wilentz, chief prosecutor and attorney general of New Jersey, left, and Edward J. Reilly, chief of counsel defending Bruno Hauptmann, pictured in characteristic attitudes when addressing court and jury.

Both are noted courtroom orators, as their rising pleas are expected to be as exciting as the high points of the testimony.

SURRENDER OF 100 PREVENTS BLOODY FIGHT

HUEY CHARGES A PLOT TO KILL HIM AND MUSTERS ARMY

(Copyright 1935, by The Associated Press)
BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 26 (AP)—Senator Huey Long's dictatorship rode out an armed uprising tonight as more than 100 square dealers surrendered or fled into the woods before machine guns and rifles of national guardsmen. One man was wounded.

A threatened battle between the militia and anti-Long forces came as a climax to an exciting day which saw martial law declared in this parish and city by Gov. O. K. Allen, and Senator Long charging in court that antagonistic public officials plotted his death.

It was only a short time after the senator abruptly ended his inquiry into the alleged conspiracy against his life when square dealers started to assemble at the airport. At first they were unarmed but guns soon appeared.

As the anti-Long men began to form their battle line, a company of guardsmen under Col. E. P. Roy reached the airport, unslung their weapons and prepared for action.

The opening forces were only about 500 yards apart. The guardsmen deployed in a line about a quarter of a mile in length and lying flat began advancing slowly. The armed citizenry, carrying pistols, rifles and shotguns, backed up against the woods nearby.

Guns Poised
Ernest Bourgeois, president of the anti-Long Square Deal association, commanded the citizens. It looked for a short time as if neither side would weaken. Both forces maneuvered cautiously, their guns poised.

Then suddenly, finding themselves outnumbered and surpassed in equipment, most of the square dealers surrendered to Col. Roy. They were disarmed, placed under technical arrest and freed.

The citizen shot and wounded was identified at the hospital as George Nam Alessi, 36, of Independence, La., a member of a parish police jury.

Physicians said buckshot had entered his body just above the heart, in the abdomen and in the back. An emergency operation was performed.

Disorder broke out at the airport tonight as guardsmen still deployed over the field.

3 Injured in Boiler Blast

J. D. Flemming, Tom Colvin Badly Hurt—E. Kennedy Burned and Bruised.

Flying bricks and scalding water from an exploding boiler severely injured three workmen about 8:30 o'clock Friday night when the boiler on the Dixon Creek Oil company's McConnell D-1 well in section 45, block 4, Carson county, exploded.

Two of the men are in a critical condition. The third man is not injured seriously, although he has painful burns and bruises. The three men, J. D. Flemming, Tom Colvin, and E. Kennedy, were making coffee over a small fire by the side of the boiler when it exploded.

The boiling water cascaded over the men, and bricks from the fire-place showered on them. Workmen at the same oil well, and the injured men were taken to Worley hospital.

Mr. Flemming and Mr. Colvin are in a critical condition, attending physicians reported yesterday. Mr. Kennedy has lesser injuries. Flemming and Colvin, besides being badly scalded, were cut and bruised by flying bricks and steel.

The well was being drilled by the Moran Drilling company for the Dixon Creek Oil company. It marked the second accident of the week at the same oil well. Earlier in the week an icicle dropped from a cable, striking E. Kennedy on the head and necessitating his being taken to the hospital for treatment. He had returned to work Thursday and the 100 h. p. boiler was located some distance from the derrick and the two men on the floor were not injured. The car in which the injured men were brought to the hospital was struck by bricks and pieces of steel and one of the tires punctured. The car was driven to Pampa on the flat tire.

Gas Hearings In Legislature Will Begin February 5

Committee hearings on all the proposed solutions to the gas controversy will be held next week, commencing Tuesday night, Feb. 5 at 7:30 o'clock, according to a communication from Eugene Worley, representative from this district. The hearings will be held in the hall of representatives, state capitol, Austin.

A large number of land and royalty owners are vitally concerned and wish to be advised when such bills are set for hearing. "Mr. Worley wrote: "Some of them no doubt plan to appear before the committee and state their idea of the question."

A number of bills concerning the oil and gas industry in the Panhandle have been introduced.

BORGER GYM BURNS

BORGER, Jan. 26 (AP)—Fire today caused damages estimated at $1,200 in the Borger high school gymnasium. Fire Chief G. C. Knight blamed an overheated stove.

Jack Kretzinger is recovering in Worley hospital following an operation.

ADMIRAL DIES

BREMERTON, Wash., Jan. 26 (AP)—A heart attack ended today the long and notable career of Admiral Robert E. Coontz, 70, U. S. N., retired.

Geography Now Offered Adults

A course in modern geography is now offered by the Emergency Education school. Adults and others interested in becoming familiar with changes of national boundaries since the war will be interested in this work.

Plans are going forward for a class in cookery. Requests have been made for this work and it will be launched if a few more persons indicate a desire for it. After 6 p. m. daily, information about the class may be had by calling Supt. R. B. Fisher's office. In the daytime, anyone interested may call Mrs. Del Love at Phone 9012.

The class in cookery is planned to be held at 8:30 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. No books will be needed. Menus and diets will be stressed.

CHAIRMEN OF DOZEN JAYCEE COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED

Major projects to be undertaken by the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce in 1935 will be the Centennial and Pioneer Roundup, baseball tournament, Santa Day, and a housing program.

President H. L. Polley and directors met Friday night and, in a three-hour session, discussed the year's activities and named chairmen of the 12 committees.

Members will be afforded an opportunity to name the committee on which they wish to serve, during the noon luncheon Tuesday in the Schneider hotel. The members will be asked to make three selections. The board of directors will then meet and assign members to the various committees.

Committee chairmen were named from the body-at-large and not from the directors. A director will be assigned to each committee as a contact between the board and the committee members.

Committees and chairmen named at Friday's meeting were:

Publicity, John Kestler;
Highway, J. M. Hatfield;
Civic, Dr. John Hooper;
Inter-Community Relations, Sherman White;
Membership and attendance, Rev. John Muller;
Pre-Centennial and Pioneer Roundup, Archer Fullington;
Santa Day, J. M. Collins;
Sports, A. J. Johnson;
Entertainment, Al Gilliland;
Speaker, W. T. Fraser;
Housing, Philip E. Pond;
Special, Dr. C. H. Schulkey.

DISTRICT LEAGUE MEET WILL BE HELD IN PAMPA APRIL 5 AND 6

April 5 and 6 will be the dates of the District 2 Interscholastic League meet in Pampa, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the district committee with Supt. R. B. Fisher, director general. Eleven counties and the Pampa entries will compete in everything but the one-act play, in which the contests will be held April 12 and 13.

The county meet, in which the Pampa Independent district will compete, will be held at LeFors March 15 and 16. The regional meet in Canyon will be held either April 19 or 20, one day being sufficient under the new plan.

Parents will pay registration fees for the participating students and will be admitted free to the various contests. The city is expected to work out a housing arrangement for the out-of-town visitors.

Committeemen or their representatives present yesterday included Supt. Fisher, H. T. Burton of Clarendon; B. C. Schlukey, Borger; Odus Mitchell, Emporia; Ben Guill, Pampa; and Henry L. McLean, county Supt. W. B. Weathered also attended.

It was decided to award medals and cups this year to winners. Obtaining of judges also was decided.

Father Of Mrs. W. H. Davis Dies

W. T. Airey, 75, father of Mrs. W. H. Davis of this city, died Friday night at his home at 57 Houston street, Mobile, Ala. Mr. Airey had been in failing health for some time. Mrs. Davis arrived in Mobile to be with her father one day before his death.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning, Mr. Davis learned yesterday. Mr. Airey is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. E. W. Jenison, Mobile, and two sons, W. B. Airey, Mobile, and Guy Airey, secretary of the San Antonio baseball club, San Antonio.

NUMEROUS NEW LOCATIONS IN PANHANDLE INDICATE ACTIVITY

NEW HIGH IN DRILLING DUE NEXT SUMMER

PLAINS DISTRICT NOW HAS 158 ACTIVE LOCATIONS

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE, Consulting Geologist, 4321 Wackerly Bldg.

New locations in the Panhandle plains district are still keeping well ahead of completions. There were 10 new starts against 8 completions for the last week. Of the completions, six were oil wells, adding 1,488 barrels daily to the potential of the field, and two were gas wells adding 41,500,000 cubic feet of gas.

The daily average production for the week ending January 17 was 61,040 barrels, an increase over the previous week of 3,531 barrels.

The independent companies are beginning to drill throughout the field. Of the major companies, the Stanolind Oil & Gas company is the most active, and is drilling 17 wells at present. The Texas company and Skelly Oil company also continue to be active and are drilling 13, and 11 locations respectively. There are now 158 active locations in the plains district, and, from all indications, are that this summer will see a new high in drilling activity.

Moore county should get a strong play as soon as facilities for a steady movement of production is assured.

COMPLETIONS

Carson County.
The Dixon Creek Oil & Refining company No. 1 McConnell in section 201, block 3, I&GN survey, had an initial production of 20 barrels, with the pay from 3,207 to 3,268 feet and the hole bottomed at 3,302 feet.

Huey et al No. 7 McConnell in section 185, block 3, I&GN survey, had an initial production of 37,000,000 cubic feet of gas. The total depth and pay were not given.

The Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 2 McConnell in section 187, block 3, I&GN survey, had an initial production of 465 barrels with the pay from 3,265 to 3,275 feet and the bottom of the hole at 3,300 feet.

Hot Oil Once More Troubles Great Industry

BY WILLIAM VOIGHT Jr., Associated Press Staff Writer.

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 26 (AP)—Not even the senate's approval of the new Connally amendment to the National Industrial Recovery act could erase the frown from the face of the petroleum industry today.

Passed without a record vote, the measure cannot become law until 90 days after house approval and the president's signature are obtained.

Meanwhile, the flow of "hot" oil in East Texas is reported from several sources as showing a gradual increase. From 24 to 26 refineries were reported running early this week.

The gasoline market continued severely depressed and there was complete absence of enthusiasm by dealers and jobbers. Usually cold weather was partly to blame for the lack of gasoline buying.

The adverse court ruling in Texas late this week, which unless reversed in higher courts, will permit oil estimated from 1,500,000 barrels upward to move into commerce. The state, refused a stay of execution by the district court, nevertheless was granted a 5-day delay in order to perfect an appeal.

One firm was granted permission to move 10,000 barrels of gasoline allegedly processed before the Texas Railroad Commission issued its order of December 10 outlawing products not bearing approved state tenders.

As a result the market showed a decided softness. The firm offered this gasoline at 3-1/4 cents but found no immediate takers because only a portion is clean.

The current fear was that lacking takers at the price offered, the gasoline might be dumped at best price obtainable, thus depressing a market already weak.

A buying program of several large firms, designed to take off the spot market a quantity of distress gasoline in North Central Texas, in Oklahoma and in Kansas, was abruptly terminated when it became known a single 10,000-barrel lot was available in East Texas.

More interest was shown in the question of how Texas' new oil control bill will be drafted than in the congressional action which came yesterday.

There was a current of uncertainty whether the Texans would permit a "market demand" clause to remain in the forthcoming legislation. Texas' present oil law automatically terminates in September unless renewed.

If a simple "physical waste" measure passes operators in the remainder of the industry fear there will be a real flood of oil from Texas.

HUGH DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF BIDDING PLOT

JOHNSON IS READY TO CATCH 'DEAD CAT,' COMMITTEE TOLD

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL, Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A vigorous denial by Ruddy-faced Hugh S. Johnson that he had known of alleged collusion among bidders for naval construction today brought from the man who first made the charge word that the former NRA chief's "memory fails him."

Johnson said that if he had known of any agreement on bids, he would have used the information as a club to force through the ship-builders' code which was pending at the time.

John P. Frey, president of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, meanwhile, reiterated a statement that he had made yesterday before the senate munitions committee that he had shown Johnson a sealed envelope which he said was turned over to him by Lawrence Wilder, former head of the New York ship-building company. Frey said the letter contained names of the low bidders for the naval program.

"I don't like to find myself in direct opposition with him," Frey said of Johnson's testimony today, "but if his memory fails him mine is very clear and definite about the matter."

Johnson told house members that he should go before the senate munitions committee to catch the "dead cat thrown at me."

He added that Frey told him over the telephone this morning he was willing to go before the senate inquirers again and refute published reports of what he had said.

He said, however, that at the time he talked with Frey he was working 16 hours or more a day and that it might be understandable if he failed to recall the entire conversation between them.

In his testimony before the house military committee, Johnson, who worked out the construction plan which drafted manpower for the world war, said government operation of industry in war-time would be impracticable, but that government control would be desirable.

He was testifying on the Meswain measure to take the profits out of war. He said profiteering should be removed from war wherever it could be done. Chairman Meswain (D., S. C.) said the committee probably would approve the bill early next week.

In 1871, Millions of Buffaloes

SEVEN YEARS LATER NONE

Fifty millions of buffaloes! That was General Crook's estimate in 1870. More buffaloes than the population of the United States at that time by 30%! Single herds dotting the landscape as far as the eye could see . . . and scores and scores of herds!

Hunting the buffaloes for their hides had just started. But soon more than a thousand hunters were in the field. The best shots went after records, one man chalking up the astounding total of 3,300 in a season! Profits were quick and easy.

By 1873 buffalo hides were a big industry. That year three railroads—the Santa Fe, the Kansas Pacific, and the Union Pacific—shipped 754,329 east. For the three years to 1874, 5,373,730 buffaloes were killed and skinned. Yet the thundering herds kept coming through—as many as ever, it seemed!

Even after six years, Wyatt Earp reported a herd nearly as large as any he had ever seen! This was in 1877. He was hunting outlaws in the Texas Panhandle; and at the exact present site of Amarillo, ran on to this particular herd. He saw that it was remarkably large. But great was his surprise, when—by calculating the area of the ground covered by the grazing bison—he computed more than a million animals! Was the supply of buffaloes inexhaustible? Could the boom of the buffalo guns make no dent in the hordes which came charging down out of the north each fall and winter?

The end came with devastating suddenness. Wyatt Earp, the famous hunter and peace officer, lived right in the midst of the buffalo grass prairies. Yet he was caught absolutely unaware! With Billy Tilghman and Bat Masterson he set out on a buffalo hunt, for sport, in 1878. The previous year had been much like those before. Buffaloes were plentiful. But in Earp's own words, here was their experience:

"We started from Dodge and traveled due west for more than 100 miles along the Arkansas . . . then south . . . then east . . . combing, at the height of the best hunting season, the heart of what, in 1871, was the greatest buffalo ground in the world. The buffalo grass was still plentiful and as succulent as ever; on the other hand, we did not sight a single buffalo. The herds were gone, wiped out."

Again history had repeated itself. Man's ability to destroy quickly, ruthlessly, and on an appalling scale . . . if a small, immediate profit offered . . . was proved again. And . . . as usual . . . so suddenly, that even the destroyers were dazed with astonishment!

In 1934, World's Largest Gas Field!

SEVEN YEARS LATER NONE -if ruthless gas wastage is not stopped!

In the Seventies, many were positive the Buffaloes would last for generations. Today, here in the Panhandle, many are making the same mistake about our natural gas. They say, "What if the wastage each day equal the domestic and commercial consumption of the entire United States? Isn't the field so large the supply is practically inexhaustible?"

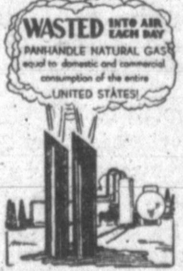

It is not. In fact, at the present and prospective rate of wastage, it is doubtful if our oil and gas field will last as long as the buffalo slaughter.

Already more than 30% of the gas field is gone. In a long strip through the heart of the field, from Le-fors to Stinnett, the gas pressure is down from 430 to 200 pounds. Furthermore, it is estimated that at least 400 million barrels of crude oil, which could be recovered otherwise, will be left in the ground permanently if the gas pressure to bring it to the wells is destroyed.

Much of this destruction has occurred since 1933, when the Texas Legislature passed an ill-advised law legalizing "stripping plants." They are permitted to throw to the winds 97% of the heating value of the gas to get the other 3% in the form of natural gasoline. These plants require little investment, few employes, and slight expense. They are connected up to less than 2% of the gas leases of the field and secure their colossal quantities of gas largely through drainage of adjacent leases. For the Panhandle gas field is one big pool.

If the present law is not corrected at this session of the State Legislature, seven more years of oil and gas in the Panhandle may seem optimistic. Those lease owners who have been standing by appalled, while their gas is being drained from under them, will be forced to act. It will be everyone for himself. An avalanche of new and bigger and enlarged "stripping plants" will descend upon the field. A few years at the most will see the end. And in the mad scramble YOU . . . and your job, profession, business, or Panhandle investment . . . will be the real loser! The time has come. It is either save the gas for fuel and industry NOW . . . or lose it forever!

Top: "The Herd." The most accurate picture known of a Panhandle buffalo herd. Col. Goodnight said of it: "A very fine picture and very natural."
Below: "The End." Both of these drawings Copyright, 1914, by M. S. Garretson, who is now Secretary of the American Bison Society.
Above: Photograph of Bath & Wright's Dodge City buffalo hide yard in 1878, showing 49,000 buffalo hides. All three of these pictures were loaned for reproduction from the collection in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society—Museum, Canyon, Texas.

HERE IS HOW YOU CAN HELP: The Texas Legislature is now in session, but many vital questions are up for solution. It is essential that our new governor and the state representatives realize the insistent demand from the Panhandle that gas waste be halted AT THIS SESSION! So communicate immediately with HON. JAS. V. ALLRED, Austin, Texas; and with the OIL AND GAS COMMITTEE, House of Representatives, Austin, Texas. Insist that prompt legislative steps be taken to stop this greatest destruction of an irreplaceable natural resource ever known in the HISTORY OF THE WORLD! Also, telephone us at 2-4212, Amarillo, or write in, for additional facts and suggestions.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—U. S. D. A.—The weekly total cattle receipts at eleven midwestern markets aggregated 155,000 compared with 152,784 last week and 177,023 the corresponding period last year. The recent upward trend continued this week in most all classes of cattle. Slaughter steers and yearlings advanced generally 50-75 over last week's closing dates. Occasional sales on strictly choice heaves show a further upturn while plainer grades were only 25-50 up in instances. She stock prices followed the trend in steers. Country demand for thin cattle compares with last week but is considerably narrower than on preceding weeks. A top of 13.00 was established at Chicago on choice steers with weight while prime heifer yearlings made 11.50. A range of 5.00-7.00 absorbed most steers and feeders around the river with fleshy light-feeders up to 8.50 at Kansas City.

Some readjustment was made in fat lamb prices at the various markets. At Omaha and St. Louis late transactions show a loss of 10-25 against last week's close while most other points report a gain of 15-35. Sheep and feeders were quoted 25-50 above last Friday's figures. Top lambs reached 9.75 to St. Louis City butchers while good and choice feeding lambs ranged from 7.00-8.00 at principal markets.

The total hog run numbered 316,000 against 681,798 the same week last year. Trade was uneven with the net change steady to 15 above last week's closing figures. Friday's top price of 8.00 was registered at all five principal markets.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Uncertainties about forthcoming monetary developments at Washington caused grain business today to shrink to the smallest proportions in a long time, with prices averaging lower.

Most observers expressed belief that the expected United States Supreme court decision of gold clause cases formed the crucial point on which grain markets hereafter would turn. Guesses on the outcome, however, were greatly at variance, and were not backed with any important volume of orders either to buy or to sell.

In an evident waiting mood, the wheat market closed sluggish, unchanged to 1/4 lower compared with yesterday's finish. May 97 1/2-1/4, corn 1/4 off to 1/4 up, May 84 1/2-85, oats unchanged to 1/4 down, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

Corn and oats traders were governed chiefly by wheat action. A fair reduction of the domestic visible supply of corn and other grain Monday was looked upon as probable.

Provisions tended to sag owing to absence of any aggressive demand.

AMELIA ARRIVES

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 26 (AP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam and her publisher husband, George Putnam, arrived at 5:35 p.m. tonight after bucking headwinds as high as 22 miles an hour most of the way from Albuquerque, N. M.

The famous woman flier and her husband planned to spend the night here and, if weather is favorable, continue to New York tomorrow.

Only two charter members of the National League—Chicago and Boston—have held franchises uninterrupted since 1876, but there has been no change in the roster since 1900.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Except for a few issues which skirted around without getting anywhere today.

Wall street was slightly skittish under the influence of lower prices for sterling and the gold currencies, but the declines in exchange did not jar markets out of the rut in which they have been coasting.

Stock exchange business jogged along at a little faster hourly rate than yesterday but this was a reflection of greater activity in a few shares rather than because of any broadening in market interest.

HARVESTERS SKAT VICTORY FROM PLAINVIEW IN THRILLING 23-21 GAME

IMPROVED HARVESTERS TRIP UP SHAMROCK 23-11 MAKING 12 POINTS IN FIRST PERIOD

PAMPA MIDGETS COME FROM BEHIND IN LAST PERIOD TO WHIP PANHANDLE 18-13; HARVESTER DEFENSE FLASHES

Ability to make free throws when they were needed probably won another nip and tuck basketball duel for the Harvesters here last night when the fighting Plainview Bulldogs reluctantly dropped a 23 to 21 battle.

Each team scored nine field goals, each team was assessed eight personal fouls, but the Pampanos looped five baskets from the free throw line and the Bulldogs made only three chances good. Referee Frank Monroe assessed a technical foul against Plainview's star forward Chisholm who left the game on personals in the middle of the fourth quarter, and who was Nash as second high scorer with 8 points before his ejection. Stokes-Green scored a tally on the technical and swished the basket once while capitalizing on Chisholm's technical and personal fouls with 9 points.

The thriller was preceded by a game between the LeFors and Pampa girls that was even closer. The Harvestettes snatched a desperately fought 17 to 16 victory, by being able to make more free throws than the Pirate Lassies. Each team scored six field goals but the Harvestettes rang up five free goals to three for the visitors.

Plainview unable to penetrate Pampa's defense, early in the game took to distance shots which reached a climax in the fourth period when Ray who replaced Chisholm stood yards from the basket near center and looped a long one. Only two of the Plainview field goals were get-ups. The Harvesters again specialized in missing crisp shots.

Borger Beat Plainview

The battle revealed one obvious fact: The Harvesters will have to play like the dickens every minute at Plainview Saturday night to take the Bulldogs. However, the going will be a little easier if Edward Scott whose bad cold still troubles him, is in the game and if he is playing up to form. Lubbock has already defeated Plainview 29 to 15, or by some such score. The Bulldogs came to Pampa from Borger where they were badly defeated by the Borgans 27-19. They complained that the referee won the game. They also reported that Borger was laying for Pampa with a mighty vengeance. The Harvesters took the Bulldogs here last Saturday night by four points.

The visitors' offense seemed to catch the Harvesters in snagging rebounds, tip-offs and in intercepting passes. Both teams looked ragged in the last half due to their defensive tactics. Dunaway was the Harvester defensive star. When the first string is off, the subs also appear to be off, and the entrance of Hassel and Irving did not improve the situation, so Coach Odus Mitchell sent Stokes Green back into the fray.

Feltner led the scoring in the girls' game with 10 points. Next to her was Baker of LeFors with 8 points. Pampa's starting lineup was as follows: Forwards, Feltner, Shields, Williams, Heskell, Blythe and Jeffries, guards, LeFors, Baker, Watson, and Hill; guards, Hill Richard and Godwin; Pampa subs were Perkins and Hunkapillar.

Midgets Win

In the preliminary, the Midgets whipped the Panhandle "midgets," except they were not midgets, 18 to 13. Panhandle led through three quarters, but in the last period the Pampanos began to find the basket. The visitors had it on the local boys in height.

Polo Teams To Invade Mexico

FORT WORTH, Jan. 26 (AP)—With practically all arrangements completed for the teams' invasion of Mexico and subsequent participation in games with army and civilian teams in Mexico City, members of El Rancho Polo club will play two regulation eight-chukker games Sunday. The first game will bring the Dallas quartet into action against El Rancho Whites, and the second will see the Oklahoma City squad facing El Rancho Blues.

Cecil Childers, El Rancho captain in charge of all arrangements for the Mexican trip, announced that he will ship 22 points to Mexico City Wednesday. A. B. Wharton, Jr., Childers, Clarence Starke, Charles Waring, San Angelo; Jack Schaffer, Oklahoma City; Ted Voight, former U. S. Army and Texas; and W. T. Waggoner, II, will be included in the personnel going to Mexico City. The players will depart next week, some leaving by air, others by motor, but all plan to be ready for the preliminary games in Mexico City starting Feb. 4. The regular three game tournament will start about the middle of Feb.

The extensive lobbies that once were maintained in Austin no longer are in evidence. The swarm of lobbyists that customarily greeted representatives leaving the two houses after adjournment is missing. Only a sprinkling of the "old guard" has put in an appearance and then only in the background.

The house resolution stated "it is commonly believed and talked throughout the state that members of the legislature are representing interests that are antagonistic to, and conflicting with the interests of the masses of the people." Language of the resolution was highly objectionable to certain senators who referred to it as "demagoguery" and "glandorous" and asserted a belief that "some one is trying to put the monkey on our backs."

Demand for a showdown on the statement was made by Senator Frank Rawlings, of Fort Worth, after sharp verbal clashes with a group supporting the resolution which sought immediate adoption and adherence to its terms. Rawlings said he would offer an amendment to subpoena witnesses and take testimony to get to the bottom of the assertions.

Extension of the investigation to cover campaign expenses of department heads also may be proposed.

The house showed little indication of giving up the fight. Adoption of the resolution was followed a few days later by introduction of a bill by representative Cecil Lotief of Cross Plains, ardent foe of public utilities, that would prohibit legislators to be employed as agent, representative or attorney by any corporation.

The week saw final passage in both houses of one phase of Governor Allred's recovery program and substantial progress toward consummation of another administration measure to accelerate recovery.

Both houses passed a series of bills to lift restrictions against investment by the state's financial institutions in loans guaranteed by the federal government under the national housing act. In addition the house steam-rolled to final passage a bill to establish a state planning board and sent it to the senate where early consideration was probable.

The administration mustered an overwhelming vote in the house on its recovery bills. In the senate only one senator, T. J. Hoffcock of Galveston, opposed the housing bills.

Many important bills were on the house calendar on favorable committee reports. Senate committees, restricted by strict rules until Friday, planned to start work in earnest next week. Rules were liberalized to permit committee sessions throughout the entire session.

An old wound of the third and fourth special sessions of the 43rd legislature will be opened in the house Monday with debate on a bill by Representative Sarah Hughes of Dallas, to prohibit payment of commissions in sale to a public authority of the uncompleted Buchanan dam in the Colorado river. When the bill to establish a state authority to finish the dam with the aid of a PWA loan was before the last legislature payment of a commission was a chief point of controversy. A house prohibition against commissions was eliminated in conference. The bill failed to receive a two-thirds vote and the law will not become effective until Feb. 9. Mrs. Hughes hopes to have her bill barring commissions in effect before that date.

The senate week also will be inaugurated in controversy with a meeting of the constitutional amendments committee Monday to consider ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution. Opponents will attempt to kill the proposition without further delay, but sponsors of the amendment, including numerous civic and women's clubs, were prepared to wage a strenuous contest.

In the senate prospectus appeared the spectre of a controversy over appointments made by former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to the state board of education a few days before she left office. The senate committee on governor's nominations probably will meet during the week and confirmation of John Laird of Lufkin, Ben F. Tisinger of Garland and James G. Strong of Panola may come up. If all are confirmed appointees of Mrs. Ferguson would control the board.

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Formation of unyielding bloc in the Texas house of representative to defeat sales tax proposals gained momentum today.

Opponents, optimistic over prospects of blocking of the new levy, planned their first caucus for next week. Representatives whose opposition is known will be invited to participate.

Bloc leaders, charting the strategy of their campaign, generally had pledged against an active fight. Instead, they intended to bind themselves by agreement and hold to it.

GROVER SEITZ WILL MANAGE ROAD RUNNERS

NEW SKIPPER CHOSEN FOR BASEBALL TEAM

Grover "Cleveland" Seitz, White Deer boy, will be at the helm of the Pampa Road Runner baseball team in 1935. Seitz will replace Freddy Brickell, who has signed a contract with Albany for the coming season.

The new manager is expected to put fight and pep into the team this year. He has several new players on the string and the Road Runners should have another strong team this season. Seitz refused to divulge any of his plans.

Seitz started his baseball career while in White Deer high school. He played for White Deer and other nearby towns until 1928, when he joined the Pampa Grays and participated in the Amarillo baseball tournament, which was won by the Pampa aggregation. Seitz' sensational fielding and base running took the eye of a St. Louis scout and he was signed by the Cardinals at the close of the tournament.

Seitz started his professional training with the Cardinals and was farmed to Houston for experience. He was sold to the Boston Red Sox and then began a "road career" which took him to Shawnee, Okla., Springfield, Mo., Elmira, N. Y., Greensborough, N. C., and back to the Western league, where he completed the 1933 season.

The White Deer boy returned home last year and had a great season with the Road Runners. He participated in 65 games and had a batting average of .387, which was second among the regulars. Seitz gathered 105 hits and scored 97 runs in 271 times to bat. He led the team in walks and stolen bases.

Another vacancy was created in the Road Runner outfield last week when Whitley Vaughn returned to Battle Creek, Mich. Vaughn will go to college for a few months before taking his final examinations as a certified public accountant.

Manager Seitz will be the only outfielder back from last season.

gether solidly. A minority of 35 or 40 in the house was calculated as sufficient to block submission of a proposed constitutional amendment to levy a three per cent retail sales tax for retirement of local bond indebtedness.

One anti sales tax leader summed up their views:

"It will take 100 affirmative votes out of the 150 members to submit a constitutional amendment. Three-fourths of the time there are only around 130 members present. So we estimate 35 or 40 of us, holding together solidly, can block it easily."

VESSEL VEERED SUDDENLY, SAYS SHIP'S CAPTAIN

Talisman's Skipper Criticised By Questioner

By MAX HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Survivors of the Mohawk disaster, still shaken by the tragedy that took 46 lives, offered conflicting testimony today on the liner's reputedly crippled steering gear, previously blamed for the collision.

The federal government swiftly swung into a double investigation of the disaster, marshalling surviving crew members to get at the bottom of the puzzling crash.

Graphic stories were told of frightened passengers plunging from the ice-covered decks into the sea; of the terrific impact; of life boats tangled in ropes because of ice; of the bitter cold and suffering.

In the customs building, Captain Edmund Wang of the Norwegian freighter Talisman, whose bow crushed the steel-shielded side of the Ward chartered Mohawk, was the first witness before a U. S. steamship inspection service inquiry seeking to determine the cause of the collision off the New Jersey coast Thursday night. Late today the inquiry was adjourned until Monday.

U. S. Attorney Martin Conboy secretly questioned members of the crews of the vessels at the federal building, sending some witnesses afterward to the other inquiry. He would not comment on the possibility of a grand jury investigation.

Blame for the crash was placed directly on the steering apparatus by Captain Wang, 60-year-old master of the Talisman.

"She (the Mohawk) was sheering in toward us," Captain Edmund Wang of the Talisman told the U. S. steamboat inspection board. "It must have been his steering gear. Couldn't think of a seafaring man making such a maneuver. I said 'I bet his steering gear is gone.'"

Then chief officer Cori N. Pedersen, of the Mohawk, testified that both the intricate mechanism controlling the rudder and the telegraph between bridge and engine room failed suddenly when the two vessels crashed Thursday night off the New Jersey coast.

The cause of this disastrous mechanical break-down remained shrouded in mystery—but the Mohawk's chief officer declared he was certain there was no sabotage.

Another Mohawk officer, chief engineer Claude B. Martin, insisted that to his knowledge there was nothing amiss with the steering gear. Listed among the missing before he appeared at the hearing, Martin testified he was not on the bridge when the vessels collided.

The ill-fated Mohawk and the freighter collided with a terrific impact at right angles. Captain Wang testified. There was no warning blast from the liner's whistle, he asserted, until she was about 50 feet away and the collision inevitable.

Speaking through an interpreter, second officer Olaf Nannestad asserted the liner's rudder seemed to be working properly immediately after the collision.

It was asserted, however, that the Mohawk crew meanwhile had succeeded in rigging up the emergency steering equipment.

One key witness, who perhaps could solve the mystery of a collision on a clear night in a calm sea—Captain Joseph E. Wood of the Mohawk—was missing. He apparently went down with his ship.

"Why didn't you lower your lifeboats?" The Talisman master was asked.

The captain of the Mohawk informed us over the radio he did not want our boats lowered," was his reply.

The radio log was examined and no such message was found and Captain Wang declared he had used his own judgment in not lowering the boats.

Captain Karl C. Neilson, of the inspection service, was openly critical of the Talisman's failure to bring in any survivors and because the freighter backed away after the collision.

Captain Wang declared repeated shouts to the Mohawk bridge failed to bring any response and that, therefore, he ordered his vessel astern.

Mrs. Eunice Holland of Laketon shopped here last night.

TOUGH GAMES EXPECTED ON GAGERS' TRIP

LUBBOCK ROPESVILLE, PLAINVIEW TO BE HARD TO BEAT

The Harvesters basketball team will take its first road trip of the season this week, leaving here Wednesday morning and returning Sunday. The first stop will be at Tulsa, where the team will play a return engagement Wednesday night.

From Tulsa, the Harvesters will journey to the small but well known town of Ropesville, where they will tangle with one of the strongest teams in the west. The quintet will return to Lubbock for a game with the Westersers Friday night, and from there they will go to Plainview for another return engagement.

The games are expected to be among the toughest of the season. Tulsa has been playing heads-up basketball in the last few weeks, hence the game is expected to be much tougher than when the two teams met here with the Harvesters being victorious.

Ropesville's team has hung up an impressive victory this season, having played some of the strongest teams in the state and being defeated only once, by Lamesa, the team that drubbed Amarillo 34 to 9 last week. Lamesa had a difficult time winning from the Ropesville quintet, which leaves the Harvesters on the small end of the dope, especially since Amarillo drubbed the Harvesters.

Plainview and Lubbock are to give the Harvesters plenty of stiff competition. Lubbock will play a return game here Feb. 8. The Harvesters will go to Borger the following night to end the Class A district race.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Weather Blamed For Prevalence Of Flu and Colds

Continued dry, dusty weather is blamed by many of Pampa physicians for widespread colds and a mild type of influenza.

In a few cases, the influenza has not been mild, but has been followed by pneumonia or bronchitis. Many persons have spent from 3 to 5 days in bed, as physicians advise. Colds are general and have been for 30 days.

One case of typhoid fever has been reported, and at least one of measles. Chicken pox cases are more numerous.

The air is filled with dormant spores which become active after being inhaled. The human reaction, however, depends mainly on the physical condition of the individual.

HAUPTMANN

Harrow said he heard the woman address the man as "Isador."

Harrow said the picture of Pisch nearly knocked him off my chair, because I remembered every feature of the man's face because of his odd behavior." He said he was sure the man had spoken with a German accent.

Reilly, in New York over the week-end, said that certain "surprise" witnesses would be called to "weld" the "iron-clad" alibi the defense is seeking to prove for Hauptmann.

"A dog—the proverbial 'man's best friend'—will be an important factor in the testimony of one."

The witness, said Reilly today, will be called "at the first opportunity" after the trial, in recess over the week-end, resumes Monday.

The man's story will be that on the night of the kidnaping, March 1, 1932, he had gone to White Plains, N. Y., from his home in the Bronx—where Hauptmann also lived—in search of a police dog.

Returning unsuccessful, the man saw an automobile at a filling station, and in the car was a dog so similar to the one he had been hunting that he thought it was his own.

The witness, said Reilly, will say that he approached the car and told the man in the car that he believed the dog was his. The man denied it, saying the dog was owned by a friend.

The witness then threatened to have the man in the car arrested, and even went so far as to have the man write his name on a paper, together with his address.

The name the man wrote was "Bruno Richard Hauptmann" and the man who wrote it, the witness will swear, was Hauptmann.

The witness said that he is able to recall the exact night on which this episode occurred because, on returning home later he heard over the radio the first alarm concerning the Lindbergh baby kidnaping.

Reilly, week-ending in Brooklyn where he conferred during the day with the defendant's wife, said he had two other new witnesses whose testimony would help the prisoner's case, but that he has had difficulty in gaining their consent to testify. He did not explain what their objections were.

To Hit at Self-Control

Somewhere along the road of his cross-examination, the state expects to trap Hauptmann. The lawyers for the state have expressed confidence he will lose the remarkable self-control he has shown throughout the months since his arrest.

The little red memorandum book, which Attorney General David T. Wilentz showed under his nose as he shouted questions at the pale defendant yesterday was the first of several surprises the state has prepared.

In that book appeared the word "boat," written "b-o-a-t," apparently in Hauptmann's hand, just as it was written and spelled in the note which "John" gave to Dr. John F. Clendon in St. Raymond's cemetery, the Bronx, the night of April 2, 1932, when he took the $50,000 ransom.

There was something else, too, which must have heightened Hauptmann's dread as Wilentz pounded away at him. At the prosecution table the "brains" of the state were busy setting up the grounds for fresh attacks on the story proffered in defense of the charge he kidnaped the baby, collected the ransom, and used a major share of it to speculate in the stock market.

Only "John" had stated that the prosecution, Wilentz said, "has only just started" on Hauptmann. Wilentz desired more than a mere jury verdict of conviction. What he hopes and what he will try for Monday when Hauptmann comes back to face the long hours of questioning, is a complete breakdown, an admission of Hauptmann's guilt.

Defense attorneys are confident no such thing will happen, and will continue their fight to show not only that Hauptmann is innocent, but that the crime was the work of more than one man.

The defense is keeping the names of all its witnesses secret, and would not disclose today the identity of a taxi cab driver, who observed four men, the defense said, in the cemetery around the time the ransom was paid.

AYERS BABY DIES

Funeral services for Wayland Dale Ayers, 1 year and four months old, were conducted in the Church of Christ at McLean at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon with the Rev. W. B. Andrews, pastor, officiating. Burial followed in McLean cemetery under direction of the Pampa Mortuary. The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Ayers of LeFors, died Friday afternoon in a local hospital of pneumonia. Survivors are the parents and one sister, Minnie Bell, and one brother, J. D.

Mr. and Mrs. John White of LeFors were Pampa visitors yesterday.

LONG

about the field after the surrender. Suddenly, someone yelled: "There he is! There is the spy!" He pointed to a short, stoutish man.

The crowd believed he was responsible for notifying the guardsmen that the citizens were gathering.

The crowd rushed the man, knocked him down, tore his clothing and trampled him. Guardsmen charged to the rescue but were finally ordered to fall back and shoot gas guns at the crowd.

The gas barrage finally drove the crowd back and left gradually. By 6 o'clock practically everyone was gone and the guardsmen were packing up to leave.

Senator Long, at his short court hearing today, charged that the revolt against his "Kingfish" regime was being fomented by the Standard Oil company.

Their dispute arose over a barrel tax on refining of oil. It was announced, however, a "compromise" had been reached providing the company would give 80 per cent Louisiana crude.

The Square Deal association was an outgrowth of this controversy, although leaders said they were fighting for repeal of all of the senator's "dictatorial laws." They had sworn to end the dictatorship.

Many in the citizen battle line tonight wore Square Deal buttons. Prior to the assembling of the armed anti-Long forces, the Long troops, acting under the governor's martial law proclamation, raided the offices of the Square Deal association.

They found only a woman stenographer. She said one of the soldiers remarked "Let's see if there's any ammunition in here." As she opened the doors of the various offices the soldiers searched them but found no ammunition and left.

Long's hearing into the alleged conspiracy was before the East Baton Rouge district court.

The inquiry climaxed a period of tense excitement in the Louisiana capitol inaugurated by seizure of the parish courthouse late yesterday by 300 grim anti-Long men.

The courthouse invasion prompted Governor Allen to proclaim martial law throughout East Baton Rouge parish, including the City of Baton Rouge.

Militiamen were rushed to the capitol last night under a modified martial law order issued by the governor to quell what he described as "armed insurrection against the duly-elected and appointed officials." Late today the governor augmented the original proclamation with a full martial law edict.

The court hearing came to an abrupt end when Long announced he was unable to find six "conspirator witnesses." He said it would be resumed Feb. 1, and immediately made plans to return to Washington.

Long "Going Soon"

Long produced a witness who related details of what he said was a plan to wreck the senator's automobile so that "50 or 70 men could come up and kill him." The senator then named a group of public officials, including sheriff, district attorney of East Baton Rouge parish and others as the alleged plotters.

Declaring the proceeding halted for the time being, Long said it was a "mysterious circumstance" why persons of their prominence could not be found to testify.

Heavily guarded by state police and national guardsmen who surrounded the state house under military mobilization orders, Long said he was "going pretty soon."

He didn't say just when he had just finished attempting to show that the alleged murder conspirators had tried to find out when he left on a recent automobile trip to New Orleans in an alleged endeavor to run his car off the road and shoot him.

Although Baton Rouge was quiet tonight, indications were that the military forces were taking no chances on being caught unprepared. Orders went out for mobilization of another guard company at Shreveport and it was directed to come here by train.

Senator Long himself was closeted under heavy guard with aides in a New Orleans hotel. Asked for comment on the near-clash of his troops and citizens, he said: "What battle?" He added that he expected to leave for Washington before morning.

Sheriff Sherburne and Dubroca tonight branded as "lies" the charges that they were involved in the alleged plot against Long. They said there was not a word of truth in the allegations.

COURT RECORD

Misdemeanor charges have been filed against four youth as an aftermath of a series of fights near dance halls and in the north part of the city Thursday night.

Fines have been set at $25 and cost in two cases of assault and battery but arraignment of two other defendants had not been made Saturday. One of the defendants is alleged to have beaten and kicked Frederick Kline, who yesterday was reported in a dazed condition from a possible skull fracture.

One of the two youth held in jail will face a serious charge unless Kline's condition improves materially.

The fourth week of 31st district court will open Monday. It will be civil week subject to criminal cases.

Lockett C. Allison against the Employers' Liability Assurance corporation has a preferential setting.

The jury list for the week follows: M. W. Banta, McLean; L. L. Palm-Fors, Doucette; Elmer Pitt, Pampa; Jno. F. Killian, Pampa; Jno. B. Hessey, Pampa; Earl Plank, Pampa; Jno. M. Poe, Pampa; Jno. R. Although $1,000,000 was raised last year, national officials expressed the opinion that such a sum was not a drop in the bucket for a planned nationwide campaign against the disease. Keith Morgan, national treasurer of the drive and a trustee of the Warm Springs Foundation, said "approximately $50,000,000 annually would be necessary thoroughly to care for the paralysis victims."

He bases the figure on a recent estimate that there are 200,000 persons suffering from the disease in America and that it would cost $300 a year to care for each properly.

John Hamilton Is Dead, Claim

ST. PAUL, Jan. 26. (AP)—Evidence to confirm rumors of John Hamilton's death was claimed here today, an authoritative source disclosed.

John Dillinger's chief lieutenant succumbed to bullet wounds last April 26 at Chicago, the informant announced. The information was furnished by a former member of the gang and corroborated by a letter penned by Dillinger himself, he added.

Department of justice officials at Washington commented merely that reports of Hamilton's death had been increasingly frequent in the last few weeks—but that his name would not be crossed off the wanted list until his body had been found.

The evidence was said to have come from a former henchman of the outlaws whose identity was undisclosed beyond a hint he was a prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary. The letter was written to Hamilton's girl friend, Patricia Cherrington, by Dillinger before he himself was slain last July.

CIVIC CLUBS

Entertainment will vary from barn dances to cross-road festivals and formal balls, with attention centering in Washington where the President will deliver a radio address between 11:30 and 12:30 p. m. and in New York, where the national committee will assemble.

General Aid To Afflicted

While proceeds of the 1934 party—a total of $1,000,000—went to the Warm Springs Foundation, this year following a suggestion from Mr. Roosevelt, none of the proceeds will go to that organization. Seventy cents of every dollar will go toward rehabilitating infantile paralysis victims in their own communities while the rest will go to the President's Birthday Ball—commission for infantile paralysis research.

Although $1,000,000 was raised last year, national officials expressed the opinion that such a sum was not a drop in the bucket for a planned nationwide campaign against the disease. Keith Morgan, national treasurer of the drive and a trustee of the Warm Springs Foundation, said "approximately $50,000,000 annually would be necessary thoroughly to care for the paralysis victims."

LARGE AUDIENCE IS DELIGHTED AS THAULOW PLAYS REQUESTED NUMBERS ON VALUABLE VIOLIN

In keeping with the ideals and program of the organization, the Pampa chapter of the American Association of University Women Friday evening observed its seventh anniversary by presenting Christian Thaulow of Amarillo, noted violinist and conductor, at its annual banquet.

As the audience of 93 persons gathered in the dining room of the Schneider hotel, a piano prelude was played by Miss Josephine Cariker. The invocation was given by Mrs. W. Purviance. Mrs. C. A. Clark, president of the chapter, welcomed the guests, then Mrs. J. M. Hooper took charge as toastmaster.

Mrs. Hooper introduced Mr. Thaulow as an artist who has been called by Fritz Kreisler the foremost of young violinists of this generation.

At Amarillo, he is conductor of the Philharmonic orchestra, which was made in 1898. He chose for his first number, at the suggestion of Mrs. Hooper, the severely exacting Devil's Trill, with a weird cadenza at the end by Kreisler. His masterful rendition of what is seldom attempted by violinists heard in this section won him the instant admiration of the audience.

EDITORIAL

NEITHER POVERTY NOR RICHES: Remove far from the vanity and lies; give me neither poverty nor riches: feed me with food convenient for me.—Proverbs 30:8.

THERE IS NO perfect profession or calling. Not even the ministry is without its unworthy and unethical members.

Therefore, when the Texas bar attempts to "clean house" and to have enacted laws which will prevent anti-social practices, it is no reflection upon the great mass of attorneys but upon that minority which, unchecked, would greatly damage the profession and society itself. The laws have been carried too far in the protection of individuals and too far away from the rights of society as a whole.

The bar must share the blame with the public for the indifference which has developed toward the law. Constitutional guarantees of a fair trial for every accused man were right and proper. But it is not right to set up a system in which the most successful lawyer, from a monetary standpoint, is the one who can keep guilty clients from having fair trials and paying the penalty of the law.

It is commonly said that even the poorest lawyer ought to be able to get one postponement of a case. A good lawyer is one who can get two continuances, and a smart lawyer is one who can wear the case out with delays, removal of damaging witnesses, and appeals to every prejudice and technicality which can be utilized. This is not a proper definition but one that would apply in many communities and in many cases.

Utter contempt for courts, court procedure, and the law extends into even the circles of the most law-abiding citizens.

While the bar cannot be blamed for many of these abuses, the bar is best fitted and in the best position to lead the fight for simplification of legal procedure and disbarring of attorneys who habitually associate with and advise criminals and whose practices are, in the code of the bar, unethical and anti-social. The state as a whole will applaud any reasonable reform.

THE BAR IS troubled with over-production of attorneys. Stricter limitations will make it possible to raise the standard of the profession. Lawyers must eat. If legitimate business is not plentiful enough for the ever-increasing number, the necessity of making a living will lead professional men into paths far from their desired legitimacy.

Under present conditions, there are too many professional men in proportion to the ability of the people to use their services. There are not too many doctors, but there are too many persons unable to afford the services they need. Until and unless economic conditions change radically, the science of medicine is likely to veer sharply toward being institutionalized and socialized—a course which most doctors oppose.

There are, in fact, too many persons doing things for other persons, for pay, and too few raising food, cattle, hogs, for their own consumption. In other words, people have wandered too far from the soil and into conditions that are far too artificial. There is no actual over-production of foodstuffs in this country. The truth is that there is under-consumption.

It is impossible to place more Americans on farms until farm prices are aligned with industrial and professional wages and until the tax burden on the soil is lowered. The old individualism and the old competition worked very well when the west was still the haven of the surplus population and before immigration and migration had filled the cities with surplus population. Today a managed economy seems inevitable and hope for a complete restoration of the old order impossible.

President Roosevelt is not in every sense a practical economist. He is frankly experimenting with emergency remedies. What is more important is that his impulses are right and his long-term planning ideas are in line with the needs of our complex civilization.

Mr. Roosevelt is taking notice of the problems of the professions, the trades, and agriculture. His success in the next few years will go far toward determining the future form of government in America. It is certain that some form of socialism will prevail. It may not be called socialism. Today's democracy is yesterday's socialism.

If Mr. Roosevelt should fail, individual opportunity will be abolished and group opportunity will be substituted; state lines will disappear; a dictatorship will be inevitable. We cannot believe that Americans could be happy with opportunity abolished, with private ownership outlawed, and with favored rulers—for these must be rulers even in communism—setting up cruel dictatorships in which it would be suicide to challenge those at the head of the government. In any government there must be authority and in any it is possible to misuse that authority and to use despotic methods. Until human nature changes, no form of government will be free from elements of oppression.

What cruelty a few bands of kidnapers can inflict upon public idols and those able to pay tribute is well illustrated in a Famous Detective Stories magazine article on the protection which surrounds 2-year-old Jon Lindbergh. Wherever the lad is taken, guards armed with machine guns and tear-gas bombs are stationed. Underground wiring for signals are placed, riot squads are ready to answer calls instantly. The Morrow estate at Englewood, N. J. is virtually a fortress. A secret New York apartment, with direct police alarms installed is used occasionally.

The babe, according to the story, goes riding with a guard who holds a machine gun under his lap robe. There have been enough suspicious circumstances to justify the precautions taken. But what a situation for a child to grow up in, and what a life for parents who already have lost one child!

That heavy fog which blanketed a large part of the United States recently isn't the same one the country has been in the last few years.

TEXAS HISTORY

Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

The meeting house at San Felipe de Austin was packed. Fifty-eight delegates, all Anglo-Americans, had come from the various colonies at the call of the Alcaldes of San Felipe, to discuss the cause of Mexico and Texas. Stephen F. Austin, with a lock of brown hair curling over his forehead, and his slim body dressed in a light homespun suit, presided over the convention with kindly authority. A hot sun greeted the delegates, though the date was October 1, 1823.

Although Mexico had not decided on the issue of civil war, in the latter part of August the Alcaldes had planned the convention which was in progress. The purpose of the meeting was to proclaim Texas' loyalty to Mexico. No Mexican delegates were present, for the political chief deemed it inadvisable to participate in something that he considered against the law. Bustamante was in power in Mexico, and if Texans declared for Santa Anna, leader of the revolt, then matters would indeed be tense. Nevertheless, a group of Mexicans came from Goliad, but arrived after the convention had been held.

A motion had just been made, accompanied by a noble speech, that Texas be separated from Coahuila, in order that state government might be established. Commissioners were immediately appointed to carry the petition to Mexico. Other matters brought before the convention were the repeal of the anti-immigration article of the last of April 6, 1823, and tariff exemption. The commissioners never left Texas, and the suggestion was dropped in a short while. It was fortunate that the petition was not taken to Mexico at that time. Mexican officials would have had every reason to believe, after recent occurrences in Texas, that the petition was the formal beginning of possible secession. Since the political chief disapproved of the entire meeting, such radical actions would have been disastrous. Coahuila would, of course, be antagonized. It was absolutely necessary that good will exist between Coahuila and Texas, as well as Mexico and Texas, to get the confidence of the Mexican government.

Immediately after the conference, Austin made a tour of the Mexican settlements. At Goliad and San Antonio local authorities cooperated with him by adopting protests against the abuses of state and federal administration in Texas, and to advocate the reforms the convention had brought up. Austin intended submitting the documents separately to the two governments. If no reforms resulted, then the Mexicans could join with the colonists in whatever they decided to do.

It was these abuses, complained of that ultimately led to the achievement of Texas' independence, the Centennial of which will be celebrated in 1935.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

Editor, Pampa Daily News:

Federalization and complete control of all munition plants within the confines of the United States is a step that will prevent the sale of armaments to nations that might declare war upon the United States. Operation of all such munition plants should be confined strictly to the manufacture of munitions and such armaments may be needed for the use of the federal government itself.

There is today increasing public recognition of the fact that munitions manufacturers throughout the entire world have amassed huge fortunes through the sale of munitions to belligerent nations. There is every reason to believe that revolutions, insurrections, civil wars, and international conflicts have been aggravated by the greed and avarice of those who make and sell munitions and the instruments of warfare. American soldiers have actually been killed by guns and ammunition manufactured in the United States and sold to native armies in Central America.

The membership of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, which is the largest American overseas veterans organization, is composed exclusively of men who have served in all the branches of this country's armed services on foreign soil and in hostile waters. We, more than the average civilian, hate war and dread its future possibility, for we are all too familiar with its cost and its futility.

As veterans of America's overseas war service, we believe that Congress should enact legislation which will permit the federal government to draft industry and wealth as well as man power, in the event of war. We also maintain that all individuals identified with federal government in time of war are required to serve on the same basis of pay as that accorded to those who wear uniforms in the Army, Navy, and Marine corps. We believe that this program would serve as one of the most effective means of preserving the neutrality of the United States in the event of another world conflict.

Very truly yours,
H. W. WADDELL, Commander,

Trailer, Tires And Bike Stolen

Petty thieving broke out in Pampa Friday night when a trailer, two tires, and a bicycle were stolen. City officers are investigating.

Tom Taber reported to police yesterday morning that a two-wheel trailer had been stolen from his place on East Frederic street. The trailer was painted green and had disc wheels.

W. R. Schoonmaker at 910 South Barnes street reported the loss of two tires, 38x3, off a trailer parked at his place.

A bicycle was found in South Pampa but its owner had not been learned. The police have not been notified that a bicycle has been lost. Police have been told of several prowlers having been seen at night.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows:

Engineering draftsman (highway), $1,800 a year, Bureau of Public Roads.
Junior medical officer (interne), St. Elizabeths Hospital, Washington, D. C.
Associate supervisor of elementary education, $3,200 a year, Indian Field Service.

The salaries named are subject to a deduction of not to exceed 5 percent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, as a measure of economy, and also to a deduction of 3 1/2 percent toward a retirement annuity.

All states except Vermont, Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia have received less than their quota of appointments in the apportioned departmental service in Washington, D. C. Of the positions named, only engineering draftsman is affected by the state apportionment law.

Full information may be obtained from O. K. Gaylor, secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office in this city.

GRID TRAINING STARTS

WACO, Jan. 26. (AP)—Thirteen lettermen from last year's football squad will form the foundation of the spring training camp at Baylor university which opens Monday. About 60 candidates have drawn equipment and all are set to report to Coach Morley Jennings and Botchey Koch.

Schaffer Farmers Re-Elect Farley

Farmers of the Schaffer community met at the school house Friday at 4 p. m. with 21 men present. The meeting was called to order by Chairman P. B. Farley.

The county agent, Ralph Thomas, discussed the possibility of a farm organization and, after an open discussion, it was decided that Schaffer community would organize.

P. B. Farley was re-elected chairman, Morris Knorrp, vice-chairman, and Dean Barnes, secretary.

The use of the A. A. A. farm record book was explained by Assistant Agent Clyde L. Carruth. Record books were given to those present.

The work to be conducted by the association for the year will include 4-H club work, terracing, meat cutting demonstrations, and sub-irrigation of gardens.

It was decided that the monthly meetings of the association would be held the first Tuesday in each month, at 7:30 p. m. at the Schaffer school house, the next meeting to be held February 7.

The program committee was appointed by chairman P. B. Farley consisting of E. C. Schaffer, Raphael Bohr, and Ray Knorrp.

Chili Supper Is Well Attended

A large crowd attended the chili supper sponsored by the Pampa Parent-Teacher association at the school building Friday evening. A musical program entertained during the meal.

Band numbers were played; a tap dance was given in costume; and the Warren Phillips played guitar duets, Gerald Brown accordion and piano solos, Dorothy Crause banjo numbers, and Miss Jimma Searcy piano selections.

Early reports indicated that about $40 was added to the association treasury for general school benefit.

Coming Conference On Defense Holds Auxiliary Interest

Members of the Pampa unit of the American Legion Auxiliary are sharing with Auxiliary women throughout the country a keen interest in the coming women's patriotic conference on national defense, which will bring members of forty women's organizations to Washington, D. C., for discussion of the nation's defensive needs.

The conference will open January 30 and will continue through Jan. 31 and February 1. Nearly 1,000 delegates, coming from every state and representing approximately 1,000,000 women, are expected to attend.

Prominent authorities on all phases of national defense will address the conference sessions, including high army and navy officers, senators, representatives, and American Legion leaders. The delegates will join in open discussion and will adopt resolutions expressing their attitude on the issue presented. Similar state, district and local conferences will follow, continuing the work of placing the facts concerning the country's defense before American women.

This year's conference will be the tenth annual meeting of women's patriotic organizations in support of adequate national defense and part of the program will commemorate the founding of the conference in 1925 under American Legion Auxiliary leadership.

Group Leaders To Entertain Class

Group captains and lieutenants of the Dorcas class will entertain members, prospective members, and members in the home department, at a luncheon in First Baptist church dining room Wednesday at 1 o'clock.

A Spanish program is being planned. A good meal and a good time are promised by the hostesses. All members and associate members are urged to be present.

FIRST PARTY FOR NEW CLUB IS AMONG WEEK-END BRIDGE EVENTS

Mrs. O. E. Palmer entertained at the initial meeting of the Gay-Lo bridge club, with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson and George Jewell as special guests. Valentine appointments were used in every detail of the party.

After six games, a midnight buffet supper in three courses was served to Messrs. and Mmes. E. C. Rupp, G. S. Irvin, Claude Lard, Roy Kilgore, Mrs. J. C. Cox, Mr. Palmer, and the guests.

Mrs. Land scored high for women, Mr. Jewell for men. Mrs. Kilgore received the traveling prize, and cut prizes went to Mr. Rupp, Mrs. Robinson, and Mrs. Rupp.

In this club the men are to take turns with the women in serving as hosts. Mr. Kilgore is to be next host, on the evening of Feb. 8.

Le Bon Temps

Red and white appeared in all appointments when Mrs. John Weeks entertained Le Bon Temps bridge club at her home Wednesday afternoon.

In five games of contract Mrs. Tom Bliss scored high and Mrs. Elbert Johnson of Oklahoma City second high. Cherry pie topped with whipped cream, and coffee were served.

Guests of the club were Mmes. Homer Elliott, Earle Scheig, Bliss, and Johnson. Members playing were Mmes. Archie Ralsky, Dewey Manry, H. C. Berry, and Harold Kelly.

Thursday Club

Mrs. A. C. Lovell entertained the Thursday Bridge club and guests this week at her home on North Starkweather. She used an attractive Valentine motif for the games and refreshments.

Members playing were Mrs. Frank Roach, who scored high, Mrs. Duke Shaw, second high, Mrs. R. L. Mosley, low, Mmes. Tommy Robinson and Jake Bass.

Club guests were Mrs. L. E. Brickell, who made high score, Mrs. Dallas Cullwell, second, Miss Kathleen Helmit, low, Mmes. Rex Taylor, Andy Andrews, and Roscoe Pirtle.

Happy Hour Club

A table of guests and two of members were entertained when Mrs. Roy Kretzmeier was hostess to Happy Hour bridge club Thursday afternoon. Valentine decorations made the tables gay for a series of games.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Girl Scout leaders course being conducted here is making good progress for three reasons. First is the fact that it meets in a convenient and comfortable place, the Scout room on the first floor of the city hall.

Second, there is a widespread interest among residents of this section in work for girls. Third, the course is directed by an interested and well-informed teacher, Mrs. W. T. Gilstrap. She is the former Miss Daphnia Lowrey, director of Girl Scouting in Amarillo.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Everyone is invited.

Laff-a-Lot Club

Laff-a-Lot bridge club was entertained by Mrs. George R. Duffield Friday afternoon. Players were Mmes. Dewey Voyles, Hickey Boyd, W. M. Murphy, V. J. Castka, R. P. Montgomery, P. P. Hickman, A. C. Baldwin, Karl Tomlin, R. S. Walker, and Roy Sullivan.

Mrs. Hickman scored high and Mrs. Castka second. After the games the hostess served sandwiches, salad, olives, cake, and coffee.

COTTON CRISIS TO BE STUDIED NEXT WEEK-END

Economic Thinkers Of South To Come To Dallas

DALLAS, Jan. 26.—Leading cotton authorities of the southwest will meet in Dallas on January 31 and February 1 to participate in a public conference sponsored by Southern Methodist university and devoted to an exhaustive study of "The Cotton Crisis," Dr. S. D. Myres, director of the Arnold School of Government at the university, announced today.

In an effort to arouse the attention of Texans to the need of progressive reforms in the cotton industry, the university, through its Arnold foundation, is undertaking to bring together business men, economists, and educators in an effort to study all phases of the problem and suggest programs for economic recovery.

Cotton in the southern economy, vanishing export markets, the effect of economic nationalism, evaluation of the government's program, and land utilization are among the subjects to be discussed. Speakers on the 2-day program include Peter Motyneux, editor of The Texas

HOPEKINS FARMERS Elect Officers

Farmers met at the Hopkins school house Friday at 7:30 p. m. with 21 men present. The meeting was called to order by Chairman W. E. Ginn.

County Agent Ralph Thomas discussed farm organization and it was decided that Hopkins community would organize. R. I. Davis was elected chairman, E. F. Vanderburg, vice-chairman, and J. M. Thompson, secretary.

The use of the A. A. A. farm record book was explained by Assistant Agent Clyde Carruth.

cutting demonstrations, sub-irrigation of gardens, and home tanning of leather.

It was decided that the monthly meetings of the association would be held the third Monday in each month at 7:30 p. m. at the Hopkins school house. The next meeting will be held February 18.

The program committee was appointed by Chairman R. I. Davis, consisting of R. B. Glascock, E. R. Manley, and R. L. Thompson.

Kingsmill Club Studies Linens

Placing quality before price in the purchase of bed linen was discussed by Miss Ruby Adams, county home demonstration agent, when she met with Kingsmill club at the home of Mrs. Louie Behrends Wednesday.

Sheets of different quality and price were on display, and Miss Adams explained these qualities. She recommended a three-inch hem at the top and one-inch hem at the bottom of sheets. A two and a half-inch hem for pillow cases was suggested.

Mrs. F. G. Hudgel, Mrs. N. M. Kite, and Mrs. Harry E. Houre were visitors. Mmes. Carl Baer, Harold Baer, I. C. Decker, O. G. Smith, S. E. Elkins, George Roberts, E. A. Twentler, A. R. Walberg, C. F. Baston, N. B. Cude, E. R. Sunkel, and Behrends were the members present.

Gloomy One Has His Usual Day—Never Laughs

"Gloomy Harris" was just that as he appeared at the J. C. Penney company yesterday.

He smiled only when he wished, and laughed not at all. As promised, however, he smiled from the show window at 50 local women, who received free movie tickets.

But inside the store he smiled at nothing and seemed to have perfect control over his features, despite humorous provocation.

Safety

HAS BEEN BUILT INTO THE FORD V-8

Ford safety surrounds you whenever you ride in the Ford V-8. It has been built into every part of the car.

The protective all-steel body is around you as you drive. . . . Beneath your feet is the exceptional sturdiness of the newly designed, more rigid X-type frame. . . . The car rides on steel-spoke wheels, electrically welded into a rugged one-piece unit—the strongest, safest wheels made.

The windshield before your eyes and all windows in the car are made of Safety Glass. There is no compromise on this in the New Ford V-8. All 1935 Ford cars are equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

The New Ford V-8 brings you still greater ease of handling . . . a most important factor in safety in motoring. The 1935 brakes utilize every inch of braking area and are quick-stopping and unusually effective. The self-centering shoes require but little pedal pressure. Correct distribution of the weight of the car and the low center of gravity mean exceptional stability at all speeds and on curves. So do the torque-tube drive and the steel radius rods that brace the steel axles, front and rear.

Steering is easier in the 1935 Ford V-8 . . . the new easy-pressure clutch, like the brakes, responds to a slight pressure of the foot. Clear-Vision Ventilation gives you an unobstructed view of the road at all times.

An additional safety factor is the alert performance of the V-8 engine. Its acceleration, speed and power provide extra security in traffic, on hills and in passing other cars.

These many features stand guard over you as you ride in the New Ford V-8. They are the reasons you hear so many men and women motorists say—"I always feel safer in a Ford."

WILL ROGERS' LATEST FILM COMES TODAY

"COUNTY CHAIRMAN" TAKEN FROM PLAY OF SAME NAME

Described in advance accounts from Hollywood as the finest to date of Will Rogers' notable series of American character portraits, the Fox Film production, "The County Chairman," will be seen here at the La Nora theater beginning today.

The County Chairman is a screen adaptation of the famous play of the same title, by one of America's foremost humorists, Geo. Ade. Opening on Broadway in the year 1902, "The County Chairman" ran there for a year with Maclay Arbuckle as its star and then toured for the next three seasons. In addition to the celebrity which it brought to Arbuckle, the play created another star of the era—Willis P. Sweatman, who appeared in the famous role of "Sassafras," colored man-of-all-work. In the screen play, Stepin Fetchit is seen in this notable part.

"The County Chairman," it is said, is a story of smiles and heart tugs, rivaling the hugely successful "Judge Priest" and "David Harum" as a vehicle for Rogers. In the new film he is seen as a wily, lovable county boss, half-diplomat, half-rustic. To wins elections and arranges love matches with equal skill—and no one, not even his rivals can resist him.

John Blystone has directed the picture, with Edward W. Butcher listed as producer, and the adaptation from George Ade's play has been made by Sam Hellman and Gladys Lehman.

A notable supporting cast includes such players as Evelyn Venable, Kent Taylor, Louise Dresser, Bertion Churchill, Rocky Romano, Frank Melton and Stepin Fetchit. Once again, it is stated, Will Rogers displays his recently developed flair for singing in this picture. You will recall his musical propensities in "Judge Priest." This time he renders two western rangers' songs, accompanying himself on the guitar. Another highlight of "The County Chairman" is one of those famous torchlight processions so much in vogue at the turn of the century. This one is staged by Will and is said to have all the frenzy and thrill of its originals.

You mustn't miss Will Rogers, the inimitable, in "The County Chairman." You'll love him more than ever—and no one can say more than that!

Rogers Here in Latest Picture

Will Rogers presides, somewhat quizzically, over the romance of Kent Taylor and Evelyn Venable in "The County Chairman." This is Fox Film's pungent screen version of the famous George Ade comedy, in which Rogers plays a fire-eating boss in a small Wyoming town, back at the turn of the century.

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Trench has proof, now that he was not the murderer of John Osborne—and he needed it, because although he had been acquitted of the crime, many believed he was guilty. And Molly O'Brien, whom Nick loves, has found the valuable formula Osborne had stolen from her. But they have a fresh problem—how to escape from Peter Orloff, Bolshevik spy who will stop at nothing to get the formula. Molly, Jerry and Mordant, their friends, and Nick are boarding Jerry's yacht.

Chapter 45.

RACE
It was only a short pull—forty yards at the utmost—but with the spray splashing over us at every stroke we were all four drenched to the skin by the time we got on board.

George, who was waiting for us on deck, hailed our approach by a chorus of staccato barks, his enthusiasm culminating in a frantic attempt to lick each of our faces in turn as we climbed up over the side. "What about a hot drink and a mouthful of biscuit straight away?" suggested Jerry. "I could do with it for one and Heaven knows we will, shall get another chance." "I'll put the Primus on," Jimmy wriggled out of his dripping mackintosh. "You'd better 'ave this back now, sir. You'd be wanting it if we're going out amongst that lot."

He disappeared briskly through the cabin door, and after a meditative glance seaward Jerry turned to us. "Of course," he observed, "miracles do happen occasionally, but somehow or other, I don't altogether believe in this one. Seems just a little too good to be true."

"I've the same pleasant feeling myself," I admitted. "We're in for something—hat's a grain—and what's more, it won't be long in coming. Now they know we've got the formula." He broke off. "How's the shoulder, Nick?" "None too gay," I replied. "Still my left arm's sound enough."

He nodded. "That's something. I can manage all right for the present, but if we have to clear out in a bit of a hurry, I shall want you to stand by for the tiller."

"What are you going to do?" I inquired. "Just get things ready. It will be another forty minutes at least before the bar's really safe, but there's no harm in making a few preparations. You two stay here, and for the love of Mike, keep your eyes open."

He left us abruptly, and moving forward into the bows, started to haul in the slack of the anchor chain. Down below, through the open door of the cabin, I could hear Jimmy pumping up the Primus. "I'd give a lot to know what's happened to our dear friend Orloff," I said. "Where do you suppose he was making for when he slipped off from the factory?"

"I've been trying to work it out," Molly sat down beside me on the wet cabin top. "I believe he meant to go back to the boat. He'd finished with us—at least, so he thought—but that was no use unless he could get rid of the others, too."

"I don't know how he was going to do it. I expect he had some cunning and horrible plan to make it look as if we'd all been killed in the explosion. Anyhow, he certainly wouldn't waste time. He'd already sent one of his men to watch the farm, and . . ."

"But when he found we'd escaped," I broke in, "why didn't he finish us off then? What chance should we have had against a crowd of armed toughs?"

She shook her head. "It's got to look like an accident, Nick. After all this isn't Russia. You can't shoot down people and just leave their bodies lying about on the marsh. Why, even now, when he knows . . ."

"Listen!" I gripped hold of her waist, and for a tense second we both sat there in breathless silence. Through the moaning of the wind, from somewhere far away up the creek, came a faint, unmistakable sound. It was the purring spit of a marine engine. "Hear that?" With the swiftness of a cat-Jerry was back again beside us. "A ten-horse Kelvin from the sound of it. Chuck off those ropes, man, and get hold of the tiller. If I fished out the revolver which I had stuffed away into my side pocket. "They'll have to hurry; I muttered, "if they don't catch us before we reach the bar . . ."

"That's what I'm counting on," Jerry laughed grimly. "They must draw at least a couple of feet more than we do, and—with any luck there's an almighty smash coming for somebody."

He eased off the mainsheet, and with the wind dead behind us, the Seagull heaved and smashed her way joyously through the on-rushing tide. "Better lie down, Nick," he added, "it would spoil all the fun if you got a bullet through your head."

His advice struck me as sound, and stretching myself out flat, I looked back over the foaming wake which spread out in a broad fan astern. With the help of her ever-crouching cutter was overhauling us rapidly.

In the bright light of the moon which now shone down through a gap in the cloud bank, I could see her crew of four as plainly as though it were daytime. One of them, a huge bareheaded fellow, who was steering, I recognized at once. It was my old acquaintance, the big Russian sailor.

With his bestial features and enormous breadth of shoulder he looked for all the world like some monstrous ape, but it was on the slight swaying of his body as the ship rose and fell, he never stirred or varied his position.

Not more than a hundred yards now separated us, and every moment the roar of the sea as it pounded against the bar became louder and more strident.

Twisting myself around, I took a glance forward over the plunging bobstay. Directly ahead of us the line of breakers that stretched from shore to shore was broken by a narrow strip of dark, swirling water.

On each side of this, over the crest of the ridge a white maelstrom boiled and bubbled, while here and there patches of black sand still showed amongst the frothing turmoil.

No Persons Can Promise to Get U. S. Employment

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—The United States Civil Service Commission says that numerous letters received at its office from different parts of the country indicate that misleading information is being given to the public by agents of some of the correspondence schools which give instruction in preparation for civil-service examinations.

To guard against the loss of money paid for tuition of this kind the Civil Service Commission informs the public as follows:
No one can promise appointments to positions for which the United States Civil Service Commission holds examinations. The claim that such assurance can be given brands the person making it as a fraud.

Information regarding examinations for the United States Civil Service may be obtained from the boards of United States Civil Service Examiners. There is such a board in each community which has a post office of the first or second class. In nearly all cities the civil service board is located at the post office.

Before paying money for tuition, or signing a contract, it is advisable to make inquiry concerning the prospect of examinations. There is reason to believe that agents of some schools deceive the public as to the probability of early examinations.

No school has advance information regarding the need for employees or the probability of examinations.

Public Utility Licensing Urged By Commission

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. (P)—Federal licensing of public utility holdings was suggested by the federal trade commission today. It said the "stage is now set so that a combination of the present holding company systems would produce one nation-wide monopoly."

In 1929, the commission reported, 16 holding company groups had an ownership interest in about 92 per cent of the nation's electrical output.

The report suggested there were three constitutional procedures for enlarging federal regulation. These are the regulation of interstate commerce, with particular reference to licensing, federal taxation, and the operation of the postal system.

The development of holding companies, the report said, "shows a strong trend toward monopolistic control."

Federal licensing means that holding companies would have to get specific authorization to operate in interstate commerce.

Grandview Will Have Community Form Organization

A meeting at which 31 farmers were present was held at the Grandview school house at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. The meeting was called to order by the community chairman, Edwin G. Nelson.

A talk on the value of organization to the farmers was given by County Agent Ralph E. Thomas, after which was an address by John Turcotte, chairman of Laketon community farm organization, giving details of the state meeting held in Dallas, December 5th, 6th, and 7th.

After a discussion among the farmers present, it was decided unanimously to form a farm organization of the community for 1935. The following officers were elected: Edwin G. Nelson, chairman; Jack Stephens, vice-chairman; A. C. Adams, secretary.

It was decided that the work which would be sponsored by the organization for 1935 would include Boy's 4-H club work, terracing, hog and beef slaughtering demonstrations, and sub-irrigation of gardens.

A. A. A. farm record books were handed out and a short talk on keeping farm records was led by Assistant Agent Clyde L. Carruth. It was decided that the regular meeting would be held on the second Thursday in each month at 7:30 p. m., at the Grandview school house, the next meeting to be held February 14. A program committee was appointed by the chairman which
