

ACTION PLANNED TO PREVENT CHAOS IF COURT INVALIDATES GOLD CLAUSE

MIGHT CHANGE CONSTITUTION IN CONVENTION

COURT'S MEMBERSHIP MAY BE INCREASED TO ELEVEN

By RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Quick congressional action to escape from what administration spokesmen have called possible "chaos" was projected in Washington today as a likelihood should the supreme court overturn the Roosevelt monetary program in the "gold clause" cases.

Some—and they were not confined to those who merely speculate upon such problems—held that regardless of the forthcoming verdict, the treasury could make no change in its present method of redeeming maturing government bonds until congress so ordered.

Even though a probable month of suspense remains before the nine high justices hand down their decision, a gold tinge was given to much of the news. In Wall Street prices declined sharply, but later stiffened. There was a rush of "gold clause" bond buying, but the bond market generally was irregular. Grains again slumped but recovered.

Although officials would say nothing, and privately expressed confidence that the court would decide in favor of the government, the subject was gone into on Capitol Hill, especially among the isolationist bloc and in administration quarters as well.

World Increase Debt

A decision against the government would mean, in short, that gold bonds and contracts would be worth—in present devaluated currency—100 per cent of their face value. The result would be to increase the outstanding public and private debt from $100,000,000 to $160,000,000.

The court's ruling is to turn upon the constitutionality of a congressional resolution declaring invalid the clause of most contracts guaranteeing payment on demand in a stipulated quantity of gold or in the equivalent of that amount of gold.

Congress, through the president, ordered the amount of gold in $1 reduced by 40.94 per cent, and the treasury has been meeting the bond redemptions with $1 of the devaluated currency for each dollar of the bond's face value.

None among Washington officials would say today that should the court decide adversely the treasury should at once start paying $1.60 for every dollar of gold bonds. Physically, the actual supply of currency would not be great enough. The consensus was that some offsetting action would at once be taken.

Various alternatives have been speculated upon. In Greenville, S. C., Representative McSwain said he thought it likely a constitutional convention would be called. He pointed out that the constitution gives the power to call a convention, adding that the matter "could be handled in the minimum time."

Cold Wave Due To Hit Plains Region Tonight

DALLAS, Jan. 12. (AP)—Weather observers said tonight a cold wave was headed for Texas with temperature forecasts ranging downward to 10 to 18 degrees for the extreme northwest portion of the state by tomorrow night.

The unseasonably warm southerly winds which have prevailed over most of the state for several days will shift around to the northwest by that time, the weather bureau here reported.

Rain was predicted for the Dallas area tonight but little precipitation was in sight to accompany the dropping temperatures in other sections.

Forecasters said the cold wave was still too far away for accurate predictions as to just how far it would strike into the state.

HITLER IS GIVEN EDGE AS SAAR BALLOTS TODAY ON PLEBISCITE

UNITED STATES RESPONSIBLE FOR ELECTION

NAZI FOES MIGHT POLL MORE VOTES THAN EXPECTED

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER
(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)
SAARBRUECKEN, Saar Basin Territory, Jan. 12.—A ding-dong, rough-and-tumble campaign, in which Adolf Hitler and his Nazi regime were the main issue, at an end, the Saar tomorrow will choose its future national allegiance.

The plebiscite, the last of 12 issuing from the world war, will be held exactly 15 years and three days after the Treaty of Versailles went into effect.

Experts call it by far the most important consultation of public opinion resulting from the late Woodrow Wilson's famous doctrine that all peoples have the right to decide as to the rule under which they wish to live.

Through Wilson, it was recalled, the United States is responsible for giving the 790,000 residents of this rich industrial region their opportunity to choose among continuance of League of Nations government, reunion with Germany or union with France.

On those three issues the Saar's 543,323 qualified voters—qualified because they lived in the Saar the day the Versailles treaty was signed—tomorrow will express their composite opinion, while heavy detachments of international and Saar police and German stand guard, and the 3,500 troops of the league's first international army wait watchfully.

Germany Sends 48,000
With the voting less than 12 hours away, unbiased observers tonight gave Germany an edge. "It is hardly conceivable," plebiscite experts said, "that the anti-Nazis can swing 50 per cent of this profoundly patriotic German population."

Mrs. B. M. Baker Taken by Death—Widely Mourned

Mrs. B. M. Baker, mother of Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal of the Woodrow Wilson school here, died Friday night in Canadian at the home of another daughter, Mrs. Will Johnson.

The body will be taken by train today to Carthage, former home of Mrs. Baker, for the funeral and burial.

Mrs. Baker, wife of the late Judge B. M. Baker, for whom the B. M. Baker school of Pampa is named, was 82 years old. She made her home with Mrs. Daniels here when not visiting other relatives.

She was beloved by hundreds of residents of the plains who knew her. Among the Pampans who went to Canadian yesterday were Mrs. E. A. Hampton, Mrs. E. A. Stover, Miss Vida Cox, Miss Willie Jo Priest, Miss Lois Stallings, Mrs. T. C. Lively, Mrs. J. O. Gillham, and several members of the Junior police of the school.

Religious Director Will Arrive Today

H. D. Tucker who was recently employed by the board of stewards of First Methodist church as director of religious education and finance, arrived in Pampa yesterday, and will assume his new duties today.

Mr. Tucker held a similar position at the First Methodist church of Arlington, and at the Austin Avenue Methodist church, Waco. Mrs. Tucker and the four children will move to Pampa as soon as living quarters can be obtained, it was said. Mr. Tucker attended Southern Methodist University.

Dr. T. S. Barcus of Clarendon, new presiding elder of this district, will preach his first sermon at the church this morning. He was formerly pastor of the church at Sweetwater.

SHERIFF SID TALLEY, COUSIN OF GRAY COUNTY SHERIFF, HAS BEGUN 27TH YEAR IN OCHILTREE

Holds State Record for Length of Service

(Editor's Note: Through the courtesy of the Ochiltree County Herald at Perryton, this picture of Sheriff Sid Talley and the story of his unique record are used in The NEWS today. Sid Talley is a first cousin of Sheriff Earl Talley of Gray county.)

PERRYTON, Jan. 12.—When Sid Talley embarked on his fourteenth term as sheriff of Ochiltree county on January 1, he became the oldest man, in point of years, to hold the office of sheriff in Texas, and his record of over twenty-six continuous years is only equaled by one other sheriff in the entire United States. Sid Talley started his career as a peace officer in 1906, when he became chief deputy in the office of S. J. Black, father of Assistant Postmaster John Black, who was sheriff of Ochiltree county at that time.

After serving two years as deputy sheriff, he was elected sheriff in the fall of 1908, taking office immediately following the election, as was the custom at that time, instead of waiting until January 1. During the many campaigns in which he has come out victorious, he has had an opponent in all but one.

Sid Talley was born on April 18, 1874, near Brenham in Washington county, Texas. His father, P. B. Talley, was a native of Tennessee, emigrating to Texas in 1854, seven years before the Civil war. His mother is a native Texan, being born in Fayette county in 1849. When he was 3 years old, his parents removed to the present site of Temple. Heeding the call of the pioneer blood of his parents, he came on into the West, locating in Ochiltree county, where he entered the cattle business, in which he is still interested, even though he has served many years as an officer.

ALLRED FAMILY TO SEE 'JIMMY' MADE GOVERNOR

Parents, Brothers To Sit On Platform Tuesday

AUSTIN, Jan. 12. (AP)—In the presence of his parents and before massed thousands of admirers, James V. Allred of Wichita Falls will become governor of the largest state of the union in traditional ceremony at noon Tuesday. Allred, 36, will be the second youngest chief executive in the state's history.

Thoughts of nearly everyone in Austin and of many in other sections of the state turned today to the formal inaugural and to be given Tuesday night.

Members of arrangements committees cast anxious eyes on the threatening clouds and forecasts for a "norther" as they pushed plans for the customary administration of the oath of office on the front steps of the old capitol. In event of bad weather, the ceremony would be forced indoors and many who will come from miles away would be unable to crowd into the chamber of the house of representatives.

Professor to Be Main Speaker at Banquet Tuesday

Dr. S. H. Condon, professor at West Texas Teachers college, will be the main speaker at the city-wide meeting of churchmen and guests Tuesday evening at the First Baptist church. Public officials will be guests.

Dr. Condon, formerly dean of Clarendon Junior college, is widely known as an effective speaker.

The program will be general, with entertainment, featured. An orchestra directed by Roy Wallraabenstein will play a quartet will sing, and there will be other musical numbers.

Tickets for the event are 50 cents each. They are being sold by members of the various churches. The banquet will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The occasion will be one of a series of fellowship meetings to make the influence of the churchmen more effective. A very large audience is expected.

Harvesters Beat Allison 26 to 25 And Win Tourney

MOBEETIE, Jan. (SP)—Pampa's Harvesters fought valiantly to halt a last half rally by Allison and won the Mobeetie invitation basketball tournament 26 to 25 in the closest battle of the event. The Mobeetie girls' won that division with a 21 to 17 win over High Point.

Pampa went into the semi-finals with a win over Lakeview in the morning. They advanced to the second round with a win over Shamrock, who had eliminated Canadian. Allison went into the finals through a win over Leila Lake and another over Mobeetie, third place winner.

The Mobeetie girls won from Kelton and drew a bye while High Point was defeating Allison who had eliminated the Pampa Harvesters, giving Allison third place.

The three winning teams in each division were awarded Gleaner prizes by Miss Zelma Elliott, tournament queen.

Senator's Plan To Circumvent Standard Oil Comp. Upset By U. S. Court

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12. (AP)—Senator Huey Long's industrial pension law was enjoined today in federal court here while the "Square Deal" association, organized at Baton Rouge to restore "constitutional government" called on the people to stand by them in their movement to "break" the Long dictatorship.

It was announced in district court that Judge Wayne G. Borah had signed an injunction temporarily restraining Attorney General Clegg from enforcing the industrial pension law passed at Long's request by the third special legislative session of 1934 and had set a hearing for Jan. 25 before a three-judge federal tribunal.

Suit was filed by the Standard Oil company of Louisiana and the Standard Pipe Line company, an affiliate of Standard Oil, alleging their $40,000,000 industry in Louisiana was being deprived of constitutional rights by the act.

CONSIDERATION IS ASKED FOR BRUNO'S WIFE

DEFENDANT TO CLAIM FISCH GAVE HIM MONEY

By JOHN FERRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 12.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's witness stand fight against the electric chair, his lawyer announced tonight, will consist of answers to seven questions—and six of the answers will be "no."

Hauptmann's wife, Anna, will follow her husband on the stand, and the defense expects the state to accord her the same consideration the defense has shown Mrs. Lindbergh, mother of the baby for whose murder Hauptmann is now in trial.

Said Edward J. Reilly, Hauptmann's chief counsel tonight: "I think we shall ask Hauptmann only seven questions. The questions, and their expected answers, are:

"1. Did you kidnap the Lindbergh baby? A.—No.
"2. Were you in Hopewell, N. J., the night of the kidnaping? A.—No.
"3. Did you make the ladder (which the state contends was used in gaining admission to the Lindbergh nursery)? A.—No.
"4. Did you go up that ladder to kidnap the Lindbergh baby? A.—No.
"5. Were you in New Jersey the night of the kidnaping? A.—No.
"6. Did you write the ransom notes? A.—No.
"7. Where did you get the money that was found in your garage? A.—From Isador Fisch."

Although Hauptmann's direct examination, as outlined tonight by his counsel, might require hardly more than a minute, cross-examination is expected to take longer. By limiting the direct questioning, however, the defense will restrict the state's cross-examination.

Reilly did not indicate what testimony Mrs. Hauptmann would give. It is expected to be corroborative of Hauptmann's as concerns Isador Fisch, the man Hauptmann has insisted Judge Federal ransom money which was found last September in Hauptmann's possession.

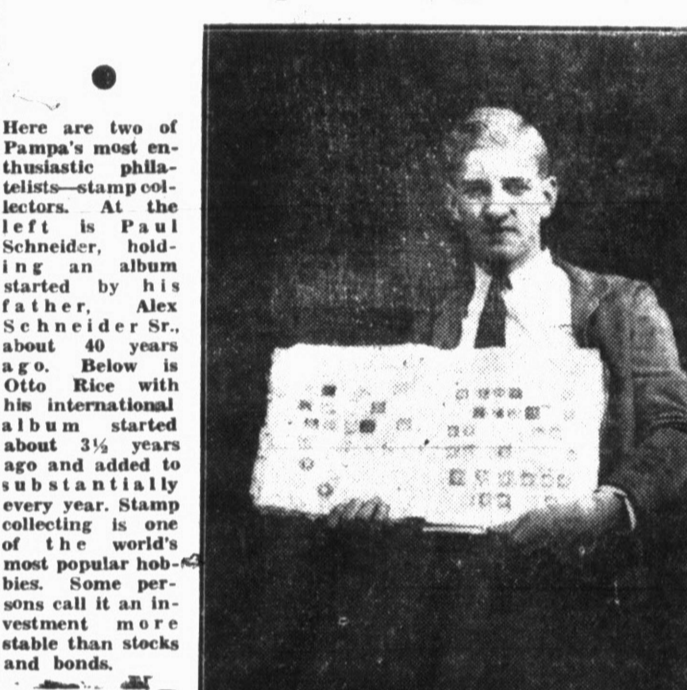

In expressing the hope that the state would give her the same treatment that the defense accorded Mrs. Lindbergh, Reilly recalled that he had warned cross-examination because "we do not believe a mother's grief should be subjected to public examination."

One of the day's developments—a story that a "double" of Hauptmann had been found and that it might have been this "double" that witnesses reported seeing near the Lindberghs' home in the Sourland hills the day the baby was kidnaped and killed, failed to impress Reilly. The "double" was named as Robert Scanton of Menlo Park, a man who was in the vicinity of the Lindbergh home about the time of the crime.

"From Mr. Edison's laboratories in Menlo park come many inventions," said Reilly. "Could this story of Hauptmann's 'double' be one of them?"

Two of Pampa's Stamp Collectors

PAMPANS ENJOY PASTIME OF KINGS

Stamp collecting, known to the hobbyists as philately, claims among its followers a number of Pampans, including the editor of this newspaper. Some of the collectors have "ridden" the hobby intermittently for years, others have become interested more recently.

The U. S. government sold $811,723 worth of stamps to collectors of this country last year.

Among the world's most consistent stamp collectors are President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Prince of Wales. Business men use the hobby as an investment, a relaxation, and for its educational value. Boys and girls like the pretty pictures and the knowledge they receive of biography and geography. History and science, war and peace. There are 2,000,000 stamp collectors in the United States. In Europe, nearly everyone collects stamps for profit or as a hobby.

Pampa's most valuable stamp collection is owned by young Paul Schneider, who has been given the collection started by his father 40 years ago. Some of the rare Swiss stamps have a catalog value of up to $500 each and all of the stamps more than 20 years old are worth from a few cents to many dollars each, according to the number that remain in collections. The original album of the Schneider collection describes the stamps to be placed in it, and is printed in German.

The Rev. A. A. Hyde, who left here recently, was an expert stamp collector. Stamp companies publish albums with spaces for every stamp ever issued, although even a modern Croesus could not obtain all the stamps. Some albums are arranged only for certain countries, are commemorative issues, or for certain languages. They cost from a few cents to several hundred dollars each.

IS FIRST SOLO TO CALIFORNIA FROM HAWAII

FAMED WOMAN FLIER BATTLES WEATHER TO WIN

By LOUIS ASHLOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)
OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 12. (AP) Amelia Earhart Putnam, ocean-conquering aviatrix, flashed into Oakland today to complete the first solo flight ever made between Hawaii and California—and having landed her loaded blonde hair before turning to face a madly cheering, milling crowd.

"I'm tired," said the famous holder of many aviation records as she popped her head out of the cockpit, saw the crowd and reached for her comb.

The wheels of her swift red monoplane touched dry land at 1:31 p. m. P. S. T. (3:31 p. m. Central Standard time) just 18 hours and 16 minutes after her exciting takeoff from Wheeler field, Honolulu, 2408 miles away. Two hours after landing she was to bed, without benefit of rest, in an Oakland hotel.

Watchers Uneasy
Not satisfied with two aerial trips across the Atlantic and a host of other aviatrix honors, the 36-year-old aviatrix challenged the Pacific as has no other man or woman. She came through nearly but only after fighting a variety of weather and giving California watchers an uneasy three hours during which her position was not known.

Asked about reports that she was considering continuing on to Chicago or Washington immediately she smiled mysteriously and said: "Well, I'll have to check the weather before hopping, but I won't be going for three or four hours."

But Miss Earhart appeared pretty tired and the circumstances discounted the idea. Airport attendants said she had left instructions not to refuel her plane. Weather conditions to the east were reported unfavorable.

"I had enough fuel in my tanks to have lasted another two hours," Miss Earhart went on, in contrast with the statement of Lieutenant Commander Clarence Williams indicating her supply was used to be

CLERGY INCITED MEXICAN CLASH, PAPER CLAIMS

Report Five Persons Were Slain In Outbreak

By CLARK G. LEE
Associated Press Foreign Staff
MEXICO, D. F., Jan. 12. (AP)—Two townspeople wounded in the religious clash at Tacubaya said by a newspaper to have been incited by the Catholic clergy, died late today in a hospital and two others of seven injured were reported in a critical condition. Reports of other deaths were widely circulated but unconfirmed.

MEXICO, D. F., Jan. 12. (AP)—A charge that Catholic clergy "deliberately incited the people to acts of sedition" planned last night's outbreak in suburban Tacubaya, in which nine persons were injured, was flung into Mexico's turbulent religious controversy today.

The newspaper El Nacional, which supports the government, made the charge. It said five persons were killed. Three bodies, the newspaper said, were in hospitals and two were carried off secretly.

Hospitals and police, however, vigorously denied the reports, also emanating from residents of the district, that the disorder resulted in fatalities, insisting only one person was seriously injured and none killed.

Five persons suffered bullet wounds. Four were hit by stones. Policemen and three firemen were among the casualties.

The fighting between townspeople and police broke out after the arrest of a Catholic priest accused of holding religious services without a permit.

Worshippers attempted to go to the priest's aid, precipitating the conflict. Most eye witnesses confirmed the official version that the crowd was the aggressor.

Vote On Bonus Almost Assured Says Democrat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (AP)—New ways of expediting action on the bonus, social insurance, "nuisance tax" extension and the president's relief appropriations were mapped today by congressional leaders.

Although both house and senate were in recess with nothing of particular consequence in immediate sight, arrangements were being made for the senate to take up the world court protocol and the house its second annual appropriations bill on Tuesday.

At the same time, one leader, Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) of the house ways and means committee, made a "guess" for the first time as to what his committee will do on the bonus.

"I think it will report out a bonus bill," he said. House and senate leaders have said that a $2,100,000,000 cash payment bonus bill probably will pass congress on the initial vote. A survey, however, has shown that 35 senators—three more than enough—at present would ballot to sustain a presidential veto.

PAMPA NEEDS AIRPORT FOR MANY PLANES

Nine Ships Owned Locally; Efforts Being Made Now To Improve Field Here.

BY HARRY E. HOARE.

Pampa is probably the most air-minded city of its size in the state not to have a modern, fully-equipped airport. Pampa has a landing field, but it does not merit official recognition, this writer has been informed by a government representative.

The field is ideally located. In fact it is too ideally located by being too close to the residential district. Planes have to take off in two directions over residences located across streets from the landing field. The airport is not municipally owned but in the past has been leased by the White Deer Land company to individuals, who have been unable to make the field conform with government regulations.

Adjoining the local airport is the government emergency landing field which cannot be used by private ships. Efforts are being made to use a portion of the field in landing and taking off so that flying over residences at low altitude will be eliminated.

A ditch across the field is a dangerous hazard in landing and taking off. Many holes also prove dangerous to the stranger. Local pilots know the field and are in little danger, but a stranger is under handicap in landing.

There are enough air-minded Pampans to provide Pampa with a recognized airport. At the present, efforts are being made to improve the field, erect hangars for the many ships, and place Pampa on the map as having a recognized airport.

There are nine ships in service, or being rebuilt, at the local airport. Pampa boasts three licensed transport pilots and a number of student and limited commercial pilots. All of the ships are privately owned.

Pampa's three transport pilots are Art Pavey, one of the first ship owners in Pampa; Tommy Kennan, former armadillo pilot; and Dee Graham, recently returned from British Honduras, where he piloted government ships.

Owners of ships, makes, and types now stationed at the local airport are:

Art Pavey, J6-5 Wright-powered Swallow, three-place open biplane.

Ralph Chisum, Hdrquin-powered, one-place open monoplane.

Ralph Chisum, Kinmer-powered Lincoln Page "Play Boy," two-place open biplane (being rebuilt).

Wesley Lewis, Curtiss OX 5-powered Command-Air, three-place open biplane.

Dee Graham, Lycoming-powered Stinson Detrolter, four-place closed monoplane.

Jimmie Brittain, Hisso-powered Swallow, three-place open biplane (being rebuilt).

Bert and Virgil Howell, J5 Wright-powered Moreland, three-place semi-closed monoplane.

George Christopher, Challenger-powered Command Air, three-place biplane.

R. F. Pollock, V. W. McFarlin, and E. C. Kilpatrick (LeFors), Curtiss OX 5 powered Eaglerock, three-place open biplane.

2 Cars Damaged In Street Crash

Two cars were badly damaged in a crash at the corner of Mary Ellen and Virginia streets Friday night. None of the occupants was injured other than receiving minor cuts and bruises.

A Pierce Arrow sedan owned by Alex Schneider and driven by Paul Schneider was struck broadside and thrown upon the lawn of the Six Owens home, with the four wheels in the air. The other car, a for V-8 coupe, was driven by Lucian Mann of LeFors.

The Schneider car was being driven west on Virginia street and the Mann car was proceeding north on Mary Ellen street. The Ford plowed into the large car in front of the rear fender, skidding it to the curb, where it overturned. The Ford car was swung partly around but did not overturn.

The front left side of the Ford was badly damaged. The left center, fenders, and top of the Pierce Arrow were damaged and all of the windows shattered.

Mice Send Girl Cagers Up Walls In Poplar Bluff

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Jan. 12 (AP)—That cats may look at queens is axiomatic but, seen in the light of the fact that girls playing basketball if the game is to go on in regulation style.

Someone (small boys suspected) loosed 22 field mice in the gymnasium where the Poplar Bluff senior and junior girls were playing. Some players sealed the balcony as the mice scurried across the floor. Others ran screaming to the showers. Officials finally restored order.

Miss Carrie Fann, hardy senior center, captured one of the rodents and carried it in a pocket for the rest of the game. The mouse was never in doubt. When Miss Fann received the ball she had it to herself, all other players maintaining a respectful distance.

Final score: Seniors 14; Juniors 8.

City Of Tyler Refuses To Buy 'Hot' Gasoline

TYLER, Jan. 12 (AP)—The city of Tyler will not knowingly purchase "hot" gasoline from the East Texas field at any price.

So said G. V. McCallie, city purchasing agent, today in announcing the city would reject a recent shipment of 2,039 gallons of gasoline unless it was satisfied it was not "hot" gasoline.

E. N. Stanley, chief of the railroad commission's East Texas division, said only one carload of untendered gasoline shipped Thursday went to Tyler.

When Talley first became sheriff, the county seat and courthouse were at old Ochiltree, and the town of Perryton had never been thought of. The dream of the 600 inhabitants of that county at that time was the securing of a railroad to run through Ochiltree. Talley was one of the prime movers in the promotion of the railway known as the Enid, Ochiltree & Western, surveyed to run from Enid, Oklahoma, through Ochiltree to Dalhart. For a time, it looked as though this dream would become true, and about twenty miles of road was graded and steel laid east from Dalhart toward Dumas.

Then, along in days shortly after the World War, the Senate passed a law to Spearman, the end of the constructed from Shattuck, Oklahoma for many years, and Ochiltree became a thing of the past. Sheriff Talley had his offices for years in the old courthouse, now the American Legion Hall.

Always a fearless officer, Sheriff Talley has been more interested in getting his fellow man out of trouble than in causing them trouble. There is no question but what many a young man has been scared away from a life of crime through the kindly interest that Sheriff Talley has shown in them after they had gotten in trouble. Hard boiled treatment of first offenders has made many a criminal and Talley does not believe in that kind of law enforcement.

Being a peace officer is a very small part of the job of being sheriff in this county. In all the years that Sheriff Talley has served as tax collector, there has never been a single rumor as to the manner in which he has handled the thousands and thousands of dollars that has gone through his hands in tax collection. On January 1, when he took office for the fourteenth term, the duties of making up the assessment rolls were added to the sheriff and tax collection department.

There are many people in Ochiltree county who helped elect Talley in 1934, whose parents voted for him before they were married.

Why Reporters Like Air Queen

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 12 (AP)—Amelia Earhart putnam had a chance to prove she was first lady of the air almost as soon as the wheels of her plane spurred the runway of the airport here today at the end of her Honolulu flight.

Reporters crowded about her with questions, but a burly policeman intervened and shoved them off.

"But we have deadlines to make," argued one of the reporters.

"To ——— with deadlines," retorted the policeman.

Mrs. Putnam settled the argument.

"But officer," she said, "deadlines are important sometimes."

The reporters asked their questions unmoiled.

AGED MAN DIES

John Tinsley Teel, 72, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nema Mohon, Kingsmill Cabot Co. camp, yesterday morning. The body was taken overland to McCamey by the Pampa Mortuary.

Mr. Teel is survived by his wife, and daughter, Mrs. Hohon. Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. John Brownie and a brother, James J. Teel, both of Dallas.

WALDORF TO EVANSTON
EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 12 (AP)—Northwestern's search for a new head football coach ended today with the selection of Lynn O. Waldorf of Kansas State college. Waldorf's selection was announced tonight by Kenneth L. Wilson, Northwestern's athletic director, after a day of rapid fire action on the task of naming a successor to Riehard E. (Dick) Hanley, who resigned several weeks ago.

be sworn in a lieutenant-governor just before Allred takes his oath. In the absence of chief Justice C. M. Cureton of the supreme court, who usually administers the oath, this function will fall to William Pierson, senior associate justice. Justice Cureton has gone to Washington for a convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

As is customary, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson have been invited to sit on the platform while Allred is inaugurated. Two years ago, R. S. Sterling of Houston, beaten for reelection by Mrs. Ferguson, did not remain for his opponent's induction into office.

Texas' young incoming governor will be presented to the expected vast assemblage on the capitol lawn by Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogata. Allred asked Senator DeBerry to introduce him and Rev. Lawrence Wharton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, to deliver the invocation.

Raymond and Ben, Too

Three generations of Allred's family and four of that of his wife, the former Joe Betsy Miller, are expected to be on the platform.

They include the governor-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Allred of Bowie, four brothers, O. H. of Fort Worth, Ben P. of Dallas and Raymond and Renne, Jr., of Tyler, two sisters, Mrs. T. J. Christian of Fort Worth and Miss Hazel Allred of San Antonio, and two small sons, Jimmy Jr. and David. In addition, Mrs. Allred's grandmother, Mrs. J. N. Kimberlin of Altus, Okla., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller of Wichita Falls, planned to attend.

A platoon of battery B 131st field artillery, Texas National Guard, from Wichita Falls, will fire the gubernatorial salute.

Bands will be playing throughout the day around the capitol in honor of lobbies and on downtown streets. A half dozen or more civil and military bands are expected.

In an effort to accommodate the crowd, the formal reception and ball will be divided into four parts. Dance orchestras will play at Gregory gymnasium at the University of Texas, in two hotel ball rooms and at the capitol. The receiving line of notables will form first at Gregory gymnasium, then go later to the other ball rooms.

The exact order in the receiving line has not yet been announced. The retiring governor and lieutenant governor and their husbands or wives, former governors and their wives, probably will be near the head. Incoming officials will have places in the order of their succession to the governorship.

More than 1,000 Austin residents are serving on committees to arrange for the ball. Over 15,000 invitations and admission tickets have been issued.

possibly 30 days, and we would be back on the road to normalcy."

President Chan Act

Congressional Republicans meanwhile studied the possibility of increasing the membership of the supreme court from nine to 11 or 12 within the 25 days elapsing between the decision and the court ruling upon a government appeal for reconsideration.

Such a course, however, was regarded as a last resort, although all were agreed that certainly President Roosevelt would leave nothing undone to offset a decision which would destroy the new monetary system built up by the administration.

A third possible avenue of action may lie in the president declaring an emergency and asserting control over the currency under the old wartime laws, which he invoked to bring order out of the banking and financial disruption which existed when he took office.

Baylor's Soph Prexy Returned

WACO, Jan. 12 (AP)—The Baylor university sophomore class tonight had its president, Don Witterberg, at the head of the banquet table in the role of toastmaster.

day by five freshmen and taken to Shreveport, La., to prevent his attendance but was returned to Waco after President Pat M. Neff urged his captors to return to the campus and bring the Soph prexy.

It was the first class kidnapping since Neff, former governor of Texas, assumed the presidency three years ago. He promised it would not happen again in the future.

Gillham Named By Lincoln Life As Representative

J. O. Gillham has been appointed Pampa representative for the Lincoln National Life Insurance company of Fort Wayne, Indiana, according to an announcement made by O. D. Douglas, general agent in San Antonio.

Mr. Gillham will operate in this city and surrounding territory, directly under the O. D. Douglas Agency. The company which he represents has made an outstanding record of sales for 1934, registering a 43.6 per cent increase over 1933, as compared to a 10 per cent increase for life insurance companies as a whole. The Lincoln National Life ranks 18th in size among all the life companies in the United States.

Mr. Gillham will retain his position as assistant cashier of the First National bank.

for Germany were 54,000 Saarlanders residing abroad. Germans sent $8,000 of them, in special trains that rolled into the Saar yesterday and today. The rest came from widely scattered parts of the globe—Europe and Asia, Africa and the Americas—and Nazis paid the passage for most.

SAARBUECKEN, Saar Basin Territory, Jan. 12 (AP)—Results of the historic plebiscite tomorrow will not be made known until Tuesday, when all votes have been tallied. Elaborate precautions have been taken against leaks and no telephone will be installed in the Warburg auditorium where the votes will be counted. Furthermore, the 300 newspapermen covering the plebiscite will be barred from telephonic communication until after A. Erard, president of the plebiscite commission, has broadcast the results in French and German.

Because the vituperative, often violent campaign that has raged in the area for weeks has sharply drawn the line between communism and Nazism, however, some observers believed the anti-Nazis tomorrow might poll more votes than expected.

Wielded into one common front against Hitlerism and Nazism are such sometime mutually hostile elements as communists, socialists and part of the Basin's overwhelmingly Catholic population.

AMELIA

exhausted about the time she landed.

For three hours California coastal cities had been awaiting her, and when she swooped down on the airport she took the crowd by surprise.

A mighty cheer arose from the 5,000 persons assembled at the field. The crowd surged toward the plane and stopped little short of its whirling propeller blades.

Grabs For Comb

It was at that point feminine instinct got the better of the glob-trotting flier and she reached for the comb.

They pushed her plane into a hangar and closed the doors against the admiring crowd but only after many had succeeded in grasping her hand and shouting words of praise at her.

"I don't want to sit down," she said firmly when an attendant saw her fatigue and offered her a chair.

"I've been sitting down a long time."

Someone mentioned that she had not been heard from for a considerable time before landing; that there were reports she was battling fog, had strayed from her course; that her gasoline was running low before she reached the coast. They asked if she had been worried.

"Worried?" she echoed. "Oh, I thought I would like to have the sight of land a couple of times."

Veered off Course

Miss Earhart asserted she never was lost but said she veered south of her course and first sighted land 60 miles south of San Francisco.

"I wasn't sure that it was land I sighted," she said.

"I throttled back my motor purposely to save fuel and I don't understand why anyone should have been worried about me."

"The reason I didn't give my position was because I didn't 'shoot' the stars (with a sextant) and therefore couldn't give it."

An interviewer mentioned seeing a rainbow over the Golden Gate as Miss Earhart was nearing the coast.

"Oh, rainbows!" she exclaimed. "I flew through many of them on the way here."

"I wasted a lot of time because some of the equipment I wasn't used to was a new type of compass threw me off."

"The ventilator blew off and this bothered me considerable also."

"But the motor functioned perfectly and it was only little things, like the ventilator, that bothered me."

"I had a lot of sandwiches with me but I didn't eat any of them. I did eat a hard-boiled egg, which was quite a luxury, and drank some tomato juice."

"I feel just filthy and I want a bath."

Miss Earhart said commercial flights between the island and California were "entirely feasible."

"They are inevitable," she said, "and will be flying everywhere in a short time."

Listened To Radio

Asked about the three hours during which the outside world heard little or nothing from her plane she said:

"I listened to a message broadcast from my husband (George Palmer Putnam, the New York publisher) and was greatly cheered by his voice. I also listened to musical programs broadcast throughout the night."

Miss Earhart said she believed the use of two-way voice radio communication was advisable for planes making distance flights. This type of radio was a portion of her elaborate equipment.

As she snuggled down into a soft bed in her hotel room she sighed and said:

Wild Rumors Aired

The wildest blood-and-thunder rumors were circulated, messengers as both sides put in the final flicks in their campaigns of propaganda.

Newspapers, which for weeks had been little more than party propaganda sheets, appeared with burning headlines.

The Freiheit, of whom Max Braun, socialist leader and head of the anti-nazi common front, is editor, coldly announced that nazis were preparing to kill every Saarlander who votes for the status quo.

"Ward leaders," the newspaper said, "will call at homes Monday morning and kill all who vote for the status quo."

Earlier Jewish residents, who make up only half of one per cent of the population, said they had been "advised" to go to Germany tonight and return next week after the voting, having their passports stamped to show they did not vote.

The "advice" the Jews charged came from the nazis, who intimated that they might escape reprisals after the plebiscite if they took the advice.

Arguments of the contending factions were well summed up in the statements of two party leaders.

"Those few persons who have not been persuaded to join the German front," said Jacob Pirro, nazi leader, "are men of our own blood influenced by false prophets not to prevent but only to postpone a return to the Saar territory to Germany."

"We are all Germans and we want eventually to return to Germany," said the socialist, Braun. "But we are determined that the Saar shall not go to Hitler. This is a difference between Germany and Hitler."

PASTIME

history, geography, printing, paper making, and the postal customs of hundreds of countries and colonies which issue stamps. To identify a stamp, one must be able to recognize its color, perforation scale, water mark, gum, engraved words or symbols, and to determine its authenticity. Stamps, like coins, are counterfeited. Identification is often necessary to determine the genuineness of what purports to be a valuable stamp.

Some stamps are worth more used than unused, because of the historical importance of the use, such as to carry a letter from a member of the Byrd expedition. Stamps are collected singly, in blocks of four, or even in whole sheets as the post-office receives them. Some are pre-cancelled by postal authorities for bulk companies to expedite handling of packages. Some stamps bear surcharges of the name of the city, or perforations bearing the initials or symbols of the firm using them—in order to prevent or to trace thefts. Some collectors gather their stamps, made by printing errors, and pay premiums for them.

Not every stamp is valuable, of course. The 1, 2, and 3-cent stamps used on common correspondence are nearly worthless because there are so many of them. Some issues, such as the recent park series, become valuable in time because the number was limited. A stamp worth 5 cents today will gradually increase in value through the years, although at the end of 20 years it may not be selling for more than 25 to 40 cents.

Stamps are removed from envelopes, etc., by soaking for 15 minutes in cold water. They are mounted with transparent, peelable "hinges" or paper strips. They may be obtained in new, or used condition from one's friends, from other collectors, from stamp companies, or from users of large quantities of milled matter. They are bought individually from lists, "on approval" in sheets, in mixed packets, or even by the pound. The prices range from $1 per thousand to tens of thousands of dollars for a very rare variety.

Governments and their rulers collect stamps. The British Museum boasts a fabulously valuable collection. Uncle Sam has a stamp museum. The United States philatelic agency, which sells new stamps to collectors, employs 31 persons. Recently a Norfolk, Va., stamp club protested to President Roosevelt the selling of a few friends certain sheets of stamps which were not offered to the public. Prominent business men of Norfolk were among the collectors who signed the protest.

To talk stamps expertly, you must know hundreds of special terms. But to collect them you need next to nothing. The Boy Scouts of America have a handbook on stamp collecting and award a merit badge for knowledge of the hobby.

The philatelist can follow his hobby with any desired degree of time, expense, and specialization. He can be sure that his knowledge will expand and that he will always be associated in interest with many of the world's most famous men and women. The collection which he assembles in his lifetime may be more valuable to his heirs than his insurance!

"I want sleep more than anything else."

In a moment she was sleeping deeply and hotel attendants said she planned to sleep two to six hours—or maybe more.

The finale of the epochal flight was short as it was swift.

On reaching the coast she made a bee-line northward for the airport.

HAUPTMANN

at Trenton, concentrating upon examination of the ransom notes in an effort to shake, through its own experts, the evidence yesterday of a state witness that the notes were written by Hauptmann.

With experts from several parts of the country present, the defense studied the notes, and indicated that the experts believed they were written not by Hauptmann as contended, but by Isidor Fisch.

No announcement concerning their findings at the end of today's examination was made, Reilly stating that because members of the prosecution staff had been present, the "jury of experts" would not make known "their findings and belief."

One flurry which developed last night had subsided today when it was announced that the bank note assembly in Gettysburg, Pa., and which was said to have been part of the ransom money, had been discovered to have no connection with it. An error in giving out the serial number of the bill was quickly corrected when officials checked.

State Hall Through

The state, through a member of the prosecution staff, said that its case had "reached the half-way mark." The number of witnesses yet to testify has been reduced. Attorney-General David T. Wilentz said, from about 70 to 45 or 50. Among witnesses eliminated are 25 employees of the J. P. Morgan banking firm who were to have testified concerning preparation of the ransom money package.

In reviewing the eight days of the trial, Judge George K. Large of the prosecution staff said: "Our witnesses have withstood effectively the cross-examination by the defense, and their evidence stands unimpaired."

The state is ready to refute any effort by the defense to show that other persons than Hauptmann perpetrated the crime.

"We do not concede in the least the possibility of a gang," he said. "The fact that we can trace the use of $49,900 of the $50,000 ransom money to Hauptmann rather precludes a gang. It would be highly improbable that Hauptmann had assistance and then failed to divide the money with accomplices."

The states, Large pointed out, has presented five identifications of Hauptmann—by Ool. Lindbergh, by Dr. John F. Condon, the ransom intermediary, by the cab driver, Joseph Perrone, who told of carrying a ransom note from Hauptmann to Condon, by Amandus Hochmuth, who said he saw Hauptmann in the vicinity of the Lindbergh home on the murder day, and by Albert S. Osborn, handwriting expert, who testified Hauptmann wrote all the notes.

Attorney Large said Hauptmann has established himself "as a principal of his own handwriting, and regardless of our one-man theory of the crime, he can be convicted of first degree murder under New Jersey law."

In addition to Osborn who testified at length yesterday, the state will offer four other handwriting experts, and "more if necessary."

Large expressed the conviction that the defense could not show that Fisch wrote the notes.

Fred Perry Loses To Jack Crawford

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 12 (AP)—Fred Perry of England today lost the Australian singles tennis championship to Jack Crawford, Anzac ace, and immediately started a new wave of speculation concerning his prospects of turning professional either as a player or motion picture star.

Showing unmistakable signs of being mentally and physically under the strain of his campaign and lacking control, the world champion Briton bowed in four sets to the Australian Davis cup star, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

U. S. Moves To Bar Speculators On Grain Board

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—The government's plea that Arthur W. Cutten be barred from the grain exchanges was accompanied today by charges that the mild-mannered, dapper little Chicagoan "is the biggest speculator in history."

Evidence that the Hoover administration was concerned over the activities of Cutten, almost a legendary figure on LaSalle street, was laid before the grain futures commission which is hearing the charges against the plunger.

Leo F. Tierney, special government attorney, read a telegram to Cutten from Arthur M. Hyde, Hoover's secretary of agriculture, of Feb. 25, 1930. Hyde asked the speculator to desist from "bear raids in the public interest." The secretary told the grain dealer that he could "help many thousands of people in a time of distress" by ending his market raids.

Less than six months later, on June 24, 1930, Tierney said that Cutten held 7,725,000 bushels of wheat, valued at $7,335,000 and that he was "short" on most of the commitments. He said Cutten was short 3,670,000 bushels the day the Hyde telegram was sent.

For 1935, Ford has taken another revolutionary step forward. To the proved performance of the famous Ford V-8 engine has been added remarkable riding comfort. And the entire car has been clothed with a new and modern beauty, both inside and out.

The illustration on this page shows the distinctive modern lines of the New Ford V-8 for 1935. When you see the car in the showrooms or on the road you notice at once its larger size as well as its handsome appearance. It is longer, with more body room, more leg room and more baggage room. It is lower to the ground —easier to step in and out. The front seats are as much as 5½ inches wider in some body types. The curved gear shift lever gives additional front-seat comfort.

NEW, LONGER SPRINGS OF UNUSUAL FLEXIBILITY

The springing of the New Ford V-8 for 1935 is entirely new. The springbase of the car (the distance from the front to the rear spring) is 123 inches, or eleven inches longer than the wheelbase. This has been accomplished by mounting the front spring in front of the front axle and the back spring in "one of England's famous beauty spots." Molly gave a little shiver. "It's horribly cold. I shall go down and make you both a cup of hot cocoa. You must want something—something like this without any breakfast." "We meant to wait until we got into the creek," I explained. "It will be nice and quiet there." "Don't you trouble, miss." An untidy head poked itself out from the cabin. "I've hit the Primus, and I'll bring it up to us soon as it's ready." Jerry laughed. "Splendid," he remarked. "I quite forgot we had a steward on this trip." "How did you sleep, Jimmy?" I inquired. "Fine, sir; and the dog, too. Lay alongside o' me all night 'e did. It was 'is lickin' me ear wot woke me up." "I thought you looked extraordinarily clean," said Jerry. "Bright lad that," he added as the grinning face disappeared. "I've half a mind to take him on as understudy to Dawson. He could do the rough work like brushing George and answering the telephone." "You can't have Jimmy," I objected. "If we all get safe out of this he's coming to me. He'll be jolly useful in the studio and I shouldn't be surprised if some day or other he didn't turn out to be a good artist." "Well, I won't stand in his way," Jerry bore up sharply to meet the wash of a passing tramp. "After all, it would be a pity if Dawson hadn't enough to do. He might lose his figure." By now the first glimmer of dawn was already making its appearance. Low down in the east the sombre grey of the sky had given place to a sickly yellow, while little by little the vague outline of the opposite shore was beginning to separate itself more distinctly from the dun-colored water. It was a cheerless dawn, as dawn at sea usually are. The mystery and beauty of the night appeared to be changing gradually into a dreary expanse of tumbling waves and inhospitable-looking mud flats. The arrival of cocoa, however, followed by a welcome cigaret all around, soon dispelled our depression. As though scenting the approach of the sun, George, who up till then had remained in the fo'c'sle, condescended to join our company. For the first minute or so he stood up in the well on his hind legs sniffing the breeze and gazing suspiciously round the horizon; then having apparently decided that there was nothing wrong with the navigation, he gave a short bark of approval and stretched himself out contentedly at Molly's feet. "Don't altogether like the look of it," remarked Jerry, jerking his head towards a bank of black cloud which had crept up behind us. "Shouldn't be surprised if we were in for a spell of rain." "All depends," Jerry let out the main-sheet a trifle and the Seagull buried her nose joyously in the white-crested water. "We don't know anything about this farmer and his wife at present. People who settle themselves in these out-of-the-way places are generally inclined to be a bit grumpy and suspicious. No use trying to rush 'em, or they shut up like an oyster." "It's the woman I want to see," I said. "If she was looking after Os-

E. E. SCHOOL GROWING, WITH CLASSES STILL OPEN TO ALL

Twenty-two new students were enrolled during the last week by the Emergency Education school for adults. At least as many additional pupils are expected to enroll during this week. A majority of the old students are continuing their studies into the second semester. Two new classes will be started Monday night. An English class will meet at 7 p. m. in room 302 at the high school, and a world geography class will meet at the same hour in room 304. Those who expect to take the course are urged to attend the first class if possible. Enrollment is still possible in all the courses, which include business spelling, grammar, penmanship, beginners' Spanish, advanced Spanish, art, general psychology, arithmetic, and public speaking. All of these classes are free to everyone. New classes will be started if there is sufficient demand. Bookkeeping or shorthand may be obtained for a small fee. S. M. Fire Department Makes First Call; No Damage Done

The Pampa fire department made its first run in 1935 at 6:50 o'clock Friday night, when a call was received from the South West Milling company at 418 South Hobart street. No damage was reported. Smoke issued from the building when the water cooling system on the gas driven engine, which operates the plan, became clogged. There was no blaze but considerable smoke. SHAREHOLDERS CALLED. An annual shareholders' meeting of the Western Building & Loan association will be held at the local office January 15 at 10 a. m., according to J. B. Bourland, secretary.

I did not kill Osborne By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Trench and Jimmy Fox, the latter a pure boy prodigy of Nick's, just have rescued Molly O'Brien from the clutches of Peter Orloff. Orloff is determined to have a formula worth millions which belongs to Molly, and will not believe that it has been stolen from her. The three, with Jerry Mordant, plan to sail in Jerry's boat to Hamburg, there to inspect a factory in which the man who first stole the formula produced a piece of the metal described. Chapter 23 ANCHORS AWEIGH "All ready!" Jerry heaved overboard the tin can which marked our moorings, and catching hold of the halliard hauled up the peak. As though revelling in her newfound freedom the Seagull heeled over to the strong westerly breeze. I steadied her with the tiller, and bowing farewell to the other small craft which were tossing about at their anchors, she plunged forward down the Ray. It was barely 4 o'clock, and the broad expanse of the Thames Estuary was still shrouded in darkness. Ahead of us on the left the million lights of Southern pier stretched their way out into the river. The green eye of a steamer, slipping up on the half-flood, moved slowly across our bows, while far in the distance, like a false dawn, a faint gleam from Sheerness Dockyard mounted up into the starless sky. The atmosphere was distinctly chilly. I buttoned up my coat and peered ahead under the swaying boom. Forward in the bows Jerry was busy slowing the anchor and coiling up loose ends of rope. He had the true sailor's horror of untidiness, and for ten minutes or so he continued his labors until everything on deck was in apple-pie order. Then with satisfied air he sauntered aft and dropped down beside me into the little open well. "Going along like a daisy," he observed, "if this wind only holds we shall have a topping sail." I nodded. "You're quite a good weather prophet, I will say that for you, Jerry. I'm glad now that we didn't start yesterday." "We shouldn't have got in," was the reply: "at least, it would have been a near thing. One can only scrape over the bar an hour each side of high water." "Inconvenient sort of place to choose for a factory," I remarked. "Isn't there any other way of getting at it?" "There's an entrance from the Crouch farther up, but we should have to go right round outside the Mapling for that. As it is we can sneak up inshore. That's the best of these center-board boats; they can sail practically wherever it's wet." I looked back at the lamps along Westcliff Parade, which were already fading into the distance. "I'd give something to know whether we've been followed from London," I said. Jerry shrugged his shoulders. "Probably; and, if so, no doubt they've seen us pushing off. All the same I'm not worrying. Skunks like Orloff and Dimitri are dangerous enough ashore. I grant you that, but when it comes to this sort of thing they're a bit out of their element. I don't suppose they could tell one end of a barge from the other." "What about that Russian ship that's lying in the river," I suggested, "the one they were going to take Molly to? If she's any sort of a size there must be at least half a dozen men on board, and I expect some of them know how to handle a boat." I paused. "By the way," I added, "now I come to think of it I wouldn't mind betting that that big lout I clipped on the jaw was one of the crew. He looked like a sailor, anyhow. He'd rings in his ears and his arms were tattooed to the shoulder." Jerry yawned. "Well, you never know. Funny things can happen, but I can't exactly picture a boat load of Bolsheviks bumping about in a center-board." He leaned across and relieved me of the tiller. "Perhaps I'd better take her over now. It's rather tricky work dodging in and out of these steamers, especially in the dark." I slid forward along the seat, and at the same moment Molly's head appeared through the hatch. She was wearing a blue knitted jersey which she had bought at Westcliff the previous day, and with her short curly hair blowing about in the wind she looked like some mischievous and attractive boy. "Hello!" she exclaimed reproachfully; "you might have wakened me." "We hadn't the heart," exclaimed Jerry. "It was only 4 o'clock when we started, and you were snoring away so comfortably in your bunk." "It's a lie," I interposed, "a cruel and black-hearted lie. I was awake all night and I swear on my honor that you never gave even the tiniest snore." "Thank you, Nick." She climbed out and, steadying herself with one hand, gazed inquiringly over the cabin top. "When are we?" she demanded. "And what are all those pretty lights?" "That's Southend pier," said Jerry,

Wine, women, and song were blamed by officers for the necessity of a raid on a South Pampa rooming house Friday night. Nearly a score of men, women, girls, and youths were taken to the court-house. Four girls were charged with vagrancy. The manager of the rooms and a porter were held without charge pending disposition of them. The grand jury may be asked to investigate. Several of those detained for a time were minors. The group was taken before Justice James Todd Jr. County and precinct officers cooperated in the raid.

Aron Jones has been charged with theft of Lowell Fendrick's 1931 Chevrolet automobile last Tuesday. The constable's department recovered the car and the sheriff's department arrested Jones.

Miss Marie James Saturday reported theft of her 1930 Ford coach Friday night from near Your Laundry. It was a blue car.

A woman was charged with assault and battery and taken before Justice E. F. Young. She is alleged to have struck another woman.

Before adjourning until Thursday, the grand jury returned four indictments. Returns were made on two yesterday. Clyde L. Moore (alias Jim Strange) and Hubert Jones were indicted for the burglary of Tarpley's music store. Lewis Scott was indicted for theft of an automobile from G. Cleveland Dec. 20.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Wilbur S. Selby and Leta Helen McCarthy, and to Fred Martin and Sammie May Adams.

CLUB PREVIEWS YEAR'S COURSE IN YEARBOOK

The 1935 year books were studied with enthusiasm, when Priscilla Home demonstration club women learned they contained a well rounded course in bedroom, wardrobe, home industry and education.

Plans for the year included a request for Mrs. Tom Clayton of Pampa as a guest speaker. The meeting Friday was with Mrs. Ira Spearman.

The bedroom work was considered interesting; younger children's garments were stressed in the wardrobe. Butter and sponge cakes appeared to many. Mrs. Jackson, in clever manner created an unusual interest in the study of "America Must Choose" by Henry A. Wallace.

Mrs. C. A. Tignor, retiring president, presided over the business session in which the new officers were installed: Mrs. Ira Spearman, president, and Mrs. Minnie Jackson, vice president.

Mrs. Guy Farrington was elected delegate to the county council. With Mrs. Spearman in the chair the date of meeting was changed to the first Friday and third Thursday of each month.

Refreshments reminded members of the different demonstrations that were given last year. Delicious hot buns, date bar wafers, jellied chicken, and cheese and pineapple salad, and cocoa were served.

Members and guests: Mmes. C. D. Turcott, W. D. Benton, Jackson, Guy Farrington, R. E. Kennedy, Otto Patton, Norman Walberg, Joe Lewis, E. A. Shackleton, C. A. Tignor, J. M. Daugherty, J. L. Stroop, Clyde Carruth, and the hostess, Mrs. Ira Spearman.

Health Stressed In Home Program Of National P-TA

BY MRS. JOHN M. FOX, Wichita Falls, State Publicity Director, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers

In line with the homemaking program which is being especially stressed during the three-year administration of Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, national congress president, which will be closely followed by the Texas branch, the following extracts from a letter recently sent to state homemaking chairman, Mrs. R. A. Adams, are of interest.

1. "Health, with special attention to nutrition, will be stressed, including adequate milk supply for all. There is a growing feeling in the country that too little milk is being consumed by both youth and adults. This feeling is undoubtedly given much credence from a preliminary report showing the widespread consumption of 59 quarts in 46 states, the survey collected data from 29,485 families, including 160,010 persons. Of this number 78,987 were children and 81,032 adults.

"Of the total 29,485 families included in the survey, more than 14 per cent reported that they bought fresh milk at all. The average per capita purchases including both fresh and evaporated milk were found to be very low, when compared with the milk quantities specified by the typical diets prepared by the Bureau of Home Economics of the department of agriculture.

2. "Expanding and deepening the appreciation of the importance of the home as an agency for national welfare, is planned.

3. "Devising ways and means for supplying youth with adequate and appropriate education and fitting activities and undertakings for their unoccupied time, will also be part of the scheduled program.

"There never was a time," continues Dr. Baylor, "when the importance of homemaking education in both rural and urban centers was more greatly needed, or when it could better serve our state and national needs than today."

EVERY FAMILY IS ASKED TO PLANT TREES AND FLOWERS ABOUT HOMES THIS SPRING

Securing a county park, and planting trees and flowers at every home are the first definite goals of the Citizens' Beautification Organization for Gray County, members decided in an organization meeting called yesterday afternoon by Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, county chairman.

Sub-chairmen had previously been appointed in all towns of the county, and in turn had appointed their committees for each division of the proposed state beautification plans.

Mrs. E. A. Shackleton was elected co-chairman of the county organization, and Mrs. Josephine Sparks of LeFors secretary. Mrs. W. A. Breining is sub-chairman at McLean. Mrs. Ray Hagan at McClellan. Mrs. Sparks at LeFors, and Mrs. Shackleton from home demonstration clubs of the county.

T. A. Landers of McLean was named chairman of a committee to investigate possible sites for a county park of substantial size. Paul M. Bruce of Alameda, E. Bacus of LeFors, Tom Clayton of Pampa, and Mrs. Shackleton are to serve with him on this committee.

The plan is for a park large enough to accommodate recreation facilities and also provide a retreat for those who enjoy natural beauties.

Planting of trees, shrubs, and flowers is another major item of the state program that received impetus at the meeting. The petunia was selected as the county flower for the beautification project, and each family will also be asked to plant a tree this year. Honey locust, Chinese elm, and cottonwood were mentioned as varieties adapted to this climate.

Marking city and county entrances is another proposal. McLean has already started work on city entrances, the only town in this highway district which has the work actually under way. Representatives of other towns reported tentative plans.

Elimination of junk yards near highways, cleaning and beautifying gasoline stations, ridding highways of weeds, marking historic points and marking bridges, were other points discussed.

McLean citizens reported that all clubs there will telegraph legislation asking for passage of a state law to keep stock off the highways. This is another state objective for highway safety and beautification.

To Grow Wild Flowers. Preservation of wild flowers, still another project, is being aided by state highway workers, who plan to plant flower seed in the spring with grass that will be planted to prevent roadbed erosion. They are requesting clubs and schools to cooperate in saving seed of native flowers and shrubs.

Wayside parks are being developed by the highway department. One has already been secured in this county, west of McLean, and others are planned. These parks, designed for picnic grounds and not camping places, may be from half an acre to many acres in size, and are usually donated as the highway department has no funds for their purchase.

Mr. Gaston, landscape artist with the highway division office in Amarillo, was present to represent that department. He discussed various points of the state program, and answered questions of the committee.

County Commissioners Tom Kirby and A. Carpenter were present, with committee members from Pampa and the following from other towns: Mr. and Mrs. Landers, C. O. Greene, Mmes. Breining, T. J. Coffey, Bryd Gull, W. W. Boyd, W. L. Campbell, and Sammy Cubine of McLean; E. Bacus, W. C. Breining, Mmes. R. C. Ogden and Sparks of Skellytown; Paul M. Bruce of Alameda.
